

COMBLES FIGHTS AGAIN WITH BRITISH Second Zep. Raid on England Does Slight Damage

MOST SPLENDID ATTACK YET DELIVERED BY THE ALLIES DURING THE PRESENT OFFENSIVE

Such is Term Applied to Yesterday's Fighting on Somme Front—Summing up of the Victory—Combles, Hun Stronghold, is Practically Isolated—Germans are Now Compelled to Dig Their Trenches Under Fire From Allied Forces

By Courier Leased Wire. British Front in France, Sept. 25.—Via London, Sept. 26.—This has been another great day for the Anglo-French forces on the Somme. As a spectacle for the observer, it was the most splendid of all the attacks made by the allied forces since the commencement of the great offensive. What either army was trying to do and how they were doing it, the positions they held and sought to conquer in the team play of the blue French legions and the khaki-clad brigades of Britain, were comprehensible to the eye in the glorious autumn sunlight for a sweep of ten miles. The scene had the intoxication of war's grandeur—if war can be said to have any grandeur. To-night the British have taken half of Novval, all of Les'oeuf and have advanced their line on a front of 8,000 yards for an average depth of 1,000 yards. The French have stormed Bancourt, and have pushed their line to the outskirts of the little village of Friegicourt, a mile east and a little north of Combles. The German stronghold of Combles is virtually isolated.

The correspondent went forward yesterday over the ridge in the Devil's wood and Ginchey region, which the British had fought for over two months to gain. He walked for two miles through an area which reverberated to the blasts of the great guns, picking his way between the bursts of flame from the crashing batteries and moving around the rows of cannon as one who seeks a ford in a stream. On the other side of the ridge he saw guns where he had never seen them before—on the promised land of the lower levels which the British had won by persistent siege work. The guns were close up to the British infantry, who listened to their thunderous chorus as they prepared for the charge in today's attack. "The usual artillery preparation," said an artillery officer. In his return the correspondent declared that he would pass through that wilderness of British guns of all sizes and calibre, while he had any hearing left. Every one of them was firing at top speed. He chose a gallery which took him past many batteries which for two miles were pouring out their share of the raging tempest of gunfire. From the ruins of some old German trenches whence the battle panorama stretched before him, the correspondent had a near view of the French gunners who were feeding shells into the gun breeches as grain is fed into a threshing machine, and with the mechanical precision of automatons. Shortly after noon was the time chosen for the infantry to rush forward under the cover of a final intense chorus of hell from artillery. The ridges in front and on either hand were flecked with racing sparks of flame. Within an hour at least fifty thousand shells must have been fired within a radius of the correspondent. Far to the south was Mont St. Quentin, two miles from Peronne and commanding that town, which the allied commanders say, will fall like a ripe plum when the time comes. The hill lay hazy above the green foliage of the river valley in the midst of vast bursts of black smoke from small or enormous calibre. Directly in front was Combles, another town which has come to mean much to the imagination of the public in England and France, who seem to regard its capture as of vital significance. Combles differed from all the villages in sight in that the walls of its houses were made of brick, and in the fact that it formed an oasis in the midst of the storm of battle. Neither artillery nor infantry paid any attention to it. The guage of battle was the high ground around it, the possession of which means the command of the town. Farther north lay the ruins of Ginchey and Guilleumont. At the appointed time the waves of infantry surged forward and the German guns swelled to its utmost volume, until the whole field

BRANTFORD OFFICER Saw the Zeppelin Brought Down

A Brantford officer, during the course of a letter to friend says: I have been fortunate enough to be an eye-witness of a Zeppelin raid on old London. It was one of the things we had no hope of seeing, because in spite of the great headlines in the papers, it is a fact, that so far, the Zepp raids have not amounted to much. This time they came in numbers, unlucky numbers. Yet who can say that thirteen is unlucky. For the Germans, surely it was. For us, certainly not. I was rather late getting home on Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning, the 3rd of August. The city was in darkness. Looking over from Hampstead Heath, not the slightest ray of light was to be seen. The sky was cloudy, a perfect night for a raid. The great search-lights in and around London were suddenly turned on, shooting fantastic patterns of light and shadow, searching out hiding places behind black banks of mist, then concentrating on a spot where a Zeppelin might hide, or perhaps shining through an opening in the clear sky above. It seemed impossible to believe that any air ship could approach so well guarded a city. It reminded me of the wonderful Northern Lights gone wrong. Rays of light shooting here and there, jumping miles in a moment. It was a fantastic display wonderful and efficient. By this time all the gunners were at their posts. They were ready.

Casualties Still Heavy

The name of Pte. Arthur Gibbons of Paris appeared upon the official casualty list this morning as killed in action. Word received in the city yesterday by Mrs. W. D. Walcott, announced that her husband, Pte. W. D. Walcott, of the Princess Pats was at present suffering from a broken hip and arm. Pte. Walcott enlisted with the University Corps at Montreal, and became attached to the Princess Pats. To Mrs. Wm. Curtis, 201 Clarence street, came word on Sunday that her husband, Pte. Wm. Curtis of the 58th battalion had been admitted to the Clendon Park Hospital, Guildford, severely wounded in the thighs.

COMBLES IS ENTERED AT TWO POINTS BY BRITISH AND FRENCH

Last Hun Stronghold on Somme Front Yields to Allied Attack, and Huns Flee From Town—Drive of General Haig's Forces is Irresistible

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 26, 2 p.m.—The British have entered Combles, on the Somme front, the War Office announced to-day, and are overcoming the resistance of the Germans. Paris, Sept. 26, 12.15 p.m.—Continuing their offensive north of the Somme, the French last night captured all the village of Friegicourt and penetrated the Combles Cemetery. A French reconnoitering party reached the southern border of Combles, says to-day's official announcement. Eight hundred unwounded prisoners were taken in the fighting of yesterday on the Somme front. Violent counter-attacks were made by the Germans last night on the Verdun front, between Thiaumont work and Fleury. These assaults were checked by the French artillery and rifle fire

Combles, a town of some 2,000 population before the war, has been rendered of small strategic importance to the allies by their long continued encircling movement. It has been of notable value to the Germans however, because as long as they clung to it the Franco-British freedom of action in pushing their offensive movements towards Bapaume and Peronne on either side of it was hampered. Turned into a strongly fortified position by German defensive ingenuity, it has persistently held fast like a rock in the course of a turbulent stream that has had to be blasted loose before the channel was fully opened up. This progress has only been accomplished by long-continued and costly effort on the part of the allies. Driving in from the south the French successively swept by Hardecourt, Maurepas, Le Forest and finally reached Friegicourt, a mile to the east of Combles. More slowly, but none the less surely, the British have pushed their advance on the north of the German salient. Their struggles to reach and hold Ginchey and Guilleumont were expensive in time and men, but finally the ground north of Combles and some distance to the east was occupied, putting the town in a pocket which the Germans proved impossible to hold. The French pushed their line to the east of Friegicourt, severing communication with Combles over the southern road—that stretching towards Sully. The ground between Morval and Friegicourt, a mile and a half in width and reaching back toward Combles, was swept from either direction by the combined fire of French and British guns. It is not thought probable that any considerable force of German reconnoitering parties will hold Ginchey yesterday, when it was becoming evident that the allied forces were achieving their object of closing in to the east of the town. The Germans are reported to have begun withdrawing guns from it.

BULGARS ATTACKS WERE CHECKED

Enemy Repulsed on Macedonia Front Near Florina—Russo-French Gains.

