Russians Advancing; Take 15,000 Prisoners

Teuton Allies Vainly Trying to Stem Tide Which is Setting Against Them—They Use the Gas Again

Petrograd, July 10.—The following official statement was issued last night: "Operations in the Niemen, on the left of the Vitulka, has been without important changes. On the Bobr below Osowetz, an attempt by the enemy to bridge the river, was frustrated by our fire and the bridge was destroyed. We captured an enemy aeroplane in the valley of the Pissa. "In the sector of Jednorozjets Prysyana, there have been lively artillery duels and isolated engagements. "In the direction of Bialynow, near the village of Goumine, the enemy was unable to advance at any point in spite of the use of asphyxiating gases and we continue to occupy our original positions. "In the direction of Lublin, our offensive has developed in the entire region from the confluence of the Poblifka brook to a point south of Bychawa (south of Krauk). The enemy continues to retire while trying to stop our advance and offered particularly stubborn resistance on Hill 118, south of the village of "Vilohagory. The number of prisoners taken by us thus far exceeds 15,000. "From Bychawa to a point west of the Bug, there have been no operations except an attack by a German regiment near the village of Malonietche, which was repulsed. "On the Bug, Zloti Lips and Dnestier rivers there have been no changes beyond a fruitless attack on the village of Kouwache on the Bug. Our patrols have reconnoitered the entire front during twenty-four hours, and made hundreds of prisoners.

"The enemy left our front 500 killed and wounded. "RUSSIAN FEAT A WONDERFUL ONE London, July 10.—The Times correspondent with the Russian forces on the Zlota Lipa river, Galicia, says he learns that the Russian flanking armies are not retreating through local necessities, but owing to the situation in the centre where concentrations of the German continue to be directed. "From information gleaned from high sources," says the despatch, "I believe that the extreme left of the army would not have been obliged to retire had it been acting independently. The retreat of this army was one of the most remarkable rearguard actions recorded in military history, for, although faced by overwhelming forces of the enemy, it retired with no loss of morale and in six weeks has withdrawn from the Stry River to the Zlota Lipa, and has taken 83,000 prisoners, besides inflicting a loss on the enemy, probably greater in casualties. "All the officers here agree that the Zlota Lipa River is such a strong natural barrier that it could have been held indefinitely if this army's movement were independent. It is futile to speculate how much farther the army will retire, but before Tamopol is reached there are at least six natural positions, and it will cost the Austrians three to fourfold loss. "THREE HUNGARIAN NOBLES ARE KILLED London, July 10.—Three prominent members of the Hungarian nobility have fallen on the battlefields. Count Bela Estenahay, son-in-law of Count Andraszy, Count Nicholas Zichy and a Count Szechnyi. It is not known to what part of the family Count Szechnyi belongs.

DETECTIVE C. A. WORRELL GIVES IN RESIGNATION

Will Leave at End of Month—Two Reasons, One His Intention to Open Private Agency Here

Considerable surprise was expressed today when it became known that Detective Charles A. Worrell had tendered his resignation to Chief of Police Simpson. The resignation is to take effect at the end of this month. To a Times reporter this morning Detective Worrell said that he had taken the step because he was dissatisfied with conditions at headquarters, and also because he intends to open a detective agency in this city. Detective Worrell joined the local force several months ago in the capacity of plain clothes man and after some effective work was appointed successor to Detective Killen. He is a veteran of the South African war, having served under Sir Louis Brandt, and was taken prisoner by the Boers. After the termination of the war he returned to England and joined the Metropolitan police. A few years later he passed the examination for Scotland Yard and served there for some time prior to coming to Canada. He came to this country in 1914, and went west, remaining there until conditions became bad as a result of the war. He then came east and accepted a position on the local force. While in the city he has made many friends who will wish him every success in his new undertaking.

BOOM BREAKS; MILLIONS OF FEET OF LOGS ARE ADrift

Serious Situation on Miramichi—South West Boom Gives Way; Main One With Eighty to Ninety Millions Threatened

What may prove a serious disaster to the lumbering industry of the province occurred this morning at four o'clock, when the rising of the waters of the Miramichi river carried away the southwest boom letting loose a flood of from fifteen to twenty million feet of logs which have been stored there. Every available craft has been pressed into service to round up the logs, and it is expected that a large proportion will be saved, but only at a great cost. Also a break has occurred in the northwest boom and logs are getting through but they are being caught. An even greater disaster is feared as it is said that the main boom containing about sixty millions may go out at any moment. The trouble has been caused by the unprecedented rise of the river due to the recent heavy rains.

German Note Defiance of The United States

New York Herald Strips it of Its Cant and Bares the Fact—Washington Sends Out More Warlike Sound

Washington, July 10.—Although the official text of Germany's note on submarine warfare had not reached here early today, the press copy which was read by officials, was accepted as verification of earlier impressions that Germany had refused to give the United States assurances asked for on June 9. However, in official quarters the unsatisfactory character of the reply, was discussed along with the probable action that the United States would be compelled to take as a result of Germany's unwillingness to concede to Americans the right to search German merchant ships. President Wilson will start from Corvish, N. H. for Washington in a day or two to consider with his cabinet the grave situation impending. Comment in official quarters today was to the effect that would be pursued was sparing, the general feeling being that nothing should be said until the president had returned. On the other hand, those in official quarters familiar with diplomatic precedents and the progressive development of the American attitude, believe that, having stated its position, and asked for assurances which now have been refused, the only course left open for the United States seems to be announcement that it intended to assert its rights as established under the rules of international law. This would mean a violation by Germany before taking action to compel respect for their rights is asserted. "There was a revival of talk concerning the severance of diplomatic relations, it being recalled in official circles that in the now famous cabinet meeting of May 1915, when the sinking of the Lusitania was first considered there was an informal understanding that if the negotiations of the United States to secure reparation from Germany for the destruction of American lives in that tragedy, the American government might be justified in discontinuing diplomatic intercourse with Germany. Germany's complete evasion of liability for the loss of Americans on the Lusitania has revived the subject most acutely, according to well informed sources.

RIVER ROSE SIX FEET IN SINGLE DAY

Fredericton Reports on the Storm—Nashua Bridge Likely Beyond Repair

Fredericton, N. B., July 10.—After raging twenty-four hours and causing a great deal of damage to property the storm subsided last night and fine weather again prevails. The wooden bridge over the mouth of the Nashua seems to be damaged beyond repair and traffic on it has been stopped. The sudden rise of water in the river let loose a million feet of logs which swept down against the bridge piers, practically destroying two of them. The logs went adrift but will be caught at the Mitchell boom. The bridge was twenty-five years old and had recently been repaired. The water in the St. John river has risen six feet since yesterday morning. It rose two feet at Andover and Edmundston last night and is still coming up. The balance of the corporation drive now held at Grand Falls will be got out without difficulty. In the city about a dozen trees suffered from the high wind, several were blown down. The wires of the Fredericton Gas Light Company suffered some damage last night and one Queen street block was in darkness. The safety of several lives is in doubt as a result of the storm which struck the coast yesterday morning. Among those known to be missing are Howard Galbraith and Samuel Ferguson of Lorneville, who left for the fishing grounds on Thursday at noon and who have not been heard from since the storm broke. Leslie Ferguson and Alfred Galbraith of Lorneville, who were missing yesterday morning and James Driscoll and Thomas Trearntin of the West Side, all put into Dipper Harbor safely. Harry Graham and a companion of Musquash were forced into Chance Harbor for safety. David McAdam and his son, Thomas E. McAdam, of 28 St. James street, West St. John, were driven down the bay to Seal Cove, Grand Mannan. The C. G. S. Lansdowne ordered out to help the fishermen, was forced to seek shelter in Bearer Harbor. The yacht Comfort has not yet been located. She was supposed to leave Eastport for Digby July 12, but has not reached Eastport yet. The total rainfall during the storm was 2.7 inches and one inch of this fell between 5:30 and 7:30 a. m. A despatch from Rexton says that a ship is ashore at Kouchibouguac and an unknown schooner went to pieces on the beach before the Richibucto break-water but the crew was rescued by life savers. Several boats ran ashore at Richibucto Cape but there is no loss of life reported.

