USE THE GROUNDS WITHOUT CHARGE

Conference Between Civic and Military Authorities Regarding Camp at Ex.

PAVEMENT GOES AHEAD

Despite Order of Railway Board, Work Progresses at Subway.

A conference between the civic and military authorities regarding the use of the Exhibition grounds for the soldiers was held at the mayor's office yesterday, following which the mayor announced that the military would be allowed to use the grounds without charge. The Ontario Jockey Club have also offered the Woodbine property for the use of the soldiers, which would likely be accepted by the city, exempting the property from taxation while thus occupied. Negotiations are being conducted between the city and the General Hospital Trust for the use of the old General Hospital on Gerrard street, for which $1000 a month rental is asked. There is said to be room for from 15,000 to 20,000 troops if all the available space is used.

Wants Decision Modified. Property Commissioner Chisholm has written to the Underwriters' Association requesting that they modify their decision not to allow motor cars and motor trucks to stand in the north St. Lawrence market. The commissioner realizes the hardship that the ruling imposes on farmers and market gardeners using motor vehicles, but says that since the garage was removed from the market the insurance rates have been considerably lowered.

According to Mayor Church an application will be made to the railway board for a conference of the harbor commissioners, the railway, the city and the Exhibition board regarding the proposed eastern entrance to the Exhibition grounds.

Works Commissioner Harris is going ahead with the paving of the Yonge street subway despite the order of the Ontario Railway Board that the Toronto Railway Company extend their tracks on north Yonge street by Dec. 1. The city is appealing the decision, and in order to avoid as much loss as possible should the appeal be denied, the city is having the expansion joints are being put in so that the pavement can be taken up more easily.

Joseph Russell, the contractor who put in a bid of $64,000 for the filling in of Catfish Pond, has withdrawn his tender, claiming that it would be too late in the season to go ahead with the work after the matter had been passed on by the city council.

Adoption of the matrimonial service as proposed by the prayer book committee was completed by the general synod yesterday, with the Bishop of Huron putting each clause thru with all possible despatch. A prayer for the marriage ceremony was also adopted, taken from the Scottish prayer book. Among the most important changes in the new marriage ceremony was that whereby "no clergyman of the Church of England in Canada shall solemnize the marriage of two persons either of whom shall have been divorced from one who is living at the time." Also this has been put in canon. It is the first time that it has been set forth in writing that the most noteworthy feature of the three rubrics introduced into the solemnization of matrimony.

The words "and for a protection against sin" formed the basis for considerable discussion in connection with the marriage ceremony. Lansing Lewis of Montreal, supported by Judge Crawford, moved that these words be struck out, saying that it was improper to charge the contracting parties in the marriage with a statement of this kind. They were in opposition to the clause inserted earlier in the ceremony, "instigated by God in the time of man's innocence," which was ordained that man and woman should live together in Godly union and innocence.

Would Not Use It. Archbishop Gilmour of St. Paul said that he could not read these words in a large assembly, and would have to refrain from using them, no matter what the synod decided to do, as he had performed the ceremony for years without using the objectionable words.

Bishop Richardson of Fredericton defended the wording of the clause, saying that the statement was not intended as an institution, and that wherever matrimony was not reversed and honored it was always prevalent. The clause of wedded life, he said, was that children should be brought up in the love and knowledge of God.

Archdeacon Gilmour of St. Paul, Marie, went to the scriptures for the words that the objects objected to were quite proper, quoting the utterances of St. Paul to show that the words were from an inspired source.

Rev. H. M. Little of Montreal, said that the words of the second charge to the parties contracting in the matrimonial ceremony, as drawn up by the committee, were particularly apt, and he also went on to prove his case. Dr. Speechly of Plover, in opposition, defended the wording of the clause as drawn up by the committee, and said that he could not see what possible objection could be taken to it. As a medical man he was obliged to look at things from a different angle than the clergy did, but he said that it was a surprise to him that an objection would possibly be made to the clause.

