CHAPTER IV.
 A FRIEND FROM ITALY.

They were standing near the door as this ceremony was performed, and the signor, as he stepped, with his peculiar sliding step, into the hall, nearly ran against some one.

He pulled up with a bow and a "Pardon!" but the person against whom he had collided uttered a cry of terror and shrank back.

Iris ran toward the door, and was just in time to see Felice crouching against the wall.

"What is the matter, Felice?" she said.

The woman, her eyes fixed upon the signor, tried to answer, but the signor spoke for her.

"The matter, Miss Iris?" he said; "it is my clumsy stupidity! I did knock myself against this young woman, that is all! I beg ten thousand pardons!" and he bestowed an elaborate bow upon Felice.

"Are you hurt, Felice?" asked Iris.

"No, no, Signorina; I am not hurt!" replied the woman; and with lowered eyes she shrank back and disappeared.

CHAPTER V.

Foreigners are generally considered by Englishmen as late risers, or, in other words, "He abba," but if there is any truth in this sweeping condemnation of our continental neighbors, then Signor Ricardo was, for once, a brilliant exception to the rule.

For on the morning after his arrival he was up earlier than the earliest housemaid at the Revels. Perhaps it was the beauty of the morning, the freshness of the air, the singing of the birds, that tempted Signor Ricardo from his virtuous couch, though he showed no great eagerness to get out of doors; indeed, his proceedings were rather staid for a visitor.

In a loose and somewhat rusty, black jacket, and wearing a pair of black, felt slippers, the signor strolled softly down the great stairs, with their carved and time-stained oaken railings and finials, and stopping to examine the old pictures on the walls, descended to the hall. Here he carefully examined the locks of each of the doors, then leisurely surveyed the suits of armor and cases of antique weapons.

He turned into the dining-room next, and, surveying the great carved sideboards, uttered a grunt of dissatisfaction.

"Where is all that solid and massive plate, those silver candlesticks and silver dishes, and centrepieces, I wonder?" he muttered. "That pig of a butler has them locked up somewhere. I expect, safe under lock and key. Humph! If some friends of mine knew this house and all that it contains, I think my good friend Knighton would lose some of his pretty silver things."

Having made a careful mental inventory of the contents of the dining-room, this interesting visitor, still in search of knowledge, turned into the hall again and tried the library door.

He found this locked, but after searching in his pockets for a minute he produced a skeleton key, and, after a little manipulation, turned the lock.

"One should never forget to carry a few useful tools," he murmured, softly as he looked round. "Books, books, books!" Bah! "My only books are woman's looks, and love is all they teach me! Who cares for books?"

As he spoke he opened the door of one of a series of cupboards, and uttered an exclamation of satisfaction, for inside the cupboard was a small safe. The signor examined this with more care than he had bestowed upon anything else, and apparently his examination was satisfactory, for, he nodded once or twice, and smiled sweetly.

"It is old—fifty, a hundred years, perhaps; and to open the lock is—bah! child's play. But not this morning! No; there is plenty of time, Baptiste! But I would like to know what is in there," he mused, with his head on one side, his white teeth gleaming at the safe as if they, too, were trying to penetrate its iron case. "I would like to know—well, well; all in good time! And now I think we will go and see the dew upon the flowers, and get an appetite for breakfast. Breakfast is the honest man's best meal; and Baptiste, my friend, if you are not honest, who is?"

With this moral self-encouragement the signor, having carefully relocked the library door after him, passed out into the garden. Here, having reached an angle well out of the view of the principal windows, he surveyed the house critically.

"Pest, but it is magnificent!" he murmured, his eyes roving covetously over the pile of gray stone, with its terraces and colonnades; "it is truly magnificent! Godfrey Knighton, my friend, you must be rich—very rich, and doubtless all this land for miles round belongs to you. Yes, you are a great man, rolling in money, in good English sovereigns—whilst poor Baptiste has scarcely a franc. Bah! and they say that there is justice in this world! Phew! what a place it is! It is just like a palace, with its plate, and its rich furniture, and its army of servants. And, doubtless, all to come to this young girl, this Miss Iris. Humph!"

There was a seat near where he was standing, on the edge of the velvety lawn, and Signor Ricardo stretched himself upon it, rolled up a cigarette, and lay looking at the morning sun, and smoking, and still letting his black, covetous eyes roam over the Revels.

Presently he heard a step behind him, and looking round, saw Felice. Her face was colorless, her eyes hidden under their lids, and when the signor raised his hat and kissed his hand toward her with an elaborate affection of respect, she made no sign, and her face remained still and expressionless as a marble mask.

"Ah, Felice!" murmured the signor, softly, but with a half-concealed sneer under the smile upon his lips, and his teeth gleaming at her as if mockingly.

"Like me, then, you are an early riser! Like me, you love to see the flowers with the dew on them! And how is my dear Felice?"

She stood and regarded him in silence for a moment, then she said, slowly, coldly:

"You have come, then?"

The signor stretched out his white hands and shrugged his shoulders.

"It appears like it, does it not? Yes, my dear Felice, here I am. Myself, Baptiste Ricardo, in all my glory! Oh, certainly, yes, as you say, I am come!" and he smiled again.

"Why have you come?" she asked, after a moment's pause.

"Bah! you remind me of my good friend Knighton—your master, eh?"

"My master," she assented.

"He did want to know last night why I had come. As if a man could not pay a visit to his friends without causing so much surprise! I have come, because I wanted a change—because I wanted to see England—because, equally of course, I wanted to see you, my dear Felice!"

"You have come for no good, I know that," she said slowly, dully.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"You know nothing, my little Felice," he retorted, puffing at his cigarette, and regarding her evilly from under the brim of his hat. "Did you get up so early to tell me that? If so, I ask you—was it worth while?"

"No," she assented. "Your presence has never crossed my threshold without bringing pain and shame. You have come to bring sorrow and trouble here, but—"

She paused, her hands clasped spasmodically, and a single flash from her eyes, as black as his, darted out toward him.

"Phew!" he murmured softly. "You deal in tragedies, my dear Felice! Why should I bring sorrow here, to this beautiful, this lovely place, to this friend Godfrey Knighton and his most lovely and charming daughter?"

"Do not breathe her name!" said Felice, with sudden, half-suppressed passion.

"And why not?" he retorted. "Bah! she and I are good friends already. We will be greater. She is an angel!" He raised his hat. "An angel! Her voice is superb! She will be a queen, an empress! I offer her my devotion, my adoration!"

All the while he was speaking he kept his eyes fixed on the cold set face above him with the same mocking smile, and at the end of his declamation laughed softly.

The woman stood silent for a moment, then she said in a low voice:

"Baptiste, there is only one thing for which you come—money. You shall have it. I am not rich, but I have saved. I have good wages, you shall have my savings, take them and go!"

He laughed as if with intense enjoyment.

"My dear Felice, you are simply magnificent. You offer me your savings—is it not so?—to go. Tush, child! do you think it were for money I came? They would satisfy me? No! But enough; you do me an injustice, my Felice. I simply wish to enjoy for a while the hospitality of my good friend Knighton; to bask in the sunshine of his prosperity; to enjoy his beautiful place, and its—what do you call it?—its surroundings, for a time. I say. When I am tired, and my Felice I soon tire—I will go, but not before, not before, most certainly."

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of enjoyment.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through Change of Life and suffered for two years with headache, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results, and I also find it a very helpful Spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends, and am willing you should publish this."—Mrs. MARTHA W. LINDSAY, 810 Robinson St., Regina, Sask.

Lacelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lacelles, Prov. Quebec.

A New Wonder of Photography.

A new microscopic wonder has just been announced. Mr. J. E. Barnard, who is in charge of the National Institute for Medical Research, has been able to photograph for the first time a living bacillus, and to reveal its structure.

