BELLEVILLE RAILWAYMEN AFFECTED BY INCREASE

Same Wage Schedule as Went Into Effect in United States Will Apply Here— Increase Goes Back to May 7th

Several hundred railwaymen in the Grand Trunk in Belleville will be affected by the following announcement from Ottawa last night:

The schedule of wage increases granted to United States railwaymen will be applied to the Grand Trunk System throughout Canada within the next two weeks, according to intimations from high officials of the company to representatives of the men's brotherhoods following the announcement of the award of the United States Labor Board in Chicago last week. In pursuance of the company's policy since the announcement of the McCord award three years ago, the increases will be put in effect on the Canadian lines of the Grand Trunk so that wages will be uniform with those on the United States lines of the system. The increase on the Canadian lines will likely be ante-dated to May 1, in accord with the United States award.

Mr. W. G. Dewar, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the Grand Trunk system, and John Maloney, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for the same system, returned to Ottawa from Chicago last night, where they represented the men of their brotherhoods employed by the G. T. R. at the general meeting of train service organizations.

Mr. Dewar stated that while the engineers accepted the increases as awarded by the Board, they were greatly disappointed that it did not come closer to meeting their demands as presented to the Board.

Asked if he thought that the same increases would be applied in Canada, Mr. Dewar said that he spoke only for the men on the Grand Trunk, but he was confident that the Grand Trunk would carry out the usual procedure of applying any increases on United States railroads to their lines in Canada. He gave as the reason for this that the Grand Trunk has extensive lines in the States and to pay better wages there over those paid in Canada would be a pregnant source of dissatisfaction. He added that the government control of the road had not been completed as yet so that G. T. R. would still work as an independent road in dealing with the question of wages.

Mr. Maloney said that the question of wage increases had been submitted by the men to the company several days before the United States award was announced. The suggested scale was the same as that of the railwaymen in the States to the Labor Board.

Regarding the application of the United States award to Grand Trunk lines in Canada Mr. Maloney said:

"From intimations received by the men's representatives at Chicago I fully expect that the Grand Trunk will apply the new rates in Canada."

Mr. Maloney added that the Grand Trunk had been very prompt in applying other increases granted across the border, so that he thought the Labor Board's award would be made effective in Canada as soon as the complete draft had been received by G. T. R. officials. This he said, would probably be in about two weeks' time.

The other Canadian representatives at Chicago were Mr. Thomas Todd, Hamilton, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors for G. T. R. system, and Mr. W. J. Dowell, of Brockville, representing the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen of the G. T. R.

The increases granted in the United States ran from 30 cents to $1.62 a day. The request from the men was based on the rising cost of living.

been utilized as a drying-room for the timber for the double-trees of which there is a large quantity on hand, 10,000 feet of select white ash and an amount of oak having been purchased for that purpose.

The company began active operations last Thursday and it is hoped by the end of this week to have some of the completed machines ready for shipment and arrangements for selling have already been made.

It is anticipated that the growth of the business will be such that an addition to the building will be required by next year.

The invention has been patented in both Canada and the United States. Belleville is to be the home of the parent company but branches are likely to be established at Winnipeg and in various parts of the American Union.

Belleville is therefore to be congratulated upon being chosen as the home of a new industry which seems likely to prove an important contributor to our future commercial expansion.

Archbishop Mannix Determined to Go

ATLANTIC CITY, July 27.—Despite the announcement by Lloyd George that Mannix would not be permitted to land on the British Islands, Archbishop Mannix, of Australia, declared here last night that he would sail for Queenstown on July 31. "Nothing but physical force will prevent me from going," he said.

Strong remonstrations from Australia on the utterances of Archbishop Mannix in the United States, have been received by the Vatican. The protest states that the prelate's assertions do not represent the feeling prevalent in Australia.

Turks Requested to Vacate Cyprus

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 27.—The Entente yesterday asked the Turks to vacate Cyprus which is to be used by the inter-allied commission for controlling the straits zone. British and Greek troops are energetically sweeping both shores of the peninsula opposite Constantinople.

City of Adana on Verge of Starvation

LONDON, July 27.—Adana in Asia Minor, with a population of seventy thousand Christians and ten thousand Moslems, is entirely cut off from the outside world by Turkish Nationalists and is on the verge of starvation, according to an official despatch from Cyprus. The despatch says the city has food for only a few days and appeals for allied military assistance. In the House today, Bonar Law pointed out that the city was in the French zone and the French were alive to the situation. There was a limit to the possibility of British intervention, it is said.

Conservatives all But Exterminated

HALIFAX, July 27.—Winning 30 seats in a house of forty-three, the Liberal government under Premier Murray was returned to power with a clear majority of seventeen over Farmers, Labor and Conservatives in the election held yesterday. The Farmers elected seven candidates, Labor five and Conservatives one. The last house was composed of thirty-two Liberals and eleven Conservatives.

Liberals Triumph in Nova Scotia Elections

HALIFAX, N. S., July 27.—As a result of the general provincial election held in Nova Scotia today the Liberal government which has been continuously in power for the past thirty-eight years, and headed by George H. Murray since 1896, was returned with a majority of seventeen in a house of forty-three members, substantially the same as it received as a result of the election in June, 1914.

The campaign leading up to the elections was unusually quiet. No great public question was involved in the contest, but owing to the entry of the Farmers and Labor parties, together with the introduction of the women's vote, the result was generally regarded as uncertain until the returns began to come in last night.

The election summary follows: Liberals, 30; Conservatives, 1; Labor; Farmers, 7—total 43 seats. The election of June 20, 1914, resulted in 22 Liberals and 11 Conservatives being elected.

The Liberals gained one seat each in Halifax, King's, Lunenburg, Richmond and Queens', and lost three seats in Cape Breton, two in Cumberland, one in Antigonish, and one in Yarmouth, making their net loss two seats. Included in the seats won by the Liberals were those of Hon. E. H. Armstrong, commissioner of public works and mines, who was the only member of the government to go down to defeat, although at a late hour Hon. R. McGregor's seat in Pictou was still placed in the uncertain list.

A Lone Survivor.

The Conservatives, with a membership of eleven in the late house, under the leadership of W. I. Hall, defeated in Queen's county, returned a single representative, Dr. J. A. MacDonald, to the house. They lost seats in King's, Lunenburg, and Richmond, and three to the Farmers, two in Colchester, and one in Hants; and two to Labor, one in Cape Breton and one in Cumberland, a total of ten seats.

The Farmers took seven of the 15 seats, for which they contended, and Labor took five out of 13 candidates. Neither of the two women candidates on the Conservative ticket in Cumberland and one on the Labor ticket in Pictou made a serious showing.

York National Team Was Overwhelmed

G. T. R. Champions Defeat Visitors by 17 to 4.

York Nationals of Toronto, met an overwhelming defeat yesterday afternoon at Twelve O'Clock Point at the G. T. R. picnic at the hands of the Ontario Champions, the G. T. R. The first part was well balanced but the latter half was a runaway for the Trunks with a final score of 17 to 4. The Sullivan-Goyer battery worked the early part of the match, Frank Goyer catching for five innings when Mills replaced him. Sullivan held on for the seventh, and Freddy Goyer took the mound in the eighth. There was no scoring until the fourth innings when each team scored four runs. The visiting team did not score afterwards. The Belleville batters gave a fine hitting exhibition. The sixth gave the Trunks two runs, the seventh six runs, the eighth one run and the ninth four. Mr. Ernie Hagerman of Woodstock, handled the match.

The line up:
Belleville G. T. R.—Meagher 3rd; H. Mills, 1st b; V. Weir, c; s; W. Mills, 2nd base and catcher; Frank Goyer, catcher and second base; Symonds, left field; Fred Goyer, centre field and pitcher; Fogg and Ross, right field; Sullivan pitcher and centre field.

THIRD REUNION AND CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

Old Boys Praise Hospitality of the Old Town—Night Scenes on the Streets— Homecoming Success Greater Than Anticipated.

Belleville's third Old Boys' Reunion and Centennial Celebration passed into history as dawn broke this morning. High-spirited old boys and homefolk held the streets until the stars had disappeared. A few hours later the decorations began to come down and the big event passed into history.

Many of the old timers have left but many remain. All express the opinion that Belleville's hospitality grows with the years, that the third reunion was one of the best, joyous times in their lives. Whether the townfolk are getting used to them or whether the workers broke down the barriers, the 1920 Reunion was absolutely spontaneous. The community spirit seems to be giving ground here.

How did the visitors spend their holidays? The renewal of old acquaintances was the great attraction. But when the handshake of old friends was not taking the attention of the old boys the committee provided a program. But the program soon took form from the spirit of the celebrants.

At the entrance to Victoria Park on Monday and Tuesday evenings there were thrilling displays of fireworks of all kinds. These aerial demonstrations were witnessed by thousands.

Night Scenes

The street scenes at night are those that will linger longest in the memory of those who participated in the festivities. The community dance idea has caught on in Belleville through the efforts of Aid. Chas. Hanna. Monday night saw the biggest of crowds wedged in at the junction of Campbell and Front Streets. So dense was the mass of humanity that it was impossible to make way through. The bandstand had been erected in front of O. B. R. headquarters but was finally removed to Campbell street. This opened the way for pedestrian traffic and movement became a little more easy. Still the jamming was steady. But that was part of the pleasure. In spite of jostling the police kept cool heads and were good natured. Many danced in hastily-formed circles on Front and Campbell Sts. Age was no barrier to the joy that was unconfined and class distinctions were forgotten. Young and old danced together. Usually sedate men and women took the cue from children and danced "Ring around a posy."

The G. W. V. A. band was generous in its music. To avoid the crowding a portion of the band took station on Front street about midway between Campbell and Bridge Streets and assembled a crowd here. This kept up until the midnight hour was passed. The crowd thinned out but those who stayed must have possessed the choicest spirits for the gaiety increased. A Highland band, which had been holding high festival with a crowd at different points of Front street, assembled the bravest of the brave and the parading began. The drumbeat or the skirl of the pipes was enough. Men who had hitherto not been known to dance Scottish or Irish national dances caught the Celtic fire and performed to the crowds amusement. Bonfires were started on Front Street at Bridge Street, Campbell street and Victoria Avenue corners. Around them the crowds danced and sang. The firemen were called out and extinguished the fires as the movement was being injured. At Campbell street the band platform and a large pile of boxes were burned.

The mirth kept on until four o'clock when with the advent of the day, the weary enthusiasts found their way home.

Last night two orchestras and the pipe band kept things lively in the business section. Front Street from Bridge to Victoria Avenue and Campbell street were closed to motor traffic and the citizens and their guests had the opportunity to themselves. The congestion was not so great as it was the night before, and more indulged in dancing. At midnight the dance was over, but the crowd lingered for many hours. Heavily laden motors with screeching horns sped up and down the street. Crowds followed the band up and down the main thoroughfare. Then someone would start to dance to the pipe music. A little crowd would gather about an orator now and then. He would voice the feelings of the people of the old town. Some who had a key to somebody's cellar joined in the midnight frolics and the band played gaily on. Processions galore, jigs, a talking dog, were some of the early morning features. There is nothing like the pipes to keep the spirits alive and that pipe band kept the amusement going until the tired citizens were ready to get up this morning. It was a jovial night and a whole-hearted windup to the reunion.

Efforts to start fires were nipped in the bud by the police. Police Sgt. Naphin and his constables on duty preserved order and as much dignity as was becoming—the sergeant heartily entered into the joy of the occasion, although ruling the crowd with a firm hand. He was not afraid to walk with the boys and girls at the head of the procession and the crowd appreciated this showing of his good nature. Officers Trausch, Thompson and Vanneor also saw the funny side of things.

Lovers of water sports had programs to their liking at Victoria Park on Monday and Friday afternoons. The committee in charge of these were J. Ross, C. H. Brown, J. Robertson, J. Fitzgerald, F. Wille and Ald. Wensley—pulled off the following events:

Visitors Swamped Home Team

The old time baseball match between the homers and the visitors staged at the fair grounds on Tuesday afternoon was a burlesque as it was intended to be. The score was eleven but that was meant. The visitors walloped the home team by the score of 19 to 7 when the battle ceased in the fifth innings with eighteen almost exhausted men seeking repose. Col. Laxier and Geo. Dulmage were on the umpiring staff and their decisions were amazing to both teams but the crowds of spectators laughed at the carnage. Col. D. Barragar gave the base decisions and Catcher John E. Parks became a casualty in the second innings when his right hand was split between the second and third fingers, but he played on, for several innings until relieved by Mr. A. R. Symons. Three stitches were the penalty for letting the ball strike the tip of his third finger. The visitors had only one advantage—Parker of the G. T. R. playing first to make up a quorum.

The line up:
Visitors—Mark Dulmage, pitcher; Holland, second base; J. Ballantyne, third base; J. Gibson, short stop; Wonnocott, catcher; W. Oliphant, right field; J. E. Bulger, centre field; H. Hampton, left field; H. J. Parker, first base.

Home Team—W. J. Thompson, pitcher; A. Jones, left field; A. R. Symons, first base and catcher; J. E. Parks, catcher and first base; R. Mackie, second base; R. H. Ketcheson, centre field; P. Harrison, short stop; George Moxam, third base; M. Lynch, right field.

The G. W. V. A. band in charge of L. Hinchey furnished music on Victoria Park for the afternoons and were roundly praised for their efficiency.

The Grand Trunk picnic to Twelve O'Clock Point provided a diversion for Tuesday.

The Belleville-Oshawa match on Monday afternoon attracted a big crowd. The story of the game is told elsewhere.

The registration at headquarters was about seven hundred and fifty. The visitors, it is estimated numbered from fifteen hundred to two thousand.

The Rochester delegation said Belleville never was more hospitable than it was at this reunion. Another liked the old town better than ever.

A Fine Pianist

Everybody who has ever had the pleasure of hearing Tom Mitchell will agree with the opinion of judges of music that he is the finest pianist that Canada has ever produced. His touch is marvelous and every touches the keys. Mr. Mitchell, who will be heard here during Chautauque Week, August 10th to 16th, has played before enthusiastic audiences in all parts of the world and everywhere the opinion is the same. He has been called a wizard of the piano and it is certain that he produces music with apparent magic. He goes from the most difficult of classical compositions to the latest swinging popular melody and in both instances he fairly carries his hearers of his feet. He gives a sketch called the "Country Choir" that is a scream. His whole programme is one to delight every lover of music.

With Mr. Mitchell will appear Miss Gwendolyn Anthistle, the famous reader who has been heard in all the large centres and who will make her first appearance in Belleville during Chautauque week. She has a splendid program and advance reports say that this combined offering is one of the big features of the week.

With such artists as the above, who are but two of about fifty that will appear here Chautauque Week it is little short of amazing that tickets for the entire week, including all the artists and all the shows, are to be had for $2.75 including war tax. It has truthfully been said that any one of the week's features would cost, in the larger cities, as much as the people of Belleville will be able to see the entire week's show for. Advance sales of season tickets indicate that many are going to take advantage of the bargain prices because the tickets can be used by any member of the family.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

A reader of The Ontario, who is a keen student of public affairs has requested us to publish an explanation of the new system of voting that was adopted in the city of Winnipeg in the recent provincial election in Manitoba. Aside from Winnipeg the voting in Manitoba was according to the old system with which we are all familiar.

The whole city was grouped into one constituency and ten seats in the Legislature were allotted it. Forty-one candidates were nominated, ten Liberals, ten Conservatives, ten Labor and eleven Independents.

The presence of many names on a ballot might be expected to perplex the elector, but a gentleman who has had an opportunity to examine the ballots states that this condition was averted largely by the candidates representing various groups having their names printed in certain colors; the Liberals in red, the Conservatives in blue; Labor in green, and Independents in black.

Under proportional representation the voter has only one vote, but that vote is transferable. When marking the ballot the voter places the figure "1" opposite the name of the candidate he wishes to elect. This is called his first choice. He continues to place the numbers opposite the names of candidates he favors, the figure "2" against one; the figure "3" against another and so denoting his second and third choice.

When the ballots have been cast they are divided according to the first choices marked on them. In the Winnipeg elections this meant 41 separate bundles, comprising 47,427 votes.

The quota which each candidate had to receive to be elected was determined by dividing the number of votes cast by one more than the number of seats to be filled and adding one to the result, thus: 47,427 divided by 10 plus 1, equal 47,427 divided by 11, equal 4,312 plus 1—the quota 4,312. This meant that to secure election at this stage of the proceedings a candidate had to have at least 4,312 votes. Two candidates were elected on the first count, and a third candidate was elected on the second count. The fourth candidate was not elected until the 31st count. The fifth was elected on the 32nd count and the six and seventh on the 33rd count, and the remaining three on the 37th count.

