THE WORLD.

18 King Street East, Toronto. The Toronto World.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 28, 1922.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

We have received several complaints within the last two weeks of the non-arrival of The World.

MORE ABOUT MARMION—A REAL GRIEVANCE.

We have been led, like many others, by the late discussion, to make an examination of the edition of this extraordinary book, put through the press by W. J. Gage & Co.

The allusion here to the "corn" on the toe is most touching and reveals to the schoolmaster, as it does to the author, the truth of the arithmetical statement, "9 into 7 you can't."

THE PRESBYTERIAN ON THE MARMION MIDDLE. The Canada Presbyterian criticizes the defence of Mr. Crooks put forward in the Globe.

birds, one the gifted schoolmaster, could not have made the oversight. On the Mr. Miller-Millar discusses the poem and describes "Wraith" as "the apparition of a person seen before or after death."

THE LOOKOUT FOR TWIFLE. The khedive has been reinstated at Cairo by the victors who have whipped back his rebellious subjects into loyalty.

MR. HERBERT SPENCER'S INSOMNIA. It is a subject of regret to all who take interest in philosophical literature that his visit to America should have brought so little relief to Mr. Herbert Spencer's health.

AMERICAN POLITICS. The approaching elections in New York state give promise of an unusually hot contest between the republican and democratic elements.

MR. GLADSTONE AND SOBRIETY. Mr. Gladstone has once again taken occasion to deny having sympathized with the south.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM. The St. Catharines News does not agree with our statement that credit system is still the course of Canadian business.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM. The fourth of the failures in this city are the result of credit. Besides the loss of accounts—and these mostly small ones—an immense amount of energy is consumed in keeping books, in running after bills, etc.

SHINY MAN. "Wall's Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility, etc.

FACT AND FANCY.

A cat shows its contentment to purification. What can't be endured should be speedily cured.

A scientist at Chardon, Ohio, has the license granted to Brigham Young to marry his first wife.

Advice to wives:—Man is very much like an egg—keep him in hot water and he is bound to become hardened.

A farmer in Dubuque makes his children address him as follows:—"Most respected and respected father, I'll take you to school."

"Dada!" "What are half-breast cats?" Please give an illustration. Really, you are in the way of us. No to a more married editor.

A Missouri trooper yielded 600 rats, 300 sheep, for cords of wood, twelve mules and one raccoon. It is supposed to have been 600 years of it.

A Mr. Harvey of Fairfield has received a patent for a ventilated shoe, although he does not wear the kind, they have been in general use for years.

A Cincinnati man in trying to break a forty-dollar cat smashed up ninety dollars worth of property, but as he had the approval of some two hundred men and boys he didn't mind the loss much.

Perhaps the casual reader has never sat down on a buzz saw and felt himself gradually fading away. If so, he don't know what it is to form the acquaintance of a scambullistic bull-dog in the prime of life.

A great deal of dull red is seen on the newly imported oysters, and a touch of red is in most all toiles, though it may be only a coppered shell neckerchief, a flamingo's breast or the farban or terra-cotta gloves.

Fogg asserted the other evening that he knew a woman who never appended a postscript to a letter. Everybody was astonished until he informed the company that the woman he referred to didn't know how to write.

Oregon Jack, a medicine man of the Big Valley tribe of Indians in California, was lassoed and dragged to death by two members of the Fall river tribe not long ago. One of his patients died, which means death to the doctor.

Emily (little sister)—What a large family the spinners must be! I hear in church every Sunday that some of them are going to be married. (Frances older sister)—Oh, you little stupid! Don't you know what spinners are? Bachelor ladies, of course.

The Dakota Indians are becoming so well civilized that one of the lady missionaries is learning among them writes: "I wish a sock of pretty ribbons is running low, and if you know of any one who might 'dreadfully' to help me tell them I should like some pretty children's dresses, aprons, blouses, bonnets, out and bustled, ready for winter. Indeed, garments of any kind or any size, men's shirts or women's gowns, will be gladly received, so that they are prepared for my women to sew them."

Women in the habit of talking in loud and forcible language to their husbands should profit by the following:—"The human lungs reverberate, sometimes with a loud, shrill cry, and sometimes with a low, muffled sound. When windy individuals indulge in such verbosity, they have to twist the tongue in the mouth, and strain the diaphragm as though the wind were in the pants."