An amendment to the constitution proposed by the Dean of Columbia and accepted by the synod, changing the title of the lower house of the synod from "synod" to "house" was changed to "house" in the ceremony, referring to the duties of the wife with respect to her husband.

There was also some discussion as to whether the second charge should be made obligatory in the ceremony. The point at debate was whether the word "shall" should be used, or "should." The former word was decided upon by the lower house, but it was not carried in all instances, and was consequently declared lost.

For Soldiers and Sailors. The prayer for the soldiers and sailors, as adopted from the Scottish prayer book, reads: "O Lord God, who dost send forth, we pray Thee, Thine almighty arm, to protect the sailors and soldiers of our King, in strength, boldness, and valour, and to preserve them from all dangers, and to bring them safe home again; and to bestow on them health, and peace, and plenty, and to give them grace that in all things they may serve Thee with loyalty and courage, and that in all things they may glorify in Thee, our Lord God, Jesus Christ, Our Lord and Saviour."

The synod got thru a great business at the afternoon session, with the Bishop of Huron, chairman of the grand committee, putting the various motions thru rapidly where no discussion was aroused. Prayers for the grand occasion, the first prayer at the New Year, the prayer for the living word, and the prayer for the Christian missions, as introduced from the Irish prayer book, were given by both houses with little discussion.

Some arguments pro and con were indulged in over the matter of referring to doctors and surgeons on an even footing with nurses, until it was decided to let the matter stand, and no service was given by the prayer book committee without making any change in the service.

The Bishop of Huron asked that the prayers to be offered at Christmas Day, Good Friday, Ascension Day, and Pentecost be accepted in general, and they were approved of without any discussion.

The change of wording to Trinity Sunday was approved, however.

After passing the constitution, the synod turned their attention to this part of the prayer book, and passed as a whole at the commencement of the evening session.

Minor Changes Made. The Holy Communion service was then brought under discussion, and several changes were made in it, as recommended by the committee. The word "living" was changed to "living word," and the living word. The matter of giving notice of communion proved the source of most of the argument, it being a question as to whether the announcement should be made for the services prior to its celebration.

The Bishop of Huron said that the frequent repetition of that notice, given by the clergy in tones of reverence, with the congregation standing, would not become too familiar in their ears. He said that this could be invested with such dignity that it would be repeated frequently before the celebration of the communion.

The use of the exhortation in the communion service was made permissive by the synod, by the changing of the word "shall" to "may," in the announcement of the forthcoming celebration.

Provost Macklem Won. Provost Macklem of Trinity College won out yesterday in his controversy concerning the Athanasian Creed declaration. His suggestion was that since the great difficulties in the printed form of the Athanasian Creed, and the public reading of these clauses should be entirely optional, and that the public recitation of these clauses should be entirely optional, and that the public reading of these clauses should be entirely optional, and that the public reading of these clauses should be entirely optional.

Backed. Bishop of Ottawa. Provost Macklem's proposal was so satisfactory that the Athanasian Creed was withdrawn, and the members of the lower house voted contrary to its amendment.

The house of bishops was not con-

CITY'S APPLICATION ALLOWED BY COURT

At Osgoode Hall yesterday the appellate court dismissed the appeal of O. Chaffinax St. Hyacinthe, against a verdict awarding Arthur Fletcher $2500 damages for injuries received as the result of a sawing machine fly wheel, purchased from the defendant. The injuries consisted in the plaintiff losing his left arm and receiving a gash in his side. In rendering this verdict the jury found a latent defect in the machine.

The appellate court allowed the application by the city for an enlargement of the motion for leave to appeal against the order of the Ontario Railway Board giving the Toronto Street Railway permission to extend its tracks north on Yonge street to Farmham avenue, the matter being adjourned till Friday. Except that he asked permission of the court to allow the company to go ahead with its work, no objection was taken by D. L. McCarthy, K.C., who appeared for the railway company.