Hitherto it has only been possible to photograph with any detail objects that had been magnified 1,000 diameters or a million times their size or area. Beyond this, while it was possible still further to enlarge objects by the microscope, the greater size did not give any more detail. The microscope began to break up the light itself, so that it was useless for revealing the textures of objects.

Using the X-Rays.

Now, by using violet and ultra-violet rays, which have a shorter wavelength than white light, Mr. Barnard has been able to perform the amazing wonder of photographing the living germs of anthrax, magnifying them 3,500 diameters, or over twelve million times their size, and showing their structure.

He is now experimenting with soft X-rays, a weak kind of X-ray, the wave-lengths of which are ten times shorter than those of the ultra-violet rays.

But while there are great difficulties in the way of magnifying the details of objects beyond a certain point, and photographing them, amazing things have been done in the way of obtaining more size, so that the minutest particles can be detected.

The ordinary microscope will, in favourable circumstances, magnify up to about 3,000 diameters, so as to render visible an object measuring only about one quarter-millionth of an inch across; but with the latest kind of instrument, known as the ultra-microscope, which magnifies up to 30,000 diameters, or 900 million times the size, objects can be distinguished that have a diameter of only one five-millionth of an inch.

Of course, no details of the structure of such minute objects are visible, but when suspended in water they are observed to be in a state of movement. They are so small that they pass through ordinary blotting-paper. For a long time the reason for the movement in water was a mystery, but it is now believed to be due to the fact that the particles in suspension are pushed about by the water molecules round them.

To be moved about in this way the particles must be almost infinitesimal in size, and it is believed that the movements they show are similar to the movements of the molecules themselves.

Seeing the Infinitely Little.

Shall we ever be able to get a microscope so powerful that it will show us a molecule? Science believes not, while the ultra-microscope enables us to detect an object as small as a five-millionth part of an inch in diameter—that is, the 25 million millionth of a square inch in size—a molecule of hydrogen is only one-thirtieth of this.

The principle of the ultra-microscope is simply that, instead of directing a powerful beam of light into the microscope through the liquid to be examined, it is sent horizontally into the liquid at right angles to the line of vision—from the side. Then, if the liquid is optically empty—if it has no floating particles—there is nothing to reflect the light, and the field of vision appears quite dark.

If, on the other hand, tiny particles are present in the liquid, the light is reflected, and the minute points of light stand out against the dark background, making the particles visible.

New Epoch in Reclamation.

Tract of Desert Land in Arizona Set Aside to Conserve Types of Desert Vegetation.

Few of us know that many expensive and priceless irrigation projects have been and are being carried on by the United States Government. We are aware that the desert will nearly always and everywhere "blossom as the rose" if you can get water into it. But perhaps the most extraordinary reversal of this commendable alchemy has recently gone on the records from Arizona. In continued pursuance of the policy of setting aside large unsettled areas to be future outdoor playgrounds, the Department of the Interior has established "The Panago Saguro National Monument." It is a tract of simonpure desert land, just east of Phoenix along the famous Apache trail; and it was created primarily to conserve types of desert vegetation in a region that is rapidly changing in appearance through increased cultivation of the soil. In other words, reclamation is proceeding at so rapid a pace that soon in the locality the precious giant cactus, sagebrush, rattlesnake, yucca, and gila lizards, shall have passed like the bison. The monument represents a "cross section of the state," a fauna and flora representative of the whole commonwealth, and so is to be preserved to the ages. Truly, a real tribute to nature! Here is a reclamation of the desert, in a new sense: Reclamation from the selfish activities of those who would turn its sand to soil and its sage to celery. Surely this marks an epoch in the passing of the great West!—Christian Science Monitor.

Nfld. Poultry Association.

Hatching Preparations For Show.
The work of finalizing arrangements for their annual show was done at last night's meeting of the Newfoundland Poultry Association, which was presided over by the President, Mr. H. W. MacIntyre, C.M.G. Arrangements were made for the annual show, November 30th and December first and second in the Church Lads Brigade Armoury. A Judge will arrive from Canada to award the prizes. Reports from the Publicity Committee were presented by A. J. Barry, Esq., in reference to holding a course of meetings in nearby parishes—illustrated by lantern of moving pictures of the poultry industry. Admission to these lectures to be free to the public, provided halls or outport schools are obtainable. Any clergyman wishing to have a delegation to give a lecture in the parish or any Society adjacent to St. John's wanting the Association's help will kindly send such a request to Secretary Stanley White, Water Street, City. The Association makes no charge for its services. Mr. Steven Embertley reported the results of the hatching eggs distributed this Spring. The Association is hoping during the Fall and coming Winter to extend its help and experience to the public in the nearby settlements. There will be an exhibit of flowers, plants, and vegetables at this year's show, and there will also be a section open to housekeepers for plants. A model house containing a pen of live birds will also be lotteried by the Association for the benefit of the work.

Prospero From North.

NO DAMAGE DONE BY BREEZE.
According to the report brought by S.S. Prospero, Capt. Felix, which arrived at 5 p.m. yesterday from the Westward, no damage was caused by Thursday's gale, although the ship had to delay at Bay Verte until it was over. All schooners had reached safety before the storm had become very bad. Bad weather also delayed the ship at Trinity. The fishermen are chiefly occupied in getting their catch ready for market, and very little fish is consequently being done along the coast. Besides a large freight the Prospero brought the following passengers:—Messrs. Decker, Field, Penney, Pilgrim, Burridge, Norris, Rev. P. Pumphrey, Murdoch, Blackler, Farrell, Capt. Haan, House, Thistle, House, Perry, Oakley, House, Ozone, Gringer, Hagen, House, March, Banister, Green, Hayer, Brassman, Lang, Messrs. Gullford, Fiel, Nink, Murdoch, Peck, Pierce, Reid, Grimes, March, Field, Misses Field, Gullford, Kellier, Ane, House, Lawrence, Murphy, Gringer, Pitcher, Wiseman, March, Missa, Freeman, Gardener, and 26 in all.

C. L. B. Cadets

Sunday's Battalion parade was almost a record one notwithstanding the rain storm. All the Veterans answered the roll call and went right over the top without their great coats straight to it through the showers. The Girl Guides also paraded in good strength but having no officer in command decided to await orders as good girls do. They proceeded to the Cathedral and were given the front pews by the Church officials. They looked smart in their kit and wore for the first time their new navy blue caps with Spencer College ribbon in a neat bow on the front. These girls acquitted themselves well notwithstanding the rain and they certainly do not belong to the feather bed squad or fine weather company. The Colonel was in command, Major Tait M.C. as Adjutant and His Excellency the Governor who is the General officer in command of the Cadet Battalion met the officers at the Cathedral and attended the service. There were nearly twenty commissioned officers present and about three hundred of all ranks on parade. The Old Comrades, under the Veteran Big Chief, Ern Chafe, turned out about fifty strong and marched like the Old Guards that they are! The service at 3 p.m. was a joint one—the men of the Cathedral Men's Bible Class also being present. The choir were all present excepting the tenors and basses. The service was conducted by His Lordship, the Bishop, Regimental Chaplain, and Rev. J. Brinton, Battalion Chaplain. The sermon was preached by His Lordship the Bishop on the subject of "Life's Vocation" and appealed to the lads that they should never despise their calling in life's duty whatever it happened to be. He gave several references to young lads who by study made great progress and achieved wonderful results and exhorted all to make good use of their time always. After the Battalion returned to the Armoury the Colonel made the following presentations, (1) a new Oboe to Bandmaster Captain Morris for use in the Band. This is the only instrument of its kind in the Dominion and will soon be heard to advantage. It was subscribed for by the following admirers of the Bandmaster's work, Mrs. William Piecey, Mr. Edgar Bowring, Mr. Leonard Outerbridge, Lieut. Mott, and Ex-Sergt. Ern Warren; (2) Gold Medal to Pte. R. Dawe for winning the half mile race in Camp 1921. This was presented by Old Comrade Max Parsons and is a handsome specimen of the jeweller's art. (3) Two five year long service pendants were also presented to Lance Corporal John Bartlett and Edward House; (4) Lieut. Fred Reid was also presented a gold service pendant, the medal being subscribed for by the members of the W. O. and N. C. O's. Mess. Lieut. W. R. Mott, (the Food Controller) was also in luck for the same Mess also presented him with another gold service pendant in appreciation of his service.