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 26.—On the western end of the Macedonian front, to the east of Florina, the Bulgarians last night made violent counter attacks. To-day's official announcement says these assaults were checked by the French. West of Florina the Russians and French made a combined attack and took 50 prisoners. Between the Struma and Vardar, there was artillery fighting together with some skirmishes, especially on the British front. No infantry activity developed in the sector held by the Serbs.

proved by the drives of the allied Entente armies. Yesterday came the combined effort of the French and British to close the opening or at least render it so narrow that what could be extracted through it by the Germans would not be worthwhile. Only two roads remained over which the Germans could withdraw their men and guns. The single-track railroad running through the place had long since been rendered useless. Attacking from the north, General Haig's forces pushed on to and occupied Morval, cutting the northerly road, running to Le Transloy.

Striking from the south, the French pushed their line to the east of Friegicourt, severing communication with Combles over the southern road—that stretching towards Sully. The ground between Morval and Friegicourt, a mile and a half in width and reaching back toward Combles, was swept from either direction by the combined fire of French and British guns. It is not thought probable that any considerable force of German reconnoitering parties will hold Ginchey yesterday, when it was becoming evident that the allied forces were achieving their object of closing in to the east of the town. The Germans are reported to have begun withdrawing guns from it.

ATHLETIC MEET AT NIAGARA

215th Figured in Many of the Day's Contests With Some Success.

Niagara Camp enjoyed one of the best arranged, and most closely contested athletic events in its history on Saturday, when the men from the different units gathered there to do battle for the Camp Championship. This organization has, with the assistance of a good committee, largely supervised the athletic and sports life of the camp during the summer. Considering the many men on leave, the number of entries was large. The Camp Championship went to Colonel Arthur's 152nd Battalion, who of their origin in the north have termed themselves the "Timber Wolves." McClellan of the Cyclist was high point winner for the day, and proved himself a splendid all-round athlete. No small part was taken in the day's events by the 215th Battalion, which finished in fourth place, leading the 169th Battalion and the Dental Corps. Sergt. Stewart, formerly of the local police force, took second place in the half-mile race, while Lt. Ken Wood figured twice and won the running high jump. Pte. Stewart attained third place in the 449 yard dash.

count of the raid issued last night said that probably six Zeppelins took part in the attack. London, Sept. 26.—The announcement follows: "Seven airships raided England last night and in the early hours of this morning. The districts attacked were the south coast, the east coast, the northeast coast and the north midlands. The principal attack was aimed against the industrial centres in the last mentioned area. "Up to the present time no damage to factories or works of military importance has been reported. It is regretted, however, that a number of small houses and cottages were wrecked or damaged at some places, and twenty-nine deaths have been reported. "No attempt was made to approach London. The raiders were engaged by our anti-aircraft defenses and were successfully driven off from several large industrial centres."

bar; it's pretty well patronized, too. The ground where our camp is, is fairly level, but just out south-west, it's a great hill, while east the ground is much lower, and there are any amount of small villages just west, three and four miles from us, which we can visit every evening after five o'clock and Saturday and Sunday after 1 o'clock noon, so we have lots of places to go, while at the camp we have large Y. M. C. A. huts and other society huts, and just 100 yards from us is a street called Tinoway; every kind of store; bank, post-office, buy anything and one hotel. It's 3d. a pint. Well, we're still going strong, all in good health. Had our teeth examined to-day. I've got to have some filled, and going to have new clothing issued this week-end. I'm putting in for another week-end pass next week, because now they're all back from their six days' leave, we're to start on week-end passes and only 10 per cent. are allowed each week, so I'm trying for mine early. It will come around again all the quicker. Well, I'm very glad to hear you are all as well as you are. Gee, wouldn't they all be pleased to see you over here. Too bad you could not be here, so I'm trying for mine early. I'm thinking you will have a small crop of potatoes. Don't talk of living high over there; you don't know what it is. It's terrible here, and the wages very little higher. Our money goes nowhere. When in London, of course we only had four clear days. Nobody seems to worry about the war much but they're quite serious and resolute. I will write again soon, so goodbye for the present."

SPAIN SENDS A PROTEST

Torpedoing of Her Ships by German Subs Is Subject of Complaint.

By Courier Leased Wire. Madrid, Sept. 25, via Paris, Sept. 26.—The Spanish Government has sent a note to Berlin, protesting against the torpedoing of Spanish steamers by German submarines. Recent despatches from Spain have stated that the country was growing annoyed by the country over the loss of Spanish ships through the operation of German submarines. The Spanish shipowners association recently presented a demand to the Government that some steps should be taken to protect shipping.

Huns Repulsed by Russians

By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, Sept. 26, via London, 2.20 p.m.—German troops, after fierce artillery preparation, yesterday launched an attack against the Russian trenches north of Lake Kaldychev, says the Russian official statement issued to-day. The German artillery preparation, yesterday, the statement adds, leaving a large number of killed and wounded on the field. The text says: "Western front: "An enemy aeroplane, of the Ilya Mourman type, appeared over Hittenberg station and threw down seven 72-pound bombs without causing any damage. "In the region south of Dvinsk, one of the enemy aeroplanes fired upon by our artillery turned over and was compelled to land. The machine became enveloped in black smoke as it descended towards the enemy's lines. "In the region north of Lake Kaldychev, after fierce artillery preparation the enemy launched an assault with a force of about two battalions. The enemy was repelled with great losses by our energetic fire and left between our lines and his trenches a large number of killed and wounded." Regulations for the enrolment of a maximum of 5,000 men for service in the Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve, to be utilized for overseas service in the Royal Navy, have been approved by order-in-council.

Twenty-Nine Killed in Another Zeppelin Raid

London, Sept. 26.—Another Zeppelin raid on the east coast of England occurred last night. The following official statement was issued at midnight by Sir John French: "Several hostile airships crossed the east and northeast coasts between 10.30 o'clock and midnight. "Bombs were dropped in some places in the northern midland counties. "One airship was reported off the south coast. Twenty Nine Killed By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 26.—12.30 p.m.—Twenty nine persons were killed in last night's Zeppelin raid, it was announced officially to-day. The Zeppelin raid of last night, the second within the last week, was made by several airships between 10.30 o'clock and midnight. They crossed over the east and northeast coasts and dropped bombs in the northern counties. The official ac-

Food Not up to Much at First But Now Much Improved—Discipline is Much More Severe

The many who have taken so much pleasure out of the letters appearing in these columns from Pte. V. Cutmore, will be interested to know that he has now been made a Corporal. In his last epistle he says: "I guess you're all wondering what we're doing over here. First of all, you ask where this place is. It's in Hampshire, 42 miles from London, 30 from Reading, 26 from Portsmouth; that's the best I can tell you, but it's the prettiest country I ever saw. Hills, lanes, hedges everywhere. Oh, it's real, but the weather spoils everything and gives one a pain. A and B Co. had their 6 days leave first then C and D, and it rained more or less the whole time. We drill more here by far than we did in Canada, and for different subjects have different Imperial instructors, and they're certainly smart and snappy; no moving around and fawning while on parade, or you're quickly spotted. Of course we're still learning the same old thing over again, and so the boys are grumbling and the weather makes them sore too. But being much stricter makes it much better, I mean; we're soldiering now. The physical drill is, oh, gee, hop and jump; it's drawn and muscle alright, and they don't forget to bowl you out. Most of our officers are taking classes again. At first our food was very poor and we kicked good and proper, so Capt. Bingle put a strong complaint in, and now we're being fed fine; sometimes three vegetables for dinner; that's going some, eh? The whole battalion feeds in one big hut. I explained the huts to you, didn't I? There's one canteen to buy any eatables, and another, or rather it's a

SPECIAL SERVICES CONDUCTED IN BAPTIST CHURCHES OF CITY

Rev. Gordon of Montreal Spoke in City at Morning and Evening Services on Sunday Last

The services held in Calvary Church on Sunday were indicative of the splendid hopeful spirit that characterizes the work there. The congregational singing was most enjoyable, the anthems sung by the choir were well rendered and appropriate, and the sermons stirring and timely.