"The final result demonstrates the fairness of proportional representation as a method of election," according to Canadian Finance, a journal published in Winnipeg, which gives an excellent review of the election. "The Labor vote represented a little more than 40 per cent. of the total vote, and labor elected 40 per cent. of the members. The Liberal vote represented nearly 40 per cent. of the total vote, and the Liberals elected 40 per cent. of the members. The Conservatives were supported, by voters representing a little less than 20 per cent. of the total vote and they elected 20 per cent. of the members."

THE SMALL MYSTERY

Whether it is eventually established as a case of kidnapping or violent death, or merely a convenient dropping out of sight for the time being the double disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, millionaire theatrical man of Toronto, and his secretary, John Doughty, both well known citizens, will go down into police history probably as the most mysterious and baffling to date. Small has been missing since December 2 and Doughty since December 28 last.

Toronto police detectives have had numerous trips to New York and other points on sundry clues on both or either of the men, but so far nothing substantial has been ascertained regarding their movements since the dates mentioned. Many square yards of earth have been dug up, the waters of the bay have been dragged, and many bodies examined on assumptions which turned out to be cases of mistaken identity. The whole continent of America has been combed by detectives in search of some clue as to what has become of the missing men, and practically every country in the civilized world has been flooded with circulars describing Mr. Small and offering rewards for the recovery of him, dead or alive.

Mr. Small had just put through a deal for the sale of his interests in a string of theatres in Canada at $1,750,000 to a syndicate known as Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, and a few hours before his disappearance on December 2 he had received a cheque for $1,000,000 in connection with the sale. This cheque he deposited in the bank. On that day he had lunch with his wife down town, and promised her to be home to dinner in the evening. He attended to some business late that afternoon at the Grand Opera House, which was included in the properties sold to Trans-Canada Theatres and about 7 o'clock started for home, so far as is known. The last person known to have seen him was his favorite newsboy, from whom Mr. Small bought the evening papers as usual.

The fact that Mr. Small was missing was not made public until three or four weeks had elapsed. In the first week in January the first circulars, asking for information as to Mr. Small's whereabouts were sent out by the local police authorities, and a reward of $500 was offered. A short time afterwards the reward was increased to $5,000. Then on the first of June a reward of $50,000 was offered by the missing man's wife for information regarding Mr. Small's whereabouts, if alive, and $15,000 for the recovery of his body, if dead.

The mystery of Mr. Small's absence was accentuated by the disappearance of John Doughty, who had been his private secretary at the Grand Opera House for many years. Doughty has not been seen or heard from, so far as the authorities are aware since, December 28, 1919. A few weeks ago the discovery was made that $150,000 worth of Victory Bonds were missing from the safety deposit vault where they had been placed by Mr. Small, and it was stated that Doughty had access to the vault. Thereupon circulars were issued offering $5,000 reward for the arrest of John Doughty on a charge of having abducted Ambrose Small, and $5,000 for Doughty's arrest on a charge of having stolen the missing Victory Bonds.

By a special act of the Ontario Legislature Mr. Small was declared an "absentee," and on May 20 the Capital Trust Corporation, of Ottawa was appointed by a Superior Court Judge trustee of Mr. Small's estate.

On the first of July of this year Stan. V. Henkels, the Philadelphia auctioneer of literary property, sold under the hammer the collection of autographs formed during a lifetime by Sir Stephen Coleridge. With good taste Mr. Henkels printed as a foreword to the catalogue of the manuscripts the letter written by the English knight in sending his treasures to America. It is, in part, as follows:

"The war and the income tax in this country force me to consider selling some of my valuable autographs. All the world knows that we have, without much complaining, shouldered the main burden of the greatest and noblest fight ever waged in history, and have, as a nation, to face eight thousand million pounds of debt; and it is further an indisputable fact that we are not allowing the poor to suffer, and that we of the more well-to-do classes are taking up this vast burden. To do that, most of us must make sacrifices, and there is an end of the matter. I have never yet sold anything of the kind, but, with half my income taken in taxes, and everything at very high prices, I am reluctantly compelled to consider the matter, and send them to you. And so I bid farewell to these lifelong companions with a heavy heart, but with the consolatory reflection that not my own profligacy but the necessary consequences of a just and glorious war waged in a noble and grave spirit to a splendid victory, have forced me the sad separation."

A letter of that kind needs no comment. Men like Sir Stephen Coleridge are the men who make England supreme among the nations.

OTHER EDITORS' OPINIONS

WHY NOT STRIKE AGAINST INCREASES?

And still the financial experts prophesy an early turn to lower prices, with railway wages and rates about to climb in the United States and our previous Board of Commerce raising the price of sugar several cents again. The living cost in Canada, reported at Ottawa, is the highest ever for the past month. How long is this thing going to be blamed on the war? The increase in the last six months beats "all records. And remember, living costs were going up rapidly before the war ever was.

Strikes and higher wages may perhaps not be so much the cause of rising prices as vice versa, but one thing is clear, that they do not help to bring prices down, but contribute something to higher costs. Mr. Tom Moore and other labor leaders have lately been emphasizing this obvious point and insisting that strikes should henceforth aim not so much at higher wages as at lower prices. It is curious that the workman in any other trade should sit by complacently and acquiesce while railway workers jack up their pay and thereby with the railway rates as well. Is it not his cue to counterstrike against a move that threatens to fleece the whole citizen body in the interest of one trade and one body of owners who may make higher wages a pretext for yet higher profits; or at least strike against an attempt of the railway owners to take the increase of wages out in higher rates on traffic? If workmen endure this or approve it, they practically make themselves a party to a general strike, not in the interest of the mass, but against the public weal, all to fatten the pocketbooks of railway workers and owners at the expense of the laboring community.—London, Advertiser.

HYDRO RADIALS

There is a merry war on over the Hydro Radial question in Ontario. Sir Adam Beck has vigorously attacked the stand of the Drury government. In this attitude he has the assistance of Mayor Church and many other enthusiastic Hydro Radial supporters. If it was a question of public vs. private ownership of public utilities there would be little argument in the matter. But this is not the question. The point at issue is the big problem of transportation. The modern development of motor cars and motor trucks with the accompanying demand for improved highways has brought a new factor in the situation. The economist who figures on traffic following two fixed lines of steel rails when the motor truck can call at the door or farm and deliver the goods direct to their destination forgets the biggest factor in the situation.

DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVERS

According to an amendment of the Motor Vehicle Act a person found driving a car while under the influence of liquor will go to jail. A fracas like what took place on Hastings street on Saturday night last should not be let go unnoticed. To be intoxicated, using abusive language and driving a motor car without lights is surely an infraction of the Ontario Temperance Act, likewise the Motor Vehicles Act. Drinking is becoming altogether too common in the village, and the sooner some of the offenders are punished for their misconduct, the sooner the "wet goods" and its admirers will vanish from the streets. Law and order must be observed here, as in other towns and villages. A few examples will perhaps tend to make for greater safety of the public.—Bancroft Times.

CREOSOTING COMPANY BUILD SUBURBY PLANT.

The Canadian Creosoting Company has commenced construction of a plant in Sudbury which will employ 200 men. The plant will be similar to that now in operation near Trenton and will treat two million tons a year besides bridge and trestle timber. The site for the new industry was purchased by the C.P.R. for sixty-five thousand, and it is this company which will supply all business to the Creosoting Company. The product will be used on Eastern lines.

TERRENCE COLLINS' CONDITION

Information was received in Lindsay Thursday night to the effect that Mr. Terrence Collins, who was poisoned by illuminating gas in the Daily House, Toronto, Wednesday night, was still in an unconscious condition at the General Hospital. It has also been learned that when Mr. Collins had reached the hospital it was found that all his money had disappeared except a dollar. This gives the incident a suspicious tinge as Mr. Collins was known to have carried considerable money.

HAVE IT ALL DOPED OUT.

The wise acres says the Lindsay Post, have it all doped out. Oshawa will lose to Belleville in that town and will win from Belleville here, Peterboro will lose their game here and that will leave the League at the end of the season with three teams leading, all of which will have lost two games each. There are wonderful possibilities in the next few weeks through won and lost games.

wanted in that particular place was never known. For it was all the officers could do to hold on to him, while the crowd stampeded past them toward the door, a cursing, struggling mass.

She looked up at him piteously. She appeared to recognize him, but was too terrified to understand. He drew her to her feet and with Lefe on the other side, they began to make their way quickly toward the beach by a narrow passage among the cottages.

The three set out on their way, Marie at first sobbing and holding back, then gradually growing calmer under Hilary's assurances, and at last going willingly. Her dress was dragged with mud, her face ashy; she looked pitiful and frightened.

She felt in her dress for the key, with shaking fingers. Hilary took it from her and opened the door. "Never go to that place again," he said sternly. "Let this be a lesson to you!"

They saw Marie Dupont crouched before the stove, her face on her arms. through the torn shade, they saw Marie Dupont crouched before the stove, her face on her arms.

"I guess we'd better be going, Lefe," he said. "She's had no lesson."

"Look to Your Boom!" Baptiste worked all the next Monday on the boom, fiercely and unsparring of himself or his men.

logs cracked and splintered as they battered their way down the river. He saw the girl clinging to the saddle, then to the beast's mane; he tried to reach her with his arms, but he could not stop the bolting animal; and then he was flung free, and the riderless horse went galloping down the road toward St. Boniface.

The charge was to be exploded at three in the afternoon. That day Hilary was kept busy in his office, going over the pay roll in preparation for the October changes.

It was two o'clock by his watch when he pushed his papers aside and strolled up the path that led through the woods toward the gorge. Hilary had left St. Boniface behind him and was approaching the gorge, from which he could hear the shouts of the gang making preparations for the discharge.

She had evidently been to the Ste. Marie territory, and, he suspected, on a visit to Brousseau. The path was narrow, with the descending bank of the wooded gorge on one hand and a steep, shelving ascent, overgrown with young spruce and pine, upon the other.

Hilary made his decision in an instant, made it with the roar of the released torrent in his ears, and the thunder of the breaking jam, the crash of logs hurled free and rebounding from and buffeting one another. He planted himself directly in the course of the maddened animal, whose hooves churned up a shower of stones.

For one instant he saw her pale, with frightened eyes, but firm in the saddle, still pulling against the curb, while the open mouth, distorted by the bit and chain that pressed the underlip, foamed, and the white of the eyes gleamed wickedly beneath the ears, flat with the head. Then Hilary saw the horse rear and the shod hoofs

He Caught the Reins and Leaped for the Shelving Bank, and Missed. He leapt ashamed of his suspicions. Yet, remembering that day when Baptiste was conferring with Pierre, he could not wholly rid himself of them.

Over the cataract swept the logs, unimpeded now. The river had burst its chains and spewed its burdens into the Gulf. Fanlike, the lumber began to spread and stain the gray St. Lawrence surface with mottled brown.

before that time the entire lumber load of Rocky river would be in the Gulf. Hilary looked on in empyrean silence. He might as well give up now and go home. Brousseau and Nature had united to thwart him.

"Where's Jean Baptiste?" said Lefe. "I don't know. He set off the dynamite, and that ended his job. Why?"

"You're a fool," said Hilary, "and I wish you were a thousand miles away. I wish I had never seen you!"

"You see, I'm not going to take the money that you and Mrs. Connell have been saving up for a home, and put it into this bankrupt concern!"

"I tell you it is too late. Oh, why did you not come to me and say this before?" she cried, and suddenly broke into unrestrained sobbing.

"I wonder why Baptiste went off as soon as he'd dynamited the jam," said Hilary. He felt ashamed of his suspicions.

"Why, I guess that wasn't nothing, Mr. Askew. You know how excited these people get over crises. They're just like a flock of geese gabbling around."

"What was it, Lefe?" "Just nonsense, sir. Not worth repeating, but—well, you see, it's this way. Some dazed fool said that somebody had saved part way through the logs of the boom."

He bent his head and flushed with shame. It seemed impossible to associate that act of treachery with her. Yet, struggle as he did, her last words haunted him.

"Well, I guess that hundred dollars fine didn't hurt him much. But he's mighty sore on you, Mr. Askew. I'd watch for mischief from that quarter."

CHAPTER VIII. The Challenge. "Yes, sir, it was Morris who pulled off that little affair at Ste. Marie," said Lefe, a few days later.

Successful Opening of Oak Lake Camp

Evangelist Hyde Made Favorable Impression—Large Crowds Present

Sunday 25th inst, while it was cloudy and threatening proved a good introduction to this year's camp.

Although no forenoon services are announced this year the presence of numbers upon the grounds and about the tabernacle long before noon seemed to warrant the gathering for worship. So a short praise service was held in which the evangelist gave a fervent exposition upon the "Workings of the Holy Spirit" as recorded in early acts.

At 2 p.m. the campaign really opened and while the crowd in attendance was hardly as large as last year it was representative of a very large district and a fine popular interest and support. Following the song service and prayer by Rev. Mr. Archer, of Stirling, Rev. L. M. Sharpe gave a brief statement of the general success of the previous three years and expressing the hope that because of past mistakes, each year would become better. Mrs. (Rev.) E. B. Cooke, who is acting as pianist this year gave a beautiful solo, "The Touch of His Hand" and Rev. Mr. Hyde, took charge. Like Evangelist Stephens, he emphasizes the life of full-surrender and is so earnest and happy that he impresses every one, as one who is practicing what he preaches. He told of coming from a great camp meeting just outside Chicago which began very small and now has a tabernacle seating three thousand, and he predicted a great future for Oak Lake. The evening service was also marked by intense interest on the part of the hundreds of listeners.

Rev. Wickware who was unavoidably detained Sunday is now present and is leading the song services throughout. Meetings are held each evening except Monday and Saturday, but it is being planned to give services in a number of the surrounding churches next week.

Campers are putting up tents from day to day and Rev. Kemp, of Foxboro, is to bring a troop of Trail Rangers and Tuxis Boys next week. This is just what we believe the camp should attempt, evangelism in all its phases—training for the young people, development of the four-fold life, a haven of rest for the weary workers and a feasting in spiritual things as well.

Next Sunday, August 1st, promises to be a great day for the community.

Lucius E. Allen With Pikers Hurt

Pres. Ontario Good Roads Association in Car Which is Wrecked

ST. IGNACE, Mich., July 25.—The first serious accident to mar the Journey of the Michigan Pikers' Association, which has been travelling through Ontario in the interests of good roads, occurred this morning 18 miles north of this place, and 42 miles south of Sault Ste. Marie.

About a dozen of the automobiles had passed a horse which was grazing close to the roadside, when suddenly it made a bolt in front of the Stanley steam car, which was carrying Lucius E. Allen, Belleville, President of the Ontario Good Roads Association; Dr. Robert Mathers, Superintendent of the Composing Department of The Detroit News; Henry Martens, and O. C. Trask of Detroit, the latter driving. When the car struck the animal it was turned crossways into a ditch, carrying the horse in front of it, and then overturned.

The only occupant who was painfully hurt was Mr. Allen, who had his right ankle badly bruised and scalded from the boiling water escaping. He will likely be laid up for six weeks. The other three men escaped with minor injuries.

Only by the strong top on the car and the sloping ditch were the lives of all the passengers saved.

The wrecked car was placed on one of the trucks which was following, and was ferried across the Straits of Mackinac to Cheboygan, where the tourists came tonight.

The Program for Chautauqua Week

The programme of entertainment to be provided in this city during Chautauqua Week will offer the biggest collection of high class talent that has ever been shown in Belleville. The entertainment will cover an entire week (August 10th to 16th) with afternoon and evening performances, and the High School Gigs have been secured for the big Chautauqua Tent which has a seating capacity of 1400. In many respects this group of features will mark a new era in entertainment for this city. The artists have been collected from all the leading musical and educational centres of the world and no expense has been spared in getting together the very best in each branch of entertainment.

The entire programme is so lengthy that it would be difficult to review it all in one article but in future newspaper stories and in the advertising for the event each of the features will be given proper attention. An outstanding feature of interest will be the appearance of Father Wait, of London, England. He has a very strong personality and is one of the most eloquent speakers of the day. At the outbreak of the war, together with nearly all the eligible men of his parish, Catholic and non-Catholic alike, he joined the army in 1914 and went to France with the original Expeditionary Force as Chaplain of the 20th Brigade of Guards.

