 before purchasing a baking powder that may possibly contain injurious ingredients. Many food scientists claim that baking powder containing alum is unsafe for use in food. The mere fact that some brands of baking powder have the words "No Alum" on the label is not sufficient proof that they are what they are represented to be. Our chemists find a good many have "No Alum" on the outside but large quantities of it inside.

CHAPTER X.
 THE TAMING PROCESS.

"It's no trouble," murmured Rebecca, rather awed at the languid, high-bred London tone and the finished bow. "Surely you will have the water?"

"Thank you, but not in a basin."

"How then?" asked Grace, who had been standing silently listening and watching. "How do you want it?"

"From the pump," said the captain, quietly. "I think I saw one in the court. If you will allow me—and he rose—"I will go and use it."

He walked out and the two women followed him.

Turning his sleeve up to the elbow he held his bruised arm under the spout and pumped.

His white face told how fierce the pain was.

Rebecca flushed; Grace caught hold of the handle.

"If you must have it in this stupid way, I'll pump!" she said.

And pump she did, the captain thanking her gravely and declaring himself cured by the operation.

"Well," said Rebecca, "I trust it has given you relief; but it's a singular remedy."

"One of the best there is for a sprain," said the captain, wiping his arm on a towel which one of the servants had brought. "It will cure even a bad one, and this is not that."

"I think it is," said Grace, in her short way.

"No, it is not," said the captain. "We could have got home without any care—well, but the squire would have seen it, and then good-bye to our races for the future, Miss Grace. A man who could not clear a five-foot fence would not have been trusted to take care of a young lady who could, Miss Goodman."

Rebecca smiled feebly.

"Grace is able to take care of herself," she said.

"I am," said Grace.

Rebecca had only one meaning. Grace might have had only one also, but to the man's ears both remarks bore two meanings.

Was this girl able to take care of herself?

"You must not ride home," said Rebecca, as they went back to the drawing-room. "I was going over to the

"What time does the coach go?" he asked. "I must catch it, I'm afraid."

CHAPTER XI.
 TWO STREAMS.

Now let the stricken deer go weep,
 The hart ungalloped;
 For some must watch while others sleep,
 So runs the world away.—HAMLET.

"Bella, why did you send for me?"

The speaker was Captain Reginald Dartmouth. The person to whom he spoke was a lady, by the name Bella Mervin, by profession chief ballet dancer at the Royal Signet Theater, by nature what the reader shall discover for himself.

The scene was a drawing-room in Carlton Square. Captain Dartmouth had just entered, clad in a traveling suit and carrying his hat in his hand.

Miss Mervin was seated, or, rather, lying upon the blue satin couch—blue became her soft blood complexion; satin she preferred to any other material, for obvious reasons.

She rose to meet him with a suppressed cry, half of surprise, half of love—yes, love, for Bella Mervin, the danseuse of the Royal Signet Theater, loved Captain Reginald Dartmouth, and, singular to say, the handsome captain loved her in return.

"Reginald!" she cried, springing toward him, as only a ballet dancer could spring, and drawing his face down to her slightly flushed and very beautiful one. "Reginald! You have come at once! How good of you!"

"I don't know that, Bella. Put foolish instead of good and you will be nearer the mark."

"Not foolish but good, I say again," she repeated. "But come and sit down; you must be tired. How cold your hand! Franciose shall bring you some chocolate. I am only just up."

And after helping him off with his damp coat, which she flung with reckless negligence upon one of the satin fauteuils, she touched a small silver-gilt spring-bell.

"Chocolate, Franciose," she said to the French maid who appeared, and then, poking the fire until the flame shot up cheerily, drew up an armchair toward it.

"Now come and sit here, Reginald, and rest awhile," she said, bringing forward a dainty little footstool as an additional comfort.

The captain watched all these preparations for his comfort with an air of listless proprietorship, then settled down into the chair and drew the girl on his knee.

"Now, Bella," he said, "perhaps you will answer my question."

"No, I will not," she replied, stroking his head and looking at him with an arch impudence and an admiring expression in her blue eyes. "Not a word of explanation until you have had your chocolate; then, lying on the couch yonder, with a cigar in your mouth and your little Bella at your feet, you shall hear what I like to tell you."

He nodded.

"So be it," he said, raising his eyebrows and smiling the smile only this girl knew. "But I warn you that your story must not take long in the telling, Bella mine. I start by the night coach."

"No, no!" she exclaimed, with a look of entreaty, clasping her hands. "Don't leave me so soon, Reginald. Don't—oh, don't!"

"He was touched by the plaintive voice and by the sudden tears that sprang to her eyes.

Captain Reginald was not a "caressing man"—as a poetess has it—but he drew the golden head to his breast.

"Bella," he said, in his grave tones, "you ruin me."

She drew herself away with a quick start and paled.

"I ruin you?" she said. "Reginald!"

"Ay," he said, "you melt me when I should be as ice; you soften me when I should be as hard as iron; you—ah, Bella, Bella! Where's the chocolate?"

She was used to his strange manners, and reached the chocolate, which was served in an antique cup—worth a matter of fifty guineas—without a word.

He sipped the aromatic beverage for a minute or two in silence, looking at the dancing fire-flame and smoothing the little white hand that lay in his.

Bella was content, and waited.

"Another cup?"

He shook his head.

"Do," she entreated.

"No," he said, "no more. And now, Bella, why did you send for me?"