The morning address, delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Bowyer, on the subject "A Message of Assurance" was based on the words found in 2 Cor. 8:23, "Whether ye do enquire of Titus, he is my partner and fellow-helper concerning you; or our brethren be enquired of, they are the messengers of the churches, and the glory of Christ." In his introduction Mr. Bowyer showed that the apostle Paul appreciated the support of the Corinthian Christians in extending the progress of the gospel. So to-day the efforts of those engaged in the service of the Master are appreciated. Even though criticism is often levelled against the individual church member, it is yet recognized that the Church is the noblest institution of all time. The Church is and has been behind great philanthropic, social and moral reform movements. In these days of war, the Church, though she loves peace does not countenance a shameful and dishonorable peace, so in behalf of righteousness and justice she has sent her sons and daughters to the place of warfare to maintain her ideals.

Eliminate the church from the country and from the community, and the doors would be opened to confusion and anarchy. In the application of the text, the speaker delivered himself as follows: Titus and the brethren were representatives of the Church.

1. The Church must be maintained on the co-operative plan. Partnership and fellowship must obtain. "We are laborers together with Him." In this co-operation there will be (1) a guiding intellect, (2) inspired by a loving heart, and (3) requiring a loyal obedience.

2. The Church must have a service of communication. Her work does not lie within the four walls of her building, but must be wider than that. It is the province of the messenger to communicate. The Church is a messenger, if she does not send forth the message she has no right to exist, and the most appropriate service—for such a dead church is a burial service. The message that the church should communicate must guide the footsteps of the erring and sinful to God.

3. The Church must manifest the glory of Christ.

This glory is a spiritual glory. It is not to be found primarily in the exercise of temporal or political power though the latter ought to be influenced by it. This glory is the possession and expression of the spirit of Christ. It is the effulgence of a transformed life. It is radiated from a personality that has been surrendered to the will of the heavenly Father.

It therefore should be the ambition of the Church to evidence the Christ likeness in all her activities. Such a conception of the Church would conduce to the realization of her divine mission.

In the evening Rev. G. H. Baker, of Montreal, spoke to a good congregation from Rev. 1:6-7, "Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and to Him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen." In this text the character of Christ was set forth as that of an ordinary person, but was divine, his character was shown by His great love, His work was to redeem mankind, and to raise the status of humanity. Mr. Baker powerfully appealed to those who had not done so to accept the invitation of this great Saviour. The sermon was followed by a solo beautifully sung by Mrs. R. H. Martin.

Park Baptist

Sunday was a good day in Park Baptist church. At the morning service the Rev. Dr. Gordon H. Baker, B.A., B.D., Pastor of the Temple Baptist Church of Montreal, was the preacher. Prior to the sermon by Rev. Dr. Baker being delivered, the Pastor, the Rev. W. H. Wrighton gave a five minutes sermon to the children, which was much enjoyed. There was a large congregation present.

The Rev. Mr. Baker chose, as his subject, "The Glory of the Cross" and his text taken from Galatians 6:14: "But God forbid that should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." Paul was a messenger of the cross—he preached Jesus and the resurrection and this gospel was preached in Montreal in all evangelical churches, and in the Baptist Temple in that City, and it was worth his while to come the distance he had to, preach such a gospel. The Reverend gentleman; used the old familiar hymn "When I survey the wondrous Cross" and on which the Prince of Glory died My richest gain I count but loss.

"This is a favourite hymn of mine and I love it," said the preacher, "for it brings us into the very centre of the universe—the Cross of Jesus." The most marvelous thing that Jesus did was on the Cross. The one thing that men fully need to understand is the way of the Cross. "The more I think of it, the more I love it," the wondrous Cross. "Why is it wondrous? Because God was on the Cross, and the King of Glory was there. God's love was there. 'Grasp that thought!' said the preacher "then we will understand what the crucifixion really is—what it teaches." It teaches us that it included a tremendous sacrifice—God's sacrifice—who for and what for? For you and for me—for your sins and mine. It was God's sacrifice. Suppose a mother saw her son lay down his life on the field of battle for his King and Country, who would be the greatest sufferer—who would make the greatest sacrifice—the mother or the son? Oh, the mother, and so God made this sacrifice for us, in giving his only begotten son—Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, made a sacrifice for the sin of the world, and your sins and mine of the great wonders of the Cross, and should cause us to think about it. Then again, the Value of the Cross. It is beyond everything in the world, and the whole of the world.

"When I survey the wondrous cross On which the Prince of Glory died, My richest gain I count but loss, And pour contempt on all my pride. Forbid it Lord that I should boast, Save in the death of Christ, my God, All the vain things that charm me most, I sacrifice them to his blood."

If we can come to this point, when we give up all the vain things that charm us most—these are not hateful mean sins, but the great pleasures, the charming things that lead us away from His service. If we can sit down and say "I sacrifice them to His blood," then will our hearts be set on fire the love of God and His service. "How many of you here to-day have sat down and considered what the Cross really means to you?" The vision of the Cross would fill our souls with reverence. The courage and the bravery of the Canadian boys at their recent great engagement on the Somme, caused distinguished men to say "Hats off to the Canadian boys." So when we consider the great victory won over the arch enemy, by the Captain of our Salvation through the Cross we can sing:

"In the cross of Christ I glory T'wixt the wrecks of time All a light of sacred story Gathers round its head sublime." This after all is but the negative side. Now for the positive.

"Were all the realms of nature mine That were a present far too small: Love so amazing, so divine Demands my soul, my life, my all."

"Can you say that 'Will you now make the surrender and lay upon the altar your soul, your life, your all: May God help us all so to do, then we shall be able to rejoice in the Cross."

At the close of the sermon, of which the foregoing is but a brief outline, the Rev. Dr. Hooper, the former esteemed and beloved pastor of Park Church, closed with the benediction. This is the first time Park Church has had the privilege of hearing this good, earnest and eloquent preacher (Rev. Mr. Baker) and we will gladly welcome him again at any time.

In this afternoon at 3 o'clock, one of the largest gatherings, the Park Church Bible school had had for some years, gathered in the school room on the occasion of their Rally Day and Quarterly Review. There was a good programme, many of the little ones taking part in a most creditable manner. Rev. Dr. Hooper conducted the review, and gave a most interesting and inspiring address upon the three "P's"—Peter, Paul and Pilgrimage. Under the superintendency of Dr. Stanley and Mr. A. G. Olive, backed by a good staff of officers and teachers, all the classes turned out well.

At the evening service, Rev. W. H. Wrighton, the pastor, was in good form, and conducted an evangelistic service. The Rev. Dr. Hooper offered up the invocation in a most impressive manner. The Rev. Mr.

Wrighton's subject was, "The Great Decision"—the text being the words from Joshua 24:15 "Choose you this day whom ye will service, etc." The sermon was a most earnest and faithful Gospel message, and was most appropriate and a fitting accompaniment to the moving sermon of the Rev. Mr. Baker. Joshua was now an aged man, as could be seen by looking at the 23rd chapter, and now in his advanced years, he from his long experience in life could still declare "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." The history of Israel's idolatry was dwelt upon. The choice was man's. "Choose you this day whom ye will." It was imperative because of the importance, no other day was there's but the present—"Choose this day?" The responsibility was put upon man to choose, as well as the privilege. Man was a free agent—the choice was his. If in the end he was lost, it was because he did not choose to serve the Lord, but rejected Him and his service. The invitation was given to any in the church who had not yet decided, to do so now, and make their choice at once.

The music was good, and all the services interesting, earnest and profitable.

COMBLES FALLS AT LENGTH

Its Capture by British Was Imminent—Review of the Day's War News.

By Courier Lensed Wire.

