Cripple Creek, Col., April 10.-The family of Jas. Smith, including the ather, mother and four children were nstantly killed in their home last night, by the sliding of a huge dump of the Granite mine. The Smith resi-dence was located just below the base of the dump. The snows had soft-ened the dump so that the top suddenly slid down, crushing the house and burying its inmates. Hundreds of men are now digging away the dirt and

The capture of Pietersburg is regarded here as important. The place is the terminus of the railway, and has been the capital of the Boer Government since the evacuation of Pretoria. The whole northern railway is now in the hands of the British.

Gens. Botha and De Wet are reported to have met, after which the latter returned south of the Vaal, and was last heard of at Vrede, in the Vezamelberg, in the northeast corner of the Orange River territory.

A British force had been sent from Harrismith, with the object of dislodging him, but the result is not yet reing him, but the result is not yet re-ported; nor is Gen. Botha's where-abouts stated, though it may be surmised from the fact that the railway between Natal and Johannesburg was attacked at three points on the same day. It would seem that the Boers have for some time been collecting great quantities of cattle and sheep in the fastnesses of Zoutpansberg, where also they have ample supplies of ammunition, and intend making it point of ultimate resistance as well as a base of present operations the Zoutpansberg from Pietersberg, to which place they were carried by rail from Pretoria before the British arrived there. The advantage to the Boers of the Transvaal under the new plan of campaign, is that so long as they can keep the British out of the mountains the British horses will have nothing but the withered grass of the veldt and forage imported at great cost and trouble, to feed upon, while their own horses are fattening on the their own horses are fattening on the fresh grass of the valleys, from where they issue whenever the opportunity to make a raid presents itself. LAWYERS GET IN A ROW OVER RICE MURDER CASE

Have to be Prevented From Coming to Blows—Jones S icks to H s Story of Killing the Millionaire With Chloroform.

New York, April 10 .- A feature of the examination of Valet Jones in the yesterday's session of the hearing concerning the death of Wm. Marsh Rice. the Texas millionaire, was a line of questioning which led to a heated scene at the noon recess between Attorney Moore, who represents Lawyer

Patrick, and Assistant District At-torney Osborne.

The cause of the dispute was Osborne's success in wringing from Valet Jones certain testimony against Patrick. Frederick House is one of Patrick's lawyers. Previous to Jones's turning state's evidence, House represented the vale also. By a ruling of the court, Osborne was allowed to ask the witness what he and Patrick had told their lawyer at their first interview in the Tombs. Jones replied that it was a complete confession of murder, differing not at all from his story at the hearing.

When at last Moore said: "We are through with the witness," Mr. Osborne on the rebuttal leaned back in his chair, and asked quietly: "Jones, to whom did you first tell the story of your having chloroformed Rice? mean the same story you told here.' "To House," was the reply. ATTORNEY MOORE EXCITED.

The question apparently was a sur-prise. House flushed and looked hard t the table. Patrick tugged at his beard, and Moere sprang to his feet.
"We object to that question," he shouted. "We have some rights in this court. Anything the witness said to his counsel involves the prisoner. It is a professional confidence which must not be revealed."

must not be revealed."

But Justice Jerome only said, "Objection overruled," and Jones then described, at length, his first interview with House in the Tombs counsel room. On Patrick's advice he had told the truth, he said!

Oshorne brought out the fact that the talk with House occurred several days before the district attorney had the faintest idea that the prisoner would make a confession.

Court then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

Court then adjourned until 2 o'clock. A few minutes later Justice Jerome went out and the court room was cleared of every one, save lawyers and reporters. Osborne arose from his side of the table and started for the door. Moore met him at the corner of the table.

"Mr. Osborne," he began in a quiet voice, "I want to tell you that your conduct in making Jones tell about his conversation with House was unprofessional. It was not right."

GUARDING HIS FRIEND The district attorney's face wa crimson in a minute. "I only did it," he said, "because of your insinuations upon Capt. Baker. He is my friend.

I guard his reputation as zealously as I do my own."

At the mention of his name, Capt. Baker stepped forward and stood a Osborne's elbow.

"You have not strengthened your case any," continued Moore. "You have only put House in a hole. I tell you it wasn't fair."
"I don't give a d—, for the way you do things up the state," shouted Oslovene referring to Moore being a re-borne, referring to Moore being a re-cent arrival in this city. "You attend to your own side of the case. If you had a professional sense of honor you would not interfere with me in trying the case out of court."