"Why did you go?" she asked him by way of reply. "Why did you go so suddenly, so—so cruelly?"

He raised his eyebrows.

"Suddenly—cruelly! Do you expect me to give you six months' notice of every journey I intend taking? Is it cruel to run into the country for a day or two? Be reasonable, Bella, and answer my question. Why did you write for me?"

"I wanted to see you," she murmured, half fearfully, and creeping closer, as if by a caress to turn the edge of his anger aside.

His eyes grew colder and his voice was sterner as he said:

"Bella, let me tell you a story. Three years ago a crowd of Parisian idlers and vagabonds were gathered round a girl who was dancing, with a tambourine, on the boulevard. A gentleman, an Englishman, stopped in his idle lounge to look on. After the dance the girl handed round her tambourine for the sou. One vagabond offered her a napoleon for a kiss. She refused. He insisted on the barter with roughness and caught her in his arms. The girl shrieked, and the Englishman, a lazy fellow, interfered. The vagabond picked himself from the pavement and the two, girl and Englishman, went off.

Fashion Plates.

A VERY PRETTY AND STYLISH MODEL.

Pattern 3166 was employed for this style. It is cut in 3 Sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. 5 1/4 yards of 36 inch material will be required for an 18 year size.

As here shown, printed and plain voile are combined. One could have this in batiste or voile, braided or embroidered. It is good also for foulard, taffeta, duvetyn, satin, and French serge. The width of the skirt at lower edge is 1 1/2 yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

A COMFORTABLE HOUSE DRESS.

2878. Here is a model that is especially desirable for mature figures. The sleeve may be in wrist length, close fitting and finished with or without a cuff, or it may be in elbow length with a neat cuff finish. Width of dress at lower edge is about 2 1/4 yards. Percale, drill, khaki, chambray, gingham, poplin, flannel and lawn may be used for this design.

The Pattern is cut in 7 Sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. Size 46 will require 6 yards of 30 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

MRS. SANFORD'S MESSAGE TO WORKING WOMEN

Laurel, Miss.—"Eight years ago I was suffering with pains and weakness caused by a female trouble. I had headaches, chills and fevers, and was unable to do my work part of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and I took twelve bottles of it, and my health has been good ever since. I am able to run the machine and do dressmaking besides my housework. You are at liberty to publish my letter if it will help some poor suffering woman."

—Mrs. J. C. SANFORD, 1237 Second Ave., Laurel, Miss.

Thousands of women drag along from day to day in just such a miserable condition as was Mrs. Sanford, or suffering from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headache, nervousness, or "the blues."

Such women should profit by Mrs. Sanford's experience and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find relief from their sufferings as she did.

For special suggestions in regard to your ailment write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their long experience is at your service.

A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS.

10 Days' Treatment Free.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened, and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A Free Trial Treatment, enough for 10 days, will be sent Free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.

Canada's New Problem.

Coast to Coast Strike in Civil Service Threatened -- All German Ships to be Used in Home Trade -- Denmark Suspends Russian Trade Negotiations--Fresh Vigor Infused Into Carranza Forces -- New York Saloons Running Wide Open.

CANADIAN CIVIL SERVANTS THREATEN STRIKE.

VANCOUVER, May 13. A general strike of civil servants extending from coast to coast is now being mooted, according to the officials in the postal service here as a protest against the alleged unsatisfactory salary provisions contained within the re-classification announced recently by the civil service commission.

CUTTING OUT IMPRISONED LEADERS.

WINNIPEG, May 13. The Dominion Labor Party last night cancelled all previous nominations of their candidates for the provincial election in this city which have hitherto included the imprisoned labor leaders, and will submit to membership a new list of names from which a ticket will be drawn a fortnight hence. On the new list only the names of one of the convicted leaders appears, that of Rev. William Ivens.

WANTED FOR DOMESTIC USE.

BERLIN, May 13. Orders have been given by the German government that German ships will not be allowed to ply any longer between foreign ports as all tonnage is required in domestic commerce, says a Hamburg despatch to the Boers Courier.

A HEALTHY CONDITION.

LONDON, May 13. The registrar general's annual report shows the marriage rate to be the highest on record and the death rate lower. While the birth rate has not yet had time to recover from the war effects, it has steadily improved and fewer children are dying in infancy.

FOR WORLD TRADE.

MONTREAL, Que., May 13. The steamer Scotian sailed to-day carrying with it Canada's first contingent in its drive on world trade and the second will leave to-morrow on the Venetia.

DANES SUSPEND NEGOTIATIONS WITH RUSSIA.

COPENHAGEN, May 13. Negotiations with the Russian Soviet Government for resumption of trade relations have been suspended by the Danish committee here until the situation in Russia is fully cleared up.

A FATAL FIRE.

OTTAWA, May 13. Two lives were lost in a fire which broke out at an early hour this morning in Dr. Hagar's Maternity Hospital. The victims, who were both patients at the time, were Mrs. B. Morris, 121 Lebreton St., and Mrs. P. Mitchell, 22 St. Joseph St., Ottawa.

MORE DISORDERS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, May 13. Reports of an unusual number of activities by armed and masked men in various sections of Ireland were received in London to-day. The reports began trickling in early this morning and by noon had reached the proportions of an avalanche. As at Easter time many police barracks were attacked and a large number of them were destroyed. A notable instance of such attacks was a raid upon an income tax office in the heart of Belfast. At the Irish office it was

"Tanlac Made a New Man of Me," Says Jas. Joys.

