FOR SALE.

Valuable Freehold Timber and Farm Land.

At the office of the undersigned, on Thursday next, 24th inst., at 12 o'clock noon, that large piece of land situated at Maher's Sliding, on the Reid Newfoundland Railway, and being only 3 miles from Brigus Junction, belonging to the Estate of the late Sir W. V. Whiteway.

This splendid tract of land comprises 8 square miles—4 of which being on each side of the track—and as the railway runs through the centre, it is easy of access, and has some splendid stretches of birches and spruce thereon—the birches on one side, and the spruce and fir on the other.

It is also an ideal spot for farming, and there would be no trouble experienced in loading produce, as there is a siding where cars can be loaded at ease.

Another desirable feature in connection with the property is that the party buying same would be the SOLE owner of all waters on the land, thereby excluding all fishing and shooting over same without license. There is good fishing in the ponds and gullies which abound on same.

Above property will be sold in two lots if so desired.

CHAPTER XXXII
THE WATCHER.

Laurence's face darkened and his lips tightened, but he said nothing—the look was eloquent enough.

Mr. Stewart then opened the door and, putting in his head, said, cheerily:

"Hello, Cecil! Hard at the books?" Cecil rose from the desk and turned a pair of eyes that looked mournful and woe-begone.

"No," he said; "I can't work, for I feel as if something was going to happen."

The settler grinned. "Most like there is, lad," he said. Cecil turned pale.

Laurence, who understood him better than the settler, went up to him and laid his hand upon his shoulder.

"Cecil, lad," he said, "you're no coward, I know. There'll be need of a little spirit and a little courage to-night, perhaps—show us that you have them both."

"I will, Laury; I will!" he said, fervently; then, added, tremulously: "At least, I will try, if you will give me something to do—something to help you, I mean. It's dreadful to sit here waiting for it to come and doing nothing."

Laurence looked around. "Can he not be loading the weapons?" he asked. "It is as well to be prepared."

"The very thing!" said Mr. Stewart. And Laurence laid out the guns and revolvers for Cecil to load.

"Keep as quiet as you can," he said; "and do not let them see what you are at about. They must not guess that we are suspicious."

CHAPTER XXXIV.
THE ATTACK.

Now put your shields before your hearts and fight with hearts more proof than shields. SHAKESPEARE.

Supper-time drew near, and Mr. Stewart grew anxious.

"I don't know what's the best thing to do," he said to Laury; "whether to let them come in as usual, or to shut the door and throw off the mask at once. Perhaps if they get in they'll make a rush for the stairs, seize the armory, and settle us off without any further to do."

Laurence was of the same opinion, so it was decided that the door should be shut, the barricade got perfectly in trim for lowering at a moment's notice, and that, when the runners came up, Mr. Stewart should demand that Tim be handed over before they came in to supper.

Of course, if they gave Tim up it would be evident that they had no sinister intention on the farm; they could come in to supper; and all would be considered as blown over; but Mr. Stewart knew they would urge upon Tim's surrender as a pretext and set to work at once; and Laurence, remembering the reception in the stables, could not but agree with him.

Meanwhile supper was laid, the two old women carried in the dishes, the negroes bustled, chattering, in and out, the pickaninies tumbled and rolled on the glass as if nothing was the matter, and Cecil upstairs was busy loading and arranging the weapons for the defense.

When everything was ready Laurence went upstairs and set the barricade ready for descent, and Mr. Stewart stationed himself beside the door awaiting the malcontents' arrival.

Presently they came slouching up from the knot of trees, all silent and sullen, Tim in the lead.

When they came to the door Mr. Stewart shut the lower wicket and, with his hand upon the upper, ready to swing it at a moment's notice, said: "Wait a minute, boys."

They all stopped and looked at him, their eyes twinkling wickedly in the rapidly falling darkness.

"Well, what is it, guv'nor?" growled one of them, a big burly fellow called Sam.

"I've got a word to say to one or two of you," said Mr. Stewart, slowly and decisively. "But, first of all, I want that thief, Tim, there."

"Who calls me a thief?" snarled Tim, pushing himself forward and coming toward the door.

"I do," said Mr. Stewart, the red flood rushing to his face; "I do, as I'd call any man who comes sneaking after my firearms."

The men looked at each other. Tim blustered out an oath. "Ho! that's the game, is it, guv'nor? Well, you've showed yer hand open enough. Sneaking after yer firearms, eh? Who says I was sneakin' arter 'em?"

"One who saw you—the lad," retorted Mr. Stewart, keeping a sharp lookout upon the ruffian's hand, which was lying lovingly about his revolver.

"You thieving sneak!" roared Mr. Stewart, utterly out of patience and enraged. "You've let it out yourself! Who said it was a revolver, eh? Stand out of my way, or I'll shoot you clean through!"

And he raised his revolver threateningly.

Tim ducked and the next moment, as the bullet whizzed over his head, there was a rush at the door. But Mr. Stewart had closed it with a bang, and shooting the thick bolts leaped to the stairs.

In another minute all was confusion and uproar.

Yelling like madmen and shouting the most terrible oaths of vengeance, the gang threw themselves at the door and battered at it with the heavy stocks of their revolvers.

At the fearful din every negro-man, woman and child—set up a shriek of terror and alarm, and every dog about the place commenced to bark.

Laurence, at the top of the stairs, clinched his teeth and drew his revolver.

Mr. Stewart paused half-way up, gasping for breath.

"Stop!" he said. "Don't let it down yet. We'll wait here till the door goes and give them a reception half-way."

Laurence nodded acquiescence and stopped for a moment to open the door of the armory, and Cecil, with an encouraging smile, stepped onto the stairs, and with revolver pointed, waited for the giving way of the door.

Suddenly the hammering ceased. "They have gone to the back," said Laurence, turning his revolver that way.

Mr. Stewart shook his head. "No, no!" he said; "they know they've three doors to get through that way. They're gone for their hatches."

"Ay, ay!" said Laurence. And the next moment the sharp blows of the hatches rang through the wall.

"It'll stand five minutes of that," Mr. Stewart, coolly; but so fierce did the ruffians work that before half that time Tim's savage shout rose above the crash of the wood, and the two men on the stairs knew that the stout door had given way.

One or two more blows and then, with a fearful yell, they burst into the pass.

Laurence felt his heart beat wildly, and pushed out the foremost man he fired his revolver.

With a yell of rage and agony the fellow sprang up high into the air and fell dead at the feet of his companions, the torch he carried in his hand being swung half a dozen yards.

Almost at the same moment Mr. Stewart's shot rang out, and a second man tumbled over.

Then the remainder saw their mistake. They had imagined the defenders would make for their barricade at once, and had not given them credit for the courage they had displayed in waiting on the stairs.

With a volley of oaths they retreated pell-mell, and, shielded by the turn of the stairs, held a short council.

Mr. Stewart, keeping a sharp lookout through a crevice of the wood-work, saw one of them steal along on his hand and knees, evidently with the intention of scaling the balustrade at the back and so get up while the others took off attention by making a rush at the front.

With a low chuckle the old settler leveled his weapon and, with a dull thud, the daring man rolled over. Then, enraged and maddened, the ruffians waited for no more strategy, but with hatchets raised in their left hand and their revolvers ready in their rights rushed at the stairs.

