HAIG STRIKES AGAIN IN FLANDERS

COMMONS CLOSES; NO VOTING DATE FIXED BY GOVT; GUTHRIE SWORN

Dominion Parliament Dissolved This Afternoon, As From Saturday—Premier Says No Election Date Yet, But Polling Likely In January—Guthrie Becomes Solicitor General.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—At 1 o'clock today a proclamation was issued dissolving Parliament as from Saturday. Announcement of dissolution was made to a Canadian Press representative by the prime minister. No date, the prime minister stated, had been fixed for the election. This will be decided later, although it is unlikely that the election date will be before January.

GUTHRIE SWORN IN.

There was a further addition to the Cabinet this morning in Hugh Guthrie, Liberal member for South Wellington. Mr. Guthrie takes the portfolio of solicitor-general, held by Hon. Arthur Meighen up to the present time. Mr. Meighen retains his portfolio as secretary of state. Mr. Guthrie was sworn in shortly before 1 o'clock.

Sir Robert Borden also stated that no further changes had so far been made in the Cabinet. He indicated that there would be no additional announcements just at present.

CABINET COUNCIL CALLED.

A Cabinet council has, however, been called for this afternoon. Western Liberals will be in conference here tomorrow, when the question of union government will again be under consideration. Whether or not any ministers of the prairie provinces will enter a union government, states Hon. J. A. Calder, is still under consideration.

From Vancouver comes the story that Hon. H. S. Brewster, prime minister of British Columbia, has been invited to join the Borden Administration, but no confirmation of the report is available here.

COSTS COMMISSIONER SUBMITS REPORT ON PRODUCTION OF BREAD THROUGHOUT CANADA

Increase in August Due to the Bakers Using Their Contract Flour.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—W. F. O'Connor, K. C., acting commissioner re cost of living in Canada has issued an interim report to the minister of labor, giving some figures on the cost of production of bread in Canada. Mr. O'Connor has been conducting an investigation during the past six months into the milling industry in Canada, on which he will make an exhaustive report to the minister of labor shortly. The table showing the present cost of production of bread in the principal cities of Canada reveals that cost of bread per pound is highest in Vancouver and New Westminster, B. C.; i.e., 7.88c per pound. In Montreal the cost is 7.68c, in Halifax 7.63c, Winnipeg 6.85c, Toronto 6.60c, and in Ottawa 6.44c

Why Prices Increase

Mr O'Connor, in his report notes that an increase in the retail price of bread has occurred during the month of August and September in nearly all the largest cities of Canada. He says: "The reason is obvious. . . . except in the case of St. John and Winnipeg, the cost to the bakers of the flour used in the month of August was higher than that used in the month of July, despite the drop in the price of wheat. The reason for this is that the bakers were using contract flour ordered in many cases last fall.

Uniform Price.

The supplies of this contract flour are now practically all exhausted. Toronto, Ottawa, London and Vancouver purchased flour for current use at the current price in August. With the fixed price of wheat will come without doubt a fairly uniform price of flour, which the previous calculation will show to be about $11.40 in Ontario and Quebec for first patent flour. In the event of the fixing of the price of flour some supervision should be exercised to insure that standard quality is maintained.

Delivery Costs.

The disproportionate costs of delivery is apparent by the table above. This is particularly striking for Montreal and Vancouver, where the delivery charge exceeds by nearly half a cent per pound the average of the ten Canadian cities reported.

"It is estimated that cost of delivery of bakers' bread per day is $5,000 in Montreal, $3,000 in Toronto, $1,000 in Winnipeg, $1,200 in Vancouver and $500 in Ottawa.

"Winnipeg and Calgary are particularly fortunate in having had large supplies of flour purchased by their bakers at a low cost. The public have received the benefit of this.

"The investigation into the milling industry, of which that into bread costs is a subsidiary effort, has covered a period of about six months. It has involved an examination into grain production, grain prices and the production costs and profits of all the milling

Five Sailing Ships Only Italian Losses By Mines and Subs

Rome, Oct 4.—Italian shipping losses by mines or submarines for the week ending September 30, in all seas, were two sailing vessels of more than 100 tons, and three sailing vessels of less than 100 tons. One small sailing vessel escaped when attacked by a submarine.

CLOTHES TOOK FIRE WHILE COOKING MEAL

Aged Sarnia Township Woman Fatally Burned.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 4.—Eliza, relict of the late George Hardy, aged 71 years and 4 months, died at her home, lot 12, concession 4, Sarnia Township, yesterday, as the result of burns received when her clothing caught fire, while she was engaged in preparing a meal, it became known here today. With her clothing ablaze, the unfortunate lady ran from the house towards the barn, where the other members of the family were engaged in milking, but fell to the ground before she reached them. Hearing her screams, the other members of the family came to her assistance, carried her to the house, and summoned a physician, but the burns proved fatal, and she expired a short time after. The funeral will be held on Friday, October 5, interment to be made at Lakeview Cemetery. She is survived by a grown-up family of sons and daughters.

AMERICAN SCHOONER ATTACKED

London, Oct. 4. — The American schooner, Annie F. Conlon, was attacked by gun fire by a German submarine Wednesday morning off the Scilly Islands. The crew of eight men has been landed safely.

CROTHERS SLATED FOR JUDGESHIP, BURRILL FOR HOUSE CLERKSHIP, ROCHE TO CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The Ottawa Journal says it is expected that announcement will be made this week of the resignation from the Government of Hon. W. J. Roche, minister of the interior, and his appointment to the civil service commission. This statement cannot be definitely confirmed. Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, it is expected, will take a judgeship. The name of Hon. Martin Burrell has been frequently mentioned of late in connection with the clerkships of the House of Commons at $5,000 per annum, the post made vacant by the retirement of Dr. T. B. Flint.

SECOND BOMBING FOR FRANKFORT WITHIN A WEEK

French Continue Their Aerial Reprisals—Rastatt Bombarded.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Another aerial raid over Germany was made last night by French aviators. The cities of Frankfort and Restatt were bombed. The following official announcement was given out:

"In reprisal for the bombardment of Bar-le-Duc our aviators bombarded Frankfort and Rastatt."

Rastatt is a town of 14,000 in Baden, 14 miles southwest of Karlsruhe. This is the second attack on Frankfort in the last week, since the French inaugurated their policy of reprisal raids.

MYSTERIOUS MACHINE CAN USE FREE ENERGY

Tests of Wonderful Discovery To Be Made by U. S.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The House bill providing for tests of a mysterious machine for utilizing free energy, devised by Garabed T. K. Giragossian, an Armenian inventor, from Boston, went to the Senate today and congressmen, enthusiastic over the war possibilities of the machine, planned a drive for immediate action.

Giragossian so impressed five members of the House patents committee at a secret demonstration that they recommended passage of the bill to provide for a demonstration before a board of five scientists and the secretary of the interior as a preliminary to the Government buying the rights to use the device.

LABOR DEPT. BLAMES ELEVATOR MANAGERS FOR GRAIN STRIKE

Have Ignored Demands of the Men for Many Months.

Fort William, Oct. 4.—E. N. Compton, the fair-wage officer of the labor department, held a session with the committee of the strikers yesterday afternoon and at 5 o'clock met the grain commission and discussed the phases of the elevator strike with them. Following this, he met the elevator superintendents and managers in a session which lasted till 9:30, after which Fred Urry, as representative of the labor department, gave the Canadian Press the following statement:

"There is less than 16 per cent of the employees alien enemies and all of these are employed by the managers and only part of them are in the union. The minister of labor was informed of the progress of affairs and sent an officer as soon as the request was wired. The blame for the rupture must rest where it properly belongs, and that is with the management of the elevators for totally ignoring the men for so many months."

HEAVY BATTERY DUEL ALONG RUSSIAN FRONT

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—On the northern end of the Russian front in the region of Jacobstadt, an artillery duel of great severity is in progress, says today's official statement.

On the Rumanian front in the Poliani sector the enemy left his advanced trenches and retired to a more favorable position.

SUCCESSFUL AIR RAID BY BRITISH IN MACEDONIA

London, Oct. 4.—A successful raid by British airplanes on hostile positions on the Macedonian front is reported in an official statement from the war office today. The statement says:

"Our airplanes made a most successful raid on an extensive scale, bombing the enemy's camps and dumps on the Belaschitza-Planina. Hostile troops were scattered by machine gun fire, and one of several enemy airplanes, which attacked our formation, was brought down. All our machines returned safely."

REPRISALS FOR THE AIR RAIDS DECIDED ON BY GOVERNMENT

London, Oct. 3.—Delayed.—According to the Standard a policy of reprisals for German air raids has been decided upon.

That such a decision had been reached by the British Government was indicated by the premier's statement on Tuesday that Germany would be bombed with compound interest.

"YELLOW" HEARST PROVED FRIEND OF BERNSTORFF ESPIONAGE GANG

U.S. Investigato Discovers That Anti-British Publisher Was Close "Social" Intimate of Von Papen, Boy-Ed and Bolo Pasha, Exposed Agents of Kaiser In America.

New York, Oct. 4.—The investigation of State Attorney-General Merton E. Wise into the activities here of Bolo Pasha, under arrest in France, disclosed that William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher, attended a dinner given in this city by Bolo, in March, 1916, according to the attorney-general.

There were present at this dinner, Mr. Lewis told newspapermen, Adolph Pavendosft, who figured as an intermediary for the transfer of German funds into New York banks to be sent to Paris for peace propaganda among French newspapers, Capt. Boy-Ed and von Papen, naval and military attaches of the German embassy, and Jules Bois, a French lecturer, who, it was revealed, received money from Bolo Pasha.

Some time prior to this dinner, Mr. Lewis said, Mr. Hearst had entertained Bolo at the editor's home. It was explained by the attorney-general that the editor's relations with Bolo were purely social, as far as he was aware.

The attorney-general was busy today examining further witnesses in the Bolo Pasha matter. Further disclosures are expected.

New York, Oct. 4.—The investigation of Paul Bolo Pasha's secret activities and bank accounts here by State Attorney-General Lewis is expected to go far to reveal the entire structure of German plotting in the United States.

Proof that German money was supplied in this country by Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador, to Bolo Pasha, was to be forwarded today to Jules J. Jusserand, the French ambassador, to be communicated by him to his Government. Bolo Pasha is under arrest in Paris as a spy, his detention following the disclosures contained in Mr. Lewis' preliminary report to Ambassador Jusserand on Bolo Pasha's activities here. Included in the documentary proof, according to Attorney-General Lewis, are photographic reproductions of checks, bank records, letters, cablegrams and other evidences of the disposition of the German money furnished Bolo Pasha in this country by ex-Ambassador Bernstorff.

Turned Over Million.

The investigation by Attorney-General Lewis began eleven days ago. The amount of money which Bernstorff, through his financial agent, Hugo Schmidt, turned over to Bolo Pasha totalled $1,683,500, the money coming into possession of Bolo Pasha after it had passed through a carefully prearranged system of transfers from one bank to another to hide its origin and to make it impossible for any bank to know what part the other institution had in the transfer.

The banking institutions which formed what the attorney-general terms "the circle around which the money traveled on its way to Bolo Pasha" were the Deutsches Bank, the National Park Bank, the Guarantee Trust Company, J. P. Morgan & Co., and the Royal Bank of Canada. With the exception of Adolph Pavenstedt, none of the New York Bankers had any reason to believe, it is said, that there was anything strange in the transactions. Pavenstedt was examined yesterday by Mr. Lewis.

As soon as the money reached the Royal Bank of Canada, New York branch, in which it was deposited to the credit of Bolo Pasha, the latter began to check it out. The attorney-general emphasized in his statement that the developments in no way reflect on any of the banks named, the Deutsches Bank, of course, excepted.

The evidence collected by Mr. Lewis also shows that Bolo Pasha called at the home of William Randolph Hearst, complimented Mr. Hearst on the beauty of his dwelling place, and a few days before leaving for Europe was present at a dinner in Sherry's at which Mr. Hearst was also a guest. It is also indicated that Bolo Pasha met the publisher of the American on other occasions.

U. S. WAR TAX REACHES ALL

Washington, Oct. 4.—The new war taxes, designed to raise two and a half billion dollars under the provisions of the revenue bill signed late yesterday by President Wilson, went into effect today.

In the form of levies on incomes, excess profits, liquor, tobacco, transportation and various luxuries and amusements, the law either directly or indirectly effects everyone in the country. One of the first results is the advance in distilled beverage prices caused by an assessment of $2.10 a gallon.

It has been estimated by the treasury department and the Senate finance committee that the law during the first year of its operation will raise from individual and corporate incomes $851,000,000, excess profits $1,000,000,000, distilled spirits $135,000,000, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes $61,500,000, transportation $60,000,000, amusement admissions $50,000,000, and automobiles and motorcycles $46,000,000.

BRITISH DRIVE A MILE DEEP AND OVERRUN FOE'S HEIGHTS; BOCHES SURRENDER IN FLOCKS

Haig's Men Advanced Again Early This Morning East of Ypres, Rolling Germans Back For Mile At Some Points and Carrying Much Valued Crests—Steady Stream of Prisoners Already Started Back—British Commander Reports Satisfactory Progress.

London, Oct. 4.—Field Marshal Haig has begun a new offensive east of Ypres. The official statement from British headquarters, issued today, says that the British attacked at 6 o'clock this morning on a wide front, and are making satisfactory progress. A number of prisoners already have been taken.

DRIVE FOR OVER MILE.

British Front in France and Belgium, Oct. 4—(By Associated Press).—Field Marshal Haig's forces in the offensive begun to the east of Ypres this morning, in some places have penetrated the German lines to a depth of one mile and have overrun the crest of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt Ridge.

At an early hour the Germans were surrendering by hundreds.

Further to the south, Cameron Covert, where there had been much hard ghting, was left well in the rear.

Today's battle was along strongholds which comprised the crucially important system of German defences along the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt Ridge.

REACH THE CROSS ROADS.

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, Oct. 4.—The British already have penetrated well beyond the hamlet of Broodseinde, in which lie the crossroads formed by the highways between Zennebeke and Moorsled and Passchendaele and Beclaire.

GETS FOOTING ON RIDGE.

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, Oct. 4.—The northern wing of the onrushing British troops was battling forward this morning within a short distance of Poelcappele. It had a footing on the famous Gravenstafel Ridge, which juts out from the Passchendaele Ridge, to the west, and had crushed through the Zonnebeke-Broodseinde Ridge, which is an integral part of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt chain.

BROODSEINDE CAPTURED.

London, Oct. 4.—Gen. Frederick Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office, announced this afternoon that the British forces, in their offensive this morning to the east of Ypres, had captured the village of Broodseinde.

Between the village of Broodseinde, on the north, and and Noordenhoek, more than a mile to the south, the British are holding the crest of the ridge in the face of heavy counter-attacks.

GERMAN COMMANDERS PLEAD WITH WORKERS TO SUPPLY MATERIAL

Conference at Enemy's Main Army Headquarters.

FOE IS SHORT OF NICKEL

Probably Not Now Able To Keep Pace With Entente Production.

Amsterdam, Oct. 4.—Fears that Germany might possibly be unable to continue fighting owing to the lack of raw material have been answered by Major-Gen. Schuech, the new minister of munitions, who, according to a dispatch from Berlin, says:

"Regarding the supply of raw materials, particularly those required for the manufacture of guns and munitions, we are not dependent solely on the stock in hand, which, moreover, would be insufficient. We have to produce them, and this production is preceeding satisfactorily."

Gen. Schuech admitted that production was interrupted temporarily last year, because of transport difficulties. Although these seem to have been overcome, the minister of munitions expects a probable recurrence the coming winter.

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—Leaders of various groups of German labor were received at main army headquarters this week not for the purpose of congratulating Field Marshal von Hindenburg on his birthday, as first was intimated, but in an effort to have German workmen speed up the production of munitions. Complaints of the labor classes dealing with the operation of compulsory labor service law were made. A lengthy conference was devoted to discussing the possible improvement of the conditions of labor and the maintenance of the output of munitions, which General von Ludendorf, quartermaster general, declared was the cardinal duty of the hour.

Production Falling Off.

Recently private but trustworthy reports have been received by the Associated Press that the German authorities were experiencing difficulty in preventing a falling off in the production of munitions, owing to the lowering of the working capacity of the individual, underfed workmen, and the scarcity of certain raw materials, notably the more rare metals used in the manufacture of high grade steels. There have been persistent reports that nickel was embarrassingly short in Germany. It is doubtful also if Germany will be able to keep pace with further increases in Anglo-American production if, indeed, it is now even holding its own.

Reliable reports from so widely separated sectors of the western front as Flanders and the Argonne say that the German artillery has strict orders to spare ammunition in every way possible.

FRENCH SHIP LOSSES TEN FOR LAST WEEK; FIVE FOILED SUBS

Weekly Report of Republican Ally Small Comfort for Enemy.

Paris, Oct. 3.—The weekly report of losses to French shipping by submarines and mines shows that five vessels of more than 1,600 tons each and five of less than that size, were destroyed. Four of the smaller ships were lost in the preceding week. Five vessels were attacked unsuccessfully, one of them in the previous week. Six fishing vessels were sunk, two of them in the preceding week.

NOT A TRAIN MOVING IN ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 4.—Employees of the Government railroad joined the ranks of the striking railroad men last night. The strike is now general, and no trains are operating on any railroad in the republic.

SWEDES ARE PEEVED AT ALLIED PRESSURE

Dislike Detention of Vessels and Capture of Coal-Ships.

Stockholm, Oct. 4.—The detention of Swedish vessels by the United States, France and Great Britain, and the capture of Swedish coal ships on the Rotterdam-Gothenburg route, by the British, is causing much indignation here, even among Swedes most friendly to the Allied cause. The Swedish press unites in expressing its displeasure. Typical comment appears in the Social Demokraten, which says:

"Aggression of this sort is certainly the poorest possible way to maintain the faith that there is really any difference between the one belligerent group and the other in the unscrupulousness with which they wage war. After all the attack on von Bethmann-Hollweg's words about "necessity knowing no laws," the people on the Entente side should avoid letting their need for tonnage lead to such obvious violations of neutral rights."

TEUTONS HELD BACK BY RUSSIAN TROOPS DESPITE REVOLUTION

German Strength on the East Russion Front Increased By 15 Divisions.

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.—A semi-official statement from Russian headquarters, commenting on how, despite the difficulties involved by the revolution, the Russian armies are still holding up the enemy, points out that since the beginning of the revolution the enemy's forces on the Russian front, excluding the Caucasus, have been increased by fifteen divisions and 540 guns.

BEEF CONSUMPTION CUT, BUT EXPORTING TO U. S. CONTINUES

Food Controller's Regulations Reduce Butchers' Sales.

DROVERS' SALES JUMPING

American Markets Benefit, Say Dealers, From Canadian Prohibition.

While shipments of beef cattle from Western Ontario go regularly to Buffalo and other American markets where there are no "beefless, baconless" days, the beef consumption of London has been materially reduced through the orders of Food Controller W. J. Hanna.

Charles Anderson of the Anderson Meat Market, one of the largest restaurant supply houses in the city, declares that since the inauguration of the beefless days in hotel and restaurant menus, his beef orders have been cut in two. Pork consumption, he explains, has increased, as has also the consumption of fish, but the increase in these two falls far short of the difference in the beef consumption.

"Since the inauguration of the beefless days we have had our beef business to restaurants cut in half," declares Mr. Anderson. "The higher-priced cuts are those used almost entirely by the restaurants, and there has been a great falling off in the demand from this quarter. For a time, following the inauguration of the scheme, the demand for pork was so great that we could not fill it. Now, however, the pork demand has fallen off. The increased use of pork added to the increased consumption of fish, is not sufficient to meet the 'void' caused in the beef sales."

Mr. Anderson, from evidence of his sales' reports, believes that the people generally are eating less meat than they did. He bases this belief on the fact that the aggregate supply of the eating houses is far below what it was. Loss of beef trade, he says, has spread to even other meats, with the exception of pork.

"Judging by our restaurant business, I would say that Londoners are eating much less than they did," says Mr. Anderson. "The loss of the outlet for the higher-priced cuts is evidenced in our household sales, too. Formerly the majority of these cuts were taken by the eating house proprietors. Now it is hard to arrange for an equitable sale."

While the London meat consumption is falling off, and fewer beef cattle are now required to meet the requirements of the city, the surplus continues to go to the American markets. Drovers are picking up all likely cattle, and reports from various Western Ontario centres show that the beef cattle tide to American markets is growing ever higher.

BREWSTER INVITED TO JOIN COALITION GOVT.

Victoria, Oct. 4.—Premier Brewster has been invited by Sir Robert Borden to join a coalition government. He left here last night for Ottawa, where he will discuss the question with Sir Robert Borden and western Liberal leaders already in Ottawa.

RESTORED THE ROSES TO GIRL'S WAN CHEEKS

A London Mother and Her Daughter Join in Commendation of a Blood-Building Treatment Which Has Brought Them Health and Happiness.

When the blood gets thin and watery, the healthful glow leaves the complexion and pallor tells of the blood's condition.

The writer of this letter had undergone an operation; the shock to her system was great, loss of blood reduced the vitality of the system, and she could not recover strength and energy.

But she came to hear of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and this blood-forming prescription proved to be exactly what was needed. When she regained appetite and strength and energy she began giving the Nerve Food to her little girl, who was delicate and rundown in health.

So here is another home where Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has brought health and happiness. Just read this cheerful letter.

