HORSE KILLED.

We learn that Mr. John Glehrie, near Puslinch Lake, had a horse killed by lightning on Friday night during the heavy thunder storm.

CONNECTION.

The name of Mr. Michael Brunner, of Guelph, who took a "B" certificate in the recent examinations, was misspelt in our paragraph yesterday.

GUELPH MACHINE & TOOL CO.

The employees of Messrs. Arms & Workwick had a good time at Puslinch Lake yesterday, holding their annual picnic. About fifty were present.

U. & L.

We have received from Mr. Anderson the "You and I Galop," composed by Mr. F. I. G. Hamilton, and published in Montreal. We shall perhaps have something more to say about it.

BILLIARD TABLES.

Mr. W. O'Connor, of the Queen's Hotel, Guelph, is now agent for the Province of Ontario, of Colander, the well-known American manufacturer of billiard-tables.

ACROSS THE OCEAN.

Mr. E. H. Arms, of the Guelph Machine and Tool Company, leaves to-day for the old country by the Anchor line of steamers, for which Mr. James Bryce, of the express office, is agent.

IN CHAOS.

The establishment of Mr. Pringle, watchmaker, is in sweet confusion just now, as extensive alterations are going on. A new flooring is put down, the shop front is being replaced by rough boards, and a heap of old lumber adorns the roadway in front of the shop.

NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

Two Manchester papers have been received here from the senior partner of the firm of Chance & Williamson, now in England. This may be taken to indicate that there is a good chance there for keeping, well and hearty.

THE CHAIR.

The crops of all descriptions in the vicinity of Mt. Forest have a very encouraging look with them. They have the appearance of being better than they have for many years. We have made two trips lately to the north and north-west, and from careful observation we find this is the case in all this section of country.—Confederate.

BADLY KICKED.

On Thursday last, Mr. J. King of Mt. Forest was badly kicked by a young horse, owned by himself. It appears Mr. King was about feeding him, the measure not being at hand he took a tin scoop used for filling bags and upon proceeding alongside the horse, the glare of the scoop startled it and he struck King, bringing him down on his face, in the stall; he then trampled upon him very much. He is badly bruised in several places on the body as well as bad scalp wound, but is fast recovering.—Confederate.

BARN BURNED.

Last Thursday morning about eight o'clock, a fire broke out in the stable of Mr. George Bailey, on lot 7, 7th con. Garafra, and in a few minutes his barn and out buildings were enveloped in flames. A number of the neighbors hurried to the place, but it was impossible to save anything, and it was difficultly that the horse was saved. It having caught fire several times. Besides the buildings there were burned a saw and threshing machine, light wagon, harness, small implements, and fourteen loads of hay. Insured in the Nichol Insurance Company for $1,300, $250 on the buildings, and $1,050 on the contents. Mr. Bailey's loss will be heavy as he had put up a new addition to the barn only about 2 years since. How the fire originated is a mystery, as there had been no fire near the building.—Com.

NEW FAMILY BIBLE.

We have been shown by Mr. Sibbald of Acton, a specimen copy of a magnificent family Bible, published in Philadelphia, and for which he is agent in the counties of Wellington and Halton. The work is of a high character in every respect. It is most profusely illustrated by engravings of great merit, some of them by the celebrated Gustave Dore; the type is large and clear; the paper good; the binding elegant; whilst solid and strong; there is a handsome coloured family register, and an endless store of information for the assistance of the biblical student—in fact everything needful for an intelligent and interesting study of the Bible. The "searching of the scriptures." Mr. Sibbald is now taking orders for the work, and has already sold 300 copies in this county and Halton. Further particulars will be found in Mr. Sibbald's advertisement.

She lingered in great pain till Sunday about noon when she became insensible, and remained in that state until her death on Monday at 2 o'clock p. m., aged 76.

A NEW PEST.

