GOVERNOR MacGREGOR OPENS LEGISLATURE

Attended By Royal Guards, Military, Noyal and Militia Officers.—Revises the Fashion of Former Years, Wearing Uniform.—Crowd Fills Building.

With a greater display than has been seen in Halifax on such an occasion for many years, the fifth session of the Legislature of Nova Scotia was opened yesterday afternoon by His Honor Lieutenant Governor MacGregor. Not only was there a larger number of citizens present than there has been for some years, but the ceremony was also marked by the welcome presence of a number of the officers of H.M.C.S. Njibe and the Naval Department. It was also the first appearance of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor on such occasion and for the first time since the regime of the late Lieutenant-Governor Jones, the Lieutenant-Governor appeared in a Windsor uniform.

THE GOVERNOR'S ARRIVAL.

Shortly before three o'clock the guard of honor from the Royal Canadian Regiment, in command of Captain Montague-Bates, headed by the Regimental Band lined up in the Province Building Square. The crowd on Hollis Street was much larger than it has been for a number of years and inside the building every available inch of space was taken. The Legislative Council Chamber was filled to overflowing and many could not gain admittance.

At three o'clock Lieutenant-Governor MacGregor accompanied by his Secretary, Captain John Hicks, and Captain Arthur Western, A.D.C., of the 6th P.L.F., and Captain De Wolfe, A.D.C., of the 3rd Halifax Rifles, arrived and was received with the customary salute.

ARMY AND NAVY.

To the Council Chamber His Honor was accompanied by Military, Naval and Militia Officers.

Nova Scotia Telephone

Co. Action on Offer

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 27.—At an adjourned meeting of the Nova Scotia Telephone Company shareholders this morning, it was unanimously decided to refer the proposition of the Maritime Telegraph & Telephone Company, made to the Nova Scotia Telephone Company, to a committee of eight shareholders for investigation and report.

This committee is also instructed to report on the Nova Scotia Telephone Company's financial methods or system of accounting for its depreciation and reserve funds, etc. The report is to go through the directors to the shareholders convened in a special meeting. They are the following named: A. F. P. Bligh, Col. H. L. Chipman, B. A. Weston, E. B. McMurtry, Peter Innes, A. E. Calkin, G. B. Terman, James Dwyer.

The committee is a good one and presumably will get to work at once so that in the course of a few weeks the shareholders may expect to hear from them and learn the results of the investigation.

John W. Sichelamith, Greensboro, Pa., has three children, and like most children, they frequently take cold. "We have tried several kinds of cough medicine," he says, "but have never found any yet that did them as much good as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." For sale by all dealers.

The Witness of the Bible to its Divine Origin

The Old Testament is one group of writings originally mostly in Hebrew. The New Testament is another group in Greek, and although the two groups were centuries apart in their production it is plain from a glance at them that the New carries the revelations to completion and brings the old to a perfect end. It fulfills all its highest ideals and hopes.

Dillman, a leading and eminent critic says regarding this: "This religion of the ancient people of Israel everywhere points beyond itself exhibiting itself as a work begun, which hitherto its final perfection and so compels us in the nature of the case to apprehend it in relation to christianity as that in which essentially it is perfected."

The temporary arrangements of much of the old Testament may be seen. The old Testament is like a growing fruit tree. It expands and gives signs, and awakens hopes. But in the new Testament we see the bloom and the fruit. All the expectations of the old are realized in the new. The highest conceptions of the old are perfected and fulfilled in the new. In Jesus the Christ the whole structure reaches its highest point and perfection. There is nothing that can be added beyond Him. He moves through the whole history and revelation and breaks forth in matchless unfoldings in his earthly life and atoning death.

THE TESTIMONY OF JESUS

THE SPIRIT OF PROPHECY

There are in the old Testament about 136 prophecies concerning Christ's advent and acts and death. They were all met in Him and in Him alone.

I can refer to two or three passages here. Take Genesis 3:15. Where God says to the serpent, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed. It shall bite the heel but thou shalt bruise his heel."

There has been difference of opinion regarding the "it" as to what or whom it refers. But whatever the grammatical form may be it is certain that no one but Jesus Christ can do what is predicted of "it". There has never been any one or any power manifested on the earth that can match the power of the old serpent, the devil, but Jesus Christ; but He did it and His final triumph is assured. No power of philosophy or education or self effort can overthrow the strong man, or rather the strong devil, a stronger than he must come to aid. This stranger has come "The strong Son of God" and it is by the grace and power we have been released from the power of sin and Satan, and by His power we are kept, and we are here today to tell of one great Deliverer and what He has done for us.

In that prophetic passage we see also the manner of Christ's coming to earth. He was to have an earthly mother. "The seed of the woman."

Take another passage from the old Testament and follow where it leads. Turn to that glorious chapter Isaiah 53. Read the whole chapter and note such passages or phrases as "He was despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. He was wounded for our transgressions, with His stripes we are healed. A lamb that is led to the slaughter. He was oppressed yet he humbled Himself and opened not his mouth. And they made His grave with the wicked and with the rich in His death although He had done no violence, neither was any deceit in His mouth. He made intercession for the transgressors."

Now stand by the cross and read in the gospels what is said about Jesus and see if this is it: here fulfilled in any detail. It is not only the similarity in the language but in transactions that mark Jesus as that Servant of Jehovah of whom Isaiah spoke. No one else ever did or ever can match and fulfill that prophecy. But Jesus matched it and fulfilled it in His sublime character and marvelous transactions. The whole

Season of Lent

In giving notice of Lenten services in St. James church last Sunday the Rector remarked they would, for the most part, be as in former years, viz:—

Today, Ash Wednesday, at 10 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

All other Wednesdays at 4 p.m. On Fridays Children's Service at 4 p.m. Adult Bible Class at 7.30 p.m. The Sunday Service will be as usual. Of other services and meetings due notice will be given.

He also gave notice that the Bishop had given his warm approval to the holding of a "Parochial Mission" to be conducted by the Rev. Arthur John Bost, of Hovden, Sunderland, England, at the end of Lent. Mr. Bost is expected to arrive on Monday, April 10th, and will conduct the usual "Holy Week" services. On Good Friday evening the mission proper will commence, the parish then formally handed over to the Missioner, who will hold mission services daily until Sunday, April 23rd. As a preparation for this a short intercession service will be held each Sunday, and the congregation will be invited to remain to hear mission hymns after the service.

A scheme of redemption is woven into the fabric of the old and New Testaments from their beginning to the end. Behind all the types and shadows and prophecies stands Jesus Christ.

What Bushnell says of the image of Christ in the gospels is true of the whole Bible. It is like the water mark on paper which cannot be taken out without destroying the whole fabric.

When we turn the Bible to the light we see that sublime figure, who is the seal of its divine origin and authority and the theme of its story. His majestic presence stands clear before us and He cannot be blotted out of its pages without destroying the whole volume. If we have come under the power of Christ we know those things that are said concerning Him are true. We realize we belong to the same company with the Patriarchs and prophets and that we are journeying to the same city to which they journeyed. We know what they said of Christ is true by what He has done for us. And when we read of Paradise restored with its tree of life and crystal river, its security and peace where God shall wipe all tears from our eyes. We feel that the end of the world looks back to the beginning. That the ruin of Eden is repaired and the curse of man's first disobedience which brought death into the world and all our woes is finally abolished.

This is the end to which the whole drama proceeds. It is one drama with many acts which here reaches its grand finale.

"This leap from off the everlasting throne. Mercy took down."

And in the night of Time stood flashing its gracious rays across the dark, and evermore beseeching men with tears and earnest prayers to hear, believe and live.

Halley's Comet Wins
Three Races Takes Place at Shay's Lake, and Proves Very Successful—The Winning Horses.

The horse races at Shay's lake on Thursday afternoon, were largely attended and proved very successful. There were three races, a free-for-all, a three-minute and a green race. Ariel Wood, the speedy horse owned by Omer and Hennigar, of Chester Basin, won the free-for-all in two straight heats.

John Hall with his green coat, Halley's Comet, captured the three-minute race as well as the green race.

There were in all three races some twenty starters and for that afternoon all roads led to Shay's lake. The crowd at the lake was quiet and orderly and the best horses won. The weather was perfect and the ice was in excellent condition.—Etc.

Rural Deanery Meets At Digby

The Rural Deanery of Annapolis held its meetings in Digby this week, the clergy present being the Rev. H. How, Rural Dean, and the Revs. J. Lockward, E. Underwood, W. H. S. Morris, C. R. Cumming, W. T. Suckling and W. Driffield, Rector.

The clergy met at the Rectory for their Chapter meeting on Monday afternoon, the session being continued on Tuesday.

A paper was read by the Rev. J. Lockward on the subject, "Non-communicating attendance at Holy Communion," which was followed by a most interesting discussion. A portion of the Greek Testament was read and explained, followed by the Rev. W. H. S. Morris. In addition a large amount of general business was transacted.

On Monday evening, owing to the unexpected absence of the Rev. J. Reeds, the Church History lecture was not delivered. The Rector filled the vacancy by delivering a lecture on "Roman Antiquities in England," illustrated by large drawings of Roman coins and other objects of interest.

On Tuesday evening the Rev. W. T. Suckling gave his lecture on English Church History, A. D. 1215-1534, which was highly interesting and much appreciated.

Special mention must be made of the meeting held on Tuesday afternoon in Holy Trinity Hall in the interests of Sunday Schools.

At this meeting papers were read as follows: "The spiritual side of the lesson and how to teach it," by Mrs. Merick, and "Lesson Tablets and Helps," by Mrs. Geo. Parrall. Both papers were instructive and interesting expositions of their respective subjects.

A "Round Table" on Sunday School questions was then ably conducted by the Rev. E. Underwood, and drew forth many interesting pronouncements.

On Wednesday morning the clergy departed to their homes, after a very pleasant and instructive gathering.—Digby Courier.

Ex-Governor Passes Away

Hon. Matthew H. Richey for five years Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, and for six years a member of the Canadian House of Commons, died in Halifax on Tuesday morning after a long illness, aged eighty-three years. Deceased was mayor of Halifax for several terms.

Hon. Mr. Richey was the eldest son of the Rev. Matthew Richey, at one time President of Victoria College, Cobourg, for some years President of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference in Canada, and subsequently of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference of Eastern British America. Deceased was born at Windsor, N. S., in 1828. He was educated at the Collegiate School, Windsor; M. C. Academy, Cobourg; M. C. College, Toronto, and Queen's College, Toronto, studied law and was called to bar in 1850. In 1854 he married Sarah Lavinia, daughter of the late Hon. A. J. Anderson, Senator. He was appointed a Q. C. in 1873. Mount Allison conferred the honorary degree of D. C. L. on him in 1884. Mr. Richey took an interest in public affairs. He was mayor of Halifax from 1884 to 1887, and again from 1875 to 1878. He represented Halifax in the House of Commons from 1878 to 1883, defeating the late Hon. A. G. Jones by a large majority, and then became Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia and served five years. He was a member of the Senate of the University of Halifax.

BAGGAGE MASTER AND BRAKEMAN KILLED

H. & S. W. Train Jumped Track and One Passenger Car and Four Cars of Lumber Plunged Over Embankment, Two Killed, Eight Injured.