It was pointed out by the court that the merits of the case would be argued on the motion for leave to appeal, so that the city would not be necessary to argue twice on the case.

Winding Up Order. Mr. Justice Middleton is engaged hearing the appeal by the liquidator from the report of the master at Owen Sound in the winding up of the Owen Sound Lumber Company. It is charged by the liquidator that a number of the contributors to the shares of the company are liable for larger amounts than is set out in the report.

Henry Marchant has entered action against the Toronto and York Radial Railway Company, claiming damages for injuries which he states he sustained while a passenger on one of the company's cars.

An amendment to recover $920 in connection with an automobile sale. The second divisional court list for today is: Weimicht v. Nisbet, McCaw v. Renshaw, Gramm v. Windsor, Stewart and St. Mary's, Quigley v. Down, Woods v. Fitcher.

The prayer for the soldiers and sailors, as adopted from the Scottish prayer book, reads: "O Lord God, who dost send forth, we pray Thee, Thine almighty arm, to protect the sailors and soldiers of our King, in strength, boldness, and valour, and to preserve them from all dangers, and to bring them safe home again; and to bestow on them health, and peace, and plenty, and to give them grace that in all things they may serve Thee with loyalty and courage, and that in all things they may glorify in Thee, our Lord God, Jesus Christ, Our Lord and Saviour."

The synod got thru a great business at the afternoon session, with the Bishop of Huron, chairman of the grand committee, putting the various motions thru rapidly where no discussion was aroused. Prayers for the grand occasion, the first prayer at the New Year, the prayer for the living word, and the prayer for the Christian missions, as introduced from the Irish prayer book, were given by both houses with little discussion.

Some arguments pro and con were indulged in over the matter of referring to doctors and surgeons on an even footing with nurses, until it was decided to let the matter stand, and no service was given by the prayer book committee without making any change in the service.

The Bishop of Huron asked that the prayers to be offered at Christmas Day, Good Friday, Ascension Day, and Pentecost be accepted in general, and they were approved of without any discussion.

BIG GRIST OF BUSINESS

Many Matters Attended to and Provost Macklem Wins in Controversy.

CITY'S APPLICATION ALLOWED BY COURT

At Osgoode Hall yesterday the appellate court dismissed the appeal of O. Chaffinax St. Hyacinthe, against a verdict awarding Arthur Fletcher $2500 damages for injuries received as the result of a sawing machine fly wheel, purchased from the defendant. The injuries consisted in the plaintiff losing his left arm and receiving a gash in his side. In rendering this verdict the jury found a latent defect in the machine.

The appellate court allowed the application by the city for an enlargement of the motion for leave to appeal against the order of the Ontario Railway Board giving the Toronto Street Railway permission to extend its tracks north on Yonge street to Farmham avenue, the matter being adjourned till Friday. Except that he asked permission of the court to allow the company to go ahead with its work, no objection was taken by D. L. McCarthy, K.C., who appeared for the railway company.

It was pointed out by the court that the merits of the case would be argued on the motion for leave to appeal, so that the city would not be necessary to argue twice on the case.

Winding Up Order. Mr. Justice Middleton is engaged hearing the appeal by the liquidator from the report of the master at Owen Sound in the winding up of the Owen Sound Lumber Company. It is charged by the liquidator that a number of the contributors to the shares of the company are liable for larger amounts than is set out in the report.

Henry Marchant has entered action against the Toronto and York Radial Railway Company, claiming damages for injuries which he states he sustained while a passenger on one of the company's cars.

An amendment to recover $920 in connection with an automobile sale. The second divisional court list for today is: Weimicht v. Nisbet, McCaw v. Renshaw, Gramm v. Windsor, Stewart and St. Mary's, Quigley v. Down, Woods v. Fitcher.

Home-seekers' Special Train Leaves Toronto 10:45 p.m. Each Tuesday.