A new pest has made its appearance in many places, prey upon the tomato plants. It is a short, thick and striped bug, bearing some resemblance to the potato bug, but differing from it in being shorter and larger in diameter. They are said to be the most ravenous pests that have yet been discovered on the tomato plant, not only eating the leaves, but also the branches and the stalks, and sometimes burrowing down into the ground for the very roots of the plants.—St. Catharines Daily News.

THE PEACH CROP.

The Delaware peach growers are beginning to protest once more that the crop is going to be a very light one. At the close of the winter the prospect was excellent; the damage since that time has been very great. The principal damage has arisen from "falling off." This drooping of the fruit is explained by last winter's severe cold. In the northern end of the peach district it killed last year's growth of wood (on which this year's peaches mainly grow) and almost entirely destroyed the crop, while farther south it so impaired the vitality of the tree that now the fruit falls. The growth too, has had a very injurious influence, weakening the tree and drying up the peaches.

A Heroic Death.

So rare, says the London Telegraph, is heroism shown in these days, that we are now more than ever disposed to welcome a noble deed, and a nobler deed than that of Plate-layer Elliott we go far to seek. Elliott was one of a gang who was repairing the metals of the London South-western line near Surbiton, when the Exeter express came thundering along. The plate-layers of course dispersed, and were standing to let the train go past, when Mr. Elliott's eye caught a heavy iron chain lying across the track, and he saw that in another moment the train would leap from the track, and roll down the steep embankment. With a courage as cool as that of the little midshipman who picked up and threw overboard the loaded shell, Elliott dashed forward and was just in time to snatch the obstacle from out of the path, and was in time to save the lives of others, but he was too late by a second to save himself. The buffer board of the great express engine caught him as he stooped with his heavy burden, and dashed him high in the air a carry, and for the love of a brave deed, the memory of Elliott the plate-layer will live long with that of Elton the pilot, and Ford the engineer.

Fergus Correspondence.

Fergus, of late, has been rather dull, owing, no doubt, to the fact that the farmers have been very busy securing the hay crop, thereby causing trade to become somewhat slack. No event of vital importance has transpired to mar the quiet and peacefulness of our little town, except the excitement that is caused by our Police Court—an institution which is gaining a considerable amount of notoriety at present, a case or so being on hand mostly every day.

The principal theme of conversation at present is the Credit Valley Railway, a For which we have a great amount of interest among quite a number of our citizens. A meeting was held last Friday evening to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of such a scheme. On a vote being taken, it was almost unanimously resolved that all lawful means should be adopted to carry the By-law. The Good Templars held a picnic in the grove at Kinnelton on Saturday. The day being fine and cool, quite a number availed themselves of the opportunity of having a good day's enjoyment. After doing justice to the good things prepared by the sisters, the picnickers began to indulge (not in "Oh! Be joyful"), but in the various games and amusements which exercise a healthy influence both over body and mind. The sports were kept up until the shades of evening began to descend, when the assembly broke up, all fully satisfied that a pleasant time had been spent.

The Melville Church Sabbath School

intend holding a grand picnic on Friday next. A joyous time is anticipated. The weather has been unusually dry and sultry, the rains which have visited the surrounding country having shirked us entirely. A good shower would be gladly welcomed.

In Akola, Central India, within the last

Madrid, July 30.

The official journal of the insurgents at Carthagna announces the appointment of a Provisional Directory for the Canton of Murcia. He demands a contribution of 50,000 pesetas and the evacuation of the city by the civil guard, and threatens bombardment in case of refusal. The city authorities have refused to comply, and are preparing for a defence. There is ground for hope that the foreign men-of-war in the harbour will interfere and prevent the horrors of bombardment. A large British squadron is expected to arrive daily on the Spanish coast.

An engagement has taken place between a force of the national troops, under General Navaro, and the Carlist band entrenched at Maridas. The insurgents were driven from the town, and 700 Republican prisoners who were confined there, released.

The Insurgent Committee

Yafette, Mo., July 30.

Fourteen deaths from cholera have taken place since last Saturday, out of a population not exceeding 1,200. The disease originated at a picnic, and was caused by the over-eating of unwholesome food and drinking of impure water from a small stream.