London, Sept. 26.—British and French troops to-day reached the town of Combles, on the Somme front, after having virtually pocketed the place in a struggle of many weeks duration and are fighting to gain complete possession of it.

Attacking from the north, British troops have forced their way into the place and are overcoming the German resistance there. On the south the French have reached the town's edge and have penetrated the cemetery. In addition they have further closed the small opening left in the Combles pocket by capturing all of the village of Fregicourt, a mile to the east.

The Combles salient, doggedly maintained by the Germans has long been a serious hindrance to the allies, hampering them in their offensive toward Bapaume and Peronne. Its elimination, however, seemed imminent after yesterday's combined thrust by the Franco-British forces, which carried them to Morval on the one side and Fregicourt, on the other, leaving as a line of retreat for the Germans only a roadless gap a mile and a half in width swept by the allied guns.

Bombs dropped in last night's Zeppelin raid on England, carried out by some half dozen of these German air craft, caused the death of 29 persons, it was officially announced in London to-day.

While the great battle on the Somme front was at its height the Germans last night attacked the French lines at Verdun, driving in between the Thiaumont work and Henry to the east of the Meuse. Paris to-day announces that the French guns were effective in checking the German assaults.

GREEK CHIEF OF STAFF RESIGNS

Gen Moschopoulos, Friend of the Entente, Quits His Position.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 26.—General Constantine Moschopoulos, chief of the staff of the Greek army, has resigned, according to Reuter's despatch from Athens.

General Moschopoulos commanded the Greek forces at Saloniki at the time of the landing of Anglo-French expeditionary force. He ordered the troops under his command to salute French and British officers and was generally reported to be friendly to the cause of the allies. In August General Moschopoulos was appointed chief of staff and in a statement given to the press expressed the hope that he could strengthen the good relations between Greece and the Entente powers.

"I think I can be a precious advocate of the Entente," he said.

THE SITUATION

After three days of an artillery bombardment, which far exceeded anything of the kind even in this, the greatest of all wars, the French and the British yesterday again struck a tremendous blow at the Hun on the Somme front.

In the Dobrudja region, a great allied victory has been secured by the Roumanian-Russo forces. There are no details, but Petrograd announces that two thousand prisoners were taken.

JUDGES AS COMMISSIONERS.

The incident in Winnipeg when Hon. Mr. Rogers intimated that Judges who took extra fees of $100 a day or so, for conducting enquiries outside of their regular duties, were in the grater class, has resulted in centring public attention upon the fact that occupants of the bench, especially in certain cases, do make many thousands extra in this way.

Judges get high salaries, and liberal allowances when they retire. For instance, in Ontario, the Chief Justice gets $9,000 per annum and the others $8,000 each.

The whole matter is one which stands in need of rectification. It will be quite generally thought that when the necessity for judicial enquiry arises, it would be far better to obtain the services of a retired Judge than of one who is actively engaged in work on the bench, and who should devote his whole time thereto if the same is to be properly performed.

Orville Ellis, regarded by the Chatham police as an incorrigible youth, was sentenced to serve two years in the Ontario Reformatory for a series of robberies.

The late Lieut. Gordon Crew, of Welland, won a military cross at Ypres, in June, when he stuck to his trenches had been blown to bits. He escaped death or detection and returned to his lines at night with valuable information.

A LIBERAL CLAIM WHICH IS BUNCOMBE

It is the continual and impudent claim of the Grits that the Liberals are a progressive party and the Conservatives a set of stand-pats, who are well content to leave things as they are.

Perhaps I had better restate my hypothesis. The difference between Liberals and Conservatives, the earth over, is the difference between new ideas, and old ones, between unfamiliar ideas and accepted ones, between untried theories and established conditions.

Having released himself of this epasm, Mr. Gadsby in the self same article, very promptly proceeds to contradict himself. He says that as might be expected, after the great work of Confederation, there was a large famine of ideas, lasting forty-four years, from 1867 to 1911.

During this period Canadian statesmen were visited, by three great ideas, two of which belonged to the Conservatives and one to the Liberals.

As to the latter Gadsby admits that "it did not get across at all." The three ideas upon which he dwells are the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the National Policy, both proved successes, and Reciprocity, a scheme which the people rejected so emphatically that it hurried the Liberal Government out of office.

Another illustration that Conservative administrations are much more progressive than Liberal ones is to be found in the case of Ontario. The Reformers held power in this Province for over thirty years, and in the few years the Conservatives have been in power they have introduced more genuine reforms than the Mowatt-Ross outfit ever dreamed of.

The whole claim that the difference between Liberals and Conservatives "is the difference between new ideas and old ones" is totally unwarranted by the facts and sheer buncombe.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It is said that the French are contemplating the dropping of bombs upon Berlin in reprisals for the Zepp attacks on Great Britain. Why not?

Hon. Mr. Rogers is back in Ottawa and is Acting Premier. It is not believed that Judge Galt will come later as his guest.

Our old friend, Grand Duke Nicholas, has not figured in the despatches just lately. He will though, never fear.

This Bush Yields only 2 1/2 ozs. yearly.

A very small yield considering the size of the bush. It takes about 6 1/2 bushes to yield a pound of ordinary tea—and about 10 bushes to yield a pound of Red Rose Tea, as only the tender shoots and buds are used to produce the distinctive flavor and richness which characterize this high-grade tea.

THE PRE-ONE THING

London Times: In a great allegory which we call the Book of Job, there is a wonderful description of feverish industrial energy such as is required of a land that is compelled by the pressure of enemies to become self-supporting.

When the shooting occurred Beecher, as a lower school student, was farming in lieu of attending high school, and would have obtained his lower school entrance to Normal school. No doubt, should he be found not guilty of the crime laid at his door, the Department of Education will refuse to grant the certificate on the illogical technicality that the boy's pursuit of books in confinement has not prepared him as would work out of doors, for going on with the middle school course.

NEWS FROM SIMCOE

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Courier Contest Arouses Great Deal of Enthusiasm.

Simcoe, Sept. 25.—(From our own correspondent.)—Lt. A. C. Burt, in the veterinary service at Saloniki, and reported ill in the hospital a month ago, is convalescing. The good news broke a trying suspense for his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Winnie, who were while in Brantford, whether she had gone this morning to visit her parents.

More Real Estate Exchanges. Mrs. Canon Hicks has purchased the Scott residence, north of the ring on Lynnwood Avenue.

Mr. George Muir, formerly of Brantford, who has recently taken charge of the Cockshutt warerooms here, has purchased a dwelling on Maple street from Mr. Joseph Coates.

Mr. Simons, of Burgessville, has bought a frame dwelling on Heud street from Lynn Cratt.

J. E. Butler and Son of Vittoria, lost their planing mill by fire on Thursday night, and only the good work of the citizens of the village saved the saw mill, which stood close by. There was no insurance. Loss, about $3,000.

Pte. Sanderson Peters was the next recruit to turn in. He was due in camp a week ago and when found at his home on Norfolk street, this forenoon, could not produce any of his outfit except his haversack, belt and a pair of shoes, minus the laces. He will appear before Squire Earl in the morning.

Officer McIntosh of the Children's Aid Society informs us that he has instigated three young fellows from Charlotteville, who were implicated in the investigation held here last Friday.

Rutherford and Kayser have a unique clock decoration in their window of sportsman's goods labelled "It's time to shoot." The last novelty which attracted attention there was a June window of binder twine representing the first L. E. and N. train. After years at the business here, Roy Wallace's delivery service has been discontinued.

Manager Phillips of the Unique Shoe Company and Architect Tilley of Brantford were in town to-day on business.

Sergt. Teas leaves town on Thursday, his leave of absence from the battle front having expired.

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Eaid finished their honeymoon visiting the former's parents over this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Mat. Porters have not yet returned from Hartford, where their son, E. F. Porter is stricken with a relapse from pneumonia. A wire to-day speaks of decided improvement.

