Notice to Creditors..

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF Jemima Evans, late of the City of London, in the County of Middlesex, widow, deceased. Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Revised Statutes of Ontario, Chapter 129, that all persons having claims against the estate of the said Jemima Evans, who died on or about the 27th of March, 1899, are required by the 15th June, 1899, to send to Messers, Jarvis & Vining, of the City of London, solicitors for Christopher McLellan, the executor, their names and addresses, full particulars of their claims, and of the securities (if any) held by them.

And further, that after such last mentioned date the said executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have notice, and that the said executors will not be liable for the said assets, or any part thereof, to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

Keep to the Issue. The organ of the Company essays this morning to reply to The Advertiser. It keeps carefully away from the street railway question altogether, and to cover its retreat drags such irrelevant issues as unrestricted reci-

Union 'Bus and Trolley Car Nearly

An exciting incident occurred on Oxford street about 4 p.m. yesterday. A union bus, full of passengers, was going east, running in the street railway tracks, when a regular car approached from the rear. The bus driver tried to turn from the tracks, but found some difficulty, as a sharp turn would upset the bus. It looked as if the car would crash into the bus, and the bus passengers became alarmed. Several IN THE SURROGATE COURT OF THE county of Middlesex. In the matter of the guardianship of Louis Dambra, infant son of Angelo Dambra, late of the city of London, tailor, deceased. Notice is hereby given that after the expiration of twenty days from the first publication of this notice application will be made for a grant of letters of guardianship of the above named infant to Rosa Dambra, of the said city of London, the mother of the said infant. Dated June 3, 1899. Love & Dignan, solicitors for applicant. ladies tried to jump. Eye-witnesses say the conductor of the car prevented a disaster by rushing forward, shoving the motorman aside, and putting on the brakes just in time to pull the car up a few feet from the bus. A rear passenger on the bus gives the story to The Advertiser, and vouches for it. The Advertiser does not wish to do injustice to the motorman and he is welcome to defend himself.

SOMETHING MORE THAN A WELCOME.

All is now ready for the reception of customers. Our big business mart is bigger by another large store than it used to be, consequently we have a more roomy store than before. There is enough space now to place the goods belonging to each department in that department—no mixing up—and when customers become accustomed to the new arrangement they will know exactly where to go for any article desired. To the upstairs departments there is easy access by elevator.

Newest New York Ideas

There are no dark corners in our store now—unusually well-lighted either by day or night—by day with new prismatic lights by night with incandescent arc lamps. Our wrapping counters and electric cash system are modeled after the most approved ideas now in use in the big stores in New York—giving us the best-equipped store in Western Ontario.

Rapid Filtration Recommended report stated. by Engineer Chipman

In His Report on Sewage Disposal-No Mistake Has Been Made-Use for the Lands Purchased.

An exhaustive report upon sewage disposal was presented at a special meeting of the sewerage committee last evening by Consulting Engineer Wills Chipman. After discussing the subject in a general way, a sub-committee was appointed to consider the matter fully and bring in a recommenflation as to which plan the city should edopt in completing the new sewerage system. As Mr. Chipman was to leave this morning for Calgary for a month, an effort was made to have his views fully before the committee before going away. Much interest was shown in the meeting, a number of aldermen not on the committee being present, as well as a full attendance of the members. Mr. Chipman pointed out that since 1892 the purification of sewage had been more carefully studied by engineers than at any previous period, and that until 1897 slow filtration upon land was generally considered the cheapest and best method. In England, where chemical works were established, the local boards insisted on land filtration in addition. To the present there is not a city or town in Canada or the United States, with one exception, that has adopted any other method of sewage disposal than by intermittent filtration upon land or by chemical precipitation -not even in an experimental way, the

Under the head of "Recent Experi-ments," Mr. Chipman furnished an interesting history, beginning with an account of the discovery at a Massachu-setts experimental station in 1890, that the purification effected by filters was due to bacteriological action. The report went on to deal with experiments conducted by W. J. Dibdin, chemist to the London county council, at Barking Creek, England, in 1892, and following years, and at Sutton, England, in 1894, which proved coke breeze to be the best filter, and that about 1,000,000 gallons of sewage, previously clarified by chemical precipitation, could be puri-fied on one acre, with a reduction of 75 per cent in the oxidizable organic matters in solution. As a result of these experiments, the "bacteria tank," or Dibdin system was developed. By this system no chemicals are used, no sludge is produced, and the working of the beds is simplicity itself. Mr. Dibdin, in his report of February, 1897, stated that the sewage was being treated at Sutton at the rate of 773,000 gallons per acre per day, the coarse filters remov-ing 66 per cent, and the fine filters 20 per cent or a total purification of 86

In the septic tank system in opera-tion at Exeter, England, there is also no sludge produced, and no chemicals are used. The sewage flows continuously into an air-tight tank, is partially purified there, and then flows to coke

Both the Dibdin and the septic tank systems have found much favor during the last two years, Mr. Chipman stated, and added that the latter system was talented, the royalty charges being about 3 per cent.

The arrangement of the filtration beds in a rapid filtration plant at Reading. Pa., was described, and it was pointed out that these various systems should not be regarded as something new, but rather as further developments of well known methods of sewage treatment. Mr. Chipman reviewed his first report recommending land filtration over chemical treatment and confirmed it. He had little to say about the "Interna-tional System," which Mr. McDougall wished the council to adopt last year, further than that company's proposition was incomplete. Mr. Chipman held that crude sew-

Mr. Chipman held that crude sewage discharged into the river would probably cause no nuisance above the waterworks dam during the first year or so, or until after the main sewers have been completed;

That no nuisance would be created below the waterworks dam et any time for many years. time for many years.

That the treatment of the sewage is only necessary to preserve the purity of the river for the benefit of the citizens of London. However, a nuisance had been proven in the courts and the city ordered to abate it. Unless the city chose to disregard the decision of the courts, the provisions of the act passed by the legislature, the terms of the sewerage bylaw, and to pay no heed to engin-eering advice, it would be necessary to construct purification works of such capacity as would purify the normal flow of sewage during the summer months, at least. These works should have a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons per day. Under "Estimates of Cost," the original cost of land treatment, 35 acres in beds, is placed at $29,000, and monthly operating expenses at $300; Dibdin system, $53,000, the monthly operating expenses of which would be $200; septic tank system, $53,000, and $100 per month; International system, $60,000 and $400 per month; Reading system, $36,000; rapid filtration (Dibdin system), with beds constructed as for low filtration, only deeper, $28,000 and $200 per month. The detailed estimate for the latter system was as follows:

Engineering and contingencies .. 4,000

A similar modification of the septic tank system, that is, by constructing the beds as for land filtration instead of with masonry walls and concrete bottoms, its cost would be reduced from $53,000 to $42,000. In arriving at the above estimates, which are but approximate, it was assumed that the works would be operated only five months in the year.

"Rapid intermittent filtration is, in my opinion, the system best adapted for London, taking into consideration the first cost and the operating expenses," the report states. "It is not patented, nor is it controlled by construction companies. It may be extended to meet future requirements, and if some Better filtering material than coke be discovered the old material may be disposed of for fuel. No mistake has been made by the city authorities in securing the lands along the river banks, below the G. T. R. bridge, whether such lands be rebridge, whether such parties of the quired for the immediate use of the city or not. The city should control the river to below the both banks of the river to below the waterworks dam—as far as possible. If any of the sludge-producing processes were selected, all farm "A" might be required to dispose the sludge upon. If ordinary land filtration were adopted all this land would have to be laid out in filtration beds. By the adoption of "bacteria beds" or of the 'septic tank' system, the land lying west of the electric railway, or the west of the electric railway, or the Griffiths or Trowbridge properties would not be required for sewerage purposes, but the city should retain control of this land, as it lies along the bank of the river, immediately below the proposed disposal works, and may be required for sewerage or other city purposes in the future."

Mr. Chipman advised that the necessary levels and measurements be completed on farm "A," and test pits dug to enable the engineers to complete detailed plans and estimates for disposal works. Dr. Campbell was pleased to see that the report carried out the original intention. The only thing working satisfactorily in 1892 was land filtration, but experiments were being made to filter more rapidly. He favored single filtration for the present.

Mr. Chipman said that would do, if funds were reserved to build extra beds later. The present was the best time to inaugurate the works, he said.

Ald. Parnell argued in favor of delay. There was a good deal of satisfaction in knowing that no mistake had been made, yet it was well to look into all matters carefully. Under their agreement with the provincial board health they could continue to use the river while the system was under completion. It was not yet complete, and the city would do well to get any benefit that might be got from the tests made at other cities. The speaker fully agreed with the report.

The mayor suggested a committee of investigation. The chairman thought the first thing to decide was whether they would go on with the work this year or not. The report was referred to a committee, consisting of the mayor, the chairman and Dr. Campbell.

Contractor Brown's offer to allow $150 on his contract to have Pall Mall street, between Richmond and Waterloo streets put in the condition it was in when he began his contract, was accepted, Ald. Wilkey voting nay. Tenders will be called for the construction of a $1,000 building over the siphon tank on Evergreen avenue.

Games fall into the Londons' lap like ripe fruit from a tree shaken by the wind. If the Cockneys make errors, it is ten to one their opponents will go them several better. If they fail to hit the ball they are certain of enough charities to keep the bases pretty well occupied, and as their base running is about all that could be desired they find no difficulty in bringing in the necessary runs. Yesterday's game with St. Thomas was no exception. The Saints had the advantage in batting, but their hits were not timely. Kern, who is something of an idol in St. Thomas, sulked in the second inning because he objected to Umpire Daley's decision on strikes and balls, and walked off the field in a pet, like a spoiled child. Hardy, who has done some brilliant work this season, went into the box. and though he showed great speed and cleverness, was fatally wild at times in both pitching and throwing. Price managed to keep the Saints' hits pretty well scattered, and but for poor support in the eighth inning the visitors might have been kept down to the two runs secured in the third inning. The fielding on both sides was smart and clean, with one or two exceptions. In the eighth, with one man out, Mc-Fadden dropped an easy high fly by Reid, and Howell and Frank let another fly from Sulli an drop between This was demoralizing. Rodden hit safely, filling the bases; Hardy was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in

The Amount of Life Insurance in the World-Canadians Carry a Large Quota.

The amount of life insurance in the world is estimated at over $15,000,-000,000, of which Canadians carry $370,000,000, or $75 for every man, wo-man and child in the Dominson. This interesting statement was made by Mr. B. M. Britten, Q.C., M.P., at the recent annual meeting of the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company. We are pleased to note that this stalwart and distinctively Canadian institution has had a most satisfactory year. The new business in 1898 was largely in excess of any other year, the policies issued being 2,354, amounting to $3,750,-354. The surplus earned and the 354. The surplus earned and the amount paid to policyholders were also greater than ever before. The directors, in their report, comment on the declining earning power of money, but point out that the funds of the company were all well invested, though at a lower rate of interest. Sixth race, for non-winners this year, The Ontario Mutual keeps a ratio of revenue as high as, if not higher than any other company and much higher than the government standard. The excess in reserve over the government requirements was $168,804 at the close of 1898. In his address, the president, Mr. R. Melvin, dwelt on the scientific principles underlying the pure-ly mutual system. The success of mutuals has been so pronounced that some of the oldest stock companies are now seeking to give their policyholders a voice, however small, in the election of directors-a right which the members of The Ontario Mutual have enjoyed since its establishment

The annual report is published in another column and will be found very instructive. Mr. C. E. German, of 403 Richmond street, is the company's

How a Revenue May Be Raised at the Collegiate Institute.

