THE TRUSTS.

No Law Strong Enough to Bind Them. WASHINGTON, May 24.-Representative Warner, of New York, who secured the free sugar amendment to the Wilson Bill, says it will be futile to attempt to strengthen the Sherman Anti-Trust Law in order to make it reach the sugar trust and like organizations. He says that as fast as new provisions are made the trusts will reorganize so as to evade them, and that they are assisted in so doing by what he terms "judgment law."

BOLD, BAD MEN.

Four of Them Rob a Texas Bank-A Battle in the Street.

Longview, Tex., May 23.—At 3 p.m. vesterday two rough-looking men walked into the First National Bank. One of them handed the following note to President Joe Clemmons:

Home, May 23 .- In First National Bank, Longview. This will introduce to you Charles Speckelmeyer, who wants some money and is going to have it. B. and F. The bank cashier thought it was an important subscription to some charity, and started to donate, when the robber drew a Winchester from the folds of his "slicker" and told him to hold up. The other robber rushed into the side wire door and grabbed the cash. Tom Clemmons and the other bank officials were ordered to hold up their hands. The robbers hurriedly emptied the vaults, securing $2,000 and a number of unsigned bills. While this was going on two of the robbers were in the rear alley of the bank shooting at everyone who appeared, and were being fired on by City Marshall Muckley and Deputy Will Stevens.

The firing made the robbers in the bank very nervous, and they hurried the bank officials and told them to run to the horses and to mount. This order was given so as to keep the citizens from shooting, but as bullets flew thick and fast the bank men tore loose and ran around the corner with several shots after them.

George Buckingham, citizen, was shot and killed. While he was down the robbers shot at him several times. City Marshall Muckley received a Winchester ball in the bowels. The ball glanced from silver dollars he had in his pocket, which may save his life.

J. W. McQueen, a saloon-keeper, was shot in the body. Deputy Will Stevens was not hurt, though he stood in short range and killed one of the robbers. The bankers all escaped unhurt, except T. E. Clemmons, who, in the scuffle with one of the robbers, got his hand in the hammer of a robber's pistol, which came down and cut a hole in his flesh.

Two Children Drowned in a Well by

Their Crazy Mother. HALIFAX, N. S., May 24.-A most dis tressing affair took place at Upper Econ omy, Colchester, yesterday-the drowning of two children in a well by their own mother. Mrs. Charles Jackson, the mother of eleven children, who was insane about ten or twelve years ago, had a return of the malady lately, but apparently in a mild form, and was thought to be better. Yesterday forenoon Mrs. Jackson was at home with her little boy about 6 years old and girl a year or two younger. She tore up the cover of the well which had been nailed down and threw the little boy and girl both in and LEFT THEM TO DROWN.

She then went to Mrs. Fulton's, her nearest neighbor, and told her what she had done.

Mrs. Fulton scarcely believed her, but ran to the house and called to some of the nearest neighbors for help, but they only arrived in time to take out the dead bodies of the children from the well.

Dr. G. H. Fulton held an inquest, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts. Mrs. Jackson stated to the jury that she did the deed, as she had been directed to kill the children, but her heart failed her when she came to the baby. Mr. Jackson was away at the time.

The damage in Williamsport alone will not fall short of $1,000,000. The entire tobacco crop of Northern Pennsylvania and Southeastern New York has been destroyed. The streams generally are subsiding to-day, but at some points the danger is not past. East Lewisburg, a village of 200 inhabitants, is entirely under water. The Lewisburg railroad bridge is irreparably damaged.

Mr. Herbert Gladface, stammered out an explanation that the Administration only saw its way to taking away a foot of the grating, leaving the rest. This arrangement struck every one as very funny, but it is now said that Mr. Herbert has done this so that Miss Maple can go and sit in the gallery and laughs not only at locksmiths, but at cage-

At the same moment he gazed fixedly and pointedly at Sir Blundell. Something suddenly dawned upon the audience and they burst into a roar of laughter. On the following Tuesday week it occurred to Sir Blundell that the Earl of Clarendon had perhaps intended to be uncivil.

Twenty Acres of Land Are Emitting Smoke in Illinois.

