EIGHT INJURED WHEN G.T.R. TRAIN JUMPS TRACK NEAR BRANCHTON

GRAND TRUNK TRAIN JUMPS TRACK, PLUNGES DOWN 25 FT. ENBANKMENT INTO POND

Eight Persons Are Injured When Spreading Rail Causes an Accident Near Branchton—Injured Are Transferred To Hospital at Galt.

Galt, Jan. 11.—Eight persons were injured when the Grand Trunk train on the Hamilton-Guelph section, due here at 7:40 this morning, jumped the track a mile south of Branchton on a bad curve and two coaches plunged down a 25-foot embankment into a pond. The injured persons were all in the first coach, which slid down the bank, turning three parts over. The cause of the wreck is said to have been a spread rail. Those injured are: Rev. Father Cummings of Walkerton, Ont., badly bruised, scalp and face wounds, injuries to back and arms; unable to be removed from the home of Frank Doud, near the scene of the accident. In the Galt Hospital, Miss Elizabeth Caldwell, Waterford, Ont., collarbone broken, tooth knocked out, nose lacerated, severe injuries to inside of mouth. J. A. Carmichael, 433 Barton street east, Hamilton, scalp wound, bruises on legs. Mrs. W. A. Forester, 680 Main street west, Hamilton, cuts on head and face. Dr. William Burnett, Galt, cuts on head, bruises on body. Miss McLeod, Drayton, Ont., cuts on head, bruises on body.

FOOD MUST BE FURNISHED FOR RUMANIANS TO AVERT DISASTER

International Commission Will Consider Pressing Needs of Isolated Country—Situation Becomes More Alarming as Supplies Grow Less.

Paris, Jan. 11.—By the Associated Press.—At the first meeting of the International Food Commission here today will be considered a pressing appeal for food from the allied ministers in Rumania. The commission having absolute control of food relief, the ministers have turned to it to avert what they say will be a most disastrous situation if Rumania is not fed.

On January 2 the ministers sent the following telegram from Jassy: "Situation becomes more and more alarming. If the Allies do not better it with the least possible delay, and in the meantime do not immediately announce that all measures are in process of execution, troubles yet more serious than those of last week will occur. Notwithstanding the satisfaction given to national sentiment, the people, who are dying of hunger, cast back upon the Allies, from whom they await immediate relief, the responsibility for their extreme misery. Rumania, after having been entirely devastated by the Germans and Russians, is the only one of the allied countries finding itself for fifteen months in total isolation. It could not, like Belgium, be regularly victualed during the occupation. We insist in the most pressing manner, in the name of humanity, as well as for our political and economic interests in this country, that with no avoidable delay an amount in advance of the rations to be apportioned to Rumania be sent here.

"We call attention to the absolute necessity for not continuing the delay that has deferred during the last year the effective opening of credits, which was earnestly demanded in August, but not realized up until the end of December. It goes without saying that it is not now a question of opening credits, but of immediately sending food supplies, payment for which will be arranged for after receipt."

The Earl of Reading and Sir John Beal will represent Great Britain on the commission, while Etienne Clemental and M. Vilgrain will be the French members. Italy has so far failed to announce her representatives.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE ONLY TO BE TAUGHT IN SASKATCHEWAN

Provincial Parliament Passes Amendments to School Act.

Regina, Sask., Jan. 11.—Final reading and passage of the Government amendments to the school act, including the language clause of the bill, was the first act of the Saskatchewan Assembly after the Christmas vacation.

The language clause provides that English shall be the sole language of instruction in the public schools of the province, and that no language other than English shall be taught during school hours, except that French may be used as the language of instruction for children up to and including Grade 1, but not beyond the first year of a child's attendance at school, and that French may be taught as a subject of study for one hour a day where the board of any district passes a resolution to that effect.

Donald McLean, leader of the Opposition, called for a division after presenting an amendment to provide for English as the sole language of instruction and the only language as a subject of study. The amendment was lost, only seven voting in its favor, and the bill was given its third reading and will come into effect on May 1.

NO OFFICIAL REPORT COMPLAINTS RECEIVED

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—Asked with regard to the complaints of soldiers brought back to Canada on the liner Scandinavian, Adjutant-Gen. Ashton this morning stated that he had received no official report from St. John, and was therefore not in a position to make a statement.

BULGARIA'S LOSSES DURING THE WAR

Sofia, Jan. 6—(By the Associated Press).—Bulgaria's losses in the war were: Killed and missing, 101,224; wounded, 1,152,399; prisoners, 10,825. These figures do not include the losses during the retreat from Macedonia, when many died of influenza, exhaustion and famine and 90,000 were taken prisoner. There is a serious development of spotted typhus fever in Bulgaria, more than 400 cases having been found in Sofia.

"Paravenes" Render Mines Harmless

British Invention Used With Great Success by the Grand Fleet.

London, Jan. 11—(British Wireless Service).—Mines and mine fields were rendered obsolete by the developments of the "paravene," the invention of Lieut. Burnley, and consistently urged upon the British navy by Admiral Sir H. Meux. This instrument was officially adopted by the navy early in 1916, and was so successful that special factories were built for its construction. It is now learned that the British grand fleet on several occasions pushed right into the Bight of Helgoland, which, if mines meant anything, would have been a death trap for ships. German experts never solved the mystery. From the time of its adoption to the close of the war, only two warships were reported having been sunk by mines. The most recent use of the paravenes was on the occasion of British warships entering the Baltic through a closely mine-strewn area. The steel wire mooring ropes of the mines are said to have been cut by the paravenes as easily as string is cut by scissors.

GERMAN SOLDIERS ARE DISARMED BY BERLIN MARINES

Several Killed and Wounded in Fighting at Railway Station.

Leipsig, Jan. 8—(By the Associated Press).—A party of marines from Berlin succeeded today in stopping a body of troops on their way to Berlin by meeting and disarming the Berlin-bound force at Delitzsch, near Leipsig. The marines had intercepted a wireless message reporting that the troops were to pass through and were at the station in force when the troops arrived.

The marines demanded that the soldiers surrender their weapons and sharp fighting ensued. The troops lost two officers and three men killed and twelve men wounded. The marines had two dead and two wounded as a result of the fight, which ended with the disarming of the soldiers.

KARL LIEBKNECHT REPORTED KILLED IN STREET FIGHT

Spartacan Leader Is Said To Have Been Slain Thursday Evening.

London, Jan. 11.—Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Spartacan leader in Germany, was killed during street fighting on Thursday evening, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

NO CONFIRMATION OF DEATH OF LIEBKNECHT

London, Jan. 11.—Several dispatches from the Associated Press correspondents in Berlin filed on Friday, up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and received here this morning, contained no mention of the reported death of Dr. Liebknecht. The dispatches, in fact, do not refer to happenings in Berlin, but deal with events in the provinces or with press comment. Nothing definite is known here as to what Friday's developments in Berlin really were.

Delayed Amsterdam advices, dated Thursday, contain reports of further activity by the Spartacans in the Rhine towns. They apparently control Dusseldorf, where several prominent persons were arrested while many others only escaped arrest by crossing the Rhine. The Muenster Anzeiger reports that the Spartacans stormed the prison in Muenster and set free 170 criminals. At Mulheim, during a big demonstration of strikers on Wednesday the strikers seized all newspaper buildings and issued the general Anzeiger, the next morning, as the Red Flag, designating it as the organ of the revolutionary workers of Mulheim. They forbade the issuance of all the other newspapers.

The private residence in Mulheim of Leo Stinnes, the industrial magnate, was entered and ransacked by a mob, which was later dispersed by the police.

NORTHLAND INQUIRY IS CONCLUDED TODAY; WITNESSES RECALLED

Daily Reports of Officers On Ship Submitted This Morning.

BATHS WERE LIMITED

Evidence Into Investigation of Soldiers' Complaints Is All Adduced.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—The Northland inquiry is being concluded today with the recall of certain witnesses and the summing up of counsel.

Westmore was recalled this morning. He told Mr. Orde that only during this inquiry had he learned that two baths near the imperial sergeants' quarters were available for the privates. He had seen them on his inspections.

"Did you ask if they could be used?"

"No."

"Did you at any time point out the accommodation for bathing was limited?"

Mr. Orde explained that owing to some misunderstanding daily reports by officers in charge of sections of the O. C. troops had not been put in. Major Westmore had thought that Capt. Blandford would do it and vice versa. "I think it important to put them in to show that these officers in charge of sections were on the job," said the Government counsel. "Heretofore I was not aware of their existence."

"They should have been produced long ago," said Justice Hodgins. "In view of what we have been discussing all along, it is most extraordinary that only at this stage they should be thought of."

Read Complaints.

Major Westmore was questioned as to the reports. He said they were designed as a resume of the voyage, showing how many men were sick, etc.

"Why were they not produced before?"

"Capt. Blandford was to have done it. The only reason I can offer is that he must have thought them similar to the final report made when the ship reached harbor."

"You made a supplementary report to the department," said Mr. Orde. "How did that come about?"

"On the morning of the 27th," said the witness, "I reported to Col. Crain, and he informed me a series of allegations were made in the papers as to conditions on the voyage. He handed me a list of questions which I was to report on. This report resulted."

"Did you read the complaints in the papers?" asked the judge.

"No, I couldn't get one at the time."

"Did you make an effort to get one."

"No."

Arthur Chambers of the Toronto Telegram said Capt. Blandford had told him that sometimes food on the Northland was short and of poor quality. All statements he had obtained from the men were volunteered by them.

The evidence was completed with Mr. Chambers' testimony.

FOCH WILL MEET GERMANS AT TREVES

Basle, Jan. 11.—The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here, says it is announced that Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the allied armies on the western front, has telegraphed the German armistice commission that the Entente Governments have not acceded to the request for a prolongation of the armistice, which ends January 17. Accordingly, Gen. Foch said, he would meet the German plenipotentiaries January 14 or 15 at Treves.

BOLSHEVIKI KILL GERMANS IN THE BALTIC PROVINCES

Former Teuton Minister Reports Deplorable Conditions at Riga and Other Districts Under Bolshevik Control.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—The Bolsheviki are slaughtering the Germans in the sections of the Baltic provinces which have recently come under Bolshevik control, according to Herr Winning, the former German minister to the Baltic provinces. He reports extremely bad conditions at Riga and other parts of Livonia and Courland, now in Bolshevik hands.

Three men from the German legation who remained behind in Riga, relying upon their diplomatic immunity, were arrested, the former minister reports, and their public funds, amounting to 500,000 marks, were confiscated.

GUELPH RECOUNT PUTS 19TH MAN ON LIST AMONG THE WINNERS

J. E. Carter Likely To Be Selected Mayor by the Council.

Guelph, Jan. 11.—The result of the recount by Judge Hayes into the ballots cast at the last municipal elections going on here since Thursday is that George W. Walker, who was nineteenth on the list is elected in place of D. Bennetto, and the votes of most of the candidates were slightly changed. A large number of clerical errors were made by the deputy returning officers in totalling up the count, but the judge validated all but four of the ballots that were put aside. Though somewhat irregular, they plainly showed the intent of the voter and were consequently allowed. The council-elect will meet for inaugural on Monday morning, and will elect its own mayor, the name of J. E. Carter being prominently mentioned as the likely choice on a perpetual ballot.

GRAIN GROWERS WISH TO AFFILIATE WITH ORGANIZED LABOR

Manitoba Farmers Pass a Motion Condemning Daylight Saving.

Brandon, Man., Jan. 11.—After an exceedingly busy three-days' session, the Manitoba Grain Growers' convention was brought to a close almost on the stroke of midnight on Friday night.

The farmers, without discussion, adopted the following resolution:

"That it be resolved that we strive for a closer union with labor unions and returned soldiers, and all kindred associations, and that a strong committee be appointed by the Brandon convention to devise ways and means of bringing about a better understanding between these bodies and organized farmers."

Other resolutions passed included one that urged the immediate completion of the railway to Hudson Bay with all the harbor and terminal facilities required to handle a large portion of the crop of the prairie provinces.

A motion condemning the daylight saving act was unanimously carried.

The delegates chose Brandon as their meeting place for next year.

SOCIALISTS WILL MEET IN BRUSSELS

Brussels, Jan. 11.—Socialists from Allied countries will be called to meet at Brussels in the near future, according to an announcement made by the Belgian Labor party. Among other work to be done will be the re-establishment of the Socialist International Congress.

STEAMER CASTALIA SINKING FAST OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Wireless Messages for Assistance Result in Boats Starting For Scene.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 11.—The steamer Castalia is sinking fast, 65 miles south of Canso. News of the sinking comes in the following wireless message just received from the steamer by C. H. Harvey, local agent of the marine and fisheries department:

"S. O. S. Castalia, 44.40, north, 80 west, sinking fast. Conditions—In critical shape; drifting east; want assistance immediately."

A later message received by Mr. Harvey from the steamer Bergensfjord, an eighteen-knot boat, states that she is 170 miles from the steamer Castalia and is rushing to her assistance.

The steamer Warfringian, a ten-knot boat, which sailed yesterday from Halifax, also reports that she is steaming to the assistance of the Castalia.

In addition, Mr. Harvey has notified the Lady Laurier at Sydney to proceed to the scene. Local shipping men are also arranging to send out assistance.

The position given by the Castalia in her wireless message is calculated as about 150 miles east of Halifax, which would be about sixty miles south of Canso, in a direct line between that port and Sable Island.

The Castalia is a steamer of 2,220 tons, according to Lloyd's Register, and was built by the Globe Iron Works at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1890. Her dimensions are: length, 264 feet; beam, 40 feet; depth, 21.60 feet. She is of steel construction.

There are two Castalias listed in the available shipping records. The steamer from which the S. O. S. messages have been received is thought to be the Castalia which arrived at New York December 19. Another Castalia, an Anchor liner, arrived at Liverpool on December 6 from Bombay.

CASTALIA WAS CUT IN TWO AND TAKEN THROUGH THE LAKES

Quebec, Jan. 11.—A vessel named Castalia left Quebec about a month ago for Halifax. She originally came from the Great Lakes and was taken down in two sections, being refitted while here. This is thought to be the vessel reported sinking off Halifax. She left Sydney at 10 p.m. on January 9, having arrived there from this port on the 5th. The Castalia was escorted down the St. Lawrence by the ice breaker Montcalm, but met very little ice from here to the gulf, after which she proceeded alone on her way to Halifax. It is possible that the vessel, having been brought down the lakes in two sections, may have been weakened by the ice and sprung a leak at sea. She was of recent build and carried a crew of American sailors. She was fitted up here under the direction of the American shipbuilding board.

ATTACKS RIGHT OF GOVT. TO INTERFERE IN NEWSPRINT PRICE

Brief Filed by Counsel For the Paper Companies Questions Government Action.

OBJECTS TO DIFFERENTIAL

Row Is Brewing Between the Companies as Result of Order-in-Council.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—While Canada's paper tribunal will be busy for some days yet with the appeal of manufacturers and publishers from Commissioner Pringle's price of $69 per ton for newsprint there is scheduled for the near future a nice little fight among the paper manufacturers themselves.

The Fort Frances Pulp and Paper Company is this time the object of attack and Victor E. Mitchell has filed a brief on behalf of the Abitibi, Spanish River and St. Maurice companies in appeal against the differential granted the Fort Frances Company by Commissioner Pringle.

The most interesting part of this brief is its criticism of the Ottawa Government which in October last passed an order-in-council instructing the minister of customs to cut off the export license of any company refusing to comply with Controller Pringle's order as to payment of differential.

Described as Unfair.

The brief describes this as "a drastic, unconstitutional, unjust and unfair remedy." It says that on September 26, the very day Mr. Pringle made the order fixing the price of paper at $69 per ton, representatives of the Fort Frances Company walked into Mr. Pringle's office and requested that they be paid at once $24,045, representing the $7 a ton which had been paid to the controller by their customers under order-in-council, February 18, 1918.

The controller complied and made a report to the minister of finance recommending authority be given for the payment of the said $24,045. The order was approved by the minister of finance and confirmed by order-in-council September 30. So the Fort Frances Company got their $7 a ton nearly two months before the other mills, although the latter were just as much entitled to receive their money September 30, and many of thm had in the meantime made repeated requests to the controller for payment.

Was Government Action Necessary?

While Mr. Mitchell's brief is directed against the Fort Frances Company, it would also seem to touch the situation with regard to the publishers, for it attacks the right of the Government to interfere in the price of newsprint at all. It declares that no doubt the Government during the war has the right to fix prices "provided that by reason of the war it is necessary or advisable so to do, for the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada." It is, it is submitted, highly questionable—and the three mills raise the question for determination by this tribunal—whether the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada required and rendered necessary by reason of the war any Government interference in the supply of newsprint to Canadian publishers.

U. S. WAR BOARD IS URGED TO ARRANGE STRIKE SETTLEMENT

Confident Both Parties Will Accept Department's Recommendations.

Washington, Jan. 11.—President Wilson today cabled a request to the war labor board to take up again the case of the marine workers' strike in New York and proceed to make a finding.

The president said he was sure the war and navy departments, the shipping board and the railroad administration would use every power to make the finding effective, and that he was confident also that private boat owners would feel constrained by patriotism to accept the board's recommendations.

MARINE WORKERS ARE WILLING TO AGREE TO RULING OF WAR BOARD

New York, Jan. 11.—Officers of the marine workers' affiliation announced today that they stood ready to abide by any ruling of the war labor board made in response to President Wilson's cabled request for action to terminate the harbor strike.

ABILITY REWARDED BY LLOYD GEORGE

Cabinet Consists of 30 Unionists, 25 Liberals and 5 Laborites.

London, Jan. 11.—The new Lloyd George ministry is composed of thirty Unionists, twenty-five Liberals and five Laborites.

An unexpected appointment is that of Sir R. S. Horne as the minister of labor. This minister is a distinguished Scottish lawyer, who proved his outstanding ability in reorganizing the railway system of Northern France during the war, and who subsequently became third civil lord of the admiralty.

Hardman Lever is an accountant, whose revolution of the methods of purchasing resulted in substantial reductions in the price of shells. He is attached to the war and air ministry, though his precise relation to them is somewhat obscure.

GERMAN GOVT. TROOPS AND SPARTACANS ARE BATTLING FOR NEWSPAPER BUILDINGS

Many Fatalities Follow Use of Cannon and Flame-Throwers Liebknecht's Followers Have Not Yet Been Crushed by Ebert's Forces.

Berlin, Jan. 11.—The Government troops in Berlin have not yet succeeded in crushing the Spartacans, who still hold newspaper row. The fighting for the newspaper buildings has lasted since Wednesday, and cannon and flame-throwers are now being used, with many fatalities.

GOVERNMENT FORCES IN CONTROL AS FAR AS CENTRE OF BERLIN

London, Friday, Jan. 10.—Government forces control the situation in Berlin, as far as the centre of the city, comprising the principal Government buildings and the retail shopping district. Latest advices give no indication of what has been accomplished towards clearing the Spartacans from their strongholds in the outlying districts.

Loyal troops are being reinforced and the arming of elements of the population willing to risk their lives to down the Bolshevists is in progress. Philip Scheidemann and Premier Ebert are apparently determined to vigorously press the campaign against the followers of Liebknecht as soon as their strength is completely in the field. The cabinet has flatly refused to accept the offered mediation of the Independent Socialists to reconcile the Socialist factions, accusing the independents of working "hand in glove" with the Spartacans.

The Spartacans are now endeavoring to summon hunger and thirst as their allies and have succeeded in interfering seriously with supplies. Large parts of Berlin are reported to have gone without bread yesterday and today. Panicky scenes are reported at bread shops.

The Spartacan forces have occupied a number of gas plants, electric powerhouses and waterworks in various parts of the city. Gruenwald, a suburb, is without these necessities. This suburb, however, is populated almost exclusively by the wealthier classes and pressure against it is not likely to affect the Socialist Government. Karl Radek, who is the chief adviser of Dr. Liebknecht, and is familiar with the strategy behind the Bolshevist movement in Russia, is in Berlin. The Spartacans are reported to be desperately endeavoring to spread their activities into other parts of Germany.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN PROGRESS IN LARGE GERMAN CITIES

Copenhagen, Jan. 11.—Very serious rioting occurred Friday in Dresden, Hamburg, Augusburg and Dusseldorf, according to reports received here. The fighting was most severe in Hamburg, and is still in progress.

ANGLO-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP BOUND TO BECOME STRONGER

New American Ambassador To Great Britain Lays Foundations For Greater Amity Between Two People.

London, Jan. 11.—In commenting upon the appearance of John W. Davis, the new American minister, at the luncheon given by the Pilgrims yesterday, the Daily Telegraph says:

"Mr. Davis laid, in accordance with precedence, the foundations of a great personal success. It is no light honor to be told that Great Britain bore some part in inspiring the United States to the colossal effort which placed that nation in eighteen months among the decisive factors in the war fought on European soil.

"Whatever may come during Mr. Davis' sojourn here as ambassador, the United States will assuredly witness such a development of amity between the two peoples, bound by now indestructible ties of comradeship in arms, as will go beyond the expectations of even the firmest believer in Anglo-American friendship."

BRITISH DELEGATES LEAVE FOR PARIS

Andrew Bonar Law Makes the Trip Across by Airplane.

London, Jan. 11.—The British delegates to the peace conference left for Paris this morning. Premier Lloyd George, with the premiers of the dominions and the representatives of India, traveled by the ordinary route. Andrew Bonar Law, the chancellor of the exchequer, made the trip by airplane, as he invariably does when he goes to France.

Premier Lloyd George's party was accompanied by an army of officials and newspaper correspondents.

SOLDIERS SPEAK IN HIGHEST TERMS OF STEAMER ARAGUAYA

Men Who Came Over On Hospital Ship Have No Complaints.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Halifax, Jan. 10.—That the hospital ship Araguaya was a good ship was indorsed by all whom your correspondent inquired from regarding the conditions while on the steamer was coming across the Atlantic. They all praised the food and sleeping quarters, and spoke highly of the conduct of the ship's officers toward them. In fact, there was not one complaint. There appeared to be plenty of good food, which greatly pleased the men. On account of encountering heavy weather during the first days she was at sea, the ship took eleven days to reach port, but even this did not cause the men to complain, as they knew the delay could not be helped. The work of disembarkation was carried out without a hitch.

ALL HAVE LEFT HALIFAX.

Halifax, Jan. 11.—The last of the men on the hospital ship Araguaya got away at 9:45 o'clock last night, when the details for the London, Kingston, Montreal and Quebec districts left by special train. The train for Toronto, Hamilton and other points in Ontario left at 4:20 p.m.

The first train to go was at noon, which was a special for Cobourg, with 99 mental cases. With each mental case is one orderly or male nurse, and on the train are ten sergeants, one sergeant-major and one officer.

The citizens' committee presented each man with a number of, articles, such as fruit, cigarettes, etc., and for each cot case was a special parcel.

JAPANESE STEAMER LOST.

London, Jan. 11.—The entire crew of the Japanese steamer Manyo Maru, 3,039 tons, was lost when the vessel was sunk off Hokkaido on January 2, according to a dispatch from Kobe. The steamer was on its way from Kobe to Marseilles.

POLES AND GERMANS BATTLING FIERCELY IN POSEN PROVINCE

Teutons Compelled To Abandon Kelmar in Face of Superior Numbers.

HUNS TAKE CZARIKAU

Compelled Later To Withdraw To North Bank of the Netze.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—Heavy fighting is reported between Poles and Germans in the Province of Posen. The Germans captured Czarikau, in the northern part of the province, taking the place by assault. They were compelled later, however, through the arrival of Polish reserves, to withdraw to the north bank of the Netze.

The Germans have likewise been compelled to abandon Kolmar in the face of superior numbers, but they are reported holding the north bank of the Netze. Fighting is in progress at Wissenhoche and Wiseck, with the trend favorable to the Germans.

The Polish Council at Posen has issued a proclamation formally assuming supreme rule in the entire province. Decrees, it is said, will be issued concerning the introduction of the Polish language in the schools, and the export of foodstuffs.

Unless command of the province can be regained by the Germans, the action of the Poles appears seriously to threaten the provisioning of all Northern Germany.

BATTLESHIP BADEN DEMANDED IN PLACE OF THE MACKENSEN

London, Jan. 11.—The German battleship Baden has been demanded in place of the uncompleted Mackensen, which has been surrendered to the Allies at Scapa Flow.

INQUIRY ADJOURNED

Captains Testify Why Rescues Could Not Be Made From Princess Sophia.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 11.—The inquiry into the Princess Sophia disaster was adjourned until next Friday. After the evidence of Capt. Miller of the King and Winge, a fishing boat, was taken. His boat at one time got within 200 yards of the Princess Sophia, but he said that it was impossible to save the passengers unless they chose to risk jumping overboard and being picked up, and then only one out of about five or ten could have been rescued. The wind was too strong to permit dories to go alongside.

THRIFT STAMP SOCIETIES ARE PROPOSED HERE

Scheme Advanced To Aid Reconstruction Period and Encourage Saving.

PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

Major Ingram Outlines Plans —Schools Are To Be Asked To Join.

London is to have a number of national savings and thrift stamp societies in the near future. The more the merrier, and the better the chairman of the London branch of the savings and thrift stamp committee, Major Gordon Ingram, will be pleased.

Yesterday afternoon he met a large representation of the membership of the advisory committee for London, appointed to explain thoroughly the savings and thrift stamp plan of helping the Government and helping oneself all at the same time. He also gave an idea of the methods which will be adopted to popularize this thrift idea in the city.

In connection with the war savings and thrift stamp societies, the idea is to operate through societies, office, store and factory staffs already organized. The plan will not be injured from the beginning by the bugbear to the average individual, more organization.

While the building up of the national savings and thrift stamp machine has been as perfect and efficient in every detail as possible, the idea is to make the operation so simple that everybody can understand, and prevent any increase of burdens of responsibility.

First Society.

The London Advertising Club some weeks ago begged the honor of being recognized as the first war savings and thrift stamp society in London. The privilege was granted, and to this society another has been added, the Prudential Life staff. So far as the second is concerned, the Prudential Life on the other side of the line in its various branches has taken a lively interest and a practical one as well in the war savings and thrift stamp proposition introduced in the United States at the end of 1916. Hearing a similar plan was to be launched by the Canadian Government, the Prudential Life immediately began agitating it in its Canadian branches. Major Ingram stated that he understood the first "collection" in the Prudential, No. 2, London Society, was to be made on Saturday. That raised the question, "What about collections?"

Make Own Plans.

"There will be no collection at all unless by some special arrangement," replied Major Ingram. "When an organization such as the Women's Canadian Club constitutes itself a national savings and thrift stamp society within the club, the members sign pledge cards stating they will invest so much in war savings certificates or thrift stamps during the coming year. They will not be obliged to purchase their stamps at any one place. The idea is to encourage people to buy stamps whenever the spirit moves them, when they have some change over in a store or other place. Further, they are only under obligations to themselves to keep their pledges to help the country in its reconstruction work, and make good investments for themselves. Unless the society makes special arrangements, there is no provision for checking up members in the general plan we are proposing."

Get Children's Help.

The schools also are to have their national savings and thrift stamp societies, the fact that thrift stamps can be purchased as low as 25 cents each making this form of saving for the nation within reach of practically every child.

"This is everybody's game," Major Ingram emphasized, adding that the Government proposes reaching the children in the schools through the educational departments of the different provinces and boards of education. A war thrift book, indeed, has been purchased for use in the schools, the book authorized for Ontario to contain a section on what Canada has done in the war.

For Reconstruction.

With regard to the word "war," the London chairman stated that this is now to be deleted. The original idea in launching the plan was to make it a part of the "win-the-war" campaign. Now the war is over, the emphasis is to be placed on "reconstruction."

"Reconstruction" is hereafter to be the big slogan, and the appeal to the patriotic citizenship, young and old, will be to help in the reconstruction of Canada and to lay the foundation of a great nation.

With regard to the fact that a war savings stamp bought this month for $4 will have a maturity value of $5 on January 1, 1924, Major Ingram reminded that the dollar earned will really be worth much more than a dollar at the present time, from the fact that money at the present is at its minimum value so far as buying power is concerned.

Redeemable Any Time.

An argument offered which makes more attractive the savings and thrift stamp plan of making savings grow was that thrift stamps and war savings certificates will be redeemable any time at the postoffice at full value. Attention was drawn to the table on the back of the war savings certificates showing the value at different periods, in order to prevent the slightest danger of mistake. The chief poster being used in connection with this "reconstruction" war savings and thrift stamp campaign is entitled "Reconstruction," and shows a soldier dropping his rifle and equipment and seizing a plow. In the background is a battlefield, and in the sky a rainbow. The artist who designed this poster is Frank Nicolet, who also designed the first prize poster for the Victory Loan campaign, "In Flanders Field." London has reason to be proud of the fact, stated Major Ingram, that a citizen has had the honor of giving to both campaigns the most telling posters.

No special duties were imposed upon the members of the advisory committee, made up of educationists, clergymen, lawyers, businessmen, prominent workers in women's organizations, newspaper men and women. Each was asked "to do some missionary work" on behalf of the "Reconstruction" savings and thrift stamps campaign.

YOUTH ACCUSED OF STEALING CARS AND MAKING FAST TRIPS

London to Toronto, Toronto to London Route Taken.

Elroy George, after a fast trip from Toronto yesterday in a Cadillac Eight, spent a slow time in the police station last night charged with the theft of the machine. Elroy, who is a youth of 22, is also charged with taking Kent Campbell's Paige and driving it as far as Mimico, where it refused to go any further.

The local police notified the Toronto sleuths that Mr Campbell's car had been taken, and received word last night that the machine had been discovered at Mimico. The Cadillac Eight had disappeared from Toronto, and the police there had reason to believe that the chauffeur was headed this way. He was, and landed safely in the arms of the policemen and then safely in the county jail. Now he faces the double theft charge.

Apparently the driver of the Campbell car made excellent time along the Hamilton highway, as Chief Williams received a summons this morning for Mr. Campbell for hitting nothing but the high spots Thursday afternoon near Port Credit. George will appear in court Monday.

MRS. WORTHINGTON DIES; AN OLD AND ESTEEMED CITIZEN

Was Deeply Interested in Charitable Organizations.

Mrs. Philip Worthington, daughter of the late Henry and Mary Worthington, died on Friday at the Glenwood ter. Mrs. George Macbeth, widow of eight weeks, resulting from a stroke. Mrs. Worthington was very well known in the city and one of the most charming old ladies, and was keenly interested in various charitable organizations. She was one of the founders of the Aged People's Home of this city.

Mrs. Worthington lived in this city for many years, and then removed to Toronto with her daughter, Mrs. George Macbeth, but returned to the city about six years ago and resided at the Colonial Apartments. Mrs. Worthington was a sister of the late Lady Carling and the late David Glass. Mrs. A. McDonough and Charles Dalton of Toronto. She is survived by her daughnephews, Kenneth and Dalton Macbeth of Toronto, and one son, William of Seattle. A niece, Meta Macbeth of St. Thomas' Hospital on the Thames, London, England, and two serving for the entire duration of the both also survive. Dalton returned from overseas on Monday last after Private Hospital after an illness of the war.

Her nephews and niece are T. G. Meredith, T. H. Carling, Fred Carling of Ottawa, John Carling and Miss Louise Carling of this city. The funeral, which was of a private nature, was held this afternoon from the residence of her sister, Mrs. A. McDonough, Dufferin avenue.

ROBERT ANGUS IS HIGHLY HONORED BY ENGINEERING SOCIETY

Made Life Member of A. S. M. E. On Birthday.

Robert Angus, 514 William street city has just received by wire from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers of New York, the following message: "The Council of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers extends congratulations on the occasion of your seventy-seventh birthday on the eleventh, and have conferred on you the honor of life membership in the society.

"(Signed.) American Society of Mechanical Engineers."

Mr. Angus was one of five in Canada who joined the A.S.M.E. 27 years ago. This society has for its object the promotion of the arts and sciences in connection with engineering and mechanical construction. It numbers amongst its members the greatest and most successful engineers in all parts of the world; men who are at the head of affairs in engineering. The headquarters of the society are in New York, but annual meetings are held in different parts of Europe and America.

JOINT INSTALLATION

District Deputy High Chief Companion Mrs. Sarah Martin, assisted by Past District Deputy Mrs. A. E. Richards, installed the officers of Circle No. 55, Pride of the East, A. O. F., and Juvenile Circle, No. 5, at an open meeting held recently. The mothers of the juveniles were present in numbers and were greatly impressed with the way in which their daughters entertained those present with recitations, songs and duets. Miss Lottie Martin sang several solos, which were very pleasing.

Dr. A. R. Pingel addressed the mothers on the "Care of Their Children."

Refreshments were supplied by the Companions of Circle 55.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A GENEROUS ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I am asked on behalf of the campaign organization to convey to you our keen appreciation of the splendid assistance given by The Advertiser in "putting over" the Red Cross campaign.

Both editorial and advertising staffs seemed to enter into the spirit of the movement from the start, and gave us the best that was in them to make the campaign a success.

As Mrs. Plumptre pointed out at the opening meeting, we are setting the pace for Canada, this being the first campaign of the kind since the armistice was signed. This fact made widespread publicity absolutely necessary, in order that the absolute necessity for funds should be brought home to the people of London, and we could not have succeeded in doing this or in securing the amount obtained without the valuable assistance your paper so generously gave.

Yours very truly,
JOHN BRIDGE,
Chairman Canvass Committee.

QUESTIONS ON PROHIBITION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As the prohibition question is resuscitated, I would like to put before the public a few questions I asked one of the most popular ministers (in a private letter), who was a very ardent advocate of the act, but refused to answer. As he did not know me, he thought I wanted to draw him into a controversy. And as he did not answer, perhaps some of the other clerical gentlemen of the city would answer them.

1. I presumed he believed the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament are the inspired Word of God.
2. Where is prohibition taught in the Old or New Testament?
3. Where, that thou art thy brother's keeper?
4. Are not all things in the world for man's use, and to be used temperately?
5. Did Christ teach prohibition?
6. At the creation was not Adam created with a free will?
7. Did not God know that Adam would fall?
8. Was not the temptation for Adam to fall created before he was?
9. Does not Christ invite people to come unto him, instead of saying "I will make you come"?
10. Are the people of this generation wiser than the Creator, or do they wish to upset God's plan of redemption, which is voluntary acceptance of Jesus Christ as their Saviour? Yours respectfully,
R. B. SCOTT.

JUDGE LOVETT AND THE GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Judge Lovett's remarks open up a very important subject for discussion, and I may say that if I had been called upon to express such sentiments, I should certainly have apologized for the necessity of having to use such language.

I was for over twenty years in the civil service in Great Britain, and during that time served under both Conservative and Liberal Governments, and never once did I hear of any civil servant being dismissed to make room for one of a different political creed.

I am not aware of any patronage system, only perhaps with one exception, where the sitting M. P., in the event of a vacancy in some village postmastership, and where the salary does not exceed $10 per week, and no other nomination being forthcoming from the residents, then the local M. P. may nominate someone.

What I would like to emphasize here is the abominably rotten patronage system you have here in Canada, and evidently in the United States.

I came to Canada in 1904, and before that had spent between thirty and forty years in active political work. I was made aware of the state of politics in Canada soon after my arrival by a man whose position was and is next to a cabinet minister. Some years ago I had considerable business to transact around the Government Buildings in Ottawa, and on one occasion an official asked if I would like a Government position, and that it could be had for the asking. I replied I was not looking for anything of the kind.

Even in Great Britain, where cities and towns have municipalized their gas, water, street railways, etc., you find little if any of the patronage system, and certainly not in Government offices. You must take your civil service examination, and if you fail, there is no influence that can be brought to bring you into the service.

And now, Mr. Editor, I want to get something off my mind. I want to express my opinion of your present Government. I never in all my life (and I wasn't born yesterday) met with a lot of more incompetent and mediocre men. This is a magnificent country, and how the people can stand for them beats me. I will venture to say that any one member of the British cabinet could or would have done more and far better than the whole Canadian cabinet put together. There is so much graft and corruption that, speaking for myself, I would not dare to enter politics, either federal or municipal, for fear I should lose the little reputation for honesty that I now have. I am, yours very truly,
BRITISHER.

A VOICE FROM THE PEW RE NEW HYMNAL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

It seemed to me from the first that it was quite uncalled for, especially at this time, when our country is needing so much, and more especially our wounded soldiers who are returning and who should be provided for in the first place.

Would like to hear what fault can be found with the hymnal that has been in use.

I cannot see that the new hymns are any more inspiring and, right here, I might say, that it would have been better to have had the additional hymns at the back of new books, and not have set them in anywhere, making it almost compulsory to purchase new books, which in a large family is no small item, especially when they already have several good ones.

In the home of the writer we have a couple of extra ones, more than one for each member, any of which with care would do for the next ten years.

Really it is just this unnecessary waste that causes discord in a congregation.

Personally, I think our clergymen make a great mistake in being so insistent in temporal matters. Then I do not think that such things should be forced upon any congregation, but a meeting called and it should be decided by a vote of its members.

It seems to me, that if pastor and people had the prosperity of the church (see Acts, 2nd chapter), and the betterment of our people at heart, and not taking up our attention with every new thing that comes up in the form of luxuries for ourselves, it would be better for the church and also for the world about us.

Thanking you for the space I have taken, I will sign myself,
EQUAL RIGHTS.

January 10, 1919.

THE HYMNBOOK FAMINE.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The advice of "Faithful Methodist" duly noted, and am sorry to observe that, in my judgment, this is only typical of the reasoning of the great majority of my Methodist friends, for while a visitor is welcome to attend the services of a Methodist church he must understand that if he wishes to take part in the singing he must provide his own hymnbook.

By the same process of reasoning, if he wishes to avail himself of the invitation to attend either the Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregational, Anglican or other churches he must first, by some means, discover the medium for buying or borrowing the hymnbook these denominations use.

One is afraid Methodism has lost its old-time significance. The old idea used to be to encourage people to attend the church in the hope of getting them to accept Christ as their Saviour, but from your correspondent's letter the invitation carries a new meaning, i. e., "Welcome to our church, but bring your own hymnbook."

No, "Faithful Methodist," I have no desire to attend regularly a Methodist church, being perfectly satisfied with the faithful ministry and services of my own church, but am willing to vacate my seat on a Sunday evening to make room for the crowd who believe in the sincerity of the welcome extended and come Sunday after Sunday, knowing that there's no chance of not being able to sing as they are handed hymn sheets on entering the building. "Faithful Methodist" suggests I buy a hymnbook when again visiting a Methodist Church for my own use, but makes no "humble suggestion" about all those around me who haven't one. Does he suppose I could get up and sing:

"We live for those around us,
With a purpose high and true,
For the God who is above us
And the good that we can do."

while conscious of others being without hymnbooks.

Has he yet to learn the lesson that we cannot live to ourselves, that we are so woven into the fabric of society that we are bound to influence others for weal or woe?

Henry Ward Beecher has said: "It is always infelicitous when men fall into the habit of speaking of religion as the mother of trials, and of their Christian experience from the side of its restrictions and limitations."

When people want to make things attractive in gardening, they give exhibitions of their products. At the horticultural shows the noblest vegetables and the finest flowers are exhibited, and from the orchards they bring the rarest fruits, and when one goes into the room where all these things are displayed they are at once attractive and beautiful.

It seems to me, "Faithful Methodist," that this is the way a Christian church ought to represent the Christian life. Instead of inviting people to come to a church where the fruits are half rotten, you ought to pile up the very best to show what is the positive fruit of religion.

And my "humble suggestion" is, dear "Faithful Methodist," that you remember the truth that "selfishness always defeats itself."

Get into the way of thinking of others, as undoubtedly the effect of the whole of religious living is to produce joyfulness. Yours faithfully,
WM. GILES.

HOUSE TO BE SOLD FOR COURT COSTS; OWNER IN ASYLUM

Closing Incident in the Case Against Miss Thompson.

February 8 will see possibly the final chapter in the succession of regrettable incidents which have happened to Miss Margaret Thompson, who, rather than tell the whereabouts of her sister's child, went to jail.

The little house owned on Victoria street by Miss Thompson and her brother will be sold by the sheriff on the above date in order that the costs of the court that sent her to jail may be paid.

The case of Miss Thompson received country-wide publicity a year ago. Promising her sister on her deathbed that she would guard her child and look after the little girl as her own, Miss Thompson refused to tell the youngster's father, William Link, where she had secreted her. The law upheld Mr. Link in his fight to obtain possession of his daughter, and as Miss Thompson refused to divulge the child's whereabouts, she was committed to the county jail for contempt of court, and an order was made that she should pay the costs of the action brought by Mr. Link, who had married a second time.

Miss Thompson did a lot of brooding while in jail, finally becoming insane, and she was removed to the asylum. She had no money, which is the reason that the sheriff's sale is necessary in obtain the costs of action. It is expected that her brother will bid enough on the house to become the actual owner of the property.

BOOKS TO RED CROSS GIVEN BY RAILWAY NEWS COMPANY.

NO TONIC LIKE HOOD'S

Sarsaparilla for a Time Like This, After Influenza, the Grip.

When purified blood, rebuilt strength and regulated bowels are essential.

In the after-effects of influenza, the grip, and other prostrating diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla has remarkable health-helping effect.

It expels the poisons that have weakened and depleted the blood, causing pallor, anaemia, flabby flesh and lax muscles. It is the standard blood remedy, with a successful record of nearly fifty years.

Many people—it is really astonishing how many—need a fine, gentle, easy cathartic in these trying times. We recommend Hood's Pills, used in the best families, and equally effective with delicate women or robust men.

FAMILY OF THEDFORD COUPLE PRESENT ON GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

THEDFORD, Jan. 10.—On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brooks of this town celebrated their golden wedding. They were married in St. Anne's Church (Anglican) in the village of Adelaide, Middlesex County, January 8, 1869, by the Rev. A. Falls. Of their nine children five are still living, and were present at the family reunion.

They are Clara, wife of Thos. A. Wilson of Smith's Falls, Ont.; William J. of Barrie, Margaret, wife of W. J. Stanford of Toronto; Wesley, also of Toronto, and Violet, wife of H. H. Wheeler, Toronto. Their granddaughter, Mrs. Thomas, daughter of Wm. Brooks, Jr., of Barrie, and her daughter Bernice were unable to be present, otherwise the four generations would have been there. Mr. Brooks was born in Downie Township, Perth County, May 24, 1845, and Mrs. Brooks was born in Bona, East Indies, November 19, 1809. With the exception of a year or so in London and one year in Forest, the couple have spent their married life in Thedford. Mr. Brooks has been clerk of this municipality, also secretary of the school board, for the past twenty-eight years, and still holds the position.

The dinner table was beautifully decorated with green vines and fifty golden roses from the famous Dale estate of Brampton, Ont., and the reception-room was fragrant with red roses, orchids, freesias and narcissus. After the fifty lighted candles, with which the wedding cake was decorated, had been blown out by the honored couple, the cake was cut by Mrs. Brooks, who still retains all her youthful vigor. After dinner Baby Helen Brooks of Toronto, a granddaughter, made the presentation of a purse of gold to each, and Baby Bernice of Barrie, a great-granddaughter, being unable to be present, sent them a golden spoon. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks also received the congratulations of many of their old friends.

GIFTS TO CONVALESCENT HOME ACKNOWLEDGED BY GRATEFUL MANAGEMENT

The board of the London Convalescent Home, 444 York street, acknowledges very gratefully the following gifts for Christmas and new year, all of which were much enjoyed by the inmates. The fact that the money gifts had been wholly unsolicited added greatly to their value. Realizing how many were the claims upon the liberality of citizens, the board had refrained from sending any appeals to the fraternal societies or personal friends for the last two Christmas seasons, therefore by the voluntary assistance the members are the more encouraged to persevere in their efforts on behalf of the home.

The board wishes to remind the several societies interested in the relief and well being of the suffering amongst the citizens that at the Convalescent Home there are vacant beds for those recovering from illness and requiring rest or recuperation, which, upon the request of their medical attendant, can be available at a few hours' notice.

Mrs. Boomer is president of the board and Mrs. Seaborn, secretary.

Donations received:

Mrs. Boomer—Three pairs of lace curtains, a large screen, oranges and cake.

Mrs. A. Cleghorn, Brantford—Five pounds of tea.

Alexandra School—Apples, oranges, lemons and grapefruit.

Mrs. Niven—A basket of choice apples and mincemeat.

Mrs. B. A. Mitchell—Granulated sugar.

A. M. Hamilton & Son—Package each of cornflakes, beans, cornmeal, split peas, barley, peas, and a bag of salt.

Mrs. Beattie, Elmhurst—Goose.

Mrs. Bullen—Five jars of preserves and a bag of potatoes.

ALDERMAN MANNESS ANXIOUS TO GET RID OF FEDERAL SQUARE

Gathering Figures To Show Cost To Date.

ORIGINAL SUM $203,675

To This Are Added Interest and Lost Taxes During Years.

Some municipal questions like the proverbial Irishman can not be kept under. For example, the revival by Alderman S. R. Manness of the sale of the federal square. He is busier than any accountant gathering figures and preparing dates on the whole question, which he will present to the city council at one of the early meetings. Apparently, in his opinion, the city has not made a success of the real estate business. He is preparing a statement showing the total cost of the square to date including the taxes that would have been collected if it had remained private property. The interest on the debentures he is also making a note of in his statement. The original cost was $203,675.

Ald. Manness does not claim originality in proposing the sale of the federal square. Some two years ago, according to city hall officials, there was a motion made in the council towards this end. The movement at that time did not get any farther than the council. If the figures are ready in time the statement will be submitted at the meeting of the council on Monday morning, says Ald. Manness.

FATHER AND SON WEEK

Banquets Arranged at Various Churches in City.

"Father and Son Week" will be held in the city February 10 to 16. Already preliminary plans have been laid. Church groups of each denomination will banquet at one of the churches of their denomination. The following will arrange those banquets: Rev. G. Q. Warner, Anglican; Rev. J. M. Norton, Baptist; Rev. Byron Snell, Methodist, and F. N. Phelps, Presbyterian.

There will be an athletic meet of all the C.S.E.T. boys during the week and a big banquet at which there are expected to be about 700 boys, will be held if accommodation can be secured. On Sunday, February 16, special "Father and Son" services will be held in all the churches.

CAPT. F. CARPENTER, V. C., HERE TO BREAK SILENCE OF BRITISH NAVY AND TELL WHAT IIT ACCOMPLISHED

Hero of Zeebrugge and Ostend Has Yet To Discover What "Freedom of the Seas" Means—Zeebrugge Expedition Carried Out Exactly According To Plans.

Capt. F. B. Carpenter, V. C., who commanded the H. M. S. Vindictive on the occasions of the successful attack on the mole at Zeebrugge, and the raid on Ostend, and who is to lecture at a mass meeting in the Masonic Hall this evening, reached the city at noon today and was met by Lieut.-Col. A. A. Campbell and George M. Copeland, president and secretary respectively of the Canadian Club. He was the guest of the club at luncheon in the Tecumseh House, and in the evening, before the lecture, was entertained at dinner by Sir Adam and Lady Beck.

Capt. Carpenter is almost the antithesis of the kind of man one expects to meet in the person of the hero of Zeebrugge and Ostend. He is slightly built, with an aesthetic type of face, the eyes rather of a poet than of a fighting man and with hair slightly greyed. He does not talk like a typical fighter, either. His voice is quiet and softly modulated.

As to his mission in America, he explained it thus to an interviewer: "My object is to break the silence of the navy, which some people say has been overdone, and to inform the people in the colonies and in the United States what the British Navy has been doing. I am trying to achieve that object by means of a series of lectures, illustrated with slides, describing, first, the object of the Zeebrugge and Ostend raids and what we were up against, and, second, what we did and the results."

COMMANDER A. F. B. CARPENTER, V.C., here today, took part in most spectacular battle of the war.

The Results.

The chief success of the expedition Capt. Carpenter pointed out, consisted of the bottling up and rendering inactive of 23 destroyers and 12 submarines of the German navy. He was not prepared to say what actual tonnage of ships which these vessels might otherwise have sunk had thus been saved, but he declared that the actual figures had been computed almost exactly by admiralty officials.

LIGHT WEIGHTS DISCOVERED BY MARKET CLERK AND VENDORS GET WARNING TO MEND WAYS QUICKLY

Some Potatoes Lack Eleven Pounds to the Sack, and the 35-Cents-a-Pound Chickens Do Not All Come Quite Up To the Weight Their Owners Declare.

The strong arm of the law was very much in evidence on the Saturday market today. In other words, short-weight offenders knew what it meant to experience "goose flesh" during the ordeal of being interviewed by the redoubtable market clerk.

One of these offenders was doing a lively business in disposing of "spuds" at 90 pounds to the bag, so the purchasers believed. Clerk Maker's eagle eye pounced upon those slim-looking bags, and he decreed that they should immediately be taken to the city weighing scales. The potatoes averaged 79 pounds to the bag. The scales dropped from the eyes of some prospective customers, and they hied them to other vendors of murphies.

Big Chickens.

Never, sure, were there such mammoth chickens as one farmer was displaying in his rig on the open market. The writer mistook them for amateur turkeys, until discovering the tufts of plymouth rock foliage attached to the wings, the usual generous natural adornment of poultry sold on the London market.

"How much?" was the query.

"Thirty-five cents a pound," was the reply.

That was good, better, best, considering that 40 cents was being asked down in the cellar of the market house, and $2.10 was not an unusual price today for a bird no way out of the ordinary in size.

"Surely those aren't this year's fowl," chimed in a passer-by.

Hatched in June.

"Every one hatched in June," declared the farmer, pressure on the end of the breast-bone of a buxom-looking chicken bearing out his statement that it was young and tender. The fat, moreover, showed yellow through the complexion and dinted in elastic fashion.