Assistant District Attorney Garven then stepped between the two men Amid a running fire of accusations and recriminations, Mr. Osborne went back to his office. Moore followed him as far as the hall.

TO GOBBLE IT FOR GOOD.

The Michigan Central is shortly to establish closer connections with the Canada Southern Road. For the past 18 years this road has been operated by the Michigan Central as a part of its own system. Its rights, however, were secured under a lease that has nearly expired, and it has been determined by the controlling interests of both corporations that a union shall be formed between them which shall be permanent and indissoluble. The Canada Southern is to be merged into the Michigan Central. Under the present arrangement Canada Southern stockholders get 40 per cent. of the net earnings over fixed charges. This arrangement will hold good till 1903. When it expires it is proposed that the Michigan Central take a perpetual lease of the Canada Southern and guarantee its stockholders 3 per cent. of their holdings. Such an arrangement, it is said, should have the effect of enhancing the value of the security of both roads. The Michigan Central is shortly to Iwo Burglars Downed by a Muscular Christian at Belleville.

Belleville, April 10 .- A severe struggle with burglars, in which Rev. J. C. Hutton, rector of Christ Church, captured one of the men, took place shortly after midnight. Three men were discovered by the police in A. L. Geen's drug store, but bolted and several shots from the officers' revolvers failed to stop them. A little later Officer McCrudden, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Hutton, who lives near the scene of the robbery, met two of the suspects. Both struggled desperately against arrest, but Mr. Hutton threw one of them down and the officer sub-dued the other. They proved to be William Leonard and William Me-Donald, local men, and old jail birds, and their pockets were filled with articles stolen from Mr. Geen's store.

Ottawa, April 10 .- Capt. Charlie Ross, the famous Canadian scout, who succeeded Major "Gat" Howard in command of the Canadian scouts, in a letter to Col. Sherwood, tells how Howard was killed. It is dated at Derby, S. THE DOWSLEY BY-LAW.

The city solicitor has not yet given his opinion in the Dowsley by-law matter. Neither is he likely to give it before the council meets. Yet it is said that body intend to pass the measure in any event. Now The Planet was an advocate of this proposed factory when the matter went before the freeholders, but it cannot support any such piece of folly as rushing the by-law through council in this way. The city employs a solicitor to give it advice on complicated legal questions. Here is a matter involving $20,000 which is in grave dispute, yet it is reported the council will push it ahead without having the corporations legal position properly defined. This simply means that some ratepayer will jump in with an injunction, the city will become involved in an expensive lawsuit, and by the time that is over the Dowsley people will become tired of waiting and have gone somewhere else. All that the corporation will then have to do will be to pay the costs .

It is better to make haste slowly. If the solicitor says the by-law has been legally carried, why let it go ahead. And if it has not been legally carried it is no use passing it at all for it is certain to be quashed.

GAMBLING IN NEW YORK.

A New York paper tells several stories about bridge whist, going to show that the game has gained foothold in society in that city and tyrannizes over young men of limited

*One story is told of a young man who was invited out to dinner, and when it was over his hostess informed him that bridge whist was to be played, and it would be necessary for him to take a hand in order to complete the table. He explained that he knew nothing of the game, but she promised to teach him, and, naturally, he complied, with the result that he had lost $400. To make the matter worse, the hostess considered it necessary to see that everybody, squared accounts before leaving, so that no unpleasantness might afterwards develop, and so the young man telephoned a friend, got a check cashed, and paid the money before leaving.

Some people argue that it is impossible to lose money at bridge whist, and these will promptly declare the story from New York to be an invention. But the principle involved in it is worth considering, for in smaller degrees and in less reprehensible ways hosts and hostesses frequently play a part not unlike that of the hostess referred to. Whether it is four dollars or four hundred that a guest is fleeced of in a game he does not understand -when to hold out longer would b rudeness-it is an indefensible thing even in the sight of those who regard gambling as a permissible amusement for those who choose to indulge in it.

KING EDWARD'S POPULARITY.

