EDMONTON BULLETIN MARCH 14th, 1902.

PROPOSED SEWERAGE SYSTEM

Associated with the waterworks proposition in discussion has been the proposal to install a system of sewerage for the town. Accordingly Engineer Chipman included in his report an outline of a sewerage system. It was considered desirable to install both systems at the same time as by this means the expense of a second excavation would be avoided.

The system outlined by Mr. Chipman is quite elaborate and includes 31-2 miles of pipes strung along the principal streets. The suggested junction for the mains is at the corner of Jasper and Namayo avenues and the outlet near Humboldt's coal mine. The mains would traverse practically the same streets as the waterworks mains.

The cost of installation is placed at $60,000.

In his report Mr. Chipman suggests that a general sewerage tax be levied on the assessable property in town and a special frontage tax on the property fronting on streets traversed by sewer pipes.

The proposition to install the system is included in the by-law proposing the installation of waterworks.

Of the $60,000 required to provide the system it is proposed to raise $30,000 by special frontage tax on the land served by the sewers, and to float the remaining $30,000 on the credit of the municipality, the same to be repaid, together with the waterworks loan by means of a special general rate levied annually on all the assessable property in town.

The life of the debentures for the proposed loan, as also the loan for installing the waterworks system, is fixed at forty years and provision is made in the by-law that the aggregate amount of $110,000 thus borrowed on the municipal credit may be repaid either in such manner that each annual instalment of principal and interest shall be equal or that the principal shall be payable at the termination of forty years, an annual sinking fund being raised sufficient to meet the same at maturity, the interest being payable yearly.

If endorsed by the electors on the 29th inst., the by-law authorizing the loans for installing the two systems will come into effect on June 28th next. A two-thirds majority is necessary to carry the by-law.

THE DOOM OF THE LIQUOR ACT

The very small chance of escape which was left to the Manitoba Liquor Act by the Roblin Referendum has been officially and permanently dispensed by the conflicting counsels of the Manitoba Prohibitionists.

The Dominion Alliance representatives at a recent meeting decided to express their supreme contempt for the shifting policy of Premier Roblin in regard to the Liquor Act by ignoring the referendum. A large percentage of the Alliance members, however, considering that prohibition were cheap at any price formed a Prohibition League for the purpose of influencing as many as possible of the Manitoba prohibitionists to record themselves in favor of the enforcement of the Act.

The silence of contempt may be a very convenient and imposing attitude but as a means of winning prohibition from a hostile government is about as poor a means as could be devised. The League on the other hand have made it impossible for the prohibitionists of Manitoba to record an unanimous opinion even by an attitude of silence.

The unanimous opinion of the Manitoba Prohibitionists might, even by the doubtful expedient of silence, have shamed the Roblin administration into an enforcement of the law. The unanimous demand of the Prohibition Party, expressed through the ballot boxes would doubtless have frightened that administration into a performance of the programme on which it was elected.

But there cannot and will not be an expression of the opinion of the Prohibition Party by either means.

It not infrequently transpires that in the multitude of councillors in weakness and if the nearly realized dream of the Manitoba Prohibitionists be rudely shattered by the referendum vote its smotherers will have the satisfaction of knowing that the Liquor Act was the victim of the conjoint efforts of the policy of Roblin and of the policy-lacking action of its friends.

Lake Navigation Early.

A Chicago despatch says: The earliest opening of navigation on the great lakes since the straits of Mackinac became a factor in the commerce of the country, seems to be at hand. A resumption of business by April 1 on all the upper lakes, two weeks earlier than usual, is now prodicted by vessel owners. From all points, reports indicate less ice than ever before at the corresponding period of the year. There are only 16 inches of ice in the straits and even less than that in Mud Lake. At Sault Ste Marie the channel is open and the ferries are being put in commission.

Germinating Quality of Alberta Oats

To decide the measure of justice in the contention of several Manitoba grainmen last spring that Alberta oats were lacking in germinating power, a series of tests have been made by Mr. Donald Ross, our well known horticulturist, the results of which are made known in the following communication from the secretary of the board of trade:

Edmonton, 12th March, 1902.

Dear Sir:—I have tested the several samples of oats submitted to me, and report their germinating powers as follows: Sample No. 1, 90 per cent.; No. 2, 82 per cent.; No. 3, 90 per cent.; No. 4, 82 per cent.; No. 5, 90 per cent.; No. 6, 84 per cent.; No. 7, 90 per cent. Yours truly, Donald Ross.

If the Winnipeg Free Press, Telegram, Tribune, Commercial and Northwest Farmer will kindly copy this they will confer a favor on the Edmonton district, as the question of getting good seed oats is important and the Edmonton district has them.

Yours truly,
 F. FRASER TIMS,
 Secretary-Treasurer,
 The Edmonton Board of Trade.

Methuen's Disaster.

A London despatch of March 10th, says: The text of Lord Kitchener's despatch announcing the capture of General Methuen is as follows:

"Pretoria, March 8.—I greatly regret to have to send you bad news of Methuen. He was moving with 900 mounted men, under Major Paris, and three hundred infantry, four guns and a pom-pom, from Wynburg to Lichtenburg, and was to meet Greenwell with 1,300 mounted men at Rovirivale Fontein to-day. Yesterday morning early he was attacked by Delarey's force between Twee Bosch and Palmietkruil. The Boers charged on three sides.

"Five hundred and fifty men have come in at Maribos and Kraaipan. They were pursued by the Boers four miles from the scene of action. They report that Methuen and Paris, with the guns, baggage, etc., were captured by the Boers. Methuen, when last seen, was a prisoner. I have no details of the casualties, and suggest delaying publication till I can send definite news. I think this sudden revival of activity on the part of Delarey is to draw off the troops pressing DeWet."

