Fingal Minister Chosen For Post-Sabbath Observance Urged.

Rev. James Anthony of Fingal was made the new moderator of London Presbytery yesterday, when the annual outing was held at Port Stanley, with the usual business transacted in the forenoon at St. John's Church. Rev. John McKillop, the retiring moderator, was thanked for his able services during his term of office.

On the recommendation of a committee, including Rev. Dr. W. R. Mc-Intosh, Rev. Dr. Wm. Beattie and W. D. Rose of Delaware, the following resolution, which urges a proper observance of the sanctity of the Sabbath at Port Stanley, was unanimously adopted:

"The Presbytery of London congratulates the people of Port Stanley and the London commission on the beautiful resort being built by thom at the terminal of the London & Port Stanley Rallway, and wish them every prosperity, but the presbytery of the conditions of the london of the lond

Says, there is a great deal of overlapping in the carrying on of relief work in the city.

"I don't think," he said, "that it matters much which office the work is carried on in, so long as it is controlled by the city council, and in under the control.

Investigation of Police Affairs Likely To Follow Opinion of Judge.

Canadian Fress Despatch Montreal, June 25.-Chief of Police Pierre Belanger stated here last night that there would be an inquiry today into the statement of Louis Morei, made just prior to his sentence for murder Monday that Constable Prevost nad seen him (Morel) and some of the others who attacked the Hochelaga Bank collection car here April 1. There are several constables on the local force by the name of Prevost and all have been instructed to report to the chiefs' office today.

With the expression of displeasure regarding the police department uttered y Mr. Justice Wilson in the court of king's bench Monday, the next step may be, it is rumored, a thorough police investigation. The latest rumor, which R. L. Calder, K.C., crown prosecutor declares without foundation as far as he was awara, is that Tony Frank, fallen monarch of the underworld now condemned to death with five other 24, has expressed a desire to reveal a imber of what are said to be astonishing crimes and to expose many perbank chauffeur, and Harry Stone a sons who have played parts in crimes

It Paus To Be Good Because You Are Truly Happier-You Can Make a Good Marriage and You Feel Right With Yourself.

Girls are asking that question now as they have never asked it before. Every day I get dozens of letters from young women who say:

"Shall I live up to my ideals of modesty, and purity, and maidenly reserve and sit at home of an evening and twiddle my thumbs for amusement, or shall I let the boys kiss me, and paw me over, and indulge in netting parties, and have plenty of dates? To be good is to be lonesome. Does it pay?

And the little shop girl, with th thin pay envelope for which she toils so hard, with her shabby clothes, her body hungry for good food, her soul starved for pleasure sees the girl who used to stand beside her behind the notion counter suddenly bedecked in jewels and Paris finery, rolling around i notorcars, and she, too, asks: "Does it pay to be good?"

Yes, girls, yes, a thousand times yes. It pays to be good, no matter how much appear ances seem to belie it. Often the wild women seem to have the best of it, but this is because you only see the set smile on painful faces and hear the echo of their shrill laughter. You do not see the look of despair in the disillusioned eyes, nor know how little mirth is in

You envy the wild women their gay parties. Why, there is more real fun at a church oyster supper than there is in a drunken orgy, where intoxicated girls dance on tables, where men and women have to drug themselves into forgetfulness before they can even imitate merriment, and where every bit of pep has to be artificially injected into the occasion!

The only fun that has any real fun in it is the clean fun that leaves no bad taste in the mouth, that brings no sodden headache or neartache the morning after; the kind of fun that one can lay up as a happy memory, instead of burning with shame to recall,

It pays to be good girls, in just actual, tangible results. This may not seem true to you when you think how hard you work and how little you get, and when you see those other women who are lilies of the field, who toil not and neither do they spin, yet who are more gorgeously arrayed than Solomon in all his glory.

But no other women in the world earn their money so hardly as do the women who are the playthings of men. No other women are treated so brutally, no other women are so absurd and insulted. No other women are so tyrannized over. No other women are so ruthlessly broken and flung on the scrap heap when men tire of them as are the women who are cynically called "the Daughters of Joy." Believe me, girls, that what we call the easiest way is the rockiest road, and every foot of the way is wet with the blood and the tears of the women who have trodden it.