GERMANY WANTS COTTON IN EXCHANGE FOR DYES

Washington, July 10.—Efforts of the United States government to secure dyes-stuffs from Germany for American manufacturers have reached a deadlock, which appears unbreakable, and officials here expressed little hope of an arrangement being made which would give this country a supply of German made colors. State department officials will continue their negotiations, but it is practically certain that Germany will not permit the exportation of dyes-stuffs, unless some arrangement is made which will give Germany a much needed supply of American cotton.

SUBMARINES OFF CANADIAN COAST?

British Warships on Patrol to Watch For Pirate Craft—Naval Experts Guess at German Plans

New York, July 10.—The Evening World says: A German submarine is expected to appear off New York harbor any day. The British admiralty in anticipation of such warfare, has made extensive preparations to counter it, but keeps secretly guarded the steps taken. All along the Canadian Atlantic coast, from New Brunswick to Labrador, public warning has been given to merchant ships and fishermen to be on the lookout for signs of a German attack. As a result, the British naval authorities in Halifax and in the United States are receiving daily reports of suspicious craft along the north-eastern coast, which indicates the alertness of the fishermen. None of these reports have proved well grounded so far. There have been reports for six months that the Germans would attempt to establish a secret supply base for the submarines on some almost deserted island off Newfoundland or Nova Scotia. The new U boats can cross the Atlantic would need only oil fuel and provisions to enable them to raid British ships from the coast, destroying British ships from New York or out of the St. Lawrence. The British naval authorities insist there is no possibility of any supply station being established. The whole northern coast is on guard. Every island is being searched. The real German plan, so the naval experts predict is for one or more of the submarines to sneak northward along the coast of Norway to meet with a supply ship and then proceed across the Atlantic north of the regular track of ships, and when near the coast of America turn southward. Then the mother ship will load the submarine to capacity with fuel and provisions and cast them off to do as much damage as possible off the American coast to British ships. They will approach New York and try to catch some of the guarding British warships and the big merchant craft steaming with foodstuffs and munitions of war for England. When out of fuel, the report says, the submarine will run into some United States port and there intern.

TOBACCO AND SUGAR YIELDS PROMISING

Fine Seasonable Rains After Period of Six Years of Insufficient Rainfall

Kingston, Jan. 10.—Good weather from the standpoint of the agriculturist has created a promising outlook for the Jamaican tobacco and sugar fields. After a period of nearly six years of insufficient rainfall there have been fine seasonable rains during the past few months. As a direct consequence the tobacco crop probably will be the finest reaped, both in quality and in quantity, in the history of the island. Although the rains came too late to give full benefit to the sugar crop, everything points to crops above the average at next season's cuttings. The absence of shipping facilities is the only serious drawback in the way of the farmers, securing the benefits of the bumper crops.

WRITE THEIR LETTERS UNDER EYES OF GUARD

Messages From Germany Telling of "Kind Treatment" Are Dictated, Writes Montrealer

Montreal, July 10.—An explanation of the statements received in letters from the various German prison camps, stating that the writers were well treated, and having a splendid time, etc., has come through in a letter received in the city from William Flint, son of George Flint, who is well known in Montreal. The writer was in Germany with his mother and two sisters at the outbreak of the war, and while the ladies of the party were allowed to leave the camp as a housewife and interned in Lockington Camp, one of the largest internment camps in Germany. Some time after he had been interned, a letter was received by his mother in Montreal stating that the writer was getting "plenty of good food" and was being "well cared for," and therefore there was no any need to worry over his condition.

WORKING HOURS FOR JUSTICES

The court adjourns each day at 4:30 p.m. and in no sense means the end of the day's work—O, no, more clearly its beginning, for upon reaching his home each justice finds the records and briefs awaiting him. The submitted cases must be studied and worked out, for tomorrow is another day, and there are more. And again, a case may have been argued, indeed argued by as good a lawyer as the world ever knew but that alone does not convince himself and an independent personal investigation is made just as in the submitted cases. This preparation for consultation and decision means work, and usually Saturday is the set apart for a justice to be at his desk until late at night and again very early in the morning. That necessarily, perhaps, furnishes a very good reason why the supreme court has never asked for other offices.

A REAL FAN

(Bangor Commercial) There is one train that always is certain to arrive in Cincinnati on time when the Reds are playing at home. They say that one time there was a wreck, a washout and a burned bridge. The entire traffic on that line of the Pennsylvania railroad was tied up. Not a wheel was moving. Suddenly the anxious railroad men assembled in the station heard a whistle, and right on the minute Lycurgus McDowell brought his train into the station. "How did you get through?" asked the general manager in awed tones. "I had to. The Reds play at home today," responded McDowell. McDowell, known all over southern Ohio as "Casey Jones," is Cincinnati's chief entrant for the champion fan contest and followers of the Reds declare Casey is the greatest baseball fan on the face of the globe.

REPORT OF THE NOVA SCOTIA FRUIT CROP

A report of the fruit crop in the Cornwall Valley states that strawberries are a large crop and that the acreage is more extensive than ever before. The Burbank plums will be a total failure, while other varieties will not be over and get acquainted with the youngsters, figure the possibilities of the team for the year and incidentally get out and show the infielders a few of the finer points of the game. For McDowell, in spite of the fact he is more than forty years of age, is considerable of a ball player and he refuses to criticize any fellow he cannot beat at the game. Sometimes, when his runs permit, he jumps to Chicago, St. Louis or New York to see the Reds play and sits alone rooting loyally for his team. McDowell scarcely was known, save among major league players, all of whom he knows well enough to call by their first names, until four or five years ago Bob Becher referred to him as

BRITAIN WILL CEASE SLAUGHTER OF STOCK

House of Lords Passes Measure to Preserve Meat Supply—Effect of Submarines London, July 10.—The Earl of Selborne, secretary of the board of agriculture, in moving in the House of Lords the second reading of the bill which empowers the government to prohibit the slaughter of young stock, so as to preserve the meat supply, expressed the opinion that the Germans were putting their whole shipbuilding strength into the construction of submarines. German submarines, he said, were taking a steady toll of British ships, and as the war continued, it was probable that more submarines would be engaged in this task. It would not be the fault of the German Admiralty, he continued, if they failed to deal a fatal blow at the carrying trade which supplies Great Britain with food. As it was, even if there was no diminution of the overseas supply of meat, there would probably be less for the use of the civil population. The bill passed the second reading.

KITCHENER'S CLARION CALL

Any degree of complacency with which any of us may have been regarding the progress of the war has been shattered by Lord Kitchener. The war minister has a right to speak, for he knows the situation. When some people were asserting that the war would end early last winter, Kitchener said it would only begin in May of this year. He was right. And now, after eleven months of the struggle he speaks again.

"All the reasons which led me to think in August, 1914, that this war would be a prolonged one hold good at the present time. It is true that we are in an immeasurably better situation than we were ten months ago, but our position today is at least as serious as it was then."

THE CHILDREN'S PARADE

"These children approach us with falling alabaster." Seven hundred years ago these words were spoken by Pope Innocent, when he was told of the disastrous ending of what is known in history as "The Children's Crusade."

There could have been no madder adventure than that of the fifty thousand boys and girls from France and Germany who in 1212 set out to deliver Jerusalem from the Saracens. The historian tells us that the children were appealed to by certain priests to perform what through wickedness their fathers had failed to do, and were assured of miraculous aid. They went forth to disaster and death.

"Some of them crossed the Alps, intending to embark at Marseille. Many were lost in the forests, and perished with heat, hunger, thirst and fatigue. Some, after being stripped of their arms, were reduced to slavery; and a remnant, in sorrow and shame, returned to their homes."

The people of today are under no illusion in regard to Germany and the present war. They look for no miraculous intervention. They are not, however, as zealous as they should be in the crusade against an enemy of human welfare compared with whom the Saracen infidel of seven centuries ago was a cultured Christian gentleman. Again the appeal is to be made, in St. John at least, through the agency of the children, to the men who can and should go forth to deliver the world from a power which would degrade and brutalize its people.

Who will these children represent, as they march through the streets of the city on Tuesday next? Beside them the thoughtful mind will be able to discern a shadowy host of the children of Belgium, the babes of the Lusitania, the child victims of German bombs in French and British towns, and the great army of the fatherless little ones orphaned by the hand of the German assassin.

The children of St. John have known nothing of the horrors of war, nor are they trained to become mere cogs in a great military machine that aims to dominate the world. But they will suffer from this war, because many of them have relatives at the front, and because the war places a heavy burden upon their country.