Mrs. P. Few, 172 Simcoe street, London, Ont., writes:

"Some time ago I was operated upon, but did not recover very quickly afterwards. I could not sleep at night, my appetite was poor, and I seemed to lack energy. I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after I had used three boxes I could see an improvement in my condition. I continued taking them, and can now truthfully say that I feel better and have more energy than I have had for a long time. This treatment seemed to be just what I needed—it strengthened me, made me sleep and gave me a good appetite.

"I also gave some of the Nerve Food to my little girl, who was delicate and in a rundown condition. Under this treatment, she soon became strong again, and now has nice rosy cheeks. As I have had such success in using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for my daughter and myself, I can cheerfully recommend it to others suffering in the same manner."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.—Advt.

LONDON MINISTERS BLAMING ENTERTAINMENTS ON SUNDAY FOR SMALLER CONGREGATIONS

Autos, Late Saturday Night Closing, Elimination of Floating Population Through Enlistment and War Conditions Blamed for Decreasing Church Population of City.

London has its church attendance problem as well as other cities, which has been emphasized by wartime conditions. A phase of this referred to today by several local ministers is the fact that the old order is reversed in many of the churches and the morning services much more largely attended than the evening. In former days, the church which was comfortably seated in the forenoon with a good range of choice of location was filled to the doors in the evening. The changed conditions are attributed to a number of reasons. For one thing, several ministers state that the morning congregations have always been made up largely of the settled-down citizens with families, who have retained the old habit of filling the family pew well on Sunday morning.

No More "Floating Population."

Many of these "substantial citizens," through family ties, are unable to be out again in the evening. In the past, the evening service has had a large percentage of the visitors and "floating population." The floating population included many young men who have long since enlisted for overseas service. Again, wartime work, which has been regarded as imperative even on Sunday, and the counter-attractions arranged in the name of patriotism, have been contributing factors in depleting attendance at church in the evening.

Rev. Arthur Carlisle, former Londoner and ex-chaplain of the 18th Battalion, brought the Sunday attendance question to a head in his charge, All Saints' Church, in Windsor on Sunday. He declared that there had been such a falling off in the church attendance there that if it continued he would regard it as direct intimation that his usefulness to the parish was gone and would seek another field.

This declaration has attracted attention to the church-going activities of London. The result has been what might be referred to as conclusive evidence that, in the majority of cases, the Sunday attendances here are not what they formerly were.

Blames Sunday Concerts.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Silcox of the First Congregational Church says: "I have only been settled in London two and a half years, so cannot say what conditions were before that time. But I do know this, there is no question that the Sunday evening entertainments have had a serious effect. A majority of those who attend these entertainments are people, and usually young people, with no church relationships. Naturally, they want to go to some place to be brightened up on Sunday. They mean well enough, and could be brought into the churches if these more enlivening counter-attractions were not offered. Doubtless, some of the larger churches, with their fine music and paid singers, can hold those who want these things. As it is, these people find it difficult to get in both a church service and the Sunday evening concert. The church service takes at least an hour and a quarter or an hour and a half. That makes it too late to get to the concert, or by whatever name it is known when it is held in one of the picture theatres. It wouldn't be possible then to get a seat, or perhaps get inside. With conscription in force there won't be the excuse to hold recruiting meetings, but probably those who have been arranging these Sunday evening entertainments will keep on doing so, to make money, if there isn't any other excuse. It seems to me all the money they have made in the past could have been raised in some other way, just as as has been done for other purposes. In any case, the moral effect is going to be felt of drawing people away from the churches. If entertainments were arranged to draw boys and girls from school, education here would not rank so high. Attractions cannot be arranged to divert people from church without lowering the religious and moral life of the individuals and community."

Auto's Influence Slight.

Rev. W. J. Knox of the First Presbyterian Church, who finds his evening congregation now about two-thirds the size of the morning turn-out, regards the Sunday evening entertainments as just one of the many contributing factors which have been affecting church attendance.

"I am afraid," he says, "there is more carelessness and laxity than formerly. The automobile has probably been one slight contributing cause to reduce attendance. Again, industrial conditions have had their effect; the Sunday labor justified as a war-time need has been a thin edge of the wedge, opening up the way for further infringement on the Sabbath. A man can't work on Sunday and attend church services at the same time. Sabbath work has a tendency to disorganize the habit of church attendance, even when people are free to go."

Rev. H. D. Moyer of the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church has noted the tendency of present conditions to reduce church attendance, though he is able to report for his own church towards the southeast end of the city, "Pretty much as usual."

Late Closing to Blame.

Rev. Canon Gunne, rector of Christ Church, has a story to tell which is the reverse of the experience of a number of the other clergyman. His evening service is better attended than the the morning and is largely made up of young people. He places for non-attendance at the morning service on the part of a number on the late closing of stores. He says, "You can't blame people who have worked all day Saturday and until 11 o'clock at night for wanting to rest on Sunday morning. It stands to reason that they need it. Our choir at Christ Church, made up largely of young people, who are thus engaged on Saturday night, is especially faithful in attendance. I think the members deserve great credit under the circumstances for the good average attendance on Sunday morning. Why on earth the people can't get their shopping done before 8 o'clock Saturday evening, instead of dragging it out until 11 or 12 and so breaking in on the Sabbath, is a mystery to me."

No Failing Off Here.

Rev. James MacKay, New St. James Presbyterian Church, up in the north end, finds that so far as his congregation is concerned, there is no falling off, either at the morning or evening services. The Sunday school is splendidly attended and the attendance at other services is well up. "There doesn't seem to be any difficulty about attracting people by presenting the simple gospel message," is his verdict.

FISH CONSIGNMENT OF CITY SPEEDILY SOLD OUT TODAY

Initial Shipment Goes So Fast Wire Is Sent for More.

NOT ENOUGH WAS SENT

2,100 Pounds Insufficient To Meet Demands From City Dealers and Consumers.

Ald. S. R. Manness reported today that 2,100 pounds of Government fish had been received by the city, and had been disposed of to the dealers.

The consignment consisted for the main part of lake trout, although there were about 500 pounds of whitefish, and some sturgeon. The fish was sold to the dealers for 11 cents a pound, as arranged by the provincial government and disposed of by the dealers to the citizens at 15 cents a pound.

The quality is said to be excellent, and the fish was in fine shape. The price is fixed by Government regulation.

"The fish is first class, and was eagerly sought by the dealers," said Ald. Manners. "In fact, we did not have enough to go around, and we have wired for more. The dealers expressed themselves as more than pleased with the fish, and want more. Some of them had to do without the fish as they made no arrangements for it. We are satisfied with the sample. We want more."

The citizens eagerly bought the fish, and there was no difficulty in getting rid of the whole consignment in a short time.

ONLY MILITARY RUGBY LIKELY THIS SEASON

Dearth of Men Will Affect Western's Squad Seriously.

The coming season will not see a great deal of pigskin chasing in this district. The war has drained most of the star grid men from London, and it is doubtful if a team could be formed from the various institutions in the city. London has usually been well represented in the O. R. F. U. in past years, but there is a tremendous dearth of players hereabouts this year.

Western University, which generally has a good squad out, has been hard hit by the war. The university hospital took practically every man from the arts department, and although there are some good men among the Meds they cannot provide sufficient number to fill up a team. If Western plays anything this year it will be confined to inter-scholastic series.

It is likely that the soldiers will stage most of the rugby this fall. The boys at the Heights have some likely material up there. Among the various units are plenty of experienced players, and some English soccer cracks who are handy on the grid and who could soon round into fine shape. The soldiers favor the idea of forming a league among themselves, and a meeting will be held on October 10, when representatives from all units will meet to discuss the matter. At the end of the season from such a league a team might be picked to play O. R. U., providing such a team could secure a bye and meet the winners of the Toronto-Hamilton group.

TWO OF MOTORING PARTY KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 4.—Two of an automobile party of five were dashed to death off Hazel Hill, near Canso, N. S., Tuesday night, while returning from a wedding at Guysboro. Percy Boutillier and Will Hart were the victims of the accident, while Mrs. Boutillier and two other lady occupants of the car, escaped without injury.

TEACHER CRITIC TO APPEAR IN ANSWER TO HIS CRITICISM

Manual Training Instructor Meets Committee Today.

There will be a meeting of No. 1 committee of the board of education to meet O. R. Pengelly, a manual training instructor, who criticized the board of education and its management of the manual training department to the department of education.

The teacher will be asked to give an explanation of his conduct. It is not known what action the committee will take on the matter.

PARISHIONERS CALL PROTEST MEETING AT FORD TONIGHT

Essex County Constable Is Suspended for Alleged Rioting.

WINDSOR, Oct. 3.—Mark Bontront, the Essex County constable, who it is alleged took part in the church riot at Ford, will remain suspended until the next sitting of the Ontario Supreme Court at Sandwich, when an application may be made for his dismissal.

County Judge Dromgole at Sandwich today heard the testimony of Chief of Police, Maisonville of Ford, and High County Constable James Smith, both of whom declared Bontront took an active part in attempting to prevent Father Laurendeau from taking possession of the church rectory.

The parishioners of Ford who object to Bishop Fallon naming Father Laurendeau as rector of the parish will hold further protest meetings this week. Meetings will be held Thursday night at Pratt farm, Ford, and on Sunday afternoon at River Canard.

ENEMY, IN MAD RAGE, IS WARRING ON CIVILIANS; SMUTS WANTS REPRISAL

London, Oct. 4.—In an address today at a luncheon to presidents of the chambers of commerce in the United Kingdom, Lieut.-Gen. Smuts, former commander of the expedition against German East Africa, said that Germany, "defeated on the battlefield and balked in the submarine campaign, is now in impotent rage more and more striking at us through our non-combatants, through our women and children." Aerial warfare against the defenceless was the new weapon, he said, and predicted it would not only fail, but that it would prove to be a terible boomerang.

"Applying the principle of 'an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,'" Gen. Smuts said, "we are most reluctantly forced to apply to the enemy the bombing policy which he has applied to us."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE COAL YARD BYLAW.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I desire the privilege of making a few statements in reference to the coal bylaw which is before the ratepayers at present, and being one of the ratepayers who has to carry the burden, I feel it my duty to recite the circumstances attending the origin of the coal yard proposition.

In 1915 while serving as alderman, a gentleman named Mr. Frank McVean, called on me one day and wanted the information whether I was ready to take up a proposition which would serve the workingmen of London, in whose interests I had run as an independent candidate.

My answer was that I was always ready and willing to do what is in my power to serve the citizens and workingmen of the city, and his proposal was that I should undertake to institute a municipal yard in this city, with the promise of furnishing all necessary data and facts on a proposition which would give me ample proof of the merits of the proposition and of its need.

My first move was in the council, when I moved that the city engineer should bring in a report on the cost of anthracite coal at the mines, freight from the mines to the city and overhead expense to the city. As a majority of the people will no doubt remember I had been pounding at that question for months, and the city council did not make a move, as the minutes of 1915 will prove. With all that in view I had come to the conclusion that there was really such a thing in existence as a hold-up by the coal dealers of the citizens, and at about the end of 1916, when through the trades and labor council a petition, signed by 1,700 people, was presented to the council asking a plebiscite by the people, that also was refused by the council.

I called on the trades and labor council, of which I was an honorary member, and I asked to meet their executive on the municipal coalyard question. Meeting them, I proposed that we should have a municipal coalyard of our own, providing that they would give me their moral support. The exact words of the head of the labor organization were: "We will stand behind you tooth and nail. Go to it!"

I went and purchased a coalyard, and prepared all necessary arrangements for financing the yard to the extent of $10,000, and that let us in till about the middle of February, 1917. When all the necessary machinery for conducting the yard was about completed, through my instigation, the executive was called together, and I told them that I was ready to proceed with the proposition, and that it was only necessary for us to arrange the legal formalities, that the coalyard should be conducted as the Lerner Coal Company, as my investigation showed that none of the mines would sell to any co-operative society or municipality, or any citizens of the city who bought from that yard would have to pay the prevailing price, but at the end of the year competent auditors should be put in to examine the books, and to divide the profits with everyone who had bought coal. The exact answer of the head of the trades and labor council was that "We do not need to trouble you now. We have elected a labor mayor, and he will give us a municipal coalyard of our own."

Now, I would like to ask the ratepayers of the city, if those gentlemen who are instigating the municipal coalyard are in earnest on the proposition. Is it not more feasible and practicable for me to have taken the responsibility of that proposition than to ask the citizens of London to burden themselves with another tax on their property? It seems to me that those gentlemen are not earnest, and that their only desire is to gain political profit, for they know very well that they are fighting an iron wall in the American coal companies. These facts I have recited are not disputable.

There will be no doubt that some citizens will say that I speak against the scheme because I own a small yard, but I want to assure the people on my honor that my interest in the coal proposition is very small, for the property which I have purchased unwillingly is situated in such a place that it can always be transferred for any other purpose. I am making this statement because I believe that the instigator of the municipal coal yard, the public is entitled to know the full facts of the whole proceedings.

I am astonished to read in the press the arguments that are being put forward by those who support the coal yard bylaw. For instance one of the gentlemen is quoted as saying that he does not care for fish, but he wants coal.

The question is, do the people of London use coal 365 days a year. Are not all commodities as essential as coal, and why do they not go after all? And if coal is of such importance to him why does he not realize that the original cost and cost of distribution are now much higher than before the war?

I had the privilege of meeting one of the gentlemen who is trying to persuade the people to vote for this proposition, and I asked him whether he would be willing to be convinced that the information he gave to the people is not right, and also if he was convinced would he advise the people according to his conviction. He replied that he would, and that he wanted nothing but justice. We then proceeded to my office, where we remained for an hour and a half. After presenting invoices, statements and correspondence on the coal question, and proving to his satisfaction that the profits on coal are not as great as he imagined they were, in order to have his point of argument he remarked: "Well, if the city cannot sell any cheaper than the private companies, it will be a good whip on the coal merchants." I surely expected that he would use the information he got from me in Cheeley avenue school on Saturday evening. But I failed to see any quotations of cost of coal at the mines, such as $5.75 for egg coal at the mines in June. Figuring $2.99 freight, raising the total on the cars in London to $8.74 for a gross ton.

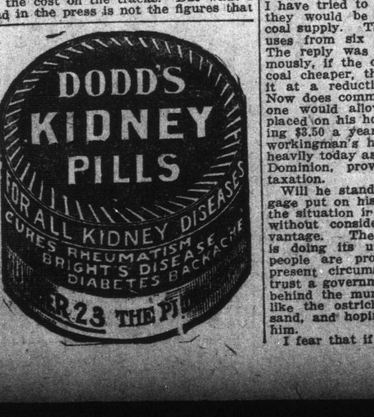

When wages are from $15 to $18, oats $2.75 a hundredweight, where is the exorbitant profits the dealers have been making? The cost of conducting the yard and overhead charges make it necessary that $2 a ton should be added to the cost on the tracks. But what I find in the press is not the figures that were furnished this gentleman, but his declaration that the scheme would provide a whip anyway. Of course, it is very easy for any individual to accuse anybody as a robber and liar when it is positively known that the responsibility cannot be settled on him. I don't see where those gentlemen take the liberty of saying that the reports of the Canadian Government, to which we trust our lives, are untrue. Surely the coal dealers are not possessed of such influence that they can buy the Government. I maintain that the instigators of the coal proposition do the workingmen of London an injustice, because they cannot secure coal or compel the United States coal magnates to sell; nor can the Dominion Government do so, and it will only be placing another mortgage on the workingmen's homes of $25,000 to run a municipal coal yard. That is not a fraction of what will be needed to handle the business they claim they will get. They will at least have to have $400,000 or $500,000 plant to handle 70,000 tons of coal in six months.

Now, I have been speaking to hundreds of citizens on the question, and I have tried to get their idea on what they would be able to save on their coal supply. The average workingman uses from six to seven tons a year. The reply was pretty nearly unanimously, if the city will be able to sell coal cheaper, they think they will get it at a reduction of 50 cents a ton. Now does common-sense say that anyone would allow a mortgage to be placed on his home in the hope of saving $3.50 a year? I maintain that the workingman's home is mortagaged too heavily today as matters stand, through Dominion, provincial and municipal taxation.

Will he stand to have another mortgage put on his home? Let us look at the situation in a straightforward way, without consideration of political advantage. The Government of today is doing its utmost to see that the people are protected, and under the present circumstances I would rather trust a government than those who are behind the municipal coal yard, acting like the ostrich with its head in the sand, and hoping that nobody will see him.

I fear that if I launch into the many other strong reasons why this scheme should be rejected by the people I will impose upon the space limitations of your valued paper, but in concluding I will take the liberty of saying that no one can say of me that I go back on my principles. I stand today for public control of commodities, but municipal ownership in a case where the supply is not controlled by us, is not feasible. I am, yours for fair play,

Respectfully, MAX LERNER.

TRANSPORTATION OF BOOZE NOT CONFINED TO COMMON CARRIERS

Magistrate Hands Down This Ruling Today.

DEFENDANT IS DISMISSED

Carrying of Liquor for Friends Not in Contravention of Act.

That any person can convey liquor for another person from a place where it can be legally kept to another place where it can be legally kept was the decision of Magistrate Graydon today in the case of Laughlin McCallum, a Westminster Township blacksmith, who was acquitted on two charges laid under the Ontario temperance act.

McCallum was arrested on the Hamilton road on Thursday night last, and in his motor car was found a bottle of whiskey surrounded by cabbages. The patrolman brought him in and the whiskey was seized, while he was allowed to proceed home with the cabbages.

McCallum in his own behalf testified that he was visiting at the home of a friend, John Prudham, on the Hamilton road. As he was leaving Prudham requested that he take a bottle of whiskey to his (Prudham's) mother. This McCallum consented to do, but was intercepted by the patrolman before he had proceeded far on his journey.

Prudham corroborated the testimony of McCallum.

J. M. McEvoy, representing McCallum, argued that his client was within his right.

R. J. Fisher disagreed, claiming that the act specified that the transportation of liquor must be done by a common carrier such as an express company, drayman, etc.

The magistrate pointed out that the words "or other persons" followed the words "common carriers," and consequently dismissed the case.

$11,500 PAID OUT TO SOLDIERS' KIN HERE IN SEPTEMBER

Patriotic Fund Allowances Are Remaining Almost Stationary.

The sum of $11,500 was paid out by check during the month of September to beneficiaries of the patriotic fund, about 900 in all, on the allowance roll of the London Patriotic Association.

Owing to the slowness of recruiting the number of beneficiaries has remained about stationary for the past three or four months, the names added being more or less balanced up by those which have been removed.

LITTLE NORTH END GIRLS WORKING HARD FOR RED CROSS AID

Youngsters' Club Has Helped Northern Auxiliary by Bazaar.

Several months ago, eight little girls in the north end of the city, Mildred Goldie, Viola Stevens, Nina Taylor, Edna Goldie, Muriel Jarvis, Evelyn Jarvis, Lillian Brady and Rita Willmott, organized a Red, White and Blue Club, through which to do their bit for the Red Cross. For months and months, they worked industriously in their spare hours, making up fancy articles. Recently they held a bazaar on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Jarvis, Hellmuth avenue, when, in addition to the fancy articles, they offered home-made candy, cookery, etc., for sale. As a result, their proceeds amounted to the fine sum of $26, which they have turned over to the treasurer of the North End Red Cross Auxiliary. In addition to this, they have turned in a number of pairs of regulation and bed socks for the men ...

The north end auxiliary expresses its appreciation of this splendid co-operation and assistance on the part of the little Red, White and Blue Club sisters, who are not more than twelve years old.

ANOTHER QUARREL AIRED

Neighborhood Squabbles Occupy More of Police Court's Time.

Another neighbor's quarrel was aired in police court today when Harry Roedding, 12 Miles street, had William Armstrong, 35 Miles street, summoned on a charge of using grossly insulting language. After hearing a lot of evidence the case was dismissed.

Roedding claimed Armstrong called him a pro-German. Armstrong testified that following an argument Roedding's wife stepped in and held him while Roedding sprinted for his house. Armstrong then, he said, to Roedding, "I am not a scarecrow of a German to run away and let my wife fight my battles."

Magistrate Graydon warned both that unless more harmonious relations existed he would bind them over to keep the peace.

Very Effective Method for Banishing Hairs

(Modes of Today.)

At very little cost any woman can rid her face of hairy growths if she will use the delatone treatment. This is made by mixing some water with a little delatone. This paste is spread on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm results from this, but care should be used to get real delatone.—Advt.

WEDDING BELLS

IRWIN—COBEART.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of the Talbot Street Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon, when Rev. H. H. Bingham united in marriage Andrew Edward Irwin of London Township and Myrtle Rose Cobeart of this city. The couple were unattended. They will reside in London Township.

PATERSON—LITTLE.

A quiet wedding was held at the parsonage of the Talbot Street Baptist Church Wednesday evening, when John Paterson and Jennie Tuttle were married. Rev. H. H. Bingham officiated.

The newly-married couple are residents of Strathroy. They will reside there.

WEDNESDAY SPORTS AT CAMP SUCCESS DESPITE WEATHER

Men Enter Heartily Into All Competitions.

UNITS FIGHT FOR HONORS

All Contest Inter-Detachment Events in Spirited Style.

In spite of a drizzling rain, field sports for the C. E. F. units stationed here were held on Carling Heights Wednesday afternoon and were a decided success. The men entered spiritedly into every event, and the inter-unit games were hotly contested. Wrestling was particularly good.

Next week events for mounted men will be included in the program, so that members of the 63rd Battery may compete. Men who won prizes this week will be handicapped next week, so that every man will have a fair chance of winning a prize. A special event for the winners of this week will give them also an opportunity to get the prize money. It is thought that this plan will do much to sustain the interest which it is felt would lag if the same men carried off the honors in the events each week.