Board of Education Asked to Charge City Pupils in the Upper School $15 a Year.

It is quite probable that after midsummer only first-year pupils and those attending the commercial classes will get free schooling at the Collegiate Institute. If the recommendation of No. 1 committee of the board of education is carried out, pupils in division 2 of Form I. will have to pay $10 a year, and all pupils of the upper school will have to pay $15 a year. Payment of the $10 fee is to be divided as follows: $4 in September, $3 in January, and $3 at Easter; of the $15 fee, $6 in September, $4 50 in January, and $4 50 at Eas-This was decided last night after a discussion of Chairman Teasdall's inaugural address advising such action. The members present were Messrs. Bayly (chairman), Dr. Campbell, Macpherson, Boyle, Evans, Dr. Teasdall, and Dr. Ziegler, Principal Merchant, and Secretary McElheran.

The annual cost of the London Collegiate Institute is comparatively small, $30,000, and it is expected that considerable revenue will be derived from fees. The number of pupils on the roll in the upper school in April was 316, and the average attendance 281. About 50 of these paid non-resident fees and would not be affected by any new regulations. Allowing for these and the probability of some pupils staying away in event of a fee system being inaugurated, it was estimated that about 200 pupils would pay the $15 fee. The $10 fee would be paid by about 100 pupils.

No fee is to be placed on division 1 of the lower school, as the work there is practically public school leaving work, which the board is obliged to furnish free. Thus pupils, after passing the entrance examination, will get free schooling for a year.

Mr. Merchant thought that a $15 fee would cut off the attendance about onethird. A $10 fee would, however, affect the attendance very little. That was his experience in other schools.

Some who would be cut off by the fee, Dr. Teasdall thought, might be benefited, as they would no doubt be better off at something else. The trouble was, said Mr. Merchant, that the fee would be apt to prevent some of the most brilliant pupils from attending. In Hamilton the average fee is $10 for the upper school and a revenue of over $5,000 is derived thereby. The number of free schools in the province is 10, while there are 27 fee schools.

Annual Meeting of the City Union at St. James' Church,

Addresses by the Bishop of Huron and the Preside it-Gratifying Reports.

The annual meeting of the King's Daughters was held in St. James' Church, South London, last night, when gratifying reports were presented from the eleven different circles which compose the city union. There was an unusually large turnout of members, and the proceedings were very interesting. Rev. Archdeacon Davis occupied the chair, and made a brief address. The Bishop of Huron also spoke, congratulating the society on the good work it was doing, and stating that he would do all in his power to advance its interests. Miss Christie, secretary, presented the following report: The city union is composed of eleven circles (ten have reported), and has a membership of 302; paid membership, 262. During the year three regular and three executive meetings have been held, and five leaders' meetings for Bible study and mutual improvement The regular meetings have been held in the school rooms of the churches which have a circle of King's Daughters and Sons in connection therewith. must crucify herself, Della Dutully, 42 This helps to bring the circles more years of age, a domestic, drove a spike before the public. Missionaries and missions have been remembered; needy families supplied with baskets of groceries and provisions at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter; good literature distributed; church debts reduced; visits to the sick and helpless made; fuel provided and rent paid; nurses engaged; also a great deal of individual benevolent work, for which time will fail me

The president, Mrs. (Rev.) During the past year the society had made a new departure in public meetings. Instead of holding them in one place, they had been held in the different churches Feeling reference was made to the death of Mrs. Jemima Evans, a valued member of the society. The following resolution was moved by Mrs. Waugh, seconded by Mrs. M. C. Brown, and carried unanimously. "Resolved, that this meeting tenders the deepest sympathy to our beloved Dominion secretary, Mrs. Tilley, who, through ill-health, has been obliged to give up all active work for this year. With loving, earnest prayers for her speedy recovery and restoration to health."

Votes of thanks were tendered to the bishop and the officers of the society.

A RUINED HOME.

A press despatch from Western Ontario town, published a few days ago, told an awful tale of mad cruelty and crime. Chas. Hames staggered home at midnight in a fit of fierce drink delirium and announced to his family his intention of setting fire to their dwelling. His wife and children rushed from the house. A daughter, aged fourteen, had not time to dress herself, and outside the house she was seized by her father, who held her till her feet were terribly frozen. Her mother attempted to get the child free and was severely bitten by the drunken ruffian. Yet Charles Hames was once a worthy citizen, manly and attractive enough to win a woman's heart. He built up a home that ought to have been a haven of safety for all within it, but every particle of manhood left him. He became a terror and a curse to those who looked to him for protection and support, and sankto be a plague, a peril and a burden to society. Is it not strange that men are not roused to even more earnest effort to combat this fearful evil of depraved appetite and to do more than has been done to shield the safe, strengthen the tempted, and reclaim those who have fallen victims to our country's greatest sin and shame? .

GENTLEMEN,—A profound sense of personal gratitude prompts me to write you regarding the merits of your Samaria Prescription for overcoming and curing the habit of drinking liquor. For many years I have been addicted to going on periodical sprees, when I would lose all control of myself and relapse into a condition unfit for human association. London's Parks and Playgrounds. We trust the public will ponder over the suggestions in the letters of Mr. Frank Holman and Mr. T. H. Purdom, concerning parks and playgrounds. These gentlemen add strong arguments to those we recently advanced in support of the same idea. We pointed out parcels of property in various sections of the city which are admirably adapted for public purposes, and may now be acquired by the municipality at a moderate figure. Their value is inoreasing with the growth of the community; they may shortly be built upon, or the price may go up to inconvenient figures. A larger area of parks and playgrounds within the city battalions left in camp went through limits would be a present boon and in the near future will be an absolute necessity. The present leafy beauty of the city, and the two splendid parks, here: centrally located, but now inadequate, testify to the forethought of the local authorities many years ago, and we owe it to a future generation that they shall be provided for in the same way. Many populous cities which have been compelled at enormous cost to extend their park systems have had reason to lament their short-sightedness in earlier days. The plan of creating a series of parks and playgrounds, say one in each ward, would seem to be suited to a place like London, which covers a great deal of ground, and is continually spreading out.

We do not suppose the City Council this year feel financially able to carry out this enterprise; but they might recommend it to their immediate successors. In the meantime the public should shove the question to the front and keep it there.

Home Work for Children.

In Ottawa they have a useful organization known as the Women's Educational Union. It discussed much-canvassed question of work for young children, the other evening, and the teachers present reached the conclusion that it was not advisable to burden young minds with home work. The trouble seems to be that the parents force the teachers into giving it, and the case of one woman was mentioned-we should hope it is an exception-who demanded that the teacher should give her little six-year-old girl home work to dol

For pupils in the lower grades we think home work should not be prescribed. We do not believe that it helps the child to be forced to puzzle the young brain with difficult problems and feats of memorizing poetry after school hours. The welfare of the average pupil under ten years of age will be best served if the mind is not unduly loaded. The work of the school room ought to be sufficient. Beyond the age of ten the question of whether home work is hurtful or not depends on the mental and physical condition of the student. Some boys and girls can persevere in study without ill effects for a much longer time than others. But in no case should the child be called upon to burn the midnight oil, not even the well advanced high school pupil.

The Guilty Party. The New York Evening Post says:

"The guilty party to the boundary dispute is the one who refuses to submit it to arbitration, wholly and unconditionally. We have been led to suppose that Canada was that party." Canada was not that party, as the

What Canada has done has been to demand that the arbitration shall not be restricted or partial, but on the lines insisted on by our neighbors in the United States, when they deemed It within their rights to interfere in the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela. What was good for these two countries should not be bad for Canada and the United States.

The reluctance of the United States authorities, or some of them, to embrace their own declared principles of arbitration would almost lead one to suppose they had no faith in their

The Detroit News says that "it has often been a subject of astonishment to Americans who live near the border, as well as of Canadians, to observe the darkness of mind respecting Canada which prevails among even the most intelligent of our people who live from 50 miles upwards south of the line, and do not have daily occasion to come into contact with our neighbors across the way. Congressmen and even members of the cabinet go to Washington and remain there for years without discovering that Canada is anything more than a Britich dependency, like the Bahamas, or British Guiana, with which the imperial government may do what they please." The News goes on to say that even British newspapers are guilty of the same ignorance, and fail entirely to appreciate the degree to which the Canadian people have developed a national spirit. As the existing medical service of the militia consists of regimental medical officers only, the latter are to elect whether they shall serve on the staff of regimental services. All must be qualified practitioners, under 45 years of age. Combatant rank will be given to the staff officer. Medical officers, retired within ten years, and otherwise eligible, may volunteer for the medical services. The staff and pay will be as follows. A director-general, at $2,800 a year; a lieutenantcolonel, at $4 87 a day; 17 majors at $2 82; 25 lieutenants or lieutenants on probation at $2 and $1 58 per day, respectively. The uniform of staff and staff corps will be identical with that of the imperial service, with a distinctive Canadian collar badge, and the duties will be as laid down in the Queen's regulations. All appointments will be provisionary upon the passing of an examination in drill, military hygiene, military law, equitation, etc., and short courses of instruction are to be provided for. The regimental medical service is also duly provided for in the new regulations. For the present it is intended to use the existing civil hospitals as base hospitals, with a temporary military staff. The creation of a "Canadian army nursing service" in connection with the base hospitals, and of a "line of communications," is also in contemplation. The establishment of the bearer company is a war personnel of 64 and peace personnel of 35; that of the field hospital with 100 beds, of 23 of a peace personnel and 45 on a war footing.

Outrage on Dreyfus

Wrote the Bordereau.

Chiefs of the Fench General Staff Knew the Fact.

Chancellor Boyd of Ontario and Others Knighted.

Proceedings of the Peace Conference-Gets a Batch of Islands From Spain.

OUTRAGE ON DREYFUS London, June 2 .- The Daily Chroncle says that Major Comte Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy called at its office last evening (Friday), with a confidential friend, and made the following statement: "The chiefs of the army have disgracefully abandoned me. My cup is full, and I shall speak out. Yes" (raising his voice and glaring around), "it was I who wrote the bordereau. I wrote it up on orders received from Sandherr." Esterhazy, the Chronicle says, then proceeded to explain that for months before 1893 moral proofs had been obtained of leakages which were only possible through an officer belonging to the ministry of war, and it was necessary to catch the guilty party by material evidence. Hence the difficulty. When asked what the chiefs of the French general staffs would say to this confession, Esterhazy, shrugging his shoulders, said: "They will lie, as they know how to lie; but I have them tight. I have proofs that they know the whole thing, and share the responsibility with me, and I will produce the proofs."

Advices from Cayenne, capital of French Guiana, say that all preparations have been made for transferring Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, imprisoned on Devil's Island, to Paris. Dreyfus has been in the enjoyment of good spirits since he was notified that he was to be taken back to France.

SPAIN GIVES AWAY HER ISLANDS. The Queen Regent of Spain yesterday opened the cortes with the usual ceremonial, and in the speech from the throne announced that the Marianne, Caroline and Palaos Islands were ceded to Germany by the late Spanish cabinet. In her speech her majesty said regarding these islands: "The former cabinet believed it useless for Spain to retain such minor appendages of our ancient empire, and signed with the German emperor a convention offering to cede those territories under the law, which was submitted immediately to the chamber. NOTABLE DISCOVERIES. In the process of laying the foundations for the erection of a new guard-room near the White Tower (in the Tower of London), the workmen cut the Roman wall of the second century, and found a number of perfectly-preserved flue tiles for the diffusion of hot air from the hypocaust.

