CHARGE AGAINST RETAIL MEN IN CITY OF TORONTO

Allegation That Some Have Been Pocketing Part of the Luxury Tax.

Toronto, Sept. 17.—It is alleged that Toronto retail merchants have been defrauding the Dominion government in connection with the luxury tax, and that thousands of dollars that should have gone to the government has gone into the merchants' pockets instead.

One method by which retail merchants are said to connive with purchasers to avoid payment of the new luxury tax, is by taking the invoice to cover more than one article. It is said that one retailer has been discovered in this. An article sold at $400 over the taxable price was invoiced with several other non-taxable articles which the purchaser did not buy at all.

PRESENTATION TO MR. BRINDLEY

New York, Sept. 17.—George W. Ketchledge, a broker in the financial district, received a post card from Toronto on Tuesday morning, according to this morning's World. It read:

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mrs. Hiram Hornbeam, "I will hardly be able to speak to you for the next three weeks. It becomes my duty once in every three or four years to save the country, and one of these occasions is now upon me."

"You never was lonesome," said Hiram. "Quite true," said the reporter. "There is never a shortage of earnest souls like myself ready to stave off national or provincial disaster, and the odd thing about it is that they do not always agree. Why I have had men tell me I was a wart on the body politic when I was going around with a cure for war. Strange—is it not?"

It is ridiculous to think that Ed. Fischer knew anything about this dreadful explosion," declared Mr. Ketchledge. "He was never a member of any radical organization. I think he was under one of his aberrations when he sent the post card, and it is just a coincidence that the explosion occurred the next day."

THE SERVANT PROBLEM HERE

Canadian Woman Protests Exploitation of English Girls — One Example.

Servant trouble in Canada, according to the London Daily Telegraph, is trouble for the servant and the employer, as one story goes, seems to be doing a little profiting. If there are any of these "bright, neatly dressed" English girls who wish to enter domestic service, says an employer, they had better find their way to the States, and they will be sure of a welcome and surely something better than $5 a month, $10 being deducted for passage money from England.

This is what the Canadian woman has to say:
"The writer talked recently with an English girl who had been in Canada about nine months, a bright, neatly dressed girl, of the type who should succeed anywhere. Finding that she was dissatisfied with conditions in the Dominion, the writer, who, while never advocating emigration for office and factory workers, has always regarded Canada as really a 'land of opportunity' for domestic servants, spoke of the better conditions in Canada and the higher wages, only to find that the cause of the girl's discontent was the fact that she was being paid $15 a month (about 13 sterling), $10 a month of which was deducted by her employer as a refund of her passage money. The man she works for is a salaried government official, and yet he and his wife expect this girl who looks after their children and home to clothe herself decently on $5 a month, and that sum will purchase very little in Canada in these times."
"The girl explained that when she wanted to buy a pair of boots, for instance, she saved her $5 until her next pay day, when by putting the two months' wages together, she was able to do so. Two months seems a long time to do cleaning, cooking and washing and the hundred-and-one other things which make up housework, in order to earn money to buy a pair of boots. Even if she had been paid $15 a month without the deduction she would not have had much to spare for recreative purposes, and saving would have been an impossibility unless she was unusually thrifty."
"Canadians will say that the case is exceptional. They said so in the case of a Canadian girl of the writer's acquaintance, who while she was paid $25 a month, was hardly ever given meat to eat, and who had to take her choice of spending all her evenings, except one a week, in a stuffy kitchen or stifling attic bedroom. (It is not generally known that Canadian Summers are very warm—much more so than English ones). The case may be exceptional as regards food—one hopes it was—but inquiries among the domestic servants of the writer's acquaintance have failed to find one who rejoices in the luxury of a sitting room—though she is not advocating sitting rooms for domestics at present."
"At the time the Canadian Council of Immigration held its Conference the statement was made that 'never again will any one be able to say that a British immigration girl has been ill-treated in Canada.' The English girl has not been ill-treated, but no just person will admit that she has been fairly treated. If she had not had a good supply of clothing when she came out she would now be too shabbily dressed to secure decently paid work, and be classed as another of England's failures. There is no protection against such exploitation of British immigrant girls, as the writer knows to her sorrow. The Department of Immigration does not even pretend to be wage-collecting agency, though when cases of unusual hardship have been brought to the attention of the officials

"But there is no need for a girl to come to Canada and take domestic work at $15 a month. The English girl, having borrowed the amount still owing on her passage money—and she must have paid considerable interest on her employer's original expenditure—has been re-employed at $25 a month in a house where another maid is kept, and her duties will naturally be lighter."
"No immigrant girl should take work at less than $20 a month, and if engaged before leaving her native land for Canada she should obtain a written agreement not only as to wages, but as to when wages will be paid, and the agreement should also cover hours off and general living conditions. No one is more anxious than the writer to see the emigration to Canada of part of England's surplus population, but the girl who comes out here and works for less wages than her due is not only suffering unnecessary hardship herself, but making conditions harder for others. If she returns to Eng-

THE PROMISE THE PERFORMANCE
With the object of stampeding the vote in St. John to the support of Hon. Mr. Wigmore, promises of the most glittering kind have been made. Inducements of almost any imaginable description have been held out—commencing with a radio station, and finally within the last few days, a sea-plane base. Before election day we might expect a further large instalment.
Wigmore is the savior of this port—we are told, "a man that can do things." Then the Standard and the Tory propaganda as a refrain, shout: "Let everybody vote."
In the brief period between now and election day it becomes the duty of each and every person in possession of the franchise, to examine for his or herself the calibre of the promise-makers. First and foremost be it remembered that Hon. Mr. Wigmore is a Conservative, supporting nothing more or less than a Tory administration. With this uppermost we commence the inquiry. What is the record of Conservative governments towards St. John? Cabinet ministers and private members from this constituency supporting such cannot point to any one big project carried through. Sir George Foster, should he come here, might enlighten St. John on his achievement as affecting the welfare of this port.
The memory of our citizens is not short: Hon. Robert Rogers came, saw and made promises; Sir Robert Borden likewise. Bringing things up to date, Hon. Arthur Meighen and now Hon. Mr. Wigmore.
Of the government candidate, he must be measured by his own record. He has been at Ottawa two years. Can he point to any one thing of consequence accomplished by him during that period. Since Dr. Emery's manifesto, the Standard and the Conservative propagandists are already commencing to explain away this. He has not, it has been admitted, been able to do much "during the brief term he has represented this constituency at Ottawa." At the outside he cannot be longer than "two years" should he be elected, and probably not that time.
Again, explanation is made that all these things that are promised, "quite naturally cannot be done in a day and new works, even the most necessary may be undertaken by the government only after careful consideration." Two years, surely, is brief for consideration and accomplishment.
While the Standard bemoaned the absence of Dr. Emery's statement to the electorate, it was being read by thousands. Not willing to give even credit for this, the same journal dismisses it as political clap-trap. His pronouncement as to port matters is left unnoticed. There is, however, a further admission that Hon. Mr. Wigmore has done nothing and the Standard distorts the Scripture to read: "If thy right hand offend thee, leave it on," by the mirthful assertion, "that a stronger argument for the return of the Hon. Mr. Wigmore could hardly be penned." As to what might be expected from a Liberal administration, we have the record before us. Any large Federal expenditure that has been made at this port has come from Liberal governments. Witness the efforts of Hon. Dr. Pugsley in this regard, and once more bring matters up to date. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, after an inspection of the port facilities, was the one man to stand up in parliament to plead for consideration of St. John, while Mr. Wigmore sat as dumb as an oyster. Let no one be deceived: let the promiser shew his performances.

warmed again by the sun next morning the mist evaporates and disappears. When warm air ascends, it not only passes into colder regions, but the very act of expansion from the warmth it receives lowers its temperature, and the vapor condenses and forms clouds. Clouds often appear to float in the air for hours, but the water particles falling slowly through the air meet with warmer and drier air, and so evaporate again and ascend. At the top of the cloud condensation occurs, and drops of moisture fall and, if striking the earth before they can evaporate, become rain. At the same time the bottom of the cloud vaporizes and rises, forming smaller clouds higher up; thus part of the clouds continue to ascend and become still cooler until particles of ice can get no higher—about six miles on a warm day. The average height of clouds is just a mile.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS.