And yet it is glorious to be young in this era of world history, for when the war is over a new and better day will dawn for all mankind, and the nightmare of universal armament will pass, while there will lie open before the young fields of noble endeavor, undimmed by shadow of war.

The parade of children next Tuesday will have great significance. Their future is at stake, and this thought must impress itself upon the minds of all.

Lord Kitchener again appeals for men. The appeal should not go unheeded in any part of the British Empire.

The provincial government met yesterday, and there is still no announcement about the Valley Railway. Premier McBride apparently thinks he sees a way out. There is talk of a coalition government for British Columbia.

Canada In The War

Fredericton Men in Casualty List - Surplus of Shells - Ladies Asked to Provide Refreshments For Children-Merchants' Picnic Will be Patriotic

The standard still declines to discuss what the Borden government has done in its four years of power to link St. John up with the National Transcontinental. There's a reason.

The remark of Rev. J. A. Macdonald that "armed peace means inevitable war" is borne out by recent history. Germany would not consider even a year's holiday in the race for armaments, because she was headed for war.

The French secretary of war, after a visit to England, concludes that the outlook there for the production of munitions is much brighter. This is good war news, for the battle is now between the munition factories of the warring nations.

Hon. Mr. Loughheed, acting minister of militia, says more machine guns are needed, and urges that people subscribe to provide them. New Brunswick should be able to furnish a number, as they only cost $750 each, and they are an absolute necessity in prosecuting the war.

The suggestion that the best use for jail prisoners is to put them in the chain-gang may appeal to a commissioner who is short of funds for his department, but the prison farm is bound to come, whether it be near Loch Lomond or elsewhere, and whether it be a municipal or a provincial institution.

Hon. John E. Wilson is doubtless more to be congratulated on his appointment to the savings bank than the government of which he was lately a member is to be congratulated on the vacancy in this constituency. At all events, everybody will wish Mr. Wilson good health, and long life to enjoy his new position.

If Germany's reply to the United States is her final statement of what she is prepared to do, it means war. She refuses to agree to what the United States regards as absolutely essential, and that is "the principle that unarmed and unresisting merchantmen must be visited and searched and the passengers and crew removed to a place of safety before the vessel is destroyed."

Sir Robert Borden tells English readers that the supreme issue of war must be our only concern at present in Canada. Sir Robert should have directed the attention of Hon. Robert Rogers to that view of the case, and made it applicable to his political press bureau at Ottawa. Indeed, he might have accepted Sir Wilfrid Laurier's offer to put an end to partisan controversy until after the war. In short, Sir Robert should have spoken in Canada before he went to London. Then his words would have carried more weight.

Today's war news is encouraging. It does not tell of any further advance of the Austro-Germans against the Russians, but notes the fact that Russia is gathering her strength for a new offensive movement. Both is made, and deservingly so, of General Botha's great achievement in South and Southwest Africa. The French have met with some success in the Vosges region, and the British near Ypres, and from no point does there come news of German success. The threatened German drive in the west has not yet been launched.

General Botha deserves the highest honor a grateful Empire can confer upon him. He has not only quelled the uprising in South Africa but conquered German Southwest Africa and added it to the possessions of Britain. To his unflinching loyalty and brilliant military ability is due the fact that since the war broke out the British government did not have any cause for serious worry over the situation in South Africa. As soldier and statesman he has won the lasting gratitude of the British whom he once so stoutly and valiantly opposed.

THE ARISTOCRAT OF BERRIES. (By Peter McArthur) A writer in a recent number of the New York Independent has made a grievous mistake which I hasten to correct. He has labelled the currant—though it is quite evident that he labelled it through ignorance. From the tone of his article I am convinced that the offending writer is not a man of the world even though he lives in New York. It is apparent that he has never strayed far from a quiet New England home, and "home-sleeping" youths have even homely wits. He described the currant as if it had seen nothing of high life, when the real truth is that it is unquestionably our most aristocratic fruit—the fruit of kings as well as of ordinary people. Listen to what this person has to say: "July opens with the currant, a hum-

THE STORY OF MUENTER

Man Who, as Frank Holt, Shot Morgan

THE DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Arsenic in Stomach Found After Husband Had Left Cambridge For Chicago—He Was Never Found

(Boston Globe) Bertha Muentzer, Frank Holt, the name Muentzer is believed to have assumed, was a former Harvard instructor and came to Cambridge in 1904 with a degree from the University of Chicago and a record of service as instructor in the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Kan. Muentzer came primarily to study for a degree of Ph. D. from Harvard, and for a course in German philology. He received an appointment as instructor in German in the elementary courses. With him came his wife, who was Leone Krebs of Chicago, and their daughter, then little more than a year old. They boarded at first at 63 Oxford street. Muentzer was an indefatigable worker, and did all he could, by tutoring, to eke out the $900 a year he received from the college. Everybody who knew him said that he seemed unusually fond of his wife. In December, 1905, he hired the top apartment in the house at 107 Oxford street and "set up housekeeping," taking F. E. Bryant as a lodger. Mrs. Muentzer was to become a mother for the second time in April, 1906. She was a Christian Scientist, and Muentzer engaged Mrs. Henry C. Nickerson of Winchester, a Christian Science leader, to attend his wife. Some little time prior to Mrs. Muentzer's confinement Mr. Muentzer also engaged Mrs. Ethel Chase, a Christian Science nurse. Doctor Withdrew from Case. Mrs. Muentzer, however, became dis-

ressed as her time approached, and her husband twice called on Dr. H. S. McIntire of 4 Garden street, Cambridge. Dr. McIntire found her normal. He left prescriptions and directions, but when found that they were not being followed he withdrew from the case. Mrs. Muentzer gave birth on April 6, 1906, to a healthy, well-formed girl baby. At the announcement, so far as could be learned, only Mr. Muentzer and Mrs. Chase, the nurse, were present. The mother made little progress towards recovery, and on April 14 was in a critical state. Mr. Muentzer then went to Dr. F. B. Taylor, at 1788 Massachusetts avenue, and asked him to "come over and tell me how sick my wife is." Dr. Taylor came, and told Mr. Muentzer that she would die unless she were properly cared for by a physician and a competent nurse. But both on that day and the next, when Dr. Taylor was again called to pass upon the case, Mrs. Muentzer declined to engage his services, saying his wife was being well cared for. At midnight on the night of the 15th, Mr. Muentzer told the nurse to get some rest, saying he would watch by his wife the rest of the night. At 9 a. m. he arose, and found her dead. "It is all over. My wife has died," Mrs. Chase afterwards said that night. Mrs. Muentzer's body was found in the room, and the body was so cold that she believed death had occurred several hours before. The medical examiner thereupon held an autopsy, and found enough to warrant him in rendering the verdict that Mrs. Muentzer's body had been poisoned. Dr. Whitney, the medical school toxicologist. Arsenic in Wife's Body. All this happened on April 16. That evening Muentzer told the undertaker, Mr. Long, that he had received word from Mrs. Muentzer's parents in Chicago and had changed his plans. He now intended to take his wife's body to Chicago for burial, and urged haste in preparing it in order that he might leave Boston at two p. m. the next day. Mrs. Bertha Derick, a neighbor of the Muentzers, offered to help the Harvard instructor through his trying time. She did not know him personally, but was a general worker in the neighborhood, especially women and children. She offered to go to Chicago, taking care of the child. Next day Medical Examiner Swan issued the death certificate, ascribing it to the stomach, following child-birth, as the cause, and that afternoon Muentzer, Mrs. Derick and the two children, left for the west with Mrs. Muentzer's body. Muentzer left all his effects in his flat, except for a little clothing. In Chicago, Muentzer was so depressed and nervous that he could not go to his wife's funeral. He made arrangements with his wife's family to take charge of her children, and then disappeared. Letters to his colleagues on the Harvard faculty were incoherent and rambling. Within ten days Dr. Whitney reported to the medical examiner that he had found large quantities of arsenic in the stomach taken from Mrs. Muentzer's body; the district attorney ordered the police to arrest Muentzer and the search for him began. In Chicago Mrs. Muentzer's family disagreed sharply as to the possibility that each Muentzer had poisoned his wife. Two of her brothers thought it entirely probable, and said that he had attempted to kill her just after the birth of her first child by turning on the gas in her chamber and closing up all the doors and windows. Her mother, on the other hand, said that it was impossible, and cited his devotion to Leone. Muentzer's own sister, Miss Bertha Muentzer, who was a school teacher in Chicago, dropped her work and came to Cambridge. She declared at once that "my brother is innocent of any crime. He never tried to kill his wife in Chicago, it is not insane and he is not a murderer." Muentzer was never found, though a watch was kept for him in many cities. It was just at the time of the San Francisco earthquake, however, and the conditions in the far west—the man was expected to go to relatives near Los Angeles—made it difficult to trace anybody's movements in the hurry-burly investigation brought out a good many odd facts concerning the man, however. One fact that he had attempted to create a new universal language-

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers H. P. B. says: "My skin becomes so muddy every summer, I have an awful time keeping it clean looking. I do not suggest anything." The method mentioned in reply to Monica should overcome this condition. Have you tried that? P. M.: First, "stop scowling." If you would get rid of the lines between the eyes, the best application for such lines, and all wrinkles, is a solution of powdered azoosine 1 cc., dissolved in witch hazel, in pint. Rub the face in this daily until entirely relieved. You hardly need such a list of cosmetics as you mention. Ordinary mercurated wax will help you more than any or all of them. It will gradually absorb the excess of skin "need" and get more than an ounce of wax, "which will cost you little if any drugist's." Apply nightly, like cold cream, wash it off mornings.—Woman's Brain.