Now Eats Three Hearty Meals A Day And Feels Strong As Ever—Gains Weight.

"I'm a strong champion of Tanlac after this, for I've proved its merit. It only required four bottles to overcome all my ailments and to-day I'm like a new man," declared James Joys, of 1 Hamilton St., St. John's, Nfld., who is yet another of the men who went overseas to settle with the Hunns, to publicly testify to the remarkable merits of this world-famous medicine. "When I returned after five years in France, my digestion was all upset and I had no appetite to speak of. In fact I was afraid to eat much because I knew what I should suffer afterwards. The gas would form in my stomach and blow me up so as to make my heart race like an auto-engine. I had frequent headaches especially in the back of my head and it just felt as though my head would burst. Often I had dizzy spells when I could scarcely see anything but dots floating before my eyes, and would stagger like a drunken man. I was also troubled a lot with my kidneys and had pains in the back that tormented the very life out of me. I tried this, that and the other medicine but none of them seemed to do me any good until I tried Tanlac. "But the very first bottle of that medicine helped me, the second one helped me a good deal more, and by the time I had finished the third bottle I was like a changed man. I can now eat a hearty meal every time I sit down to the table, and never suffer a bit with indigestion. I'm no longer troubled with gas or palpitation of the heart or dizziness, and don't know what it is to have a headache any more. The pains in the back have left me entirely, and I sleep soundly at night. I have gained several pounds in weight and am stronger in every way, for I don't get tired out like I used to. I'm glad of the chance to tell others about what a great medicine Tanlac is, and I feel sure it will help them like it did me."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island St. R., Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale.—adv.

said at mid-afternoon that the office was without advices concerning the events mentioned in the reports. Meanwhile Viscount French the viceroy, was in London for a conference with Andrew Bonar Law, the government leader in the House of Commons, regarding the policy to be pursued with a view to restore order in Ireland.

MEANS SEVERE STRUGGLE IF TRUE.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 13. General officers of the Carranza army and the governments of Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, at a conference held at Monterey, decided to stand by the Carranza Government, and will put up a strong counter offensive against the revolutionary representatives in Northern Mexico, according to an official announcement by Gonzales De La Mata, Carranza consul here.

ITALIAN POLITICS.

LONDON, May 13. An agreement has been reached by the Italian constitutional democratic parliamentary group to collaborate with the government programme which covers the fundamental points of that party, says a Reuter's despatch from Rome. The popular parliamentary group has also decided upon a solution of the present ministerial crisis in Italy on the basis of a clearly definite programme of bold reforms and would participate in the formation of a government.

WILL MEET LLOYD GEORGE.

PARIS, May 13. Premier Millerand plans to leave Paris to-morrow for Folkestone, where he will meet Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain to discuss the Spa Conference. Millerand will return on Monday in order to be able to make his declaration to the Chamber of Deputies on Tuesday regarding the strike and the Government's proposed action against General Federation of Labor.

PROHIBITION LAW NOT ENFORCED.

NEW YORK, May 13. Saloons in the city are running full blast providing law breakers with abundance of liquors of the very worst kind, because of the lax enactment of the prohibition Law, Judge Mott declared to-day in the general sessions court in imposing sentence of seven to fourteen years on Frank Murray who pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter.

Household Notes.

For safety's sake, leave the oven of the gas stove open while lighting the burner. Olive oil makes an excellent tonic in the spring—a teaspoonful three times daily. Cook cucumbers as you would squashes. They make delicious fritters and pies. Sweeten the food tea while still hot. Less sugar is used and a better flavor obtained. In the spring all winter clothing should be looked over, brushed, cleaned, aired and repaired.

MINARD'S LIMENT CURES GART IN COWS.

To-Day's Messages.

STRICKEN OUT. WASHINGTON, May 13. The provisions in the Republican peace resolution, requesting the President to open negotiations with Germany for a separate treaty, was stricken out to-day, on motion of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader. The status of peace for the United States must be obtained in some other way, if it cannot be secured by ratification of the Treaty and the League of Nations. Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, one of the original mild reservation Republicans in the treaty fight, declared to-day in the Senate, supporting the Republican peace resolution.

PROFITEERS NULCATED.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 13. Judge Thompson in the United States District Court here to-day, sentenced the Books Store Company to pay a fine of two thousand dollars, after a plea of guilty had been entered by counsel for the defendant corporation, to a charge of making unjust and unreasonable charges for shoes.

BIG SALVAGE JOB.

LONDON, May 13. The Government salvage steamer Cozer has sailed from Southampton, bound for the Irish Northeast Coast, in an attempt to raise three million pounds worth of specie, which is lying in the bulk of the White Star liner Laurentic a score of fathoms below the ocean surface. The Laurentic was sunk, either by mine or submarine, while on a voyage to America in the early part of 1917.

ITALY WITHDRAWS.

LONDON, May 13. According to a News Agency report in Rome, Italy is preparing to evacuate the whole of Albania, except the Avlonia district, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Rome to-day. This report bears upon the Adriatic question settlement, which has been under negotiations between Italy and Jugo-Slavia over differences existing between the two countries over the Albanian boundary line and the occupation of territory.

DRY SCOTLAND PREDICTED.

NEW YORK, May 13. That Prohibition will soon come to Scotland, was the prediction made by Magistrate James Gardner of Glasgow, on his arrival here to-day. Recent plebiscites of working men have showed that when the time comes to vote Prohibition will be carried two to one he said.