While removing the mud from the subway leading to the river and the moat, the workmen discovered a number of iron and stone shot, left, it is believed, at the time of the conflicts between the royal troops and the rebels under Wyatt, in the time of "Bloody Mary," in 1554. The shot are set in a conglomerate of mud and gravel, thickly beset with human bones and bits of armor, showing firing with deadly effect at close quarters.

Rev. Dr. Austin Talks of Starting & a Church of His Own.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS. Windsor, June 3.-The London Conference met yesterday at 9 a.m. The minutes of the former session, in which the result of the Going vs. Austin trial was brought out, were read. The following is the resolution adopted in the Austin having been proven and sustained, Dr. Austin be now, and is hereby, deposed from the ministry of the Methodist Church.'

At this stage of the proceedings Rev. George Jackson called attention to the report of the London Free Press. in which it was intimated that Dr. Austin was not given a cordial reception, and an effort to applaud him was silenced and hissed. Dr. Austin's remarks, after hearing the verdict, were directly opposed to this statement. He was given a most respectful hearing for two hours; and when the verdict was rendered he thanked the president and the conference the kindly and fair way in which he had been treated by the conference, and bid farewell to the conference, hoping to remain a friend of his breth-

Rev. Joseph Edge, pastor of Wellington Stret Methodist Church, London, was elected president on the second ballot. His closest competitor was Rev. J. Livingstone, pastor of Windsor Avenue Church. Rev. H. W. Crews, of St. Thomas, was elected to succeed Rev. R. D. Hamilton as secretary, and Revs. G. H. Thompson and W. E. Kerr, of Brussels, were appointed assistants. Rev. S. W. Muxworthy was appointed journal secretary, and A. H. McTavish statistical secretary. Rev. T. E. Harrison was appointed to help vise the railroad certificates. Messrs. Davenant and McConnell were introduced and welcomed the conference to the city.

Dr., Briggs, the book steward, gave his annual report, which showed a year of great prosperity. Out of the net profits $10,500 was granted to the superannuation fund. Rev. E. W. Baker, B.D., gave the report of Albert College. Rev. Dr. Antliffe presented the report of the Wesleyan Theological College of Montreal.

Rev. D. Rogers was elected to fill the vacancy of the chairmanship of the Wingham district, caused by the death of Rev. A. Cunningham. Greetings were received from Bay of Quinte conference, assembled in Belleville, signed by W. R. Young, president; J. J. Rae, secretary. The usual conference committees were appointed.

The evening session was given up to the reception service, addresses being given by Rev. J. B. Saunders, D.D., and W. J. H. McAllister.

Windsor, Ont., June 3.-Dr. B. F. Austin, the Canadian Methodist minister convicted of heresy and deposed from the pulpit, before starting for Toronto, gave the News an interview, in which he spoke of his future plans, and offered a few predictions in regard to the future of the Methodist Church.

"I will have an independent church in Toronto very soon," he said, confidently. "Many persons have been discussing a proposition to start such a church, and now that the conference has taken this step there is scarcely any doubt but that I will soon tell from my own pulpit, and without any fear of being turned out, the result of the investigations I have conducted for a decade. I have not had a regular church for 16 years. I preached for six years, and was then made principal of Alma Ladies' College, a position which I held up till one year ago, when I resigned to become an editor for a publishing house.

"I believe that the London Conference has made a huge mistake; it has taken the wrong step; it says do not dare to investigate; take everything for granted that some person else tells you; believe others, and be satisfied. I am not of that kind. I must be convinced myself. I do not believe that there is much of a future for the Methodist Church. The power of the Methodist Church has been in the past and is today based upon its social standing. Gradually, by conduct similar to the action of this conference, intelligent, thinking men who have a foundation for their beliefs other than sentiment, will be driven from the church, and the church will be composed only of non-thinking people. With such a composition what can rts future amount

CANADIAN TRADE

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of the Situation.

Increase in Bank Clearances-The Wheat Market in the States. Co.'s weekly review says: Canadian reports indicate a well-sustained state of trade, with fair improvement at some points. At St. John seeding is well advanced and lobster fishing is very good, with prices high, and trade is generally fair. At Quebec business is generally good, with remit-tances well up to the mark. At Montreal weather conditions have improved, and the country looks promising. Warmer weather has benefited drygoods, and other lines show a fair movement, though boots and shoes and leather are quiet. The demand for money is light. There is good trade at Toronto in hardware, metals and leather, with active demand for builders' materials, and teas are selling well. Wholesale trade is active in lumber, hardware and building supplies at Winnipeg, and retail trade increases with good weather. At Vancouver wholesale trade in local circles is good. and retail trade and collections above average. Wholesale trade at Victoria in general lines is only fair, and in volume below that of last year. For the Dominion of Canada the bank clearings were: Montreal, $15,-804.844—increase, 9.7 per cent; Toronto, $9.671,172—increase, 8.7 per cent; Winnipeg, $1,839,397—decrease, 11.8 per cent; Halifax, $1,235,050—increase, 9.0 per cent; Hamilton, $730,331—increase, 11.2 per cent; St. John, N.B., $630,810crease, 35.4 per cent; Vancouver, $812,- 916; Victoria, $583,180.

OVER THE LINE. In the United States wheat has been lifted flightily on all sorts of reports and then dropped, closing 1 cent higher than last week. Returns for the broken week indicate little except that western receipts are still quite large, showing 6,156,069 bushels, against 4,-263,520 last year, and they would hardly be as large if actual supplies at the west were deficient, considering the extreme urgency of demand, which last year's fancy price created. Exports from Atlantic ports have been 2,549,783, flour included, against 4,294,496 last year and 271,929 bushels from Pacific ports, against 385,539 last year, and in five weeks from both ports, 13, 310,880 bushels, against 18,371,811 last year.

Failures for the week have been 145 in the United States, against 222 last year; 14 in Canada, against 16 last

TORONTO, June 2 .- Receipts at the Toronto cattle market today, 67 cars-250 sheep and lambs, 50 calves, 35 milch cows and 1,100 hogs. At the opening trade was not as brisk as yesterday, but the pens were fairly well cleared out at the close; prices for good cattle keep up well to the level of the week, with the exception of stockers and shippers, which were again a little easier; cows and heifers were in moderate suoply, demand good and values firm; there were no choice heavy cattle in, but good light and medium weights were in amply supply, and such found an active demand at times; export cattle steady; arrivals moderate, abouequal to demand; prices remained unchanged from yesterday, and heavy exporters were quoted at $4.80 to $5 per cwt; light were steady, at $4 60 to $4 85 per cwt; the quality was good. Butcher cattle-Trading in this line was active, and prices were steady; the inquiry for choice grades was good; medium and common stock were very slow of sale, at easier prices; choice selections were quoted at $450 to $465 per cwt; mediums, which were in amply supply, fetched $4 to $4 25 per cwt, and common were a little lower, at $3 25 to $3 75 per cwt; a few choice heavy export bulls fetched steady prices, at $3 50 to $4 per owt, and a light supply of light stock bulls were easy, at $350 to $375 per cwt. Stockers and feeders-Canadian stockers for Buffalo were again a little easier, being quoted about 10c per cwt lower, at $3 50 to $4 per cwt; a few lots of good feeders found ready sale at $4 40 to $4 65 per cwt. Sheep and lambs -While there was no excitement or special activity in this branch, yet trade was very good and prices ruled steady; local killers were all good buyers, and the pens were cleared out without trouble; prices were a little easier for yearlings, which were very slow of sale; sheep, clipped, for export and butchers' use, were steady, at $3 50 to $3 75 per cwt, and sheep with wool were quoted at $3.75 to $4 per cwt: bucks were quiet, at $3 to $3.25, and a few bunches of spring lambs fetched $2 50 to $4 each. Choice veal calves were firm, at $2 to $10 per head; a few lots of good veals are wanted. Hogs-The receipts in the annex today were about equal to the demand, everything being cleared out of the pens by noon; prices remained unchanged from yes-terday, and choice selections were quoted at $5 per cwt; light were steady, at $4.45 per cwt, and a light supply of thick fat were firm, at $4 371/2 per cwt; sows were quiet, at $3 per cwt.

The mule kept on pawing, and O'Rourke, incensed, went to where he was displacing the rock and earth. The first piece of rock he picked up was heavy and it glittered in the twilight. He ran for his pick, and in a few min-able.

Suddenly a shout from Sullivan was heard. He had hooked a four-pound salmon trout, and was calling to O'Rourke to stir up the fire and put on the skillet. O'Rourke paid no attention the skillet. O'Rourke paid no attention and Sullivan, as he came running to the camp fire, thundered out: "Where the devil are you? Don't you hear what I say?" Then he saw O'Rourke, and ran over to him, holding up the fish by the gills. In answer to his excited description of how he caught the fish, O'Rourke handed him a piece of rock. Sullivan had prospected for years. The instant he took the rock in his hand he let the trout fall to the ground. Then he let the trout fall to the ground. Then seeing the hole O'Rourke had dug, Sullivan dropped on his knees and looked into it. He tugged at the ragged edges of the rock with his finger-nails until the blood started from them, but he did not feel the pain. By this time it was getting dark, and O'Rourke came with a torch from the camp-fire. He stepped on the fish as he returned, and then gave it a kick which knocked it some distance away.

"We've struck it at last," said Sul-

It was midnight before the two men could think of anything else than their discovery. There was no more grass to be had, and the mule stood idly by, watching his masters work. Suddenly

O'Rourke seemed to remember that the mule had first attracted him to the spot. Then and there the two men took an oath that if the mine turned out what it seemed to be, the mule should never have to work any more. Then they hunted up their trout and had the most enjoyable supper they ever ate

It was only 60 miles to Spokane Falls, now Spokane, and after they staked out their claim Sullivan stayed to guard it, while O'Rourke went to Spokane for provisions and to raise money on the mine. A few pounds of samples were packed on the mule's back, and in less than a week O'Rourke returned with plenty to eat, and men who represented money to look at the mine. Sulli-van had been living on fish and a deer

he had killed. The two prospectors re-ceived $150,000 apiece for their claim, which has been sold since for three times that amount.

Down in the Potlach country O'Rourke purchased a ranch. He took the mule down there and hired a man to look after his wants. The man received a salary for seeing that the mule was curried, fed and pastured. The man was made to realize that it was a serious matter and that any neglect of the mule would stop his pay. Thus it came about that the little scrawny animal got to be fat and sleek and impudent. He lived to be 18 years old, dying only a year and a half ago.

O'Rourke when he returned to his Missouri home found everything just as he left it, only his father was a little deeper in debt and the mont-gage was a little nearer due. The neigh-bors said it was such a pity, because all of his family were such workers; that is, all except the one that had

BISHOP OF BURLINGTON.

His Words Will Inspire Faith to Try He ran for his pick, and in a few minutes had uncovered a ledge that showed silver and galena so plainly that even a tenderfoot could not help knowing he had found something that was value. Paine's Celery Compound.

Who will doubt the wonderful efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound in the face of the following indorsement from the bishop of the diocese of Burlington?

Wells & Richardson Co.: Gentlemen,-I have been asked why I recommend Paine's Celery Compound, and I desire to put on record frankly my reasons for this indorsement, hoping my words will inspire those readers who need health and strength with faith to try Paine's Celery Compound and prove to themselves its worth.