He was in the front line throughout the whole of the first terrible winter when the British army, terribly inadequate in numbers and munitions, withstood the onslaught of an overwhelming German force. He was present at the Mons Retreat, the Battle of Ypres (1914), "The Damned Eighteenth" (16th December, 1914), "Anbers Ridge, Neuve Chapelle, Festubert, Loos, Etc., until in 1915 he was severely wounded sustaining a fractured skull which confined him to hospital for eighteen months.

He has published in addition to many articles on Historical, Literary, Theological and Biographical subjects, in reviews and magazines—three biographies of Robert Morton and Hugh Moore, both lawyer-martyrs of Lincoln's Inn, and of his friend and colleague Robert Hugh Benson, Priest and Novelist.

In addition to military decorations the Mons Star, the Foreign Service Medal and the Allied Victory Medal, he has received the Italian Medaglia d'Argento and the Grand Cross and Diploma of the Opera Educativa Latino-Americana (South).

Father Wait will speak on "Britain and Her Problems" which is one of the strongest messages of the day and an address that has received world-wide attention.

Another big feature will be the Hawaiian Singers and Dancers. This is a company of six genuine native Hawaiians brought to this country about two months ago; they were judged the best troupe on the Islands in a contest held before the Prince of Wales.

The Little Symphony Orchestra of London, England, will be another big feature of the week. This company gives a full-afternoon program and evening prelude, both programs excellent in every way. It is an ideal Chautauqua organization, a fine group of girls and Mr. Lewis at the piano is a "real guy".

Jessie Isabel Christian, of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, and the people with her represent the very best in Grand Opera work. Miss Christian is too well known to need endorsement and she is unquestionably one of the top-liners of the day. This Grand Opera feature alone is worth all that is charged for the entire week's entertainment.

The play, which will be on the fifth night, will be presented by the well-known Vivian Players, of New York, and their offering will be "Nothing But the Truth", which is one of the most humorous comedies of recent years.

The Childrens' Pageant will be another big feature and this and other attractions of the program will be reviewed later.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is responsible for bringing this splendid talent to Belleville, has made arrangements whereby tickets for the entire weeks' performances, afternoon and evening, will be sold for $2.75 including War Tax, and Childrens' tickets, for the entire week $1.35 including War Tax. All tickets can be used by any member in the family. These are now on sale at the various places mentioned in the Chautauqua advertising.

DISPOSED OF SCOTT CASE

Three or four young men who were injured in Thursday night's melee on the circus ground were remunerated by the show management. In this case no one could tell who did the damage and there were no charges against any of the show followers for assaulting them. The youths themselves could not say who hit them.

CARNIVAL LEFT YESTERDAY

ABOUT 2,000 OLD TOWNSFOLK HAVE RETURNED TO BELLEVILLE

City in Midst of Jollification Today—This Morning's Parade—Today's Program A Big One.

From fifteen hundred to two thousand Belleville Old Boys and Old Girls are guests of the old home town. This is a conservative estimate.

Saturday and Sunday were spent quietly, friends meeting old friends. Band concerts given on Victoria Park and on Front Street.

The city churches had large congregations yesterday, particularly in the morning and special music was provided and addresses delivered.

On Sunday Mr. F. E. O'Flynn tendered a welcome to the visiting Old Boys at Bridge Street Methodist Church, welcoming them back to Belleville and particularly to Bridge Street. In the evening he bade farewell and recalled the names of those who had passed on before among them William Johnson, Henry Pringle, Mrs. James, C. P. Holton, Mrs. Elliott, Miss Mayzel Stork and Miss Gertrude Rice. He hoped the coming back would recall the old memories and associations and that their return would do them good.

An organization will be formed this afternoon at St. Agnes School grounds to be known as the Belleville Old Boys Association for the United States. Its purpose will be to keep the old home town in touch with the various sections of the United States from now on until the next reunion. This association will carry out the work formerly done by the late Thomas Lynch of Chicago. Since he passed away no one has taken up the work. The organization will be put upon a permanent basis with successful ex-Belleville men as officers.

Toronto sent a great detachment to town. Mr. Luke Clement, of Rochester, one of the most indefatigable of Bellevillians abroad, arrived here with about one hundred Rochester friends. He brought all the flags and spirit with him necessary for a big time.

This morning awoke bright and warmer, just the day for the beginning of the big festivities. When the streets filled up at ten o'clock the citizens had an opportunity of judging the success of the reunion. The happy, smiling countenances of visitors told the story.

This morning's main event was the parade of Old Boys. Under the Marshal, Mr. J. B. Flint, the veteran Bellevillian the procession was an unqualified success. Lt. Col. Barragar, and Mr. R. H. Ketcheson assisted in the parade arrangements.

The route from the city hall to the lower bridge, along Front and Bridge Street and then to Coleman, up Coleman to Moira, to the upper bridge, and down Front Street. It was the most successful undertaking of its kind in years. The order was as follows:

Scores of decorated automobiles with Old Boys and Old Girls followed.
The streets were thronged for the parade and cheering was everywhere heard along the route of march. The visiting Old Boys' contingent grew in number as the many hastened from the walk to join the parade.
Among the prominent Bellevillians at home are Mr. Thomas Duncan, of London, former postmaster at Belleville; James Robertson, of Chicago, who learned his trade in the G. T. R. shops here, then left the railway service and is now engaged in the business of railway supplies, having patented a cinch remover; and Mr. James Johnson, of Boston, who is a director of a chain of restaurants throughout the United States.
The watersports arranged for this morning at Victoria Park were postponed until this afternoon.
There was plenty of sports to take up the time of the visitors this afternoon.
This evening the city will give itself over to joy unconfined in carnival, dancing in the streets and general pleasure.
Registration is proceeding very rapidly at the headquarters, opposite Campbell street. Old Boys and Old Girl Badges are much in demand.

He Can Work Now And Is Not Tired

ALEX. COURCY SAYS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM

Quebec Man Who was Crippled Has Found Complete Relief, and States That Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Entitled to All the Credit.

Ste. Andre de Restigouche, Bonaventure Co., Que., July 26th. (Special)—Claiming that he is cured of Rheumatism, which had entirely crippled him, Mr. Alex. Courcy, well known and highly respected here, gives all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism," Mr. Courcy stated when interviewed. "It was so bad I could not work."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, I can now do my work and am not tired."

Mr. Courcy is only one of thousands of Canadians who, relieved of the tortures of Rheumatism, gives Dodd's Kidney Pills the entire credit. They have proved that Rheumatism is caused by diseased kidneys failing to drain the uric acid out of the blood. It crystallizes at the muscles and causes those awful pains every sufferer from Rheumatism knows so well.

The remedy is to cure the kidneys. Healthy kidneys strain all the uric acid out of the blood. Without uric acid there can be no Rheumatism. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys.

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown.

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Belleville, January 1, 1879

By Prof. D. R. Coleman, M.A., of the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The following poem was written by Prof. D. R. Coleman and published in The Daily Ontario of Jan. 1, 1879. New-timers as well as old-timers will enjoy its piquant humor and excellent literary quality but to the Old Boys, it will recall vivid memories of the days when Belleville had just become a city.

Prof. Coleman, at the age of 80 years is still hale and vigorous. He never missed a day from his duties as instructor at the Ontario School for the Deaf during the whole of the past school year. He took a position on the teaching staff of the school when it was first established in 1870, now fifty years ago. He has been teaching 53 years in all. He was born at Washington, D.C., and fought on the side of the South through the American Civil war.

As one of the grand old men of Belleville, he has become one of our honored citizens and this product of his pen is especially welcomed for republication.

All hail, glad New Year! let the chimes ring out
In a full, glorious, Hallelujah note!
Let Heaven to Earth, the Earth to Heaven again,
Repeat the echo in a joyful strain!

All hail, glad New Year! may thy happy birth
Bring love 'twixt man and man, and peace on earth;
May plenty, with her smiling face, be found,
And universal Charity abound.

So much for prelude; now let's tune our lyre
To worldly objects, and invoke the fire
Of mammon, that our muse may sing
Of progress, money and the "Council Ring"

Time was when books and printing were unknown,
The seeds of culture and reform un-sown,
When wickedness, despite the law's delay,
Crushed out morality and held their sway;

When ignorance, the monster, stalked the land,
And murder boldly showed its gory hand;
When Christian liberty and Gospel light
In dark obscurity and heathen night
Were hid, and perforce, and durst not point the road
That led to happiness and endless good.

But times are changed, and nations which once lay
In darkness, now see the light, and bless the day
When Gutenberg and Faust's immortal pride
Invented Printing—giving thus the start
To Progress, such as time ne'er saw before
And may ne'er see till time shall be no more.

All Hail, the Printing Press! preservative
Of our arts! by whose great power they live!
We give thee benediction, let thy beams
Of light and truth pervade the world it seems
In latter times, that men of most success
Have made their fortunes through the printing press
But proper and judicious advertising
Though not as demagogues, who, by subsidizing,
The daily journals, which they thus degrade,
Bring merited contempt upon their trade.

Belleville, the beautiful, as its name implies,
Supports two daily papers, and supplies
Its citizens with intellectual food,
Which by the way, is not at all times good
For weak digestion; but we'll let that go,
And greet the many patrons of The Ontario.

First comes the doctor! who, with drug and pill,
Restores our normal health when we are ill.
"Long life," to them, let babes and sick men shout,
Who bring us in the world—and help us out.
But let's be personal and proceed to name
A few whose science is well known to fame:
Hope, Hamilton, Potts, Ridley,

James Curlett, Abbott and Wilson, Farley and Burdett,
And Dr. Tracy—search the country round,
And men of greater learning can't be found
To minister to patients with such skill.
One make a diagnosis—or a bill.
One secret of their great success is seen
In that they buy their drugs from Albert Gean,
And Yeomans, Canniff and—not least of all—
From Bredin and Apothecaries, Hall—
Call on these Pharmacutists and you're sure
To find their stock of goods both fresh and pure.)

Next come the Lawyers, surely as the day
Succeeds the night, with voucher, writ, ca. sa.
Recognition, and such mysterious lore
As makes those quail who never knew before
The labyrinthine process of our courts
But so it is; and when a man resorts
To legal action and, of rules defiant,
He pleads his own cause, then a fool's his client.
But Belleville can't be beat in Bar-risters,
Since it is well known that the fair-est stars
That shine in legal learning therein
As witness, Clute and Dougall, Bell and Bell,
S. Wallbridge, Henry Blecker (just begun)
J. J. B. Flint and David Robertson.

But now our hearts grow sad; the coffin makers
Ply their sepulchral trade; the undertakers,
With visage solemn, furnish winding sheets,
And many mourners go about the streets,
Because man to his last and long home goeth,
And no one his appointed moment knoweth.
Go thou, since this life's tenure is so fickle,
And make your purchases of Frost or Tickell.
"My stomach, oh my stomach!" was his cry
The day succeeding Christmas Feast; and why?
Because he bought his comfits, nuts, and such
From first-class dealers—and he eats too much.
G. Wallbridge, Ross and Davies stand to-day
As A. I. grocers; also do McRae and Wesley Bullen, Dickens—son and sire—
John Templeton, P. Frederick and McGuire,
Phil Hamby deals in bread and cakes, while others
Import delicious fruits, as Conger Bros.

We'll not enumerate the dry goods stores,
All have proper signs above the doors—
Give each a call—they'll make your heart rejoice,
In fair and upright dealing—take your choice.
Now "Who's your hatter?" some say: "Johnson's my man."
While others more admire the style of Hymans;
While others still with taste no less refined,
Think Davenport & Goldsmith just the kind."
But don't forget, that while the head looks neat,
The secret of good health lies in warm feet;
And if you buy of Stewart, Haines & Lockett,
Or Robertson, it's money in your pocket.
Now turn we to our hardware merchants—Look!
See you that "golden auger" on a hook
Suspended over Purdy's? That store classes
In rank with Chown's, Lewis's and Glass's—
(The latter two have signs I saw afar—
That one, a "cross-cut"—this, a circular.)
But if you're getting bored, my reader dear,
That were an adverse augury, so, to cheer
Your drooping spirits are your sense

grow too sick,
We'll step into Lesler's and have some music,
Or if a thirst for books and fine arts seize you,
Then Overall and Reynold's sure can please you.
VanNorman, also, near the intersection
Of Bridge and Front streets, keeps a fine selection.
Ye bachelors, attend! Let all give ear
Who marriage contemplate the evening year!
Before you finish your aerial castle,
Fail not to call on Barrett and Van Tassel
And Ballantyne; don't put it off and wait, or Reserve your cash for a perambulator;
Else, when you're fairly caught in hymen's trap,
You'll find you're lost a bargain.
Verbum sap.

"Costly the habit, as thy purse can buy,"
So said the immortal Shakespeare—so say I.
If he were living now, and in this town,
And looking "seedy" why—he'd go to Brown,
Or Tillinghast or Garratt for his "things,"
And thus reduce to practice what he sings.

Or if, like Richard Third (Scene IV Act V)
A horse he wanted—merely for a drive—
He'd go to Lake or Fanning, Nicholson
Or William Powell (these are all the ton)
Besides, he'd find the charge for "rises" per day
Much less than Richard offered, in the Play.

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene,"
(This line from Gray perhaps you've often seen)
Chronometers and jewels—gold, all gold,
At Spangenburg's in Goldsmith's Hall, are sold.
Cheap for the cash—No phishbeck stuff has he
To palm off on you, but pure jewelry.
Or if you wish repairing done, just catch
R. Butler idle; he'll the job despatch.

Didst ever have the toothache reader?
No?
Then thank your stars you never did;
Betide the day you feel its dreadful pang
Shoot through your head, and seize your mortal fang.
'Twill make you think old Satan had his claw
Fast clinched about the region of your jaw.
'Twill cause you sleepless nights;
You'll roar with pain;
You'll swear; upset the coal oil lamp,
and fain
Destroy thy wretched self with knife or bullet
Unless you get Branscombe or Ward to pull it.

And now, when howling blasts sweep through the cedars,
We gather 'round our No. 8 self-feeders
The sufferers of the needy poor; and yet
Do nothing to abate it. Without deeds,
A man of words is like a patch of weeds
Which bears no wholesome fruit; or like dead flies
In "phothecaries" ointment, which give rise
To odours unmistakable.—In time,
To Foster's kiln make hast and buy some lime!
(They're found at Smith's) and snugly there regret
Deep down in earth's recesses, where
A ray of sunshine never enters, day by day
The hardy miner digs with ceaseless toil
For human comfort—whence our coal and oil
And gas to give us light withal. But so
To I. J. Lockwood's Pioneer Depot,
Or Pope & Downey with the "Big Coal" sign—
And buy your dusky diamonds, from the mine
In Scranton or in Lackawanna. Then Proceed to Clarke's or Frederick Rot's, when
You want a lamp, or coal oil; not counting
To call on C. F. Smith for neat gas

The oldest citizen cannot tell whether
Or not he's had, in all his long career,
A similar experience to the year
And winter now upon us; but meanwhile,
It makes insurance agents blandly smile
And ask about your health—that little cough—
And pleasantly predict your "taking off."
If you would make provision 'gainst the goblin,
Grim death, then go to Sommerville or Roblin,
Or Yeomans either—you know where the place is—
They transact business on a good sound basis.
But if, with criminal neglect, you stake
Your family's future welfare for the sake
Of a few dollars, you'll too late repent;
And Lattimer won't rear your monument

That man of his own fortune is the architect.
I grant it true in Ethics; but he can't erect
A house; draw up the plans, or measure land,
Without the guidance of a skilful hand.
These "hands" you'll find on Bridge Street—lower side—
In the Dominion Buildings, where the tide
Of business ebbs and flows—Thomas Bolger,
G. Ranney and O. Bartley—that old soldier
In pioneer surveying—we may name
As Engineers and architects who claim
A share of public patronage—Still more;
Your ordinary man can't make a door,
Or window sash, or with precision draw
A tenon-mortise section; wield the saw,
Or drive the threesome plane, but goes straightway
To Flint & Holton, Thompson or McRae.

For joiner's work, which, strange as it may seem,
Is better, and costs less when made by steam.
But time and space forbid—I fear too long
We've trespassed on your patience; so, our song
We'll to a quick conclusion bring, and wish you,
From all-life's cares and ills, a happy issue.

And now the funeral bells toll sad and drear
The hour of midnight—death knell of the year.
Before another twelve month's course be run,
And earth her annual circuit 'round the sun
Again shall make, how many, that now live,
And move about the busy marts, and strive
To increase their fame and fortunes in the field
Of the world's battle, shall be called to yield
Their bodies to the worms; their souls to Him
Who gave them.

