ANOTHER V. C.

The king has been graciously pleased to signify his intention to confer the decoration of the Victoria cross on Lieutenant F. A. Maxwell, D. E. O., Indian staff corps, attached to Robert's light horse, whose claims have been submitted for his majesty's approval, for his conspicuous bravery at Korn Spruit.

Lieutenant Maxwell was one of three officers not belonging to "Q" battery, royal horse artillery, specially mentioned by Lord Roberts as having shown the greatest gallantry and disregard of danger in carrying out the self-imposed duty of saving the guns of that battery during the affair at Korn Spruit on March 31, 1900. This officer went out on five different occasions and assisted to bring in two guns and three limbers, one of which he abandoned. During a previous campaign (the Chitral expedition of 1895) Lieutenant Maxwell displayed gallantry in the removal of the body of Lieutenant-Colonel F. D. Batty, corps of guides, under fire, for which, though recommended, he received no reward.

PINED THE LOVER. A singular case came last week before a Vienna magistrate. A post-card was sent at Christmas to a married woman here by one of her former admirers, a railway clerk. The lady was addressed as "darling" and "honey-dew," and the card was signed, "Thy Fussy Cat." The husband, who brought the charge, said he considered these familiarities insulting to himself and his wife. The magistrate condemned the amatory clerk to pay a fine of 50, and said that such words addressed to a married woman upon an open card were liable to misinterpretation by all persons through whose hands the card had passed, and therefore came within the meaning of the law concerning personal honor.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 25, 1901.

BISHOP SWEENEY.

The Right Reverend John Sweeney, first Bishop of St. John, has passed away, full of years, closing a life of unwearying and successful labor, crowned with the love and confidence of his own flock, and with the esteem and admiration of all men.

LET US HAVE HOPE.

The delegates, who went to Ottawa to press upon the government the claims of St. John concerning certain matters of great importance to the welfare of this port, appear to have been favorably impressed by the manner in which their representations were received. This is, of course, gratifying, but is no more than was to have been expected, since it is a habit of governments to treat delegates in a courteous manner. Politeness is an inexpensive commodity, and promises are easily made. The citizens will indulge the hope that the views of the delegation will have sufficient weight with the government to lead, this time, to definite results. A number of years ago Hon. Mr. Tarte, when in St. John, made certain promises with regard to the dredging to be done at the entrance to the harbor. Mr. Tarte was surprised and shocked at the manner in which the wicked Tories had neglected the interests of this port, and those who listened to him brought away the impression that great things might be expected of the minister of public works. If there are any promises or assurances which Mr. Tarte failed to give at that time, we do not recollect them. But nothing has been done. With respect to the dockload inspection bill, Hon. Mr. Dobell was told last year the injurious effect that law would have upon the lumber business at lower province ports. Representations were made to Ottawa and it was thought the matter had been finally settled. Let us hope that a settlement has now really been reached, and that Mr. Dobell will turn his attention to bottle-nosed ships, or some other subject, rather than mischievously meddling with the trade and interests of the maritime provinces. With regard to preferential trade, the delegation feel that they made out a strong case, and made an impression upon the members of the government. Let us also hope that this is true. At the time when Mr. Tarte was making promises—some years ago about the dredging at the entrance to the harbor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier talked to us fluently of the time when every pound of Canadian trade would be carried through Canadian channels. Sir Wilfrid had an excellent opportunity to promote that greatly desired end, but as yet he has failed to do so. We remember also a speech made by Mr. Blair in this city, in which he predicted that his railway policy would give the port of Portland, Maine, a little wholesome competition. There has been ample time since that speech was made for Mr. Blair to make good his words, but he has not done so. In fact the port of Portland, Maine, is not only worrying the port of St. John, but is threatening the port of Montreal. And Mr. Blair's friends to goods imported direct through Canadian ports, give to St. John and Montreal the business which should all come to these ports, but of which too large a share is handled through the port of Portland, Maine.