Customs officer Maboe of Port Rowan is attending to the customs here in Mr. Porter's absence.

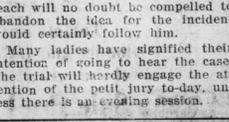

The I. O. O. F. sent forward to the firing line to-day sixty pairs sox, 40 pairs to Captain Gunton, 15 pairs to Bugler E. Geo. Green, and 15 pairs to Capt. La Pierre. The cheer for the ordinary Frenchman or Italian is a highly organized compound of gravity and rhetoric, the Teuton a lump of heaviness, the Russian or Scandinavian an abyss of melancholy.

The youth, Beecher, approaches his trial in good spirits. Throughout his confinement, he has been well supplied with books and flowers and the monotony of prison fare by kind-hearted citizens from town and by regular visitors from his own community.

When the shooting occurred Beecher, as a lower school student, was farming in lieu of attending high school, and would have obtained his lower school entrance to Normal school. No doubt, should he be found not guilty of the crime laid at his door, the Department of Education will refuse to grant the certificate on the illogical technicality that the boy's pursuit of books in confinement has not prepared him as would work out of doors, for going on with the middle school course.

But Beecher, he ever aspired to teach will not doubt be compelled to abandon his school, for the incident would certainly follow him.

Many ladies have signified their intention of going to hear the case. The trial will hardly engage the attention of the petit jury to-day, unless there is an evasive session.

THE GOLDEN WATERFALL

Peter Frank was an elf, not a very big elf, as elves go, but a pretty busy one. He was always hunting for something to do. And that's how he came to be prowling around the fairy forest, peering with his bright eyes here and there and everywhere.

And 'twas he who found the golden waterfall flowing with a golden splash over a tree branch. How a waterfall could flow over a tree branch I don't know, but this one did, for Peter Frank told the wind and the wind told me. And you must remember this was a fairy forest.

Splash! Splash! same the lovely golden shower over the tree branch with never a sound to mortal's ears and just the faintest one to Peter's. He flew up and dipped his hand in the magic golden water. It was warm and soft and when he drew forth his hand he found it quite dry.

"Why," cried Peter Frank in delight, "I'll build me a birch canoe and shoot the golden rapids. 'Twill be fine sport."

So Peter built a tiny canoe, found some elves to help him carry it and went at dusk in search of the golden waterfall.

It was gone. Now the other elves laughed so hard at Peter Frank that he hung his head and sulked, but the next day when he came there was the golden waterfall splashing merrily over the tree branch.

Peter Frank hid his fairy horn and summoned the elves to witness. All day the elves sailed the golden rapids, flying up to the tree branch with the bark canoe and shooting downwards, but when the shadows were lengthened in the afternoon, thud! went the canoe with a dreadful bang and the frightened elves, looking back, found that the fairy waterfall had disappeared in the very middle of their sailing, leaving them nothing at all to sail upon.

A queer waterfall they soon discovered. It disappeared when it rained. It seemed afraid of clouds. But when the day was bright and the sun shone, then the golden waterfall flowed in a merry cascade over the tree branch and the elves frolicked all the day long.

Peter Frank told old Dr. Owl about it. "Bring me a bottle of this strange warm golden water that makes no noise and never wets!" said Dr. Owl. So Peter and the elves gathered a bottle of the golden water and carried it to the tree-home of Dr. Owl and when he saw it, the owl began to laugh. He laughed and he laughed until he had to wipe his spectacles.

"Foolish elves!" he cried. "This naught but sunlight that flows through a gap in the leaves overhead and breaks upon the tree, branches into a golden cascade. No wonder it disappears in cloud and dusk."

And that ended the mystery of the golden waterfall.

The local post office officials experienced the heaviest British and foreign mail yesterday that has come in for a long time. This was due to the simultaneous arrival of two boats.

WANTS TO FIGHT AGAIN

Frank Shaughnessy, the former Canadian League baseball manager, will likely be found in khaki this week. The famous athlete has decided to enlist and will be a lieutenant.

A DISTINGUISHED CAR.

The Chief's car at the fire hall was being decorated this morning with the words "Fire Dept." to distinguish it from other cars of the same type. The work is being done by Mr. Thos. Thomson, who is an experienced and capable man.

COMMENCED WORK.

Work was commenced yesterday morning on the new building to be occupied by the Hygienic Dairy at 226 Colborne St., opposite the coal and wood yard of Jno. Mann and Sons. The office of the company is to be located at the street while the factory will be built in the rear. The structure which will be entirely modern, will probably be completed and ready for occupation by December 15th.

BRANTFORD FAIR.

The time is drawing near for this great annual county event, when everybody meets everybody else and there is a great fraternal gathering generally. Not only is this the case, but the exhibition in itself is always well worth seeing, and the prize list and the attractions will this year be better than ever. Oct. 3rd and 4th are the days of the exhibition and on the last named date an added feature will be the attendance of the Galt Kilites' band. On this day also a special train will be run from Brantford, leaving the Grand Trunk Station at 1.15 p.m. and Colborne St. station at 1.20.

WESLEY EPWORTH.

The regular weekly meeting of Wesley Epworth League was held in the schoolroom of the church last night, when about 30 members were present. Mr. J. R. Pennell gave a very interesting talk on "Child Welfare." Dealing with the important subject of "Child Labor" at the present critical time, when the labor question was so serious, Miss Pauline Howard read the lesson.

SUFFICIENCY OF TEACHERS

Mr. T. W. Standing, Inspector of the county schools, stated this morning that all schools inside his jurisdiction, had been supplied with qualified teachers, no teachers holding third class certificates having been resorted to. This would indicate a sufficiency of teachers, but Mr. Standing would not go so far as to say that a surplus existed.

BUILDING PERMITS

Two permits were issued at the office of the city engineer this morning, one being to John Townsend for the erection of a one storey brick addition to kitchen, at No. 7 Simpson St., to cost $100. The other permit was granted to John Knight, for the construction of a frame stable at the rear of house No. 12 Brunswick St., to cost $150.

HARVEST SERVICES.

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held at St. Paul's Church on Sunday. There were good congregations at all three services. The musical part of the service was ably rendered by the choir, and the church was tastefully decorated by a loyal band of workers. Special music, including harvest hymns and an Anthem, "Praise the Lord" was given. A liberal Thankoffering for the church expenses was contributed. The Social Committee of the church is inviting all the members of the congregation to a Harvest Social on Friday evening next, in the schoolroom.

Obituary

Mrs. Ford
The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Henry Ford, aged 73 years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Codd, 97 Oxford Street. Besides her daughter, she leaves to mourn her loss, one son, William Lancaster, of this city. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, to Mt. Hope Cemetery.

The death occurred this morning of an old resident of the city, and a firm adherent of Park Baptist church, the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Sickle, 265 Darling St. She leaves to mourn her loss four daughters, Lottie and Jean at home, Mrs. Alleyway, of Toronto, and Mrs. Wm. Turnbull, of Topeka, Kansas; also two sons, Herbert of Glen Morris and William of California. The funeral will take place to the St. George cemetery, the arrangements being not yet completed.

Infant Gawoski
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gawoski, of 35 Niagara St. mourn the loss of their infant son, Joseph, who passed away yesterday aged nine months. The funeral took place to-day to St. Basil's church and St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mrs. Thos. White.
An old and highly respected resident of the city fell asleep last night in the person of Mrs. Thomas White. Pneumonia was the cause of the demise. Deceased, who was in her eighty-seventh year, met with an accident some five years ago, whereby she dislocated her hip, but she never lost her cheeriness and her intellect was bright until the last. She was a native of Cornwall, England, and came here soon after her marriage. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church and was always ardent in doing good. Since the outbreak of the war, her busy fingers had knitted scores of socks for the boys at the front, and she also took a great interest in the Belgian fund. In fact one of her last requests was that money which might be spent for floral tokens at her funeral should instead be devoted to the cause named. A very fine Christian woman has been called home and one whose benign influence was felt by all with whom she came in contact. She leaves two daughters to mourn her great loss, Miss Nellie at home, and Mrs. (Rev.) Ebers, Mrs. Livingston is a niece, Mrs. White having been a sister of the late Mrs. H. W. Brethour.

