FISHERMEN!

Fishermen of late have been complaining of sore and tired feet, besides suffering from Rheumatism, etc. brought on by wearing Rubber Boots. Scores of Fishermen have been telling us of how they suffered last summer when fishing in the sun, their feet having burned and blistered in the Rubber Boots which they wore, and later when the burning ceased their feet were wet with perspiration.

Fishermen! Get a pair of SMALLWOOD'S GOOD LEATHER BOOTS. They will keep your feet warm and dry. You may say, "Leather boots have gone up in price." Quite so, but Rubber Boots have gone up also. We will guarantee that a pair of our Boots will outwear any two pair of rubber boots on the market. Wellington Boots, Napoleon Boots, High and Low Boots, Men's, Boys' and Youths' Wellies, Tongue Boots.

Don't Forget Your Boy Who is Fighting for You.

You are in perplexing circumstances when you want to know that to send him. We will try and help you out. He needs something to break the strain always on his nerves. He wants to be taken away from his surroundings for a time, even if it is only his mind.

WE SUGGEST A BOOK.

You think, Oh what is a Book? When he is finished with it it will be no good to him. But you send him cigarettes and cigars which give only about five minutes enjoyment to him alone, while a book, long after he has read it, lingers in his memory, and even after he has finished it it can be passed from one to another in the trenches.

We have the largest collection of Books.

We will save you all the trouble sending it.

Write your letter at home or our store.

We will supply writing materials and a place for you to write in quietness.

HERE ARE THREE BOOKS THAT ARE JUST OFF THE PRESS. INSECT ADVENTURES.

(By J. HENRI FABRE).
Translated by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos and Adapted for Young People by Louise S. Hasbrouck.
Could any child fail to be interested in nature subjects if he had a chance to learn about them from Fabre, a scientist unequalled in his chosen field of insect life, and a master of the art of appealing to the youthful imagination? His profound knowledge is imparted in terms of fascinating adventure. The "caddis worm" "pirates," "the insect submarines," "the spider's telegraph wires" are introduced to the child reader. The life stories of the bee, the wasp, the spider, the fly are told with that whimsical imagery and fanciful twist which make them read like a fairy tale. The charm of the book is completed by the fascinating, quaint sketches, very French in style, which are profusely scattered through it. Illustrated, $2.00.

"The Mystery of the Hasty Arrow," illustrated, cloth $1.50. Anna Katherine Green's new book.
"Songs from a Young Man's Land," $1.50, by Sir Clive Phillips-Wolley. These Poems pulsate and throbb with the new spirit of unity and solidarity that is vibrant throughout the flagging Empire to-day.

The Sound of Wedding Bells

Won After Great Perseverance!

CHAPTER XXX.

"Yes," she says, with a sudden sigh, as if she had resolved to confide in him; "I will tell you. It is possible that you will be offended; that—that you will regret having done me the great, overwhelming honor of offering me what—what I prize so early; but I will tell you."

"Well?"

With dual courtesy he draws a chair for her, but she declines it with a motion of her small hand. It will be better that she should stand, and so he is able to hide her face from his watchful, intense gaze.

"Duke," she says, in a soft, hesitating voice, which she knows how to make musical, "you took umbrage just now at my saying that I am at most a dependent in this house; but it was quite true. I—I am poor, and alone in the world, and Lady Falconer, all of them, have been very, very good friends."

"Yes," he nods, "yes, I understand that, and I am grateful to them."

"What must I be, then?" she says, "who have enjoyed their friendship and protection for so many years?"

"I am sure," he says, with a courtly gesture, "that you are not wanting in gratitude or any other noble sentiment."

"Put yourself in my place, your grace," she goes on, drawing a little nearer to him, and just touching his sleeve with a timid gesture. "Would you, do you think, be able to refuse them anything—any request that they might make? Suppose that they had cherished for years a hope connected with one in my position, do you think I should be capable of defeating it, at whatever sacrifice to my feelings?"

"No," he says—"no. I can understand that you would sacrifice yourself. Yours is the nature for self-sacrifice my dear girl."

Floor duke!

"Well, they have cherished such a hope; they have formed plans for— for my future, which I could not, without being ungrateful, shatter and throw down."

He looks at her with knitted brows; already he begins to see her meaning, but she is breaking it so carefully that it gives him time to breathe.

"What is their hope—their plan?" he asks.

She falters, and looks up at him with a timid, imploring glance, which goes straight through his anxious heart.

"It—it is connected with Sir Hugh," she says, faintly.

The duke starts.

"Do you mean," he says, with a little groan, "that they wish you to marry Sir Hugh?"

Her head droops.

"Yes," she murmurs.

The old man trembles.

"And—and surely you have not consented?" he says, in a low, anxious voice.

She raises her head and looks at him.

"Could I do otherwise?" she asks.

"Yes, I have consented."

He folds and unfolds his glove, and stares at the hearth-rug with heavy brows.

He is a gentleman, this great duke, and a promise is a promise. So she has promised Sir Hugh! Well, the sooner he is gone the better.

"I am very sorry," he says, clearing his throat—"very sorry for myself, of course. I—I hope you will be happy."

Then he stops, for she puts her hand to her eyes, and her bosom heaves.

"Do not wish me that," she says—"it cannot be fulfilled."

He flushes and fidgets with his gloves.

"Do I understand you—forgive me if I am wrong!—but—but your words seem to imply that you have sacrificed yourself?"

"Could I do otherwise?" she murmurs. "It is their wish. I—I could not but consent."

"But," he says, hesitatingly, "is not the sacrifice too great a one, if you do not love him? Do you love him?"

Oh, for a woman's truth and honesty! Only a short half hour ago, and she leaned on Hugh's breast, and gave him kiss for kiss! And now, with a little catch in her voice, she breathes:

"No."

The duke takes a step or two on the rug, more agitated than he has ever been before in the course of his long life.

"You do not?" he says. "Then—then I think that this sacrifice is greater even than they could demand of you should make. My dear girl, such a marriage must end disastrously—it can only be productive of misery for you both."

"Yes," she assents, pressing her hand to her eyes.

"And—and," he goes on, warming to his theme, "it must not be allowed to go on!"

She glances at him inquiringly, and he shakes his head and puts his hand on her shoulder again.

"No, I am quite sure that I am right in saying that it should not be permitted! Anything else but that! My dear young lady, surely you must feel with me that nothing would warrant a woman in selling herself—even to pay a debt of gratitude!"

She shakes her head with an innocent sigh.

"I say," he repeats, his face flushed, "that it would but increase the debt, for it would bring unhappiness on him whom you married from a mistaken motive. Surely you feel this?"

"Yes," she murmurs.

He nods emphatically.

"Putting aside my own interest in the case, I say, as a sincere friend who has your welfare at heart, that it must not be."

She leans against the mantel-shelf, and raises her eyes to his face with trustful, childish confidence.

"What shall I do?" she murmurs.

"I feel that you are indeed my friend. Will you tell me, duke, what I ought to do?"

He considers a moment, then he takes her hand.

"My dear," he says, "you should go to Lady Falconer, and tell her what you have told me."

She starts, a splendidly feigned start of fright and reluctance.

"Oh, no, no, indeed I could not do that!" she says, hurriedly; "I would rather that things went on to the bitter end! I could not bear to see my benefactress' tears or hear her reproaches."

"My poor girl!" he murmurs, sympathetically, "what other course is open to you?"

She shakes her head sadly.

"I do not know. I feel that I cannot do as you advise, dear duke—"

He flushes at the "dear," and presses her hand.

"I could not face the—the disappointment and—distress of such an announcement! No, I feel that I am helpless."