No provincial government in New Brunswick has ever appealed to the people with a better record of work accomplished, or with less ground for adverse criticism of its policy and administration than that led by Hon. W. E. Foster. Its policies have been boldly constructive, and no breath of scandal has blown upon it. Neither the premier nor his colleagues would contend that they had never made any mistakes, but they safely affirm and can maintain that they have acted according to their best judgment in all circumstances, and in what they conceived to be the public interest. In a province which had very limited revenue, and much of which had been dissipated by the previous government, while the public services had been permitted to run down, Premier Foster and his colleagues have accomplished a great deal that is of permanent value to the province. They set out to reform the administration of the crown lands, which had been a fruitful source of scandal and as a result there is a greatly increased revenue from that source, while a sound policy of administration has been adopted and a policy of conservation inaugurated. They set out to give the province better roads, for the roads of the province, and the bridges, were in a disgraceful condition; and how well they have succeeded is known to every user of the highways, and witnessed by visiting motorists who make comparisons extremely favorable to this province. They had left to them the legacy of the Valley Railway, and secured its completion and transfer to the Dominion government. They gave the province a public health act that has already accomplished a great work, and made New Brunswick the first province or state on the continent to establish a ministry of health. They developed and secured the adoption of a hydro-electric policy which will eventually revolutionize the industrial system of the province. They adopted a progressive agricultural policy that has been instrumental in increasing the number of live stock, improved the dairying industry, revived the growing and milling of wheat, made it easier for the farmer to secure fertilizer, and in a general way increased agricultural production. They gave their hearty support to the introduction of vocational training. At the same time they introduced a better system of accounting and administering the finances of the province.

A government with such a record, and which has other progressive policies in mind, deserves to be returned to power; in order that during another legislative term it may carry out what has been so well begun. The people who gave it its mandate have not been disappointed. Contrasting its record with that of its predecessor, the intelligent elector cannot but feel that the Foster government has earned a new lease of power.

PREPAREDNESS.

The Standard lays the defeat of the provincial government which it supported in 1917 to lack of preparation. The Standard is entirely wrong. Preparedness was the watchword of the old government. With that slogan it was continually on the trail of the lumbermen, the Valley Railway and other contractors, the liquor dealers, and all and sundry who might be suspected of ability to provide the sinews of war. So generous was the response that a matter of twenty thousand dollars became a mere trifle in the estimation of the high command. There are former directors of the Standard who could tell it tales of thrilling interest in these days of cautious finance.

There can be no doubt, however, that the Standard's party will now need to do a good deal of preparing before it can make much impression upon the electors of New Brunswick. Not only so, but the preparatory service should be followed by a new profession of faith. There is also the question of leadership. Will Hon. Mr. Murray lead—or another? Will the breach between the St. John members and their provincial colleagues be healed? What will be the policy of the party? All these questions must be answered before that October day on which the people will be called upon to make their choice. The fact that the potato crop is excellent offers no encouragement in this grave exigency, and the shadow of certain revelations made before royal commissions fall darkly across the path of these ardent advocates of reform in provincial affairs.

WHAT, AND WHEN?

Just what does the Dominion government propose to do about developing the port of St. John, and when does it propose to begin work?
The by-election campaign is practically at an end, but no definite, official and binding statement has yet been made by the government.
The mayor and commissioners have evidently postponed the discussion of harbor commission until after election day. If they knew the government's intentions, they doubtless would have made them public.
Is St. John to find in the end that there is no plan or proposal beyond the present harbor commission act?
In order that there may be no misunderstanding hereafter it is but proper to call attention to the lack of everything up to date beyond vague promises and assurances.
Certainly the campaign should not close without an explicit announcement of the government's plans, if there are any.
It must not be overlooked that unless definite preparations are made at once, the facilities at this port will be inadequate this season and next as well. As to the harbor, the citizens are today asking just what is to be done—and when. What is the answer?

The report of the Royal Commission shows that the complaints of miners, both in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, were well founded. The report as it relates to the Lorraine extension, better pay and better conditions for Minto are also recommended, as well as a code of mining laws for the province. The men have every reason to be pleased with the commission's report and the operating companies will perhaps conclude that there is as much to be gained by cordial relations and negotiations with their employes as by an uncompromising attitude.

The by-election will no sooner be out of the way in St. John and Albert than the provincial election campaign will be in full swing. With polling on Oct. 9 the contest will soon be over, and that is not at all a bad feature of the case. The electors will have no difficulty in making a choice between parties and candidates. They have had a legislative term of good government, and will desire another. The Foster government should be very handsomely sustained.

The Montreal Star's Ottawa correspondent is convinced that the tariff will be the big issue at the next session of parliament and in the general elections. Of the parliamentary session he says:— "Tariff revision will have the right of way, and from present indications there will be much less on the legislative agenda than in the past few sessions. This will afford greater time for dealing with the tariff?"

A sentence in an editorial in last evening's Times read:—"Happily the people are stupid." What was written, or intended to be written was that the people were not stupid. And, not being stupid, they of course knew at once that the negative had been omitted through somebody's blunder. This being so, the editor feels that he will not be called on to repel boarders or mend the windows.

Twenty-five years ago, according to the Montreal Gazette the following retail prices ruled at Bonsecours market:—Print butter, choice 20c to 25c a pound; creamery, 20c to 22c; good dairy, 17c to 20c; mild cheese, 10c to 12c; strong, 12c to 14c; eggs, strictly new laid, 12c to 25c a dozen; case eggs, 11c to 12c; honey, 10c to 12c a pound; maple sugar, 8c to 10c; maple syrup, 6c to 7c a gallon.

The Conservative party is making desperate efforts to persuade the people of Quebec that it was the original discoverer of the policy of racial unity. The task is not as easy as some ardent followers of Premier Meighen may assume. The people of Quebec do not need to have long memories to determine the question.

Lord Burnham's plea for a direct cable news service between Britain and Canada strikes a responsive chord at a time when persistent efforts are being made to give the United States people distorted news of English affairs. A better news service would mean closer sympathy.

RAPID PROMOTION.

A despatch last month was headed:—"Private Threshing Being Carried Out." A provincial paper yesterday carried a western despatch under the caption:—"Threshing is General Now."

DANGEROUS TEETH.
Now the docs, those wise old chaps, say our teeth should all come out, for they cause all our diseases, from the measles to the gout. Once they've been pulled, we'll be safe, they say. I viewed the same with pride, as I chewed the sturgeon steaming, with potatoes on the side. Now my teeth are all departed and no hope on earth I see, thought the dentist says he's said, said he, "You must see a dentist, pronto, who will pull out molars three." I had measles in Hoboken, and the doctor said, "You gink, all your symptoms are a token that your teeth are on the blink. And my whittlers, in Empory, fell and fell, and soon were gone, and it was the same old story—'was because no teeth were drawn." Passed around by western physicians from one dentist to the next, I am filled with vain ambitions and my soul is sore perplexed. Now that all my teeth are missing what resource is there for me? When I'm sore in bone or tissue, chafed from carrying my wretch, how will doctors dodge the issue, when they cannot blame my teeth?

Dominion Happenings of Other Days

FIGHTING IN FLORIDA

The closing days of September 1914 saw a lively fight between the United States and the English in Florida. The British had been in the area for three years in Canada was for the time transferred to the United States' land in the far south. The United States had erected a battery on a sand point which, while it was of little military value, was sufficiently strong to prevent any ships from sailing up the Mississippi. So a British force of four warships, then at Pensacola was sent against the place. There had been such a steady tide of victories for the English of late that failure seemed impossible. But in this case defeat was the lot of the ships for it was not until Sept. 15 that the first of the warships took up position to open fire. The ships were only a musket shot off shore when a landing party of marines and Indians was sent into attack the sand fort. The leading vessel, the Vergades, opened the attack but in a few minutes her cables were cut and she drifted into a storm of shot and shell from the shore. After fifteen or twenty minutes in this position she was surrounded. It was impossible to get her off the shoal so the wounded were removed and the vessel set on fire. The ship lost twenty-five killed and as many wounded, while the other vessels all suffered serious casualties. In the Fort the killed and injured were very few.

A FRIEND IN NEED

There is a public garden in Bordeaux, France carved in true, compelling lines of stone, Rosa Bonheur, calm visaged and Looks ever down upon the endless flow of life in the less rugged flesh. A slow Ungainly little donkey, as wind-blown.
A weed into a garden drifts, unknown, stole in one day to feed where flowers grow.
A keeper, shocked that this dull beast should browse before the statue of the mighty deed, rushed up with blows the sinner to arouse.
He stops, club poised above his shaggy Calm eyes seem watching him; his head he bows,
And leads the dumb brute gently forth instead.—Jack Burroughs in Life.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Not impressive.
Tears have been a favorite weapon with many of the fair sex from time immemorial, a fact perhaps known to and not approved of by a certain professor of chemistry, who surprised his friends not so long ago by taking to himself a wife. The bride returned to tears upon the occasion of their first domestic difference, but the professor regarded the mood with indifference, and placidly continued his breakfast.
"My dear Anna," he presently remarked, somewhat bored, "I very sore those tears for some one on whom they will have more effect. They do not impress me in the least, being merely, as an optician in my class could tell you, common water with a very small percentage of phosphorus salts, and a trace of chloride of sodium." That is all!