Londonderry Centre of Hostilities -- Allies Will Take Measures Against German Non-Compliance--British Negotiations With Soviet Reach Critical Stage--Bolsheviks Put Poles to Rout.

SUPREME COUNCIL IS FIRM.

BOULOGNE, June 22. A communique which was issued to-day by the Supreme Council of the Allies, mentions the Brussels conference as having been called to reach definite agreements before the Spa meeting, and it is understood that the date of the Spa conference remains July 5th, as previously fixed. A note to Germany, which was finally approved to-day, concludes with an announcement that measures will be taken by the Allies in case of non-compliance. These measures are not specified, but it is understood that in that contingency the occupation of additional German territory will be considered.

SOVIET NEGOTIATIONS CRITICAL.

LONDON, June 22. A crisis has arisen in negotiations going on between Premier Lloyd George and Gregory Krassin, Russian Bolshevik Minister for Trade and Commerce, which may result in the breaking off of conversations and departure of Krassin from London, according to the Herald, organ of the Labor Party. The newspaper adds that the crisis was precipitated by the Premier insisting that before negotiations go any further, the Soviet Government must promise compensation to British financiers who have vested interests in Russia. Krassin, it is said, offered to discuss this matter at the Peace Conference, but was met by what is declared to have been a virtual ultimatum. Premier Lloyd George is charged by the Herald as acting "at the dictation of a group of British capitalists."

CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND.

LONDONDERRY, June 22. Civil war continued throughout to-day with one more death, bringing the total list to eight. Troops were protecting some of the principal streets this afternoon, but enough firing was going on to terrify citizens and keep them indoors, resulting in the stoppage of all usual activities. General suffering is expected if deliveries of foodstuffs are not resumed soon. Mail from the morning train was taken to the Post Office by the military escort, but was permitted to remain there undelivered, as the post men feared to venture on the streets. Cross channel sailings have been suspended. Several boats are lying up in the harbor awaiting an opportunity to discharge, which is impossible at present, with firing going on about the docks. Promised military reinforcements had not arrived up to a late hour this afternoon. During the night several bags and other barricades were thrown up by Unionists and Nationalists. Shortly after eleven o'clock this morning firing was heard in many parts of the town. Later crowds of rival factions were seen marching about, carrying arms openly. One crowd wrecked the waterfront and what intoxicants the crowd did not drink were thrown into the street. The crowd did not disperse until the police had charged several times. There was much firing but not serious. William Kane, who was shot at eight o'clock this morning, died an hour later. He is reported to have been hit by a man whose name he gave, and shot. Others were wounded to-day. They were not combatants who were proceeding along the street.

FORCES ADEQUATE.

LONDON, June 22. Bonar Law, in reply to a question in the House of Commons to-day, declared he considered there was an adequate military force in Londonderry to deal with the situation. This view was also held by the Chief Secretary of Ireland, he said. Bonar Law stated that the Government had ordered General Campbell, commanding officer in that district, to proceed from Belfast to Londonderry, with full power to deal with the situation as he saw fit. The questioner, who, apparently was not satisfied with Bonar Law's answer, gained leave from the House for a general discussion of the situation to-night.

QUAKE CLOSES PLANT.

LOS ANGELES, June 22. Los Angeles Railway Officials announced that a slight earthquake at three-thirty to-day put the Power Plant at Huntington Lake, twenty miles east of Fresno, out of commission for twenty-five minutes. Los Angeles traffic was tied up for that period.

GENERAL ASSASSINATED.

LONDON, June 22. A Moscow Wireless despatch to-day announces that General Markovskiy, Commander of the Omsk Military District, has been shot at Omsk.

POLES IN RETREAT.

LONDON, June 22. Polish troops, west of Retchitza, are hurriedly retreating before Russian Bolsheviks, who have advanced as far as Bantoch, according to an official statement issued in Moscow yesterday and received here by wireless.

ALBANIAN INSURRECTION.

ROME, June 22. A battle between Albanian insurgents and Italian Arditi and Alpini occurred near Drac Dracovizza, when Italian troops attempted to make a reconnaissance in force, with motor cars, according to an Aviona despatch to the Giornale d'Italia. Unable to stand against the fire of the Italians, the Albanians retired to their own lines. It is believed that upwards of 4000 insurgents are encamped around, while fresh contingents are arriving from the north. Italian fliers, who have flown over the Albanian lines, report that the Albanians are drilling and appear to be officered by professionals.

CHINA TO JOIN THE LEAGUE.

PEKING, June 22. China's ratification of the Treaty of Peace with Austria has been promulgated by the Government. It is held that this will entitle China to participation in the League of Nations.

House of Assembly.

Tuesday, June 22. The House met at 3.30 p.m. Mr. Higgins asked if the Vocational Committee had resigned and for the tabling of correspondence between Newfoundland and the Government.

The question of Sir M. P. Cashin as to the appointment of Lt.-Col. Bernard as Trade Commissioner of Newfoundland outside the Colony was deferred.

In answer to Mr. Walsh's question to table a copy of Mr. Knight's report on the enquiry in connection with the Postal Telegraphs, Mr. Warren stated that the report was in the possession of the House and had been tabled in 1917.

Mr. Sullivan continued his criticism of the Estimates, dealing with the huge increases in public expenditure, and the increases in various departments for some while the salaries of other officials remained stationary or, like Mr. Lockyer's in the Public Works Dept., were reduced. He pointed out that 26 new pensions were provided for at a cost of $40,000 against $25,000 last year, and many of the recipients are men who are still able to perform their duties. The increase equals the whole vote cut out for the widows and orphans. It seems from the Estimates that the Government intends to wreck the country financially. Large increases are voted for the successors of those pensioned. He thought Mr. Brownrigg was sailing too close to the wind in not allowing more for contingencies. Last year the revenue was $9 million dollars but he doubted if the Government was justified in assuming it would be the same in years to come. With conditions as they are to-day he felt positive it would not be. The revenue depends on the purchasing power of the people which must naturally be reduced in view of the lower prices for codfish, cod oil, etc., and he was convinced there would be a large deficit. Taxation will have to be piled on and he hoped the Finance Minister would give some information as to how the revenue is to be derived, but none is forthcoming. He promised to deal further with the Estimates as they came up in detail.

Mr. Higgins, for more than two hours dealt with the violation of all precedent in attempting to pass a vote for 2 millions extra expenditure with only a bare quorum present, all the responsible Ministers but one being absent and with no particulars of the Estimates given.

Mr. Warren admitted the Justice of Mr. Higgins' arguments for further information on the Estimates and moved adjournment of the House until Friday afternoon.

Mr. Walsh and Sir M. P. Cashin pointed out that the questions asked by them had not yet been answered and asked that they be on the order paper for next session.

Sir M. P. Cashin read the message from residents of Bay Roberts which appeared in yesterday's issue as to the delay in sending the "Edmund Donald" north with the fishermen, pointing out that the ship was costing at least $1,000.00 per day for every day's delay. This, however, is nothing to the financial loss occasioned by the fishermen of all parts of Conception Bay and elsewhere at the northward being delayed from getting about their work. The season is late already and the delay is caused by the effort to get the vote of Bay de Verde men. The ship is all ready to sail and should not be held back. This is certainly not in keeping with the protestations of reform. Practical fishermen in the Government knew the delay was not just to a large number of their constituents, and the Minister of Justice should order her on as he is now in charge of the Government, the other leaders being on a canvassing trip to Bay de Verde. The ship was ready to take cargo three days ago but none was taken and the fishermen came here and protested.