Prize-winners on Wednesday were:

100-Yard Dash—1, Pte. Riske, A. M. C.; 2, Corp. McFarlane, W. O. R.; 3, Pte. Bell, A. M. C.

Section Race—1, Western Ontario Regiment; 2, Army Medical Corps; 3, Western Ontario Regiment.

High Jump—1, Pte. Carman, A. M. C.; Pte. Hughes, C. A. D. C.; 3, Deline, W. O. R.

Standing Broad Jump—1, Pte. Greene, A. M. C.; 2, Pte. Hughes, C. A. D. C.; 3, Carman, A. M. C.

Hop, Step and Jump—1, Pte. Hughes, C. A. D. C.; 2, Pte. Kerr, A. M. C.; 3, Greene, A. M. C.

Pole Jump—1, Pte. Suttherby, A. M. C.; 2, Brooks, W. O. R.; 3, Pte. Hughes, C. A. D. C.

Running Broad Jump—1, Pte. Carman, A. M. C.; 2, Pte. Hughes, C. A. D. C.; 3, Brooks, W. O. R.

Putting Shot—1, Pte. Carman, A. M. C.; 2, Pte. Hughes, C. A. D. C.; 3, Pte. Brooks, W. O. R.

Relay Race—Army Medical Corps.

Wrestling—1, Pte. Tasifiko, W. O. R.; 2, Pte. A. Atoinasian, W. O. R.

Football—Western Ontario Regiment, 1; Army Medical Corps, 0.

PROBE DEMAND JOKE, DECLARES FOUNDER OF ASSOCIATED KIN

Dominion President Laughs at Toronto Story.

OFFICIAL INQUIRY ASKED

Central Ratepayers' Association of Toronto Says the Association Is Injurious.

B. G. H. Wright, with whom the idea of the organization known as the Associated Kin of Canadian Expeditionary Forces originated, was just leaving town when reached by a representative of The Advertiser in regard to the report of the meeting of the Central Council of Ratepayer's Association in Toronto last night, and the stand there taken on the question of the Associated Kin.

"I haven't got time to talk about it," said Mr. Wright, "but the whole story, as published in the dispatch, is like the front page of a joke book."

Watch Question Keenly.

As the birthplace of the Associated Kin, and the headquarters for the Dominion of the organization, keen interest is naturally taken here in the action of the Central Council of Ratepayers. Mr. Wright, as founder, is the Dominion president, and Rev. Dr. Tucker, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, who has taken a prominent part with Mr. Wright in the organization, is Dominion chaplain.

A big membership campaign has recently been in progress in Toronto, with which a number of leading residents of the Queen City have been associated, and several prominent Londoners have taken part by delivering addresses in Toronto during the campaign.

What Toronto Says.

The following account of the Toronto meeting is taken from a Toronto morning paper:

Declaring that it was only a desire to put into practice the policy of "safety first," the central council of Ratepayers' Association last night appointed a committee to confer with the attorney-general of Ontario to have an investigation made into the organization known as the "Associated Kin." The president, Mr. J. M. Skelton, brought the matter to the attention of the meeting. After a conference with the attorney-general the committee will report back to the association.

Mr. Skelton said the organization had inaugurated a campaign to secure two and a half million members at an annual membership fee of one dollar, and a life membership at $25 each. He didn't question the amount of money being raised, but the principle involved. He thought matters pertaining to soldiers should be dealt with by the state. "Besides, I do not hesitate to say that every letter which the 'Associated Kin' sends out to relatives of soldiers, and they are sending them out by the thousand, is not only injurious to true Canadian sentiment, but an offence to Canadian law and justice." While the association is Dominion-wide, it was felt by members present that the attorney-general should investigate it, as it is operating in Ontario.

Resolution Adopted.

The following resolution was adopted: "That Messrs. Shields, Skelton, Honeyford, Howe and Percy be a committee to meet with the attorney-general of Ontario for the purpose of inquiring into the work and status of the organization known as the 'Associated Kin' and report to this association; also, that this committee and the members of the executive formulate some system or plan through which pensions claims and all matters concerning returned soldiers, and their dependents may effectively be dealt with, said system or plan to be under the supervision of the Government or municipal authority, and that the said system or plan be submitted to this association for its approval."

COMING HOME AFTER THREE YEARS' SERVICE

British Reservist, Who Left in August, 1914, on Way Back.

After more than three years' war service, Trooper Frank Oram, 20th Hussars of the imperial army, is now on his way home, according to a cable received by his wife, Mrs. Oram of 40 Euclid avenue. He will sail from the old country on the 11th of October.

Trooper Oram was a reservist of the imperial army, and left this city when war was first declared. He went to England in August, 1914, and has been on active service since that time. He has been in hospital several times, but not through wounds, illness having been the cause of his "casualties."

Wingham, Oct. 4.—Pte. Harry Coutts, back from the front, was given a rousing reception Wednesday evening by a large number of citizens.

"WILL NOT RETRACT" LABOR MAN'S DEFI TO YARD OPPONENTS

Supporter of Municipal Coal Scheme Makes This Declaration.

NO COAL RING, SAYS MAX

Ex-Alderman Lerner Enters Lists To Defend Position of Dealers.

With a lawyer's letter in his pocket threatening the issuance of an injunction if he made further assertions about local coal dealers, R. H. Hessel addressed the largest municipal meeting yet held for the discussion of the coalyard bylaw in the Aberdeen school last night.

"I am not going to retract one word of what I said at previous meetings," he asserted. "In fact I feel like adding more to it."

Max Lerner added variety to the meeting, which like all its predecessors but one, seemed likely to be entirely in favor of the bylaw, when he attempted to prove that the coalmen were not as black as they were painted. Lerner entered the arena as the result of President Joseph Dean of the trades and labor council, stating that "the coal business must be a good business or Max Lerner wouldn't have gone into it." He qualified this by stating that to his knowledge Lerner was the first man to advocate municipal coalyards.

"Have you got any gloves," said ex-Ald. Lerner, as he stepped to the front to address the meeting. "I am going to tell you what you don't like. I am proud to say that I am the 'daddy of the coalyard scheme.' When I was in the city council I agitated for action along this line, and made inquiries at almost every meeting, as the minutes will prove. But there was not a thing doing, so I went to the trades and labor council and suggested them to start a municipal coalyard of my own, I beg you pardon, I mean their own. The company was to be known as the Lerner Coal Company, because the coal barons will not sell to corporations. I purchased the yard, but when I met their executive and explained the plan, they said: 'We won't need you; we have a labor man in the council now.' I have lost money running the yard myself. This proposition stands a one per cent. chance of success and a 99 per cent. chance of loss. War has driven the price of everything else up because 40 million men are engaged in destroying and we can't produce fast enough to meet the demand."

Can't Find Coal Ring.

Max didn't think there was a coal ring in this city. "I have tried my d——— to find it but I can't," he said.

George Wakeling spoke briefly when Lerner had retired. He claimed that the entire executive of the trades and labor had not been present at the time to which Lerner referred and that his proposition was that they should swing the sentiment of the council in favor of the scheme.

Mayor H. A. Stevenson again acted as chairman. He reiterated his claim that the citizens were victims of a ring. Alderman Ashplant and he had been in Toronto all day and had obtained interesting information. "If this bylaw is carried on Saturday I will be delighted and you will reap the benefit. We have more than sufficient money pledged for the debentures already and you can be sure the money will be expended economically."

George Terry outlined the part he had played in the agitation for the coalyard and paid tribute to the work which Mr. Hessel had done. "Sometimes we working men are blamed for being too active," he said, "but if we were passive would there be any advancement and where would prices be now? Don't you think this agitation has done some good?" he asked, and explained that the movement inaugurated here had swept across the continent. McVean's failure to obtain coal last summer, he asserted, was perhaps not as much his fault as others.

"The coal men accuse us of being job hunters," he said, "but they are spending a lot of money in advertising to make sure we don't become job hunters." Land had been bonded for the coal yards by the trades council, he stated.

Prices on coal as published in O'Connor's report were, he said, in January, for egg and stove, $6.44; in February, $6.66 in March, egg, $6.49; stove, $6.71; nut, $6.80; April, egg, $6.04; stove, $6.26; nut, $6.35; May, egg, $6.31; stove, $6.62; nut, $6.71; June, egg $6.40, stove, $6.71, nut, $6.80.

No Open Fighting.

R. Hessel claimed that the coal men had failed to come out in the open at any of the meetings and had taken a roundabout way of attacking the scheme. Conditions arising here, he said, were merely being transplanted from the coal districts of the United States where they were at one time worse than slavery. Profits on coal were at least $1.63 a ton and not 23c, he claimed. The profit on a load of coal, he alleged, was from $20 to $30 and that stocks were purchased last April, May and June. "Don't think for a moment the coal dealers are doing what they say in these advertisements," he said. "They make yearly contracts in April at a cheap figure for monthly delivery. When jobbers advance their prices 10 cents they advance theirs 50 cents."

Some years ago, he said, the trades and labor council had brought coal into the city and undersold the dealers but they were forced to quit because the coal men forced the railroad to stop transporting their supplies. The coal men's combine he declared to be one of the closest that ever existed.

Thedford's Cheap Fuel.

W. J. White of Thedford, at Mr. Hessel's request, told the meeting that in his home town last winter coal was delivered at $7.00 a ton while here the price was $9.00 and $10.00. This summer the price in Thedford was $7.50.

Mayor Stevenson brought to the attention of the meeting at this point that Harrington, for eight years secretary of the coal associations in the province, had been appointed assistant fuel controller.

Dr. R. W. Shaw spoke briefly. "There had been little said of actual reasons why the yard should not be established or why the scheme should be voted against. If we can't buy coal why are the coal men so interested?" he asked. His only criticism was that the bylaw should have been submitted sooner. The labor men were in control of the situation and the men in the mines would not dig coal if their brothers here were not to get it at a fair rate.

Joseph Dean asserted that Adam Beck had promised to do everything in his power to aid the scheme. Mr. Dean asserted that the London and Port Stanley would benefit greatly. The coal men were buying up the press to muzzle the people, he said.

Alderman Ashplant delivered a short address. "It is up to you on Saturday," he said, "and I am certain that it will not be the coal bylaw which is buried six feet deep." He had learned in Toronto that thousands of tons of coal were brought there and that the average cost up to September had been below $7.25. These proved the coal dealer's advertisement in Wednesday's local papers, he claimed, to be a lying statement.

POLICE "HOTEL" COSTLY

Man Who Sought Lodgings There Finds They Cost $10 Per Night.

A St. Thomas citizen loaded up in his home city last night and then came here to paint the town red. After gazing upon the bright lights for some time he decided to locate a hotel. He applied for a room at police headquarters, asking the desk sergeant what a room would cost. Informed that rooms were free he was kept over night. He pleaded guilty to being drunk and after being fined $10 and costs sent an S. O. S. call to the Railway City for financial assistance.

DUNDAS CENTRE CHURCH CONGREGATION TENDERS RECEPTION TO PASTOR

A congregational reception was tendered Wednesday night to Rev. W. E. Pescott, B.A., the new pastor of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, and Mrs. Pescott. Representatives of all church organizations were present, and all referred to the impression already created by Mr. and Mrs. Pescott in their work.

Suitable replies were made by Mr. and Mrs. Pescott. Mrs. Pescott assured the women's organizations of her support in their endeavors. Mr. Pescott asked for the co-operation of the members and their support. He referred to the old record of the congregation and expressed the hope that once again the church would enjoy the reputation that it was almost impossible to gain admission to the building, so great were the congregations. He urged attendance twice a day at church instead of once a day.

The different organization representatives who spoke were: Mrs. (Dr.) Tennent, who spoke for the Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. William Heaman, for the Ladies' Aid Society; Dr. Wilson, for the Epworth League; W. H. Winnett, for the Sunday school; J. F. Kern, for the trustee board; J. Parnell Morris, for the choir, and Professor James H. Bowman, for the official board.

Refreshments were served by the women, and at the conclusion of the reception, votes of thanks were tendered them and to the Sunday School Orchestra for its selections.

William Heaman acted as chairman.

LONDON MAN BECOMES VICE-PRESIDENT FOR ELECTRICAL WORKERS

Ernest Ingles, a representative of the Electrical Workers Union here, has returned from Atlanta City, where he attended the annual meeting of the international organization. Several hundred delegates were present, and the session was one of the best yet held.

Mr. Ingles was elected vice-president for District No. 5, which comprises all of Canada, with the exception of British Columbia. He will spend much of his time traveling.

WOMEN AT BIRR TAKE INTEREST IN WORK

According to Mrs. Gordon Wright and Mrs. S. F. Lawrason, who attended and addressed a large attended meeting of the Women's Institute at Birr on Wednesday, the women there are taking much interest in the food conservation movement and the signing of the pledge cards was in order during the afternoon.

Mrs. Wright spoke on the subject of "Citizenship for Women," Mrs. Lawrason giving a report of the provincial convention of the Women's Citizens' Association, which met in Toronto in September. This organization was formerly known as the Ontario Equal Franchise Association.

ADDITIONAL DUTIES FOR MAJOR CAMERON

Major N. K. Cameron is to take temporary command of the forestry and railway construction depot here, for purposes of administration, in place of Major C. O. Fairbank. This command will be in addition to that of the 63rd Battery. Major Fairbank will be attached temporarily to the assistant general's staff in place of Lieut. Col. T. G. Delamer, who has been transferred to "F" unit, Military Hospitals Commission command.

CAPT. A. C. SPENCER, son of ex-Mayor W. M. Spencer, who has received promotion in Light Horse after two years' service in France.

NO DRAFT CALL TO BE ISSUED UNTIL REPORTS FINISHED

Fifty Days Will Elapse at Least, Says the Deputy Registrar.

COUNCIL HAS SO DECIDED

Nothing Will Be Gained, However, by Delaying Service or Exemption Cards.

That the proclamation to be issued on October 13 under the military service act is not the call for duty and that the duty call will not, in all likelihood, be issued for at least 50 days after the proclamation declared was again made by Deputy Registrar Walter E. Wismer today.

That 50 days would elapse between the proclamation and call for duty, Mr. Wismer said, was the opinion of the military service council at Ottawa. He had attended a meeting of the council in Ottawa on September 24, when the work to be done between the time of the proclamation and call for duty was outlined in detail to all deputy registrars and registrars.

Soldiers On Leave.

If the proclamation for the first class of recruits is issued on October 13, as announced in press dispatches today, all males in the Dominion who are unmarried or widowers without a child between the ages of 20 and 34 automatically become soldiers on leave without pay.

Those coming within this class must then apply at their nearest postoffice for service or exemption cards. Anyone failing to secure one or the other within a specified period, viz.: between three and four weeks, will be considered in contempt of the act and liable to the punishment provided for such.

Four Divisions.

The work of the registrars throughout the Dominion will be divided into four classes. Fit, unfit, exemptions granted, and exemptions refused. Those who have been granted exemption by the local tribunal and those found medically unfit will be provided with certificates to that effect. These certificates will be granted conditionally.

After the local tribunals have reached their decisions in all the applications for exemption and the specified time for applications has passed the registrars in all parts of Canada will send in their reports notifying the Government that everything is in shape for the call for duty for the class specified or a certain division of that class. Then and not until then will a man be called for actual training.

No Gain By Waiting.

The man who secures his service card the first day of the proclamation will not be called to the colors one day sooner than the man who happens to be the last in his military district to be refused exemption.

The call for duty will be simultaneous. This explanation is made by Deputy Registrar Wismer, so that any young man who signs the service card the first day knows that he will not be called for any sooner than if he waits until the last minute.

The principal questions to be disposed of between the proclamation and call for duty are, the medical examinations and the hearing of the applications for exemption.

Anticipating that the tribunals in some districts might require more time than others, the military council, according to Mr. Wismer, fully expects 50 days to elapse between the date of the issue of the proclamation and the call for duty.

COSTS COMMISSIONER

companies. The forthcoming report will show the capitalization and gross profits of such companies as well as their profits per barrel. It will deal with their operations (speculative and otherwise) in grain, showing their profits so derived as distinguished from those made up on the production of flour. So far as possible it will distinguish between export and home business. All the companies have made full and frank disclosure, the results of which are almost ready to be shown in tabulated form."

The report contains a table showing the cost of bread per pound in ten cities based on actual cost for the months of July and August as shown by the returns received from bakers. In each case more than 50 per cent. of the total amount of bakers' bread sold in these cities is reported on.

Beginning with Halifax, the table shows the average cost of flour used in baking during the month of July to be $8.20 and $9.25 in August. The cost of flour, ingredients, baking, delivery, management and overhead charges per pound of bread was 5.767 cents in July and 6.533 cents in August. For Montreal the average cost of flour per barrel used in baking during July was $9.61 and in August $10.14. Manufacture and delivery per pound loaf was 7.241 cents in July and 7.264 cents for August.

Average cost of purchased flour was $9.20 in July and $10.39 in August.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE CAN NOT VISIT LONDON NOW

Tells Mayor Itinerary Will Prohibit Appearance Before Canadian Club.

Mayor Stevenson and Ald. H. B. Ashplant were in Toronto yesterday and formed a portion of the civic and provincial representatives who met Lord Northcliffe. They interviewed the famous journalist relative to a visit to London, where he was to address the Canadian Club, and be present at a civic function. Lord Northcliffe declared that he was forced to decline to come here at this time, owing to the re-arrangement of his itinerary. However, he said, he may consent to come later.

LIMITING OF COALDEALERS' PROFITS BY FUEL CONTROLLER ADEQUATELY PROTECTS PEOPLE

Announcement Is Made From Ottawa of Drastic Action Contemplated by Canadian Government Official—Coal Consumers Will Be Safeguarded During Coming Winter, But Half-Baked London Scheme Must Be Voted Down.

Need for the establishment of a municipal coal yard—if, indeed there has ever been any—passed yesterday with the official announcement made for the benefit of Londoners by the office of the Canadian Fuel Controller at Ottawa that immediate steps are contemplated for the fixing of maximum profits, and to provide completely adequate protection for coal consumers from private profiteers.

The telegram which came to London over the signature of Mr. C. W. Peterson, the deputy fuel controller, acting in the absence of his chief, Mr. C. A. Magrath, is as follows:

OTTAWA, Oct. 3, 1917.

"Regulations are now under consideration fixing maximum profits for brokers, wholesalers and retail dealers in coal, and machinery for enforcing such provisions is being provided. THESE PROFITS WILL BE ON A REASONABLY LOW BASIS.

"The Fuel Controller can assure the people of London fair treatment at the hands of the dealers, and the only justification for municipal coal yard would apparently be any economy in handling that could be effected.

"(Signed) C. W. PETERSON."

Thus the people without the expenditure of one cent on the part of either property owner or other domestic consumer, are furnished with adequate protection from the difficulties that have beset the householder with mounting war costs. The fuel controller exercising the complete power vested in him under the War Measures Act will see that definitely fixed and "reasonably low" profits alone are exacted by those who handle the coal between the mine and the consumer.

ACTION WILL PROTECT PEOPLE.

The controllers' action goes further than could the municipal coalyard, even if a supply of anthracite were secured for such an institution, for action by the city council could reach only the retailer in London. The Government agent will reach right back to the mines, curbing costs by drastic and sweeping measures.

The announcement from Ottawa, had it been received while time for such action afforded, would no doubt have resulted in withdrawal of the coalyard scheme, but as matters now stand the bylaw is scheduled for a vote on Saturday, and the people will have to dispose of the question. That they will with unanimity oppose the measure is not doubted.

But even had not the fuel controller taken action to protect the people, it is not doubted that the people would have rejected the civic coalyard scheme, because of the unfair burden that it will impose upon the already over-burdened taxpayer. With the city tax rate at 34 mills this year, and threatening to take an unprecedented jump to FORTY MILLS NEXT YEAR, the property-owners are demanding that the council put the lid on the spenders. The city treasurer's announcement that he is left with more than TWO MILLION DOLLARS' WORTH OF UNSOLD DEBENTURES on his hands was received with amazement and the gravest concern. To spend further in the face of such conditions is branded by one of London's biggest businessmen—who, by the way, has been a consistent supporter of public ownership, as applied to hydro and the London and Port Stanley Railway—as outrageous brigandage and treachery to the interests of the people.

ASK PEOPLE TO SPEND HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS.

But in the face of such conditions those who are out for the jobs and for the chances to spend that the scheme will afford boldly tell the people that the expenditure of $25,000 alone is not contemplated, and that their scheme for this year actually calls for the establishment of no less than eight $25,000 municipal coalyards in various parts of the city. Their first story was that a yard would be placed on the line of the London and Port Stanley, but now they have concluded that there must be eight coal systems, each with its high-priced manager, and the whole string under the superintendence of a man whom it is proposed to pay a salary that would swallow up the coal bills of a big percentage of London's workingmen.

The eight yards alone, it is announced, will cost the people between two hundred thousand and a quarter of a million, while the stock, though only soft coal can be purchased, will run to another half-million dollars.

The situation is one of real seriousness for the man who pays taxes, and unless the people turn out on Saturday to register their votes against the scheme there is no doubt that they will suffer furher heavy increases in the drain imposed by civic taxation.

RISK OF LOSS OFFSETS SLIGHT SAVING PROMISED.

But the people are asked to risk this heavy loss in face of the fact that they are promised by the boosters of the scheme only a saving of fifty cents a ton on what coal they say they hope to secure. The average consumption of the workingmen of London is from six to seven tons. The result is that the average man stands a poor chance to save three dollars or three dollars and a half a year on his coal bill, and at the same time he is faced by the moral certainty that his taxation will jump perhaps double that amount.