NEW GUN FOR SUBMARINES

Three-inch Weapon of Disappearing Type For American Undersea Craft. Washington, July 10.—A three-inch disappearing gun for submarines has been perfected by the Navy Ordnance Bureau. Secretary Daniels announces it and in the future all American undersea craft will be equipped with such weapons for surface fighting. Mr. Daniels said every test had resulted satisfactorily and that within ten days the gun and its carriage would be sent from the Ordnance factory here to New York for mounting on the new submarine M-1 under construction at the Electric Boat Company's plant. The carriage, it is explained, operates like those of disappearing guns in shore batteries. The rifle is raised through ports to the deck by electric machinery and after firing is carried quickly back into its place by its own recoil, the same force closing the water-tight hatch as it appears. For nearly two years naval experts have been working out the problem of developing a weapon for the use of submarines when cruising on the surface, which would not delay the clearing of decks for diving. The increase in size, speed and cruising radius of submarines in the last few years has made it almost imperative that they carry armament in addition to their torpedo tubes. The German U boats mount powerful rifle rifles as they have demonstrated recently by shelling Brit-

Avoid All Danger From Cow's Milk For Baby

Not only is cow's milk, modified at home, unsuitable for baby's present needs, but in the summer months it is the cause of serious troubles. Doctors tell us, too, that the germs of various diseases are introduced into the system by cow's milk. One must not only give baby what is best, but consider the summer that is coming and baby's future. The difficulties of the mother who has to hand-feed baby are serious, and she cannot do better than to give him Allenburys' Foods. The sixty-page booklet "Infant Feeding and Management" will tell you about these foods and give valuable guidance to help keep baby free from the dreaded summer troubles. USE THE WANT AD. WAY

We have been instructed to sell the fine home of Mr. Horace King, situated at Millidgeville. This is one of the most complete and up-to-date suburban properties near St. John. The house has an excellent concrete cellar under the entire building and a very efficient hot air heating plant. It also has a splendid private water supply which, by means of large reservoirs in cellar and attic, feeds the bathroom, laundry, toilets and the many wash basins. The lighting is done by a modern acetylene plant. The planning of the house has been very well done, as is shown by the large living room, dining room, with built-in buffet, the many pantries and clothes closets and the very fine finish of the paneled rooms and halls. There is also a good barn and garage, as well as an ice-house and store house. The property is shut off from the street by a massive concrete wall and on the river front there is a very fine gravel beach. This is an ideal all-the-year-round home, having been built with an idea of using it in winter if desired.—THE PRICE—A BARGAIN—See ALLISON & THOMAS 147 Prince William Street Phone M. 1202

Stirring Appeal Of Earl Kitchener

Men, Material and Money Great Need of Moment; Money Raising a Success; Munitions Matter Improved but Men and More Men Needed Till Enemy Crushed

London, July 9, 10.10 p. m.—Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, whose conduct of the war office has been criticized by certain sections of the British press, received a very remarkable ovation from the public today on his visit to the London Guild Hall to make an appeal for recruits, and particularly for reserves, for the great army which he has raised since the outbreak of the war. From the War Office to Guild Hall great crowds assembled to welcome the secretary of war, and as he drove through troop-lined streets cries of welcome and confidence were shouted at him, while a meeting of business men in the Guild Hall unanimously voted confidence in his administration.

The great need of the moment, said Earl Kitchener, was men, material and money. Money, being raised by loan, was a success, he said, and he assured the meeting that the question of material was being dealt with in a highly satisfactory manner by the new minister of munitions. But there still remains the vital need of men he would require, he declared, "MEN, AND MORE MEN," he said, "UNTIL THE ENEMY WAS CRUSHED."

The country is in a better position than it was when the war broke out and he made his first appeal for recruits, Earl Kitchener declared, but, he added, the position was still serious and he made an urgent call for men to fill up the gaps which had been made in the ranks of the army.

While at the commencement of the war, the British were short of equipment, Earl Kitchener made the statement that now the war office WAS ABLE TO EQUIP ALL MEN ENLISTING.

Great crowds assembled in and around the Guild Hall to hear Field Marshal Earl Kitchener address the meeting to inaugurate a special recruiting campaign. His subject was "On the need of further recruiting for the army." The enthusiasm of the meeting and the crowds which appeared were attributed to the public's spontaneous desire to demonstrate its confidence in the field-marshal in face of attacks upon him in a certain section of the press. UNPRECEDENTED SINCE BEGINNING OF WAR.

Earl Kitchener's motor ride to the Guild Hall unthrewed British enthusiasm and the scene has had no precedent in London since the outbreak of the war. Handkerchiefs were waved and hundreds of thousands cheered the secretary of war as he passed through an uninterrupted avenue of yelling men, women and children.

The text of Lord Kitchener's speech follows: "Hitherto the remarks I have found necessary to make on recruiting have been mainly addressed to the House of Lords, but I have felt that the time now has come when I may with advantage make another and larger demand on the resources of English manhood. "Enjoying as I do the privilege of a freeman of this great city I am sure my words, uttered in the heart of London, will spread broadcast throughout the nation."

TRIBUTE TO BRAVERY OF CANADIANS.

The secretary of war referred to the bravery of the Indian forces and the Canadians, fighting "ALONGSIDE THEIR BRITISH AND FRENCH COMRADES IN FLANDERS AND PRESENTING A SOLID AND IMPENETRABLE FRONT."

"In the Dardanelles," Lord Kitchener continued, "the Australian and New Zealanders combined already have accomplished a work of arms most exemplified in brilliancy and are pushing the campaign to a successful conclusion."

"IN EACH OF THE GREAT DOMINIONS NEW AND LARGE CONTINGENTS ARE BEING PREPARED WHILE SOUTH AFRICA, NOT CONTENT WITH THE SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSIONS OF AN AGRICULTURAL CAMPAIGN IN THE SOUTHWEST AFRICA, IS NOW OFFERING LARGE FORCES TO ENGAGE THE ENEMY IN THE MAIN THEATRE OF WAR."

"Strengthened by the unflinching support of our fellow citizens across the seas, we seek to develop our own military resources to their utmost limits and in the process which brings us together today."

Specifying the three things necessary to conduct a modern war successfully, as men, material and money, Lord Kitchener said that the government with its new loan was supplying money with a final marked success and that the ministry of munitions was handling its work in a highly satisfactory manner. He continued:

"There still remains a vital need for men to fill the ranks of our armies and it is to emphasize this point and to bring it home to the people of this country that I have come here."

AS SOLDIER, NOT POLITICIAN.

"When I took up the office I had I did so as a soldier and not as a politician and I warned my fellow countrymen that the war would be not only arduous but long. In one of my earliest statements made after the beginning of the war I said that I should require 'more men and still more until the enemy is crushed.' I repeat that statement today with even greater insistence."

"ALL THE REASONS WHICH LED ME TO THINK IN AUGUST, 1914, THAT THIS WAR WOULD BE A PROLONGED ONE HOLD GOOD AT THE PRESENT TIME. IT IS TRUE THAT WE ARE IN AN UNMEASURABLY BETTER SITUATION THAN WE WERE TEN MONTHS AGO BUT OUR POSITION TODAY IS AT LEAST AS SERIOUS AS IT WAS THEN."