Mr. Warren said she would sail to-day, Wednesday.

Mr. Archibald stated that her berths had not been erected yet.

Sir M. P. Cashin stated that she was deliberately held up and this work could have been done long ago while she was lying at the Dock premises.

Mr. Warren gave notice that he would introduce a Bill on Friday as to Municipal Elections in St. John's, and Mr. Vincombe that he would ask the Minister of Justice, in the absence of the Colonial Secretary, if any annual returns have been made to the Government by the Bell Island Tramways Co. If so to lay the copies of the same on the table of the House.

Mr. Moore pointed out that no answer had been given to his question as to conditions at the Soldiers' Hospital, where the men undergoing treatment had complained of lack of heat and coarseness of food, and asked if anything had been done for them in the meantime.

Mr. Warren hoped to give a statement on Friday.

The House adjourned at 6.45 p.m.

Wedding Bells.

RING-LEE.

A very pleasing ceremony took place at the Church of the Resurrection, New York, on June 6th, when Miss Kitty Ring was united in matrimony to Mr. Wm. Lee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. McNulty. The bride's dress was of Copenhagen Blue Georgette, with silver and blue hat and she carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations, lily of the valley and asparagus fern. The groom's present to the bride was a piano. After luncheon, served at the home of the groom's mother, they left by motor for Hartford, Conn., on their honeymoon, also visiting Springfield and Boston before returning to New York their future home, where the groom holds a very lucrative position with the Elevated Electric Railroad Company.

From the Labrador.

(Montreal Daily Star.)

Over seven months ago a letter received last Friday in Montreal started on its journey from Nain, Labrador. There are several interesting things about the letter in question, and I am going to hand it on to the great reading public of the Star, that they may think about it and perhaps fully appreciate its significance.

Here it is, just as it read when mailed at Nain on November 5, last year:

Secretary, G.W.V.A., Montreal, P.Q.

Dear Sir and Comrades—I enclose application form for one of the native Esquimaux who works for me; also $7.00 cheque, $2.00 of which is for his fee, and the other $5.00 please give to the family of John Clarke, whose sad case I read about in the Montreal Daily Star, to which I subscribe and reaches me at intervals of a couple of months.

This man, John Flag, is one of about 20 natives I recruited up here, at my own expense. They all went to the Newfoundland Regt. as being the nearest unit. Some of them became the most noted snipers, as they are all expert marksmen naturally. I hope you can fix him up as a member and send his Badge, etc. in care of me, or registered mail. I will get the other men here in line a little later on, as they are on a hunting and fishing trip just now.

Yours sincerely,
RICHARD WHITE.

Squires' Blunders.

From the zenith of prosperity under the leadership of Sir M. P. Cashin, nine short months ago, the country has descended to the nadir of depression, and business people are paralysed with fear and doubt as to just what is going to happen next. Every move made by the Squires Government has been a blunder pregnant with disaster for the dominion, and it is a puzzle to the thinking public to decide as to whether it is all done through personal ignorance, stupidity or incompetency, or through design to wreck Newfoundland and bring about enforced Confederation with Canada. Every man to be met on Water Street these days has a look of dread and worry on his face, influenced by the state of affairs produced by the calamitous outlook brought about by the Government, and no one is willing to venture into trade transactions extending into the future at any length. The Government's action in increasing taxation to the tune of nearly TWO MILLION DOLLARS under present trade conditions, is like an act of men gone insane. In effect it means that two hundred and sixty thousand people will be asked to contribute NINE MILLION DOLLARS or approximately THIRTY-FIVE DOLLARS per head of population to even up the total sum of expenditure. Make no mistake it is the people who work that will have to pay this huge sum. And the worst feature of it all is that this has been done by a man who, in his election manifesto, solemnly promised to reduce taxation and make things easier for the fishermen.

Last fall the cry of the Squires Party was "Turn the grafters out," but a more brazen gang of grafters never ruled any country than those in power in Newfoundland to-day, judging them upon their own figures submitted in the Estimates.

They are simply throwing money away, firing the hardly paid taxes of the fishermen at the heads of already highly paid officials, in the shape of salaries which were never asked for, never expected, and which they could get along very well without. There is nothing for the soldier and the sailor who risked their lives in the Great War, and nothing for the fisherman but a fishery law that has brought his fish down from fourteen dollars to five dollars per quintal. "It is impossible to sell fish in St. John's at any price," is the expression of opinion of many men who have recently brought fish here to sell. They had either to store their parcels or take them home again. In the face of this fact it is not surprising that the fishermen do not worry about the present price of fish: it will be as good a price next fall as it was last. Why not get the good price now? It is about present prices that fishermen are worrying, and not those of next fall. The cry of big prices to come is made for the prime purpose of deceiving and bamboozling the electors of Bay-de-Verde, but it will not work this time. There has been too much deceit and too much blundering on the part of Squires and his Government to again take in the men of Bay-de-Verde or those of the other districts any longer. Bay-de-Verde men are not of the type to be led astray by the flatterings of a paid Government press, and all the other districts are "fed up" on the duplicity and incompetency of the present Government. Bay-de-Verde fishermen will strike the first stroke toward getting rid of the aggregation calling itself an administration, and on to-morrow will smite with such shrewdness through the ballot boxes that the blow delivered at graft will break the chains which have been rivetted on the neck of every man in the country who is trying to make a living out of the fishery; chains welded by the arrogance and greed of the party which promised a square deal and which gave it by enforcing such drastic Fishery Regulations, that Bay-de-Verde can kill with their votes. It is to their advantage to have free trade. By obtaining it in the defeat of Cave and the crumbling of the Government fabric thereat, the price of fish will at once improve. The men of Bay-de-Verde can start this on Thursday.

Dr. Fenwick Elected President Meth. Conference.

Rev. Dr. Fenwick was elected President of the Methodist Conference this morning, on the second ballot, by a large majority. On the first ballot Rev. Mr. Bennett received a considerable number of votes and consequently there was no decision and a second ballot was taken with the above result. Rev. W. J. Morris was elected Secretary of the Conference. Congratulations.

Methodist Conference.

The business of Conference yesterday appertained mostly to the ministers themselves. There has been an observable change in the personnel of the ministerial ranks owing to the transfer system. This year we lose several of our ministers by transfer. Our probationers are also moving to the Canadian Conference rapidly. At 8:30 the Conference was the guest of Dr. Curtis at Wood's Restaurant. The happy family thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of their kindly host, and afterwards very interesting speeches were delivered by the President of the Conference, Dr. Dunn, Rev. J. T. Newman, Dr. Fenwick, Rev. Chas. Howse, Dr. James Saint. This morning the Conference meets at 8:30 for the election of the officers and its machinery for the carrying on of its business of reviewing the work of the past year and to form its plan for carrying on the activities of the coming year. At 12 o'clock the Rev. Hugh Pedley, D.D., will deliver the first of his midday addresses and conduct the quiet half hour.

Obituary.

THOMAS J. EDENS.