It is pleasant to read in the London correspondence of the United States press that the King is winning golden opinions for the earnest, practical manner in which he is fulfilling his duties. It is possible that this view of King Edward's character will prove a fresh one among readers who have heard for some forty years little but disparagement of the Prince of Wales. What seems to have gained for the King most commendation from writers not usually disposed to be complimentary to royalty, is the sincere, active, intelligent interest taken by him in the wellbeing of the poor. In London the housing of the laboring classes in the densely populated districts has become a problem of national importance and urgency. Of the King it is said that no man knows London better; and the frequency with which he is mentioned in connection with efforts being made to improve the conditions of life in what are called the slums, is proof of both his statesmanship and kind-heartedness. Britons everywhere are gratified at this display of royal sympathy with the poor, for they desire not only to esteem the King as a worthy successor to his mother, but to love him as identified with them in their struggles and aspirations for the orderly, healthy progress of the empire in all its parts. By the attention the King has given to the social problems arising from the congestion of masses of poor people in great cities, it would seem that he has not forgotten Ruskin's warning, that the barbarians whom modern civilization has to fear are its own offspring, and it does not take a great effort of imagination to see in a city containing millions of people a terrible menace of catastrophe in the event of some public misfortune such as would deprive large numbers of their means for earning daily bread. A knowledge among the masses that the King sympathizes with the poor and is striving for their betterment will in itself be a source of strength to the crown and a mighty force on the side of law

OHIO'S BLUE LAWS.

At Findlay, Ohio, the old blue law of public whipping was disinterred by Findlay's Mayor, and a storm of indignation has ensued. Two boys, aged 9 and 11 respectively, were brought before the Mayor for stealing $75 from the Courier Company, for which the boys carried papers. They admitted their guilt, and their father, Emil Gordon, a carpenter, asked that they be sent to the Reform Farm. Mayor Watson, however, declared that the boys should be publicly flogged, and ordered the father to punish them. The Mayor produced a small buggy whip, and, commanding the boys to remove their jackets, ordered the father to proceed. The lads were severely beaten. Several times the elder was struck over the head, and spectators called to the father to desist. They were thrust aside by the chief Citizens are highly indignant over the affair, and the mayor is severely criticised. The boys were severely punished. At the same time while this method of treatment may seem brutal it may be the making of the boys.

UNHAPPY HOOLEY Toronto Globe.

The case of the unhappy bankrupt, E. T. Hooley, is a pitiful one. The unfortunate man is reduced from his former splendor to the squalor of having only three country seats, and only a comparatively small army of gardeners, game-keepers, grooms and general servants, as is indicated in the fact that their pay roll amounts to only £150 per week. In short, the wretched man, who was once fairly well off, is now compelled to live at the poor dying rate of £15,000 per year, and to do business at his palatial London office entirely in his wife's name. Nevertheless, it is pleasant to know that Mr. Hooley's cheek is as ruddy-and firm-as ever.

Breaking Up the Mess. Lasting friendships are formed in the officers' mess abroad ship in our navy, but no effort is made to keep track of a mate when he is transferred. This strikes the landsman as a queer freak of nature, but the sailors accept it as a matter of course never to be questioned. Men get into pretty close communion with each other when they breakfast, dine and sup together for three years. As a rule, they learn each other's history to the minutest detail unless a man chooses to be disagreeable and distant. Close attachments grow up, yet when the inexorable order arrives from Washington, sending the mess to the four winds of heaven, breaking up, as it were, the family, a warm hand shake ends it all. Each officer goes into a new mess, and the old is forgotten.

It was my good fortune to be introduced to as fine a mess as ever broke bread together on a man-of-war. The devotion of the officers to one another was an inspiration. Finally the separation came. One went to some navy yard, another to the Philippines, an other to China, another to Washington, etc. They were scattered all over the world. One day, meeting the lieutenant commander, who had gone up for promotion, I inquired when he had heard from Lieutenant So-and-so "Why, not in several months," he replied. "In fact, not since he was or dered to his new station. PRIVILEGES WHICH ARE ACCORDED BY LAW TO PEERS.

Some English Legal Decisions as to What Constitute the Necessaries of Life-They Widely Differ From Duke to Ordinary Mortal.

Recent bankruptcy cases in London have brought up various legal decisions which have been reached in England on the subject of what are necessaries of life for men of various stations and degrees who are not in command of their own incomes.