THE TRAIN IN CHARGE OF CONDUCTOR ALLEN

The train was in charge of Conductor Allen. It was the accommodation from Middleton, and consisted of an engine, three or four box-cars, baggage-car, passenger coach and flanger. The only cars that fell over the embankment were the baggage and passenger coach. The engine and box-cars held to the rails.

WRECKAGE CAUGHT FIRE.

The train, which was an accommodation, in charge of Conductor Allen and Engineer Phillip Deveau, was running along at ordinary speed, when from some cause, as yet unknown, the engine jumped the track and one passenger car and four cars of lumber plunged over the embankment. To add to the horror of the accident, the heating apparatus in the baggage car set fire to the over-turned cars and the wreckage was soon a mass of flames.

Brakeman L. Sargent was instantly killed and Baggage-master Owen McLaughlin was buried in the wreckage. The mails, which were in the car that went over the bank, were all burned and the mail clerk narrowly escaped with his life.

BODY IN WRECKAGE.

In all there were about twenty passengers on the train and all were more or less seriously injured. It was not until some time after the accident that Baggage-master McLaughlin was found. The body was discovered under the burning baggage car.

Other passengers on the train were Mrs. Rodenhiser of Lunenburg, enroute to Boston, badly cut; Albert Silver, Bridgewater, telephone lineman, severely bruised; R. L. Backman, Lunenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Falkenham, Bangor, Me., both badly cut; Leander Hartle, Northfield, Lunenburg County, bruised; Harold Wentzell, Upper Branch, cut; Ralph Mailman, Midvale, Lunenburg County.

Brakeman Sargent belongs to Argyle, Yarmouth County, and has a wife and one child. Baggage-master McLaughlin leaves a widow and child residing at Baker's Settlement, Lunenburg County.

The Charities of Nova Scotia

Fred W. Smith Delivers Interesting Address at University Church -Needs of the Province.

Deputy King's Printer, Fred W. Smith, the Secretary of Public Charities for Nova Scotia, spoke to the Halifax Literary Society noon in the parlors of the University church, on "Our Provincial Government Charities: What They Are, How They Are Conducted and How to Use Them Rightly." He said in part: "The Provincial Charities are the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax, the Nova Scotia Hospital in Dartmouth, the Provincial Sanitarium at Kentville, and work called Transient Poor. On these four charities the Nova Scotia Government spends about $225,000 a year. It gives grants, too, to each of the different County hospitals, each year.

The Victoria General Hospital is too small for its work, and is rarely ever empty. People from the country should write before they come to the City, in order to find out as to whether the Hospital has room for them. The institution has been run directly by the Government in the past, but recently a Commission was appointed, consisting of Justice Drysdale, Judge Wallace, and Mr. O. R. Smith, and this promises even better work. Taking everything into consideration this Hospital is a credit to the Province. The Government maintains the institution, but, if a person going there is able to pay, then he is expected and made to do so. If the man is a seafarer he is helped through the Sick Mariners' Fund, supported by this is by the Marine and Fishery Department Fund, giving five dollars a week. The Victoria General Hospital costs the Government about eighty thousand each year.

NOVA SCOTIA HOSPITAL. Mr. Smith paid a tribute to Dr. W. H. Hattie, the Superintendent of the Nova Scotia Hospital, the retreat for the insane, in Dartmouth. There were four hundred patients at that institution. He had seen these sick folks in every mood; seen them when they had a masquerade ball, and there was no disorder; seen them in annual sports, on the plot adjoining the building, and he was then surprised to see the order and keen competition. The maintenance of the Hospital costs the Government two hundred dollars a year for each patient. The Government pays all of this if the patient has no money at all. Sometimes Halifax pays half and the patient half; sometimes the patient pays all. All are treated exactly alike as far as the institution is concerned, though friends may send in remembrances. Reference was made to the carpenter shop, laundry, etc. The total bill for one year's upkeep of this institution, for the Government was about one hundred thousand dollars last year.

PROVINCIAL SANITARIUM. The Provincial Sanitarium at Kentville is under new management now. It treats cases of incipient tuberculosis and Dr. Miller is doing good work as the physician in charge. The charge for each patient is four dollars a week and this includes everything, food, medical care and all. The Government spends about fourteen thousand dollars a year on this institution.

The fourth and last charity, that of the Transient Poor, was the one with which the speaker had a lot to do. If a Provincial person is found without a friend here, he is taken to the City Home, where upon having been examined under oath, he tells of his home town, he is sent there, if there is a county or other home in that place or if not then he is taken care of at the City Home in Halifax and it is charged against his Municipality. The government of Nova Scotia spends ten thousand dollars in maintaining city charities in the City Home, other places like County or Town farms, or in sending people away. There were the fewest last year applying for aid of any twelve months in the past twenty years. This was because things were working better. The City Home costs twenty-four cents for each patient per day.

"We are badly off," said he, "from being unable to prevent undesirable reaching here. The poor type of immigrant goes west, then falls and gets back to this city as the port of his entry into Canada. The law is, that in two years' time an immigrant becomes a charge on the Canadian community, then the sterner which brought him over must bear the expense of his transportation. But the authorities are so slow at times in rendering proper justice. There is a five-hundred dollar fine for landing an undesirable immigrant. The speaker referred to the operation of the law in some cases, mentioning the I. C. R. and C. P. R. as sometimes being involved. One of the strong points in the ad-

For Falling Hair

You Run No Risk When You Use This Remedy.

We promise you that, if your hair is falling out, and you have not let it go too far, you can repair the damage already done by using Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, with persistence and regularity, for a reasonable length of time. It is a scientific, cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal preparation, that destroys microbes, stimulates good circulation around the hair roots, promotes hair nourishment, removes dandruff and restores hair health. It is as pleasant to use as pure water, and it is delicately perfumed. It is a real toilet necessity.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic with our promise that it will cost you nothing unless you are perfectly satisfied with its use. It comes in two sizes, prices 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store--The Rexall Store, W. A. Warren.

dress was that in which the speaker inveighed against the necessity of anyone being obliged to declare himself or herself a pauper. Before being able to enter the City Home or other and kindred institution. It might, too, be a very worthy person who had worked hard and paid life-long taxes till recently, and yet he is so branded, when all he is really getting is justice. Society expects good citizenship from the individual. The individual had a right to expect justice on his part from the State, too. Perhaps a scheme of old age pension or insurance would be worked out.

"We have in Halifax, for its size," he continued, "probably more charities than any other city in America, but there is not enough system to our work. We keep no sufficient tab on the poor, as they do in Massachusetts for instance, with their Associated Charities and real investigation. We should have co-ordination in such a way as to enable us to always identify the individual, when he has once entered the lists of the poor and then only will the deserving begin to get more justice and understanding fall in their unfairness." Reference was made to co-operation with the Bureau of Industries and Immigration, where Mr. Arthur S. Barnstead, the Secretary of that Provincial work, and the speaker could get work and homes for the deserving in the country.

The address was filled with some cheering notes and a few pleasantries. Being President of the Ancient Order of Fibrians, it was natural that he should refer to pride in and jokes on the Irish, and he was applauded for his pride and for his breadth. There was no religious service, just the address and the discussion, as is usual, so that there be perfect freedom and unembarrassment. In the discussion, Rev. C. H. Penney, Mr. Murdoch McKay, Mrs. W. H. Stearns, Mrs. D. M. Reid and others took part. The speaker had spoken before at labor meetings in schoolrooms when active as President of the Halifax Typographical Union No. 130--Chronicle.

THE FRENCHMAN'S QUOTATION.

Joseph Letter, in an interview on his yacht Chanteclair, said with a smile: "I quote you accurately. In an interview, you know, the slightest inaccuracy can make a man ridiculous. It is like the Frenchman who, though he had a very fair knowledge of English nevertheless said to a father: 'Aha! Your son he resemble you. A chip of the old blockhead, hein?'"

HIS LONG STRETCHES.

One day the parish minister met which was a good distance from his Old John returning from his work, home "I pity you on your long stretch you've got to walk," said the minister, "for I have sometimes good stretches myself." "I suppose you do sir," said John with a twinkle in his eye, "but it'll be oftener in your bed."

PARSON HOW'S SURPRISE.

A very pleasant Valentine's party was kindly given by Mr. and Mrs. James Hoyt, of Lequille, on Friday 14th. Rev. H. and Mrs. How were invited. The party was well attended with neighbors, who thoroughly enjoyed the games, tripped the light fantastic, and punished the delicious refreshments. When about to take leave of their many friends, the Rector and his wife were escorted to the dining room, where all sorts of nice, useful things were presented as the last token of the good-will of their Lequille friends. When packed three half-bushel baskets were filled with tea, coffee, cocoa, eggs, sugar, honey, spices, etc., and a purse of eighteen dollars accompanied the above. The Rector cordially thanked all, who on hospitality bent gave him and Mrs. How, so agreeable a surprise. The following day found a cord of hard wood comfortable resting at the back door--Spectator.

PROVE PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

With a 50c. bottle free from your Druggist

It's not so long ago that the doctors bled a man to make him strong. "Stuff a cold and starve a fever" is miles behind our to-day's knowledge of curative science, yet our fathers had preached to them time and again. You may not know it, but to-day there are just as ineffective methods of cure being preached and practiced. All because most people do not know the real cause of disease. There are two kinds of corpuscles in the blood--red and white. The red corpuscles contain nutrition, the white destroy disease germs. If for any cause the white corpuscles become depleted and are not sufficiently strong to destroy the germs of disease, then disease controls the body. That's the cause of disease. Years ago certain herbs were found to cure disease. They didn't know how or why in those days, they do to-day. And it's because these herbs build up the white corpuscles. These herbs are contained in Psychine--they're responsible for the great results obtained from Psychine a third of a century ago.

They're responsible for the hundreds of thousands that Psychine has cured since that time. It's because of these herbs that we have received hundreds of thousands of testimonials attesting to wonderful cures that Psychine has made. And it's because of these very same herbs that we will buy within the next twelve months hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine and give them away free to whomsoever sends us the coupon in this announcement. Now if you wish to relieve or prevent any of the disorders in this list send in that coupon: La Grippe, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Sore Throat, Anemia, Female Weakness, Indigestion, Poor Appetite, Chills and Fevers, Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles, After-effects of Fluorid, Pneumonia and La Grippe, Bronchial Coughs, Weak Lungs, Weak Voice, Spring Weakness, Early Decline, Catarrhal Affections, Calarrh of Stomach, Night Sweats, Obstinate Coughs, Laryngitis and Dyspepsia.

COUPON No. 20 To the Dr. T. A. SLOCUM, Ltd. 193-195 Spadina Ave., Toronto. I enclose your offer to try a 50c. bottle of Psychine (pronounced Si-keen) at your expense. A CURE FOR DISEASE OF MIND CLAIMED.

A Blessing Indeed, if Discovery Made by Member of Glasgow Asylum Staff Proves Effective.

(Canadian Press.)

New York, Feb. 17--A special cable to the Tribune from London says--An important discovery which, it is stated, promises to provide a certain cure for mental diseases was announced yesterday.

It was made by Dr. Oswald of the household staff of the Glasgow Royal Asylum. It is asserted that the substance discovered, when injected into the blood of a patient suffering from madness, not only cures but makes the patient immune against a further attack.

Do you know, of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that it often leads to. Most of these are known as germ diseases. Pneumonia and consumption are among them. Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can? For sale by all dealers.

SPECIAL ISSUE OF STAMPS FOR THE COPONATION.