Mr. T. J. Edens, the well-known city grocer, died at Annapolis, N.S., yesterday morning. Real regret was felt and expressed over all the town yesterday afternoon when the news, received by wire, became general. Mr. Edens was widely and well known and in his passing St. John's loses one of her best citizens. Monday night Mr. Edens was stricken with apoplexy and died a few hours later, fortified by the rites of the Roman Catholic Church. Right Rev. Mons. McDermott, of the Cathedral, received the sad intelligence shortly after. Mrs. Edens was at her dying husband's bedside and, fortunately, was with him to the end. Interment takes place at Annapolis to-day. Mr. Edens, accompanied by Mrs. Edens, left a month ago on a vacation made necessary by diligent attention to business. His health was good, however, and makes his passing more a shock than would otherwise be.

Born 58 years ago in this city, the late Mr. Edens was educated here and at Montreal. Leaving school he entered his father's grocery business, later taking it over under his own name. He was an ex-Municipal Council member, one of the founders of the old "Academia Club," a warm supporter of athletics and a prominent figure in connection with the Regatta. He was a member of the St. Bon's College Board of Governors, one of the founders of the Catholic Cadet Corps, a lifelong member of the B.L.S. of the K. of C., and a member of the City Club. Political honors he might have shared, but a retiring disposition forbade. Three of his sons fought in the Great War. Two made the Supreme Sacrifice. Mr. Edens was an active war-worker, while Mrs. Edens was prominent in the ranks of the Women's Patriotic Association. His widow, nee Miss M. Walsh (daughter of the late William P. Walsh), two daughters, Misses Margaret and Gertrude, two sons, Francis and Gerald, and one brother, George, residing at Sydney, N.S., are left. To them the Telegram extends sympathy.

BENNETT AND PUDDISTER GIVE SPLENDID HEARING.

Special to Evening Telegram. WESTERN BAY, Yesterday. The Opposition candidate held a meeting here last night which was a splendid success notwithstanding an organized attempt made by Mosdell and others from St. John's to cause a disturbance. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Puddister were the speakers, and were enthusiastically applauded all through their addresses. The Government forces, finding the district against them, are working feverishly to stem the current but are hopelessly outclassed. The belief that Puddister is the winner prevails everywhere.

Principal MacKinnon for St. Andrew's Pulpit.

Rev. Gordon Dickie and family leave by to-day's express for Nova Scotia. During the Minister's absence on vacation St. Andrew's pulpit will be supplied by Rev. Clarence MacKinnon, Principal of the Theological College at Halifax. Principal MacKinnon is well known on both sides of the water as a brilliant and inspiring preacher. During his services overseas he was instrumental in founding the Khaki College Movement and in giving direction and inspiration to it in the various camps in England in the autumn and winter of 1917-18. In the following years his services were invaluable along educational lines in France, writes the Director of Chaplain Services Overseas. On this, his first visit to Newfoundland, Dr. MacKinnon will be accompanied by Mrs. MacKinnon, who is a sister of Prof. H. R. Macintosh of the Free College, Edinburgh. The latter was the chief lecturer at the Graduate School in Halifax in April last, and is very well known throughout the Church at large. Dr. and Mrs. MacKinnon will stay at the Manse during their visit to Newfoundland.

The Legislature.

There was no session of the Legislative Council yesterday, and the House of Assembly has been adjourned until the Election in Bay de Verde is over, all the horse, foot and artillery of the Government forces being in the field to help Mr. Cave in his vain attempt to stem the tide of victory setting in for Puddister, the Opposition candidate. The highlanders of the Government have become exceedingly fearful and are not reckoning on winning the district, notwithstanding their boasts.

Halifax Ball Team for Newfoundland.

Locals May Play the Best Teams in St. John's During August.—Manager Grace Anxious to See Our Boys Perform.

HALIFAX, June 18.—An all-star Halifax baseball team will likely play in St. John's, Newfoundland, the latter part of August. A local man has negotiated with Manager Grace, of the All-Stars, and it is understood that a satisfactory guarantee has been offered. It is planned to play three games in St. John's, and one in the Wabana coal mining district, where several good ball teams are located. While the manager of the proposed local team will not as yet give out the names of the players who will go to St. John's, it is understood that Hanlon, Nedder Hurley, Chic McLeod, Neil Wilkie and Nick Phelan will make the trip, which would probably take in eight days.

Mrs. Wm. Ritchie Gained 16 Pounds

"I Will Always Bless the Day I Began Taking Tanlac," Says Halifax Woman.

"I will always bless the day I began taking Tanlac," said Mrs. William Ritchie, of 48 Charles St., Halifax, Nova Scotia, "and I feel like I want to tell everybody what a wonderful medicine it is."

Mrs. Ritchie has lived in Halifax all her life and has a host of friends who will be glad to learn of her wonderful restoration to health.

"Why, I have actually gained sixteen pounds since I began taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Ritchie, "and I never felt better in my life. For five years I suffered with a bad case of chronic indigestion that made my stomach after eating and bloated me up something awful. When I lay down at night this would come up in my chest and throat until I felt like my breath would stop. I had no appetite at all, and there were days when I would go all day long with no more nourishment than a cup of tea, for I knew so well if I ate anything what I would suffer. I was troubled a lot with severe sick headaches and spells of nausea that left me as weak as a baby. In all the five years I was sick I don't think I got a single good night's sleep and in the morning I felt as tired as when I went to bed. I fell off twenty-five pounds and was nothing but a shadow of what I used to be."

"I had just about lost hope of ever being well when one day a friend advised me to try Tanlac. It was only after a lot of persuasion that I got my first bottle, for I had become completely discouraged from trying so many things that did me no good, but I found Tanlac different from any medicine I had ever taken. I kept getting better until to-day I am as well as I have ever been and feeling fine all the time. My appetite is splendid. I can eat anything I want and digest everything perfectly and am not bothered with gas on my stomach or with sick headaches. I sleep at night like a child and get up in the morning, refreshed and ready for any duties that may come to hand. All the strength and energy I had before my sickness have returned to me and I am only too glad to recommend Tanlac to anyone who suffers as I did."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by Messrs. Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle.—adv.

G. W. V. A. Meeting.

CHANCE — PRIME MINISTER MUST APOLOGISE.

Last night's meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association to consider action in the matter of the Government having failed to carry out its pledge to the mistimed soldiers and sailors and the dependents of those who made the Supreme Sacrifice was attended by about 800 of overseas men. A standing vote of condolence was extended to the family of the late T. J. Edens who had lost two sons in the Great War. For the benefit of those who were not present at the previous meeting, Mr. J. Higgins gave a resume of what had occurred, and urged upon the men to act in unison, if action were necessary. Mr. Murray Anderson reported that the letter forwarded by the committee after the last meeting to the Government had been answered inside two hours, and a meeting of the Committee and the members of the Executive Government in the city was held at noon. The Government was unable to make any definite promise as to what would be done, owing to the absence of Mr. Squires and Mr. Coaker from the city, but assured them that on the return of these gentlemen the Veterans' claims would be taken up right away. Mr. H. Mitchell, who was one of the Veterans' deputation reiterated what Mr. Anderson had said, and thought it would be wise to give the Government one more chance before further action would be taken. The following were then added to the Committee who will wait on the Government and lay before them a programme which needs immediate adjustment: R. Matthews, R.N., J. G. Higgins, J. Ploughman, B. Murphy, J. Robinson, G. Chalker, J. McKinley, J. McGrath, H. Mitchell, M. Anderson and C. Garland as the secretary. Various other speakers took part, and the veterans have decided that their claims must be attended to, the publishing of records fully investigated and an apology made the soldier's widow who was insulted by the Prime Minister.