"But," he says, perplexed and eager, "this that you are about to do is a very wrong thing. To marry without love—stop, tell me," and he takes her other hand eagerly. "If, I say, supposing that there was not this barrier in the way, what would have been your answer to my offer? Speak plainly, my dear girl."

Now many a woman would have burst into tears, or buried her head and sobbed the answer; but Lucy Fairfax is no common actress.

With a grave, almost saint-like face, she looks up at him steadily.

"Must I tell you?" she says; "then it would have been 'Yes.'"

He is silent for a moment, and his face proclaims the emotion which her avowal has caused him.

"Is that so?" he says, at last. "Is it really so? Do you really care for me?"

She raises one of his hands to her lips.

"How could I do otherwise, dear duke?" she murmurs, softly; "I, who have experienced your kindness for so long—who know and value the tenderness of your disposition and your great unselfish nature. Yes, I can admit it without shame, for have I not resolved to speak the whole truth? I should have said, 'Yes, because I love you!'"

The duke is visibly moved, and his hand trembles. Something within, some finer instinct, whispers that he is on the brink of something like dishonor; but he is under the glamour of the green eyes, the soft, thrilling voice, and conscience is lulled to sleep.

He is so long silent that her heart beats with a grave dread.

"Is he going to say that she must abide by her word, after all?"

At last he speaks.

"Lucy!" he says, and at the word her heart leaps.

She knows that she has won, but still there is some risky work to do.

"Lucy," he says, "you have made me very happy. Now with more certainty than ever I say that this sacrifice of yours must not take place."

She shakes her head.

"But it must not!" he repeats, "from this moment I consider you as betrothed to me. Is it not so? I say that it shall be so."

She looks up.

"But—but—Sir Hugh!" she murmurs, doubtfully.

His brow lowers rather haughtily.

"That must be for me to settle," he says.

"No, no," she says, with well-feigned alarm, "anything rather than there should be any open dissension. I would rather, far rather, take refuge in flight!"

"In flight," he says, and he smiles as he puts his arm round her! "Then you must fly with me."

It is just the idea she has been trying to put into his head, and at his words she feigns a little start.

"Oh!" she breathes, "do you mean it?"

He starts now, and his face crimson.

"Why not?" he says; "after all—and he ponders, "it is the best way of cutting the Gordian knot, of solving the difficulty!"

"Oh! but—" she whispers, faintly.

"But me no buts!" he says, smiling, and pressing her hand. "Why should we not? If you dread any explanation with them, why, all explanation can be avoided by a sudden flight. When we are married you can explain and I can put the matter in the right light. There is only Hugh—and his heart smites him suddenly."

She draws a little nearer to him.

"Shall I tell you a little secret?" she says, with a little smile.

"Tell me everything, Lucy," he answers.

These Coats are all this season's styles and all British made. This means that they are made of woollen materials, which signifies more warmth, and that they will hold their colour better than American made Coats, which as a rule are made of at least 75 per cent. cotton, but which are now being introduced on this market owing to the difficulty of getting British made goods.

However, we have been fortunate in getting a big stock of British Coats, but owing to their late arrival and our being very much pressed for room, we have decided to offer them

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my breast would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. JOHN A. KOENIG, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

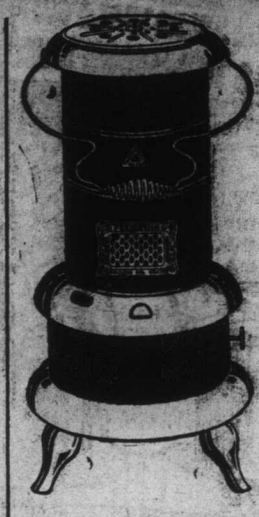

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Diana Reported.

The s.s. Diana, Capt. Burgess, reached Assizes Harbor yesterday coming south, after an exceptionally long voyage north. Capt. Burgess reported by wireless that the weather has been terrific for the past two weeks, there being strong winds and heavy seas, accompanied by blinding snow and sleet. Capt. Burgess reported for forty passengers, including the Marconi operators, who are the last to leave the coast.

The Silver Currency.

We are obliged to Hon. John Anderson for bringing this important subject to general notice. He confines himself in his letter to observations suggested by the recent appearance of the new twenty-five cent coins, but we think the opportunity might be taken to open the whole matter of our silver currency. There are a few points connected with it upon which we are frankly curious and would like to be informed. What is the extent, in the first place, of the new issue? What profit has the Government made upon it? What has been done with that profit? Has it been put in reserve as a redemption fund? In the second place, how much silver altogether is at present out in circulation? What has been the total profit, or seigniorage, made by the Government from it? And what redemption fund has the Government against it? Perhaps, since we do not expect anyone in the Government to be anxious to answer these questions Mr. Anderson, who has a unique knowledge of local finances, can do so for us. We may have more to say upon the subject later.

As for the particular question of the twenty and twenty-five cent pieces, we are not sure that we can agree with Mr. Anderson's views exactly. He argues that the twenty-cent coins should be called in and reminted, since the rise in the value of silver, which he alleges, would balance the expense. If the coins are to be reminted, we cannot see that the value of the silver can make any difference, though we may be mistaken. But how are the Government going to "call" them in, in any case? Where is the money coming from? Finally, what purpose is to be gained by calling them in? Mr. Anderson specifies the nuisance the similarity of the two coins is to persons like bank tellers. What of it? What are the bank tellers for, we would like to know, if not to be bothered and badgered in just such a manner, and other cashiers as well? We think the Government is to be congratulated on adding this form of interest to our everyday life, which has become so monotonous and devoid of excitement. There are excellent reasons why the two coins should be kept in happy co-existence. In the first place, it helps greatly to preserve the unique distinctiveness of which we are so proud. No other country on the face of the earth, not even China, where they do strange things, would have thought of issuing two coins so nearly equal in value, almost identical in size and absolutely identical in design, with the exception of one digit in the denomination. Think of the possibilities the position contains! If, in the hurry of some cash transaction, you find you have lost a few five cents here and there, the chagrin you feel at being done is balanced by the pleasurable anticipation of doing someone else at the earliest opportunity. And what you can do among your friends in this way is nothing compared with what you can do with strangers. Hitherto ignorant travellers from the mainland have had to be told that we use the twenty-cent piece; that is no longer necessary. They expect to find quarters, so why pretend to give them anything else? The twenty-cent piece, passed across casually (heads up, of course) will do excellently. The profit accruing, small in individual cases, will be quite considerable in the aggregate. True, our reputation may suffer, but our pockets will gain, and that is much more important. There are other ways, doubtless, in which the matter can be turned to account, by way of profit or diversion, which we leave to the imagination of the reader. It would be the greatest pity in the world to make them impossible. No, let the coins stay and be added to the number of our national distinctions, like, say, our fish-stages and long carts and Water Street pavement. In any case, we have no fear of the contrary, since we know that the Government is neither able to withdraw the old coins nor has any intention of doing so.

Railway Appointments.

The numerous friends at home and abroad of Mr. J. W. N. Johnstone, General Passenger Agent of the Reid Nfld. Co., will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed assistant to the President, Mr. W. D. Reid. However, the travelling public will not lose the timely counsel and services of Mr. Johnstone, as in addition to his new work he will retain his position as G.P.A. Mr. E. W. Taylor, who for several months has been acting as General Traffic Manager in addition to his regular duties as General Freight Agent, has received his official appointment to the former position. Messrs. Johnstone and Taylor have been attached to the Company for a considerable time and are held in the highest esteem by the Directors, the employees and the public at large. Congratulations!

The Boss of Them All.

