London's Decision.

The electors of the city of London voted even better than they knew when they passed the bylaw to grant monetary assistance to the Western University. The vote shows that there were a number of people who did not see fit to sanction London assuming the obligation entailed, but we are thoroughly convinced that time will convince them beyond the chance of argument that the passing of the bylaw represents the willingness of the city of London to make one of the best and most lasting investments that could possibly be sanctioned.

Education is one of the greatest levellers that has ever been devised. It is the corner stone of democracy. It opens the door to a state where the child of the rich and the child of the poor are placed on equal footing. The fact that London is now destined to go ahead and be the home of the great university means more to the average family in this city and in Western Ontario as a whole than can be appreciated from the close-up view we necessarily have of the question at this moment.

Give Until It Hurts.

Christmas Funds and Rellef Funds are numerous in Canadian cities. Fortunately there are an increasing who are ready to cope with these cases, and that is about the only bright spot there is in the outlook of those individuals who find themselves in need.

The well-to-do man finds it hard, particularly at this season of the year, to place himself in the position of the man-a husband and father-who faces the Christmas season knowing that he has been frustrated in his attempt to provide the necessities of life, let alone the extras that his heart longs to give to his children at this season of the year.

No family cares to lay bare its private affairs. There is a pridecommendable and splendid—that likes to put up a brave front, even in the face of terrific odds. He addressed meetings today at Mount Albert, Pine Orchard, Aurora and Newmarket.

Speaking of prospects in North
York for himself and in the entire Dominion for the Liberal party, Hon. Mr. King was op-timistic. "Splendid reports have been reaching me from all sec-tions of Canada," the Liberal leader stated, "and in Ontario, tire Dominion for the Libera which is recognized as the chief battleground, there is every inlication that the Liberais will do far better in the polling tomo row than they had anticipated a short time ago."

Mr. King declared he was sat-isfied that the voting in North York tomorrow would result in a