Milwaukee, July 30.—The crop reports from 56 points along the line of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, in Wisconsin, say the prospects for wheat and other small grain were never better, and wheat will average 20 bushels to the acre, and of excellent quality. Harvesting has commenced. Sixteen points in Minnesota also gave a flattering account of the coming harvest. Some points estimate the yield at 30 bushels to the acre.

Chicago, July 30.

Canadian operators on the Chicago Change have cornered wheat, and got July short traders in a tight place. The prices went up ten cents during the day, and wild excitement prevailed in the afternoon board. Wm. Young & Co., of Montreal, are the chief operators, and John B. Lyon, who was expelled the board, is understood to have the game in hand. He is operating on Chicago through Chisholm, one of the Canadian members.

Chicago, July 30.

The supposed corner in No. 2 wheat was fully disclosed this p.m., the price for cash in July advanced to $1.32. It is stated that the vessels already chartered to take out all wheat. There is none in store here, and the indications are that prices will be still further advanced to-morrow.

The "East End" in Toronto.

The inhabitants of the eastern section of the city of Toronto have long been grumbling about the variety of noxious smells by which they were assailed. This summer the matter has been taken up by the Sun—a pinky little Tory afternoon sheet, rather fond of bragging—which vigorously denounced the nuisance in some sensational articles, headed "The Death Factory at the Don."

It also comes down in scathing style upon an amusing and somewhat comprehensible "back down" perpetrated a short time since by its big brother Tory, the West. The latter paper, forgetting apparently that Messrs. Goodrham & Worts, the great Toronto distillers, were heavy shareholders in the Mail Printing Company, had denounced the East End nuisance in plain terms, remarking that "Residents in the eastern half of the city have had their lives made miserable these last few days. The smell from the distillery cattle sheds has been absolutely sickening, and we have no hesitation in saying that the sheds must 'move on.' We have received several letters of complaint on the subject, and have had ample practical experience of the truth conveyed in them." Just four days afterwards, having probably had a gentle reminder from their outraged distillery-owning stockholders, they published an elaborate "explanation." Suddenly they had discovered that the "horrible stink" from the distillery cattle and pigs was only a "minor nuisance," and that the real offenders were some neighbouring establishments.

A few days ago the Mayor of Toronto appointed a medical commission to visit the neighborhood, and their report will probably lead to a thorough purification of the East End. The report, which is signed by Drs. Hilder, Wright, Nichol, Hall and Craff, is as follows:—

"We, the undersigned, physicians of the City of Toronto, at the request of the Mayor, visited and inspected the cattle byres and pigsties in the east end of the city, near the mouth of the Don. The byres and pigsties east of the Don are situated on the edge of the marsh, which being low and swampy would be exceedingly difficult to drain properly, from the fact that the water there is almost entirely destitute of current. This would inevitably allow the matters drained off from these receptacles for cattle and pigs to accumulate. Such accumulation is the fact, and accordingly we found that an area, variously estimated from seven to ten acres, of an average depth of eighteen inches, is composed almost exclusively of manure and other refuse from these sheds, reeking and putrifying and emitting constantly highly noxious and poisonous gases, which under certain directions of the wind are blown into the city. We are of opinion that this is highly detrimental to the public health. On the west side of the Don, and in close proximity to a stagnant pool, being an inlet of the Don, two pork packing establishments and a soap factory are so situated that their refuse matters are drained into the pond. In addition, a large piggery is placed over the western end of the same pool, and the drippings from the animals, as well as refuse matters, entrails, blood, &c., find their way into it. All these establishments assist in constituting a dangerous nuisance requiring immediate removal. It will at once be apparent that such an enormous quantity of decaying organic matter must, to a large extent, poison the water of the bay and lake, from which the supply of water from the city is derived; furnishing still further, if any additional reason be required, an argument for the immediate removal of these sources of nuisance."

POETRY AND ADVERTISING.