The Colonel has altered the parade nights—Tuesday being Battalion night and Thursday being W. O. and N.C.O's night.

Sergt. Major Rendell's swimming class are doing well. Unfortunately one of the "bathing beauties" had an accident—diving too straight—struck bottom and spoiled his Grecian nose so that they are minus one beauty for a time.

The Armoury repairs are going steadily on—the Brigade officers pinning their faith in the public—that during Brigade week, Nov. 14 to 21—they will patronize the Brigade's efforts to help themselves in meeting the cost of the work.

SWEET, PURE MILK—always on hand when you want it!

If you have never used Libby's Evaporated Milk, you will be amazed to find how good, how convenient and economical it is. Many women who first tried it in some emergency now use it always—they find it gives such satisfactory results.

There's no waiting for the milkman—you can always keep several cans on the shelf and in summer there's no bothering with ice, and in winter the milk wagon can get stuck in a heavy drift of snow as often as it wants to!

And there's less waste—a can of Libby's Evaporated Milk will keep indefinitely before being opened—and after you have opened a can you can use just what you need; the rest, put in a cool place, will keep several days.

Libby's Milk comes from the finest dairying section of America and is processed in our own sanitary condensaries—it is not the "distributed" product of an unknown and nameless plant.

Order a tin from your grocer to-day.

"The Sportsman's Paradise."

BIG GAME HUNTING IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

In the opinion of Dr. Hett, English surgeon and big game hunter, Newfoundland undoubtedly deserves the title of "The Sportsman's Paradise," and should be attractive to all tourists, no matter how diverse their tastes may be. He told the Telegram that he intends to write a letter to "The Field," the big English sporting paper, describing his trip to Newfoundland, and he will further do what he can to induce others to spend a vacation here, where they may indulge in fishing, shooting or whatever other attractions the country offers. He hopes to come here again next year and may build a house which he will be able to use whenever he pays on a visit.

The Irish Conference

The eyes of the whole English-speaking world are to-day turned towards London where the conference, which it is hoped will settle the Irish question for all time, is being held. What the results of the conference will be it would be useless to attempt to prophesy, but that it will be productive of a closer understanding and alliance between the Irish people and their cousins across the Irish channel; that it will end for ever the terrible strife and turmoil which reached its zenith during the past few years, and that it will bring them together in a bond of unity never again to be broken, is the hope of all. There have been faults on both sides, it is true, and recognition of this has been made. In the hands of De Valera and his associates, of Lloyd George and his colleagues, lies the settlement of hundreds of years of practically ceaseless strife, and may the trust in them not be misplaced. Infinite tact, logical reasoning and a total lack of obstinacy will be required, sacrifices may have to be made on both sides, before a complete understanding and permanent peace can be accomplished. Be the result of the conference what it may, however, this much we hope, that never again will there be a return to the bloodshed, the reign of terror, which prevailed during the recent years.

Opening Up the Country.

At the recent dinner of the Motor Association, Mayor Morris expressed the hope that before long we should have highways, suited for motoring, which would prove an added attraction to tourists and permit them to see a great deal more of the country. If we are to benefit to any great extent by tourist traffic in the future, the country must be opened up, but moreover, the country cannot make any great progress towards the development of its natural resources until such highways come into being. It has been truly said that the time when we could be wholly dependent on the fisheries, has passed. We must seek for other means of supporting our population and augmenting our revenue. Newfoundland is a country possessed of untold mineral and forest wealth, but these resources cannot be properly exploited until roads have been built into the interior and it becomes no longer a closed book to all but the few intrepid men who have ventured into it. Might we suggest to the Government that if at any time they are compelled to vote money for the purpose of relief work, that instead of building roads from nowhere to nowhere, they begin the road across country which some day will have to be built if we are to remain a self-supporting people and if our country is to advance with the times, as we needs must, if we are to continue to maintain our position as a self-governing dominion.

Presentation of Prizes.

An interesting ceremony took place at St. Patrick's Hall School to-day when Hon. J. P. Hand of Bermuda, an old boy of the school, presented the scholarships donated by himself to the lucky winners. Among those invited to the presentation were nearly thirty of those who attended the same class as Mr. Hand. The gathering assembled in the E. J. S. Club Room. Rev. Bro. Ahearn expressed his sympathy with Mr. Hand on the sad bereavement he had suffered in the recent death of his mother. He then called upon Rev. Bro. Ryan, Mr. Hand's old teacher, to introduce the donor of the prizes. In doing so, Rev. Bro. Ryan referred to Mr. Hand's career and the example it should prove to all the present pupils. Mr. Hand thanked the previous speakers for their kind remarks. He congratulated the prize winners and said that any honor that was awarded him he placed to the credit of his early training at St. Patrick's Hall. He then presented the following prizes:

- 60 Scholarship—J. Ryan.
- 80 Scholarship—J. English.
- 80 Scholarship—J. Malher.
- 100—J. Farrell, J. Brown.
- 50—J. Warren, W. Rice, P. Ring, L. Green, G. Angel, F. Cantwell, J. Murray, J. Corcoran, J. Leahy, W. O'Ryan.

Wrecked Crew Arrives.

The captain and crew of the Marjorie, which was wrecked on the coast of Labrador, arrived in St. John's to-day. Members of the crew state that they had a very narrow escape from a watery grave. The vessel was in a dense fog and when she struck the land at Mistaken Point, they were unaware of their position. They landed after a long and arduous search, owing to a gale of wind blowing they were compelled to shelter on the lee side of the wreck. They landed after a long and arduous search, owing to a gale of wind blowing they were compelled to shelter on the lee side of the wreck. They landed after a long and arduous search, owing to a gale of wind blowing they were compelled to shelter on the lee side of the wreck.

A Pretty Window.

One of the most attractive windows in the city, that of Baird's Dry Goods Store, representing an autumn scene, is the work of Mr. Ches. Quick, who has shown much skill in the use of his material. The background represents a country house and all around are falling the dead leaves, whilst on the ground in front are a couple of evergreens. The whole scene is suggestive of the coming winter which is made to look cheery by several children's models costumed in the latest winter fashions.

Induction Service.

Provided that S.S. Digby arrives in time, the Induction Service for the Rev. Mr. Earp, the new rector of St. Thomas's, will take place on Sunday morning. The service will be conducted by His Lordship Bishop White, who will also speak. In the night the new rector will preach to the congregation of St. Thomas for the first time.

Judge Congratulates Barrister.

Mr. J. O'Neil Conroy, who was yesterday admitted to the bar, and who is a member of the firm of Fenelon and Conroy, had his first court case to-day when he appeared in the action taken by W. E. Bears against the Nfld.-Halifax Steamship Co. His Honor Judge Morris congratulated Mr. Conroy and expressed the hope that he would be successful in his chosen profession.

Will Hold Exhibition.