Mayor Church of Toronto, the man who proposed municipal coalyards for the Queen City, and who strove to accomplish his aim, traveled to the big coal centres of the anthracite field, and found it absolutely impossible to buy one pound of hard coal for a municipal yard. The coal combines of the big mining districts slammed the door in his face. As a result of this Toronto is keeping out of the coal business and is relying on the fuel controller.

OTHER CITIES FOUND SCHEME WOULD NOT WORK.

Stratford, too, thought of municipal coalyards, and on the advice of the fuel controller, who declared that nothing could be done by such means to either increase the supply or reduce the price, the plan was abandoned.

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board looked into an application from Ottawa for the right to establish fuelyards, and the board concluded that the scheme was not in the interests of the people. Sanction of the plan was accordingly refused.

But the London spenders have their plans laid for the raid on the public treasury. They have bonded the site for at least one of the eight yards, at a stiff price; they have awarded one of the managerial jobs to a man who went bankrupt in business for himself, but who looks good enough to take down a big salary from the people. With the real leaders of the people opposed to the plan, and every argument of common-sense and good business against it, the people will vote the bylaw down on Saturday.—Advertisement.

London, Ont., October 4.

HOW THE C. N. R. PLEDGE WAS BROKEN.

IN THE YEAR 1914 the Borden Government enacted legislation by means of which the Canadian people guaranteed the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway to the extent of forty-five million dollars. In return for this guarantee the Dominion was to secure forty per cent of the stock of Mackenzie & Mann. Hon. Arthur Meighen, solicitor-general, was the author of the bill, and, so it was professed, in order to safeguard the people of this country, a contract was entered into between the Government and the company.

Section 24 of that contract provided as follows:

"If authorized by the Parliament of Canada the governor-in-council may, on such terms and conditions (if any) as Parliament may prescribe, at any time while any event of default may exist, and be continuing, by order declare the equity of redemption of the Canadian Northern and of all persons whomsoever in the mortgaged premises to be foreclosed, and thereupon the equity of redemption of the Canadian Northern (and of such other persons) in the mortgaged premises, and every part thereof, shall be and become absolutely barred and foreclosed, and the same shall thereupon be vested in His Majesty, in the right of the Dominion of Canada, any statutory enactment or any rule of law or equity to the contrary notwithstanding."

At the time Sir Herbert Ames, one of the prominent members of the cabinet, interpreted this clause for the benefit of Parliament and of the people, and spoke as follows concerning it:

"The Government has very carefully looked ahead in regard to what might happen in case of failure or default. Ordinarily it is a very slow process to foreclose a railroad, and for bondholders to take possession of the physical assets thereof. The Government in this case, however, has supplied a method of quick procedure whereby the axe drops instantly, and whereby there can be no coming back for further assistance. It is definitely stipulated in this understanding what shall constitute any event of default; it is so clearly defined that there can be no possible misunderstanding. Should the Canadian Northern Railway fail to pay interest on the securities which are to be issued in connection with the guarantee which we are now authorizing, or should they fail to carry out any of the conditions contained in the trust deed, as accompanying that guarantee, they would commit an event of default. Should the Canadian Northern or any other previously guaranteed securities, or hereinafter guaranteed securities fail to pay interest, they would commit an event of default. If any part of the system goes into the hands of a receiver, if any branch of the whole tree shows any sign of decay, that is an event of default, and in any of these events the Government can drop the axe without delay. I have heard the agreement described somewhat as a culprit who has confessed judgment, and has been let out on suspended sentence. Some elements of the agreement certainly can be compared to such a case. The trial is over."

The most casual reader can see that the Government pledged itself to foreclose on the C. N. R. in the event of default. Default has occurred twice since the original loan of forty-five millions. And today the C. N. R. crowd are standing with itching hands waiting for the award which shall place millions in their pockets for stock that is wind and water.

After a second loan of fifteen million dollars had been granted, it was decided by the present Government to appoint a commission to investigate the railway problem and to arrive at a solution. This was the Drayton-Acworth-Smith commission. The situation was gone over and a majority report and minority report were received. A searching estimate was made of the value of the C. N. R. system from the basis of cash investment, from the physical basis and from the basis as a going concern. The conclusion of the majority report was as follows:

"We conclude, therefore, that the shareholders of the company have no equity either on the ground of cash put in, or on the ground of physical reproduction cost, or on the value of their property as a going concern. If, then, the people of Canada have already found or assumed responsibility for the bulk of the capital; if they must needs find what further capital is required, and if they must make up for some years to come considerable deficits in net earnings, it seems logically to follow that the people of Canada should assume control of the property."

The Government has neither lived up to its pledges, to its contracts, or to the findings of the commissioners it appointed at enormous salaries to investigate the situation. It has been helpless in the hands of the Toronto financial interests which hold the stock of the C. N. R. In 1914 it was stated that "the trial was over," while today the deal is under way to pay these railway promoters who went ahead on their own responsibility to construct a railway and were not asked by the country to do so, tens of millions of the people's money.

Canada never stood at so grave a period in her history. The C. N. R. swindle was forced through by the legislative blundgeon which the present Government has seized on every occasion, rather than appeal to the people.

The cards are stacked against the Liberal party in every possible way. If that party is returned to power it will be because a mighty preponderance of public opinion, both Liberal and Conservative, must rise to overwhelm the Government which machined the C. N. R. bill through the House on the eve of an election. On every hand are the evidences of a rising tide of indignation, which is convinced that the worst jugglery in the history of the Dominion has been practiced since 1914. The contract made with the C. N. R. for the benefit of the Canadian people has been treated as a scrap of paper. Government for the barons and millionaries holds sway.

"DOMINATED BY THE MONEYED INTERESTS."

IN ITS ISSUE of Monday, August 6, the London Free Press in dealing with the question of newsprint investigation, after the finding of the minister of finance had been set aside and a "commission" appointed, said: "No wonder there is talk that the Government is dominated by the 'moneyed interests.'"

It also asked: "Does the Government fear the papermakers?" and spoke of "public distrust in the desire of a Government to deal fairly with the consumer" being "fostered and furthered by just such proceedings as have been witnessed in the issue with the paper producers." It likewise accused the Government of dallying with the matter.

There is no doubt that the present Government is "dominated by the moneyed interests," and when our contemporary feels this domination in its counting-room, its readers get the truth of the matter. "When you hit a man in the pocket," etc. And our local contemporary is aware that just as the Government has been "dominated by the moneyed interests" in the newspaper print situation, so it has been "dominated by the moneyed interests" in paying for the defunct C. N. R. millions of the people's money.

SOLDIERS' PENSIONS AND THE C. N. R.

THE "government by money" at Ottawa had all kinds of time to consider the claims of Mackenzie, Mann & Co., and to arrange for the awarding of probably $60,000,000 on common stock of the C. N. R., which is not worth a dollar.

The same Government had no time to give consideration to the soldiers' pension bill. It refused at last session to consider the highly important consideration of whether the private soldier should not receive as large a pension as the officer.

There was time to rush the C. N. R. bill through in 29 days. The conscription bill dragged through its weary way for 103 days, or nearly a third of a year. Soldiers' pensions were not even considered, although a bill was prepared.

Millionaires who put the present Government in power own it body and soul. One ten a day for the private soldier, and pensions accordingly! Tens of millions for the Toronto knights!

CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING.

THE Quebec Telegraph points out how singularly appropriate it is that Thanksgiving Day falls on October 8 in Canada this year.

The life of the present Government comes to an end on the day before, and the whole nation will have cause for the most sincere Thanksgiving. There will be a real celebration of this event from coast to coast.

A WORD FROM RALPH CONNOR.

IN REPLY to Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., who asked which leader the kaiser would support, Laurier or Borden, we would respectfully refer him to a statement made by Rev. (Major) C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) in a recent speech before the Kiwanis Club at Winnipeg. As is well known Major Gordon served at the front for many months. He said:

"When war broke out, the first scenes were full of promise that Quebec would be full of fire. What cursed thing came across our sky and so changed that promise? We all can see some of the mistakes that have been made. We cannot solve this problem and do our duty in Canada in this war unless we secure the French-Canadian heart and soul. Take that into your hearts and listen to no man who will tell you that we can do without Qpebec. Let there be anything like civil discord in this crisis, and you give aid and comfort to the Germans to the extent of fifteen or twenty divisions of men, for nothing would rejoice the heart of the foe like a division in the ranks of those whom the Germans had come to regard as their fiercest and most ingenious opponents."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Newsprint manufacturers appear to have qualified as candidates for the profiteers' club.

Sir Wilfrid has left the Liberal leadership many times—in the Conservative papers that wish he would do so.

It is now definitely known that the date of the coming elections will be—whatever Premier Borden likes to make it.

Hindenburg says that Germans must gnash their teeth in determination. There will be room also for weeping and wailing.

"Liberal chief too great load for party," says a Conservative headline. And we all know which party he is too much for.

Having decided that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's leadership weakens Liberalism, how is it the Tory press is so anxious to have him retire?

Wonder if opinions on the right of aviators to bomb undefended towns have changed recently in Stuttgart, Frankfort, Coblenz and Treves.

One great help to conservation of foods would be a couple of weeks of warm weather. Ask the farmer who has tomatoes and fruits awaiting the sun.

Headline says: "3,200 Unharmed Turks Captured by Maude's Men." This will lose its significance if "unharmed" is pronounced in the cockney dialect. It makes a difference.

W. F. O'Connor, K.C., will seek information, previously refused, concerning the capitalization of the William Davies Company, at the inquiry today. Let us hope the old promise "seek and ye shall find" will be fulfilled.

FACING THE CONSEQUENCES.

[Toronto Star.]

Our profiteers and fortune-makers have had their way with this country during this war, and their defenders have, helped keep the country in a fool's paradise. The distressed and worried statesmen who permitted it are now faced with the consequence.

Why a Nation Leads

Second of a Series of Extracts From a Notable Article by the Late Hon. David Mills, K.C., P.C.

[Extract No. 2, from article written by the late Hon. David Mills, K.C., P.C., in April, 1896, with reference to a future great war.]

If the notion be true that a nation is called by Providence to represent an idea and serve some great purpose, the order of events must be, in the life of such a nation, an order of progression; and, if this could be interrupted or destroyed, the nation would have, as such, but an abortive existence. It may well be that the existence of many states is only auxiliary to the furtherance of the design contemplated in the existence of the one great leading state of the time. Apart from the furtherance of that design, their existence has no great purpose. Just as thousands of forest trees serve only to form and to give symmetry to the few great trees that survive and reach maturity, so the majority of states serve mainly to give vigor and strength to the one placed by Providence in the van of human progress. Every great state that has played an important part in the history of humanity has had a beginning, a middle and an end in its history. It constitutes a symmetrical whole. When its end comes it seems to have had a life rounded off and completed. There may be much in that history which we cannot but condemn; there may have been very wide departures at times from a high standard of rectitude. At times that which is evil seems to have triumphed over that which is good. But at all times we can trace through its history, as we can trace the Gulf Streams in the broad Atlantic, the great purpose for which it holds the first place. When we speak of the perfection of a nation we use a relative term; we measure it by its own type—by what we discover that type to be. We consider the end it was designed to accomplish, and the perturbing influences which from time to time operate upon it. And the advantages of historical study will be greatly lessened if we fail to observe these influences, and to correctly appreciate the character and design of the forces, both external and internal, by which a state is impelled onward.

An epoch is complete when its historical development has unfolded everything wrapped up in the idea of progress which it represents. When this is done it no longer moves forward, because it has ceased to have any impelling motive carrying it beyond the point which it has already reached. The laws of this progressive development always harmonize with each other, because there is a necessary relation between all the parts of a nation's life. Show me an institution which a nation has outgrown, which no longer fits into those parts of its organic existence which have been reformed, and I will show you an institution which will produce friction and unrest until it is adjusted and brought into harmony with the others. Every nation has an individuality of its own, which is seen in its art, industry, religion, philosophy and government. In some states one of these characteristics is developed to a much greater extent than the others. In some states the civilization is broader than it is in the other states, and the national life has moved along all these lines. When the national energies are exhausted, progress ceases. At first there is rest, and then disintegration and decay. The state with the widest civilization has also the fullest, the most instructive history. When I say history, I refer to the events of national life in a period of progress, and not to the events in a period of decay. Every epoch has an individuality of its own, as certainly as every nation has its own personality. We can designate the age or the epoch which has produced certain types in works of art, certain doctrines of religion, certain systems of philosophy, and certain theories of government, and certain notions of functions of the state. Now, when a state is struggling to the front, it brings with it different ideas from those entertained by the state already holding the first place. And even when the dominant state has completed its mission it does not yield its place without a struggle. Its defeat means the triumph of a stronger and more youthful people, who are destined to carry the banner of progress still farther onward. "War," says M. Cousin, "is nothing more than a bloody exchange of ideas." It is the triumph of the one who bears the treasures of the future over one who has nothing further to bestow. What gives interest to the great battles of Platea and Salamis, Marathon and Arbela, Xama and Pharsalia, Lepanto and Vienna, but this, that there were great ideas, as well as great forces, arrayed against each other? These great events are "the judgment of God in history"; that judgment is always just, and the world in the end gains by the change. Every student who reads Demosthenes sympathizes with the orator and patriot against Philip and Alexander. But this is due not to the purity and patriotism of the Athenians, but to himself. The king of Macedon was unscrupulous; he was ambitious, but the Athenians were worse; they were luxurious and venal, and the world gained by the fall of Athens and the success of Macedon. Demosthenes was a splendid character; every young heart thrills with admiration for the cause, and the man. But there were not enough like him remaining to preserve the state. The state that succeeds must make sacrifices; it is only amidst great trials, patiently endured, that success is earned, and these struggles indicate points of departure from which nations move forward, upon hitherto untrodden pathways, to a nobler life than they had before attained.

HER AWAKENING.

By Martha Mitchell.

After a tiresome trip up the White River, Ralph Sanders pushed the prow of his canoe into the bank and then began making a home in the edge of the Ozark country. After getting a patch of mountain and valley into some semblance of a home, he was stricken and died. Sanders was an unmarried man, and the one whom he named as heir to the little speck of a mountain home was Grace Milton, then in her early 'teens. It was with no little degree of surprise that young Miss Milton received the announcement at her home in Virginia that she was the heir to a certain tract of land in the Ozark mountain country.

She turned the business of seeing after the property over to a lawyer cousin, and forgot all about it. And when this cousin moved to another city a few years later, he handed Grace Milton the papers pertaining to her property. She filed them away and forgot them again.

The months stretched into years during the time that the little place had no tenant, and the space that Ralph Sanders had cleared there in the forest became a wild jumble of young pine, sassafras and bamboo. And before long the low house that he had built was completely hidden from the river. Over the place the razor-back hogs and lean cows from the neighboring farms came to forage on the young growth. There, too, the children of the community came to play at hide-and-seek among the young pines that rose like giant needles over the yard. In the rooms of the house, still partly furnished, they played "keeping house" with no one to take exception to the noise they made in their riotous frolicking.

Later still, these same children came to roam through the growth on their childhood playground, two by two, as lovers in that more quiet world where two is company and three is a crowd.

Meanwhile Grace Milton was growing up in the society of her surroundings, forgetful of the little wilderness that was passing from her possession because of unpaid taxes. While she dreamed dreams, the half-wild children that played over her western property grew up to reverence the memory of the little desserted place that had been their unrestricted playground, and they came back to the spot years later with half-formed thoughts of a home just like it.

Spring had come again and Virgil Ferris, one of the boys who had romped over the place, now a stalwart man, began clearing away the young growth, little thinking that this very act would restore to him the sweetheart with whom he had quarreled.

About this time Grace Milton was seeking vainly for some refuge, some place where the memory of her bitter words would cease to burn like a hot iron in her soul. For she, too, had quarreled with the man whom she loved, and all because he refused to have his wife independent of him and his fortune, while she desired independence for the sake of maintaining her so-called "woman's rights." Grace knew he was right; knew that he was right when he said she only thought she was strong-minded, and doubly right when he said she was best fitted for wifehood and motherhood; that the other things in a woman's life just served to fill the time until the real office came. But Grace resented this, and now she had only a bitter memory of his strong face, the deep-set eyes and firm mouth set in lines of pain as he said, "Very well, Grace, I love you too well to care to see you other than as my wife. I shall wait in silence, hoping for the day when you will come to be ready to be just that."

She had sought forgetfulness in suffrage meetings, in society, in charities, church work and travel. But the pain at her heart grew, and would not be erased. Then a solitary camping and tramping trip to her Ozark estate, which had long been a source of merriment among her friends, suggested itself. She would go to the Ozarks and stay until the tumult in her brain and heart subsided, for she would not make her peace with her lover. Because, she argued, wouldn't that just be admitting that she was wrong—admitting it to her friends as well as to him?

After she alighted from the train in the village of Rumkle she learned, by dint of much questioning of the sleepy agent, that the Sanders estate was "where ye see them young pine saplin's, that's it; about a mile down the river."

After getting her directions she declined the offer of a ride in a ramshackle old buggy drawn by a more ramshackle old sorrel horse, and picked her way down a little-used and very rutty road toward the "pine saplin's."

Many paths crossed and recrossed among the slender trees, but none of them seemed to lead anywhere. She was about to despair of ever finding the log cabin, of which she had heard little and spoken much, when she heard a sigh-almost a sob—not far away. Holding her breath and listening, fearing she knew not what, she heard a man's voice, deep and rich and all untrained, singing an old ballad. He was evidently using an axe, for now she heard the even blows on a log. A girl's form darted down one of the paths and, without thinking, Grace followed. She halted when she came in view of the young man swinging the axe, for the girl was running toward him now, frankly crying. Grace stepped back among the trees, but still within earshot.

The man exclaimed, "Oh, you!" Then no more was said until the girl's voice broke out:

"Jack! Jack! I'm so sorry I ever said I wouldn't marry you and be a farmer's wife. I will, I will; but why have you begun planting here? Don't you know how you always said it was a sort of fairy place and its owner a fairy far away, who didn't want it disturbed?"

"Yes, I know," said the man, "but I just decided that fixing up the old log house and seeding the cleared ground wouldn't be disturbing even a fairy's place; and anyway, I'm doing it for the fairy."

"But, Jack, do you think that the owner of it would ever part with it?"

"No; I'm quite sure the owner would never part with it at any price."

"But why? It can't be very valuable after all——"

"It has changed hands," he interrupted, "and the owner refuses even to set a price on it."

Grace listened in her leafy retreat, and wondered how her Ozark property could have passed from her hands without her kowing it.

"Who owns it now?" asked the girl, awe-struck.

"I do," cams the answer. "It was sold for taxes two months ago and I bought it in for us."

The girl laughed softly. "How did you know——"

"Oh, I just knew you couldn't help knowing how I wanted you, and that you would really rather live with me on a farm instead of in one of those cheap, gaudy cottages in the centre. They are not real, dear," he said softly. "They just pretend to be homes, and I know the owner of this place will never care to redeem it, for it wouldn't be a home to her. She never romped over the old house with her lover; she doesn't know which path leads to the big spring and which leads to the black haw tree. So she doesn't want it. Nobody wants a place that isn't a home."

Tears stood in Grace's eyes now. A home! "Nobody wants a place that isn't a home." The words pounded themselves into her brain. This was a home for these two, and hers was far away. She laughed as she turned back toward the village, determined to catch the "accommodation" as it went back to the Center.

"Good-bye, young lovers. Good-bye, Ozark estate, I'm going home."

October 1, 1916, Mason & Risch, Limited, opened to the public their sheet music and small musical instrument department in connection with their London branch. Knowing the past reputation of this old and established firm for fair dealing, the public welcomed the opening of this important department, knowing that they would in the future receive sheet music and small musical merchandise at prices unheard of before in London. Through your patronage this department has been made a success far greater than ever anticipated. To you we tender our sincere thanks and hope that we may be favored with your future patronage. To those who have not as yet visited our store, we extend a hearty invitation to do so. As a mark of appreciation to those who have favored us with their patronage in the past, and in order to make new friends, we are offering, on this our first anniversary, everything in this department at the following greatly reduced prices:

RED CROSS AND C. W. C. A. COLUMN

"A TREMENDOUS DEMAND."

It was Mr. Dooley, wasn't it, who, in attempting to tell of the thousands and thousands of fish that choked the rivers of British Columbia, exclaimed in despair:

"Sure Oi couldn't lie about it if Oi tried!"

One feels a little like him in trying to tell of the needs of the Red Cross and C. W. C. A. No one need be afraid of exaggeration in speaking of the socks and hospital supplies that our army must have. The danger is of making the situation seem less serious than it is.

"Information from both France and England," says the latest Red Cross Bulletin, "point to a tremendous demand during the coming winter."

This statement may not be taken as seriously as it should; for last winter we were told that the demand upon our women would be tremendous, and yet this winter it is infinitely greater. So we will have to coin a new word to tell how much we must do. We cannot overtake our task without more help, and the help must come from the women who have either done only a little or nothing at all in the past three years of war.

As has been urged before, every Red Cross and war-working society must do its best to increase its working membership. There are hundreds and hundreds of women, be it said to our shame, who have not yet used their needles for their country. They must be roused to a sense of the gravity of the situation. It is inconceivable that we should rest comfortably in our homes while our wounded men have insufficient care.

Make the Men Pay.

Just a word in the ear of some of the outlying societies. Word comes frequently from some of our best circles in the country telling of women who are willing and anxious for more work, but their society has not funds to pay for sufficient material to keep them busy. This is a serious situation, because the central society in London has funds for the city alone and has no power to spend it on material for any work outside the city. So it is absolutely necessary that each branch finance itself.