Wedding Bells

Belshaw—Balshaw
A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday, Sept. 25, by the Rev. Wray K. Smith, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Balshaw, when Alice, youngest daughter, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, to Mr. Robert Belshaw. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a beautiful gown of satin de chine with crystal trimmings and was attended by her sister, Miss Georgina Balshaw who looked pretty in a gown of embroidered voile. Mr. Frederick William Belshaw, brother of the groom acted as best man. After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the dining room, where a dainty luncheon was served.
The happy young couple will take up their residence at 56 Brunswick Street.

DEFEATED GERMANY IS NOW VERDICT OF AMERICAN PRESS

Now Only a Question of Time When the End Will Come--Germany Had Her Chance, But Lost it

By Courier Leased Wire.
New York, Sept. 26.—The Tribune this morning, in its leading editorial, under the caption, "Defeated Germany," says:

"As we approach the end of the third campaigning period of the great war, one fact stands out clear beyond all cavil. There is no longer any question in the minds of any but the most pronounced of Germany's sympathizers as to the ultimate outcome of the conflict. It is patent to the least trained military eye that Germany is beaten. What the military men of the world are now debating is the length of time that will be required to make absolute a decision that is no longer a subject of debate.

"If one goes back over the history of the tremendous struggle, it now becomes perfectly clear that we have lived through two distinct and completed phases, that we are living in the midst of a third, which is marked by very clear and unmistakable facts. The first phase of the war was the supreme effort of a nation of 65,000,000 of people, having as an ally another nation of 50,000,000, to destroy the military establishments of three nations with a combined population of 215,000,000 in Europe alone, and with almost unlimited resources outside before these nations could prepare as Germany was prepared. Choosing her own moment, choosing her own field of activity, having unrivalled artillery, unsuspected resources in the air and on the battlefield, Germany struck. Her great general staff expected to dispose of France while Britain was still without any really formidable army. It was their view that Austria would hold Russia in check until France was disposed of.

"Two years ago when Germany struck France, Britain had rather less than 150,000 available for service on the continent. To-day she has ten times as many on the continent. French and British artillery have now a superiority over Germany and the supply of munitions of the allies is also superior in the west.

After a lengthy resume of the various campaigns during the two years of the war, the Tribune concludes: "Germany has had her chance and she has not won. She did not succeed in crushing unprepared enemies possessing inferior numbers of trained troops when she chose to strike. Now numbers, preparation, everything has turned against her.

Her enemies are bleeding her white and dividing the costs among superior numbers. These enemies no longer have the smallest doubt as to the outcome of the war. All the allied countries feel themselves to be victorious at present moment, and count no sacrifice too great to contribute to the ultimate collapse of the enemy.

"No one expects to see a material change in the situation before the campaign of next summer. Few people now expect peace before 1918, but the summer campaign now coming to an end has abolished all doubt in London, Paris, Rome, Petrograd. The third phase has only begun, but the end of the third phase is revealed to all. We are looking at Germany in defeat and the evidences of defeat mount daily.

After the hasty and improvised means of resistance which the necessities of early months forced on the French commanders, there have come the scientific method and the new disposition of powerful material handled in a new way, he says in The Paris Journal. The great new war machine was built up behind the immovable barrier of the heroism and spirit of sacrifice of the soldiers and of the genius of the chiefs. He describes the immense workshops covering many square miles of ground behind the Somme front, the new roads, over which endless lines of trucks are constantly moving, the new system of railway lines, the artillery and munitions depots filled to their utmost capacity, and the guns, from the famous 75's to the giant 604 millimetre cannon and the 400-millimetre howitzers.

"But the newest thing of all," he says, "the most marvellous and the most extraordinary in its consequences, is the absolute mastery of the French aviation service, which reigns in uncontestable supremacy over all the broad stretch of the Picardy sky."

Other Notes from Paris

(From Our Own Correspondent)
Paris, Sept. 25.—The many friends of Mr. J. A. Kneale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kneale, Banfield St., will be very pleased to know of the honor that has been conferred upon him. Well known in Y. M. C. A. circles as one of its most ardent workers, he has been appointed by the National Council to a very important position. His duties will now consist in working among the soldiers on the transports crossing the Atlantic to England, and he will return in charge of a party of wounded. It is the general opinion that the selection is a wise one. Mr. Kneale by disposition being the right man in the right place. He has been in charge of the Y. M. C. A. camp at Niagara this summer, and last year worked with the soldiers at Quebec and Valcartier, and consequently well known among the men. The directors of St. Catharines Y. M. C. A., of which Mr. Kneale is the popular general secretary, have given him leave of absence until the close of the war.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Brantford Road, have received word that their son, Sergt. John Scott, had been killed in action. Sergt. Scott enlisted early in the war, and was home for a short time this summer to recuperate from a siege of sickness. He had only been back in the trenches a short time when he received the injuries which resulted in his death. Sergt. Scott leaves a wife (nee, Florence English) of Brantford, and a little child. Sergt. Scott was born in Paris and received his education here. Before leaving for Brantford he was employed in the Paris winery mill. Pte. Scott of the 215th battalion, is also a brother of the deceased.

Miss Irene Nash of Hamilton is the guest of her friend, Miss Beatrice Hicks.

Friends in town of Mr. W. T. Lasky, will regret to learn that he is suffering from blood poisoning in his left arm. He was pulling weeds in the garden and he is thought to have scratched the back of his hand on some bars he was moving.

Many friends of Captain J. H. Pearce, of the 215th Battalion, will regret to learn that he has had to be relieved of his military duties owing to ill health. Four Old Residents

Brant County can boast of an exceedingly healthful climate if the longevity of four of its citizens residing near Kelvin is to be taken as the standard of the county. City Assessor A. G. Ludlow while in Kelvin on business recently saw four men whose ages aggregated 360 years. They were William Pretty, 92 years; Harvey Bowman, 85 years; John Milne, 86 years and John Groat, 97 years, and all reside within a radius of half a mile. This unique quartette all enjoy the best of health and are actively engaged in some form of work.

Mr. Bowman who recently attended the Toronto Exhibition, failed to meet his son at Scotland on his return as had been previously arranged and decided to walk. He accomplished the distance between Scotland and Kelvin in one hour and five minutes, which is years his junior would find difficulty better than some men a score or so in doing. Mr. Baldwin, who has never indulged in tobacco in any form, has cultivated three acres of potatoes this season.

The city has been divided into five divisions, and each division into five sub-divisions, hence our slogan "The Big 5 Campaign." Each Sub-Division will be canvassed by a team captain and 4 men, so every available young man and boy will be given an opportunity to link up with the great work of the Y.M.C.A. is doing both from a physical and recreation standpoint, as well as that of being a power for good in the community.

It is the one place in the city whose doors are always open to any young man or boy who desires to use it. You'll find there good-fellowship, bright surroundings, comfortable lounge and reading rooms, all kinds of recreation and ample dormitories for all who want to make it their home.

Think it over—any member or official will be glad to answer questions or explain its features at any time.

Y.M.C.A. work is seldom self-supporting and is always dependent upon the generosity of its friends for maintenance. To provide for young men a place where only elevating influences are at work, where an enjoyable time can be spent and where real benefit can be derived, is surely an investment worth while. So, even if you cannot make actual use of a membership yourself you will not make it possible for some young man or boy—perhaps less fortunate than you—to enjoy its advantages.