Ottawa, February 24--Postmaster-General Levesque announced in the house tonight that a special issue of stamps would be made in honor of the coponation. The designs, he said, were expected to arrive from England at an early date.

THE CURSE OF THE NATION IS CONSTIPATION

"Fruit-a-lives" Alone Cures This Disease

A famous scientist states that Constipation, or non-action of the bowels, causes more deaths than all other diseases combined. Constipation inflames the kidneys, ruins digestion, is the forerunner of Rheumatism, poisons the blood, causes Headaches, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Insomnia.

THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE

It's the "knowhow" that counts. With out it genius is a lame duck and luck is an also ran. Inspiration that doesn't inspire you to train your head and hand is as empty as last year's bird nest. You may have ideas that the world is burning to see worked into iron or brass or literature.

You may have discovered the secret of eternal youth or solved the riddles of the ages. But if you don't know your job, if you haven't the experience necessary to put your ideas into concrete form, you're a few hundred degrees below the digger of ditches in the scale of human values.

If you haven't got the "knowhow," you've buried your talent and are an unprofitable servant to your fellow mortals. Also, you'd better have one talent with the "knowhow" than ten without it. Millions of ten-talent men go to the bill-boards in every generation for want of this open sesame to success, while hundreds of one-talent men with the talent write their names indelibly on the book of fame.

CLOSED UP FOUR THOUSAND BUCKET SHOPS

Washington, Feb. 23—Attorney-General Wickham today declared that final reports of the nation-wide campaign against bucket shops show that more than four thousand offices of that character were put out of business as a result of the campaign. The reports which Mr. Wickham has received also indicate that the men who ran the bucket shops have in most cases, engaged in other business. One former bucket shop dealer has told Mr. Wickham that one result of the campaign has been entirely to stop gambling in stores and grays in many small cities and towns.

Some of the Debts That Man Owe to Animals

Realizing the need of education on the subject of animals experimentation, the Boston Scientific Society invited the Dr. B. L. Arms, director of the bacteriological laboratory of the Boston Board of Health, to make for it a brief course of the subject, which was done under the title, "Some of the debts that Man Owe to Animals." In this introduction Dr. Arms spoke of the use of the word "vivisection," which is no more applicable when speaking of animal experimentation than it would be in speaking of human surgical operations. "Usually the only thing done to the animal is to inject material into it subcutaneously. When any operation of a cutting nature is necessary anaesthetics are used to get the best results in animals as well as man, the operation must be performed with as little injury to the tissues as possible. Now for a few of the debts of man," continued the speaker, "smallpox, that scourge of civilization in the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries has been brought under control; diphtheria has been robbed of its terrors; and rabies has been reduced. Animal experimentation has made the fight against tuberculosis possible and it offers a chance to conquer cancer.

ENORMOUS DIMINUTION OF SMALL POX

Smallpox, which prior to the discovery of vaccination by Jenner in the latter part of the eighteenth century claimed its victims by the thousands is to-day one of the least troublesome of the acute infectious diseases from the public health standpoint. Minnesota, taking the stand that no citizen should be unvaccinated, has ceased to quarantine small-pox patients, claiming that it is the fault of the individual if he contracts the disease. Montana has just adopted State Board of Health says, "Get the same policy, the bulletin of the vaccinated and protect yourselves. Small-pox is a disgrace and a reflection upon any person of intelligence. Dr. Arms presented a few figures regarding small-pox and the effect of vaccination. In 1802 Admiral Berkeley, in a speech before the House of Commons, announced that in the United Kingdom alone forty-five thousand persons die annually of small-pox. Dr. de Condamine in 1754 stated that "every tenth death is due to small-pox, and one-fourth of mankind is either killed by it or crippled or disfigured." The disease was introduced into the western hemisphere by the Spaniards about fifteen years after the discovery of America. In Mexico within a short time after three million five hundred thousand persons are said to have died from it. Catlin, in his discussion of the North American Indians published in 1841, states that of twelve million Indians, six million fell victims to small-pox. The early records of the London Asylum for the Indigent Blind show that two-thirds of the inmates lost their eyesight through small-pox. According to Sir William Aikin, ninety per cent. of the blindness encountered in the bazaars of India is due to this disease. This is so common that Surgeon General Pinkerton asserts that a new word, "vaxan," was introduced to the Hind language, meaning blindness in one eye. The official figures of the medical faculty of the University of Prague for the seven years, 1795-1802, show one-seventh of the average deaths to be due to small-pox, while for the twenty-four years from 1832 to 1855, the total number was less than the previous annual loss.

Americans will be interested particularly in the story of the Philippines in this matter. The United States sanitary authorities, with Dr. Victor G. Heiser at their head, performed in 1905-06 the enormous number of 3,094,530 vaccinations. Dr. Heiser reports, June 3, 1907, "In the provinces of Cavite, Batangas, Cebu, Batavia, La Union, Rizal and Laguna, where heretofore there have been more than six thousand five hundred deaths annually from small-pox, it is satisfactory to report since the completion of vaccination in the aforesaid provinces, more than a year ago, not a single death from small-pox has been reported." "Surely Thomas Jefferson was a prophet," said Dr. Arms, in concluding this topic "when he wrote in 1806 to Edward Jenner these words: "Future generations will show only by history that the loathsome smallpox has existed and by you has been extirpated."

CONSUMPTION FIGHT DEPENDS ON ANIMALS.

In considering the relations of animal experimentation to tuberculosis, Trudeau, who has said, "Everything we know today of the etiology of tuberculosis, everything that has a direct bearing on the prevention and control of the disease, we owe to animal experimentation." The same authority in another place has said: "The new knowledge of tuberculosis of such overwhelming importance to the human race, an knowledge already gives assurance that generations to come will not die of this disease to the extent that former generations has, been won in recent years by animal experimentation. For all this, is the death of any number of guinea pigs and rabbits too high a price to pay? Are we to stop on the threshold of this new acquired knowledge, and not be denied humanity?" The speaker outlined the advances of knowledge of tuberculosis, the first diagnosing of the disease by means of animals by March Koch in 1882 of the tubercle bacillus as the direct cause of the disease. Koch's postulates for diagnosis recognize the place of the animal. Trudeau found that fresh air and proper feeding were of the greatest consequence in the care of the inoculated animals, and upon this depends the present method of treatment, fresh air, sunlight and a good supply of nourishing food. "Think what this means for mankind! It has changed the entire conception of tuberculosis and its prognosis. From being considered certain death, it now means, when treated early, simply a change in the mode of living, with a good chance of a cure and long life."

The speaker went next into the technical consideration of obscure cases, the history of a number being given, in which tests through animals furnished definite information concerning the presence of renal tuberculosis. In one of these cases the right kidney was removed, it showing tubercular lesions, and the patient within four months was recovered, gaining in weight and returning to her former occupation. It is true that the case is recent, but the outlook is exceedingly favorable. A second case was very similar. Thus two young women owe their lives to animal experimentation, and the instances can be multiplied each year in every city.

FELL DEAD IN PULPIT.

Montreal, Feb. 19—"When I saw Him I fell at His feet as one dead," from Revelations 1, 17, was the text chosen by the Rev. Dr. Mowatt of Epiphany Church in his sermon this morning, the subject being "A vision of Christ." The choir was singing the introductory hymn to the sermon when members of the congregation noticed that their pastor was in distress. Willing arms bore him to the vestry, where he passed away immediately without recovering consciousness. The congregation was at once dismissed.

SMUGGLING TALES.

Stories of the Evasion of the Officers at the Boarding. The higher a dam is raised, increasing the quantity of water held back, the greater the liability of the water to overcome the obstruction either by seeping it away or by cutting out for itself a new channel.

A tariff is a sort of dam to the natural current of commerce which would flow in upon a country were it not held back or at least obstructed by customs officers. Smuggling is the leakage around the tariff dam; and as with the water, so with trade, the more that is held out the greater its effort to break through.

For example, when the duty on tobacco was considerably increased a few years ago, it was stated in the House of Commons by members representing frontier constituencies that the demand for tobacco would be supplied by means of smuggling. It would be worth while to engage in the contraband trade either to supply individuals in need for the purpose of making a profit.

All along the frontier, but especially along the bordering on the States of New York and Vermont, which has been long settled and is separated by only an imaginary line indicated by iron posts, set by the Canadian United States territory is separated by the boundary, there is wrapped up with the local history many smuggling yarns.

Some of them may be worth spinning again just for the sake of old times—for of course there is no smuggling to-day (?). One day an American officer seized an American buggy, on which no duties had been paid, at a village some miles distant from his office. The seizure was made in the evening and he remained in the village that night at the village tavern, and in the morning took the buggy home being because none of the village people wished to assist him, he had to leave it in an open shed for the night. He was determined to guard against recapture he secretly tied a strong cord to the axle of the buggy, and passed it up through the window of his bedroom.

The owner of the buggy knew where it was housed, and planned recapture. During the night he came to the shed with a harnessed horse, and hitched on as quietly as possible, jumped into the vehicle and drove smartly off. The cord had broken and the sleeping driver's ankle and awakened him with a start. He was dragged out of bed, across the floor, and almost out of the window, when the cord broke.

The crown never recovered the buggy. A few years ago there was seized at St. John's a considerable quantity of American cigars and cigars. The officers rightly suspected that the goods had been brought in by a farmer whose home was in the southern part of the province, about a couple of miles from Alburgh, Vermont.

MOTHER DIED OF CONSUMPTION AND ONE LITTLE GIRL IS NOW AT GRAVENHURST. A short time ago a woman in the advanced stages of tuberculosis died in her own home. By her death five little ones were left without the care of their mother. There was money enough in the family to make some provision for the care of the children, but it was almost impossible to secure anyone who would rear these children, so frail and so many proofs of this dread disease.

It is for the care of such sufferers as these that the Maskoka Free Hospital for Consumption has been built. The tax on the accommodation is light, and the Trustees have only been able to make the large extensions of the present year by borrowing heavily from the bank. An appeal is now made for funds to help on this work and provide a place where children, such as are referred to here, may find a home with good probabilities of cure.

Contributions may be sent to W. J. Gage, Esq., Chairman Executive Committee, 54 Spadina avenue, or Sec. Treas. National Sanitarium Association, 347 King St. W., Toronto.

The Maskoka Free Hospital accepts patients from any part of the Dominion, and not a single patient has ever been refused because of poverty.

To Our Advertisers
If you want to stay in business stay in the advertising field. No matter how much business you are doing, keep up the energy that makes it. You might as well cut off your leg because you are running well in a foot race as to cut off your advertising because your business is too good. You might as well tell the insurance man that you are so healthy you will drop the policy for a few years as to stop advertising because the orders are piling up. "Don't need to" is the eventual preliminary to "Can't do it." The only man who doesn't need to advertise is the man who has retired from business. The only policy holder who doesn't need to pay his premiums is dead.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1911.

The Board of Trade held its adjourned meeting on Monday evening last. There was a large and very representative attendance, angling well for the progressive attitude taken by the citizens of the town. About twenty new names were submitted for membership.

The first question discussed was the matter of an "Old Home Week." Owing to the shortness of time for preparing for such an occasion and giving it proper publicity and in view of events which might somewhat conflict it was decided to postpone the celebration of an "Old Home Week" and in its stead to concentrate efforts in a grand Dominion Day celebration. A strong committee will take this matter in hand.

It was then suggested that athletic grounds and a Driving Park would be desirable and a committee was appointed to make investigations and recommendations concerning it.

