

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

"Skinner's Dress Suit" Tonight

Imperial Presents Well-Known Story Also Biarri, History of War, Drew Comedy and Mutt and Jeff

One of the most poignant and true-to-life comedy fictions of the decade is a little book of about 115 pages entitled "Skinner's Dress Suit," or the transformation of a family by the introduction of a "snop and snuff" outfit. It was such a hit as a story that Bryant Washburn, the athletic matinee idol, was engaged to picture it. Tonight and tomorrow the Imperial shows this picture and it is a true delight. Come and see the gospel of proper clothes exemplified. The travel scenery which change in splendour, no less than fashionable Biarri on the Bay of Biscay where smart France has its highest outings. The History of the War series deals with France on the water, in the air and on the land in the earlier stages of the strife. There are English naval pictures, too. Mutt & Jeff and the Drew family will supply the comedy.

FINE FEATURES AT THE GEM

Two fine feature pictures tonight at 7:45 and 8:45 at the Gem. "The Eagle's Eye" provides a gripping episode of two reels and Marion Davies, Broadway's beauty and Joseph Kilgour, a St. John stage favorite, are in a five-reel production, "Runaway Romance," a charming clean Gypsy romance. Seven reel programme only five and ten cents.

ALONG THE RIVER

A caption critic has said that there has been an at Public Landing there is something about it in the newspapers. Well, what could be more natural, when we consider the price of eggs? The Valley Railway construction train is now running up and down past the Landing, giving the people some real evidence of progress with the work. Down the Merceps the big crane that had been lifted up yesterday. All along the line there is activity. The children's masquerade at the pavilion at the Landing last Wednesday night drew the crowd of the season. On Thursday evening a party went up from the city on the Gensera and back at midnight. On Saturday evening there was a larger attendance than usual of visitors from points along the river. Hay has begun, and is a good crop. Wild raspberries are now ripe and plentiful. The city market is full of blueberries and strawberries.

Passengers on the Gensera this morning had great bonanza of golden-rods. A reminder that the summer is passing. Great numbers of motor boats were on the river Saturday and yesterday, and every pretty beach has its visitors, transient or for the holiday season.

Shoe shining privileges on the New York ferry sold for $8,000.

FREDERICTON BOY STRUCK BY TRAIN Fredericton, July 29.—The incoming express train on the Fredericton branch of the C. P. R. this morning struck Jerry Myhrall, the young son of Joseph H. Myhrall, night porter at the Barker House, and injured him severely. The boy was taken to the Victoria Hospital but up to this afternoon the extent of his injuries was not known. The back of the boy's head was much cut but it is not thought the skull is fractured as he was able to walk to the accident, although not aware of what was going on about him. The index finger was cut off at his hand.

ITALIAN STEAMER SUNK Rio Janeiro, July 28.—The Italian steamer Giuseppe Garibaldi, 4,000 tons, has been destroyed by an explosion 200 miles off the Brazilian coast. Six members of the crew were killed by the explosion and the remainder were rescued by the English ship Ardrange. The officers of the vessel have reported to the Italian consul here that the explosion was caused by a dynamite bomb, which is believed to have been placed on board the ship by Germans.

KEEP THE SCHOOLS GOING The Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior is strenuously urging the necessity of keeping the public schools in full being during the war. The needs of education to be greater than ever in the years after the conflict is concluded.

From H. A. Fisher, commissioner of education, comes the following message: "Every public officer entrusted with the support of public schools should know that Europe's lesson to the United States as a result of the war is to keep the schools going, to make education during and after the war better and more effective than it has ever been. There are before us now just two matters of supreme importance: To win the war for freedom, democracy, and peace, and to fit our schools and our children for life and citizenship in the new era which the war is bringing in."

The message from France, as reported by John H. Finley, commissioner of education of New York state is: "Do not let the needs of the hour, however demanding, or its burdens, however heavy, or its perils, however threatening, or its sorrows, however heartbreaking, make you unmindful of the defense of tomorrow, of those disciplines through which the individual may have freedom, through which an efficient democracy is possible through which the institutions of civilization can be perpetuated and strengthened. Conserve, endure taxation and privation, suffer and sacrifice, to assure to those whom you have brought into the world that it shall be not only a safe but a happy place for them."