At the Fanny Allen Hospital, an institution in which I am deeply interested, Paine's Celery Compound has been used successfully.

The Sisters of Mercy at Mount St. Mary's Academy, on Mansfield avenue, rely upon Paine's Celery Compound as a tonic and strength-giver. In my own household one of the domestics has taken Paine's Celery Compound for liver trouble of long standing, and says, "It has done me more good than any other medicine." Several priests have spoken to me in has the confidence of my associates. Even did I not know from personal observation of the worth of Paine's Celery Compound I should feel like praising it for the simple reason that it is prepared by the Wells & Richardson Co., a firm whose members I have known for nearly a quarter of a century, and in whom I have perfect confidence. Very truly, JOHN S. MICHAUD, Coadjutor Bishop of Burlington, Vt. Father Michaud, one of the ablest priests of the Roman Catholic Church in America, was consecrated coadju-tor bishop of Burlington in 1892, by the Most Reverened John T. Williams, D.D., archbishop of Boston, assisted by Rt. Rev. D. Bradley and Rt. Rev. H. Gabriels, D.D. The diocese then contained 87 churches, 64 priests, 15 convents, 1 college, 6 academies, 1 orphanage, 2 hospitals, 18 parochial schools, and a Catholic population of 55,000. Father Michaud built the Providence praise of this remedy, and I believe it I ture that is the source of much pride, the Fanny Allen Hospital, at Burlington, and a church which is considered one of the finest in the State.

His kind-hearted desire to be of service to the people, and the great sincerity that breathes through every line of Bishop Michaud's recommendation of Paine's Celery Compound ought to leave no doubt in anyone's mind of the tremendous superiority of Paine's Celery Compound over all the remedies that have recently been clamoring for attention. Paine's Celery Compound will make you well and enable you to stay so. The system strengthened, purified and regulated by this greatest of remedies, will resist all invasion of disease. There is no household that can afford to be without it. Its praises have been sounded by men and women in every walk of life-by the wealthiest, the most famous, and by the humblest, but equally grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound is within the reach of every one. It is a simple matter to test its astonishing efficacy.

How Kings and Queens Sleep

[London Tit-Bits.]

Emperor William is a soldier even when he goes to bed, for he sleeps on a regulation camp bed such as his offi-cers use. The bedclothing is of the rough regimental pattern. He retires at 11 p.m., and is up and dressed soon after 5 a.m.

Queen Victoria goes to bed quite late, although she is a comparatively early riser. Year in and out her average time of going to bed is 10:15. A ladyin-waiting is deputed to read her off to

The Czar of Russia has the greatest difficulty in getting a good night's rest, and yet he is what old-fashioned people call "a lover of the bed." He dreads the night. His bedroom is always brilliantly lit up, like a reception room. He often suffers from acute insomnia, and makes frequent use of chloral.

Queen Wilhelmina goes to bed about 11 o'clock, and gets up early. On rising she takes a stroll round the park and visits the stables. Her bedstead is of monumental size, being broad enough for six and proportionately deep.

Leopold II., the King of the Belgians, goes late to bed. He spends half the night working and reading. In strong contrast to his neighboring sovereign, he uses an ordinary bedstead, without any other luxury than a quilt of swansdown. He is a very chilly mortal. King Humbert of Italy cannot sleep except upon a very hard bed. He dispenses with the use of pillows. He uses sheets of the very coarsest web, and sleeps like a top.

William Nail was recently married in Cincinnati. Happy man; no woman can drive a nail.

O'ROURKE'S MULE

Found a Rich Mine in the Coeur D'Alene and Never Worked Again.

How the Trade Mark of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mine Came To Be a Mule.

Phil O'Rourke's lucky mule derived more benefit from the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine than any of the men who have owned it. Ever since its dis covery a long chain of events, including the destruction of the mill by dynamiters a few days ago, have de stroyed the profits of operating what should be one of the richest mines in the Coeur d'Alene district. Wild as the Kootenay country is now, it has undergone many changes since Sullivan and O'Rourke went prospecting over it less than twenty years ago. At that time Chief Saltese and Coeur d'Alene Indians did not take kindly to the white trespassers, and warlike Sioux were not infrequent visitors to the region. Now and then a wandering band of Crees were encountered, and thieving Gros Ventres stole many a set out for the Kootenay hills.

The trail to the west was a main traveled road in those days, and before long O'Rourke fell in with another Irishman, named Sullivan, who had spent a number of years at mining in Colorado. With only a vague conception of his destination, O'Rourke agreed to accompany Sullivan to the Coour d'Alores, which country was just Coeur d'Alenes, which country was just beginning to be heard of. The two men met with many misfortunes. Sullivan's horses died. They harnessed the little mule and tried to make him take the place of one of the horses, but he would not pull. He would carry pack on his back quite cheerfully, but when hitched to a vehicle he would not pull a pound. Sullivan wanted the sattisfaction of killing him, and O'Rourke at one time consented, but changed his mind before the execution took place. When they reached Walla Walla, all that was left of their possessions was the mule and one team.

He was generally only a short distance away from the campfire hunting patiently for the tufts of grass that sprang up between the rocks. After a quarrel one of the men always hunted up the mule and made a confidant of him, while the other moodily stirred the campfire and made a mental survey of the shortest route back to

In their hurry to get out of the hills before a snowstorm should imprison them the men had not stopped since morning. They were tired and hungry. Not far away a mountain stream flowed swiftly down the hillside, and Sullivan, after supper, was trying to catch a fish. O'Rourke was lying by the fire smoking his pipe and wondering how a man could be so foolish as to try to catch the wariest of all the finny tribe when he had only a piece of twine and a grasshopper for bait. Right before his eyes was the mule, and his thoughts reverted to him at intervals. THE MECHANIC

The Horseshoers' International Union gained 2,500 members in the past year. P. H. Morrissey has been re-elected grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The striking grain scoopers of Buffalo, N. Y., had among their leaders a Catholic bishop and an ex-alderman. There are between 5,000 and 10,000 sinc workers in the district of Duen-weg, Mo., and an effort is being made to organize them. Forty-three applications for charters were received by the American Federation of Labor during the first fifteen days of May.

The union printers and lithographers of New York city are assisting the engravers (other than photo-engravers) in their efforts of agitating the neces-sity of forming a union of their craft.

Correspondence is now being carried on between the management of the Arena and the American Federation of Labor looking to having the work on the magazine done by union men and the name removed from the unfair list of the American Federationist.

The latest reports from the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union and the Lake Seamen's Union show a most encour-ging state of organization among the eamen in the respective localities. If the present rate of progress continues, the middle of the season will see the organized seamen in full control so far wages are concerned.

Last Monday the union bricklayers of New York began to work under new conditions, the Mason Builders' Association having conceded the demands of the local organizations for 55 cents an hour and the Saturday half holiday, thus establishing forty-four hours as a week's work and $4 50 as a day's pay, except on Saturdays, when only half wages will be paid. "All printing bears the Allied Council's label, and all carpenter and other work performed by mechanics has been given to men carrying cards,' says the Trades Unionist, Washington, D. C., in speaking of the peace jubilee there, and adds that organized labor will show its appreciation of these concesions by a worthy and appropriate turnout in the parade.

The result of the regular sixty-day conference between National President T. J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, and Secretary James H. Nutt, of the Bar Iron Association, held in Pittsburg, Pa., last week, was an advance of 25 cents per ton for puddlers and an advance of 2 per cent for finishers and hoop mill workers.

A large number of strikes have curred among the different trades from May 1 to May 15, 1899-more than ever occurred in the same length of time in the history of the labor movement-but of this increased number more victories for the workers have resulted than ever before, which is accredited to the improved conditions of the different organizations, assisted by the stimulating effect of a rising market.

Thomas O'Dea, general secretary of the Bricklayers and Masons' International Union, has forwarded to all subordinate unions a circular notify-ing them to consider the propostion of affiliating with the American Federation of Labor. This is in accordance with the instructions of the convention held in Hartford, Conn., last January, and the votes of the unions are to returned in time for publication in the semi-annual report in July. The annual prescription scale conderence between the American Flint Glass Workers' Association and the Association of Flint and Lime Glass Manufacturers adjourned in Pittsburg, Pa., last Sunday. The result of the conference was an increase in wages for 7,500 men. Of this number 1,500 skilled workmen will receive an increase of 10 per cent and 6,000 unskilled hands an advance in proportion. The men will be returned to the wages they received in 1892 and 1893 by this

NIAGARA'S AGE

Variously Estimated from Eleven to Thirty-Five Thousand Years.

Both the interest and the importance of the subject make it worth while to follow out every clew that may lead to the approximate determination of the age of Niagara Falls. During this past season, in connection with some work done for the New York Central Railroad upon their branch line which runs along the eastern face of the gorge from Bloody Run to Lewiston, I fortunately came into possession of data from which an estimate of the age of the falls can be made entirely inde-pendent of those which have heretofore been current. The bearing and importance of the new data can best be after a brief resume of the efforts heretofore made to solve this important

In 1841 Sir Charles Lyell and the late Prof. James Hall visited the falls to-Prof. James Hall visited the falls together; but, having no means of determining the rate of recession, except from the indefinite reports of residents and guides, they could place no great confidence in the "guess" made by Sir Charles Lyell, that it could not be more than one foot a year. As the length of the gorge from Lewiston up is about seven miles, the time required for its erosion at this rate would be for its erosion at this rate would be 35,000 years. The great authority and popularity of Lyell led the general public to put more confidence in this estimate than the distinguished authors themselves did. Mr. Bakewell, another eminent English geologist, at about the same time estimated the rate of the recession as threefold greater than Lyell and Hall had done, which would reduce the time to about 11,000 years.—G. F. Wright, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly for June.

In thorough keeping with Emperor William's character, which is noted for its self-assertiveness, rather than for its modesty, are the visiting cards which he employs. They are without exception the largest in use anywhere in Europe, and can only be compared to those huge visiting cards that are considered good form in China by the mandarins. The measure is no less than six inches in length and four inches in width. On the upper line is the single word, "Wilhelm," and below are the words, "Deutscher Kaiser and Koenig von Preussen." These words are printed in large fat gothic letters. It is hardly neccessary to add that the emperor does not consider it neccessary to inscribe, like ordinary folks, his address on his visiting cards, perhaps for the very reason that he is so seldom at home. Of course the emperor does not carry about these huge bits of pasteboard himself. They are confided to his chasseur, or body servant, who follows him.

The other sovereigns in Europe content themselves with quite small and unobtrusive visiting cards, with the words in Latin script. Among the most simple in point of size and appearance are those of the Emperor of Austria and the Prince of Wales. The prince has two sets of cards, the one for use abroad and the other for use in England. The latter bear the words, "The Prince of Wales," the other the French translation of the same, "Prince de Galles."-New York Herald.

CANADIAN VERSE

An Appreciative Notice of Our Poets in Self-Culture.

