Corn Frowns Vanish in a Moment

HERE is a fact which millions know. It is so clear, so simple that it makes a corn ridiculous. You can stop any corn pain in a jiffy, and stop it for good.

You can end any corn quickly and end it completely. You can do this without any bother, without any soreness, without any muss.

No corns are utterly unnecessary. And folks who have them nowadays do themselves wrong.

You can prove these facts on any corn by applying a Blue-jay plaster. The pain will stop instantly.

Then a bit of red wax, centered on the corn, will gently undermine it. In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. An occasional corn needs a second application.

This is a scientific method, invented by a famous chemist.

CHAPTER IV.

IN NEED OF A PHYSICIAN.

With a feeling of depression—of vague foreboding that must have been a sort of forecast of what was to follow—I lifted my head from the pillow on the following morning, and went downstairs to light the fire and prepare the breakfast.

The snow had ceased to fall, but the cold was still intense; and Addie, looking white and scared, came down presently with the tidings that Len seemed so ill and strange that he was quite unable to get up.

"We must send for a doctor, Lesley, and the sooner the better I think," she added.

As soon as possible, a messenger was dispatched, on the advice of our landlady, Mrs. Battles—of whom, in our ignorance of the medical fraternity, we were compelled to ask guidance—to her pet physician, Doctor Clayton, begging him to come to us as quickly as possible.

"Oh! if that doctor would but come!" I exclaimed, for the twentieth time, as we watched hour after hour by the side of the patient, who lay in a state of raging fever that threatened his reason. At last, when despair had reached a climax, I resolved not to wait for Doctor Clayton, but to go in search of another.

Harrying on my hat and ulster with again, and certainly not of the stuff of which sentimental young ladies are disposed to make heroes.

"Not a handsome man, by any means," I thought, with a second glance into the dark, determined face, that in spite of its sternness impressed me with the firm conviction that I stood in the presence of a man whom I could trust implicitly; and the next moment I was pouring forth my story of our terrible anxiety about poor Len, and Doctor Clayton's cruel neglect of us.

Something, that in another man might have been a smile, relaxed the grim, dark face for a moment, as with a gentleness hardly to be expected from a somber giant, who looked as if he would have been infinitely more in his element mowing down his enemies with a flashing scimitar, under the burning Eastern sun, than in listening to a prosaic tale of sickness and sorrow in this humdrum little London parlor, he assured me of his willingness to help me to the best of his power.

"And now, Miss Kendrick, go back to your sister," he added. "I shall be there in less than an hour."

Nothing loath to escape the searching gaze of those piercing black eyes that seemed to be looking into rather than at me, I obeyed, to meet the astonished inquiries of Addie, who was in the parlor, preparing a cooling drink for our patient.

"Where have I been? Why, in quest of what Diogenes of old so vainly sought, to be sure—an honest man; and, what's more, I've found him, too," I replied triumphantly. "He's coming directly, Addie, and I hope you won't be afraid of him. I'm afraid he isn't very bland to look at, but we must put up with that, for he's so clever. I don't know how I know it, but I do; and I'm just as sure that he is going to save poor Len for us as I am that you stand there."

"Is it a doctor?" she asked, in surprise. "Why, Lesley, you don't mean to say that you have really found that paragon of youth and skill of whom you were going so glibly to search?"

"Oh, well," I replied, with a sigh of regret to the memory of my ideal young doctor, with his handsome face and engaging manners, "Doctor Fuller isn't very young, and I'm afraid he is fearfully dark and stern. I think it must have been what you clever people call the 'cruel irony of Fate' that dropped such a very square peg as Doctor Fuller into such a drearily round hole as the medical profession.

"You ought to put him into a story," I added, for if not gifted with any of the divine afflatus myself, I am always on the lookout for materials for my artistic brother and sister; "though what on earth you could make of him, unless you could fit him into some highly tragic and effective situation, I can't conceive. You couldn't possibly fancy a man like Doctor Fuller doing the sentimental lover line of business if you tried for a month; and what business any man who looks so much as if he had been designed by nature to play the part of an Eastern despot, with a predilection for chopping off heads and strangling people with a bowstring can have examining people's tongues, and studying medical books, and dry bones and things, I can't conceive." I added, lifting my eyes from Addie's to an opposite mirror, to behold—horror of horrors!—Doctor Robert Fuller's stern, dark face, standing in the open doorway close behind me, listening to every word I was saying.

Shall I ever forget the awful, guilty shock that thrilled me through and through, from the crown of my head to the tips of my toes, as I dropped like a detected thief from my perch on the table, and turned to meet the searching gaze of those stern dark eyes with a desperate longing in my soul for the door to open and swallow me up out of sight!

CHAPTER V.

A MAN WITH A HISTORY.

FOR just one dreadful moment, that seemed like an age, Doctor Fuller stood there, looking down at me with the stern, unbending gaze of a man who is not to be moved by the agonies of any such miserable little culprit as I am; and the next moment, feeling for the first time in my life that there are eyes in the world the glance of which I dared not meet, I turned and fled from the room, leaving Addie to receive and conduct him to his patient as best she could.

Of course he must have heard every word I said of him. How could he have failed? Throwing myself ab-

CIGARETTE BURN

Men who smoke know how painful a burn of this kind can be. Just smear on a little Zam-Buk and it will give you no more trouble. Even a little burn, if neglected, may develop into a very sore place, as Mr. J. A. Savard, of Detroit, Que., found. He says: "I burned one of my fingers with a cigarette. I applied some ointment and thought it would be all right, but instead of getting better it got worse, until the nerve severed the entire top of my hand. I suffered such pain that I could not sleep, and tried everything I could think of but could not cure it. Finally a friend recommended Zam-Buk, which gave me wonderful relief, and the continued use of it completely healed the sore."

For cuts, blisters, rash, eczema, sores, blood-poisoning and piles Zam-Buk is equally good. All cures 50c box.