Some other matters were more or less briefly discussed. The matter of good hotel accommodation was discussed quite fully and a resolution unanimously adopted that in the opinion of the Board of Trade our hotels should be run on strictly temperance lines, observing the liquor laws, and that if conducted as temperance houses they will have the support and sympathy of this Board and the business community.

PLANS TO WED AFTER HE'S 100.

Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—"I am going to show the American public the way to settle the beef trust and the high cost of living," said Dr. Henry S. Tanner.

Dr. Tanner celebrated his 81st birthday today by beginning a fast which he will try to hold for 80 days. He said: "When I pass the 100-year mark I will get married. Fasting is growing in sentiment and a person should not stop at the end of 30 days. In 1877 I fasted 32 days, and in 1880 I caused a stir by fasting 40 days. In neither of these cases did I reach the limit of my endurance. I am in the best of trim for a long fast now, and I may fast even longer than the time I have decided upon."

Dr. Tanner today told his secrets for keeping young. He said that to keep in perfect health two-thirds of one's food supply should be cut off. All flesh foods should be abstained from as well as tea and coffee.

"Diet should be a matter of routine," he said, "and, with the exceptions stated, a person can eat what he wants. The body is fed and nourished through the lungs which supply the principal vital forces, the stomach only being a secondary consideration. Plenty of fresh air is a great essential, and walking should be indulged in systematically."

Mr. A. Atlee calls attention to an error in his address of "Advertising" as republished from Spectator last week. "One billion dollars" he states "is spent in different phases of advertising. And thirty-five hundred dollars not fifteen hundred dollars is paid for the back page of the 'Ladies' Home Journal.'"

Obituary.

MR. ELWOOD YOUNG

In the death of Mr. Elwood Young, which occurred Feb. 24th at the residence of his son, Mr. Hamilton Young, there passed away one of the oldest residents of this part of Nova Scotia. Mr. Young was in his 95th year and up to a couple of years ago he was in fairly good health. The winter before last he read the Bible through without using glasses. His parents were U. F. Lyallists. He was the last survivor of a family of thirteen.

He leaves three children and twenty one grandchildren. The children are Mr. W. V. T. Young of Waterville, N.S. Mrs. Caleb Miller, Victoria Vale, and Mr. Hamilton Young in whose home he was tenderly cared for during his convalescent health.

Three of the grandchildren are Dr. Young of Lawrencetown, Miss Annie Young, secretary of Annapolis Co. S. S. Association and Mrs. Elliott of Paradise.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. H. G. Mellick assisted by Rev. Mr. Hart both of whom spoke feelingly on the occasion. Interment took place in the family burying place at Paradise, com.

STEPHEN T. FOSTER.

Stephen T. Foster, the subject of this sketch, was born at Hampton in the year 1839. In early life he joined the Hampton Baptist church, being baptized by the Rev. Mr. Murray Darling. The earlier part of his life he resided at Hampton. About twenty years ago he purchased a farm near Capt. Joshua Britton and resided there until last summer, when he removed to St. Croix. He died very suddenly on Sunday, the nineteenth of February. He retired in his usual good health on Sunday night, and being called on Monday morning it was found that he was just passing away in peaceful sleep.

He was buried at Hampton on Thursday last. His children all attended the funeral except Mrs. Burke of Keene, N.H. The funeral was attended by the Rev. J.H. Balcom, who gave a very interesting discourse from the text "Enoch was not for God took him."

DR. I. B. FREEMAN.

Dr. I. B. Freeman passed quite suddenly away on Monday morning last at an early hour. Although a semi-invalid for several years he was able to be about up to Saturday. On Saturday morning he went out for a short walk and as he neared his own residence on his return was seen to cling to the fence in a helpless manner. Passers-by came to his assistance and tenderly helped him into his own home. It was found that one of his limbs was powerless and his physician being summoned he pronounced the trouble paralysis. A consultation of physicians was summoned but nothing could be done to stay the course of the fatal illness and the venerable gentleman gradually passed away peacefully and painlessly into the great beyond. The funeral takes place today at half past two o'clock the service to be held at the Baptist church and conducted by the pastor, assisted by the various clergymen of the town. Dr. Freeman is survived by his wife, who has bestowed on him a most devoted care during the many years of his illness, and by a sister, Mrs. Robinson of Yarmouth, Mrs. L. W. Elliott and Mrs. Eva Freeman of Clarence a half-sister.

Although his active days of practice had passed before he came to Bridgetown to reside, some twenty years ago Dr. Freeman has held the high esteem of numerous friends, many of whom were familiar with him in the days of his youth and prime, when he ranked well in his profession and was also highly regarded for his sterling qualities of heart and intellect. A sketch of his career will appear in next issue.

Profanity is a Vice That Injures Feelings of Others.

(From the Montreal Witness.)
Some time ago, on Mount Royal, a gentleman and his daughter stood looking over the balustrade of the pergola, or look out, watching the movements of a body of boy scouts. Presently the boys began to climb up the wall and balustrade, over one another's shoulders. It was interesting to mark their agility, but after two or three had performed the feat, and had landed on the pergola walk, one of them began profusely and loudly to use the most disgusting oaths, which his companions did nothing to check.

The father and daughter were driven away and what had before been a pleasing and patriotic sight became an unpleasant memory. One of the most honorable boasts of the boy scout movement is that it brings into brotherhood youths from all classes of society. No better service can be rendered to society as to the boys themselves than this, if only the influence is that of the better over the worse, not of the worse over the better. We now read of two lads, of respectable parents, and connected with a Sunday school, in London, Ontario, being fined five dollars, or fifteen days in jail, for blasphemy on the streets. We have also the remark of the magistrate that blasphemy on the streets of London is prevalent.

The same is true in Montreal. The most shocking language is used by young boys, who can hardly attach any meaning to what they say, but who feel big by imitating the language of older boys or men. A good deal of what is classed under the general title of swearing is no doubt uttered parrot-like, without any definite meaning being attached to it. This is notoriously the case with soldiers, who figure almost every noun with a sanguinary adjective. Some forms of swearing are disgusting. All forms are a profanation of things sacred, and degrading to the soul.

He is survived by a widow, two daughters and one son, who reside in Digby. He also leaves one brother Mr. Howard Munroe and one sister Mrs. Grace Barry, both of whom reside in Bridgetown.

ROBERT G. MUNROE

Mr. H. I. Munroe received word last week of the death in Blairmore, Alta. of his brother Robert G. Munroe, barrister who left Digby for the west just a year ago.

Mr. Munroe was born in Clarence, Annapolis County, 62 years ago last December. He was admitted to the Bar in August 1877 and immediately began practice in Digby. Previous to that he served two years clerking with Judge Savary, who was then practicing law in Digby and later he was for a time with T. D. Ruggles, Barrister, Bridgetown.

He is survived by a widow, two daughters and one son, who reside in Digby. He also leaves one brother Mr. Howard Munroe and one sister Mrs. Grace Barry, both of whom reside in Bridgetown.

J. HARRY HICKS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL.

Today is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent. Mr. George H. Dixon has returned from Boston. The steamer Boston has been installed with the wireless.

Mr. J.W. Smith, of St. John, owner of the Grand Central Hotel, is in town this week. Rev. B.J. Porter exchanged pulpits with Rev. Porter-Shirley, of Annapolis, on Sunday last.

Friday night, March 3rd, will be "Leap Year Night" at the rink. Don't miss the fun. The post office at Hampton is changed to a money order office, beginning today, the first of March.

Mr. Thomas Marshall is moving his tailoring business into the store vacated by Mrs. Whitman in the Shaker building. Mrs. Robinson, of Yarmouth, a sister of the late Dr. Freeman, arrived on Monday and is a guest at her brother's home.

Branford R. Hall, teacher at Weymouth North, has been home attending the funeral of his grandfather, Mr. Stephen Foster. Mr. Patrick, late manager of the Grand Central, goes to Kentville to take the management of the Aberdeen Hotel.

Hilley and Harvey, of Port Williams, are advertising a new sprayer, which will interest our fruit-growers. Capt. J. W. Salter went to Boston on Saturday, accompanying his son, Milledge, a student at Acadia, who goes to consult a specialist for eye trouble.

Manager Johnson, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, returned from his holiday trip to British Columbia on Thursday last. Mr. W.H. Calder has sold his place on Grandville street to Mr. James Pupper, of Round Hill. Mr. Calder is occupying the former Bonnett property on Church St., which he recently purchased.

The sale of the furniture and furnishings of the Grand Central Hotel postponed from last Saturday was held yesterday and the contents of the hotel, were bought by Mr. C.S. Silver, of Halifax, who assumes the management of the hotel today. The date of the auction of the business stand formerly occupied by Miss B. Lockett has been altered to Saturday, March 11th. This is an excellent location and a suitable building for numerous lines of business, and it is likely considerable interest will be taken in its sale.

Miss Quilian, of West Paradioc, while returning from Sunday-School last Sunday, had the misfortune to be struck by the shaft of a passing sleigh and thrown down, breaking her hip joint. Dr. Armstrong was summoned to set the fractured limb, and the injured lady is doing as well as can be expected. On Monday last a very interesting meeting was held in St. James' schoolroom at which Miss M. A. Johns, of Halifax, organist; secretary of the Diocesan Women's Auxiliary, gave an address explanatory of the origin, aims, and objects of the Auxiliary. A branch will likely be formed in this section of the parish in the near future.

Dr. A. S. Burns has returned from Montreal, where he has been under treatment at the Royal Victoria Hospital for lameness caused by an accident to his knee. He has returned in excellent physical health, bearing his lameness, and during his stay at the Hospital has taken the opportunity to acquire the latest professional information. He has already resumed his duties. 1.11. Bridgetown merchants and others are interested in a Steamship Co. to run between St. John and Bridgetown. Capt. W. R. Longmire is the originator of the venture and has been elected President and managing director of the Company. Captain Longmire, whose father was one of the pioneers in the packet service of Bridgetown, has had long training and experience and is well fitted for the position.

Following an exchange of pulpits for two successive Sundays, Rev. B. J. Porter will occupy his own pulpit next Sunday. These exchanges have been for the purpose of giving to the congregations as general account as possible of present day interests in World-Wide Missions, and the great need for a deeper and more practical sympathy with the work of spreading the Gospel. Next Sunday will be known as Anniversary Missionary Sunday in the Methodist church. The pastor, in the morning sermon, will continue the Missionary theme, and at the evening service the exercises will consist of recitations, brief papers and music all in keeping with the spirit of the day. In connection with the Sunday meetings the annual Missionary offering of the church will be received.

Hockey Match

The hockey match that was advertised to be played Friday evening between Kentville and Annapolis, did not materialize, as the Kentville team backed out at the last moment which certainly was not very sportsmanlike. Possibly they heard of strength of the Annapolis team, for judging from the game that Annapolis put up against Middleton, it is doubtful if Kentville would have fared better than Middleton did.

The Middleton boys are certainly lovers of sport. Although they had been defeated by Annapolis twice earlier in the season, when they heard that Kentville had shown the "white feather" they were ready to take their place. And it is well for Annapolis that they had practised hard, and strengthened their team to meet Kentville, for had they not put up a better hand of hockey than they did in the two previous games, Middleton might have done them. The Middleton team has improved wonderfully. In the first fifteen minutes of play both teams were on even footing and it looked as though it was going to be a close game right through, but it was here that the Annapolis boys showed the effects of their practice, and their crack cover point "Mahoney" got in his work, shooting goals from the centre of the ice. This was something new to the Middleton defense, and caught them off of their guard. The game ended in victory of 12-4 in favor of Annapolis. Bridgetown should do something in the hockey line another season. There is material to work up a good team.

