WOMAN'S NERVE SAVED THE CREW. (New York Herald.) Their vessel dismantled by a hurricane in mid-ocean, that thirty days of weary, futile waiting for succor and finally privation in an open boat in the nearly unendurable heat of the tropical sun for ten days before land was reached—such was the terrible experience of Captain J. Mevius Kay, his wife and nine seamen, who arrived here yesterday on the steamship Granada from Trinidad and ports in the Windward Islands.

FRUIT TRANSPORTATION TO ENGLAND.

This Important and Long Vexed Question Apparently Settled.

Sir,—The transportation of our fruit to England having been for so many years unsatisfactory, I asked last winter at the annual meeting of the King's County Board of Trade, that a commission be appointed to ascertain definitely what changes would be desirable for the shipping of fruit, and that this commission also personally urge the Federal Government to secure through the influence of its ministry to the line of boats carrying our apples, such conditions in the new contract as would provide the fruit growers of Nova Scotia with a satisfactory service.

The responsibility and work of this commission fell almost entirely upon myself, Col. Spurr, who accompanied me to Ottawa, gave me his support and presented, as he was delegated specially to do, the question of Railway Classification to the Department of Railways. It is very gratifying to me therefore and must be gratifying to the fruit growers of N. S. to have official announcement that the contract between the Dominion Government and the Furness Withy Co. has at last been signed and captioned as the clauses that were asked for. These clauses or conditions were issued after I had consulted with many of the largest growers and shippers of fruit in Sydney Mines and other counties and were as follows:

First.—That when the trade of Nova Scotia required it the Government may insist upon the company increasing their steaming service to intervals of every ten days instead of fifteen, as now required.

Second.—That the steamships provided by the company shall, when carrying fruit, be run at an average rate of speed not less than twelve knots.

Third.—Said steamships when carrying fruit shall be ventilated by forced draught to the satisfaction of the Minister or some officer appointed by him, and in such a manner as to secure a uniform cool temperature.

Fourth.—Said boats shall not carry between decks more than five tiers of barrels of apples; that is, there shall not be resting on any one tier of barrels more than four other tiers.

Fifth.—The handling, loading, stowing and unloading of fruit shall be under the supervision of an officer appointed by the Minister if he deem it desirable. I am now in receipt of a letter from the Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, from which I take the following:

"I think all of the clauses which were asked to be inserted on behalf of the fruit growers last winter are contained in the contract and are in effect as follows:

"It provides that the steamships shall be fitted with suitable accommodation for carrying perishable cargo such as apples or other fruit, dairy produce and other products, without deterioration, with holds and 'ween decks provided with a thorough system of ventilation by means of forced circulation of fresh air by electric or steam fans in such a manner as to secure a uniform cool temperature; the in-takes for fresh air to be protected by convectors for that purpose similar to the Gibbs Steamship Ventilators so as to operate in all weathers without admitting water, spray or other dampness being taken into any place where cargo is carried, and that such ventilating appliances shall be operated at all times when cargo is on board; that at least one of the steamships employed shall be equipped with refrigerating plant for the forced circulation of cool air through places where apples or other early varieties of apples are carried; the space to be so cooled to be from 25,000 to 40,000 cubic feet; the temperature to be maintained at 50 and 55 degrees Fahrenheit; that the steamships when carrying fruit shall be run at an average speed of not less than twelve knots per hour."

There has been considerable delay on the part of the Furness Withy Co. in the signing of this contract upon the successful completion of which the Government should be congratulated and should receive due credit from the fruit growers for its ready response to the petition asked last winter.

If the subsidy is the same as for the last few years, namely, $25,000, and it probably is, the Government will have influence to the extent of that amount in securing the carrying out of this contract by the company.

The apple shippers now know what the contract calls for and they may make it their business to ascertain whether or not it is being carried out. The officer appointed by the Government to supervise the handling and stowing of the fruit at Halifax will probably be in a position to inform the government or apple-shippers whether any part of the contract is not being fulfilled. If the contract is carried out and no doubt the Furness Withy Co. intend that it shall be, it should save to the shippers of Kings, Annapolis, and Hants counties the estimated loss of $100,000 which has been suffered annually in the deterioration of our apples by bad handling, stowing, ventilation and length of time in ocean transit.

Make whatever use of this you please. Truly yours, J. H. CROWE, Teacher in Annapolis Academy.

BELLEISLE. Mrs. W. T. Bauld, who resided here during the summer, went away last week.

Mr. Robert Engleson, in putting away some farming implements for the winter, last week, had the misfortune to fall and injure himself quite seriously.

MINING NEWS.

October's was the highest output ever reached by the Dominion Coal Company, being several thousand tons in excess of the July output.

The output of iron and steel works in Toronto, by capitalists connected with the Dominion Iron and Steel Company. They undertake to expend $10,000,000 in building and $80,000,000 annually in wages provided they can get a 30 years' lease of city property on Ashbridge's marsh, Toronto.