FUNERAL OF CROWN PRINCESS.

STOCKHOLM, May 13. The Kings of Norway and Denmark, Prince Arthur of Connaught, and the Earl of Onslow, representing the King of England and diplomatic representatives of other countries, attended the funeral services of the late Crown Princess Gustave Adolph of Sweden this afternoon. Enormous crowds were massed along a flower strewn route from the Royal Castle, where the procession started shortly after two o'clock to the Cathedral, where services were celebrated by the Archbishop of Upsala and the British Chaplain. Both Swedish and Anglican rituals were read.

GETTING OUT OF HAND.

DUBLIN, May 13. Fifty police barracks were destroyed in raids on Wednesday night, according to an official statement issued from Dublin Castle to-night. Twenty Income Tax Offices were raided and documents burned, and seven court Houses were also attacked.

CARRANZA SURRENDERS.

EL PASO, Texas, May 13. President Carranza of Mexico has surrendered at Riconada, near Esperanza Station in outer State of Puebla, according to a telegram from General Alvaro Obregon received to-night by Roberto Pasquerra, Financial Agent for the Revolutionists here. Instructions have been given to allow Carranza to leave the country in safety. General Obregon's message said.

AN INGNOMINIOUS END.

FIRTH OF FORTH, May 13. The German raider Meowa, which sank so many Allied ships during the war, has arrived here and has been surrendered to the naval authorities.

WILDE WINS AGAIN.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13. Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champion, knocked out Battling Murray of Philadelphia in the second round of a scheduled eight round bout here to-night.

GENTLE CONDUCT.

DUBLIN, May 13. At least nineteen police barracks in various part of Ireland were wiped out in the course of widespread destruction of public property and other activities by bands of armed and masked men last night. Five income tax and customs offices also were raided and the papers found in them burned. Two mail cars and one mail train were held up and official papers taken from them. One man was killed in the outskirts of Dublin, where barracks were being burned. The houses of two newspaper editors were raided, and one anti-Sinn Fein editor was tarred and feathered. Some of the police barracks destroyed were unoccupied, and others were inhabited only by the custodians. Reports of raiders' activities have been pouring in all day from numerous sections.

CONVICT FOR PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, May 13. Eugene V. Debs, Federal convict, was nominated by acclamation for the Presidency of the United States at a Socialist Party National Convention here to-day.

SPECIAL TRIBUNAL.

LONDON, May 13. The British Government has decided to create a special judicial body to examine the cases of Irishmen who are under arrest, it was announced in the House of Commons to-day by Bonar Law, Government leader.

MYSTERY SUICIDE.

GENEVA, May 14. The body of a beautiful young Russian woman has been found in Lake Geneva, off Ouchy. She was clad in expensive clothes and wore rich furs, a pearl necklace and a gold watch. On the reverse side of one of many bank notes found upon her, was written, "good-bye. Am another victim of the Bolsheviks." It was signed "Countess W." Efforts are being made by the police to establish the identity of this, the sixth Russian noblewoman, to commit suicide by drowning in Lake Geneva.

ESCAPED UNWOUNDED.

LONDON, May 14. Another attempt was made to assassinate David Perid, Turkish Grand Vizier, on Thursday, according to a Constantinople despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. The attack occurred at the Grand Vizier's residence and was made by a policeman, who fired upon David Perid, but only wounded the latter's armed attendant. The Grand Vizier's assailant was arrested. The discovery of a vast Unionist Association has been made in Constantinople, the despatch declares.

TAXING WAR WEALTH.

LONDON, May 14. That a special levy for revenue purposes, on wealth accumulated in Great Britain as a result of the war, is administratively practicable is the decision of a parliamentary committee appointed in February to consider this question. Several plans devised by experts for effecting such levy were submitted by a committee, which considers that by the Board of Inland Revenue the best. This plan, it is estimated, will yield five hundred million pounds.

Lord Morris Had Audience With Pope.

The last mail brought to a gentleman in the city a card from Lord Morris, who was then in Rome, Italy. He was in the Eternal City with his family, spending the Easter season. While there he had the proud honor of being accorded a private audience with His Holiness the Pope. His Holiness discussed current topics with Lord Morris and evinced interest in Newfoundland and things pertaining thereto.

More Praise for Murphy.

Editor Evening Telegram Dear Sir.—It was a great pleasure to learn from a correspondent in your paper yesterday that there is one barber in the city who refused to enter into a combine to extract from the pockets of the wage earner, exorbitant prices for shaves and hair cuts. Hats off, I say, to a honest Michael Murphy and his faithful capable staff of co-barbers and assistants. Their neatly conducted parlors opposite the General Post Office have long been spoken of as staffed by a genial, courteous and competent manager and by equally amiable and obliging officials, so that we may doubly congratulate them now, for refusing to demand outrageous prices for their daily labors. Yours truly, CLOSE SHAVE. St. John's, May 14.

Strike Settled.

Employers' Accept 'Longshoremen's Offer—Steamer-Workers' Pay to be 65 Cents per Hour by Day and 80 Cents for Overtime.

The striking steamer-workers of the L.S.P.U. went back to work at 10 o'clock this morning, their compromise offer having been accepted by the employers. Yesterday at 5 p.m., Delegates Flavin and Coady interviewed the interested ship agents, submitting to them the men's offer of 65 cents by day and 80 cents by night, per hour. The employers refused this offer yesterday, offering as an alternative 62 cents and 75 cents. This offer was reported back to the men and was refused. The employers were informed and thereupon submitted. The men resumed their interrupted work at 10 o'clock this morning. The delay caused the owners of the Rosalind a loss of $3,000. It is hoped to have the Sackem ready by noon to-morrow; she will take very little outward freight.