They say the Russian Bear is tough, that yet she'll make a stand; the Bear, I'll tell you, that's no bluff, the best in Newfoundland. It is the Bear Brand Rubber and they're worn by rich and poor, 'tis the BOSS of all the others, and of that we're certain sure. Some thousands all around the Isle of Bear Brand have been sold; and those who wear them get them smile, they're worth their weight in gold. From Bay St. George their praise is sung, to Green Bay's rocky strand; their name is heard on every tongue all over Newfoundland. No rubber have they in history's niche. So send your order right away and we'll supply you with the rubber that's the boss to-day in latest style and fit—adv't.

The U-Boat Problem.

(From the Chicago Tribune.) Mr. C. N. Stone, the inventor, experimenter, and profound pessimist, who is compiling a volume to be entitled "One Million Things That Won't Work," should include therein a list of devices for outwitting the U-Boats. Nets fail. Bombs from airplanes fail. All the superingenious instruments fail. But there are, nevertheless, a few facts that suggest hints of a commonplace order—such facts, for instance, as these: Of the nineteen battleships torpedoed during the war, only three were sunk. Of the merchant ships sunk practically all had a speed under fifteen knots. Any steamer can carry at least two high-speed patrol launches and each launch can carry three-inch guns of the Davis no-recoil type. It is clear enough why battleships generally survive torpedoing. They have water-tight bulkheads. So should liners. Instead of the ineffectual bulkheads now in use they should have bulkheads as effective as a battleship's. These would make them pretty nearly torpedo-proof. And no vessel of less than fifteen knot speed should enter the danger zone. The faster the better. Lord Northcliffe makes that point and insists that slow ships are doomed. His lordship is right. As for carrying patrol launches, it is a suggestion offered by John Hays Hammond, to whom we owe the hint regarding more practical watertight compartments. These high-speed launches could be lowered as soon as the vessel reached the danger zone. Then they could convey the ship. If a periscope should be sighted, they would give chase. And woe to the U-boat that dared risk employing a gunfire attack. It would be shot at from at least three angles at once.

Patriotic Family.

Mr. G. McF. Hennebury, of the Telegram office, has received the following note from the Minister of Militia, confirming the award of the Military Medal to his son, Private J. A. Hennebury, of the Newfoundland Regiment, St. John's, Newfoundland, Nov. 19, 1917.

Dear Sir,—Confirmation has been received by this Department of the award for gallantry, recently earned by your son. I am taking this opportunity of conveying to you my congratulations on the distinction earned by your son on the field of battle. It is due in a large measure, to the gallantry and conspicuous conduct of such men, that the First Newfoundland Regiment has gained such fame as a fighting force. I have the honour to be, Sir, Yours faithfully, J. R. BENNETT, Minister of Militia.

Police Court.

(Before Judge Morris.) Two boys were charged with fighting on the public street. The row occurred through one lad, who was on business for his employer, being molested by his opponent, without provocation. The later was fined $1 and costs, the other being acquitted. A watch, which was the subject of much legal debate yesterday afternoon in the Court, again occupied the greater part of this forenoon. The plaintiff is a cooper, who has sued a watchmaker for the value of his ticker. The cooper brought his watch to the defendant for repairs sometime last year. When he went for it, he claims an inferior watch to his own was given him. Quite a number of witnesses have been examined and the case is being continued this afternoon.

A New Thrill For Blase Motorists
Driving a Willys-Knight is a greater enjoyment than the novelty of your first motor car.
It registers an altogether new and different motoring experience.
While many engines perform well when new, the Willys-Knight retains its maximum efficiency, in fact grows better with use.
Can you conceive of a greater boon? It explains why the passive tolerance of many motorists has been changed into active enthusiasm by the Willys-Knight.
One veteran motorist says his car glides as smoothly and evenly as though there were a vacuum in front of the radiator instead of the powerful and faithful Willys-Knight engine back of it.
Begin now to enjoy the engine advantages obtainable from this engine that makes beneficial use of carbon; that thrives on carbon; that for thousands of miles grows stronger, and more flexible through carbon; that never needs carbon cleaning and valve grinding to "set it up."
Come in and see us about it.

WAR REVIEW.

The American Mission, headed by Col. Ed. M. House, which recently arrived in England for the purpose of discussing and co-ordinating efforts to win the war, has had its initial meeting with the British War Council and its right hand men. Details of the conference naturally have been kept secret, but the announcement is made that little formality attended it and that satisfactory progress marked the discussions. The far-reaching scope of the conference is indicated by the attendance upon the meeting of Joint representatives of the Army, Navy, Food Controllers, Shipping Boards, Treasuries and War Trade Boards. David Lloyd George, British Premier, opened the session with an address and the conference lasted an hour and a half, during which frequent re-ference was had to a mass of statistics and official documents. Col. House was not present at the opening ses-sion. Simultaneously across the Channel M. Clemenceau, the new French Premier, was reading the de-claration of the policy of the new Min-istry to the Chamber of Deputies. It was to the effect that the new Gov-ernment had assumed office in order to carry forward the war with re-doubled efforts towards its successful conclusion. It declared that the civi-lized nations were engaged in the same battle against the modern de-velopment of ancient barbarity, and that France with her Allies was the barrier in the path that should not be passed. The Premier asked each citi-zen to take his full part in the com-mon defence and show the same abnega-tion that at present exists in the Army. Some day, from Paris to the humblest village, shouts of acclama-tion will greet our victorious stand-ards stained with blood and tears and torn by shells, the magnificent appa-rition of our noble dead. The Premier concluded: "That day, the greatest day of our race, after so many other days of grandeur, it is in our power to bring forth. The Chamber by a vote of 418 to 65 expressed confidence in the new Ministry. "Between the Brenta and Piave Rivers, on the northern front of the Italian theatre, the Italians are tenaciously holding back the enemy and preventing his advance southward to the Venetian Plain, the gaining of which would threaten their entire line along the Piave River southward to the Adriatic Sea. Four times attacks against Monte Tomba, the chief position still blocking the way from the hilly coun-try to the plain, have been repulsed by the Italians. East of the Asiago Plateau the Italians are keeping up their offensive against the invaders and have taken more than 300 prisoners and a number of machine guns and several hundred rifles. Along the Piave River the enemy apparently has made no further effort to cross the stream following the serious loss he sustained in being driven back on Monday from the Zenson bridgehead. Shifting his offensive to the south, Field Marshal Haig has delivered a series of attacks against the Germans in the region between St. Quentin and the River Scarpe in France, territory on which there has been little fighting since the spring offensive, when notable gains eastward from Arras to Peronne was made. Details of the new offensive are not to hand, but the British official statement says that the stroke had satisfactory results and that a number of prisoners and a con-siderable quantity of material had been taken. A Berlin statement ad-mits that ground has been gained on the roads leading from Bapaume and Peronne toward the important rail-road junction of Cambrai. The British rapidly are encircling Jerusalem in their Palestine campaign, having now brought their forces to points 12 miles northwest and 15 miles west of the ancient city.

ANGLO-AMERICAN CONFERENCE.

LONDON, To-Day.