The charge has been made against recent Canadian verse that it seldom voices national themes to any marked degree. But a nation's literature does not consist solely, nor even mainly, in the narration of historical events, and the constant dwelling upon patriotic commonplaces. The noblest art is ever cosmopolitan, and it is a question whether the day of definedly national literatures has not passed, now that politico-geographical and even ethnic lines are being eliminated in the realm of intellect and culture. It is surely enough to ask of a poet that his imagination shall seize upon and ennoble the spirit of the life which conditions his own mode of existence. If his art adequately expresses his environment-social, ethical, and intellectual, as well as the aesthetically naturaland is in essential accord with what is best in his own soul-life, his poetry will be above the cavilling of an ultra-nationalism. The pioneer name among the younger poets of Canada is that of Charles G. D. Roberts, born in New Brunswick in 1860. Roberts' recent successes in the writing of history, both as a novelist and as a sober chronicler, justifies the hope that he may in verse, too, revive early Canadian days as he has in his Acadian romances, "The Forge in the Forest" and "A Sister to Evangeline."

If less versatile than Charles Roberts, Archibald Lampman's single strain reaches a higher excellence, and Mr. Wm. D. Howells has done well in ranking him among the foremost of American singers. An intense love for nature is the inspiration of his versean emotion not fervidly exuberant, yet joyous in its sympathetic contact with the beauties of earth, and expressing himself in music of clearest melody. Lampman has the faculty of treating scenes by a few effective strokes in such a way as to suggest the utility of outline, and pervading tone in the fully elaborated picture which is to follow. Now that Lampman has passed away his place in the group of younger writers will, in a sense, be taken by Duncan Campbell Scott. No one of the four -Scott, Campbell, Carman or Robertshas passed his fortieth year, so that greater achievements may be expected from each as he attains to the maturity of his powers and the perfection of his peculiar art.—From a paper on "Recent Canadian Verse," by S. R. Tarr, M.A., in Self-Culture, for May.

DOGS AND THEIR MASTERS

Just Watch Your Neighbor's Fide and

See if This Is So. [Chicago Times-Herald.]

It is said that when two persons are a good deal together, they grow to look like each other, but the statement is just as true of men and dogs. The likeness is sometimes so strong, that one involuntarily suggests the other. This similarity is strongest in the walk. says a writer in the New Orleans Pica-I know a bank president, fat and pompous, who owns a little fox-terrier. which might be a bank president among dogs. The man has a heavy, waddling gait, and the dog, partly on account of rheumatism, walks exactly like his master. The lively nature which is supposed to belong to a dog of this breed is utterly lacking in this animal. His acquaintance is only with the blue-blooded dogs who wear collars, and it is evident that his conversation is all on the rise or fall of dog stock, the stringency of the bone market and the probability of plenty of cats. On the other hand I have the acquaintance of two little fox-terriers who go to the other extreme. They are very nervous, and seem to partake of the nature of the mistress of the house. When she goes for a walk her pace is very rapid, her steps short, and her sudden halts to look into a store window or speak to a friend give her a harum-scarum appearance which is shared by the dogs. They chase around the streets with little pattering steps, stop suddenly, chase on again, get in everyone's way, and arrive home breathless and happy. The mistress is a woman who jumps at every sudden noise, and the dogs jump with her. They also imitate her in many little fretty quarrels, which are over as suddenly as they begin. An old-fashioned man with an oldfashioned dog still further illustrates this point. The man is tall, rather fleshy, and has long, thick, hair and a full beard, cut in the old style. The dog is large, rather clumsy, with shaggy hair, a veritable picture of the old school reading book Bruno. The man seems to know no one; neither does the dog make the acquaintance of his fellows. It is evident that the life of both is devoid of excitement, and is doings.

In contrast with this is the resemblance between a polished, courteous dined lightly, taking a small glass of man of the world and his little, shining, spick and span poodle. They are both small, dark, silky and graceful. The master has fine wavy locks and the dog a beautiful shining coat of hair. They both move softly and easily about the room and greet a visitor with quiet courtesy. When a stranger enters the little dog does not snuff at him, but walks up quietly and invites a pat. These two, master and dog, are so much alike in their personality, that sometimes I am in danger of patting the master and shaking hands with the

A homely, yellow dog attached himself one day to an unattractive, freckled, red-haired youth, and the two are now boon companions, alike in appearance and tastes. The boy laughs loud and harshly at whatever amuses him, and the dog follows with an irritating discordant bark. The dog is no respecter of persons, and ambles along with a devil-may-care gait. The boy is not awed by any personage, however great, and slouches along the street until some mischief arouses his attention, and together he and the dog go into it. So the two laze along through life, irreverent and careless, but rather liked on the whole on account of their imperturbable cheerfulness.

A little girl who owns a big St. Bernard dog has so imparted her very feminine personality to the animal that the big fellow is becoming most ridia-ulous. She walks with short, quick steps, turning her toes out very squarely. This is a hard gait for the dog to imitate, but he has done it with his hind feet at least, and minces along, giving a little twist outward with his hind feet. The little girl jumps up and down with delight, and the clumsy dog attempts the same light springs. She is a child whose personality is not at all strong, and whose voice is of the fine, fussy sort, and the dog lacks that big, commanding presence which belongs to a St. Bernard. His bark is not a deep bay, but sharp and indecisive, and he is gradually becoming fussy in all his movements.

It would not be polite to say that the master or the mistress partake of the personality of the dog, and so the dog must be affected by the personality of its owner.

HOW BALZAC

Had Writing Spells-Terrific Labor The business part of Balzac's literary life was not happy; he had many publishers and did not continue on good terms with them. This grew out of his methods of work. His handwriting was the despair of the printers, and his method of handling his proofs was most laborious. He would erase, interline and cover the margins with whole paragraphs of fresh material, leaving hardly a trace of the original. second proof was handled similarly, and such was his desire for perfection in his work that he would repeat the process eight or ten times before he would give his order to print. His writings bear no evidence of haste; every page is as highly finished as he could make it. He was his own severest critic. For corrections after the first proof he had to pay extra, and his "Pierrette" cost him 300 francs more than he received for the story. An outline of his day's work will be appreciated by the reader. He rose at 2 o'clock in the morning, and, after lighting a dozen candles, drove his pen vigorously until 6. His bath, which followed, usually lasted an hour; then, after exercise, he took a cup of clear, strong coffee at 8. He received visitors until 9-editors, publishers and copyboys from the printing office. From S till 12 he wrote with tremendous pressure, and at noon he breakfasted on two boiled eggs, bread and water. From made up of a routine of placid little 1 to 6 his quill (he always wrote with a crow quill) raced with quivering force over his white sheets; at 6 he vouvray, of which he was very fond. From 7 to 8 he received callers, and at 8 retired to rest. This spell of intensity would last from six to eight weeks, during which he would write a book or magazine articles, read incessantly, and formulate plans for other books. Then he would rest, sleep and eat, take long walks in the city and country, regain his wonted vigor and mingle again in society until another writing spell seized him. - Self-Culture for June.

AMERICANS IN ENGLAND

Why They Go There to Live-Can D What They Like.

The first reason why rich Americans leave home to live in England is because social conditions there are fixed and reliable, and because rich and poor alike do as they please there with a degree of liberty that is unknown anywhere else on the globe. It is true that certain rich men and noblemen take advantage of this liberty and shut themselves in their parks to spend Sundays in feasting, riding, dancing and out-door sports of lively and noisy kinds, and that no one knows it at the time except their servants. On this account it is said by some narrow-minded critics in America that our rich who stay in England do so because they can give Sunday concerts on a lawn beside the Thames, or can dance and enjoy music hall talent in their country houses; but that is too microscopic definition of the liberty of which I speak, and too discreditable to our emigrants for me to adopt it. It is simply fact that must be thrown into the balance with the rest of the conditions -this amazing freedom, this absence of a prying press, with its defilement of the privacy of men's homes and lives, this making the home a castle and inclosing every garden with a high stone wall. It can be said of all the transplanted Americans that they stay there, as one of them says he does, because in America any man who has the means rides in a pullman car, but in England third-class folks are content to travel with their own kind in third-class cars."-Julian Ralph, in Harper's Magazine.

On removing the napkin a bunch of finds that the effects of learning to play the plane are so deadly that out of 1,000 girls studying the instrument before the age of 12 no fewer than 600 suffered from nervous diseases in after life, against 100 who had never learned at all. His opinion is that the "deadly" custom of making little girls hammer daily on poor, patient planos should be proscribed by public opinion. Were it put to the vote there ought to be no doubt about the result, for if the nerves of learners suffer from the daily practice the nerves of listeners must be in still more parlous condition. Dr. Waltzshold deserves a public memorial and were a subscription raised for the purpose it would cer-tainly be a handsome one, for there is not a schoolgirl who would not spend the last penny of her pocket money on it, while the victims of "next door" ano would simply beg to be allowed to subscribe.

That Little Brown Teapot.

I hear that a fashionable present of the moment is a homely brown earthenware teapot, one of those shiny ones that make such incomparable tea, writes a London socity woman. Its inexpensiveness is counteracted by the inexpensiveness is counteracted by the addition of a gold monogram. Worth, you see, tells in the long run against beauty and riches. The little ugly brown teapot excels all competitors in gold, silver, costly china, and probably loughs at the grand gold monogram laughs at the grand gold monogram with which pride adorns it. And yet, what teapot would deliber-made up over a lining of silk. Fancy gauzes are also employed for the tunic, over a skirt of silk of the same color, and in the hands of an expert modiste ately choose, if offered a chance, to be but brown earthenware? Would you? Would I, if we happened to be teapots? No, we would be rich and beautiful, chased gold, engirt with jewels, or silver engraved in the handsomest of patterns in splendid relief.

But what about the tea? I only wish that some friends of ours would adopt the brown earthen-ware variety. We might then have nicer tea when we call. What wretch-ed stuff some people offer one! Overdrawn and stone cold. It is unpardonable, in these days of spirit lamps and cheap tea. It is pure carelessness, however, not parsimony.

Lunch Worth Mentioning.

The difference between doing a thing and doing it perfectly was exemplified sure, a delight, a necessity, and, it recently at a breakfast luncheon of a woman's organization. In addition to the individual luncheons which each member provided for herself, the com-mittee asked for a dozen or fifteen extra luncheons, to be prepared for the guests of the day. The latter were riages, with a detailed account of the seated at one table, and the lunch presents received, which are shown to boxes were neatly packed and filled with good and palatable luncheons, deserving the description excellent.

Of one or two however, more could be said. One woman drew, as her lot, a dainty, artistic prize that made her wish she could meet and know the woman whose taste was so evident in its preparation. The box was large enough to hold its contents without any crowding. It was wrapped neatly in white paper and tied with a bit

ON YOUR CONSTITUTION?

Do you feel weak, nervous, listless-Lack strength and energy?

Take a few Boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills-They'll make you Strong and Well Again.

"Haven't felt right since I had the grippe, is an expression one hears on every hand just now.

This terrible scourge leaves in its train weak hearts, shattered nerves, impoverished blood, and a general rundown, debilitated condition of the system.

Thousandsofpeoplethroughout Canada are just now needing the timely assistance of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This remedy has a wonderful way of strengthening, invigorating, and building up the healthafter lagrippe or any serious illness.

Mrs. Eliza Cook, who lives at 109

Palmerston Ave., Toronto, says: "Seven years ago I had the grippe, followed by inflammation of the lungs. have been afflicted ever since with heart trouble. To walk any way fast would make me gasp for breath, and many a time I have had to stop on the Street to regain my breath.

"I had smothering feeling at night, and my nerves were unstrung. Anything annoying or worrying me produced extreme weakness, and would set my heart beating so fast that I thought I was dying. I would become so nervous as to tremble like a leaf. 'I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills some time ago, and have been getting better ever since. My nerves are much stronger, I can walk without difficulty, and the palpitation, fluttering of the heart, shortness of breath, and pervousness troubles me no more.