A dute, for instance, or even a marquis or an earl is entitled by law to one bottle of champagne a day if his trustees hold the money to pay for it. In the case of the former Duke of Manchester the law decided that seven bottles of champagne a week are neces sary to a duke whose affairs may be in the hands of trustees and that if he had not the control of his own income he must be allowed to have a carriage with one horse, a riding horse as well, one manservant and a house with a rent of not less than £250 a year; otherwise he must be allowed to have the use of £2,000 a year, while the rest might be allowed to accumulate for the good of the estate till the trustee pe riod expired.

A viscount or a baron is allowed by law to describe as necessaries things which smaller fry might struggle along without. But a viscount's incomeprovided there is anybody to pay it-is fixed at £1,500 a year and a baron's at £1,000. He is, supposing any guardlans have a few thousands a year to pay out to him according to discretion, only entitled to claret as a beverage. for his yearly wine allowance only runs to £60, which would not keep him in champagne unless he drank it very seldom. The duke's wine bill may run to £150.

The viscount must have a carriage but it may be attached for debt, and be cannot force his guardians to give him a horse. Of course, if he has no guardians, nor any income, either, he must do as other people and go without, but these things are considered necessary to peers. A manservant is dlowed to a viscount or baron, but the house rent need not exceed £200. nor can it be less than £150.

A doctor is better off than a viscount in one way-his carriage cannot be Trudell & Tobey- The 2 T's- Sole Local Agents seized in most cases, nor can the expenses of it be reckoned in his income tax returns. In selling up a doctor for debt he may retain one horse, and two of his carpets are considered as necessaries to his business-in the hall and consulting room-and reckoned at £20 apiece. He may have surgical instruments and medical appliances to the value of £1,000, and these cannot be

An ordinary man can retain nothing but his clothes, his hairbrushes and a few stern necessaries of that kind. No wine is allowed to a doctor, but if a demand a couple of servants and a house rent of £60 per year.

The son of a well to do merchant or tradesman making about £1,000 a year can demand neither wine nor horses nor servants, but the law may allow him a rent of £50 and another £150 or £200 to keep himself on, supposing he is in the hands of guardians, whether under or over age. As to debt, he can be sold up, bar his personal necessaries and his clothes, though he is not generally allowed to keep more than six suits of the latter.

If he has more a judge might allow them to be taken with the other chattels, and he can be left without a chair to sit on or a spoon to eat with. Jewelry, if he has any, can be taken; but if he has, say, two pairs of valuable sleeve links he can keep only one of them. In the same way he may keep a dress suit, but if he has two an order may be made to sell up one of them. A lawyer can have 500 books on legal subjects or in some way pertaining to law, and these have to be left alone by the brokers. There are extreme cases in which everything, even necessaries, may be taken, but the lawyer may also demand exemption even in such cases for his wigs, or at least two of them, and two gowns. As a student in the hands of guardians he can make them pay him £80 a year for chambers, and they must pay his examination and other fees.

A clergyman or minister of any kind is worst off of all and can keep very little for himself. He can make his guardians come down with the fees his profession needs, however, and if he lives in the country as a curate and has some trustees and also a guardian he can make them supply him with a

Why She Wept. Among the Mainotes, descendants of the Spartans, thieving is considered a yery honorable employment. An Eng-lish traveler, being entertained at the house of one of the mountaineers, took some silver articles from a packing case he had with him to eat his dinner with. At the sight of such costliness an old woman began to cry, the Englishman having asked what affected her so much: "Alas, my good sir," she replied, "I weep because my son is not here to rob you of those beautiful things!"

always helps. It almost always cures.

"When I commenced taking your medicine eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better; then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly weak."

Where the Leak Was.

Once, years ago, when Daniel Webster was secretary of state, there was an important foreign matter up for discussion before the cabinet, and the utmost secrecy was of course maintained, but the whole thing was blazoned about in a few hours after the cabinet meeting. So the president hastily sent for his cabinet to talk over this leak. Each man had a different idea of it.

Finally Mr. Webster arose, saying, You, gentlemen, go on with your discussion, and I'll be back in a minute." In a few minutes be returned and repeated every word that had been spoken in the room in his absence. He explained that if, by standing close to the door outside the cabinet room, you held your ear to it, you could not dis tinguish one intelligible word; but if, moving back from the door and a little to one side upon a certain spot in the carpet, you kept an attentive ear, every word could be plainly heard as though whispered.