"What's the price of that one?" asked a family-looking man in khaki. The farmer looked at the number on the bird. "No. 10 weighs eight pounds," he said, consulting his note book in businesslike fashion. "I've got it listed for eight pounds, but if you want to have it weighed, I'll go along to the scales with you." It was just at that point the imposing figure of the market clerk loomed around the top of the poultry cart.

"Are you sure that chicken weighs eight pounds. How do you know?" he demanded, all in one sentence.

"About that!" answered the farmer.

The Explosion.

"What do you mean by having it marked eight pounds if you don't know?" threatened the market clerk.

"What are you coming around here chewing about?" exploded the farmer. "Don't tell everyone I'll go to the scales with them and have the chickens weighed before they buy?" challenged the vendor.

"Supposing they take your word?" retorted the market clerk. "You shouldn't mark them a certain weight unless you know."

"I haven't got them marked," persisted the farmer."

"Yes you have, you've got them marked right there in your book. There it is, No. 10, eight pounds.'"

"I weigh them on spring scales that I'm not sure are absolutely correct. That's why I tell the people they can have them weighed for themselves before buying."

Weighed and Found Wanting.

"I'll have that chicken weighed myself," said the market clerk as he picked up Exhibit No. 10 and stalked away to the scales, indignation blazing in his eyes. The people who witnessed the little incident waited round to see what was going to happen. The farmer in the case didn't appear as perturbed as some people might expect. The tone of the market clerk was still very official as he returned.

"Seven pounds and three quarters," he said. "The idea of charging for that extra quarter of a pound at 35 cents a pound. That's a nice way to make money!"

"I offer everybody a chance to get them weighed persisted the farmer, "because I'm not sure about my spring scales."

No further action was taken.

There It Ended.

"A warning to him will be enough," said the market clerk. "He is a decent fellow and he has fine chickens."

And then he told about other cases of "short weight" discovered on the market today, some of them flagrant enough to be made examples of.

Talking about those mammoth Plymouth Rock chickens, there was a certain keen-for-a-bargain citizen who kept hovering in the offing, evidently waiting for the birds to take a tumble.

"How much you sell them vor?" he wanted to know.

The Jewish gentleman would scorn to pay such prices. He went away and came back, tried other hunting grounds, and still returned. "How much?" he wanted to know. And the farmer stuck to his original prices.

The plump Jewish gentleman's face wrinkled with smiles. "You can cut me off 'bout a pound, vat?" he said. "I tink 'bout pound do me all right at 35 cents, yah!"

With poultry so flighty, it was an opportune time to introduce the little brown rabbit and suggest rabbit pie for Sunday.

Rabbit's Cheaper.

One vendor had a whole barrel of them, dozens of pairs, priced a dollar a pair.

"First time this season, isn't it?" he was asked.

"Second time," he corrected. "I just had a few before. They're pretty scarce this year. It was such a hard winter and so much snow last winter the people got them and they have been pretty well killed off. They are going to be scarce this winter."

While not large the market was particularly clean, and a cheerful looking one, with a carpet of quite clean snow and clear skies above.

Not a large market? To be sure, the basement of the market house was perhaps more crowded than usual and there was any quantity of eggs—and most everybody said they had all been laid in the past week. The one from whom to buy was the woman who said, "This basket has the water-glassed eggs. The eggs in this basket are all laid within the past week. I'm getting three and four dozen eggs a day now."

And eggs were demanding 75 cents a dozen.

EVERY WAGE EARNER SHOULD ANSWER QUESTION HIMSELF OR HERSELF

What Does the Future Hold For You If Health Gives Way?

In dollars and cents, what is the worth of the brawn of your arm; what is the value of the staying power that permits continuous labor—what are they worth to you?

Suppose you did something so foolish as to reduce your strength, vitality or judgment one-half, and it were impossible to get them back—how much would you pay to regain the lost portion?

When you let yourself rundown, you reduce your chances for success in life—if sleeplessness comes you score lower still—should appetite or digestion fail, you are stared in the face by physical bankruptcy.

Don't let it go so far, take Ferrozone; it has cured thousands and it will cure you; it builds up bodily strength, makes muscles like steel, replaces spring tiredness by energy and new life. Ferrozone rebuilds sick folks because it contains the strengthening elements that every rundown system requires.

Especially before the hot weather comes, everyone needs a purifying tonic—Ferrozone fills the bill exactly—nothing known that juvenates and uplifts so fast.

At once the appetite improves. You rest well and arise next morning feeling fit and fine.

Headaches disappear, weakness gives way to the vigor that only Ferrozone can supply. Try it, results are guaranteed, 50c per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail to any address if price is remitted to the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

LOCAL NEWS

CARS DERAILED.—Two freight cars were derailed near Paris Junction this morning, but no particulars of the accident have been received here yet.

H. M. TAIT HERE.—H. M. Tait of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, Limited, Toronto, was in the city Friday, and paid a visit to the C. P. R. downtown ticket office.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.—Evangelist Belcher will preach a memorial sermon in memory of the late Anthony West at the York Street Mission Hall Sunday night.

TWO STEAMERS COMING.—The soldiers' aid commission has received word that two steamships have left England with soldiers for this district. They are the steamship Scotian, with one officer and 85 other ranks on board, and the steamship Metagama, with 14 officers and 13 other ranks.

RUMOR DENIED.—Reports are current that it is the intention to purchase the property on King street, formerly occupied by George White & Sons, for an industrial area. It was learned yesterday from members of the chamber of commerce that there is no truth in this whatever. The site would not be suitable for the proposed area, they say.

CONCERT AT HOSPITAL.—Under the auspices of the Military "Y," a concert was given at the Central Military Convalescent Hospital on Thursday evening. This was one of the series of concerts which has been given to the convalescent soldiers throughout the winter. The program follows: Mrs. Parnell Morris, solo, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. (Dr.) R. Routledge; Miss Jean Walker, elocutionist; Miss Lila Thompson, solo; James Jay, tenor, and Ernest White, violinist.

MORE SUBSCRIPTIONS TO CITY RED CROSS CAMPAIGN COMING IN Total Will Not Be Known This Week.

CHECKING IS DIFFICULT

More Volunteers Would Have Been Acceptable For Few Days.

Final reports on the London Red Cross campaign will not be available until next week. Subscriptions are still coming in to the treasurer, J. S. Moore, and today the members of the volunteer team, captained by W. A. Martin, called for at the wind-up rally Thursday night, have been out all the forenoon, gleaning after the big harvesters, calling at wholesale houses to interview travelers in for the week-end and give them an opportunity to do their bit to raise the fund to $100,000. The follow-up team, further, has been entrusted with the responsibility of making a number of calls on people not seen by the canvassers earlier in the week.

Members of the volunteer team who reported for duty were Major C. M. R. Graham, Capt. J. M. Watt, J. P. Smith, W. R. Jarmain, C. R. May, T. L. Partridge, G. G. Steele and J. J. Dyer.

More Were Needed.

"We could have used twice as many men and should really have had a much larger team to do the work today," stated Team Captain W. A. Martin this afternoon. Mr. Bridge didn't evidently realize the magnitude of the task he was giving us when he called a halt on volunteering on Thursday night. He estimated it would take a couple of hours to cover the territory. It will take all-day good hard going in order to get through."

"A number of men seen have subscribed at their homes or through their homes, the subscriptions having been given to the ladies' teams. Checking back, we find this the case, and a considerable amount of checking back has been involved. In this way, it will be at least Monday before we can get some of the subscriptions or anything like a final report."

Mr. Martin further states that it is scarcely probable that the canvass of the volunteer team will bring in the $5,000 required to reach $100,000, the second objective set.

New Subscriptions.

"I believe there won't be more than 50 or 60 per cent of this," he states. In the meantime, further large subscriptions received outside of the work of the volunteer team are as follows:

Mrs. E. M. King, 280 Dufferin ave.	$ 300
R. J. Young & Co.	1,000
Hunt Bros.	100
Johnson & Barber	150

A subscription much appreciated is that of $100 from the Thamesford Patriotic Relief Society, an entirely unsolicited subscription sent through Mrs. A. G. Sutherland.

BANNED BOOKS ALL REMOVED FROM THE SHELVES IN LIBRARY

London Had Some of Forbidden Literature.

The present crusade of the chief censor of Canada against literature of a socialistic nature has caused some trouble to the public libraries of the country, and there are likely to be some protests from Toronto and elsewhere against the ban that has been placed on some of these publications, which were issued long before the war and which were not regarded as dangerous at that time.

One of the books that has been placed on the banned list is "History of Canadian Wealth," by Myers. This book was mentioned in the Toronto police court a few days ago in connection with the case of a Toronto policeman charged with possessing socialistic literature, and it was mentioned in the court that there were copies of this book in the Toronto public library.

"There was a copy of the "History of Canadian Wealth' in the London public library for four or five years before the war," said Public Librarian Landon today. "When it was placed on the list of banned books we removed it, though why it was banned no one seems to know. It is chiefly concerned with the relating of the political scandals that arose in connection with the building of Canadian railroads and canals. The same thing can be read in the volumes of Debates of Parliaments, which are not yet banned."

Mr. Landon stated that since the war began about half a dozen books which were censored have had to be removed. The names of the books that are forbidden are sent to the libraries in advance of the publication in this country. "The Nation," published in England, and one of the leading weekly reviews, was not allowed to enter Canada for some time, though circulating in England.

"SEX EDUCATION" TALKS GIVEN BY DR. WITHEROW

"Sex Education" was the subject of a lecture, illustrated by lantern slides and given to the High School Club and to the mentors of boys' clubs of the C. S. E. T. program at the Y. M. C. A. last evening by Dr. Witherow of the sex education department of the Y. M. C. A. of Canada.

After these two enlightening lectures, Dr. Witherow held a conference with the mentors, urging that something definite be done to educate the boys along this line. The church, school and home, he said, were doing nothing.

A special effort to educate people on this subject has been planned for the third week in February, when addresses will be given to men, older boys, younger boys and women.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

BURIED AT DORCHESTER.

The funeral of Mrs. Walter Short was held yesterday from the family residence, 112 Mamelon street, at 1 o'clock, to Dorchester Union Cemetery. Rev. George McKinley conducted the services at the house and grave.

The pallbearers were: Fred Young, J. Kennedy, J. Smith, Lyle Short, Lorne Short and D. Demary. The floral tributes were numerous.

BURIED AT WOODLAND.

The funeral of Miss Bessie Geoghegan was held on Friday afternoon from the residence of her mother, 552 St. James street, to Woodland Cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. H. B. Ashby at 2:30 o'clock. The pallbearers were three fifth-year medical students at Victoria Hospital, of which Miss Geoghegan was a graduate, Messrs. McNiece, Wiley and Ferguson and R. J. Wilson, Wilbur Scotland and Osbert Sumner.

DEATH OF MRS. WILKINS.

Mrs. George Wilkins died at her home, 951 Wellington street, at an early hour this morning. She is survived by her husband, George Wilkins, and six sons, Thomas of Moose Jaw, George of Toronto, John of Windsor, and Joseph, Herbert and Frank of this city. Four daughters also survive her, Mrs. E. Marley of Windsor, and Misses Nellie, Sarah and Florence at home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

RHEUMATISM LEFT HIM AS IF BY MAGIC!

Suffered For Over 50 Years.

Now 83 Years Old.

Goes Fishing and Feels Splendid!

J. B. Ashelman, Fargo, N. Dak.

"I am 83 years old and have been doctoring for muscular rheumatism ever since I came out of the army over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism by taking treatment supposed to drive the Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

These statements may seem strange to you, because you have all along been led to believe in the "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman 50 years to find out this truth. He learned it from a book that is now being distributed free by the author, who has devoted over 20 years to the study of this particular disease. If you wish a copy of this book that reveals startling facts about the cause and scientific treatment of rheumatism that have been overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, Ph.D., Eleventh street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return post without any cost or charge whatever. Cut out this notice lest you forget, and if not a sufferer yourself hand this good news to some friend who may be afflicted.

FOUR CASES BEFORE WEEKLY HIGH COURT

Mr. Justice Kelly presided at the weekly court at the court house today, four cases being argued before him.

In the case of Macklin vs. the Imperial Warehouse Company, a motion was made to set aside a writ of summons for irregularity. The plaintiff not being ready to go on with the motion, it stands over one week. P. H. Bartlett for the plaintiff, and G. S. Gibbons for the defendant.

In the action of Judge J. O. Dromgole, executor of the estate of Charles C. Cruickshanks, and Mrs. Helen Barker and others personally interested, an order was made upon consent of all parties for payment out of court of each one's share of the estate. R. G. Ivey for the motion and W. G. R. Bartram for other heirs.

Re the Duncan Macpherson estate, the motion for construction of the will was re-argued at the request of the judge. The principal question to determine was whether Donald Macpherson took a vested fee simple or life estate with power of appointment among a certain class. J. Macpherson, for executor; F. E. Perrin, for Hugh S. Stalker, nephew, and people of his class; P. H. Bartlett, for Donald Macpherson; F. P. Betts, for official guardian and next of kin.

Re the Thomas Colbert estate, a motion was made for the construction of the will, the question being as to what parties were entitled to share under a residuary clause in the testator's will. The motion was argued and judgment reserved. P. H. Bartlett for executor; F. E. Perrin, for Wesley E. Colbert and others interested in his class, and W. R. Meredith, for other parties interested.

COURT POSTPONED

Owing to the fact that Deputy Magistrate Bartlett was engaged in a high court case at the courthouse this morning, the usual 10 o'clock session of the police court was postponed till 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Wm. A. Henderson, the colored youth, who pleaded not guilty earlier in the week to having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling, will have a chance to disown the trouble-making black bottle, the ownership of which means a $200 fine.

Thomas Navin also will be given a chance to alibi himself on the charge laid by Benjamin Dyer of being disorderly.

James Sinclair, charged with having, Thursday night, stolen a horse belonging to Joseph Leah of Dundas street east, has been remanded till Monday, as has Elroy George, charged with the theft of a Paige motor car owned by Kent Campbell.

While deep human interest is the absorbing and dominant note, the picture is perhaps one of the most spectacular ever screened.

Much comedy is supplied by a character of a new sort—Monsieur Bebe—a role that will rank as a classic of the screen. It is played by David Butler.

"THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE," D. W. GRIFFITH'S MASTERPIECE, SHOWING AT THE MAJESTIC

Wonderful Peace and Victory Picture Will Be Presented at London's Popular Playhouse Next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next D. W. Griffith's wonderful Victory picture, "The Greatest Thing in Life," will be shown. This picture is acclaimed as Griffith's masterpiece and that means a great deal.

The Cast.

Jeanette Peret ..... Lillian Gish
Leo Peret ..... Adolphe Lestina
Edward Livingston .... Robert Harron
Mons. le Bebe ..... David Butler
American Soldier ..... Elmo Lincoln
German Officer ..... Edward Piel
Jeanette's Aunt ..... Kate Bruce
Mlle. Peaches ..... Peaches Jackson

Synopsis.

Edward Livingston, a young American, feels that he is socially superior to most people. When he meets and falls in love with Jeanette, who keeps a news stand in New York with her father, he fights against his passion. Jeanette's father's health demands that he return to France. Livingston, unknown, sends them money and they return to their home land. Soon after they arrive in the little French village, war overtakes them. Meanwhile Jeanette has fallen in love with Mons. le Bebe, an uncouth grocer. Livingston is a member of the American fighting forces. The Germans trace a secret telephone to the Peret home, Le Bebe is wounded when the hiding place is discovered and Jeanette telephones to the French lines of their danger. Livingston receives the message. Le Bebe dies of his wound. Jeanette and her father are saved and the girl and Livingston plight their troth.

The Griffith way of doing things is always apparent. The incident of the soldier calling for his "mammy" and the snob folding the man in his arms and "acting" as his "mammy" is possibly one of the finest things ever presented on the silversheet. It is such things as these that have made D. W. Griffith the undisputed leader of his profession. And in this picture the director has introduced some remarkably clever and new lighting and photographic effects that add to his laurels.

Lillian Gish in the leading role has one of her greatest parts. The charming little star does it full justice, presenting a characterization that is most painstaking and which for downright naturalness has never been equaled. Robert Harron, although not on the screen as much as we would like to have him, gives one of his usual good performances. He makes a real character of the snobbish young man who later finds himself. The role is not an easy one, but it has been particularly well handled by Harron. The balance of the cast, especially Elmo Lincoln and David Butler, render very valuable support.

ENID BENNETT IN HER LATEST PLAY AT THE MAJESTIC

Beautiful Australian Star at Popular Playhouse Next Friday and Saturday.

A novel role, that of the daughter of a prospector, was selected for dainty Enid Bennett, in her latest Paramount picture, "Fuss and Feathers," which will be displayed at the Majestic Theatre next Friday and Saturday. It is said that Miss Bennett never portrayed a more convincing character than this and that her work therein is all that can be desired.

The story of "Fuss and Feathers" was written by Julien Josephson, and it was directed by Fred Niblo under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince. An unusually powerful cast was selected to support the star, the players including Douglas MacLean, leading man; J. P. Lockney, Charles French, Sylvia Ashton and Robert McKim.

Human interest, the thrill of tense scenes, humor and many attractive settings, particularly those representing the mining camp, will, it is believed justify the prediction that this is a distinctive production and one of the most unique in which Miss Bennett ever has appeared.

The story concerns a prospector who strikes it rich and his daughter Susie. They go to San Francisco where they are snubbed by society, but Susie has her revenge and marries a scion of wealth and aristocracy. There are many strong situations filled with interest and heart appeal.

At the Majestic Next Friday and Saturday.

STANLEY MEREDITH'S LATEST MUSICAL COMEDY WILL BE PRESENTED WEEK OF JAN. 27

Manager T. W. Logan of the Majestic Theatre Arranges For Local Production — Beauty and Ability Combined in Greatest Treat of Theatrical Season.

Manager T. W. Logan of the Majestic Theatre is presenting Stanley J. Meredith and company in another sparkling musical playlet called, "Owing to the War," for the week of January 27. The proceeds are to be given to Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., and are to be turned over to assist in the furnishing of the new Westminster Hospital for Returned Soldiers. In point of staging, music and songs and incidental comedy, as well as in the quality of acting, this production is said to rank first among those produced under the direction of Mr. Meredith. Keith Handysides has written the music, and altogether the offering will be "London made." Many beautiful Forest City girls will take part, and the costuming will suggest a fashion exhibition.

Anita Black.

Stanley Meredith.

Mr. Meredith and Miss Anita Black will play the leading roles, and Miss Marjorie Skinner and Miss Marie Coughlin have important parts. Miss Brown, Miss Wood, Miss Terry, Miss Linn, Mr. Maloney, Mr. Lern, Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Dean all have speaking parts, and the chorus will consist of Misses Brennan, Colbert, Wood, Blanchard, Sutherland, Vincent, Grimshaw and Lewis.

As a special attraction Miss Alice Graves, who for the past few seasons has been engaged in musical comedies in New York city, will be featured in one of New York's latest waltz sensations.

The scene of the comedy, with music, is laid on the stage of the Victory Theatre, New York, during the dress rehearsal of an amateur revue for the American Red Cross. The time is the present.

The songs, music for which was written by Mr. Handysides, will be on sale in the lobby of the theatre before and after the performance, and it is hoped that the receipts will be augmented in this way, as well as from the sale of boxes and programs, which also will be on sale.

Some of the people who have boxes: Mrs. John Stevely, Mrs. Travers, Mrs. J. Scandrett, Col. Smith, Dr. Craig, Dr. Black, Mrs. Chas. Hunt, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. McMahon, Miss Carling, Mr. Riddell, Miss Peters, Dr. McCallum, Dr. Morris, Dr. Arnott, Judge Meredith, Mrs. Hadley Williams, Mrs. Niven, Mrs. Magee, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Cronyn, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Kerrigan, Mrs. Somerville, Mrs. Gartshore, Mrs. C. S. Hyman, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Wm. Ward, Mrs. John Garvey, Mrs. E. Yates, Mr. John Foot, Dr. Santa, Major Spry, Mrs. Harley Brown, Mrs. A. M. Moore, Mrs. T. H. Purdom, Dr. Eccles, Mrs. J. Smallman, Mrs. Boughner, Mrs. C. Sterling, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. C. White, Mrs. Whitwam, Mrs. G. Ingram, Mrs. McLean, Miss Dillon, Mrs. T. G. Meredith, and the various chapters of the I. O. D. E.

OWEN SOUND SOLDIER JUMPS OFF HIGH BRIDGE IN CITY OF TORONTO

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Believed by the police to have jumped over the high Glen road bridge, Harry B. Leggatt, a returned soldier, aged 25 years, was found lying unconscious in the Rosedale ravine at noon today. It is feared his back is broken. It was stated at the general hospital tonight that Leggatt was taking a vocational training course in Toronto. His parents reside in Owen Sound.

COL. DENISON "RAPS" PRESIDENT WILSON

Declares His "Butting In" Made Mess of Armistice.

TORONTO, Jan. 10. — Col. Denison, police magistrate of Toronto, at a luncheon given at the King Edward Hotel today in honor of Major-Gen. Cory, who is visiting at his home here, blamed President Wilson for the signing of the armistice with Germany, instead of the securing of a military victory by the Allies.

"Any trouble we have had," he said, "may be attributable to the premature butting in of this civilian, who gave the Germans the chance they snapped at to secure armistice terms, when Haig and Foch declared that they had them beaten. Had it not been for this it would have been a clean, straight knockout blow."

Touching on the Bolsheviki movement Col. Denison said: "All this would have been avoided if our friend in the United States had just declined to use his typewriter for a short time."

FORMER MAYOR OF CLINTON FALLS DEAD

CLINTON, Jan. 10.—D. A. Forrester, a well-known resident of this district, dropped dead in W. D. Friar's book store at 7:15 o'clock this evening, his death being caused by the bursting of a blood-vessel. He had only finished talking to Hugh Ross, when he fell to the floor. In the afternoon Mr. Forrester, who was in his usual good state of health, had attended the Clinton Club, but later left to go to the bookstore to get the evening paper. He owned a farm on the outskirts of the village and previous to that owned a flax mill. He was a former mayor of Clinton. He had two sons overseas, one of whom was killed in action. The deceased was well-known in Perth County as well as in Bruce County, and was the brother of William Forrester, the Liberal candidate for Perth in the last Dominion elections.

His wife and seven children survive him, Andrew of Hamilton, Fred of Dublin, Ross and Roy serving at the front, Mrs. D. Chidlesy, Alberta, and Miss Helen at home. He died in his seventieth year.

GRAIN GROWERS AGAINST TITLES; FOR RECIPROCITY

Platform Goes Farther Than Western Farmers' Program.

WOMEN FOR PARLIAMENT

Direct Legislation Through Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

BRANDON, Jan. 10.—The Grain Growers' convention this morning approved most of the planks of the farmers' platform as adopted by the Canadian Council of Agriculture in Winnipeg on November 29, 1918; in fact, the only amendments offered were to make the reforms more far-reaching. In addition, farm machinery, household machinery and requisites were included in the free list.

The platform commits the delegates to the support of a league of nations, wide measures of free trade, taxation of unimproved land values, graduated income taxes, immediate repeal of the war-times election act, discontinuance of conferring titles on Canadians, reform of Federal Senate, check of growth of Government by order-in-council, increased responsibility of individual Parliament members, abolition of the patronage system, application of contributions and expenditures before and after elections, removal of press censorship and restoration of free speech, proportional representation, establishment of measures of direct legislation through the initiative, referendum and recall, and opening of seats in Parliament to women on the same terms as men.

MILITARY CROSS FOR LIEUT. D. ROSS

CLANDEBOYE, Jan. 10.—A blizzard raged here yesterday. Trains were late and telephone wires are down everywhere.

The friends of Lieut. Duncan G. Ross are pleased to hear that he has been awarded the Military Cross. This information was received by his father, J. M. Ross, general merchant, of Lucan.

It is believed that he was honored for his part in the fighting at Cambrai, for it was at that place that every combatant officer in his battalion went down. Lieut. Ross took command and carried on for two days. Lieut. Ross went over with the 135th Battalion, but went with the 47th to France. His brother Charles, a medical student at McGill, gave up his studies there and was overseas for some time. He just returned late in the fall.

Both Ross boys were members of the O. N. O. Club and popular with the younger set.

The "flu" situation is somewhat better this week. It is hoped that the people here will take all precautions, as the storm is blocking the roads, making it difficult for the doctors to get through.

REV. BEN SPENCE IN COURT.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Rev. Ben Spence, charged in police court this morning with a breach of the order-in-council, in that he had copies of the temperance book "The Parasite," pleaded not guilty. W. E. Rainey argued that the case had been disposed of before a higher court. An adjournment for one week was made.

Last Canadian Units Home By August, Is Aim

20,000 This Month, 30,000 Next, Then Possibly 45,000 Monthly.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. — It is stated in militia circles here that the end of August next will see the return to Canada of the last units of the military forces of Canada now overseas in Europe. For the present there will be no speeding up in the return of troops beyond the numbers already arranged for—20,000 in January, increasing to 30,000 in February, but in the spring and summer months the number returning to Canada will rise to 45,000 monthly.