MINARD'S LIMENT CURES BURNS, Etc.

Notes From Brigus.

On Sunday last we were favored with a visit from our popular member Sir John C. Crosbie, who motored around the Bay. He returned again the same evening.

Mr. John Pinkstone, blacksmith, left by Tuesday morning's train for Port au Port, where he intends to engage in work during the coming summer.

A deep gloom was cast over the town on Saturday the 8th inst., when news was received that an accident had occurred at Bell Island, in which ex-Pte. James Breaker lost his leg and foot. The young chap had spent some years with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France and had come through on the safe side.

Since the season opened Mr. Richard Walker has been making frequent trips to Bell Island in his large motor boat, taking passengers and freight.

Captain Harold Bartlett left yesterday in his schooner, "Eddie M. Morrissey," for Sydney to bring back a load of black diamonds.

Yesterday and to-day carpenters have been engaged removing the old shingle roofing of the Methodist Academy and are replacing it with some rubber-felt roofing.

To-day—being Ascension Thursday—was suitably observed by our Roman Catholic brethren and service was held in their church at 10.30 a.m.

Mr. Richard Whelan, Jr., is expected in town to-day from the States, to see his father who is very ill at present.

This has been a season of prophets. Those know-all apostles first predicted big returns from the sealfishery. Their predictions turned out to be worth no more than the breath which it took to utter them. Next came the encouraging news that we were to be favoured with an early spring and wonderfully productive season. The first part of the latter has fallen flat under the weighty opposition of "North Easter" and the absence of old "Sol." It remains for the future to tell what amount of truth the latter contains.

Mr. C. A. Jerritt's schooner, "Clarence B." left for Sydney during the week to return with a cargo of coal. NEMO.

High Finance.

A Jewish rabbi was once visiting the various members of his church. When it was about the dinner hour he called at the house of a member who had fifteen children, and was naturally asked to dine with the family. As his host was in poor circumstances the minister, when about to leave, quietly offered him two shillings and sixpence to cover the cost of his meal. The Jew refused it, saying that he could not think of taking such high payment from his own minister, but if the latter really wished to leave a trifle, he could give each of the children a shilling.

Not Equal to a Barrel of Potatoes.

Commercially speaking, the human body is worth about $8, and the calculation is not difficult. The human body, it is figured, including skin, bones, flesh, nerves, blood, fat and cartilage, is reducible by analysis to iron, salt, sugar, lime, phosphorus, magnesia, albumen, fatty substance, and residue that can be used. If this body weighs 150 pounds, an average weight, there would be enough by-products to make an ordinary household, enough salt to fill a table salt-cellar, enough sugar to fill a small sugar-bowl, enough lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough phosphorus to make a dozen matches, enough magnesia to be used by a medicinal speaking. The albumen obtained could be used by a tricky baker to replace the whites of a hundred eggs, and there would be enough fat to fill a ten-pound pot, eight dollars, then, is man's real worth to commerce, and there are many undersized and ill-nourished persons who would fall far short of the mark.

Shorthanded.

Two Irishmen died (and because of the lives they led) one went to heaven and the other in the opposite direction. About three days after their departure, Mike, worried as to the condition his friend might be in, called down: "What are ye doing, Pat?" "I'm shovelin' coal." "Do ye worruk hard?" "Not very. We have shifts. I worruk only about three hours every day. What are ye doin'?" "Faith an' I'm sweeping off the golden stairs." "Do you worruk hard?" "Yis, very hard. About eighteen hours a day. We're very short-handed here."

ADVICES FOR THE BUYER.

RUTH CAMERON

"Buy where you can advance a penny and at the lowest prices." "Lessen the demand by making good use of your old clothes and shoes." "Make things at home when you can, if there is too much difference between the price the store asks and what you can make for. It will be a public service." "These are three pieces of advice to the public by a big business man."

Safe Under the British Flag.

If one of the United States missionaries of trade finds himself captured and held for ransom by a wandering band of robbers, he knows precisely what to do, says the Saturday Evening Post. The procedure has been standardized. The captive manages to get word to the nearest British resident that he is a prisoner, and that he is a British subject, being a Canadian and a native of Akron, Province of Ohio. Without loss of time the resident summons a budding diplomat from the polo field or the tennis courts and desires him to pass the word in the proper quarters that if the British subject from Akron is not returned unharmed to the residency within the next twenty-four hours highly disagreeable consequences will immediately ensue. The natives know by experience that this is no idle threat. And so it comes to pass that the agent of the oil company or the harvester concern duly appears at the residency the next evening; and when he comes to reflect upon his adventure he concludes that the most trying phase of it were the renunciation of his United States citizenship and the embarrassment of dining in a sack suit with his dinner-coated rescuers.