Look about you and you will see that in every community the successful women, the happy women, the women with pretty homes are the

It pays to be good, girls, if you want to make a good marriage. If you do not permit every Tom, Dick and Harry to kiss you; if you refuse to go on petting parties and booze orgies you may have fewer dates, but you will stand a lot better chance of getting an cighteen-karat wedding ring, for the hooch-hound young man, who demands that a girl shall sacrifice her modesty as the price of his taking her out, is seldom a marrying man. Nor is he a desirable husband, even if he were.

Furthermore, the more of a rounder a man is the more apt he is to be tackler for purity in the woman he marries, while for the worthwhile a nothing is more repulsive to him than the thought that the lips he is have been given promiscuously to any man who came along and ed for a kiss. The peach with the down rubbed off it had to be obviously a discreet individual.

The silence continued. Smith was well aware of the audacity of this appearance here in Saigon, the very hub and headquarters of French authority! This M. Le Diable would north, they certainly are."

Le Diable would north, they certainly are." stickler for purity in the woman he marries, while for the worthwhile man nothing is more repulsive to him than the thought that the lips he loves have been given promiscuously to any man who came along and asked for a kiss. The peach with the down rubbed off it has no attractions for him. The woman he wants for a wife is the girl who has kept herself unspotted, who has held herself aloof from other men and who has still the modesty of maidenhood about her.

That is why quiet little girls so often made brilliant matches, and why so many wild girls have lots of attentions but no husbands. They are good enough for men to play with, but not to marry. The girls men go on wild parties with they seldom go with

It pays to be good, girls, because it keeps you safe. Of course, you do not mean to do anything that is wrong. Of course, you do not mean to go an inch too far, and you are very certain that you know the precise psychological moment at which to stop. Just a few kisses, enough to keep a boy in good humor. Just a few familiarities, just enough to string him along. Just a little license, just enough to make it interesting to him to

But when a girl once starts down the toboggan slide she finds she cannot put on the brakes. There is no stopping place. She is driven on faster and faster, and before she knows it she is at the bottom covered with shame and disgrace.

It pays to be good, girls, most of all because it keeps you right with your own soul. There is just one person whose good opinion is absolutely necessary to us, and that is our own.

Be good and you will be happy may be a bromide, but it is an eternal truth as well. The only happy women are the women with clean skirts, who are not afraid of what their neighbors are saying about them. The most miserable women in the world are those who hide a guilty secret.

It pays to be good, girls. Make no mistake about that DOROTHY DIX.

L'Etoile shrugged disdainfully. Le Morpion shook his bulging head.
"His friends? Hardly, my American! M. Curel was dealing. I he lieve?"

Curel interposed with a whimsical word.
"This goes well, M. le Diable, I assure you! We are certainly departing from all prosaic facts. I trust you do not claim to be the devil in person?"

Smith bent to pick up the table. Suddenly L'Etoile, who was glancing at the bandaged man in the corner, turned pale as a ghost. This man had made an almost imperceptible gesture.

The bandaged man made another gesture, this time toward the proprietor, evidently asking if the latter were to be trusted. The jaw of L'Etoile fell. His pallor deepened, but he product assent.

but he nodded assent.

From his seat in the corner rose the bandaged man, and stepped forward. He removed his wide hat, to uncover a shock of reddish hair. With a deft motion, he unwound the bandage from about his face. Le Morpion uttered one choking, inarticulate cry and staggered back or from late cry, and staggered back as from awful apparition.

Morpion and L'Etoile dropped nto their chairs, still staring at this individual who had come from the dead—or worse, from Noumea!

Smith picked up the table and set grimly.

M. L'Diable seated himself. Under his thatch of reddish hair, glittered his black eyes. His broad, powerful features were filled with virile energy. He quite ignored his two former followers, and gave his attention to Curel and Smith. The bandage must have served him only as a disguise. The was quite uninjured.

M. de Diable threw back his head in a burst of hearty laughter.

The two started after their com- Felice Bonnard.

When Berangere des Gachons arrived at Saigon, the government had much to her own sweet self. She made the most of it. No longer was the absence of "the court" regretted, no longer was the pleasant city dull and lifeless. The Rue Catinat picked up in business, and the Boulevard Norodom witnessed the amazing sight of govern-ment clerks hastening to work and hastening away. In effect, Berangere not only demoralized the Palais, but the city itself. Brought up in official life she had no awe of the chiefs of bureau, and if she wanted a trifle of help in a customs affair or any such petty detail, she came straight to the Palais du Government and cut the red tape.