NEWMAN, Ill., May 23 .- Great excitement has been created here over the appearance of smoke issuing from the ground on Thomas Shaw's farm, three miles west of the city. On approaching $20 marble clock. the spot where it seems to come forth, no smoke is to be seen. Several noted scientists have visited the spot and claim the supposed smoke to be natural gas. There is an area of about twenty acres from which the smoke seems to be issuing, and great numbers of people visit the place daily and wonder at the scene.

Manville Still the One-Mile City

But White Wins the Two-Mile District Championship.

Radway Takes Two Firsts-Some Sarnia Scorchers-Buffalo Takes Away Some of the Prizes.

Manville is still the one-mile champion of the city of London, but White beat him by about three inches when it came to the two-mile race for the district champion-

The bicycle races drew a large crowd to Queen's Park yesterday afternoon. The atmosphere was not too cool to be pleasant while the sun held out to shine and the weather was delightful. The track was never in better condition and many visitors pronounced it the best turf track they had ever seen. Only once, and that near the close of the proceedings, did it threaten rain. But the clouds rolled by without wetting anybody or anything. Every event was closely contested, and when a tendency to loaf was shown a time limit brought the racers up in short order. The races were preceded by a street parade. It was a great success. The Sons of England Band was present both in the parade and at the races and rendered excellent music. Once "Two Little Girls in Blue" was indulged in, and the starter's revolver promptly refused to fire a shot. Dr. Balfour was handling the firearm, but no response came. At last he shouted "go" in disgust, and put the revolver away. The selection died a natural death and the revolver was used in the next event.

There has always been close rivalry between Manville and White, and the fact that one now holds the one-mile championship and the other the two-mile district championship will not allay the rivalry at all. Apart from the championship, Radway for London distinguished himself. He won the one-mile open event and the two-mile handicap race. The first prize in the novice race went to Toronto, and the second and third to Sarnia. The latter town has some fast and plucky riders. The other easy chair; second, one not quite so easy, events—the one-mile 2:50 class, half-mile $20. open and team race-went to Buffalo. There were some very unfavorable comments made on the riding tactics of the Buffalonians, and in the balf mile 1:20 event the umpire awarded the race to Blayney, of Toronto, who it was claimed, was fouled by a Buffalo rider.

There was only one slight accident and the course, Fre two falls. The accident was the result of Glover, W. G. Owens. one of the tumbles, when McLeod, of Sarnia, hurt his leg, face and shoulder. Manville won by the length of a wheel amid deafening cheers. Prize gold medal, value $20. Time

TWO-MILE HANDICAP. There were about fifteen starters in this event, and the handicaps ranged from 50 to Foell came in first in 1:57, and "no race" was declared. T. Burnside, Toronto, was second, with Blayney, Toronto, third. Callahan, Lutz and Blayney started when the event was again announced, the other riders having gone to their tents. After the race was over they claimed that the event had not been properly announced. Callahan came in first, but the race was awarded to Blayney, Toronto, the umpire claiming that Blayney was fouled. A wrangle followed and the umpire threatened to rule Callahan and Lutz off the course. Time, 1:181. First prize, brass piano lamp, value $25; second prize, pair of Morgan & Wright tires, value $15.

ONE-MILE OPEN. Radway was leading at the half and also at the finish, but a time limit of 2:45 had been placed, and as 2:461 was the time made it was "no race." Foell finished second and Lutz third.

The deciding of this event was left until after the team race, when Radway and Foell lined up. The later must have been tired with his three-mile team race, as Radway simply walked away from him after the halt was reached. Time, 2:40½. London, May 21 .- William Langley, of London South, contracted inflammation of the kidneys last fall, which finally de. veloped into Bright's disease. As any man would, who was afflicted with this terrible disease, Mr. Langtey tried every remedy that could be suggested. His experience was the same as all others-he got no relief until he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Then a change set in, Mr. Langley at once began to improve, and now he is cured. This is another case of Bright's disease, once considered incurable, that has had to succumb to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

-We regret very much to observe that a number of Toronto militiamen, while on a visit to St. Thomas on the Queen's Birthday, outraged international good manners and common sense by pulling down and destroying the flags which decorated the residence of the United States consul in that city. This conduct, which we have no doubt was not approved by the large majority of the volunteers, was the foolish prank of hot-headed youths, nerved to the outrage by the foolish jingo talk that has generally characterized military snobocracy in Toronto. The outrage is all the more marked when one considers that at the very moment when the idiotic young people were pulling down the flags displayed by the United States counsel, out of respect for her Britannic Majesty, a national banquet was in progress in London, Eng., in honor of Captain Mahan, commander of the United States man-ofwar Chicago, participated in by some of the greatest minds of Britain.