RETURNED MEN ON SCANDINAVIAN ARE KICKING ABOUT TRIP

Some Have Made Affidavits As To Treatment.

LIKE NORTHLAND TRIP

Charge That Misrepresentations Were Made On "Other Side."

CLAIMS NO COMPLAINTS.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 11.—When asked about complaints regarding the Scandinavian, a Canadian Pacific Railway official said that Col. Tremain, who was in charge of the conducting party, had informed him that there were no complaints, that everything possible had been done for the comport of the men, and that all the officers of the vessel had been most solicitous in caring for the passengers.

The official expressed the opinion that the complaints would continue unless the military authorities brought the men back in the same way they took them over, on transports, under military discipline.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 10.—Soldiers arriving on the Scandinavian today complained of treatment accorded them and some have affidavits as to conditions and treatment.

One was made by Sergt. Wm. Wilcock of Sydney Mines, N. S., who later died of influenza or pneumonia.

A list of complaints was compiled on the ship by representatives of every military district represented. They include allegations that misrepresentations were made on the other side as to tickets; that sleeping accommodations were abominable; that conditions were very unsanitary; that there were no arrangements for caring for the women and babies on board; that one attendant was drunk and acted disorderly and used profane language; also complaints about the food.

An Eventful Voyage.

The C. P. O. S. Liner Scandinavian arrived in port this morning from Liverpool, after one of the most eventful voyages of the last few years. She brought 103 officers, 165 other ranks and 746 civilians, the latter chiefly women and children. During the voyage exceptionally rough weather was encountered and many were sick. Spanish influenza broke out, and four passengers fell victims, and were buried at sea. A child was born at sea.

List From District One.

The following is a list of officers and men of Military District No. 1, with the staff who came on the Scandinavian:

Conducting Staff—Lieut.-Col. H. B. Tremaine, Capt. R. H. Morris, Capt. R. J. Brookfield, Major J. C. Fysche, Capt. J. K. Tibbits, Capt. W. G. Frisbie.

Medical Staff—Capt. A. E. Greenspan, Nursing Sisters Mary MacGuire and C. J. Cameron.

District No. 1—Lieut. C. M. Shoebottam, Woodstock; Capt. A. R. Perry, Mount Forest; Capt. W. A. Spriggs, Kingston; Lieut. E. D. Cameron, Lucknow; Lieut. J. C. Codling, St. Marys; Lieut. Ross Cameron, Hartington; Lieut. E. N. Farncomb, London; Lieut. T. Grieves, London; Lieut. A. E. Hahn, Fairstock; Lieut. F. H. McCulloch, Port Colborne; Lieut. W. Sandercock, London.

The answer of most fat people is that constant dieting is hard, continual exercise is tiresome, exhaustive—then, too, it might be harmful to force the weight down. That was the old-fashioned idea. Today in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. Just a pleasant, harmless little tablet after each meal and at bedtime causes fat to vanish. This modern method is absolutely harmless, entails no dieting or exercise, and has the added advantage of cheapness. A large case of safe Marmola Prescription Table is sold by druggists at 75c. Or, if preferable, can be obtained by sending price direct to the Marmola Co., 64 Garfield Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduce two, three or four pounds a week without fear of any bad after-effects whatever.

THE LIEBKNECHT PERIL.

A SITUATION that might have developed a difficult problem for the Entente alliance has been, let us hope permanently, relieved by the setback to the Spartacans in the Berlin fighting. Had Liebknecht's mob-army won control of the machinery of government from the Ebert ministry it seems certain that powerful Allied forces would have had to occupy further large sections of Germany. Until recently, Liebknecht was the champion of a moderate Socialism which strove by legal, decent methods to establish rule of the people; now he is tooth and nail for the red terror of Lenine and Trotzky. Bolshevism, if as widespread and merciless in Germany as it is in Russia, would force a new campaign on the Allies which might involve another colossal expenditure of men and money. While the broad masses of the British and French people are too sensible of what liberty means to accept the grotesque and ghastly mess which the Bolshevik are endeavoring to cram down the world's throat, the postponement of industrial reconstruction and demobilization might cause an exasperating unrest and discontent, if nothing worse. The complete triumph of Ebert and his moderates will be a heavy blow to Bolshevism, as it will make more difficult the securing of a footing in Entente countries, the great ultimate goal, to reach which the wrecking of Germany would be merely a step. Also the downfall of the extremists will remove a serious obstacle to the smooth running of the peace conference.

At the moment, Germany is experiencing much the same experience as fell upon Russia immediately following the revolution. As at Petrograd, so at Berlin, two groups are fighting for supremacy, the one frankly "Red," representing a minority, the other seeking to establish democratic government by lawful legislative methods. Roughly, one faction is for the bullet, the other for the ballot. Ebert is the "Kerensky" of Germany, Liebknecht the "Lenine." Fortunately the parallel ceases with the apparent overthrow of Liebknecht. Had Ebert gone the way of Kerensky, the Allies would have had to deal with an irresponsible government installed through savagery and frightfulness and speaking for only a small section of the nation.

Just as with the Russian Bolshevists, it would be impossible to deal with the Spartacans diplomatically. By the Entente alliance, quite as much as for Germany, a stable, sane rule at Berlin is desired, and to date the Ebert party seem to be the most dependable and representative.

BE WORTHY OF PEACE.

CANADIANS are worthy of peace. In the ordinary affairs of life they must continue to exhibit patriotism towards the nation and towards individuals.

A good understanding and a sympathetic feeling among all classes is the demand of the day. Fighting side by side in war is a good beginning for living side by side in peace.

Co-partnership and co-operation are the watchwords of industry. It is in the interests of all that production should reach the maximum under proper conditions of labor, and that profits should be shared fairly among all whose energies create them.

Particularly is it the duty of Canadians to be patriotic in their dealings with the men who return from the front. Each individual citizen must search his conscience for ways and means of establishing returned men in useful, congenial and self-respecting employment.

Repatriation is one of the great peace tasks for Canadians. As that task is performed so will Canadians be held worthy or unworthy of a righteous and victorious peace.

CANADA'S CONVALESCENCE.

NOW IS THE TIME for all good men to come to the aid of their country.

The war has been ended, it is true, but the whole world is still convalescent, and Canada, while perhaps in a better state of health than many other countries, is certain to suffer from the fevers and weaknesses and relapses that come after a serious disruption such as the world never before knew.

While war was in progress the country devoted most of its energy and money to the necessary work of killing Germans. Plants were loaded with orders for tons and tons of material to be hurled forth to destroy; men were called and given by the thousands; no dollar was spared that could be spent to the advantage of the cause. To the saving of democracy and the preservation of national welfare the country gave with a prodigal hand.

The menace is removed, and the world has been relieved of the necessity of building machinery of destruction. But we are yet face to face with the conditions of war, the aftermath or convalescence, and to these we must apply money, energy and talent as lavishly as during the progress of hostilities. We must be as ready to save the country, and to give in order that the country may be saved from disruption and unemployment as we were ready to work for the salvation of the country and common humanity.

The present Government is failing to meet the critical demands of the hour. It is in a state of suspended animation, and it cannot get its feet on solid ground. If it is in touch with industrial conditions and has made provision against unemployment, it has not given the assurance that the country is to be preserved in prosperity in peace as during the war. If a man owes his life to the state in time of war, does not the state owe to the man the means of sustaining life in time of peace? The government that can control and commandeer plants in time of war, must not permit stagnation to enter at a period that is quite as critical as during the struggle. The country must be nursed through the few months required for a full return to health, and before loans are made to the people of Rumania the people of Canada should know that the tonic of restoration has been provided for.

The provinces and the cities have a mighty work to do, as well. The provinces must be keenly alive to those problems which concern the communities collectively such as industrial education and the securing of employment.

Each city also will find that it has a definite part to play. For instance such an organization as the newly-formed Chamber of Commerce should be in constant touch with industrial conditions. Business as a whole will usually invite most of its activities, but there is evidence at hand that there is need for a close watch on the tendencies of labor. Were a serious strike impending, it should be a first duty of the Chamber of Commerce to use its influence to prevent it. Sometimes it is found that labor is obdurate, but employers are also liable to adopt positions that are indefensible. An organization of the complexion of the Chamber of Commerce could not be accused of being unfriendly to the manufacturer, and it is probable that labor would be glad to have its case considered as worthy of investigation.

The demand is for searching study of our problems today, not tomorrow or a month from now, when it is too late. Those who are close enough to the masses of the people must recognize that the unrest of getting well again is something to consider. The patient is not yet out of the hands of the physician.

PADEREWSKI AND THE POLES.

A FEW DAYS ago the world was amazed and amused by the news that Ignace Paderewski had been made president of the Polish republic. A poet of the piano at the head of one of the most ancient of nations newly liberated from tyrannical bonds! Here was material for the wildest extravaganza, merry comedy or hilarious burlesque. The situation seemed too fantastic, too whimsical to be taken seriously. To the few Paderewski is the artiste supreme of his profession, but to the world at large he has been largely a freak or a fad. Publicity has made a lot of his wonderful hair to the eclipsing of his wonderful hands. That is a new world trick. In the old world where artistic values are more widely and accurately appreciated Paderewski is a musician-poet and superb artiste, and it is from such history has produced many of its most revolutionary spirits. Byron and Shelley were passionate fighters for freedom, the former to the point of shouldering a rifle. The poet, and Paderewski is that, can, as a rule, safely be classed with the forces and influences of freedom. Paderewski may not get as much out of a parliament as out of a piano, but it is from the old world point of view it is by no means unnatural or illogical that he should aspire to and be accepted as the head of the new Poland.

Dreamers and poets, apparently irresponsible fellows, have too often upset the political apple cart to be taken lightly. Lloyd George and Wilson have said that a prolonged world peace will depend largely on how Poland emerges from the welter in Central Europe. Perhaps the great pianist through the leadership of his race may give to the world the sublimest of all harmonies, a lasting and just peace. More power to You, Ignace.

It's pretty near time for the whiskerless Bolshevik to show up.

If Denmark cedes Greenland to Canada, those "icy mountains" of the hymnals will furnish grand tobogganing.

With the mayor and reeve of Seaforth both veterinarians, that council should win a reputation for horse-sense.

Polish forces are fighting the Bolsheviki—Headline. President Paderewski's opening number is a military march.

The Detroit Free Press says the peace conference will be an august gathering. If they don't hurry up it will also be a next August gathering.

Ludendorff has been spending a holiday on a Swedish farm. Should he ever visit this country, we can assure him a nice, long vacation on the Burwash farm.

NEVER AGAIN.

[Philadelphia Record.]

The Germans still talk of "the next war." They say it will be "won in the air." It is one in the air, a castle that we hope will never get beyond the dream stage.

CONSOLATION.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

Scotsmen not unreasonably complain at times of the use of the word England when Britain is implied. However, there should be a solatium in the fact that their famed Firth of Forth is used to intern the German grand fleet.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

[Toronto News.]

One reason why Canada is dependent upon the United States for its moving picture entertainment is found in our antiquated, rickety, and stupid copyright act. If a Canadian writes a scenario and sells it in the United States his royalty receipts depend entirely upon the goodwill of the producer, merely because we have no law relating to modern forms of reproducing ideas. Parliament should examine the question at the next session.

WAR CHARGES.

[Christian Science Monitor.]

Mr. Dooley's observations on "The End of the War" have an appropriateness at this juncture, that is to say, if the "tax collector" is regarded in the light of an aftermath belonging to many other realms than the financial. "And so the war is over?" asks Mr. Hennessy. "On'y part iv it," replies Mr. Dooley. "Th' part that ye see in th' pitcher pa-pers is over, but th' tax collector will continyoo his part iv th' war with relentless fury. Cavlry charges are not the on'y wans in a rale war."

SO-CALLED CANADIAN STATESMEN.

[Ottawa Citizen.]

There has been a tendency in recent years among certain carpet-bagging persons, calling themselves Canadians, to get into British politics. They profess to have a special knowledge of Canadian public opinion, and invariably pose as stalwarts of imperialism. It is not helpful to the credit of Canada in Great Britain that so many of the so-called Canadian candidates in British constituencies should be apparent reactionaries. They are liable to give many British people the impression that Canadian public men are mainly company promoters, or opportunist politicians, interested in getting something for nothing. It helped to upset some of the carpet-bagging activities when the Canadian House of Commons last session went on record against the traffic in titles, and petitioned the King to confer no more hereditary titles on residents of Canada. The British people, filled with admiration for the part played by the Canadian Expeditionary Force in the war, should be protected from imposters and reactionaries who regularly go before the public at election time, asking to be sent to parliament at Westminster as statesmen from Canada.

THE EXTRA FEATURE.

By S. B. Hackley.

For a quarter hour only the crickets had broken the silence in the Compton orchard, where old Tobias and Jemima and Minerva, their granddaughter, assorted some mighty mounds of fallen winesaps. Then Minerva spoke.

"Zack wants me to run off and marry him, grandpappy, after fodder strippin's over."

"Lord, 'Nervy, don't ye! old Tobias' faded eyes were piteously beseeching, "Stay by us, honey. Nobody feels for us old ones like you do, 'Nervy!"

Minerva smiled faintly. "I told Zack, grandpappy, I couldn't marry him if ma wasn't willing'. She'd drive me off and surely mistreat you and grandmammy if I married against her will."

"Was Zachariah fretted?" the grandmother asked anxiously. Minerva crimsoned. They must not know how much Zack was "fretted!"

"He—he said he'd stay away until I sent for him. I—there's ma!"

In Southern Appalachia it is customary for the aged father and mother to live with the youngest son in their old home. But old Tobais' log dwelling was an unusually large one—a most desirable home, and Eliza, the wife of the eldest son, by skillful machinations contrived to get Charley, the youngest son, and his wife, Phoebe, away and to get her own family installed.

Lazy herself, she depended almost entirely on her young daughter, her only child, to do the work of the house and to keep her services she had determined Minerva should not marry any but some young man she could take into her house and rule, as she did Joshua, the girl's henpecked father.

By her orders, Zechariah Burden, who was not the "humble sort" she desired for a son-in-law, stayed away from the Compton house, but Zack was resourceful and managed often to see the gentle little creature who was like a guardian angel to the old ones.

"Cryin', Jemimy?" old Bias, sitting smoking on their bedroom hearth that evening, asked uneasily. Jemima wiped her eyes.

"I got to studyin' about Minervy a waitin' on her happiness on account of us and it worried me some, Bias!" she confessed.

After Jemima slept, Bias still sat on the hearth. Minerva was delicate, like their little Hettie who had died sixteen years before, three months after the soldier sweetheart they had not been willing for her to marry had been laid under Cuban palms.

"Little Hettie! Little Hettie!" he murmured. "Lord, if I'd let her had her way about Jess Duty, she might not have pined away! Jess, he wasn't a bad boy—I wish I hadn't stood in her way—I do wish it, Lord!"

His pipe clattered on the hearth. His heavy groans awakened Jemima.

"The pain Doc Higgins said was from my heart, it's pinchin' a little!" he labored out, his hands clutching his chair rungs, his rugged old face chalky.

Jemima trembled as she measured out the drops the young doctor had left for him. The doctor had warned her all worry must be kept from Tobias, and he had worried because she had caught her crying about Minerva!

"You reckon you worked too hard at the apples, Bias?" she asked him when at last she got him between the bed covers.

"No. I got to thinkin' about our little Hettie. I was wishin' I could go back them sixteen years and tell the little, lovin' thing her and Jess might marry before he went to the fightin'. Then the pain struck me."

She patted his hands in gentle soothing. "Hettie and Jess wasn't long separated, Bias, honey! The Lord saw to that! Now try to go to sleep!"

But it was long before he closed his eyes.

"They could come and live with us and things would be all right," Jemima heard him murmuring over and over in his fitful sleep, "if Eliza was willin'!" Then once he cried out:

"She's a-goin' like Hettie, Jemimy—like Hettie! Can't you see it?"

When he was quiet again, Jemima arose and dressed herself. If he worried himself much more he might bring on another attack, and Joel Higgins had said two attacks close together might kill him.

"I can find my way to Aaron Burden's," she said to herself, "some way, dark as it is. I'm bound to see Zack!"

Two hours later she stood breathless in the Burdens' yard on the top of the mountain. The dog slept, but fear of him set her knees shaking. With a trembling hand she tapped on the window of Zack's bedroom.

Near the dawn, when Zack helped her off the gentle mule he had led down the mountainside, her old face was shining like the eastern sky.

A few days later when Eliza came home from Miranda Mulliken's "quilting," she was consumed with wrath. Naomi Rouse, whom she hated of all women, had bragged to 'Ran that her daughter Magnolia had taken Zack Burden "away" from Eliza Compton's Minerva! Long before the "fodder-pulling" was done, officious neighbors began to predict Zack's early marriage to Magnolia.

Minerva drooped visibly. Her grandfather fretted.

"Jemimy, ain't she takin' it to heart too much? Lemme give her a hint it's just play-actin'!"

Jemima shook her head smiling. "Don't worry about Nervy. She'll come out all right. Zack don't want her told until the show day, and that ain't long off, Bias!"

The circus coming to Caneyville had advertised a prize of $10 in gold to be given to the young woman not afraid and willing to be married on an elephant's back in their ring, which advertisement doubled and tripled the size of the attending crowd on the "show day."

Early that morning Zack Burden's two mules passed the Compton wagon, en route to Caneyville. Zack rode one mule, Magnolia Rouse the other. Eliza could not restrain a look of displeasure.

"Them two are the pair that's to be married on the elephant's back!" old Bias volunteered cheerfully. "Zack's done arranged with the show folks."

This news was the last straw. Eliza turned to her daughter, her face white with wrath.

"Nervy Compton, before I'd let everybody in the county see that low-down Rouse girl take my feller right before my eyes, I'd jump in Caney River!"

Minerva smiled. "Their weddin' won't discredit me, Ma. Zack's not my feller now, and all the folks know he wanted to marry me, and you wouldn't let him!"

At the close of the circus performance, the largest and gentlest elephant (with a howdah on his back) was brought into the ring.

"Will the gentleman who wishes to be married please present himself?" the ringmaster called out.

Zack arose and took Magnolia's arm, but she pulled back, screeching foolishly. "I'm afraid of the elephant! I'm afraid to get close to the thing!"

"Will the gentleman try to persuade another lady then? We're bound to have a wedding!" The biggest clown rolled over in a gale of merriment, but it was tragedy to Eliza.

Zack looked about him. "I see one lady I know is not afraid of the elephant that would maybe marry me, but she's afraid of her ma!"

Eliza sprang to her feet.

"If you mean Minerva, Zack Burden," she shouted, "she needn't be afraid of me objectin'! I've concluded I'm perfectly agreeable to her marrying a young man as industrious and well-behaved as you are!"

Tears of triumph were in Eliza's eyes when, twenty minutes later, she saw Zack lift his bride to the ground.

"Where's your gold piece, Nervy?" happy old Bias whispered that evening.

"Magnolia's got that one," she whispered back, "but I've got another one just like it the show folks gave Zack for what they called the 'extry feature!'"

Good boy, John Bull!"
We never thought it was in you.
Of course, we've read about your "Mafeking night," now ancient history, and your week of unrestrained celebration when the armistice was signed; but those were just little affairs of your own.
We've always respected you, and while we've regarded you as a hard chap to get chummy with, we generally found you a likeable fellow when once we could get you thawed out a bit. Don't think there's any reflection on you in that. We haven't held it to your credit that you were reserved and self-contained. Those are really pretty good qualities when they're natural.
But we never suspected how much you thought of us till you let go to welcome Mr. Wilson. We appreciate it, John! We know that it means a lot. It means more from you than it would from a man who was in the habit of doing those things on every excusable occasion.

THE POLICEMAN'S LOT IS NOT—

[New York Tribune.]

Officers of the American forces engaged in policing occupied German territory complain that the regular mess is almost deserted, the soldiers preferring to slip away and accept the hospitality of the German inhabitants, who take the Americans to their homes and entertain them lavishly. These being the same Germans who lately were wearing medals struck in celebration of the sinking of the Lusitania, their conduct is strongly reminiscent of the plaintive song of the policemen in "The Pirates of Penzance," which runs:

"When a felon's not engaged in his employment,
Or maturing his felonious little plans
His capacity for innocent enjoyment
Is just as great as any honest man's.

The picture of our boys enjoying all the comforts of home is a pleasant one of course, but we charge them not to forget that evil communications corrupt good manners. This sudden recrudescence of the "kindly German nature" only serves to recall that:

"When the coster's finished jumping on his mother,
He loves to lie a-basking in the sun."

Taking one "consideration with another," the boys who are walking a beat along the Rhine are going to find our Gilbert and Sullivan were right when they sang:

"The policeman's life is not a happy one."

Putting Efficiency into Repatriation

THE Repatriation Committee has been formed by the Dominion Government to bring Canada forward to a peace basis with all speed.

It will use the existing machinery and any necessary new machinery.

The Committee consists of Hon. Sir James Lougheed, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment; Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Privy Council; Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor; Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior; Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration (Chairman). To assist them, Mr. H. J. Daly has been appointed Director of Repatriation.

This Committee is formed to co-ordinate the work of all those departments of the Government which have to do with the task of bringing back our soldiers to civil life, caring for them and their dependents, providing employment opportunities for soldiers and war-workers, and assuring proper living and working conditions. It also assists the efforts of all organizations and agencies prepared to give aid in the solution of our problems.

THE Committee surveys all plans. It prevents overlapping and confusion. It secures expert assistance, It obtains more speedy action, more effective co-operation. While its first consideration is the welfare of the Canadian soldier, its scope embraces the whole community.

The Committee has built up a Repatriation Organization to supplement the work of the existing departments of the Government.

The Committee has secured experts on each problem—military, employment, social, housing, farming, transportation, medical. Nothing is neglected. It invites representatives from all organizations which have interested themselves in the social and economic welfare of the country and the needs of our soldiers.

Co-operating with the Repatriation Committee is an Advisory Committee appointed by the Great War Veterans' Association.

With the assistance of these agencies the solution of the problem is presented to The Repatriation Committee in a practicable form.

The plans devised to meet every problem as it arises will be reported to you in the coming announcements.

MAIL-BOX DELUGED WITH BABY CLOTHES FOR MOTHER OF FIVE

Appeal Made Merely For Materials, But Many Garments the Result.

A veritable layette has descended upon The Advertiser in the past few days in response to an appeal made through the Cynthia Grey columns by a cheerful little mother of five, who called herself "Contented." The Mail-Box people always outdo themselves when it comes to helping each other, and no sooner did "Contented's" letter appear in the paper than parcels of every size and shape began to deluge the office from various points in Western Ontario, containing not merely the bits of dainelette asked for, but exquisitely made baby dresses, baro-coats, chemese, bootees and all the rest of the many things needed for baby's wardrobe.

Could every reader of The Advertiser have been present at the opening of the parcels and seen the beaming face of the little mother as she proudly bore them away—the gifts of love from the great family of Cynthia Grey—there would be absolutely no question as to the worth-whileness of the undertaking.

The Mail-Box will listen anxiously for the first cry of the babe, in which it has already taken a deep interest. Little does that babe know—and yet after all perhaps it does know—of the great family of brothers and sisters of the Mail-Box awaiting it here. Who dare say it does not know?

A tiny citizen-of-Canada-to-be, with the 45,000 readers of The Advertiser aware of its coming, many of them assuming the kindly role of Aunt Mary and stitching on the garments, destined to give the first impression of the world to this little traveler from "Where do you come from, Baby dear?" What prince could hope for a better reception* And all this was made possible by Cynthia Grey and her faithful friends.

St. John Ambulance Certificates Needed For Hospital Jobs

Lord Kitchener Division To Begin Winter Term Classes Next Week.

Now that the war is over, there will be many openings in the military hospitals of No. 1 District for V. A. D.'s, masseuses and special service workers, such as stenographers, cooks, housemaids, etc. V. A. D.'s and masseuses must have certificates in first aid and home nursing, and preference is given to those applying for special service, who also possess these certificates.

The Lord Kitchener Nursing Division No. 28 will commence classes for the winter term in the Royal Bank building on Tuesday of next week, when first aid lectures will commence. Home nursing classes will begin on Thursday.

EMBRO AND WEST ZORRA RED CROSS.

EMBRO, Jan. 10.—The secretary of the Embro and West Zorra Red Cross Society, Miss Effie Ross, has received letters from several of the boys overseas, acknowledging the Christmas boxes that were sent by this society. She has also received a letter from the Red Cross Society in England, stating that Pte. Adam Munro would be given the $5 which was sent him.

RUTHVEN PATRIOTIC LEAGUE.