A Narrow Escape.

William, aged six, and grandfather, aged seventy, had birthdays on successive days, a matter of much concern to the former.
"Grandpa," he said one day, after pondering on the subject in silence for several minutes, "I'd have waited a day for you or you'd have hurried up for me we'd have been twins, wouldn't we?"

To The Point.

As Johnny's birthday was approaching, his mother carefully cautioned him not to speak of it lest various friends in the hotel might suspect him of hinting for presents.
One day, however, he was asked by an officer what gentleman the date of his birthday.
Johnny replied: "Oh, I had it long ago; it was a year ago next Saturday."

Lacking in Faith.

The drought had been long and cotton and corn fields had withered and turned brown beneath the blazing sun, while there was dust in the rows almost as deep as in the roads. Brother Mose Johnson, exhorter extraordinary, decided there was nothing to do but call his church members together and ask divine intervention to end the dry spell.
Word was sent out, "My faithful people, were to gather Sunday afternoon to pray for rain, and they gathered. Brother Mose, at first pleased with the number present, assumed a pained expression when he took a closer look at his audience.
"Brethren," he said, "you all know of little faith. Here I done get you all together to pray for rain, plenty of rain, and rain right now, and you ain't a single umbrella in dis church."

LOSS OF FORTRESSES HITS GERMANY HARD

General Staff Finds Natural Defenses Far Less Favorable Than Old Ones.

A German General Staff memorandum made May for the purpose of suggesting the maximum strategic value of the fortifications left to Germany by the terms of the Versailles Treaty has been received in Washington official circles. The document outlines the western front. The document outlines the means of defense on the eastern and western fronts against Poland, Czechoslovakia and France, dismissing all calculations and plans with regard to a simultaneous defense of all fronts.
"As natural defenses," the memorandum declares, "the new German fortifications are much more favorable than the old. The Rhine boundary is a much more inferior protection than the Vosges mountains, which lack roads, while the remaining German territory on the left bank of the Rhine has lost the protection afforded by the Lorraine extension in front of it and instead is now exposed to enemy attacks. In the south and east, we will have restless, unreliable and new nationalistic units as neighbors, from whom we will be separated partly by an historical and natural boundary.
"It would be desirable if the lack of boundaries were compensated by effective fortifications. This is not the case anywhere at the present time.
"Even before, Germany had exceedingly small and weak boundary fortifications, considering the dangers to which its boundaries were exposed. As a result of the peace treaty, the most valuable units are approximately bisected and razed. The new boundaries will, therefore be deprived of the protection of fortifications.
"The different groups of fortifications are differentiated as follows:
"East Prussian and West Prussian forts.
"The fortifications on the Czech border and Oder fortifications.
"The Western and inland German fortifications.
"The coast and inland fortifications.
"Königsberg and Pillau together form the main fortifications for the defense of the Province of East Prussia.
"Königsberg is the central point of the administration and the economic and spiritual life of the part of East and West Prussia remaining to Germany. The most important East Prussian railway lines pass through the city which, both as a Baltic harbor and as an outlet city of the navigable Pregel, is connected with the coast and inland ports of East Prussia.
"The Czech border is covered only by the protection by fortifications. On the Oder we have only three separate fortresses. Of these, Breslau is the most important, constituting, as it does, the center of the administrative, economic and spiritual life of the province as well as the lines of communication.
"The western border offers, in its entirety, no protection by fortification. On the Oder we have only three separate fortresses. Of these, Breslau is the most important, constituting, as it does, the center of the administrative, economic and spiritual life of the province as well as the lines of communication.
"Lum can be regarded as a west fort, but as it is situated more than 10 kilometers from the Rhine border, it can only be called an inland fort. Its function, besides blocking the lines of communication within its reach, is to protect and keep clear the Danub crossings in both directions in so far as its meagre means permit.
"Fort Ingolstadt, 100 kilometers from any border, has a similar function for the territory it covers.
"In conclusion, the old fortress of Spandau can form a safe point for the government in case of internal disorder. The fortifications of this group serve almost exclusively as defenses against attacks from the sea. They come under the jurisdiction of the Admiralty.
"The permanent buildings of most of the forts are few in number and old. In many cases they do not even lie in the line provided for defense. In spite of this, the permanent constructions are still of a considerable value as local supporting points and as a mainstay. The offer, for the greater part safe shelter at least against light fire, as well as assaults, and they require heavy fire for their destruction. Thus they serve the most important functions of every fortification, the gaining of time.
"However, the main value of the permanent fortification works and other forts does not lie primarily in their permanent fortification works and other constructions, but in the theoretic preparation and in the equipment.
"The number of forts left to Germany is, in proportion to German territory, exceedingly small, but too large in proportion to the number of troops. This may seem illogical, but it is not; for it is not necessary to reckon with a simultaneous defense of all fronts. The gar- rison must be so arranged that the garrison troops thrown into a fort can defend everything already there and would not have to come fully equipped."

commendably enthusiastic in their political privileges, are proposing to enter the campaign with the tea room and tea party idea. Paper table covers and napkins will be appropriately blended with the American flag—by one party enclosing the pictures of Harding and Coolidge, and by the other, the pictures of Cox and Roosevelt. Tea and luncheons will be served, and there will be "parlor parties" and all such lovely devices to attract the attention, enlist the enthusiasm and stir the emotions of the women. But apparently all this is done on the assumption that the women of the country will approach the political issues and act under their new franchise privileges only through the medium of tea and paper napkins and artistic touches, and lovely gowns, and bouquets and so on. We are inclined to think that a majority of the women themselves will not take that view. We give them credit for considering the issues of the campaign and the political situation generally, with quite as much seriousness as the men. However delightful tea and paper napkins may be as social functions or furbelows, the women are not at all likely to offer them as the best medium of the expression of their patriotic emotions or political principles. As well as the men, they are likely to appreciate the fact that a presidential campaign is not "just a perfectly lovely tea party."

MANY ATTEND EMERY MEETING

Candidate, A. R. McMaster, M. P., and Others Heard at Opera House — Criticism of Federal Government.

There was a large audience in the Opera House last night to hear the speeches by A. R. McMaster, K. C., M. P., of Brome (Que.); Michael Kelly, Dr. Emery and Hazen Adair, in the interest of Dr. Emery's candidature for the house of commons.

Dr. G. G. Corbet was in the chair. In opening the meeting he read a telegram from Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in which the party leader expressed regret that lack of time because of his western trip prevented him from coming to St. John to take part in the campaign.

Dr. Emery, who followed, was heartily received. He read his manifesto, which has been published in full in The Telegraph, commenting briefly on parts of it. The present government, he added, was anything but a responsible government and he was opposed to autocratic rule.

Mr. McMaster, in thanking the audience for its cordial reception, said that he was very grateful for the invitation to come here and help elect a real Liberal. He came here at the express desire of the leader of the Liberal party.

Mr. McMaster spoke of the general industrial unrest and advocated better working conditions in Canada. The people of Canada, he continued, must get away from racial and religious prejudices. They had to stop looking at things from a provincial standpoint.

had said that his party walked in the middle of the road and that all who did not agree with him were destroyers and wreckers. Had Mr. Meighen any right to call anyone wreckers? He told of Mr. Meighen defending the soldiers' voting bill under which three times as many soldiers as Brome sent out had been sent to vote in his constituency.

Until another system of revenue was devised a tariff would have to be maintained. In reducing it the Liberal party would change it to the least inconvenience to those engaged in business.

Mr. McMaster said he could not reconcile Hon. Mr. Spinnery's declaration on the tariff and his entry into a government which had nailed the high tariff slogan to the masthead.

COMMON COUNCIL

Delegation Asks Re-Establishment of Employment Office — Bond Issues Approved.

Bond issues to the amount of $3,275 were approved at the postponed meeting of the common council, which was held at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Howard, who was spokesman, said that Moncton was the only place in the province that had maintained its office from the time of opening last year, but it was expected that offices would start soon in Fredericton, Capabellton, Bathurst and Newcastle.