Now, it seems too much to expect that the women should do the sewing and knitting, and at the same time raise the money for all the material, especially in these days when the price of wool and cotton goes aeroplaning beyond sight. So here is a word of sage advice, dear knitters and sewers, make the men put up the money! They can do it if they like. That's the way we women did it in London, and we just couldn't get along any other way. Tell them that it isn't "woman's sphere" to get out into the world and earn the money. You will get all you need if you go about it in the right way. This is work for their boys and they will foot the bills when they see what you are doing for them. Just interview members of every men's organization in your neighborhood and near it, and get them to promise you an income that will keep you sewing and knitting till you are out of breath.

There is the county council and the township council, there are lodges and brotherhoods and churches and boards and societies and what not filled with men whose hearts are as warm as yours. They cannot sew or knit, poor things. But they can keep their wives and sisters and mothers sewing and knitting, if they only will.

Just try it, and the worry of each circle will be to work hard enough to spend all the wealth it will receive.

And That Kitchen, Too.

And then you will have some left over every month or so to send a little to all the many overseas and home needs that do not come within our income. There are the field comforts we are raising money to send to the trenches. Our boys' wants never end, it would seem. They need buttons and shoelaces and handkerchiefs and tooth brushes and towels and matches and vermin powder and needles and soap, and wristlets and socks and sweaters and socks and gum and candy and socks and cake and socks and—oh, a hundred and one other things—and socks! We can make the socks, but money must be sent to the C. W. C. A. for most of the other things.

And then there is that kitchen at Byron, which is still a dream kitchen. Oh, oh, but aren't we busy.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Got the Sequel.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have a book called "the Golden Key." Now has any of the readers the sequel to it, namely, "A Heritage of Love," who would be so kind as to loan it to me? Please let me know through the page and I will send postage for same. Could any one give me a recipe for canning pumpkin? And oblige, S. C.

Ans.—Request referred to readers. Who has a copy they'd be kind enough to loan?

2. Here is one method said to give good results as to keeping qualities: Cut up pumpkin into convenient pieces, remove seeds and skin; place in kettle and cook to a pulp. Add ¾ cup sugar and 1 teaspoonful salt to each quart of pulp; seal into sterilized jars, having everything boiling hot. Screw covers on tightly as possible. If jars are perfect should keep all winter.

Who Does Macrame Work?

Dear Miss Grey,—Can you or some of the readers tell me where I can get a pattern for macrame work? I hope you can help me. I am a Dutch girl. We came to Canada three years ago. I hope you can read this letter. Many best wishes to you and the readers from, JANET.

Ans.—Welcome to our midst, lass from over the seas. You do wonderfully well at the English for a three-year sojourn in Canada. Now I do not happen to know where such a fancy-work book might be obtained, so am asking readers. If anyone can oblige with an address, we shall be most grateful.

Of German Descent.

Dear Miss Grey,—I'm returning some recitations that have been sent to me; they belong to "134th Highland Girl." I was glad to have them and intend to make use of them during the coming winter. Many thanks for same.

I wonder if "German Reader" would like to correspond with some one of German descent? If so, leave your address with Miss Grey, so that she could send it to me. I'm inclosing a chocolate cake recipe for "Soldier of the Soil;" maybe she will like it and may-be not, but there is nothing like trying.

Miss Grey do you know how to pickle carrots?

Do many write to you from this city? Best wishes to you and Pageites. From MARION.

Chocolate Cake—One cup grated chocolate, ½ cup sweet milk, ½ cup brown sugar, yolk of 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cook slowly like a cream, cool, then add following: Half cup butter, ¾ cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, 2 cups flour, in which sift 1 teaspoon soda. Bake in a slow oven.

Ans—The inclosures will be returned to "Highland Girl." Glad you liked them. The only recipe I have for pickled carrots is to boil them until soft, chop finely, adding sugar, salt, pepper and mustard to suit taste. Pack into a bowl, cover with cold vinegar and let stand a day before using.

Yes, we have quite a few correspondents from your city, and a large number of readers.

Do Not Have Profit.

Dear Miss Grey,—As I was looking over last week's papers, I saw a letter from "Young Matron," saying the grocery man makes so much money. I don't see where she can live, because the grocery men where I live sell their butter and eggs for the same as they give for them, so I don't agree with her about them making so much profit on what they sell.

Just a question and I will close.

1. Is Lux good for the hair?
2. What do you think of my writing?

GROCERY MAN'S DAUGHTER.

Ans.—My dear, I'm afraid I'll be assailed with many inquiries as to the name of your home town, so may as well say first of all that "Miss Grocery Girl" did not give it! To city folk it sounds a bit like Utopia, this retailing of dairy produce without profit. Would that London merchants would follow suit!

1. I've never heard of or known anybody using Lux for cleansing the hair. Personally should not favor the idea, although the article is certainly good for wash fabrics.

2. Fairly neat. The small "w" is probably your weakest letter. And make the letter "h" with more of a loop.

It's for "Henrietta."

Dear Miss Grey,—I am inclosing the words of the old song, "Sweet Genevieve," requested by one of the readers of the Page. I have forgotten her name.

1. How to make a good candy (fudge or other kinds), suitable to send overseas.

2. What is good for a fern turning yellow?

3. What do you think of my writing?

Wishing Miss Grey and readers good luck, will say adieu.

PATSY O'FLANNIGAN.

Ans.—It was "Henrietta de Presles" who asked for the song, and as apparently I'm never going to find room to print the verses, perhaps "H. de P." will be good enough to send address and a stamp for it.

1. You would see my request for recipes from readers in answer to "Girl of the Limberlost," and the recipe for cream raisin fudge given therein. Am hopefully awaiting other suggestions from those who regularly pack boxes of goodies for loved ones overseas.

2. There's probably a grub at the root of the fern, or may be the drainage is not good; repot in sweet, fresh soil, with good drainage. Do not allow stale water to collect in the jardiniere.

3. Fairly good.

Furloughs For Super-heroes.

Dear Miss Cynthia,—It was inspiring to read what a grand success Mrs. H. A. Boomer had made in her efforts to help our heroes by circulating petitions to the Minister of Militia, in London and nearby towns. The parents of our lads will never forget her noble help. I did not dream, when I asked her aid and the aid of London's devoted women, that a noble petition, bearing over 4,000 names would be the result. I feel sure that it will have the most far-reaching effect, and, with other petitions, and motions passed by public bodies, and questions asked by prominent parliamentarians, help to convince the Government (which surely sympathizes) that this is a suitable time to bring home our gallant veterans to a well-earned rest. I have appealed to the executive of the I.O.D.E. to aid, and I shall have an article in the October's Women's Century on the subject, appealing to all Canada's women to help; and I feel sure they will, for their no relatives in the old country, and permanent homes in Canada, might be included in a furlough. The number to be relieved is quite small, comparatively. Why, the boys might be relieved by some of the battalions (I could name some) which are still training in England though under arms for a year or two. Cheer up, everybody; the cruel war may end more quickly than now promises. Cheer up, mothers; for a sympathetic minister of militia may soon find a way to give you a sight of your dear lads. What joy it will spread all over broad Canada! Hopefully yours, GARRETT O'CONNOR.

Bridgeburg, Niagara River,
Sept. 27, 1917.

A Mother's Problem.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a few lines to utmost.

ask you if you will print this request, hoping some mother will give me a helping hand. How to feed six healthy children and ourselves on not more than $10 a week, as that is what I try to do but find it hard just now and only one man bringing in the money, so would some one help me through your valuable paper, and please tell me about my writing, and oblige,

Yours truly, INGERSOLL.

P.S.—I could send a brown bread recipe if any one would wish it.

Ans.—'Tis a problem perplexing more than "Ingersoll's mind just now. We have many economists in our circle of readers, and I hope some of them reply to her request, telling how they manage to stretch the scanty dollar to its

What Well-Dressed Women Will Wear

A colossal cornucopia of fashions has been shaken out over the heads of women, and one is catching as one can catch here and there. So much is changed, so much that is new is offered, so vast a variety of stimulating and enlivening fashions have fallen from the skies, as it were, that women, over alert for interesting clothes at this season of the year, are asking a thousand questions, and adding more before these are answered.

Under this stimulus, the one who report fashions must try to meet the situation by turning out the news in that old, old form of journalistic expression known as the reporter's notebook. After a while affairs will simmer down. They will establish themselves on a sound basis, and probably remain on that foundation until next February. However, there is no hope for calm at this moment, and therefore I pour out all the news of the hour in paragraphs. They cover the situation as far as it goes:

The strongest evidence that women will wear high collars in the winter is that they are appearing in the cheap, ready-to-wear blouses. Some of these are boned, and fit the neck. Others have a ruffle at the top of the high edge. Neither style is as attractive as one that flares at the top in the French fashion and envelops the flesh at the top of the neck instead of pushing it up.

The strong desire shown by the great designers is to follow the lines of the figure in all gowns. This eliminates petticoats in a large measure. When they are worn, they must be exceedingly slim and of soft material.

The tendency toward the Directoire grows more marked as the autumn advances, especially as regards colorful waistcoats that fit the figure.

Kolinsky will hold its place as the leader of peltry this season. It will be lavishly used for trimming street suits. Hudson seal ranks high. Its soft and pliable skin allows it to fit in with the clinging drapery of the year. Manufacturers say there is a strong demand for fine grades of Hudson seal, especially for coats. Straight box coats that flare slightly at the hem will be fashionable.

Jet, in every form, will be acceptable this year. The reopening of the old mines in England, which were once worked by the monks, has given a strong impetus to the trade in black crystal. Sequins will not be used. The surface will be facetted and highly polished. Entire gowns of jet in superb design, mounted on black tulle, will be offered as the first fashion for evening, although they are very expensive.

Jet buttons will be put on gowns of serge, satin, velour and velvet. Belts of jet will be used on one-piece frocks for the afternoon. The cadet sash of the hour, which is used on short coats as well as frocks, will be weighted with thick jet tassels.

In more ways than anyone could think were possible, grey is mixed with other colors. It is especially effective when placed with subtle shades of blue, Violet, heliotrope, salmon, watermelon pink and flame red are some of the colors which are put with grey gowns to be worn for all hours of the day and evening. Grey one-piece frocks for the street, offered as a substitute for tailored suits, have fitted, mediaeval corselets made of braid.

Careless cravats on the most formal suits gain in importance. This kind of neckwear started in Paris last May, but the American dressmaker did not take it seriously until the new autumn models arrived.

These cravats are made of the cloth of the suit, lined with fanciful fabric, or they embody a brilliant color scheme, which has many advantages in that it

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists.

IN SPARE TIME BE YOUR OWN UPHOLSTERER

At this time of year, when we are all looking forward to more or less time spent indoors, we suddenly become conscious of many defects in the furnishings of our houses. The curtains in the windows are faded, the cushions on the divan are soiled, the covering of the easy chair is worn. And then, perhaps, we get an interior decorator or an upholsterer in to estimate on doing over the various rooms of our house. The next thing we do is to get quite discouraged about the amount of money we should be forced to spend if we followed out all these experts' suggestions. But there is really no reason why we should be at all discouraged.

First spend what you can afford to spend in having some of the things done over by a professional. Then get to work yourself and put the rest in shape. Of course, you cannot do expert upholstering without learning how to do it, but you can do a great deal more than you think you can if you have never tried.

Go to the upholstering department of some big store and there invest in the various materials you need. Ask plenty of questions and learn just what sort of needles, thread, buttons, molds and other accessories you will need for the work you have in mind. Look at the cushions and furniture covers of various sorts with an examining eye and, if you wish, even take notes on the way they are made. If you buy upholstering fabrics in the store there will be no exception to this.

Of almost first importance is the choice of materials you make for the work you have to do. A poorly upholstered chair in the right color is far more effective than a perfectly upholstered chair in the wrong colors. So choose your colors with discrimination and plan out the colors of the whole room before you buy anything.

Next supply yourself with several yards of cheap cloth of some sort—unbleached muslin is excellent—some strong sheets of newspaper, a ruler, pencil and shears. Now block out your pattern roughly, but as accurately as you can, and cut it first from the newspaper. Pin the pattern in places and correct it as your find necessary. Then duplicate the pattern in the cotton, baste it on, tack it in position and make any further correction that you need to. If this final pattern is right you can safely go about cutting the upholstery material from it.

It is very often possible to cover old chairs with little slip covers of chintz, or other upholstering fabrics. Don't make these covers look like the crab chair covers that are used sometimes to protect the upholstered furniture in summer from dust and sunshine. But make them a real part of the decorative scheme of the room. You can sew them up in regulation slip style, if you wish, or you can cut separate sections from the back and the leg part of the chair, and after these are in place arrange a cushion in the seat.

In spite of the dye situation, it is still possible to get beautifully colored upholstering fabrics of many sorts. The light and very gay colored chintzes are not appropriate for many living rooms, but there is a Japanese chintz that comes in darker shades that may often be used where the other chintzes would not do. Sometimes a little dull gilt braid may be used effectively by the amateur, and button molds covered with whatever material you are using often give a finished effect to a tufted cushion.

GIANTS CLOSE SEASON WITH DOUBLE WIN; L.C.I. SQUAD IN FINE SHAPE FOR FRIDAY

THE SPORT-LIGHT

By Grantland Rice.

(Copyright). Special District Rights Secured by The Advertiser From the New York Tribune.

THE WORLD SERIES ROUND-UP—THE 50-50 SERIES.

In the big majority of world series offered in the past, there have always been pretty definite ideas advanced as to which club would win.

The non-combatant, by moving out into the highways and the byways, had no great trouble in collecting the popular verdict. This impending series has been a different affair. No one recalls a series in the past where the two contenders looked to be so evenly matched. We picked out four major league ball players who are close observers, and who, in the past, have nearly always been on the right side.

On this occasion none of the four could see any advantage either way. "Fifty-Fifty" was the combined verdict. "The break of the game alone can decide the answer."

THE LINE OF STRENGTH.

Chicago's best chance runs along the line of strength that carries four pickets.

It starts with Schalk and ends at Felsch. The order is Schalk, Cicotte, Collins and Felsch.

This line runs through the centre of the White Sox machine, and the bulwark of the White Sox defence, and one of the main factors in attack.

These four men are all stars of the first order. More than a few neutral observers believe that Cicotte and Schalk will prove to be the great battery of the series; the best of the lot.

And still more believe that Collins and Felsch will be the respective infield and outfield stars of the engagement.

They figure Collins the best infielder on either club—and Felsch the best outfielder.

The general verdict seems to be that Felsch, as a defensive outfielder, ranks next to Speaker in the Go-Get-'em circuit. And Felsch can hit.

COLLINS.

"As far as you can figure anything in baseball," comments Manager Rowland, "Collins is almost sure to be at his best—and one of the big stars of the series."

"Collins is a great ball player at all times. But through the season he is inclined to keep his strength in reserve. He isn't physically powerful enough to hold a dashing pace all the year. If he tried to he would soon be worn to a whisper. But in a five, six or seven-game meeting he can let himself go and move at top speed. And when he does he can carry a whole ball club with him."

"Eddie has already been in four world series. He played great defensive ball in all four. And only one of the four did he slip back at bat. A championship series where he can afford to give everything he has is the place that finds him at his best. I know Collins has been below .300 this year, but I'll be badly jolted if he doesn't reach .300 in the championship."

"There are a few world series types that are pretty close to certainties. Baker was one. So was Duffy Lewis. So was Harry Hooper. So is Herzog. But I don't believe any of them reach their best form in as many different branches as Collins does—at the bat, in the field and around the bases."

A SERIES CLUB.

Manager Rowland had another point to offer for the earnest consideration of those fanatics who esteem the dope.

"The Sox," he said, "are one of the best short series clubs I ever saw. Some clubs are at their best over a long stretch, but not so good in a short dash. The Sox have stamina, but they can also sprint. Last fall, in the city championship, I never saw a ball club change quicker. They went to that series with a smash. A few of the men may get careless over the pennant splendidle, but when it comes to a shorter affair they all swing in with everything they have. This last season we were able to win almost every important series that we needed. Figuring in all these details, I believe the Sox will be one of the best looking machines for the next few days that ever bagged a championship."

WHITE SOX HOPES.

But after all it is that line of strength from Schalk on to Felsch that is carrying the bulk of White Sox hopes.

Schalk, Cicotte, Collins, Felsch—no wonder Rowland believes his main highway is guarded far beyond ordinary ways.

The Giants in rebuttal offer McCarty, Schupp, Herzog and Kauff, a first class group, but one that is hardly as strong as its rival.

The Giants are just as strong to the right of this division line and a bit stronger to the left. But each one of these four spots is a vital position and the total is sure to be a mighty factor.

In the Sox camp they include: (1) The best catcher in baseball; (2). the leading pitcher of the league; (3) the best second baseman in baseball; (4) the third best outfielder in the league, topped only by Cobb and Speaker for all around value.

ASSUMPTION EASILY DEFEATS ADRIAN

Game Played in Heavy Rain—Score 28 to 0.

SANDWICH, Oct. 3.—Assumption's footballers betrayed a close acquaintance with Mr. H. 20 on college field here this afternoon.

Furthermore, every member of Captain Burns' aggregation proved himself an apt swimmer. If the same could be said of Adrian College's gridders, a different finale may have resulted, but the locals proved themselves so much better on the crawl stroke, fancy diving and dashing through water that they emerged victors 28 to 0. The event was scheduled as a football game, the contestants had suits and officials had whistles. But that's as far as it went.

A persistent downpour changed the entire affair, but both teams insisted on playing to a finish. Bondie, the star quarter, scored twice for Assumption in the opening quarter. Jacques counted in the second, and Nicholson in the third period. The locals were held scoreless in the fourth. Fake end runs and line bucks featured the Assumption attack, only one pass being tried by them because of the slippery oval. Adrian worked one out of five attempts. It was impossible for the losers to fathom the criss-cross attack of Assumption until it was too late, and then the defence of the Burnsites prevented Adrian from scoring.

Scores by quarters:—

Assumption	14	7	7	0	—28
Adrian	0	0	0	0	— 0

Referee, Lawton; umpire, Hippler; head linesman, Close.

Time of quarters—12½, 12½, 10 and 10 minutes.

17,000 SEATS FOR WORLD'S SERIES ARE DISTRIBUTED

Brokers Are Losing Confidence—Beaten by Comiskey?

BOTH CLUBS IN CHICAGO

White Sox Will Not Go To See Giants Play—Rowland Says Practice More Valuable.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 4.—Most of the 17,000 reserved seats for the world series game at White Sox Park were distributed today. Those who had been awarded tickets were notified two days ago to apply today and get their admission cards. The white cards bearing the notice were numbered, and this number corresponds with the number of each ticket. A record of each ticket sold has been kept, and with this the club officials hope to stamp out ticket speculating.

Brokers, who up to today have been advertising that they would have plenty of tickets, appeared to have lost some of their confidence and refused to guarantee tickets for any of the games here. They still contend, however, that they will have "some tickets," but admit that the supply will not equal the demand.

The White Sox, after a day of idleness yesterday on account of rain, are booked for two days of stiff practice. Manager Rowland said that he would not send the team to Weegham Park to see the Chicago and New York Nationals play today, as he considered practice more essential than any lines they might get on their opponents from seeing them play. Eddie Collins, Eddie Cicotte and Kid Gleason, who saw the Giants play Tuesday in Philadelphia, gave the White Sox the benefit of their observations yesterday in a long talk.

Many thousands of applications for reserved seats have necessarily been refused, as the capacity of the park is 32,000, composed of 17,000 reserved and approximately 15,000 non-reserved seats.

The New York Nationals are due here early this afternoon from the east and, according to the program, they are to go direct from the station to Weegham Park for a practice game with the Chicago Nationals.

BRAVES-BROOKLYN SPLIT

Marquard Celebrates 19th Victory of the Season in Second Game at Brooklyn.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3. — New York wound up its championship season here today by winning two games, the scores being 11 to 1 and 6 to 0. Schupp pitched four innings of the first game and did not yield a hit, while New York pounded out 19 hits for a total of 28 bases off Jimmy Lavender and Fittery. With a team made up largely of recruits in the second game New York batted Oeschger freely in the second, while Tesreau was effective.

COOMBS KNOCKED OFF BOX BY BRAVES' HITTERS

BROOKLYN, Oct. 3. — Brooklyn divided today's double-header, the Braves taking the first game 9 to 3, and the Robins the second 3 to 1.

The Brooklyn hits were far between in the opening contest, until the ninth inning, when four singles were bunched, for two runs. Boston batted Cheney and Coombs hard, knocking the latter out of the box in one inning, while Covington hit a home run, Smith and Fitzpatrick tripled, Kelly walked and Tragresser singled, four runs resulting.

Rube Marquard registered his 19th victory of the season when he beat Boston in the second game. The Robins scored their runs off Tyler by long drives. Cutshaw and O'Rourke led in the batting. The final two games of the season are scheduled for tomorrow. Scores:

First game—										R.	H.	E.

INDOOR BOWLING

Trundlers Will Meet to Prepare Season's Schedule Tonight.

A meeting of the Manufacturers' Bowling League was held last night in the National alleys. Representatives from George White Sons, Empire Brass, Hyman's Tannery and McClary's were present. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday night, when it is hoped that representatives will be present from Scott-Chamberlain, Tuckett's, National Brass, London Manufacturing Company and the Murray Shoe Company. The season's schedule for the league will be drawn up then.

Tonight the City League will meet in the National to arrange the games for the season. On Friday night an exhibition game will be played in the National between London and St. Thomas bowlers.