WHOS GOT THE PULL? The cruiser Curlew will go into commission in about two weeks. This therefore is the opportunity of the ambitious young man of the grit persuasion. For the Curlew must have a crew. The choice is not limited to toilers of the sea. It is not necessary to know a hawser from a handspike if you have the pull. The Star therefore urges its young liberal friends not to let the eel-grass grow under their feet, but to hasten to the party managers and get in line for a job. Perhaps a man who has only paddled a canoe on the Nashwaakasis might not have as good a chance as the one who has navigated a scow on the Grand Lake, but if he had a good ploughing record it ought to be of service. The Curlew ploughs the deep. The Star gives this information cheerfully, and trusts that its good offices will be appreciated. There is no charge.

The British flag is not the only one that is sometimes pulled down by ardent sons of Erin. A Spokane despatch of March 17th says: "Miscellaneous broke into the high school building last night, pulled down the American flag at half-mast in honor of ex-President Harrison, and substituted a large piece of green bunting. They nailed the outlet to the stars, so that several hours elapsed before the stars and stripes again floated."

BISHOP SWEENEY.

His Lordship Passed Peacefully to Rest at Nine O'clock this Morning.

A Sketch of the Life of the Distinguished Prelate and of His Successor Bishop Casey—Bishop Sweeney Was 80 Years Old.

The solemn tolling of the cathedral and of the other Roman Catholic churches this morning informed the citizens that his lordship, Bishop Sweeney, had gone to his rest. He had been falling for a long time, and suffered a stroke of paralysis on Saturday. Eighty strokes on the church bells this morning indicated the length in years as well as the termination of his earthly pilgrimage. On Saturday evening his lordship took a turn for the worse and gradually grew weaker until yesterday afternoon, when a slight improvement in his condition was noticeable. However, he failed to regain any strength, and towards evening again grew worse. In this condition he remained, without again rallying, until about nine o'clock this morning, when the end came and he passed peacefully away.

THE LATE BISHOP SWEENEY.