Some enterprising eavesdropper had been experimenting with the door and had found that upon that exact spot ere was some acc the door or room that conveyed the sound in perfect entirety.

I cannot sleep, such is my agitation. Clifford is scarcely 5 years old, where as, according to the best pedagogical authorities, Martin Luther did not ask this question until he was 7 and Alexander the Great, in all probability, not until he was 9.

The late Professor Hinsdale was singularly devoid of all sense of humor, and as for slang-well, he knew far more about the deadest of dead languages than he did concerning these saucy innovations on his native tongue, There was a certain piece of legislation which was of considerable interest to the local school officials. It had been introduced into the legislature and was there hanging fire.

One day Professor Hinsdale, then school superintendent, said to Mr. Tom Whitehead, secretary of the board of education: "Mr. Secretary, what is the outlook for that special school bill now in the hands of the state legislators? Do you believe it will be adopted soon? The secretary shook his head in a ly discouraging and said, with a strong "It will be a cold day when that bill manner that was meant to be thorough-is passed." The superintendent nodded and pass-

A day or two later somebody came into his office and asked him about the prospects of the same bill.

"Well," he replied in his heavy way, "I have no personal means of knowing the status of the measure, but I have been assured emphatically by Secreta ry Whitehead, who may be considered an expert in securing knowledge of this character, that the bill will not pass until next winter."

The Public Gallows a Century Ago. Even if the bicycle had been invented a hundred years ago touring could hardly have become very popular-at all events, for solitary cyclists. The old guidebooks were by no means cheerful reading. A run from London to East Grinstead, a distance of five or six and twenty miles, would have taken the wheelman past three gibbets, and it was just as likely as not that from one or the other of them a body would be swinging in the wind.

Up till the beginning of the nine eenth century the gallows was almost as frequent a landmark as finger posts or public houses have become The traveler approaching York is directed by the guidebooks to "turn round by the gallows and three windmills," and the road out of Durham is "between the gallows and Crokehill." Going out of Wells you "cross the brook and pass by the gallows."

Any number of such directions can be gleaned from the old books for the guidance of travelers a hundred years ago, and as these interesting objects were put up and the dead bodies of malefactors left upon them for the special edification of footpads and highwaymen there was a suggestiveness about them that must have given a special piquancy to cycle touring if it had been in vogue at that time.-Lon-

"Why?" asked the teacher.

"Because," replied the boy, "if you was my dad's little boy an you'd heard what he said about Aunt Eliza comit to visit us with her children an Auni Eliza had asked you if you weren't all glad to see her an you'd told the truth, like I did, you'd think there was a place where your trousers was mighty thin after dad got through with you."

He went back to his desk, and as he sat down with great care there was an expression on his face that showed the great lesson of truth had been, at least in a measure, lost on him. And in his indignation and innocence he did not appreciate the humor associated with the fact that his teacher did not belong to that division of the human race that wears trousers.

Curious Picture Frames.

In many churches of Provence and Italy, especially those near the sea, ex voto paintings placed on the walls in accordance with vows made by pilgrims in moments of danger are often remarkable for their frames. Among the curiosities may be enumerated laths formed of splinters from ships that have been wrecked; also frames made of pieces of heavy cables, occasionally painted bright hues, but someimes left in their primitive gray color and splashed with tar. Nailed to the laths surrounding a painting representing sailors fighting with fierce say ages may be seen African or Polyne-sian spears and darts or swords made of hard wood, evidently mementos of terrific struggles. Sailors or landsmen who have made vows during times of peril at sea and who have no trophies to display will surround their paintings with broad bands of wood heavily incrusted with shells and seaweed, not infrequently of rare and extremely beautiful kinds.—London People's

HE SAW HIS OWN

Then had his Death Sentence Commi ed-# n Incident in South Africe.

Colesberg, April 10 .- An intelligence officer stationed at Petrusville was threatened by Commandant Hertzog with death, by shooting, in the event of his being caught. The officer subsequently accompanied the troops in the Orange River Colony, and was captured at Jagersfontein, tried, and sentenced to death by Hertzog. He was kept waiting until the sentence was confirmed by De Wet. He was then made to witness the digging of his own grave. When the time came for his execution, he was told that he was let off, this time. The officer he was let off, this time. The officer was practically stripped of his cloth-ing, and then released.