In a second despatch, dated Sunday, March 9, Lord Kitchener says: "Paris has come in at Kraaipan, with the remainder of the men. He reports that the column was moving in two parties. One, with the ox wagons, left Tweebosch at 8 a. m. The other with the mail wagons, started an hour later. Just before dawn the Boers attacked. Before reinforcements could reach them the rear guard broke. In the meantime a large number of Boers galloped up on both flanks. These at first were checked by the flank parties, but the panic and stampede of the mail wagons, with a terrible mixture of mounted men rushed past the ox wagons. All efforts to check them were unavailing. Major Paris collected forty men and occupied a position a mile in front of the ox wagons which were then halted. After a gallant but useless defence, the enemy rushed into the ox wagons and Methuen was wounded in the thigh. Paris, being surrounded, surrendered at 10 a. m. Methuen is still in the Boer camp."

Then follows the number of casualties:

The killed include Lieutenants G. R. Veening and T. R. W. Nesham, of the Royal Artillery, who were both killed while serving their guns with cases of shot.

Three British officers and 88 men were killed. Five British officers and 72 men were wounded. One British officer and 200 men are missing.

The British force numbered 1,300 men. The Boers captured all the British baggage.

General Methuen was the British commander who led the army to the relief of the besieged town of Kimberley, in November, 1899. In this expedition he successively engaged the Boers at Belmont, Graspan, Modder river and Magersfontein. The British were successful in the first three battles, but suffered a severe defeat at Magersfontein. The Boer commander was General Buller. Methuen, who has now taken General Methuen. It was after the Magersfontein defeat that General Lord Roberts was sent to South Africa, where he took personal command of the British advance on Kimberley, and assisted by General Buller, relieved that place Feb. 16, 1900. Paul Santford Methuen, third Baron Methuen, is descended from John Methuen, lord chancellor of Ireland. He was born September 1, 1845, and succeeded his father on the latter's death in 1891. He was educated at Eton, and became a lieutenant in the Scots' Guards in 1864. He served with distinction in Egypt and South Africa, and has been frequently decorated and mentioned in despatches for bravery.

EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION MEET.

The annual general meeting of the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition Association was held in Robertson Hall on Wednesday afternoon. President Gallagher presided and there was a good attendance of shareholders.

The minutes of the last general meeting were read and adopted.

G. W. Green, of Red Deer, wrote asking if the date of the exhibition had been fixed for the coming summer, Red Deer being anxious to arrange such dates for their fair as would suit the circuit of horses leaving the west.

The matter was left in the hands of the directors.

G. J. Kincaid wrote informing the association that the council remitted the taxes for 1901 on the property held by them.

Mr. Beck enclosed a letter from the assistant secretary of the Territories explaining that under the new ordinance passed last year the association must register with the government before July 1st. The secretary was instructed to forward to the government the necessary information and secure registration.

D. Ross pointed out the necessity of the association being placed at an early date in such condition that a loan could be contracted on the association's property. Mr. Beck pointed out that this could be done only after registration, by a three-quarters vote of the shareholders present at a regularly called meeting, the resolution requiring also majority confirmation at a subsequent general meeting. The date of a special general meeting for this purpose was fixed as April 5th, at 2:30 p. m.

The election of officers resulted in the following directors being chosen, C. Gallagher, J. H. Morris, J. Kennedy, D. Ross, W. S. Robertson, T. Bellamy, J. McPherson, T. Daly and J. H. Garlepy. The president and vice-president are chosen by the directors from among themselves at their first meeting subsequent to the general meeting.

Farming in Northern Alberta Under this title the Winnipeg Commercial published in its last issue the second of a series of articles dealing with agricultural questions in Northern Alberta. The article is reproduced below:

"In a recent article we showed the danger that faces the farmers of Northern Alberta, if they continue to depend mainly on oats. Oats cannot be shipped eastward from Alberta points at a profit, on the basis of average prices. The rapid settlement of the territory during the past year or two has led to a large increase in production, which now exceeds the requirements of the local and British Columbia markets. It is therefore absolutely necessary that the farmers of Northern Alberta should turn to other sources of revenue, instead of depending so largely upon oats. It is quite probable that oats will sink back to their normal value by the time another crop is ready for market. In fact, the high price of oats during the past year is likely to stimulate production of this cereal during the present year, in which case it is quite possible that oats may rule at prices below the average next fall. With prices ruling at or below average values, oats will not stand the long rail haul from Alberta for export.

"Taking into consideration the geographical position of the territory and the necessarily high cost of freights, the study of the residents should be to concentrate their products. Oats and barley, grown extensively for feeding at home, could no doubt be made profitable crops, while at the same time it might be altogether unprofitable to export the raw grain. The plan, therefore, would be to convert these coarse grains into beef, pork, mutton, poultry, butter, eggs, etc. Thus concentrated, the grains could be profitably grown and exported. Fortunately a good start has already been made in the manufacture of butter in the districts referred to, and this can no doubt be profitably enlarged upon. A grain called speltz, lately introduced into Manitoba, has proved very successful as a feed grain, and this could be added to the list of coarse grains for home feeding no doubt with satisfactory results in Alberta also. But to depend largely upon crops of any coarse grain for export will certainly bring disaster. These grains cannot be grown in Alberta profitably for export, on the basis of average prices in past years, no matter how large the yield proves to be.