Mr. W. R. Wood, a London artist, intends holding an exhibition of his paintings here towards the end of the present month. Mr. Wood, who studied at the Slade School of Art in London, came out to Newfoundland early in July and is staying with Mr. J. McNeil, with whom he served in the Machine Gun Corps during the war, at Grove Hill. He has done a considerable amount of sketching during his stay here, containing his activities to landscapes. Most of his work has been done in the environments of Logy Bay and the Waterford Valley. Mr. Wood told the Telegram that he had never seen such beautiful and picturesque scenery as he possesses. His exhibition will consist chiefly of local sketches with some specimens of work done by him in Sussex, England, and in the North of Spain.

"At Home."

The Nurse's Home of the Taylor Hospital was the scene of a delicious social event on Thursday evening, which was in reality a farewell party,
given in honor of Miss Loretta Browne and Miss Loretta Browne, of Newfoundland, who have finished their course of study and service in the Ridley Park Hospital and will leave for their home about the middle of October. The Misses Browne are nurses and have been at the hospital several years. Both are now professional nurses, and their departure is regretted by the medical fraternity, all associates in the hospital, the people they have cared for and the many friends they have made.—Chester Times, Pa., Oct. 1.

On Wednesday night this newly fitted and equipped College will open up at 8 p.m. for inspection. An "At Home" has been arranged by the Directors in order that the parents of scholars may have an opportunity to see the school and its modern fittings. His Lordship Bishop White, Chairman of the Board, presides and His Excellency the Governor will attend. Professor Stirling has prepared a short musical programme and refreshments will be served. Some 400 invitations have been issued to parents and friends. The "At Home" is also given in honour of the members of Field and Spencer Colleges who have lately joined the staff.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

DE VALERA SOUNDS A WARNING.

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.

Eamonn De Valera issued a proclamation to-night through Dail Eirre-ann, dealing with the London conference. He declared that only peace which can end the struggle will be one guaranteeing freedom worthy of the sufferings endured to secure it. The Irish delegates and British representatives in London, he says, indulge in no foolish hopes, and he advises the country not to indulge in them. The Sinn Fein leader alludes to the power opposing the Irish aspirations, and sounds a warning that essential unity will best be maintained by unwavering faith in those deputed to act in the nation's behalf.

PRISONERS DEMONSTRATE.

WATERFORD, Ireland, Oct. 10.

Eighteen prisoners in jail here, who were undergoing strenuous terms of penal servitude, staged a riotous demonstration to-day as a sequel of a demand served on the Governor of the prison four days ago that they be placed on the same footing as prisoners of war, and declaring that they would no longer tolerate being treated as criminals. When the prisoners were escorted back to their cells they proceeded to smash doors and windows in their cells. They then were handcuffed and later visited by the Governor of the prison, who informed them that their cases were being considered by the British Government and Sinn Fein authorities. As a result of the Governor's statement, the prisoners promised to maintain order and the handcuffs were removed.

WILL RE-CONTEST DIVISION.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, announced today that he would again contest the St. Lawrence-St. George division of Montreal. He said it was the intention to put Government candidates in the field in every riding of the Province of Quebec.

THE WAY TO PEACE.

DUBLIN, Oct. 11.

The Irish Bulletin, the organ of Dail Eirreann, says "there is neither weakness nor division in Irish ranks.
Equally there is no aggressiveness nor desire for war. The Irish nation is convinced that a peace honorable and advantageous to both countries is eminently possible as a result of the conference meeting to-day. The way to peace is through justice, the way from it is through threats of force."

NO CHANGE IN PRICES.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 11.

Prices during September, both wholesale and retail, showed little change as compared with those ruling during August, those noted during largely seasonable, according to the statistical branch of the Department of Labor.

GREY ON IRISH CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

Viscount Grey, addressing a Liberal meeting at Berwick-on-Tweed, last night, discussed the Irish Conference.
He said "the Irish delegates are not dealing with the British Government alone, they are beginning to deal for the first time with the British public opinion." One danger, he declared, was that Irish representatives might force negotiations to a point where the British people really believed their self-preservation was imperilled. He believed that Dominion partnership with Ireland was consistent with the safety of Great Britain provided the vital defence of both countries was under one authority.

Supreme Court.

BEFORE FULL BENCH.

The King vs. Sophie Porter.

Summers, K.C., moves for the arraignment of the accused. The accused pleads guilty. The sentence of the Court is that the prisoner be imprisoned in the Penitentiary for a period of six months.
(Before Mr. Justice Kent.)

Mary E. Miller vs. William Gibbs.

Mr. Hunt for plaintiff, Mr. J. J. Mc-Grath for defendant. Mr. Hunt opens the case for the plaintiff and George Turner, who is sworn and examined.
Donald Morrison was also called and Bills of Sale put in evidence. Mr. Hunt moves to amend the statement of claim. Mr. McGrath asks for an adjournment. The full hearing is adjourned until Saturday, Oct. 15th.

The Court adjourned until to-morrow at 11 a.m.

Fishing on French Shore.

According to reports brought along by the Prospero's passengers, very little fishing is being done to the northward owing to stormy weather.
The boats that are operating, however, still continue to get fair catches.
On the French Shore, where a good many have again started in owing to a report of better prices reaching them, the boats average from 1 to 2 quintals daily and if the weather continues moderate, a good voyage may be secured by these fishing.
This fish, however, will not likely be ready for market before next spring.

Injured by Motor Car.

A nurse in the employ of E. G.
Gittleston, while walking with a child
on LeMarchant Road this morning, was knocked down by a passing motor car, which luckily escaped killing the child. The girl was somewhat injured and had to be taken to hospital for treatment.

Shore Fishery Poor.

Schooners belonging to Trinity Light are returning from Labrador with fairly good catches. The shore fishery, however, in practically all the district has been a failure, and things are not looking too rosy for the winter. It is said that $4.40 is being paid for Labrador fish. Very little shore fish, however, is coming in.

Barrister and Solicitor.

In the Supreme Court today,
before the full Bench, Mr. Summers, K.
C., as a Bench, presented Mr. Thos.
Scanlon McGrath, as having been called to the Bar and signed the roll of Barristers. Mr. McGrath is one of the youngest of our Solicitors and Barristers, and is practicing with his uncle, Mr. J. J. McGrath.

Basar Abner

THE WISER MAN.

Bill and Joe were rivals for a pretty maiden's hand.

And Bill and Joe gave battle for the fairest in the land.

But not with lance or pistol, or in a cruel fray.

For each one sought the charmer in his own peculiar way.

Bill wrote her pretty poems and praised her gentle eyes.

He wooed her with his laughter and wooed her with his sighs;

He'd telephone of mornings, and the afternoons would find

Bill hanging round her doorway, for he was the spoony kind.

Joe's methods were much different.

"I'm after you," said he;

"Some day I'll make a fortune so you can marry me."

And while Bill wrote his poems and spooned the hours away,

Joe hustled at his labors and earned a raise in pay.

At last Joe sought the maiden, and said, "I'm fixed."

"The home we need is ready, come on and be my wife!"

And promptly she accepted, which made Bill an old man.

For while he was the nicer sweetheart,
Joe was the wiser man.

In Memoriam.

DANIEL HOGAN.

