CHAPTER XV. DESSIE'S RESOLVE.

"I can take only one course with you, Dorothy," she said. "I shall leave you absolutely free to seek your own happiness your own way. I had some thought during the night of appealing to you to try and save me from what has to come. But I will not do that. I cannot. I have not a vestige of right. You gave the mother a pledge that if at any time the need arose you would do all that lay in your power to help me. I know you would now hold by that pledge, even if it cost you your happiness. But I will not let you. I won't accept the sacrifice. You could not make it ungrudgingly; and I want no unwilling help. I don't mean that unkindly," she said, seeing the girl wince, "but I know human nature."

Dessie made no attempt to speak. "You had better do this. Go back to London—you can do no good here. You know all that has to be known. Take your own course. Set this man at defiance; but for God's sake be careful of your own safety. He would think no more of taking your life than he would of stamping on some venomous thing that threatened him. Be prepared for any action on his part, however wild, reckless, and desperate. He is capable of anything. I warn you—and not a soul on earth knows what he is capable of doing so well as I do. Wait a minute," she said, when her sister was going to speak. "I ask only one thing. Let me know the instant you have decided and have set him at defiance. Any form of warning will do; and after that I can take my chance. I disappeared before, and can probably do so again. If not—"

"If not," echoed the other, questioningly. "No matter." "Do understand you, of course," said Dessie, now much calmer. "And I will tell you what I mean to do. I shall not do what you propose. I should hate myself for ever for a contemptible thing if I bought my hap-

The Kidneys Wear Out

But in advanced years you can keep these organs healthy by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

As old age comes on most people suffer more or less from derangements of the kidneys. With some there are years of pains and aches, with others Bright's disease sets in and the end comes quickly. Fortunately many have learned about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and are enabled by their use to keep the kidneys healthy and active.

Mr. Richard Preston, Osborne, Lambton County, Ont., says: "Seventeen years ago I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills when my back was so bad that to stoop or rise was torture to me. The kidneys were in bad condition, but these pills entirely freed me of back pains. I have used them ever since, whenever the kidneys would get out of order, and now, at eighty years, am well and hearty, thanks to this grand medicine."

ness at the cost of yours. Besides, what chance is there that either of us can be happy with that awful secret over our heads? Do you think I would marry a man that other people should be able to point at and say—his wife was the centre of such a scandal as this? Not for half the world. No, Daphne, your secret is safe in my keeping. What I have to do to keep it I will do. Heaven knows it's hard, but it is not so hard as to marry a man you love and to see his love die—as most surely it would—from the daily dropping of poison distilled from such a secret as this."

The elder sister sat listening with almost painful intensity; and when the other stopped she remained long silent, frowning, her brow contracted as if in pain, her fingers tightly interlocked, and her body swaying slightly to and fro.

"I must go," she said at length, speaking very heavily, and rising; "it is all a problem with no solution. If I were to fly, it would not help you. My death would not save you, as you look at the matter. If I gave myself up, it would only make matters worse. Promise me one thing," she said. "Do nothing rashly. I have one idea that may take shape. Do nothing too quickly."

"Everything must be settled quickly," returned Dessie. "And what hope can any delay give?" With that the two sisters parted, and an hour later Dessie was in the train on her way back to London, feeling even more baffled than before her visit. Before the interview with her sister there had been the faint hope that some link in the chain that bound her was weak and missing, but her sister's statements and admissions destroyed that hope completely; and what the girl had now to face was the dilemma in its noblest, most perplexing form.

She had to choose between her friend and her sister. She must either keep silent, and let Mrs. Markham marry a man who was worse than many a wretch who had expiated his crime on the scaffold, or expose her sister to the certainty of a prosecution for murder, and to the probability of a conviction.

To herself and her own share of suffering she paid little heed. The thought of her sister having to stand in the dock to answer the charge of murder, and having the whole of the lurid facts of her past life brought out one by one in the course of a series of sensational examinations, so filled her imagination that it crowded out for the moment the thought of her own part. She became a necessary part of the tragedy, but only a minor part.

Her journalistic experience caused her to appreciate to the full the sensation which such a case would create. She had helped to work up others of the kind in which there was not a tittle of the incident and dramatic detail of this; and she knew how greedily every little incident and detail would be seized on and dressed up in readable 'copy' for the million. There was material enough in the incidents to sell hundreds of thousands of extra papers.

Even her own story—with its extraordinary recovery of the Robin Hood jewels—would be worked up into a series of sensations, each 'palpating with actuality,' and making splendid 'copy.' It was possible, too, that if her sister with her awful past were charged with murder, Dessie herself might be charged as in some way an accessory in the theft of the jewels. When once public excitement and rage were excited there was no knowing what victim would be claimed.

Now that she viewed her own conduct in the light of her present mood, she could not help seeing that very few people would believe her story of the way in which the rubies had come into her possession. She herself had before now poured scorn upon many a more probable story; and she could anticipate vividly the hundred tons of scepticism in which writers would ask where was the mysterious unknown who carried jewels worth a king's ransom in a handbag without knowing anything about it, and then opened an anonymous correspondence to give the jewels away!

When the whole country would thus be ridiculing and denouncing her, and she was proclaimed in the face of all the world as the possessor of the jewels whose price had been murder, as a liar whose tale was too improbable for even a child to believe, and as the sister of a woman who had only ceased to be a public harlot when she became a murderess, what would her lover do—dear, 'brave,' honest Tom Cherton? What could he do?

A little glow of exultation warmed the miserable girl's heart as it harboured the thought that he would stand by her, believe in her, and know

MOTHERS NEED Scott's Emulsion

For thirty-five years it has been the best known specific remedy for warding off and relieving colds and affections of the throat and lungs.

her to be true, despite all the world might say and think. To her that consolation would be enough; and for some minutes she pleased herself by thinking of it, and picturing the sturdy face and loving eyes of her betrothed standing quietly and firmly by her side, cheering her with word and glance, and turning to face the whole sneering, gibing, threatening world in her defence.

She felt sure of him; but the test was one which could never be applied.