From H. A. Fisher, president of the English board of education, is the subjoined statement: "At the beginning of the war, when first the shortage of labor became apparent, a raid was made upon the schools, a great raid, a successful raid, a raid started by a large body of unreflecting opinion. The result of that raid upon the schools has been that hundreds of thousands of children in this country have been prematurely withdrawn from school, and have suffered an irreparable damage, a damage which it will be quite impossible for us hereafter adequately to repair. That is a very grave and distressing symptom."

POLICE MAGISTRATE BEFORE COMMON COUNCIL TO ANSWER CHARGES

Reviews His Career in Office, Denies Charges and Makes Counter Charges Against Commissioner of Public Safety

He said he was sorry to live to see the day when he would hear such a mean insinuation as to his leniency in certain cases. He said he had a list of all those to whom he had been lenient and they did not all come from St. Malach's hall. With reference to trouble with the chief of police, he denied that he had ever had a discourteous word with that official, and further denied that there was ever any trouble between him and Chief Marshall or Chief Clark.

With reference to the legal part of the charges, he said he was willing to leave them to Chief Justice Hazen, Chief Justice McLeod and Chief Justice McKewen and allow them to decide the issue. He read a charge that he had trouble with the legal fraternity, with a possible exception, and said that statement was so unfair and unwarranted that he would not deign to consider it.

With reference to the withdrawal of Court Sergeant Hastings, he said that he had never spoken to him about the matter and maintained that there was not a particle of discord between him and the chief. Returning to the charge of leniency, he said that some one else had been lenient. He pointed out that only two persons had the authority to accept a deposit, namely the chief of police and himself. He said that prisoners had been allowed to go by commissioners, who had no authority to do so.

Commissioners Bullock and Hillard asked if they had ever done so and Magistrate Ritchie said that he had never seen the police building, but he had been allowed to go by commissioners, who had no authority to do so.

In conclusion he thanked the members for their patient hearing and said that all he wanted at their hands was fair play. He told about his appointment as magistrate of the city in the year 1883, at which time he was a member of the government, and of the opposition encountered in the legislature when a bill was presented recommending that he be given a salary of $8,000 per annum. He mentioned the many duties which the office involved, and then dwelt upon the matter of the town of Portland with the city proper, and yet the government cut down the salary recommended to $2,000 for the first five years, and $2,700 for the following five. He enumerated the financial loss he sustained by this action of the legislature and asked that these things be taken into consideration. He then dwelt upon charges made against him by the Commissioner of Public Safety, taking point for point and replying to each, and then dwelt upon the matter of the salary recommended to $2,000 for the first five years, and $2,700 for the following five. He enumerated the financial loss he sustained by this action of the legislature and asked that these things be taken into consideration.

DERRICK REPLACED The large derrick, being used on the Nerepis bridge on the Valley railway, which toppled over on Tuesday of last week when lifting a large girder, has been placed back on the track. The temporary crossing which collapsed when the derrick fell is just about completed, and by tomorrow everything will be in readiness to go ahead with the work. The large girder which fell at the time of the accident and which lies with one end on the pier and the other in the water, has not been moved. The work of placing the girder will probably commence on Wednesday.

REPORT FORWARDED Judge Chandler of Moncton, who acted as chairman on the arbitration board between the Street Railway Union and the New Brunswick Power Company said this morning that he had sent forward to the minister at Ottawa last week the report of the arbitration. The report recommends that the wages of all those employees of the New Brunswick Power Company who are members of the Street Railway Union should have an advance of twenty per cent over their present wage, the advance to begin from April 1, 1918, and to last until six months after the termination of the present war.

LARGE INCREASES IN SAVINGS DEPOSIT (J. M. Robinson & Sons, Private Wire Telegram)

New York, July 29.—Investment institutions report that many savings banks are showing surprising increases in deposits and that there is hardly any doubt that the wage-earning classes, receiving more than ever before, are able to save something notwithstanding the higher cost of living. This is looked upon as a most favorable financial forecast as a most favorable promise for the future.

Predictions are being made in well-informed quarters that the railroads will earn in the aggregate a large net return this year, showing a gain over the previous year, because of higher freight rates and new economies. The large increase in new equipment coming into their possession toward the end of the year will have an immediate favorable effect on earnings.