The demand of the employees of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co. for an advance in their wages has been acceded to. On Friday afternoon T. J. Brown, superintendent of the company, arrived at Sydney Mines and held a conference with the executive committee of the workmen, when the following proposition was accepted by the representatives of the men: Beginning Nov. 1st, 1902, the employees will receive ten per cent. advance, equal to five cents on the ton of coal mined, the company claiming the right to abolish the bonus system now paid for working a stipulated number of days per month.

The Dominion Iron & Steel Company has decided to take hold of the iron ore property and will at once examine the titles to the property and if satisfied with them will enter into a contract whereby it can work on a per ton basis.

This is the banner year in the history of the Dominion Coal Company. The company has now chartered six steamships which are the largest they ever employed, the tonnage of the additions to the fleet being over 60,000 tons.

The iron moulder of Montreal decided against the erection of the Carnegie library, declaring that such offered rightly belonged to the widows and orphans of Homestead, Pa.

Dr. Ellis, an ex-Senator of St. John, N. B., who has been appointed medical superintendent of the Canadian emigration, has gone to Quebec to commence his duties.

A Domestic Science department has been added to the educational equipment of the lower of Pictou. The same teacher will have charge of the work in the two towns of Stellarton and Pictou.

Thomas Dixon, an I. C. R. shunter, was killed at Halifax Saturday afternoon. He was preparing to connect an engine with the cars, when he missed his footing and the tender, which was backing up, passed over him crushing him so that he soon after died.

James Dixon, colored, aged 25, Pullman porter on the I. C. R. between Halifax and St. John, was arrested Saturday night, Nov. 12th, on charges of theft from jewelry stores in St. John. Detective Powers had been working on the case for some weeks.

Several gold and silver watches and two new revolvers have been recovered from the display in exhibition hall. As the extension will entail a great deal more expense to Japan the Canadian emigration is being urged to forward offering to abate the expense, and the offer was not declined. Canada's exhibitors will include samples all that she grows and manufactures. The Manufacturers' Association has claimed the matter up with great enthusiasm.

W. W. Hubbard, formerly of the Stock Breeders' Association of the Maritime Provinces has been appointed by the C. P. R. at a salary of $1800 a year, to direct the developing of agriculture and dairying in the districts of the Maritime Provinces from which the road can get traffic of that kind.

Scranton Pa., Nov. 13.—All the members of the anthracite strike commission are now here and in readiness to begin the hearing of the differences between the miners and their employers. The sessions of the commission will begin tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Lackawanna county court house. The commissioners will be the room occupied by the state superior court, which is admirably adapted to the purpose. Two sessions will be held each day.

Most of the representatives of the contending parties are also on the ground. Each side will have an array of attorneys, and it is expected that at least two weeks will be taken up in hearing the witnesses on each side. It is the intention of the commission to adhere as closely as ordinary court procedure in pursuing the investigation as it possibly can. It will, however, not necessarily restrict either side in presenting evidence, it being the desire of the commissioners that both sides shall be thoroughly satisfied with the presentation of its own case. In the evidence to be given to the commissioners will be great masses of statistics, which are being prepared by hundreds of the companies. The miners will hand up bundles of the bills issued to them by the companies, which show accurately the money paid to the men.

Germany and England have agreed on the division of South East Africa, according to a high diplomatic authority, who has furnished the following version of the deal. Germany gets the territory from the Zambesi north to the border of Her colony. England gets everything south of the Zambesi, including Lorenzo, Delagoa Bay and Beira, which will then be the northern point in British South-east Africa. Portuguese sovereignty will be suspended, but whether Germany or England will pay for the region or simply establish a control similar to the Anglo-Egyptian arrangement is uncertain. The catalogue will continue yes. Send for it.

It is rumored that Miss Stone, the famous missionary, is anxious to go back to Macedonia and resume the work in which she was formerly engaged there, but that the Turkish government objects and will prohibit her from landing on any part of the territory under Turkish rule.

THE NEW CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

T. B. Flint, M. P. for Yarmouth, has been appointed by the Dominion clerk of the House in succession to Sir John Bourne.

The Toronto Star of Nov. 6th referring to Mr. Flint's probable appointment, says: There is precedent in these matters, and the clerkship of the House of Commons having long been held by a Nova Scotian, the knowing ones predict that Flint, of Yarmouth, will be Bourne's successor.