To-day's Anglo-American War Con-ference lasted an hour and a half, the members having frequent recourse to the mass of statistics and documents at their command. There was little formality about the proceedings. Lord Reading stated them by explaining the purpose of the meeting and a general discussion followed. At the close the conference reported that satisfactory progress had been made. Lloyd George opened the conference with a speech, which his conferees describe as having been an important state-ment. The speech, like the rest of the proceedings, is being kept secret, but one conferee said that a spirit of the greatest earnestness and unity permeated the meeting and that the most important practical results were achieved. The American representa-tives were General Tasker H. Bliss, Chief of Staff; Admiral W. S. Benson, Chief of Naval Operations; Thos. Nel-son Perkins, member of the Priority Board; Alonso Taylor, representing Food Control; Bainbridge Colby of the U. S. Shipping Board; Oscar T. Crosby, Asst. Secretary of the Treasury, and Vance McCormick, Chairman of the War Trade Board. The British representatives were Premier Lloyd George, Foreign Minister Balfour, Vis-count Milner, Geo. Nicoll Barnes, Earl Curzon of Kedleston, constituting the War Cabinet; Lord Reading and Lord Northcliffe, Earl Derby, General Sir William R. Robertson and Lieut. Gen. Jan C. Smuts, representing the Army; Sir Eric Geddes and Admiral Sir John R. Jellicoe, representing the Navy; and Major John L. Baird, Baron Rhonda, Lord Robert Cecil, Walter Hume Long and Dr. Christopher Ad-dison, representing respectively Avia-tion, Food Blockade, Petroleum and Munitions. In the course of his speech Lloyd George said that, assum-ing that the submarine situation does not get worse, the easing of the posi-tions of the Allies depends entirely upon the pace at which the American programme of launching the six mil-lion tons of shipping promises for 1918 comes into practical effect. The Premier said he wished to recognize the eager earnestness with which the people of the United States are throw-ing themselves into the great task. He expressed absolute confidence that the great democracies now marching shoulder to shoulder would utterly overthrow the menace which threat-ened liberty. The Premier thanked the Mission for the invaluable services which the United States Navy has al-ready rendered, not only in protecting commerce but in dealing with the sub-marine, for vital assistance in financ-ing the war and for effective help in many other ways. With reference to the question of supplies, Lloyd George assured the Mission that the most drastic food restrictions were about to be imposed on the people of the British Isles. The Premier told the Mission that the collapse of Russia and the reverses to Italy made it even more imperative than before that the United States shall send as many troops as possible across the Atlantic as early as possible.

EXCUSING THEIR DEVILISH DEEDS.

VENICE, To-Day.
The Italian Government must de-clare whether the Queen of the Adri-atic is or is not a fortified city, is the demand that Austria has addressed to Italy through the Spanish Amba-sador. This is interpreted here as a desire by Austria to justify whatever destruction may be caused during the forthcoming operations. All is in pre-

Boy Injured at Carbonear.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a thirteen-year-old lad named Rowe, of Carbonear, met with a serious ac-cident, while supposedly "stealing" a train ride, which may yet result in his death. The unfortunate lad is supposed to have attempted to jump on the Bay de Verde train which was pulling into the yard at Carbonear, and in doing so missed his footing and fell beneath the wheels. On in-quiry we learn that no person either at the station or on the train wit-nessed the accident, but on the train being pulled up the boy was found in an unconscious condition beneath the train, with one leg completely severed and the other badly mangled.

Everything possible was done to check the flow of blood till the arrival of Doctors Stenatford and Boyle, who were summoned by phone. Dressing the wounds the doctors had him re-moved to his home, but owing to his critical condition it was considered unwise to remove him by train to the General Hospital here.

paration to meet any eventually. B. Harvey Carroll, Jr., American Consul, has had social conferences with his colleagues, especially the French Con-sul and British Vice-Consul; all of them have decided to remain in the city up to the last moment possible. Admiral Cite, Commander of the Naval and Military forces, has promised to provide transportation for themselves and their secret archives. It is stated that those of the papers of Consulates which are found too voluminous to be carried away will be destroyed by their respective Consuls. The Japa-nese Consul, having neither subjects nor interests to protect, already has left Venice for Rome.

BUT WHAT IS THE GOVERNMENT?

LONDON, To-Day.
A Copenhagen despatch to the Ex-change Telegraph Co. says the Na-tional Tidene's Berlin correspondent learns indirectly that the new Russian Government has officially declared it has left the ranks of the belligerents and is ready to conclude a separate peace.

CARSON ATTACKS NORTHCLIFFE.

LONDON, To-Day.
Sir Edward Carson, in a speech in London to-day defending the Military and Naval leaders from recent attacks and characterizing the agitation as a shame, attacked Lord Northcliffe. He said: "In the middle of these attacks a great man, a super-man if you like, comes to tell us that in contrast with America we are inefficient and that America will have to take over the management of the war. I have great admiration for this great man, but I think it is a great calamity upon his fellow citizens, and I know it is not the view of Americans. I have had the honor of meeting many members of the American Mission and they are lost in astonishment and amazement at the organizing and effort put forth by Britain. I have searched official reports and this great man, so far as I can see, has never made one single suggestion since the war began from his seat in Parliament where he can be criticized. I attended the historic meeting in Downing Street. To-day America has shaken hands with Eng-land across the Atlantic. We are in the war together to the end and will see it through."

BRITISH FOOD SITUATION.

LONDON, To-day.
Baron Rhonda, Food Controller, in a speech in the House of Lords to-day, said he was still hopeful that com-pulsory rationing could be avoided, but that it must come unless in the approaching few weeks the public re-sponded to the appeals for voluntary rationing. There is no fear what-ever of famine, said Baron Rhonda, but the country might have to endure scarcity. The Controller said that the Allies would not lose the war through the submarines. He was san-guine there would be necessary ton-nage to provide the necessary supplies.

CAPTURING GERMAN EAST AF-RICA.

LONDON, To-day.
The sustained pursuit of the re-maining German forces in German East Africa, during which many pris-oners were captured, important posi-tions occupied, and the last heavy gun remaining to the Germans in the Col-ony taken intact, is the report made in the statement to-day. The text reads:—Continuing the pursuit on Makondo Plateau, we occupied Lut-shembon on Saturday in the face of considerable opposition and took rifles on Sunday. We occupied a large ene-my camp northwest of Kitangary Mis-sion Station, capturing 976 Germans and Askaris. The remainder of the enemy have been driven into the Kit-engary Valley. The Portuguese are approaching Newala from the south. The last of the enemy's 4.1 howitzers was taken intact on Mahindanda Road, where it had been abandoned near Mandiby, 38 miles southwest of Li-wate. An Anglo-Belgian force was engaged on Thursday and Friday with the enemy, who was endeavouring to break southward from Mahenge. Ex-clusive of enemy losses at Mandehi, 798 Germans have been killed or cap-tured by our various columns since November 1st.

The Dentist's Assistant.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A friend of mine who is a dentist has been trying to get a satisfactory assistant.

A few months ago I found a new one in his office, and when she was out of the room for a moment, he told me that he thought he had gotten the right one this time. "She has had a high school education and she seems very quick and intelligent," he said.

The next time I came in, some six months later, the girl had disappeared and I asked if she had not proved as intelligent as she had at first seemed.

She Couldn't Keep People From Getting Grouchy.

"Oh, yes, she was intelligent enough," he said. "It wasn't that. The trouble with that girl was that she hasn't any social charm. She couldn't meet people and deal with them gracefully. You wouldn't think that would matter so much in a dentist's office, but it does, a whole lot. Everyone liked that last girl I had, she always said the right thing over the telephone and if people had to wait she seemed to know how to keep them from getting grouchy. This girl couldn't do that. And if they tried to talk to her she couldn't keep them talking. She was the 'yes-no' kind. She was good at dentistry too. It was too bad."

I was immensely interested in the point of view which the dentist's words suggested.

A Saleswoman MUST Have Social Charm.

There are some lines in which it goes without saying that social charm is one of the necessary ingredients of one's daily bread. That of saleswoman, for instance, of commercial traveler, of actress. But the dentist's criticism brought it home to me that even in the businesses where dealing with people is only a secondary matter, social charm is still tremendously important.

People are the chief elements of happiness and of success. If you want happiness and success you've got to learn how to deal with people. Just being able to do something won't avail you unless you can do it so superlatively well that the world has to come to your feet whether it likes you or not. Perhaps one man in ten thousand can be that superlative.

But how is one to get this social charm is the natural question.

