PORT ARTHUR TO THE OCEAN.

THE TWENTY-FOOT WATERWAY UNDER DISCUSSION.

Col. Denton Moves That the Canal Be Deepened and the Northwest Members Support Him - Hon. J. Haggart Describes the Scheme as Impracticable - Two-Cent Postage.

OTTAWA, April 30.—This has been open port day, the advocates of a 20-foot waterway taking up nearly the whole of the afternoon and a portion of the evening session until the adjournment of the debate was moved by Hon. Mr. Haggart.

The debate did not vary much from the lines of last year, except that it gave occasion for a little exchange of opinion between Hon. Mr. Daly and Mr. Martin.

In reply to Sir James Grant, Hon. Mr. Denton said that the project of the Government to build a new geological museum at present.

Mr. Charles Hibbert Tupper, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, stated that the memorial of the British Columbia Legislature with respect to compensation to miners had been forwarded to the Imperial Government, and he gave some information as to the steps which had been taken with a view to securing compensation.

Depeening the Canals. Col. Denton moved that, whereas the canal now in course of construction by the Government of the Dominion at Sault Ste. Marie is to have a depth of 20 feet, which is the depth of navigable water from Port Arthur to Port Colborne, it is, in the opinion of this House, expedient that the same policy should be adopted as regards the St. Lawrence canal, and that the Sault Ste. Marie canal now being constructed, together with the other St. Lawrence canal and the channel of the river, where necessary should be deepened to a uniform depth of 20 feet.

A 14-foot Waterway Obsolete. He said that his desire was to keep the matter before the House that to have the matter passed at present. He thought that the policy of a 14-foot waterway adopted in 1870 was now obsolete on account of the larger vessels now used on the lakes.

Now was the proper time to consider the policy which the Sault Ste. Marie canal was being built to have that made 20 feet. With regard to the cost he thought that the estimate of one hundred millions, given when he brought the subject up last year, was excessive. A Chicago engineer had estimated the cost of deepening the St. Lawrence canal at twenty-seven millions, and the other at forty millions, and thought that a great country like Canada could afford to spend that amount for obtaining a great waterway into the interior of a city of one million inhabitants like Manchester.

He found it to its advantage to spend $75,000 for building a 25-mile canal so as to make their city an ocean port.

Cheaper Transportation. Mr. McKay (Hamilton) and Dr. Sprague supported the motion in the interest of cheaper transportation, the latter urging as a reason for the completion of a 20-foot waterway from the Great Lakes to the St. Lawrence the possibility of an amalgamation of the C.P.R. and Grand Trunk railways, which would give a monopoly of them to the monopoly of the carrying trade of western Canada.

Mr. Cartwright followed, and Mr. Davin concurred in the resolution. Mr. Davin from the standpoint of the Northwest.

Sir James Grant had a word in season for the Ottawa Canal scheme, and then the member for Winnipeg arose.

Evils of Excessive Freight Charges. Mr. Martin pointed out the evils of excessive transportation charges by comparing the price of wheat in Manitoba (45 cents) with that paid in Liverpool (90 cents). Such a scheme as Col. Denton's proposal might have the effect of time in reducing freight rates on grain, but the Government, he said, had lost the golden opportunity when it failed to insert a clause in the C.P.R. agreement retaining control of the company's tariff on freighting.

Mr. Martin's actions while Minister of Public Works in Manitoba, and insisting that the Government was not an advocate of cheap freight rates as he is now.

Mr. Laurier raised the point of order that a member should not be charged with insincerity, and the Speaker ruled accordingly, but he did not before the House, otherwise it might not be a proper matter for him to interfere with. The discussion on the point of order lasted until 10 o'clock.

After recess Mr. Cockburn pointed out the advantages of the scheme in the opening up of the Northwest and establishing a cheaper communication between Ontario and the Maritime Provinces.