Let come what might, Daphne must never be betrayed. That was the one resolution which must dominate everything else. She must be saved at all hazards; and Dessie did not attempt to hide from herself what this involved for her.

First, it meant the separation of her lover and herself. She could not tell him. Even had she been able to tell him all, she would still have refused to be his wife. She was no fit wife for him. The shadow of some exposure hung over her. At any moment an accident might cut the thread by which the sword hung over her head, and it might fall. That was too great a burden to put on any man's love, too great a risk to thrust into his life. She loved Tom well enough to sacrifice herself to him; and too much to sacrifice him to herself.

When she had settled those two points—had fixed the main basis of her decision that her sister must be saved; and had faced the necessity to give up her lover—she was calm and easily decided upon other points. She would make the best term possible with the Count; if possible to get him to abandon the marriage by giving him the jewels. If he would not forego the marriage she must devote her life to watching over the safety of her friend.

When the train reached Grantham, her plans had sufficiently cleared for her to send a telegram to Mrs. Markham, saying that she would be back at her house that afternoon. Her intention was to go to South Kensington after a hurried visit to her own rooms, to satisfy herself whether her rooms had really been visited by the Count in the manner she had heard from Sir Edmund Landale. To be continued.

Policeman—Do you have to take care of the dog?
Nurse Girl—No, the missus says I'm too young and inexperienced. I only look after the children.

As the train neared the city the coloured porter approached the jovial-faced gentleman, saying with a smile: "Shall ah brush yo' off, sah?" "No," he replied, "I prefer to get off in the usual manner."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

In a little town in Massachusetts a suit has recently been instituted to compel the three sons of an old man who is now in the poorhouse to pay for his support on the grounds that they are perfectly well able to do so.

This is the old man's story: "A few years ago I owned my own farm, and it was a good one. After my wife died I made a trade whereby I should be kept for the rest of my life in return for my property."

"As soon as papers were signed things began to be hard for me. Frequently I was nearly starved and had to apply to the neighbours for food. I grew thin and was poor both in food and clothing."

Conditions finally became so unbearable that those to whom he applied for food helped him to get admission to the poorhouse.

Incidentally he now declares with pathetic insistence of evident terror that even if his sons are compelled to support him, he shall insist upon staying at the poor farm and letting them do it through that institution.

Evidently King Lear's daughters have plenty of brothers and sisters "under the skin" in modern civilization.

And evidently the terrible lesson King Lear learned of the un wisdom of dividing his portion before his death has yet to be learned by many modern parents.

Perhaps you think the case I have just quoted is too extraordinary to be typical, and that I would have to go far to find any similar cases.

Then listen to a letter which I, by the way, came to me the very day I clipped the other happening from the paper.

"I want to tell you, Miss Cameron, of a delicate little woman who came to our door a few days ago and asked if we could tell her where she could rent anywhere in the city one room, where she could live and do washings. She said she was sixty-five years old, and certainly looked every day of it. Her husband had been dead six months and left her a house and two thousand dollars in money. She had four children, two sons and two daughters. They had kept after her until she had sold her home for two thousand dollars giving her four thousand dollars in cash. This they had prevailed upon her to divide equally among them, giving each one a thousand dollars, they promising to give her a good home as long as she lived.

"Poor little woman! They took her money and sent her from one to another. All were married and in homes of their own. Each one had some wonderful reason for not taking her, and sent her to one of the others. She had no place to stay, and said she was not strong enough to go out to work, but if she could have a room she knew how to wash and iron nicely, and she was sure she could get a living. Think of it, a frail little woman of sixty-five, starting out to do work like that!

"Well, Miss Cameron, my blood just boiled. I told her they had obtained money under false pretences and could be compelled to take care of her, but of course, the mother love came to the front, and she said, 'They are my children. I cannot do that.'

"Miss Cameron, won't you please take this case up in your column and give a strong warning to mothers and fathers to carry them through, and at the same time won't you please deal out a good big slice of what you think such children deserve."

Now, as for that first request—well, it doesn't seem to me that these true stories need any additional word of mine to make them the strongest of strong warnings.

And as for the second, well, if I could dip my pen in vitriol and write upon their hearts, I might deal out to these children a fraction of what they deserve.

Otherwise, I fear I am quite incapable.

Ruth Cameron

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help.

That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon request. Write without fear as to our fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Freeport, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well

Coming Investiture of the Prince of Wales.

There is no historical record of the ceremony of the investiture of the first Prince of Wales, but specific precedent is established by the later investitures of the Black Prince, Henry V., and the eldest son of James I., and although the actual ceremonial to be followed in July has not been made public at present, it is not likely that there would be any serious departure from what was prescribed for these occasions. Besides, in the form used by Edward III., when he invested the Black Prince, the words "according to conventional usage" are used in the Royal Proclamation, and imply that the ceremony of investiture was already established. In this Royal Proclamation, or Grant, to the Principality, dated May 12, 1342, Edward III. "sends greetings to the archbishop, earls, barons, justices, ministers, and all his faithful people," and it is interesting to note that among the possessions granted to the Prince of Wales by the King was "the lordship, castle, and town of Cricklethorpe," the residence of the present Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Among the witnesses to the grant were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Lichfield, the Earl of Warwick, and Thomas Wake, of Lidel. The King, in the terms of this document, created "the same Edward" Prince of Wales, and "gave and granted to him by our own charter confirmed to him the said Principality," and invested him with a chaplet on his head, a golden ring on his finger, and a silver rod. In the investiture of Henry V. the rod was gold.

The Castle of Carnarvon. The Castle of Carnarvon, unrivalled for the grandeur of its ruins, is an ideal context for such a ceremony. The area enclosed by the walls is about three acres, and in the circuit of the walls are thirteen embattled towers, some pentagonal, some octagonal. The principal centre is from the town side, but it is obviously inconvenient for the approach of the royal processions, which no doubt will enter the castle by the river side and, passing through the Chamber where the first Prince of Wales was born, will move into the open courtyard. Here, along the gently rising ground, the procession will traverse the whole open space from west to east, and on the grassy platform at the east end, close to Queen Eleanor's Gate, the ceremony will take place, after which the Prince, in accordance with the tradition of his first predecessor, will be presented to the people.