GREAT THING FOR BOARDING HOUSES

Crowd Both Them and the Hotels.

The establishment of mineral baths n the Maple City, as contemplated and proosed by the Chatham Mineral Water Co., will be a valuable acquisition to the community. In addition to the excellent and unsurpassed adverisement which will accrue from such establishment it will be a practical asset to all the hotels and boarding houses within the corporation. This phase of prosperity can hardly be over-estimated. At Mt. Clemens during por ions of last season the tran-sient population was estimated at 6,-000 per day. There is no reason why, with full and elaborate mineral bath equipment, the business of Chatham should not only equal but surpass this enviable record. The presence of thousands of wealthy visitors will make itself felt upon the commercial pulse of the community, it will in-augurate almost perpetual "good times," and it will be instrumental in promoting prosperity by leaps and bounds. Every citizen should do all in his power to encourage this splended project, because like Mount Clements it will turn almost every second building into a boarding house and bring hundreds of thousands of dol-lars annually to the city.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure all, now a Moder Miracle, but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia

In these days of humbuggery and de ception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the pro-prietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tab-lets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false re-presentations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspep-sia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no further than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial, will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholeseme feed is taken into the stom. wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and re-plenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tab lets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which-rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when Tablets will no longer be Nervous dyspepsia is simply a con dition in which some portion or por-tions of the nervous system are not roperly nourished. Good digestion inigorates the nervous system and very organ in the body. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per pack-

BAD WELLS THE CAUSE OF TROUBLE

More so Than Tubercular Cows According to This Correspondent. To The Planet,-There has been quite stir among scientific men about the danger of using milk from cows that have responded to the test for tuberculosis. Now is not the danger more imaginary than real? Can any of the gentlemen point out a single case where any tuberculous diseas has been communicated to the human has seen communicated to the human species; with any reasonable degree of certainty? I think that if they would extend their researches in another direction they would find a more prolific source of disease. I allude to the wells from which the drinking water for the farmer's family. drinking water for the farmer's famiand animals is obtained. Call at farm house in the summer for a drink of water, and in many cases you will notice something wrong. Now uncover the well and what you will see will quench your thirst very quick—a toad or rat, or perhaps a snake, bloated up and floating on top of the water in the last stages of decomposition. Pump out the water and you will find a pail full of skeletons of former vica pail full of skeletons of former vic-tims, as well a sa collection of bugs, worms, et cetera, that would turn the stomach of a hog. I do not say that tims, as well as through the country are in that condition, but many of them are, and this water is used for drinking by the farmer's family, as well as for washing all milk vessels and the butter made under such con-ditions is carried to market and pro-nounced lovely. I think the danger from disease is far greater to mankind under such circumstances than from the using of the milk from a cow having a few tubercules in her lun Chatham, April 9.

The company is playing a return engagement of three night this week in London to immense business. It sarries a full carload of special scenery and effects and has no less than three machines for moving pictures and illustrated song work.

TO THE THRONE ASSURED BY FOUR STURDY LIVES.

The Present Reir Apparent is H.R. H. the Duke of Cornwall and York and If He Succeeds His Title Will Be George V. -Other Living Princes in the Direct

Four sturdy lives stand between His Majesty King Edward VII and a possible lapse in the succession of the house of Guelph to the British throne. It is a comfort to know that the dynasty, that now reigns in Great Britain is of a long lived and prolific stock. For two generations at least the succession in a straight line is assured, and it seems likely that the present royal family of the "tight little island" will long continue to reign.

The present heir apparent to the British throne is George Frederick

DUKE OF CORNWALL AND YORK. Ernest Albert, Duke of Cornwall and York, who, when he assumes the reins of government, will be known as George V. He was born on June 3, 1865, at Marlborough House, the London residence of the former Prince of Wales The Duke of Cornwall and York is not yet the Prince of Wales, and reference to him as such is somewhat premature. That title does not descend by right to the eldest son of the sovereign, but is conferred on him by royal patent. Edward VII was made Prince of Wales when he was 4 weeks old, and he will no doubt in the near future confer the same title on his son. The Duke of York is the second and only surviving son of His Majesty, the first having been the Duke of Clarence, who died in 1892.