The chief expenses of the office were salaries, rent, light and heat; supervision of the local office would be done from Moncton; the selection of an office personnel would be left to the municipality and it was expected that a good man would be employed as manager at a salary of $1,500 or so.

Answering a question from Mr. Bullock, Mr. Howard said that some forty persons a week had found employment through the office that was maintained in St. John last year.

Appreciation to Mr. O'Connell. Moved by Commissioner Frink and seconded by Commissioner Thornton, a resolution of thanks and appreciation for J. D. O'Connell the orphans' friend, was passed unanimously, as the result of a suggestion made at a meeting of the council last week by Commissioner Thornton who thought that some recognition by the city should be made of the plan and other treats given the children and orphans in the city since September 1916.

Mr. McMaster disrupted Mr. Wignome's statement that as minister he had the authority to say what public money should be spent in this province. The speaker was under the impression that the house of commons had something to say about it. Mr. Wignome had not the right idea as to his duties as a member of parliament when he said that after he looked after the port of St. John he would look after New Brunswick and then the dominion.

On motion of Michael Kelly the outside speakers were tendered a unanimous vote of thanks and the meeting dispersed after singing the national anthem.

FOUND HANGING TO DOOR OF CELL

Bell Made Several Attempts, Say Police

Tried to Use Scissors on Throat and Pin on Wrist Artery — Charged With Breaking Into Places and Stealing.

Police headquarters announced today that after attempting to cut his throat with a pair of scissors, and open an artery in his wrist with a safety-pin, Frederick Bell, a prisoner, was trying to commit suicide in his cell at the central police station last evening by hanging at 6:20. The report was that John O'Neill, day deskman, found him suspended from the top of the cell door with a tarp around his neck.

Bell, who is originally from Hampton, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Biddiscombe and Donahue on a charge of theft in the city. It is said he had been drinking and threatened to kill himself; that at the desk he caught up a pair of scissors and attempted to cut his throat but was prevented by the detectives. They say he then took a safety pin out of his pocket and tried to open an artery in his wrist, but this was frustrated. When locked in the cell they say he tried to bite his wrist. He was prevented. The detectives put restraining gloves on him and took other precautions. Deskman O'Neill saw him about 6 o'clock and he quieter; a quarter of a hour later he found him hanging. He was soon revived.

He was continually watched during the night and this morning appeared in court to answer to the charge of breaking and entering the shoe repair shop of Thomas Frontin, 40 Meade street, and stealing a pair of shoes, several rubber heels and some boot laces. He was also charged with breaking and entering the repair shop of W. H. Wallace, Charlotte street, and stealing three pairs of boots, an overcoat and button fastener.

Following, Mr. Wallace, Detectives Biddiscombe and Donahue and Alex McMullin gave evidence. The latter said his shop also was broken into.

Sitting Magistrate Henderson committed Bell for trial at the next sitting of the county court this month. 8-21

LOOK OVER SITE OF THE PROPOSED TRAFFIC CROSSING

Hon. F. B. Carvell Accompanies Mayor and Commissioner to Douglas Avenue — Overhead Plan Favored — Will Cost About $150,000.

Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the board of railway commissioners, accompanied by city and C. P. R. officials, this morning inspected the site of the proposed highway crossing over the C. P. R. tracks at the reversing falls. After the inspection, Mr. Carvell expressed the opinion that the scheme was feasible. It is estimated that the cost of the work will be in the vicinity of $150,000.

Accompanied by Mayor Schofield, Commissioners Bullock, Frink, Jones and Thornton; G. C. Hare, city engineer; G. N. Hatfield, road engineer; J. M. Woodman, C. P. R. superintendent; Colonel Draper, engineer in charge of the new C. P. R. bridge, and Willis Waring, his assistant, Mr. Carvell motored to the falls at eleven o'clock. After looking over the proposition, he lunched with the mayor at the Union Club.

Two alternate plans for doing away with the level crossing have been prepared, one to divert the western end of Douglas avenue by expropriating a portion of the Weeks property on the southern side of the street, and the other to cut a new highway off Douglas avenue through the Garson and Maple Leaf Milling Company's property and taking the traffic through a subway under the tracks and along Merritt street to the bridge. For the overhead crossing it will be necessary to open a way through the Weeks property, making a revenue per cent grade to the trucks, installing a bridge across the railway and grading on the other side to the present highway bridge. The grade from the track to the bridge would be about five per cent.

While the overhead crossing is said to be that favored by all concerned, it is said it is expected that difficulty will be experienced in bringing the grade of the Straight Shore road at the bridge end up to the level of the filling which will extend from the crossing to the highway bridge.

One-quarter of the cost of the work will be borne by a special fund controlled by the railway board, and the board will apportion the liability for the balance among the city, the C. P. R. and possibly the street railway, which will also use the crossing. 8-21

New York Acclaims Margaret Anglin in Her New Play

Margaret Anglin appears to have scored another great success if enthusiastic reviews from New York critics are any sign. In her new vehicle "A Woman of Bronze" Miss Anglin plays a wife whose sculptor husband has been attracted by a young girl, but who wins out in the end.

Charles Darnon says of the performance: "Occasionally Miss Anglin comes along to remind us that all good actresses aren't dead and also to make us a bit jealous of the fact that she is a Canadian. Without robbing our neighbors, we should like to wrap our flag about her and claim her as our own, for she has the stars and stripes that mark the world of acting. In this instance she throws off the light mask of comedy to face the stern realities of life, and so once again her face reflects deep emotions. As a background to this picture there is a husband as weak as water colors. It is the woman that stands out strongly. Miss Anglin was truly fine." 8-21

Value---

The one dominant thought and purpose which has directed every activity and impulse of Everett's since the store first opened its doors to the public, has been to give to our patrons the best values that thoughtful, intelligent merchandising could make possible.

Such success as we have achieved has come through constant adherence to this policy, and without resort at any time to alluring inducements or other artificial influences.

Service---

The day of the "furniture store" in its earlier interpretation is past. Today, those who would beautify their homes seek a real home furnishing service—a service that brings to bear the combined counsel and judgment of home furnishing specialists, and insures results accordingly.

Competency and ability to render such a service do not come from self-appointment. They come from years of specialized training, constant study and research, and from fidelity to a definite ideal.

This store renders such a service in St. John. This service is really the most important consideration in furnishing a home, for it insures most effective results at least cost.

We believe you will agree that any service based on such sincerity of purpose must command confidence and assure economy.

RESOLUTION IS DEFEATED

Further Discussion on Harbor Commission

Matter Laid Over Until Next Tuesday — How the Commissioners Stand on the Question.

The resolution of T. H. Bullock regarding the matter of harbor control, which was expected to do something towards clearing away the confused state of affairs at city hall, went down to defeat at the meeting of the council yesterday afternoon, the sponsor being the only one who voted for it. Three of the commissioners, Messrs. Frink, Thornton and Jones expressed themselves again in favor of a plebiscite and it is expected that the matter will be taken up again at the next meeting, on Tuesday, on which occasion, Mayor Schofield said, he would have a recommendation to bring before the meeting. Formal notice having been given at a previous meeting, Mr. Bullock moved the following resolution: "Whereas, the question of harbor commission has been before the people for a long time and while the placing of the harbor in commission may be a national as well as a local advantage, the act as passed by the federal government is not deemed satisfactory to the common council and it is therefore resolved that the motion as passed in common council, November 12, 1919, be rescinded, and further resolved that the government be requested in accordance with the spirit of the tri-party agreement 1911 and to extend Negro Point breakwater to Farris Island and that the government also be asked to provide suitable terminals and docks for the C. N. railway and Canada Merchant Marine at this port, thereby helping to solve the transportation problems at the port, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the C. N. railway officials, Toronto; Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries; Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of customs and inland revenue, and Stanley E. Elkin, M. P.

Mr. Bullock.

Speaking to the resolution, Mr. Bullock said the pros and cons of the harbor act had been thoroughly gone into at many meetings and that all the different phases of the act had been well covered. It was agreed by all the commissioners, he said, that the provisions of the act are not satisfactory, and that they did not give justice to the port. The maintenance of the harbor was of vital importance to the port of St. John and to the dominion at large and the commissioners should not be afraid of taking hold of the question in a bold way; they should let the government know what was the opinion held regarding the act, and should not be backward in asking the government what improvements were intended for the harbor. He recommended that negotiations with the government be taken up at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. Thornton.

Mr. Thornton said that he did not approve of the resolution as it read, but to get it before the council he would second it. Excepting the section which referred to the rescinding of a former resolution, he was in favor of the resolution. The former resolution had been passed by a four-fifths majority of the council and showed the government the position in which the council stood with regard to the harbor commission. If that section were struck from Mr. Bullock's resolution, he would support it. He was in favor of putting the question before the people as soon as possible.

Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones said that he was of the same mind as Mr. Thornton. He had found by reading over the original act that there was no provision made for the raising of the ferry by the city and, so far as he knew, there was no positive assurance from the government regarding the matter. The way the government had been dealing with the city for the purchase of the harbor was not, in his mind, a good way of doing business. The assurance of the minister of marine which had been given were not binding. He thought all agreements and promises made should be in writing, and was of the opinion that the sooner the matter went to the people, the better it would be. He was inclined to submit the matter to a plebiscite so soon as possible and the amendment regarding the reservation of the ferry could be taken up separately with the government, said Mayor Schofield. "The matter of a plebiscite was defeated at the last meeting," Mr. Jones said. "It can be taken up again, though."

The Mayor.

That the resolution moved by Mr. Bullock would not remedy the question of dual control of the harbor, was the opinion of Mayor Schofield, who also thought that it did not make any provision for more berths in the harbor and that it left the city the owner of and responsible for the harbor. This, he considered, was too heavy a load for the taxpayers. If nothing else could be done, he would favor the government taking over the harbor as it did at Halifax and carry on as it is doing there at the present time. "Hear, hear," said Mr. Thornton. Personally, the mayor said, he was not in favor of the Bullock resolution.

The resolution in dispute referred to the matter of harbor commission being before the people for "a long time" and this statement was objected to by Mr. Frink who said that newspaper accounts, and editorials had appeared in some papers, but that others had strangely left the matter alone altogether. In defeating the resolution he had put to the meeting last week, the council had decided not to place the act before the people in its present form. The great matter for objection in the act was the section which referred to the ferry and in this matter the council was not attempting to blind the people of the west side. If the matter were brought to a plebiscite, he thought the Carleton people would vote openly and emphatically on the question and there were from 15,000 to 18,000 qualified voters in the city who would also have a voice in the matter. If the people voted the question of commission down, it would be settled for all time, and there were many people who were afraid that it would be voted down, said the commissioner.

Closing the debate on his resolution, Mr. Bullock said the matter of harbor commission, irrespective of what Mr. Frink had said, had been before the people for months, for years, and it was "coming better every time and the property was getting more valuable every time." The commissioner of public works had said that the principal feature of the present act was that there were no penalties in case the government did not abide by the agreement, but still he voted to have the act go to the people; there was no provision made for the operation of the ferry, and yet the commissioner wanted the matter to go to the people. The speaker was not willing to hustle the people on this or any other matter; he was working for something better all the time and was not one of those who wished to pass the buck on to a player. He wanted to get the best agreement with the government that was possible before submitting the question to the people.

The city solicitor, said Mr. Bullock, had said that the harbor commission, if formed, would not have power to dispose of the ferry or any other harbor property in any way. Mayor Schofield had said that the taxpayers should not be burdened with the cost of maintaining the harbor. A policy regarding the residents had been decided upon by the city years ago, said the commissioner, and the taxpayers were not asked to provide new wharves; the government was doing all the dredging that was necessary now and was supplying all the extra wharves needed; under commission control all this service would have to be applied by the commission and the city would get no indirect benefit, but now the government was doing the work and the property remained with the city. The harbor was not a load upon the taxpayer, the speaker contended. Interest charges were really lower than they should be and the harbor sinking fund was taking care of all bond issues as they fall due. The ordinary expenses were being taken care of by the harbor traffic which also was providing a revenue over and above what the operation was costing.

The commissioners should not be afraid to tell the government that the act submitted was not satisfactory, declared the speaker, and that there must be something better provided before the question could go to the people. The latest delegations which had represented the government, said Mr. Bullock, were giving no assurance at all on the matter of harbor commission and all statements made to them, he said, seemed to be such secret expressions that not even residents of the west side were taken into confidence. In the meantime, there was a federal by-election and the candidates were begging to know what the city wanted. He was not satisfied with a "do-nothing" policy and would like to have the government informed one way or another. He was pretty sure that the residents of the west side would vote down the present act if a plebiscite were called. "That's what you want, isn't it?" asked Mr. Frink.

Mr. Frink said there was no need of going ahead with the matter in too hasty a manner and suggested that the commissioners come to an agreement regarding the plebiscite at a later date.

Mr. Bullock asked Mayor Schofield if he were making any effort to have an interview with Hon. R. W. Wigmore while he was in the city and to this Mayor Schofield said that he was taking up the matter with the minister and that he (the mayor) had something on his mind with regard to harbor commission which he would give to the next meeting. After adjournment, Mayor Schofield said that the next discussion of harbor control would be held on Tuesday afternoon, after the regular council meeting.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—The National Catholic Union has established a new union in the plant of the Canadian Car & Foundry Company, Limited, and according to an announcement made this morning by Gerard Tremblay, general secretary of the Montreal National Catholic Union, this new body is the result of the recent strike which was followed by a shut-down of the company's plants. He says that the men, finding the company obdurate, appealed to Abbe Hebert, head of the National Union of Catholic Workmen, to use his influence to bring about a termination of the trouble, with the ultimate result that the company re-opened its plants. Abbe Hebert said this morning that the new union comprised several hundred men.

"Safety First"

NOWADAYS, in every sphere of commercial activity, all equipment used has to pass most rigid examinations and tests for safety. Of recent years, millions of dollars have been spent by various organizations to guarantee the safety of the lives and property entrusted to them.

From the inception of the Benjamin Industries, nineteen years ago, for the manufacture of electrical equipment and special electrical devices, the one predominant thought has been "Safety First"—indeed, many Benjamin devices were invented for the sole purpose of making electricity safer in everyday use.

Every Benjamin device is not only correct in the conception of its inventor, but bears the approval of competent electrical authorities. Benjamin goods are all inspected and passed for safety before being placed on the market.

The housewife or business man who allows, in home or office, an electrical device unapproved by electrical authorities, or that does not measure up to standard electrical requirements, harbors an element of danger to life and property every minute it remains in use.

We make this strong statement in the nature of a warning, because it is in our interest as well as yours to do so. The sale of cheap, dangerous electrical equipment, particularly those copied from our own designs, affects our business. There are many imitations of Benjamin products depending for their sale entirely upon the fact that they are imitations of BENJAMIN. When one of these articles proves its inferiority by use—as might be expected—the loss has fallen, not upon the unknown manufacturer, but upon the innocent purchaser who has been deceived by the resemblance—and the BENJAMIN name undeservedly gets the blame.

Consider the Benjamin Two-Way Plug, for instance. This was invented by Benjamin and is manufactured by us with such material and workmanship that it is the finest product of its kind made. Further than this, it is manufactured and made with strict regard to considerations of safety, but the Benjamin Two-Way Plug is one of the most glaringly imitated articles on the market.

Manufacturers, not only on this continent, but in foreign countries, employing exceedingly cheap labour, systematically sell cheap and dangerous products which approximate the Benjamin in appearance—and their activities are not confined to the Two-Way Plug, but practically every article bearing our trade-mark is the subject of imitation.

Is it any wonder that we feel called upon to issue this warning in your interests and our own? Our name stamped on any electrical device is your guarantee of safety.

FOUNDER OF THE CUNARD S. S. LINE

(Lucian in Vancouver Province.) It may be claimed that when the Cunard Company establishes its Pacific steamship service based on the port of Vancouver, and associated with Canadian Government Railways, Canada will be welcoming a wanderer's home. For the Cunard line was established by a Nova Scotian, who remained a citizen of Halifax a good many years after the company was organized with himself at its head. Moreover, its first service was the initiative of public men of Nova Scotia, with some support from New Brunswick.

One day in the year 1838 the British ten-ton brig Tyrion, on her way to Liverpool from Halifax, carrying her majesty's mail, lay becalmed in mid-Atlantic. On board were three interesting and intelligent passengers. One was Charles Fairbanks, vice-minister of the Nova Scotia, a private member of the legislature. Another was Thomas Halliburton, at that time chief justice of the inferior court of common pleas. He had been one of the most eloquent members of the legislature and had written a long and able report on the state of the province. He also had already written the first and second series of his San Slick papers for Joseph Howe's newspaper, but had not acknowledged the authorship. This may have been his first journey to England.

It was certainly the first transatlantic trip of the third and youngest of the three, Joseph Howe, then at the age of twenty-four editor and proprietor of the Nova Scotian and a private member of the House of Assembly, to which he had been first elected two years before.