It is with deepest feelings of regret and chronic to-day the death of one of our most respected residents, in the person of Daniel Hogan, at his home in St. Mary's. Although deceased had reached the ripe old age of seventy-four, yet his death came almost unexpectedly, as he had been ill only a short while, but despite the loving care of relatives and friends, and best medical assistance obtainable, he passed peacefully away to his eternal reward on September 21st. Always being a good living man death held no terror for him, and his resignation to the Divine call and happy close of his mortal life alone, is a consolation to his bereaved relatives. Mr. Hogan was regarded with sentiments of affection and esteem by all who had the pleasure of knowing him, and his jovial disposition and charitable acts, gained him hosts of friends far and near. When the news of his death became circulated men knew that a kind, helpful spirit had passed away, for his kindness of heart and thoughtfulness were everywhere displayed and recognized. As a help to all travellers he will be sadly missed, as his home was open to one and all who came his way, and whenever he could assist a fellowman he was never found wanting. Mr. Hogan was a type of one of the old standard gentlemen, and one who followed the political affairs of the country. He had a great love for books and reading, and no happenings, foreign or local, escaped his notice, and it was a pleasure alone to hear him relate such events. He was one who could thrill the feelings of his listeners with the rehearsal of some old time experience, as well as amuse them with a comic story. On the whole, the community of St. Mary's, young and old, shall miss Mr. Hogan's cheerful greetings and words of encouragement, which he never failed to express when an opportunity offered. The popularity in which he was held was shown on the day of his funeral by the large concourse of friends which followed his mortal remains to the village cemetery and the church bells poured out his sad Requiem. He leaves to mourn him, a wife, four daughters, Sr. Mary Patricia of Mercy Convent, Military Road St. John's; Sr. Mary DeChantal of Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. Linnehan of Cleeland, and Nellie in Boston; six sons, Mike in San Francisco; James, Patrick and Daniel in Boston; William, who fills an honorable position in Mill Office with the A.N.D. Co., Grand Falls, and John at home, besides fifteen grandchildren and a large number of friends and relatives. To one and all the writer extends deepest sympathy.

A FRIEND.

St. Mary's, Oct. 6, 1921.

Promenade Concert.

Eleven hundred people were present at the Prince's Rink last night, and were charmed with the music supplied by the C.C.C. Band under Capt. Bulley at the Promenade concert. The several numbers were thoroughly enjoyed, and as on the previous nights several new numbers were rendered and the dances were taken advantage of by the large assemblage who all seemed to be enjoying themselves. The floor was in better condition than ever before which added materially to the enjoyment. A pleasing feature of these entertainments is the absolute law and order observed, which speaks volumes for Capt. Bulley and his system of conducting. The next concert will be held to-morrow night.

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old axiom. We advise the use of a good tonic.

"BRICK'S TASTELESS" is a wonderful tonic and will certainly improve your health.

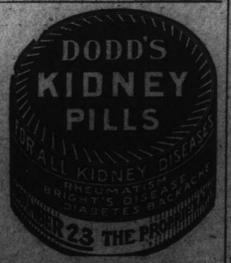

The selection of a tonic is a matter of great importance, as your health depends upon it. To fight disease successfully during the changeable autumn months the system should receive a tonic up. The facts we state about Brick's Tasteless silence all criticism.

Weigh yourself the day you commence to take Brick's Tasteless, then weigh yourself two (2) weeks later, and note the increase.

K. of C. "At Home."

The annual "At Home" of the K. of C. for the members and their lady friends, took place last night in the Columbus Hall, Duckworth Street, over 120 couple attended. The affair, which was conducted by the House Committee, with the assistance of the Columbus Ladies' Association, was highly successful. The floor of the Council chamber was in excellent condition, and the music by the C.C.C. Band was splendid. Supper was served at 11.30. The tables were artistically decorated and the catering was all that could be desired. After supper dancing was resumed and continued until an early hour this morning.

New Law Firm.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. James O'Neil Conroy, who yesterday was admitted as a Solicitor of the Supreme Court. He will enter partnership with his sponsor Mr. John Fenelon, one of the most scholarly and respected of Newfoundland's professional men. Mr. Conroy is a son of Mr. C. O'Neil Conroy, legal adviser to the Reid Nfld. Co. To the young Solicitor and the new firm the Telegram extends all good wishes for a successful career.

Shot An Eagle.

Mr. Easterbrook, mailman of Pouch Cove, shot an eagle recently in that settlement and brought it to town yesterday. The bird, which is presumably one of a number that was seen here last year, has a spread of 7 feet 9 inches from tip to tip of wing. Mr. Easterbrook took the bird to the Game and Inland Fisheries Board and on their advice presented it to the Museum where it will be stuffed and mounted.

She was owned by Kirby & Brown, Bellisram. Her crew of 24 were all saved.

S.S. Sable I. sailed for North Sydney to-day, taking the following passengers:—J. and Mrs. Maloney, Arch Gooby, Wm. Whelan, Graham Whelan, H. J. Snow.

Your Success Machine.

The mind is the only force in nature that doesn't wear out with use. Your mind makes your work and your work makes your mind. The more your mind is exercised the greater it grows. Therefore, the business in which you would succeed is unimportant. The one thing to realize is that your mind is a machine which once set in motion along the right lines, will make success a certainty. You want success. It will be yours if you are willing to pay the price for it. And the price is hard work and the sacrifice of all your other wants.

All your habits have been formed by your mind. Most of those habits which will never carry you anywhere. Your hard job will be to scrap them and form new habits. It will be a task of severe discipline to get your mind to "work." But if you have the grit to tackle the job you will in a very short time be conscious of a sense of efficiency which will make easy the doing of the hardest things. Brick's Tasteless can be purchased at J. Brown's Grocery Store, Cross Roads, West End. Price $1.20 per bottle. Postage 2¢ extra.—sept11.11

American Coast-Wise Vessels to be Free From Tolls--New Zealand to Have Representation--The Quest Resumes Voyage--Mayflower Definitely Banned From Race.

PREPARING FOR THE CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 10. The Prime Minister and other representatives of the British Government will face each other across the conference table in the Cabinet room at No. 10 Downing St. this afternoon. At 11 o'clock the Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, members of the Cabinet and several officials of the Irish office discussed for an hour and a half this afternoon the conference. It is understood that the procedure favored is a speech of welcome by the Prime Minister after which he will outline the methods the Government proposes for dealing with the various phases of the question. Arthur Griffith, Sinn Féin leader, is expected to reply. The program for the first day takes the form of an open conversation with the view to arriving at some definite basis upon which negotiations looking to Irish settlement can proceed. The Cabinet is said to have discussed the possibility of extending the scope of the conference and inviting Ulster to send delegates. This is a matter for the Prime Minister to decide as Sinn Féin declares they are here only as spokesmen of those they represent and the Prime Minister might invite Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, and even Lord Middleton, representative of South Ireland Unionists, and Sir Horace Plunkett, Dominion Home Ruler, and their friends. But Sinn Féin has not assented to any joint conference, and it is declared would object strongly to forming one of a three or four party conference. The Irish delegates would, however, they say, make great concessions to secure a united Ireland. The real crux is stated by an official to-day is not finance nor the extent of Ulster local powers, but the necessary severance of Ulster from the Imperial Parliament, where it now has representation which it desires to maintain. Sinn Féin declares they are bound to set forth Ireland's claim for complete separation, which they have pointed out is their mandate from their constituents. Any recession from that position will be made the price of bringing in Ulster, and the Ulster question thus is expected to assume importance from the outset.

AN UNKNOWN DELEGATE.

LONDON, Oct. 10. Irish peace delegates spent a quiet Sunday in London, the delegates and secretaries dividing their time between the various churches. A third secretary had been added to the delegation. He is John Chatter, and his appointment has provoked much speculation. His name is unknown in Irish politics, and he is the only one connected with the delegation who is not a member of the Dail Eireann or any other representative body. He is the grandson of Richard Chatter.

SHOOTING IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, Oct. 10. There was shooting in Seaford Street, East Belfast this afternoon, creating turmoil in the street.

BASEBALL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. The Yankees walked off the field today with the third victory for the American Leaguers. The score was three to one and the Yankee heroes in the topping of the Giants were Waite, Hoyt and Bob Meusel.

THE QUEST TO PROCEED.