While concentration of products should be carefully studied and followed, it is also possible to increase the number of crops grown. In this connection we would refer particularly to flax. Undoubtedly flax would prove as safe a crop as oats in Northern Alberta, so far as soil and climatic conditions are concerned, and it would also be a safer crop to grow for export. The growing of flax would also add variety, and would be one more egg in the market basket of the farmer. In case of the failure of one crop, or prevalence of very low prices for one class of grain, it is well to have something else to depend upon. The following shows the range of prices for cash flax seed at Chicago for the month of December, for a series of years, per bushel:

Table with 2 columns: Year (1901-1900) and Price per bushel ($1.38 to $1.19).

"The prices in 1896 were the lowest quoted in twenty years. In fact the Chicago market has seldom gone below $1 per bushel.

Flax is generally considered as a good crop to grow on new breaking, and this is an important feature in a district where so much new land is being put under cultivation each year. At the last annual meeting of the Winnipeg grain exchange, retiring president, Wm. Martin, spoke as follows about flax:

"Another crop that is beginning to command attention is flax. This is a crop that is deserving of more attention than it has received in the past. It is a crop that is considered the money-making crop in North Dakota and Minnesota. Hitherto it has been grown chiefly in the Mennonite settlements of Manitoba, but during the past year it has been introduced into other districts by our friends who have come from the United States to settle here. Flax is the only crop that can be grown successfully on new breaking and on that it often gives results equal to the best crop from older cultivated land. It is one of the staple crops in all climates, doing equally as well in India and Argentina as in America. It commands a price almost double the price of wheat, and is likely to continue for some time to hold its value.

"While wheat has not taken an important position in northern Alberta as a cereal crop, compared with the eastern portions of our great prairie region, we believe that as the land is brought under more careful cultivation, this grain will be found to do as well in Alberta as in Manitoba. Wheat is, of course, a much more profitable crop to grow for export than any of the coarse grains. On account of the wonderfully successful oat crops secured in the past, wheat has been increased to such an extent that exportation is necessary. When should be given a more important position as to area than it has attained in recent years. "Along these lines we think lies the hope for the success of northern Alberta. Concentration of production by growing coarse grains for conversion into beef, pork, etc., at home, and more diversity in the cereal and other crops produced.

A PIONEER GONE. Sturgeon River Correspondence: Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock all that was mortal of Mrs. Isabella Allean Carson, widow of the late Oliver Carson, was laid away at the Namoo cemetery. Mrs. Carson had been an invalid for a number of years and her death, though expected, came as a great shock to the settlement. She was one of the pioneers of the Sturgeon districts, born in Ireland 77 years ago at Fintona. Her father moved to Canada when she was a girl, and was one of the early settlers in the Ottawa district, in the days when the now proud capital of the Dominion, passed under the common name of Byetown. In 1843 she married Oliver Carson and as a result of that union eight children mourn her departure. W. J. Carson, inspector of public schools, London, Ont., Chas. Josiah A., Rev. T. C. Mrs. S. Bailey, Mrs. Isaac Hunter, Arthur and S. Carson. All were present at the funeral except W. J. Carson, London, Ont. About 20 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Carson and family moved westward, driving overland from the western terminus of the C. P. R. and located on the Sturgeon. Here amidst difficulties incident to pioneer work, they carved out a home for themselves and children, who to-day are highly respected citizens of this district. The funeral took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. S. Bailey, Rev. Mr. Thacker conducted the funeral services, preaching from the text "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, they do rest from their labors and their works do follow them." Then borne by six sturdy pioneers and followed by a very large gathering of neighbors and friends she was laid away to await the resurrection day.

THE ROAD PROBLEM. Pagan, Alta., 5th March, Editor Bulletin.

As we are again approaching the season in which the condition of our roads is the subject of paramount importance, the following, from the "Reviews of Reviews," may be of interest to all who are obliged to travel by vehicle and of especial value to overseers of local improvement districts wherein are encountered those gumbo roads which are truly described as "the despair of roadmakers":

"In many states in the west they have no stones of any kind available for road-making, but in almost all those states there is an inexhaustible quantity of a slimy, tenacious clay which is called gumbo. Out of this gumbo, which has been hitherto the despair of the road-maker, now the best road material is being manufactured by the simple process of the application of fire;

"The burnt gumbo, ready for use, can be delivered on board the cars at a cost of 25 to 35 cents a cubic yard. When burned by hand, as would usually have to be done in highway improvement, the cost would be, perhaps, 10 to 15 cents more. The railroad gumbo pits are often a mile or two long and hundreds of feet wide. In the case of the highways, the mud would merely have to be shovelled out of the roadway, burned and shovelled back.

"A burnt gumbo road is never muddy, for that property is lost in the burning. The surface of the road is hard and smooth. As a speedway for bicycles and automobiles it is ideal. For carriage and heavy wagons it has no superior. No vegetation can grow on it. It is practically free from dust, after the highway system has been well developed, so that mud is not brought in from the tributary roads. Moreover, the warm red highways contrast pleasingly against the green landscape at those seasons of the year when country drives are most enjoyable.

"The process of burning clay is quite simple. Along the roadside cordwood is piled to form a low pyramid or ridge eight to ten feet wide. On this is thrown three to four inches of coal slack, and twelve to twenty inches of gumbo mud, which is cut from the roadway, or a pit, as the case may be. On firing the wood, enough air enters the pile to enable slow combustion to be carried on without the generation of too much heat, which would vitify the clay.

The cost of preparing the clay on the spot should, where fuel is so easily obtained, be considerably less than as stated.

Yours truly, J. A. MITCHELL.

Americans interested in Alberta.

W. Mason, J. P. of New Lunnon, returned last week from an extended visit to Chicago. During his absence Mr. Mason visited the states of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio and Iowa. In each state visited great interest was manifested in Alberta and a considerable influx of population from these states will occur during the present spring. A Canadian government agent whom he met en route also informed Mr. Mason that Nebraska would contribute 232 families to the population of this district during the present season.