NOT JUDGE WILLIAM ELLIOT. The Toronto Star, a non-political evening fournal, has the following:

"Judge Elliot, of Middlesex county, is once again before the public in the character of a political adjunct; this time he is revising officer for London.

"Surely the Government at Ottawa must be lost to all sense of decency and the proprieties to appoint to the ticklish and responsible position of reviser of the voters' list this man who has won the condemnation of all the best press and people in Canada, who has been accused of stealing a seat in Parliament to present to the defeated candidate of his own party, and who writes partisan editorials for a party news-

"In view of his conduct in the Hyman-Carling election affair, Judge Elliot should not be honored with a public office, and especially one wherein politics are concerned. He will not be acceptable to the people of London, and they should not be asked to accept him.'

Our usually well-informed contemporary would be justified in its strictures if it had struck the right judge. The man who was one of the participants in the outrage by means of which Mr. Hyman's seat in Parliament was stolen from him, by the counting of bogus votes, has for his name Judge Wm. Elliot. He is the senior judge of Middlesex. The judge who is reported to have been appointed revising officer is Judge Edward Elliott, junior judge. Judge London, and there are no reasons for believing that he will not act justly towards the political parties. Unfortunately, if his decisions do not please those who aided in the conspiracy to defeat the will of the majority of the people of London, an appeal can be taken to the judgeeditor, whose conduct our contemporary so severely denounces, and by the Dominion Franchise Act his decision, however unjust, is final. When the proposed amendments to the Franchise Act come before Parliament care should be taken to prevent the possibility of enabling a partisan judge Churchyard. He there found himself one

By the way, Mr. W. R. Meredith was among the first to condone the London Seat Steal, and up till now he has essayed and it was this conjunction which resulted no defense for his conduct.

LONDON FIRST.

The Toronto World says it is losing faith in the aldermen of that city, and announces, "We look to Mr. Meredith to protect us." The World sizes up Mr. Meredith as he has sized himself up-as the special guardian of Toronto's interests against all comers. Here is the interview which Mr. Meredith gave to the Toronto News, a Conservative journal, on the day after his appointment as the corporation counsel of Toronto, at an income of

"To a reporter of the News this morning Mr. Meredith stated that he did not expect his appointment would interfere with his political duties. It would not make any change in his firm either. If the work in connection with the city occupied all his time the affairs of the firm would be left largely to the other partners. His first duty would be to attend to his new client, the corporation of Toronto.

"He does not think his acceptance of the position will injure his chances of success at the elections to be held next summer. "This was one of the arguments used last night against his appointment." The difference between Mr. Hobbs, the citizen candidate for the representation of London in the Legislature, and Mr. Meredith is thus marked. Mr. Meredith has concentrated all his interests in Toronto. He has built himself a splendid residence there. He has provided his family with a beautiful summer residence on Toronto Island. What his own future intentions are Mr. Meredith declares in the interview given above. As an honest lawyer, Mr. Meredith could not accept a huge income from Toronto and not fight the battles of that city. It is, as will be seen, expected of him by the Toronto aldermen and by the Toronto press, and no one in London has the slightest objection to him doing so. But, in the circumstances, the Toronto city solicitor should have a seat in the Legislature for Toronto, not for the city which he has

The man to represent London is Thomas S. Hobbs, wholesale merchant and manufacturer, who has concentrated all his interests here, who is constantly bringing new trade to the city, and giving increased employment to the busy workers of London. Instead of deserting the city and casting his lot with a rival he has entered Toronto and gone even to Montreal for work to be done by London people. The ADVERTISER being a London institution, bent on aiding the upbuilding of this city, and increasing its industrial establishments, supports the London manufacturer who brings trade to the city in preference to the Toronto city solicitor who, in the very the result is that the Liberal majorities nature of things-no matter how much he may protest to the contrary-must continue to be chiefly concerned about the welfare of his "new client the corporation of Toronto." The issue on this point is plain, and we believe the great mass of the citizens of London agree with us in regard to it.