"I gladly recommend these pills as the best medicine I know of for heart and nerve troubles, and the after effects of grippe on account of the great good them have done in my case.

For thin summer dresses these straps are made either of a narrow band of Talking Trees. Some trees and plants were one day

having a little talk together and telling their experiences. The chestnut tree, which was the largest and oldest, said: "Little did I think I should live to grow so large and wave my branches over the heads of boys and girls as they gathered my fruit in the autumn, breakfasts that are given in the day- for while I was still a green chestnut light hours has completely disappeared. in my prickly burr, squirrels tried to pry into my house; but the prickles were so sharp they gave up in despair. Soon Jack Frost came, and I rattled on to the ground. Then I expected to be picked up and roasted, but winter found me still lying there. The snow kept me warm until spring; then it began to rain, and I swelled up so my outer coat Another evolution at luncheons which has been gradual, but none the less marked, is the change in the gowning of the woman guests. Time was when burst, and my little stem appeared. It looked like a tail. I had kept it hidden in my shell during the cold weather. How glad I was when some boys picked me up and planted me! The soil was just what I wanted to make me grow, and here I am, a great big tree.

The cherry tree standing near said: "I was afraid I should never live to grow into a ripe cherry. At first I was as green and unpalatable as you could imagine. The robins and cedar birds flew into my tree every day, they were so impatient for me to ripen. The robin pecked at me, but I was so green bitter that he flew away and and stayed until I was red and juicy. Then I did not care if he did have a good meal of me, for I knew that I could grow just as well if he did. He could not pry open my hard stone, and you know my stem and leaves were hidden in there. One of the boys carried me to the orchard just as I was sprouting and planted me beside you." Just then a tomato plant called over the fence: "I never expected to grow up, either, for while I was still in a green tomato a chicken came along and began picking at the tomato. She ate up some of my mates, but there were so many of us that she did not get to me. The tomato ripened just the same and was carried into the house, but was so badly pecked that it would not do up for the table. The kind lady took us seeds out and laid us away until spring. It was so fortunate that we were not left on the ground, as you were—wasn't it?—for we had no strong covering like you to protect us from the birds and weath-

+++ The Baby's Ride.

Lillian Allen Martin describes in St. Nicholas a baby's ride on an elephant. Cum Moom, the nurse, took Ruth from the crib and sniffed with her nose the warm little cheek and neck. This is the Laos way of kissing. "Nai noy pi doy!" (The little lady is going to the mountain!") she repeated many times while dressing her. On the broad veranda, where Ruth spent all her waking hours, it was very lively and entertain-up, and also to keep the bottom of the long sleeve, which is now so popular, well down over the back of the hand. ing and packing as there were! Mat-tresses, pillows and blankets were strewn over the floor; dishes, clothing and provisions were being packed into bamboo baskets. In the open space before the house, below the high veranda, four big elephants leisurely broke up and chewed long juicy banana stalks, making a great rustling noise as they swept the broad leaves over the ground. By and by the hubbub on the veranda quieted down. The filled baskets were fastened two by two, one on each side of a short pole; this pole was hoisted over a man's shoulder, and off he trotted with his load.

Down among the elephants was a great shouting and groaning and straining. The elephants were made to kneel down while the heavy howdahs, or elephants saddles, were put in place on their backs. Two of the howdahs were packed with bedding, two with folding chairs, a coop of chickens, a stone water filter, cans of kerosenewhatever could not be put into the bamboo baskets.

The third elephant was led up to the first landing of the long flight of veranda stairs, and Ruth's mamma, stepping upon a chair, then on the stair railing and then on the elephant's head, whence it was easy to reach the seat of the howdah. Papa made the trip to the howdah more quickly and with less trepidation. Lastly, dear Mr. McGilvary, who was speeding the expedition, handed the baby over to papa, and a chorus of "Nai noy pi doy!" went up from an admiring crowd assembled below. The procession moved out of the gate, the brass bells at the elephants' necks chiming melodiously.

+++ Generous Appreciation.

The following anecdote of the great naval hero, Lord Nelson, illustrates his generous appreciation of those who served under him: When he was presented to King George III. at his levee his Majesty congratulated him on his great victories. After this praise he condoled him on the loss of his arm. Nelson turned round to Capt. Berry, who had been the companion of many of his exploits, and introduced him to the king, with this remark: "My loss, I assure your Majesty, is not as great as you imagine, for here is my right

The Spider's Silk.

When the silk of the silk worm is used the manufacturer must wait until the worm has woven its cocoon and then must put it in hot water and unwind the thread that the little insect has so laboriously made into a shroud for itself. In France, however, where spiders' silk is used for making balloon cloth, they have a different method. Eight spiders at a time are backed up to a reel, their delicate threads are fastened together and then attached to the reel. The instrument then revolves and draws the silk from the captive spiders. A thread of from 20 to 40 yards is thus taken from each spider before it is released to go about storing more silk material. The spider silk is much lighter than silkworm silk of the same strength.-Exchange.

Concerning Washington Dispatches-The Country's Revenue Byoant.

Ottawa, June 3.-With cork-like buoyancy the Alaskan boundary question bobs up from time to time, principally because American space writers find it a congenial topic upon which to hang a column or so of speculation. Mr. George W. Smalley, the New York correspondent of the London Times, is ordinarily a reliable correspondent. but it is not more than a week since "The Thunderer" contained a cablegram from Mr. Smalley, in which the Dominion Government was flercely denounced on account of their alleged irreconcilable attitude in respect to the Alaskan boundary issue. In the house yesterday Sir Charles Tupper asked the government for a further statement on the subject, and Sir Wilfrid promptly replied with an assurance that all through the negotiations the Ottawa Government have been completely in touch with the authorities in Downing street, but that it would be inopportune at present to make any public utterance on the issue. If he could do so he was sure that many of the unfriendly senti-ments now prevailing would be dis-pelled. The Yukon boundary ques-tion, Sir Wilfrid pointed out, had been removed from the agenda of the high commission, and he hoped before the session closed he might be able to communicate to paritament a state-ment showing the exact situation at the time of the adjournment of the high commission in February last. News of the design of the prime minister thus to fully apprise the country of the state of the negotiations will be heard with satisfaction.

DEFENDING A JUDGE.

Fair progress was made with public business until Mr. Fielding moved the house into committee of supply, when Sir Hibbert Tupper took the floor, and held it until 10 o'clock, concluding with an amendment condemnatory of the action of the government in directing an inquiry to be made into the conduct of Judge Spink, of Yale, B. C.

COL. DOMVILLE DEMANDS INVES-TIGATION.

Before the public accounts committee yesterday, Lieut.-Col. Domville referred to the investigation which took place last year into a payment of $300 to him for J. Milton Barnes for keeping the stores of the Eighth Hussars. He said that a telegram had been sent to him to Vancouver, but he had more important business to do in Dawson, ask the house to refer the papers to the committee. A BUOYANT REVENUE.

The financial statement up to May 31 shows that the country as a whole is enjoying the same degree of prosperity that has existed for two years past. The total net debt on April 30 was $261,279,407, while on May 31 it was $260,936,973, a decrease of $342,433. The revenue to May 31 is $31,453,951, as against $28,906,537 for the corresponding eleven months of the last fiscal year. In pursuance of the policy of improving the public works of the country the government have increased the expenditure on this account for the eleven months from $4,144,997 to $7,875,708, but the buoyant revenue will soon more than make up for this increase.

The Auto-Car Creates Considerable Public Interest.

Derby Day Losing Its Democratic Character-Rush for Relies of the Unfortunate Horse Holocauste -Lord Churchill's Son Coming to the Front.

[Special Cable Letter to The London Advertiser.]

London, June 2.-England was plunged suddenly from winter into summer during the week. Last week fires were necessary. Now the temperature is over 70, and the sky is clear and blue. London seldom seems so full of people and Hyde Park presented a very gay appearance, the light summer toilettes and bright-colored sunshades making a brilliant picture daily. The Princess of Wales, accompanied by the Princess Victoria, have been driving in Rotten Row, this being their first appearance for a long time. A number of coaches were also out.

THE AUTO-CAR AT THE FRONT. Considerable interest is being aroused in auto-cars. The Dukes of Marlborough and Manchester are doing all they can to start the fashion.

A great auto mobile show will be opened on June 17, at Richmond, by Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar. There will be tests of hill-climbing and races between fast trotting horses and auto mobiles.

An American company is establishing works at Coventry for the purpose of building motor cars, invented by a son of Hiram Maxim.

DERBY DAY. Derby Day is rapidly losing its character as the people's day and, judging from the character of the attendance at Epsom on Wednesday, it is becoming as fashionable as A.cot. A vast majority of those occupying the stalls and boxes on the grand stand and on the Jockey Club stand were ladies well known in society, while their bright costumes made the paddock look like a garden party.

The sensational collapse of the French horse Holocauste, whose death represented a loss of $30,000 to his owner, was an intense disappointment came over to see what was confidently predicted to be a victory for their representative. The Paris papers are furious, and blame the Epsom authori-The Paris papers are ties for leaving the course in a disgracefully dirty condition, for it is gravely declared Holocauste slipped on a piece of orange peel. There was a great rush for relics after Holocauste was slaughtered. His ears, mane, tail and hoofs were cut off and the gipsies did a roaring trade in selling bunches of hair cut from their own gray horses and palmed off as genuine Holocauste souvenirs.

SLOAN BLAMED.

A well-known veterinary surgeon, Marcus Stevenson, who witnessed the acident, attributes in a published interview the disaster to Sloan's method of riding, declaring that if the jockey had been sitting in his saddle instead of crouching on the horse's neck, he could have helped Holocauste to recover, after a first mistake, when he ricked his ankle. Holocauste, he adds, was then going very well, and 50 yards further Flying Fox was only a neck when Holocauste stumbled ahead, again, and broke his pastern. Sloan, according to Stevenson, has no control over his mounts, and "his method extorts speed by frightening his mount, as Johnny Gilpin did." Holocauste's owner, M. J. de Bremond, certainly does not share the foregoing views. He said emphatically to a representa-tive of the Associated Press: "Sloan's jockeyship was consummate, and it is acknowledged on all sides that he had the race well within his grasp when the accident occurred. It was, indeed, ill-luck to have victory snatched from me. Moreover, Holocauste I lost a The sympathy expressed on all sides will be extended to Sloan, whose disappointment is second only to mine." LORD CHURCHILL'S SON MAKES

A HIT.

Lieut. Winston Leonard Churchill, eldest son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, is making a distinct hit in the political field. He has been elected president of the Midland Conservaand did not come back. Now he was tive Club, and at a meeting held at Bir-in his place and wanted to know what mingham on Thursday to welcome him, the committee intended to do. He he made an extremely able speech, wanted to be tried. It was decided to during the course of which he evoked much merriment, saying the expression of a presidental address always reminded him of the high politics of a queen's speech, a rescript of the czar or a message of President McKinley; or, coming to lesser matters, of Emperor William's telegrams, former Secfetary Olney's notes or other dignified styles of public utterance. Churchill also treated Lord Rosebery, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Mr. John Morley and other big leaders of the opposition to a dose of chaffing, but his clever critcism and speech generally attracted considerable attention.

The Conservative Morning Post says: "The old politicians had better look to their laurels. Churchill's speech has a movement and humor that delighted his hearers and discloses a sense of form and consciousness that oratory is an art, which will leave the public to ex-

Mr. R. Smith, Toronto, Points Out a Fact That Is Extremely Noticeable in Dealing With Doctors.