Large subscription to the next liberty loan is being predicted in well-informed circles on account of the fine military showing by the Allies and this country in France, with its promise of German defeat sooner than expected. There are very sanguine expressions emanating from important channels on this subject.

GREAT BASEBALL GAME IN MONCTON

1st Depot Battalion Team Wins Interesting Contest by a Score of 10 to 4—Sensational Fielding Featured Game

The baseball team of the 1st Depot Battalion achieved new laurels last Saturday when they invaded the town of Moncton and defeated the home team by a score of 10 to 4. The game was a keenly contested and was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic gathering of fans. The day was one of the warmest that struck the railway town this year, and at times the heat was almost unbearable. Sweating under the rays of the sun, both teams struggled hard for victory and, as the game progressed, it was evident that the soldier boys had an edge on their opponents.

A feature of the game was the cone back of Dr. Joseph Donnelly. He was at his favorite position (first base) and his playing was of the same stellar brand that he displayed when he was a member of the local Marlathons and other organizations. His hitting was also good and he is a valuable asset to the team.

Lieutenant Veniot also played a great game, and some of his stops at the hot corner won the admiration of the large gathering of fans.

The other members of the team acquitted themselves in a most commendable manner and won new laurels. Gibbons at shortstop, Kelly behind the bat, Riley at second and the three fielders put up a great game despite the intense heat.

The box score and summary of the game follows:

Depot Battalion. A B R H P O A E Gibbons, c. s. 4 1 3 0 0 Donnelly, 1st b. 3 2 1 4 0 Thomas, 1st b. 6 1 2 1 0 McAleese, c. f. 5 0 8 1 0 Brown, 2nd b. 4 1 3 1 0 Veniot, 3rd b. 4 1 3 1 0 Kelly, c. 4 1 2 1 2 Doyle, c. f. 4 1 3 0 1 Riley, 2nd b. 5 0 2 2 1 Hanson, p. 5 1 3 1 3 48 10 19 27 12 1

Four Years of War Sees The Turn of the Tide

A Review of the World Conflict Since Its Inception

First Declaration, by Austria Against Serbia, on July 28, 1914—Fourth Year Marked by Events Big With the Fate of Nations—Test of Strength of Might Versus Right Now at Climax

Events big with the fate of nations have marked the fourth year of the war, which now comes to a close. It has been a twelve months of alternate hope and concern for the powers of the Entente Alliance.

It was on July 28, 1914, that Austria declared war on Serbia, beginning the great struggle. During the past twelve months there have been occurrences that in some aspects have been of even greater import in their influence upon the world than those in the preceding period. Russia's collapse, the Italian defeat last autumn, the stupendous drives of the Germans against the British armies, and the wonderful defensive operations that have held the world breathless. But, transcending the significance any event in the actual theatres of the war, America's full participation in the conflict, involving the transportation overseas of more than a million men to engage in it still remain for all time the great outstanding feature of the fourth year of the struggle. It is upon America that the Entente is relying for the men and resources to turn the tide to assume large proportions. A few regulars and some national guardsmen had been sent to France, but most of the big military training camps were still being built and the men selected as the first contingent to be called to the colors were still in citizens' clothes. Until the first day of August 1917 the total number of American soldiers taken overseas was 26,967.

Russia was won out by the war and that the Allies must shoulder the burden thereof.

Seven days later Kerensky was deposed by the Bolsheviks. The fall and flight of Kerensky was the signal for Germany and Austria to enter into peace negotiations with Russia. On August 15, 1917, the Russian government was overthrown and the Russian people were again free to choose their own government. The Russian Revolution had begun.

On August 15, 1917, September 22, 1917, October 28, 1917, November 28, 1917, December 18, 1917, January 4, 1918, February 18, 1918, March 3, 1918, April 11, 1918, May 24, 1918, June 27, 1918.

On July 1, 1918, there were 14,644 American marines in France, bringing the total number of American troops in that country and Italy up to 1,019,116.

