THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY.

The production of sugar from beets is an industry that the protectionists of the United States are bent on establishing in that country. The American protectionist has an abiding faith in the efficacy of protection if the principle is only properly applied. By subjecting the imports of iron ore, pig iron, steel and the products of the same to a protective tariff the Americans have developed those industries to such an extent that iron and steel are now manufactured more cheaply in the United States than in any other country in the world. Another industry which was acclimated here was the manufacture of the plate. A terrible outcry was raised when it was first proposed to tax the poor man's dinner pail. But taxed it was, and the result has been most satisfactory. The plate mills have become definitely established in the United States, and the American workman pays no more for his dinner pail than does the Englishman. It is argued that the beet sugar industry can be established in the United States just as successfully as scores of other industries have been. Efforts in this direction are now being made both by the federal and state governments. New York State offers a bounty of 1 cent per pound on all sugar manufactured in the State. In addition to this bounty the State Agricultural Commissioner will experiment in the raising of sugar beets. He has already made arrangements to establish beet farms in different parts of the State to ascertain which sections are best adapted to the culture of the beet. Among the localities selected are Buffalo, Rochester, Binghamton, Syracuse, Elmira and half a dozen other centres. The commissioner is sanguine that the experiment will be a success, and is of the opinion that New York State has taken a big step in the direction of a great big step in the beet sugar industry. At the present time $100,000,000 is paid annually to foreign workmen who produce the sugar consumed by the people of the United States. The transfer of this industry to the United States would afford employment to a host of workmen and give the farmer a new and paying crop. The manufacture of sugar from beets is not altogether an experiment in the United States. Some of the Western States have been successful in growing successful have been that new factories are contemplated in several other States. Why should not the United States produce its own sugar as well as its own wheat? Why should not Canada produce its own sugar as well as its own wheat? Both Canada and the United States possess in abundance the soil and the climate for the cultivation of the sugar beet. We have the advantage of the experience of the countries that have already established the industry. No reason does not appear to be any good reason why Canada should not manufacture her own sugar.

INCORPORATED SUNDAY CAR LEGISLATION.

The starting of a Sunday street car in Toronto is a question that has been settled for the whole of the province. The service in this city has already proved such a success that its adoption by every city in Ontario which has a week-day service will be a matter of but a short time. But the cities and towns that have not yet started a Sunday service will find themselves disappointed when they make the attempt. The Ontario law in regard to Sunday cars is a patchwork of inconsistencies and incongruities. The principle of equal rights, which is supposed to form the basis of all our laws, has been set at defiance. The restrictionists have been influential enough with the Government to secure Sunday street car laws that are the laughing stock of everyone who has read them. In the first instance the statutes contained no specific legislation as to the operation of street cars on Sunday. Every city and town was subject to the same restriction and that restriction was what the Lord's Day Act imposed. When the street car franchise was sold to the Toronto Railway Company it was a disputed point whether or not the Lord's Day Act prohibited a Sunday street car service. In order to be on the safe side the restrictionists had an innocent looking clause inserted in the agreement, which was afterwards ratified by the Legislature, to the effect that Sunday cars should not be introduced in Toronto until a vote of the citizens had been taken, approving of them. This proved to have been a strategic move on their part, because it was subsequently decided by the Court of Appeal that the Lord's Day Act did not prohibit the operation of street cars on Sunday. Under this ruling every city but Toronto enjoyed the right to have Sunday street cars. This was a unequivocal violation of the principle of equal rights and for the restrictionists are primarily responsible. When it was evident that Toronto was on the eve of securing Sunday cars the restrictionists thought the example set by the capital of the province would be copied by all the other cities, and to prevent such a disaster they again applied to the Legislature and had an act passed prohibiting every street car company, which up to that time had not operated its system on Sunday, from do-

THE GAMES AT ROSDALE.