Berangere was apt to be impetu bus, although it must be admitted hat she had a way of converting over-hasty impulses into triumphs on the approach of disaster. It had occurred to her that if she provided another objective for the sheep's eyes of the two secretaries at home, she might save herself a good deal of annoyance. Accordingly, on the second day of her visit, there appeared in L'Opinion an advertise ment which stated that she desired

TAKE A LITTLE JAUNT TO EUROPE WITH JULIA HOYT

Julia Hoyt-Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, society leader and contributor exclusively to The Advertiser-takes you on a porch chair trip to Europe. In her own charming way (you know how she writes) she'll tell you all about it from the good-bye wave to the home-bound customs declaration. Her letters from Europe to you will appear in The Advertiser every week.

There's a touch of excitement about a trip to Europe, even though it is not yourself going, but a friend. And Julia Hoyt is a friend to a host of women in this city.

The liner's whistle and the puffing tugs and the glint of sun on the bay—there's a glamor in just that, and still more in the vistas it opens even for such an experienced traveller as Julia Hoyt.

Failure At Everest

The Manchester Guardian, some days before Latin exams are being written in London announced, carried the following opinion, which ind the cure. Prior to that time the

> The climbing of Mount Everest depends on three things: reasonable weather conditions, time, and the physical fitness of the climbers when they are brought to the last stage. Had the expedition renewed its attack last year it would have had this advantage, that the monsoon was delayed and there would have been more time available. It was hoped that in any event this year's party would have had one advantage over the expedition of 1922, for the arrangements were such that if all had gone well there would have been a week more time for climbing before the monsoon came in its normal course. Unfortunately the week has already been lost, and it is to be feared that the causes which have led to its loss will not leave the climbing

Temperatures as low as 54 degrees of frost were experienced, together with fierce headwinds and a blizzard for 48 hours. The description resembles closely the experiences of Antarctic xplorers, and if they had sometimes 109 degrees of frost to contend with, the Everest party have to meet their troubles at a height of 21,000 feet. For the present they have had to beat a retreat to the base camp, and the best part of a week is lost. One of their number, after the attempt of at the time, but it does not do so now in the light of this morning's news.

Only full-size Gum-Dipped Balloons Give all the Advantages of Low Pressure

On full-size gum-dipped balloons you get the greatest amount of the unequalled comfort, safety and economy afforded by low air pressure.

Firestone full-size Gum-Dipped Balloons are not merely over-size tires. They utilize the principle of low air pressure, first perfected by Firestone, without changing gear ratios, fender clearance or interfering in any way with the mechanism of your car.

The universal success of the fullsize balloon is due to the Firestone process of gum-dipping that impregnates each individual cord with pure rubber giving the balloon carcass, with its thin side walls, the great strength necessary to flex and absorb road shocks.

Firestone full-size Balloons give equal or better mileage than regular cords. They make all roads safe and poor roads better. Adopt them now and you will put a new enjoyment in short and long trips. There is a Firestone dealer near who will give you full details about their application.

Split Schedule Starts July 19 In "B" Section

All Teams Agree Plan Will Keep Race Going.

It has been decided to adopt a split season in "B" group of the Southern Baseball League, and the second series, according to the new schedule, starts on July 19, when the locals visit Lucan. The schedule is a fairly long one and it was thought new interest would be added if the grind was split up. Sarnia to date has a comfortable lead, but not by any means a safe one. The fact that Strathroy took a fall out of the Borderers has done a lot to hearten the other teams, because so far, the Sarnians have without much question had the better balanced club and the sort of pitching that did not seem to be affected by the sort of weather the team ran into when they started the season.

The second series schedule is as followed.

Now, what does this mean to the advertiser? Here is a district with a population of almost a quarter of a million people (outside the City of Toronto). The per capita wealth and standard of living of the people is far above the average. A highly productive soil has made the people of the Toronto Suburban Territory wealthy.

Electric power has given them home comforts of the City dweller. Good roads have enhanced the values of all real holdings and made the concessions and sideroads of the country continuations of the streets and boulevards of the City of Toronto, and the larger communities within its boundaries. These people are Star Readers. They read Star news and advertising the same evening it is printed—That is why you see automobiles from these towns parked on the city streets every day. They are in to shop.