"Through preparedness Germany, due to her strenuous efforts sustained at high pressure for some forty years, has a military organization as complex in character as it is perfect in machinery."

"It is true that Germany's long preparation enabled her to utilize her whole resources from the very commencement of the war, while our policy is one of gradually increasing in our effective forces. It might be said with truth that she must decrease, while we increase."

The speaker here dwelt on the question of raising new armies, "some of which have already made their presence felt at the front," and continued:

"From the first there has been a constant and satisfactory flow of recruits and the falling off in numbers recently apparent in the recruiting returns has been, I believe in great degree, of a temporary character. APPEALS TO MANHOOD OF COUNTRY."

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the value of the response that has been made to my previous appeal, but I AM HERE TODAY TO MAKE ANOTHER DEMAND ON THE MANHOOD OF THE COUNTRY TO COME FORWARD TO ITS DEFENSE. I was from the first unwilling to ask for a supply of men in excess of the equipment available for them."

"I hold it to be most undesirable that soldiers keen to take their place in the field should be thus checked and possibly discouraged or that the completion of this training should be hampered owing to the lack of arms."

"We now happily have reached a period when it can be said that this drawback has been surmounted and THAT THE TROOPS IN TRAINING CAN BE SUPPLIED WITH SUFFICIENT ARMS AND MATERIAL TO TURN THEM OUT AS EFFICIENT SOLDIERS. NOW WE ARE ABLE TO CLOTHE AND EQUIP ALL RECRUITS AS THEY COME IN AND THUS THE CALL FOR MEN NO LONGER IS RESTRICTED BY ANY LIMITATION."

"It is an axiom that the larger an army is the greater is its need of an ever swelling number of men of recruitable age to maintain its full strength yet at the same time the supply of those very men is automatically decreasing."

"The time has now come when something more is required to insure the demands of our forces over the seas being fully met, and to enable the large reserve of men required for the proper conduct of the war to be formed and trained. The dimensions of the new army already have reached a figure which only a short time ago would have been considered utterly unthinkable, but there is a tendency, perhaps, to overlook the fact that these large armies require still larger reserves to make good the wastage at the front. SOLDIERS AT FRONT BECKONING FOR AID."

"And one cannot ignore the certainty that our requirements in this respect will be large, continuous and persistent, for one feels that OUR GALLANT SOLDIERS IN THE FIGHTING LINE ARE BECKONING WITH AN URGENT AT ONCE IMPERIOUS AND PATHETIC TO THOSE WHO REMAIN AT HOME TO COME OUT AND PLAY THEIR PART, TOO."

"The recruiting meetings, the marches and unweary labors of the recruiting officers, committees and individuals, have borne good fruit, but we must go a step further to attract and attach individuals who from shyness or other causes have not yet yielded to their own patriotic impulses."

FUNERAL OF LT. WARNEFORD, DARING BRITISH AVIATOR

Photo shows some at the funeral of Lt. Warneford, the first man to bring down a Zeppelin from an aeroplane. The aviator was killed several weeks ago when his machine dropped, crashing to death himself and Henry Beach Needham, the American war correspondent.

"When the registration is completed we shall, myself, be able to note the men between the ages of 19 and 24 who are not required for military or other necessary industrial work, and, therefore, available, if physically fit, for the fighting line."

"Steps will be taken to approach, with a view to enlistment, all possible candidates for the army, unmarried men to be preferred before the married men, as far as may be. ENLIST BEFORE REGISTRATION COMPLETED."

"The work of completing the registration will extend over some weeks. MEANWHILE IT IS OF VITAL AND PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE THAT AS LARGE A NUMBER OF MEN AS POSSIBLE SHOULD PRESS FORWARD TO ENLIST. I would urge all employers to help by releasing all men qualified for the service, replacing them by men not recruitable, as the result of age, or by women, as already has been found feasible, in so many cases."

"What the numbers required are likely to be, it is clearly inexpedient to shout abroad. Our constant refusal to publish either these or any other figures likely to prove useful to the enemy needs neither explanation nor apology."

"It has often been urged that if more information were given as to the work and whereabouts of the various units, recruiting would be greatly stimulated, but this is the precise intention which would be of the greatest value to the enemy, and it is agreeable to note that a German Prince in high command recently recorded his complete ignorance of our new army."

"But our set of figures is available for everybody. This is supplied by the casualty lists. With regard to these lists, however serious and sad, as they necessarily are, let two points be borne in mind. First, that a very large percentage of the casualties represents comparatively slight hurts, the sufferers from which, in time, return to the front; and second, that if the figures seem to run very high the magnitude of the operations is thereby suggested. Indeed, these casualty lists, whose great length may now and again induce an undue impression, are an instructive indication of the huge extent of the operations undertaken and now reached by the British forces in the field. TWO CLASSES APPEALED TO."

"There are two classes of men to whom my appeal must be addressed. Those for whom it is claimed they are indispensable, whether for work directly associated with our military forces or for other purposes, public or private; and second, those to whom has been applied the office of shirkers."

"AS REGARDS THE FORMER THE QUESTION MUST BE SEARCHINGLY RE-DRIVEN HOME WHETHER THEIR DUTIES, HOWEVER RESPONSIBLE, HOWEVER TECHNICAL, CANNOT IN THIS TIME OF STRESS BE ADEQUATELY CARRIED OUT BY MEN UNFIT FOR ACTIVE MILITARY SERVICE, OR BY WOMEN."

"And here I cannot refrain from paying a tribute of grateful recognition to the large number of women of every class and phase of life who have come forward, and have placed their services unreservedly at their country's disposal. "The harvest, of course, is looming large in many minds. It is possible that many men engaged in agriculture have, so far, not come forward owing to their harvest duties. This may be a good reason at the moment, but it can only be accepted if they notify their names at once and report as recruits on the very day after the harvest is garnered."

"Also the question of private employment of recruitable men for any sort of domestic services is an acute one which must gravely and unselfishly be considered by master and man alike." FEW ABSOLUTE "DO NOTHINGS."

The field-marshal said there had been much talk about slackers—that is persons doing literally nothing to help the country—that this should not be exaggerated, for he believed the residuum of absolute "do nothings" was relatively small.

Lord Kitchener particularly addressed himself to persons now engaged in patriotic or other useful work who found in this work an excuse for not joining the army. For instance there are many special constables of military age. All such he urged to search their conscience and to ask themselves if they really had a valid excuse for not joining the army.

"IT IS NOT FOR ME TO TELL YOU YOUR DUTY; THAT IS A MATTER FOR YOUR CONSCIENCE," THE SECRETARY OF WAR SAID, "BUT MAKE UP YOUR MINDS AND DO SO QUICKLY, AND BE CERTAIN YOUR SO-CALLED REASON IS NOT A SELFISH EXCUSE. IT HAS BEEN WELL SAID THAT IN EVERY MAN'S LIFE THERE IS ONE SUPREME HOUR TO WHICH ALL HIS EARLIER EXPERIENCE MOVES AND FROM WHICH ALL FUTURE RESULTS MAY BE RECKONED."

"FOR EVERY INDIVIDUAL BRITON, AS WELL AS FOR OUR NATIONAL EXISTENCE, THAT SOLEMN HOUR IS STRIKING. LET US TAKE HEED TO THE GREAT OPPORTUNITY IT OFFERS, AND WHICH MOST ASSUREDLY WE MUST GRASP NOW AND AT ONCE, OR NEVER."

"LET EACH MAN OF US SEE THAT WE SPARE NOTHING, SHIRK NOTHING AND SHRINK FROM NOTHING, IF ONLY WE MAY LEAD OUR FULL WEIGHT TO THE IMPETUS WHICH SHALL CARRY TO VICTORY THE CAUSE OF OUR HONOR AND OF OUR FREEDOM."

On moving a vote of thanks to Earl Kitchener and pledging the City of London to support him, Sir Edward Carson, the attorney-general, answered a section of the British press which recently has been attacking the war minister. He said:

"It is enough to say of him that he possesses the absolute confidence of every colleague in the cabinet, and what is more, the absolute confidence and unflinching devotion of a grateful nation. I do not know a poorer service anyone could give his country than to attempt to shake the confidence of the nation in Lord Kitchener."