It is a great pity that the games for the Inter-Club Athletic Championships were not postponed to a day when there was not such a strong counter-attraction as the races at the Woodbine. Had the date been chosen so that the games would undoubtedly have drawn a large and fashionable crowd to the beautiful Rosedale grounds, for all Toronto is devoted to athletics, and usually turns out well to witness games or sports of any kind at Rosdale. These games on Saturday would have appealed strongly to Torontonians had it not been for the races; for the Toronto Lacrosse and Athletic Association are working up to the fact that for the last 17 years Americans have been in the habit of coming over and winning a large number of the championships, and as a remedy for this evil, in what should be purely Canadian athletics, the games on Saturday were decided upon.

As it was, there was a fairly large crowd, and a goodly sprinkling of ladies gave a pretty touch of color to the grand stand; there was no lack of enthusiasm, for at times, in the critical moment of a race, the whole stand rose and cheered on the runners, and there was a waving of hats and handkerchiefs and paroxysms of great excitement generally when the victor was known. It was a beautiful day, sunny and warm, and between the games the smooth, green lawn was a delightfully animated scene—the athletes in their abbreviated white costumes and crimson and scarlet jerseys; some of them wandering round in great checked bath-tubs or long stiers; one wore a blue striped blanket with all the grace and dignity of an Indian chief; and colored badges, decorating the coat lapels, indicated the judges and starters. Among some of the privileged visitors on the lawn was Professor Goldwin Smith, his tall, slender figure and fine face easily distinguishable from the younger generation, with whom he appeared to be on the best of terms.

Later on in the afternoon Mrs. Kirkpatrick and her party arrived, and at the conclusion of the games presented the victors with gold and silver medals, amid much cheering, the gold medal to the Y. M. C. A. and the silver to Trinity.

THE SECOND SUNDAY SERVICE

Showed That the Population of Toronto are Using the Cars—Help for the Churches.

The car service yesterday was more popular than the previous Sunday. It was well patronized, and the streets were crowded with the cars. The service was a success, and the churches were helped in their work. The population of Toronto is using the cars, and the churches are getting a new lease of life. The service was a success, and the churches are getting a new lease of life.

THE HAMILTON HOMESTEAD COLLAPSE.

The collapse of the Homestead Loan & Savings Society ought to arouse the attention, if not excite the suspicion, of those who have money invested in similar concerns, for there are several other institutions in this province doing business on exactly the same principle as that which characterized the operations of the Hamilton society. These companies are operated on unsound financial principles. They promise investors returns on their money that are impossible under the statutes contained in the lending of money on mortgages. Experts have over and over again pointed out that certain failure awaits the company that promises to pay $200 at the end of eight years in return for an investment of $1 per month for 96 months. The thing can be done, and the failure of the Hamilton concern is pretty forcible argument to prove it. The shares, which mature early in the history of these companies, are generally paid according to promise, but in order to do this it is necessary to use the money that is coming in. Maturing shares can be paid as long as the company is getting in fresh money, but when the supply ceases then the concern goes to pieces. It seems to us the Government should investigate the matter, and the business that is carried on on manifestly rotten financial principles. The directors of the Hamilton concern must have known that the money they were taking from innocent depositors could never be returned. It is manifestly a case where the management should be called upon to defend themselves in a court of justice. According to the statement of 1906, certified as correct by the auditors, the assets of the company amounted to $127,000, whereas the actual securities at the time of the collapse amounted to only $57,000. As generally happens in cases of this kind, the loss falls upon those who are the least able to bear it. Workingmen, clerks, school teachers and generally people of very limited means were the principal sufferers in the collapse of the Homestead Society. A contemporary suggests that the Government should appoint an official inspector or auditor to scrutinize these get-rich-quick associations, so that their real condition may be placed before the public.

Seven Persons Killed and Seventeen Injured at a Religious Function.

Pisa, Italy, May 25.—During a special service at the cathedral to-day, upon the occasion of the unveiling of an image of the Virgin, a candle fell, setting fire to the building and causing a great panic among the many persons present. During the rush for the doors seven persons were killed and seventeen others were injured, three of them seriously. The fire was limited to the choir and the altar, but the cathedral was closed and the ceremonies were suspended.