The local authorities, aided by the generosity of Mr. Assheton-Smith, will be enabled to clear the space in front of Queen Eleanor's Gateway, thus enabling forty thousand people to see the presentation of their Prince to the people of Wales. There will be two processions—that of the Prince, which will come first, and that of their Majesties the King and Queen. The line of route from Griffith's Crossing to the castle, about 2 miles in length, will be flanked by ten thousand soldiers, and there will be an escort of Horse Guards for their Majesties. All the regiments connected with Wales and the Welsh Territorials will send contingents. The moment of investiture will be announced to the world by the firing of the great guns on the men-of-war lying outside the Carnarvon bar, while the various military bands and the choir of five hundred voices will do something to keep up the pretty, half-accidental concert which describes Wales as "a sea of song."

Next to the Coronation. The exact details of the ceremonial, interesting as they are historically, are of less import than the actual revival of the investiture at this particular point in the history of Wales. Whether the idea of that revival originated with the King or with his advisers we, of course, are unable to say, but of first importance is his kindly and far-sighted adoption by the King. The royal visits to Dublin, Carnarvon, and Edinburgh are significant of more than an ordinary royal function. They are a great tribute to local patriotism, and mark an important stage in the recognition of small nationalities and a very earnest desire on the part of the ruler to bind the people under his sceptre together by a general recognition of their distinctive gifts and histories. It would be incorrect, indeed, to describe the Carnarvon investiture as a royal function, for it is, to be strictly accurate, a great State and Parliamentary function, and in this category ranks second only to the Coronation itself. Needless to remark that, under these circumstances, the heart of the people of Wales has been stirred beyond its wont, and the profound interest taken in the approaching investiture goes through every class of society in the country.

Religious Harmony. Wales has rather erroneously been regarded as a storm-centre of sectarian convulsions, but residents in the country know well that these convulsions have only such substance as can be claimed by the ordinary fictions of the platform. The truth in truth does discuss all the questions that interest him with a fervour that is all his own, and by consequence the religious questions and differences, which have a reality and importance which they do not possess for his less imaginative neighbour across the border, arouse a passionate enthusiasm. In this special sphere of Welsh life, the spectacle of church and Nonconformity taking part in harmonious and sacred co-operation at the investiture of their common Prince must, even upon the Welsh, have a very pacifying and ameliorating impression. It is taken for granted, and has in fact been confirmed by various public announcements, that at the investiture Welsh bishops and Nonconformist ministers will take part. The service on the occasion will be drawn up by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Socially and politically, therefore, such a supreme incident in the history of Wales must of necessity exercise a harmonizing influence. All classes are for the moment drawn together in cordial co-operation, and it would be inhuman to suppose that when the ceremony is over the influence of that co-operation will entirely disappear.—Daily Mail.

have cured thousands of this terribly painful disease. Rheumatism is generally brought on by exposure, but is really caused by Uric Acid in the blood. This Uric Acid is an irritating poison, formed from the waste matter of the body. The kidneys should remove it, but when they fail it poisons the blood, and settling in the joints, causes Rheumatism.

"No. 7" Tablets clear out the clogged-up Kidneys and stimulate them to perform their task of filtering the Uric Acid out of the blood. When this is done the Rheumatism simply and naturally vanishes.

For Reciprocity.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Sir,—Referring to your further comments upon Reciprocity, I do not criticize your position that exclusive free entry into the United States and Porto Rico would be, from a material point of view, a fine thing for this Colony, a much better thing than sharing it with Canada. Canada recognized this when she vetoed our Reciprocity efforts. But we shall be no worse off if neither country concludes a Reciprocal arrangement.

My point is that if Canada arranges for free fish and we do not, it will be disastrous for us. It is the converse of the Canadian position in the Bond-Blaine and Bond-Hay treaties, only more so.

You ask for facts. I hardly know why the onus of producing facts should lie exclusively upon one side of the argument. However, such facts and considerations as are available to me seem to lead inevitably to the conclusion I have named.

The state of things that will obtain, if Reciprocity becomes a fact this year, is entirely different from anything of which we have any previous experience. When the previous reciprocal arrangements were concluded, the Porto Rico market was not open to Americans. The latter, however, had a large established bank fishing industry that was not in a tottering condition as it is to-day. Even so it is to be presumed that on both the former occasions they soon began to find the pressure of competition from British producers growing irksome, seeing that the last Reciprocity arrangement was arbitrarily and prematurely abrogated by them. It is probable that the one feature that has enabled the American banking industry to survive in recent years has been that they have had the freedom of the Porto Rico market.

The American boneless market does not like small fish and the problem of disposing of small fish was always a serious problem for Gloucester until they got hold of Porto Rico. When they lost that advantage on top of the natural advantage they now have in their own market, I think we may safely reckon that they will have to abandon the Bank fishery, at any rate as it is conducted at present.

The facts which I give you are these. The American bank fishery is in a perilous state now. They are marketing their small fish to great advantage in Porto Rico. They have an advantage of 84c. per quintal both in the U. S. and Porto Rico. Under Canadian Reciprocity these advantages will be transferred to Canada and with them will go the business which is dependent upon them.

The Canadian fishery will be greatly stimulated. Fish caught by Canadian registered vessels and cured in Canadian ports will be worth more than that same fish is caught in Newfoundland vessels and cured in Newfoundland ports. If we can prevent Canadian vessels getting any bait we may be able to maintain ourselves, but failing this and giving these facts, is it not obvious that a transfer of fishermen and fishing property must gradually take place?

The one thing that this Colony, with its stationary population and growing obligations, cannot afford is a loss of fishermen and fishing property.

I might add a good deal to the above, e.g. that the advantages conferred by Reciprocity, besides including such as lumber and pulp, cover also cod oil, whale oil, seal oil, herring, halibut and other fishery products generally, so that the advantages which our competitors in Nova Scotia and British Columbia will have over us in these markets become quite overwhelming. The U. S. for instance can easily absorb all the cod oil produced. However, it is not my desire (and I am certain it is no one else's) that I should put up a lengthy argument on this question, which, however, seems to me to have attracted less public attention than its importance demands.