Mr. Pascall, one of the original G.W.V.A. members in Canada, and who is now visiting the city, outlined at length the efforts of the Association in that country and how their problems had been overcome. He exhorted the members of the Association to work for public confidence and for increased membership as unity is strength. A vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Pascall amid much applause and tendered by Lt-Colonel Carty. A collection was taken up in aid of Comrade R. Parsons, of Bay Roberts, whose home was destroyed by fire, after which the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

C. E. Orphanage's Annual Garden Party.

Preliminary arrangements, in connection with the C. E. Orphanage's annual Garden Party, to be held at Shannon Munn Farm, August 11th, were made at an enthusiastic meeting of gentlemen, held in the Officers' Rooms, C.L.B. Armoury last night.

Mr. Reg. Dowden was re-elected Chairman, and Mr. J. Pittman, who ably performed the duties of Secretary last year, was unanimously requested to fill that office again.

Nearly all of last year's energetic committee were present and, with several new volunteers, are determined to make this year's affair even more successful than that of last year.

Mr. John Coaker and his working party will look after the grounds again, and Mr. Winsboro will be asked to instal the electric light in the grounds.

Messrs. M. Colton, Feaver, R. Williams and Stevenson were appointed to take charge of the dancing galleries, while Mr. E. Hawkins will attend to the gate receipts.

Rev. Fletcher was appointed to confer with Quartermaster Williams regarding ordering of the prizes.

Members of the C. L. B. are looking after the sports program. Gold and silver medals will be awarded for football five, and to the winner of the road race, a silver cup will be presented. Valuable trophies will be provided for the winners of the Pony race and other contests.

Various other matters were discussed and will be finalized at the joint meeting of ladies and gentlemen which takes place at Canon Wood Hall at 8.30 Friday evening next.

AT THE BALSAM.

For the Delicate and Tender Facial Skin
KIRK'S JAP ROSE SOAP
Golden Transparent

FACIAL skin troubles come at times from not thoroughly washing the face and from leaving the undissolved impurities of cheap, adulterated soaps in the pores of the skin. When these pores become so clogged, trouble begins and beauty vanishes. Because, it is through these pores that the skin breathes, so to speak. And to retain a healthy, beautiful skin, these delicate pores must be kept clean of undissolved soap, as well as of dirt and dust.

JAP ROSE is absolutely soluble in any kind of water, cold or hard. Moistened the cake, and every atom of the pure oils and chemically pure glycerine in this golden transparent soap—JAP ROSE—changes almost instantly, into clear, pearly bubbles of pureness, that cleanse thoroughly and hygienically every delicate pore of the skin. There's not a particle of sediment. A dash of water, and as if by magic, all is gone.

AS you value your health and good looks, do not use a soap on your face which contains any adulterants or impurities, and which does not wholly and almost instantly dissolve.

YOU can use freely and safely on the most delicate and tender skin, JAP ROSE soap, a scientific blend of the purest oils. Its dainty rose fragrance—its clear golden transparency—its purity and hygienic qualities, all combine to make it the safest and most satisfying toilet soap you ever used for the face and hands, the hair or the bath.

Brooding, Rearing and Feeding Chicks.

(By a Member of the N.F. Poultry Association.)

As the majority of persons raising chickens in this Dominion are doing so only on a small scale, I shall not attempt in this article to describe the methods used on the large farms in other countries, but shall confine myself to two or three methods, one or all of which, can be tried out by those who either hatch 10 or 500 chickens.

Natural Brooding.
For those who raise less than 100 chickens it is my idea that the best and easiest way to brood them is to allow the hen to do the brooding, she will cover them at frequent intervals, protect them from danger, and if they are given free range, which is essential to raising good hardy stock, she will discover insects, worms, grit, etc., without the attendant having to do as much as give these important factors a thought.

Heated Brooders.
There is no doubt that chicken need heat, either artificial or natural, and if it is not convenient to supply natural, the artificial will be found satisfactory, and for large quantities, the more convenient. In Heated Brooders there are several good ones to be obtained, viz. Cyphers, Hearsons, etc. The best and most modern being the Brooder Stove using either coal or oil. The smaller heated brooders handle from 25 to 75, and the Brooder Stoves quantities up to 1000 chickens at a time. The heated brooder consists of lamp enclosed in metal shape of cones with blanket sides, with slits cut here and there, which enable chicken to run in and out at will. The Brooder Stoves are for the larger man and have proven their worth in this country; Mr. Len Earle at "Altagona," on Logy Bay Road, brooding as high as 500 at one time with practically no loss.

Fireless Brooders.
Another method of brooding employed is known as Fireless or Cold Brooders. These consist of small boxes known as nurseries, with small openings in sides through which chickens get into runways for feeding, etc. The top of the nursery box is covered with a frame cased with blanketing or flannel, and rests on top of the backs of the chicken, the heat from their own bodies supplying needed warmth. The cold winds and chilly nights which we often experience here, even in summer weather, make the above, without great attention, a plan to be passed in favor of hen or heated brooders. Now it is no matter which way chicken are brooded, it is imperative that they be kept from vermin. So either dust your hen, when setting, and afterwards, as often as seems prudent. It is also good policy to dust chicken.

Rearing and Feeding.
When your chicks are hatched, do not feed them for at least twelve hours, but let them remain quiet and undisturbed. Then give them either bread soaked in milk, hard boiled eggs or little chick feed. It has been found practical to keep them confined in small space for a few days, so that they gain little strength before allowing them free range. The first few week's chicken should be fed quite often, always keeping pure water in front of them. Should chicken not be on free range, one should supply them with grit, green food, besides grain and meat scraps. A moist mash daily is an excellent thing to help along development, with their feeds. Chicks from pure bred stock, kept free from vermin, will repay one with well rounded and matured pullets ready at from 5 to 6 months for winter quarters, there to commence their laying functions every day. And by culling your cockerels, keeping only one or two of the most vigorous and well matured to mate with yearling hens, one will be in position to raise better chicks next year than the present.

Store Burglarized.

The grocery and provision store of Mr. J. J. St. John, LeMarchant Road, was entered early yesterday morning and a quantity of goods stolen. The thieves effected an entrance by breaking a pane of glass in the shop door and removing an iron bar which was used to fasten the entrance. In the arrests made yesterday it is believed the police have the right parties in their hands.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

HUNT FOR YOUR TONGUE.

RUTH CAMERON

"When you want to whip a child," says an Italian proverb, "first hunt for a stick." It would also be a good thing for many of us if, when we want to forbid a child something, or threaten him with a punishment, we had first to hunt for our tongues.

The most common fault in child discipline is the use of too many "don'ts," and too many unconsidered threats. Too many "don'ts" always spoil the child.

"Roderick, stop that quickly," I heard a nervous, quick-speaking mother say to her six-year-old son, the other day, "or you'll have to go upstairs and stay in your room for an hour."

An Unpardonable Sin.

Roderick was engaged in pouring the water which had been given him to blow soap bubbles with, through the cracks in the front steps. He did not stop.

His mother did not seem to notice this fact until a few minutes later. "Roderick, didn't you hear me?" she exclaimed.

"Yes, mother, but—" continuing in his play.

She swooped down upon him and took the rest of the water away from him. "I don't know what ails that child," she declared.

She said nothing further about that hour in his room.

Her Explanation.