During the recent fighting in France the work of the American soldiers has compared favorably with that of other fighting men in the world. They have held sectors here and there along the front. They are in Alsace and northward in the Lorraine sector. The famous St. Mihiel sector is held by Americans. They are in the Meuse sector, at Cantigny and Grivesnes they have given proof of their soldierly qualities.

The Allies have been called upon to face two great offensives during the past year. The first of these came last October in Italy and the second in France began on March 21. The German drives in France, while separated by periods of a few days, were really one continuous offensive. The German drives in Italy were also separated by periods of a few days, but they were really one continuous offensive. The German drives in Italy were also separated by periods of a few days, but they were really one continuous offensive.

With the greater part of her territory occupied by the Germans, Austria and Bulgaria, and her government driven from Bucharest to Jassy, and with the Russian Bolsheviks openly hostile toward her, Roumania found herself in a critical situation. Roumanian troops during February and March advanced into the Ukraine, but they were hemmed in by the enemy forces and obliged to withdraw. At last, on May 6, Roumania signed a treaty of peace with the Central Powers.

By this treaty Roumania lost the province of Dobruja, on the south side of the Danube, which she had received after the Balkan war, and agreed to a rectification of her western frontier. Economic concessions also were made in return for the return of her lost colonies. The period between December 1, 1917, and March 1, 1918, may be called the period of peace tentatives. It is true that before the end of the summer Pope Benedict made an appeal to the warring nations to enter into peace negotiations, the basis for four earlier before the restoration of Belgium and Serbia and the return to Germany of her lost colonies. This appeal, made on August 18, was answered by President Wilson on August 23, when the president announced that the German government as constituted could not be believed and that the United States was ready to enter into negotiations when the German people showed they desired peace and when they spoke through any authority which would be representative of them.

The German answer to the Pope's appeal reached the Vatican on September 21. It expressed hope that further warfare could be averted through the good offices of the Pope, but declined to enter into any engagement to meet what the Allies had declared to be their minimum war aims.

German Peace Offers.

German efforts to secure a peace which would leave to Germany all the fruits of her victory gained through Russia's collapse, and with Belgium and large portions of France to be used as pawn at the council table, began with the address of Count Czernin, then Austrian foreign minister, at Brast-Litovsk, on December 26. The keynote of the address was general peace without annexations and indemnities.

On January 8, President Wilson, addressing Congress, said that the United States must know for whom the German rulers were speaking. The address was a complement to an address made on January 5 by David Lloyd George, the British premier.

To these addresses reply was made by Imperial Chancellor von Hertling of Germany, and Count Czernin. The latter was pacific and conciliatory in tone, while the former, alluding to "the German sword," showed he was speaking for the militarists of the Germanic powers.

the Pieve, swollen by rains in the mountains, completed the overthrow of Austria's hopes. After suffering terrible losses the Austrians retreated to the eastern bank of the Pieve from the Montello plateau to the Adriatic.

Among the year's operations of comparatively lesser importance were the British drives in Palestine and Mesopotamia; the Turkish advance in the Caucasus; the French and Italian offensive in Albania; and the fighting in the German African colonies.

Jerusalem captured by the British on Dec. 10, and shortly afterward the fall of Jericho was announced. Since the taking of Jericho the British forces in Palestine had not been active on the offensive.

General Maude led the British troops into Bagdad on March 11, and shortly afterward died from cholera. His forces pushing further up the Tigris until intense heat of summer terminated operations.

The Turks after the collapse of Russia took advantage of the demoralized condition of the Russian forces to advance through the Caucasus and obtain possession of the regions subsequently ceded them by the treaty of Brest-Litovsk.

The French and Italian drive in Albania began on July 6 and is still in progress.

During the year British forces in Africa drove German forces before them in German East Africa and in German Southwest Africa and finally compelled them to disperse or surrender. This took form from Germany the last of the vast German colonies held by her when the war began.

Submarine Warfare.

The past year has been marked by a gradual decline of submarine sinkings compared with the number of ships being built by the Entente Allies. The operations of the British and American destroyers have spread terror among the "wrecks of the sea," while a great mine field completed in May by the British navy covered virtually the whole North Sea into an area closed against U-boat activities.

The harbors of Zebrughe and Ostend, from which German submarines had been operating against Entente shipping, were either entirely or made virtually valueless as submarine bases by daring naval air raids by the British in May.