We hail thee, Happy New Year, May thy birth
Bring love 'twixt man and man, and peace on earth;
May plenty, with her smiling face be found,
And Faith and Hope and Charity abound.

ARSENIC AND INSECTICIDES.
One of the by-products of the cobalt ores is arsenic, of which the Delora Company have been among the world's largest producers. While they have always been able to dispose of their refined arsenic, the company have thought it wise to further develop its manufacture and their plant is now being equipped for the manufacture of insecticides such as Paris green, arsenate of lead, calcium arsenate, etc. the demand for which is constantly increasing.

NICKEL MANUFACTURES.
The nickel recovered from the cobalt ores at Delora has been sold in the form of nickel shot and bars, but it is probable that this also will be further manufactured by the company.
As the company's products are nearly all sold abroad, they have agents in all the principal countries of the world. In England they handle their products directly through their own branches, one at 174 Corporation street, Birmingham, in charge of Mr. H. B. Southworth, and the other at 26 Albemarle street, London, in charge of Mr. Percy Lines.

Swayne vs. Diocese of Ontario
Dear Sir,—
A more extended judgment in your case appears in the Weekly Notes and in it the judge holds that the Grier loan is not covered by the Act in question and that you are not called upon to account for any monies received from that source. He also holds that the proceeds of the sale of the school house and the land on which it stood does not fall within the Act and that you are not accountable nor is St. Thomas Church accountable for any of the proceeds of that sale. The judge further says that "there shall be no order as to the costs as between plaintiffs and yourself, which means that each party pays his own costs. The only point decided in favor of the plaintiffs is the question of the taxes upon the Rectory. He holds that they are not chargeable against the rents and profits.
Yours truly,
W. S. Herrington.
P. S.—The amount of taxes on Rectory (house) for the past eight years are offset by charges due to Archdeacon Beamish for management of Belleville properties, taxes on vacant lands, and commissions on sale of lands.

Swayne vs. Diocese of Ontario
Dear Sir,—
A more extended judgment in your case appears in the Weekly Notes and in it the judge holds that the Grier loan is not covered by the Act in question and that you are not called upon to account for any monies received from that source. He also holds that the proceeds of the sale of the school house and the land on which it stood does not fall within the Act and that you are not accountable nor is St. Thomas Church accountable for any of the proceeds of that sale. The judge further says that "there shall be no order as to the costs as between plaintiffs and yourself, which means that each party pays his own costs. The only point decided in favor of the plaintiffs is the question of the taxes upon the Rectory. He holds that they are not chargeable against the rents and profits.
Yours truly,
W. S. Herrington.
P. S.—The amount of taxes on Rectory (house) for the past eight years are offset by charges due to Archdeacon Beamish for management of Belleville properties, taxes on vacant lands, and commissions on sale of lands.

And now the funeral bells toll sad and drear
The hour of midnight—death knell of the year.
Before another twelve month's course be run,
And earth her annual circuit 'round the sun
Again shall make, how many, that now live,
And move about the busy marts, and strive
To increase their fame and fortunes in the field
Of the world's battle, shall be called to yield
Their bodies to the worms; their souls to Him
Who gave them.

We hail thee, Happy New Year, May thy birth
Bring love 'twixt man and man, and peace on earth;
May plenty, with her smiling face be found,
And Faith and Hope and Charity abound.

ARSENIC AND INSECTICIDES.
One of the by-products of the cobalt ores is arsenic, of which the Delora Company have been among the world's largest producers. While they have always been able to dispose of their refined arsenic, the company have thought it wise to further develop its manufacture and their plant is now being equipped for the manufacture of insecticides such as Paris green, arsenate of lead, calcium arsenate, etc. the demand for which is constantly increasing.

NICKEL MANUFACTURES.
The nickel recovered from the cobalt ores at Delora has been sold in the form of nickel shot and bars, but it is probable that this also will be further manufactured by the company.
As the company's products are nearly all sold abroad, they have agents in all the principal countries of the world. In England they handle their products directly through their own branches, one at 174 Corporation street, Birmingham, in charge of Mr. H. B. Southworth, and the other at 26 Albemarle street, London, in charge of Mr. Percy Lines.

EDITORIAL

CEAD MILE FALTHE!

A hundred thousand welcomes to the returning sons and daughters of Belleville! They come from widely severed points, some from our own Canadian cities and towns and rural districts. Others come from the cities and towns of our great neighbor nation. All are welcome back for a few days to the hospitality of those who remained behind or have come here since they left and have helped to build up the old town. We are one family and as such it is hoped we shall enjoy ourselves together for the next few days.

We are glad that we can point to such evidences of growth and prosperity as our visitors will see on every hand since the time of their last reunion in 1910. They will find a dozen or more new and thriving manufacturing industries with modern factory buildings. Two new transcontinental railways have, since that time, given Belleville further connection with the outside world. Better lighting for our streets will also be noticed as well as three of the best appointed public schools in Ontario. Several hundreds of new dwellings have also been erected and there has been an increase of about 30 per cent. in our population which we believe is an index of our general expansion and we can now truly say: "We are citizens of no mean city."

Many of our people are in an apologetic mood because so many of our streets are torn up for purposes of paving, putting in of sewers and other such improvements. But, while we would much rather see everything spick-and-span, and in a finished condition, we imagine our visitors will view evidences of change and progress not only with tolerance, but with genuine satisfaction. Belleville has emerged. Our future now lies ahead of us rather than behind. Optimism and enterprise have succeeded the apathy and stagnation of a generation ago.

Our visitors and one-time citizens have achieved success in many various callings to which they have devoted themselves and in many widely separated fields of labor. We rejoice with them because we believe that a large part of that success is due, in many instances, to their early training and environment in Belleville. They have merely found a broader field for their activities and have in that way been more successful than if they had remained with us.

We express the hope that the few days they spend with us may be full of enjoyment and pleasure. As they recall the old-time memories of childhood or former residence may it prove a refreshing of spirit. Though in some cases we fear those memories will be tinged with sadness because of the gaps in the lines and the faces that will be seen here no more.

The love for home is one of the finest human instincts. It is the parent of that wider and nobler sentiment we call patriotism. Those who have come back to us from many different points have undertaken the long journey because of the prompting of that sentiment that has not grown less vigorous because of the intervening years.

The city belongs to the visitors to be used by them as they see fit. May the joy be unconfined and may this reunion of 1920 become a cherished recollection by all who have been permitted to engage in its celebration.

The Power of Peace

"And the peace of God that passeth all understanding shall guard your heart and mind in Christ Jesus."—Phil. 4: 7.

(By Rev. W. H. WALLACE)

There is no calm like that which follows a storm. On a certain day when Jesus with a few of his followers were crossing the Sea of Galilee to get away from the surging crowds that gathered around. They were tired and longed for repose. Jesus himself was so weary He fell sound asleep in the boat. A great storm arose but its noise was not loud enough to wake the divine Master. As the storm grew so fierce the impetuous and fearful Peter roused the Master and cried, "Great Thou art, that we perish." He arose in His Majesty and stretched out His hands and rebuked the stormy winds saying, "Peace, be still," and immediately there was a great calm. This is a picture of our restless life and mind. When the storms of sin would rise and overwhelm we need the pressure and power and word of the Master and hear His voice saying, "Peace, be still." It may be that some of us have felt sins mighty breakers over our souls and we were fearful that we might be lost, and we cried as did the trembling disciple, "Carost Thou not, that we perish." He is awake, never to sleep. He knows our every danger and is ready to hear our cry for help and succor us with all quell any rising storm that may round us.

Our God is not the God of wrath and judgement merely. He is the God of peace. After God's wrath had been poured out on the Antediluvians and all became of persistent sinfulness, we recall that when the waters were subsiding how that Noah had sent forth a dove the second time from the ark. It brought back to him an olive leaf, emblem of peace the storm of God's wrath was passed and God went on to bless the earth with a flood for man's sake. Peace reigns and God points to His bow of promise that His wrath shall be kept.

But there is a great unrest in the bosom of men because of sin. We learn from holy writ, and from experience, that sinful men are "like the troubled sea that cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt." To calm this sea of unrest Jesus, the Son of God and Son of Man has manifested His power by making peace by the blood of His cross. This is the grand legacy He has left for restless men and women who will believe on Him. He says, "My peace I leave with you, not as the world giveth give I unto you." This peace is your safeguard and mind amidst life's storms and strife of tongues. For our comfort and help let us consider the nature of that peace that we may better know its power.

I. The Nature of Peace. It is far beyond and above any treaty of peace made by man, when we discover its source is in God. War is hell on earth; peace is heaven on earth. It man hate war, God hates it far more. God is the God of peace and His purpose is to put an end to all strife. We are longing for the time, for it is surely coming, when man shall learn war no more. "Many are the hearts wishing for the light to see the dawn of peace." The dawn of peace has come. It came with the advent of the "Prince of Peace." We can still hear the echo of the angel song as it rolls down through the centuries, well nigh 2000 years, but its music seems sweeter and clearer. Listen to it. "Glory to God in the highest peace on earth, and good will to men." This sweet song came with the incarnation, when "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself, and hath committed unto us the words of reconciliation." This is the gospel that God's ministers are proclaiming everywhere, the gospel of peace, the peace of God, the peace made by the blood of the Son of God when He died on the cross and cried: "It is finished."

2. Think of its greatness. This peace is like a mighty river that has its source in the very bosom of God. It comes flowing down from the everlasting hills and gathers momentum as it widens and deepens in its course. It passes through the centuries of time to bless the nations of the earth. The blessings of peace will spread to remove all unrest "far as the curse is found." The view of peace will not cease to flow until it loses itself in the ocean of God's love and that will be "when time shall be no more." The end of peace is joy for evermore. The millions who have been borne along on this mighty river of God and all who are being borne on its bosom now will find themselves at last in peace with my soul. "When peace like a river attendeth my way, when sorrows like sea-billows roll; whatever my lot, thou hast taught me to say, 'It is well with my soul.'"

3. But God's peace is incomprehensible. "It passeth all understanding." It is beyond the comprehension of man. None born of mankind can be found to understand this peace of God. Men can understand the peace terms drawn up between men and nations. Many a treaty has been drawn up between barbarian tribes, semi-civilized nations, and the more civilized, all terms of such could be understood. But the peace of God drawn up in the past eternity and recorded in the Book of God no man has been able to understand. It is also beyond the understanding of the saints of God, who have experienced the power of this peace and heaped its sweetness. Holy men of old who had uttered things hard to be understood could not understand this peace. Isaiah could say, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee, because he trusteth in Thee," but he had not the mind to understand it. All he knew was that it was God's peace, that like God, it was great and perfect, but understand it he could not.

"The angels desired to look into these things; they lived in this peace, they spoke of it, and even proclaimed it, but they never could understand it like God's love, which passeth knowledge." "The peace of God passeth all understanding."

But God's peace is like Himself, though we cannot understand Him though we know His power, and although we cannot understand His peace, for it "passeth all understanding," yet we can know its power. II. The Power of Peace. There is a very strange paradox in the English as in the Greek text. The language used is a military term. "The peace of God... shall guard your heart and mind in Christ Jesus." In this language the peace of God is as a military defence.

We can learn from Paul the power of peace. The Apostle, who wrote this epistle, mentions three separate and distinct experiences he had, either one of which would break the peace of an ordinary person, more especially if little value is put upon peace. The first he mentions in the first chapter from verses 15 to 18. It is one that disturbs the peace of many who love the Lord Jesus Christ, because it affects the church of Christ. While the Apostle is in bonds some are ready to take advantage of his imprisonment and cause division among the followers of Christ. We would expect a man of fine feeling to be pained when he hears that there are some who "preach Christ even of envy and strife." He kept calm amidst the strife of tongues and says, "Whether in presence, or in truth, Christ is preached. I therein do rejoice, yea, and I will rejoice." Paul knows the Lord, and that the Lord knows His own, and will keep them from the evil that is in the church and in the world. So Paul is kept in "perfect peace."

The second experience Paul relates is one that would disturb most of us more easily than the first, one affecting his own person and life. He is in a strange position, the future is all uncertain. He may be called to face death at any moment and yet he keeps his peace, or rather the peace of God keeps him. He is content which ever way it goes with him. He is ready to live or die for he has immense wealth both ways. He says "For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain"—for it means to depart with Christ which is far better. "Have we been able to face the issues of life and death in that fashion? What sublime position. It means grace of a high order to reach such a tranquil state, and say, 'I am ready for life or death, come what will, the Lord knows my heart and mind and guards me by His peace.'"

The Apostle's third experience given in the fourth chapter, may be less heroic than the former, but just as keenly felt. He is face to face with want—pecuniary want. Who does not know something of its penetrating power, the real temptation to a loss of peace? There is a weird story told of a man who besought the wizard to call forth the great enemy in visible form before him. He did so and there fell upon the floor an empty purse! But Paul has a purse unbroken by the shrinking of his little store. He lets us in the secret: "I am strong for all things, in Him who gives me power." Friend the peace of God is made to wear its texture is such that it need not be torn, even by the toothed wheels of this world and it shall not be torn by them, if for us its secret is not an abstraction but a person, the Saviour and Master of Paul, Jesus, who is our peace.

How are we to experience the power of peace in all the trials of life and be assured that we shall be guarded? There are one or two, or three steps towards its attainment. The first step is trust. Put your full trust in Christ, as your Saviour, and trust Him to save! The second step is one of perfect submission. Submit everything to Christ and all is well, whether it be a matter of life or death.

The third step is communion with Christ. This will bring you into the perfect peace which will guard your heart and mind in Christ Jesus. It Rains Pain Away.—There is no torment so efficacious in overcoming pain as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The hand that rubs it in rubs the pain away and on this account there is no preparation that stands so high in public esteem. There is no surer pain-killer procurable, as thousands can attest who have used it successfully in treating many ailments.

THANKS FOR HELP

The Good Done by the Navy League Overseas Relief Fund.

Mr. S. F. Washington, K. C., received the following statement, with thanks, of the operations of the British Navy League Overseas Relief Fund Committee. The Belleville branch of the league did much to help on the great work of providing for those of the navy and their dependents who suffered loss in the cruel war. The statement will be read with satisfaction by the many contributors to the fund:

Now that the war is happily over we feel, due to the generous subscribers of the Navy League Overseas Relief Fund to give some account of the way in which the money they have so freely placed at our disposal has been utilized to help those for whose benefit it was sent, namely, the dependents of sailors, both of the Royal Navy, of its auxiliaries and of the Mercantile Marine, who have been killed or injured during the war. Not that the work of distribution is over; far from it—for periods may still occur of distress greater than any yet experienced by these dependents, but the conditions will then be different, and therefore the present seems a suitable time to report what the Navy League Overseas Relief Fund has enabled us to do under actual pressure of war. When, very shortly after the battle of Jutland, the Navy League began to receive very large sums from its overseas branches, the question of administration had to be decided, and the committee having got into touch with the Royal Naval Friendly Union of Sailors' Wives, invited them to form a Ladies' Advisory Committee, certain members of which were also elected to serve on the Navy League Overseas Relief Fund General Committee. The Royal Naval Friendly Union of Sailors' Wives had from the very earliest days of the war arranged with the Admiralty to supply them with complete lists of the naval casualties, together with the addresses of the next of kin, and were already in touch with large numbers of them, doing their best to help them by information and advice, and by means of any small resources at their disposal. The channels were thus ready prepared along with the bountiful stream of help could flow to those who needed it, and the work was quickly in full swing. On the arrival of a casualty list, post cards were promptly despatched to the local War Pensions Committee Soldiers and Sailors' Families Association, or other suitable agencies, requesting them to visit dependents, and report to the Ladies' Committee if there was any need of help. In addition to this method getting into touch the Navy League Overseas Relief Fund arranged with the Admiralty to enclose, with the notification of any man's death, a leaflet giving the address of the Overseas Relief Fund, and stating its objects. By these two methods we felt that every eligible person for benefit under the Fund ought without fail to be made aware of its existence. Those who applied personally, wrote direct to the Navy League office, where the necessary correspondence was dealt with by the special Overseas Fund staff, and those who were visited by War Pensions Committee, where voluntary workers undertook that section of the Ladies' Advisory Committee for officers' wives of the Royal Navy or special cases in which a large outlay was required, were considered and decided at the monthly meetings of the General Overseas Relief Fund Committee, but all the ordinary cases, by whichever method this correspondence had been dealt with, were ultimately brought to the Ladies' Advisory Committee for final discussion and award of grants, and for decision as to how such grants were to be applied. This committee met once or twice a week, according to the number of cases to be decided.