Mr. Mason took with him samples of wheat, oats, barley and flax seed, as a practical illustration of the capabilities of the district. The oats were exhibited to the board of trade at Chicago and pronounced by several grain-dealing members of the board the finest sample ever shown there. Experiments are now being tried with the samples of flax seed by a capable party and the results of the experiments will be made known through the Bulletin when completed.

In Chicago Mr. Mason met a party of capitalists who propose visiting Alberta during the early summer with a view of investing largely in land for ranching purposes and in several other important branches of industry. One member of the party is president of one of the largest packing companies in Chicago, a second a member of a Cereal Co. and a third a live stock commission dealer.

Future of South Africa.

Toronto Globe. Before the South African war, when the diplomatic contest between President Kruger and Mr. Chamberlain was engaging the attention of the world, the Boer executive, as everyone will remember, tried to evade the consequences of a suit for 1,200 mining claims, valued at $5,000,000, brought by an American engineer, Mr. R. E. Brown, by forcing through the Volksraad a bill to override the judiciary, and this particular case arrayed the judiciary of the Transvaal against the executive and legislative branches. The finality was that President Kruger dismissed Chief Justice Kotze, stating that the judiciary was a subsidiary and not a co-ordinate branch of government. The case is closely interwoven with those disputes which led to the cause of the war. Mr. Brown is now a guest at the Queen's, and in an interview with a Globe reporter on Saturday told much that was interesting about the Transvaal, its past, its possibilities and its people. To tell anything interesting about a country that for two years has been the subject of newspaper enterprise may seem a difficult task, but it is rendered easy because of Mr. Brown's unique experience and his intimate association with what was a very large factor in the causes of the war. Mr. Brown went to the Transvaal in 1892, and remained there as a mine manager and consulting engineer until the outbreak of hostilities, was the American commissioner during the Jameson raid, had many interviews with Mr. Kruger, 'new General Botha very well, and was the friend and business partner of the Huisse DeWet. Of the Transvaal and its possibilities of development he talks freely out of a strong faith in the country's resources.

The wealth of the Transvaal, he says, is simply incalculable. Only the Rand, a stretch of gold-bearing rock, fifty miles long by two broad, a mere spot as compared with the whole country, has been opened for development. At the time when the war broke out the Rand was producing a hundred millions in gold annually, and that would have to be kept up for a 100 years to exhaust the ore now in sight. This development of the Rand, Mr. Brown asserts, has gone on in the face of difficulties that would have been insuperable to a country less rich, and had increased the cost of production by a third. The dynamite monopoly and the monopoly enjoyed by the Netherlands railway laid a heavy burden upon the mine owners. Another drawback had been the lack of police protection to prevent thieving from the mines, through which the losses to the mine owners were enormous. The methods of the Boers for repressing the black population, which greatly hampered the labor market, was another source of trouble, and it was accentuated by the liquor laws, which encouraged the sale to the blacks of a vile liquor known as "Cape smoke." Then back of everything else was the dugged opposition of the Boer to the progress of the Outlander.

After ten years only five per cent of the Rand, Mr. Brown stated, has been worked out, so that that immense deposit, which is but a tithing of the mineral wealth of the country, has as yet only been nibbled at. Before the war 30,000 stamps were running there continuously. The works stretched for thirty miles in a straight line, and at night throughout the whole length of the mines the Rand was a blaze of electric light, brighter than any street in Toronto. With the war over the Transvaal, Mr. Brown believes, will quickly become the greatest gold-producing country in the world.

Mr. Brown spoke very highly of General DeWet. If the general walked into the Queen's, he said, he would probably be taken for a successful Manitoba farmer. He was a very pleasant man to meet, shrewd and farseeing in business affairs. He and Mr. Brown had been and were still partners in a ranch. Mr. Brown believed that Generals DeWet and Botha would yet come in, and they, with the other Boers, would take an important part in the politics of the new colony. Mr. Brown evidently believes in the policy of conciliation. The Boer character he analyzes as a mixture of Huguenot and fanaticism, Dutch stubbornness and Scotch canny and shrewdness. The Boers of Scotch lineage, he says, are their best fighters. Mr. Brown considers himself a pretty good wing shot, but a Boer, he said, could see a duck's head when it was at a distance where he could not see its whole body.

Some Foreign Grown Seeds.

The following article is from the pen of Mr. G. H. Clark, B. S. A., chief of the seed division, department of agriculture. "If the farmers of Canada were acquainted with the sources of supply of their root crop seeds, and the avenues through which they pass before reaching them, they would be a great deal more particular when making their purchases.

Practically all the seed for our root crops is grown in foreign countries. However important it may be that the seed for such crops be grown in the country where it is wanted for sowing, the cheap labor in those European countries, which have become the seed gardens of the world, has made the seed growing industry unprofitable to Canadian farmers or seed specialists.

Our supply of foreign grown seeds is bought and imported principally by our larger seed firms. They must make their purchases either by paying a commensurate price to reliable European seed growers, men who grow seed from selected pedigreed stock or, they may buy seed at a much lower price—seed that is grown by men whose chief aim has been to produce a large quantity, independent of the quality of the crop it will produce. In the former case, the seed is grown from selected plants—from roots which have an ideal size and form and are known to be true to name.