LISBON, Oct. 10. Sir Ernest Shackleton, who is leading a party of explorers into the Antarctic and was forced to put into port for repairs when a heavy storm damaged his little ship, announced this morning that he would resume his voyage to-day.

TREATY VIOLATION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. The Senate to-day declared for free transit of American coast-wise vessels through the Panama Canal by passing the Borch Bill for tolls exemption. The Bill will now go to the House. The vote on the passage was 47 to 37.

MAYFLOWER SQUELCHED.

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 10. The United States International Fisherman's Race Committee to-day put the final ban on participation of the Boston schooner Mayflower in the meeting of fishing vessels off this port on Wednesday to select a defender for the cup won last year by the Esperanto. Five schooners are now ready for the race.

N. Z. TO BE REPRESENTED.

WELLINGTON, Oct. 10. New Zealand will be represented at the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armament and the Far Eastern questions, Premier W. F. Massey stated to-day, although he announced as his definite decision that he will be unable to go.

COST OF LEAGUE MAINTENANCE.

LONDON, Oct. 9. (Canadian Press cable)—A Reuters despatch from Geneva says: "How expenses of the League of Nations are distributed is exemplified as follows, the figures representing the units payable by each state:—British Empire and France each 30; Italy, India, China, Japan, each 25; Canada, 25; Australia, South Africa, Netherlands, each 15; New Zealand, Persia, Greece, Portugal, and Siam, each 10; Great Britain and the British Dominions and Colonies are thus carrying more than forty per cent. of the cost of maintaining the League of Nations. The reduction of Canada's proportion has been made and will be effective immediately."

INDIAN UNREST.

BOMBAY, Oct. 9. The working committee of the National Congress and Calliphate of Workers to-day adopted a resolution advocating sympathetic strikes throughout India on the day the Prince of Wales arrived in Bombay.

A TRAGEDY OF THE SEA.

BELFAST, Oct. 9. Damaged by one vessel in a dense fog off the South West Coast of Scotland, and then sunk by another coming to its aid, was the fate this morning of the Laird Line steamer Rowan, plying between Glasgow and Dublin. Thirteen of the Rowan's crew and three passengers are missing. Two passengers died after being rescued by vessels which responded to the wireless S.O.S. The official statement says that the Rowan carried 23 persons, including the crew, 77 of them are accounted for by four vessels which went to the Rowan's assistance. The accident was due to a double collision in the North Channel off Corwell Point. The Rowan first collided with the United States steamer Westgamak, both of them being damaged. The Westgamak stood by with the forepeak full of water sending out wireless calls for aid. The Clan Malcolm responded, but in the confusion due to heavy fog, ran into the disabled Rowan, which sank immediately. Captain Donald Brown of Glasgow is reported to have gone down with the Rowan.

Obituary.

JOHN E. CORWAY.

By the death of John E. Corway, on Sept. 17th, St. Bride's lost its oldest and most respected citizen. He was the first postmaster in St. Bride's, and for many years filled that position with credit to himself and satisfaction to the public. In those far-off days when the mail would arrive once a fortnight in the custody of that good old Irishman, Peire Burke, the whole village would gather at the Post Office to hear the latest news, and everyone was welcome at the home of John E. Corway. The deceased had many excellent traits of character, noteworthy amongst them being a passionate love of his religion, and strict honesty to every man. His illness was only of a few days' duration, and like his life, his passing was calm and

Last Night's Dance.

The dance held last night by the Warrant and Non-Commissioned Officers of the C.L.B., in conjunction with the Ladies' Auxiliary, was a most enjoyable affair and was attended by quite a large number of people. The full regimental band of the C.L.B. was in attendance under Capt. Morris, and discoursed excellent dance music. "Ain't we got fun" was a selection which was exceptionally popular, and the Band was prevailed upon to play it twice and had to respond to many encores such tune. It was largely due to the efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliary that the dance was such a great success. Mrs. W. B. Frazer and her tireless associates did not spare themselves in bringing this about. The catering was in their

Ancient Arts That Have Been Forgotten.

One of the many lessons taught by museums is that clever craftsmanship is not a modern monopoly. Much of the work done thousands of years ago is unapproachable to-day, and many of the processes which were comparatively common then are now practically unknown.
 There is in the Welcome Historical Museum an exhibit which baffles the most skilled of modern embalmers. It consists of a number of human heads from Ecuador reduced by some undiscovered process to about the size of a small orange. Notwithstanding the great shrinkage, each is perfect, and is rendered additionally interesting by the sealing of the lips, which are sewn up, so that the "spirit" of the should not escape and do harm to the owner!
 The museum in the Royal College of Surgeons contains another remarkable specimen of ancient workmanship. It is part of the wrapping from a mummy more than six thousand years old.
Secrets of the Pyramids.
 So gauze-like is the material that for a time its precise nature was a mystery; but ultimately it was found to be linen of exquisite fineness. Compared with it, the finest that Belfast can produce is positively coarse.
 Equally wonderful is the Portland Vase in the British Museum. Though it is two thousand years old no man living can reproduce it. The art is represented has long been dead.
 It is made, this vase, of two layers of glass, white on top and blue below; and the exquisite design is shown in white. This was effected by carving away all the glass where it was not wanted—a feat of well-nigh incredible difficulty owing to the brittleness of the material. No other example of such workmanship is known to exist.

 Just as inimitable is another British Museum treasure—a bronze Mercury, found in 1792 at Paros, in the Aegean. It is as remarkable for its workmanship as for its fineness of craftsmanship. The marking of the veins is distinct and prominent, every lock of hair seems as if it could be blown about by the wind, and the lines of the lips, brows, eyelids, etc., are perfectly finished. Yet the surface is so regular that even with a magnifying glass no tool-mark can be detected.
 Graphic representations of the Pyramids, as well as fragments of those great sepulchral monuments, further illustrate the wonderful skill of ancient craftsmen. One of the problems of ages is how the ancient Egyptians moved the great blocks embodied in the Pyramids. The cubic contents of the greatest weigh nearly 7,000,000 tons, and would build a city of 22,000 houses of ordinary size. Basement stones in the Pyramid, moreover, are 30ft. long, 5ft. high, and 5ft. wide. The method by which the components, and particularly these huge blocks, were transported and put into place has never been discovered.
 But there are other mysteries no less bewildering connected with the Pyramids. For instance, the joining is a perpetual marvel to experts, since it is equal to that in the finest modern cabinet work. It is amazing even to those who know that 100,000 men were employed for twenty years on the Great Pyramid alone.

 Little less curious are much more commonplace objects, such as Roman bronze bowls. The puzzle here is: How did the ancients reduce metals from their ores? At that period there was no other fuel than wood, which was converted by slow burning into charcoal; and though in comparatively modern times iron was reduced by charcoal in Kent and Sussex, scientists do not know by what method the Romans produced that enormous heat required to smelt iron and copper. Apparently their process has been lost for ever.

FAREWELL, SUMMER.
 When a sizzling Summer pulls her freight, and lets the Autumn in, my lyre hits up a better gait—mayst' hear the merry din. When Summer's getting in her work, I spring a noble bluff, and, with a optimistic smirk I say that she's the stuff. Oh, where, I ask, would be our wheat, and radishes and beans, if summer didn't send the heat that ripens all such greens? Oh, where would be the luscious fruit, the pumpkins and the maize, if Summer's sun refused to shoot its justly famous rays? But even as I dilly dally conundrums such as these, I wish that Summer would take wing, and send an early freeze. It is no treason now it's over, or fading to its rest, to say that Summer is a bore, and now and then a pest. I'm always glad when Summer goes, and Autumn makes her bow, and hands us hints of early snows to cool each fevered brow. When sizzling Summer comes again, if I am still on earth, I will point out to melting men her virtue and her worth; and as I boost her varied charms, I'll sigh, in accents drear, "I'd gladly give two upland farms if Autumn days were here!"