Constantinople have entered upon the anxious stage, owing to doubts as to the real intentions of the Sultan, whether he means to resume the war or not.

The Sultan affects to be greatly afraid of the Islamic party and the attitude of the Grand Vizier, as shown by the report which he presented to the Sultan on Saturday last, regarding the whole of Islam was fully determined to retain Thessaly, and tendering his resignation in case Abdul Hamid differed with these views...

and those Greeks who have not dared not refuse to join in the movement. The Turkish newspaper Sa Bah, which only publishes what is endorsed by the Turkish Government, congratulates the Turkish Government on their alleged decision in favor of Turkish rule and points out the blessings of the Ottoman regime to the Christians, who, it is claimed, will benefit by lower taxes and exemption from military service.

The Ambassadors' Reply is Peaceful. Constantinople, May 29.—The ambassadors of the powers, in their reply to the Porte's note of May 28, (saying the Turkish Government consent to negotiate for peace, provided the great powers first sign an armistice, and that as soon as this is done the Turkish Government will negotiate the peace conditions with the ambassadors, the treaty to be signed by the Turkish and Greek plenipotentiaries in Thessaly), announced to-day that they do not object to the conclusion of a military armistice, and will take steps at Athens with the object of securing it. But in the meanwhile they are of the opinion that the discussion of the peace conditions should begin without delay.

Order Will be Maintained. Athens, May 29.—There appears to be little inclination here to accept the accusations against the Royal family, maintained in certain newspapers, and the maintenance of order is fully assured. Prince Constantine has received an invitation to attend Queen Victoria's jubilee next month. The opportunity for such a visit on the part of the Crown Prince has given rise to much discussion.

GERMANS CHARGED WITH TREASON. They are said to have bartered away military secrets to Russia. Berlin, May 29.—There was another sensational trial this week, the prisoners of Russia, if he comes to the French capital. The Gaulois has been sounding politicians and authors, and the responses are almost unanimous against the Emperor coming to Paris. Mme. Adam thinks 'Paris and the Emperor's mind, says: "Emperor William quite appreciates the rebuff he has lately received. He expected it, but he has not changed his intentions on that account. It is a fixed resolve with him to come to Paris, and as a friend, and he will find the means of coming."

FIVE YEARS FOR HARRISON

For burglary at Toronto Junction—Other prisoners convicted at the sessions sentenced on Saturday.

On Saturday morning Judge McDevitt passed sentence on the prisoners convicted at the sittings of the General Sessions just completed.

Peter Harrison, who was convicted of breaking into Harry's hardware store, Toronto Junction, was sentenced to five years in the Penitentiary. He made a strong plea for leniency, but was not granted with five previous convictions for the same offence.

John P. Wheeler, the ex-tax collector of East Toronto, got off with a light sentence. He asked for leniency on account of his age, but the judge refused to grant it.

George W. and Joseph L. McKeown, father and son, who were convicted of the murder of a woman, were sentenced to a term of 25 years each.

Adam Lambert of Scarborough, who was found guilty of the murder of a woman, was sentenced to 15 months on each charge, to run concurrently.

Old Causes of Electrical Fires. The quarterly report of the Electrical Bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters makes mention of the following old causes of fire:

A plug curtain in contact with a candle power incandescent lamp. The common error is to pull the plug into the socket of the lamp.

A single hand was ordered to turn out an incandescent lamp, and not knowing how to do it, instead of turning the switch, he wrapped a damp towel around the bulb. Some time afterward the towel was discovered smoldering.

A portable incandescent lamp was allowed to remain lighted lying on a mattress. The heat from the lamp ignited the cloth, and the excelsior of the mattress, and the fire spread through the linoleum and floor.

An electric pressing iron was allowed to stand with the current turned on. It heated from after a time set fire to the table, and the flames communicated to the surrounding combustible material.

A wagon loaded with gasoline connected with an electric car. The wagon was demolished and the gasoline ignited.

The accident attracted the attention of the motorist of another car, who ran over the wagon, and the fire spread.