For the accommodation of home-seekers a general tourist train will run from Toronto through the western Canada through train carrying tourist sleepers and colonist cars. The train will leave Toronto at 10:45 p.m. and will further notice, running through to Winnipeg.

Attention is directed to the remarkable low round trip fares in connection with home-seekers' excursions to western Canada via Canadian Pacific Railway. Tickets are on sale until Oct. 26 inclusive, and are good to return within two months from date of sale.

Apply for any C.P.R. agent for full particulars, or write M. G. Murphy, district passenger agent, Toronto.

Starts Merit System. Street Commissioner Wilson has adopted a merit and merit marking system in connection with his department.

Official opening of the Bathurst street hill improvement will take place at 4:30 on Friday afternoon, when Mayor Church and the city council will officiate.

Joseph Russell, the contractor who put in a bid of $64,000 for the filling in of Catfish Pond, has withdrawn his tender, claiming that it would be too late in the season to go ahead with the work after the matter had been passed on by the city council.

Adoption of the matrimonial service as proposed by the prayer book committee was completed by the general synod yesterday, with the Bishop of Huron putting each clause thru with all possible despatch. A prayer for the marriage ceremony was also adopted, taken from the Scottish prayer book. Among the most important changes in the new marriage ceremony was that whereby "no clergyman of the Church of England in Canada shall solemnize the marriage of two persons either of whom shall have been divorced from one who is living at the time." Also this has been put in canon. It is the first time that it has been set forth in writing that the most noteworthy feature of the three rubrics introduced into the solemnization of matrimony.

The words "and for a protection against sin" formed the basis for considerable discussion in connection with the marriage ceremony. Lansing Lewis of Montreal, supported by Judge Crawford, moved that these words be struck out, saying that it was improper to charge the contracting parties in the marriage with a statement of this kind. They were in opposition to the clause inserted earlier in the ceremony, "instigated by God in the time of man's innocence," which was ordained that man and woman should live together in Godly union and innocence.

Would Not Use It. Archbishop Gilmour of St. Paul said that he could not read these words in a large assembly, and would have to refrain from using them, no matter what the synod decided to do, as he had performed the ceremony for years without using the objectionable words.

Bishop Richardson of Fredericton defended the wording of the clause, saying that the statement was not intended as an institution, and that wherever matrimony was not reversed and honored it was always prevalent. The clause of wedded life, he said, was that children should be brought up in the love and knowledge of God.

Archdeacon Gilmour of St. Paul, Marie, went to the scriptures for the words that the objects objected to were quite proper, quoting the utterances of St. Paul to show that the words were from an inspired source.

Rev. H. M. Little of Montreal, said that the words of the second charge to the parties contracting in the matrimonial ceremony, as drawn up by the committee, were particularly apt, and he also went on to prove his case. Dr. Speechly of Plover, in opposition, defended the wording of the clause as drawn up by the committee, and said that he could not see what possible objection could be taken to it. As a medical man he was obliged to look at things from a different angle than the clergy did, but he said that it was a surprise to him that an objection would possibly be made to the clause.

An amendment to the constitution proposed by the Dean of Columbia and accepted by the synod, changing the title of the lower house of the synod from "synod" to "house" was changed to "house" in the ceremony, referring to the duties of the wife with respect to her husband.

There was also some discussion as to whether the second charge should be made obligatory in the ceremony. The point at debate was whether the word "shall" should be used, or "should." The former word was decided upon by the lower house, but it was not carried in all instances, and was consequently declared lost.

For Soldiers and Sailors. The prayer for the soldiers and sailors, as adopted from the Scottish prayer book, reads: "O Lord God, who dost send forth, we pray Thee, Thine almighty arm, to protect the sailors and soldiers of our King, in strength, boldness, and valour, and to preserve them from all dangers, and to bring them safe home again; and to bestow on them health, and peace, and plenty, and to give them grace that in all things they may serve Thee with loyalty and courage, and that in all things they may glorify in Thee, our Lord God, Jesus Christ, Our Lord and Saviour."