On April 15, 1869, Dr. Sweeney was consecrated Bishop of St. John at the cathedral by Archbishop Connolly. The assisting prelates were Dr. Fitzpatrick of Boston, Dr. McKinnon, of Arichat, N. S. The Archbishop and his assistants have long since gone to their reward. His lordship celebrated his silver jubilee in the episcopacy on July 15th, 1894. On his return home he was first stationed at St. John and afterwards transferred to Kings County, Chatham and Barachois. Dr. Dollard, the first bishop of N. B., died on August 29, 1851, and Father Sweeney was named administrator. The second bishop of the diocese was Dr. Connolly, of Halifax, and shortly after his arrival in 1852, he appointed Father Sweeney his vicar-general. On the death of Dr. Walsh, Archbishop of Halifax, in 1853, Bishop Connolly was appointed his successor, New Brunswick, Cameron, of Antigonish, N. S., and the late Bishop McIntyre, of Charlottetown, P. E. Island. At the Jubilee Mass the Metropolitan of Toronto preached an appropriate sermon. In 1859, Dr. Sweeney, accompanied by Mr. Connolly, V. G., attended the Catholic Congress at Baltimore. On the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination in 1854, his lordship declined to accept any celebration of the event. Of all the Canadian prelates who attended the vatican council at Rome 1869-70, Mgrs. Sweeney and Rogers alone survive. The Bishop of St. John has always displayed great interest in the welfare of the provinces and constantly advised his people to leave the crowded cities and seaports and to found homes for themselves where they could easily achieve independence. The flourishing settlement at Johnville, Carleton County, is striking evidence of his successful efforts in that direction. In that field of labor, he was ably assisted by Mgr. Connolly, who was then stationed at Woodstock. His lordship visited the Eternal City four times in the following years:—1865, 66, 1869-70, 1881 and 1895. On his return in 1870 he was presented with a team of horses and a handsome coach. On the other occasions he was also suitably remembered. The work of erecting the cathedral on Waterloo street was begun in 1852 by Bishop Connolly. In 1856 the walls were put up and the roof finished, and on Christmas Day the first mass was celebrated. During the next four years much headway was made, but considerable work remained to be done. When Bishop Sweeney became the Ordinary of the Diocese the main portion of the edifice was in a rough state, and temporary doors and windows were in the church. Since then side chapels have been erected, a spire built, heating apparatus provided, a new organ placed in position, a chime of bells put in the tower, and a great many other improvements made. The cathedral is of the pointed Gothic architecture of the thirteenth or fourteenth century. Its entire length is about 200 feet, and the transept is 115 feet wide. The body of the church, inside, is about 90 feet wide, and the ceiling is 75 feet high. The chapels are each 40 to 60 feet, and the building will hold 3,000 persons. The spire is 230 feet from the ground to the top of the cross. The cathedral with its massive proportions, standing on a commanding site, presents an imposing appearance. "The Last Supper," cut in Vermont marble, placed over one of the side doors, is a fine piece of sculptural art. What Bishop Sweeney was consecrated there were 18 prelates in the diocese; now there are 64 clergymen. The Sisters of Charity then resided in an old building on the church grounds. They have now charge of three large and commodious buildings: St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, Cliff street, for girls, St. Patrick's Industrial School, Silver Falls, for boys, and the Mater Misericordiae Hospital and Home Sydney street, for old people. In the orphan institution there are two hundred children to be looked after. A college was established at Memramcook, now called St. Joseph's University, and among its Alumni are some of New Brunswick's most distinguished sons. Three new churches have been erected in St. John, one of which, St. Peter's church, is in charge of the Redemptorist Order. In 1892 the Religious of the Good Shepherd opened a home in St. John and they are doing excellent work. All through the diocese, many churches, convents, and schools have been built and new missions established. On Dec. 5th official news was received from Rome by his lordship informing him that the Rev. T. Casey, of Fredericton, had been appointed Coadjutor Bishop of St. John, with the right of succession. With the assistance of Bishop Casey. For nearly half a century he has been a priest or bishop in his adopted city. His gentle disposition and kindness of heart were the qualities that endeared him to priests and people. While his lordship was on his way to St. John from his last visit to the Eternal City in 1895, a meeting of the Catholics of this city and vicinity was held in St. Malachi's Hall on Sunday, June 2nd, to welcome him home. The meeting was called to order by the present coadjutor bishop, who was then the rector of the cathedral. After a brief address by him, Richard O'Brien was chosen chairman of the meeting; Richard J. Walsh, secretary; and Thomas Gorman, treasurer. In response to calls, the Very Rev. Monsignor Connolly, the Administrator of the Diocese, made a very interesting speech, in which he referred to his long friendship with the bishop. He had known him, he said, since 1840, when they were at college together, and then and ever since he had looked to him for advice and guidance. He had never made a mistake when he followed him. The vicar general spoke in feeling terms of the humility, piety, ability and exat the same time was John Boyd, who, in after years, was one of the merchant princes, a senator of Canada, and died in 1893, whilst governor of New Brunswick. The future bishop commenced his ecclesiastical studies at St. Andrews College, Prince Edward Island, and completed them at Laval University, Quebec, where he was ordained in 1885, and at the same time the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception was consecrated as it was free of debt. Among those who participated in the different services were Archbishop Corrigan, of New York, the late Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax, N. S., the late Bishop McMahon, of Hartford, Connecticut, Bishop Rogers, of Chatham, ective skill of the bishop and he showed how, while his lordship did not burden the people with heavy or frequent calls for money, he had erected many churches and established splendid institutions. In many respects the vicar general said Bishop Sweeney resembled the esteemed Archbishop Williams, of Boston, and he was deserving of all honor from the people whose interests he had so long and so faithfully served.

BISHOP SWEENEY'S SUCCESSOR.

Rev. Thomas Casey is a New Brunswick by birth, and was born in St. Stephen, Charlotte County. He studied for several years at St. Joseph's university, was ordained about sixteen years ago, and has been connected with the cathedral parish the greater part of the time. On the appointment of the Rev. J. J. Walsh to the Holy Trinity parish in 1893, he became rector of the cathedral and discharged the duties there until Feb. 15th, 1897. The parish of Fredericton having been vacant on account of the death of its former pastor, the late Rev. J. C. McDevitt, Father Casey was transferred to the cathedral city. Since his arrival there he has displayed great zeal and energy, and has practically made a new church of St. Dunstan's. Whilst busy in church matters, he took an active interest in public matters. At the mass meeting, when the Fredericton contingent to the Transvaal was the guests of the assembly, he made a patriotic speech. During his many years' residence in St. John he was connected with several of the societies, and took an active interest in their welfare. The temperance societies in St. John and vicinity on Oct. 10, 1890, celebrated the centennial anniversary of Father Matthew, and the sermon preached by Father Casey on the apostle of temperance in the cathedral delighted the hearers. He was in charge of the cathedral when Bishop Sweeney paid his last visit to Rome, and the success of the grand reception to that prelate on his return here was greatly due to his efforts. During his rectorship here, Cardinal Gibbons, who had been visiting the maritime provinces, was a guest at the episcopal residence a few years ago. Owing to the absence of Bishop Sweeney from the city, the duty of entertaining that prince of the church devolved on Father Casey, and he performed the pleasant duty most satisfactorily.