At first everyone's thoughts turned chiefly to the widows, who had lost the very mainspring of their homes, and were left in a tragic loneliness, often with small children to bring up, and many of them did indeed require not only sympathy but material help, for if in addition to the shock of the terrible news, there was sickness or any special emergency, the margin of income was often insufficient to meet the need, and a struggle began just when there was least strength to face it. These widows were helped by weekly allowances, by payment of expenses when posthumous confinements took place, by arranging for a period of rest or change to help them through the first dreadful weeks. Delicate children were sent to convalescent homes, or to relatives in the country; clothing was provided when necessary, and extra nourishment or medical treatment paid for. Later on, when after six months, the widow's separation allowance was replaced by her permanent grants. In cases where widows were able to think of occupation, many received training of various kinds, such as in maternity nursing, leather work, machining, blouse-making, etc., while for others good employment of a daily character was found in Government offices, allowing them plenty of time to see after their children, and yet to supplement their incomes by earning.

In Portsmouth, a home industry training centre for sailors' widows was started by Lady Bradford, and has proved such a success that it may possibly be the first of many such centres. This was assisted by grants from the Overseas Relief Fund, and it is now almost self-supporting.

But it was soon found that the widows were not the only ones who required help, but that mothers, aunts, sisters, and even invalid brothers of sailors often sustained even more serious financial loss by the death of a sailor relative, than did the widows, for whereas a widow was always sure of a pension and obtained it without any interval after separation allowance ceased, it was far otherwise with those other dependents who had been wholly or partly supported by the men. In many instances these sons, nephews and brothers had simply remitted money, but had claimed no separation allowance, the result being that the death of the man meant the abrupt and complete stoppage of all supplies, and many months often elapsed before any pension was awarded. In such cases the Overseas Relief Fund was simply invaluable and it lifted many a load of care from weary shoulders. The allowance made was always carried on until permanent pension was obtained, or until children could earn, or some other provision was possible.

An immense variety of wants have been met, of which perhaps a few concrete examples out of over 600 cases helped, may give the best idea.

Mrs. G., widow of a Royal Marine, at the time of her husband's death has just discovered that her little boy, aged 5, had tubercular disease of the spine. He was condemned to splints and to lie on his back in a long chair. The boy and his mother were brought to London, where the child received special treatment, and after nearly a year he is now free of his splints and far on the way to complete recovery. "This time last year I never thought to see him walk again," said the mother, whose joy is great to see her little boy running about once more.

A. W., brother of a sailor whose life was lost, is a partly crippled lad, living in London, for whom the doctor recommended a country life. It was not easy for him to get work, but the Overseas Relief Fund sent him to a big dairy farm, had him taught to milk cows, and then found him a capital place in the country.

Mrs. S., who lost a son in the gallant attack on Zeebrugge, had her expenses paid to go from Cornwall to Dover to see his grave.

T. G., a young fellow of 19, torpedoed in H. M. S. Drake, was so badly injured that he is paralyzed from the waist down, and can never walk again. Hearing that he was very musical and

ENGLISH PROS WHO PLAYED BRILLIANT GOLF ALTHOUGH THEY STILL HAD THEIR SEA LEGS

Hardly 24 hours off a ship's deck, Edward Ray, whose brilliant performance in the recent English open golf championship that title, was the star in two exhibition four-ball matches at the Swaney Country Club, Mount Vernon, N. Y. Paired with the great Harry Vardon, who made the trip across the Atlantic with him, they added up 2 and 1 to go over Tom Kerrigan, the Swaney pro, and Tom McNamara, unattached. They had beaten 1 and 1 at eighteen holes, before luncheon. Vardon was handicapped by a bad thumb, injured while sky-larking aboard ship. These photographs were made during the matches played at Mount Vernon.

could get a tune out of everything, but possessed no instrument except a tin whistle, the Overseas Relief Fund has provided him with a good violin, and is having him taught to play it.

Mrs. W., a mother who had herself lost a leg through an accident, was supplied with a good artificial limb.

T. C., an Irish crofter, returning semi-disabled to his home had his stable rebuilt, whilst another man had wire fencing provided to protect the market garden he was starting from the neighbors' pigs and chickens.

A family of five young children left orphaned by the death of Sgt-Seaman G. R. and his wife within a few weeks of each other, have been looked after and placed in good homes. Insurance could be multiplied, all differing from each other. Doctor bills have to be paid, mortgages reduced, furniture paid for, or removed to a new home, sewing-machines, knitting machines, tools, mangles, poultry, false teeth, spectacles, etc., etc., have been provided; outfits have been given to boys mestic service, and "maintenance allowances," has been paid to enable boys or girls to be apprenticed.

This brings us to one of the most important branches of the help given by the Overseas Relief Fund, namely the educational. If there is any evidence that the deceased man had helped to give his children an education superior to the normal, or if any child showed special ability, then the wishes of that man are carried out, and the talents of that child given every chance of full development. This branch of the work is of peculiar value to the widows of officers of the mercantile marine, who after being accustomed to a comfortable life, suddenly find themselves left with barely enough to live on. To give their children a good education is to them a matter of supreme importance, and would often be out of their power but for the Overseas Relief Fund, which not only pays the fees, but gives grants for books, clothing, travelling expenses, etc.

The result of the whole work is that many thousands of people have cause to bless the donors of the Navy League Overseas Relief Fund, who have come so nobly to the rescue of the desolate families of those brave men, who by the sacrifice of their lives or their health, have kept free for us and for the world those mighty oceans, which do not part us from our kinsfolk overseas, but rather form the great pathway by which we are brought near to each other. Words are feeble to express the gratitude we feel by this generous and practical sympathy, but from the depths of our hearts, and in the name of all the sailors' wives and families in Great Britain, we thank you, one and all, for the help and comfort and hope renewed you have been the means of bringing to so many shadowed homes, and for all you have thereby done to strengthen the ties of understanding and affection between the Mother Country and the furthest portions of the Great Empire; we all love and honor.

Beresford, Chairman General Committee; V. Biscoe Tritton, Honorary Treasurer, Chairman Education Committee; Amy G. Drury, Chairman Ladies Advisory Committee; of Navy League Overseas Relief Fund.

An Unknown Man
Killed on Track

Early Morning Tragedy Near Marysville Today

A young man, whose name has not been ascertained for certain as yet, was struck by an eastbound G.T.R. train about three miles west of Marysville station, at milepost 210, at 4.15 o'clock this morning, and instantly killed. The man was walking the track on the farm of Mr. Thomas Coppins, when he was struck. The engineer on the train was Mr. N. Patterson and the conductor Mr. R. Dickson.

The train was stopped and the crew examined the man, who was found to be dead. Notification was sent to the authorities of the fatality. Constable L. Soule went to the scene and had the body brought to Belleville and removed to Messrs. Tickell & Sons Company's morgue, where it awaits an inquest and identification. The only paper on the body had this writing on it: "George Orr, Wellington," there being two strokes through the word Orr. Below are the words "George Orr, Clarkson, P.O." The following figures appear on the paper: 1577 boxes at 2 1/2¢ $39.43 243 boxes at 3¢ 7.29

BURGERS VISIT OAKVILLE

Oakville experienced a visit from a new species of "motor bandit" on Saturday night—a motor somewhat similar to that which paid Lindsay a visit a few years ago when the safe at the C.P.R. station was stolen, placed on a hand car and taken down the track, where it was blown open. The visit demonstrated that the motor track, plus nerve and inventive genius, may open up a new and profitable field of exploitation to burglars.

Late on Saturday night or on Sunday morning a truck drove up to the office of the Hillmer Fuel Company. Evidently a good sized gang of burglars, with tackle, must have accompanied the truck, for they rigged a winch, slung out the window of the office a 1,200-pound safe and carried it away.

The safe was found Monday in a field near Clarkson's about five miles east of Oakville, with the door blown off. Only about $50 rewarded the burglars' enterprise, but a number of unregistered Victory bonds had been kept in the safe up to a few days before. The county and town police are investigating.

Baptist Picnic
A Big Success

Fine Surplus as Result of Day's Outing

Victoria Avenue Baptist Sunday School was yesterday favored with fine weather and as a result their annual picnic at Twelve o'Clock Point was an unqualified success, financially and socially. The steamer Brockville took up large crowds from the new government wharf in the morning and afternoon and quite a large number took in the evening trip. The weather was ideal at the park. The children of the Children's Shelter were the guests of the Sunday School, and were given a free trip. They enjoyed the outing immensely.

At the park a fine program of games was held, presided over by Mayor Riggs. Mr. P. F. Brockel and Mr. Fred Cook. The results were:

11 a.m. ball game and swim. 1.30 p.m., races. Beginners' class, girls' race—1 Florence Ainsworth, 2 Cora Deltine. Beginner's class, boys' race—1 Jack Darlington, 2 James Millar. VETERAN ORANGEMAN

Mr. Wellington Boulter, of Picton, on being called on to address the 12th of July gathering at Wellington, was referred to by the chairman as the "Warhorse of Orangemen in Prince Edward." Mr. Boulter stated that in 1856—64 years ago—his first 12th of July as member of an Orange lodge was celebrated in the Village of Wellington. In his 82nd year Mr. Boulter returned to the scene of his inspiring address. Few members of that date are left in the county. At the close of his address Mr. Boulter called for three cheers for the King and Queen, also for the brethren in Ireland, who are to-day under their leader, Hon. Edward Carson, M.P., fighting for dear old Ulster and the north of Ireland against Sinn Feinism so rampant in Ireland.

PROMISING SHOWING OF BLACK GRANITE

Black granite is the latest mineral to have been added to the increasing list found in Hastings north. Mineral experts have found a promising showing on the Maxwell property, within a short distance of the town limits. From samples taken it is considered as good as can be found anywhere in the Dominion. Those interested claim that when an open market is found in the States, a plant will be erected here and worked to full capacity. Men and teams have been engaged in stripping and test holes have brought forth encouraging results. Experts are highly pleased with the quality and quantity already visible. With so fine a showing, plenty of water power and railway facilities within a stone's throw of the property, there is little doubt but what a thriving industry could be built up within a few yards of the village.—Bancroft Times.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Harold Bell Wright, celebrated writer, was granted a divorce at Tucson, Ariz., last week from Mrs. Frances L. Wright, on the grounds of desertion.

RETURNED TO AMERICA

Dr. G. W. Morden who has been in charge of the British Cellulose and Chemical Company's plant at Derby, England, since its erection early in the war, has returned to America and is now in charge of the American Cellulose Chemical Company's plant at Cumberland, Maryland. Mr. Morden landed in New York about July 1st and expects to visit Picton during Old Boys' Fair week. Mrs. Morden and her sister, Miss George Daly, remained in England until September and expect to visit Paris before their return.

HEAVY LIQUOR SHIPMENT

Over 100 cases of assorted liquors the fruits of two months activity on the part of License Inspector F. B. Taber, were shipped from Brockville by the Canadian Express Tuesday morning to the Board of License Commissioners, Toronto, for disposal. The shipment was valued at $3,500, Montreal prices, and was accompanied by Mr. Taber.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Tuesday, July 20th, 1920, was the tenth anniversary of the establishment of that business now incorporated as Peterborough Milk Products Limited, a Peterborough industry which has grown from modest pretensions into an expansive industrial concern, some of whose products are in considerable demand, not only in Canada but also across the seas.

Ten years ago Tuesday Mr. G. A. Gillespie took over from the late Mr. Peter Downham the small business then known as the Peterborough Creamery, which the latter gentleman had conducted for some four years in a small, white 25x40 ft. brick building. These premises were situated on the present site of Peterborough Milk Products Limited, 377 Alymer street, and in those humble, but compact quarters, Mr. Gillespie started operations with two men and a girl in the production of butter only. The pay roll at that time was $45 a week.

CO-OPERATIVE POOL BY ALBERTA FARMERS

The formation of a co-operative farmers' pool to deliver the Canadian wheat crop of 1920 on the markets of Europe may be the outcome of the decision of the Government to make the Wheat Board Inoperative. This is the proposal made by the directors of the United Farmers of Alberta at a meeting in Calgary on Saturday, when they decided to request the directors of the United Grain Growers, Ltd., and the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevators Company to consider the feasibility of forming such a pool in the event of the Dominion Government adhering to its decision. The directors will first make every effort to have the board continued for another year, as now constituted.

A GOOD CATCH

Mr. E. S. Platt, of Campbellford, known in that town years ago as the champion fisherman of the district, who has been visiting friends in town went out one day last week to a little creek near Woodlands cheese factory and returned with nine beautiful specimens of brook trout, one tipping the scales at 14 ozs. An old resident of the town used to say that Platt could catch trout in a well. His hand has not yet lost its cunning. Someone remarked that when Mr. Platt reaches Toronto the big trout will have weighed two pounds.

BOLD ATTEMPT TO STEAL ROOZE

A daring robbery was attempted at the Grand Trunk depot Oshawa on Sunday night about 9.40, when three men broke into a car of liquor consigned from Montreal to Toronto that was on one of the cars of a freight train that was standing at the station. They were blocked in their efforts by Conductor Walsh and Brakeman P. Woods, of the freight. When the two train employees arrived at the door of the car, there were three men inside and 15 cases of liquor dumped on the ground. When the car breakers saw the two men, they jumped out, and although the brakeman was successful in hitting one of the robbers over the neck with his lantern, they all escaped.

SAD DROWNING

A sad drowning accident occurred Monday night about four o'clock, five miles below Peterboro, at the T. A. S. Park, when Archie Telford, of Detroit, went to his death in the Otterabee. The boy, in company with Jno. Downey, also of Detroit, son of William Downey, formerly of Lindsay, was holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. John Malone at the Park. His companion, John Downey, and Roy Malone were in swimming, and young Telford took a canoe and went to the opposite shore for flowers. A stiff wind was blowing and it is believed upset the canoe. The boy called for help, but before Malone could reach him he disappeared from view. The body was recovered today at noon.

DECEASED

The deceased, with John Downey (the latter being a relative of Mrs. P. J. Campbell, Lindsay) intended spending a portion of their holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Campbell at their summer home, Sturgeon Lake. Mrs. Campbell left for Peterboro Tuesday on receipt of the sad news.

40,000 BASS DEPOSITED IN LAKES

Monday afternoon 40,000 young bass were deposited in the waters of Stoney and Clear Lakes. The fish reached Peterboro from Mt. Pleasant hatcheries Monday morning, assigned to the care of Capt. Young of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company. Under Captain Young's supervision they were conveyed to Lakefield on the noon train and from thence to the Lakes on the steamer Empress.

BACK AFTER FORTY-TWO YEARS

After an absence of forty-two years, Thomas Cannon arrived a few days ago to pay an extended visit to the home of his brother, P. D. Cannon, Pakenham township, and with other relatives. He came quite unexpectedly and he found himself almost a stranger. He finds great woodlands are now farms under cultivation and swamp roads have given place to modern thoroughfares. During most of the forty-two years Mr. Cannon resided in the western states and while he has had a wide experience and is impressed with the progressiveness of much that is being accomplished in the United States, he has nevertheless a high regard for Canada and her laws and institutions.

SEVERELY BURNED

Mr. G. Savanac of Clabo, near Lindsay, who was seriously burned recently, was reported Tuesday morning as improving. Mr. Savanac was taking some gasoline from his car recently near Fowler's Corners, late at night, to supply a friend, Mr. J. Jordan, when his hand and arm, soaked with the gasoline, caught fire and was burned terribly. Dr. White dressed the wound.

MINIMUM FINE NOW $200

No longer will offenders under the Inland Revenue Act be allowed to get away with a minimum fine of $100. Mr. W. H. Buller, Peterboro, collector of Inland Revenue, has received word from the department at Ottawa that the minimum fine has been raised to $200 dating from the first of July.

THE ANTI-LOADING LAW

The recent convention of the Canadian police chiefs at Moncton, N.B., passed a resolution asking the Dominion government to again place on the statute books the "Anti-loading law," which was introduced during the four years of the war. The request of the chiefs was under strong criticism from the Allied Trades and Labor Council at Ottawa at their last meeting.

DARING ROBBERY

Burglars on Friday night entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hennick, Oshawa, and stole $120 in cash that was in the "Sunday suit" of Mr. Hennick and a plush coat, the property of Mrs. Hennick. Mr. Hennick is the proprietor of a second-hand store on Court St., in Sunnyside.