It's partly god given and partly the result of self and parental training.

Some Ways to Acquire Social Charm.

The knowledge of the forms of good usage is a good groundwork. The ardent desire and will to please, a pleasant smile, a well pitched and modulated voice help. And above all things—the trick of remembering what people are interested in, and the art of encouraging them to talk about it, is to be cultivated. There is a bit of cynical advice to the male wooer which I think applies quite as well to the wooing of all humanity.

"Fill a woman full of self love and all that runs over will be yours."

MEMORY.

The memory is a cold-blooded device which prevents a man from forgetting his past life. There are times in every man's life when he would be glad to forget some wayward and lawless act of his youth, like stealing watermelons from a trusted neighbor or assaulting a loved teacher in the left eye with a moist paper wad, but memory will not allow him to. Many a reputable citizen has been awakened out of a sound sleep by the rude hand of memory, as it recalls some youthful deed of violence which was followed immediately afterward by restitution in the woodshed.

The rude hand of memory recalls some youthful deed of violence.

When rightly exercised and kept within reasonable limits, memory is a great blessing to the human race. The man who can remember the loan of a $10 bill without having to be snaked into justice court should be proud of his memory, for it will enable him to borrow another ten to replace the one that is gone. It often happens that some of our most promiscuous borrowers, men who are able to recall things that happened when they were two years of age, lose all control over their memory when confronted with a due bill for money loaned without interest as late as last fall. This is called hardening of the memory and also of the cheek.

The shortest memory ever produced is found in the court room during the progress of a murder trial. This kind of a memory is usually attached to the defendant, and will not allow him to remember anything that occurred before, during or after the crime. Thousands of red-handed murderers have escaped conviction and returned to some peaceful, wife-beating parson because their memory went back on them on the witness stand.

Men in general are subject to shortness of memory. The man has not yet been discovered who can mail a letter for his wife the same week she hands it to him. The average husband is a bright little forgetter and cannot be trusted to bring anything home but a vacant look when his wife had specifically mentioned two pounds of butter. Some husbands forget faster than others, and stay downtown until it is too late to dress for a dinner party. If there were fewer hobbled memories working overtime, there would be more happiness in the home.

Memory can be cultivated, but it is dangerous to go too far back.

THE SCOLDING ERA.

WALT MARSH

I read the monthly magazines; they tell me I'm a traitor foul, if I don't cut out pork and beans, and live on slaw and roasted owl. Perhaps the magazines are right, perhaps their counsel is sublime; they have a noble goal in sight—but why abuse me all the time? The gifted speaker comes to speak in our town hall, whose lights are dim; he says I am a knave and freak, if I don't quite agree with him. He says I am too base and mean to look my own self in the eyes, because I'm burning gasoline, when countless folks are needing pies. He's doubtless right; but why get sore, and call me names to beat the Dutch? For hungry folk I'd do much more, if I were not abused so much. We want your store of hard-earned gold, to beat the Kaiser's wicked wiles, and so we rant and chide and scold, instead of wearing winning smiles. We wish you to economize, and live on prunes and salted hoss, and to encourage you we rise, and tell you you're a total loss. You hand out seven hard-earned bones to help things out on foreign shore; we roast you then, in strident tones, because you don't give seven more. This scolding stunt will have to stop if we would see good feeling live; the termagant's barbaric yawn won't make men strip their rolls and give.

A flannel dipped in turpentine will clean a porcelain tub excellently.

Your Boys and Girls.

It is an excellent rule to forbid the reading by your children of any story books outside of the school course, except on Saturdays and Sundays. The child who is fond of reading is apt to become so engrossed in a book that he will neglect exercise and study for the completion of the book.

But, if a strict rule is made and enforced, that no reading shall be done the week, except that which is necessary for his lessons, the child will find plenty of time for fresh air and sleep.

No youngster's sleep should suffer even for his lessons sake. Nine o'clock should be the latest bedtime for all school children, with Friday and Saturday nights as the only possible exceptions.

The hours from the conclusion of the evening meal to retiring should be plenty in which to prepare lessons for the following day. Then, too, if the child comes in from play at five or half past, there should be an hour before supper in which to study.

Milady's Boudoir.

THIN EYELASHES.

If your lashes are thin and straggly, or do not grow properly, your eyes will become inflamed, for your eye lashes are protection for your eyes. You cannot have a luxuriant fringe of eye lashes if you do not keep your eyes and eye lids in a healthful condition. If the eyes are weak and strained, the lashes are generally irregular, with bald spots here and there. So the first thing you must do to acquire a desirable fringe, is to keep your eyes as free from strain as possible. Just before you retire at night, and again in the morning, bathe your eyes in boracic acid solution. Use an eye cup for this.

For inflamed lids and short, scant lashes, yellow vaseline is one of the best applications. Melt a little of the vaseline, dip the point of an orange wood stick, round which a tiny wad of cotton is wrapped, into this and rub gently along the roots. Apply the vaseline at night, and allow it to relieve any soreness slowly. Be careful that not the slightest particle of the vaseline enters the eye as oil will irritate it.

The growth of the eyelashes is greatly promoted by clipping them at regular intervals for a few months. As the task requires a firm hand, it is easiest done by another. Yet, if necessary, you can do it yourself. Only the tips should be clipped and the work done with a pair of curved scissors.

A pernicious habit is that of rubbing the eyes. Almost invariably when you rub them you remove an eyelash. Rub the eyes instead of rubbing them when they feel irritated.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When I entertain, should I precede a caller or let him go ahead of me?" asked "Maud."

"It does not make a great deal of difference whether you lead the way or require your guest to go ahead of you. When one has a servant she leads the way and stands while the guest enters the room," answered her aunt.

TRUE DEFINITION OF THE SLACKERS.

NEW YORK, To-day. Ninety-five per cent of the men in the United States are loyal and are willing, if necessary, to give their lives for this country. Thos. W. Gregory, United States Attorney General, declared in an address at a dinner of the Lincoln Memorial University here to-night. Concerning the other five per cent, he said: God have mercy on them, for they can expect no mercy from this outraged nation. He characterized slackers and pacifists as moral and physical degenerates, who believe nothing is worth fighting for, but added, "They will be compelled to pay the price of their liberty. He who holds the dollar or his personal welfare superior to the welfare of these lands who are fighting our fight," he said, "Shoots them in the back and is a traitor. The name of Abraham Lincoln is often taken in vain by these advocating anarchy, socialism and disregard for law, but of all men in history of the nation there were none who had a more deep seated determination to make this country one of law and not of men. He always insisted that the law must be maintained."

MEN AND SHIPS MOST IMPORTANT.

LONDON, To-day.

In opening the speech at the Allied War Council, Premier Lloyd George said: "It is a source of great satisfaction to my colleagues and myself that this gathering of two nations now well educated to the common task of defending the liberties of the world should take place in the very room in which the statesmen of an earlier and less enlightened period committed the blunders which had estranged them." The Premier had in mind the meeting which occurred in this room, where the momentous action had been taken with respect to the American colonies nearly a hundred and fifty years ago.

And the Worst is Yet to Come

The Wellington

"This conference," the Premier continued, "is a business gathering, the culmination of hard, patient and unobtrusive work done between the members of the Mission and the various British departments. Its purpose is to determine how the United States can best co-operate with Great Britain—and the other Allies. Like Great Britain, the United States is a pacific power and she therefore has had to build up a war organization from the start. In doing so she can learn from the many mistakes which Great Britain made. Two of the most important matters to-day are manpower at the fronts and shipping."

Converted to War by German Cruelty

The Rev. Dr. Johnstone Tells Presbyterian Conference Why He Forsook Pacifism—Rejected Bryce Report—But Now, He Says, "We're in the Work of Clearing Out a Jungle of Beasts."