SHOES. I priced a pair of shoes to-day; I asked the price and went away. The dealer begged, in frenzied tones, that I would hand him twenty bones, and clothe my hoots in shining kid, as other gorgeous s p e n d - thrifts did. "Nay, nay," I said; "again, nay, nay! I'll fall for no such graft to-day. I will not pamper my old feet, and make them think they're cute and sweet. I reared them in a frugal way, and I won't let them get too gay. If they wore shoes at such a price they'd soon be feeling too blamed nice, and they would look with high disdain on feet attired in leather plain." Then I went home and climbed the stair that leads up to the attic bare, where all the household junk's been thrown, for years whose number is not known. And there I found old shoes galore; a dozen pairs were on the floor, all lying in a straggling heap, thrown there in times when shoes were cheap. I had the cobbler fix the soles and sew a few unsightly holes, and now I've shoes enough. I wot, to last me till at last I'm shot. You see the moral very well: One way to beat the H.C.L. Brown corn, grind to coffee mill, season with cinnamon and make into mush.

The Corpse Sits Up.

(GEO. MCGINNIS.) John Barleycorn is dead and in his coffin. Vicious wets are trying to make us believe that J. B. will soon sit up and kick the lid off the coffin and come forth to a resurrection. That reminds us of a fearless cowboy on a western ranch. He boasted that nothing could scare him. A tramp working on the ranch died and the boys laid him out in a coffin and tied a larlet under his arms, passing it under the lid and out through a hole bored in the foot of the coffin and then through a knot hole in a board partition with a cowboy on the other side to hold the rope and ready to pull at a given signal. That night they asked the unfraild cowboy to sit up with the remains. Before they were ready to pull off the "scar" the watcher fell asleep in his chair. To awaken him they tied two cats together and threw them into the room by way of the window. Roused from his sleep he got up to put the cats out when the corpse suddenly sat up. The astonished lad looked a moment then walked over to the coffin and grabbing the corpse by the shoulder shoved it down in the coffin saying: "Lie down, you're dead. I don't need any of your help to put these cats out." The same in a parable. John Barleycorn may startle us by sitting up in his coffin but we know that gag of wets pulling the rope on the other side of the partition and the American people will simply walk over to J. B. and chuck him back in the coffin and say, "Lie down, you're dead. We don't need your help or advice in throwing out wild-cat liquor."

The Modern Youth.

"Times have changed, and not for the better, I think," says Marse Henry Watterson. "In the old days, family pride and individual ambition ran hand in hand. The son wanted to emulate his father, and the father wanted to see the son make his way in the world on his own." But the change in the times is graphically illustrated in a conversation I overheard recently. "My son," said the retired merchant, "when I was your age, instead of idling and smoking cigarettes, I was laboring twelve hours a day building rail fences." "I'm proud of you, dad," retorted the modern youth. "Had it not been for your pluck and perseverance I might be forced to do that same sort of work to-day."

Inadequate Coastal Service.

Whether or not the other sections of Newfoundland have an adequate coastal service, and grave doubts have to be expressed as to this, it is certain that the important stretch of coast extending from Humbermouth, Bay of Islands, Labrador, via ports in the Straits of Belle Isle, has for long suffered from neglect in this respect, and were it not for the connections made with Halifax, Nova Scotia, by the Farquhar line of steamers, the people would be totally unprovided for, excepting with the something or nothing Newfoundland service, which for years past they have been receiving. Steamers of the tonnage and freight and passenger capacity of the Home or Ethie or vessels of that standard, are altogether incapable of coping with traffic along that part of the North West coast referred to. They are neither large enough or good enough. Their passenger accommodation is on the most limited scale, and there is neither comfort nor convenience on board during most of the trips, going and coming. The great volume of business done between Bay of Islands and Battle Harbor, and the number of people living on the stretch of coast named have for years deserved a much better service than has been allotted them.

As taxpayers they have not received that consideration which the vast sums of money contributed by them to the revenue of the dominion entitles them. They have not received value for the duties paid on imports in a return of public grants equal to their needs. Yet all that they have asked of Governments in the past is that they be given an improved Coastal Service and greater facilities for doing business. Where huge sums have been expended in useless works in other sections of the Island, the North West Coast has been disgracefully neglected, and the protests of its people ignored and their reasonable requests unheeded. The policy of past administrations toward this portion of the dominion has been one of studied negligence. It is almost inconceivable that public men should have persisted in a course of open-eyed blindness, such as has characterized successive Governments, and have allowed outsiders to come in and take away to the Maritime Provinces of Canada the wealth which should have flowed into St. John's. The mercantile body are none the less blameable than the governments. They should have noticed and checked the steadily decreasing volume of trade between the capital and the North West Coast, and should have attempted to awaken successive administrations to their responsibilities, the chief of which was the establishment of a decent and capable steamship service. But no one cared, apparently, and the trade with St. John's has been gradually declining, having been diverted, through the apathy of those who should have aroused themselves, to Halifax and other centres in Nova Scotia.

When the North West Reform Movement was begun in 1918, with headquarters at Bonne Bay, the Telegram supported the righteous claims of those behind it, and strongly advocated an improved and up-to-date service for the coast. Though it was war time then, there was just as much need for improvements in the steamers plying there as there is at the present time. But nothing was done. Nothing ever is done until the people arise in their might and show rulers and powers that their authority only comes from the people, and make their demands in force, backed by the weight of their numbers. It is not flattering to St. John's that competitors from Canada have gathered in the first fruits and bulk of the products of the North West Coast. But these competitors had an eye to the main chance. They saw that which St. John's merchants failed to see, and took immediate advantage of their first knowledge. Is there any steamer owner in this city who would take the risk of fitting out a steamship and operating her on coastal service without a subsidy from the Government? We hardly think so, for subsidies are the very first things for which our local steamship owners clamor, and would not think of running a boat, under the most prosperous conditions, unless they received a Government grant—called a subsidy—for so doing. But the Halifax people were different. They saw the advantages that would accrue to them by having direct connection with Nova Scotia, Cape Breton and Newfoundland, and they hastened to gain them. Since 1887 there has been a regular steamship service fortnightly from May to December, maintained between Nova Scotian and Newfoundland North West ports to Port Saunders and sometimes to Flower's Cove, and that service has more than paid back its shareholders. Enterprise did it, and St. John's was left behind in the commercial race. It is the duty of the hour now to make up for all that the people of St. Barbe district have endured for so many years, not in the way of gratitude for the exemplary and patient manner in which they have borne and suffered neglect, but because it is their right. Payment of the debt owed them for so long can neither be postponed nor repudiated. The question of improved and enlarged coastal service for that district on the western side has too long been winked out of sight. The House of Assembly has at length taken the matter up, and honorable members should not hesitate to insist that tardy justice be done an industrious and prosperous people.