Yours truly,
 JOHN HARVEY.
 St. John's, Nfld., May 13th, 1911.

SOMEONE HAS BLUNDERED!

So says the Tory Enterprise of Trinity, and the occasion is the besieging of Mr. Grant by his constituents who instead of turning to the fishery are looking for work on the railway.

The Tory Enterprise declares, "There is surely something wrong about this and some one has blundered."

The Tory Enterprise does not say who has blundered, but even those who run may read what is writ large in the signs of the times, and especially do those know it, who are running away from a falling Government. There is undoubtedly something wrong. Things are awry. Times are out of joint. It's the old story. Tory times are hard times. It's no use blaming the men with a guernsey on their body or a F. P. U. button in the lapels of their coat. Put the blame on the party of picnics and not on the fishermen.

The appended article from The Enterprise is being circulated in leaflet form in the Trinity District:—

FISHERY VERSUS RAILROAD.

E. G. Grant, Esq., Member for the District, has been besieging this week by fishermen looking for work on the railway.

There is surely something wrong about this and some one has blundered; for, apart from the humiliation of seeing our fine, strapping young men withering and anxious to desert the fisheries, and to undertake the work of allroading, there is also the permanent injury that must be done to the staple and wealth producing industry of our country. In thus allowing inducements to be offered to the men to do this.

Just at the time when we are hearing so much of the nobility of the fishermen, and the honourableness of his vocation; just at the time when fishermen are being banded together for mutual defence and a more systematic prosecution of the fishery, masters of fishing schooners are at their wits' end in efforts to secure a crew for the season, and schooners are in danger of swinging at their moorings to home all the summer.

It is incongruous, to say the least of it to see men with a guernsey on their body or a button on the lapel of their coat intended to indicate and proclaim that they are members of a union, the great object of which is the protection and development of the fishery—ignoring all the requirements and demands of the fishery, and pleading with "the member" for "a job on the railway."

Such conduct is, we maintain, fraught with danger and disaster to the best interests of our country, and, some one has blundered.

The Catholic Cadet Corps held their first parade yesterday forenoon, marching to the R. C. Cathedral where they were present at Last Mass. Rev. D. O'Callaghan officiated, and after Mass the Corps, which was commanded by Lieut.-Col. The lads looked very smart and were greatly admired by hundreds of citizens who reviewed the parade as it passed through the streets. Some of the Junior companies wore jerseys and new puttees, and this greatly enhanced their appearance.

The German Imperial yacht, Hohenzollern, with Emperor William, Empress Augusta and Princess Victoria Louise aboard, arrived at Sheerness this evening. The German yacht exchanged salutes with the British ships, which were gallily dressed. The crews gave a cheering welcome to the visiting royalties. The visit of the Kaiser and Kaiserin is the first State visit by foreign monarchs to England since the death of King Edward. They have come to be present at the unveiling by King George of the Statue in front of Buckingham Palace, which will complete the great National Memorial of Queen Victoria. This, however, can only be considered as an incident in the visit, which will extend over a week, during which the English Court, which is now out of mourning, will royally entertain their visitors. Tomorrow the Emperor and Empress and Princess Victoria will proceed to London, where they will be greeted by King George and many other members of the Royal Family. By them they will be escorted to Buckingham Palace, where they will be the guests of the King and Queen. The unveiling of the Statue will take place on Tuesday. It will be not only a picturesque military parade, but a religious service as well.

The schools at Bishop Field are now too small and it is hoped that the work of constructing the wing will be commenced soon. Warrants were sworn out for his arrest but before they could be executed he had left the Island. The police kept a close look out for the man here, and Sergt. Byrne did well in capturing him. We draw the attention of our readers to two letters on the question of Reciprocity—one in its favour, the other against it. We propose to reserve our remarks on these letters until to-morrow. The following quotations from the New York Fishing Gazette of the 6th instant, which we received last mail, will show that there is not that great bonanza in the fresh fish markets of the United States as is sometimes represented.

"Fulton Fish Market Notes.—Market cod sold during the week at 2 1/2 to 3 cents, and steak cod at 4 to 6 1/2 cents."

"Baltimore Fish Market.—Herring brought 25 cents a hundred."

"Boston Wholesale Fish Market.—Large cod, $2.00; small, $2 to $2.10. This is a quaint of course."

The Amethyst has been generally overhauled, her engines have been thoroughly renovated, her speed greatly increased and she is fitted up nicely in the saloon to carry passengers.

Fogota Arrived.

The s.s. Fogota, Capt. B. Barbour, arrived from the northward at 3:30 p.m. Saturday bringing the following passengers in saloon: P. Templeman, S. Abbott, S. W. Abbott, G. Davis, J. W. Wheeler, Capt. A BUSY TIME.—To-day being the 15th, is pay day at the Reid Nfld. Co's office and the paymaster and staff had a busy time.

Mr. Fred Canning arrived from New York by the S. S. Florizel last night, having spent six weeks visiting the principal cities of the eastern states.

PATIENT FOR HOSPITAL.—Application for beds for female patients from Harbor Grace and Port Rexton to go to General Hospital was received to-day.

ABOUT THE CITY.—The 412 emigrants on the Mongolian are to-day taking in the city, visiting the churches and public buildings. There are 12 saloon passengers on the ship for Halifax.

WELL KNOWN ENGINEER DEAD.—Mr. Gellatly a well known marine engineer of Scotland, died at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. C. Furey, Avondale, last night. He was several years on the S. S. Dundee.

STILL MISSING.—Up to 12 o'clock to-day George Wilcox, who has been missing from the residence of Mr. E. White, Brazil's Square, had not been heard of. His family are in Sydney, and he has well to do relatives in St. John's. Fears for his safety are entertained.

Train Notes.

The west bound express left Benton at 9:05 a.m. and is due at St. John's at 7 p.m.