Mrs. T. H. Wigle, who has been president of the Woman's Patriotic League here for the past two years, upon retiring was presented by the ladies of the league with the following address: "Retiring president of the Ruthven Patriotic League, Dear Madam president: We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and now that the third year of our work in the Ruthven Patriotic League is drawing to a close, we think it but fitting that words of appreciation and gratitude should be tendered our capable and faithful president, who is now retiring. That Ruthven was not behind in the good work for our boys overseas, many thanks are due you, for in all such affairs efficient leadership is vital, and this, we found in you. A president, however industrious and efficient, could not succeed without able and faithful associates in the other offices, and we are glad that official relations have been at all times perfectly agreeable and effective. The league could undoubtedly have done a greater work had each and every member worked as tirelessly as the officers have done."

The following is a list of articles made by the women of the league: 1,200 pairs hand-made socks, of which Miss Cecille van Kluk, who is past 91 years of age, knitted 154 pairs; 8 scarfs, 486 shirts, 107 hospital shirts, 78 surgeons' gowns, 763 towels, 143 sheets, 592 pillow cases, 325 mouth-wipes, 100 washcloths and many other comforts.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, Jan. 12, 1909.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Moses the Leader of Israel.—Exodus, iii., 1—4; 17.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

18. Verses 10-17. What are the excuses that Moses made to God in order to escape this work?

19. Why is it unreasonable and wicked to think, that God ever asks a man to do a work without giving him the ability and the opportunity to do it??

20. What honor did Moses lose, and what does every man lose who refuses to do the work which God assigns him?

Golden Text—Moses indeed was faithful in all his house.—Heb. iii., 5.

GOD WAS THE STRENGTH OF MOSES.

Moses' faithfulness and his success were mainly because he trusted in God for everything. He received his commission from God in the beginning; God gave him his plan of campaign; God delivered him in every crisis in his eventful career. Moses after having undertaken the work as the leader of Israel, seems to have known nothing of fear. His courage was founded on God's strength and wisdom, and he was never disappointed. God crowned his manifold work, in connection with the children of Israel, with great success. It was the duty of Moses to be faithful to the commands of God, and then it was the business of God to see that Moses had the strength and the wisdom to carry out that which he had been commanded to do. Every man, without exception, can be as successful in his calling, as Moses was in his [illegible] in God.

Both Women and Men Vote On Same Grounds Exactly

"The power of the franchise" is a phrase which has been traveling from lip to lip for sometime past, especially among women who have but lately attained it. And along with this talk goes a shameful ignorance on the part of many as to the grounds on which they are given a vote, and the supreme necessity of having their names appear on the voters' lists. A hasty appearance at the polls on election day will gain nothing, no matter how hard the individual may have worked for, and enthused over that particular election, if at the same time her name fails to be written upon the voters' list.

Perhaps a frank statement telling just who is permitted to have a vote and on what grounds, will help to clear up difficulties and make matters much easier on the next election day, whether it be municipal, provincial or Dominion.

As the war-times election act stands today, every man of 21 years of age, every soldier, and every woman who is either a mother, wife or sister of a soldier, is qualified to vote in a Dominion election. By the next election, however, the war-times act will no longer be valid, and it is almost certain that every man and woman who has attained the age of 21 years, and is a British subject, will be entitled to the vote.

Equal franchise has now been granted by the Provincial Government and for the next Provincial election every man and woman of 21 years of age and over, who is at the same time a British subject, will be permitted to cast a vote.

The municipal elections are much more complicated, and consequently there is greater risk of names not appearing on the voters' list through ignorance. For the municipal elections the suffrage is also equal. What stands for a man, remains the same for a woman. Property owners to the amount of $400 are assessed, and consequently receive a vote. If husband and wife are joint owners of property to the amount of $800, each has a vote. Tenants letting property valued at $400 may vote. If husband and wife are joint tenants of property valued at $800, each has a vote. Every person, man or woman, receiving a salary of at least $1,000 is assessed for $400 of that amount, and consequently has a vote. There is a $600 salary exemption. Householders are exempted to the amount of $1,500.

Men of 21 years of age, receiving less than $1,000 salary, who neither own nor rent property to the amount of $400, do not have a vote in the municipal elections, as some women ignorantly have thought. Both women and men vote in exactly the same capacity.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Loves Literature.

Dear Miss Grey,—Is there room in your corner for another newcomer? The flu is pretty bad around here, but only one death from it so far. We have just got over it, but I was lucky enough to escape.

Christmas was very dull around here this year. I'm eleven and am going to try my entrance. I love literature. I'm taking music (which I like well enough, but hate to practice). And now for some help.

Could you tell me the meaning of Elizabeth and Malcolm? I will sign myself. CANADIAN LASSIE.

Ans.—I am sorry that your Christmas was "dull," but with the influenza in the house there's not much merriment, I'm sure. Let us shake hands, "Lassie," on the literature. I love it too. Oh, yes, and the music too, of course, but unlike you I'm too old to practice! Elizabeth means consecrated. I do not know the meaning of Malcolm.

Spots and Stains.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have several pairs of very dainty curtains, which are soiled. Could you suggest anything to dry clean them with? If not, where could I get them done? I couldn't wash them.

What will take white stains of window sills caused by flower pots?

What will clean brass jardiniere?

How to mend china and what with?

What will take white stain off polished mahogany table? What will take tea stain out of table linen? Also rust stains?

Thank you, JUNE.

Ans.—Are you sure you could not wash the curtains in a suds of Lux and hot water? If carefully wrung through a wringer to keep them flat (twisting with the hands injures fine fabrics), and dried between folds of cotton (an old sheet is good), instead of hanging on the line, very filmy curtains can be successfully laundered. If they're rather dusty or smoked, it is a good idea to let soak over night in clear water, changing once or twice.

If you prefer, the address of a dry cleaner I can send you one or two upon receipt of a stamped envelope.

2. Difficult to remove. Sometimes to dip a damp rag in baking soda and rub the stain briskly will banish the white marks. 3. Get a box of Brasso and follow directions. 4. A good cement for china is to dissolve gum arabic in water until it is quite thick, then stir in plaster of paris until it makes a paste. Apply to the edges with a brush, join, and leave untouched for three days. 5. See answer to No. 2. 6. Clear green or mixed tea stains usually yield if boiling water is poured through them. For black tea, or any tea containing milk or cream, best to soak in cold water, before the stain dries if possible. 7. Use lemon juice and salt, or salts of lemon, purchasable at a drug store.

Contests For "Fuzzy."

"Fuzzy"—It's the solemn-coly truth, but I don't remember feeding your other letter to either the basket or the fire. I'm sorry to have seemed discourteous, and it really wasn't due to "too much turkey," for I never "et" any! Do these sound like new ones: If not, let me know:

Hidden Authors.—Many pilgrims have knelt to kiss (Pope). Makes garments to order (Taylor). A woman's headcovering in cold weather (Hood). A name which means such fiery things (Burns). Head of a monarchy (King). The value of a word (Wordsworth). A tall man whose name begins with fifty (Longfellow). A poet brighter than others (Brighton). A worker in precious metal (Goldsmith). A disagreeable fellow to have on your foot (Bunyan). What the meat in the oven is doing (Cook). To agitate a weapon (Shakespeare). A young domestic animal (Lamb). Very rapid movements (Swift). What your pupils can do well (Read). A slang expression (Scott). What you should never say (Dickens). Rejoicing and a hard substance (Gladstone). A fraction of a cent and a great weight (Milton).

A Nutting Party.—1. Which nut is used to describe a pair of Oriental eyes? 2. Which nut is found in a dairy? 3. Which nut is a part of every house or building? 4. Which nut suggests a popular beverage? 5. Which nut is awarded to victors? 6. Which nut bears a girl's name? 7. Which nut forms a part of the human body? 8. Which nut is caused by wearing tight boots? 9. Which nut is found at the seashore? 10. Which nut suggests a favorite summer vegetable, and also the size of fuel? 11. Which nut has a South American flavor? 12. Which nut suggests a nickname in American history?

Answers—Almond, butternut, walnut, cocoanut, palmnut, hazelnut, chestnut, acorn, beechnut, peanut, Brazilnut, hickory ("Old Hickory" for Andrew Jackson).

This Is You.—You have a trunk (body). It has two lids (eyelids). And two caps (kneecaps). Two musical instruments (drums). Two established measures of length (feet). Articles used in building (nails). The everlasting part of two men (soles). Two lofty trees (palms). Some fine flowers (Two-lips). Two young cows (calves). Number of wild small animals (hares). A fine stag (heart). Number of whips without handles (lashes). Weapons of warfare (arms). Number of weathercocks (veins). Invitation to enter (instep). Yeas and nays (eyes and nose). Two students (pupils). Number after nine and to put on (tendon). Six wooden box (chest). Two fine buildings for worship (temples). What you should not chew (gum). A piece of English money (crown). An article used by painters (palate). Used in crossing a river (bridge). Two letters of the alphabet furnished with bows (elbows). Instruments used in church music (organs). Where a river empties (mouth). Air in motion and a tube (windpipe). Part of a shout or a cheer (hip, hip).

THE VERY BEST OF WOMANHOOD SHOULD BE FOR THE NATION

Margery Mills Urges Farm Women To Merge Their Individuality Into Citizenship.

Duty, responsibility, privilege of participating in these history-making days—How can we women as a class be induced to realize those? "Ay, there's the rub."

Last week we tried to emphasize the duty point of view.

This time we must discuss what is perhaps a more agreeable phase—for who does not enjoy power—and who shall estimate the power for good, we may wield, or the power influence we lose by inaction or the awful power of wrong action.

Guard Thoughts.

How one should guard his spoken and written thoughts in these days of unrest lest unwise words bring an unthought-of harvest of regrets. And how careful we should be to speak and act truly, fearlessly, opposing the evils which threaten to overthrow or undermine the principles, for which, it is our proud boast, our flag stands.

For only can true and lasting greatness be ours as we steadfastly hold to the great eternal principles of truth and justice; for ultimately these will win.

Nor is it sufficient that we personally adhere to these great fundamentals—so you remember Tennyson's expression:

"The individual weakens, and the world is more and more."

Community standards and national standards must be set up and followed. This can be accomplished only by concerted practice of such standards.

Not Individuals But Citizens.

Hence our responsibility. We dare not regard ourselves as mere units. That was of yesterday. Today we are citizens and must accept the implied responsibility. There is no possible evasion; we are responsible for nonperformance, just as surely as for performance of the requirements of citizenship.

But greater than duty or even than responsibility is the privilege of being a real part of today. Think of the great questions which are to be solved! Never were social and national problems so important, so far-reaching before us—and you and I, the farm women, have our share in the nation's deliberation. Do we need to be aroused to such privilege? Surely not.

Give Our Womanhood.

Let us put first things first; give to the nation which has recognized us as citizens the very best of our womanhood; speak with no uncertain tone against social evils; bring to the fore the great questions which too often are hidden behind the petty personal trifles which are given undue prominence. It is not who shall sit in parliament, half so much, as why shall they sit there?

"Greatly begin—Though thou hast time
But for a line be that subline,
Not failure, but low aim is crime."

Do You Wash Your Washing or have your Washing Washed

Wise women have ceased to drag out their lives over a washtub once a week, when there are machines to do the work for them.

When you send your wash to the Forest City Laundry it comes to a sanitary, clean, up-to-date, scientific washing plant, where everything is done in the most hygienic manner.

Your clothes come back to you clean, pure and fresh—as sweet as summer air, white, smooth—perfectly laundered, ready for use. Best of all, the cost is no greater than when you slave all day over the washtub yourself, and ultimately incur doctors' bills when your strength gives out. Our beautiful White Wagon will stop at your door each week and take the washing out of your sight—returning it promptly when wanted. Phone for a driver to call and give him a test package.

More Eggs GUARANTEED

Hens are supplied by nature with 1,200 to 4,000 rudimentary yolks. But a yolk is only half an egg, and a hen won't lay half an egg—it's the whole egg or nothing with her. To lay a whole egg, the hen must have a "white" for a "yolk." If she is to lay 1,000 eggs, her food must supply 1,000 whites as well as 1,000 yolks—she must get "whites" just as she gets meat, bones and feathers—from her feed. Ordinary grain feeds and "mill-mixtures," will fatten a hen and produce yolks, but do not produce enough "whites" to make her lay any more eggs than usual. Only the feeding of Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder will supply enough elements to make "a white for every yolk," and make a hen LAY MORE EGGS—winter and summer—we guarantee it. The price of Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder is very little more than ordinary feed, but they make a hen lay so many more eggs that there is no comparison of values. If you keep hens, you will never get eggs enough to satisfy you until you feed them Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder. Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about four-fifths of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

London Intermediates Defeat Ingersoll Team

Local Hockey Team Wins From Ingersoll Twice in a Row—Davenport and Lougheed Showed Up Well — Game Ended by Score of 9 to 4—Simcoe Here Next Friday.

The London intermediate hockey team defeated the Ingersoll intermediates by the score of 9 to 4 at the Jubilee Rink, Lyle street, Friday evening.

London's Second Victory.

This was the second victory for the London boys, and was the second defeat for Ingersoll. The game was rough at times, and Referee Fraser of Paris, who handled the contest, was not at all popular among the spectators. The ice was good and the officers of the London hockey club were more than pleased with the turnout of the fans. It looked like a regular, old-time hockey match.

Lougheed, defence player for the locals, played a first-class game, and was responsible for three of the nine goals. Elliott and Davenport were fast, and played well. Sutter was on the job at the nets, and stopped several fast shots which soared high. Norman, a junior player, appeared on the ice as a substitute. This was the first time this season he was on ice, and he showed up fine. Jack Greer's bunch will be strengthened by this player, who can cover wing or centre.

Manager Ferguson Ill.

Manager Ferguson is in the hospital, and the team was coached by Jack Greer. Ferguson recovered from the "flu" a short time ago, and by appearing in the game Wednesday it put him back again. He certainly was missed on the line-up last night.

A Rough Time.

Three minutes after play in the third period Lee Walden was coming down the ice and was body-checked. A few seconds later Barrow was in a fight with Walden. Punches were received and returned. It looked like a rough-and-tumble fight. One of the members of the Ingersoll team came up from behind and hit Walden a crack over the back, knocking him down. He was carried into the dressing-room and the spectators hissed the Ingersoll players. The officers of the club rushed on the ice, but the local players displayed good sportsmanship and were a game bunch of fellows. The teams returned and proceeded with the match. A substitute played on wing for a while, but Walden came back into the game before long. After the match the trainer fixed him up and he felt like himself when he departed from the rink.

Two Ingersoll Stars.

Gregory and Grieve were the two best men on the visitors' line-up. George Mason was there, and don't think for a minute that George was asleep. Holland is a dangerous man in goal. He is only a lad, but he knows how to stop them.

The First Period.

Both teams started out to win. It only took Davenport, the local centre man, three minutes to score the first goal for the Forest City. He made a clean sweep and kept out of the way of the Ingersoll defence men.

Sutter did not have an easy time, as the visitors were bothering him for several minutes, but one did not slide past. Kelly, the local defence man, was extremely good to the Dollar-Watch team. He scored two goals for them. "Bud" ilyed in Ingersoll once upon a time; perhaps that's the reason. Nevertheless, "Bud" came back strong a little later.

The puck hit Kelly's stick in front of the London goal and bounced in. This made the score 1 to 1. Elliott was the next man to score for the locals. The second goal scored by Kelly, which counted for Ingersoll, was shot by Morrello. The puck hit the goal post and collided with Kelly's skate and rolled in. Less than one minute afterwards Lougheed made a nice shot, which counted.

The score at the end of the first period: London 3, Ingersoll 2.

The Second Period.

Kelly decided that it was time for him to get busy for the home team. Three minutes after play he scored a goal. The game was fast for the next few minutes. Elliott scored 10 minutes later from a puck-off in front of the goal. Gregory of the visitors shot one at Sutter, which counted. Grieve scored another for Ingersoll. Norman received the puck from Kelly and made a remarkable shot. This made the score 6 to 4 in London's favor. The crowd cheered young Norman for his play.

Away We Go Again.

At the beginning of the third period the trouble started. Lee Walden was struck on the back and carried off the ice. For a time it looked as if a free-for-all would be staged, but the London boys displayed some brain work and kept cool. Walden returned to the game later.

One minute after the ice was cleared Lougheed scored. The London boys got the winning spirit and the fans backed them up. Davenport rolled in another goal for London. He skated down the rink and made a wonderful shot. The ninth goal was accounted for by Lougheed. The locals kept Ingersoll closely checked the remainder of the contest. Final score: London, 9; Ingersoll, 4.

A mob gathered at the corner of Lyle and Dundas street after the game. "Who struck Walden?" was the password among the crowd. The Ingersoll players left the rink in a body, and P. C. Black walked behind them and scattered the mob.

The London intermediates play Simcoe here next Friday night.

The line-up:

London.	Position.	Ingersoll.
Sutter	Goal	Holland
Lougheed	Defence	Barrow
Kelly	Defence	Grieve
Davenport	Centre	Gregory
L. Walden	Wing	Mason
Elliott	Wing	Waite
Burgess	Sub.	Morello
Norman	Sub.	Richardson

Referee—Fraser, Paris.

The summary:

First Period.

London—Davenport; 3 minutes.
Ingersoll—Kelly; 6 minutes 30 seconds.
London—Elliott; 19 minutes.
Ingersoll—Kelly; 19 minutes 15 seconds.

NOTES ON THE GAME

THE CROWD, AND it was one of the largest that has seen a hockey match in London for some moons, sure liked the way the local intermediates played and cheered themselves hoarse.

BUT THEN THEY sure had something to shout for. The boys put up a fast exhibition and looked 100 per cent better than they did in Ingersoll.

THE FANS FREELY admitted that Davenport shaped up like a second George Hiller. Davy shot like a fiend, and with another like him on the forward line, the locals would have a scoring machine that would be hard to beat in any company.

SUTTER IN THE nets won the hearts of the crowd. The youngster played a heady cool game and should only have two goals instead of four chalked up against him. Kelly pushed in the first two goals for Ingersoll. However, "Bud" made up for the errors during the rest of the fun.

THE SIX FROM the dollar watch town spoiled their play with a lot of rough stuff. The referee was altogether too lenient with them. On the other hand the home brews also got in a few good licks. One could hardly expect them to turn around and let the ticktocks from a few miles east lambast the life out of them. The visitors started it.

AS A REFEREE Fraser was the limit. We sigh for a man of the calibre of Lawson Whitehead, Eddie Wettlaufer and Tommy Munro.

THE GAME WAS a real thriller with lots of rushing and something doing all the time. The fans enjoyed it and it is a safe bet that the old rink will be crowded to the doors when the boys perform next.

DURING THE LAST period the locals played more combination than in the other two periods put together, and consequently Mr. Holland in the visitors' nets had a whole lot more to do.

WITH A WEEK to practice in before meeting Simcoe the winged L's should have a chance to get acquainted and learn a few tricks.

WHAT'S THE MATTER with an old hand like Kenny Casselman coming out and showing the juniors a few tricks? The kids have the material for a champion team and with good coaching should go the route nicely.

IT WAS HARD to tell who actually clouted Lee Waldon over the back with his stick, there was such a mix-up. If the blame could have actually been tacked on the Ingersoll player who did it he would have spent the night in the lockup. It was a low, dirty, underhand German trick, and a smirch rests on the whole Ingersoll team as a result.

IF THE SAME foul action had been perpetrated in almost any other town the whole opposition would have been mobbed. Fortunately the crowd held it's feelings in leash or there would have been a riot sure.

YOUNG NORMAN COMBINED with Bud Kelly for a mighty pretty goal. This youngster will make some of the juniors hustle to hold their jobs. It was the first time the youngster had his skates on this year. He's a comer.

FREDDY ELLIOTT played a useful game, but is not strong on the back checking. However, this is a fault that is shared by the entire forward line with the exception of Davenport. However, with a little more stamina the locals will shape up like a million dollars.

GREGORY WAS THE best that the visitors had to offer and he was dangerous all the time. Holland also played a whale of a game in goal. He saved his team time and again.

THE NAME INGERSOLL stands for dollar watches and there was certainly a lot of dollar players on the ice last night.

JOHNNY BURGESS WAS a little strange at first in intermediate company, but did very well after a while and sailed right in.

DON'T FORGET LOCHEAD. He scored three of London's goals and stopes up as one of the best men on the team. He made himself strong with the crowd last night.

TILLSONBURG HIGH SCHOOL WIN FROM INGERSOLL SIX

TILLSONBURG, Jan. 10.—The local hockey season opened at Electric Rink here tonight by a double bill. In the first game the high school juniors defeated the Ingersoll inter-scholastic junior team in a good exhibition contest; score 6 to 3. Tillsonburg scored two in each period. The visitors scored al ithe goals in the last period. J. Anderson was the star for the visitors, while Jack Barrett, 13-year-old player, was in the limelight for the local kids. A return game will be played in Ingersoll in the near future.

AMERICAN TRAP-SHOOTING ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

New York, Jan. 10.—After a meeting held here today it was announced that the Interstate Trap-Shooting Society would be known in the future as the American Trap-Shooting Association, which will have power over all trap-shooting tournaments in this country and Canada.

The American Trap-Shooting Association has established its headquarters at 460 Fourth avenue, this city, and Storey McLinn has been appointed manager-secretary in place of Mr. Shaner, who retired.

In future all the Canadian tournaments will be previliged and assisted by contributions from the American Trap-Shooting Association, which will retain the old tournament policy of registration. The grand American handicap at clay targets will take place next August at the South Shore Country Club, Chicago, but none of the subsidiary sectional events will be promoted this year.

U. OF T. BEATS ST. MIQUE'S

Toronto, Jan. 10.—University School got away to a good start in the local junior hockey group tonight, when they defeated St. Michael's by the score of 14 to 4. The winners showed marked superiority over their lighter and more inexperienced opponents, and won as they pleased.

WOODSTOCK JUNIORS WIN FAST CONTEST FROM PARIS KIDS

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 10.—Although the local juniors defeated Paris Juniors here tonight in the first O. H. A. game by 6 to 4, it was only after a hard struggle. The visitors proved the greatest kind of a surprise. They showed a great reversal of form at their first game at home and kept at the red and white from start to finish. They checked like fiends and pulled off some fast work on the line. Hilborn and Gill of Paris are two speedy kids, and they received good support from the balance of the line-up. Stewart, in goal, had many hard shots to handle, but he was in splendid form. Sugrue is another good boy. Woodstock did not look as good as in previous games, and while they tried hard they simply could not get going as in previous games. Individually they all did well, but their team work was poor. Paris went into the game with only six men, two of their players missing the train. For the locals, Reid put up a good game in goal, while Shay on the defence was prominent. His rushes were timely, and his shooting was good. The Carson brothers and King showed some clever stickhandling and shooting, but the combination was missing. Trump played a steady game. The score by periods:

First: Woodstock, 3; Paris, 1. Second: Woodstock, 2; Paris, 1. Third: Woodstock, 2; Paris, 2.

WHITE SOX MANAGER STARTS TO ROUND UP 1919 TEAM

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—William "Kid" Gleason, newly-appointed manager of the White Sox, has started out to round up the players who incurred the displeasure of Boss Comiskey last season by quitting the Chicago club. He has announced that if given a free rein by the owner of the White Sox he will soon have Joe Jackson, Oscar Felsch, Claude Williams and Byrd Lynn lined up for service with the club in the 1919 campaign.

Comiskey declared some time ago that none of this quartet ever again would wear White Sox uniforms, but it is believed that the Old Roman is weakening on this stand and that all four will be back with the club when the training season opens.

Jackson, Williams and Lynn have been employed in a shipbuilding plant just outside of Philadelphia.

BELLEVILLE WINS.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 10.—At the arena here tonight an interesting junior hockey O. H. A. game was played between the Belleville and Bowmanville teams. It was a good exhibition of this sport, and resulted in a win for Belleville by a score of 6 to 5.

MUNRO AT TORONTO TONIGHT.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—The Dentals will be at full strength for their game with the Hamilton Tigers tonight. McCaffery, who it was reported would not play, will be in the line-up, and the former champions are confident of winning. All signs point to a record attendance. Tom Munro of London will referee.

VANCOUVER "MILLIONAIRES."

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 11.—The "Aristocrats" had to admit defeat by the Vancouver "Millionaires" at the local arena last night by the score of 4 to 1, but there was little disgrace in their defeat in one of the fastest and best contests played on Victoria ice for many a long day. It was a very different team which treated fans last night to a fine, aggressive exhibition of hockey from that which was trounced so thoroughly by the Metropolitans last week.

PETERBORO BEATS LINDSAY.

Peterboro, Jan. 10.—In a fast, clever game of hockey tonight, the Peterboro Junior O. H. A. hockey team defeated the Lindsay Midgets by a score of 7 to 4. The Peters had the edge on the visitors all the way.

SIMCOE HOCKEY TEAM DEFEATS ST. THOMAS BY SCORE OF 3 TO 1

Railway City Boys Outplayed by Simcoe Six Last Night.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 10.—What was probably the biggest crowd on record attended the opening game of the O. H. A. between Simcoe and St. Thomas in this city tonight. The grand stand was packed to excess, and all available standing room was taken up with the crowd of spectators who attented. The game was a decided success, even the most critical fan being satisfied that both teams put up genuine battle. The score, 3 to 1 in favor of Simcoe, proved beyond a doubt that the locals have improved considerably since their defeat at Simcoe the other night.