Later she explained this to a grown-up companion who was rash enough to remind her of her threat. Her excuse was:

"He'd probably get into mischief. And then he keeps begging to come out and it takes more energy to keep him there than it's worth. Besides, it's a nice day and he ought to be outdoors."

Now it didn't do any harm for Roderick to pour out the soap bubble water. If his mother had been asked why she forbade him, she probably couldn't have told any reason except that she had given it to him to blow soap bubbles with. (We grown-ups are apt to be like that. We want children to do the conventional thing, the thing we have planned for them, whereas one of the essentials of a child's good time is that it shall be something he has thought up himself.) But it did no harm for her to make the threat and then not carry it out.

It Just Makes Trouble for Her.

Thoughtlessly forbidding children to do this or that is a habit many women, especially nervous women, acquire. It means needless deprivation for the child, and unnecessary trouble in enforcing her discipline for the mother. The best governed state is that with the fewest laws. The best governed child is one who is not constantly harassed by unnecessary prohibitions.

A very successful mother said it was her ideal never to utter a "don't" without first asking herself if she absolutely needed to interfere, and never to refuse a child's request without first trying to find a way to grant it.

Children detect and take advantage of weakness just as surely as they recognize and respect firmness. Before you forbid, count 20—and before you threaten punishment, count 50—would be a good rule for most of us.

British Utilize U. S. Bar Tenders.

London, June 14.—The American cocktail, like the prophet without honor in his own country, is carrying the gospel into England, where it is preached with tremendous success. It is estimated now that fully 1500 former American bartenders are in London and other English cities mixing drinks, and the number is increased with every incoming vessel.

The British hall this American invasion far more enthusiastically than the arrival of "Pussy Foot" Johnson and his fellow advocates of prohibition. The bartender is rapidly becoming a special feature.

Invitation for a function at the Savoy Hotel next Thursday reads, to meet "expert cocktail mixers from the United States of America in the Winter Garden."

The mixologist is by far the most popular lion on the occasion. At receptions, followed by luncheon, society people and well known actors and actresses and business men are vying in the acceptance of invitations. American bars in Europe have made the "old fashioned cocktail" fairly well known in the past. Some know the difference between the "Martini" and the "Bronx," but to-day the British orders "Jack Rose," "Manhattan," "Military," "Clover Club," or "Clover Leaf" with the savior faire of a New York clubman, and even asks for a dash of ale in his whiskey sour.

THE MARCH

The times are punk, the prospects yellow, conditions are a shame; and each man roasts the other fellow and says he is to blame. I throw some dornicks at my neighbor because he talks all day; he sidesteps hard, pro- ductive I a b o r, puts up no helpful hay. But when I say he is a traitor to useful industry, he says he knows one who is greater, and shies a brick at me. While I sit writing up this drab age, my neighbor wots and weens, the country's pressing need is cabbage, and turnips and string beans. I'll get land, and grow upon it a crop of seedless prunes, 'twould help out more than any sonnet, than any rippling tunes. Then he resumes his elocution, hands out the air that's hot, and says we'll have a revolution before we know what's what. Our lives would soon be rich and mellow, the times be smooth as wax, if we could make the other fellow get down to Old Brass Tacks. But when we urge him to get busy, and go and earn the price, he says, with nerve that makes us dizzy, "Just take your own advice."

Without hot-water bags can be cut up into mats to go under flower pots. The yolks of fresh eggs beaten in milk make an excellent substitute for cream in coffee.

WHEN BUDDY'S SICK.
When Buddy's sick, there's two of us
That Mother always has to nurse,
Nor is she sure, with all the fuss,
Which one of us is feeling worse.
I have no appetite for meals,
And restlessly I pace the floor,
And every look of mine reveals
That I am sick at heart and sore.

When Buddy's sick, I cannot hear
The pleasant things my neighbors say,
I know they wish to offer cheer,
But oh, my mind is far away.
I hear the slightest sound at night
And rush to feel his fevered brow,
And wonder if I've heard aright
When Mother says, "He's better now!"

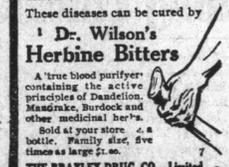

When Buddy's sick, I cannot sleep,
And while his course the fever runs,
A constant watch on him I keep—
For every sigh my courage stuns.
My hands grow clumsy, wet and cold,
My cheeks display my inner dread,
And like a child I must be told
A dozen times to go to bed.

When Buddy's sick his Mother knows,
As calmly by his bed she stands,
That if the fever longer goes,
She'll have two patients on her hands.
She tells me not to worry so,
To-morrow he will better be,
But while his trouble lasts, I know
That I am just as sick as he.

Wife of Skipper to Sail With Shamrock IV.

New York, June 14.—One of the intriguing circumstances in the life of yacht racer and prodigiously successful trophy hunter is the fact that not every cup is a cup.

At least that is the opinion of Mrs. Burton, "associate" skipper of Sir Thomas Lipton's American Cup contender, Shamrock IV. Capt. W. M. Burton, try for the trophy which has reposed west of the Atlantic since 1855. Her paradoxical sounding opinion was uttered very seriously.

"Happily some of them are salvers, tea services, and what not," she said. "Imagine the housewife's task of polishing something like a thousand cups of every conceivable shape."

Having the cups is very fine, Mrs. Burton says, but the real joy of the thing is the race. Since her marriage Mrs. Burton has not missed a race with her husband, who declares he'd as soon sail a race without his top-sail as leave his wife behind.

Mrs. Burton was reticent as to the precise sea duties of an associate skipper. She said she never suffered from nervousness, and never, never dreamed of making suggestions to her husband or in any way distracting his attention from the minutiae of his duties as helmsman.

"There could be nothing more out of place on a racing yacht than an excitable, unstrung woman. I am always perfectly calm and confident and enjoy it thoroughly."

How a British Inventor Will Crush Bolshevism.

(An Interview with Mr. Tom Emery, the Inventor, by a Representative of the International Press Service.)

The shattering of Bolshevism by the destruction of the props on which it raises itself to power. This bloodless counter-revolution is one of the possibilities of an astounding new invention, which expert engineers do of producing power without fuel. In conversation to-day the inventor, Mr. Tom Emery, indicated some of the really staggering possibilities of this invention which, as even the lay mind can appreciate, might turn industry upside down and produce the most far-reaching social changes.

"It is not a theory," Mr. Emery remarked. "Within a few weeks the public will see these inventions, automatic, self-starting, self-stopping, power-generating motors in operation and, thereafter, arrangements already made will be put into operation for production on a vast scale.

"What is the secret of the new motor?"

"The production of power without fuel by an application of hitherto unexplored principles of mechanics. In the not-distant future the fuel-driven engine and car and the fuel-driven industrial plant will be as out-of-date as the stage coach or windmill. Though the new motors embody a great number of discoveries, all now fully protected, an engineer can readily understand them. Indeed I had the experience once of having to destroy all my drawing and models to prevent interested persons getting hold of the secret before I was ready."

"What put you on the track of this discovery?"

"The realization twenty years ago that the fuel supplies on which the world is dependent for power were wasting away. Now I read that America's oil resources may be exhausted in 18 years. During the past twenty years I have spent many thousands of pounds on experiments and the result is a number of fuelless motors, the several principles of which are equally adapted for light or heavy work, for operating a watch, an aeroplane or a Super-Dreadnought. These motors are practically inexhaustible except for wear and tear."