> Speaking at a mass meeting in Birmingham on Thursday night, Lord Rosebery thanked the Irish members for the stand they had taken in favor of the financial proposals of the Administration. The British Premier exhibits wisdom in thus emphasizing the fact that the democracies in Great Britain and Ireland are coming to understand each other. Only by cordial co-operation can the best interests of both

3. About Political Parties.

The Radical in politics is not an Ishmaelite, nor an Adullamite, nor a Socialist, nor a Nihilist, nor an idiot. His aim is pure politics, stable government, and the best means of bettering the material, mental, moral and social conditions of the people.

He is not a foe to all things that are; but he is persuaded that many things may be made better than they are, and in particular for God's poor. The masses, not the classes, are the object of his care.

He is not a revolutionist; but he has no faith in a motto of "Rest and be Thankful" in politics. Neither does he believe that the highest plane of achievement has been reached under any institutions, systems or plans yet conceived by the wit

"There is always room in the upper story," Daniel Webster said, cheeringly, to the young man who asked his advice on going into law. "It may be absurd to expect perfection," Sir James Mackintosh said, "but it cannot be absurd to pursue

The Radical believes that there is yet an upper story in politics, and that the best way of getting nearest a perfect state is to aim at and strive to attain it.

Finally, the Radical is not essentially a distinct political party; here as well as in the old world he is on the outposts of the great party of Reform and Progress, leading and showing and preparing the way.

Conserve what is right is wise policy, and that is what the Conservative party professes to do; yet it has often failed to get his property, but she happened to distinguish between the living and the dead in laws and institutions. It is not skilled in the art of lopping off the mouldering

Reform what is wrong is wise policy, too, and that is what the Liberal party professes to do. Sometimes it gets too far ahead of public opinion, and undertakes to make changes in laws and forms of government for which the country is not ripe. Then comes the time for the Radical to do his best work, and although there may be reverses, and experiences in the shades of opposition, the nation in the end moves onward.

We're driven back in many a fray, But newer strength we borrow. And where the vanguard rests to-day,

The rear shall camp to-morrow. Bnt even so good and typical a Radical | $20,000. as Oliver Mowat has not his heart wholly set on pressing forward. He dearly loves to hold fast that which is good also, and there is a sense in which the assertion that he is an old Conservative is true.

The leader of the Tory party in the Federal Parliament had set his heart on taking away from Ontario one-half its territory, an area of 100,000 square miles: and at a later day on taking from the session of a woman who resides in the Province all the timber and minerals in that territory. "I will show that little tyrant Mowat," he said, "that not one stick of timber, not an ounce of lead, iron or gold, in the territory belongs to his Government."

In these great issues Sir Oliver Mowat approved himself the right sort of conserver; for he fought the leader of the Tory party up to the highest court of the Empire and won for his Province the whole territory of 100,000 square miles for which he contended, and all its wealth of timber

And he fought for and conserved for his Province other rights also in the same court of last resort.

The right to make laws to regulate the use of floatable rivers and streams-a matter of very great importance not only to lumbermen, but to the Province as owner of valuable timber limits on the upper waters of rivers and streams.

The right to secure uniform conditions in policies of fire insurance. This binds all fire insurance companies doing business in the Province, whether incorporated by Imperial, Dominion, Provincial, Colonial or foreign authority; and a great and valuable boon it has proved to be.

The right to claim for the Province, as against the Dominion, all landed estates escheated to the crown.

The right to control the traffic in alcoholic liquors by means of license laws enacted by the Local Legislature instead of the Dominion Parliament; and all friends

The right to provide for the distribution his own use the whole estate of a debtor; now he is at least only a trustee for all The Triennial World's Conference of other creditors. But Sir Oliver had to win this right from the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

The right of the Lieutenant-Governor to exercise the power of commuting and rewhich the legislative authority of the Province extends. This means the full assertion of the right to responsible government, the enforcement of which requires that the Province which makes the law and provides the sanction should also through its responsible Ministers decide to what extent the sentence of the law shall in any given case be executed or remitted, gious feeling and engaged in a species of and forbids that any other power should be allowed to meddle with the law, impair its effectiveness or control its administration by altering the sentence it provides.

Truly Sir Oliver Mowat is a great from setting aside, at his own caprice, the of perhaps a hundred clerks, nearly all of Conserver, as he is a great Radical; and a quarter of a century hence he will be spoken of as the most distinguished statesman and lawyer of his day, and the man who, more than all others, in the birth of the Young Men's Christian has asserted and established the principles upon which the confederation of Canada is builded-the Chief Justice Marshall of his country. Let us continue to show him honor in his lifetime, just as we have been doing for the last 22 years.