U-Boats in American Waters.

German submarines visited American waters in June and sank at least three ships, the field of U-boat operations being extended to the New York coast south to the Virginia Capes and easterly half way to the Bermudas.

The only United States transport lost while carrying troops to Europe was the Tuscania, which was torpedoed off the north coast of Ireland on Feb. 5 with a loss of 212 lives.

On the morning of March 21, the Germans began their attack from the vicinity of Arras, on the Western Front. The British held their line, and their heaviest columns against the British forces, under General Gough, did not break their lines. The British, with the French who were rushed up to the front, repulsed the German attack to crush the British and drive a wedge between them and the French.

This total shipping reported sunk since August 1, 1917, is more than 425,000 tons. Added to this the destruction of shipping the Allies have combined their ship-building capacity. The actual number of ships being launched and put into service has not been published. Official announcements have been made in the past few days that the number of ships being built is more than 100,000.

The year's fighting has entailed great losses for most of the belligerents. During the drive into Italy last October the German losses were reported at 200,000 men. The French and British losses were considerably smaller, as the Allies were fighting from entrenched positions.

The United States has floated three great Liberty loans. The proceeds of these loans have aggregated $1,815,000,000. Since the nation's total war cost to the United States, according to latest available figures, is $1,815,000,000, it is evident that the cost of the war is being met by the United States.

There have been numerous reports of disorders in the Balkans and elsewhere. In Austria and in the Balkans there has been reported from Germany and Austria many times during the past spring and summer and there is little doubt that the Slavic races of Austria are seething with discontent.

Recently disaffection was reported against the British in South Africa. It has apparently been stamped out.

One monarch died.

During the year one ruler of a belligerent country died. The death of the Sultan of Turkey was announced in June, subsequent reports intimating he had been murdered.

Since the collapse of Russia the Allied nations have sought in vain to assist the people who are being exploited by the Germans. French, British and American forces have been landed on the Murman or Kola peninsula, but they have not been able to intervene, however, being there only to protect Allied property which had been abandoned by the Russians.

In Siberia there is a well-defined anti-Bolshevik movement which has been built up around Czechoslovak prisoners of war who armed themselves and in the states have been set up there under General Horvath, president of the Chinese Eastern Railway. Japanese, British and American marines have been in the city of Vladivostok for months.

THE GERMAN RETREAT.

The German retreat continues. With fresh forces the enemy is able to prevent heavy losses in men, but is steadily compelled to give ground in the Marne salient.

Some of the stories told by German prisoners show that the policy of keeping the soldiers in ignorance of the facts is still pursued by the German high command.

A LESSON FROM GERMANY.

In a recent speech delivered at Galt, Ontario, Sir John Willson pleaded for present preparation in Canada for conditions that will exist after the war.

THE AMERICAN ARMY.

Of the American troops in France the Bangor Commercial says: "Today there are more than a million American soldiers in France, with perhaps half of them on the fighting line."

Extensive Gloves.

One of the unusual features of the fall trade in leather gloves for both men and women in New York is said to be that many small retailers on the lower east side of that city and in similar sections of other cities have taken quite a few of the best grades of gloves.

Allies Driving Germans Out of The Marne Pocket

(Updated War Lead by Associated Press.) The Franco-American troops, continuing their pressure on the Germans in retreat from the Marne, have reached and crossed the Ourcq River and penetrated the town of Fere-en-Tardenois, one of the great German supply bases for the enemy troops inside the Soissons-Rheims Salient.

On the extreme wings of the gradually decreasing pocket—near Soissons and Rheims—the enemy, heavily reinforced and including practically his ground, realized that success there would result in a general crumbling of his plans of defence against the locking-up of his entire armies inside the big bag.

DEATH OF INFANT.
Friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Mills of 54 Brook street will sympathize with them in the loss of their infant daughter, Irene May, whose death occurred on Sunday.