NOTES. The body of Bishop Sweeney will be brought in from Silver Falls tomorrow and probably the funeral will take place on Friday. No definite arrangements will be made until the arrival of Bishop Casey, who left Fredericton this morning. The cathedral was consecrated July 15th, 1885, on which occasion four addresses were presented to Bishop Sweeney. The corner stone of the church of St. John the Baptist in lower cove was laid and blessed by the bishop July 6th, 1884. St. Peter's church, north end, was dedicated by his grace the Archbishop of Halifax, January 18th, 1885. No notice of Bishop Sweeney would be complete without some reference to the settlement of Johnville, Carleton Co., which was formed at his suggestion and largely colonized by his efforts. His lordship's gift to the cathedral on the occasion of his silver jubilee was a magnificent chime of ten bells, probably not surpassed on this continent. A large number of friends attended the funeral of the late William Tierney, which took place this morning. Requiem mass was celebrated in St. Peter's church at half-past nine o'clock by the Rev. J. Seelye, after which the body was taken to the New Catholic cemetery for interment. The following were the pall-bearers: John Walsh, John McGoldrick, F. Foster, T. J. Mahoney, Jos. Ritchie and John Allen. During the service the rector announced to those assembled the death of Bishop Sweeney, for which a requiem mass was sung and the bell of St. Peter's tolled.

TRIBUTE FROM THE FRIENDS OF HIS YOUTH. While his lordship was on his way to St. John from his last visit to the Eternal City in 1895, a meeting of the Catholics of this city and vicinity was held in St. Malachi's Hall on Sunday, June 2nd, to welcome him home. Albert Whipple, arrested for being one of a disorderly crowd, and charged with kicking the door of John Lee's shop on Brussels street, and also charged by John Lee with spitting in his face, appeared to answer for his amusement. The prisoner did not seem able to recollect anything about the affair, but Lee, who, by the way, possesses a most vivid imagination, and has the gift of eloquence in a far greater degree than most of his countrymen, spoke at length on the subject. When all doubts of the Celestial's claim to the rights and privileges of Christianity had been swept away by his evidently sincere answers to questions put by the magistrate and clerk, he was sworn about the manner of the Christian and stated that on Saturday night last, about eleven o'clock, the prisoner entered his shop, looking for laundry. As he failed to produce a check the laundry was not forthcoming, and to anger the prisoner began to kick the door and from his position of safety spat in Mr. Lee's face.

Whipple was fined $5, or twenty days.

The Brussels Street Baptist church will celebrate its fifty-first anniversary with a supper and concert Thursday. Extensive preparations are being made in order that the affair may be a success.

Arrangements are in progress for the Y. M. C. A. conference for association work, which will be held in this city in May. A representation from the central committee will be present and will practically be in charge.

A horse attached to a buggy was found wandering about Main street at one o'clock Sunday morning, and was taken to McCarthy's stable on Simonds street, where the owner claimed it a few minutes later.

The steamer Erna arrived today from the West Indies. She had four passengers for St. John: A. E. Longe and J. T. Greig, of Demerara, and Rev. Mr. Arnor and eGo. Boyne, of Bermuda.

Patrick McGoldrick's on Main street, which was badly damaged by fire last winter, when occupied by Wm. Howard as a grocery store, is being rapidly repaired and refitted. It will be opened in a few weeks as a dry goods establishment, under the management of Morris Jacobson.