During the last ten or fifteen years the seed trade has, to a great extent, been passing from the hands of seedmen who devote all their time to a study of seeds and the seed trade, into the hands of local dealers. Unfortunately, fair competition in the seed trade, is practically impossible, since the appearance of most commercial seeds is but a slight indication of their real value. The competition has been and is too largely confined to prices alone. Farmers continue to patronize the local dealer who is able to quote a low price for his goods. The local dealer demands a low price seed of the wholesale firms, and in turn there has been a growing strife among wholesale seed firms in the buying of cheap goods, with which to supply local dealers. It is well to mention, however, that through the progressive spirit of some reliable seed houses a limited trade of the best stocks of root crop seeds has been fostered, and there is little difficulty experienced among intelligent farmers, in getting the best quality of seeds provided that they go the right way about it, and are willing to pay a commensurate price. But much of the root crop seeds sold in Canada are retailed to the farmer at a price quite as low as our Canadian seed houses have to pay reputed European seed growers for the best seed from selected pedigreed stock.

Appeals have been made, both by seedmen and farmers, to place such restrictions on the seed trade, as will serve to withdraw the responsibility connected therewith, from the hands of incompetent local dealers. With root crop seeds, this aim may be reached by allowing only reliable seed houses or seed importers the right to place such goods on the market; by allowing them to place goods in sealed packages, each package to be properly labelled, and to bear the name and consequently the reputation of the seed house; in the hands of local dealers to be sold on commission only; Official interference in the seed trade may have objectionable features. Perhaps the most striking example of where legislation has been applied to improve the conditions under which commercial seeds are sold, is in the State of Maine, where all seeds sold must be accompanied with a statement, showing the percentage of pure and vital seeds. They have extended their seed trade a modification of the act which is used in Canada to regulate the quality of commercial fertilizers, and the results have clearly demonstrated that, whatever evils may accompany an enforced guarantee system in connection with the seed trade, it is an effective way to improve the quality of commercial seeds especially of clover and grasses, of which a great deal is sold in some districts in Canada, that contains large quantities of noxious weed seeds and is a decided injury, not only to the farmer who buys it, but to the locality there it is grown.

Canadians Make a Haul

On March 8th, Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, reported the discovery of a Boer magazine, in a cave northeast of Riet, Orange River Colony, containing 310,000 rounds of ammunition, hundreds of shells and fuses, 200 pounds of powder, a machine gun, helios, field telegraphs and quantities of stores. Thirty-five Boers have been captured in the same neighborhood since March 4. The magazine was discovered by Canadian Scouts, commanded by Col. Ross.

Culture of Fall Wheat in Alberta.

Communication to the Farmer's Advocate; Fall wheat has been grown in the Pincher Creek district for the past 8 or 9 years by a few ranchers on a limited scale, but very little interest being taken in its production until the last two years. About two years ago settlers turned their attention to this district and a steady stream of them have been coming ever since, all having the same object in view—the growing of fall wheat in connection with stock-raising. Consequently, there has been a large increase in acreage, particularly in the last sown crop, which went into winter in most cases in fine condition. Only two varieties have been grown so far, one of which the name has been lost but if not White Clawson it resembles that variety very closely; the other being Dawson's Golden Chaff, the latter being grown chiefly by the Mormons. Last season the C. P. Railway Co. distributed a carload of Kansas Red fall wheat in this district, this variety being of high class milling quality. This important cereal has been grown with more or less success under so many different systems of cultivation and at such a wide range of dates of seeding, ranging from July 15th to September 20th, that it seems that if it gets a start at all you are sure of a crop. While this may be the case, the heaviest crops have been from the July sowing on a well-prepared seed-bed, and if the growth becomes so large that there is danger of too much top, cattle are allowed to graze it off.

A large proportion of the present growing crop was sown on new breaking, the land being plowed in June, and a disc harrow being used not only to prepare the seed-bed, but also to cover the seed, which in most cases was sown by hand, as there are very few seed drills in the district yet, and, I might add, this plan of cultivation has been a success. Others sowed on out stubble, just using a disk, the same as on the breaking, and sowing the seed by hand on the stubble, not plowing the land at all; while others plowed the land first, using a drill if they had one, but in most cases sowing by hand; while others claim they have waited until they dug their potatoes and sowed that land in fall wheat, the wheat barley reaching the surface before cold weather set in, and have had good crops ranging from 40 to 50 bushels per acre.

While all these different modes of cultivation and dates of seeding have met with fair success, the largest yields have been on the well-prepared summer-fallow, the wheat being sown with a seed drill from 2.1-2 to 3 inches deep, and sown about July 20th or not later than Aug. 1st. Then if the wheat gets too much top, turn light cattle on, taking them off before they feed it off too close. The successful growing of this crop is a great boon in this district in many ways—spring wheat not having succeeded very well so far, ripening being delayed by the cool atmosphere until frost damages the crop, whereas fall wheat ripens early in August, when there is no danger of frost; then, again, it is sown at a time when other farm work is not so pressing, and harvested before spring-sown grain is ready to cut. But one of the greatest benefits of growing this crop will be the destruction of weeds, which are fast overrunning the spring sown lands, many of which were this last season a mat of wild oats, and were cut for hay, being of no use for a grain crop. A summer-fallow is out of the question in this district, as the high winds drift the fallows so badly that it ruins the land, but when fall wheat is sown in July it does away with all drifting of the soil, as it forms a solid mat long before the windy season begins, and any foul seed that did not germinate during the early summer will come up in the wheat and the first hard frost will destroy them, and the result is a fine crop, free of weeds. While the fall wheat of Alberta may not demand as high a price as the Manitoba hard spring wheat, it will be more than made up by the bountiful yield, as it will give at least one-third more bushels per acre, as it has yielded in this district 72 bushels per acre, and then again it must be borne in mind that the Alberta fall wheat is a much harder wheat than the Ontario spring wheat; hence it will be a high grade milling wheat.