Your contribution will be appreciated and applied in any way you designate.

The year just closing has been a strenuous one for the organization. All fast winter we catered to the wants of the hundreds of soldiers then in our city and want to be in a position again this year to do the same thing for those we will have back again in a few weeks.

Your assistance is necessary.

G.T.R. Trains Will Not Whistle

The Grand Trunk Railway has sent the following reply to Mayor Bowby's letter, which they received last week, and a copy of which appeared in the Courier.

Mayor of City of Brantford.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of Sept. 18th, respecting by-law No. 877, of the Corporation of the City of Brantford, received and has been referred to Trainmaster R. H. Pich, who has jurisdiction of this matter, and I assure you same will receive prompt attention.

Respectfully,
G. A. BOND, Agent.

During last night and the early hours this morning the nuisance was maintained however, and although the Mayor stated that harmonious relations should exist between the city and the Grand Trunk, he called up the local office of the railway by telephone and was given definite assurance that this nuisance would be abolished.

Four Tickets is the Limit

Seat Sale for Big Series Limited—Red Sox Study the Dodgers.

Boston, Sept. 26.—Reservations in the world's series games, to be played in this city by the Boston-Americans retain their league championship, will be allotted on a basis of priority of mail applications, acknowledgment of which will be forwarded by mail. It is expected to start the machinery of distribution by Wednesday. Not more than four tickets will be allowed to one applicant. Heine Wagner and Jack Barry, who with Manager Carrigan, have formed the team's "Board of Strategy," have been assigned to observe the Brooklyn Nationals in coming games, with a view to learning the style of play of the possible rival contenders. Barry is understood to be ready to leave his home in Worcester, where he has been under treatment for a broken hand. Splints have been removed and the hand is healing rapidly, but the question whether the Red Sox shortstop can take his place at second base in the world's series is still an open one.

SISLER EXPLAINS

George Sisler, the former Michigan baseball star, who has made an impression as an extraordinary player on the St. Louis Browns, was encountered in the lobby of a New York hotel recently. He was sitting down in a big leather chair, but straightened up when asked why he had gone into professional baseball, having taken a degree at Michigan in mechanical engineering. "I decided to go into baseball," he explained, "because the financial returns were there. A man starting in a profession finds it hard at the start. Money comes in slowly, and there is much work and worry. I thought I would take advantage of my money earning capacity in baseball and take up mechanical engineering as a means of livelihood in later years. Winter months will be used by me to keep from getting out of touch with the profession. At the present time I am concentrating on baseball. I want to get to the top, if possible. It's a grand game, and getting bigger and better all the time. At the present rate, I think that in ten or twelve years I can retire from baseball with a fortune. One thing, I will never play in the minors. As soon as I start to slow down I will quit and will then see what I can do with mechanical engineering."

AND STILL GOING.

New York, Sept. 26.—By winning another double-header from St. Louis here yesterday 1 to 0 and 6 to 2, the New York Giants won their twenty-first straight victory and created a new record for successive victories in major league baseball. Schupp and Perritt twirled in fine fashion and had the St. Louis batters at their mercy. Scores:

HAS USED SEVEN.

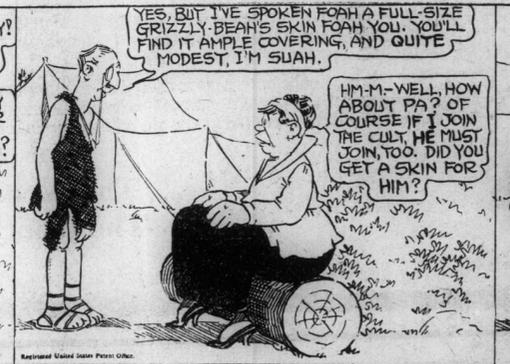

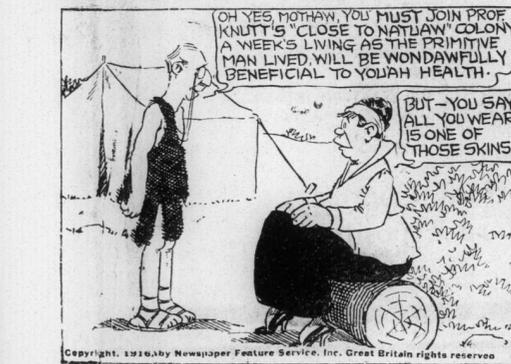

TEEN PITCHERS. Mack has used the most men on the firing line, his gunners numbering 17 to Fohl's 16. All the other pitchers run to double figures in pitching except Rowland, who has been able to get along with nine. Carrigan has tried 10, Griffith and Donovan each 11, Jones 12, and Jennings 13. First base has bothered Bill Donovan little, as the Yankee chieftain has had only two men there this year—Pipp and Mullen. Chicago, Philadelphia and Washington each have tried five men at the getway sack. Eddie Collins, of the Sox, and Derrell Pratt, of the Browns, have played second for their teams almost all season long, but the midway position has been a terrific problem for Donovan, and for Fohl, too. The Eastern commander has used half a dozen players at the keystone bag, while the western general has utilized only three. At third-Jennings has been able to get along with three players, while Jones has shoved seven into action at the hot corner. Philadelphia has had five men at short this year, and Cleveland but two.

To The Editor

A SUGGESTION. Brantford, Sept. 24th, 1916. To the Editor Courier: Sir,—Seeing you have so kindly assisted the Hill of late as regards civic improvements, for which we are all thankful, I would like still to trespass further on your generosity, by suggesting that, seeing the 25th anniversary is coming to Brantford, could we not ask Mr. Cockshutt to use his influence and see if we could obtain some to work on our car line, just as they went to help the farmers. I can refer to the committee regarding military training, with digging, taking up and laying rails, as I have no doubt they will do work of that kind before they get through, especially if they run short of engineers. If this could be done, we could get the ladies of the Hill to assist in the good work and I don't think they would need much coaxing, once they saw rails here. We could get them in touch with some stray sheep. We could make it a time of re-union, and once the cars are in operation everyone will have forgotten his quarrels. Another plan that all residents who have the Hill's interests enough at heart, as a Thanksgiving offering, devote something towards this end. Kindly let our Commissioners see this through your paper and perhaps they can make arrangements accordingly. And oblige, STEPHEN CAYLESS, 163 Terrace Hill Street. Probably 2,500 Canadian firms will pay the Dominion war business tax, or about 13 per cent of the total that were circled. A German plot to destroy canning and other food factories in Canada is hinted at in connection with a fire at St. Thomas last Saturday night. A Supreme Court jury brought in a verdict of guilty against H. C. Pierce, M.P.P., for Wadena, on a charge of corruption.

The Brant. One of the most interesting and instructive films ever seen in this city is that now being shown at the Brant theatre, depicting the scene of the Quebec bridge disaster only two weeks ago. While the actual fall of the span took place so suddenly and with such rapidity that it was impossible to focus a camera upon the spot, the pictures show a number of exceedingly interesting scenes both prior and subsequent to the disaster; the towing of the span to the spot, its being hoisted into place, and later the results of the disaster. Other moving pictures include an episode of the series "Who's Gully?" and the charming screen star Mae Murray in her latest feature production, "The Dream Girl."