"Will not the first result of these motors be to wipe out the engineering industry as it is at present?"

"Engineers have the remedy in their own hands. I advertised twice in the press inviting such firms to apply for licenses to manufacture my motors, but a few replies only were received. But now that I have transferred all my rights to 'T. Emery's Automatic Power-Generating Motors, Ltd.," of which I am managing and technical director, that company might grant applications, but in only exceptional cases."

In the course of the conversation Mr. Emery mentioned that arrangements for mass production had been complete for a considerable time. "I had not intended to wait," he said in reply to a question, "but one of my friends was persistent that the British nation should have the first opportunity of equipping its naval and military units with this new power. I am British and proud of it, and I naturally acquiesced in my friend's desire. After waiting twenty years I can easily wait a little longer."

"And where do the public come in?"

"In every way. This is nothing less, in its certain results, than a revolution to prevent revolution. For it will enormously reduce the cost of living to the public while simultaneously reducing working hours. Money will have more than a pre-war purchasing value. Incidentally it will purify the atmosphere of cities and houses and check the crowding of the form."

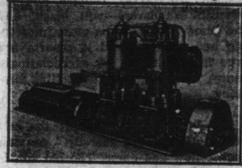

"How?"

"Obviously. With the cost of fuel, and the indirect cost of storing and transporting fuel, eliminated, production of all commodities must be enormously cheapened and output stimulated. Cheaper transport will further reduce the cost of living. Take, for instance, the approximate cost of running a 900 H.P. steamer which, I think, is about 24,000 per month, or about £48,000 per annum, or take the case of the 70,000 H.P. 'Mauretania,' which consumes, I think, about 1,400 tons of coal per day. These are simply two examples and when the massed H.P. of the Merchant Marine is considered, it will be seen what an enormous saving would be effected by the adoption of these fuelless motors."

"With the introduction of these motors," Mr. Emery added, "industry will no longer be confined, more or less, to fuel-producing areas, and there will tend to be a consequent healthy diffusion of the population. The intensive development of trade, which is certain to occur, will enable our Chancellor of the Exchequer to balance his budget with ease. Even the enormous National Debt will cease to be a burden to our nation—surely theught to be a blessing. The elimination of coal, soot and smoke will mean cleaner houses and cities. The danger of a C. 3 population in an A. 1 Empire will pass away."

Mr. Emery laughed. "I am not romancing," he said. "These results are absolutely certain from the general use of my invention. The cost of living should certainly fall far below pre-war level, as the result of the enormous impetus to industry and with wages high and working hours low, the material causes of the prevailing social unrest will be removed. That would be a staggering blow to Bolshevism, would it not? However, the possibilities of such a revolutionary invention altogether stagger the human mind, especially when it is remembered that it will displace the streets of good old London and elsewhere. That will be my final answer. The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it, and I assure you it is good English pudding, too."

The Republican Nominee

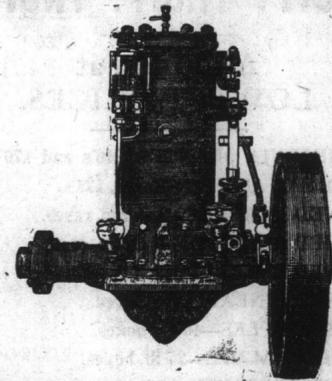

Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for President of the United States, was born on a farm, near the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow County, Ohio, November 2, 1898, the eldest of eight children. His father, George T. Harding, was a country doctor whose father's forbears came from Scotland. His mother, Mrs. Phoebe Dickerson, was descended from an old-time Holland Dutch family, the Van Kirks.

In his youth Warren Harding lived the life of a farmer boy, attending the village school until 14 years of age, when he entered Ohio Central College of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism.

He became a printer and editor and publisher of the Marion, Ohio Star. Senator Harding is identified with many other large business enterprises in Marion and other parts of the State. He is director of a bank and several large manufacturing plants and is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist Church. Mr. Harding has twice represented the 13th Senatorial district of Ohio in the State Legislature and served one term as Lieutenant-Governor. At the 1914 election Harding was elected United States Senator by a majority of more than 100,000, running 73,000 ahead of the next highest on the ticket. In the Senate he is a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations. Senator Harding married Miss Florence Kling in 1911.

$3 Men's Boaters for $1.50.

You need a straw for Summer—who doesn't? And even if you only thought you needed one, you'd be tempted to buy when we offer such a wonderful price inducement.

Were we to buy them to-day we couldn't sell them for less than $4. And you know this is "Honest Injun" truth, because you can read in this paper what others are charging.

When we get a surplus of straws we don't believe in keeping them—no matter what the cost—so the reduction.

Booming St. Pierre.

North Sydney, June 17.—The French government have now under construction at St. Pierre a large cold storage plant 45x239 and six stories in height.

The plant will be completed in about three months and construction work is being done by the Turner Company and the installation of the machinery by two American concerns.

The French government is getting this plant ready in view of extended operations of the fisheries, and the fleet of steam trawlers has been materially increased in numbers and larger steamers will be built to handle the fishing industry. The plant referred to will have as its complement large storage plants at Lorient, France, and when both plants are fully in operation the supply of fresh fish to the French people will be very materially increased. The plant at St. Pierre is designed to hold six million pounds of fish.

Another important public work to be commenced by the French government is the building of a breakwater 2400 feet in length, which will connect Dog Island with the main portion of St. Pierre and thus give St. Pierre a practically land locked harbor affording much better shelter in all weather than possible under present conditions.

M. Adam is chief engineer of public works, piers and harbors, and Capt. Sentinac is engineer on construction of government plants.

Game Won by Feildians.

After a very spirited contest between the Feildians and Highlanders last night's football game ended in a win for the former by one goal to none. A fair exhibition of play was given by both teams. To-night's game will be played by the Cadets and Britons, the lineups being:

CADETS—Goal, Clare; backs, Dr. Power, T. Duggan; halves, Galgay, Thompson, W. Duggan; forwards, Christopher, Caul, Maddigan, Caul and Dawson.

BRITONS—Goal, Barry; backs, Cockburn, Thompson; halves, Ainsworth, Langmead, Smith; forwards, Bearne, Sharpe, Jermon, Hull, Grijman.

DIAMOND DUST

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

Be, for once, an ardent fan, Weather Man, oh! Weather Man.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Mayor Goeling will send the first one across the plate, and then 'tis 'Oh! Boy!' for the big 20 game pennant series. The two big noises—the new C.E.I. team, under the direction of Manager A. Harvey Thomas, and the veteran Wanderers—will clash, and the game is sure to be most interesting and exciting, and if reports are true it is going to be excruciatingly funny. However, we're not telling anything.

The lure of the ballyard; the call of the Game; are merrily coaxing each fellow and dame. The old sun is blazing and Springtime is gay. The country is happy; it's OPENING DAY. The portly old banker, his fresh office boy, the tinker, the typist, are brimming with joy. The farmer, the actor, the prog, and the wop, the clerk from the office, the man from the shop, the painter, the poet, the lady sedate, the cop on the corner, the ruler of State, the parson, the plumber all out for a lark, are buying their tickets and crowding the park.

They're crowding the bleachers and packing the stand, and breathing in joy the warm breeze o'er the land.