The 8:45 train took out Rev. Fr. Finn, Thomas Hanrahan, Rev. Mr. Dunn, Rev. Mr. Smith, Messrs. Fitzgerald, Rogers, Barron, Purlong, Kenneally, Carroll, Penny, Parsons, Barron, Burke, Ryan and Morgan.

The local arrived from Carbonear at 1:15 p.m.

LOST, on the 9th inst., a Note Book containing some private papers and a small sum of money. Finder will be rewarded on leaving same at this office.—may 15, 31.

Clean-Up Day.

At 7 o'clock this morning a small army of men, including all the Council's sanitary and other employees—night and day men—started in to clean up St. John's and up to noon to-day had done very effective work, backed up as they were by citizens of all classes. On every street on the lower and higher levels backyards, cellars and outhouses had been cleansed of filth and refuse, which in many cases have been known to lay in them for many years. This refuse matter was placed on the streets and 30 horses and cars were all day hustling to remove this from the thoroughfares. The paper and other inflammable material is being burnt in the suburbs and the other refuse is being carted to the usual sanitary dumps. The Councillors, the sanitary supervisor and inspectors worked assiduously and well. Well to do citizens also showed their interest and in several cases sent either horses, men or money to help on the good work. The result is that even now a difference can be seen and the streets and city generally has taken on a cleaner and more wholesome appearance. We would suggest now that disinfectants be liberally used in backways and alleyways from which refuse has been taken to make thorough the good work of cleansing which has been done. The movement for a clean up day is creditable alike to Council and citizens.

An Irish Cook.

The Government recently found that it could not get a cook about here, and considering that Newfoundlanders were not well up in the culinary art, imported a colleen from Ould Ireland to act as cook at the General Hospital. We understand that the new official for the institution arrived on the Mongolian yesterday. It was bad enough to bring along an assistant from the Emerald Isle for Engineer Hall, but this is the worst rebuff, we think, ever given to the people of Newfoundland. Yet this is the Government, designated the People's Government or Party. The girls of Ireland no doubt are good cooks, but we will not subscribe to the evident opinion of the Government that they are better than our Newfoundland lassies in this respect, and we believe the wives and daughters of this country will resent this latest importation.

Train Accident Sunday

The express with mails and sixty passengers from Port aux Basques went off the track near Cook's Brook about 6 p.m. yesterday. Four cars were derailed, viz. the sleeper, the diner and two passenger coaches. One passenger, Mrs. Dahl, of Convent Lane, this city, was injured. Her collar bone was broken. She was put off at Bay of Islands where Dr. Fisher is attending her. It is expected that she will be able to come to town by Thursday's incoming express. Three other passengers are also slightly injured. The four cars were left behind and the train picked up other cars on the road. The derailed cars are not much damaged. Mrs. Dahl is an old lady of 65 years of age, and is mother of Mrs. Olsen of Convent Lane. She had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fredericksen, at Sydney all the past winter and was returning home. She is accompanied by her little grandson, Frank Olsen, 6 years old. The R. N. Co. have been exceptionally fortunate in the fact that no fatal or serious accidents have occurred on their trains for many years, which speaks well for the care of conductors, engineers and drivers all over the system.

CONCERTS ON MONGOLIAN.—Friday night last a very enjoyable concert was held in the saloon of the S. S. Mongolian in which most of the first-class passengers participated. Mr. William Booth presided and a handsome sum was raised for the Glasgow Sailors' Orphanage. A concert was also held in the steerage which was thoroughly enjoyed.

The Portia left St. Lawrence at 10:50 a.m. to-day.

Terrible State.

To-day a young man who happened to visit his home on Livingstone Street found an old man named Sullivan, in an awful state. He is suffering from paralysis of the limbs, has been lying alone for weeks, his only child, a son, being away and his condition is deplorable indeed. The man who when found was almost dying was covered with filth and vermin and the party who discovered him, immediately reported the case to the Health Authorities. Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan, previous to this, was called to attend him and did so and to-day a doctor was procured for him and he will be removed to Hospital.

Uncle Walt
THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

In Minnesota, a noble state, where birds are smooth and men are great, there was a convict in the pen, who longed to see the world again. He rivaled Burbank, and in jail he grew such prunes and squids BACK TO and kale, that stories of his triumphs found the governor, who THE PEN said: "Cogs wound! That genius should not be in hook—his prison doors I will unlock!" The pardoned convict left the pen, and sought the great gray world of men; and to-day he ambled back, and said: "I love this good old shack, so kindly show me to a cell where I again in peace may dwell. For one who's lived this quiet life can't stand the outside noise and strife. I say so much of pain and woe, I saw so many salt tears flow, so much injustice, grief and care, that I was driven to despair. Out there where liberty has sway heartbroken people go their way, and struggle for a crust of bread, and weep and wish that they were dead, and heartless Shylocks rob the poor, who toil and suffer and endure; and hungry people walk the street and vainly beg a bite to eat. I saw such visions day and night, and simply couldn't stand the sight, and so I come and ask to dwell again in my good cozy cell." They marked his number on the door; 'twas 4-11-44.

"Standard" Bread

made from Standard Flour is a meal in itself! White Bread is not.

ELLIS & Co.

Limited,
203 Water-st.,

Just received the first consignment of the Celebrated STANDARD FLOUR.

WHAT IS STANDARD BREAD?

STANDARD BREAD is the old farm-house loaf, made by milling good, sound, sweet, dry wheat, and taking out of the Flour the coarser bran.

STANDARD BREAD is not a patent food, or a patent bread. It is just good sound BREAD, and it is called "STANDARD" by everyone, because it agrees with a standard fixed by eight eminent medical men in a Manifesto, published first by the "Daily Mail" on January 26th, 1911, and since widely republished by the newspapers of the world.

Since the doctors first published their Manifesto, STANDARD BREAD has been welcomed everywhere. For years it has been supplied to the King and Queen at Windsor Castle, and at Buckingham Palace. It is eaten by rich and poor, by young and old, by healthy people and sick people.

STANDARD BREAD has been used for years at many of the great hospitals for Consumption.

STANDARD BREAD made from STANDARD FLOUR has been completely summed up by a Harley Street Surgeon in this statement:—

"The short stature, the pale face, the weak chests, and the general degeneracy of the present generation, are greatly due to WHITE bread diet."