EMPLOYEE HAD LEG BROKEN

Dewey Arbuckle, an American with the World at Home shows, now playing in Kingston, had his leg fractured three inches above the ankle in an accident which occurred Monday morning at 6 o'clock, when he was helping to unload the wagons from the railway cars. The planks down which the heavy vehicles were lowered, were wet and slippery and one of the wagons slipped off, pinning him and breaking both bones of his leg. He was conveyed immediately to the Hotel Dieu hospital.

SPACIOUS COLLEGE IS TO BE ERECTED

Rev. J. A. Fraser, of China Mission College, has purchased a valuable property on the north side of the Mississippi river, near the present site of the college on Queen street, Almonte. This property is about 2,000 feet by 90 feet, and reaches down to the river bank, commanding a fine view. The purpose of Father Fraser is to build there a spacious college in which are to be trained the young men who are volunteering for work in the Mission field of China.

FUNGUS COMES TO TOWN

In the centre of a lawn on Union street, Kingston, a curious form of fungus has sprung up. It is known as a morel and has a cone-shaped, tan-colored, deeply pocked cap. While common enough in thick woods it is not often found on city streets.

IN TOILS AGAIN

Acting on the evidence of four Kemptville young men, and armed with a warrant, License Inspector F. B. Taber and Provincial Officer Adams Monday arrested George B. Clute, of the township of Oxford, at Oxford Station, on a charge of selling liquor. Clute, who has twice been convicted on a similar charge, was taken into custody on arrival from Ottawa and lodged in Prescott jail. The license officials seized half an auto load of Scotch whiskey and gin in the cellar of Clute's house and also summoned a man who admitted having just purchased a bottle from

GIVES SERUM TREATMENT

About a dozen patients were inoculated with Dr. Glover's cancer serum at the basement clinic in St. Michael's Hospital Monday morning. All had received previous treatment, and reported apparent improvement in their condition.

Dr. Glover has upwards of 150 patients on his list now, and yesterday there were several applicants for first treatment, one whom came in from a little town in Ontario. There were no new developments over the week-end, it was stated at the hospital.

SCHOOLMATE OF SIR WILFRID LAURIER

The late G. B. Murray, Brockville, who died on Thursday last was born in New Glasgow, Que., eighty-four years ago. While attending school there, he had as a classmate the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. A strong friendship existed between him and the dead Premier during all the years that elapsed from school days in that happy Quebec village. Besides his widow, who was a daughter of the Rev. Alexander Lowden, New Glasgow, he leaves five sisters: Mrs. (Rev.) T. G. Williams; Mrs. Ramsay and Mrs. Bertram, Toronto; Mrs. (Rev.) Bennet, Cornwall, and Mrs. Williams, Denver, Colo.

TO PACE ON JULY 26th.

It is announced that Amardale, the well-known fast pacer, will run at Kingston Fair Grounds track on July 26th, Kingston's Civic Holiday, and Old Boys' Day. Amardale has done the mile in 2.05 1/2, and will run in the 2.10 pace. This little horse was bred by Amar McKinney, and has startled racing fans for some time with his bursts of speed. This will not be his first appearance on the track there, but he has had considerable running experience since his former visits, and his performance will be watched with interest by local horsemen.

CROP OUTLOOK CHANGED

In two short weeks the crop outlook in Saskatchewan has materially changed, and there are now grave doubts whether even an average crop will be reaped unless the hot dry spell is almost immediately broken. The last few days the heat has been intense, culminating in 96 and 98 in the shade. In many districts flourishing fields of wheat are being rapidly burned up, especially where the soil is light. In practically all districts except the southwest the grain is suffering from drought.

Hogs are up in price today to $20, per cwt. Messrs. R. Empton & Son shipped a large number today at this figure. This is a jump of forty cents since last week.

Mrs. Sarah Allison, of Rednersville this morning sold some berries for $1.76 to "a lady in white" who showed a ten dollar bill. Mrs. Allison handed out $3.24 change but forgot to take the "ten spot." The other lady absent mindedly walked away with the bill, the change and the berries.

BICYCLIST HURT

Mr. Stanley Hagerman, West Bridge Street, was the victim of an accident on Pine Street last night at ten forty while riding a bicycle. Mr. Stanley Ellis, 33 Great St. James street, was driving a literary automobile and collided with the bicyclist. Mr. Hagerman was thrown from the wheel, which was damaged considerably and was himself injured. It seems that the wheel of the car ran over his wrist. Fortunately no bones appear to have been broken. He also suffered a bad shaking-up. The autoist reported the occurrence to the police.

Robin, Bluebird and Killdeer Pick Unusual Nesting-Places

CLANDEBOYE, July 21—Much interest has been taken in this district in three unusual nesting places adopted by feathered visitors.
A robin has built its nest on the post of a road-gate, and although the nest must have been smothered by the dust from passing autos and winds, to say nothing of the constant jarring caused by the opening and closing of the metal gate, Mrs. Rob-

Mrs. Herman Kirk, from Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. Anderson.
The telephones are kept busy with the women telling how they do their berries.

Ring Fighters of the Old Days

In the olden days fighters did not dicker about a few pounds and were willing to take chances with an opponent with any kind of mits, regardless of weight or size. In these modern days when they fight everything must come in for consideration, the gloves, the conformation, and the general make.

one of the fastest welterweights in the world and certainly could go some. Well, they battled out west and the Frisco people bet a ton of money. Dawson never had much to say, but when he got into action he was some fighter himself and was always dangerous; besides he was the father of the man-killing punch, the Dawson kidney punch, and every man that ever had the extreme pleasure of hooking up with the young fellow knew he had been in a fight, and some knew what the effect of the kidney punch was.

Dawson Refuses to Give Up
In this particular fight Needham had no mercy for Dawson and he simply cut him to ribbons. George was bleeding from all quarters, and several times he was begged to stop by Levy. "No," said George, "I will get him after a while." He told Levy he was a slow starter and he had to have time to map out his line of battle.

Oak Lake Camp Meeting

Preparations are nearing completion for the campaign to be opened on Sunday next, 25th inst. The grounds have been much improved and now present more the appearance of a park. A gasoline lighting system is being introduced which will make the outer parts of the grove quite light, and the annex of last year's erection has been subdivided so that there will be several cottages or rooms to rent to campers besides tents.

Oil From Cocoanuts

In the days when men, like the birds, took no thought of what they should eat or wherein should they be clothed, their staple wants were easily supplied by the tree of the tropical forest. The coconut was both meat and drink for the natives of the tropics, for the milk was sweet and satisfying, while the white meat of the coconut furnished the oil to supply energy to the body. The leaves of the coconut tree were used for roofing the dwellings, or for the making of fans, baskets and other hand-craft products, and the wood of the tree was used for making huts or rafts.

The coconut tree is a great lover of the seas, and never is sandy beach so devoid of soil that the coconut tossed up by the friendly breaker cannot find a rooting space for the treetlet incased within its protecting sheath.

Stately coconut palms, towering from 60 to 100 feet high, are found on every coral islet of the warm belt of the Pacific, as well as on the sandy beaches of the East Indies, the torrid coasts of tropical American places and on the fertile shores of the West Indies.

It is found especially of the innumerable islands that make up the Philippine Archipelago. In the Philippines, the cocoanut, except being merely a source of food for the natives, is fast developing into the largest industry in the islands, and thousands of tons of dried copra and millions of gallons of cocoanut oil are exported to all parts of the world.

Of Recent Development

Prior to the late eighties, the vast groves of the cocoanut palm in the Philippines were not utilized in a commercial sense, but about that time a British firm in Manila brought over samples of dried copra from Singapore and the people of Manila and Cebu were shown the process of converting the fresh cocoanuts into copra. The idea spread rapidly in the islands, but due to a lack of proper organization and supervision, the product did not measure up to the standard of other districts and the Philippine goods were not considered as good as that produced in other districts. By 1905 the Philippines produced 17 per cent of the copra in the world's market, and by 1911 the islands yielded approximately one-third of the world's supply. Since that time the industry has grown by leaps and bounds, and from one mill in 1913 there developed in 1918 over 30 of them, with a daily capacity of 1,300 tons of cocoanut oil, or an annual consumption of over 800,000 tons of copra, if run to full capacity.

The exports of cocoanut products from the Philippines are in the form of oil pressed from the fresh cocoanuts and shipped in barrels or tank steamers, or "copra" or the dried cocoanut meat, from which the oil can subsequently be extracted. A number of oil-extracting plants have been established in the United States and Europe to handle copra, because it has been discovered that the pulp left after the oil has been extracted is a very valuable stock food and can also be used as fertilizer and this by product commands a good price.

As a stock food it compares favorably with gluten feed, though it contains less carbohydrates and more fat, ash and fibre. The oil is used for many purposes, including cooking or for salads, the making of the soaps, etc.

There are at the present time in the Philippines approximately 40,000,000 bearing cocoanut trees, producing nearly 1,000,000,000 nuts per annum, of which nine hundred million are made into copra. A cocoanut palm will yield from 25 to 30 nuts each year, and they are taken from the tree, when fully mature, about once every three or four months. The nuts are collected in piles near the drying or smoking sheds and the outer shell or fibre is torn away from the hard shell of the nut by means of a tool similar to the plowshare. The nut is then split open with a large knife or bolo, and the halves, with the meat exposed, are placed over fires, on racks constructed of wood, and are allowed to remain there until the meat drops from the shell. When sun drying is practised, the halved nuts are allowed to remain subjected to the sun's rays for a period of about six days, or until the meat loosens from the shell.

Preparing the Copra.

The modern method is that of oven drying. The copra, cut into strips, is placed in trays in an oven heated by a stream of hot air. Heat is maintained at 130 degrees to 140 degrees Fahrenheit for five or six hours. In some cases the trays are kept in motion, thus securing a more even distribution of heat that when stationary and removing all danger of superheating. In five or six hours the water content has been reduced to the required 5 per cent, and the white-clean copra is ready for shipment to the mills.

The modern mills for extracting cocoanut oil from copra have installed hydraulic presses and expellers by means of which about 60 per cent of the oil content is extracted by modern machinery, but the method in vogue is rather crude and the process slow and inefficient.

The nuts are halved, where the fresh cocoanuts are used, and the whole meat grated by means of steel burr driven with pedal attachment. The grated meat is transferred to the caua, or steaming kettle, where it is mixed with one-half its volume of water and steamed for from two to four hours by the application of direct heat from burning shells and husks. The steamed meat is then placed in rattan bags, which are suspended in a perpendicular position between two heavy pieces of wood, and pressure is applied by means of a wooden vice screw.

The gata, or white emulsion of oil, water and cellular tissue obtained, is returned to a second caua, where the water is evaporated and the cellular tissue coagulated into a brown mass. This cellular tissue, of high protein content, is used by the Philippine dwellers as a food. The oil is ladeled into earthenware vessels, and the small solid particles remaining are allowed to settle out. No filtering process is resorted to. The press cake is shaken through a bamboo basket in order to disintegrate it and is then allowed to ferment for a period of three days, with occasional stirring and turning of the meat to hasten fermentation.

After the first fermentation period the meat is ground in a crude apparatus consisting of a heavy roller working back and forth over a flat surface, and is then repressed. The process of fermentation and repressing is carried on daily for from five to seven days.

Oil For Soap Making

All of the oil obtained from the various pressings of fermented meat, is classed as rancid oil for soap-making and similar purposes. The press cake is then fed to hogs. The edible oil represents about one-third of the total oil obtained and is of fair quality, having some fatty acids and a slight burnt taste and odor, and not being entirely free from color.

Where the oil is extracted from the cocoanuts in the Philippines and sent to this country, it is either put up in steel containers or barrels, or shipped in bulk in tank steamers. A number of tank steamers carry their cargoes of American fuel oil and petroleum from the Pacific coast to the Orient, and formerly it was necessary for these tankers to return in ballast. It was not thought feasible to ship vegetable oil in these tankers because of the fear of contamination from the residue of the fuel oil. However, these difficulties were overcome by cleaning the tanks with live steam, swabbing them up with the copra-meat itself, until all trace of the fuel oil has disappeared.

To handle these bulk shipments it has become necessary to construct vegetable oil tanks at San Francisco and Seattle, into which the ships can dump their cargoes. As this oil becomes a solid, resembling paraffine, when subjected to cold weather, it is sometimes necessary to run steam pipes into the ship's hold to melt the vegetable oil sufficiently to pump into the storage tanks. In 1908 the exports of Philippine cocoanut oil to this country amounted in value to almost $22,000,000.

Prominent in Other Oriental Lands

While the Philippines have loomed large as exporter of copra and cocoanut oil, the industry is prominent in many other oriental countries. Some of the best copra in the world comes from the Malabar coast in India, and although prepared by native methods, great care is exercised in choosing the nuts and in ripening them for a month or more on platforms. When the nuts are dried by this process, practically all the water is eliminated and the meat comes out white and in good condition.

In Ceylon a great deal of the copra is made over drying kilns, somewhat like the tapahan of the Philippines, the hands of syndicates and large companies, which are introducing more modern methods for handling the nuts.

PACIFIC COAST JUMPER WHO SETS A NEW MARK

JOHN MURPHY

Portland, Ore., will be represented in the Olympic Games at Antwerp by John Murphy of the Multnomah A.A.C. In the final tryouts held at the Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass. he bettered his own high jump record made last year. To win then he jumped 6 feet 3 3/16 inches. This year he cleared the cross bar when it stood at 6 feet 4 1/4 inches.

Java ranks as about the second largest copra producing country of the world. Few artificial drying apparatus are used, however, and these are only of the primitive types and the local manufacture. In Java, the copra driers use zinc sheets to protect the nuts from the fumes and smoke of the fuel pot, thus reducing the amount of foreign matter introduced into the copra. In a few plants the copra is dried by using hot air which circulates about the trays. As elsewhere, however, the bulk of copra produced in Java is sun-dried.

Samoa was the first country to take decisive steps to standardize and improve her copra exports, and today the industry has been placed on a firm footing, and regulations not only prescribe the proper drying apparatus to use, but it is unlawful to pick the nuts from the trees, which insures only fully matured cocoanuts, which fall from the trees, being used.

Slam is supplied with many cocoanut groves, and the industry could be greatly developed there if proper precautions are taken to protect the trees from pests, but in the absence of such regulations these pests have practically ruined the business.

In East Africa most of the copra produced is sun-dried, but in Malabar both the smoke kiln and the sun methods are employed, and some of the larger syndicates are introducing modern methods in handling the cocoanuts.

WHEN GENERAL U.S. GRANT FELL INTO THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

Tumbled Into the Water at Pullman's Island Opposite Alexandria Bay—Other Early History of the Thousand Island Territory—A Southern Romance of the Seventies

(The Observer in Clayton on-the-St. Lawrence)

How many of my readers have even heard or read of the time when General Grant tumbled into the river at Pullman's Island, opposite Alexandria Bay? Very few, probably, but several reputable persons who claimed at the time to have been witnesses declared it to be a fact, and, although great efforts were made to suppress knowledge of the humiliating accident to the great commander from going abroad, the news leaked out to be tattled about the surrounding country, and to appear in more or less exaggerated form in partisan newspapers that were glad of an opportunity to belittle the general on account of his political faith.

When at the time of the construction of the Thousand Island House at Alexandria Bay in 1872, Staples, its promoter and builder, made his famous prediction that he would live to see the shores and islands from Alexandria Bay to Clayton the location of a great summer city, the lands on which are now located Thousand Island, Westminster, St. Lawrence Park and Fine View were cow pastures, the only buildings on the site being farmers' residences. Round Island, or Frontenac, was cultivated as a farm, and Murray Hill and Grenell Parks were jungles of underbrush inhabited by every species of ferocious man-eating insects, known to this northern climate.

With the completion of the Thousand Island House, the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad placed a boat on the river, the J. H. Kelly, afterwards renamed Islander, which was burned a few years ago, to run from Cape Vincent, then the only railroad terminal along the river, to Alexandria Bay, the only stop between those ports being Clayton and passengers from along the river shores on Wellesley Island from the present location of Thousand Island Park and along the river desirous of connecting with Cape Vincent trains, were taken out in row boats to mid-channel, where the steamer would be halted and muscular deck-hands would lift the traveller and baggage on board.

The first cottage to be constructed along the river was a small affair owned by the late D. C. Porter, of Clayton, and used by himself and family as a week-end resting place, and that is still standing, being used as a kitchen attached to a cottage valued at ten times the cost of the original, near Mr. Rose's cottage at Frontenac.