For the ballyard is open, the players are there, the umps and the rookies are taking the air. The kingdom of Fandom is crazy with glee, and this baseball fever is getting to me.

So I'll end this verse here, and forget care and cark, try to borrow the price and get up to the park.

Here's how they will likely line-up this afternoon:—

C.E.I.	Wanderers.

Thistle	Sinnott

Drover	Britt

M. Churchill	Clouston

Alderdice	McCindie

C. G. Merner	W. Skinner

Bye-baby Bunting, our Harvey's gone a-bunting. They've gone and spent a lot of tin to bring a big-league bunting in.

Congratulations to our genial fellow townsman Freddy Britt, who was elected manager of the Wanderers last night. It won't surprise us any if he were to receive letters of condolence on his good fortune. Still, while there's life there's soap.

Oh! come up to St. George's, Maud, and see Britt wield the bat; and hear the pop-eyed fans applaud as "Old Bill" waves his bat. But let's not take a western seat (tho' 'tis at times the custom) nor the upper tier, because, Maud, dear, that's just where Britt'll bust them.

There's always two sides to a question—the wrong one, and our own.

Lives of baseball stars remind us, we may toll with brain and mitt, and departing leave behind us, footprints where we used to sit.

Never tell older outfielders where to play for certain or uncertain batters. Older outfielders are quite notional and emotional. When the ball gets between your vision and the sun, do not try to stare the sun out of countenance. Take a pair of smoked glasses and put them on while the ball is coming toward you. If this interferes with your running, sit down.

Do not throw high when returning a ball to the home-plate. Aim your throw at the umpire's head or some other solid object.

Do not worry about your hitting while running after a long fly. Get the fly first and let the batter worry about his hitting.

Don't get sore when the crowd call you naughty names. Seven years ago the fans acquired the "bawling out" privilege at St. George's Field, and a public opinion of your playing goes with every paid admission.

Don't argue with the ump. He'll be harder on you than Judge McCarthy would.

Don't foist Smith of the Wanderers about his age. It moves a record that you'll never acquire except you clip it from the Baseball Guide.

Don't feel hurt if the fans call you a truckhorse. You know it isn't true, and anyway it isn't your fault.

I met him down at Peddiggrew's place, this fat man, full of glee, a grin was chasing o'er his face. He cackled "hee-hee-hee." He laughed so hard I thought he'd choke, and said to him, "Old chap, please tell me, what's the blooming joke that wrinkles up your map?"

"Oh! ho-ho-ho," he answered then, "since Harvey runs the C.E.I.'s, I've thought of what will happen them if they should drop some flies. With Churchill there to lend a hand they're apt to need a train, when Drover censure Gabriel and Harvey bawls out Crane.

When Harvey starts to mix with Tim, I want a grandstand seat. I want to hear this Thomas boy and what he says to him. But with Harris, Stick, and Hallett near to urge these fellows lart, believe me, man, I want to hear what Clarry says to Harv.

And then this fellow roared some more. I thought he'd burst his side. He rolled in glee upon the floor and very nearly died. But when a laughing death seemed near he whispered through in pain—"Before I die, please tell me, dear, what Harvey said to Crane."

It is considered bad form to sit down in the outfield during the game. You will find time enough to sit down in your later years. On the other hand, do not pace feverishly up and down your part of the pasture while waiting for a fly ball to come your way. After missing it, you can become feverish.

If I like walking mile on mile, this Golf would be about my style. If I disliked my eyes and nose, I'd learn the crawl and trudgeon stroke. If I were old and liked to doze I might try chess or dominoes.

But I can't see these sports at all—I'm waiting for Chess to call "Play ball."

And I'll be there, Bo, if I crawl.

Unconverted.

(From the New York Evening Post.)
In the Zone Finance Office a letter was received inquiring about a bond which the soldier had purchased. His letter was rather incoherent and the office was unable to identify the case. So a letter went back to the soldier asking for more information and incidentally inquiring whether it was a converted bond.

"Now, the bonds wasn't converted," wrote back the soldier, "and I don't want it messed up in religion either. You just send it on to me like 'twas."

Wash Day and Backache

WASH day is the least welcome day of the week in most homes, though sweeping day is not much better. Both days are most trying on the back.

The strain of washing, ironing and sweeping frequently deranges the kidneys. The system is poisoned and backaches, rheumatism, pains in the limbs result.

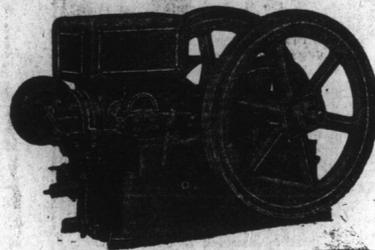

Kidney action must be aroused—the liver awakened to action and the bowels regulated by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This favorite prescription of the well-known Receipt Book author will not fail you in the hour of need.

Industrial Slavery.

Bolshevism means industrial slavery. As the London Spectator says: "The true proof of Bolshevism, and the test of its foreign admirers, has now come with the end of fighting over the greater part of Russia. The moment has arrived for Lenin's Utopia to dazzle us with its proletarian charms. The new revelation is, however, not forthcoming. For the Bolsheviks announce through their prophet that they mean to continue as they have begun. They have forced the Russians to fight for them, and now they propose to force the Russians to work for them. The Red armies which were raised for service against Admiral Kolchak and General Denikin are being transformed into Labour corps, and will be employed on civilian tasks under military discipline. Other men, as well as women, will also be subjected to industrial conscription at the will of the dictators."

Lenin and Trotsky believe that the "dictatorship of the proletariat" should be an "iron rule" and that in industry it must insist on "iron discipline during work, with absolute submission to the will of one person, the Soviet director, during work." This is not merely the opinion of a so-called "capitalistic" press. It is admitted and defended by the Daily Herald, which paper is, as the Spectator says, "the chief exponent of Bolshevism" in England. The Daily Herald in an attempt to justify "industrial conscription" and "iron discipline" in Russia says:

"Discipline—iron, rigid discipline of the workers by the workers—is needed in Russia. It will be needed here whenever the workers come to power. The Socialist State calls for more discipline than any other. We have no love for coercion of any kind, but we cannot visualise a modern state without it. Our choice is for that compulsion which aims at transforming the chaotic anarchical struggle of to-day into the ordered co-operative state of to-morrow. Our brothers in Russia are slowly but surely reaching their goal, and their failures and successes will show us the road we must travel."

Such is evidently the truth about Bolshevism in Russia, and the purpose of Bolshevism in this country. Think of what it would mean for every man and woman to become a conscript, forced to do civilian work under the orders of a Soviet Director! There would be no trade unions and a strike for better wages or shorter hours would be impossible. Citizens would have to obey self-appointed dictators or face a firing squad. How would a Toronto citizen like to be conscripted, taken to Vancouver and forced to do some work there, which a central committee regarded as necessary. Think of it!

"Labor corps" being formed in Toronto, Winnipeg or Vancouver, and transported to the north country to work under military orders! During the war some Canadian citizens, who were physically fit and free, were conscripted to defend their own homes and civilisation itself. That was only a temporary measure until the danger was passed. Under Bolshevism both men and women are conscripted in both war and peace. It is but to obey the Bolshevik tyrants or die. The Russians clamoured for "freedom" and they got industrial slavery. It is the desire of the Bolsheviks to establish the same kind of slavery in all parts of the world.—The Sentinel.