CIGARETTE BURN
 Men who smoke know how painful a burn of this kind can be. Just smear on a little Zam-Buk and it will give you no more trouble. Even a little burn, if neglected, may develop into a very sore place, as Mr. J. A. Savard, of Doucet, Que., found. He says: "I burned one of my fingers with a cigarette. I applied some ointment and thought it would be all right, but instead of getting better it got worse, until the sore covered the entire top of my hand. I suffered such pain that I could not sleep, and tried everything I could think of but could not cure it. Finally a friend recommended Zam-Buk, which gave me wonderful relief, and the continued use of it completely healed the sore."
 For cuts, blisters, rash, eczema, sores, blood-poisoning and piles Zam-Buk is equally good. All dealers see box.

Thoughts Upon the Times
 (By PATRIOT.)
 These are strange days in which we live. Nothing seems to count for much except money and the transient pleasures which money can buy. Not over four years of ghastly war with all its attendant horrors and terrors have made more than a passing impression upon us. Our young men—the best and bravest we had—have offered up their lives in thousands to help make the "world safe for democracy," but we regard it little more than a dream.
 Four years ago Russia was our greatest and strongest ally. To-day if the pall that is hanging over Russia could be lifted the civilized world would recoil in horror and abhorrence at the scenes disclosed. Trotsky and Lenin have performed their brutal task well and have more than satisfied their Hun employers. A few years ago they were political agitators and their disciples believed that their life was to mark the death of the downtrodden and the oppressed, but like all other human agitators, right down through the ages, they fell down and worshipped the golden image.
 There is an old saying which says "you cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear." In plain Anglo-Saxon you cannot make a gentleman out of a clown or a churl. You may have honours and knightships conferred upon him but if he is the brightly dignified is not there, he is like the building of old, "bedaubed with untempered mortar." The recent disreputable attack, made by the Editor of the Evening Herald, upon his colleague of the Upper Chamber, without sufficient grounds or justification calls for severe censure from the public. If it were made in the heat of a political campaign it would probably be overlooked. But there was no provocation to justify the attack and the author of it had not even "street gossip" enough as evidence to make such a charge against a shoebuck.
 There is only one other case parallel with it in recent years, and that was the pushing of Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden into the water by the agent of the man who now virtually rules this country.
 Let us mark well the position which this individual holds among us, and ask ourselves if his actions do not compromise us. He is the President of our Legislative Chamber, a position which certainly should be filled by a gentleman. He also fills other important and responsible positions and has recently been elevated to the honour of a Knight of the Order of the British Empire. It may be said in our defence that these honours and favours have not been bestowed upon him by popular behest, or for any meritorious services rendered to the Country or Empire; but because he happened to be one of the leaders of a political ring, who have succeeded for the time being, by intrigues, to get control of the Government of this country. But he has dragged the Military Service Board into this unseemly and disreputable matter and caused an investigation to be held without having a kernel of evidence upon which to base his charge. This has taken up the time of the gentlemen sitting on this Board which should be given to affairs of the Regiment. Let us mark, too, that this is the same man who has defended the delinquents in the recent, Custom House scandal, and refused to publish the report of the Auditor-General being of the matter. He has done his best to prevent an investigation into the alleged disappearance of thousands of dollars from the public treasury. Let those who bear rule over us take note of this incident, as men are known by the company they keep.
 "To err is human, to forgive is divine." Let us see whether the man who can sink so low as to make a charge of this nature against another, can rise to the occasion and muster up courage enough to apologize.
 An anonymous writer in Wednesday's Advocate, writing in favor of the Housing Scheme and the means whereby the laborer may be able to get to and from his work, asks for the endorsement of His Grace Archbishop Roche, His Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland and the Hon. Drs. Jones and Curtis. All everyone knows an attempt has been made by certain parties to drag this respectable question through the mire of politics (the writer referred to included) they who should the above named estimable clerics be expected to participate in this discussion? This is a question for such hard-headed business men as Hon. John Anderson and Mayor Gosling to handle.
 The efforts that are being made by the Ladies of the Patriotic Association to give our returning heroes the right royal reception on their arrival should be backed up by the whole community. After all these boys have gone through and suffered for us, the least thing we can do for them is to give them a rousing "Welcome Home."

 This occurred several days after the United States cruiser San Diego had been destroyed off Fire Island, presumably by a mine planted by the submarine. There was no information to show that the submarine which sunk the Porto was the same one that attacked the tug and barges, but it was assumed that it was. There has been several unofficial reports recently of steamers sending radio messages that they were being attacked off the coast, but if they were destroyed their crews have not yet been landed on American shores so far as the Navy Department has been advised.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION
 Instead I took Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.
 Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound before consulting a doctor. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BATTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.
 It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

BERLIN REPORT.
 BERLIN, Aug. 1. There has been fierce fighting northwest of Fere-en-Tardenois, says the German official communication issued this evening, but on the rest of the front there is nothing to report.

BRITAIN'S FINANCES.
 LONDON, Aug. 1. Bonar Law, analyzing the expenditure under the various heads, the Chancellor explained that the increase of £3,000,000 in the army expenditure was due to the fact that the strength of the army was greater than at the time the budget estimate was framed. Regarding loans to the Allies, and the Dominions, Mr. Bonar Law said the debt due Great Britain at the end of the last fiscal year was £1,332,000,000 from Allies and £198,000,000 from the Dominions, while the debt due from the Allies now, he added had reached a total of £1,402,000,000, and from the Dominions £2,008,500,000. The Chancellor said the expenditure on the army showed an increase of £3,000,000 over the estimates. Loans to the Allies and Dominions had increased less than the estimates by £27,700,000.

NO INCREASE IN EXPENDITURE.
 LONDON, Aug. 1. In asking for the vote of credit of £700,000,000 in the House of Commons, Andrew Bonar Law, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that the largeness of the amount was not due to increased expenditure but to the fact that Parliament was about to adjourn. He hoped, he said, that not more than one more vote would be necessary before the end of the fiscal year. The vote asked is the largest in the history of the country. It is intended for the carrying on of the war until the end of October.
 The amount that has been loaned to Russia was £568,000,000, the Chancellor stated, while to France, £403,000,000 and to Italy £213,000,000, and to Belgium, Greece and smaller nations £139,000,000. Mr. Bonar Law said that in 1916 Great Britain had agreed to give to the Italian exchequer a monthly credit to be used to help the Italian exchange. A similar contribution, the Chancellor added was being made by America and France. The rate of interest charged Mr. Bonar Law said, was five per cent, which was below the rate which the Government was paying.