For the locals Bindwin, Blackall and Tiffin were the stars, and for Simcoe the greater part of the work was carried out by Richards, Kelly and Whiteside. The locals showed a decided lack of training and lack of combination lost many goals. The game, first of the season, was opened by Mayor Horton, who, in a brief address, delivered from the ice, expressed the hope that the citizens would continue to patronize the O. H. A. games in this city, as they had done the opening one. There is little doubt but that with a little more training the locals will provide excellent hockey. The first innings was most exciting, and although there were several good attempts made by both sides Hamilton for the locals and Mayo for the visitors at goal were able to keep the puck away from the nets. Baldwin was the first to make a sensational shot from centre. Spence, McLean and Blackall made a combined attempt to reach goal, but were frustrated when nearing the nets by Mayo at goal. Whiteside of the visitors had a tendency to show a little dirty work, and he and Baldwin fouled. The score at the end of this innings was a blank for both sides. Tiffin opened the second with a rush; he fouled with Whiteside, and shortly afterwards Baldwin made good his attempt in the first innings by shooting the puck straight from centre. Mayo, the visitors' goal keeper, was not quick enough, and the locals scored one.

The were able to keep the visitors at their end of the ice, and although several attempts were made by Richards and Mason they failed, but Jack managed to get one in, and the score at the end of this period stood 1 to 1. The third and last period was probably more lively at the opening than the others. It was a veritable battle, in which everyone seemed to follow the puck. There were several mix-ups, and two or three hockey sticks were broken. Blackwell, Baldwin and McLean made several good attempts. Baldwin shot the puck right over the net. Whiteside of the visitors finally shot one right into the net while Hamilton, the goal-tender, was in a mix-up. After this the locals began to lag, and when the final bell rang the score stood in favor of the visitors, 3 to 1. Referee Armstrong of London carried out his duties to perfection. He let nothing get away from him, and his decisions were satisfactory to everyone, even the fans.

Penalties—St. Thomas: Baldwin two, Tiffin one. Simcoe: Mason one, Dave Kelly one, Whitesides one.

The line-up:

St. Thomas.		Simcoe.

Blackall	R. Defence	Ramey

STRATFORD INTERMEDIATES LOST TO NEW HAMBURG

NEW HAMBURG, Jan. 10.—The locals won out in the Intermediate O. H. A. game here tonight by a score of 7 to 6. The first period was all Stratford, 3 to 0. The second period was 5 to 3 in their favor. Then New Hamburg team buckled in and won out, Bowman and Fred Otto playing cleverly for New Hamburg. The line-up:

GRIEVE NOT IN FIGHT, HE STATES TO ADVERTISER

In the morning edition of The Advertiser the name of C. Grieve of Ingersoll appeared as participating in the rough playing and fight at the Jubilee Rink last night. This morning The Advertiser was called on the long-distance telephone by Grieve, and the player stated that he had nothing whatever to do with the fight. It was stated at the rink last evening that some of the Ingersoll players switched their numbers immediately after the fight, and there is a possibility that a mistake was made. If this is so, The Advertiser regrets the error.

Who Should Take Nuxated Iron and Why They Should Take It

Physician Explains—gives Practical Advice On What To Do To Help Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance And Increase The Red Blood Corpuscles.

Commenting on the use of Nuxated Iron as a tonic, strength and blood builder, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this century live have made such an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack iron in the blood—and who never suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, run-down state. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man's physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real and true cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood must go through a digestive process to your food merely passes through the body, something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind.

"For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, dull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable and all 'run-down,' while at fifty or sixty, with plenty of iron in your blood, you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being brimming over with vim and energy.

"As proof of this take the case of former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential Nominee Charles A. Towne, who at past 58 is still a veritable mountain of tireless energy. Senator Towne says: 'I have found Nuxated Iron of the greatest benefit as a tonic and regulative. Henceforth I shall not be without it. I am in a position to testify as to the benefit of others to the remarkable and immediate helpfulness of this remedy, and I unhesitatingly recommend Nuxated Iron to all who feel the need of renewed energy and the regularity of bodily functions.'

"Then there is former Health Commissioner William R. Kerr of Chicago, who is past the threescore year mark, but still vigorous, active, full of life, vim and energy. Former Health Commissioner Kerr says he believes his own personal activity today is largely due to his use of Nuxated Iron, and that he believes it ought to be prescribed by every physician and used in every hospital in the country.

"But in my opinion you can't make these strong, vigorous, successful, sturdy, iron men by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nuxated Iron—before they are ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. Notwithstanding all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insist in dosing themselves with metallic iron simply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar iron products and failed to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which has been used by Dr. Sullivan and others with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all other druggists.

ASPIRATIONS OF ITALY MAKE EASTERN QUESTION BIG PROBLEM OF PEACE

Constantinople May Be Placed Under International Control, With Greece's Rights to Occupation Temporarily Filed—Adriatic and Aegean Questions Are Trouble-Makers for Versailles.

By Frank H. Simonds

Author of "The Great War," "They Shall Not Pass."

(Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—In recent articles I have discussed the situation in Northeastern and Southeastern Europe, the problems which must be solved at the Versailles Congress. In these discussions I have sought to indicate the question presented by Poland, the Baltic Provinces, the new Jugo-Slavic and Czecho-Slovak States, together with the changed condition of Rumania. In the present article I mean to deal with the old, familiar Eastern Question, which for more than two centuries has plagued Europe, and produced wars innumerable, of which the recent struggle is only the most terrible.

Once more, as at Vienna and again at Berlin, Europe, this time with America sitting as a full partner, is to strive to remove the old obstacle toward peace. At Vienna not the smallest thought was paid to the demands or even the rights of the peoples of the Near East, that they had bound to come, if Russia ever regains rights, that there were even nationalities, as contrasted with subjects in this remote region, was not recognized by those who laid down the constitution of the New Europe following the upheaval of the French Revolution and of the Napoleonic wars. Nor did the Congress of Berlin pay more real attention to this phase of its task, although the demands of nationalities had already made themselves heard.

As a consequence of the failure, of the Berlin Congress, we have had, in recent years, in the last decade, an uninterrupted succession of wars and threats of war growing out of the eastern question and beginning with the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria in 1908. From the Congress of Berlin to the outbreak of the world war the Balkans have been the fighting ground of Austrian and Russian intrigue, and in this time Germany has more and more completely directed and shared in Viennese policies.

Russia Wanted Straits.

In all this time the battle for the possession of the Straits with Constantinople has been the moving motive of the Russian statesmen, while Austria has sought to push her empire southward to Salonica. But these two purposes, which were not directly opposed and might have been realized by co-operation, were brought into conflict by the German determination to create Mitteleuropa and extend German domination from the Baltic to Suez and the Persian Gulf.

German policy thus aimed at preventing Russia from reaching the Golden Horn. This was the traditional British policy, surviving from the Beaconsfield era, but growing weaker after the occupation of Egypt and the construction of the Suez Canal changed the whole face of the situation in the Near East. Britain withdrew from Constantinople and was becoming reconciled to Russian supremacy, while Germany succeeded England as the first friend and defender of the Osmanli against the hereditary enemy.

Recognized Right.

In the present war one of the many secret agreements between the Allies recognized the right of Russia to have and to hold Constantinople, and all of the shores on either side of the Straits and the Sea of Marmora. A final compromise between British and Russian policies was arranged and Britain abandoned a policy which from the Crimean War onward had denied Russia an outlet on the open seas. But the fall of Russia abolished this understanding and rescinded this agreement. There is no longer any need to recognize Russian claims because they have been abandoned by the Russians themselves.

As a result, there exists today an admirable opportunity to dispose of the main difficulty in the eastern question, the possession of Constantinople and the Straits, Russia and Austria, the immediate rivals in the Balkans have disappeared as factors, one by complete obliteration, the other by the fall to anarchy and Bolshevism. Europe can today deal with the whole matter without having to take into consideration the hereditary rivalries of Romanoff or Hapsburg, while the German power to influence the situation has gone, as has German prestige at Stamboul.

Constantinople's Future.

It is for Europe, for the Allies at Versailles, to determine the fate of Constantinople. The solution of the problem may take one of three courses. The Turk, under some sort of international direction may be permitted to remain in his present capital. The Greek may be permitted to revive the memories of the great Byzantine period and reoccupy regions once entirely Hellenic and still inhabited by a very large Greek population. Finally, the Great powers may set up some form of international control, outside the limits of any existing nation, they may make Constantinople an international state, ruled by the League of Nations or by some machinery devised by the Versailles conference.

Of these three solutions the first is by all odds the least desirable. If the Turk stays in Constantinople, even though his power be reduced, his forts destroyed, the old intrigue and the old rivalry return. For half a century the Turk played the different powers of Europe off against each other and thus maintained his own existence and held on to the European provinces which he misgoverned and periodically laid in waste. As an administrator the Turk is impossible. Nor can he lay any claim to the shores of the Straits and the Sea of Marmora based upon race or self-determination. Outside of Constantinople the Greek is in a clear majority, within the city the Greeks are the most considerable single element, and the Turks only a relatively small minority.

Turk Must Go.

As long as the Turk holds Constantinople and the outlying districts, the eastern question will remain, because the Turk has for centuries displayed no capacity for assimilation or organization, he has merely camped in Europe, he has pitched his tent amidst the surviving mountains of Byzantium, and there he has lived and awaited the inevitable hour when he would be evicted and sent back to Asia, whence he came and where alone there is hope he can live in the future. To leave Constantinople to the Turk, therefore would be merely to postpone settlement of the eastern question as it has been postponed so many times before to the great disaster of the world.

The Greek solution is more appealing. It is the demand of the Greeks that they be permitted to extend their frontiers to include all the Aegean coast left to Bulgaria in 1913, the lower valley of the Maritza and the shores of the Sea of Marmora, the shores of the Black Sea as far north as Midia and the Asiatic shore of the Straits, the Sea of Marmora and the mainland of Asia Minor, including Smyrna, with all the islands of the Aegean Sea. This would mean the restoration of the Byzantine Empire, which has been a Greek dream for long centuries. On the whole this arrangement would not do violence to the principles of self-determination and it would follow the tradition of this region, which has been Hellenic since the beginning of history.

Difficulties Many.

Yet the difficulties are many. Greece is a small state, with a limited population and a small revenue. She would be called upon to defend her new territories against the Bulgarian, who would never permanently consent to be deprived of all Aegean seacoast, hers by the fruits of the first Balkan war, since without this she would be cut off from access to the open sea and placed at the mercy of the Greeks. Even the Greek possession of Constantinople would be open at once to Bulgar and Rumanian challenge and ultimately to Russian, if Russia ever regains her strength.

Then Greece should have the western shore of Asia Minor in considerable part is conceded by all, save the Italians, who are rivals for this inheritance without any claim founded upon modern principles. That Greece should have the Islands of the Aegean, which are as Greek as Sicily is Italian, all but the Italians agree. That Northern Epirus, also Hellenic, should fall to Greece and not to that Albanian state which is to be a protectorate of Italy, all but Italy concede. Nowhere does Italian ambition seem more out of tune with contemporary ideas than in the eastern Mediterranean, where Rome seeks to hold or to acquire vast territories which are Greek by every right one can cite.

Between Two Fires.

But conceding, as one must, that Greece should receive these gifts at Versailles which constitute an elimination of her own Irridenta, granted that she must receive the islands and the mainland in Asia Minor and Epirus, by exactly the same logic that Trieste and the Trentino are to be allotted to Italy, will the friends of Greece seek to saddle upon this little nation the great responsibilities incident to the possession of Constantinople and the guardianship of the Straits? This would mean to put Greece between two fires, that growing out of Italian jealousy and that of Turkey in Constantinople.

To me, the claims of Greece to Constantinople, as well as to the Bulgarian shore seem sound enough in justice, but unwise in fact. At all events, it would be unwise to press them now. Nothing is more certain than that an internationalized Constantinople will at no distant time become a Hellenic city once more. The Greek element is very great, there are more Greeks in Constantinople than in Athens, the departure of the Turk, with the creation of a new Armenia, which will draw to it the Armenians of Constantinople, will leave the Greeks masters of the situation, despite the fact that they are citizens of an internationalized state.

Make Greek City.

In all human probability the ultimate fate of Constantinople will be to become a part of a new Greek world, it is not an idle dream to imagine that there will be a rapid and enormous Hellenic renaissance, when both sides of the Aegean and all the islands are joined to that Greek state which has already pushed far north in the Balkan Peninsula, reclaiming much of the Macedonia of Alexander the Great. A few years of peace and the Greeks will do the rest, they are the traders of this region, they have the commercial aptitudes and the traditional mastery of this market and even under the Turk they have retained it.

This is what the Italians perceive and this is the explanation of the Italian effort to curb Greek aspirations on all sides, in Epirus, in the Aegean, on the mainland of Asia Minor. But these Italian efforts deserve complete defeat, would be a crime to give Sardinia and Sicily to Spain or to Britain just as it was a crime to deprive Italy of Trieste and the Trentino. There is nothing that can be said for Italy with respect to her Irridenta that cannot be said with equal emphasis for Greece in her Irridenta.

International Control.

There remains the third solution, that of international control, and I believe this will be the solution adjusted. But even here, the task will not be easy. International control has never proved happy. It was a failure wherever tried in Turkey, it can succeed now, only if there is a new spirit in the world and a new atmosphere of trust between the nations. But if the eastern question could be settled by the occupation and administration of Constantinople by some international force, then there would be an end of the plottings and strivings of the various nations to control this waterway, the outlet of Russia and Rumania, perhaps the most important single strategic point in the world, as it has been the centre of more struggles than any other point.

What the geographical limits of such a state would be, remains problematical. It might be wise to permit Bulgaria to reoccupy Adrianople and return to the Enos-Midia line, thus finding some solace for the termination of her hopes in Macedonia. Europe accepted such a solution after the first Balkan war, but Bulgaria threw away her gains, when she risked the second, and Turkey took advantage of Bulgarian defeat to return to her lost citadel.

Include Gallipoli.

Gallipoli, on the northern shore, with its evil memories, will have to be included in the new international state, as well as the whole Asiatic shore from the Black Sea to the Plain of Troy, with one or two of the small islands near the mouth of the Dardanelles, notably Tenedos, but this would, in reality, mean only a very small state, little more than a thin facade facing the vital waterways, but including Constantinople. Back of it the population is Turkish. Brusa, the old capital of the Osmanlis, perhaps a new headquarters, if they retire to Asia Minor, is within sight of the Sea of Marmora.

Further south, facing Greece, Syria and a considerable area, including the many peninsulas and islands, and a fairly extended hinterland from Mytilene to Rhodes, should be Greek. Here dwell something like two millions of Greeks, and behind them is a population once Hellenic and still preserving the Greek tradition. In this way there would be created a new Greece of from eight to ten millions of people while, by abandoning its aspirations for Byzantium this new state with ancient memories would avoid the gateway by which large states would advance. The history of Belgium is perhaps the best argument against Greek possession of Constantinople at the present time. But the Greek claim may be placed on file, and it is far from improbable that in due time the inheritance may return to the Hellenes.

The Sound Solution.

International control of Constantinople and the straits is, then, the single sound solution of the eastern question. With Rumania, the Jugo-Slavs and the Bulgarians, as well as the Greeks, finally arranged within boundaries which are based upon right and justice, with Bulgaria, the one disturbing factor, finally eliminated as a factor for harm, since she will no longer be able to meet any one of the other states in single combat, the eastern question may disappear, and the unhappy people of the Balkans, at last, after centuries of suffering, be at last able to begin a new life, possessing at least the opportunities of prosperity and liberty so long denied them alike by their Turkish masters and by the rival jealousies of the great powers in their own hands.

Apart from the problem of Constantinople, their remains only the question of Albania to be settled. Today this is less difficult than it was when the Conference of London wrestled with it in 1912, and the peace of Europe hung upon the ultimate agreement of rival alliances over the ultimate disposition of Ipek and Jacova.

Albanians Split Up.

There is an Albanian race, but there is no Albanian nation, and there never has been. The Albanians inhabit the shore of the Adriatic from Montenegro to Epirus. But they are divided by religion into three separate groups, the Mohammedans, the Roman Catholics and the Greek Catholics. The Roman Catholics in the north have been long manipulated by the Austrians, who sought to use them to block the Serb roadway to the sea. The Mohammedans in the centre have supplied the Turk with his best and most trusted soldiers until very recent years. The Greeks on the south have been divided between Hellenic and Italian sympathies.

Albania, as created in 1912, was nothing more than a makeshift. Austria wanted to keep the Serbs from the sea, Italy wanted to curb Greek aspirations in Epirus; France, Britain and Russia, although in sympathy with the Serbs and the Greeks, were unwilling to fight to permit them to realize their ambitions, and Germany, although behind Austria and Italy, was not yet ready to have the world war break, and therefore seconded Sir Edward Grey in his effort to find a compromise. This compromise was the ridiculous State of Albania, which had for a brief time as its ruler William of Wied, who latterly had his capital on an Austrian warship and promptly disappeared as the world war began.

New Serb Demands.

Serbia and Greece had agreed to divide Albania, the portion north of the Skumbi to be Serb, the portion south to be Greek. But today Serbia is less interested in the Albanian problem since as a portion of Jugo-Slavia she is assured of an outlet on the sea. Unquestionably the old Serb claim to Scutari will be pressed, probably the Serbs will ask that the valley of the Drin be the northern frontier of Albania, instead of the eccentric frontiers traced at London, but this is relatively a minor point.

To the south the difficulty is larger. Italy desires to organize all of Albania as a protectorate, this desire may be realized at Versailles, but having this purpose Italy seeks to make Albania as big as possible and she is insisting on retaining for its Northern Epirus, which is Greek, desires to join New Greece and was happy in Hellenic existence in the present war, before Constantinople chose the German course and wellnigh ruined his nation.

At Valona, in Albania, which faces Brindisi and overlooks the Straits of Otranto, Italy plans to erect a great naval post, which will, in reality be the Gibraltar of the Adriatic. In doing this she wishes to push Greek frontiers as far away from this naval port as possible. This is the practical reason for her demand that the Greeks abandon their claims to Northern Epirus. But the demand is unreasonable, and it is to be hoped that it will not be honored at Versailles. Argyrocastro, Tepelieni, Delvino, Santi, Quaranta, Korytza, the towns, wholly Greek in sympathy, should be returned to the new Hellas.

Greeks Have Complaint.

Two weeks ago I pointed out the clash between the Slavs and the Italians over the Dalmatian coast. It will be seen that in the Lower Adriatic and in the Aegean, it is the Greeks who have reason and just reason to complain of Italian imperialistic aspirations. One must sincerely hope that Italy will not too much urge claims which do violence to her own history and her own aspirations as expressed in half a century of longing for Trieste and the Trentino. If she earns the lasting hostility of both the Southern Slavs and the Greeks, she will lay up trouble for herself and for Europe, which can hardly be exaggerated.

At this point, I should like to correct an error in one of the previous articles, which gave cause to a certain friendly criticism in Serb and Jugo-Slav quarters. There are, as I then pointed out three separate statements which affect the Jugo-Slav and Italian dispute. The first is the agreement between Italy and her allies, France, Britain and Russia, which preceded Italian entrance into the war. This assigned to Italy substantially the territory she has occupied as result of the terms of the armistice and included northern Dalmatia.

Had No Voice.

This agreement was never accepted by the Slavs; it was made over their heads and against their rights and interests. In refusing to accept it now, as they do, they are not repudiating an agreement made by them, but one which disposed of their lands and peoples without their consent or agreement. Certainly such an agreement can have no binding force for the United States, and it does violence to all the principles expressed in President Wilson's many utterances.

In addition to this agreement of London is that of Corfu, made between the various tribes of the Jugo-Slavs and arranging for an association between these tribes, including the Serbs of Montenegro and Serbia. This is the basis for the new Jugo-Slavic state, which has been constructed in very recent days. But this agreement did not surrender any of the Slav claims to Adriatic coast lands.

Finally there is a Delphic utterance at Rome last spring, which committed Italy to nothing but sympathy with the Slav aspiration for a united nation and to a rather indefinite recognition of the principle of self-determination and the claims of race and language in settling the disputes between Italians and Slavs. But this was, as my Slav friends point out, purely Platonic and has not yet been embodied in any definite document, nor has the concession made in language been made in fact, as yet by the Italian Government.

Big Peace Problem.

I have said, and I repeat, that this problem of the Adriatic, with that of the Aegean added, is the most troublesome of the material questions to be settled at Versailles, only the Polish complications are comparable in potential obstacles. As it stands, Italian aspirations contemplate doing violence to the legitimate ambitions of two small peoples, the Southern Slavs and the Greeks. Behind the Italian purposes lies the sanction of France, Britain and Russia, which was given at the critical hour when it was necessary to pay any price to persuade Italy to enlist. But, however the governments may be bound, it is clear that both the British and the French people strongly oppose the Italian demands and rely upon the United States, which is not bound by any pledge to Italy, but by every pledge made to her own peoples and the world.

If Dalmatia falls to Italy in whole or in part, if Italy insists upon the possession of Fiume and of Cattaro, if she prevents Greece from regaining Epirus and reoccupying Rhodes and the other Aegean Islands, then there is the beginning of a new eastern question. Neither the Greeks nor the Slavs will ever accept as final such a solution. As the southern Slav state grows strong—and it will—the peril of conflict will increase, and Italy, in self-defense, will be led to intrigue with the Bulgars and perhaps with the Russians, seeking to gain allies against the Slavs and the Greeks. Then at no distant time we shall see the old disease breaking out again.

It's Up To Italy.

The true solution lies in the sacrifice by Italy of aspirations inconsistent with the new period, aspirations fraught with evil consequences, requiring large armies and a strong fleet to vindicate, and certain to be submitted to a new decision of arms at the first opportunity. American sympathy with Italy is very keen. We shall have many opportunities in the future to serve the Italians, who will have real need of our assistance financially and otherwise in regaining lost prosperity, but it should be perfectly plain to the Italian statesmen, as it is becoming plain to the Italian people, that American sympathy in the present dispute is with the Slavs and the Greeks, and not with the Italians.

If only the eastern question can be settled in accordance with right and justice, if the Rumanians, the Southern Slavs and the Greeks can have their rights recognized, if Constantinople can be placed under international control and Bulgaria at last removed as a breeding place of war and revenge, then there will be sound reason for hoping that the Peace of Versailles will endure. But if the spirit of Vienna and of Berlin is again manifested, if the Greeks and the Southern Slavs are sacrificed as the Poles were sacrificed, with the Italians at Vienna and the Rumanians, Bulgars and Greeks at Berlin, then there will be enduring cause for disappointment.

Menace Still There.

In Albania, Italy can find a wide field for her effort. She has Albanians among her own subjects at home. In gaining Valona she will establish her mastery of the Adriatic. Under her wise direction the old prosperity of Illyria may return. Albanian protest against the Italian protectorate will hardly gain a hearing, since there is not and never has been the slightest chance that the Albanians, divided into rival tribes and living a life of tribal barbarism, with their vendettas and grudges, could ever alone rise to unity or achieve order. But this must be the sole warrant for Italian occupation of Dalmatia or indirect control of Epirus.

In its last phase, the eastern question remains as troublesome as ever. Russia is gone, Austria is gone, France, Britain and Germany have no longer any direct concern with the Straits, yet there still survives this ancient menace, the only clear threat to a successful accommodation of conflicting interests. And in the nature of things this is precisely the sort of problems which American advice can help most to solve, if that advice is wise and is not influenced by the real but dangerous prediction in Washington for Bulgarian claims—claims which have no solid foundation and have been forfeited by two treacherous attacks upon neighboring states at the moment when an honorable settlement was assured.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A Small Bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girl! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are so changeable—one bright, the next cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams'

1st Prize, $50.00 in Cash. 2nd Prize, $40.00 in Cash
3rd Prize, $35.00 in Cash. 4th Prize, $25.00 in Cash
5th to 9th Prizes—Each $10.00 in Cash.

TOGETHER WITH MANY MERCHANDISE PRIZES

Herewith will be found the picture of an Aviator who has just dropped a bomb on a pile of Shells. At first glance the Aeroplane and the Explosion appear to be all there is in the picture, but by careful study the faces of several soldiers will be found. There are 7 of them in all. Can you find them? It is no easy task but by patience and endurance can be accomplished.

You may win a cash prize by doing so. Many have done this as will be shown by the names and addresses which we will send you. If you find the faces mark each one with an X, cut out the picture and send it to us, together with a slip of paper on which you have written the words "I have found all the faces and marked them." Write these nine words plainly and neatly, as in case of ties, both writing and neatness are considered factors in this contest.

This may take up a little of your time but as TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and many merchandise prizes are given away, it is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter. Remember all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces and marked them."