A dramatic confession of conversion to full faith in the holiness of the Allied purpose of the war by a Montreal clergyman who told how indisputable evidence of revolting German cruelty had forced him to abandon pacifist doctrines, stirred to its depths yesterday afternoon a joint war conference of the Presbyteries of New York, Brooklyn, Newark, New Jersey and Nassau County. His voice breaking with emotion, his manner agitated as he paced the floor and cried out that the things he had learned had seared his brain forever, the Rev. Dr. Robert G. Johnstone told how he had rejected the Bryce report of Prussian atrocities as incredible and how he had remained "lukewarm" despite all pleadings till "last night I heard from the lips of one who knows better than anyone else in the country just what the Germans had done, and now I know that we are not traitors to our country, but to Jesus Christ our Lord, if we are not in this thing to wipe out the Christless philosophy and the Christless religion of our enemies."

Dr. Johnstone's giant frame shook and his gray hair was tossed about as he walked up and spoke directly to one minister and then another, while his audience answered him with cries of "Amen" and "God be praised."

"I want to tell you men," he continued, "that we're in the work of clearing out a jungle of beasts in the centre of Europe and I wish to say to you now—the clergyman uplitted his two hands as if in prayer—"that if Germany wins this war I pray God my wife may die before those loathsome beasts set foot on the soil of this country."

The preacher, his voice still vibrant with emotion, shocked the gathering with the story of German cruelty to a woman in the throes of childbirth and her husband, a story which ended with the murder of the couple and of the infant, and then he said:

"I said before, 'it isn't true. Bryce or no Bryce,' but now I say I would I could get away" from these awful things. My whole being is stirred, and I was kept awake all night. I have preached that we keep free from anger and bitterness and condemnation; now I preach that we have got to win, for if a philosophy of force is to win out in this war, then the very throne of God will totter. Christianity has got to be saved from this awful wreckage, and Christianity will win out only when we teach them that their philosophy, which has made of Europe a shambles, shall not prevail."

The moderator of the meeting, Dr. Holland G. Mendenhall, told Dr. Johnstone solemnly as he sat down: "Brother, we are with you with all our hearts," and the clergymen and laymen present in the presbytery of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church nodded and clapped and uttered fervent "amens."—N. AUSTRIAN ATTACK REPULSED IN ALBANIA.

ROME, Nov. 20. The repulse of an Austrian attack in force in Albania is announced by the war office statement, which follows: On the Lower Verussa River at dawn on Sunday the enemy attacked in force the Glik Idris bridgehead. After a brisk fight he was forced to retire, leaving in our hands an officer and some men. The official Austrian statement yesterday said that a successful operation had been carried out against the Italians on the Lower Verussa River. It was suggested in London that this might be the initial step in an offensive against the allied armies on the Salonika front.

HAIG'S REPORT.

LONDON, Nov. 20. The report from Field Marshal Haig's headquarters in Flanders to-night reads: Soon after daylight this morning we carried out a series of operations between St. Eloi and the Scarpe. These operations have been conducted with satisfactory results. A considerable quantity of material and some prisoners have been taken, but no estimate is yet made.

BERLIN ADMITS ADVANCE.

BERLIN, Nov. 20. A supplementary report from general headquarters to-night says: There was artillery activity at Poperinghe and Passchendaele (Flanders). In the region between the roads leading from Bapaume and Peronne towards Cambrai, the British attacked with strong forces and gained ground. Our counter measures are in full swing.

ITALIANS REPULSE ATTACKS.

ROME, Nov. 20. The struggle between the Austro-Germans and Italians on Monte Tomba and Monte Fenera, in the mountain region of Northern Italy, continues. It was officially announced to-day that the invading forces were driven back four times when they attempted to take the Italian positions on the Monte Fenera spur.

CAPTURE OF 1,200 AUSTRIANS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. The capture of twelve hundred Austrians who crossed the Piave River is announced in a message from General Diaz, the Italian Commander-in-Chief to his army, received here to-day by cable. The General pays a high tribute to the young reserves of 1918, who have just received their baptism of fire. On the river which to-day bars the enemy from the roads leading further into our motherland, the message says, they have conducted themselves magnificently. Their ardent enthusiasm coupled with the experience of older companions, triumphed over the enemy. Some Austrian battalions which had dared to cross the Piave met their fate. Twelve hundred prisoners were taken and some Italian guns which had fallen into the hands of the invaders have been captured and brought again by soldiers to their positions, marked by the bodies of the artillerymen who remained at their posts of duty to the very end. In the supreme hour of duty and honor in which the army with firm faith and strong heart keeps the enemy back on the river and on the mountain, the entire army should know that our young soldiers have proved worthy of the glory and traditions of their regiments.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. Unofficial despatches received at the State Department to-day from Tornea, on the Swedish frontier, say that passengers arriving there from Russia declare the Russian situation is controlled by General Kaledines, the Cossack commander, who holds the country's coal and bread supply in the Don Cossack region. A despatch from Tornea, dated yesterday, reports the arrival there of several Americans from Petrograd in advance of the large party being sent away by Ambassador Francis. Petrograd was said to be quiet, while the theatres are open and trains are running. Soldiers were parading the streets of the city bearing banners stating that "Russia does not want a separate peace," and demanding a constitutional assembly for all Russia and declaring that the Nicholas regime was never so tyrannical as that of the Bolsheviks. The passengers were of the opinion that the present revolutionary movement cannot last because it lacks the support of all parties including the extreme Socialists. Kerensky is again reported to have escaped capture and to have gone to the front in an effort to get support.

ALLENBY REPORTS THE CAPTURE OF BEIT URET TAHIL.

LONDON, Nov. 20, (official.) General Allenby reports our mounted troops occupied Beit Uret Tahil, 12 miles northwest of Jerusalem, on Sunday. Yesterday our infantry advancing into the highland of Judah, reached a line 15 miles west of Jerusalem.

A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, Nov. 20. The Chamber of Deputies to-day gave a vote of confidence to Clemenceau, the new Premier, of 418 to 65.

CLEMENCEAU'S DECLARATION.

PARIS, Nov. 20. Premier Clemenceau read to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon the ministerial declaration which had been decided upon by the new Cabinet. In the Senate the document was read by Louis Nail, Minister of Justice. The declaration follows: "We have accepted places in the Government to conduct the war with redoubled effort, for the better application of all our energies. We come before you with the sole idea of integral war. We would like that confidence which we shall ask you to give us as your conscientious action, and we appeal to the historic virtues that exist in us as French. Never did France feel so eagerly the need to life and develop in the hour of a trial placed at the service of human conscience progressively in a resolve to advance the right both among individuals and between peoples capable of establishing their liberties, and to conquer that justice may prevail. That is the watchword of all our governments since the beginning of the war. That programme, as open as the sky, we shall maintain, as open as the sky, we shall maintain. We have great soldiers of great traditions under a leader tempered by trials and animated by that supreme devotion which gave their leader renown. Through them, through all of us, our immortal native land in noble ambitions of peace will pursue the course of its destinies. These Frenchmen that we were constrained to throw into battle have claims upon us. Their desire is that none of our thoughts turn away from them, that none of our acts be foreign to their interests. We owe them everything without any reserve, everything for France bleeding in her glory, everything for the exaltation of right triumphant. Our single, simple duty is to stand by the soldier, to live, suffer and fight with him and renounce everything that is not of the Fatherland. The hour has come for us to be solely French and with pride to declare that that suffices for us. Let everything to-day be blended in the claims of the front and the duty in the rear. Let every zone be a zone of war. If there must be men who find in their souls the impulse of old times let us put them aside. All civilized nations are engaged in the same war against the modern development of ancient barbarity. Against this with all our good Allies we are a rock barrier that shall not be passed. Let only fraternal solidarity, the surest foundation of the world to

How the Vicious Circle of Neurasthenia is Formed

WHEN the nerves are overstrained by mental exertion, by accident or by shock the irritation makes rest or sleep impossible, and consequently there is no restoration of the wasted nerve force.