Miss Palmer will show in the vestry of the Carlton Methodist church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock her lime-light views illustrating the work of the missionaries of the Woman's Missionary Society in China, Japan and British Columbia. All who attend will find them both interesting and instructive.

The people living around about Gilbert's lane are complaining because of the thoughtless manner in which the I. C. R. employes leave box cars in front of the electric light at the railway crossing. Because of this the crossing is dark and dangerous to pedestrians.

There is much complaint on the part of God-fearing people along the line of the Intercolonial railway about the almost incessant rumbling and whistling of Sunday trains, disturbing the Sabbath rest and the services in the churches.

At one o'clock this morning a horse and buggy were found wandering on Main street by Officer Cotway, who placed the team in a barn, where it was shortly after claimed by the owner, whose absence from his conveyance at this unseemly hour was not explained.

The police report the following men for doing business without a license: Thomas P. Dean, for selling fresh meat at his premises situated on the south side of City road; William Baxter, in premises on the corner of Pitt and Leinster streets; and Frederick Lockrie, for selling flowers made of paper on the public streets, he not being a rate-payer.

APPLICANTS FOR LIQUOR LICENSES

In the City of St. John for the License Year 1900-1.

Applications for liquor licenses closed today. There are about the same number as usual seeking retail licenses, while there is one more hotel applying for the privilege of selling. The commissioners will meet this afternoon and decide upon the date of meeting when the list will be considered.

SERMON BY REV. FR. GAYNOR.

Urging that There Be Less Narrow Sectarianism.

During service at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Broad street, yesterday morning, Rev. Father Gaynor made reference to the recent denominations at the Salvation Army Maternity Home.

"I do not regret the occurrence," said Father Gaynor, "but regard it as one beneficial, inasmuch as that it shows the clergyman of St. John, the denominations, an institution which all are supporting, but whose administrators retain narrow minded prejudices. While I believe in being broad and liberal, and meeting people on other denominational grounds than my own, and not permitting trifles or small things to effect me, and strive to cultivate the best feelings in this respect, yet, when it comes to standing up for a matter of principle, I will do so, for such a course even wins respect from those who oppose. There has been too much narrow sectarianism in St. John," he continued, "and in this I will not exempt ourselves. The result has been that in certain sections of the city we are as it were a people apart from the others, and this is a condition of affairs not at all desirable. It is a feeling that I would wish to see abolished, and, personally, so long as I continue to labor in St. John, shall endeavor to uphold these views, without any sacrifice of principle."

LOTS OF BANANAS.

The banana trade is now in full blast. With the opening of spring they are coming along in large lots. A. L. Goodwin received the first carload of the season on Saturday. This is the earliest date at which a full carload has ever been brought to St. John.

MINISTERS' MEETING.

The Methodist ministers met this morning. The chairman, Rev. Dr. Read, presided. There were present: Revs. Job Shenton, E. W. Weddall, Dr. Wilson, W. Penna, T. J. Deinstadt, Gen. Sellar, and W. L. Lodge of Hampton, and Messrs. Ayres and Gardiner. Reports of churches were given, and Mr. Lodge was called on and gave a very cheering report of his work at Hampton. An interesting discussion was then held on a paper previously read by Dr. Read.

VICE-REGAL PATRON.

Mayor Daniel received a communication today from Capt. J. E. Bernier, who is at the head of the proposed Canadian expedition to the north pole, stating that his excellency the governor general has been graciously pleased to become the patron of the expedition.

WALTER H. GOLDING

Enters the Wider Field of United States Journalism.

Walter H. Golding, who has been a member of the Star staff since it was established nearly seven months ago, left this morning for Worcester, Mass., to take a position on the staff of the Telegram of that city. Mr. Golding goes with the best wishes of every newspaper man in St. John, and of practically the whole citizenship, for no man on the press here had a wider circle of acquaintances. He has been employed in newspaper work for a number of years before joining the staff of this paper. He has the true instinct of a successful reporter, and the facility with which he gleaned interesting information of all sorts was really surprising. Mr. Golding has a bright and breezy style of writing local paragraphs that always makes them pleasant reading. He is not only very industrious, but his bright wit and gentlemanly demeanor won for him friends wherever he went. Personally he will be much missed by the members of the Star staff, and he goes to a wider field with their best wishes for his success. Not only that, but they know from the character of his work here that he has the ability to win success. The telephone in the Star office will droop for many a day before it finds one who can warm its wires as effectively as Mr. Golding, who had friends in every section of the city, and had the happy faculty of enlisting their aid in getting out copy.