Haggart repeats the scheme as impracticable, said the idea of using the proposed 20-foot canal for ocean-going vessels might be once discarded, or it would be cheaper for ocean-going vessels to tranship at Montreal than to navigate the canal, supporting that they could be made. The vessels used for lake navigation were of lighter build and required less fuel to run them. The canal was not always useful for navigation between Montreal and the upper lakes. The deepening of the canal to 24 feet would mean an expenditure of twelve million dollars. The gentlemen who supported the motion made no estimate of the size of the locks required for ocean-going vessels. For 20 feet upon the mire all the engineers estimated an expenditure of $60,000,000. From Kingston to the mouth of the Welland Canal there was not a spot with a depth of more than 14 feet, and the deepening of 20 feet would mean an additional expenditure of $30,000,000. But vessels drawing 20 feet really require a depth of water, and this would require an expenditure of $150,000,000, or even $150,000,000, independent of the deepening of the harbor. Then there was the danger of the deepening of the canal affecting the waters of the lakes which might mean damages in excess of even the cost of the deepening. He saw nothing to justify the expenditure and would therefore move the adjournment of the debate.

"A Wild-cat Scheme," says Mallock. Mr. Mallock attacked the proposal as an insane, "wild-cat" scheme, meant to deceive the people, who ought to know that there was nothing in it.

Mr. Calvin approved of the stand taken by Mr. Haggart, but hoped the deepening to 14 feet would be completed as soon as possible.

Motion for adjournment was carried after the Speaker had given his decision on the point of order raised by Mr. Haggart. He ruled Mr. Daly out of order in saying Mr. Martin was insincere.

Bureau of Labor Statistics. Mr. Lapine moved for all communications received by the Minister of Agriculture respecting the establishment of a bureau of labor statistics for the Dominion to be reported on to him in 1890. The House declared in favor of such a bureau, and named the Government intended to do nothing if the Government intended to do nothing.

FARMS DUMPED IN THE RIVER

SIX SQUARE MILES OF A LANDSLIDE IN QUEBEC.

The Ground Beneath St. Alban Village Undermined by the Freshets—Houses Carried Away and Three Deaths Known to Have Resulted—The Flood Does Enormous Damage.

QUEBEC, Que., April 30.—A landslide occurred at St. Alban on the St. Anne River, about 15 miles from this place, on Friday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m., in which four persons lost their lives—Mr. Samuel Gauthier, his wife, his son aged 14 years and David Gauthier, a brother of Samuel Gauthier. The land was carried for a length of three miles and one mile deep, carrying 16 buildings and about 500 cattle. The water rose to the height of 100 feet, and when the obstruction gave way it came down with irresistible force, sweeping bridges and buildings on its way.

COURSE OF THE FLOOD. The Full Extent of the Appalling Disaster Yet to Be Learned.

ST. ANNE, April 30.—A frightful inundation took place on the St. Anne River on Thursday night. The particulars of the flood were learned at St. Anne de la Perade on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock and were sent out next morning by Station Agent Gignac as soon as the ice and logs below there are no impediment to the river.

The first damage occurred at a distance of eight miles below the St. Alban bridge. At this point there was an abandoned pulp mill, surrounded by about 18 houses, of which only three were occupied. The flow of water, ice and logs undermined the bank at this point and carried away the whole series of land, together with the three families, and four children; James Gilpin, wife and four children; Armande Labrache, wife and eight children; and David Gagnon, wife and four children. Five miles below the overflowing water joined the River Noie, carrying away two acres of land belonging to Dameau. The water was so high that it happened to be away from home. It is at this point that the flood began to cause destruction.

The Whole Village Endangered. As the two rivers join there begins a descent, the banks get higher and the settlements thicker. At St. Alban it reached. A half mile above the village is a point deep down from the level of the land, and here a sharp turn, which was a torrent came on, gathering ice and logs on its way, it was thought that the whole village must go. As it was everything to a depth of 80 feet to the north, it undermined and carried away, bringing the terrace in front of the church, and the house of the mail-carrier, which was stored the evening mail. Mr. Fremette, the wife of the mail-carrier, was also drowned.

A half-mile below the church is a bridge 80 feet above the level of the water. This was carried off, together with the mill, for a distance of 10 miles until St. Casimir was reached. St. Casimir is a village of 1800, of which 1000 are in the mill, and two large sawmills, the whole of which were carried off.