Following Unionism
A London despatch intimates that the new army regulations proposed by Mr. Broderick, providing for increased pay and other reforms which have created so much comment appear to have been directly copied from the United States.

Major Arthur Lee, M. P., for the Fareham division of Hampshire, and formerly British military attaché at Washington, said to a representative of the Associated Press: "At last we have taken out a leaf from your excellent book, though I do not believe we have gone quite so far in that direction as we might, or hope we may. Under Mr. Broderick's proposed changes, a private in the British infantry now receives almost as much as a private in the United States army. With this change, which I frequently advocated while military attaché at Washington, we hope to get a class of recruits similar to those secured in America. Under the old pay we were gradually lowering the physical standard, yet still finding it hard to get men, while our desertion percentage was increasing at a rate which showed there was something radically wrong with the system. The American army was the only other voluntarily enlisted body in the world with which we could make serviceable comparisons. The continental armies, owing to conscription and other causes, are perfectly worthless examples. A year ago Mr. Broderick post-poled the idea of copying the United States. Now he has changed his mind and has done what the majority of the members of the house, regardless of party, believe to be the very best thing that could have happened to the army since Mr. Cardwell, in 1872 effected his sweeping reforms. For the first time 'Tommy,' with everything found and higher pay, will be in a better position than his agricultural brother, and from that class we ought now to get the best instead of the worst. Yes, it may hurt the agricultural interests, or what there is left of it, in England, but I do not believe that this damage will be as serious as the evils which the change will correct. Not only is it interesting to note the influence of the American system in 1896, even the changes but they will have a tremendous negative importance. Last year the government clearly indicated its fears that it might have to resort to conscription. The present move banishes all possibility of this, for I understand Mr. Broderick is willing to go even farther in copying the United States 'excellent treatment of enlisted men and by liberal finance build up the standard of the army. The increase in pay means an additional annual cost of about $2,000,000, but I maintain that it will be a great saving of money, for the better class of men secured will mean fewer men in the hospitals and prisons as well as obviating other forms of wastage, and will quickly make up for the additional initial outlay. Some day, perhaps, we may be able to adopt the sensible plan of the United States of paying the enlisted men of all arms at the same rate. But traditions here die hard."

Boer Delegates Turned Under.
Washington, D. C., March 5.—Messrs. Wolmarans and Wessels, the Boer representatives, were received by Secretary of State Hay at 1 o'clock this afternoon. It was distinctly understood that the Boers were to be received as private citizens and Mr. Hay talked to them freely with this understanding. The principal object of the delegates was to induce the United States government to do something to terminate the present struggle in South Africa though they were not very specific as to what they wanted. The secretary of state heard them attentively but recommended that the Boers see Mr. Roosevelt and ascertain his views. This they agreed to do, and later in the day, accompanied by Dr. Frederick Mueller, of the Orange Free State, called at the White House. They were received by President Roosevelt in the library, and remained with him about 15 minutes. They called as private citizens and not in their official capacity as Boer representatives. Mr. Roosevelt listened attentively to what they had to say, and then informed them that the United States government cannot and will not interfere in the struggle.

Father Lacombe in Montreal
A Montreal despatch of Monday says: Father Lacombe, widely known through his combats with obdurate missions to the Indians in the Northwest, spoke yesterday at all masses in St. Jean Baptiste church, appealing for assistance for work. Father Lacombe told the congregation that he had been a missionary for fifty-two years, and had lived in tents and on the prairies with his folk. He spoke of the excellent work done among these people and how great results had sprung from the beginnings. Now schools and churches were needed and it was to assist their propagation that he had come to Montreal. Descriptions of life on the plains were given and his story of the conversion of "Sweet Grass" was touching. The chief had been present when Father Lacombe received a copy of a Papal encyclical issued by Pius IX, referring to the dogmas of the Immaculate Conception and the priest's emotion on this occasion so stirred the chief, that he asked for instruction, and became a worthy member of the church. Father Lacombe's appeals were generously answered by the parishioners.

Cattle Embargo to Remain
Correspondence regarding the cattle embargo in Great Britain was presented to parliament on the 6th. In May last a minute of council was passed by the Dominion government and forwarded to England, asking for the removal of the embargo. On June 21 Mr. Chamberlain transmitted the reply of the Imperial board of agriculture, stating that it was unable to propose to parliament a modification of repeal of the act of 1896, establishing the embargo. Mr. Chamberlain pointed out that Canada and the United States were the only countries which could ship live cattle to England, and that under these circumstances Canadian cattle were in an exceptionally advantageous position as compared with other countries, the United States excepted.

The board of agriculture in its reply said that the embargo was of general application, and that it would be impossible to repeal or amend it. The letter goes on to say: "The board is glad to know that since the passing of the act of 1896 the trade in live animals between Canada and the United Kingdom has been practically maintained at its former level, and in view of the importance of stability in the conditions under which trade of that character is carried on, the difficulty of reconciling the opinions of experts on occasions when the appearance of disease is reported, and the absence of any noteworthy effect upon the volume of imports and upon the price of meat, it is not probable that parliament will support, nor could the board propose, any modification or repeal of the act passed five years ago, after the fullest consideration."

Japan's View of the Treaty.
K. Zamote, managing editor of the Japan Times, was recently interviewed in Victoria concerning the new treaty between Great Britain and Japan. In reference to the treaty he said: "True, it will create new enemies for Japan, but the Japanese do not mind that. It will make Russia a greater enemy, but what of it. It will make enemies of those continental powers who do not like England, but with Britain as an ally why should Japan mind making these countries enemies. The alliance will strengthen Britain in the Far East. Britain has many interests, and in the Far East interest of the British empire Japan is equally interested. Both stand for the open door, for free trade, making all equal in the commerce of the greatest eastern world."