These three men want major league franchises for their cities. Left, President McGill of the Indianapolis Club of the American Association. Right, President McCaffery, Toronto Internationals. Mayor T. L. Church (centre), of Toronto, is a big booster for an American League franchise. They were caught conferring at the inter-league games in Toronto.

Stars of the World's Series

By W. R. Hoefer

(Copyright 1917, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

GEORGE D. WEAVER.
(Chicago White Sox.)

They used to say that "Buck" Weaver had the strongest throwing arm in the world. That was when, shortly after joining the White Sox in 1912, he was wont to cut loose and sling the ball from deep short field to the first base bleachers.

Buck's wild throws and scrappiness made him stand out from the usual run of infielders in those days. He has eliminated his habit of throwing home runs, but his aggressiveness still remains.

Weaver is the type of ball player whose real value cannot be gleaned from batting and fielding averages. Always trying, bristling with action and energy and putting everything he has into his play, he is temperamentally and actually a winning player.

In physical gifts he doesn't class with Jackson and Collins. He won't hit within many points of either over an average season's play. In actual speed these two birds have it on Weaver by the proverbial city block, and as individual ball players there is no comparison between them and Weaver.

Yet "Pants" Rowland insists that up to the time the latter was retired through injury, his playing had at least as much to do with making the Sox a winning club as that of Collins and "Shoeless" Joe. And Rowland was probably correct. The Sox are well supplied with star players, but they have badly needed one of Weaver's type to inject his personality into the club's play and make it a team with color and life, instead of merely nine ball players.

Seven different clubs and almost as many leagues figure in Buck Weaver's baseball rise to a pennant club. Back in 1908 he was an outfielder and shortstop with the St. Mary's College team. On leaving school he played with the Pottstown, Pa., semi-pro club. The following year Cleveland acquiring him, released him to Saginaw, which displeased the peppery Buck so that he refused to report and rambled home.

In 1910 he played with Northampton in 14 games, hitting only .196, was sent York, where he hit .289 in 78 contests, and was then signed by the White Sox, who sent him to the San Francisco outfit.

It was here that Weaver really gained his reputation. Playing a total of 182 games, shifted from the outfield to second base and shortstop, he mangled the pill for .282, scored 90 runs and stole 30 bases.

Present unofficial averages show him hitting .280 this year, and rate him as one of the best sacrifice hitters in his league.

Should Weaver get the Sox shortfield job in the series, the Sox have a slight advantage on the season's figures. He has outhit Fletcher this year, stolen more bases, and covers at least as much ground. Both played scrappy, peppery, live baseball. With Risberg playing short for the Sox, the Giants have a decided advantage on the "dope."

ARTHUR FLETCHER.
(New York Giants.)

When the world series of 1912, that mad, hectic tussle, drawn out to eight games, had ended, two things stood clearly revealed—a new world's champion ball club and a dead game ball player.

The ball club was the Boston Red Sox. The player was Arthur Fletcher. Never, perhaps, has a ball player given a worse series exhibition than did Fletcher in that 6—6 tie game. He made three awful errors, was nervous and unreliable through the entire game and was a sorry spectacle. Yet never has a ball tosser displayed a greater degree of courage than this same Fletcher in pulling himself together and playing rattling ball during the last four games of the series.

It was a remarkable exhibition of heart and nerve. With the New York fans howling to McGraw to take him out, and the ball-yard scribes heaping sarcasm and blame upon him, Fletcher came through at last and made good. A situation like this would have broken 19 out of 20 players. It simply made Fletcher.

Last year many critics called Artie the best shortstop in the game, mainly because of his superiority in batting. He finished the season with a .286 average, far above that of any other regular shortfielder. He hasn't hit so well this season, has fallen behind in bases stolen, and doesn't cover as much ground as either Maranville or Scott, yet it is doubtful whether he is topped by any other shortstop, at that.

Take one slant at that long, scrappy-looking jaw of Artie's and you immediately suspect him of being aggressive.

Watch him through the game, note his energy, and listen to his ceaseless chatter, and you are certain of it.

Like the inimitable Hercog, Fletcher is a typical McGraw player. Together they make a great keystone pair, excelled in mechanical ability by some, but unapproached in the scrappy, hustling qualities so liked by the little Napoleon.

Fletcher was born in Collinsville, Ill., January 6, 1886, and has been in professional baseball eleven years, a fact that will probably surprise many fans who read this. He first played semi-pro ball for Collinsville, received his first professional contract from Dallas, Tex., and went to the Giants in 1909.

He has payed in three world series, playing disappointingly in 1911 and 1912, and batting for .278 and showing well in 1913. Artie is 5 feet 10½ inches tall and weighs about 170 pounds. His collective batting mark since becoming a Giant regular is impressive for a shortstop, as in the last six seasons he has hit for .285.

EARLY DREAMS FAVORITE AT LEXINGTON TODAY

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 4.—This is Transylvania Day at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association meeting, and one of the most brilliant contests ever waged for the $5,000 classic is expected. Before the race Early Dreams was classed as the favorite, with Miss Directed second choice, and Busiest Lassie and Ima Jay favored by a large contingent of betters.

In addition to the Transylvania an attempt will be made to complete the 2:09 pace, and the Phoenix Hotel free-for-all, which were unfinished yesterday on account of rain. Sandwiched between these events will be a 2:09 pace and a 2:12 pace.

SOME "FIGHT" WHEN MORRIS MEETS BONDS

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Local fight fans were disgusted last night at the bout between Carl Morris of New York and Joe Bonds of Tacoma, Washington, at Sonmer Park. In the third round Bonds' seconds threw the towel into the ring, accepting defeat, though the "fight" up to that stage had been exceedingly tame. It was to have been a ten-round affair. Morris weighed 220 pounds and Bonds weight was given out at 200, though he looked lighter.

Joe Burns knocked out Benny Cohen in the ninth of a ten-round scheduled bout between these two Montreal boys.

JOSE CONCANNON DEFEATED.

Buffalo, Oct. 4.—Frank Taberski of Schenectady, pocket billiard champion, defeated Jose Concannon, New York, for the title, 450 to 302, in a three-block series of games which ended this morning. Taberski overcame last night a big lead, which Concannon had piled up in the two nights' play. He pocketed 277 balls to Concannon's 92 in the night's play.

BILL McKENZIE WON.

Winnipeg, Oct. 4.—Pte. Billie McKenzie of Winnipeg, a member of the Royal Flying Corps, scored a well-deserved victory over Gus "Doomberg of Minneapolis, here last night after 12 slashing rounds.

Billie Burke of Winnipeg, knocked out Spider Kelly of Minneapolis, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

SECTIONMAN MURDERED IN WILDS OF ONTARIO

Fort William, Oct. 4.—With every appearance of having been murdered the dead body of Peter Puichuski, sectionman at Crest station, was found last night near 19th mile post on the Canadian Government Railway here.

His skull was badly fractured and he had a wound in the neck which resembled a bullet wound and two somewhat similar wounds on the hip and in the groin. His pockets were turned inside out, and his watch was missing. An inquest was commenced last night and adjourned a week.

DOPE SHEETS SHOW MOONEY GIBSON IS 2ND OLDEST PLAYER

Thirty-Seven Years of Age—Thirteen Years in Majors.

BORN IN LONDON IN 1880

Record Beaten Only by John McGraw—Not Likely To Work This Year.

With few exceptions the work of the players has been far from brilliant when in competition for baseball's biggest prize. One of the exceptions is the playing of George Gibson, when, in 1909 in the series between the Pirates and the Tigers, his splendid catching and all-round good work gave him fame among fans. This year Gibson is with the Giants, assisting John McGraw running the club and is not likely to take an active part in the games. "Mooney" is the second oldest player in either the White Sox or the Giants, and the only man on either team who has been playing with the big leagues longer than him is McGraw.

Dope sheets show that Gibson was born in London on July 22, 1880, making him 37 years of age. He has been with the big leagues for thirteen years and his home is given as Mount Brydges. He began playing ball with the Buffalo club in 1903 and since then has risen rapidly to prominence as a catcher. His biggest year was in 1909, when he was behind the bat for the Pittsburg Pirates in the pennant-winning battles with the Detroit Tigers. London fans will not soon forget that year. They felt as if they had a personal interest in the National League club.

Manager McGraw of the Giants is the only man on either team who has had more experience in the major leagues or is older than "Mooney."

Gibson was in his prime in 1909. He caught in 150 games out of the 154 that his team played. His able directing of the youngster, Babe Adams, was one of the kid's main assets on his road to fortune. Gibby caught perfectly. He didn't have any errors passed balls and did his share of the hitting, batting .240. He even thefted two sacks from the Tiger catchers. He is the only Giant who was a regular on a world's series winner.

At the present time there does not seem to be much chance of his getting into the series this year unless the veteran Schupp is working.

GIANTS ARE NOT HANDICAPPED BY CHICAGO OPENING

Records Show Visiting Clubs Have Won in Seven Games.

BETTERS ARE DOUBTFUL

Offered 6 to 5 If Series Opened in New York—Even in Chicago.

New York, Oct. 4.—Are the Giants handicapped by opening the world's series in Chicago, the field of their opponents? One might be prompted to think so, as it would be natural to assume that the team playing on its own grounds before a friendly crowd would have the advantage, says the Sun.

Often one hears fans in discussing the series say: "Too bad the Giants open in Chicago. I think they would have a much better chance if they started in the Polo Grounds."

Men who bet on baseball seem to take the same view. Before President Hempstead of the New York Club lost the toss on the first game poolroom men were offering six to five on the Giants if the series opened in New York, and even money if the series started in Chicago.

Are Giants Handicapped?

But answering that opening question are the Giants really handicapped by opening in Comiskey Park? World's series history indicates that the home team has no advantage over the visitors. During the thirteen series between the National and American Leagues, the visiting clubs have won in seven openings, the home club in five, while one game resulted in a tie.

In their past world's series the Giants have fared slightly better on the road than at home. They lost six out of eleven on the road, and seven out of twelve at home.

The White Sox also had a rather freak record in the Cub—White Sox series in 1906. They won all three games played in the Cub park, but lost two out of three in their own grounds.

GASSED AT HOME.

Wingham, Oct. 4.—Early yesterday morning, Miss Nellie Breen, who was staying with Mrs. J. Naylor over night, awoke from sleep in a suffocating condition due to gas escaping from a coal stove. Medical aid was called, and both ladies are now out of danger.

COLLEGIATE TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE FOR FRIDAY'S BIG GAME

Local Rugby Squad Ready to Best St. Thomas C. I.

HAVE SOME REAL PLAYERS

Coach Houser Has Collected Some Fast Men for Annual Tussle on Field Day.

The London Collegiate Institute rugby team is in good shape to meet the St. Thomas C. I. on Friday afternoon in Tecumseh Park. The locals have been putting in a lot of hard work rounding into shape, and Coach Houser of the Collegiate staff is satisfied that his men are in the best condition possible. Every night during the past few weeks they have been having signal practice, tackling and combination play, and now the squad looks like a real bunch of pigskin chasers. Competent critics agree that there is some very promising material in the team.

More candidates than usual turned out for the preliminary workouts, and from this bunch some good material was picked. Quite a few of the boys were new to the game, but under the skilful guidance of Mr. Houser and Captain Syme, physical instructor, who assisted in coaching, they are now doing some nice work. Several members of last year's team are back, and these, fortunately, are star men, who are good on any part of the grid, and who may always be counted upon in a pinch. Captain Dennis and Manager Duncan McLean are two of the bright and shining lights. Both these boys are right there all the time. McLean played a fast game at quarterback last year, and this year is in right half. Dennis is in centre half, where he will have a chance to make his strength felt the most. Both these players are fast runners, and never fall down on a pass, and get their man every time. They are good all-round athletes off the grid as well.

Dunlop is a new man of the L. C. I. roster. He is from Woodstock College, and is a strong addition to the team. Malcolm Campbell is another snappy man whose work will likely stand forth on Friday. Art Gillies is on the line-up, too.

"Our boys are all good kickers, and all can tackle," said Coach Houser, "and I am confident that we will keep the excitement down in the Saints' end of the field all the time. I have every confidence in my team."

The team on Friday will be about as follows: Scrimmage: Centre, Taylor; right, McMillan; left, McCormick. Inside right, MacPherson; inside left, Windsor; middle right, McWilliam; middle left, Cowley; outside right, Bryant; outside left, Campbell; quarter, Dochstader; centre half, Dennis; right half, McLean; left half, Dunlop; flying wing, Gillies.

Spares: Keenleyside, McDonald, Hicks, Weld, Banks, Levsey, Logan, Gunther, Henderson and Thompson.

NATIONALS TAKE FIRST FROM AMERICAN TEAM

Cardinals Defeat the Browns in First of St. Louis City League Series.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—Baird's hit in the ninth scored Hornsby with the run that gave the St. Louis Nationals a victory over the Americans in the first game of the fall city series. Loudermilk outpitched Meadows, but poor support cost him the game.

Score:

PATRIOTIC FUND TO BE STUDIED BY COMMITTEE

Estimated Revenue Required for 1912 Will Be Twelve Millions.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—The regular quarterly meeting of the national executive of the Canadian patriotic fund was held this morning. His excellency the governor-general presided.

A discussion took place amongst the members as to the best methods to be adopted to secure revenue for the fund for the coming year, should the war last until the end of 1918. Although there was a wide divergency of opinion, the general tendency was for the continuation of the voluntary subscription, many of those present expressing themselves as being opposed to discontinuing the voluntary system, which in the past had shown such magnificent results. It was finally decided to leave the question in the hands of a special committee composed of Sir Wm. Mulock, Sir Henry Egan, Lord Shaughnessy, Hon. MacKenzie King, Cyrus A. Birge of Hamilton and Sir Herbert Ames, M. P. This committee will study the question and will report back to the national executive at a further meeting to be held on October 26.

The estimated revenue required for 1918 will be $12,000,000. The report submitted by the treasurer showed that up to the last day of September a total of $29,999,635.27 has been paid into the fund. Sir Herbert Ames remarked that if the books had kept open two days later the $30,000,000 mark would have been passed.

Secretary P. H. Morris reported that a satisfactory arrangement had been concluded with the American Red Cross whereby co-operation would be insured with auxiliary branches of the patriotic fund throughout the United States.

E. L. Brittain, treasurer, submitted a financial statement, showing that up to the last day of September a total of $29,999,635.27 has been paid into the fund. Two more days would have raised the amount to $30,000,000.

TORONTO ALLEYS ARE CHOKED WITH GARBAGE

Roadways Have Been Unswept For Several Days.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—With Controller Cameron protesting vigorously, the board of control this morning adopted a resolution agreeing to submit the dispute of the scavengers and street cleaners to a conciliation board. Meantime the men are supposed to return to work. The findings of the conciliation board will not necessarily be binding. The board flatly refused to consider the men's continued demand for the dismissal of Commissioner Wilson.

In the meantime Toronto's lanes and alleyways are becoming blocked with garbage. Heavy showers today mercifully cleaned the roadways to some extent. They have been unswept for days.

SUTTER—CHANT.

CLINTON, Oct. 3.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at 11 o'clock today in Wesley Methodist Church, when Miss Gertrude Chant, youngest daughter of H. B. Chant, became the bride of John Sutter, a young business man. The bride was handsomely gowned in ivory satin and wearing a veil and orange blossoms and carrying a beautiful bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies-of-the-valley, entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, while the Lohengrin bridal chorus was played by Miss Gladys Cantelon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Jones before a large number of friends and invited guests. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the bride's home, where a wedding dinner was served. The young couple left on a honeymoon trip, after which they will take up their residence in Clinton.

TORONTO MAN SAYS HE HAD FALLEN OFF TWENTY-SIX POUNDS

So Weak Couldn't Walk a Block Without Help.

SUFFERED THIRTY YEARS

Says Tanlac Overcame His Troubles Almost Entirely.

"Only those who have suffered with rheumatism like I did before I began taking Tanlac know how terrible the pain is, and it would be impossible to describe it," said Richard Faulkner, who has been a butcher in Toronto for many years, and lives at 68 McGill street recently.

"The rheumatism bothered me mostly in my legs," he continued, "especially my feet and ankles, but it extended also into my arms and shoulders, and for nine or ten years now I have simply suffered torture from it. Just that nagging, almost unbearable pain, that seemed to strike clean to the bone, and all day at my work I would almost go mad I suffered so. I could get no rest, and many a night I have had to get out of bed and walk the floor, I just couldn't sleep on account of the misery. My legs would get stiff and draw up, so I couldn't walk, I just had to hobble around, and the boys who worked with me expressed pity for me. I have also had a bad stomach trouble for thirty years, and this, together with exposure to cold and dampness in the shops, no doubt brought on rheumatism. My appetite was all gone, and what I forced myself to eat disagreed with me terribly. Gas would form on my stomach and keep me in misery for hours, feeling like I would choke to death. After breakfast I would become nauseated in a few minutes and vomit up all I had eaten. I also had a hurting in my right side and pains around my heart caused by gas on my stomach. I had fallen off twenty-six pounds from my usual weight, and was so weak and crippled up that my son would have to meet me at the car—and we lived just a block from the car line—and help me home.

"I certainly was in bad shape, and when I look back now and think of the awful suffering Tanlac has relieved me of, I don't see how I stood it as long as I did. But Tanlac has just about cleared me of it all. My stomach is now in fine shape and the rheumatism is so much better that I can hardly tell I ever had it. All the pain and stiffness has gone out of my joints and I'm feeling altogether like a different man. I couldn't ask for a better appetite. I'm not troubled with indigestion any more, and it has been a long time since I could enjoy eating like I do now. I have already gained several pounds of my lost flesh back and, to say my wife and I are both delighted with what Tanlac has done for me, doesn't half-way express our feelings. Tanlac is by far the best of all the many medicines I have ever tried, and I will gladly tell anyone trying to find relief what I have found out about it."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the direction of a special representative, and by an established agency in every town.—Advt.

BIG CROWD FROM WHOLE DISTRICT AT DONNYBROOK

Three Fast Races Despite Wet and Slippery Track.

MUCH FINE LIVESTOCK

Horses, Especially Heavy Draughts, Were Best Shown in Years.

[By Staff Reporter.]

DORCHESTER, Oct. 3.—Although weather conditions were anything but favorable, Donnybrook Fair held here today fully maintained its reputation as one of the best fall shows in the district. Visitors came for miles around in all directions. Despite a wet and slippery track the races were all run off and were keenly contested.

The display of livestock was the big attraction of the morning, an exceptionally fine variety of horses and cattle featuring.

Draft horses were entered in large numbers, and the competition was very keen.

Hogs, sheep and poultry were numerous and received much attention from the crowd. The fruit and vegetable exhibit was particularly good, apples and potatoes featuring.

The Ladies' Work.

The ladies' work was one of the big attractions of the exhibition, women from all over the vicinity entering. The exhibits were the best in years.

The principal winners were:

Practical Housekeeping Hints

HOW TO BUY

Go to the store yourself.

Select for yourself the article you desire to purchase. Inquire its price.

If quality and price please you, be sure that you get in weight or measure the amount you buy. Watch the scale. Watch the measure.

You are entitled to all the bone and the trimmings of the piece of meat that you buy. You should take home and make use of such bone and trimmings. The fat can be rendered and used for cooking purposes; the bone and trimmings used for soup or stew. When the trimmings are not taken home, the butcher throws them into a box under the counter and sells them to someone else. They belong to you and you should have them.

In buying meat, don't go in and ask for 25c. worth of meat, and leave the butcher to decide how much meat you should have for a quarter. Select your piece of meat, ask the price per pound; say how many pounds you want; have it weighed; see that you get your weight and that the butcher's calculation as to how much meat you have, at a certain price per pound, is correct. Many a penny is lost to the customer by neglecting the above simple precautions.

Don't buy in small quantities if you can possibly avoid it. Buy for cash and buy in large quantities foods that are not perishable. Buy where you can do the best.

Wherever possible buy in bulk and not in package.

You will find it cheaper to buy your vinegar by the gallon than by the bottle.

Have you ever stopped to figure out how much more you would get for your money if you bought certain articles of food by the pound instead of by the package?

Food that is wrapped and sold in attractive-looking packages must of necessity cost more than the same food sold in bulk, which means sold by the pound. There are several reasons why so many foods are put up in packages.

First. The package looks pretty, appeals to the eye, and makes the food seem more appetizing.

Second. Most of the packages are air-tight and dustproof, and for sanitary reasons a great many people prefer food that is done up in packages.

As a matter of fact, it is possible for your grocer to keep on hand, in bulk, exactly the same foods as the packages contain, and it is also possible for him to keep them in bulk in sanitary, dustproof containers, so that the foods should be clean when they get to you.

Grant That You May Be Worthy of His Sacrifice

Live Up To Your Food Service Pledge

BLYTH FAIR WAS POSTPONED OWING TO HEAVY SHOWERS

Outside Show Is To Be Held on October 11.

BLYTH, Oct. 3.—Blyth fair, which promised to be one of the best in the history of the association, had to be postponed on account of wet weather today. The outside exhibition will be held on Thursday, October 11. A concert given in Industry Hall tonight was well attended. The Blyth band furnished the music for the evening of the first day, and there was a large attendance. The exhibits in the hall were far ahead of former years, especially in vegetables, roots and fancywork. Potatoes were extraordinary, both for size and evenness. The principal winners were: James Jackson, nine firsts and one second; J. J. Pollard, five firsts and one second; E. C. Smith, two firsts and one second; also Mrs. Marshall, J. Mason, J. Somers, C. K. Taylor, W. Scott, C. Cartwright, C. Fraser, John Barr, James Menzies, A. Gower, A. Carr and Duncan Laidlaw were prize-winners in this class.