Once again the torrent had a free course, but it was destined to be checked, as it neared the St. Lawrence. Three miles above St. Anne the river makes a sharp turn, and it is here that the greatest disasters occurred. Seven farm houses, including all occupants, barns and a tannery, were literally floated down the river. The log booms were reached, which had the effect of stopping the debris for a moment, only to submerge the Crown property. St. Anne de la Perade was visited with a disastrous fire last summer, and when early Saturday morning the population was awakened by the noise of the fire, many a person rushed to the church, thinking the end of everything was at hand. Here the river widens, and the debris had there are piers and wharves, which caused the accumulation of logs, ice and buildings to stop for a moment.

In the St. Lawrence the tide was low and relieved the swollen St. Anne. Some houses, but not before the morning, were taken to the summer estate of the Hon. J. J. Ross, Speaker of the Senate, and at the breakers.

DUBLIN, April 30.—Two farm houses at Clonderlaw, county Clare, from which the tenants had been evicted, was fired into by unknown persons Friday night. The houses were in possession of caretakers. On the same night the wife of a caretaker named Miss Kelly, of a farm near Killarney, was fired at, but not wounded.

Why suffer from toothache when Gibbons' Toothache Gum will give instant relief.

DUBLIN, April 30.—Two farm houses at Clonderlaw, county Clare, from which the tenants had been evicted, was fired into by unknown persons Friday night. The houses were in possession of caretakers. On the same night the wife of a caretaker named Miss Kelly, of a farm near Killarney, was fired at, but not wounded.

Eastern Story

The Government at Ottawa can learn a lesson at Washington these days. In the latter capital a party of tariff reformers, of tariff reduction, came into power not long ago, and though in control of all branches of the national legislature they have succeeded in doing only one thing—in paralyzing the industries and the business of the country. Tariff reform, tariff reduction is found almost impossible of accomplishment. But stagnation, distrust, uncertainty as to the future are broadcast in the land. Where the people vote to reduce tariff rates, the industries and the business of the country, through fresh peevish creations and the influx of the ablest men of every class, upon possessing among the characteristic traits of that class, in summing up the strength of the House of Lords, he says: "It may be said to base its claims for a share of the government of the country upon being representative of the most thoroughly educated class in the community; upon possessing among the bulk of its members an hereditary training for political life and an intimate connection with all the great present interests of the country, through fresh peevish creations and the influx of the ablest men of every stamp to its ranks, upon having in its ranks the members of 169 peers who have had practical training as members of the House of Commons, and 114 peers who have served in offices of state or as governors of colonies, as judges, ambassadors or members of the Civil Service in other high departments; upon possessing 120 peers who are members of the County Councils in England or Wales, and upward of 300 peers who are justices of the peace in their native counties, and possessed of more or less practical knowledge of an important branch of judicial procedure." The facts cited in Mr. Hopkins' article go to show that, where two chambers are deemed essential, a hereditary and an elective house will produce better government than two elective chambers.

It is easy to destroy these days: it is hard to establish and to build up. Let us hold on to what we've got in these days of universal distrust and uncertainty.

Our manufacturers have just pulled through; how many of them have made money to call for a sweeping away of the protection they had? They are at least the equal of the importers of the country in promoting its welfare.

And of all the so-called panaceas for the widespread depression of these days, "lower prices," "cheaper goods," is the maddest. Higher prices, dearer goods, is what the farmer and the artisan stand in most need of. Even judicious combination of the desired before rampant competition and tumbling values.

The World has already indicated in which lines the Government proposals go too far, and where it will be necessary to return to the old tariff. If the woolen and yarn industries are to be let down, so must the cotton and the sugar interests to the same degree. And if agricultural implements made in Ontario are to be reduced as to their protection, so must the iron industry of Nova Scotia, which is dependent in a measure on the former, be proportionately reduced. And there would appear to be several other lines of manufactures of which it could be said that help rather than reduction would be in order.

The Best Way to Advertise Toronto. A petition is being circulated requesting the City Council to include in any scheme that may be prepared for the improvement of the Island the making of a rowing course from the centre of the Island westward through Brookhouse Bay. The improvement that must in any event be made on the Island will involve a great many works. Those that are made should, of course, be designed to produce the best possible results. The rowing course that has been suggested ought to prove remunerative to Toronto from a financial point of view. Such a course as the petition refers to will give Toronto the best facilities in Canada for the holding of regattas and aquatic sports of all kinds. With these facilities we ought to secure all the leading events of the year. No one will deny the wisdom of our policy in establishing the Industrial Exhibition. Our success in this enterprise is attributable to the fact that we secured grounds and created facilities for the holding of an exhibition such as no other city in Ontario can take away from us.