WE DO NOT ASK YOU TO SPEND ONE CENT OF YOUR MONEY IN ORDER TO ENTER THIS CONTEST

Send your answer at once; we will reply by Return Mail telling you whether your answer is correct or not, and we will send you a complete Prize List, together with the names and addresses of persons who have recently received over One Thousand Five Hundred Dollars in Cash Prizes from us, and full particulars of a simple condition that must be fulfilled. (This condition does not involve the spending of any of your money.)

Winners of cash prizes in our late competitions will not be allowed to enter this Contest.

This Competition will be judged by two well known business men of undoubted integrity, who have no connection with this Company, whose decisions must be accepted as final.

Upon receipt of your reply we will send a complete list of the names and addresses of persons who have won $4,500.00 in Cash Prizes in recent contests held by the publishers of this advertisement. Although these persons are entirely unknown to us, they are our references. An enquiry from any one of them will bring the information that our contests are carried out with the utmost fairness and integrity. Your opportunity to win a good round sum is equally as good as that of anyone else, as all previous winners of cash prizes are debarred from entering this contest.

Give Candy Cascarets to a Bilious, Constipated Child

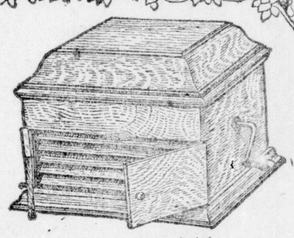

"Mother gives me a candy Cascaret when I am cross, sick and won't play."

TO MOTHERS! Each ten cent box of Cascarets, candy cathartic, contains full directions for dose for children aged one year old and upwards. Nothing else "works" the nasty bile, sour fermentations and constipation poison from the tender little bowels so gently, yet so thoroughly. Even cross, feverish, bilious children gladly take Cascarets without being coaxed. Cascarets taste just like candy. Cascarets never gripe the little bowels, never sicken, never injure, but above all, they never disappoint the worried mother.

Compare the tone and value

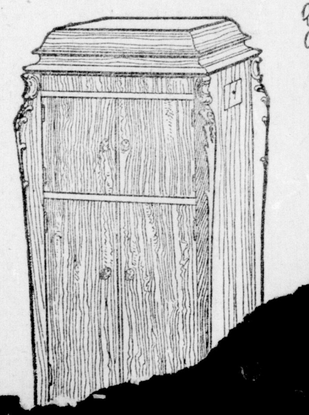

The only way to get a true idea of the exceptional values of our "Phonolas" is to compare them with other cabinets selling at about the same prices.

We venture to state that you cannot get another phonograph at $25 equal to the cabinet at that price. Certainly Model B at $55 is unexcelled value. It is 17¼ inches wide, 18¾ inches deep, and 12⅞ inches high—a good-sized instrument, with a double-spring, easy-winding, quiet motor and a surprisingly large volume of tone.

It would be hard to compare our magnificent "Organola" model with any other, because this is the only phonograph in the world with tone control pipes which include every note in the scale and give wonderful clearness and volume to the music.

We are able to give these exceptional values because we make our "Phonolas" complete in our two large plants in Canada at Kitchener and Elmira.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why a Restricted Diet Aids the Sufferer From Asthma

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

Asthma, or spasms of gasping for breath, is not a disease, but a symptom of at least five different maladies, any one of which may exhibit asthmatic attacks. For example, there is asthma associated with stomach and intestinal deficiency.

This condition does not come into existence overnight, but is very insidious in its development. The contractibility of the stomach muscle is not put into abeyance suddenly, but gradually the stomach sphincter loses its power of contraction. Between the beginning of the loss of the power of the sphincter and its absolute relaxation a long period of time intervenes in accordance with which the accompanying symptoms vary. This results in its loss of action, offering no resistance to food escaping from the stomach undigested into the intestine.

The ingested food which was intended to be digested, but was not, leaves the stomach in a condition unprepared for the intestinal digestion. This results in actions within the intestines which are not in harmony with the laws of good health. Excessive gas formation takes place in the intestines, the natural result of which is the physical distention of the abdomen. This may occur to such an extent as to cause a person to loosen his clothing for comfort. If this happens too often, such interference with living expansion may establish an asthma habit.

Other Asthmatic Conditions.

The next most common variety of asthma is properly called protein asthma. Its victims are oversusceptible to certain vegetable, animal or bacterial albumins. The tissues of some persons are super-sensitive to wheat dust, grasses, protein, animal serum, hay pollen, tomatoes, fish or mollusks. There occur also heart and kidney asthma. Adequate proof can be given of the causative relationship between these diseases and asthma. That cardiac and renal diseases may be coexistent with asthma is beyond any question. As a matter of fact, there are cardiac and renal diseases in combination with asthma.

Certain conditions of the nasal cavities have been suggested as offering the solution to asthma. That the asthmatic is better off with a nasal chamber clear of obstructions is certain.

A great deal of asthma is spoken of as being of "nervous" origin. No headway can be made in eradicating the true cause of the disease if you accept the "nervous" origin fallacy. People do not get "stomach trouble" or "asthma trouble" because they are "nervous."

Methods of Relief.

To check the asthmatic attacks of spasm all sorts of drugs with temporary benefit are in use, such as inhalations of stramonium smoke from the ignited powder or in the form of cigarettes or the fumes of burning nitre paper, which can be made by saturated blotting paper in a saturated solution of potassium nitrate. For hypodermic injections adrenalin is used. The Pridham-LaPorte double saltpetre combination is the newest treatment.

Liquors, tea, coffee and cocoa must be excluded; effervescent drinks should be limited or excluded, because of the gas they contain. In the matter of food, extreme care should be exercised. Some patients cannot have any vegetables, while others cannot tolerate any meats. The varieties of the vegetables and the meats to be allowed must be determined for each individual. Certain foods beneficial at one time may be harmful at others.

Answers to Health Questions

ANXIOUS, Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for red, swollen hands.

A.—Keep the hands out of water as much as possible. Apply a little cornmeal flour and glycerine on them.

MRS. M. H. S. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for frost bitten feet.

A.—Apply a little of the following to the feet each night:

Icthyol	1 dram
Tannic acid	1 dram
Benzoin	1 dram
Rosewater	1 ounce

Take internally two teaspoonfuls of compound syrup of hypophosphites in water at bedtime. In severe cases the patient should be put in bed, feet elevated, and toes wrapped with cotton wool. Massage is beneficial. Calcium lactate in 15-grain doses three or four times a day is effective.

A. W. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for varicose veins.

2. Also for leg ulcers.

A.—Varicose veins cannot be told without a thorough physical examination. Varicose veins have many different causes, and it would depend largely on the causes whether they would come back. Generally an operation gets rid of them.

2. Ulcers of the leg last long because their victims persist in standing and working. This keeps the ulcer in motion and irritates it. The leg with an ulcer should be kept on a pillow above the level of the hips. Massage below, above and around the sore, but not too close to it:

Oxide of zinc	10 parts
Gelatine	10 parts
Glycerine	30 parts
Water	45 parts

Melt the above and apply a little to the ulcer twice a day. This is left to dry and sometimes helps to cure it.

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Reason Has Kenneth Stockbridge To Signal Madge To Silence?

"What is it, Adams, a blowout?"

Major Grantland's voice was his usual quiet one, but I had seen him start perceptibly when we heard the noise like a pistol shot behind us, and I realized that the young officer's nerves were no longer the ones of steel with which he had formerly met every emergency.

"I think so, sir." Adams was already getting out from the car. "A bad one, too," he added, as he examined one of the rear tires. "I'm afraid you'll have to get out, sir, while I change the shoe."

Major Grantland muttered an impatient ejaculation beneath his breath.

"Are there any houses near us where Mrs. Graham might find shelter from the sun?" he asked.

I put my hand upon his sleeve protestingly.

"Please," I said. "I wouldn't go into a house on a beautiful day like this for anything. There's a grassy bank on the other side of the road which will serve us very well for a seat until the car is fixed."

He gave a sigh of relief. "That helps matters," he commented, and I was glad, indeed, that he couldn't see the "grassy bank" of which I had spoken. There are stretches of Long Island roads which are bits straight from paradise; there are others that are "something else again," to quote the graphic phrasing of Betty, Lillian's colored cook. This particular bit on which we had been halted so abruptly distinctly belonged to the latter class. There wasn't a tree in sight, and the grass and bushes at the side of the road were covered with dust.

I shot a glance of appeal at Adams, indicating the tangled vines and bushes through which the blinded officer and I would have to make our way in order to reach a bit of grass. He grasped my meaning instantly.

Adams Obliges.

"It will be quite a few minutes before I have to jack up the car, sir," he said, "and there will be no need of your getting out until then."

He puttered a moment with the rear wheel, and then quickly, noiselessly went to the side of the road and pulled and pushed weeds, brush and tangled vines aside until he had made a clear path from the road to the grass by the side of the fence. Major Grantland need never know the real discomfort of the place. I smiled at Adams approvingly as he came back flushed from his exertions, and he put up his hand in a salute-like gesture that was the very essence of respect and good-will.

"Now, sir," he said respectfully, opening the door of the tonneau.

Major Grantland rose instantly, and extending his hand for support, made his toilsome way out of the car to the ground. As I prepared to follow him a car came in sight around the curve of the road just ahead, and the driver, evidently seeing that we were in trouble, put on his brakes and prepared to stop in accordance with the unwritten law of motorists.

A Surprise Meeting.

The car was an unpretentious affair, a cheap grade, and had evidently seen long service. But it was a five-passenger, and there were only two persons in it, the driver and a woman beside him. Perhaps they would be good-natured enough to take the blinded army officer and myself to a more comfortable waiting place than the side of the road.

When I had entered the car Major Grantland had insisted upon my replacing my hat with a motor bonnet and covering my "garden party gown" with a woman's linen dustcoat. I had wondered vaguely at the opportune presence of these articles until he had explained shyly that he had borrowed them and had brought them along in case I should consent to drive a little way with him. The articles almost completely disguised me, however, as I soon found when, in the driver of the approaching car, I recognized Kenneth Stockbridge!

For, without the slightest sign of recognition, he clambered out of his car with the aid of the stout stick with which he conquers his lameness, and, advancing toward Major Grantland, said cordially in his deep, musical voice:

"I see you've had an accident with your car. What can we do to help you?"

I had made a slight, involuntary movement of recognition as he got out of the car, but when I realized that he didn't have the slightest idea of my identity I turned my attention to the woman in the front seat of the car.

Evidently his wife, I decided, for the very air with which she leaned forward and looked after him was a proprietary one. She was a dark, slender, rather unhealthy-looking woman, who had once had a certain imperious, girlish prettiness. Now, however, there was nothing but pettishness, which showed in every line of her discontented and harassed face.

In talking to Major Grantland, Mr. Stockbridge had his back to his wife. I heard the blinded officer speak my name in introduction, saw Mr. Stockbridge lift his startled eyes to my face. Then I was angrily amazed to see him put his finger quickly to his lips in an evident appeal for my silence.

Jimmy Coon and His Friends

The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest.

THE NEW HOUSES ARE FINISHED.

It was a marvelous sight to see the Beavers build those new houses! Each cellar must have a front cellar door and a back cellar door. This, you know, was for safety if an enemy ever got into their houses. And after the cellars were dug, the masons got to work on the foundations of the houses.

You see, it took several days and nights to build three new houses.

And so many big enemies, like Bears and Wolves, would try to get into those houses, to eat up the Beavers inside, that they built the walls five feet thick. That is much thicker, you know, than we build our brick or stone houses.

You see, each Beaver family lives in a castle, like the Knights of King Arthur's day. And each castle has canals, filled with water, all around the building, so that each castle had moats, or canals, with deep water, so that Foxes and other enemies couldn't reach the castle without diving or swimming. And you know that Foxes and some other enemies don't like water, so they are kept away from the Beavers' castles.

So, besides the little logs and pieces of branches of trees, the Beaver workers brought stones and clay and mud. It was a funny sight to see all the Beavers walking on their hind legs and carrying armfuls of clay, mud, stones and sod for their little moated castles.

But they all worked like Beavers, and those three castles were rising higher and higher. It was wonderful how strong and thick were the walls of their houses. Why, do you know that Beavers build their castles of concrete?

Yes, indeed, Beavers used concrete for their buildings long before men were heard of. Good Night Stories

By Blanche Seivel

DOTTY VISITS MAMA BLACK RAT.

"Now I'll catch you this time!" exclaimed Dotty as she fastened the piece of cheese in the rat trap and put it in the pantry.

"And you really think you want to catch a rat?" asked a squeaky voice at her elbow. Dotty turned to see Squeedee smiling at her.

"Why is it folks always love to set traps for little rats that wouldn't harm a fellow-creature unless they're cornered?" asked Squeedee.

"Well, the horrid things are eating everything we put in the pantry," replied Dotty. "They're too dirty for anything!"

"Indeed, they're not," laughed Squeedee. "Why, Mama Rat's first duty to her little ones is to teach them to keep themselves clean." Before Dotty could say another word she was standing with Squeedee beside Mama Rat's door out under the barn floor.

Mama Rat was glad to see them and invited them inside. Several little rats were busy cleaning themselves, first licking their paws, then rubbing their fur coats where they couldn't reach with their tongue.

"Isn't it funny!" laughed Dotty. "Your children wash themselves just like Mama Gray's kittens do."

"That's one thing I can say," squeaked Mama Black Rat. "My children are as clean as anyone's. It's funny to hear the folks of your land call us dirty rats!"

"It's because you come into our pantries and steal, maybe," laughed Dotty.

"Rats never go any place unless there's work for them to do," exclaimed Mama Black Rat proudly. "Rats are proof there is work for them to do. It's folks' own carelessness which first invite us, hy don't you know, little girl, rats often shield from the danger of disease the very homes of the folks who try to kill them. We ourselves are very clean, and wherever you find us you're pretty sure to find the place needs cleaning out. Now the family here in the house have been talking about setting traps to catch us, and I warn my little ones every time they start out to be careful. But the pantry needs cleaning, and it's our duty to do it if folks fail. Funny! people don't know that!"

Dotty never said a word, but she was glad when Squeedee said they'd better be going. Bidding Mama Black Rat and her little ones good-by they hurried into the house.

Dotty lost no time in picking up her trap.

"Dear! I'm glad I didn't catch any!" she cried. Mama's told me a dozen times to clean out this pantry. It's dreadfully dirty!"

"How much better to rid your place of rats by keeping it clean than by setting traps," said Squeedee, "for rats never venture any place unless there's work for them to do."

"Just think, it's our own carelessness that brings them on the place!" exclaimed Dotty. She spent the rest of the morning cleaning and scrubbing up the pantry, and when Squeedee told Mama Black Rat about it she was glad, and they never visited Dotty's pantry again, for there was no work there for them to do, as Dotty now kept it nice and clean.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JAN. 12-13.

Sunday's indications are for a pleasant rather than a profitable day, with many doubts, perplexities and annoyances promised, if the energies are centered on any pursuits outside the realm of social, domestic or affectional matters. All these are most benignantly aspected under the powerful lunar transit of Venus. Avoid travel and change.

Those whose birthday it is may have a pleasant year in social, domestic and affectional matters. A child born on this day will be artistic, affectionate and lovable.

Monday's horoscope points to an eventful day, with large enterprise and big deals with combinations or associations, resulting in gratifying financial returns. There will be marked stimulus to attempt important things under a quickening Mars, there is prospect of important change and a lunar sextile to Neptune will give a beneficial turn to all secret, subtle and peculiar transactions and affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is should have an active and prosperous year, but must cherish the domestic circle. A child born on this day will be active, enterprising, practical, and may have psychic gifts.

PLAIN TALKS ON INVESTMENTS

By Mark Harris

I have often been asked by friends if there is any money to be made in oil investments in Canada.

For some reason that I have been unable to discover, many intelligent investors believe that the Canadian oil industry has been a failure, and that those who did invest money lost their capital.

No doubt this theory came as a result of the short lived oil boom in Western Canada, but to understand conditions prevailing at that time is to appreciate how absurd it is to compare them with the situation of today.

Some big gas wells were drilled in Western Canada ten years ago, and most of these are still supplying gas to householders. The main field, however, was far removed from transportation, and for that reason the district was doomed to failure.

During the past few years great progress has been made, however, in this same western district, and when I explain that nearly all the big oil companies have spent a fortune in buying up leases since the war started, readers will appreciate that there is more than mere talk behind the project.

Great secrecy has prevailed regarding recent discoveries in the Peace River district, and at a later date I expect to give full and complete information regarding this wonderful area, but to return to my subject, let me relate some facts regarding a small oil syndicate that was formed only two years ago to develop some leases in Southern Ontario.

Eight men put up $1,200 each and appointed one of their number as general manager. This man purchased a few hundred acres of leases at Mosa, Ontario, and within six months every member had many times what he had put into the deal in profits, while the property, I understand, was recently sold for $125,000, which represents more than 1,000 per cent profit for each member.

This is not an isolated case either, for I could give you the history of many others that are even more wonderful, but while I am satisfied the others are true, I cannot vouch for the facts, and that is why I relate the history of this small syndicate.

I know that these facts are true as far as they go. I cannot submit the exact figures because the members of the syndicate do not care to let the public know the large profits made in oil, and for that reason I do not know how much in cash each member received before the property was sold, but I have heard that it was above $5,000 each.

I know of a Canadian oil company that holds more than 3,700 acres of leases in this same district. A company that has sixteen producing oil wells at Mosa alone, and this oil nets the company $3.30½ a barrel at the wells.

Now, if a few hundred acres at Mosa are worth $125,000, what are 3,700 acres worth?

And then when I explain that the Mosa properties are only a small portion of the total assets of the company—that it has in fact more than 19,000 acres of carefully selected land in several important oil districts—that it is now drilling no less than four new wells—that, in addition, it has contracted for more than twenty new wells—that with the wells already drilled the company is earning more than enough money to pay a regular dividend of 4½ per cent quarterly—that the next dividend is due on February 10th to all stockholders of record January 31st—that you can purchase stock in this company today at one dollar a share, and that at this price it nets you 18 per cent yearly on your money, you must realize that this is indeed an opportunity to join a clean-cut, honestly-managed Canadian oil company that you cannot afford to overlook.

Call me up on the phone or drop me a post card, and I will immediately post you a booklet and other literature giving you all the facts regarding this meritorious oil company.

After you read the facts and see who the men are that are in full charge you will appreciate that this is indeed an out-of-the-ordinary investment.

All stock purchased before January 30 will be registered with the company for the next dividend paid on the 10th of next month. This dividend amounts to $4.50 on each 100 shares.

Faithfully,

Mark Harris

RECORDED APPROACH OF DEATH, FOR THE BENEFIT OF OTHERS

Miss Ethel Weeks' Passing Beautiful as Life.

A host of London friends are saddened over the receipt of news from Woodstock announcing the death of Miss Ethel Weeks, only child of Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks of that city.

Miss Weeks, for some time, had been employed in the office of the deputy registrar for military service, and endeared herself not only to the staff of Mr. Beresford, but to all with whom she became associated. A girl of rare insight and philosophical character, she made her talent count for happiness and good cheer wherever she appeared.

She left London in December and went to her home, intending to return in January, but influenza claimed her for a victim two weeks ago, and she passed away Friday morning.

Depressing as was the death of their admired friend, those who knew her learned that even as she passed away she left something of the beautiful character that was her gift.

She realized that she could not recover, and after making her will, she asked for a pencil, and in the final hours, thinking to benefit humanity with some revelation of consciousness of death's coming, she wrote until weakness made the pencil fall from her fingers.

Miss Weeks was 24 years of age. The funeral will take place from her home at Woodstock.

BURLEY BURCH OF LAMBETH DIES; WAS OF "FORTY-NINERS"

Well-Known Farmer Was in 95th Year.

David Burly Burch, an old pioneer, well-known in this vicinity, died yesterday on his farm at Lambeth, where he has lived for a number of years. He was in his 95th year and prominent in Masonic circles. In 1849 he went to California at the time of the gold rush there, and was, therefore, one of the "forty-niners."

He had traveled considerably, visiting in Europe and other countries before settling down on his farm, and was quite wealthy. He was married at the age of 75 years, but his wife died three years after their marriage. He is survived by no children, though several nieces and nephews survive him.

Edward Burch of Detroit is a nephew, and is manager of his uncle's financial affairs. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and will be attended by Masons from this city. He will be buried on the old farm in the plot where his parents, brothers and sisters are also buried.

FRANCE REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE BOLSHEVIKI

Allies May Permit Representation at Congress of Other Russian Elements.

Paris, Jan. 10.—It is understood on the best of authority that negotiations have been under way for some time between the Allies looking to possible representation of all the different parties of Russia at the peace congress. It is understood that admission of these delegates would be on the condition that a truce between them be declared and accepted during the period covered by peace negotiations.

This proposition, which is supposed to emanate from the British Government, is not accepted in its political form by France, which refuses to recognize the Bolsheviks in any form. It is pointed out that recognition of the Bolshevists by the admission of their representatives to the peace congress would, in the estimation of the French authorities, give their propaganda force and promote an extension of the Bolshevist movement of which the Allies might be the first victims. At the same time the French Government is known to be disposed to lend all possible aid to orderly elements in Russia wherever they may be reached.

GERMAN VOLUNTEERS OBJECTED TO ACTION AGAINST THE POLES

Heavy Fighting Between Men and Police at Hagen, Westphalia.

London, Jan. 11.—According to a dispatch from Hagen, Westphalia, heavy fighting has occurred there between two companies of volunteers about to entrain for the eastern provinces of Germany and local police troops. The local troops were opposed to military action against the Poles, which the volunteers were on their way to take part. The volunteers installed themselves in the local crematory and defended themselves obstinately. The outcome of the fighting is not given in the dispatch.

INSPECTORS APPOINTED AT CREDITORS' MEETING

At a meeting of the creditors of the Middlesex Mills, Limited, held on Friday at the mills, the appointment of the Fidelity Trusts Company as assignees was confirmed, and J. B. McKillop, Herbert Parker and E. W. Flock of this city, with Oliver Master of Toronto were appointed inspectors to determine the basis of settlement with the firm's creditors.

The business of winding up affairs and making a settlement will be begun shortly.

SUCCEEDS McADOO

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11.—Walker D. Hines, assistant director-general of railroads, was appointed director-general today by President Wilson, to succeed Wm. G. McAdoo. Notice of the appointment, cabled to the White House by President Wilson, reached Mr. McAdoo by telegraph last night at Winslow, Arizona, when the retiring director-general passed through that town on his way to Los Angeles.

RECEIVES PROMOTION.

Montreal, Jan. 11.—The appointment is announced of W. Walker as division engineer, eastern lines, Grand Trunk Railway System, succeeding Major F. L. C. Bond, promoted. Mr. Walker, after some years of practical engineering experience in railway and dock construction in Scotland and Brazil, entered the Grand Trunk's service in 1908 as assistant in the office of the engineer of maintenance of way.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—J. M. Diknoether, 38 Askin street, father-in-law of John Loughlin, who died yesterday afternoon from influenza, is seriously ill with the dread malady at his home.

CAPT. F. CARPENTER

Capt. Carpenter was one of four members of the Zeebrugge expedition who received Victoria Crosses for the exploit. These four crosses were awarded to the three ships which actually stormed the Zeebrugge mole, and were to be distributed, two to the marines of those ships and two to the remaining personnel. As every man who took part was considered entitled to the decoration, the crosses were balloted for amongst the officers and men.

Helping Dependents.

During his lectures on this continent, Capt. Carpenter has been allowing a limited number of autographed photographs and cap ribbons of H. M. S. Vindictive to be sold. The proceeds of these sales go to the Dover Patrol, and through its agency to the dependents of the men who, as Capt. Carpenter puts it, made the story which he recounts.

The Dover command, he pointed out to his interviewer, was the most important on the British coast, for the reason that the enemy was at the very doors, and the ships of the command were guarding the entrance to the Channel. They had, therefore, to be out at practically all times, without consideration of weather conditions, and the losses were probably much greater than among the men of any of the other commands. It was from the Dover command that the Zeebrugge expedition was carried out.

Capt. Carpenter declined to discuss the future of the British navy, and as to the question of the freedom of the seas he declared that he did not know what the expression meant, and had never met a man yet who did know. The seas had always been free, he said, and in his opinion the term freedom of the seas was simply a phrase which someone had invented without knowing at all what was meant by it.

More "Freedom."

He suggested that, while the "freedom of the seas" was being considered it might be advisable to consider also the "freedom of the air." If, as had been said, the object first to be considered now that the war was over was the prevention of war in the future, the developments to be looked for in the future of war machinery of all kinds must be taken into consideration, and undoubtedly stupendous development of aerial navigation were to be expected. He pointed out the possible danger from aircraft which, wandering along the British coast line just sufficiently far out to be in neutral waters, would be able to carry out observation and, at a propitious moment, carry out an attack. He did not offer any constructive criticism in this connection, but declared that, if the matter were not taken up seriously by the nations which were trying to prevent future wars, trouble certainly might be expected.