The ten-ton brig on which they sailed was one of the ships which carried the mails between Nova Scotia and Great Britain, making the trip sometimes in six weeks, sometimes in twelve. As they longed for wind the paddle boat Sirius, bound eastward from Boston, came in sight. The captain of the Tyrion hailed this swift ship and transferred the mails, with which the Sirius steamed rapidly away, leaving the brig waiting for wind. The three intelligent passengers were impressed with this exhibition of speed. It may be said that the Sirius was able to make the passage from Boston to Bristol in eighteen and a half days. There was then one other steamship on the "Atlantic" route upon which was the Great Western, and could cross in fourteen and a half days.

Beauty's Ambition

To Rid the Face of Pimples and Such Blemishes is a Step Toward Life's Chief Accomplishment. One of the most aggravating conditions of any woman's face is the presence of pimples and such blemishes. Her ambitions are first a home, then children and then her appearance. One of the greatest blessings she can have is a fine, fair skin on face, neck and arms. The use of Stuart's Calcium Wafers now and then for the blood condition makes this possible. Women are great sufferers from skin disorders and hence their complexions are marred because of this fact. Stuart's Calcium Wafers give you a complexion that rivals the ideals of the artist to produce. By acting upon the skin and blood they thus contribute to a more beautiful complexion. Get a 60-cent box of these wonderful wafers from any druggist anywhere.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN. Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross".

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticester of Salicylic Acid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross".

TO CELEBRATE DANTE'S 600TH ANNIVERSARY

Rome Prepares Tribute to Italy's Famous Writer — Opposition to Expenditure.

(A. P. Correspondence.)

Rome, Aug. 29.—Preparations are being made to celebrate in 1921 the 600th anniversary of the death of Dante Alighieri in Rome, Florence and Ravenna but a disagreement already has developed as to the expense of the proposed celebration.

Sen Benelli, poet, dramatist and deputy, has introduced in the Chamber of Deputies, a bill appropriating 2,000,000 lire to cover the cost of lectures, commemorations, illuminations and other forms of tribute.

This proposed expenditure, however, is opposed by Benedetto Croce, the newly appointed Minister of Instruction, himself a distinguished poet, critic and author, who declared that in these hard and serious times he disapproved of the principle of this form of honoring the memory of Dante's supremely great writer.

Instead Signor Croce invited his fellow countrymen to celebrate the sixth centenary of Dante's death by re-reading the works of the great poet. Some approved of this suggestion while others were indignant.

The poems of Dante, even in Italy, are more talked about than studied, and it is to be feared that few will do more than take down and handle with reverence the much thumbed copies of the

POPULARITY OF TURKISH FEZ DISAPPEARING

(Associated Press Correspondence.) Constantinople, Aug. 25.—With the crumbling of Turkish authority and influence, the fez, the badge which all Turkish subjects, Christians, Jews and Turks alike, are supposed to wear, is rapidly disappearing.

Although the Moslems still wear their fezzes in the streets, they no longer cling to them so visibly indoors. Soon the Turks may be wearing hats with brims in Constantinople. Moslems in other parts of Turkey insist the Mohammedans in the capital lost their religion long ago through their desire to imitate the infidels. As a result, Moslems must remain covered in the mosque and it is quite impossible to touch one's forehead to a prayer rug while wearing a hat with brim, the fez is indispensable to the faithful Moslem who prays daily to Mecca. Even military and naval officers must wear villous caps.

The fez still prevails in Anatolian cities. In fact it is unsafe for foreigners to wear a hat in many of them unless they wear a hat with brim, the fez is indispensable to the faithful Moslem who prays daily to Mecca. Even military and naval officers must wear villous caps.

Money Conditions (Toronto Globe). What are the prospects of easier money conditions in Canada? This is a burning topic in the financial circles of this city, as well as to the business and industrial world. For months the banks have applied pressure to the reduction of credits, and in other cases have compelled business firms to be content with an unchanged amount of credit.

OLD JAILBIRDS MIGHT FEEL AT HOME HERE. Detroit Landlord Frames Rules for Tenant, Then Raises Rent. Detroit, Sept. 17.—No wonder there are daily to be found more and more empty flats in Detroit apartment houses. Landlords lately have been severely up on the matter of tenants moving into the suburbs.

Here are the conditions contained in one lease to which the Globe has access: No children, no dogs, no cats, no parrots or birds. Visitors allowed only up to 10 o'clock. No music or noise after 10 p. m. No visitors allowed to stay longer than two weeks in any one year. Only two visitors allowed at a time. Not even a handkerchief allowed to be hung out on a clothesline on Sunday.

Reading of Sunday newspapers on the front porch barred. For all these numerous advantages the owner plans to raise the rent from $78 to $100. A Pain-Killer. In the Missouri Ozarks there lives a man who is passionately fond of fishing, yet who has never been known to catch any fish to speak of. A friend once asked him how he managed to keep up such an interest in the sport when he was so uniformly unlucky.

"Well, you see, it's this way," the fisherman explained. "I go out early in the morning and cast my fly in the cool, placid water just above the old mill dam. If I don't get a strike I reel in, take a drink out of my faithful bottle. Then I make a cast in the turbulent water below the dam. If I do not get a strike I reel in, take a drink out of my faithful bottle. Then I seek the still, deep water just below the dam and seated there on a rock, I philosophically take a drink from my bottle. Then I try a cast at the big bend. If there is no strike I reel in, take a drink from my faithful bottle. By that time I am not sure whether I catch any fish or not."

TAKE GERMAN PROPERTY AS LONG TERM LOAN. South African Government Keeps £9,000,000 Worth—To Pay Interest at Four Per Cent. (Associated Press Correspondence.) Capetown, Aug. 16.—Property of Germans to the value of £9,000,000 is to be retained by the South African government and announced today in the South African House of Assembly by the Premier, General Smuts.

He explained that enemy assets held by the Custodian of Enemy Property in South Africa totalled £13,000,000 of which £3,000,000 had already been paid to Germans domiciled in South Africa. Of the remaining £10,000,000 one million pounds would be temporarily loaned to South Africa for claims on Germans for debts or for property in Germany sequestered by that government.

On the balance of £9,000,000 the government of South Africa has decided to pay interest at 4 per cent, raising the total to £10,000,000 which will then be held by South Africa as a loan from the German owners for a term of 80 years, the government paying owners 4 per cent interest.

Premier Smuts added that the government did not propose to pay this money to the Reparation Commission, which would practically mean confiscation. As there was no guarantee that if the money was sent to Germany it would ever reach the proper owners, he said, it had been decided to take it over as stated, namely, as a loan.

(A. P. Correspondence.) Santiago, Aug. 16.—The South American station of Harvard University's observatory, tucked away in the Peruvian Andes, is the largest and most complete in the world. It is a huge telescope which has been great aid to science in its observations of the southern skies. The station was founded 90 years ago and is located near the base of the famous Andean Volcano, Misti. The Argentinian Indians, descendants of the Inca, were the frequent speakers of themselves as the sons and daughter of old Misti. It is said the Indians in a surrounding country exercised and pleaded reverence regarding it as the source of earthquakes which often are felt in the region. The volcano erupted seven years ago.

Superstitions in regard to the mountain date back to prehistoric times. The ruins of the ancient pagan temples, a writer, says, have been found in the mountains. It is said that on the day of the world war there was a great earthquake near the top may be seen a great iron cross placed there in 1877 when a party of Spanish priests exercised and pleaded reverence regarding it as the source of earthquakes which often are felt in the region. The volcano erupted seven years ago.

Canadian Nursing Sisters To Far Away Roumania

Madame Pantazzi Organizes Mission—Daughter of Late General Cotton to Head Organization—
Queen Marie Expresses Gratitude.

Eight Canadian Nursing Sisters, headed by Miss Dorothy Cotton, of Montreal, are to leave soon for Roumania, where they will serve with the Canadian Nursing Mission in that country. The newly organized mission owes its origin to a former Toronto girl, now Madame Pantazzi, wife of Commander Pantazzi, Roumanian Commissioner to the United States.

When Commander Pantazzi returned to his native land in March he laid the matter of the proposed mission before Queen Marie, at his first audience with her.

As a result of that interview the grateful queen wrote the following letter to Madame Pantazzi:

Colocmei, May 12.
Dear Madame Pantazzi—Canada's generous proposal to send out trained nurses to help create a school in Roumania comes as a veritable godsend. I have a house and an organization, but the necessary elements of regeneration were entirely missing. I was wondering how I could call English or American nurses to my aid, so as to give a new impulse to an institution that was not progressing as I desired, when suddenly your husband appeared with your wonderful message from Canada that had already done so much for us and was now offering to come to our aid. It seemed a veritable sign from above that I must never give up or despair; however hopeless things might appear at times.