WHAVERVES AT VANCOUVER. The Canadian Pacific has plans for wharves at Vancouver which will cost $1,500,000. These plans will dovetail into those which the city contemplates to carry out at the port. The latter is growing in value and bigness all the time. There is great complaint from shippers of congestion, for Vancouver is becoming a great port. The city is going to spend $,000,000 on wharf extension in the immediate future, and the railway company, on its own account, has plans for a further extension of the wharves which it will use for its own business. Both east and west the Canadian Pacific Railway has now for its shipping interests, facilities which render it absolutely independent—this independence making for better and more efficient service in the ocean carrying business, which the company has notably extended during the past few years. The fleet of the company now

Why she had chosen to tell this tragic story to her Audrey did not know. Possibly her own proffer of friendship had forced it from her; or perhaps—as sometimes happens—she craved for once to speak upon a theme upon which her lips must for the most part be sealed. In those few minutes of self-revelation a great stride towards intimacy had been made.

Andrey came and knelt before her, clasping both the gloved hands.

"You could not help it. And perhaps Mr. Lebreton thought he did right. Men say that our ideas of justice are very lax."

"There are always two sides to every question; and Jim had a fair trial—he said so himself. I suppose, poor boy, he did it; but if only he had come to me! I would have sold the rown off my back to save the thing that followed. And do you wonder why I tell you this? Then I will explain, for I have a reason, and I know that if I could not speak at this first interview it would never be spoken."

"I have a son—you have seen him. In many ways he is like his father, but he is my boy too. He is all I have. His life here is fostering in. I do not blame our friends and neighbors. I do not see how it could be otherwise, and says must have in measure, the iniquities of their fathers. After the trial and sentence of Jim we were cut by the neighborhood. Gaston was away. He had nothing to do with it. He only came back because his father was seriously ill. I would otherwise have kept him away much longer; but having come back, he stayed. The property is his. His place is here—that I cannot deny but the life makes him hard. He is looked as close as his father's son. Doctor Kingscote is our friend—he and his wife; but a young man does about it, Audrey. Thank goodness, we grew up always ready to agree to differ! But I'm not going to have anything to do with the Lebretons—Madame or Gaston or any of the crew if there are any more. I'm like Uncle Richard. I loath them root and branch! And I can't play a kind of humbugging game of politeness when I feel like that. So I shall have nothing to do with either of them, and that's all I've got to say about the matter."

The sisters were at their simple evening meal, which partook of the character of high tea. They did not see much of each other during the day, but this was their special hour when each related all that she wished of the day's doings, and Audrey had performed to tell of the visit which Madame Lebreton had paid to her on this same afternoon.

Gipsy had come in hot and flushed, and had grown hotter still on finding cards of Gaston Lebreton left by his mother upon the table in the hall. Flouncing in upon Audrey in her indignation and amazement she had heard of the visit of the mother and was not a little displeased.

Naturally Audrey had given a very much curtailed account of the interview, but she had quietly asserted her resolution to return the call and to accept an invitation from Mrs. Lebreton, should one follow in the natural course of events.

"Family feuds do not fill me with the enthusiasm which they awaken in you, my dear. Madame, as they call her, is entirely on our side with regard to the right of way, and made for her son what may be termed quite a handsome apology."

still bent upon thwarting them if he could. Nobody but a cad and a coward would behave so where women were concerned. She wanted to flout him and defy him and cut him openly and in the most marked way every time they might meet in public.

But if Audrey and Mrs. Lebreton were on calling terms, were by way of being friendly, how awkward this would be. Gipsy slept rather restlessly that night, turning the matter over in her mind and finding it haunt her dreams. So that, when the morning light grew broad and bright, she decided to rise and take a morning swim out in the bay. It was rather early in the year, to be sure, but Gipsy was hardy and healthy and strong. Slipping into her bathing-dress and wrapping her warm bath-towel about her, and thrusting her feet into strong tennis-shoes, she was soon clambering down the steep path to the rocky shelf, from which a splendid plunge could be taken, and with a gasp and a thrill of delight she felt the cold green water closing over her.

Down she went and up she came, shaking her short curls backwards and still gasping a little from the plunge. But it was glorious. The water did not feel really so cold after she had been swimming for a minute or two, and the buoyant motion was exhilarating to a degree. The blood coursed warmly in her veins again; the water seemed to caress her and to hold her up in its strong clasp. It was some time before it occurred to Gipsy to look back, and then she was astonished at the distance she had swum—she was more than half way across the bay!

Then she realized what it was. There was a drift east to west—a drift so strong that she realised how impossible it would be for her to swim back against the strong current. There was only one thing to be done. She must swim right across the bay now. That would be easy. And she must scramble into the boat she saw on a little pebbly beach there and row herself back. That would be easy and would keep her warm, and the boat could be returned by young Pennyquik before it was missed.

The current helped her, and the girl was a strong, fearless swimmer. She only wanted one rest upon her back and then she could do it easily. She floated at ease for a while, smiling into the smiling heavens above. Then a sound brought her round again, and, behold, the boat she had seen on the strand was coming quickly towards her, and in it was a girl—a girl with big shining dark eyes and a mass of splendid black hair which fell almost to her knees!

"I came so dapper as I could!" said the girl. "I saw 'ee before I'd gotten my things on! Be 'ee cruel tired? Naw, but that's a rare swim as you've took! Let me help 'ee into the boat and row 'ee back. There's father gurt coat for 'ee to put over you!"

Gipsy, laughing, scrambled into the boat, not altogether sorry for this timely aid. She was tired, but not exhausted; and an adventure of any sort was dear to her heart.

"How extremely kind of you to come out to me! But where did you come from? I was making for the boat, and I never saw any house on that little strip of beach."

Then the girl, in her soft West-County drawl, with its intermixture of queer-sounding words that Gipsy was only just beginning to understand, told her how she and her father lived not in any house but in a cave, the mouth of which yawned black in the face of the rocks.

And on Gipsy, the girl launched into a wild tale of how her father—who was called in the place "Gaffer Gull," and had forgotten whether he had any name besides—had lived, as his fathers before him, upon Lebreton land for generations, and as how that the old cottage fell to ruin and Mr. Lebreton refused to build it up, as he was building better cottages farther back from the sea. But they had always lived close to the sea and by themselves. They did not want a cottage and a garden and neighbours poking and spying! They would not shift; at last the place was pulled about their ears by Mr. Lebreton's orders; and then they shifted across in their boat to the cave. General Kildare had done all he could for them there. It was a good place to live in, the girl said, and the General gave them milk and vegetables, and bought their fish, and was their friend and protector. But the change had killed her mother, and the girl condemned the whose house caught care, vastly excited by the wild and incoherent tale.

It was not really ended when the boat touched their own rocks, and with words of warm thanks she sprang ashore.

"What is your name? You have been a friend in need!"

"I'm called Morwenna—Morwenna Gull."

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES of BRANTFORD NEWSPAPERS TO BE ADVANCED

Commencing October 1st. next, the subscription rates of the Brantford Daily Courier and the Brantford Daily Expositor will be advanced as follows:

Single Copies	2 cents
Delivered in Brantford	35c per month ($4.00 per annum in advance)
By Mail to Outside Points	$3.00 per annum

These increases have been necessitated by the tremendous advance in the cost of white paper, labor, metal, and in all other commodities incidental to the production of a newspaper. For over 25 years the subscription prices of the two Brantford papers have remained unchanged, while during that period the price of most other things have doubled and quadrupled. During recent years The Courier and Expositor have actually been sold to the agents and boys, and to the subscriber, when delivery charges are added, for less than the cost of the white paper alone, to say nothing of the hundred and one other charges of which each copy should bear a share. Recently the situation has become so serious that the above advances, commencing October 1st, have become imperative.

Even Advanced Rate is Low by Comparison

Even these advanced rates are much lower than those charged by the papers in London, Belleville, Guelph and many other Canadian cities and many publications which for years have charged the prices the Brantford papers now propose, have announced advances considerably beyond these figures during the last few months.

Subscribers may renew their subscriptions for a period not longer than one year at the present rates, if payment is made before October 1st, but no renewals will be accepted at the old rate after October 1st.