Poetry and advertising seems to have become blended, "as it were." Ordinary prose seems to have ceased to have the power to invest with proper attractiveness the announcements of vendors. Great emergencies bring out great minds. Hence the necessities of the advertiser have evoked the poet. For example:

Oh! come into the garden Maud,
And sit beside the rose,
And see me frame around the beds,
Dressed in my Sunday clothes.
Oh! come and bring your uncles, Maud,
Your sisters and your aunts,
Tell them what and flutter made my coat,
My waistcoat and my pants.
Equally fanciful and suggestive is this:

Gayly young Ferguson
Bought his cigar—
Bought it at Lewis's,
Where the best are.
When he wants his new cut, or
Snuff for his nose,
Gayly young Ferguson
Purchases those.

More substantial, however, is the following, where the mingling of mackerel and emotion, tears and affection, is really sweet:

Oh! say not I love you because the molasses
You purchased at Duncan's was golden and clear;
The syrup, the sugar, the jelly in glasses,
The crackers, the mack'el, I know were not you care to me with Duncan's called salmon,
And showed me his sample of excellent
tea,
I felt that his claim to be cheap was not gamson;
I loved you and said so, dear Jane, on my knees.

"DRINK, PRETTY CREATURE, DRINK!"
Alice— "Do you know, uncle, that that horrid Mr. Binks declares that you have taken to hard drinking?" Uncle George —"Not true, my dear. No! Never drank easier in my life!"

The Niagara correspondent of the St. Catharines News says:—Yesterday afternoon Lieutenant O'Hara, of Fort Niagara, accompanied by his little son, a fine boy of about six years of age, was engaged in fishing with a hook from the wharf at the Fort. He had occasion to go away for a few minutes to get some bait, leaving the little fellow alone; while he was absent the boy engaged in play, and accidentally stubbing his toe, fell into the water and was drowned. His body was recovered by his father on his return a few moments afterwards. The distress of his parents is intense.

The Leeds Mercury contains several columns of reports on the probable result of the hay crop of Yorkshire. They show that, while the yield is certain to fall short of the extraordinary crop of last year it is likely to be equal to the growth of an ordinary year.

Immediate Enquiry to be Made

Such is the heading of a double-leaded manifesto which appears in the Mail of this (Thursday) morning.

Under the circumstances and in view of the difficulty of getting together a full House, which, however, could confer no greater powers than those enjoyed by the present Committee, we learn with pleasure that the Governor-General, recognizing the great public desire manifested to know the truth or falsity of the charges made by Mr. Ruttington, the Grit press, and their witness, McMullen, has ordered the immediate issue of a Commission to examine into and report upon all subjects connected with the Canadian Pacific Railway matter.

More Impartial Testimony.

Those of our readers who have seen from time to time the remarks of Mr. Goldwin Smith on "Current Events" in the Canadian Monthly will be aware that his feelings in relation to the Reform party are by no means friendly.

The character of Mr. McMullen, if we may judge from his proceedings in the present case, is not such as to render him an eminently credible witness, or one on whose bare statement, uncorroborated by other evidence, we should be justified in condemning, or even holding liable to grave suspicion, men of unqualified character and high position.

If the genuineness of these documents cannot be disputed, it is manifestly the duty of the Governor-General at once to take such measures as will place the Executive Government of the country in unshaken hands.

The suggestion that the money drawn by Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir George Cartier was to come from any fund other than the purse of Sir Hugh Allan and his partners as railway contractors, or that these great sums were subscribed merely on political grounds, is totally incredible.

The proceeding was deliberate and premeditated. We now understand too well what was meant by the refusal, on pretexts impudently hollow, to amend the Election Law before the last general election.

An enquiry, we trust, there will still be, and before a perfectly independent tribunal, not one named by, or by the advice of, the persons accused. But pending that inquiry, the Government of the country must be placed in unshaken hands.