N. I. W. A. CO-OPERATIVE SHAREHOLDERS QUARTERLY MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the N. I. W. A. Co-operative Stores, Ltd., was held last evening, when reports for the quarter were read and adopted. During this quarter the turn-over was approximately $20,000. The gross profits were less than 12 per cent., and the expense of running the store amounted to only 8 per cent. of the income. A dividend of 4 p.c. on purchases was ordered to be paid the customers. If this amount were paid in the ordinary way on capital invested, it would be equal to over 80 per cent. per annum. The Board of Directors serve without fee and the manager, Mr. J. S. Squires, receives only his salary. Anyone, male or female, over 16, may become a customer-shareholder on an initial payment of one dollar. No profits are paid to capital except interest at 4 per cent. per annum. The rest goes to the customers. The object of the Society is to keep down the high cost of living. Mr. Geo. F. Grimes was elected a director in place of the late William J. Naufrts, to whose widow a resolution of condolence was ordered to be sent. The members appreciate very much an address on Co-Operation given them by Mr. R. R. Wood, B.A., Headmaster of Bishop Field College, who is one of the shareholders.

Glencoe's Rough Trip.

One of the roughest trips ever experienced by Captain Taverner in his seventeen years sailing in all parts of the globe, was on the last trip of the Glencoe, which reached the terminus wharf Monday morning, after a boisterous run from St. John's. The Glencoe, just off the dry dock at St. John's after a thorough overhauling, met the fury of the gale which prevailed Sunday night, but thanks to excellent seamanship of the vessel and an efficient commander, the good ship weathered the gale without mishap, although scarcely a passenger on board escaped without being desperately sick. The steamer had a full passenger list, including the Young-Adams Company, which opened an engagement at Sydney Mines and here. The Glencoe looks like new, and will in a few days begin regular tri-weekly sailings in conjunction with the Kyle between here and Port aux Basques, the Reid Newfoundland Railway being pretty nearly cleared of ice and snow which practically paralyzed trade along the line nearly the entire winter.—N. Sydney Herald, May 11.

Empire Day Holiday.

At a meeting of the Importers' Association held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, it was agreed to alter the programme as set at a previous meeting, and therefore Monday, May 24th, will be observed as a general holiday. It was on the recommendation of the Trade Association that the Importers abandoned the Empire Day holiday.

It is said that the Civil Service is to receive the dole of 20 per cent. as an increase, and the Civil Servants are disgusted with such an offer on the part of the Government, 20 per cent. as an increase of salary now means little or nothing to the already poorly paid Civil Servants but then some of the BIG BUGS will get their substantial increases.—COM.

Opera Dorothy.

The opera Dorothy, shortly to be staged by the Pupils and ex-Pupils of St. Patrick's Hall, under the direction of Professor Hutton, promises to far excel the Mikado, produced by the same troupe last year. The setting and plot of the opera Dorothy is taken from the times of Horace Walpole's "Merrie England," in the year 1740. This opera by Ceffeur, who was a master musician, and lived before his time, is in perfect harmony with modern musical ideas. About 120 performers will take part. The items—a graceful dance, ballet and the country dance by 16 performers, will be given during the acts. The Hunting chorus is marvelous and well worth the admission alone. The plot—two ladies ensnare two gallant gentlemen, originally intended to be their husbands at their uncle's house and other tense parts make an exceedingly witty and interesting play. Those who like good opera should book their tickets, which are going fast, at the Royal Stationery Store. Some good seats for the last two nights performance, however, are to be had yet.

Knocked Down by Team

This morning while Capt. Nicholas of H.M.S. Customs, was crossing Water Street on his way to make a report at the Customs Building, he was knocked down by a passing team. Luckily the horse did not pass over him. A slight cut and a severe shaking up, however, resulted. The captain was able to proceed to his home and will be able to resume his duties in a day or so.

The Associations and Empire Day.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—We would ask you to give publication to the enclosed correspondence in reference to the Empire Day Holiday.
You will see in the communication received from the Trades' Association, April 23rd they decided to hold certain whole holidays which did not include May 24th or June 3rd. Prior to the receipt of this the Trades' Association had asked the Importers to appoint a committee to meet and discuss the holiday situation with them. Messrs. Millor, Steer and Knowling were appointed. At this meeting the Trades' Association asked for the holidays in question to be discontinued. The representatives of the Importers said they would not consider the cancelling of both, but if the Trades' Association thought it was necessary one day might be altered. It is interesting to note in the face of this knowledge that the Importers would hold at least one of the days as a holiday and that the Trades' Association decided that they would not recognize either day, but subsequently changed their views.
Yours truly,
R. A. TEMPLETON,
CORRESPONDENCE.