Took Neglected Horse From Owner

Was Compelled to Pay Board of Animal and the Charges for Services of Veterinary Surgeon.

The law of Nova Scotia regarding the protection of animals, which is the most advanced in America, was effectively put in force last week when an old horse very much neglected, was taken away from its owner and placed in a livery stable under veterinary care. It was given a rest for one week, pursuant to the law and after its rest the owner was permitted to take it away Wednesday to report again next week as to the care he is giving it. In addition to this he was compelled to pay the board of the horse and the veterinary's charges as the horse had been terribly neglected in the past.

The society yesterday received a letter from Boston, commending them for their good work in taking this animal away, the writer having noticed the owner's ill-treatment of his horse during the summer months of the past year. The writer in part says: "You certainly have the right management and I feel that you will get the offender his due punishment." The object of the society now is to protect the animals in the same way as the neglected children and see that they are given proper care. It is likely that several other horses that show ill-treatment and neglect, will be laid aside in the same way and the owners will be compelled to support them while they are being fed and medically treated.—Halifax Herald.

Final Masquerade Carnival

The last Masquerade Carnival of the season will be under the management of Superintendent Hills of the Annapolis Cx. Hospital and the proceeds will go to the building fund of Recreation Hall. The date is fixed for Monday March 6th. Should the evening be stormy or too soft the carnival will be held on Wednesday or Friday following. Special prizes have been offered by citizens as follows:—S. N. Weare for most original ladies' costume, a camera; J. E. Lloyd & Son for most original gentlemen's costume, a gilt mantel clock; K. Freeman for most attractive ladies' costume, a gilt mantel clock; Strong & Whitman for most attractive gentlemen's costume, a nice umbrella.

Nova Scotian Adapts Himself to Western Conditions.

Recent letters from the west tell of the doings of several persons well known in this city, says the Halifax Herald. One of them is V.W. Messenger, formerly director of manual training at Lunenburg and later editor of the Progress-Enterprise of the same place. Mr. Messenger is engaged in homesteading in Alberta at Seven Persons. He is making good under conditions which would dismay most people. A prairie fire destroyed his barn and some of his stock and implements. Other troubles and some joys have come his way. Mr. Messenger, while most of the settlers are hibernating, is using his time during the winter months to good advantage. He is teaching school fifteen miles from his home and rides to and from the school daily when weather permits. He has fourteen pupils but the salary received would give a Nova Scotia school board hysteresis if it were called upon to pay a similar one for such a service. As the weather during January was rarely much above fifty-two degrees below zero, quite a number of days were missed at school. This winter is one of the coldest winters ever known in Alberta. In Southern Alberta many people are practically without food or fuel. Deaths from exposure and frequent cases of frost bites have been common. There is plenty of coal but owing to the snow it takes an eight horse team to carry a half ton. Mr. Messenger, who for several years was the correspondent of The Herald at Lunenburg, has a connection with a local paper in his new home.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT TORBROOK

On Monday evening, February 27th friends to the number of sixty gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Spincey, to join the family in celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The gathering came to Mr. and Mrs. Spincey as a complete surprise, which was admirably planned. The genial and popular couple were very generously complimented on the occasion and were presented by Mr. Archibald Banks, on behalf of the company with a nice chair and a piece of silver. Mr. and Mrs. Spincey each expressed their appreciation in a happy way and from their manner are evidently enjoying life as cheerily as ever. Before departing refreshments were served and the young and old all were well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Calithumpian Carnival a Success

The Calithumpian Masquerade Carnival held at the Rink on Wednesday night last was the most successful of the kind ever held in Bridgetown. A large number of skaters were in masquerade costume and spectators as well as skaters entered fully into the spirit of the fun. No list being taken, we are unable to give the names of the masqueraders. The prizes for the most original costumes were awarded to Miss Louise Ruggles, "Looking Backward" and Mr. Harry Abbott as "Tramp." The Monitor omitted to record last week that the Championship Cup for the two-mile race was awarded Mr. F.R. Beckwith. The two other contestants were Mr. Griffin Backman and Mr. MacLeod, of Annapolis.

Old Mail Bag Clears
Name of Minister

Chicago, Feb. 23—Vindication has come to Rev. Charles Burdette of Springfield, Mass., a brother of Bob Burdette, the humorist, after thirty of silent suffering during which he has read a cloud.

When Mr. Burdette was a registry clerk thirty years ago in the post office at Peoria, Ill., a number of registered letters, containing $5,500, disappeared. Although no formal charge was made against the clerk, only the faith of the postmaster, Gen. D. W. Magee, a civil war veteran, prevented his leaving the service with a stigma on his name. Unable to live down the suspicion, he entered the ministry and devoted himself to missionary work in the far east.

On Monday last, an old and battered mail bag was taken from the San Francisco post office for repair. When the workman cut open the bag in the work of repairing, between the heavy manila envelope containing the $5,500 that had disappeared so mysteriously from Peoria thirty years ago.

Why he was a boy in the early twenties, Charles Burdette was employed as registry clerk in the Peoria post office. His family lived in the little city, and the brothers, including the afterwards famous humorist, grew up there. Gen. D. W. Magee, who had won laurels as a commander of Illinois volunteers in the civil war, was postmaster at Peoria. He had known Burdette from boyhood and was a friend of the family.

The late John Comstock, a wealthy real estate man, known to almost everybody in that section of the state, appeared one day at young Burdette's window in the post office. He said he wished to send three thousand five hundred dollars in twelve registered letters to clients in Nebraska and Dakota.

Mr. Comstock asked Burdette to register the money in the envelopes. The clerk did not wish to do so, but Magee counted out the money, and Burdette took the twelve envelopes which held the cash and placed them all in one large envelope of heavy paper.

This he placed at the bottom of the mail bag, and on top of the envelope he threw the other mail. On top of the unregistered mail he placed his railway book. Then he locked and sealed the sack.

When the railway mail clerk emptied the contents of the mail bag on his distributing table the registered package could not be found, and this clerk refused to sign the receipt for it in Burdette's registry book.

An investigation followed. Comstock was furious, and declared that he had been robbed. He demanded Burdette be discharged, but Gen. Magee had faith in the young man and refused to come to his aid. Comstock carried the fight to Washington. No ruling was made in the case, and after a short service Burdette was discharged without further mention of the charges against him, although it was understood at the time that he had been retained only through the influence of Gen. Magee.

But the suspicion against Burdette could not be put off, despite the faith of Gen. Magee and his other friends in Peoria. There were plenty of others to keep it alive.

Burdette went to Brown University, and after graduation there took a divinity course at Newton academy. He became a missionary and went to the far east, where he labored for more than twenty years. All that time the stigma clouded his name. All that time on bedded knees he prayed that he might be cleared of a charge of which he was innocent.

While he did not allow the cloud of unjust suspicion that hung over him to embitter his life he could not banish it and so has kept away from Peoria and his old acquaintances there.

Now, after thirty years, the old mail bag, which has travelled hundreds of thousands of miles, carrying Uncle Sam's mail, has given up its secret and his name is cleared.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure, and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this. At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box."

MIRACULOUS RESULTS IN DUNVEGAN, C.B.

GIN PILLS Brought Relief

"I suffered untold misery even when under treatment from the best doctors for over ten months, and nothing seemed to do me any good, until I received your pills. My trouble was indigestion of kidneys and bladder. I finally determined to go to the Victoria Hospital, Halifax, for treatment. Two days, however, before my intended departure, a neighbor called and happened to have a GIN PILL in his pocket, insisted on my taking it. I did so and six hours after taking it, the results and benefits I derived were simply nothing more or less than miraculous. Instead of going to the hospital, I sent for a box of GIN PILLS with the result that I am a cured man. I recommend GIN PILLS to everyone suffering from Kidney Trouble."

LEWIS MACPHERSON. Take GIN PILLS on our positive guarantee that they will cure you or money promptly refunded. Each box for $2.50—sent on receipt of price. GIN PILLS. Sample box free if you write us. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. N.S., Toronto.

Health Value of a Long Walk

What are the physiological effects of walking? Especially, what direct effect has it upon the liver and other secreting organs?

Four and one-half pounds of every normal 140-pound individual is liver, and yet we perhaps know more about the infinitesimal interactions of molecules and atoms than of the precise way in which the liver—the largest gland in the body—functions. We do know, however, that the liver secretes every day about two and one-half pounds of bile, which is stored in the gall bladder until needed for the process of digestion.

That this bile plays an important part in digestive action has been repeatedly proven by the inanition observed always to supervene in animals when, by any means, their biliary secretion is diverted from its course. He who has had that "dark-brown taste" in the month in which the bile is yellow or greenish and bitter; it is also viscid, slightly frothy and emulsive from saponaceous substances.

Finally, we know that the liver, from its starchy constituents, makes sugar (glycogenesis), which is immediately carried away by the blood into the lungs, where it is taken up, as sugar remaining in the arterial system. In early physiology, the normal bile was commonly called chole, while a morbid form, or black bile, was called melanchole. Whence we have the terms "melancholy" and "choleric"—when one's bile is stirred.

Who has not heard that certain exercises are good for us, because they "shake up" the liver? But it is not the best thing in the world to shake up the liver violently unless one is a trained athlete, and ordinary men and women are very far from being in that category. Exercise increases largely the liver's production both of bile and of sugar. Hence, if it be by more violent than that to which one is accustomed, more bile and sugar may be formed than can be taken care of by the system, and the subject may have what is called in popular parlance a "bilious attack."

Now this is where walking comes in as a lazier medium in exercise. We can often "walk off" a headache or a digestive disturbance when running would only aggravate the trouble. It is a fact, supported by the highest authority, that a moderate exercise, such as walking, is a great aid to digestion (to run would retard it); in other words, you will digest your dinner better if you walk immediately after having eaten it, than if you sit still. Try this, and if you are thin, you will gain in weight, besides saving more in the cost of living than you will lose in the wear and tear of shoe leather.

But suppose you are already corpulent, will walking after meals, in that case, make you stouter? No. Paradoxical as the statement may sound, walking will in that case make you thinner. Fat is a very unstable compound, and when it is present in excess more of it is destroyed by the increased amount of oxygen in the blood—due to the exercise—than is deposited by the blood; while, on the other hand, when adipose tissue is deficient, the oxygen-bearing blood, which also carries fatty particles, deposits more fat than it can destroy, and thus the thin subject grows heavier.

Walking, then, in the open air is an exercise par excellence for everybody. It shakes up the liver just enough to keep it in good working order, it enriches the blood by increasing its amount of oxygen, thus favoring the destruction and elimination from the system of poisonous waste products, particularly by the lungs, skin and kidneys, and finally by stimulating activity of nutrition in the muscles it tends to prevent the deposition of morbid matters of a tuberculous or cancerous nature.—Exchange.

The Fasting of Elizabeth Jane

A TRUE STORY.

(By Sarah Robert.)