The grain class competition was also keen, the winners being A. McGowan, W. McGowan, D. Laidlaw, Robert Wightman, H. Young, F. Laidlaw, R. Shortreed, James Menzies, C. E. Smith. John Poter was judge.

The fruit was not up to former years, as it was almost a total failure in this section, but it was better than was expected. The principal winners were: R. G. McGowan, James Denholm, D. Laidlaw, J. J. Pollard, C. Cartwright, W. Scott, C. K. Taylor, R. B. McGowan, Mrs. Marshall. Judge, W. Fathergill.

In fine arts and ladies' work, Miss Livingstone headed the list, capturing 43 firsts and 13 seconds. Other winners were: Mrs. Howie, Mrs. Tambiyn, Mrs. H. Cumming, Miss Symington, J. Pollard, Miss Lavis, James Menzies, Miss Steinhoff. Judge, Miss McClelland.

In the children's competition, Mrs. Howie, Cecil Gardiner, C. Fraser, D. Howard, Alex Elliott, Yonne Haggitt, Margaret Cowan were the prize-winners. Judge, Mrs. McCormick.

The exhibits of cut flowers and the dairy products were unusually fine.

HUGH PHILLIPS HITS AT McLEOD-TELLIER REPORT

Whitewashing Commission Took Part of Evidence.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—On the resumption of the Galt commission today Hugh Phillips, K.C., read to Commissioner Galt a written statement, in which he replied to charges made in the McLeod-Tellier report that he had treated Hon. R. Rogers with unfairness.

Judge Galt permitted the statement to be filed and added that he had found Mr. Phillips at all times eminently fair in his capacity as counsel for the crown before the commission inquiring into the contracts for the construction of the Manitoba Agricultural College. The statement read by Mr. Phillips stated that the McLeod-Tellier commission did not have all the documents before it, that the commission had no knowledge of local conditions, that the commission of Montreal, did not, as related by its own report, go into the evidence fully, and, that there was no basis whatever for the statement that Mr. Rogers had been unfairly dealt with.

BOTHWELL WOMEN REFUSE TO SIGN PLEDGE CARDS BECAUSE OF GRAIN USE

Bothwell, Oct. 3.—The women of the Methodist Church Sunday evening met at the close of the service and passed the following resolution without a single dissentient vote: "Whereas, we have been requested by the Government of Canada to economize on the food for ourselves and families, and, whereas, it has been shown that 880,000,000 pounds of grain was used last year in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor; therefore we earnestly protest against such fearful waste, and respectfully decline further sacrifice while the Government permits the use of the nation's food supply for such purposes."

MAJOR BISHOP GOING TO SCOTLAND SOON AS AERIAL INSTRUCTOR

Owen Sound Hero Wants to Take His Bride Back.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 3.—It is likely that the marriage of Major Wm. Bishop and Miss Margaret Burden, granddaughter of Mrs. Timothy Eaton of Toronto, will take place next week, if he can secure permission from Ottawa to take his bride back to England when he returns November 1. Major Bishop will be stationed near Edinburgh when he goes back to his duties as chief aerial instructor.

A barn belonging to Mrs. A. Bluhm of Sullivan was struck by lightning in a severe electric storm. Threshing had just been finished, and the barn and its contents were totally destroyed. The loss will be large. The shock when the bolt struck the barn was so severe that the windows in the house, 100 feet distant, were broken.

An Owen Sound butcher has arranged for a shipment of the food controller's fish to Owen Sound, and on Friday citizens will have an opportunity to serve fresh cod and haddock.

LAWYER ACCUSED OF WOUNDING HIS SON

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 3.—Robert McBrady, aged 22, is in St. Joseph's Hospital hovering between life and death with a gunshot wound above his heart.

His father, William McBrady, a well-known lawyer, is in the city police cells, accused of having caused the wound. The circumstances of the affair are rather obscure. It is said to have happened in the family home at an early hour this morning. Mr. McBrady on going home late is stated to have found his wife's room locked, and noisily demanded admission. His son from another room interfered, and it is declared the shooting followed.

Young McBrady was a lieutenant in the 141st Battalion, but was not taken overseas because some of the officers had to be taken from the strength, the battalion not being complete as to rank and file.

U. S. SENATE ADOPTS $11,000,000,000 BILL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The conference report on the eleven billion-dollar urgent deficiency appropriation bill was adopted by the Senate today without a roll call, after three minutes' consideration.

BABY SHOW AT WORLD'S FAIR WAS KEENLY CONTESTED

AILSA CRAIG, Oct. 3.—The "World's Fair" held at West McGillivary was not as largely attended as expected, owing to the numerous threshings and silo bees, but otherwise the fair was good. The fancy work was cut out this year, and the extra prizes put on useful articles, such as knitting, quilts, etc. The horses and cattle were a feature of the exhibits. Flag day was held by the girls for Red Cross, and several booths served refreshments.

There were numerous entries for the baby show, and the judges after much consultation, made the awards as follows: 1 Mrs. Fred Neil; 2 Mrs. S. Morley; 3 Mrs. Bert McEwan, Ailsa Craig. The concert in the evening was put on by the Elgar Ladies' Quartet of London, assisted by Miss Leitch, reader of Ailsa Craig, and was well attended.

NEWFOUNDLAND GOVERNOR.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Oct. 3.—The appointment of Sir Charles Harris to be governor of Newfoundland was officially announced today. He will succeed Sir Walter Davidson.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it one-quarter pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advt.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advt.

What Causes Wrinkles? What's the Remedy?

Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and sagginess of skin. Premature aging, mal-nutrition, etc., cause the flesh to shrink, lose its youthful plumpness and firmness. The skin then is too large for the flesh underneath; doesn't fit tightly and snugly as it used to—it wrinkles or sags.

It must be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit the face perfectly in every place, will effectually remove the hateful wrinkles and sagginess. This is easily and harmlessly accomplished by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and using the solution as a face wash. The ingredients you can get at any drug store. The results are surprising. The skin immediately tightens up, becoming firm and fresh as in youth. Every wrinkle and sag is affected at once.—Advt.

TAKE NOTICE

1. That the Council of the Corporation of the City of London intends to construct a cement walk on the east side of Barker street, from a point 495 feet north of Traverse street to the city limits, and intends to specially assess a part of the cost upon the land abutting directly on the work.

2. The estimated cost of the work is $832.35, which is to be paid by the Corporation. The estimated cost of the work per foot is 95 cents. The special assessment to be paid in ten annual installments.

3. A petition against the work will not avail to prevent its construction, but parties may petition the Council, and their petition will be considered.

4. A bylaw to undertake the work will be considered by the Council on the 15th day of October, A.D. 1917.

S. BAKER, City Clerk.

DOCTOR SAYS VINOL IS THE BEST TONIC

Honest Opinion Doctor Gave His Patient

Bedford, Ohio.—"I was in a pitiful condition, weak, nervous and run down so I could not do my housework. I had doctored for years and tried everything under the sun. A friend told me about Vinol. I asked my doctor about it, and he replied, 'It certainly is the best medicine that can be had today. I couldn't give you any better.' I took it, and today I am as well and strong as any woman could wish to be, and it was Vinol that saved me."—Mrs. Frank A. Horkey, Ash St., Bedford, Ohio.

We guarantee this famous cod liver and iron tonic for all such conditions.

GERMANS BEATEN BACK AGAIN ON BRITISH FRONT

Vigorous Attacks Between Tower Hamlets and Polygon Wood.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—An attack by the Germans this morning between Tower Hamlets and Polygon wood, following a vigorous artillery fire, was repulsed either by barrage or by British infantry, according to the report of Field Marshal Haig tonight. All the British positions remained intact.

The text of the statement reads:

"Shortly before dawn the enemy heavily bombarded our positions between Tower Hamlets and Polygon wood; afterwards his infantry attempted to advance. Our artillery opened vigorously, and on the greater part of the front the assault broke down before reaching our lines.

Infantry Clash.

"In the area immediately north of the Menin road, where a few of the enemy succeeded in passing through the barrage, they were completely repulsed by our infantry. Our positions are intact.

"There has been great artillery activity on both sides during the day east of Ypres.

"Yesterday the weather again was misty, despite which much successful observation work was done and many photographs were taken, some showing damage by our bomb raids. Eight tons of bombs were dropped on various targets, and hits were observed on three airdromes in the Courtrai area near Cambrai. Huts and dumps near Douai and sidings at Roulers were also successfully attacked

Six Machines Missing.

"The enemy generally avoided our fighting airplanes, but attacked at long distance the bombing machines vigorously when far east of the line. Six German machines were brought down in the air fighting and four others were driven down out of control. Six of our machines are missing.

THE WEEKLY RECORD OF STEAMERS SUNK IS AGAIN LOWERED

Aggregate Is 13 Vessels—Previous Low Record 15.

GERMANY FALSE BOASTER

World's Shipping Loss Is One-Third of Berlin's Apppraisal.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Eleven British merchantmen of more than 1,600 tons each, and two vessels under 1,600 tons were sunk by mines or submarines last week, according to the British admiralty statement made public this evening.

The total of all losses to world's shipping since Germany's ruthless U-boat war went into effect aggregate about a third of those claimed by the Germans in a statement issued September 1. At that time the Germans alleged that an average of 900,000 tons had been sunk monthly for seven months.

The actual totals of tonnage sunk compiled here show that not even during the most successful month for the U-boats—April—have the figures reached any such proportion, while the August losses dropped to almost half the April figures.

The shipping summary follows:

"Arrivals, 2,680; sailings, 2,742.

"British merchant vessels sunk by mine or submarine, over 1,600 tons, including two previously, eleven. Under 1,600 tons, two.

"Fishing vessels sunk, none.

"British merchant vessels unsuccessfully attacked, including seven previously, sixteen."

The above statement of the British admiralty again lowers the aggregate of British merchantmen sunk by mines or submarines during any week since Germany began her intensified submarine campaign. As against fifteen vessels sunk the previous week, which was the low record since February, only thirteen merchantmen are shown to have been sent to the bottom last week.

MANY FINE CATTLE HORSES AND SHEEP AT WATFORD FAIR

Heavy Shower Resulted in Speeding Events Being Cancelled.

WATFORD, Oct. 3.—Despite most unfavorable weather, a good-sized crowd attended the East Lambton Fall Fair, held here today. Owing to rain the day before fewer entries were made than usual, but the quality of the exhibits entered was high. The midway attractions were not so numerous as last year, and the absence of a merry-go-round caused much disappointment to the children.

Few horses, but more cattle than usual were entered this year. The building with roots and vegetables was well filled with a choice quantity of samples.

Warwick and Watford Women's Institutes had exceptionally fine exhibits in the main building. Tecumseh Chapter, I. O. D. E., sold tags, and Lambton's Chapter I. O. D. E. had a patriotic booth on Main street, where quick lunches were served continuously.

Owing to the condition of the track all races were cancelled.

The prize for the oldest married couple on the grounds was won by Mr. and Mrs. James McKewen of Kirtch. The award for the largest family on the ground went to Andrew Hall of Watford. The special prize for a "win-the-war" speech was won by Wm. Fitzgerald.

Some of the prize-winners were:

Sheep—Wm. McGean & Son swept the lists.

Hogs, Berkshire, J. McEwen; Tamworth, A. H. McLean; Chesterwold, H. Capes.

Poultry—E. A. Doan and E. Laird were the heaviest winners.

Horses—Heavy draft, E. Laird: mare, John Morgan; colt, D. Thompson; yearling, H. McLean; 2-year-old, W. Hodgins; carriage, E. Laird; span, F. Jamieson; single driver, D. Roche; saddle horse, D. Maddock; ponies, W. Annett.

Cattle—Yearling bull, T. Fuller; bull calf, W. Parker, T. Fuller; aged cow, W. Parker; 2-year-old cow, calf and herd, 1 W. McLean & Son, T. Fuller; Herefords, J. B. Parker, W. McKenzie; Poled Angus, J. Buchanan, O. Wall & Son; special prize for calf, W. McLean, R. Manders; special for calf, T. Fuller, J. B. Parker.

GREEK TROOPS REPULSE PATROL NEAR MONASTIR

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The French official report from Macedonia reads:

"Eastern front, Oct. 2.—The artillery activity was quite marked in the region of Ljumnica and Cerna bend. A strong enemy patrol was repulsed by the Hellenic troops north of Monastir."

AUSTRIAN FORCE ANNIHILATED ON GABRIELE SLOPE

Subsequently a Battalion Is Caught by Batteries and Dispersed.

ROME, Oct. 3.—The official report from headquarters today says:

"At dawn yesterday the enemy attacked our positions on the western slopes of Monte San Gabriele; the attack failed completely. The assaulting company was destroyed, and a battalion of the enemy was caught in turn under our batteries and dispersed.

"One officer and 79 men remained in our hands.

"On other parts of the Bainsizza plateau front we captured in successful patrol actions some additional prisoners and three machine guns.

"Activity in the air was very lively during the day. One of our squadrons bombed the railway station of Grahovo. Last night there were two successful raids. Military objectives at Pola were bombed with four tons of projectiles and badly damaged. Two enemy machines were brought down by our airmen. They fell north of Auzza and near Poldmeletz."

PROCLAMATION OCT. 13 FOR THE FIRST CLASS UNDER SERVICE ACT

Three Weeks Then To Report or Claim Exemption.

WILL SOON BE IN UNIFORM

First Batch Will Be With the Colors by Middle of November.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The first class of recruits under the military service act will be called up on Saturday, October 13. A proclamation will be issued on that date notifying men in Class 1 that within a specified time they are either to report for military duty or to file a claim for exemption.

Class 1 is comprised of those who have attained the age of 20 years and were born not earlier than the year 1883, and are unmarried, or are widowers, but have no children.

With the proclamation calling up the men will also be published regulations by which tribunals appointed to hear applications for exemption will be governed. There will be between three and four weeks' delay after the issue of the proclamation, in which applications for exemption may be filed.

This will bring the tribunals into full operation, it is expected, early in November, and probably by the middle of the same month the first batch of men—there are many who will not claim exemption—will be with the colors.

Appeal Within Three Days.

An appeal from the decision of a local tribunal will have to be filed within two or three days after the applicant is notified that his claim for exemption was disallowed.

From the medical point of view, men who have submitted themselves for physical examination are divided into various categories. Only "A"—those fit for service overseas—will actually be called to the colors. All in Class "B," however, will be instructed to hold themselves in readiness. The certificate of the medical board is to be attached. Men in Class 1 placed in any medical category other than category "A" will then be granted exemption till men within their category are called to the colors. When "B" and "C" are so called, any other ground they may have for claiming exemption will be considered.

Grounds for Exemption.

No special class, occupation or trade will be granted exemption as such, but exemption may be claimed on eight separate grounds:

1. Importance of continuing employment in habitual occupation.
2. Importance of continuing employment for which applicant for exemption is specially qualified.
3. Importance of continuing education or training.
4. Serious hardship owing to exceptional financial obligations.
5. Serious hardship owing to exceptional business obligations.
6. Serious hardship owing to exceptional domestic position.
7. Ill-health or infirmity.
8. Adherence to religious denomination, of which the articles forbid combatant service.

Proclamation Delayed.

It was hoped to have the proclamation issued by the end of September, but unforeseen delays prevented such a course. The board of selection was unable to make its appointments to local tribunals and will not complete them till next week. The enormous mass of printing required has also been somewhat of a difficulty. Fifty different classes of forms are required in connection with the administration of the act and millions of forms and circulars have been printed. The board of selection meets again on October 5, when everything is expected to be in readiness for the call.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT GIVES ATTENTION TO RANCHING PROSPECTS

Survey of Waste Lands All Over Province To Be Made.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—R. H. Harding of Thorndale, Middlesex County, formerly a prominent sheep breeder and judge at the winter fair, Guelph, has been chosen by Sir William Hearst, minister of agriculture, to make an exhaustive survey of the waste lands of old and new Ontario to find out the possibilities for cattle and sheep ranching.

He starts on the assignment next week, and in addition to looking over waste lands will visit cattle ranches already in operation in different parts of the province, to see how many head of cattle they feed, what kind of buildings they use, what profits they make and how they run their ranches.

With regard to waste lands, he will learn the extent of the pastures, whether they are well watered, and what shipping facilities there are.

KAISER FLATLY REFUSES TO REFORM REICHSTAG EXCEPT IN MINOR WAY

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—German newspapers report that the project for granting additional representation to overgrown Reichstag districts and for introducing the principle of proportional representations in the large cities is on the rocks. The Government, while flatly rejecting all other proposals of the Reichstag main committee, for the reform of the imperial constitution, had promised to introduce a bill embodying this minor reform, but several federal states now object so vigorously to the bill, which should have been introduced at this session of the Reichstag, that its fate is doubtful.

POTATOES ADVANCE AS LIVE HOGS GO DOWN

Top Price for Spuds Today Goes to $1.40.

The market was poorly attended this morning, and trading was draggy throughout. Prices generally remained unchanged, slight fluctuations in the values of meat and fruit being the only changes recorded.

Large quantities of peaches were offered, following the announcement that this week would be the banner period for the fruit. The quality was poorer than that which characterized the peach offerings during the beginning of the week, many of the peaches being bruised considerably, which is accounted for by the heavy winds that prevailed throughout the Niagara fruit district last week.

Because it was announced in a local paper that the Government had fixed the price of potatoes a great deal of confusion has resulted between purveyors and purchasers at the market. According to the announcement a price of $1.25 had been set by the food controller for a bag of potatoes, and housewives consequently refused to pay a higher value until assured that the so-called fixed price was an error on the part of the press. Potatoes sold at $1 to $1.40, which is an advance of 20c in the retail price. A further advance is not anticipated for some weeks at least.

Other vegetables remained unchanged, tomatoes selling at 40c to 50c per basket, and celery, carrots, cabbages and turnips being in good demand and selling at unchanged prices.

Live hogs are selling at $17.50, a decrease of 25c under the prices of Wednesday. This decline was totally unexpected, as a steady increase in hog prices was anticipated.

Butter and eggs, honey and poultry remained unchanged, either in price or demand.

Oats—December, 59⅞@59¾c; May, 61⅞@61⅝c.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Weakness developed in corn prices today as a result of unsettled conditions in the security market, and because of references to the tightness of money. Ideal weather was also conducive to bearish feeling. In the main trade appeared to be of a local character.

Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to ½c lower, at $1 19½@1 19¾ for December, and $1 16¼@1 16½ for May, were followed by a moderate rally, then a downturn all around.

Winnipeg, Oct. 4.—The tone of the market was very dull at the opening.

Oats opened ¼c lower to unchanged for October at 68⅜@68¾c; December ½c and May ¾c lower at 65⅝c.

Flax lower. The only month opened up at 9:45, and was unchanged at $3 02.

Inspections were 1,066 cars, with 1,300 in sight for today.

DETROIT UNITED EARNINGS.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—For the month ended August 31 the gross earnings of the Detroit United Railways aggregated $1,589,199, an increase of $110,212 over those for the corresponding month a year ago. Against these were expenses amounting to $1,205,179, an increase of $178,202, leaving a net revenue of $348,-$20, a decrease of $67,990. Interest and taxes amounted to $201,740, leaving a surplus for the month of $182,281, a decrease of $71,938.

For the eight months ended August 31 the gross earnings amounted to $11,-903,358, an increase of $1,258,194. Expenses, interest and taxes increased, and the surplus for the eight months showed a decrease of $106,624, as compared with the corresponding period of 1916.

TRAFFIC EARNINGS.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Traffic earnings of the three principal Canadian railroads for the last week in September aggregated $6,563,755, an increase over those for the corresponding week a year ago of $22,689, or 3 per cent. The C. P. R. was the only road to show a decrease for the week.

The following table shows the earnings for the week ended September 30, with the changes from the corresponding week of the previous year:

Railroad.	1917.	Increase.	P.C.
C. P. R.	$3,631,000	$29,000 (?)	.08
G. T. R.	1,828,755	32,289	1.8

MONEY.

London, Oct. 4.—Bar silver, 46¾d per ounce.

New York, Oct. 4.—Bar silver, 92⅛c per ounce.

London, Oct. 4.—Money was in increased supply, owing to the maturing treasury bills. Discount rates were quiet. The banks report a steady demand for the war bonds.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 4.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Important stocks were subjected to renewed pressure at the outset of today's operations. Equipments, motors, oils, tobaccos and local tractions soon recorded losses of 1 to 4 points. Bethlehem Steel, yesterday's weakest feature, advanced a point in the early dealings, but soon lost its gain. United States Steel also held steady at the opening, but soon reacted a point. Rails were lower on more moderate offerings. The reversal became more general before the end of the first half hour.

Noon. — Unsettlement attended the dealings of the morning, occasional rallies in one quarter being more than balanced by greater recessions elsewhere, the list losing all semblance of regularity. Additional liquidation was observed among investment shares, but much of the selling was again ascribed to profesisonal interests. Metals, tobaccos, motors and other speculative issues were the centre of constant attacks, falling 2 to 5 points, and leading steels made extreme declines of 2 to 3.

BEARISH MOVEMENT IN WINNIPEG FLAX

Cash Grain Trading Slow All Around.

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—The flax situation is extremely bearish. There appears to be an enhanced demand from the United States to meet requirements until the large Argentine crop comes forth. Barley was limited. Oats and flax were in good demand. There was a slightly better export inquiry for barley, and October advanced 1c.