When a man says: "I'm a little nervous," he means he is a little nervous. When a woman says: "I'm a little nervous," she means she is a little nervous. When a man says: "I'm a little nervous," he means he is a little nervous. When a woman says: "I'm a little nervous," she means she is a little nervous.

There are some children in San Francisco who claim the unique distinction of having in their veins the blood of the five races of the world. Their great-grandfather was part negro and part American Indian; their great-grandmother was a native Sandwich Islander—hence their grandmother was negro, Indian, Malay, Chinese and American.

The Mexican women are wonderfully graceful, says a correspondent. This is partly due to their manner of carrying baskets or bundles, begun in earliest childhood. I watched a Mexican girl carrying an immense basket of clothes home to be laundered. First she selected from the basket a towel, and twisting it tightly round it round and round until the circumference was the size of her head, on which she placed it; then she held by a companion she lifted the basket weighing at least thirty pounds, on top of the roll. She balanced it by touching it lightly, first with one hand and then the other. After she had gone a short distance she folded her hands in her shawl, walking with the greatest ease and unconcern.

The blows and buffets to which sensitive natures are exposed in this chilly world are hardly understood by those old stagers whose sensibilities are of the calloused order. A youthful being of the gentler sex, upon whose head, and when she was young, twenty summers had passed, wished to breathe out her longings for an artistic and beautiful on canvas or golden rod from nature, a lovely specimen of five beautiful bunches of yellow flowers showed it to her in a garden, and she was dependent from her, expecting her unquenchable appreciation, that unfeeling and matter-of-fact relative said it looked as if some one had dipped his fingers in boiled quash and had left the imprint of them on the petals. Then after the yearning of the young ones crushed by the heartless and unfeeling.

READABLE PARAGRAPHS.

Nervous Neuralgia, of no matter how long standing or how severe, will readily yield to the curative power of Dr. E. C. West's Nerve and Brain Treatment.

Words have blind the man that puts happiness in the study of ambition. Light is thrown upon "progress" by the study of a water meter, which announces the illness of its owner, piously addressed: "All your water subscriptions are neglected to mention your prayers. The others need not be the prayers of the wicked availing nothing."

Colonial Notes.

From the Winnipeg Times, (Conservative). A writer in the Victoria Review, published at Melbourne, Australia, takes strong grounds against the bestowing of titles upon colonial public men. He says that upon colonial public men, titles are bestowed which were originally invented to tickle the vanity of the nobles of the Roman Empire, and has done more to corrupt colonial statesmen than any other device ever contrived by the Imperial authorities, and admits colonialists of "falling down before the glittering star which (though begrudging from them with contempt."

This is a somewhat exaggerated view of the matter, but there is no doubt that titles and court progress are one of the places in a colony. In the debate in 1701 on Pitt's bill providing a constitution for Quebec, the question of establishing a hereditary aristocracy was discussed. Fox said:—"Without enquiring whether hereditary honors are in themselves an advantage or an evil, the point which I wish to consider is whether there is anything in them so peculiarly advantageous as to induce us to introduce them into a country where they make no part of the constitution, it is not only to destroy them, but to give the old days of the Irish parliament a roasting, being far in his cups, contented with his lordship, being better, repeated of what he had done, and asked Barry to "call it off." "Fah an I didn't want it, my lord," said the gallant knight, "but I had taken it sure my Lady Flannery would have raised a blaze of Mr. Flannery's sentiments are no doubt those of many Canadian public men who accepted their honors and ribbons more for the sake of the honor than for the sake of the glory. It is to be hoped the present generation will see the last of this humbug. A Canadian's best reward is the approval of his conscience and the affection of his fellow-countrymen."

Sunday Reform in British Columbia. The citizens of Yale, B. C., have lately taken steps towards securing a better observance of Sunday in that town. A public meeting was called and a code of resolutions drawn up and unanimously passed. The principal provisions are as follows: 1. That the manner in which Yale citizens spend Sunday was a disgrace to any civilized country. 2. That Sunday meetings and religious exercises must be stopped. 3. That alterations be made in the mail arrangements. 4. That the co-operation of the steamboat owners be secured. 5. That all good citizens pledge themselves to avoid transacting business on Sunday and to preserve the same as a day of rest.

Gov. D. W. Meriwether, ex-governor of New Mexico, and now a member of the legislature of Kentucky for four years, term, lately said to a reporter in Frankfort, Ky.: "I have used Sir Jacob Oil with splendid results for neuralgia and rheumatism. My rheumatism is cured, and I give entire satisfaction. It is, indeed, a great remedy."