Sir Edward concluded: "VOLUNTARY RECRUITING IS NOW ON ITS TRIAL. DOES ANYONE DOUBT IF IT FAILS THAT WE SHALL HESITATE TO APPLY COMPULSORY SERVICE?"

BRITISH SERGE UP 60 PER CENT.

All the Weavers Busy on Army Cloth.

An advance in prices of over 60 per cent. has taken place in the cost of English serge since a year ago. On a four shilling cloth this means an increase in the cost of cloth alone in a business suit of $2.10, plus the duty, war tax and war insurance.

"The Britons and King's Own serge suits which we have worn in the past will still sell at the old prices. The Britons serge suit is made from Australian wool, and for a $22 suit it is absolutely the best value we have ever shown," said John P. Condon, of the Semi-Ready Store.

"The King's Own serge is a standard $20 suit which gives splendid wear value, and is woven from the soft finished yarns which do not shrink."

"This cloth was all made and finished before the war, when indigo dyes were plentiful and pure. With an army of 18,000,000 men in the field, chiefly composed of European peasantry who wear one suit a year when at home in peaceful days, the shortage in wool can readily be understood. These serge uniforms are required to be replaced every six weeks, or nine suits a year where the average was two. This means an increased yardage for the fighting forces in the field of over 300,000,000 yards, or nearly two billion pounds of wool."

John P. Condon retains the same "price in the pocket" in all Semi-Ready suits, and his is the only store in the 225 selling Semi-Ready Tailorize.

The authorities acknowledged that practically the same report of prisoners taken had been received from both the German and the Austrian headquarters, and that the two totals had been added together before the report was issued to the newspapers.

This admission and the fragmentary statement referred to, justify the suspicion that the number of Russian prisoners claimed to be captured by General Mackensen's army is greatly exaggerated for the benefit of the German public. Furthermore the German military authorities must feel quite confident that German newspaper readers will not think for themselves, otherwise they would fear that the civilians might wonder how such a "contentible little army" could lose a million and a half of its men and yet be strong enough to serve as an insurmountable obstacle in the way of the advance of the invincible German warriors on Calais.

Germans Caught at it—They Hope to Keep up Waning Spirit of the People

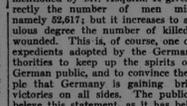

New attempts by the Germans to keep up the waning spirit of the people of the Teutonic countries by deliberate distortions and misrepresentations of facts are being daily exposed.

Mr. Asquith said in the House of Commons on the 9th inst. that the total casualties in all ranks of the French and Mediterranean expeditionary forces up to May 31 were 288,069. He gave details showing how many officers and how many men "of other ranks" had been killed, were wounded, and were missing up to that date. In its evening edition of the following day the Tagliche Rundschau, of Berlin, published a telegram from its special correspondent at the Hague in which it was stated that "Asquith has announced in parliament is informed that the losses were sustained in France is 1,888,409, of whom 10,953 are officers. The Tagliche Rundschau, which is read chiefly in army and naval circles, printed this "news" in prominent type, and rendered it still more conspicuous by placing over it the heading "A Million and a Half English losses."

In the first place, the German public is informed that the losses were sustained in the French and Mediterranean expeditionary forces." In the second place the Berlin newspaper adds 1,827,340 to the number of the casualties in other ranks mentioned by Mr. Asquith. It gives correctly the number of men missing, namely 22,617; but it increases to a fabulous degree the number of killed and wounded. This is, of course, one of the expedients adopted by the German authorities to keep up the spirits of the German public, and to convince the people that Germany is gaining brilliant victories on all sides. The public will believe this statement, and will accept all the statements issued by the authorities in which the repeated capture of hundreds of thousands of Russian soldiers and of untold numbers of guns has been announced.

It has been trained to have no opinion of its own in military matters, and to accept blindly every statement made by the military authorities. Even if the truth in this matter could be told in Germany, the authorities there would merely declare that the foreign statement was a lie.

The German authorities have admitted once that this method is employed in respect of Russia. About a month ago, when the German armies achieved their first important successes in Galicia, the reports that circulated throughout Germany were so extravagant that an authoritative statement was made in the matter. It intimated that the number of Russian prisoners taken had been multiplied in some cases by ten others, and even in Berlin, by twenty.

KITCHENER THE FIRST OF RECRUITING SERGEANTS

Paris Matin Articles by Former Minister of Foreign Affairs

The Matin of Paris is publishing a series of articles by M. Jean Cruppi, former minister of foreign affairs, who has been gathering in England impressions of how such a "contentible little army" could lose a million and a half of its men and yet be strong enough to serve as an insurmountable obstacle in the way of the advance of the invincible German warriors on Calais.

Speaking of the organization of the British army, he says: "History will tell what strength of mind the Asquiths and the Kitcheners have shown when at certain times they have nobly forgotten the defence of their island and emptied England of her last forces, for Kitchener, before organizing the millions of soldiers whom he has at his disposal today, had to obtain them of their own free will. The 'Victor of Khartoum' has constituted himself the first of the 'recruiting sergeants' in the United Kingdom, a sergeant who writes to the people, describes to them the country's peril, and endeavors to persuade them by figures and pictures.

"Lloyd George is the living expression of this work, which is the continuation and development of the efforts already accomplished. I was in England when on June 3 the minister of munitions delivered to the workers of Manchester his magnificent 'call to the workshop.' And so a formidable army is to be added to the force already gathered at the front."

In conclusion M. Cruppi says: "All the persons I have seen showed me the complete unity which prevails in the desire to recede Germany. Whigs or Tories, Scots or Irishmen, desire only that from the bloodshed among our sons the union of France and Great Britain will arise, tightened and strengthened by the common trial. In France these things are known, but it is good that they should be recited by a witness who has been able, as they say in England, to 'realize' them, and support his impressions by the facts which I will give. Before leaving London I had the great honor of being received by the King. Never have the irresistible forces of the United Kingdom appeared to me more energetic, more imposing. These forces are in full activity and moving towards the desired goal."

THE STAGE AND THE SCREEN

News of Plays and Photoplays and Those Who Make Them

Wm. Courtenay Discusses the Actor's Standing; May Robson's Play in Film; Daphne Pollard in New York; Budget of Gossip of the Studio and Green Room

"The strongest social force in our modern life today is the actor—partly because the theatre and the parts played there are so influential on public thought and feeling, but even more because the actor is himself constantly, though unconsciously, imitated by his public," says William Courtenay, whose two seasons with "Under Cover" have made him final authority in the matter of finished acting.

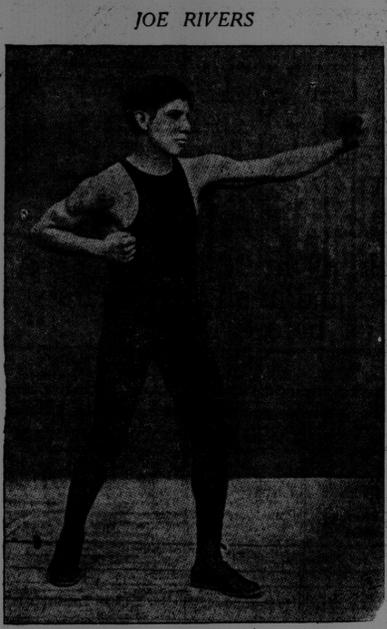

"I realize that there are still many people in the world who regard the actor as a poison center," he continues, "but that doesn't mean that he deserves it. It doesn't even mean that the very people who most desire him escape his influence. I don't say that the public imitation of the actor is conscious or deliberate. It would not be half so potent if it were the public unconsciously imitates any public man. That's one of the a b c's of mob psychology. But they imitate the actor more quickly and surely than any other because they always see him in the social relation. They see him in his emotional states—in his reactions to society and its reactions to him.

"The result is that any man who is conscientious and by way of being a good citizen and is also an actor, is not only to perfect himself in his art of acting but in all the social graces as well." Taking the scene William P. Sweeneyman who is featured with Thomas A. Wise, of "Back Home," by Bayard Veiller and Irving Cobb, had an experience at the play's premiere at Atlantic City last week which he thought he had left safely behind him twenty years ago. He had ascended taken away from him by another member of the cast so lowly that his name did not even appear on the program. However, on the night of this narrative Mr. Sweeneyman came on stage leading what he called a "company hound dog" with whom he was about to play a scene. Just as he was about to rolling speech began, one of his most irresistible lines, his companion raised a purposeful hand and patted it firmly behind his drooping ear. A little came from the audience. Mr. Sweeneyman made his funny speech, and just as he was approaching its climax his companion shifted over to the other foot. Again the audience overlooked Mr. Sweeneyman. The laughter arose and it being the first appearance on any stage of Mr. Sweeneyman's puppy, he raised a pathetic howl. The harder the audience laughed and the more the hound dog wept and wailed. Seeing the hopelessness of saving the situation, Mr. Sweeneyman and the audience laughed together and the actor led the puppy to the haven of the wings.