I don't like too many political parties. I think they do much more harm than good, especially in countries possessing responsible government. Indeed there cannot be stable government where the representatives of the people are broken up into several sections, or fractions, or factions, as happens in France and other European countries.

Men ought to be free to form new parties when old ones have survived their usefulness; but new policies should have something substantial to distinguish and commend them.

There is, for example, the Patrons of Industry, who have appeared in Ontario's politics as a new party seeking for support and favor at the hands of the electors in the campaign now opened. What new issue do they present, or wherein do they differ from either of the old historic parties? As against the Government at Ottawa, hey diverge along many broad and strong ines. But as against the Government at Toronto, they diverge only as to the mode of filling certain public offices and whether work they do. I cannot understand how a political party hopes to live and grow on a starveling policy ike that as against the historic Liberal-Radical party led by so able and incorruptible a statesman as Sir Oliver Mowat.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 24.—Old Moses Wheelock, who died last fall, leaving $200,000 worth of property, was a bundle f eccentricities in life which amused and interested his acquaintances, and now there's a mystery about his will that's causing the whole town to talk more than

Wheelock was a miser, but honest and conscientious. He had never marriedtoo expensive, he said-but lived with a maiden sister. It was supposed she would ie before he did. The old man was supposed to be very religious. All the churches expected good bequests. There isn't a cent for them in the will. In his old age he got very fond of the ladies. Everybody said he was going to marry a Battle Creek woman and give her a good snug property. He did neither-which was a surprise, too. Now comes the greatest surprise and mystery of all. Mrs. Sarah E. Chamberlain, of Watertown, S. D., comes forward with a will giving her $20,000. It seems that months ago she wrote for a loan on her farm. Wheelock waited till he could visit Watertown. There he learned that her first husband, long since deceased, was an old acquaintance of his who has rendered him valuable assistance. He then promised to remember the widow in his will. This document was made in Battle Creek and is il attested, giving

By her first husband Mrs. Chamberlain had a son, also remembered in the will. He left for Battle Creek to look up the matter several weeks ago, and hasn't been heard from since. Mrs. Chamberlain claims she was engaged to marry Wheelock, their respective wages being 60 and 74.

The last mystery that's agitating Battle Creek is the fact that the will was not produced till two months after Wheelock's death, and was in the poscity. What is a stranger still is the fact that Mrs. Chamberlain never saw it until it was produced by the Battle Creek Splendid crowds greeted the Alerts and the ball team of the Detroit Athletic Club at Kensington Park yesterday. The day was made to order and the grounds, despite recent rains, were in the best of

The less said of the morning game the better. The lamentable work of the Alerts was all the more regrettable and surprising considering the excellent play of which they are capable and which they exhibited in the afternoon. It was an attack of razzle-dazzles such as afflicts the local club happily only once in a lifetime. The cyclone struck them in the visitors' half of the fourth inning, when five or six hits in succession gave the D. A. C. seven runs and a big lead. After that the fielders went to pieces and played like schoolboys. Carney was put in the box in the fifth, and though hit freely and rather wild, gave indications that with practice he would develop into a good leftpaw twirler. Hynd, usually a most reliable man, dropped two flys at critical moments. As will be seen, he redeemed himself in the afternoon. More than half the crowd left before the close of the game, seeing that the Alerts had no chance. The visitors played admirable ball right through, as is often the case when a team knows it is winning. Guthard pitched well. The score;

Umpires-O'Grogan, Detroit; Reid, London, Scorer-C. G. Morehead. Afternoon Game.

The attendance was estimated at 1,500 in the afternoon game, and a gaze over the grand stand revealed numerous faces that had witnessed the Waterloo defeat in the morning. The Alerts have many admirers who will not desert them on account of one severe thrashing. Game was called at 3 o'clock. The D. A. C. made but one change in their batting order, replacing Guthard with Palimeter, their would-be star twirler. Hiscott and Quinn were the battery for the Alerts, and Sheere was in right field. The work of both teams was better than the morning game, the fielding at times being sharp and clean. The Londons redeemed their laurels by capturing everything that would eventually teil against them while in close quarters. Hynd tallied a run in the first on a base on balls, stealing second and scoring on a wild throw of Guiney to first off Sippi's hit. Hiscott added the second run in the third on another base on balls. Two passed balls advanced him to third. Palimeter was wild, sending Sippi and Burton to base on balls. With the bases full and two out Farnworth got in a timely at the plate. Three runs came in in the fifth. Ducharme's error put Hynd on first. He stole second and scored on Sippi's beautiful drive. Rathburn's wild throw of Player's grounder sent in Sippi, and the former also toured the circuit before the ball was recovered. Sippi made the last run in the ninth and his second hit off a passed ball and Guiney's error.