STANDARD BREAD made from STANDARD FLOUR is all right.

Doctors and learned scientists have declared with no uncertain voice for the plain unadorned product of the WHEAT BERRY.

The trouble started when a man commenced to "Paint the Lily" to improve on nature.

STANDARD FLOUR contains 80 per cent of the WHOLE WHEAT, including the germ and semolina.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Business is now getting brisk in this town. Labrador planters are bustling about preparing for the voyage and securing the necessary number of men. Farmers are preparing the ground for the summer's crops, and seem to be working with a greater determination than ever to reap the full benefit from the soil this season. We think the efforts of our Agricultural Society in this respect is deserving of a word of praise. The exhibitions held here during the past few years, together with the other efforts of the Society, are bearing much fruit, and we trust the encouragement given will stimulate them to even greater efforts in future.

Another well known figure in this community passed to the unknown land on Wednesday in the person of Mr. Tobias Lahey, butcher. Mr. Lahey had been falling for some six or seven months, but as he was up and about each day, his death was not anticipated so quickly. On Wednesday he left his bed at the usual time, and shortly after going to his sitting room he placed his head on a lounge and passed away instantly. Mr. Lahey was a son of the late Mr. Richard Lahey, and was one of a family of ten children, only three of whom are now living. These are: Patrick, now of Boston, and Miss K. Lahey and Mrs. Smith of this town. Mr. Lahey was a member of the Seal-skimmers' Society, and although feeling very weak this spring he took his place as usual, but after a few minutes he was compelled to give up. For a great number of years Mr. Lahey carried the mails around this bay, and that at times when men hardship was gone through. A quiet citizen, he was well known and much respected. The sorrowing friends have our sympathy.

Mr. James Garland, foreman of the tannery of the Harbor Grace Boot and Shoe Co., received the sad news from Boston a few days ago of the death of his brother, Silas, which took place at that city on the 1st inst. Mr. Garland left here some 19 years ago and has resided in Boston ever since. He was married to a Miss Sophia Wheatley of this town. His death was very sudden. He was at the railway station bidding good-bye to some friends when the dread messenger came, and after falling to the ground he was taken into the waiting room, where he expired in a few minutes.

Tilling Notes.

Spring is now with us, and although "winter, lingering, chills the lap of May," still the weather is a delightful contrast to that of a few weeks ago.

We were glad to see the s.s. Fogota on her first appearance for the season, last Friday, and still further pleased to see the gallant Capt. B. Barbour again in charge. The presence of the Fogota is a guarantee that the service will be punctually carried through despite weather conditions; and our best wishes are with him. It was also a source of gratification to find our old acquaintance, Mr. Jno. Bennett, in his usual position as mail officer—a wise selection, as a more capable, obliging and courteous official could not be found. In his care the postal department on the Fogota will receive proper attention.

Some of our young men, who have been away all winter to Grand Falls, Sydney and other places, are beginning to arrive home to spend a few weeks at the fishery; and some married men, who with their families have spent the winter in Norris' Arm, are making preparations to return here also.

Rumor has it that Rev. Edward O'Brien will soon take a trip south. After his unceasing labors during the past winter a vacation is almost a necessity. The rev. gentleman has lately had a road built to the school house, thus filling a long felt want and giving further evidence of the close attention which Fr. O'Brien bestows upon the temporal as well as spiritual needs of his parishioners. That he may be long spared to the parish and continue a career so full of promise is the wish of your

Against Reciprocity.

Str.—I note that Mr. John Harvey and the irrepressible D. W. Prowse are busy just now advocating Reciprocity with the United States. Mr. Harvey deals with it from the standpoint of what we are to lose by the absorption of the Porto Rico market by the Canadians, and Prowse as usual makes broad statements of the unlimited markets for our fish in the United States without taking into consideration the principal factors that would furnish us with those markets.

Mr. Harvey has been ably answered by your editorial of Friday when you point out that of the total consumption of fish in Porto Rico we furnish but a very small proportion, say at the outside 20,000 quintals.

Mr. Harvey quotes the Nova Scotian catch as given by the Dominion authorities, but that statement is erroneous, as it is taken from export figures and not from an account of the actual catch made by Nova Scotian fishermen. If you take the export figures it must be borne in mind that a very large proportion of that fish is caught by Newfoundlanders. Of the $5,938 qtls. of codfish exported by this country to Canada in 1909-10, nineteen twentieths of it went to Nova Scotia, so that one-sixth of the so-called catch of Nova Scotian codfish was Newfoundland caught.

The argument of D. W. Prowse that because Great Britain consumes fifty million dollars' worth of cod and haddock that therefore the people of the United States would consume as much, if not more, is fallacious.

The people of the United Kingdom are islanders surrounded by the sea and from time immemorial have been consumers of fish, which they daily obtain in a fresh state. The people on the sea coasts of the New England States are fish eaters and are amply supplied by their own fishermen. Cod eaters are very few and far between in other parts of the Union, and it will take years to educate them into a liking for stale codfish, which D. W. Prowse advocates furnishing them by means of cold storage.

I look upon this Reciprocity business as one fraught with much danger to Newfoundland.

What have we to give the people of the United States for free entry into their markets?

How much of our fish can be marketed in the United States? These are questions which will have to be carefully considered, not only with relation to the present, but with relation to the immediate future.

If we give free bait we immediately handicap ourselves in the United States markets, for with free bait Gloucester and other fishing centres can fully supply all the American needs. Besides, with free bait it is on the cards that a number of the vessels that are now fruitlessly engaged in looking for mackerel will be at once fitted out for codfishing. With Newfoundland as a basis for bait supply, fresh cod fishers as well as salters will have the full command of the markets that D. W. Prowse thinks we will supply.

Then again in furnishing bait to the Americans we again open up the old danger of the United States vessels giving bait to the French, and the depletion of our bait supply, especially in the spring of the year. Every owner of a banking schooner in our southern bays is alive to these facts, and it is one of the principal reasons why they are totally opposed to any Reciprocity which will give free bait to the United States.