At the time of the death of the Duke of Clarence he was affianced to Princess May of Teck, and soon thereafter rumor connected the names of the princess and Prince George. Queen Victoria heartily approved of the match, and the young couple were married on July 6, 1893. They have four children—three sons and a daughter—Prince Edward, Prince Albert, Princess Victoria and Prince Henry.

The Duke of York has been known as "the sailor prince" of England, for he was educated for the royal navy and has served in it for many He entered the navy with his older brother in 1877. He began as a cadet and advanced through all

Prince Albert is just over 5 years of age, Princess Victoria is not quite 4, while the baby of the family, Prince Henry, celebrated the first anni-versary of his birth in March.

PRINCE EDWARD OF YORK.

The English papers abound stories about the royal grandchildren and pictures of them. According to the most recent account, Prince Edward is a "great pickle"—what we would call a "mischievous little chap"-Prince. Albert is "a fine, healthy little fellow," and Princess Victoria is "a charmingly dainty little child, with a delicate complexion and dainty ways.' Prince Henry is of course too

LINLITHGOW PALACE.

Famous Ruin to Be Restored as Scotland' Memorial to the Late Queen of Great Britain.

In a speech at Edinburgh Lord Rosebery proposed that the Scottish memorial to Queen Victoria take the form of the restoration of Linlithgow palace, the most historic ruin in Scotland.

his campaigns in Scotland erected a fortified camp on the site of the castle. The English occupied the fortification until 1307, when a Scotch peasant of the name of Bin-noch and seven followers of Bruce secured entrance by hiding them-selves in a load of hay which was allowed to pass uninspected into the castle. They captured the place and were rewarded by Bruce with rich

In the reign of Edward III. the castle was again in the hands of the English, and in 1424 it was partly destroyed by fire. After the suc cession of the Stuart family Linlithgow became a fixed royal residence and the Scottish kings were wont to deed it to their consorts. James IV. and his immediate successors improved and enlarged the castle, and with them it was the favorite residence. The degeneration began in 1746, when the castle was abandoned to the use of soldiers as a barracl and was accidently set on fire.

The old ruin is all of polished stone and covers an acre of ground Many fine examples of sculpture and decorations are in a fair state of preservation, and a pile in the centre of the inner court is still tinguishable as a fountain. The par-liament chamber in which Mary Stuart first saw the light of day on December 8, 1542, is an object much interest to tourists.

THE .VELSH DRAGON.

Gallant Little Wales Desirons of Being Represented on the National Coinage and the Royal Standard. Gallant little Wales as a municipality of the United Kingdom is very desirous, now that King Edward has ascended the throne, to be represent-ed on the Royal Standard and the National coinage, says Lloyd's. Scotland has its lion, Ireland its harp, and the Welsh peers and commoner who met at the House of Commons recently to consider the subject were unanimous in their decision that the Red Dragon would best typify Wales, and resolved to present a memorial to the King on the subject. The Welsh Red Dragon is a fearsomelooking beast, not unlike the Imperial Dragon of China, save that it has a sturdier aspect. It was a "supporter" of the Royal Arms from the time of Henry VII. till the end of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and was shown on a white and green ground, the colors in the House of Tudor. The color of the dragon is bright red shaded to gold, and it has a Royal blue tongue surrounded with lambent flames. Henry VII. adopted the Red Dragon for the device of his standard at the battle of Bosworth Field. It was the ensign of Cadwallader, the last of the British Kings from whom the Tudors descended. Our sketch is from the old heraldic devices in which the Red Dragon appears as "supporter."

THE OLDEST FAMILY. The Line of China's Greatest Philosophe the Most Ancient.

Confucius, the founder of the Confucian religion of China, lived 551 to 478 B. C. He was contemporary with the Tarquins of Rome, Pythagoras of Greece, and Cyrus of Per sia. His descendants form the aris tocracy of China and have always enjoyed high privileges. There are still some forty thousand of them seventy generations removed from their ancestor; this being the oldest family in the world. There are sixteen hundred and sixty temples erect ed to the memory of Confucius, or Kung-Fu-Tsee, in China, the largest covering ten acres of land. He is the patron saint of that vast empire; and the doctrine he promulgated forms the State religion of the nation, sustained by the whole powbody. Yet it is a religion without priests of liturgy. Morality and reverence are its chief characteristics. Reverence for parents, or the aged. was as imperative in his teaching as for the Diety; and golden rule in its negative form is found in his writings. "Do not unto others what you would not have them do unto you." The religion of Confucius is an ethnic religion, or one confined with the boundaries of a particular race or family of mankind. It belongs to China and the Chinese. It has been their State religion for some twenty-three hundred years, and it rules the opinions of four hundred millions of men.