The London Economist reports a revival of business in England. Labor is more fully employed than a year ago. The exports and import statistics do not show much expansion, but quantities are larger than values indicate. Prices, compared with last year, are 5 per cent lower. Receipts from freight by all railways for the first quarter of 1894 show an increase of 3.2 per cent, compared with 1893. On the whole the volume of trade is said to be slowly increasing.

Four-Track Street's Revival. The Passenger Department of the New York Central has just issued a series of eight beautiful etchings, which artistically outrank anything of the kind ever issued by a railroad company, while the absence of any objectionable advertising feature renders them suitable for hanging in your office, library or home.

These etchings are all printed on fine plate paper, 34x23 inches, suitable for framing. Copies may be procured at the office of Edson J. Weeks, General Agent, 1 Exchange Street, Buffalo, N.Y., for 25 cents each, or by two of them to one address for $1.25, or any three or more ordered at one time, in currency, stamps, express or postal money order.

It is from a business point of view principally that the project ought to commend itself to us, but it is commendable also from its sanitary and ornamental aspect.

Bad as the situation is in the United States at the present moment, the future presents an even gloomier outlook. The United States has never before been face to face with such widespread depression. The situation is characterized both by uncertainty as to the cause of the trouble and uncertainty as to what the future will bring forth. The country is, as it were, struck with a blight, and no one is able to prescribe a remedy for shaking it off. To further aggravate the condition of affairs on hundred and forty-seven thousand bituminous coal and coke operatives went on strike last week, and their cessation from work has already involved sixty thousand workmen in other lines, including 10,400 textile workers, 7,000 in pottery and other kindred industries, 8,000 among building trades and 6,000 railroad employes. Lake vessels are laying up, and mills throughout the Central and Western States are shutting down as a consequence of the prospective lack of fuel. Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and Duluth are feeling the strike, the effect on vessel interests at these and other lake ports being very discouraging. Affairs in the United States have become so utterly demoralized that a serious upheaval of some kind is liable to burst out at any moment.

A Canadian's Opinion of the Lords.

Mr. J. Castell Hopkins has an interesting article in The Mac Forum entitled "The Stability of the House of Lords." We who live on this side of the Atlantic have undoubtedly a very hazy and erroneous conception of the English House of Lords and the vast interests that stand behind it and that give it the influence and prestige it has enjoyed for so many centuries. Mr. Hopkins' article gives the reader a great deal of information about the characteristic traits of that class. In summing up the strength of the House of Lords, he says: "It may be said to base its claims for a share of the government of the country upon being representative of the most thoroughly educated class in the community; upon possessing among the bulk of its members an hereditary training for political life and an intimate connection with all the great present interests of the country, through fresh peevish creations and the influx of the ablest men of every stamp to its ranks, upon having in its ranks the members of 169 peers who have had practical training as members of the House of Commons, and 114 peers who have served in offices of state or as governors of colonies, as judges, ambassadors or members of the Civil Service in other high departments; upon possessing 120 peers who are members of the County Councils in England or Wales, and upward of 300 peers who are justices of the peace in their native counties, and possessed of more or less practical knowledge of an important branch of judicial procedure." FOR THE BENEFIT OF MOTHERS.

Loving and anxious mothers should be guided by the opinions of first-class physicians and speak advisedly when it is their duty to feed their infants with Lactated Food. One physician says: "I have thoroughly tried the other infant foods on the market, and speak advisedly when I say there is no other food that so thoroughly agrees and nourishes as Lactated Food." Another physician says: "I have benefited in favor of Lactated Food, and have discarded all others. I not only prescribe it for my practice and recommend it in my writings, but use it in my own family." Still another physician writes as follows: "I have used Lactated Food for some time; it takes pleasure in bearing testimony to its many excellent qualities. I have found it especially useful in cases of impaired digestion in infants and old people." Bad blood causes blotches, boils, pimples, abscesses, ulcers, scrofula, etc. Purified Blood Filters cure in any form from a common pimply to the worst scrofulous sore.