We regard the foregoing as of considerable importance, coming, as it does, from a man of Goldwin Smith's undoubted attainments, one who is in no way connected with politicians, and has always maintained a neutral and impartial attitude in political matters. The following sensational telegram evidently comes from monarchist sources:—Paris, July 30.—It is reported that Marshall McMahon will retain the Presidency of the Republic for only six months longer, when he will resign, and return to the command of the army.

An Irishman, when he applied for a licence to sell whisky, was asked by the magistrate, if he was of a good moral character. He replied, "Faix, I don't see the necessity of a good moral character to sell whisky."

A GOOD DOG. I'm fond of that dog? Well, I ought to be, For he saved my life, And is fond of me. He knows what I'm saying— There—do you see— He comes and puts His paw on my knee! I was took with the fever, And down so low I made up my mind I had to go. It was on the cards, I hadn't no show; It was—Pass in your chips, And good-by, Joe! That's just where I was— Played out, you may say. For the doctor left. When my chum run away. Doctors in them days— Went for their pay. I lay there alone— Not a man would stay! Only my dog. Who sat by my bed, Just where I could see him. And put his head. He felt what I suffered, Knew what I said, And wouldn't believe I was almost dead! Day after day, And night after night, He sat by my bedside, Always in sight. He seemed to know That my head was light; He wouldn't lie down, And the dog was right! I felt if he did— And I think so still— I should lose my grip— He was my will! He put out the fever, Broke up the chill— Was something to me. Death could not kill! I lead a rough life, I get and I spend, Pay what I borrow, Lose what I lend; I loved a woman— It came to an end; Get a good dog, sir, You have a friend! From The Aldine for August.

THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER XXX
THE ENCAMPMENT OF THE CHEROKEES—A JOYOUS MEETING—THE SETTLEMENT IN DANGER.

A young, active brave, sure of foot and clear of eye, was appointed to accompany him. Together, therefore, they began to breast the slope, ascending and descending in zigzag fashion, and finding a way as best they could under the overhanging foliage, which formed an unbroken screen up the entire ascent. As they gained the top the ground became more broken, and breaks or openings occurred, which grew more frequent and extensive till the forest ceased to be a solid mass, and a summit was before them scattered over with clumps of fine old trees, whose giant arms had waved in that sublime solitude perchance for ages.

Hawkeys (for that was the young warrior's name) explained to Philip to observe more caution in his movements as they approached the verge or crest of the height, and never did he quit the covert of one clump to gain the shelter of another without a careful survey of all round, lest an observing eye should be upon them.

In this way they gained the group of trees which crowned the summit of the ridge, and Philip saw by the configuration of the ground that a few steps further would bring them to spot which commanded a view of the river and the valley through which it flowed. In his impatience he was about to rush forward to behold the prospect when Hawkeys grasped his arm, and by significant gestures intimated that they must observe greater caution than ever. He dropped down on hands and knees, signalling Philip to follow his example, and the two creeping forward with utmost care, they emerged slowly on the brow of the eminence, where a slight burst upon them of great splendor and magnificence.

From that lofty point the great valley of the Kentucky river was within view, and the river, itself broad and bright, flowing and winding downwards—a gorgeous sunset brightened all the west with hues of crimson and gold, and the level rays as they smote the tree-tops of the far-stretching forest, glorified them with a beauty indescribable.

The only sign of a human presence in this wide scene was presented by a cluster of black wooden buildings standing in a large clearing near to the side of the river. A high wall or palisade, formed of thick posts, enclosed the buildings, while short stumps of trees still standing here and there in the cleared ground showing that once the whole place had been a dense forest like the rest, till patient human industry had made the ground fit for cultivation, and reared on it fruit and grain for human sustenance.

This was Jerry Just's settlement. With a remote and secluded dwelling place for the little handful of people who inhabited those wooden houses and lived there in the solitude of the wilderness, on the remotest verge of the frontiers of civilization! How shut out were they from the world; how shut in among themselves—their joys and sorrows, their hopes and fears being rendered all the more intense by their isolated position!

Very pleasant it was to see the blue smoke curling up into the air, and two or three human forms moving about in the clearing and within the square which the palisade enclosed. It was too distant to distinguish the figures minutely, but by the flowing dress of some Philip could make out that they were women.