Dear Sirs, It gives me great pleasure to give you my testimonial of the really great merits of Ozone. Our little boy two months old had bronchitis very bad. I consi er your medicine a Godsand, for I have never seen anything like it, and I am using it now myself with the best results, and though I have seent $55.00 on inhalers and catarrh remedies, yet I have never met with the same results as I have with the two bottles of Ozone I have used. Romance of Cupid and Payche.

Romance of Cupid and Psyche.

The loveliest face in antique sculpture is that of the Psyche at Naples. Psyche was the daughter of a king and of such incomparable beauty that she aroused the jealousy of Venus, who charged her son Cupid to inspire the girl with love for some mortal.

But Cupid himself fell a victim to her beauty and carried her off to a fairy palace, where he, always invisible and requiring her to promise that she would not look on him with her mortal eyes, visited her every night. Prompted, however, by her jealous sisters and by her own curiosity, she one night took a lamp to look upon him as he slept. A drop of oil which she spilled wakened him, and he vanished. After suffering long persecution at the hands of Venus the wrath of the goddess was appeased, and Cupid was permitted to marry Psyche,—Women's Home Companion.

The Conflict Between Russia and Japan Only Deferred.

resent Peaceful Settlement Means Future Conflict - Russia's Back Down.

Berlin, April 10. - The latest phase of the Manchurian question is very differently given by various sections of the German press. The Freisinnige Zeitung, Herr Richter's organ

SAYB F "For the moment the situation, eased and the conclusion of peace is hastened, but so far as the future is concerned, the situation is rendered more complicated, for, as soon as the allied forces are withdrawn the military superiority of Russia will become overwhelmingly for China, who will probably then grant Russia better terms than now, when she is upheld by the allies.

"While war between Russia and Japan is now deferred, their conflicting interests remain regarding north China, and it is probable that war will break out between them soon after peace with China is signed."

The Vossische Zeitung, which sees a Russian diplomat defeat in Russia's abandonment of the Manchurian conwention says!

"It must have been hard for Count Lamsdorff to instruct the Russian ambassadors to that effect, especially since Russia had from the start folsince Russia had from the start for-lowed the policy of rendering a diplo-matic settlement in Pekin as difficult as possible and of doing everything to stiffen the backbone of China against the allies, particularly in the matter of the withdrawal of the troops from the province of Chih-Li."

The Freisinnige expresses a hope that at least a portion of the German troops may now be withdrawn from China, adding that otherwise Germany will be completely isolated there. The Chinese forts could have been destroyed without waiting for Chine's consent

NO TROUBLE IN

They Meet! and Amicably Distribute Their Father's Estate.

A settlement, unique in legal annals was recorded yesterday. The late Richard Houston, of Harwich, who died some two months ago, left property valued at over $10,000, consisting of real and personal estate. He died without a will.

The heirs met in the offices of J. B. Rankin, K. C., yesterday, and agreed among themselves to divide the estate equally among them, six in number. The elder members of the family brought into the settlement what they had received from their father during his lifetime, so as to have each of the children receive an equal share from the father's estate. The agreement come to is subject to rati-fication by two members of the famfication by two members of the lamily living in Alberta, who were represented at the meeting by their agents. There is no case in the history of this county, excepting that of a Mr. Arnold in the township of Chatham, father of Adam Arnold, of that township, whose father's estate has been adjusted in such an amicable and equitable way by the children of the deceased.

A new and interesting feature in connection with the Chicago, North-western and Union Pacific route to western and Union Pacific route to California is the announcement that, with the new schedule of the Southern Pacific Railway, effective March 31, the new Coast Line between San Francisco and Los Angeles was opened. This new line, which is sure to become very popular with tourist travel, runs along the Pacific Coast, via San Jose, Santa Cruz, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara, where the finest scenery in California may be witness. and Salita Ballara, when the witness-ed. It is confidently expected that the establishment of this new route will result in a greater part of the South-ern California travel at all seasons of the year, going via the Northwestern-Union Pacific and the new Pacific Coast Line of the Southern Pacific Railway.