All my efforts had been handicapped by our disastrous rate of exchange, making it impossible to appeal to foreign countries. Yet it was foreign aid and advice that we had to have. You will therefore, easily understand the joy your message was to me. A son of your country, Col. J. W. Boyle, has by his bravery and his devotion to our cause already made the name of Canada known and loved in Roumania, and this new proof of her interest in our welfare comes to strengthen a bond of friendship which I hope will grow stronger and closer as the years pass.

Canada has known how to extend a generous hand to Roumania in her time of distress, and this the king, I and our people will never forget.

Will you please, in my name, thank all those who are helping to send out the nurses, whose experience and advice will be so precious to us, and tell them the joy that it gives me, the thought that you, dear Mme. Pantazzi, who in the hour of danger have shown a manly courage and energy are at the head of this movement is for me the best guarantee of its success.

(Signed) Marie,
Queen of Roumania.

At once arrangements for the mission were begun by the commissioner's wife, who not so long ago spent a happy time in her old home city, with her father, Mr. T. G. Greening, 221 St. George street, and did much to rouse interest in Roumania and its problems through her interesting lectures here.

At an informal gathering at "Red Gables," Mrs. H. D. Warren's hospitable home, a committee was chosen, comprising Mr. Lloyd Harris, of Brantford, president; vice-president, Mrs. J. W. L. Ross; treasurer, Mr. J. B. O'Brien; secretary, Mrs. Burnham; committee, Sir Edmund Walker, Mr. Thos. B. Greening, the Lieut.-Governor of Ontario and Mrs. Lionel H. Clarke, Mrs. Warren and Lady Eaton.

The committee in Bucharest provided the house with 50 furnished rooms, but $25,000, of which half has been subscribed already, was necessary from Canada for the total upkeep of the nurses for two years. It is confidently expected that this will be forthcoming.

"When I went over to Roumania eleven years ago," said Mme. Pantazzi, "I was appalled to find that the hospitals were in the primitive state of the days before Florence Nightingale's reforms. Ignorant women of the lowest class were the only nurses there were. There was a great prejudice among the educated classes against nursing as a profession for their women who led a very retired life. Only the war and the coming of the British and French hospitals changed this attitude, especially since the husbands and brothers of Roumanian women were in the hospitals by the thousands, suffering from wounds and disease. When I came back to Canada I found so many girls who had served during the war anxious to volunteer for this service that I thought the psychological moment had arrived."

Miss Cotton, who is to head the mission which expects to leave Montreal on November 26th, is a daughter of the late General Cotton, and herself served on the staff of Lady Paget's Anglo-Russian hospital at Petrograd, in the early years of the war. With her will go Miss Jean Graham, superintendent of Davisville Hospital; Miss Margaret Killmaster, of Brantford; Miss Irene Savage, former masseuse at the Christie Street Hospital; Miss Claire Carter, Port Colborne; Miss Olive Fitzgibbon, of Montreal; Miss Garfield McKay, of Halifax, and Miss Helen Kendall, of Winnipeg.

ABSOLUTE CURE FOR LEPROSY IS DISCOVERED

Every One of 58 Patients
Treated Has Not Shown
Symptom of Recurrence
After Year.

(The Mail and Empire)
Washington, Sept. 16.—Successful experiments upon 58 persons suffering from leprosy lead officials of the United States Public Health Service to believe they have at last found a cure for that ancient and dread disease. Everyone of the 58 have recovered to such an extent as to warrant his release on parole, and after a year not one has shown the smallest symptoms of recurrence.

Announcement of this fact in the Journal of the Missouri Medical Association was confirmed tonight by Dr. Claude Lavindar, of the Washington Public Health Service.

"The starting point for this study was the observation that now and then the course of the disease (leprosy) appeared to be favorably influenced by treatment with chaulmoogra oil," says an official representation. "The treatment, however, was attended with many difficulties and could not be carried out in all cases."

"At this point the United States Public Health Service enlisted the co-operation of Prof. L. E. Dean, head of the chemical department of the College of Hawaii, and president of that institution, suggesting that attempts be made either to isolate the active constituent of this drug or to devise means for making its continued administration feasible."

"The latter has been accomplished by preparing what is known as 'ethyl ester' from the chaulmoogra oil. The treatment has been carried on at the leprosy investigation station at Kalaupapa, Hawaii, the work being directed by Dr. J. T. McDonald, director of the station."

"Following a course of treatment extending over about a year, 58 lepers were paroled in October, 1919. Up to now they have remained free from disease."

"While chaulmoogra oil has long been a specific for leprosy, it never achieved the results now reliably claimed for it until Dr. Dean prepared the solution known as 'ethyl ester' from the chaulmoogra tree," said Dr. Lavindar in Washington tonight.

"One difficulty now lies in obtaining this rare oil in adequate quantities. The chaulmoogra tree is a native of India. To obtain sufficient number of trees the federal government is sending Prof. Joseph F. Rock, of the department of agriculture to Burma. He will bring back seeds and slips, which will be set out in government nurseries in Hawaii and elsewhere."

Reviews Baseball Situation.

(Halifax Echo)

Since the word has come through that Brownell has been seized for a big league trial, there are not quite so many talkers of pro ball down this way with imported men from across the line. If scouts in west direction pass up their own men and take a lamp at our athletes it is pretty safe that the amateurs in this section are making things faster than they are over there. We have no doubt a number of ball players in this section who will never look good to a scout, but there are others who are much faster than the so called high school players we hear so much about. If next season does produce pro ball in certain sections, as the boosters of it predict, it will not have to be played by importations as used to be the case. A few new players would doubtless be a good investment, but we have the stuff to play good all right here—amateur or pro.

HOCKEY.

Moncton For Amateur Hockey.

(Moncton Transcript)

Moncton is preparing for hockey this winter. Already a team has about been lined up, to be known as the "Arcadians" instead of the "Victors", as known last winter. A second team is invited to join the league, so that Moncton may be represented by two hockey teams this ensuing winter. Practice is to commence as soon as possible and it is probable that a six team league will be the vogue in 1920-1921. That pro hockey is dead here is a water is quite assured. It is said, it is said, have won little taste for much money expenditure. In connection with athletics in this city, A. E. McNutt, local jeweler and former manager of the M. P. B. A. U. of Canada, has handed in his resignation to the association, stating that business reasons have compelled him to devote his whole time to business. A successor to Mr. McNutt has not yet, it is said, been appointed.

ATHLETIC.

Amateur and Professional.

The Halifax Echo says: "The amateur-pro situation still hangs in the balance, but there has been no definite move made to solve the problem. The pro sympathizers see in the probable casting forth of a number of fast players their chance to stage professional contests with the coming of next season. They are of the opinion that the public would sooner support the pro than the amateur and are liable to make the attempt next season. "Amateurism is in a much stronger position than it has occupied for many years, and is determined to rid itself of any sign of the money hunting athlete. According to rumor A. W. Covey of the M. P. B. A. U. will clear the situation up this fall and divide the sheep from the goats. Every athlete in question will be given the most careful investigation before his final status is passed on."

CARPENTIER FETED AT I. S. C. LUNCHEON

French Champion Says He Is Here to Fight, and Will Try to Sign with Dempsey.

(N. Y. Times)

Georges Carpentier, premier heavyweight of Europe, will be ready to sign a contract for a bout with Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, before he returns to his native France, if the inducements are attractive and the world's champion is agreeable to a match.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Carpentier's manager, delivered himself of this declaration yesterday at the luncheon tendered Carpentier and his fiery little manager by the International Sporting Club at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The exultant Descamps made the announcement in the course of an address to a distinguished gathering of Carpentier's admirers, followers and officials of boxing. Descamps' address was made in French and followed by a speech by Carpentier in his native tongue.

His hair dishevelled with the shake of his head as he put energy into his remarks, his face alight with the expression characteristic of him when he is in heated conversation, Descamps, forgetting evidently that there were but a few listeners who readily understood his rush of words, reflected an earnestness to impress upon his audience that Carpentier was sincere in his eagerness for a bout with the holder of the world's championship title.

Promoter Jack Curley, who is Carpentier's American representative, took copious notes during the address, and when Descamps concluded, translated the French manager's remarks.

"Georges does not fear," Mons. Dempsey," Curley relayed. "He is ready to sign for a bout and may do so before we leave again for France. We expect to return home in three or four months, and if, before we leave, we sign a contract for a bout against Dempsey, we will return again to honor this signature."