The synod got thru a great business at the afternoon session, with the Bishop of Huron, chairman of the grand committee, putting the various motions thru rapidly where no discussion was aroused. Prayers for the grand occasion, the first prayer at the New Year, the prayer for the living word, and the prayer for the Christian missions, as introduced from the Irish prayer book, were given by both houses with little discussion.

Some arguments pro and con were indulged in over the matter of referring to doctors and surgeons on an even footing with nurses, until it was decided to let the matter stand, and no service was given by the prayer book committee without making any change in the service.

The Bishop of Huron asked that the prayers to be offered at Christmas Day, Good Friday, Ascension Day, and Pentecost be accepted in general, and they were approved of without any discussion.

TROUBLE TO KEEP BOYS AT FARMING

Superintendent of Industrial School Tells of Difficulty at Meeting.

SCARCITY OF WORK

Boys Cannot Be Paroled as Quickly as Would Be Desired.

That difficulty is experienced by the officials of the Industrial Schools Association in getting boys to remain on farms was emphasized by Superintendent Chester in his report at a meeting of the management committee of the association, held yesterday afternoon in the city hall.

Of 24 new paroled to farms during the past three months, nine have left their situations. In most cases the boys who break their parole in this manner drift back to the city, where the chances of employment are very bad, and finally are brought back again to the industrial school.

On June 1 there were 308 boys on the roll, and on Sept. 1, 1915. During June, July and August 48 were admitted and 14 were returned on parole. Of 24 new paroled, 7 were from Toronto, 2 from Mimico and 2 each from Hamilton and St. Catharines, London and Parry Sound.

BUSINESS HEAVY ON NEW YORK MARKET

Speculation in Specialties Considered Extravagant — Prices Soaring.

BETHLEHEM STEEL UP Canadian Pacific Advanced From One to Two Points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Further extravagant speculation in specialties, chiefly those issues known as war shares, helped to swell today's trading in the very large total of 1,125,000 shares.

Other very prominent leaders were American Car and Foundry, American Petroleum and the Automobile Issues.

In the railway division Reading, Erie and preferred, Canadian Pacific, West preferred, Southern Railway preferred and Atlantic Coast Line improved their positions 1 to 2 points.

Steel's greater strength probably had its origin in the reports of the trade journals, which state in effect that business now constitutes the dominant factor of that industry.

Exchange market continues to wait on the outcome of the dollar negotiations, but today's rates are showing a trifle steadier than continental remittances.

There was an ominous slowing down in business on the Toronto Exchange yesterday, due in a measure, perhaps, to the excited speculative interest in Wall street.

SHORTS IN CORNER Scarcity of September Supplies Suddenly Discovered by Dealers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Decreasing stocks in the northwest and disappointingly small receipts here gave a decided advantage today to the bull side of the wheat market.

September wheat shorts in particular found themselves in a tight position, the advances in prices for deliveries on this month's contracts being of a character bordering on the sensational.

Uncertainty as to whether No. 1 velvet chaff wheat would be accepted on ordinary September contracts did not restrict the trade in general.

CATTLE TRADE GOOD ON ACTIVE DEMAND

C. P. R.'s Montreal Market Reports Active Sales at Unchanged Prices.

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market the offerings this morning amounted to 700 cattle, 480 sheep and lambs, 1150 hogs and 200 piglets.

The tone of the market for cattle was steady at the decline in prices noted on Monday, but as the weather was much cooler there was better demand from both butchers and packers.

A firm feeling prevailed in the market for lambs at the recent advance in prices, owing to the smaller supplies coming forward and the continued good demand for the same.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 1000 head; active; sheep steady; lambs, 45 to 50; 50 to 55; Canada lambs, 45 to 50.