During the summer of 1877 the small cottage was occupied by a young couple, but who and from where no one knew, and those dwelling together in this far-off locality neither associated with nor making acquaintances with others was suggestive of somewhat mysterious romance as viewed by sentimental ones, but that of the truth had been known there would probably have been revealed evidences of homesickness, regrets and tearful scenes in plenty. A daughter was born to them there, and not long after the child was adopted for a time by a local family and the couple departed as some who claimed to have learned of their secret, for Virginia, from whence had eloped; the woman being the daughter of an old aristocratic former slave owning family, and the man a former northern soldier, with whom she became acquainted during the Civil war and that her masculine relatives had threatened to kill him if he should return.

The mother came regularly every summer after with money and fine clothing for the child, departing every time with tears and lamentations, and when the girl was about eight years old she disappeared, no one here seemed to know where, but probably taken away by the mother.

The second cottage to be erected, was on Pullman Island, a moderate sized, boarded up and down, white painted structure, that today would be considered as very ordinary if located at any of the resorts. Mr. Pullman selected the site as a summer resting place, and in 1872 invited General Grant, with whom he had been acquainted from boyhood, to become his guest for a time. The news of the arrival of the famous commander at Pullman's Island home took passage on wings of wind and a multitude of that familiar type of free-born Americans, who are ever ready to grovel in the dust at the feet of famous and successful men, and just as readily and cheerfully kick them if failures, gathered at the river banks to seek passage on anything floatable to Pullman's Island, which in a few hours was in such complete state of blockade and siege as to almost make prisoners of the Pullman family and guests.

Everything imaginable in or on which the crowd could take passage across the waters was there; steamboats, sailboats, row boats, sail and rowing scows, punts and even slab rafts constructed and manned by neighboring farmers' barefoot boys whose legal guardians, joining in the wild rush to extend welcome to the illustrious visitor, had forgotten and left them behind. On the arrival of each new addition to the flotilla of water craft the general arose from his seat on the piazza to silently greet the visitors by simply lifting his silk hat, probably longing at the time for a lodge in some vast wilderness away from the gaping curiosity seeking crowds that would be equally entertained if a dog fight were going on in the vicinity.

There were several different versions floating about a few days later of how the general came to take an involuntary bath in the mighty St. Lawrence, the most likely one of which was that one day when the crowds had become thinned out, he walked down to where several rowboats were tied to the dock, to place his foot on the gunwale or edge of one, that like a circus jackass side-stepped from underneath its would-be rider, and the general descended between the boat and dock to make a loud splash in the waters. The ladies on the piazza screamed and the masculine population of the island frantically rushed to the rescue of the victim of misplaced confidence, who, landed on the dock, with clothing dripping, presented a sorrowful aspect of humiliating defeat that the momentary fright of the witnesses was succeeded by merry peals of laughter in which the general himself joined, and who was warned against the possible repetition of such disaster by Mr. Pullman, who said, "General, you have led the greatest army of modern times to victory, but allow me to caution you to not recklessly again seek open conflict with one of these rowboats, for they are as treacherous as untamed army mules, and they are liable to bring defeat to you at any time."

DEFINES THE PLACE OF QUEBEC IN MAKING A CANADIAN NATION

Barriers of Malice and Ignorance Have Worked Against National Unity in Past—Facts to be Considered.

It is unfortunate for national welfare and progress that the position of the Province of Quebec and its people should not be better understood in other parts of the Dominion. There has, in fact, been gross misrepresentation of the feelings and sentiments of the people of Quebec. Some of this is due to malice; a great deal of it is the result of ignorance. There are those—and they are the worst enemies of the Dominion—who have not hesitated to serve political interests by trying to set race against race and creed against creed. The people of Quebec have been represented as disloyal, non-progressive, lacking in enterprise, priest-ridden, exclusive and hostile to the rest of the Dominion. How baseless all this is may be judged from a candid consideration of the facts.

The province of Quebec at the time of Confederation was made by the founders of the Dominion and pivotal province of the Confederation and it must always continue as such. As Lord Shaftesbury has truly remarked, the Province of Quebec will always be the bulwark and the strongest support of confederation. It is therefore most essential that Quebec and its people should be properly understood by the people of all parts of the country.

In the first place it is important to remember that the people of Quebec are the most essentially Canadian of all Canadians. Their ancestors were the discoverers and colonizers of Canada and the French-Canadians have been rooted to the soil of Canada for over three centuries. It is therefore only natural that the people of Quebec should regard all questions first and foremost from a purely Canadian viewpoint. They are blamed in some quarters for not being Imperialistic in their sympathies but it would be surely strange if such people were attracted to Imperialistic schemes. They have been loyal and they are still loyal to Great Britain, because under the British flag they have enjoyed the utmost liberty. More than once, as history shows, have they proved their loyalty. In fact, if Canada is still under the British Crown, it is due to the firmness of the French-Canadian allegiance. But loyal though they are they recognize that Canada is entitled to the most absolute autonomy and they are opposed to anything that will interfere in the slightest degree with that autonomy. In the staunchness of their Canadianism they give a splendid example to the rest of the Dominion.

In the second place, it is important to remember that the French-Canadians are firmly attached to the Roman Catholic faith. What could be more natural. It was under the Catholic faith that the country was discovered, colonized and Christianized and when the French-Canadians at the time of the Cession were deserted by their natural leaders, who returned to France, it was their devoted priests who stood by them and literally carried the ark of their nationality through the wilderness of despair and desolation. The Roman Catholic priests have been the parental as well as the spiritual guides of their people. But to say that the people of Quebec are priest-ridden is to say what is not the case. In spiritual matters the French-Canadians bow to cure but in temporal matters he retains a sturdy independence, as is shown whenever there are attempts made—now a very rare occurrence—to interfere with his political opinions. The Habitant, in fact, takes his religion from Rome but as far as politics and other worldly matters are concerned he thinks and decides for himself. Those who doubt this should attend a political gathering in Quebec. The natural traits of the Habitant or the native of Quebec are admirable, sturdy, patriotic, God-fearing, frugal and industrious he is a most valuable citizen. By this thrift and welfare. By early marriage he rears a numerous progeny and thus preserves the vitality of the race. Surely these are characteristics that are deserving of praise rather than of censure. To those who know them the people of Quebec are most hospitable, they are quick to appreciate and reciprocate good feeling. Ever courteous to the stranger, with their hearts open to him and nothing that they have too good for him.

The tree is known by its fruits and the best evidence of what the people of Quebec are is the position they occupy. In agriculture they are at the head, and that the Province of Quebec was able to stand the strain of the great war better than any of the other provinces was due to the agricultural development and wealth of the province. In all other lines, too, marked progress has been made. It is sometimes said that the people of Quebec are slow. They are certainly slow in adopting extreme measures, in uniting with destructive forces. They are conservative by tradition and habit but surely in days when radicalism is running rampant this is rather a virtue than a fault. Nor has the progress of Quebec been only on the material side; neither literature nor art have been neglected. A people who have produced a Philippe Herbet in sculpture, a Henri Julien in art, an Albani in song and a Cremazie, a Frechette and a Garneau in letters, have no reason to be ashamed. The works of the many distinguished French-Canadian authors, which are comprised in the classic series of Les Livres Canadiens, constitute a distinctive literature that would be a credit to any people. And it is in the pursuit of French that these works are written, so fine in this respect that several of them have been crowned by the French Academy. For, despite claims to the contrary there is no patois in the Province of Quebec, the highest authorities have borne testimony to the purity of the French spoken by the mass of the people.

Strange is it that a people with such admirable traits and enjoying such an enviable position should be so misunderstood in other parts of the Dominion. For the sake of our national welfare and progress that misunderstanding must be removed as speedily as possible. In the first place, we will have to kill the extremists—those men who knowingly and wilfully seek to create racial discord and national disunion. To kill them, that is to render their influence for evil negligible, we must have a union of all men of justice and good will. In the second place, we must enlighten the people of the rest of the Dominion as to the real position of Quebec and its people who must be made to appear as they are, not as the extremists and fanatics would like to have them pictured. In this connection there is a great opportunity in the educational field. To assure racial concord and national unity for future, the rising generations of Canada should be made to understand and respect one another. If I had my way I would have French taught in every English school in the Dominion and English taught in every French school as it is taught now in many of them. I would have English-speaking Canadian boys and girls taught how much Canada owes to French-Canadians, to the early settlers and great colonizers, and to the illustrious statesmen such as Papineau, LaFontaine, Cartier and Laurier. I would have the French-Canadian school children taught what great things English-speaking Canadians in all parts of the Dominion have done. To assure a proper instruction in this respect our histories will have to be re-written. The works of French-Canadian authors should also be made known to English-speaking Canadians and a knowledge of English-Canadian authors imparted to the French-Canadians. By such means a true national spirit would be created.

By such methods who can doubt that much of the misunderstanding that at present prevails would disappear and that in time we would have a true national unity, based on mutual understanding, justice and fair play.

The educational field is a most important one but there are others. We need a more frequent exchange of visits between leading men of the various provinces. The benefits of personal contact cannot be exaggerated and great good should be done in this way. But above all we must have a sincere desire on the part of all leaders of thought and all lovers of their country to bring about a better understanding. With such a desire and with an earnest effort to carry out some of the ideas that have been suggested there should be no question of a happy result.

What is most essential however, for English-speaking Canadians to understand is that French-Canadians are by blood French and by their environment Canadian. They cannot be made anything else any more than can a Scotchman, an Irishman, an Englishman or a Welshman. But that is not to say the French-Canadians and English speaking Canadians cannot all work together in peace and harmony for the welfare and aggrandizement of their common country. As far as the French-Canadians are concerned—and it is an English-speaking Canadian who understands them who writes this—they certainly are not unreasonable in their demands. "This Canadian land is our native land," has said the Prime Minister of Quebec, Sir Lomer Gouin, "and we wish to live in it as the equals and the companions of our fellow citizens of other origins; the friendly and loyal neighbors of those who surround us. We intend to live in it, and we intend to die in it as our forefathers before us. I wish to say to the other provinces that we have no animosity against anyone. All that we ask is justice; nothing more but nothing less."

That is a sentiment that should and I am sure will, find a response in the heart of every Canadian who sincerely desires the welfare of the Great Dominion.

—John Boyd, in "The Canadian Nation."

PADDOCK EQUALLING 220-YARD RECORD MADE WAY BACK IN 1897

After bowing to Loren Murchison of the New York Athletic Club in the 100-yard dash in the final tryouts for the Olympic Games held in the Harvard Stadium, Charles W. Paddock, the sensational coast sprinter, who runs in the colors of the Los Angeles A. C., won the 220-yard dash in a sensational finish. He is seen here almost throwing himself across the line in front of M. M. Kinksey of the Olympic Club of San Francisco. Murchison was third and Leo W. Messengale of the University of Missouri, fourth. To win Paddock had to equal the A. A. U. championship record of 21 2-5 seconds made way back in 1897 by Bernie Wefers.

A Broken Heart

It May Cause Death So Scientific Men Say

Common expressions such as "have a heart," a "heartless person," "it comes from the heart," are more scientific than the scientific world is ready to acknowledge. Modern doctors tell us the heart has nothing to do with the affections, emotions and feelings, being merely a blood-pump organ former of involuntary muscles and beyond the influence of the will, if not of the mental sphere, but Dr. Aurelius R. de Janies, of Boston, points out in the Medical Record (New York) that this is not entirely correct.

"A sudden and painful mental shock of the heart or to excite it to such degree as even to injure its valves or their coolest temperament will give immunity from this susceptibility. It has long been noticed that long-continued anxiety will lead to a feeble and slow action of the heart and at the same time render the organ irritable and liable to become excited under the slightest access of emotional feeling.

"The heart," he writes, "is an organ which is highly susceptible to emotional excitement, and neither volition nor the cordae tendinae. Furthermore, we often hear the phrase 'died of a broken heart' and this is not purely figurative, because sudden death may undoubtedly be sometimes due to a ruptured heart caused by violent emotions. Terror or joy, when it suddenly seizes a person already overpowered by despair, may paralyze the heart. Histories tell us that the Roman martyrs, after the battle of Cannae, on seeing their sons, whom they supposed to have been killed, dropped dead on the spot.

"Fear, which is the chronic form of fright, occasions a tremulous palpitation; rage also may produce precordial oppressions, and is known even to have brought on an attack of angina pectoris. Excessive grief will cause functional disorders with deranged action of the valves, the patient becoming pale and anaemic. It is a general rule that hope will excite and sustain the organ, despair and anxiety will depress it, and contentment and peace of mind will give it healthy action.

"I am convinced that but few physicians realize the great importance of the relations of the brain with the heart, or even appreciate the connection between the soul and that centre of physical life. We

A Square Meal

Present Day Heavy Eaters Are Starvelings by Comparison

We of this day and generation are supposed to be retty heavy eaters, especially of meats. But we would appear to be "pikers" by comparison with those who lived and fed themselves in the reign of good Queen Anne.

For instance, Thackeray, in his English Humorists, writes of a dinner which began at 3 in the afternoon—court hours for that function. The eight guests started on a sirlon of beef; fish, a shoulder of veal and a tongue. After this first course, just in the way of an appetizer, came almond pudding, fritters, chickens, black pudding and soup. And the elegant mistress of the house, finding a skewer on the dish placed it on her with the direction that it should be carried down to the kitchen and dressed for the cook's own dinner.

Wine and small beer were drunk throughout the course. After which tea, costing in those days 30 shillings the pound—$6 and that when five shillings went immeasurably further than one of our dollars goes today.

Then came a third course—a hot venison pastry, a hare, a rabbit, some pigeons, partridges, a goose and a ham, beer and wine being freely imbibed the while. After the goose the gentleman took each a dram of brandy "which was very good for the wholesome." And next came a great tankard full of October ale, of which the host first quaffed his fill—for the period, indeed, of a long breath and an enormous expansion of the torso; after which it was passed from hand to hand and from mouth to mouth. Then a generous supply of cheese completed the dinner so far.

The cloth being taken away, a bottle of burgandy was set down, of which the ladies were invited to partake before they went to their tea. The gentleman promised to join them in an hour; fresh bottles were brought, the "dead men" (empty bottles) were removed and clean glasses were ordered. When the gentlemen did join the ladies, they all sat and played at cards until 3 of the morning when the chairs and the flambeau came and that noble and tolerably well-nourished company went to bed.

Miss Annie Forlonski Had a Complication of Kidney Troubles and Says She Found Permanent Relief From All of Them in Dodd's Kidney Pills

Fraserwood, Man., July 19. (Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills are the standard remedy for all kidney troubles was perhaps never better demonstrated than in the case of Miss Annie Forlonski, of this place. And let her tell her story in her own words.

"My back was sore," Miss Forlonski states, "and my body was so sore I could not get out of bed. My bladder also bothered me, and I had urinary troubles.

"Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

THE HOME TOWN

Some folks leave home for money. And some leave home for fame. Some seek skies always sunny. And some depart in shame. I care not what the reason. Men travel East or West. Or what the month or season. The Home Town is the best.

The Home Town is the glad town. Where something real abides. 'Tis not the money mad town. That all its spirit hides. Though strangers scoff and flout it. And even jeer its name. It has a charm about it. No other town can claim.

The Home Town skies seem bluer. Than skies that stretch away. The Home Town friends seem truer. And kinder through the day. And whether glad or cheery. Light-hearted or depressed. Or struggle fit or weary. I like the Home Town best.

Let him who will, go wander. To distant towns to live. Of some things I am fonder. Than all they have to give. The gold of distant places. Could not repay me quite. For those familiar faces. That keep the Home Town bright. —Edgar A. Guest.

GOES TO BROCKVILLE.

Dr. W. K. Ross, formerly superintendent of Rockwood Hospital, Kingston, has been appointed to Brockville Hospital to succeed the late superintendent, Dr. J. C. Mitchell.

deceased. Dr. Ross came to Rockwood in January, 1918, and after serving as assistant was superintendent there while Dr. E. Ryan was overseas. Notification of his appointment reached Dr. Ross only Wednesday morning and he does not yet know when he will take over his new duties.

ALLEGED ATTEMPT AT JAIL DELIVERY.

An alleged attempt at jail delivery was staged at the Hull County Jail on Sunday, when Murdoch Munroe, a returned soldier, who was recently released from the institution, cut the telephone wires and thrust a revolver, which was later found not to be loaded, in front of Turnkey Reynolds, ordering him to hold up his hands. The turnkey, with superb courage, rushed at his assailant, who took to flight. After a lengthy chase, Munroe was captured. On Monday he was remanded till Friday on a charge of drawing a revolver with the intention of intimidating an official of the jail.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Although a caboose and two box cars passed over him, Harvey White, aged 16, of Lancaster, who was struck by a G.T.R. way freight at the public crossing east of that station a few mornings ago, escaped with slight injuries to his back. White was crossing the tracks directly west of the crossing, his attention being on a work train which was on a nearby siding. The way freight, backing up, knocked him down. White going under the train, three cars of which passed over him before he was discovered. Dr. Hamilton, of Cornwall, attended to his injuries. The electric bell at the crossing was ringing at the time of the accident.