Elizabeth Jane looked round her dimly lighted home; it seemed to her as though that its bare walls stared un pityingly at her and she turned from them with a sigh to look into the fire which still burnt cheerfully on the hearth. Doubled though it was of firewood and fender, she went into the little garden at the back of the cottage and returned with a rustic stool which she placed on the floor just where her arm chair used to stand, and sitting down upon it leaned back against the wall. To-day she had sold the last of the goods—she had kept her shirt and her table till the very last, but a neighbor had just given her five shillings for them. Three and sixpence was already wrapped in a scrap of paper awaiting the knock of the rent collector, sixpence had gone in coal for a last warm, and the remaining shilling she intended for the kindly woman who would shortly bring her last meal before she started for the three-mile walk to the workhouse.

"The old age pension," she said to the vicar when he expostulated with her on her readiness to give up her home and liberty. "I'm too old, sir—too old and tired—I couldn't look after myself and my house rent for five shillings a week. In eighty-four, sir, you must know, and that's a tidy age for a body to make one and sixpence a week go as far as it ought. I'm thankful to the Lord for offering it to me—but I know He wishes me to go into the House, and so quietly she had set about selling her things one by one, and until this very morning she had not told her neighbors that she intended going in the afternoon after the children had gone to school.

At eighty-four one does not feel trouble so acutely, and, if her own simple way, Elizabeth Jane seemed to realize this. "If my girl had lived or my dear man had been with me—I should have felt it sorely, she murmured—but it seems to me I am only going into the waiting-room to the Lord's Mansion."

"Can't you go in as a knock some-thing on the door, and her neighbor's cherry face approved.

"Come and have a bit of dinner with me, Elizabeth Jane, will you? It's terrible lonely sitting here. But Elizabeth Jane gently declined, and said she should feel very grateful if one of the little 'uns could bring it across to her.

"Right you are, Elizabeth Jane," said the good woman, and bustled out again. Elizabeth Jane went to the door, and looked out over the hills. "How kind of the Lord to send me such a lovely day for my walk," she murmured. Her eyes wandered down the shady country road, and fell upon the sturdy figure of the rent collector. She fetched her money, and went slowly to the little gate to meet him.

"Thank'ee, Missis," said his family, "I wish they were all like you. I'm sorry I shan't have the pleasure of seeing you next week."

"Has the house been letted?" asked Elizabeth, anxiously.

"No, no, not yet," laughed the man—

"the landlord'll have to do a bit of painting to it first, I'm thinking."

"Eh! but I do hope they won't hurt the rose bush," cried Elizabeth Jane. "My man put that in, and he wouldn't like it hurt, I'm sure—but there," she said smiling, "he's got much more lovely flowers than roses in the Lord's garden. Give-in-yers and stephanotes very like every day."

The man looked at her half-wistfully. "I'll see to the rose-bush, mother," he said, kindly, and wren the next tenant to look after it for Elizabeth Jane's sake. Good-bye and good luck to ee."

After Elizabeth had had her simple dinner, she took the plate back to the kindly neighbor, and laid it together with the remaining shilling, and the door key-upon the kitchen table and quietly stole out again. Mrs. Smith was hanging out her clothes in the orchard hedge, and Elizabeth Jane heaved a sigh of relief as she picked up her John's colored handkerchief, which contained all her possessions, and took his stick the very one she gave him for a marriage present sixty years ago, and started off down the lane which led into the high road towards the town.

"This smile is a big sop for I," she murmured—as after fifty yards she found she must sit on a heap of stones and draw breath, "but if the Lord finds it too much He'll send His chariot for me sure enough—and fixing her faded eyes on the distant hills she dreamed of the glories of the heavenly Jerusalem.

"Toot! toot!" sounded the horn of a motor. Sir Robert Haslam's eldest son was trying his new 60 h. p. Siddley's car, and came whirling round the corner in a cloud of dust.

Elizabeth Jane sat upright in amazement as the beautiful car stopped opposite her, and a young man sprang out and approached her.

"Are you tired, mother?" said a fresh

Do You Realize the Advantages of Concrete?

This Book Tells How Concrete Aids Farmers.

Concrete, because of its cheapness, durability and the readiness with which it can be used for every farm purpose, has proven itself to be cheaper than lumber and far more durable. Our Free Book—shows the farmer how he can do his own work without the aid of skilled mechanics. It demonstrates the economy of Concrete construction as compared with lumber, brick or stone.

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

CANADA CEMENT CO., Limited
51-60 National Bank Building, Montreal

It shows how Concrete can be used to advantage on the farm in the construction of almost every practical utility.

Send for this book to-day. You'll find it intensely interesting, even if you don't intend to build for a while. It contains much useful information that will put you in the way of saving money. Among the subjects treated are: Barns, Dairies, Fence Posts, Cellars, Silos, Stables, Scaffolds, Stacks, Feeding Floors, Hitting Posts, Roofs, Troughs, Walks, Well Curbs, and so forth.

PLEADS FOR SANER COOKING METHODS.

Mrs. Theodora Roberts Says the Ice Box, Not the Ballot Box, Should Interest Women.

Specialization in cooking and a too generous patronage of the modern restaurant is really "what is wrong with the world," according to Mrs. Theodora Roberts, who advocated a return to old-fashioned culinary methods when she addressed a recent meeting of the Associated Science Clubs of America at the Waldorf-Astoria.

While acknowledging that she had no desire to pose as a domestic science Joan of Arc, she said she was willing to lead everybody back to a saner way of dining.

"I started with a ham sandwich, and built a house around that," admitted Mrs. Roberts. "And from the ham sandwich, I got into the chafing dish class, and eventually, became a good plain cook."

Although she has written a cookery book in rhyme she does not put any frills on her steaks, or potatoes when she is preparing a hearty dinner.

"The dishes served today are enough to throw up off our mental and moral balance," declared Mrs. Roberts. "They are elaborate affairs without any wholesomeness. The real food is smothered in the wonderful treatment given by the chef, who is a specialist."

The waiter brings it to you surrounded by a fringe of cold mashed potatoes, half-cooked beets, a few carrots and peas. But what has happened to the steak while all these frills are being added? At a steak the article placed before you is utterly spoiled. The whole system of cooking has been spoiled for the purpose of giving you a fancy dish which you would better not eat.

"Everybody wants to specialize now, and women most of all in matters that do not relate to the home. Where are the good, wholesome cooks of the old school, the women who can bake pies like mother used to make?"

"The specialized cook has displaced them. The women who ought to be attending to the cooking are doing something else.

The other day I met a woman, the mistress of a large house, who said that she had become interested in welfare work. She played a piano in a laundry. That's uplift for you. But she and her family dined around at restaurants, because she liked it better. It simplified the domestic problem so delightfully.

"When somebody asked me the other day if I were not yearning to purify the ballot box, I replied, 'not as long as I have an ice box.' I attend to my home duties first, which is really what every woman should do. The home is the place where women can exercise their individuality."

A CHILD'S ACTIVITIES.

A child's passion for doing things and the sense of personal rights are two correlative ideas—namely, a sense of order and a sense of obligation. These have to be taught.

A child's activities as every mother knows, are at first, orderless. When it tires of its play-work it throws the little broom or toy shovel on the path, to rest itself in some more novel diversion. This is the time for the mother to begin to teach the principle of order by directing the child to put the plaything in its proper place. Though it may be easier to pick up the article herself, the mother should not overlook the educative effect of having the child do so. The home is the training-school of the citizen, and the mother owes it to the State and nation to teach her child a love of order and respect for law.

As children grow older it is well to give each one some definite work to do. If the child understands that what it does is for the benefit of all the family, and that in doing the work faithfully and well it is helping the household machinery to run smoothly, it will soon catch the spirit of the citizenship idea, and come to enjoy the self-respect and conscious power resulting from the labor.

A mother who is looking to this end in the training of her children gives her little daughter the charge of all the match-safes in the house. As regular as a sentinel on duty, the little girl inspects the receptacles in all the rooms, replenishing them when nearly empty, and carrying the burnt matches to the kitchen. The same mother gives her boy of fourteen charge of the ash-boxes, his duty to fill them from the bin, and then to carry them to the sidewalk for removal on sub-collecting day.

To be helpful to the making of character the work of children in or about the house should be regular and fitted to the child's ability. Work done in a desultory fashion, when the child "takes a notion," is not so inspiring, inasmuch as no sense of duty or responsibility attaches to it.

'FASHION' CEASING TO RULE.

Fashion is not going to be a source of worry after a few years, is the opinion of a leading modiste. "Prevailing modes" are simply a thought-saving invention. Modern women are discovering that the art of dress means something more than procuring and wearing "the latest," they are daring to be individual.

"The woman who dresses well," says this artist of clothes, "never follows 'the fashion' slavishly; instead, she originates a modified fashion that is peculiarly and especially her own, because it is the intimate expression of herself. Her sleeves are long, elbow length, or three-quarter, according to the shape of her arm. Her skirts are full-or scant, as suits her best. If her neck, or rather her throat is beautiful, she wears collarless blouses. If linen collars are more becoming, she adopts them."

"And almost all this latitude is to be found today even in the serotyped styles given out to the public as 'the fashion.' So great is the influence of individuality.

"Clothes are really more beautiful now than ever before. The Empire mode, with the short waist and long, beautiful line following the outline of the figure, is one of the most generally effective styles. It is almost a renaissance of the lovely Greek garments, and is becoming to nearly every one. That, indeed, is why it has been so generally accepted. Women have so much keener a sense of beauty than in former ages. They will never again take into favor monstrous styles as the pannier, the hoop skirt—"

As for the harem or pantaloons skirt, the idea was laughed at, and the article itself would be laughed out of existence if it appeared. "We could never adopt such a fashion here," said the modiste, "our sense of humor would prevent it."

SHYNESS A FORM OF VANITY.

The shy girl is certainly not a product of the twentieth century training, but still one meets her occasionally, and is sorry for her. Extreme shyness, which reduces its victim to acute misery, is really a manifestation of self-consciousness. Gayeties, which should be full of pleasure, become for the shy girl times of torture. She cannot enjoy herself, and her evident misery interferes with the enjoyment of others. The shy, self-conscious temperament wins but little consideration in these days.

A woman of exquisite poise once confessed that for years she was never able to enter a ballroom without a sickening sensation of nausea brought on by morbid shyness. She deliberately set to work to overcome it, and she found that at the bottom it was a species of vanity. Why should one believe that the eyes of a whole hall-room are focused on one's insignificant self? Why should one harbor the idea that one is the object of amused criticism at every glance?

First plant firmly in your mind that you are only one of a number, and you have thrown up the first stone against self-consciousness.

If one will acquire the habit of being ready a few minutes before the time of every engagement, one will discover it is an enormous help toward a proper poise, provided one does not spend the few minutes of leisure in working oneself up to a dread of the coming 'orddeal.' Plenty of time should be allowed

THEIR MISTAKE.

Some Very Strange Oversight by the Home Omnipot.

The fact that the words "and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas" were omitted from the printed copy of King George's proclamation is, by no means, the only remarkable instance of official oversight. In fact, only a few days later, King Edward was described, on the breast-plate of his collar, as having departed this life in the ninth, instead of tenth, year of his reign.

An Australian instance of oversight reminds one that when peace was proclaimed after the late Boer War the Plymouth folk were so enthusiastically engaging themselves in celebrating the occasion that they forgot to send word about the notable event to the lighthouse-keepers at the Eddystone. For eleven days those quiet men, guarding the lonely lighthouse, wondered what all the display of rockets, and the firing of guns, they saw night after night might mean.