THE RATE IS SIXTEEN MILLS

QUARTER OF A MILLION DECREASE IN EXPENDITURE.

Every Committee Cuts Down its Estimates.—The Public Works Department To Worry Along With $188,000 Less Than in 1893.—Special Meeting of the City Council Yesterday.

Taxpayers will settle with Treasurer Coyle to the tune of 16 mills on the dollar for 1894. This was the rate fixed at a special meeting of the City Council held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the estimates. The result was arrived at in a peculiar and novel manner.

How it was accomplished. This is how it was done. The new $600,000 pumping engine ordered two years ago from the Blake Manufacturing Company was fairly tested, and paid for in part by July 1. This was to have been a cash deal (with the customary hold-back until the engine had been fairly tested), and paid for out of this year's taxation. The aldermen who believe in running the city's business on business principles conceived the idea of "stealing off" the manufacturers for one-half the amount. The $300,000 thus saved was sufficient to bring the rate down to 16 mills. This was done without vigorous opposition from Ald. Lamb, chairman of the Board of Works, by his colleagues.

Posting the Evil Day. The estimates were all passed when Ald. Crawford sprung his resolution to reduce the Board of Works estimate by $30,000. At the meeting of the Executive Committee held on the previous day the Mayor introduced the same motion, but His Worship introduced a strong language from Ald. Lamb, withdrew his motion, and gave it to Ald. Crawford to move in council with the above result, which carried on this vote.

Shaw this was adopted.

Ald. Crawford's motion that the City Clerk be instructed to telegraph the city representatives at Ottawa, requesting the "Pedlars" case be taken to the Privy Council, was carried. Ald. On April 19, just before daybreak, the Corcan plowed her way deep into a huge ice field, where she became fast bound.

the chair, the estimates were dealt with. Ald. Lamb moved that the council authorize an issue of debentures amounting to $75,000 without submitting the question to a vote for the purpose of creating new schools instead of the amount of $40,000 as recommended in the estimates.

Ald. Crawford said he was opposed to the issue of more debentures. He thought the pay as you go principle was better. Ald. Shaw supported the $40,000 debentures. The Mayor favored the money being raised by debentures, as advocated in his inaugural message.

Ald. Foster said if the kindergarten were abolished and children kept at home until a proper age to go to school, it would give more room for older pupils. Both these motions were lost. Ald. Meredith $50,000 to be raised by debentures without submitting to the people.

The Civic Salaries. The civic salary question is settled at last on the basis of half the reduction of the scale of the salary reduction bylaw. Ald. Crane moved to have the bylaw stand, but lost on this vote.

BRITISH LABOR COMMISSION.

G. T. R. HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

Boards of Conciliation Not Recommended.

Arbitrators to Be Appointed—The Hours of Labor Cannot Be Fixed By Law.

LONDON, April 30.—The Royal Labor Commission has agreed upon the report recommended by the Duke of Devonshire, and it is made the basis of the commission's own report.

The Duke in his report also said that he did not recommend the establishment of boards of conciliation and arbitration by the state; but the opinion was expressed that a central department might do much by advice and assistance to promote their more rapid universal establishment.

Arbitrators to Be Paid by the Treasury. The report next deals with appointment of official arbitrators. It is the opinion expressed that the difficulty often experienced in finding a suitable arbitrator might be overcome by giving a public department power to appoint an arbitrator to act alone or in conjunction with others.

The report next deals with the question of the hours of labor. No one, it says, seems seriously to argue that measures could be fixed by legislation; but opinions are very much divided about the regulation of hours of labor.

The second part of the report deals with wages and the hours of labor. No one, it says, seems seriously to argue that measures could be fixed by legislation; but opinions are very much divided about the regulation of hours of labor.

Intimidation by Picketing. According to the report there seems to be a general desire among workmen, as well as masters, for some clear definition of intimidation by picketing.

Non-Unionists Must Be Protected. In regard to non-unionist labor, the report says that the commission does not think it possible, by any legislation, to remove the cause of those serious conflicts which have taken place, especially in recent years, in the less skilled and organized trades.