G. N. R. Entering Canada
A Helena despatch of March 7th says: The Great Northern railway is preparing to transfer its recently acquired property, the Great Falls and Canada line, into a broad gauge road. The necessary surveys will be completed May 1, and the work of widening will then begin at the Great Falls end of the line. There are only 66 miles of the road to build across the Canada line to Letbridge where the road will connect with the Canadian Pacific at Dunmore Junction. But the Great Northern has 130 miles of narrow gauge to rebuild to the International boundary line, and the work on this part will be done first. It is expected that broad gauge trains will be running from Great Falls to Dunmore Junction by Sept. 1st.

No News of Andrea
(Fresh Press; Interviewed yesterday by the Free Press Mr. Tyrell, secretary to Commissioner Chipman of the Hudson's Bay company, said nothing new has been received by the company confirmatory of a report published some two years ago that Aeronaut Andre and companions had landed on the northern shores of Resolute Bay and were called by Eskimos.

Slanders on British Troops.
The most forcible reply possible to the slanders concerning the British army which have been propagated in many European nations, Germany included was that of the German residents of Durban at a meeting held on Feb. 16th, in the new German settlement when they signed an indignant protest against the charges made against the conduct of the British army in South Africa, denying them, and declaring them, on the personal knowledge of the signatories, to be slanders.

Most of the speeches at the meeting were delivered in German and were of a stirring and vehement character. The speakers described the statements in question as "horrible libels" and "Godless devilish lies," and cited evidence to disprove them. Evidence was also brought forward in tribute to the good treatment which the German population had received there they having in this respect been on an equality with the English. Although loving their own fatherland, the speakers said, honor demanded that they should condemn this "lewd conspiracy."

Manitoba Markets
From the Commercial.
Manitoba wheat has been dull and quiet but steady. Only a small business doing owing to the difficulty of transportation. Prices at the close of business yesterday are as follows, viz: 1 northern, 71c in store Fort William, and 2 northern, 68c March delivery. For May delivery 73 1/2c; 1 northern 70 1/2c. In store Fort Arthur same as in store Fort William. In store Duluth 1 northern, 71 1/2c, and 2 northern, 68 1/2c. March delivery and May delivery same price as Fort William. On track North Bay, 1 northern is worth 81 1/2c and 2 northern 78 1/2c.

The country wheat market is very quiet owing to lack of elevator accommodation. Where wheat is being bought prices rule from 57 to 58c per bushel. Oats.—The market is well supplied with oats and prices are easy at about the same figures as a week ago. There is a small eastward movement to Quebec points, but buyers there are not very keen just at present and the business lags a little. Prices remain at 35c to 36c per bushel for feed grades in car lots on track here. Prices being paid to farmers at country points for No. 2 white oats range around 25c to 30c, Brandon rate of freight. Street oats are worth 30 to 33c per bushel.

Seeking a Market.

B. C. Trade Budget. The Vancouver board of trade held a special session this week.

The meeting was held primarily to receive nominations for the 1902 election of officers, and to clear up the outstanding business before the annual general meeting, but one of the most important matters that has come up for consideration for some time was contained in the following letter, received from the secretary of the Edmonton board of trade:

Dear Sir.—At a council meeting of our board, held to-day, it was unanimously resolved that your board be communicated with re the port of Vancouver doing something to develop the shipment of grain. Alberta is only 800 miles from you; this year (1901) it has raised some 3,000,000 bushels of grain. The Edmonton district shipped via St. John, N. B.—a distance of about 3,000 miles, all rail—several hundred thousand bushels of oats for the Imperial government, South Africa. With proper facilities at your port we think this could have gone your way. Our grain growing is only in its infancy, and we are looking to the future.

It is noticed that during the year 1900, 25,000,000 bushels of grain were exported from the American Pacific ports. What is the matter with the British Pacific ports?

This matter will be well worth looking into. (Signed) F. FRASER TIMS, Secretary Edmonton Board of Trade, Feb. 17, 1902.

Mr. C. E. Tisdall, Mr. W. H. Malkin and others speaking upon the matter, remarked that it was a most important subject, as, if this port could be made a centre of the grain exporting trade, the benefit that would accrue to Vancouver could hardly be realized. It was decided to refer the matter to the consideration of a special committee.

Dumont in London.

M. Santos-Dumont is in London trying to arrange for the exhibition of his airship, "Santos Dumont No. 6," at the Crystal Palace. He stated that by providing a large number of "inside compartments" he can prevent the recurrence of the mishap the other week at Monte Carlo. He will make experiments in London at the time of the coronation, and will possibly attempt to steer his airship round the dome of St. Paul's. He says that he will make no more experiments in France, but confine himself in future to England and the United States.

Emigration to Western Canada.