Even more extraordinary was an oversight of the Home Office many years ago. The inhabitants of one of the Palmerston Islands, in the Pacific, were under British rule, and dependent for much of their food—apart from what their own island produced—on the shipping supplies arranged for them by the Foreign Office in Whitehall. But for nine months not a ship came to the islands, and at the extreme heat was killing the coconut trees and every other vegetable fruit, the right of the islands was desperate. The people were without food, and the British rule was entirely forgotten. To arrange for the usual supplies during that year, Australian officials have similarly forgotten their duty before-to-day. The captain of the lighthouse tug on Pery Island, off the coast of Queensland, it is supposed, was ordered to pass the island in October, landed a boat crew by chance at the lighthouse, and the crew were ordered to find there some twenty men, nearly all insane for want of food!

"The British House of Commons surprised the inhabitants of Chelmsford by passing a bill which provided in one clause that the rebuilding of a new golf course, and then went on to order, in a subsequent clause, that the new road should be erected on the site of the old one, and that as much of the old road as possible should be used in building the new place.

"The bill was passed, but when Parliament, in its wisdom, added yet another clause, directing that the old road should be allowed to remain, and still do duty until the new one was ready for use, things began to get a trifle complicated.

How King George is Guarded. There are more interesting branches of the detective service than guarding royalty, although the reputation of such work is tremendous.

Inspector Spencer, who follows King George, must be ready to appear in frock-coat or lounge-suit, shooting jacket or evening dress, as the occasion demands, and he is never far from his royal master's side. He must know the duties of a detective in all emergencies, must be the essence of diplomacy, and must prevent the intruding of any person who might create a disturbance when it travels by the train, or other means. One harmless lunatic, with a supply of money, was in the habit of traveling wherever King Edward went, and it was Mr. Spencer's duty to keep the gentleman from seeing his Majesty, except from a distance.

Royal personages, in the majority of cases, communicate their plans to their detectives beforehand, and they have been continually on the alert in making the necessary arrangements for safe journeys. King Alfonso, however, was a notable exception; and on one occasion he dropped through a window, in the heart of a shopping expedition, completely outwitting his protectors.

Judges' Gowns.

The London Law Times points out that the gown of the bench and bar were its original use to its having been adopted as a form of mourning for the death of an English sovereign. On the death of Queen Mary in 1694 the present silk gown was introduced as mourning and, having been found more convenient and less troublesome than the regular dress then worn, has since been continued. The late Sir Frederick Pollock is said to have expressed an opinion in reference to the ordinary costume of the bar that the bench and bar went into mourning at the death of Queen Anne and have so remained ever since. American courts adopted the gown along with the English common law.

To Get Household Statistics. A novel method has been adopted to ascertain the cost of living in various parts of Australia. To this end the Commonwealth statistician is getting into communication with persons willing to keep a record of their household expenses from July 1 next to June 30, 1911, the year of the census. Persons who forward their names are to be supplied with a suitably prepared book in which to keep the record, which when completed, is to be placed in the envelope provided, and posted to the Commonwealth Statistician.

KEEP THE CHILDREN OFF THE STREETS AT NIGHT.

In the police court St. John last week Judge Ritchie gave some wholesome advice to the parents of the boys, who were in court, about allowing their children to be in the streets at night. He said there was great need of juvenile courts. They have no right to even ask to go out after supper," he said. "The father should get a leather strap, good and long, and if there is need to use it do so by all means. Instead of the mother controlling the situation, it is now a case of the children controlling the mother."

RABBIT-SNARING IS CRUEL AND SHOULD BE STOPPED.

To the Editor of the Halifax Herald: Sir,—I am enclosing a letter which I received the other day in regard to rabbit snaring, to which I hope you will be able to give full publicity. The writer is well known to me and is a lover and keen observer of the denizens of our lakes and woods. At present it may be possible to do much regarding this by legislation but I trust the letter will come before the eye of many teachers in Nova Scotia who could do much by inculcating lessons of kindness toward these harmless timid little animals. Far more harm is done by want of thought than by want of heart and I feel sure there are not many men or boys in the province who would care to continue the practice of rabbit snaring if they knew the death of lingering agony to which these little animals are thereby often subjected. Paradise

Mrs. J. Fritz and daughter, Ellen, of Massachusetts, are visiting Mrs. Fritz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bishop. Mr. Harry Morse left on Tuesday for his annual visit with his brother in Lynn. Edson Burke left for United States last week. Max Longley is confined to the house with an attack of rheumatism. Miss Henrietta Fair of Lawrence town spent Sunday at the home of her uncle, Mr. Geo. Starratt.

Clarence

Deacon Robert Marshall spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Longley, of West Paradise. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. H.P. Williams. A number of our young people attended the Carnival at Bridgetown on Wednesday evening the 22nd. D. C. McNeil was the guest of Edson M. Marshall on Friday last. Miss Minnie H. Marshall, of Bridgetown, has been visiting her sister Mrs. B. F. Chesley. Mr. Avarad Jackson whilst unloading logs at the mill, met with an accident which might have proved rather serious. One of his skids broke in two, leaving the log to roll, catching him above the ankle and bruising it quite badly. Deacon Norman Longley and wife were the guests of E.K. Leonard and family on Saturday. We are glad to see Mrs. Longley out again after being laid by so long. Mrs. B. F. Chesley has returned to her home after spending several weeks with her mother. Mr. Chester Barteaux, who was laid aside from work by sickness, is able to resume his work again. Mr. Chas. Wood, of Hall's Harbor, Kings Co., was the guest of W. B. Foster and family on Sunday.

Round Hill

We are sorry to report that Mrs. James Whitman had the misfortune to fall, breaking her right arm on Saturday last. Born on Sunday, Feb. 26th to Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Burrill a son. Mr. Lovitt FitzRandolph is home, and we are sorry to say, not feeling up to the mark. A party of young people from Round Hill took in the musical concert at Tupperville on Thursday evening of last week. Messrs Geo. and Fayette Tupper of Bear River, spent Sunday with relatives here, the former returning home on Monday. Joseph Bancroft, M.P.P., with wife and little daughter, Miriam, went to Halifax on Monday. Miss Della Kennedy went to St. John on Monday where she will take a course at the Business College. Mr. Avarad Miller, Yarmouth is the guest of his father Mr. Ezra Miller. Mr. Norman Rise, Lansdown, is ill and not expected to recover.

Tupperville

Rev. Porter-Shirley preached at three p.m. on Sunday. There was quite a large attendance of people from Grandville. A good ice bridge still holds for crossing. Mr. J. H. Inglis has a bad hand, and is under the doctor's care. The last few weeks have given us good sledding and the lumbermen and farmers have improved it. Messrs Clarence and Reginald Longley from Boston were here calling among their friends and relatives. Mr. Tavener, R.H. Messenger and others held an entertainment at the hall on Thursday evening with a full house, realizing something over nineteen dollars.

Port Lorne

Mr. Arthur Neaves and Korah Wilkins are home from St. John. Mr. Russell Cropley, of Bridgetown is visiting friends in this place. Mr. Johnson Beardsley is home from Keno, N. H. Mr. John L. Graves is home from Lynn. Preaching service Sunday, March 5th 11 a.m. (Feb. 22nd). Mr. John Graves arrived home from Boston on Saturday. Miss Bertha Neaves is spending a few days with friends at St. Croix Cove. The funeral of Mr. Andrew Baltzer, of Outram, takes place here today (Monday).

Port Wade

On Friday night a party of Old Fellows went to Ditch by "Port Wade" Ferry, where some new members are being taken in by degrees. Our people, who have been on the list are all improving, except Mrs. Ed. Flood, who, has now softening of the brain, and is in quite a critical condition. Sawing is suspended in the morning mill for a time by the breaking of the engine. We understand Mr. Morrison is purchasing a new one in Upper Canada. Mr. Saunter, bridge builder of the E. & S. W. is here with a party of men with private car. We saw last week through Torbrook items, that there were 60,000 tons of ore there awaiting shipment and that they were short of miners there. Looks like "something doing in the good old summer time." Quite a large amount of ice is now floating up and down the river. Mr. Thomas Baxter, of Karadale, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Adams, here, is quite critically ill, and being a very old man there is not much hope of his recovery. John Apt. of Victoria Beach, who has been suffering with tuberculosis, is very low at this writing.

Bear River

Mrs. W. W. Wade returned from P. E. I. on Friday last. Mr. Harold Crouse spent the week end at his old home. Miss Annie Chute, who has been on the sick list, is again at her post in the Post Office. Master Ira Clark, who was laid aside with a gripe is around town again. Robert Coumans is confined to the house with pneumonia. Mr. R. E. Feitus was in town last week. Dr. J. P. Annie has purchased from Mr. W. O. Chute his horse "City". S. S. Bear River cut through the ice in the river on Monday and sailed for St. John. Miss Della Kennedy went to St. John on Monday where she will take a course at the Business College. Mr. Avarad Miller, Yarmouth is the guest of his father Mr. Ezra Miller. Mr. Norman Rise, Lansdown, is ill and not expected to recover.

Hubanp.

Telephones have been put in at Post Office, Mr. Phinias Whitman's and Charles Whitman's. Mr. G. J. Whitman has accepted the vice-principalship of Acadia Villa School, Hortonville, beginning dates about Feb. 1st. The Misses Grace and Elsie Thomas, of Middleton, are guests of Misses Blanche and Pearl Balcom. Rev. Mr. Fletcher, Field Secretary of Missions, will occupy the pulpit on Sunday morning, March 5th inst. Mrs. Helen Phinney spent a few days last week with her niece, Mrs. Ida Otteron at Bridgetown. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crisp and children spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Phinney. Mr. Thomas Chesley has been ill for the past two weeks, but is now slowly recovering. Dr. L. R. and Mrs. Morse entertained a number of their friends very pleasantly on Thursday evening of last week. A Missionary meeting under the auspices of the W.M.A.S. was held in the auditorium of the Baptist church on Sunday evening, when an excellent program was rendered as follows: Opening hymn—"I love to tell the story." Port Wade

On Friday night a party of Old Fellows went to Ditch by "Port Wade" Ferry, where some new members are being taken in by degrees. Our people, who have been on the list are all improving, except Mrs. Ed. Flood, who, has now softening of the brain, and is in quite a critical condition. Sawing is suspended in the morning mill for a time by the breaking of the engine. We understand Mr. Morrison is purchasing a new one in Upper Canada. Mr. Saunter, bridge builder of the E. & S. W. is here with a party of men with private car. We saw last week through Torbrook items, that there were 60,000 tons of ore there awaiting shipment and that they were short of miners there. Looks like "something doing in the good old summer time." Quite a large amount of ice is now floating up and down the river. Mr. Thomas Baxter, of Karadale, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Adams, here, is quite critically ill, and being a very old man there is not much hope of his recovery. John Apt. of Victoria Beach, who has been suffering with tuberculosis, is very low at this writing.