He Suffered From a General "Run-Down" of the System- Dodd's Kidney Pills Built Him Up.

Toronto, June 2.—There is one thing the most experienced physician never forgets-his fee. He may fail to cure, but he charges just the same. It is this piece of professional etiquette that makes a doctor one of the most expensive luxuries we have. Smith, a well-known commercial traveler for a glove house, with head-quarters in Toronto, says in this connection:

"I had been feeling very weak and losing flesh, and the doctors could do nothing for me but charge fees. I decided to try a box of your Pills, having heard of them as a blood purifier, and if I found no relief from them to give up all hope of ever feeling well After the first box I found I could both eat and sleep well, and after three boxes I was as strong as ever. I am glad to testify to the genuine worth of your Pills. Have many friends who have been benefited by them through my recommendation. "Sincerely yours,

Mr. Smith's letter brings out the point where doctors differ from Dodd's. The former, while failing to cure, charge a stiff price. The latter, which are only fifty cents a box, never fail to de the work for which the control in do the work for which they are in-tended-strengthen the kidneys-and by this means banish all impurities from the blood. Many beautiful floral tributes were received. The lumbermen of London sent a broken column that stood over three feet high. A beautiful pillow was from the managers of Knox Church, and another from deceased's brothers. St. John's Lodge, No. 20, A., F and A. M., sent a square and compass design, and the late partners of deceased were also represented | Pickhardt - Renfrew Co., Limited, by a floral emblem, in addition to many others from sorrowing friends. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Macpherson, Alexander Campbell, A.J. Doggerell, E. Jarmain, R. D. Mc-Donald and O. H. Talbot, all personal friends of deceased. MONSTER DEMONSTRATION.

The many labor unions of this city, as well as the various factories and workshops, are all busy preparing for Tuesday evening's big demonstration. That it will be a monster procession there is no doubt. The place of meeting had not been definitely arranged for early this afternoon, but the pro-cession will form at Labor Hall, Dufferin avenue. The wheelmen will be massed near by, and will lead along the line of march. Every wheelman is invited to fall in. "We Walk" will be the motto.

DIED IN PHILADELPHIA.

Vaughan L. Jenkins, aged 24 years, died Thursday afternoon in Philadelphia, of meningitis, after a two or three weeks' illness. Deceased was the son of the late Thomas Jenkins, of this city, who died about two years ago. The mother, three brothers-Warren, Thomas and Walker-and two sisters-Mrs. W. H. Elliott and Miss Ethel Jenkins-live in this city. Deceased was formerly a bookkeeper, and left London about two and a half years ago. The remains will be brought here for interment.

TEACHERS' SECTION MEETING. The four sections of the London Teachers' Association met at the Collegiate Institute yesterday afternoon. Papers on questions of interest relating to school work in the different grades were read and discussed. Before section 1 papers were read on "Primary May 27: Drawing" by Miss Tohurst, on "Illustration" by Miss Laidlaw, on "Addition" by Miss Simpson, and on "Arithmetical Problems," by Miss Karott. Be-fore section 2 Miss MacPherson read a paper on "Ways and Means of Saving Time in Correcting Slatework," and Miss Winnett addressed the section on "Reading." In section 3 a discussion led by Miss Cannell on mathematical geography, and a paper on "The Teaching of the Preposition," by Mrs. Gahan, engaged attention. "Discipline in Senior Class" was the subject of a paper read by Mr. R. A. Gray before section 4, and was followed by an address on "The Use and Value of Time

Chairman Garnett Charged With Putting Explosives on the Track.

Mr. John Garnett, chairman of the Street Railway Employes' Union como'clock last night, charged with having placed explosives on the street railway tracks on Dundas street in two different places. Manager Carr is the complainant. Mr. Garnett was released on bail, and will come up for trial on Monday, He denies the allegation. Mr. Douglas Forsythe, a highly-respected employe of the Globe Casket Company, was summoned on the charge of crying "Scab." The case was adjourned until Monday. Mr. Forsythe gives the charge a denial.

CRIMINAL CODE

Various Important Amendments Proposed by Hon. David Mills.

[Special to The Advertiser per C. P. R.] Ottawa, June 3.-The bill proposed by Hon. David Mills in the senate to amend the criminal code provides a large number of changes specially on matters which have been brought to the attention of the government from time to time by women's associations and labor organizations. Some changes were proposed in 1897 by Hon. Oliver Mowat, and were rejected by the senate. It is intended for instance, to amend the law in the case of the seduction of a girl under 16 years of age, by striking out "of previous chaste character." It will not be necessary to prove this to obtain conviction. It is also proposed to add "shop girls and domestic servants" to those of factories and workshops, making it an indictable offense for any foreman or employer seducing any one of these in his employ. This was rejected by the senate in 1897.

The subject of lotteries is also dealt with, and where such are permissible for the encouragement of works of art, the pictures must be given, and the option that a money prize may be taken instead is done away with. Section 520, in regard to combina tions, is changed, so that it will not an-ply to workmen who combine for their own protection. Burglary is also made an offense punishable by the lash. In respect to selling obscene pictures the word "publicly" is omitted, so that those who make a sale whether privately or publicly can be punished. There are a number of other important changes.

Indian Soldiers Refuse Free Car Tickets-Ald. Plant's Challenge to the Free Press.

Resolutions in support of the street car strikers continue to be received by the committee. There is no sign of a return to the use of the cars by the public. The Indian soldiers, in section 3 of No. 3 company, Twenty-Sixth Battalion, Middlesex, were offered tickets for a free ride on the street cars, but none of them would accept the offer. The following resolutions of support have been received by the street railway strikers' committee: At the regular meeting of Cigar-makers' Union No. 278, the following resolution was carried unanimously: "We, the members of the above union decide to walk until such time as the Dr. Hal Newton Carlyle's reading of Street Railway Employes' Association are recognized by the street car company; also that a voluntary assessment be levied weekly as long as the strike capable of expressing every varying lasts. WESTERN COOPERS' UNION. To Secretary Frezell: Dear Sir and Bro.,-I am instructed to forward to you the following resolution which was unanimously passed at a special meeting of the Western Coopers' Union,

'We, the coopers of this city, will not ride on the street cars until the strike is settled satisfactorily to the union men. We pledge our full support and sympathy, and also, if financial aid is needed, we will willingly give it." Wishing your union every success in the strike, I am, yours fraternally, PETER BREMNER,

Corresponding Secretary. COURT MIDDLESEX, C. O. F. To the striking conductors and motormen of London: Dear sirs,-At the last regular meeting of Court Middlesex, No. 118, C. O. F., the following resolution was unanimously passed and ordered to be forwarded to your committee:

"Resolved, that the members of this lodge do hereby extend their hearty sympathy and moral support to the triking conductors and motormen in their struggle for the recognition of the principles of just and honest rights. We wish you success against the corporate greed of the London Street Railway Company; and resolved, further, that we, the members of this loage, pledge ourselves not to ride on the cars and to use our influence in mittee, was arrested at about eight your behalf until the strike is satisfactorily settled."

NO MOONLIGHT EXCURSIONS, At the regular meeting of Lodge British Oak, No. 82, S. O. E., held June 1, the following resolution was unani-mously adopted: "That whereas, a Trunk Railway, between that company and its trackmen, that this lodge, British Oak, No. 82, of the Sons of England, deem it unsafe to its members and the public generally to run any excursions over the G. T. R. while the strike is in progress; and further, that we run no picnic or moonlight excursions over the electric street railway until such time as their trouble is settled, and the secretary is hereby instructed to notify excursion committee of the action of this lodge. F. G. Lepper, president; Andrew Lepper, secretary."

Ald. Plant's Challenge.

The following letter has been sent to the Free Press for publication: To the Editor,-In your issue of yesterday you state that I had done very large part toward organizing the present street railway strike. statement I must emphatically deny, and I call on you to prove your assertion or have the fairness to correct your statement. As to carrying on the strike, I will say that I have not tried to straddle the fence, but have come out openly to show which side I am on, and am prepared by every lawful and honorable means to assist the men in this difficulty.

You also assert that I am a member of the Provincial Board of Arbitration, with a salary of $10 a day attached, and that I might be called upon to act as a mediator. Such is not the case. The board to which railway disputes (both steam and electric) are referred is composed of E. J. Senkler. judge of the Lincoln county court; John D. Evans, C.E., Trenton, and Ed. Williams, locomotive engineer. Hamilton. I might further state that since my election to the position of provincial arbitration two years ago I have not received one cent, because the services of the board have not been called into requisition.

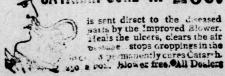

You mention that I am an applicant for the position of secretary of the Western Fair Association. I considered that as a citizen I had a perfect right to apply for the office. Of course, if that is a crime, then I will have to suffer the consequences.

As to the resolutions which have been passed commending the course of The Advertiser in the present strike, I make the statement that I never inspired, wrote nor advocated their adoption, either publicly or privately, and I ask you to produce one tittle of evidence to the contrary. Yours truly, FRANK PLANT London, June 3, 1899.

JESSAMINE.

Jessie had never been jealous of Eunice in her life. Her disposition was as generous as it was impetuous. She did not care, she said to herself, in reviewing the evening that sent her to her pillow tired but sleepless, that Mr. Wyllys had openly preferred her sister's companionship to hers; that he had scarcely noticed her proposal about the music in his desire to play with Eunice. But she was conscious of a discordant jar in memories that would else have been all brightness, whenever she reverted to her re-peated efforts to scale the barkissed her affectionately, and promised to be with her early in the morning. By the time the door was shut, Jessie nad propped her head upon her crossed arms, and lay with wide-open eyes, gazing through the unshuttered windows at the broad, straight brow of Windbeam, black and majestic in the mountain moonlight; listening to the stealthy whispers of the vine-leaves about the casement, and living over the events of the day—an excitover the events of the day—an excit-ing one in her quiet life. Her thoughts of Roy were all of prideful joy. Her heart was very tender, very quiet in the glad humility that possessed her as she pondered upon the fact that he had chosen her—an andisciplined, un-sophisticated country that sophisticated country girl, so share the career she was sure would be noble and distinguished. Something more than usually fond in Eunice's silent caress at parting from her for the night, brought up a host of reminiscences of the motherly love with which this sister had guarded and nurtured her—the youngling of the housewhich this sister had guarded and the tured her—the youngling of the house-hold. Such a bright, sweet day her existence had been! In all her sky there was not a cloud, save this light vapor of discontent with herself that the introduction of Roy's relative—the first of his old friends whom she had ever met—should have brought so little pleasure with it, and have been, indeed, so unsatisfactory.

"His reserve actually increased as the hours went on," she reflected. "His manners were more free and cor-dial while I was telling him the story of old Davie Dundee than after Roy had explained to him what we are to one another. Perhaps he thinks an en-gaged young lady should be demur and dutiful, having no eye for anyone excepted her betrothed. Perhaps it is as Roy says, and he fears to intrude ipon our tete-a-tetes. I must convince hir that we are not so selfish. Roy clares that his cousin approves artily of our engagement—that he id many pleasant things of me, else should fear that he had taken a disthe to me from the beginning, that the thought Prof. Fordham might and the thought to have done better. I must make him like me for myself—not neverly because I am his kinsman's

From which soliloguy the reader will perceive that Mr. Wyllys had led off with a winning card.

CHAPTER IV.