An Irish composer, Herbert Hughes, who is known especially for his effective arrangements of Irish folk songs, has joined the colors. For several weeks now he has been in Dublin in the khaki of the Artists Rifles. "There are used to be great music on Sunday evenings in Herbert Hughes' Chelsea studio," observed the London Daily Sketch, but the gatherings grew "khaki and khaki" as a woman member of the circle put it, and now they have come to an end. Wilfrid Draycot, who returned unharmed, though full of thrilling stories of narrow escapes from the war zone, has been engaged by Selwyn & Company for his original role of Michael Harrington in "Under Cover," goes on tour this season.

Zelda Sears, who is to be featured with George Sides in "The Show Shop," a James Forbes comedy which is to go on tour next season, has responded to the demand of managers to "play a play in America," with a four act play called "The Heart of a Child," made from the book of the same name by Frank Danby. William Courtleigh, Jr., is the star selected by Pathe for the new serial on which work will begin soon. The announcement of this serial, "Neal of the Navy," last week has brought forth many letters from exhibitors who are planning to profit by Pathe's next venture in this line in which they have been so successful. Margaret Joslyn, leading woman in the Essanay Snakeville comedies, recently made glad the hearts of several hundred orphan children in San Francisco by giving impersonations in real life of her screen character of Sophie Cluff. Colonel William N. Selig and Director Colin Campbell are engaged in cutting the twenty thousand feet of picture taken for "The Nerve-De-Well" down to a length that will allow of its release as a Red Seal picture on the V-L-S-B programme. This is no easy task, inasmuch as many interesting and educational views were obtained in the Canzone, where the company of players went to produce Rex Beach's novel. Sidney Olcott, whose directorial hand in "The Muth and the Flame" was but recently revealed for the Famous Players Company, is now at work on his second release for the Paramount brand—"The Seven Sisters," in which Marguerite Clark is being starred, is the question in it.

A new play by Charles Klein, a playwright who perished on the Lusitania, the manuscript of which was turned over to the producer on the eve of his departure, is among the plays which A. H. Woods announces for production next season. The play is called "Fossil Lucy," and will be used as a starring vehicle for Julian Eltinge, the famous impersonator. Picture rights to Henry C. Rowland's "The Closing Net" have been acquired by Pathe, and work on the feature based on the story will be commenced shortly. The novel first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post as a serial, and later became a best seller of the highest order. The scene of the story is laid in and around Paris with the hero an American. Wallace Ross on The Grand Game of Rowing

Teemer and Hanlon; Walter Brown of Halifax — The Paris Crew's Wonderful Three Miles—The Matter of Training.

The following article written by Wallace Ross, a well known sculler of his day, was published on December 21, 1888 in the Daily Telegraph. In the article he brought out valuable points for athletes in training, and also gave his views on racing in those days. He wrote as follows:—

WEAR FLEET FOOT SHOES

FOR EVERY SPORT AND RECREATION. 'We have a great deal to learn yet, but about pulling a boat and training for a race. A man to train properly must refrain from all pleasures and excitement. He must be given plenty to eat, nothing of the wispy-wispy order, but good hair-curling food. Vegetables above all things he must eat, giving his teeth plenty of exercise and not devour his ration of ten days, as the ordinary athlete believes in the efficiency of the bath. Now a bath is healthy to the body, but when it is harmful to the mind, it is harmful to the body. I assert that it is harmful to the body to take one every day, but when it is taken once a week, it is beneficial to the body. I mean a good rub down with a rough felt towel.'

NEPHEW OF ST. JOHN MAN GIVES SIGNS OF TALENT OF HIGH ORDER. Singled Out by General Electric For Attention and Development as Promising Mechanical Wrecker.

Many of the older St. John people will remember Alexander Petch, who was a blacksmith here before going to the United States. He was one of the famous step dancers of his time, and the team of Hammond and Petch were popular favorites. He was also a very clever with the gloves. He was a brother of A. W. Petch of the Daily Telegraph composing staff, and of Mrs. A. J. Charlton and Mrs. S. Milligan of this city.

The lad was just old enough when he went to work for the G. E. eighteen months ago to come within the law regarding school attendance and factory employment of boys. While his superiors do not say any claim to having discovered any mechanical wonder, the boy has done several things since his connection with the company which inspired William Lloyd, a manufacturing engineer, to direct that he be transferred to the apprentice course, and an eye be kept on him.

'The General Electric authorities desire to give the boy every opportunity to develop his abilities along lines suggested by himself, if he shows that the making of the chest was an indication of real ability and not a combination of precociousness and luck. Mr. Haynes hopes to get the young man back into his department after he has finished in the training school, if he does finish.'

BLACK RIVER PICNIC. On Tuesday, July 6, a successful picnic was held at Black River in connection with the Anglican Sunday school and Band of Hope. It was well attended by adults and children from Loch Lomond, Garnett and Black River. The weather could not have been better, although in the early morning it did not look at all promising. The people brought their lunches, and fruit and candy were sold on the beach. In the afternoon there were races for the children in Mr. Johnston's field, and the winners received prizes; also there was dancing, and a platform was erected for the purpose. Both children and adults spent a very enjoyable day.

Suit For $10,000 Against Miss DesBrisay of a Boston Hospital—Alleged That Sponge Was Left in Patient's Body

Yesterday's Boston Post has the following:—Mary S. Bisbee has brought suit for $10,000 damages against Lucy L. DesBrisay, proprietor of the DesBrisay Hospital, 28 Newbury street, Back Bay. It is alleged by Miss Bisbee that on Oct. 15, 1914, she was ill and went to the Des Brisay Hospital for an operation. She was there eight weeks following the operation, which was per-

The Man In The Street

Well, the streets look cleaner, anyhow. That's one reason why we should be thankful for the rain, but say, wasn't it a treat to see the sun this a.m.?

Watchful Waiting
And still we haven't learned the names of that assessment commission. The chap at the next desk whispers that we'll know soon enough.

Meanwhile we have until the 14th to settle this year's tax bill.

Do you know what to do with a day like this when it comes on a half holiday? Well, rather.

But do your plans include an excursion to Little River by the street car line?

Looks as if the extension will be ready for use just in time to cope with the winter snow storms.

Which would you rather do, work for your living or get a job as deputy receiver general?

And what do they want of electric lights in the custom house, surely no one ever works there after dark.

Did it ever strike a large number of our citizens that the coppers they pay for a certain newspaper from across the border are adding, indirectly, the German papers published by the same concern?

Lots of interest now in what is going to happen to the vacant seat in the legislature.

There is more than one citizen willing to sacrifice himself for the benefit of the Conservative party.

But, strange to say, the Tory leaders seem willing to lose the seat rather than see it won by a certain candidate for the nomination.

Slogan: "How Dry—y—y—am!"

The Anti-saloon league in the states plan to raise a fund of $2,000,000 to elect a "dry" president. Usually it's those extra ciphers that make a man forget to be dry—to say nothing of the siphons.

And No Insurance
Two men fined in the police court for smoking in the country market. That's one time their money went up in smoke.

Reasons are easy to find for most anything, but the logic of preventing a freeman from enjoying a "wee draw" in his own place of business is hardly perceptible.

At any rate, North Market street has become a favorite open-air smoking emporium.

But what's a fellow gonna do in winter?

August Last, Frinistance
Dr. MacDonald of the Toronto Globe has uttered a condemnation of "Alliances and the Balance of Power" as conducive to strife, but such things are often handy in a close corner.

Easy Pickin's
It has been said that to be the only man at a seashore resort has been to feel that the fair sex, at least, worshipped idols, but a local man who attended a Sunday school picnic this week up the river, feels that he has a few honors also. He is able to display at home to three nice, attractive scowls which he won at the picnic in games of skill, he will proudly tell you; but, just on the s. t. if you wish to retain his friendship, don't ask him how many were entered in the contests—he was the only one.