The following dialogue occurred in the Faubourg St. Honore, Paris, between a patriarchal gentleman and his granddaughter:

"What makes your hair so white, grandpa?" inquired the maiden.
"I'm very old, my dear; I was in the ark," says grandpa, humorously, but with a reckless disregard for the truth, which does not prepossess us in the old man's favor.
"Oh," says the child, regarding her relative with fresh interest, "are you Noah?"
"No, I am not Noah."
"Are you Shem, then?"
"No, I am not Shem."
"Are you Ham?"
"No, I am not even Ham."
"Then you must be Japhet," says mademoiselle, at the end of her historical lecture, and growing rather impatient at the difficulty that surrounded her aged relative's identification.
"No, I am not Japhet."
"Then, grandpa, you're a beast!"

A movement is on foot to bring the Air Line to Clifford via Allanburg.

DEVICE FOR INCREASING THE FLOW OF WELLS.—M. Donnet, a French engineer, has discovered a method of increasing the flow of wells, by closing the mouth as perfectly as possible, by means of a sheet-iron bell, through the top of which the same passes which is attached to the pump. When the pump is worked, if more water is withdrawn from the well than naturally flows into it, the water level is lowered, and a diminution of pressure is produced on the surface; this causes an increased supply of water to come in from the springs which feed the well, and the total delivery of the well is permanently increased.

A BOOK FOR EVERY MAN.—The "SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION," a Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of Exhausted Vitality, Premature Decline in Man, Nervous or Physical Debility, Hypochondria, Impotency, Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness, and all other diseases arising from the errors of youth or the indiscretions or excesses of mature years. DR. WHEELER'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA. Sandy Creek, Aug. 15th, 1872. The Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anemic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is THE REMEDY.

LOCALS.
The Kingston club are not coming to Guelph until Friday, the 15th—not the 8th, as stated a day or two ago. A letter received from Kingston last evening to the Maple Leaf headquarters empowers us to make the correction.

The Brampton people want to play the Maple Leaf against a professional nine for the first prize at their coming tournament. This is right. We understand over $500 has been collected for prizes, and they are still at it.

The Brampton Walnut Batters and the Preston club had a match game in Preston yesterday. The game being a tie on the 9th, another innings was played when Brampton won by 40 to 35. Mr. Harradon, late of the Dundas club, captained the Brampton nine.

A game was played in Port Hope yesterday between the Second Nine of the Brampton and the Second Nine of the Silver Stars of Port Hope. The game lasted four hours. Score—Brampton, 13; Silver Stars, 33.

A little game is going on this afternoon out by Newton's between the Resolutes and Red Stockings.

LACROSSE.

At the meeting of the Beavers at Parker's last night a good few names were added to the roll, which with the long list already on the secretary's books speaks for the club a prosperous season. Another practice game is to be played on the commons near Newton's hotel to-morrow afternoon about 2 o'clock.

CRICKET.

A match is on the tapis between the first nine of the Maple Leaf, with Mr. Robinson and a base ball, against the best eleven of the Cricket Club to be played in the field. Arrangements were in progress this morning by two prominent members of both clubs, and we hope to be able to give the date shortly. The base ballists have generally been on the winning side—in cricket as well as base ball—but we understand they will need all their skill this time to ensure victory.

Chatham beat Detroit yesterday on the Chatham grounds, by a score of 74 and 118 to 64 and 18, with 5 wickets down when time was called. The game was decided on the 1st innings.

A match was played in Elora yesterday between the second eleven of the Guelph and the first eleven of the Elora, resulting in favor of the latter by 77 runs. Score—Guelph, 123; Elora 200.

Few people unacquainted with physiological chemistry are aware of the quantity of iron in the blood, but all should know the importance of keeping up the supply, for debility, disease and death are sure to follow when the quantity becomes too much reduced. The Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron) supplies this vital element, and has cured many chronic diseases.