WAS ON HIS "MAKE"
When the detailed Halifax express mix-up Saturday evening delayed east-going suburbanites until a very late hour, an enterprising though voracious automobile liveryman appeared on the scene. He offered to take the people to their homes to the limit of his seating capacity. A party of Fair Vale residents, laden with parcels, started to tickle but the man held out for $2 per head. Quite naturally the Fair Vale folks stalled at this figure and decided to wait. Though it was 4 a. m. Sunday when they reached their country residences they had the satisfaction of not paying the exorbitant fee asked. To propel a big car to Fair Vale would not have cost more than two gallons of gas, a matter of eighty cents. Several automobilists took many of the delayed passengers home in their private cars. Other passengers stayed in town for the night.

BURIED TODAY.
The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Wannamaker took place this afternoon from her late residence, 118 St. Patrick street. Services were conducted by Mr. Boothroyd. Interment was made in Fernhill cemetery.

HORSE RACING BOOMS IN TOWN OF SUSSEX
Horse racing has taken quite a boom in the busy town of Sussex at the track, which was always considered a fast provincial course, has been graded up and made suitable under foot so that as good time, if not better, can be made upon it as on any other course in eastern Canada. In a very short while the grandstand is to be rebuilt and a judge's stand erected. A vigorous committee of horsemen have the matter in hand.

THIS TRAFFIC POLICEMAN JUSTIFIED HIS EXISTENCE
There was a regular New York rush of people strolling across the Haymarket square transfer crossing, Police-man Donohue had his heart and hands full. The East St. John and Glen Falls cars were jammed to suffocation going and coming, the city lines were also taken to the very doors with standers as well as horse-drawn and auto vehicles kept passing and re-passing in endless procession. At one time the congestion of transfer passengers and vehicles was so great it took almost five minutes to distribute the people and teams. It was dark at the time and the traffic officer was like unto a football umpire, watching in all directions. It was refreshing to see the systematic manner in which the situation was handled and to know that in one particular at least St. John is "where."

DISTRICT MEETING I. O. G. T.
The St. John District Lodge I. O. G. T. met at Fairfield on Saturday night. Members gathered there early Saturday afternoon and an interesting game of ball was played by a picked team from the lodges. The Fairville picked team were the batteries for Fairville, and Brown and Stockford for the city team. The district session was held in the evening, when District Chief Templar R. A. Brown presided. Seven candidates had the district lodge degree conferred upon them.

Passenger Liner Exchanged Shots With Super-Submarine—Also Fired on U. S. Underwater Boat

An Atlantic Port, July 28—(By the Associated Press)—Passengers on a British liner arriving here today said that last Friday their ship gave battle to a German U-boat 600 miles off the New Jersey coast, and last night fired three shots at what was believed to be an American submarine. Apparently neither craft was hit.

The first he said, came on July 19, two days after the merchantmen, convoyed by destroyers, left a British port. The booming of guns and the shrieking of whistles brought the passengers to the deck.

Mr. Butt said that the ship met no more submarines until last Friday at noon, when 700 miles off the New Jersey coast the call to quarters was again sounded, and the ship's guns began firing at an object apparently several miles away.

"This was a super-submarine," said Mr. Butt. "It made no attempt to come aboard, but after firing solid shells which fell short at least 1,000 yards, began to fire shrapnel."

The exchange of shots lasted about forty-five minutes, according to Mr. Butt, who said that the U-boat then submerged and was not seen again. At the same time, he said, another submarine engaged a British freighter in the same waters and it was thought the U-boat was sunk.

"We got our next shock last night," he said. "It seemed as if a big submarine broke water not three miles away, and at once our gunners fired three shots at the boat, while our commander signalled: 'Who are you?'"

"The shots fell close to the boat and we could see the flutter of flags, but no sign of a flag to denote the nationality of the U-boat. Finally our commander signalled to the gun crews to cease firing, and we came on, leaving the submarine on the surface. Rumor on board had it that the latest U-boat was an American."

SPECIAL! SPECIAL!

Why not have your morning cup of Coffee prepared in the most scientific way and served in its most palatable form, when you can purchase a two-quart Aluminum Percolator from us on Wednesday, July 31, for $1.89. This is less than half the usual price of similar articles, and they are thus placed within the reach of all.

As a matter of fact, they will soon save their cost in material used, for it is well known that every bit of the strength of the coffee is extracted by the percolating process, and a given quantity of coffee will go much farther than when boiled in the old-fashioned way. Only on sale for one day, and our limited supply will probably not last long.