THE GERMAN SUB.
 LONDON, Aug. 1. Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman in the House of Commons, stated in the Lower House to-day that German submarines were being sunk at a far greater rate than heretofore.
PLANES BROUGHT DOWN.

The Press Censor.

The business of a newspaper is to keep its readers supplied with all the interesting happenings of the day, local and foreign, city and outport. Therefore almost everything that comes within the purview of its literary department is regarded as legitimate news, meet for purveying to the public. Time was when there were no restrictions on matter for publication, and so long as the law of libel was not transgressed, everything went merrily. But these good old days are no longer with us. The exigencies of war has created and developed officials known as censors, and their business is primarily to direct the press in the way it should go according to their ideas of the fitness of things. This new growth is not indigenous to any particular country, but flourishes in the chief towns and capitals of every nation at war. His heel sets heavily on the brow of the journalist, and consequently he is not persona grata, in his official capacity, with the members of the fourth estate, no matter how genial a soul he may be in his individuality. He is universally execrated in printing offices even the "devil" himself not having a good word to say in his favour. No expression of opinion may be offered on any of the subjects tabooed by order, and the press man who has the temerity to disobey the official instructions suffers the penalty—sometimes suppression, sometimes a fine, in many cases both. Newspaper zeal in giving publicity to an item of news, referring to some naval or military event, is frowned upon and no reporter may say that the sailing ship Oceanus reached port this morning from the Antipodes having made a record run, with Captain and crew all well, without incurring the censorial wrath and displeasure. Hence it is that the knight of the pencil and pad is no longer seen along the waterfront hobnobbing with sea captains and jotting down notes on a "sea serpent" story or listening to Barnacle Bill yarns of fights between giant squids and sperm whales. All those have been verboten and that is the real reason why "sea stories" are conspicuous by their absence as a feature of each daily issue. As public utilities press censors are, perhaps, necessary evils. They are part of the war system, and being cogs of that great machine, are indispensable to its revolutions, though it is extremely doubtful if the machine would cease to revolve if a cog or two slipped, or even if such an occurrence would impair its usefulness—the machines, not the censors. So many subjects are placed on the index prohibitorum of the censor that writers warily lest they fall into the clutches of the omnipotent personages, who in time of war, direct what shall and what shall not be printed. In submitting to the dictum of the press censor the sentiment contained in the line "I would that my pen could utter, the thoughts that arise in me", is often uppermost in the editorial mind but expression to these thoughts dare not be given lest the blow fall.

Our Representatives.

Mysterious are the ways of Governments, and of the departmental heads thereof, and perhaps no administration within the British Empire is so fond of concealing certain matters than is that of this Dominion. One of our reporters yesterday had the honor of an interview with the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who informed our representative that he had received an invitation to attend the Halifax Fisheries Conference, dated July 11th, and that the Minister accompanied by Mr. A. E. Hickman, the former representing the Government, the latter the commercial interests, would attend this convention. The choice is a good one, and we are sure that Messrs. Stone and Hickman will add to the personnel of the Conference. Newfoundland's interest in the fisheries will be ably presented by these gentlemen and their opinions will be heard with the closest attention, and whatever forms of legislation may be adopted for the preservation and cultivation of the various fishing industries under discussion, similar legislation, with modifications to suit conditions, should be advantageous to this country.

Here and There.

SUNDAY'S TRAIN.—For the convenience of the friends and relatives of the G.I.s now in camp at Top-sail, the Reid Nfld. Co. have arranged to send out a couple of extra cars attached to Sunday's express, which will leave the station at 1.30 p.m. The return to the city will be made at the usual hour, the train leaving Kelligrews at 8.07 p.m.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT.—This morning, when coming down Duckworth Street, one of the Newfoundland Express Co.'s vans had one of its hind wheels broken off by getting caught in the street car track. The van had a heavy load on at the time, otherwise the accident would not have happened. It is now at Oke's carriage factory receiving repairs.

EXPRESS PASSENGERS.—The following first class passengers are on the incoming express: Mrs. A. Thomas, Jas. Seward, Mrs. A. Muford, and two children, Mrs. T. Bell, Miss M. St. John, W. L. Reddit, S. Emmet, R. and Mrs. Hudson, Miss M. Hunt, Miss M. Carew, Miss R. Maloney, A. Manuel, A. and Mrs. Campbell.

SUMMER SCHOOL OUTING.—Owing to weather conditions the visit of the teachers attending the Summer School to Bowring Park as the guests of Sir Edgar Bowring, has been postponed until to-morrow Saturday. It is hoped that as many owners of motor cars as possible will come forward on Saturday afternoon to give the teachers a joy ride to the park. Cars should be at the Methodist College Hall (Harvey Row entrance) at 2.30 or as soon after as possible.

To-Day's Messages.

9.00 A. M.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE.

LONDON, To-day. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—In the House of Commons to-day Hon. Walter Runciman drew attention to the statement of Premier Borden of Canada on Imperial Preference. Mr. Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replied there was nothing in Sir Robert Borden's speech that was inconsistent with his (Mr. Bonar Law's) previous statement to the House. The question of a special tariff to be adopted by the United Kingdom or the Dominions must be settled by each, independently, he said. The Imperial Government had put itself in line with the Dominions, deciding to give a preference on existing duties or any subsequently imposed. In an interview with Reuter's correspondent Hon. Walter Runciman, Colonial Secretary, in order to clear up any misunderstanding regarding the Imperial preference which he recently announced, stated that the mission was for the British and not for the Imperial Cabinet and may be regarded as a question of domestic policy.

NOON.

CLOSER CO-OPERATION.

LONDON, To-day. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—A despatch from Sydney, N.S.W., says that in connection with Cap-tain Michael's suggestion for closer co-operation between South Africa and Australia, especially with a view to stimulating recruiting, Acting Premier Watt cabled to South Africa stating that if Premier Botha agrees, the Commonwealth is willing to open negotiations with a view to exchanging Australian and South African public speakers with the object of assisting recruiting. Acting Premier Watt also cabled to Lloyd George, asking him to send a sealed message relating to the fourth anniversary of the war, in order to enable the widespread simultaneous delivery of the message throughout the Commonwealth.