The question of "How much of our fish can be marketed in the United States?" opens up the question of what kind of codfish will be needed. Our fishing population is a scatterer one, covering over 200 miles of coast line in Newfoundland besides 1,000 miles on the Labrador coast.

Some people marvel at the Effects of leaving off coffee And using Postum in its place, But there's nothing marvelous about it—

Only common sense. Coffee contains a drug—Caffeine—which is a Destroyer of digestion And the nervous system. Postum is a rebuild—

Made of wheat (no drug nor medication.)

Which contains the "Vital phosphates" that repair The damage done by coffee.

What's the use being Sick and miserable when A simple change of diet can Bring back comfort and happiness?

Read "The Road to Wellville," In pkgs. "There's a Reason."

The fishing is not a simultaneous one; it commences with the winter fishery along the coasts of the District of Burgeo & LaPoile, where about 60,000 qtls. fish are annually caught. The Bank fishery is a salt cod fishery, and the latest returns show that about 144,000 qtls. were caught last year. The Labrador fishery commences in June and yields an average of 250,000 qtls., none of which could be marketed in the United States. The shore fishery furnishes the balance of 1,200,000 qtls. caught all around the coast and daily cured.

To any one acquainted with our fisheries it must be apparent that under the present conditions of catch and cure very little of our fish can be marketed in the United States. We would need a large amount of capital to alter the present mode of cure, and I very much doubt, owing to the large range of coast over which collectors would have to work, whether fish in a fresh state could be collected to any appreciable extent. The fishermen now have to immediately put their fish in salt in order to preserve it, and in the warm summer weather they find a difficulty in curing it free from maggots and slime.

How then are we to capture these markets that D. W. Prowse says are awaiting us? Not by such senseless suppositions as he puts forth. I therefore am of opinion that if we conserve our bait, let the United States severally alone and better our home cure, we will find ample markets even in the United States for our catch as it is now put up. Necessity creates demand. We have the bait and we have the codfish, then let Newfoundland be true to herself and not be swayed by the chimerical writings of such as D. W. Prowse.

Yours truly,
TERRA NOVA.

St. Francis Xavier's

Notes From Antigonish. The commencement exercises at St. Francis Xavier's University, Antigonish, were held on Wednesday last, in the College Assembly Hall. The past year has been the most successful in the history of the Institution. It has seen the completion of a splendid second building which will be a most valuable adjunct to the Institution. Last Tuesday, moreover, another building was projected and the ground was broken for the foundation walls of a new University Chapel. Both of these buildings are the gifts of generous friends of the University.

The Senior Year's examinations which were finished recently the following young men graduated:—Peter A. MacMillan, Dominion; C. B. Vincent Reynolds Smith, Amherst, N. S.; Daniel Hastings Doyle, Margaree, C. B.; James M. P. Coady, Margaree, C. B.; John Eusebius MacDonnell, Antigonish, N. S.; John Boyd Kyte, Georgeville, N. S.; Clarence William Bissett, St. Peter's, C. B.; John Joseph Seara, Antigonish, N. S.; Lauchlin MacDonnell, Antigonish, N. S.; Leo Joseph Keats, Reserve Mines, C. B.—Bachelors of Arts. Miss Marie Ready, St. John, N. B.—Bachelor of Letters. On Tuesday morning last the Bachalaureate sermon was preached by Reverend Doctor Thompson, late the Diocese, celebrated Solemn High Mass. In the afternoon the Alumni of the College held their annual meeting followed by a banquet. There was a large crowd at the exercises which were held in the College Hall. St. Francis Xavier's is admitted to be a leading educational institution in Eastern Canada. His Lordship Bishop Power is a graduate and in common with all the N.E. Alumni take warm interest in Alma Mater. Rt. Rev. Dr. McPherson who is now Rector of the College and also Administrator of the Diocese since the death of the late Bishop Cameron, is a most enthusiastic worker on behalf of St. Francis Xavier's, and has brought the Institution to its present high status.

The s.s. Bonaventure, Capt. Cross, sailed for Sydney yesterday and will ply south in the fruit trade during the summer.

The Steamer Ben Earn

Short of Coal. A Unique Ship. Her Electrical Machinery Could Light St. John's.

The S. S. Ben Earn, of Glasgow, capable of taking 5,730 tons dead weight, of the straight back type, and a unique ship in many respects, arrived here yesterday morning at 5 o'clock from Glasgow. During the forenoon a Telegram reporter visited the ship and was shown about her by her commander, Capt. H. C. Lockhart-Mure.

This type of ship is self-trimming and self-discharging, unloading being done by great electrical cranes and Priestman "Grabs." The holds being so fitted that the grabs can reach any part of them as they are minus stanchions and beams; thus no trimmers are required for loading the ship and with one man in each crane tower operating her electrical appliances she can discharge 4 tons of cargo each 1½ minutes, so that a big cargo can be handled with despatch. All her tanks are trimming tanks and she has ballast pumps that will throw out 250 tons of water per hour; these are worked by steam. The ship is lit all through by electricity generated by immense dynamos.

She left Glasgow on April 30th with a large stock of bunker coal on board, while a large quantity was also placed on the after decks, and had a terrific time of it. The Ben Earn was bound to Sydney, C. B., but owing to the weather and the buffeting received and pounding in the high seas running, all the coal on board was consumed; some planks it is thought were started and water found its way into the forehold. On the 9th inst. it was decided to make St. John's, and the ship's course was altered to accomplish this. To help the coal supply yet remaining on board the ship's crew had to cut away the ceiling in the holds and burn it.

Ladder Truck Here.