Scenic Grandeur
A Bermuda traveler in city this week said that "The beauties of St. John should be advertised more widely." But when we're doing it, let's try to forget about Victoria Square, Queen street sidewalk, Main street roadway from Douglas avenue to the bridge, and a few other pieces that probably need no more advertising than they've already got.

By the way, has Commissioner Potts shown you those pictures of that Indian-town section of Main street?

HE WAS IN THE STORMING PARTY AT SEBASTOPOL

Thos. M. Wisted, Local Veteran of Crimea and Indian Mutiny

STIRRING TIMES RECALLED

Chat With Empire Soldier Timely in View of Recruiting Campaign and His Being Invited to Take Part in Next Tuesday's Parade Here

In the children's parade next Tuesday afternoon, Thomas M. Wisted, of St. Patrick street, a veteran of the Crimean war and the Indian Mutiny, will be asked to take a place in one of the automobiles. If twenty-one years' service in the British army, during which time he helped carry his flag to victory in the two historical periods mentioned is a qualification, then there is no one in the city who is more worthy to take young men to the front by example and lend the empire a hand in the present crisis. Mr. Wisted's history is a most interesting one.

He was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1838. He moved to Dublin when a lad of twelve and remained there until 1862 when he joined the army. He accompanied the 73rd Regiment to British India and from there to Jersey, one of the Channel islands. In 1864, at the outbreak of the Crimean war, he volunteered from the 73rd to the 97th regiment for active service. In May of that year he left London with the first expeditionary force which had been ordered to Greece to protect King Otto. He remained there for six months and then started for the scene of hostilities.

Arriving before Sebastopol he entered the trenches with his comrades in arms and fought there for the entire period of the war. At the fall of Sebastopol on September 8, 1855, he was one of the storming party and assisted in carrying one of the ladders used for the purpose of scaling the walls. There were sixteen ladders in his company before the charge, but when the men eventually reached the walls only two remained intact. During the charge Mr. Wisted was wounded in the left leg, but the injury was not serious enough to place him hors-de-combat and he continued to fight side by side with his comrades.

Major Welsford, in whose memory a monument was erected in Halifax, was killed during the engagement while fighting a few feet away from Mr. Wisted. On March 22, 1856, Captain Hedley Vicars, who was commanding the trenches in which Mr. Wisted was fighting, was killed during a sortie made by the Russians.

The March to Lucknow
In August, 1856, after peace had been declared to the regiment in which Mr. Wisted served returned to England. One year later they sailed for Calcutta, and fought there for the entire period on board ship. In December they started on their memorable march to Lucknow, a distance of 1,286 miles, to quell the mutiny, and arrived there three months later. After a seiging of eight days they succeeded in ransacking their enemy.

Mr. Wisted narrated an interesting experience of his while serving during the Indian mutiny. Once, while in action, his rifle became clogged and, being unskilled, he asked permission to return to camp to procure another. He was allowed to go and while enroute there got mixed up at cross roads and almost walked right into a band of Sepoys. Fortunately, he realized his mistake in time and although he was pursued he evaded his followers by dodging from tree to tree and arrived safely back in his own lines. He says that he never ran so hard in his life as he did when the Sepoys were after him.

After serving ten years in various parts of India, Mr. Wisted returned to England in 1868. In the year 1873 he received an honorable discharge from the army after twenty-one years of faithful service. He still retains the old red coat which he wore during several years of service. On one sleeve there are six stripes, two specifying his rank as corporal and four for conduct. On the other sleeve is a special decoration which was given only to sharpshooters.

Mr. Wisted came to this city in April, 1873, and has since resided here. He will be eighty years old in October, but is still hale and hearty, possesses a remarkable memory, and is in every way a good citizen.

Former School Master Hears From Pupils

The Davies Boys of Sussex Corner, in Re-union in West, Talk Over Old Times and One Tells Boyhood Teacher About It

Thirty years ago in the school at Sussex Corner, were five brothers, Lew, Jack, Will, Harry and Barry Davies. On Friday, to the man who was principal of that school came a letter from Newton Station, B.C., with the heading Lew Davies & Co., real estate brokers, agents for Vancouver Island Fruit and Farm Lands Co., and the British Pacific Coal Co. The letter said: "We were talking about you the other day, Jack, Will and Barry called on me, and Doctor Perry of Sussex was spending a few weeks with me. We had a delightful talk over old times. Will is a doctor at Chilliwack, Jack has been manager for the American Express Co. in Montreal and this is his first trip west. Harry is a Baptist minister. He is out here with us. He has taken three degrees at college. Barry is head of the Barry Davies Oil Co. of New Westminster."

"I had a letter from Frank Whiteside (another of the pupils at the Sussex Corner school thirty years ago), formed by a competent surgeon, for the relief of her ailment."

"The defendant furnished a trained as a result of this neglect, the handkerchief caused septicaemia, for which she had to be operated upon for relief."

This will be of interest to several St. John homes as quite a number of St. John nurses trained under Miss DesBrisay in the Melrose, Mass., hospital when she was the popular and efficient matron there. Later she opened a private hospital in Boston and some St. John nurses have been with her there.

He was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1838. He moved to Dublin when a lad of twelve and remained there until 1862 when he joined the army. He accompanied the 73rd Regiment to British India and from there to Jersey, one of the Channel islands. In 1864, at the outbreak of the Crimean war, he volunteered from the 73rd to the 97th regiment for active service. In May of that year he left London with the first expeditionary force which had been ordered to Greece to protect King Otto. He remained there for six months and then started for the scene of hostilities.

Arriving before Sebastopol he entered the trenches with his comrades in arms and fought there for the entire period of the war. At the fall of Sebastopol on September 8, 1855, he was one of the storming party and assisted in carrying one of the ladders used for the purpose of scaling the walls. There were sixteen ladders in his company before the charge, but when the men eventually reached the walls only two remained intact. During the charge Mr. Wisted was wounded in the left leg, but the injury was not serious enough to place him hors-de-combat and he continued to fight side by side with his comrades.

Major Welsford, in whose memory a monument was erected in Halifax, was killed during the engagement while fighting a few feet away from Mr. Wisted. On March 22, 1856, Captain Hedley Vicars, who was commanding the trenches in which Mr. Wisted was fighting, was killed during a sortie made by the Russians.

The March to Lucknow
In August, 1856, after peace had been declared to the regiment in which Mr. Wisted served returned to England. One year later they sailed for Calcutta, and fought there for the entire period on board ship. In December they started on their memorable march to Lucknow, a distance of 1,286 miles, to quell the mutiny, and arrived there three months later. After a seiging of eight days they succeeded in ransacking their enemy.

Mr. Wisted narrated an interesting experience of his while serving during the Indian mutiny. Once, while in action, his rifle became clogged and, being unskilled, he asked permission to return to camp to procure another. He was allowed to go and while enroute there got mixed up at cross roads and almost walked right into a band of Sepoys. Fortunately, he realized his mistake in time and although he was pursued he evaded his followers by dodging from tree to tree and arrived safely back in his own lines. He says that he never ran so hard in his life as he did when the Sepoys were after him.

After serving ten years in various parts of India, Mr. Wisted returned to England in 1868. In the year 1873 he received an honorable discharge from the army after twenty-one years of faithful service. He still retains the old red coat which he wore during several years of service. On one sleeve there are six stripes, two specifying his rank as corporal and four for conduct. On the other sleeve is a special decoration which was given only to sharpshooters.

Mr. Wisted came to this city in April, 1873, and has since resided here. He will be eighty years old in October, but is still hale and hearty, possesses a remarkable memory, and is in every way a good citizen.

Thos. M. Wisted, Local Veteran of Crimea and Indian Mutiny

STIRRING TIMES RECALLED

Chat With Empire Soldier Timely in View of Recruiting Campaign and His Being Invited to Take Part in Next Tuesday's Parade Here

In the children's parade next Tuesday afternoon, Thomas M. Wisted, of St. Patrick street, a veteran of the Crimean war and the Indian Mutiny, will be asked to take a place in one of the automobiles. If twenty-one years' service in the British army, during which time he helped carry his flag to victory in the two historical periods mentioned is a qualification, then there is no one in the city who is more worthy to take young men to the front by example and lend the empire a hand in the present crisis. Mr. Wisted's history is a most interesting one.

He was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1838. He moved to Dublin when a lad of twelve and remained there until 1862 when he joined the army.