AFTER THE WAR PROBLEMS.

LONDON, Aug. 1. "No man should boast until the battle is over, but all men who know are pleased at the way it is going," Premier Lloyd George thus commented in addressing a deputation of two hundred members of the National Union of Manufacturers whom he met yesterday for a discussion of after the war commercial problems. We must necessarily, in whatever policy we proclaim, said the Premier, keep in touch and be in complete accord first with our Allies. There is a good deal of discussion about a league of nations, I am certainly one of those who believe in it, but there are two leagues of nations already in existence—the British Empire and the Great Alliance against the Central Powers. Referring to the Paris solutions he said, "Up to the present time America has expressed no opinion upon them, and it is vitally important that the policy of America and that of this country should be in complete agreement, on economic as well as other problems. An agreement among the Allies means that the economic fate of the world will be in the hands of the Great Allied Powers federated together at present."

AMERICAN LINES ADVANCED.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE FRONT, Aug. 1 (8 p.m.) By the A.P.—The American troops pushed forward their lines at certain points Thursday, on the center of the Rheims salient, notwithstanding the resistance of the Germans, who did not give ground on some sectors until they actually had been shot from their positions. The Germans are desperately clinging to their strongholds at Noyes, and in the Bois Meuniers northeast of Ronchères, but Americans have gained a

EASTERN OPERATIONS.

PARIS, Aug. 1. Eastern Theatre. July 31.—A Bulgarian assault detachment which attempted a surprise attack against the British lines, was completely checked. The patrols were very active in the region of Strka De Ligan, and on the Serbian front. In the region west of Pogradek, the enemy violently bombarded our new positions. French aviators dropped a ton of explosives on encampments in the Devol Valley, and British aircraft bombarded the station at Velze.

NIGHT FIGHTING.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 1.—With the fall of darkness to-night, fighting continued between the Allies and the Germans. In the Rheims salient, Allied observations reported that bodies of German troops were seen to be moving forward along the roads leading from Lunay, which lies about midway between Soissons and Fere-en-Tardenois.

JOURNALISTS EULOGIES.

LONDON, Aug. 1. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Nothing left a deeper impression on the Canadian editors at present visiting the Mother Country than their trip to the western front. This was a wonderful experience. The visit was splendidly organized by the Imperial Government and the Ministry of Information, and the Canadians in France, from General Currie downwards, laid themselves out to give the journalists a tremendous welcome. Their impressions hastily gathered are without exception enthusiastic. "There is more optimism among our forces than anywhere else, while our men are eager to get back to the homeland, they are determined not to return till the job is properly finished. I was never prouder of Canada than when I meet Canada's fighting men at the front." This was how W. A. Buchanan, M.P. for Lethbridge, summed up the situation, and was what pretty well ran through the thoughts of every member of the party. Hon. Frank Carvell of Quebec, remarked "A Canadian cannot go through the fighting line to the front trenches as we have without being impressed, wonderfully impressed, at the great efficiency of the organization, the unbounded esprit de corps and the universal courage and bravery of our fellows in arms, all of which has made us proud, more than ever of the country of our

CABLE NEWS.

ALLIES DELIVER NEW STROKE.

LONDON, Aug. 1. The Allies to-day delivered a new stroke over a ten mile front between Buzancy, about four miles north of Soissons to Serignes to north of Fere-en-Tardenois. The result was a considerable advance, and the wiping of the elbow in the lines at Oulchy-le-Chateau, according to advices to the Evening Standard this afternoon.

INDIGNANT OVER MURDER.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 1. The murder of Field Marshal Von Eichsborn, who with his aide, Capt. Von Dressler, was assassinated on Tuesday at Kiev, was effected with great boldness, the Berlin Vossische Zeitung says. The district in which the Field Marshal resided and in which the murder took place is only a short distance from the Casine and was guarded by German sentries. After the assassination, the Vossische Zeitung continues, General Skoropadski, the Hetman of the Ukraine, went to the spot and made arrangements for proper attention to the Field Marshal and his aide. Later the Hetman visited the German Minister and expressed his sincere regret over the crime. A manifesto which he issued declares the indignation of the Ukrainian government at the murder, and laments that a great friend of Ukrainian independence had fallen by the hand of the enemy. There is evidence, the newspaper adds, that an attempt on the life of the Hetman also had been planned.

BERLIN REPORT.

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 1. The Allied troops attacking east of Fere-en-Tardenois on Wednesday afternoon, were repulsed and driven back to their original positions, according to the German official communication issued to-day. The text of the communication follows: East of Fere-en-Tardenois the French repeatedly launched partial attacks in the afternoon. We throw the enemy back into his lines of departure by a counter attack. On the rest of the front there were artillery fire of varying strength and minor field engagements.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Aug. 1. The British official communication issued this evening says: In the course of the night several prisoners were captured by our patrols in the neighborhood of Merris. To-day there is nothing to report beyond the usual artillery activity by both sides. The number of prisoners captured by us during July aggregates 4,543 including 89 officers.

GENERALS DISMISSED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. In consequence of the disaster in Albania, the Austrian Supreme Command has dismissed the responsible Generals and appointed General Welles Ballin to command the armies opposing the advancing Franco-Italian forces, according to a cablegram received by the Italian Embassy to-day from Rome. The Austrians have brought up reinforcements from Bosnia, Montenegro and the Macedonian Lakes district.

DANIELS SAYS NO TRANSPORT SUNK.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. The theory of the submarine as a determining factor in the war has exploded, Secretary Daniels declared to-day after reading the boast of the German Emperor that submarines are tenaciously attacking and fighting the vital forces which are streaming overseas. Mr. Daniels pointed out that not a single transport carrying troops to Europe had been sunk.

OPERATIONS IN ITALY.

LONDON, Aug. 1. A British communication referring to operations on the Italian front, says: In the month of July 66 hostile airplanes were destroyed and three were brought down out of control. Four of our machines failed to return.

BERLIN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN, Aug. 1. In engagements northeast of Forth in Eastern Champagne, the enemy, after strong artillery preparations, endeavored to recapture a point of support which was wrested from him on July 30th. He was repulsed with losses. We carried out successful attacks south of Mont Fichtel and in the Argonne forest. The enemy lost on the front yesterday 25 airplanes in air fighting, and five from gun fire from the ground. Further, a British squadron of six big battle planes on its way to raid Saarbrücken was destroyed by six of our machines before it was able to drop its bombs. We shot down another British battle plane out of the second and following squadron.