In its turn digestion fails, because there is lack of nervous energy to control the flow of gastric juices in the stomach and to operate the other organs of digestion.

Failing to obtain the necessary nourishment, the blood becomes thin and watery, and as a result the nerves are further starved and rendered less capable of standing the strain put upon them.

In this way is formed the vicious circle of neurasthenia or nervous prostration, and there is no magical way in which the circle may be broken up.

Overstrained Nerves, Loss of Sleep, Indigestion

The Food Cure

Mrs. George Ross, Augusta street, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "Some two years ago I was attacked with neurasthenia, or nervous prostration. I doctored with different doctors without any good results, and even took a trip to a distant city to see if I could not recuperate. But upon returning I found I was no better—in fact, I kept getting worse all the time. I had no appetite, could not sleep, and had to be helped up and down stairs. I also had terrible headaches. One day a book was left at the door telling about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I decided to try it. My folks derided the idea, but I went ahead and secured a box, and before finishing that first box I could see that I was getting better. You may be sure I was delighted to find a remedy that would give me relief. I continued taking them, and recovered so thoroughly that I was able to help with the house-cleaning that spring. During my nervous collapse I had fallen from 115 pounds to 90, and since my recovery have weighed as much as 110 pounds. I still keep Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the house, and use them when I feel the need of them. I have recommended them to a great many people around Cornwall, as I feel that I cannot speak too highly of them."

come, be shown at the forefront of the alliance, at every instant, everywhere in the field, France has suffered from everything that makes man firm. In her hope, drawn from the sources of purest humanity, she contents to suffer for the defence of the soil of her great ancestors, with the hope of opening ever wider to men as to peoples all doors of life. The force of the French soul is in that. That is what animates our people as their work, as well as while they fight. Alas there have been crimes also crimes against France. Let them receive prompt chastisement. We take before you, before the country that demands justice, an engagement that justice shall be done according to the rigors of the law. Neither personal consideration nor political ardor will turn us from our duty or lead us to go beyond it. Too many criminal attempts have already been made on our battlefield in the shedding of a superabundance of French blood. Weakness would be complicity. We shall be without weakness as without violence. All accused before court martials, that is our policy. The soldier in the pretorium in solidarity with the soldier in combat. No more pacifist campaigns, no more German intrigues; neither treason nor semi-treason. War, nothing but war. Our armies shall not be taken between two fires. Justice is on the way. The country will know that it is defended and France for ever free. We have paid too great a price for our liberties to cede any part of them. Beyond the needs of preventing divulgations and excitements from which the enemy might profit, a censorship shall be maintained for diplomatic and military information, as well as GERMAN ATTACK ON VERDUN FRONT. PARIS, Nov. 20. The Germans made an attack last night on a front of one kilometre in the Verdun sector north of Courlevres Wood. They succeeded in penetrating French advanced positions over a small extent of this front, says to-day's official statement, but were substantially expelled for the most part.

RIOTING IN BERLIN. LONDON, Nov. 20. Serious rioting took place in Berlin last Sunday, according to despatches received by the wireless press and Exchange Telegraph Co. from Amsterdam. The message to the Exchange Telegraph says that the fighting between the mob and police was very fierce and that there was a heavy casualty list, as the police used their firearms.

BERLIN OFFICIAL. BERLIN, Nov. 20. There were no fighting operations on the East front, says to-day's official statement. In Macedonia, on the west bank of the Vardar, Bulgarian thrusting troops penetrated French trenches and took prisoners.

TO TAKE UP HIS DUTIES. PARIS, Nov. 20. General Marie Fayolle, Commander of the French forces in Italy, departed last night to take up his duties. General Fayolle has a reputation as a scientific soldier, earned largely while he was Professor at the War School.

CHARGED WITH PLOTTING. PETROGRAD, Nov. 20. Vladimir Purishkevich, former member of the Duma, who led in the attack on German influence in the Russian Army and the "dark forces" shortly before Emperor Nicholas was deposed, was arrested to-day on a charge of being at the head of a monarchist plot. With him at the hotel in which he was living under an assumed name was Prince Youssouppoff, who figured in the assassination of the Monk Rasputin.

NOTHING FROM RUSSIA. LONDON, Nov. 20. No headquarters communication was issued to-day, says an official wireless message from Petrograd.

SUB. WAS DESTROYED. PARIS, Nov. 20. A German submarine was destroyed at the time the French steamship Medvo with a cargo of munitions, was torpedoed in the Western Mediterranean, Sept. 23, with a loss of 250 lives, says a despatch from Algiers to the Journal.

SUCCESSFUL RAID. LONDON, Nov. 20. Axfordshire and Buckinghamshire troops made a successful raid last night east of Fampoux, says to-day's official statement. In the region of Wyschaete a raiding party of Germans was driven off by our fire.

ENEMY TROOPS BUSY.

LONDON, Nov. 20. A telegram from Maastricht, Holland, to Amsterdam forwarded by the Central News, reports great movements of troops with artillery on all the roads leading to the Flanders front. These troops evidently are from the Russian front, the despatch says.

MAY STRIKE ELSEWHERE.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 20. Reports from several sources in Germany bear out the assumption that taking advantage of the situation in Russia, the German Government is making a heavy transportation of troops from the Russian front. Only a part of them appear to be going to Italy, where the front is too narrow to permit of the use of great masses, and a blow of Von Hindenburg at some other point in the way of a diversion may perhaps be expected. Some troops are reported to have been moved to the western front, but this is not necessarily significant, as Field Marshal Haig's pounding tactics necessitate frequent reliefs for exhausted German divisions. German newspapers discuss with much frankness and avidity the prospect of an offensive on the Salonika front, but have never a word to say about the obvious chance of a smashing blow at Roumania in an effort to end the resistance of the nation. As for Italy, if the Austrians and Germans find the reinforced Italian army too hard a nut to attempt to crack, the Central Powers can easily and quickly change to the defensive on a strong line for the purpose of seeking to force a decision on some other selected front with the bulk of their strategic reserve.

SOCIALISTS DISPERSED.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 20. Independent Socialists tried to hold a meeting in Berlin on Sunday, despite the Government prohibition against them. Afterwards a small number of Socialists held a demonstration in the streets of Eastern Berlin, but were dispersed without difficulty by the police.

THE BOLSHIEVIKI.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 20. Seven commissioners appointed by the Maximalist Government to manage various departments, have resigned their posts in protest against the "methods of political terrorism," by which they allege the Bolsheviks seek to maintain themselves in office. "We are of opinion," they assert in the declaration announcing their retirement, "that the necessary form of Socialist government by parties is that participated in by a Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates." They do not wish to follow the lines chosen by the Bolsheviks which they assert "lead to alienating the proletariat element from political life and lead to the creation of an impossible regime which means the destruction of the revolution and the country." Among the commissioners quitting their posts were those in charge of trade, industry, interior, supplies and press. The labor commissioner joined in the protest, but retained his post.

C C C Band Dance.

The C. C. C. Band's regular monthly dance takes place in their new hall (King's Beach) on Friday next, No-vember 23rd, at 9 p.m. This dance promises to be the best the Band have yet attempted, and consequently in order to reach all purses they have reduced the price of the tickets as follows: Gent's (single) 50c., Lady's (single) 50c., and double, $1.00 (in-cluding supper) which will be served by Mesdames C. Buckley, T. Redmond, Mitchell, Bears and others. The dance programme will consist of 5 or 5 square and 8 round dances in or-der to give all a chance to enjoy themselves. The full band will play Am-erican, Scotch and their own "Cadets"
-lancers, and also their best waltzes and two-steps and waltz-lancers.
Those who attend are therefore as-sured of an enjoyable "old time"
-dance. Remember this will be the last C.C.C. dance until December 26th.
(St. Stephen's Night).