Speaking of the Zeebrugge expedition, Capt. Carpenter said it was planned beforehand in the most minute detail. Every man knew exactly what was expected of him—and no man failed to do his part. Everything went without a hitch exactly as it was planned. It took five months to plan, and more than one hundred and fifty ships took part in it. As an instance of the exactness with which details were carried out, Capt. Carpenter said that the Vindictive, which was due at the Zeebrugge Mole at midnight actually arrived at her prearranged position at one minute past that hour. The other ships of the expedition were punctual to the minute.

One Canadian There.

The only Canadian who, to Capt. Carpenter's knowledge, took part in the Zeebrugge and Ostend expedition was Lieut. Burke, who was in command of the ship which took back the men from the block ships which were sunk to close the entrance to the channel. Lieut. Burke was awarded the Victoria Cross for his part in the affair.

Capt. Carpenter's service in the British Navy has been one of distinction from its outset. He served with Admiral Jellicoe on the Iron Duke for eighteen months; was commander of the Iron Duke's sister ship, "Emperor of India," for two years; and was finally in command of the Vindictive and her puny fleet of ferry boats, motor launches and obsolete submarines in the Zeebrugge and Ostend raids. His decorations, in addition to the Victoria Cross, include the Medal of the China Expedition (Boxer Rising) and the French Croix de Guerre with Palm. He has also been created officer of the Legion of Honor. His latest decoration is the Humane Society Medal.

In conclusion Capt. Carpenter said: "It is up to us to see that the spirit which animated these men and the splendid men of the army is inculcated in the young people who are now growing up. If this i sdone, whenever anyone gets up to disturb the peace of the world we will, to put it bluntly, break his damned neck."

Capt. Carpenter was given a great ovation by the guests present. Standing, they gave him three mighty heers and a tiger, which nearly raised the roof off the dining-room.

At Canadian Club.

That the spectacular attack on the Zeebrugge mole had tickled the public's palate and prevented proper credit being given to the men who took part in the blocking operations, intended to prevent German ships getting out of the canal, was a statement made by Capt. Carpenter at the luncheon which was tendered him by the Canadian Club.

"The whole expedition," he declared, "was undertaken with the object of blocking the canal. The men who manned the block ships have never had the credit which is due to them, simply because the storming of the mole, in which the Vindictive took part, was more sensational. In actual importance the storming operation was a comparatively small thing."

He said he felt diffident about speaking in the presence of army officers, a great many of whom were present at the luncheon, because the navy's part in the war had been largely one of watching and waiting. The army had been fighting every day, but the navy had few battles, and these far between. He wanted to see the splendid men of the army given their dues in credit.

He also deprecated the fact that the more spectacular parts of the Zeebrugge expedition had eclipsed in the public mind the gallantry of the three officers and three men who took in a submarine and exploded it in order to destroy the railway connecting the Zeebrugge Mole with the shore. These officers and men went to what they and everyone else believed would be absolutely certain death. Their chances of coming through alive were fantastic, but the hundred thousandth chance was theirs, and they came back safe.

His "Small" Part.

Capt. Carpenter said he had become rather tired of seeing so much in the newspapers about "Capt. Carpenter, the hero of Zeebrugge." It was not false modesty, he declared, to say that his part in the affair was a small one. So far as credit was due to one man, it should be given to Vice-Admiral Keyes, who planned the expedition, and who should have had to bear the blame if anything had gone wrong, and the chances of the expedition turning out a fiasco were great.

"But what really made the thing a success," went on the speaker, "was not ships or material, but men. At a certain stage the men who took part knew what they were in for. They knew that the chances were small that they would ever return alive, but they went into it whole-heartedly and made it a success.

First Success.

It was the first time in the history of the navy that a blocking operation had been carried to a successful conclusion, and the men who did that thing were largely men who had never before been in action. Most of them were young men. I believe the average age of my men on the Vindictive was twenty-three."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

Although there was not the usual Saturday attendance at the local market today, the prices remained high. Eggs were plentiful, the farmers having from 6, 8 or 10 dozen to sell, but all asked 75c per dozen. Butter is not as plentiful as it was last month. There is ample poultry for the number of buyers at this time of year. One lady had three turkeys on the market. She was asking 50c per pound for the birds. For ducks 37c per pound was asked by a few farmers. There now seems to be a good demand for apples, especially snow-apples. Oats are scarce. Three loads of wheat were brought to the market yesterday, and sold at $2.11 to $2.12 per bushel. Three loads of straw were sold yesterday for $9.50 per ton. A slight drop took place in the price of sheepskins, which are now quoted from $1 to $2 each. No other changes in prices are reported.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—Oats opened ⅛c to ¼c lower for May at 79⅝@79c.

Flax opened unchanged for May at $3 28¼.

Inspections on Friday totaled 357 cars for all grains; the contract grades of wheat were 175 cars.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Opening: Corn—January, $1 43⅞; May, $1 35½. Oats—January, 69¼c; May, 70⅝c.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Outspoken talk by an official of the food administration that prices should be lower had a bearish effect today on the corn market. He was quoted as saying the food administration was doing all possible to reduce the high cost of living, and that Argentine prices of corn and United States prices should be brought nearer together. General selling of corn here resulted. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 10c lower, were followed by sharp declines all around.

Oats fell with corn. After opening unchanged to ⅜c lower, with May at 70⅝@70¾c, the market continued to decline.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, Jan. 11.—A heavy oversubscription to the first important financing of the new year, marked relaxation of call money rates, and the December report of the United States Steel Corporation, disclosing a substantial decrease of unfilled orders, constituted the main features of an irregular week in the securities market. The joint offering of $65,000,000 of new bonds and notes by the American Telephone Company and its subsidiary the New York Telephone Company was absorbed in one day's offering, indicating the eagerness of investors to seek an outlet for surplus capital.

Decrease of almost 750,000 tons in the business of the Steel Corporation was somewhat in excess of estimates, but occasioned little surprise in view of the increasing realization that this industry as a whole is operating at reduced capacity.

Easing of call loans, which was without effect on the market for time funds, was attributed to the release of large sums by way of interest and dividend payments. Commercial paper was in better demand at a moderate-rate reduction. Developments in the stock market scarcely warrant detailed comment. Speculative interests renewed their activity in numerous specialties, but received a partial setback when oils yielded much of their recent advantage. Rails suffered from the neglect which has been their portion ever since their futuer assumed its more doubtful status, but minor or secondary shares of that group were relatively active and firm.

WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 11.—Dullness was the noteworthy incident of today's short session of the stock market, trading dwindling to less than half the usual total. Appointment of a new director-general of railroads failed to stimulate the slightest interest in transportations. Oils led the heavy issues at further declines of 1 to 3 points, associated oils proving the conspicuous exceptions. Other reactionary stocks included sugars and some of the inactive industrials, notably Gulf States Steel. Tobaccos and minor motors were strong, but United States Steel and related leaders broke in the final dealings. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 150,000 shares.

New York, Jan. 11—Wall Street, 10.10 a.m.—A hesitant tone prevailed at the opening of the week-end session of the stock market on a minimum of operations. The only material changes were in oils, which strengthened.

10:30 a.m.—Losses of a point in General Motors, American Tobacco and Gulf States Steel at the dull opening of today's stock market were balanced by gains of like extent in Texas Company and Manhattan Railway. Among the more representative issues fractional recessions ruled. Industrials, coppers, tobaccos and obscure specialties were moderately lower, the reactionary trend gaining headway before the end of the first half hour.

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY TRADES SUIT FOR U.S. UNIFORM

Alleged Deserter Persuades Youth To Seek Enlistment in American Cavalry.

Montreal, Jan. 11.—Believed to have been drugged, stripped of his civilian clothes, dressed in an American uniform and put on a train for Plattsburg, where he was told to seek enlistment in the United States cavalry, Donald Stewart, 15 years of age, had the adventure of a lifetime thrust upon him and crowded into one week-end, and is now safely under the parental wing again.

Young Stewart, who is the son of the Rev. J. H. Stewart of Maxville, Ont., came to Montreal two weeks ago on a visit to a very close friend of the family, who is a worker at the Red Triangle hut on Dominion Square. Among the visitors to the hut was Pte. Jack Brown, on three weeks' leave, so he said, from the Medical Corps of the U. S. army at Plattsburg Camp. Brown is said to have got friendly with Stewart and to have persuaded him while drugged to give him his clothes. Stewart was anxious to enlist in an army, and was sent by Brown to Plattsburg. When the youngster disappeared, a cry was raised and Brown was arrested. The Plattsburg police located Stewart, and also telegraphed Montreal that Brown was wanted on several charges, one of which is said to have been a burglary and another desertion from the United States army. It is also alleged that Brown is also a deserter from the British navy.

SALVATION ARMY LASSIE MADE FIRST DOUGHNUT FOR SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Adjutant Helen Purviance, Salvation Army war worker, made the first doughnut in the firing line, and at this period no conveniences were at hand. As the suggestion was made "over there"—"What can we make to eat that will please the boys and that will taste good to them?" said one of the girls.

"A doughnut," replied one of the girls, and a doughnut it was. There was no rolling pin, so the dough had to be patted into shape and then came the question how to cut it out. That problem was solved with the top of a baking powder can and the hole (for, whoever heard of a doughnut without a hole) was made with a camphor ice tube. The first doughnut was made at the front, and they have been made ever since. One of the boys remarked while munching one of the S. A. doughnuts, "If this is war, let it continue." Someone asked, "How many batches of doughnuts are made in a day?" The Salvation Army lassie replied, "I couldn't say, because we make one right after another as fast as we can. As soon as the boys find out that we are making doughnuts they begin to line up and as fast as they are cooked, they take them out of the pot with a twig."

When a French soldier is wounded and knows he is "going west" he asks for his wife, an Englishman for his sweetheart, a Canadian and an American will ask for his mother. That thought of mother remains and is carried with him like an indelible print from the Canadian shores, across the three thousand miles of water into France and while going "over the top" and into that unknown country from which many never return. The Salvation Army sent the lassies to France so that the boys would not miss mother quite so much. They try to create a little home atmosphere and help them over the rough spots of homesickness. The huts do not always look like home. Sometimes it is a real honest-to-goodness hut that can be taken to pieces and put together again in a moment's notice. Another time it may be a tent or a corner made in a shell-torn house. "The boys very rarely call us sister," says Adjutant Helen Purviance, "but very often you hear a 27-year-old girl addressed as 'mother'. If it wasn't for the beautiful tribute in that word 'mother,' one would have to smile when it's used by a man old enough to be her father."

Eighty per cent of the Salvation Army war workers in France are women. They have toiled laboriously, but cheerfully and prayerfully. One of the military colonels, in writing to Adjutant Helen Purviance in contribution to her work there, ends by saying, "On behalf of my officers and men I wish you God-speed and only good luck and happiness which you so richly deserve."

RUSHED MACHINE GUN

Gallant Action Which Won Military Cross for Lieut. R. H. Beattie.

"For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack. Whilst leading his company, he was held up by an enemy machine gun post. He, with a section, outflanked the post, and then personally with great courage rushed it, shooting one of the enemy, taking prisoner another and capturing the gun."

This is a paragraph from the Times-Gazette of London, England, giving the particulars of the winning of the Military Cross last August, by Lieut. R. H. Beattie, son of J. H. A. Beattie, 255 Sydenham street. Lieut. Beattie was with the 20th Battalion, 1st Central Ontario Regiment, at Amiens when he won the award.

WOMEN'S SOCIETIES OF CITY WANT MEMBER ON THE BOARD OF HEALTH

An interest unprecedented in the history of the city is being taken this year by the women of London as represented in several organizations, in the naming of the 1919 board of health on Monday morning. Apart from the widespread interest awakened in the question of public health during the height of the influenza epidemic, an agitation has been in progress for some time past to have a woman member elected to the board. Letters drawing attention to the advisability of the appointment of a woman to the board of health have been sent to the mayor, the city clerk and each of the aldermen, the name of Mrs. W. S. Partridge, 125 Elmwood avenue, being suggested as a candidate having qualifications which eminently fit her for the position. Among signatures to the letter are those of Mrs. H. A. Boomer, president of the Local Council of Women; Miss Bertha C. Graham, president of the Woman Teachers' Guild; Miss Grace Blackburn, president Women's Canadian Club; Mrs. George S. Gibbons, second vice-president London Child Welfare Association, etc.

The idea of a woman for the board of health and Mrs. Partridge as a candidate has been indorsed by the London Child Welfare Association. Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore, president, has been appointed to represent the Child Welfare Association in waiting upon the council regarding this matter.

The suggestion of a woman for the board of health was first made in public by St. George's Mothers' Club. This was indorsed by the Union Mothers' Club and a committee appointed to make the request to the city council and also suggest a suitable name. It is stated today that the committee appointed as a deputation to wait on the council will not do so in person. Realizing that the council has a large amount of important business to transact, the members of the mothers' club committee have decided not to take up their time unnecessarily, but to bring the subject to the attention of the council in other ways.

SERIOUS ILLNESS AVOIDED

Many a serious illness has been avoided by the prompt use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually enrich and purify the blood, and in this way build up the system, tone and strengthen the nerves and invigorate the vital organs.

Serious diseases generally come from some simple disorder that has been neglected. Therefore any thinning of the blood should be looked upon as a warning sign, and more serious illness should be avoided by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the case of young girls and women the blood is peculiarly liable to get out of order—to become thin and watery—and to lead to a general breakdown in health. This can be avoided by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are suitable for the most delicate constitution. These pills will give you a new appetite, improve your digestion, tone and strengthen weakened nerves, banish depression and lack of energy, clear the complexion of pimples and blotches, cure pain in the back and general weakness, cause the disappearance of headaches, dizziness and heart fluttering. Give these pills a fair trial and you will soon note a wonderful change in your condition. Your spirits will brighten, good health and strength will return, and you will feel like a new person. You can confirm these statements by inquiring among your friends almost anywhere, as thousands and thousands of hopeless sufferers have been restored to new health and energy by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

GOVT. HEARS HOW TO BUILD $16,000,000 CANAL FOR NOTHING

Northern Ontario Delegation Artists With Figures.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—Canalization of the French River between Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing was urged on the Government this afternoon by a large delegation, chiefly representative of North Bay and Northern Ontario municipalities and boards of trade.

J. B. McDougall, representing the North Bay Board of Trade, the principal speaker, said that the proposed canalization would cost in the neighborhood of $16,000,000, or annual interest charges of $720,000 at 4½ per cent. These interest charges, he claimed, would be met by an estimated revenue of $750,000 per annum from waterpower.

Further, the total cost of canalization would be liquidated in eighteen years by additional customs receipts due to increased traffic. The saving in freight rates by the shorter route available would in four years, Mr. McDougall claimed, meet the cost of construction.

Associated Boards Back It.

Col. Brock, representing the Associated Boards of Trade of Ontario, presented a resolution from this body in support of the proposal.

Hon. F. B. Carvell, minister of public works, who replied on behalf of the Government, promised that the question would be submitted to the cabinet as a whole, and given the most careful consideration.

Mr. Carvell, however, emphasized the necessity of full recognition being given to the financial situation as a result of the war.

The Burden of War.

"It might just as well be realized," Mr. Carvell added, "that now the war is over, the cost has to be faced." It had been estimated that by the time all expenditure occasioned as a result of the war was met the debt would be in the neighborhood of two billion dollars, or roughly, about $100,000,000 a year in interest charges alone.

Further pension charges would probably come to about $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 a year. In other words, to meet interest charges and expenditure, Canada would have to raise nearly twice as much revenue.

EXTRA SESSION OF PARLIAMENT "BAIT" TO CONTINUE UNION

Added $25,000 Indemnity Has Allurements.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—An extra session of parliament next autumn is being quietly mooted in political circles here as one alluring device by which the Union majority on parliament may continue united during the coming session, and the threatened break-up of the present Government with dissolution and a new election this year may be avoided.

The allurement of the device lies in the fact that an extra sessional indemnity would thereby come to each of the present members. With the prospect of another $2,500 for a fall session it is not reasonable to suppose that the Commons will choose instead to make the coming one the last of the present parliament. The reasons advanced for an extra sessions are plausible.

Borden's Long Absence.

According to present indications Sir Robert Borden, and probably also all or most of his four cabinet colleagues now in England, wil lstay there until the peace negotiations are concluded some time in April or May. They may not be back in Canada until next June.

The war will not be "finished," demobilization completed or the immediate problems of reconstruction solved before next autumn. With the urgent war problems of demobilization still to be dealt with, with the prime minister and so many of his colleagues absent, and with the soldiers not likely to be all back and "readjusted" to civil life until autumn, it may be urged that parliament should confine itself this coming session merely to voting supplies and other necessary emergency requirements.

Leave Big Issues Over.

Thus there might be a short and comparatively non-contentious session. The big problems of the tariff, taxation, transportation, the franchise act and kindred controversial questions might be left over until the autumn when a special session can be called, and when also parliament might meet in the reconstructed building, work on which is now being rushed with a view to having it ready for occupancy by October or November next.

There would be, of course, a tacit agreement that this fall session was to be the last one and that a break-up of Union Government and an election would follow. Such a program would not be displeasing to the members of the Government, and possibly not to the majority of the Commons.

The plan is, of course, not talked of openly or officially yet, but there is no doubt that it is being quietly propogated and it is said some members from whom trouble was expected this coming session are taking kindly to it.

DELEGATES OPPOSE INCREASED EXPRESS AND PHONE RATES

Go From Chamber of Commerce to Toronto.

ASK SOME EXTENSIONS

Want Parcels Delivered in Nightingale Avenue and South London.

Several delegates from the Chamber of Commerce will journey to Toronto on Monday to oppose the application of the Bell Telephone Company and the express companies for increases in rates, and also to urge that free delivery of express in London be extended beyond the present confines.

One extension asked for is on Nightingale avenue to Hunt Bros.' Mill and the London Art Woodwork Company, Limited. The companies deliver to the McCormick factory, but will not, at present, give free delivery on Nightingale avenue.

In South London, where the present free delivery is confined to the district north of Elmwood and Grand avenues, extensions are asked to cover all the paved streets south of this limit. This takes in Ridout to Garfield, Wortley road to the southern limits, also Windsor, Tecumseh, Duchess, Marley Place, and several other streets in that section.

TWO HUNDRED COUPLES AT WAR VETERANS' DANCE

Under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association, a most enjoyable dance was given in the Masonic Hall on Friday evening, the proceeds being devoted to the relief fund for soldiers' families in need during the winter. Two pearl rings and two gentleman's umbrellas were awarded to the best couples in waltz and two-step competitions. The G. W. V. A. Band provided excellent dance music and refreshments were served during the evening.

The two hundred couples spent an enjoyable evening, at the same time assisting in a good cause, that of helping families in need. The hall was attractively decorated with flags of the Allies and little red, white and blue lights.

IS "FLU" VICTIM

Advertiser Illustrations
JOHN P. LOUGHLIN, who died at his home, 295 Central avenue, after a short illness. He was secretary-treasurer of the London Shoe Company.

JOHN LOUGHLIN IS DEAD; WAS VICTIM OF "FLU" EPIDEMIC

Pneumonia Claims Well-Known Young Businessman.

John Patrick Loughlin, a well-known businessman, died yesterday afternoon from pneumonia, developed from influenza. He was ill but a short time.

Mr. Loughlin was taken ill on New Year's Day, but was up and about the house on Friday. Saturday he was again taken ill, and pneumonia rapidly developed and resulted in his untimely death.

Mr. Loughlin was secretary-treasurer and a director of the London Shoe Company, having been connected with that firm for about 25 years. He was an officer and enthusiastic worker for the Irish Benevolent Society, and was president of the London Catholic Club. The club's weekly social which was to have been held last night was cancelled, as are other such activities of the immediate future. Instead, the members of the club held a meeting in the club hall, and a resolution of condolence was passed, to be sent to the family, along with mass cards. Officers of the club last night expressed deep regret over his death. His loss will be severely felt, as his efforts and the work he accomplished was of an immense value to the club.

"His demise will prove a big loss to our firm," said President Philip Pocock of the London Shoe Company.

Mr. Loughlin was 46 years of age and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Teresa Loughlin and five children, Marie, Jerome, Philip, Kathleen and Moore; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Loughlin, 757 Richmond street; four sisters, Minnie, Charlotte, Josephine and Gertrude; five brothers, William and Frank of Detroit; Edward, a student of the medical faculty of Western University; Gerald, a student at Assumption College, and Hubert of this city.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning from the family residence, 295 Central avenue at 8:30 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, where requiem high mass will be sung at 9 o'clock. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

PIONEER HENSALL WOMAN IS DEAD

HENSALL, Jan. 10.—A pioneer resident, Mrs. Ben. Kaiser, has passed away in her 74th year. Mrs. Kaiser had been in failing health for some time, and particularly so during the last two months. She took a great interest in knitting, making a large number of socks for the soldiers. The deceased leaves her sons, William in Los Angeles, Cal., Joseph in Carson, Sask., B. Kaiser in Clinton, John in Brucefield, and Albert in Vermillion, Alta., and her daughters, Mrs. Maddaugh in East Jordan, Mich., Mrs. J. Zuefle, Mrs. T. Sharp and Miss Lottie of Hensall. The funeral to Hensall Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon was a private one. Much sympathy is felt for the family.

John Paterson, south of this village, has sold his farm to his neighbor, John Roweliffe.

The subject announced for the morning service in Carmel Church on Sunday is "Education." Special service of song by the choir will be put on.

The interior of the Molsons Bank here has this week been greatly improved by new modern office fittings and furniture of quarter cut oak.

There are quite a number of cases of "flu" in the village at the present time, and the ban is on all evening services and entertainments, and all places of business have to be closed by 7 o'clock in the evening as a prevention. The schools are also closed, but very fortunately all the cases thus far have been of a mild type.

The Rev. Mr. Garrett of St. Paul's Church had to cancel this week the entertainment he had advertised to be held in the town hall, on account of the ban on the "flu."

The sleighing is good in this locality, and the farmers are making good use of it.

Albert F. Glen has been engaged as rural courier on Hensall route No. 2.

C. P. R. LOSES 2 AGENTS IN THIS DISTRICT WITHIN 2 DAYS BY INFLUENZA

One of Local Operating Staff Also Falls Victim.

The station department of the London division of the C. P. R. has been having troubles of its own in the recurrence of the influenza epidemic. Two of the agents have died this week at adjoining stations on the Goderich line, H. B. Churchill, agent at McGaw, whose death took place January 7, and F. W. Hotorn, agent at Auburn, the following day.

F. W. Nicholls, of the local operating staff, died some weeks ago.

The statement is made that at present about eight employees of the station department are ill with influenza, a much smaller number than during the first outbreak in October. In the first outbreak, however, there were no deaths.

Behind the Scenes With Natural Gas

WEATHER.
Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay: Strong northerly winds; local snowfalls, but partly fair; becoming decidedly colder.

It is so simple to turn on and light the gas, that many people imagine that everything connected with the production and distribution of natural gas is equally simple. It is this impression that probably results in so many complaints when the gas pressure fails temporarily. But if you knew the enormity of the pipe line company's task, and the difficulties that have to be overcome in getting the gas from the well to your home, you would sympathize with us, rather than complain to us, when trouble arises.

Although natural gas is cheap, do not waste it, the supply is not everlasting.

Your Five Senses, and Neal's AloafA Bread

PEOPLE WHO DO NOT NOW TAKE OUR BREAD—WE INVITE YOU TO TEST IT FIVE WAYS.

SEEING LOOK at the tempting brown crust of ALOAFA BREAD. See how perfectly it has risen. Cut a slice and note the dazzling whiteness of its crumb, the perfect porousness and even texture.

FEELING FEEL the wondrous lightness of this bread, feel its remarkable melting quality as it is masticated, its long-retained, wholesome moistness and freshness.

SMELLING SMELL its clean "homelike" fragrance, like mother used to fill the kitchen with on those old-time baking days—the hungry, appetizing scent of good bread fresh from the oven.

TASTING TASTE its perfect flavor—that unforgettable combination of sweet, tender crumb and crisp, nutty, russet-brown crust. Only NEAL'S bread tastes like that!

HEARING HEAR what they say—your wise neighbors who take it. Better still, hear what your own folks will say the first time you serve it. Why wait for their praise? Get a loaf from your grocer or phone for our wagon, and enjoy the best bread in the world.

THREE PARTIES OF RETURNED MEN TO REACH HERE SUNDAY

Men and Dependents For Western Ontario Now On Way.

Three parties of returned men for Western Ontario towns are on their way to this city, and should arrive here some time Sunday.

The first party from the Scandinavian left St. John, N. B., at 5:30 p.m. Friday. Lieut. Schiebother is in charge, and there are seven men in the party in addition to eight on furlough, making sixteen in all.

The second party, also off the Scandinavian, left St. John on a civilian special train at 8 p.m. Friday. It consists of seven men and dependents.

The third party is composed entirely of hospital cases. It left Halifax on special ambulance train No. 1184, at 9:45 p.m. Friday, and consists of one officer, one nursing sister, and 49 other ranks, all for the London Convalescent Hospital.

This party is expected in London on Sunday at midnight, and as those from St. John started earlier and have a shorter distance to travel, they should arrive earlier. None are cot cases.