For the D. A. C.s it looked in the first inning as it was to be a repetition of the morning game in batting and scoring. Hiscott was batted for two singles and a double and sent Miller to base on balls. Burton also added an error of a dropped foul fly. Two runs scored. The Detroit boys had several chances of scoring up to the eighth, but sharp fielding, aided by Hiscott keeping the hits scattered, prevented them from doing so. A pretty double play retired the side in the fourth. Rathburn opened the eighth with a clean drive, and came home on Ducharme's double, the latter being left on third. Many trembled in the ninth on account of the serious way things looked. Palimeter started by dropping a fly to Ball, the only catch he got in the two games. Codd, one of the best batters of their team, drove out a double to left center. Miller landed a single in Ball's territory, Codd going to third. Sippi whispered a few words in Quinn's ear, and the plan was soon exposed. Sippi's instructions were to allow Codd to score and catch Miller going to second, which was easily done. Rathburn ended the game by going out to Quinn.

Strike.

Serious Battle Between the Mob and the Deputies.

Desperate Attempts to Rescue Arrested Rioters-Several Men Killed and Many Injured.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 24.—Information eccived here this morning states that 2,000 armed strikers from all the Monongahela and Youghiougheny River mines surrounded and attacked the Dolley House at the Washington run coal mines in Stickle ter than others and enjoy life more, with Hollow. The deputy sheriffs made this less expenditure, by more promptly house their headquarters. The report adapting the world's best products to states that the strikers attacked the house. The deputies opened fire, killing and wounding a number of the strikers, who retired leaving the deputies without a scratch.

EIGHT MEN KILLED. A Fayette City, Pa., special says eight strikers were killed and sixteen wounded in the riot at Stickler Hollow. The labor leaders are paralyzed at the turn affairs have taken. They refuse to talk about it. It is thought no more attempts will be made to bring out those workmen.

THE BATTLE. It was not a one-sided battle, as at first reported, but was fought with as many guns on one side as the other, and with as much firing by the strikers as by the deputies, while the killed are all strikers. The race was Joe Miller's from the start. | When the workmen reached the strikers in the public road they were asked to go home. The workmen were about to comply with the command when the deputies rushed into the midst of the crowd, got possession of the workmen and escorted them to the pit. In this part of the performance a deputy sheriff fired a shot, which opened up a battle in which there was volley after volley fired by each side at close range. The strikers stood their ground while their comrades were falling, but their ammunition gave out and they were forced to give up the field and flee to escape the rain of bullets from the Winchester rifles.

It is said the strikers were advancing on the line of deputies when the latter fired the first shot. Many who had guns in their possession were arrested by the deputies and will be brought to jail here. The latest news from the scene of trouble is that the strikers have all gone and that the situation is now more peaceful. The workmen have not gone to work, but are willing to do so as soon as the excitement subsides. It has been learned that one of the men killed is named Shannon and that he lived at Wood's Run. John Foy, of Fayette City, is among the wounded, being shot in the leg.

ANOTHER BELLIGERENT BAND. ODIN, Ill., May 24. - The Duquoin strikers reached here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They were met at the railway depot by Sheriff Helm and his deputies, with a large number of local militia. The sheriff appealed to the strikers to disperse peaceably and return to Duquoin. They refused and insisted upon marching to the mines and driving out the men at work there. The sheriff ordered his deputies to charge on the mob. With fixed bayonets the deputies advanced on the strikers, who fled in every direction. A few minutes later they congregated in the western part of village and prepared to give battle to the deputies. Some desultory firing followed, but it is believed it was caused by the deputy sheriffs firing into the air with a view of intimidating the strikers. The men at work in the mines are armed and offer to assist the sheriff in driving away the strikers. The village is wild with excitement, and as the feeling of a great many of the villagers is in sympathy with the strikers, it is feared blood will be shed. The sheriff has succeeded in capturing several of the ringleaders of the strikers, but others have been selected to take their places and the discipline is maintained.