Green Bay Herring Fishery.

Herring are reported plentiful and of a very large size in various parts of Green Bay and prospects for a big voyage are bright. At Springdale, where the fishes are most plentiful, several factories will operate during the season. As high as $4 a barrel from the net is now being paid by American buyers who are on the "grounds."

POSTUM

without harm

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. Frank Ryan, of Bristol's Hope, died suddenly there on Saturday morning last. The funeral took place yesterday, interment taking place in the C. of E. Cemetery here.

If the notice of the sailings of the Bay boats are to be a benefit to the public they should be correctly stated.
This is very often not done and several times we have intended to refer to in-accuracies. For instance, the St.
John's papers said on Monday, "The Argyle leaves Placentia this afternoon for the West," when really that boat was sailing on the Red Island route.
Such statements might cause much inconvenience to people sending freight or taking passage on this boat.

The S. S. Hawk arrived from St.
John's last night to the Shipbuilding
Co.

The annual missionary meeting of the Methodist Church took place in Coughlan Hall last night and was very well attended. The speakers were Rev. Geo. Bond, of St. John's; Rev. C. R. Blount, Rev. F. S. Coffin,
of St. Andrew's Church, and Rev. A.
N. Holmes. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Trappell. Very inter-esting addresses were delivered by the different speakers.

St. Paul's Women's Association will hold their annual Sale of Work in St.
Paul's Hall on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The Women's Working Guild of Christ Church will hold their Sale of Work on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. This affair promises to be very enjoyable, and all should make an effort to attend and get the share of enjoyment-allotted to each of the patrons.

Mrs. Collins, mother of Mr. A. L. Col-lins, who has been visiting her son for the past few weeks, intends returning to Heart's Content, to-morrow. Her visit to Harbor Grace has been a very enjoyable one.

Poultry Show.

The sixth annual exhibition under the auspices of the Nfld. Poultry As-sociation will be formally opened by His Excellency the Administrator in the British Hall this afternoon and promises to be the best of its kind yet held here. In addition to an excep-tionally large number of exhibits of poultry there will be a fine display of vegetables, and trained dogs will be on exhibition as an attraction to visitors. A number of silver cups and money prizes are up for competition and much rivalry is manifested among the exhibitors.

Carpenters' Meeting.

The Carpenters and Joiners Union met last night in the British Hall, Mr.
F. Goff presiding. The Union has be-come affiliated with the American branch and now membership is open to all wood workers, millwrights, etc.
Only routine business was discussed and several new members were ad-mitted into the ranks.

TO NURSE AT THE FRONT.—Miss
Ruby Ayre, eldest daughter of Mr. F.
W. Ayre, who has been giving her services at Lady Roberts' Hospital, at Ascot, England, has volunteered for work at the front and was to leave London for France yesterday.

In Memoriam.

Patrick and Ann Byrne, of Holyrood,
"They lived and died together."

A few days ago the Angel of Death visited the home of Mr. Patrick Byrne, and carried off to the Great Beyond his beloved wife, Ann Byrne, and two days later the same angel visited again the same house, and took off himself, Mr. Patrick Byrne. The fun-eral of Mrs. Byrne took place from her late home on Saturday morning to Holy Cross Church where Solemn High Mass of Requiem was sung for the repose of her soul, by Rev. Fr.
Finn, thence to the central cemetery where her remains were interred. The funeral of Mr. Byrne took place on the following Monday morning from the deserted house of mourning to the Church, where again Father Finn officiated at the High Mass of the fun-eral obsequies, thence to the central cemetery where his remains were placed beside those of his wife, buried two days before, and side by side they sleep to await Gabriel's trumpet horn. The late Mr. and Mrs. Byrne were hardworking, honest and indus-trious farmers and lived upon the fruits of their toil in that industry.
Recently they lived all alone to themselves, their family having emigra-ted and settled in the U.S.A. Both were old landmarks, having reached over 80 years; and up to some months ago were able to look after themselves. Rev. Fr. Finn visited the sick people often and administered to them the last sacraments and the comforts of holy religion. Capt. Lewis, who had charge of the funeral appoint-ments, cabled to their son Michael, at Boston, but he arrived too late to take part in the funeral ceremonies of his father and mother. The late Mr.
Byrne took a prominent part in local affairs, and for nine years, in the nineties, was Chairman of the Town Council, a thorny office, but he per-formed his duties so as to give pretty general satisfaction to the people. To the bereaved sons and daughters, Michael, Patrick, Ellen, Mary and Ann we offer our sincere sympathy, and may God rest the souls of their father and mother, Mr. Patrick and Mrs. Ann Byrne.

Always the cookbook says:
"Sift Your Flour."
No lumps, you see. Aerates the flour, making it lighter.
Put FIVE ROSES in your sifter.
Never soft and sticky—never lumpy,
musty, woolly.
Never coarse.
Milled superfine from Manitoba's grandest wheat.
Fine, granular, very dry.
Nothing remains in the sifter—FIVE ROSES is free, heavy.
And your bread is more porous, more yielding, more appetizing.
And more Digestible.
Because the particles are finer, easier to get at by the stomach juices.
Use this very fine flour—superfine.

Obituary.

JOHN MARSHALL.
Passed peacefully away after a brief illness, at the age of 71 years, an old and respected resident of Holytown, in the person of John Marshall, leaving to mourn a nephew, Mr. J.
Bridden (mason) of this city, one niece, Mrs. Sibald, Toronto, Can., two sisters in United States. The funeral will take place from his nephew's residence, 4 Cook's Hill, on Thursday at 3.15 p.m.

Here and There.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. Michael
Byrne, son of the deceased, Holyrood, wishes to acknowledge his sincere and grateful thanks to the following friends for their acts of kindness and charity who visited, cared for and ministered to the wants of his de-ceased parents: Capt. and Mrs. Le-wis, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byrne, Wm. Coady. (Bos-ton papers please copy.)

Household Notes.

Cabbage and turnips give soup a delicious flavor.
- Drippings from fresh pork may be used like lard.
- Cottonseed oil flavored with olive oil is very palatable.
- Brown Betty is better if the fruit overbalances the bread.
- Bread pudding is greatly improved with raisins in it.
- A small wooden knife is best for scraping food from dishes.

Corn fritters with graham muf-
-fins is a good combination.
- All meat and fish left-overs can be made into meat or fishcakes.
- India meal puddings are very good served with roast beef.
- Butterine can be substituted in any recipe calling for butter.
- Eat the products of your own com-munity as far as possible.
- Green vegetables should be boiled in freshly boiled salted water.
- Irish stew is nutritious enough to serve for the main dish at a meal.

The Value of our Guarantee.

A valued shareholder of this Company has very pointedly raised the question "What does your guarantee mean?" and because our answer must necessarily be of great interest to every investor, we are making it public. Every dollar that we accept for Perfection shares goes into the Treasury of the Company, and as a guarantee of its safety, there is behind it—

1. The entire plant, machinery, equipment, real estate, etc., of the Perfection Tire Co. as located at Madison and Wabash.
2. The entire assets of the Chicago Brokerage Co., who is marketing the shares. Their sworn surplus for August last was $697,560.93, and one item alone of their assets is estimated at $33,000,000.
3. The entire assets of this Company and the share-holdings of the Directors.

We consider No. 2 item to be absolute security for all the business we accept.