Mr. Golding goes to the paper from which Geo. McLean recently went to a Boston journal. Worcester is a flourishing city, and affords the wide-awake newspaper man a good field. That Mr. Golding will sustain the high reputation St. John's young men have gained on the press of American cities is beyond question.

A SHINING EXAMPLE.

The Italian colony in St. John rejoiced in the death of a great man, sunshine and bright shoe-shine go together, and therefore the heart of John de Angelis is glad with the gladness of the vernal season. John—or Giovanni if you like—and his family are the Italian colony. Their home is in the building at the corner of Water street and Market square. You go up one flight of stairs from the Water street side and enter the work room, with its two windows looking out upon the square. As you sit in one of the four elevated chairs with foot rests—strictly up to date—and for a dime have your boots polished in elegant style, your eyes will perhaps wander to the ceiling, in admiration of the roses and foliage painted there; and it will dawn upon you that John is an artist in more than one line of work. You will observe some chairs that he has also decorated, and a sign that he has painted.

And John will tell you that he likes St. John. He has been here a year or more, and has established a good business. The people are nice, he says. They treat a stranger well. In summer trade is good enough to make the winter, with its duller trade, endurable.

John is young, and the world is fair. Not so fair as that under the Neapolitan skies his boyhood knew, but he is not worrying, for he carries a ray of the Italian sunshine in his heart. He talks of establishing a shoe-polishing emporium for the ladies this spring, which shows that thrift and gallantry dwell together in his bosom, and that John de Angelis is a polished gentleman as well as a gentleman of polish.

NOON-DAY SERVICES FOR MEN.

The first of a series of noon-day addresses to men was given in the Church of England Institute by the Rev. J. R. DeWolfe Cowie, organizing secretary of the diocese of Fredericton.

The reverend gentleman took as his subject "God is Love in His Inner Character." He showed clearly from the very creation of the world down to the present time the patience of the Creator, and His great love towards all His creatures. If there is love in the heart of man it certainly will show itself in all his actions. The speaker went on to state how wide-spreading this great love of God was, and that it could be seen in nature in all its beauty.

The reverend gentleman was listened to with the most marked attention throughout. The attendance was large. These addresses are especially to men, and all men are welcome.

Tomorrow Rev. Mr. Cowie will take as his subject "God in His Inner Character." The services only last twenty-five minutes, from 12.30 to 12.55.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, under whose auspices these services are being held, cordially invite the men of the city to be present.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. H. A. Austlin, of Mt. Pleasant, is giving a small luncheon this afternoon.

Miss Madge Duncan, of Bathurst, is visiting Mrs. John Burpee, Mt. Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kerr leave today for Halifax to take the Purcell liner Loyalist for Scotland to visit Mr. Kerr's relatives.

Fred. R. Outram, of Halifax, is in town.

J. J. Gibbons, representative of the Vapo-Cresolene company of New York, has gone to Fredericton.

Austin left for Newcastle this morning.

PROBATE COURT.

In the matter of the estate of the late Edward McGuffigan, a citation calling upon the administrator, Edward McGuffigan, Jr., to show cause why an inventory and his accounts should not be filed, was returned today. J. L. Carleton, K. C., appeared.

Mr. Justice Macdonald, in the administration, asked that the case stand a week, as Mr. McGuffigan is absent, and promised to have the accounts filed immediately.

In the estate of the late Patrick Langens, letters of administration were granted to his widow, Annie Lansen. The estate is valued at $665. T. P. Regan, proctor.

POLICE COURT.

Eight drunks comprised the docket at the police court this morning. One of them, Jeremiah Daley, an old offender, charged with using profane and obscene language and violently resisting the police, was remanded.

WELL ENOUGH.

"I had a case the other day," said the Bangor doctor, "where I thought it wise to let well enough alone."

"Indeed," returned his friends, "what was it?"

"One of my patients said that he was well enough to punch my head if I insisted that he take the nauseating dose which I had prescribed for him."