Burn Caused Open Sore

Zam-Buk Worked a Wonderful Cure. Sometimes a bad burn, a deep cut, or some similar injury, sets up a more permanent injury, in the form of an open discharging sore. In such cases Zam-Buk will be found of unequalled value. Mr. J. Nixon, of 901 William Ave., Winnipeg, a blacksmith at the C.P.R. shops, had his foot badly burned by some molten metal falling upon it. He says: "The burn the was a very bad one, and after the first few days of the burning, the foot showed marked signs of blood-poisoning. It discharged freely and caused me terrible agony. For three weeks I suffered acutely and could get no ease. At last I obtained a preparation from way in a very short time after beginning with Zam-Buk. Healing then began, and in less than two weeks the wound was thoroughly healed." "I was then advised to use Zam-Buk, and from the first application the pain gave me relief. The inflammation was thoroughly checked, and the poisonous matter cleared away in a very short time after beginning with Zam-Buk. Healing then began, and in less than two weeks the wound was thoroughly healed." One of the main lessons of this case lies in the fact that Zam-Buk first for any injury, try skin diseases of all kinds, blood-poisoning, festering wounds, chaps, cold sores, children's eruptions, scalp sores, varicose ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box of post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of 50c. per box of post free against harmful substitutes and inferior preparations, which yield a meagre return of profit and are sometimes pushed as being "just as good." Nothing is just as good.

The Nobel Prizes

Original Intention to Reward Work of Idealistic Tendency Fading Away. (The T. F.'s Weekly.) By awarding one of its prizes for the promotion of peace to the Berne Peace Bureau rather than to an individual, the committee of the Nobel Foundation has been criticised for the idea of the awarding of individual. A certain falling-away from the original intention is inevitable with all institutions, especially one so curiously constituted as this. Alfred Bernhard Nobel was the inventor of dynamite. Being a kindly and humorous gentleman, he bequeathed to devote his wealth, obtained with this deadly compound, to the rewarding of peaceful laborers. He died in 1896, leaving about $2,000,000 for this object. The prize money was to be divided into five equal parts of about $5,000 each, and was to be awarded for the most remarkable work of an ideal tendency, for discoveries in physics, chemistry, physiology, or medicine, and for the greatest service rendered to the cause of peace. The original will set forth that the prizes should be given to "persons"—not companies or societies. The prize for physics and chemistry is awarded by the Swedish Academy of Science, in physiology and medicine by the Caroline Institute of Stockholm for literature by the Stockholm Academy, the prize for peace is awarded by the Norwegian Storting, through a commission, the work is done in secret, and the awards are made quite personally.

Lawrencetown

Mrs. Phoebe Knowles and Miss Jennie Amberman, of Grandville Ferry, have been visiting Miss Amberman's sister, Mrs. B. Whitman, also other relatives and friends and were the guests of Mrs. C.S. Balcom on Wednesday last. The Misses Grace and Elsie Thomas, of Middleton, are guests of Misses Blanche and Pearl Balcom. Rev. Mr. Fletcher, Field Secretary of Missions, will occupy the pulpit on Sunday morning, March 5th inst. Mrs. Helen Phinney spent a few days last week with her niece, Mrs. Ida Otteron at Bridgetown. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crisp and children spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Phinney. Mr. Thomas Chesley has been ill for the past two weeks, but is now slowly recovering. Dr. L. R. and Mrs. Morse entertained a number of their friends very pleasantly on Thursday evening of last week. A Missionary meeting under the auspices of the W.M.A.S. was held in the auditorium of the Baptist church on Sunday evening, when an excellent program was rendered as follows: Opening hymn—"I love to tell the story." Scripture reading—Mrs. Israel Brown. Prayer—Mrs. Wm. MacPherson. Ladies quartette—"When the Lord shall call his own."—Mrs. Clarence Longley, Mrs. Elvin Daniels, Miss Dexter and Miss MacPherson. Miss Florence Crawford has gone to Karadale, where she has taken charge of the school for the remainder of the coming year. Miss Ena Morse has returned from a two-weeks' visit with her friend, Mrs. A. P. Welton, of Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Chipman recently entertained the "Happy Workers" of the Methodist church of Middleton. The young people have enjoyed several parties and sleigh rides the past few weeks and there are more in prospect for next week. Mr. L. D. Robinson, of Barwick addressed a small meeting in the hall last Thursday evening. Mrs. (Ber.) Willard Parker celebrated her 93rd birthday last Friday. Several of her friends called to see her and she received many letters and remembrances. Mrs. Parker is remarkably well both physically and mentally, and enters upon another year with good prospects of seeing another birthday. We are sorry to know that Mrs. Renforth Elliott is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism. Mr. and Mrs. Will Foster, of Kingston, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Neely.

West Paradise

The month of February has been one long continuous spell of beautiful winter weather—good sleighing, st-ding, and cold enough for any one. Mr. Allen Mosher, while chopping in the woods one day last week, had the misfortune to cut his foot quite badly. Dr. Dechman of Bridgetown dressed the wound, having to take several stitches in it. Although nearly three miles from home, the plucky lad walked all the way, leaving a trail of blood behind him. Mr. Alonzo Daniels' house was broken into last Friday night and a lot of valuable silverware and other articles taken. No one being at home, the thieves had taken full possession. We think it is time these fellows were looked after, as this is not the first case of this kind this winter. Mrs. Florence Sanford had the misfortune to fall down stairs one day recently, injuring one of her limbs so badly as to necessitate her keeping her bed. Mr. Charles Banks has purchased one of Mrs. Florence Sanford's farms, and intends to take possession about the first of April. Mr. Frank Messenger has been confined to the house for the last two weeks with a severe attack of bronchitis. Robert Healy had gone to St. John where he is the employ of the West Fruit Co.

CANADA'S OPEN DOOR

This is the second of the series of articles on Reciprocity republished from the Canadian Century to which reference was made in our issue of last week.

CANADIAN FRUIT FARMERS IN GREAT PERIL

(From the Canadian Century.) The largest deputation of farmers that ever waited on any Canadian Government was that of the fruit growers of Western Ontario, who went to Ottawa on February tenth, to protest against the Reciprocity agreement. The case they presented to the government was a strong one. They showed that if the Reciprocity agreement was endorsed by the Canadian Parliament and the United States Congress it would reduce the value of every orchard in Ontario and fifteen thousands of small fruit farmers who had paid high prices for their little farms had been subdivided for fruit-growing purposes, and that new subdivisions were constantly being made. They said that a farm of one hundred acres which formerly supported only one family, being cut into ten small fruit farms supported ten families. Among other memorials presented by this deputation was the following: "We, the undersigned, the president and executive of the Old Country Association composed entirely of men born and bred in the British Isles, and the great majority of whom are engaged in the fruit industry, respectfully and earnestly beg to draw the attention of the Dominion Government to the peculiar hardship which will be imposed upon us should this proposed tariff legislation come into effect. "We have been induced to leave Great Britain and to come to this peninsula, and to invest our capital in the purchase, planting and general improvement of fruit lands in a large measure owing to the very wide distribution of official pamphlets and other literature emanating from Canada, and distributed throughout the British Isles, positively stating that 'the Ontario farmers in this time of peril' would be protected by a high tariff against foreign-grown fruit and vegetables and thus enjoy that market without serious competition from outside sources. "The amounts of customs tariffs on the various fruits is specifically stated in these pamphlets and literature, and in order that this Canadian grower may be clearly understood by the Britisher this tariff scale is not only set forth in the pamphlets but is also set forth in the coinage of Great Britain. Under the belief that these conditions would be stable we have not only sunk our own capital, but have been instrumental in bringing many of our countrymen here to invest in this growing industry, which, owing to the steady rise of recent years in the value of land, now requires a large amount of capital to purchase and equip even the small farms. The majority of us own, and to provide for the maintenance of our families during the years it takes to bring an orchard into bearing. "Four days after these Ontario fruit farmers presented their case to the Government Mr. Martin Burrell, member of Parliament for Yale-Cariboo gave the House of Commons a remarkably clear and comprehensive statement of the position of the fruit growers in all the provinces of Canada, giving special attention, of course, to his own province of British Columbia, which has made wonderful progress in the planting of orchards during the last ten years. Mr. Burrell has devoted twenty-eight years of his life to the practical work of fruit growing. No man in Canada has a better knowledge of the question. In 1901 there were 567,000 fruit trees in British Columbia, according to the Dominion census. Now there are estimated to be five million fruit trees in that province, and the area devoted to fruit is rapidly increasing. The grain grower of the prairie gets his big farm at low cost, some times as a free grant; the land is ready for cultivation; the Government subsidizes a railway to take the grain to market. The British Columbia fruit farmer must first be cleared of enormous trees; the people of the east and of the prairie provinces can scarcely realize the immense size of British Columbia timber. After the land has been cleared at great expense and fruit trees planted, the farmer must wait years for his trees to grow and bear fruit. In many parts of the province he must pay his share of the cost of constructing irrigation works. In the Okanagan Valley alone the amount of $1,500,000 has been expended already in irrigation works for orchard purposes and vast outlays of the same kind are going on all over the province. According to the Dominion census of 1901 there were in the whole of Canada 15,983,875 apple trees, 1,301,775 peach trees, 962,101 pear trees, 2,415,695 plum trees, 1,288,368 cherry trees and 178,425 other fruit trees, a total of over twenty-one million fruit trees, besides 2,782,596 grape vines and large acreages of small fruits. (Since 1901 there has been a very great increase in the number of trees, British Columbia farmers alone having planted about 4,500,000 trees within the ten years. Mr. Burrell estimates that there cannot be less than thirty million fruit trees in Canada now, and he thinks that $150,000,000 is a low valuation to place on the orchards of Canada today. The Canadian Century some weeks ago published an article on the value of a tree. It was pointed out that a German railway company had been forced to pay six hundred dollars for one cherry tree which it destroyed, and the principle upon which the court decided the value of a fruit tree was explained. Mr. Burrell's estimate only allows five dollars as the value of a Canadian fruit tree when it pales the orchards of the Dominion at $150,000,000. We believe that the real value is very much greater. Now what would be said if the Government suddenly took away the tariff protection of a group of manufacturers industries to which $150,000,000 of capital was invested? We hear a great deal from the politicians about vested rights. Why should there be any more consideration for the vested rights of manufacturers than for the vested rights of farmers. Has not the small farmer a vested right in the fruit tree that has cost him money, labour, time and anxiety? Do we not believe that the prosperous grain growers of the prairie provinces of Canada will vote against the tariff protection of British Columbia and Ontario when they know the real facts. We appeal to those farmers of Canada who are not fruit growers to stand by their brother farmers in this time of peril. WORLD COMPETITION FOR CANADIAN FARMERS? "Why should Canadian farmers lose every vestige of protection for their products while the tariff on manufactured goods remains almost untouched? If farm products from the United States, the Argentine Republic, Russia, Austria-Hungary, Denmark, Australia, New Zealand and other countries are to come into free competition with Canadian farm products in our own home market why should not manufactured products come in free from the same country? These are the questions which farmers throughout Canada are asking each other now, and they will ask the politicians the same questions a little later on. Free trade in farm products and protection for manufactured products is a condition of things that cannot be permanent. WHAT WILL AMERICAN FARMERS SAY? When the farmers of the United States learn that the same Reciprocity Compact that gives them free entrance to the Canadian market gives exactly the same privilege to almost every food-exporting country in the world they will be enraged. They will say: "With Russians, Japanese, Norwegians, Spaniards, Austrians, New Zealanders and a host of other food producers dumping their surplus products into the Canadian market what will there be left for us? They will complain that Canadian officials will sometimes charge that good, honest, Canadian eggs, butter, cheese, etc., come from Argentina, Siberia, or some other outlandish place that has been given the right to send its farm products freely into Canada. Bitter controversies will arise. The pleasant kindly feelings that have so long existed between Canadians and Americans will be replaced by a spirit of suspicion and antagonism that may have serious consequences.