The French manager expressed his appreciation of the reception tendered Carpentier on his return here and explained the details which led up to the match against Battling Levinsky which the International Sporting Club has scheduled for Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on October 12.

The critic leveled at Carpentier during his movie and circus activities here last, compelled Carpentier to seek a release from his contract with Promoter Curley for the purpose of engaging in a bout. Carpentier was advised against this course at that particular time. Descamps remarked that Dempsey was not available just then and began looking for a suitable opponent. Battling Levinsky was advanced as a worthy foe and the articles for the bout were tentatively signed before Carpentier and Descamps departed for France. The pair maintained communication with Curley and carried the negotiations to a definite conclusion shortly before La Lorraine left Havre.

"Georges will begin immediately to condition himself for the Levinsky bout," added Descamps. "He will work at Freddie Welsh's farm in Summit, N. J., and will live a short distance away from the farm. Georges prefers the simple life to the big city hotels. Besides, he will be surrounded by a home-like atmosphere, for Marcel Thomas' sister is the hostess and will provide the cooking to which Georges is accustomed. With us will be Thomas, Charley Ledoux and Gus Wilson, making our own little family."

"When I face Dempsey, it will be the same. I have no fear of him, and like every other fighter, an confident of myself. What terrifies him is to make any one afraid of him? He is but human. He has two hands and two feet like myself, so that he is only natural. When I meet him it will be the same as with any other boxer. I will hope and strive for victory."

Immediately after the luncheon Carpentier, with Manager Descamps and Promoter Curley, journeyed to Brooklyn. They returned here last evening and after a short visit in the city will depart for Summit, where Carpentier plans to begin training today for the Levinsky bout.

REASONS FOR DEFEAT OF THE SHAMROCK IV.

Member of Crew Resents Designer's Statement That Resolute Was Better Manned.

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 31.—When Mr. Nicholson, the designer of Shamrock IV, arrived in England he placed the superior seamanship of the Resolute's captain and crew among the reasons for the challenger's failure to life the America's Cup.

Members of the Shamrock's crew who have returned to England, resent the slur which they consider Mr. Nicholson has thrown upon their efficiency as yachtsmen and declare that the Shamrock's faulty handling was largely due to the interference of Mr. Nicholson.

Arthur Diaper one of the crew, said in an interview with The Associated Press correspondent it was a case of too many cooks and he said that on the only occasion Captain Burton was free from interruption and advice the Shamrock. He claimed that all of the crew felt convinced that had a professional skipper been in full command Shamrock would have won the first three races. He declared that Shamrock was very awkward to handle, and her canvas was about three times as heavy as that of the Resolute. The halliards were arranged in such a manner that the work of the men was made extremely difficult. What could be done by ten men on the 23-meter Shamrock required 90 to do on Shamrock IV. On one occasion in setting the mainsail they had 86 men on the halliard and could not move the sail.

"In fact," said Diaper, "I have never before seen such heavy canvas on a racing yacht." And then, on the return of the yacht to City Island, after the races, he found a complete set of light racing canvas for Shamrock IV stored in Jacob's yard.

"Another fault," continued Mr. Diaper, "was the constant changing of gear which was in progress throughout the period of the races. The topmast was changed three weeks and eventually they finished with the original one."

NEW STRONG MAN ARISES IN CHINA

Chang-Tso-lin Said to Hold
All Manchuria in the Hollow of His Hand.— Regarded as Genius.

Since the death of Yuan Shi-Kai Chinese affairs have been in much the same disordered condition as those in Mexico since Porfirio Diaz was forced to abdicate, says the Toronto Mail and Empire. The land is in anarchy, with the authority of the central government in Peking being derided by millions of Chinese. Nor is there any prospect that the existing government will be able to extend its powers. The country is being ruled by the Tuchus, and there are hundreds of them, all self-appointed. A Tuchun, strictly speaking, is a military officer with rank corresponding to that of major-general in charge of a division, and his authority should be subordinate to that of the civil governor. But as a result of the conditions which have existed since the rebellion of 1911 the Tuchus have been the only source of authority and so have set themselves up in great number and are governing China from their little thrones. The Tuchus are not unanimously or perhaps even generally bandits or anarchists. They are maintaining some sort of order. Only they refuse to recognise the authority of the central government at Peking, and since this authority over the greater part of China is non-existent, they may be justified.

The Super-Mandarin.
The most powerful of these Tuchus, the man who has all Manchuria in the hollow of his hand, and is today master of more territory and a greater number of Chinese than any man since the death of Yuan Shi-Kai was recently the subject of an article by Mr. J. O. Bland, a correspondent of the London Times. Though dwelling in distant Mukden, Mr. Bland found that the name of Chang-Tso-lin was known in every part of the empire. The other Tuchus agree that he is easily the most powerful and the ablest among them and many declare that he is the man fit to step into the shoes of Yuan Shi-Kai, who was the Quite likely; both the Ingersoll and the Ford keep running in all kinds of weather and with all sorts of hard usage; and they both are noted for getting you there on time.

It was quantity production which made the Ingersoll possible, and quantity production keeps down the price of the Ingersoll—and the Ford.

Both are better, handsomer, more efficient than they used to be—and they never were anything but good.

And you'll notice that all the jokes about either are good-humored boosts—affectionate, friendly banter.

Make all the fun of the Ingersoll you like; you know it's truthful, good looking, durable and quietly efficient. Like the Ford, the best value of its kind in the world.

which strayed at the time of the revolution. Nevertheless, with co-operation among the Tuchus the feat could be accomplished. The Chinese people themselves are willing to set up a government that will maintain order. So anxious indeed are they for the suppression of disorder that they will readily obey any leader who can do this much for them, no matter what little claim to rulership he may possess.

Chang-Tso-lin.
Chang sin his forty-seventh year, being comparatively young. Like most of the leading Chinamen of the day, his former history is somewhat obscure and it is more than hinted that he is a reformed bandit, though how far reformed is a matter of conjecture. In the interview he had with the chief Tuchun, Mr. Bland was greatly impressed by the fine intellect of Chang. He says, "He has the subtle instinct of the super-mandarin, which tells him just how far he may go without undue risk in any direction, and in the matter of official trading his countrymen (no man judges) regard him as a positive genius." It also was plain that Chang had an understanding of Chinese character, the equal to that possessed by the late Empress Dowager, ever a model of Oriental statecraft. Though dwelling in splendor, Chang wears sober civilian attire, and gives the general impression rather of a scholar and dilettante of the classical type than of the foreful man of affairs, and powerful military leaders. He has a polished manner, and as a diplomatist should take high rank, but it is because of other qualities that he has become the chief figure in China.

Banking Up-to-Date.
The wisdom of the serpent and the keen quality of self-reliant courage are responsible for Chang's success, Mr. Bland continues—

"He manages his own bank, his own farms, has a finger in every commercial enterprise, and his influence is felt, like a live wire, throughout the three provinces. As banker and Tuchun combined, his methods of dealing with his own competitors in local finance appear to be somewhat drastic. It is reported, for example, that when certain local banks engaged in a combine to control exchange in a manner unduly profitable to themselves, Chang called a meeting of those chiefly concerned, and in his role of Tuchun gently intimated that any further attempt to corner the cash market would result in the summary execution of the offenders. The stock of the Tuchun's own bank has been a good market ever since. In the bean trade, the rice trade, the timber business, and the operations of the railway transport companies the supple hand of Chang-Tso-lin pulls the strings and his privy purse takes toll. Not only in Manchuria but at Peking and drawn south his commissaries are many and active. If report speak truly, they play a leading part in the speculative but profitable opium traffic.

The trade and industry of the three

Manchurian provinces pay tribute to him and the tolls he takes must be prodigious. Nevertheless the Manchurians are willing to pay, because Chang gives them protection for life and property, and has relieved them of the expense of making contribution to the central government at Peking. Chang-Tso-lin has a large army, and it is well paid. He knows that it only by playing fairly with his troops can he maintain himself in power. He sees that the soldiers are well fed, and he runs his own commissariat. Under this self-appointed despot the people of Manchuria are more contented and more prosperous than they have been for many years. They are not concerned about the fate of the wonderful constitution that was drawn up for them several years ago and which would in course of time have given the Chinese people complete self-government and democratic institutions. Chang may have been a bandit at one time; he may now be amassing one of the greatest fortunes in China, but he has banished lesser bandits from Manchuria, and would probably banish them from all China if he had the power; and the power may yet be his.