That is why both Local and National advertisers are using more space in the Star than ever before. That is why The Daily Star carried 1429 columns more display advertising in the first five months of this year than it did last year. The careful buyer of space is buying concentrated mass circulation. He is buying the Star.

WANT AD TIPS

The Buying Importance of Women

"Notice the facts I've underlined in that Want Ad?" asked the real estate advertiser. "Those facts are put there for a purpose. Three guesses to tell me what that purpose is!"

One fact underlined—the description was of a home offered for sale—was "6 roomy closets." Another was "Most convenient kitchen in the city." Still another was "Furnishings selected by toremost interior decorator," and a fourth, "A dream of a home!" Let the reader, before the writer reveals the answer, take three

The answer is important to Want advertisers selling many things--yet many have not taken thought to heed it. There are many Want Ads on homes for sale which contain no such touches. They should contain them, for they multiply inquiries from one great section of the buying public. Those readers we mean are the women-the wives, mothers, daughters, sweethearts. The successful real estate advertiser took pains to make his Want Ad appeal to women. Women do an overwhelming percentage of the retail buying of the nation. Even a hardware store recently reported that at least sixty per cent of store customers were women. The percentage is far higher in the department store. This condition exists-and it applies strongly to Want Ad buying, too-partly because women are by nature buyers, and partly because they have much more time to buy than their husbands.

While, in the case of a nouse or an automobile, a woman may not do the actual buying, in a great number of cases she will at least influence the choice. The good advertiser will think of this influence when he writes his Want Ad. He will put in it facts which will appeal to women. Closets; convenient kitchen; artistic decorations—those things instantly arrest feminine interest. And facts of equally strong appeal to women can be put into Want Ads relling many other things. Quebec Street Work Not Done As Was Promised by Aldermen.

KNOLLWOOD PICNIC

Knollwood Park Improvement Association has been asked to draw up a petition for the collection of garbage in the district. They will do this if they are assured that they will receive the personal guarantee of the city engineer that regular service will be given along this line. The members are considering the starting of a clean-un week to remove some of the rubbish that has accumulated on the streets or has been thrown there by people in cars. Residents of the district have been instructed to find out the name of anyone throwing rubbish on the streets, and they will be prosecuted by the proper authorities.

This association has been trying for some time to secure the paving of Quebec street, and in the last elections were promised by some of the aldermen that they would receive this improvement in the next year. So far they have been turned down in all their efforts to get results. The last reason given was that there was no storm sewer on the street, and it could not be paved until a sewer was laid. There was no money provided in the city tax estimates for the sewer con-struction, and the $10,000 which is set aside for sewers was already asked for. After this had failed an attempt was made to secure money that had been provided for other construction work, but the city solicitor informed the council that anything of this sort would be illegal. Several aldermen and the mayor have assured the organization that the work will be done this year, but so far it looks as if nothing will be done.

The committee which is in charge of this improvement consists of A. Mould, P. J. Lavender, J. Watt and A. E. Williams

School Accommodation. Another important topic that came up at the meting was the school accommodation of this district. At the present time there are 108 children of Knollwood Park attending the Boyle Memorial School. The school they have now has not the accommodation for pupils of more than three grades thus making it necessary for the older children to go to the Boyle Memorial School. To do this they have to cross the C.P.R. tracks, and as there is no gate at this point it s very dangerous. Another reason dvanced was that the children, who ttend the Boyle Memorial, are not ble to come home for dinner. A letter has been sent to Secre-tary Tanner of the board of education derson.

Last year's council was composed the following members: Mayor.

THERMOS KITS and

ORGANDY BONNETS

Summer calls on each department in turn for its contributions to hot weather comfort. In answer to these complex and varied demands, we have assembled for your choice all kinds of summertime accessories and necessities. From jars of cold cream to refrigerators; from porch shades to sheer fluffy curtains; and from thermos kits to organdy bonnets.

Thermos Kits For Picnics and Motor Trips

A picnic supper in the woods or at the shore adds much to the pleasure of summer motor trips. Lunch may be easily prepared and compactly carried in one of these convenient kits. Then, too, you know that the hot things will be hot and the cold things cold when supper time comes.