A week had passed since the Dundee Centennial, and life in the parsonage had been in outward aspect like the weather still and sunny. The oldest Dundeeian had never known before so early and genial a season. Eunice's roses were in luxuriant bloom; the clover meadows were pink and frag-rant; the forests had burst into full leafage; the strawberries upon the southern terrace of the kitchen garden were swelling globes of lucious fragrance, white on the netner, scarlet upon the upper sides.

The ways of the household, always simple and methodical, were not otherwise now. Roy spent a couple of hours each forenoon with his betroth-Orrin rarely made his appearance until two or three hours after dinner when the cousins came up from the hotel together, and did not return to their lodgings before ten o'clock at night. Mr. Kirke had daily interviews with Mr. Wyllys in the course of the walks and drives they took in company, and brought home accounts of his sauvity, wit, and varied information, which were indorsed by Eun-ice, which Jessie heard with growing bewilderness at the chance or purpose which withheld her from participation in what was freely enjoyed by her father and sister. Even their music practice had not melted the ice that lay, an impassive mass, just beneath the surface of his deportment whenever he approached or addressed her. Her liveliest sallies and most friendly overtures, met with a response, ready and civil, indeed, but so unlike the gentle courtesy, the kindliness and graceful deference of his behavior to Eunice that nothing but a spirit determined and unsuspicious of evil as was our heroine's could have kept her to her resolve to win his friendship. Roy found her very charming under the light veil of pensiveness this secret solicitude cast upon her. She never intimated to him that his kinsman had

She was thankful, instead, that her betrothed did not see for himself that all was not right between them, tnat all was not right between them, Some day, when the frost was quite dispelled, they would laugh over it together—over her fears, her innocent stratagems for the accomplishment of her object. Orrin's stateliness, and Roy's blindness to her perturbation. She had patience and hope. She would await the vanishment of the mist, passing content, meanwhile, with the heart-riches that were hers beyond peradventure. She had not heard of the German University scheme. It was unlike Roy Fordham to hang back from making a revelation which must come in the end, which delays could not soften, and which could cause no more distress now that if it were withheld until the close of his vacation. His judgment said that Jessie would better endure the prospect of the better endure the prospect of the separation while he was with her, to lead her thoughts to the great and manifest advantages that would accrue to him from the year of foreign study, and—overleaping the gulf of absence—to paint the delight of reunion. Mr. Kirke represented that Jessie was a girl of sense and strength; that she would be better pleased to be confided in, and consulted as his future wife, than be blinded and petted as a child; and Roy, acquiescing in this opinion, still put off the evil hour. G. T. R. TRACKMEN

Statement by the Company-Action of the Engineers-Montreal Molders' Wages.

Montreal, June 3.-The situation of the Grand Trunk trackmen's strike remains practically unchanged. Mr. Lowe, the organizer of the brotherhood, is in Ottawa, and it is understood will endeavor to have prominent members of parliament use their influence to have the matter submitted to arbi-

Mr. Pole, chairman of the executive, says: "Our position is the same today that it has been all along. We are ready to submit the differences between ourselves and the Grand Trunk to arbitration by three disinterested parties, or we will endeavor to reach a settlement direct with Mr. Hays if he will agree to discuss the matter with us on a business basis."

G. T. R. STATEMENT.

The G. T. R. management, in answer to reports that have been circulated by the strikers, stage that the line throughout is in excellent condition, and that it is thoroughly inspected every day by competent men. At present there are over 800 men at work on the line. "What the executive of the brotherhood have asked for," saye the management, "is an increase of 25 cents a day all around, and it is generally understood that the foremen were getting $1 50 a day, and the trackmen $1 a day, less some 2 cents for insurance. This is not an accurate statement of the case. There were, until three weeks ago, about 600 foremen in the employ of the Grand Trunk. The majority received $1 50 a day, but a very large number received a good deal more,$1 60. $1 70, $1 80 and $2 being no uncommon rate of pay—quite a number, in fact, got the last-named figure, and a select few, chosen for special work, received even $2 50. As to the trackmen, while the majority of the 1,700 odd received $1 a day, upwards of 400 got $1 25, and a large number got $1 10 and $1 15."

ACTION OF THE ENGINEERS. In confirmation of the belief that the Grand Trunk engineers have aban-doned the trackmen, 39 of the 40 engineers who were in Montreal have left for home, and the whole question of their claims will remain in abeyance for 30 days.

IN THE WEST. Reports received in Windsor from different places along the Grand Trunk Railway indicate that the company is having great trouble in filling the places of the striking trackmen. Attempts have been made to place men at work, but in most cases they have stopped after having received a visit from the strikers.

MONTREAL MOLDERS. A large number of the molders who went out on strike some weeks ago have returned to work. Ten out of the twelve foundries in Montreal have ta-ken back their old hands. There is to be a minimum wage of $2 per day for all molders employed by foundries, the Minard's Liniment lumberman's friend

We have also some unusual bargains in Square Pianos, that have been used some, but put in good condition by ourselves before being offered for sale. We start these as low as $125.

Greatest of all pianos, however, in the judgment of those who can speak from expert knowledge and wide experience, is the Heintzman & Co. Piano. It is appropriately termed "Queen of Canadian Pianos", and for fifty years has enjoyed an enviable reputation with the best people in the Dominion.

There is only one Heintzman & Co. Piano, a piano that is distinct from all other pianos—that stands apart from others as an individual creation-queen of pianos.

When selecting a piano for your home you will follow the example of those whose judgment is worthy of emulation and choose one of these pianos.

"The tone is delightful, the elasticity of action marvelous, every note ringing out in clear, beautiful and limpid quality. Excels any piano I have ever used." ALBANI.

"My recital programme involves a wide collection of songs of most varied characteristics, and requires of necessity a piano capable in the highest degree of the most delicate inflections and the widest range, alternating from fine pianissimo effects to the most powerful manifestations of dramatic force. To those demands I have found your instrument most responsive."-

"It was a delight for me to play before one of your Concert Grand Pianos when last in Toronto. This instrument possesses unique musical characteristics that must give it a distinctive place among the great pianos of the world. I shall insist on the use of one of these pianos whenever I visit Canada."-BURMEISTER.

CLEARY-McGREGOR.

A very pretty event took place on Wednesday, May 31, at the home of the bride's mother, Caradoc, when Miss Ida McGregor was united in marriage to Mr. John Cleary. The bride looked charming in a gown of cream satin, with pearl trimmings, and carried a white recognition. bouquet of white roses. The brides-maid, Miss Joan Carmichael, of London, wore a dainty gown of white or-gandy over pink silk, and carried cream roses. Little Eva Forsythe made a fairy-like maid of honor, with white organdy and carnations. The groom was assisted by Mr. John Mc-Gregor, brother of the bride. As the bride entered the room, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Miss Maggie McGregor. After the cere-mony the guests sat down to a wedbreakfast, where Mr. Gardner made an ideal host. Several vocal se-lections by Miss McDonald, of London, and speeches and recitations added to the guests' enjoyment. Many useful and beautiful presents were received by the popular young couple. Among the guests were many from London, Hamilton, St. Thomas, Delaware, Lambeth, White Oak and Strathrey. Thomas, Delaware, Mr. and Mrs. Cleary are visiting at eastern points, after which they will take up their residence in Caradoc.

Eleven on One Limb at One Time With Exeruciating Pain. All Remedies Tried, and Numberless Physicians Little Benefit. CUTICURA Speedily Cures.

My mother has been a victim to ulcers from varicose veins for thirty-five years. Eleven of these terrible sores have existed at one time on the limb affected. Excruciating pain and intense suffering were endured, with all sorts of remedies on trial and numberless physicians' calls and prescriptions applied, but all practically with but little benefit. However, at last the remedial agent was found in CUTICUEA (ointment), which surely proved its weight in gold, alleviating pain and causing healing processes to commence and a cure speedily effected. She has, also, used CUTICURA with marked benefit in erysipelas of the face and eczema. The CUTSCURA SOAP, also, has established a record only as the best cleansing, purifying, and healing in its nature, having proved itself a most excellent and valuable auxiliary to the CUTICURA (ointment).

I would remark that this testimonial is entirely colicited, being a voluntary contribution for humanity's sake, and the commendation of the Cuticura Remedies to the fullest confidence, being satisfied of their purity, genuineness, and lmost miracles wrought.

CUTICURA Begins with the Blood and Ends with

The Skin and Soalp. That is to say, CUTTOURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood puriners and humor expellers, purines the blood and circulating fluids of HUMOR GRENS, and thus removes the cause, while warm baths with CUTTOURA SOAP, and gentle anointings with CUTTOURA (ointment), greatest of emollient skin cures, cleanse the skin and scale of crusts and scales, allay itching, burning, and infammation, soothe and heal. Thus are npeedly, permanently, and economically cured the most torturing, disfurring humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, when all other remedies fail.

versity and Huron College was held on Tuesday afternoon to confer degrees, etc., on the successful students. Afterwards the graduates and undergraduates said farewell to each other. Some to pass on forever from their beloved college to take their place in the world; others knowing that in October they would return to continue the fight that would at length entitle them to those magical letters. Among the successful students the girls are especially proud of Miss Williams (3rd year) and Miss Adah Campbell (1st year), daughter of Dr. Campbell, of Dundas street, both of these ladies are taking the honor course, and each obtained a very high percentage.

Among the old scholars of the Western University present at the convoca-tion were Miss Cowan, B.A., of Western University, Miss Mabel Smith and Miss Jean Fraser. The two latter are now attending the Toronto University, though they spent the first years of their study at the Western University.

Probably one of the most-talk-ed-of books of today is "The Fowler," by Beatrice Harraden. It cannot fail to interest many, and yet I think it is a sad thing to find "The Fowler" as a successor to that story, the perusal of which made us look on life with a more loving heart and a pitying eye, "Ships That Pass in the Night." Both books are sad, but where the hero of the latter is a lovable creature in spite of his bruskness and incivility, the hero of "The Fowler" is a dreadful little creature-a masculine vampire, that no one could possibly have felt any tenderness or, allthough Miss Harraden makes Nora give up so much for him. The impossibility of such a character as has Theodore Beran is a thing to rejoice over. Miss Harraden's success has' not made her look through rosy spectacles on the world, at any rate.

Pleasure's Penalty.

When the doctor gives one up, most people lose heart, but it was not this way with the young society woman in a Western Ontario city who had contracted kidney troubles through lack of care in "wrapping up" after an evening's round of pleasure. She heard of South American Kidney Cure visit to Ontario, after which Mrs. and pinned her faith to it to cure her and in an incredibly short time felt health returning. Her suffering abated, and three months from the day her physician hinted her case was hopeless she presented herself to him a cured woman. Sold by C. McCallum & Co.

Extra Values in Staines'

Perhaps you do not appreciate the strong wearing quality of a good linoleum. "Wears like wood', is given as a fitting description. To some extent a piece of Staines' linoleum wears better than wood, for it always wears smooth when it wears at all. The many difficulties that beset makers of linoleums have in their 15 years' experience been thoroughly mastered by Staines', making this brand as nearly perfection as possible.

Prices are all special, pending the removal to the new store:

-Staines' High-Grade Linoleums, of which we have a large stock, certain special patterns will go on sale, per square yard, $1.00.

-Staines' Inlaid Linoleums, second quality, a splendid wearing floor covering -choice of all lines at $1.00.

-Staines' Very Finest Linoleums, in attractive designs, special $1.25.