London Times: An important scheme for the development of emigration to Western Canada has just been finally arranged as the result of a visit to this country of Mr. James H. Smart, deputy minister of the interior for the Dominion of Canada, and Mr. W. J. White, inspector of United States immigration agencies in Canada, acting in conjunction with Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Canadian emigration commissioner in London, and no fewer than 2,500 to 3,000 persons will leave Liverpool or Glasgow during the month of March to settle in the Dominion, while others are expected to follow in April, May and June at the rate of about 4,000 per month. The scheme in question follows an active propaganda which was set on foot in the United States about four years ago with the view of inducing residents in that country to move across the frontier and settle in Canada. It was found by the Canadian officials who took charge of the movement in question that comparatively little was known among the vast majority of the dwellers even in the more northern of the states as to the splendid agricultural resources of Canada, especially in regard to the growing of wheat, and that there was a certain degree of reluctance to make what seemed to be a bold venture. But the circulation of a vast amount of descriptive literature, the organization of parties of American journalists who visited the Dominion and reported on what they saw, and the adoption of other methods for the spread of information served the purpose of enlightening residents in the States in question as to the advantages of settlement in the Dominion, while "personally conducted" parties of settlers were arranged so that the people would be put to a minimum of trouble in establishing themselves on British territory. So successful has the movement been that during the last four years no fewer than 50,000 persons have removed from the United States to Canada. There were 18,000 who did so last year, and the total this year is expected to exceed 25,000. It is understood that the settlers are fully convinced of the superiority of the agricultural capabilities of Western Canada over those of the particular districts they have left, and the acquisition of this additional population is naturally a source of satisfaction to the Dominion government. But the movement has also had a perceptible and noteworthy effect in strengthening the friendly feelings entertained on the part of Americans towards both Canada and Great Britain. The newcomers have not only found a more fertile territory in the land of their adoption, but they have learned what, individually, they had not realized before—that there is just as much liberty and freedom under the British flag as there is under that of the United States. So it comes about that the favorable reports they send to their friends in the States are inducing more and still more to follow their example while those who have been the qualifying period of three years in Canada are, as a rule, glad to become naturalized, and they are found to make as good British subjects as those among whom they have gone to live.

The success of this movement as regards the United States recently led the Dominion government to seek to organize, if possible, a similar stream of emigration from this country to Western Canada. Under the arrangements now completed a would-be emigrant can join a "personally conducted" party which will be under the charge of an agent of the Dominion government from the time of leaving Liverpool or Glasgow, until Winnipeg or some still more western point is reached, the total cost of the journey being less than £8. Arrived at his destination, the emigrant could remain in one of the various "homes" set up by the Dominion government until he had found employment, or had settled down, merely paying for his board, and if he took out wife and children the entire family would be so accommodated. No doubt is entertained that any one wishing for work on a farm would be able to get it almost at once, with the help of the local agent of the government, which help would be freely placed at his disposal. Should he be in a position to take to farming on his own account, the government would grant him an allotment of 160 acres free of charge, but subject to certain conditions as to residence and cultivation. Those of his sons who were over 18 would each be entitled to a similar piece of land, though in their case they would be allowed to live in the same homestead as their father, occupation of the holding not being requisite in their case. They could, at least, hold the land until they cared to sell it, and the value of the land is steadily increasing in value, last year's advance being about 5s. per acre. There is a great demand for farm laborers, and the wages paid in Western Canada to persons of this class are about the same as in this country, but the difference is that in the former case the agricultural laborer would get his 160 acre allotment in addition, and should, in course of time, be able to set up a farm of his own. It is said that many well-to-do Canadian settlers of to-day began life in this way. One point strongly insisted on is that there is no necessity whatever for any person going out to Western Canada to enter into an undertaking, either on this side or on the other, to pay for "instruction" in farm work, or to give a "premium" of any sort whatever. The most desirable class of emigrants are, naturally, those who are already acquainted more or less with agricultural pursuits; but there is no reason why any one who is really willing to make himself useful on a farm should not go out and get employment at once, provided only (since there are no free passages) that he has sufficient means to pay for the journey, with a few pounds over for contingent expenses.

The propaganda set on foot in this country by the representatives of the Dominion government has been not much less active than that previously carried on by them in the United States, and already there are some seven or eight special agents here waiting to "conduct" the parties of emigrants, of whom the first two will start from Liverpool on March 14, and from Glasgow on March 21, subsequent parties leaving every other week. Meanwhile inquiries on the subject are being received at the offices of the high commissioner for Canada, 17, Victoria street, S. W., from all parts of the country, the very numerous communications coming to hand testifying to the widespread interest the movement has excited.

Kipling Again.

An interesting letter of Rudyard Kipling, has been published in London, according to a recent despatch. Dealing with the Philippines, he replied to a Shanghai correspondent who drew his attention to American methods in those islands, as follows:

"All you say about the Philippines, the conflict there between the Americans, military and civil, and the pig-headedness of the military and their habit of setting bulldogs to catch rabbits, is immensely cheering to me because it is precisely what we are doing in South Africa. You cannot persuade a big country full of prosperity that it does not know everything. When it has lost a few thousand sons and a few thousand millions sterling it may, if unjustly enlightened, begin to understand that it has taken hold of the wrong end of the stick; but that is a great deal to hope for and probably will not come in our time. I am very glad to learn on your showing that the Americans seem to be constitutionally incapable of admitting themselves wrong and frankly getting themselves in the right, because I did not like to speak of the Americans as any more logical than ourselves. Of course, what a new country wants is a high-toned despot of unlimited powers and absolute integrity. But as America and England are both free people, we must just muddle along, in the expensive, wasteful, butchery fashion that attends methods."

Settlers are Coming.
Winnipeg Telegram of Tuesday, Yesterday at 9:30 a. m. a train load of settlers and their effects arrived from Ontario on route to various points in Manitoba and the Territories. The party consisted of about forty persons, and they are bringing with them many of the comforts of their eastern homes as well as cattle, horses, stock and agricultural implements. The greater number are from the vicinity of Carleton Place, Ont. Three of the families will take up land in Manitoba. The balance of the number will go on to Alberta, where land has already been picked out by their advance agent. The settlers are all well-to-do farmers, and are taking with them some fine thoroughbred stock, with the intention of going in for mixed farming instead of devoting their energies to either cattle or grain straight.