The new ladder truck imported here from the United States for the use of the Fire Department of this city, arrived here by the freight train yesterday. It was selected by Inspector General Sullivan when abroad. ## The Royal Progress.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, To-Day. The London correspondent of the Tribune says the first of the year's Coronation procession was held in connection with the opening of the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace. It was an unpretentious semi-state affair, with three carriages, travelling escort of Life Guards. Apart from four horses and outriders there was no display, pomp or circumstance of royalty. It was indeed a family party, headed by the King, Queen, Prince of Wales, Princess Mary, driving quietly for seven miles through hosts of loyal subjects, acknowledging with smiles and courteous salutes, the hearty greetings everywhere received. The object of this long drive between unbroken walls of spectators was imperial and hence close to the King's heart. It was not the revival of the Crystal Palace as a place of popular recreation, but the opening of a Pageant which will enable English people to appreciate the magnitude and variety of the imperial resources, and the genuineness of the feeling of representatives from the Overseas Dominions. The cumulative effect of the Festival of the Empire, involving an outlay of $2,500,000 in structures on the grounds, will be one of the biggest shows of the Coronation period. An all British railway makes the circuit of the Empire from Newfoundland, Ottawa, Rocky Mountains, Vancouver to Malay Peninsula, India, Delhi, Himalayas, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. It is also an Imperial Exhibition and a historic pageant of London.

Rumors Denied.

Special to Evening Telegram. ST. PETERSBURG, To-Day. The Novoe Olyma denies the rumors that negotiations have been going on between Russia and Japan for a common anti-Chinese policy. The papers say, however, that the Japanese and Russian Governments are negotiating for two conventions: One for the mutual extradition of criminals, and the other for the mutual registration of patents. An official of Russia says communications from the French cabinet regarding Morocco have been the subject of the exchange of views between both Governments. They are agreed as to the complete sincerity of France, with regard to Morocco and her loyal adherence to international obligations.

Fire Near Oil House.

Sunday week the people living in that section were surprised to find a lot of refuse, etc., on fire near the fence surrounding the oil store, on Quidli Vidi Road. But that it was dis- covered quickly the fire would have communicated with the fence which like the grounds is saturated with oil, and then one of the biggest conflagra- tions in the history of the city would have hapened as nothing could save the oil house where hundreds of casks of kerosene are stored. Officers Byrne and Tobin looked into the case and found that two boys had started the blast, but they were so young that they could not be punished. This place is in a dangerous condition and so much oil is about there that it runs into the cellars of people living near the place.

MAN HIT ON HEAD WITH A BOT-TLE.

At 8.40 p.m. Saturday a row occurred on board the schooner Confederate, Hickey, master, of Harbor Main, as she lay at Goodridge's wharf, during the progress of which Thomas Hickey, son of the master of the vessel, was hit on the head by a bottle wielded by Joseph Ezekiel who also belongs to Harbor Main, and who according to Hickey, came on board the vessel with his brother Michael, and started the quarrel. The first intimation the police had of the affair was when a boy accosted Supt. Grimes on Water Street and told him that a man had been seriously hurt on Goodridge's premises in a row which he stated was still in progress. The Supt. immedi- ately took action and with Officers Furlong, Fardy, Bussey and others went to the premises, and going into the cabin arrested the two Ezekiels whom Hickey, the injured man, and his father accompanied to the station. The prisoners had some liquor taken apparently but were not drunk, no did they make any resistance when placed under arrest. The Hickeys al- lege that jealousy over their prestige as fish killers caused the quarrel which the Ezekiels originated and was the motive for the assault. During the progress of the combat in the cabin the funnelling of the stove was smas- hed, the lamp was broken in pieces and the wonder is that the craft was not set on fire. Hickey stated to the police that Joseph Ezekiel came on board the schooner and took his (Hickey's) coat without his knowledge. When he came to look for it it was gone and then he noticed it on Eze- kiel's back. When he asked for it hot words ensued and Ezekiel made a blow at him with a bottle. Hickey broke the force of the blow by raising his arm but for which he might have sus- tained serious if not fatal injury. The bottle hit him, however, on the top of the head causing a nasty, though not dangerous, scalp wound from which the blood flowed in streams. On arrival at the station the blood was washed off the man's head and the wound closed with court plaster. Both the prisoners were locked up to appear before the court to-day.

The s.s. Fornebo sailed for Sydney and Montreal at 5 a.m. Saturday.

Teachers' Convention.

A meeting was held at the Board of Trade Rooms Saturday evening by the Executive of the Teachers' Asso- ciation in order to discuss the advis- ability of holding a Convention the coming summer. It was decided af- firmatively. Every teacher in the country will be invited to attend. A committee was appointed to make ar- rangements, viz., P. G. Butler, Rev. Bro. Ryan, W. W. Blackall, A. Barnes, R. S. LeDrew and J. Garriock. Mr. Wood and Mr. Butler will confer with the Government and Superin- tendents of Education about a date for the event. They suggest July 3rd. It was decided to make the meetings regular school sessions and to devote one session exclusively to the discussion of the subject of the health in order to help out the A. P. C. The committee will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in Mr. Blackall's office to outline a programme. Amongst those who attended were Hon. Jno. Harvey, Messrs. G. C. Fearn, R. R. Wood, Miss Short, Rev. A. P. Kennedy and Rev. P. J. Culhane. Judging from the earnestness and enthusiasm that prevailed the project outlined will likely be a great success.

The Mongolian Arrives.

She left there Sunday afternoon, the 6th inst., and met very stormy weather on the voy- age out, head winds with a heavy sea being the experience all the time. Harvey, Mrs. Job, child and maid, Miss E. Pitcher, R. Dawkins and 14 steerage. She has a large number of emigrants on board in transit to Halifax, most of them bound for the Canadian North West.

New Encyclopaedia.

THE 1911 NELSON ENCYCLOPAEDIA is based on the Harpers' Encyclopaedia and the Nelson "Loose-Leaf." The amount of reading matter has been slightly increased. The best has been retained from both the older books, hundreds of new articles have been written and everything has been revised and brought up to date. It will be issued in twenty-five fortnightly shilling volumes in the handy size and neat cloth bindings familiar to all purchasers of the Nelson Popular Libraries. The paper is of excellent quality. Illustrations and diagrams elucidate the text where necessary and numerous full-page pictures add to the interest and value of the work. The Encyclopaedia itself will occupy twenty-three volumes and an English Dictionary and an Atlas as vols. 14 and 25, making the whole set a complete Reference Library for the home.

Vols. 1, 2 and 3 now in stock. Price 25c. per vol.