The Minority Report. The minority report, presented by Mr. John Austin, and the members of Parliament for Yorkshire; Mr. Tom Mann and Mr. J. Mawdsley, insists that the remedy for differences between employers and employed will be found in the evolution of capitalist, as well as working people, to their proper position as servants of the community.

Funeral of Mrs. George Nicholson. The funeral took place yesterday at St. James' Cemetery from St. Matthew's Church of Mrs. George Nicholson, a widely known resident of the East End. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Canon Sanson (by whom the deceased had been prepared for confirmation and married).

Mr. Henry Tyler Received With Graciously, Bitter and Applause—A Nasty Messing, But Little Done.

LONDON, April 30.—The half-yearly meeting of the Grand Trunk shareholders was held to-day in the Cannon-street Hotel. There was a very large attendance, and the proceedings throughout were of a lively and sometimes turbulent character.

Mr. Hoselord, a former auditor, moved a resolution to the effect that a commission consisting of three shareholders and three directors be appointed to investigate the accounts and report therefrom upon the condition and prospects of the branches now attached to the Grand Trunk system.

A shareholder asked Sir Henry Tyler whether the Grand Trunk maintained friendly relations with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sir Henry replied that the management of the two railways was of the best of terms.

The president referred to the decreasing business, which was in part met by a decrease in operating expenses. The current half yearly interest on debenture bonds would be fully earned.

300 Men Laid Off in Montreal—The G.T.R. Dismisses 1000 Men.

MONTREAL, April 30.—Three hundred men have been discharged from the Canadian Pacific workshops here.

There have also been dismissals in offices and other departments. The Grand Trunk authorities state that within the last three weeks 1000 men employed in the repair department have been dismissed.

Paine's Celery Compound. Its Life-Saving Results in and Around Our Homes.

As sensible and thinking people, we are not inclined to lavish praise and honor on those who simply talk loudly and boastfully about their philanthropy and charitable dispositions.

The local philanthropist, who has no good home work to support his assertions, has his counterpart in the ordinary practical man who claims the greatest of cures and pills are blessing humanity.

It is in order to maintain its high credit and standing Paine's Celery Compound relies entirely upon what Canadians say about it. No matter where you live in the Dominion you will find some of your friends and neighbors who can tell you.

The various cures wrought by Paine's Celery Compound, and the lives it has saved, speak more forcibly than panegyrics coming from the ablest authors.

THE BUFFALO MYSTERY.

No Clue Yet Found to the Murderer of Lawyer Gibbs. The Buffalo Mystery is the most interesting case of the season.

BEAUFORT, N.Y., April 30.—If Conan Doyle's creation, Sherlock Holmes, could visit Buffalo, the police department would give him a hearty welcome. The mysterious murder of Lawyer Gibbs on Saturday evening continues to be as much of a mystery as anything that nature has ever produced.

Gibbs was well known. He was a native of the city, had spent about all his life here and for half a dozen years had been engaged in newspaper work, as reporter, as city editor and in other journalistic capacities.

Traces of a woman's footprints were discovered by the police next morning at an early hour on the edge of the city. But a later discovery shows that the murderer, man or woman, must have crossed the lawn in front of the house of Miss Squires, in Delaware street, where the murder was committed, running to the rear and then over a wall and fence and through another house yard into Bryant-street, showing that the murderer was perfectly familiar with the locality and knew the way.

THE MOTHERS OF MEN. A Woman's Reasons Why Her Sex Should Have a Wider Sphere. The mother of Texas made church and looms, and so exercised her brains mechanically, while her husband preached and served the church as priest. The result creates in the mind of a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat the profound conviction that the woman is a lost being, a creature of imagination to conceive or language to express by keeping woman in the narrow routine of housework.

account, when one looks over a community, or over a community of people, the startling fact is that so large a part are nobodies. I do not mean that they are merely not distinguished, but that they are insignificant, mere echoes in the world. Take out one-tenth of the people and the nine-tenths would barely make a living.

New England, by a fine education of motherhood in theology, succeeded in creating a race of theologians. Every woman in New England in the eighteenth century could discuss the whole of divinity as well as men could, they had equal privileges and used them. Problems would never be solved at the prayer meetings. The New England school for intellectual wrestling, was in the church, not in the schoolhouse.