Salvage Notes.

For some few weeks past any infectious disease has been unheard of in our vicinity, but on Thursday past a suspicious case was reported at Squid Tickle, and later it was found that the ten-year-old daughter of William Oldford had an attack of typhoid fever. In passing, it is curious to note that scarcely a year passes but one or more cases of typhoid develop at Squid Tickle, while elsewhere in the vicinity the disease is practically unknown. All preventative steps fall in abolishing the infection.

Mr. Geo. Parsons, who has been here for the past few days "taking in" fish is ready for St. John's.

Messrs. Isaac Squires and Job Stead, in their respective schooners Beatrice May and Norah S., are now ready for St. John's, and sailing at the first opportunity.

The schooner Three Brothers, captained by Wm. Brown, Bishop's Hr., arrived on Thursday past from Labrador, poorly fished.

Rev. E. H. Humphries, who had been to St. John's on a visit, arrived by Friday's Malakoff.

Mr. P. J. Humphries, Salvage Bay, was down to the Rectory on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hiscok, who had been spending their honeymoon at Salvage, left by Friday's Malakoff en route for St. John's, where they will in future reside. Despite the "hilly properties" of Salvage and its rugged appearance, the "Benedictines" regretted that duty called them away so soon, curtailing their enjoyable stay. Better luck next time.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Squires a few days ago, mother and babe doing well.

At Little Harbor herring have been very plentiful, and the Handcocks have added materially to their summer's voyage by good catches.

To-day, Linesman J. W. Dyke, with a crew of men, are putting up new telegraph poles from here to North East Arm. Apart from the fact—unnecessary to state—that some of the old poles needed replacement, the chance of a week's work, although to but a few men, offers an eagerly availed of opportunity to augment their summer's earnings which in many cases have been small.

Potato digging time is practically upon us. Already in Salvage Bay they are at work and several of the farmers report excellent crops. Some of the larger land owners expecting as high as 150 barrels, in addition to 80 or 90 bbls. of turnips and extensive fields of cabbage.

Wedding Bells.

A pretty wedding took place at Clarendonville Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 27th, the contracting parties being Miss Gertrude, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Strong, and Alfred L. Hynes, of Norris Arm. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Isaac Davis of Shoal Harbor Mission. Mrs. H. J. Jones presided at the organ. The bride was prettily attired in Pekin blue crepe de chine with bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns. The bridesmaids, Miss Emma Stanley, was dressed in navy blue silk, and Miss Nellie Mills wore a pretty dress of cream marquisette. Mr. Harold Strong and Mr. Andrew Seaward, brother and cousin of the bride respectively, assisted the groom, who is an ex-Service man and is now employed as foreman car repairer with the Reid Newfoundland Company. After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. E. Strong, where an abundance of good things was provided, to which the guests did full justice. Music and dancing was then taken up and the younger folks enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. In the wee sma' hours the party broke up, leaving with Mr. and Mrs. Hynes best wishes for their future happiness.—Com.

Wife of Farmer Suffered So She Almost Starved

Mrs. Peterson Suffered Awful Pains After Every Meal—Is Now Well As Ever.

Declaring she was actually starving to keep from suffering awful misery, Mrs. Amy Peterson, wife of a prosperous farmer of Lakelse, Mass., gave out a remarkable statement, recently, in connection with her relief through the use of Tanlac.
 "Sometimes I wonder how I lived through it all," she said. "I would have attacks of acute indigestion nearly every time I ate anything. These terrible cramping pains and the distress from gas and bloating were almost unbearable and I just thought there was no hope for me. "But now I'm eating anything and I feel as strong and well as I ever felt in my life. I've gained back all the weight I lost and six pounds besides and I know from my experience what Tanlac will do. It's the best medicine in the world."
 Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Ocean Waves.

Even in stormy weather the average height of waves in mid-ocean does not as a rule exceed thirty or forty feet. Sometimes, however, one enormous wave makes its appearance amidst the rest.

Why this should happen no one can say. All we know is that a mighty mass of water rushes suddenly towards a ship at the appalling speed of over one hundred miles an hour. If the ship can meet a wave with her bows she will ride over it, though thousands of tons of water may sweep over her decks. But if the wave is following her and rushes at her from the stern, she may fall to rise. Many a good ship has gone to her doom in this way.

These vast mountains of water rise sometimes to a height of more than a hundred feet—as high as the spire of a church. They have been known to extinguish the mast-head lights of sailing ships.

Sometimes on a perfectly calm day there will be a sudden troubling of the surface of the sea, and without the slightest warning a wave 150 feet high will appear.

Rising of the Negroes in Jamaica.

On October 11th, 1865, a mob of negroes, armed mainly with stones and cutlasses, besieged the court house at Morant Bay, Jamaica, set it on fire and killed eighteen white persons. The rioters then spread themselves over the surrounding estates, forcing the inhabitants to take refuge in the bush, putting the male whites to death, and pillaging stores. The Governor—Edward John Eyre—at once summoned his council, and with their approval, issued a proclamation placing the county of Surrey under martial law, excepting only from this decree, Kingston, the capital. Troops were at once despatched to surround the insurgent district, and the rising was soon got under control. The Governor and Council believed that George William Gordon, a native proprietor, a member of the House of Assembly, a Baptist preacher, and an ardent champion of the blacks was responsible for the insurrectionary movement, though there was no satisfactory evidence that he had a guilty knowledge of any intended rising. He was arrested, tried by a court-martial, composed of two naval lieutenants and an officer, found guilty on evidence which would have been wholly insufficient to secure his conviction in a court of law, sentenced to death, and executed on the 23rd and bearing his fate with the calmest dignity, disclaiming in a pathetic letter to his wife all share in any conspiracy. For this act, Governor Eyre was recalled, though he was praised by the Commission which sat "for the skill, promptitude, and vigour" which he manifested during the early stages of the insurrection.

The Horse Shoe Superstition.

It seems to be a common superstition with many people that the horse shoe is a symbol of luck, and so these unsightly bits of crescent-shaped iron find their way into the most recesses of the home. They can be seen in my lady's boudoir, in the billiard room, in the study, and even

COMFORT AND HEALTH

Without a single pipe—without tearing up floors and walls, you can enjoy in your home on winter's coldest day 70 degrees of happy, healthful warmth and comfort.

WHAT IS A PIPELESS FURNACE?
 A Pipeless Furnace is a heating system which, instead of using pipes as a means of carrying heat, uses one centre register. The idea on which it is designed is the scientific fact that warm air rises and cold air falls.

A MORE COMFORTABLE HOME IN EVERY WAY.
 The advantages of a good Pipeless Furnace are numberless. You will be amazed at the difference it will make to your home. From cellar to attic it will mean a home more comfortable, more convenient, more pleasant.

EVERY HOME A BETTER HOME.
 With very few exceptions every home would be a better home with a "Hecla" Pipeless Furnace.
 A better home because of the proper ventilation with moist warm air.
 A better home because of the extraordinary economy of the "Hecla" Pipeless Furnace.
 A better home because free from gas and dust.
 Start now to make sure next winter will be a happy, healthy, comfortable one in your home. Give your family the greatest benefit you can offer.

in the kitchen. The average man or woman simply cannot pass them by. The origin of this strange superstition is lost in hoary antiquity. And when exactly the device now known as a horse shoe was invented is also uncertain. The nations of the Bible knew it not. The low hoof of the Arabian steed needed no such protection from its native sands. The Romans seem to have used the clumsiest of artifices, and their generals founded their cavalry for lack of horse shoes—but, once the light, serviceable shoe was invented the victor's cavalry swept the world. The cavalry of William the Conqueror, who, by the way, brought it into this country, gave him England.
 It may be for this reason, and for other mystic causes, buried in early folklore, that this bit of hammered iron won its weird significance. St. Dunstan's forge is said to have rung constantly with clanging metal throughout the conscious night, and from the symbol of the horse shoe, which he placed in a baby's cradle, it protected the weak inmate from the fiercest powers of darkness.
 In the seventeenth century the horse shoe was nailed on every honest man's door. Coultie, the banker, placed one upon his marble flight of steps at Holy Lodge, and Nelson had one nailed to the mainmast of the "Victory."