The Bay Ball's Garden Party will be held on Sunday, Aug. 4th. Abundant refreshments, the T. A. Band and a spacious hall will make you happy. Don't miss the train. See advertisement.—July 26, 27, Aug. 2, 3.

Are We Funny, Too?

By RUTH CAMERON.
A friend of mine has recently arrived at an exceedingly wise conclusion. She had planned a very special dinner for four people about whom she was extra particular. At the last moment the green peas, which were to be the pièce de résistance of her first course, failed to appear and she was obliged to resort to canned ones; the grocer forgot to bring the cream for the strawberries, and crowning calamity, two casual guests who she did not think would fit at all with her special party turned up!

The Grocer Forgot the Cream. "It was just going to be all worked up," she said "and then I thought—after all what does it matter? If I can just make myself feel that it doesn't matter so much I can carry it off. And I kept thinking that till I got calmed down, and after all, it went quite smoothly. My two brands of guests cottoned right to each other; and the canned peas were so good, that they all thought they were fresh; and the people I cared about the most don't ever take cream with their strawberries, so it came out all right. But anyway it was a silly thing to fuss over, and I'm so glad I've come to realize that little things like that don't matter so much if you just won't let them.

When one stops to think how much the unhappiness of the world would be lessened if we could all get hold of that truth and hang on to it, one is both glad and sorry.
And there are so many like her, and that so much unhappiness is preventable.
Sorry that we don't make up our minds to prevent it.
Martha is a classic example of the woman who doesn't get hold of that truth. There were so many little things that mattered excessively to her that she forgot the big things. She is the spiritual ancestor of all the housewives who make entertaining a thing to be lumbered about rather than happy over.

The Sacred Road.

From the dunes of the sullen North Sea
Where the birds sob by day and by night,
To the slopes that herald the Alps
With their wimples of snowy white,
Runs a road that is sacred for all time.
Where they lie,
Host upon host of our children
Who went out to die!

They lie in the vales of Verdun
Where the foot of the Hun never trod;
They lie on the downs at Peronne
Where the hills lift them near to God;
They lie nameless, uncounted, immortal.
Side by side;
Sons of France, sons and brothers of England
Who went out and died!
In the swamps near the blood-red canal
Where they called in the sea to their aid,
In the shell-shattered woods of the Somme
Where they faced Hell, and were not afraid,
Are their graves. There they rested awhile,
As the radiant-faced mourners passed by—
Oh, the glory that is to the children,
To the fathers, and mothers who bore them,
That sweetened the moment of dying—
They are resting awhile; there they lie
Ere they rise up to walk in God's garden.
In that glory which never can die!

Just Folks

OUT OF LUCK.

If you've tried to jump the traces, an' have sought the cherry places
An' have reckoned you could fix it so you never would be missed.
But you find out in the morning that they get you without waiting
An' they've put your name an' number on the extra duty list.
Do your added bit of slaving, without whining much or raving,
Take the medicine they give you an' don't even try to grizzle.
Play the game an' keep on grinning, an' then make a fresh beginning.
It's the price that you are paying just for being out o' luck.
It's a queer game, this o' fightin', an' it's gospel truth I'm writin'.
Men will go for weeks through dangers an' will never feel a hurt.
While their stock o' luck is lastin', all the shells the Huns are castin'.
Will be powerless to get 'em as they're scatterin' the dirt.
Then one day when war is nappin' an' there's nothing due to happen
An' the sector's fine an' quiet by a sniper one is struck.
An' he dies right at his station, an' the only explanation
Is the answer of his comrades when they whisper "Out o' luck!"
So it's no use frettin', sighin', when the strangel high is flyin'.
There's no way o' dodgin' bullets. They will hit you or they won't;
An' whenever the line advances, every soldier runs his chances.
Those with luck get back to billets, an' the ones without it don't.
Play the game an' keep on grinin' through the fields that death is movin'.
Follow orders to the letter an' don't ever lose your pluck.
Keep in mind when shells are hissing there are some that they are missing.
So just grin in God above you that you won't run out o' luck.
To see a tinny oak, dip it into the fire.

British War Dog.

(By F. RATCLIFFE HOLMES, in Cassell's Magazine of Fiction.)
It is no secret nowadays that British dogs have for a long time past been doing their bit on the battlefield. A very big bit it is, too, and if ever the full story of their work in the war zone comes to be written it will contain many a bright chapter of doggy faithfulness and heroism and human lives saved.

In those distant days when the first hundred thousand of Kitchener's Army were winning their laurels, dogs were anathema to the powers that be, and any canine caught in the front line trenches was shot on sight, lest, as there was then good reason for supposing, it might be carrying valuable information to the enemy.
Human runners, when dispatch carrying was necessary, had to be depended upon to somehow get back to headquarters with vital information, and there was never any lack of volunteers for this hazardous work. With the constant growth of artillery, however, the odds against the human runner became so great that casualties were abnormal.
At this point some genius hit upon the happy expedient of training dogs for this purpose, and, as events have proved, it was a brain wave of the first water.

Their speed and size make them a bad target not only for the sniper, but for the thousand missiles of the barrage. They can negotiate obstacles more speedily than a man, and cover the ground, at ten times his pace. Therefore dogs are ideal messengers, provided they have been taught to understand the dangers and difficulties of No Man's Land, and treat them with contempt.
To this end they go through a course of instruction at home.
When a dog joins up it receives its equipment—a collar with message satchel attached, which thenceforward it always wears. Then commences a well-defined and gradual course of instruction.
All dogs possess the homing instinct in a more or less marked degree, and it is in this which the school develops an amazing manner.
Their quarters are admirable. Each dog has his own kennel, roomy, comfortable quarters, the position of which can be altered according to the caprice of the elements. There are rows upon rows of these kennels, a Elliptical camp, which must surely puzzle the German airman who sometimes soar over the place. And, compared with most of us, the dogs are lucky, for once a day, at any rate, they receive as much food as they can eat.