Trading in the cash grain department was slow all around. The wheat Export Company were buyers of No. 1, 2 and 3 northern grades of wheat, and also the lower grades for which prices have been fixed. Eastern millers were in the market for No. 2 and 3 northern and lower grades. Prices were unchanged. Demand for cash oats was not brisk. Inquiry for cash barley was good, with little being offered. Cash flax was quiet and unchanged.

Winnipeg closed ⅜c to 1⅛c higher than previous close. Flax dropped 3⅜c for October, 2c for November, and 1½c for December.

Oats—October, 68¼c to 68¾c; November, 67c to 67¾c; December, 64¾c to 65¾c; May, 67¼c to 68⅛c.

Barley—October, $1.22½ to $1.22.

Flax—October, $3.07 to $3.07 bid; November, $3.04 to $3.02 bid; December, $2.98¼ to $2.97½.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $2.21; No. 2 northern, $2.18; No. 3 northern, $2.15; No. 4 northern, $2.09; No. 5, $1.94; No. 6, $1.85; feed, $1.73.

Oats—No. 2 Canadian western, 68¾c; No. 3 Canadian western, 65¾c; extra feed, 65¾c; No. 1 feed, 64¾c; No. 2 feed, 63¾c.

Barley—No. 3 Canadian western, $1.22; No. 4 Canadian western, $1.18; rejected and feed, $1.11.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $3.10; No. 2 Canadian western, $3.04; No. 3 Canadian western, $2.93.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Quotations are as follows:

Wheat—Ontario, No. 2 winter, $2.22, basis, in store, Fort William; Manitoba, No. 2 winter, $2.05@2.07, f.o.b. shipping points; No. 2 northern, $2.27½, track, Goderich, including 2c tax; No. 3 northern, $2.24½.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 65½c, in store, Fort William; Ontario, No. 2 white, 61c, outside; No. 3 white, 60c, nominal, outside.

Rye—No. 2, $1.75.

Barley—$1.18@1.20, outside for malting.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—There was a good demand for grain today, and the market was more active and stronger, at an advance in prices for oats of ⅜c to 1c per bushel. Sales were made of 110,-000 bushels of Manitoba No. 3 barley at $1.34 to $1.34½ per bushel, c.i.f. here; of 15,000 bushels of extra No. 1 feed oats and 20,000 bushels of No. 1 feed for shipment from Fort William, and a number of cars of other grades, in addition to carlots of Manitoba rejected and feed barley and Ontario barley.

Corn—American, No. 2 yellow, $2.15 @2.20.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 77½c; Canadian western, No. 3, 76c; extra No. 1 feed, 76c; No. 2 local white, 72c; No. 3 local white, 71c.

Barley—Manitoba feed, $1.29; malting, $1.31@1.32.

A Sure Cure for Rheumatism.

Who is it knocks and does not boost it?

Sure, it is the man who has not used it, for William Lovelock, the well-known painter in St. Thomas, 14 Station street, for over twelve years, says: "I was all in with inflammatory rheumatism. I went to bed in September, 1911, and the first work I was able to do was on the 17th of March, 1913.

"I was swollen from head to foot; in fact, my limbs were twice the ordinary size, and I was in intense pain for three weeks. I was unable to feed myself, and was suffering more each day. My physicians told me plainly to prepare for the worst, as about ten days was my limit. A friend of mine, who was trying to cheer me up a bit, after the physician had left, remarked: 'Why not try Parker's Oil?' I sent to Small's drug store and purchased a bottle, and, after the first application, received relief, and in three days the pain was gone and swelling reduced greatly. I used seven bottles, and here I am today, willing to testify and give praise to Parker's Black Oil, the sure cure for rheumatism, as I found it.

WILLIAM LOVELOCK.

July 27, 1917.

If your dealer does not keep Parker's Oil, send us his name, together with 25c, 50c or $1 for a bottle, according to the size you want, and we'll ship it to you. Wm. Parker & Sons, 10 Mandamin street, St. Thomas. 71-tf

GROW MORE GRAPES, DR. CREELMAN URGES FARMERS OF ESSEX

Big Demand for Grape Juice Now, Says O. A. C. Head.

AMHERSTBURG, Oct. 3.—Declaring that the "dry" act passed by the Ontario Government had created an increased demand for grape juice, Dr. George Creelman, of the O. A. C., urged the farmers of Essex to grow more grapes when he opened Amherstburg's annual fair.

The mild climate and rich soil of Essex, he said, are well adapted for the cultivation of grapes. Dr. Creelman will make recommendations to the department of agriculture to encourage grape-growing in the Essex peninsular district.

The consumption of wheat flour should be decreased by one-quarter, he said. He also advised substitution of other grains.

Appeal Comes From LaFollette's Home To Chuck Him Out

WAUSAU, Wis., Oct. 3.—Senator LaFollette's expusion from the Senate for "treasonable and seditious utterances and disloyalty to our Government" was asked in an appeal to the United States Senate in telegrams last night, by W. B. Hennemann, chairman of the executive committee of the Wiscon Republican State central committee to the president of the United States Senate and Senator Pomerene, chairman of the committee on privileges and election.

Wisconsin is LaFollette's home state.

Germany Is Trying "Tank" Armed With Three-Inch Cannon

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—The Germans are experimenting with a tank armed with a three-inch cannon and machine guns. The forward end of the tank is fitted with a spur-like ram, while the upper part bears a superimposed cupola, and the armored plates descend sufficiently to protect the caterpillar wheels, which thus are almost invisible.

TWO TRUNKS FULL OF LIQUOR CONFISCATED

KITCHENER, Oct. 3.—Two trunks full of liquor were confiscated tonight at the Canadian Express office at the instance of the Toronto authorities. It could not be learned who the goods were from, as the waybills had not arrived, but they came via Toronto, and it is alleged that the discovery was made at the Union depot through one of the trunks leaking. It is thought the trunks contained several hundred dollars worth of whisky, but neither trunk is labelled as a shipment from a liquor warehouse. They are addressed to R. McDonnell, Kitchener, Ont.

Works Crippled Machine to Own Lines, Bowled Over By Shell, "Beats It."

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Monday, Oct. 1.—(By the Associated Press).—(delayed).—Among recent exploits by British aviators there was one well worth recording which was carried out last Wednesday, a day when several notable encounters occurred. An English airman, after crossing the lines at an altitude of two thousand feet, saw an enemy machine and gave chase, but was driven back by five German Albatrosses.

He returned towards the lines and seeing fifteen men on a railway, descended and scattered them with his machine gun. Nearby he dropped a bomb on a munition dump surrounded by soldiers and the dump blew up.

Once more he engaged the same enemy airplane he had attacked before, but was again driven off by a large number of German fliers.

Caught in Barrage.

He dived to escape from them and in doing so, passed into a heavy artillery barrage. A shell went through the mechanism, cutting his elevator controls and one side of his rudder control. He swung down towards the ground, but managed to pull his machine out of spin by using his engine at the last minute and he landed just behind the British barbed wire. Two soldiers ran to his assistance.

As they were helping the dazed aviator away from the machine a German shell burst behind them, killing one of the soldiers and wounding the other. The aviator was trying to assist the wounded man when the airman himself was wounded.

Shell Dumps Stretcher.

Several stretcher carriers then rushed up and were carrying away the wounded men when a big shell exploded by the side of the aviator's stretcher and dumped everybody in a heap. The aviator did not wait for any more stretchers, but beat a hasty retreat on foot, despite his wounds.

On the same day one British airman dispersed five hundred German troops with his machine gun. On Saturday four British airplanes engaged nine German Albatross scouts.

Britisher Drops Five.

One of the Britishers brought down one enemy machine which crashed to the ground, downed another one in flames and three completely out of control.

Innumerable bombing raids have been carried out by both sides in the last few days. The bright moonlight nights have been especially favorable for this work and after dark the air has been filled with machines from both sides which make their way far back of the line amidst heavy shelling from the anti-aircraft guns.

ARRANGING CANVASS OF WHOLE CITY FOR BRITISH RED CROSS

Meeting of Representatives Tuesday Afternoon.

There will be a meeting of representatives from various organizations in the Tecumseh House on Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for the canvass of the city for funds for the British Red Cross.

Sir George C. Gibbons is chairman pro tem of the organization, and will probably be the chief executive in charge of the campaign.

It is expected that about 75 prominent citizens will be on hand.

FELL OVER DEAD IN COMRADE'S ARMS

Carpenter Dies Suddenly as He Finishes Day's Work.

Henry Laplante, aged 42, a carpenter, who boarded in rooms above 180 Dundas street, fell over dead just before 6 o'clock last night at the farm of Mrs. J. W. Little, near Springbank. He was putting away his tools preparatory to going home for supper, when he suddenly fell over and died in the arms of a fellow-workman. He has no relatives here, and Sam Willis, with whom he was employed, notified a sister who lives in Cleveland. Mr. Laplante came here four years ago from Quebec. Coroner Ferguson, after investigating thoroughly, decided that death was due to heart-failure, and that an inquest was unnecessary. Mr. Laplante had not been well for some days. He was unmarried.

HORSE WAS BURNED IN STABLE BLAZE

Fire of unknown origin partly destroyed the barn of J. G. Dodd & Son, contractors, at 448 King street, about midnight, burned a horse in the stable to death. The fire started downstairs, and was just making its way into the hayloft when the department arrived. By fast work it was checked, and the hay saved. Had the flames got away they would likely have spread into sheds adjoining, where large quantities of lumber are stored.

The total loss is estimated at $500.

23 ELIGIBLES FIT FOR FRONT LINES EXAMINED TUESDAY

Ten More Classed In Non-Combatant Service Rating.

FIVE RECRUITS SECURED

58 Men Come Up For "Examination Only" Before the Armories Boards.

Fifty-eight men were examined under the military service act by the two medical boards at the armories on Wednesday. Five were examined with a view to enlistment, and all qualified for some branch of the service.

Sergt. A. N. Nanfan, who was in charge of the bugle band of the 33rd Battalion, qualified in Class "C," and was attached to the Western Ontario Regiment. Two men were from Cleveland, signed up by the British Recruiting Mission there. They were F. Rider, an Englishman, and L. P. Rouseau, a Canadian. Both were "A 2" men and were assigned to the 7th Overseas Company. M. Mock, a Canadian, and L. A. Molinay, who was born in Sicily, also qualified in Class "A 2" and signed up with the 7th Overseas Company.

Medical board No. 1 examined 24 men, placing half of them in Class "A 2" fit for service with a combatant unit. Four were classed as fit for service with a non-combatant unit, seven were unfit, and the status of one was doubtful.

Medical board No. 2 examined 29 men, placing twelve in Class "A 2," six were in Class "B 2" fit for service with a non-combatant unit, and eleven in Class "E" unfit for any branch of the service.

BELIEVES DUTY TO STAY IN FRANCE AS GREAT AS TO ENLIST

London Boy, Son of ex-Mayor Spencer, Says So.

HAS WON HIS PROMOTION

Two Years' Service on Firing Line Wins Squadron Command for Capt. Spencer.

Capt. A. C. Spencer, son of ex-Mayor W. M. Spencer, and who has been more than two years at the front, has been promoted to a squadron commander of the Canadian Light Horse. His service has been continuous in France.

Capt. Spencer, in a letter to his father, says:

"I feel at present that it is as much my duty to stay on the job over here now, as it was to enlist in the first place. I realize how long I have been away from you all, and how grand it would be to come home for a long visit. Perhaps when the conscripts become useful we may be granted furlough to visit Canada. I hope so."

Capt. Spencer left London in June, 1915, having been a lieutenant in the 7th Canadian Mounted Rifles organized in this city by Lieut.-Col. Ibbotson Leonard. In September of the same year he went to France.

He served as paymaster-quartermaster, and was mentioned in dispatches by Gen. Haig and has since won his promotion to squadron-commander.

MICHAELIS WILL SPEAK ABOUT THE PAN-GERMANS

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—Dr. Michaelis, the German imperial chancellor, according to a dispatch from Berlin, is expected to deliver an important speech on internal political questions at the end of this or at the beginning of next week. The chancellor will answer the interpellation concerning military promotion of pan-German agitation. The interpellation was introduced last week by the Socialists.

Stomach Medicines Are Dangerous

DOCTORS NOW ADVISE MAGNESIA.

Just how dangerous it is to indiscriminately dose the stomach with drugs and medicines is often not realized until too late. It seems so simple to swallow a dose of some special mixture or take tablets of soda, pepsin, bismuth, etc., after meals, and the folly of this drugging is not apparent until perhaps years afterward, when it is found that gastric ulcers have almost eaten their way through the stomach walls. Regrets are then unavailing; it is in the early stages when indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, flatience, etc., indicates excessive acidity of the stomach and fermentation of food contents that precaution should be taken. Drugs and medicines are unsuitable and often dangerous—they have little or no influence upon the harmful acid, and that is why doctors are discarding them and advising sufferers from indigestion and stomach trouble to get rid of the dangerous acid and keep the food contents bland and sweet by taking a little pure bisurated magnesia instead. Bisurated Magnesia is an absolutely pure anti-acid, which can be readily obtained from any drug store. It is absolutely harmless, is practically tasteless and a teaspoonful taken in a little warm or cold water after meals, will usually be found quite sufficient to instantly neutralize excessive acidity of the stomach, and prevent all possibility of the food fermenting.—Advt.

BIG DEMONSTRATION ON FRIDAY EVENING TO AID COAL BYLAW

Trades and Labor Council Expect Thousands in Line.

DEALERS SUE MR. HESSEL

Union Men Will Stand Behind Him in Fight, They Declare.

The trades and labor council will put on a demonstration on Friday evening on behalf of the coal bylaw.

At the meeting last evening it was arranged to have a parade, commencing at the market square at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. There will be a band, and speeches will be made by prominent labor men at intervals. The trades council was enthusiastic for the bylaw last evening.

"We are going to have a demonstration and a parade," said Delegate Wakeling. "We have not the money to spend like the coal dealers, and we cannot get the space in the newspapers with such displays, but we are going to show the public in our own way just where we stand. We are going to wake up a lot of people who are asleep.

Writ for Libel.

"Do you know what the coal dealers, or some of them, have done? Through Meredith & Fisher they have issued a writ for libel against R. H. Hessel for his criticisms of the coal men. He is fighting this fight, and we are going to stand behind him. We will have a bigger and better demonstration than we had last spring.

"I have not got an ounce of coal. Some people may have some, and they are asleep. We are going to get coal, if somebody has to pay the shot. There has been murder for less."

"It is a mighty good thing we are going to have a lawsuit," said President Dean. "Let the coal men come on. We have a solicitor that will give them a battle. We want them to go to court, and we will show them something. Of course, they are advertising a lot. I understand they are paying $800 a week to muzzle the press through these advertisements. That will not hurt us any."

Went to Meeting.

The council adjourned until Thursday evening in order that the members might attend the meeting in the Aberdeen school last night.

Prior to adjournment, President Dean asked the delegates to express their opinion as to labor men sitting on the exemption tribunals. The council was unanimous in the opinion that labor men should be on these boards, and instructed any member of the council who might be asked to act on the tribunals to accept.

President Dean, C. Ferguson and Geo. Wakeling will address the carshop men on Thursday at noon.

The council was notified that there was a strike at the Orbon Stove and Range Company's plant at Belleville, Ills. The customary action was taken.

Volunteers were asked among the delegates to act as scrutineers on Saturday. Several of the members agreed to do so, and they will also take it up among the local unions, in order to see that every poll was properly manned.

The appointments will be made on Thursday evening.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH JURY'S VERDICT IN GOWER FATALITY

Employees of G. T. R. Are Exonerated From Blame.

That Roy Gower, a Grand Trunk switchman, came to his death on Monday morning as the result of injuries sustained when he fell from the running board of a yard engine late Sunday night; that his death was purely accidental, and that the G. T. R. or its employees be exonerated from all blame in the matter, was the verdict returned by the jury at the inquest at the police station last night.

A recommendation was made by the jury that the G. T. R. impress more thoroughly upon its employees the necessity of observing the rule governing jumping on moving engines or cars. Coroner MacLaren presided.

A. C. Dengate, London Township, a Grand Trunk engineer, was the first witness to be called. He testified that he was running a yard engine, and that Gower was assisting in the yard. They were transferring coal cars from a point in the yard to the large storage grounds east of Rectory street.

The engine was facing east after the cars had been placed and the engine was disconnected.

He received a back up signal, and went over the switch, the object being to proceed to the racecourse. After proceeding ten feet he received a stop signal.

Under the Engine.

Lorne Heatherly, the foreman, informed him that Gower was beneath the engine. He was lying midway between the truck and the second wheel, one wheel having passed over his body.

Yardmen are supposed not to get on the front or other running boards of the engine while the same is in motion. This rule at times was broken.

Thomas Green, 783 Hill street, G. T. R. fireman, was on the yard engine with Engineer Dengate. He corroborated the evidence of preceding witness with respect to the circumstances leading up to the accident.

Lorne Heatherly, 456 Horton street, G. T. R. yard foreman, testified he was standing on the right-hand side of the front footboard when Gower turned the switch. Gower gave the sign to proceed, and then made an effort to mount the footboard. His foot slipped, and he failed to grasp the hand rail. The next instant he fell between the tracks, and the engine passed over him. He had immediately communicated the stop signal to the engineer.

Had Copy of Rules.

Thomas Hall, 332½ Hamilton road, G. T. R. yardmaster, testified Gower had worked for the company about one and a half years. Gower had been supplied with a copy of the rules cautioning employees against getting on moving engines.

Dr. P. R. Clegg, who attended Gower's injuries and afterward performed the post-mortem, gave evidence as to the injuries that resulted in Gower's death.

The jury was composed of Jerry Laughlin (foreman), Benjamin Tripp, Elzear Lortie, Bruce McLeod, John Grant, Edward Winnett, R. B. Scott, David Rutherford and Charles Fish.

MIDDLESEX BOY NOW LISTED AS PRISONER

A telegram from Ottawa has confirmed the unofficial report that Pte. Albert VanTassel is a prisoner in Limburg, Germany. First official reports stated that Pte. VanTassel was missing and that no trace of him had been found, but when his brother, Pte. F. E. VanTassel, who is with another unit in France, went to his brother's unit, he learned that Albert had gone over a ridge with a number of others and was wounded and taken prisoner.

That the information was correct is evidenced by the official telegram received by Mrs. Elizabeth VanTassel, Rural Route No. 8, London.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

William Bernard of 583 Oxford street was painfully hurt on Tuesday evening at the corner of Oxford and William streets, when a motorcycle on which he was riding was struck by an auto driven by Hugh Day of 381 Dundas street. Only the prompt action of Mr. Day prevented a serious accident. As it was, Mr. Bernard was thrown from his machine and badly shaken up.

Photoplay News

PATRICIA.

"To Honor and Obey?" the newest William Fox photoplay, far exceeds the best work which Gladys Brockwell has yet done. This production will be shown at the Patricia Theatre, matinee only, today, Friday and Saturday.

In Gladys Brockwell, star of the picture, you have a rising star of the film firmament. Miss Brockwell's previous pictures have proved to the public that she is a player whose work does not consist merely in being beautiful. She has developed to a high degree the power of acting before the camera. With a mere puckering of the brows, Gladys Brockwell can express deep feeling and make plain to screen spectators every point of the story she is portraying.

The city of Los Angeles talks constantly of the phenomenal rise of this charming woman. A year ago she enlisted under the Fox banner to play a small part in R. A. Walsh's cinemelodrama, "The Honor System." The force of her personality made her role stand out prominently in the picture. Thereafter, Miss Brockwell was cast opposite William Farnum in "The End of the Trail," and "Fires of Conscience." Her work proved so excellent that William Fox quickly grasped the opportunity of giving the exhibition an additional star.

When he began this, with "Sins of Her Parent," he was not undertaking an experiment. Miss Brockwell's success was assured. "One Touch of Sin" helped her career and "Her Temptation" was another big step forward. "To Honor and Obey?" is a worthy member of this sterling series of productions.

MAJESTIC.

Roping an unruly broncho from a "flivver" is William S. Hart's latest accomplishment, and was performed while he was in Calexico, on the Mexican border, filming scenes for the latest Triangle drama, "Wolf Lowry," by Charles Turner Dazey, in which he is presented as star by Thomas H. Ince.

While Hart was preparing to go out on the range with a crew of cowpunchers, he was much amused at the difficulty experienced by a puncher in roping his horse. The owner finally tired of chasing the horse and, hearing the jibes of the spectators, left the inclosure.

Several of the cowboys attempted to rope the locoed pony, but without success. Finally Hart, who had seen a "flivver" outside the gate, called Smith and instructed him to drive into the corral. He then mounted to the rear seat and, standing, with rope ready, ordered Smith to chase the horse full speed.

"It was some experience," said Hart later. "The ground was covered with deep ruts. But the cow pony saw the "flivver," and he acted as if he was half scared to death. We finally got him in a corner, and then it was all over, though he sure did give the machine an awful jolt when he reached the end of the rope." At the Majestic today.

Wallace Reid In "The Hostage."

"The Hostage," Wallace Reid's latest Paramount production, which is to appear at the Majestic Theatre Friday and Saturday, will introduce to Paramount patrons a new leading woman, Dorothea Abril. Miss Abril has for some time been a member of the Paramount organization, and gained widespread recognition for her excellent work in Mary Pickford's recent picture, "The Little American." Miss Abril is an ingenue of great dramatic ability, and without doubt the success she has scored in "The Hostage" will be followed by numbers of others, which will be looked forward to with great pleasure by a large number of film devotees.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25-CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Your hair appears glossy, abundant, wavy and beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.