COULD PLACE 100 MEN IN ONE DAY.

In one day one hundred men could be comfortably established upon farms near Peterborough with wages of from $60 to $85 a month by the Employment Bureau if such men could be secured. Mr. H. Robinson, of Peterborough stated Wednesday that there is practically no excuse for any man to be idle at the present time, with the boundless opportunities offered by farm and construction work now being carried on, and apparently only the very unfit are out of work for any length of time.

Shortage of farm help has undoubtedly affected the entire Dominion and the Peterboro employment agency has been surfeited with insistent demands for help from every province. In many districts five hundred men could be immediately placed, all at good wages.

Mr. Robinson said that for some inexplicable reason men fight shy of agricultural pursuits, while almost any other demands on labor may be filled fairly readily.

EX-PRIVATE DEAD.

Ambrose Clause ex-private of the 155th Battalion, C.E.F., died on Saturday afternoon at the Mowat Hospital, Kingston, where he had been under treatment for some time. The deceased formerly resided at Shannonville. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Alexander Gordon, at James Reid's undertaking parlors on Monday, and the remains were sent to Shannonville for interment. Deceased is survived by his wife.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Tuesday evening Constable J. W. Russell, Delta, landed in the cells at the police station Brockville, two young men, Christopher Thomas and Lytle Ambin, who are wanted by the police of Toronto, Picton, Athens and Delta. The men were apprehended at Kingston on Monday afternoon while driving a car which had been stolen at Picton some time ago. The men were before the court at Picton, it appears, on a charge of stealing the automobile and are at present out on bail. It is charged that they paid a visit to Athens, and that while there they took money from subscriptions secured by a woman's organization for a flag on which the names of all the men of the district, who served overseas would be inscribed. It is alleged that the money was raised, a good sum, and handed over to the two promoters of the scheme, but that the flag has not been secured. It is further charged that the couple failed to make returns to a Toronto publication for subscriptions, and the theft of automobile tires from Delta is another charge. It is charged that they stripped an automobile of its tires there and made off. The couple were taken to Delta Tuesday morning and were committed for trial.

BOOTLEGGERS GETTING BOLDER.

On Saturday night bootleggers pulled off a rather nifty one in Cobourg. For some time past the mode of getting in a supply ample enough to fill demands has been via the fictitious name route or in the name of a friend, so that the large amounts coming in will not show when the license inspector makes his rounds of express companies. Saturday a well known and busy bootlegger had a case come in under a fictitious name. Another man hearing of it, called for the case and got it, taking it to a house, which might be termed "bachelor's quarters." The bootlegger heard of it, and he and one of his roustabouts broke into the house and took it. Now the house owner is talking of laying a charge of house-breaking against the pair. If the case ever gets into court it should prove a rather interesting affair.

A WONDERFUL VEGETABLE GARDEN.

Two seldarly ladies, Mrs. G. F. Nicholson and Mrs. T. G. Nicholson, who reside opposite the Rockwood asylum gate, Kingston, are reported to have a wonderful vegetable garden. It is the work of their own hands and a cause of just pride, for the growth of vegetation represents much time and hard work. Other contributing factors are, of course, the weather and the condition of the soil, which has been kept well worked from year to year. While these ladies were not entered in the home garden competition they are very anxious to be included when the judges are making the inspection.

FOUND ANCIENT COIN.

An English half penny dated 1816 was found imbedded in the earth on Big Island recently by Walter Elliott, Hartley street, Brockville, who is camping on the island. The coin is known as the Waterloo half penny and bears a crest on one side and on the other the words "The Illustrations Wellington" and a bust of Lord Wellington. The coin is in excellent state of preservation and the markings are quite legible to the naked eye.

STATION TO BE KEPT OPEN.

The big kick put up by the people of the Starkville district has had its effect, as from letters received from the Legal Department, C.N.R., by Mr. James Ardron, the statement is made "That it has been decided to keep Starkville station open." The success of the Starkville people in demanding their own should encourage the people of other sections on the line who have been out on the plea of "economy" to fight harder than ever. Who put up the money for the building of the road anyway? It is currently reported that the C.N.R. station at Port Hope will be closed. Our Board of Trade should follow the example of their friends in Starkville and no time should be lost either, says the Port Hope Guide.

LOSES AN EYE.

Mr. Walter Beatty, Osaca, near Port Hope, met with a very painful and unfortunate accident Tuesday afternoon. He was engaged pulling staples from a wire fence. Taking hold of the wire with both hands Mr. Beatty gave it a sudden hard pull when the staple flew and struck him with great force in the ball of the right eye. Dr. A. C. Beatty was called and everything possible was done to relieve the pain but the doctor is satisfied that the sight has been destroyed.

CLOTHES CAUGHT FIRE.

At Elizabeth, N.J., Mrs. Thomas Hopkins used gasoline to do some cleaning in her home. The gasoline got on her clothes and gloves. With her in the room at the time was her blind husband. She lighted a match to start a fire in her gas cooker. Her clothing caught fire immediately. She ran into the bathroom and jumped into a tub partly filled with water. Instead of putting out the flames, the water spread them, for when neighbors arrived after Mr. Hopkins had managed to make his way out of the house to call for help, the bathroom was in a blaze. Mrs. Hopkins died a few minutes after the ambulance arrived. The fire did little material damage.

Trouble on Circus Grounds

Showmen and Citizens in Melées—A Few Hurt

An unfortunate series of incidents took place last night at the circus grounds about the hour of eleven o'clock. Various stories are afloat as to the cause but the subsequent results are apparent. Many today wear signs of the conflict. It would appear that one of the men of the Sheeley show was walking down the midway about the quarrelsome hour of eleven o'clock. He is said to have offered to "take on" a stranger or a Belleville man he met. Another story is that he claimed to be able to lick any man in the city. Something then transpired.

One account gives a local man or a stranger credit for striking the showman. Whatever happened there was a miniature riot on at once. Spectators and showmen were in the thick of the trouble. Constable J. M. Trausich was at the entrance at the time doing traffic duty. He was summoned to the melée and by the use of his best endeavors quieted the rampus.

But like some disease the trouble broke out again. In all there were five scraps. It is said, the trouble drifted around as far as the woods.

Some girls and women who were about took to their heels and scattered in all directions. Local men who were spectators got hit with sticks or hammers. Some who were running away were pursued and struck down and kicked, according to the report. Finally Officer Trausich pulled his revolver and made Albert Scott, a stranger hold up his hands. The officer handed him over to the circus people to take care of while he quitted the turmoil. Scott was eventually brought to the police station. He will appear in court tomorrow on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The worst part of the fighting is that most of the injured were innocent youths and men running from the carnage or were spectators. There were quite a number of Belleville boys who suffered gashes and bruises. One show man is in the hospital with a broken nose. The police had to direct many of the injured to local physicians for treatment.

An investigation is being made today by the authorities. The management of the show was in consultation today in the matter. Suits of clothing suffered as a result of the scrap.

The late John A. Bruce, a well-known Hamilton seed merchant, left an estate valued at $416,428.

Identilly is Not Certain

Particulars of Victim of Marysville Tragedy

The identity of the man who was found dead on the G.T.R. track near Marysville at 4.15 yesterday morning has not yet been established, although Cotoner Dr. Boyce and Constable L. Soule have made efforts to find out his name.

This morning at Messrs. Tickell and Sons' morgue Dr. Boyce opened an inquest before the following jury: A. Blackburn, W. Leslie, J. B. Archibald, P. G. Denike, C. M. Hall, J. D. Collip, G. R. Brown, H. Bryant, and C. L. Hyde.

The inquest adjourned until August 6th to provide an opportunity for the identification of the man. The body has been embalmed and will be kept for some time at Tickell's morgue.

It is possible the man is George Wellington, from a distance. He had on his person an American Express bill showing a shipment from California. This bill is old.

Yesterday Manager Hicks of the Greater Sheeley Shows viewed the remains at the request of the police, but failed to recognize the man as one of his men. None are missing from that company. The clothing might indicate a circus man, he said, but he was positive that the victim was not one of his show.

To aid in identifying, if possible, the following particulars of the man are given:

Age about 25 years; height 5 feet 9 inches; hair, black and abundant; eyebrows black; clean-shaven; teeth regular; features regular; eyes bluish grey; body well developed. A scar on the back of the left forearm just above the wrist about two inches in diameter, resembling a burn or a large vaccine scar. Clothing—tweed cap, grey tweed coat and vest, khaki trousers, white "Fleet Foot" running shoes, brown socks.

Constable J. M. Trausich was at the entrance at the time doing traffic duty. He was summoned to the melée and by the use of his best endeavors quieted the rampus.

But like some disease the trouble broke out again. In all there were five scraps. It is said, the trouble drifted around as far as the woods.

Some girls and women who were about took to their heels and scattered in all directions. Local men who were spectators got hit with sticks or hammers. Some who were running away were pursued and struck down and kicked, according to the report. Finally Officer Trausich pulled his revolver and made Albert Scott, a stranger hold up his hands. The officer handed him over to the circus people to take care of while he quitted the turmoil. Scott was eventually brought to the police station. He will appear in court tomorrow on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The worst part of the fighting is that most of the injured were innocent youths and men running from the carnage or were spectators. There were quite a number of Belleville boys who suffered gashes and bruises. One show man is in the hospital with a broken nose. The police had to direct many of the injured to local physicians for treatment.

An investigation is being made today by the authorities. The management of the show was in consultation today in the matter. Suits of clothing suffered as a result of the scrap.

The late John A. Bruce, a well-known Hamilton seed merchant, left an estate valued at $416,428.

Wedding Bells

ADAMS — DENIKE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Denike was the scene of an interesting event, on the afternoon of July 7th, when Miss Isabel Denike was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Adams, of Toronto.

The marriage ceremony was performed in the presence of only immediate relatives, by Rev. H. B. Kenney. After luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Adams left on the evening train for Peterboro. They will reside in Toronto.

The bride, who is one of the popular young ladies of our town, will carry with her the best wishes of all for a happy and prosperous future. —Campbellford Herald.

PASSENGER WAS INJURED.

When the steamer Toronto, of the Canada Steamship Lines, was a short distance out from Rochester, N.Y., Tuesday night, a passenger named Kelly, belonging to Indianapolis, Ind., fell from the upper berth in which he was sleeping and fractured one rib. He was attended by Dr. Stewart Gibb, the purser of the vessel, and was able to continue on his journey to Montreal.

FREIGHT SHEDS BROKEN INTO.

On Sunday night last thieves held a regular carnival around the G.T.R. and C.P.R. stations, at Cobourg. On the old Harwood track twelve G.T.R. freight cars were entered, and a quantity of goods taken, most of which Chief Ruse believes he has recovered. Six pairs of blankets and two Thermos bottles were missed, and these he recovered. At the C.P.R. freight sheds the bonded warehouse was broken into, and seven bottles of French wine stolen, two of them being found—emptied. It is believed the same parties attended to both jobs.

VITAL STATISTICS.

For the three months ending June 30, 1920, there were registered in Cobourg 38 births, 16 marriages and 19 deaths. In June there were 17 births, 8 marriages, 10 deaths; in April, 7 births, 5 marriages and 2 deaths. For the past six months their were 77 births, 31 marriages and 59 deaths.

TO SPEND $4,000 ON THE FAIR GROUNDS' CATTLE SHEDS

A meeting of the Kingston City property committee was held on Monday afternoon when arrangements were made for the expenditure of $4,000 in building sheds at the fair grounds. Of this amount, the Kingston city council is providing $2,000 and the fair association $2,000. The fair grounds are greatly in need of cattle pens, and when these are built the result will be that the cattle display at the fair in the fall will be a record one.

HEADS COBOURG HOSPITAL.

The Ontario Government, having resumed control of the Ontario Hospital at Cobourg, which until recently was used by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Dr. Peter McNaughton, formerly assistant superintendent at Hamilton Hospital, has been appointed head of the Cobourg Hospital.

MADOC HAS PIECE OF BAD ROAD

We have just been driven over that portion of the streets of Madoc between the Eastern end of the Government road and the cemetery corner, and we find it to be about the worst piece of road in the Village of Madoc, says the Madoc Review. It is deeply rutted and very uneven in surface. This is one of the leading roads into the village. This road should be one of the best roads in the town as it was graded only last fall and supposed to be put in first class condition. Various theories have been advanced by road builders as to the cause of rutting and as to the cause of holes forming in the roads. Some attribute it to uneven quality of material used and others to uneven spreading of the material, but whatever may be the cause where the depression occurs the water lying in the holes together with the force of the wheels of the vehicle plunging into these places drives them deeper. It might be advisable to adopt the practice of Prince Edward County Council of keeping a repairing gang constantly on the road on the principle that it costs less to keep them in repair than to neglect them.

RECORD OF POLICE COURT INCREASING.

An increase in the number of Police Court convictions at Peterboro, is shown by the police records for the period of 50 days from June 1st to July 29th of this year and last. Excepting convictions under the Military Service Act, which is now inoperative, and convictions by the Canadian Pacific Railway for trespassing and theft from railway cars during the campaign of C.P.R. detectives in Peterboro district last summer, the records show an increase in ordinary convictions of 9, last year's records showing 67 ordinary convictions for this period and this year's 76.

PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS.

Frank Dafos, Madoc, has purchased from R. Casement the buildings occupied by him as hardware store, together with the vacant lands in the rear of the hardware store extending from Durham street to Deer creek.

John Armstrong has purchased from Mrs. Harrison that property facing on St. Lawrence street nearly opposite the Methodist church. On the front is the bakehouse formerly occupied by Mr. Bowen and in the rear is a dwelling-house. It is Mr. Armstrong's intention to remove the bakehouse and to erect thereon a commodious and up-to-date blacksmith shop.

HONORARY CHAPLAIN OF ROTARY CLUB

Rev. Dr. MacTavish has been appointed Honorary Chaplain of the Rotary Club in Regina, Sask., for the duration of his visit to that city. On Tuesday he was the speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon when 75 members of the Club were present. Both the local daily papers of that city, The Leader and The Post, referred in very complimentary terms of Dr. MacTavish's address and gave quite a full report of it.

JUST A CAVALRY DISPLAY.

Capt. Bray, riding master at the Royal Military College, says that owing to the short time at his disposal for training the men, it is not proposed to present at the Cobourg horse show in August such an elaborate cavalry display as that given in 1913. A cavalry display will be given but one like that given at the Olympia would take more training than can be given the detachment at the present time.

GYPSIES STAGE THREE HOLD-UPS

On Wednesday evening a gypsy in an automobile, in which were also two women of his kind, held up three men along the Port Hope-Peterboro road, each time getting less than $10. One of the men was beaten up. This gang of gypsies, with three automobiles, were camped near the House of Refuge, at Cobourg, last week, leaving there the afternoon of the hold-ups.

NO POSTMASTER YET.

Though almost two months have elapsed since the death of the Deseronto postmaster, no appointment to fill the vacancy has as yet been made public. A couple of weeks ago an Inspector of the post office department was there looking over prospective candidates for the office. Until the new postmaster is appointed, the post office business will be ably conducted by sons of the late incumbent.

FIRE CAUSED DAMAGE.

Fire which broke out in the rear of a house on Russell street, Lindsay, occupied by Mr. Peter Bouchard, Tuesday evening, did considerable damage to the house and contents. Exactly at 6 p.m. the alarm was received, and in 35 minutes the firemen had the blaze out. The fire had gained such headway however, that damage by smoke and water, as well as fire, was unavoidable. The loss on the house, which is owned by the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, is estimated at $900, and a like amount on the contents with no insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

WANT OCEAN RATES REDUCED.

Representative meeting of fruit-growers and shippers, coming from various parts of the Province and held at Presque Ile Point, near Brighton, recently a resolution was passed after much discussion, asking the transportation companies to reduce the ocean rate of $2.20 per barrel to $1.80. It was pointed out that owing to the exceeding high cost of barrels and also of labor, it would be difficult to handle the large apple crop with any measure of success unless reductions were made.

Several growers reported that fruit was looking well for this season of the year, and in most orchards apples were free from fungus and other defects.