 It is still the custom in some parts of England to nail a horse shoe above the front door for the luck of the New Year. This is done with the expectation of fortune running the risk of running and into the earth. The shoe should be an old one, which has been fastened on the right side of the road. No new-forged shoe will serve; your symbol must come out of the uncertain, unknown past. If it shall point you to welcome future.
 When a shoe is cast by natural accident, it has always been thought lucky for the finder. Horseshoe Coins still commemorates the shoe that Job of Ganat once lost in Lancaster.

Fishermen! Here's the Boot for You—"Excel"!

"EXCEL"
Made 'All in One Piece'

"EXCEL"

The Fishermen's Friend

All fishermen know from experience what happens to ordinary boots when used in fishing. You've seen how salt water seems to take the life out of rubber and how the uppers crack and the soles wear through in a surprisingly short time.

The "EXCEL" is a different and better kind of boot. It has been made especially to stand up under the unusually hard use a fisherman's boot gets.

The rubber and fabric in "EXCEL" boots are of the very highest quality. But it is the special method of curing, under tremendous pressure, that makes the "EXCEL" so wear-resisting. The pressure forces the layers of rubber and fabric together so that they are actually "one-piece", without losing the least bit of the life or resiliency of the rubber. Salt water has practically no effect on "EXCEL" boots. The UPPERS remain pliable and weatherproof, and resist the drying-out action of sun, heat and extreme cold far longer than other boots. Consequently they don't crack anywhere near so quickly. The SOLES are almost wear-proof, because they are made like an Auto Tire, with 8 plies of rubber and fabric welded by tremendous pressure into a "fire-tread" sole that rivals an automobile tire for toughness and durability.

strain. There is not a single feature but what has been proved necessary and desirable by tests of severest use. Your own experience will tell you that a boot with these features simply must be a better boot.

Study this picture. Learn these features. Remember them when you compare "EXCEL" boots with ordinary boots. And remember, too, that very important point which the picture cannot show, namely, that "EXCEL" boots are cured under tremendous pressure, which leaves the rubber pliable, weatherproof and wear-resisting. It is only by the use of this tremendous pressure combined with highest quality materials that the best results are obtained.

"EXCEL" Boots are sold by all reliable dealers from Coast to Coast.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DO YOU ACT ON YOURS!
Once Upon a Time Screws Had No Points.

When you have an idea that you think might be valuable, do you go ahead and put it into execution; or do you just go on thinking about it and patting yourself on the back for having a bright idea?

A woman told me the other day of an idea she had which she thought might be valuable to a certain firm. "I think I will write them about it to-morrow," she ended, fired by her own enthusiasm.

Her husband was listening and he smiled. "Why do you smile?" she said. "Don't you think it's a good idea?"

He knew they would never hear of it.

"I think it is a very good idea," he said, "but I know it will never be any more than an idea."

"Why shouldn't they use it?" she demanded hotly, "it's a lot better scheme than most of the things they do."

"Because they will never hear about it," he said. "You know perfectly well you've had a dozen ideas since we were married and did you ever carry one of them through?"

I wonder how often the difference between the people who make their mark in the world and the people who do not is just the difference between having ideas, and having ideas and following them up.

We are apt to think of the people who win success as brighter than other people. We imagine them as having a host of ideas. I wonder if they do, or if they have just about as many ideas as you and I but make better use of them?

soon as he thought of them. He wanted to find out how some of the big men of his day had succeeded without education; he went down to the library and read their biographies. He questioned the accuracy of the biography he was reading. It occurred to him to write to the subject of it, General Garfield, and find out. And at once he did it. He received an interesting letter in reply which his father said was valuable. It occurred to him that similar letters would be valuable, and he immediately wrote to some more famous men.

If he had just thought that these would be good things to do and stopped there, he would never have gotten the start that his subsequently famous autograph collection gave him.

Of course all our ideas do not pan out pure gold but if we work all we have we are sure to find gold somewhere.

Wishing.

Do you ever wish the world were better?
Let me tell you what to do;
Set a watch upon your actions,
Keep them always straight and true;
Bid your mind of selfish motives.
Let your thoughts be clean and high,
You can make a little Eden
Of the sphere you occupy.

Do you wish the world were wiser?
Well, suppose you make a start
By accumulating wisdom
In the scrapbook of your heart.
Do not waste one page on folly;
Live to learn, and learn to live.
If you want to give men knowledge,
You must get it, are you give.

Do you wish the world were happy?
Then remember day by day
Just to scatter seeds of kindness
As you pass along the way.
For the pleasures of the many
May be oftentimes traced to one.
As the hand that plants an acorn
Shelters armies from the sun.
Eliza Wheeler Wilcox.

Birth of a Star.

The vast black mass, 20,000,000 times larger than the sun, demonstrated to exist in the heavens by the Dutch scientist, Dr. Pannekoek, seems to upset all earlier astronomical calculations.

It is, comparatively speaking, so near us that Dr. Pannekoek suggests that the sun itself must move round it once in 2,000,000 years—drawing the earth with it.

"We believe that the black body must consist of dust, and that this is the first stage in the birth of a star," said an expert. "As it condenses it gets hotter until it becomes luminous and visible. Sudden 'flares' or 'new stars' have been seen in our lifetime, but the black cloud of dust appears to be the real beginning."

"The amazing feature is the nearness of the body. It is relatively as close to the earth as a football would appear to be if only two feet away from your eyes. It is quite possible that even vaster bodies of this kind exist." The nearness is relative. The body is 280,000,000,000 miles away.

Dutch Fleet Defeated by British.

On Wednesday, October 11, 1797, during the reign of George the Third, a splendid victory was won by the British fleet against the Dutch one, off the east coast of Great Britain, in the North Sea, the battle being named from Camperdown, which is near Dundee, on that coast of Scotland. The Dutch seemed to be threatening to invade this country, and the British fleet were commanded by Admiral Adam Duncan, who for this complete success was created a viscount, with a pension of £8,000 a year for himself and the two next heirs of this peerage. But that is now their second title, for in 1821 they received a higher one, that of an earl, so that the present successor, Adam Phillips Haldane Dundas-Haldane, is third Earl of Camperdown. In former times the Dutch were great navigators, before the British became such, and this earl had for two years the tedious duty of watching the movements of their squadron. But he manifested most undaunted determination, notwithstanding a mutiny of his men, and at Camperdown he totally defeated the Dutch, capturing eight of their ships.

Dyed Her Stockings and Skirt to Match

Every "Diamond Dyes" package tells how to dye or tint any worn, faded garment or drapery a new rich color that will not streak, spot, fade or run. Perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. For fifty-one years millions of women have been using "Diamond Dyes" to add years of wear to their old, shabby waists, skirts, dresses, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything!

Margin Opinion!

Studebaker around $70 is a good "buy" for a ten-point profit. Boston Montana is now pegged around $1.25. This should soon move several points. General Motors does not impress us favorably considering they have not earned their dividends, although paying them for the last quarter. Middle States up $1.00 to-day and good for some more. Nipissing up 50c. Hollinger up 25c. Allied back to 5c. The Board is full of bargain "Bays" and we suggest immediate consideration.

Take advantage of our margin facilities.