IN THE HANDS OF A MOB. LA SALLE, Ill., May 24.—This city tonight is in the hands of a mob of striking miners. The rioters were incited into perfect fury by the presence of Sheriff Taylor and his deputies, who were on guard at the different mines all day. This afternoon the strikers held a meeting in the east end of La Salle, and an hour later marched to the La Salle shaft, where rioting was commenced by the Poles and Italians. The foreigners opened fire on the deputies. and it was returned. The officers held their own until all their ammunition was used up, when they were forced to fly for safety. It is not known how many of the rioters were injured. Some of them, it is thought, were fatally shot, but they were carried away by their friends.

Sheriff Taylor is lying in the Harrison House dangerously wounded. Deputy Thomas Walters was shot in the leg and may die. Deputy Hoolihan was shot in the leg and removed to the hospital. Deputy Devers was thrown into a cellar and his spine badly injured. All the other deputies were more or less injured.

About 7:15 this evening two of the ringleaders were put under arrest by deputy sheriffs and hurried through the Harrison House and taken to jail through back alleys. In five minutes a mob of 1,000 men had surrounded this hotel and threatened to blow it up unless the prisoners were produced. The wildest excitement prevailed, and all the guests of the hotel left for other quarters. Landlord Byrne made an effort to explain to the rioters that the prisoners had been taken to Ottawa, but they would listen to no argument, and would not be satisfied until they searched the entire building themselves. While this was going on a third ringleader was arrested and quietly put in jail. Word was quickly passed PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 24.—It is announced that Miss Agnes Irwin, whose reputation as a teacher in this city is of the highest is to become the distribution of the strikers that the leaders were in jail, and the mob started wildly towards the highest is to become the distribution of the strikers that the leaders were in jail. Next Monday Night's Great Popular Demonstration.

Some disappointment was expressed today when it became known that, owing to the fact that Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. A. S. Hardy are compelled to husband their throats, the great opening meeting of the Ontario campaign in this city will have to be held in the Grand Opera House next Monday evening. Mr. Hobbs' committee regret the change, necessitated by the receipt of a telegram to-day, after having made every arrangement for the reception of the Premier and his associates in the Princess Rink, even to the extent of decorating the place. The reception will be none the less cordial, but the committee regret that the size of the hall will not permit so large a crowd to hear the Premier and his colleagues as would have been the case under their first The fire had happily confined itself to her arrangements. Their thousands of London admirers would have no desire to compel the distinguished statesmen to address so large a crowd as to injure their speaking powers. Better in the public interests that they should be able to continue in good trim till the end of the campaign.

To-morrow full particulars regarding the arrival and reception of Sir Oliver, Hon. Mr. Hardy and Hon. Mr. Harcourt will be given in these columns.

Wonderful Discovery of Two Old Mexi can Cities, Once Great and Wealthy.

New York, May 25 .- A special from Mapami, Mexico, says: The party of American archæologists who left here a week ago on an exploring trip to the recently-discovered silent and deserted city in the Sierra Madre Mountains have just returned. They bring a sensational story of the discovery of another hidden city in the same locality, about five Spanish leagues north of the first find. The leader of the party, C. W. Pantione, states that the second of these cities is very similar to the first in appearance, and that they were evidently at one time twin capitals of a great and wealthy empire that existed long before the time of the Aztecs. The two cities are connected by a series of underground passages hewn out of the solid rock in the precipitous mountains.

"Silence!" Maignan growled fiercely, "or have a care to yourself! For a copper-piece I would send you to cool your feet n the water below-for that last word! Begone, do you hear," he continued, seizing view, was long and narrow in shape, conner by the shoulder and thrusting her towards the house, "or worse may happen to We are rough customers, as you will find if you do not lock up your tongue!"

I heard her go wailing into the darkness; and Heaven knows it was not without compunction I forced myself to remain inactive in the face of a devotion which seemed so much greater than mine. The men fell away one by one to look to their horses and choose sleeping-quarters for the night; and presently M. d'Agen and I were left alone standing beside the lanthorn, which the man had hung on a bush before his door. The brawling of the water as it poured between the banks, a score of paces from us, and the black darkness which hid every thing beyond the little ring of light in which we stood-so that for all we could see we were in a pit-had the air of isolating us from all the world.