How valuable is the work of these dogs the records amply prove. Often when troops push forward and consolidate a position newly wrested from the Hun, it is necessary for news of great importance to be sent back. Frequently under such circumstances it would be sheer suicide for any human being to attempt the task. This is where the war dogs come in, and there are many instances where their work has been of inestimable value.

Household Notes.

Logan berry juice makes a delicious summer drink with cracked ice and a summer mint.
A good summer rule is to give babies a drink of cool boiled water every hour or two.
The broom that is hung up when not in use will outwear one that stands in the corner.
One cup of rice flour and 1½ cups of barley flour are one of the new mixtures.

Milady's Boudoir.

BEAUTY IN LAUGHS.

The woman with a keen sense of humor is not only a pleasure to her friends, but she is an endless source of amusement for herself.
Study the children on the beach or in the nursery and hear their mad shouts of delight over a scrap of nonsense. Children have more humor in their hearts than we grown ups, but as they develop into maturity the humor is stifled by repressing guardians who tell them not to be "foolish."

A good laugh is worth more than a tonic, and you cultivate the spirit of laughter until it peals forth without restraint. Let it gurgle up from the very depths of you and burst forth in a merry peal. Laugh until the tears gather in your eyes, and then look at yourself in the mirror. A glow of rosy cheeks has gathered in your cheeks, your eyes sparkle with the spirit of youth and your mouth curls in the abandonment of delight. Laugh and rejoice and your beauty will take care of itself.

How often we hear women groan about being slaves to housework each day they take up their brooms and dusters with this depressing point of view and each night they retire more convinced than ever that housework is the greatest drudgery in the world.
Start the day right. You cannot be happy in a slovenly wrapper with your hair at angles and awry. Don a chic little house dress of gingham and brush your hair becomingly as you would to attend a matinee. Then with your broom and duster and a light heart begin your work with a song. Glance at yourself in the mirror notice the color that has beautified your cheeks since you beat the rug in the crisp air. Note the brilliancy of your eyes, fired with ambition and happiness. Don't be a sullen who drags herself around the house with a long face and a bad temper.

JOY COMETH.

The dawn of peace is coming soon; I read it in the stars and in the moon, and I'm a full grown seer; I read the planets, a little as grass, and I predict we'll have peace by June the 12th, next year. Then we'll be paid a handsome price for every little sacrifice that now may chafe or irk; we'll have real bread of wheaten flour, and all we want in that kind hour, when peace gets in its work. Then we may rest ourselves for good, and it will be told, by water dub. "You can't have beef to-day; it is the food director's wish that you should fill yourselves with fish and watered consomme." We'll wear silk shirts if we select, and no one will denounce, or say it is a sin; we won't be subject to arrest if we should have our trousers pressed, or wear a plate glass pin. We'll motor on the village green, and burn up all the gasoline we can afford to buy, and none will say "You help the Hun whenever your old boot you run! Shame, slacker, get out!" When peace brings in her sunny days, we'll all get back to normal ways, and find this life a boon; I watch the planets through a glass, and see that peace will come to pass about the 12th of June. So let us bear whatever load may on our shoulders be bestowed with fortitude and patience; when peace comes back we'll all be gay, and gladly sing "Callous Callies!" and have a bully time.

This is to certify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months that I had no use of my hand, and tried other treatments, also doctors, and was receiving no benefit. By using MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since and I find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

NO GAME.
The day is cold and dark and sloppy. It rains and the wind is sharp and cheppy. The vine still clings to the same old wall.

And it doesn't look like a game of ball. The rooster views with a face all green. The one day off he has had this year. And the only day off, for all he knows, he will get from now 'till the winter snows.

The desk where the book-keeper keeps his tabs; The blonde stenographer, in a huff had forgotten even her powder puff, And flings it in a corner, far away. A romance written by Bertha Clay, And thus comes the end of a rainy day.

"Into each life some rain must fall," Old Hank Longfellow said it all.

Owing to the bad weather last evening the game between the Americans and the City Nine was postponed. The game will probably be played on Saturday evening, though in course, should the "Yanks" still be here.

Police Court.

Matthew Ryder, a young man of Bonaville, was before the Court for failing to report for military service, for which he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment with hard labor, and also for attempting to impede the enforcing of the M.S.A. Ryder was the cause of 8 other young men of Bonaville failing to come on to St. John's to enlist, and he organized and carried a flag in an illegitimate parade on Sunday. In view of these facts he was not given the chance to enlist, as were the others, but he was sentenced to the term mentioned above. The second case against him will be heard to-morrow.

A man, taken in for safe keeping, was discharged.

"The Hermit"

The "Hermit," a mysterious stranger, who had been living for about 9 years alone, in a tent on the Bay Bulls Road, and who apparently made his living by selling peat, left for England by the steamer "City of Halifax" on this date 1917. During his stay here, he dressed in the clothing of an ordinary laborer, but he could not disguise the fact that he was a scholar and a gentleman. No one knew where he came from, or where he went. When leaving St. John's, he was dressed in the most fashionable clothing, with tall hat, gold watch chain, and rings. There were many stories current as to his secluded life, but all lacked confirmation; he was about 48 years old, when he left Newfoundland, never to return.

All the Cream At All Speeds

Every member of the family turns the separator handle at a different rate. And, no one turns always at the exact speed stamped upon the crank—it simply can't be done.

Your present separator, unless a Suction-feed, has a constant inflow of milk. Whenever the speed fails, a lot of cream slips away through the milk-spout and is lost forever. Experts estimate that most farmers lose from 7 to 13 lbs. of butter yearly from each cow because they turn their separators below speed. But you can stop this loss right now by using the

SHARPLES Separator

Famous Suction-feed "Skins clean at any Speed"

This wonderful machine automatically regulates the inflow of milk in exact proportion to the skimming force. It gets all the cream at all speeds. Father can "speed up" the crank to 55 revolutions a minute and finish the chory quickly. Mother or the girls can turn at a leisurely rate. Fast or slow, the Suction-feed Separator skims absolutely clean and delivers cream of uniform density—no thick today and thin tomorrow. It's the only separator having these valuable features. The slender Tubular bowl gives double skimming force. It's the only bowl containing no discs or blades. There's just one piece in it—a single small cone, as simple and easy to clean as a napkin ring.