Mr. Flint is in many ways the direct antithesis of Sir John. He is a tall spare man; Sir John was portly. He wears a monocle; Sir John wore a clean shaven. He is well provided with grey hair; Sir John was very bald in manner. Mr. Flint is slow and formal; Sir John was nervous and alert; Mr. Flint speaks in measured tones; Sir John's utterance was rapid and jerky. Mr. Flint is a lawyer by profession, and to that extent his rules will help him in his new office. He will, no doubt, be able to digest quickly the great bundle of parliamentary procedure. The legal mind will be able to distinguish the great unjurisprudence principles from the multitudinous sub-sections which often seem to consist of nothing but verbiage. On Friday afternoon T. J. Brown, superintendent of the company, arrived at Sydney Mines and held a conference with the executive committee of the workmen, when the following proposition was accepted by the representatives of the men: Beginning Nov. 1st, 1902, the employees will receive ten per cent. advance, equal to five cents on the ton of coal mined, the company claiming the right to abolish the bonus system now paid for working a stipulated number of days per month.

There would have been a strike had this concession not been granted.

Practical Talks and Plain Precepts for Farmers.

Edited for the Farmer readers of the MONITOR by an Anna... Valley Agriculturist

We invite communications from farmers... to be published in this column.

ROUND HILL FARMERS' CLUB.

This society met for the third time on Monday evening, Nov. 18th, in the hall, Round Hill.

Before the meeting was formally opened the secretary exhibited microscopical slides of pollen and pistils of plants illustrating the work of bees in fertilization.

At the agricultural value of any sample of manure will depend primarily and chiefly upon the amount of nitrogen.

It is in the nitrogen that the value of the manure lies, and it is the nitrogen that is the most important element in determining its value.

position of the excrement, so does the amount of water drunk. The more water that the animal takes, the poorer or more dilute will be the urine, but the inferior quality will be largely compensated for by the increased quantity voided.

Age, Young and growing animals absorb a much larger percentage of the fertilizing constituents of their food than do those that are mature or full grown.

Condition or function of the animal. -From the foregoing paragraphs it might be inferred that according to the wants or requirements of the animal, so is the quality of the resulting manure.

General Conclusions.-A consideration of the foregoing statements permits us to make the following summary: -That the manure, both liquid and solid, of the various farm animals differ in value, that is, in the proportions of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash they contain.

That the manure of mature animals, other things being equal, is richer than that of young and growing animals.

That the manure of ruminants, such as cows, is richer than that of non-ruminants, such as pigs and poultry.

That the manure of animals that are well fed and in good health is richer than that of animals that are starved or in poor health.

That the manure of animals that are well cared for and kept clean is richer than that of animals that are neglected and kept in filthy surroundings.

That the manure of animals that are well watered is richer than that of animals that are kept in dry places.

That the manure of animals that are well exercised is richer than that of animals that are kept in stables.

That the manure of animals that are well fed with good food is richer than that of animals that are fed with poor food.

That the manure of animals that are well cared for and kept clean is richer than that of animals that are neglected and kept in filthy surroundings.

DOWN IN DIXIE.

Amid the Singing Pines Away from Frost and Cold.

Just now a number of our readers are planning where they will go for the winter and no doubt the majority of them will do as they have done in the past, buy round-trip excursion tickets, good for six months, to Southern Pineas to the points they desire to visit at the most favorable rates and then have unnecessary expenses.

The Household.

"Laughing Them Down." How often this is done in the home by the parents and grown-ups to the little and growing children, "laughing them down."

Perhaps the word "ridiculing" might have sounded better as a title, still this laughing down children can hardly be done under the head of ridicule, really intended to ridicule in such cases.

This is a mistake, for most children are very quick of perception, and know intuitively what their little untrained minds could never reason out. Besides this, they are more sensitive than you might imagine, and while they apparently sink under the weight of your laughing at them, they still feel your lack of sympathy for and with them, and secretly resent your robbing them of their self-respect.

Sensitive children especially feel anything of this kind very keenly, and brood over it long after the other people have forgotten the occurrence. And what is the final result? Gradually the freedom of speech and action, the independence of expressed thought, the confidence in people in general, and most of all, the confidence of the children in themselves, gradually all these things are lost.

Children, even though they are children, do not like to be "laughed down" more than the average grown-up person enjoys such a proceeding, and if people would only stop to think they would realize that children are not little wooden, unfeeling, unfeeling objects, but are alive, wide-awake and keenly observing bodies, particularly sensitive to ridicule in any of its numerous forms.

Do not delay putting all budding "blooming buds" you wish to force and plant at once all these classes of bulbs you intend to have in the open ground. If these bulbs are kept in the air much longer the crown is apt to gum and refuse to bloom.

Job's Corner.

Slightly Misunderstood. A young Southern woman who has been spending some weeks in the city tells the following story about a pompous resident of the town who holds the position of judge of the district, and is exceedingly particular with regard to language.

The judge was much given to meditating upon his work while walking along the street, and his acquaintances and friends recognize his air of abstraction, pass him by with a friendly nod and never mind if he does not appear to notice the salutation. A little colored newboy not familiar with this peculiarity of the judge, accosted him one day with persistent appeals.

"How dare you interrupt me when I am following out a line of argument? Don't you ever speak to me when I am pursuing a train of thought?"