I looked at the young man, who had not once lisped that day; and I plainly read in to Rome!" Hurt by the woman's taunts, and possibly shaken in my opinion, I grew restive under his silence, and unwisely gave way to my feelings.
"You do not appear to approve of my decision, M. d'Agen ?" I said. "It is yours to command, sir," he answered proudly.

There are truisms which have more power to annoy than the veriest reproaches. I should have borne in mind the suspense and anxiety he was suffering, and which had so changed him that I scarcely knew him for the gay young spark on whose toe I had trodden. I should have remembered that he was young and I old, and that it behooved me to be patient. But on my side also there was anxiety, and responsibility as well; and, above all, a rankling soreness, to which I refrain from giving the name of jealousy, though it came as near to that feeling as the difference in our ages and personal advantages (whereof the balance was all on his side) would permit. This, no doubt, it was which impelled me to continue the argument.

You would go on?" I said persistently. "It is idle to say what I would do," he anrered with a flash of anger. 'I asked for your opinion, sir," I rejoined

"To what purpose?" he retorted, stroking is small mustache haughtily. "We look is small mustache haughtily. "We look the thing from opposite points. You are ing about your business, which appears to the rescuing of ladies who are-may I venture to say it ?-so unfortunate as to entrus themselves to your charge. I, M. de Marsac, am more deeply interested. More deeply interested," he repeated lamely. "I in a word, I am prepared, sir, to do what others only talk of-and if I cannot follow otherwise, would follow on my feet!" "Whom?" I asked curtly, stung by this repetition of my own words.

He laughed harshly and bitterly. "Why explain? or why quarrel?" he replied cynically. "God knows if I could afford to quarrel with you, I should have done so 50 hours ago. But I need your help; and needing it, I am prepared to do that which must seem to a person of your calm passions and perfect judgment alike futile and incredible-pay the full price for it."

"The full price for it!" I muttered, understanding nothing, except that I did not understand.

"Ay, the full price for it!" he repeated. and as he spoke he looked at me with an expression of rage so fierce that I recoiled a step. That seemed to restore him in some degree to himself, for without giving me an opportunity of answering he turned hastily from me, and, striding away, was in a

To cut the matter short, I could come to no other conclusion than that he desired to insult me, and aware of my poverty and the equivocal position in which I stood towards made-moiselle, chose his words accordingly. This seemed a thing unworthy of one of whom I had before thought highly; but calmer reflection enabling me to see something of youthful bombast in the tirade he had de- On taking Norway Pine Syrup I found the livered, I smiled a little sadly, and determined to think no more of the matter for the present, but to persist firmly in that which seemed to me to be the right

Having settled this, I was about to enter the house, when Maignan stopped me, tell-ing me that the plague had killed five men in it, leaving only the man we had seen; who had, indeed, been seized, but re-covered. This ghastly news had scared my company to such a degree that they had gone as far from the house as the level ground permitted, and there lighted a fire, round which they were going to pass the night. Fanchette had taken up her quarters in the stable, and the equery announced that he had kept a shed full of sweet hay for M. d'Agen and myself. I assented to this arrangement, and after supping off soup and black bread, which was all we could procure, bade the peasant rouse us two hours before sunrise; and so, being too weary and old in service to re-main awake thinking, I fell asleep, and slept soundly till a little after four.

My first business on rising was to see tions of the threat, to which the young are that the men before mounting made a meal, for it is ill work fighting empty. I went round also and saw that all had their arms, and that such as carried pistols had them loaded and primed. M. François did not put in an appearance until this work was done, and then showed a very pale and gloomy countenance. I took no heed of him, however, and with the first streak of daylight we started in single file and at a snail's pace up the vailey, the peasant, whom I placed in Maignan's charge, going before to guide us, and M. d'Agen and I riding in the rear. By the time the sun rose and warmed our chilled and shivering rames we were over the worst of the ground, and were able to advance at some speed along a track cut through a dense orest of oak-trees. Though we had now risen out of the valley, the close-set trunks and the undergrowth round them prevented our seeing in any direction. For a mile or more we rode on blindly, and presently started on finding ourselves on the brow of a hill, looking down into a valley, the nearest end of which was clothed with woods, while the farther widened into green sloping pastures. From the midst of these a hill or mount rose sharply up, until it ended in walls of gray stone scarce to be distinguished at that distance from the native rock on which