There are many other exclusive and important features to be found in the new Sharples Suction-feed Separator. Come in and let us show you. Bring the woman folks, too. We'll be glad to see you all.

Where Do The Germans Come From?

"Germany's apparently inexhaustible supply of man-power—cannon fodder, as the Huns themselves call it—becomes one of the increasingly mysterious problems of this endless war. Where does it come from?" asks Mr. F. W. Wile in the Weekly Dispatch.

"An American gentleman named Dr. George Usher is reported to have told the United States Senate that 'Germany falsified her population statistics for twenty years preceding the war.' In 1914 she had 99,000,000 inhabitants instead of the 68,000,000 she was supposed to have. Hindenburg gave this information to my daughters when they were visiting him in 1912," avers Mr. Usher.

"Before the war tamed them the Social Democrats were no respecters of official secrets. They specialised, on the contrary, in exposing them. They had a lively interest in knowing how many people there were in Germany. If there had been 90,000,000 inhabitants instead of 68,000,000, there could have been 150 Social Democrats in the Reichstag instead of 110. And I cannot imagine Hindenburg taking American young ladies, charming as the Misses Usher doubtless are, into his confidence on a matter of such overwhelming vital bearing on the German General Staff's imminent plans.

"No. Personally I find the explanation of the Huns' seemingly bottomless well of Man-Power in the pre-arranged to the Hindenburg 'Mass Levy' law of November 1916:—

1. Every male German, from the completion of his 17th to the completion of his 60th year, is, in so far as he has not been summoned to service with the armed forces liable to patriotic auxiliary service during the period of the war.

"The most persuasive estimate of Germany's remaining fighting material that I have seen—published early in June in a prominent provincial newspaper—fixes the Huns' available man-power at 6,900,000. The estimate is based on a total number of Germans mobilised since 1914 at 12,000,000, of whom half are said to have been definitely put out of action. Writing early in 1917, Mr. Gerard estimated that Germany then had 9,000,000 available fighting men. Allowing for 'attrition' of 3,000,000 during the intervening six months the estimate above mentioned—that we have in fact and lost 6,900,000 Huns—impresses me as one that is fairly corroborated by the astute American Ambassador's 'inside' figures."

A Barrage of Prayer.

(From The Chicago Evening Post.)
The Senate has passed a resolution calling for daily prayer in behalf of the nation, its fighting sons, its cause. It is proposed that men and women everywhere and of every faith pause at the hour of noon to pray.

There will be those who will speak scornfully of this proposal. Let them keep to themselves their unbelief. Millions of Americans will welcome the idea because it gives national expression to the truth that spiritual values are the supreme concern in this war and that spiritual forces must have their part in winning it. In a little folder issued by some loop business men who have been meeting daily for prayer, an incident is told of the early days of the war:

When the telegram announcing the French victory over the German hordes at the battle of the Marne in September, 1914, was partment, Lord Roberts, who was in Lord Kitchener's office, said:

delivered to the English War de—"Only God Almighty could have done this." And Lord Kitchener said quietly: "Somebody must have been praying."

The same folder quotes General Foch as saying concerning prayer:—"We shall be saved by it and it will not be the first time in this deadly struggle." The brave soldier is rarely an unbeliever. He comes in such close contact with the stark realities of life and death that he feels the need of God. If these men, who plan their battles in terms of man-power, of guns and shell and aeroplanes, find place for prayer as a factor in fighting for a righteous cause, what civilian dare oppose his little three-foot shelf of intellectual doubt? Some emphasize the objective value of prayer; some make more of its subjective value. The particular theory is of small moment. The vital thing is recognition of the spiritual significance of this great conflict. With few exceptions, all of us, whatever be our creed, can find common ground here.

As rooted as our mountains
And as our rivers free
The will, the might, we lavish
For one thing—liberty!

Our own, a world's—its triumph
Must, as the rise of sun
Inevitably flash,
Forever now be won!
On soil of France our million
And after them the rest,
Our mounting toll and treasure,
They meet one solemn test;

And if they fail to face it
As well sea-swallowed be!
At Gettysburg and Concord
That same test—slave or free!

No ounce of gold or power
We seek, of soil one inch—
For principle the battle
We shall not ever flinch!

Hear'st bleed and hearts be lonely,
We fight, clean hands, clear eyes;
Twice slavery and freedom
There is no compromise!

Household Notes.

Let the baby have several cool sponge baths a day.
Linen should be evenly dampened to make it easy to iron.
A tiny pinch of baking soda's a help to fresh lima beans.

To prepare pound oats run rolled oats through the chopper.
Corn makes a fine biscuit that browns like French pastry.

Trays for the sun-drying of vegetables are easily made of laths.
Egg-plant stewed instead of fried is delicious as well as wholesome.

Only fruits and vegetables which are firm and fresh should be dried.
Cabbage can be fried with a little left-over ham and sliced potatoes.

Left-over vegetables may be dried on tin plates in the oven to be used for soups.

They're the Drinks, Boys, for Me and You.

By JAMES MURPHY.

Air: "The Bells of Shandon."
In retrospection and with affection we often think on the days gone by, when to make us frisky we'd sip good whiskey, but we can't get enough now 'til we've one eye!

Oh, how we'd gather in the summer weather ere prohibition had come in force,
When at Pleasantville we would sip our fill at a cricket match near the old race course;

On this we ponder where 't we wander but to-day we're longing for drinks that's new.
They're from Toronto, to them we're 'on to,' oh, they're the drinks, boys, for me and you.

There's nothing finer than our Port Wine, or the sparkling sherry called "London Dock,"
And Black Sherry Brandy it is a dandy, it will make you fat and "strong as a rock."

We will have most plenty nice Creme de Menthe or in plain old English the Black Gin;
And P. E. O. is the "boy" you know, who possessed the courage to bring those drinks in.

So give 'em up your grief and surly, for no drinks can hold a candle to
The drinks we're "on to" that's from Toronto, oh, they're the drinks, boys, for me and you.

Both to poor and wealthy those drinks are healthy, and you need to purchase no doctor's "scrip,"
And when you buy them you all may try them, you need not hide them upon your hip.

We won't "deceive ye" by sayin' that He-be had never served in the o-zone days
Such drinks more pure, more safe and surer than the drinks we sell which there's thousands praise.

To fill your order that is our border, and when we do so you'll say 'tis true,
That from Toronto the drinks we're "on to" oh, they're the drinks, boys, for me and you."—adv. 11

First Train Ferry to Cross English Channel

For the first time in the history of railroading a train ferry has crossed the Eng. Channel from Newhaven, England, to Dieppe, France, carrying about 50 cars, says the June Popular Mechanics Magazine. Since early in the war thousands of British railway cars have been employed in France in transporting troops and supplies, but they have all been transferred to the continent by freighters. The inauguration of ferry service indicates that the difficulties created by very pronounced tides have been overcome at last to the mutual advantage of these two allies.

At Dieppe the water level varies as much as 11 feet. To overcome this, short bridges, attached at one end to the dock and resting on large floats, are employed. During loading and unloading the ferry is chained to the float and dock pier as well. The two smokestacks are located one at either side of the craft, leaving space for tracks down the center of the deck.

For God and Country.

Brain Testers.

(1.) A lady, desiring to give three cents (three halfpence) each to some beggars, finds she has not enough money by eight cents (four pence), but if she gives them two cents each, she will have three cents remaining. How many beggars were there?

(2.) A turkey weighs three-fourths of its weight and three-fourths of a pound. How many pounds does it weigh?

(3.) "Good-morning, sir, with your hundred geese and ducks." "No, sir, I have not a hundred, but if I had twice as many geese or three times as many ducks, I would have a hundred in all." How many of each had he?

(4.) A farmer goes to four country fairs with his drove of horses. He gives a horse to enter the fair, sells one-half of the remainder in the fair, and has but one horse left to go home with. How many did he start out with?

(5.) A lady found $2.00 and then had five times as much as she would have had had she lost $2.00 instead. How much did she have at first?

WAR SUMMARY.

After a short period of relative calm on the Soissons-Rheims salient, the Central and Western sections of the battlefield again have been the scenes of mighty struggles. On both sectors the Allied forces have achieved notable gains of ground, which, observed on the war maps seemingly place the German armies in front of them in a precarious position. In battles extending from the region immediately south of Soissons to the northwest of Perre-en-Tardenois and southwest of the last named town, over the upper portion of the left branch of the V salient running ten miles eastward from Nesles to Villen-Tardenois and with Stenme as its southern base, French, American and British troops have pushed back the armies of the German Crown Prince. Northwest of Perre the entire elbow of the line where it turned eastward along the northern bank of the Ourcq has been blotted out, giving the Allies much better ground over which to work in, further outflanking Soissons on the southeast, and for pressing on towards Plesmes in conjunction with the troops, particularly the Americans, now holding strategic points north and northeast of Fere. In this fighting the Allied troops drove out the Germans who had been tenaciously holding positions between Plesmes, Hiesse and the River and took the high ground north of Grand Rosoy, pressed on past the village of Bougneux and arrived before the villages of Cramoisselle and Cramaille. The general advance was about two miles, and six hundred Germans were made prisoners. The most important gain, however, was on the upper western point of the V, southeast of Fere. Here the village of Clerges and the Meunierie Wood were taken, a manoeuvre which places the Germans at the bottom of the V at St. Genime, in a seemingly precarious plight, for from the wood and the village the Allied guns will be able to rake the Germans if they should endeavour to make their way towards northward, their only avenue of escape, by an enfilading fire. Through the capture of the Meunierie Wood the width of the V from the fringes of the forest of Romigny on the east has been cut down relatively for miles. As has been the case during the past week the Germans contested stubbornly the advance of the Allied troops, but all to no avail. Since the battle of the Marne began on July 15th, the Allied troops have taken more than 34,000 prisoners. Just what part the American troops played in Thursday's battle has not yet been unfolded, but they doubtless everywhere on the centre of the battlefield were in the thickest of the fray. Between Serinques and Clerges, respectively northeast and southeast of Fere, they are known to have made goodly gains over a four mile front and to have pushed further beyond Sergy and reached within a mile and a half of the village of Chamery. On the British front in France and Flanders the bad weather has ceased, and the hot sun is fast drying up the muddy ground. The Germans are bombarding heavily various positions held by Field Marshal Haig's men, who in turn are answering the fire of the enemy's guns and keeping up with much success their annoying raids into the German lines.

According to the claims of Vienna, the Austrian troops in Albania have compelled the Italians to give up a considerable portion of the ground they won in recent fighting. It is asserted by the Austrian War Office that the Italians are being pursued by the Austrians.

ALLIES' NEW ADVANCE. PARIS, Aug. 1. — In an advance of about two miles on the Aisne-Marne front to-day, the Allied troops reached Cramoisselle and Cramaille on the southwestern part of the salient, capturing 600 prisoners, according to the war office announcement to-night.

FRENCH OFFICIAL. PARIS, Aug. 1. — Clerges and Meunierie Wood have been occupied by the Allies, and the village of Romigny, north of the Dormans-Rheims road, was taken. From July 15th to July 31st the prisoners captured by the Allies numbered 33,400. North of the Ourcq our troops in conjunction with the British units drove the enemy from positions to which he had been energetically clinging in the region of Plesier, Huesse and the River. We captured the height north of Grand Rosoy, and passed beyond the village of Bougneux and reached Cramoisselle and Cramaille, realizing at this point an advance of about three kilometres. Six hundred prisoners remained in our hands. Further south we occupied Clerges and Meunierie Wood. North of the Dormans-Rheims road we conquered after a stubborn engagement the village of Romigny, taking about 100 prisoners. The total number of German prisoners taken on the Marne battlefield and in the Champagne during the period between July 15th, the date of the beginning of the German offensive, and July 31st is 33,400, of whom 274 were officers.

Do You Perspire Freely?

Many people are acutely sensitive to the odors arising from excessive perspiration, and yet under no circumstances is it wise to completely check perspiration. It is essential to health—many of the impurities of the body are gotten rid of by perspiration.

O'MARA'S

PERSPIRATION DEODORANT
does not unduly check perspiration, but when properly applied it keeps the body comfortable and sweet—it counteracts body odors.