(Communication received from the Trades' Association, April 23, '20):
The proposal to have whole holidays on Feb. 18th, March 17th, April 2nd, May 24th, July 1st, July 19th, August 4th, August 25th, and September 8th, was approved with the exception of the 24th May, and the President was asked to get in touch with the Importers' Association with a view of having this day cut out of the schedule and another substituted, the unanimous opinion of the meeting being that June 9th would be suitable, in view of July 1st, being a holiday.
Sons of England Benevolent Society, St. John's.
April 26th, 1920.

R. A. Templeton, Esq., Secy. Importers' Association.
Dear Sir,—Some little time ago it was decided by the Sons of England Society to request the Government to grant a general holiday on St. George's Day, April 23rd. That request was forwarded to the Government, and a reply received, stating that as the holidays were arranged by the Importers' Association, it would be better to send a communication to them.

On the above recommendation I was asked to communicate with your Association and see if you could not grant a general holiday on St. George's Day, April 23rd. "The one and only Englishman's Day in Newfoundland." I may say, in former years it was thought too late in the season to have a holiday on April 23rd, but things have changed the past few years, and you have thought fit to have half holidays up to and including April 21st, so under those conditions I would respectfully request that the half day given in the week in which St. George's Day comes be cancelled and a whole holiday be given on April 23rd. I do not think that the above would in any way interfere with business.
I understand that some employers want to dispense with "Empire Day" holiday, as it greatly interferes with the trade having a close down day in the very busiest time of the year. That being so, I submit we have a greater claim on your generosity by the request for a general holiday on April 23rd, as that would be a month earlier, and not many outport people would be in the city at that time. Trusting the above will meet with the approval of your Association, and that you will (in your noted wisdom) grant us our one and only Englishman's Day, "St. George's Day, April 23rd."

I remain, yours sincerely,
ARTHUR G. WILLIAMS,
District Deputy for Nfld.
Dudley Lodge, S.O.E., St. John's, Nfld., May 12th, 1920.

R. A. Templeton, Esq., Hon. Secy. Importers' Association.
Dear Sir,—At a regular meeting of Lodge Dudley, Sons of England Benevolent Society, with a membership of 500, a resolution was unanimously passed, viz.:
Be It Resolved, That this Lodge Dudley, Sons of England Benevolent Society hereby protest against the action of the Importers' Association in their decision in eliminating the 24th of May, Empire Day, from the regular list of holidays;
And Be It Further Resolved, That a letter be sent to the Honorary Secretary of the Importers' Association, requesting him to call together the Importers' Association, asking for re-consideration of their decision.
And Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Press.
Yours sincerely,
JAMES HUSTINS,
Secretary.

St. John's, Nfld., May 12th, 1920.
H. A. Templeton, Esq., Secretary Importers' Association.

Dear Sir,—I am directed to inform you that re a meeting of the Trade Association, it was decided by a majority vote, that in view of the protestations against the cancelling of May 24th, holiday, the decision of the former meeting be rescinded, and that May 24th be observed as a holiday, also to ask that you advise your Association of this motion, for their consideration.

Yours faithfully,
D. M. ABIRD,
Secretary,
Nfld. Trade Association.

Major O'Grady Honored

Last evening a deputation from the C.C.C. and Old Comrades called at the residence of Major J. J. O'Grady Carter's Hill, and gave him a very pleasant surprise, presenting him with a very handsome walking stick with silver shield bearing a suitable inscription. Mr. T. J. Foran, president of the Old Comrades, and Major Leo Murphy expressed appreciation of Major O'Grady's excellent service to the Empire during the world war; his splendid training at the depot headquarters had won the recognition of the Imperial authorities, and his decorations with the M.B.E., at Government House recently, was the natural outcome of good services well and faithfully rendered. Major O'Grady replied in suitable terms, expressing his loyal support of the brigade movement in the city, and his earnest desire of the physical advancement of the local corps. Refreshments were then served and a social hour spent, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Chief Secretary for Ireland.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, the new Chief Secretary for Ireland, is a Canadian by lineage, by place of birth, by education, and by the scene of early life work. He springs from sturdy British stock, for his ancestors were United Empire Loyalists, who came to the Canadian wilderness in order that they might continue to live beneath the British flag, and who laid in that wilderness the foundations of several of the Dominion's richest Provinces. The Greenwoods, who were of Welsh blood, took up land in Upper Canada, and in 1870, one family of the stock was residing in the town of Whitby, Ont. There in that year Sir Hamar Greenwood was born, his father being John Hamar Greenwood, a barrister, and his wife, Charlotte Hubbard.

Sir Hamar's early education was obtained in the excellent schools of his native town, and from these schools he went up to Toronto University, where he took the full Arts course. After graduating he was employed for a few years in the Department of Agriculture of the Government of Ontario. During these years of civil service work he took an active interest in the Militia, and for eight years held a Lieutenant's commission. He made good use of his military training many years later when he had become a public man in Great Britain and the world-war came on.

At the age of 25 Sir Hamar went to England, where he has ever since resided. He was called to the Bar, and in 1906 he entered public life, being returned to the House of Commons as senior member for York. In 1910 he was elected for Sunderland in Durham County, and shortly after became parliamentary under-secretary to Winston Churchill, who was then Home-Secretary.

During the early years of the war he carried on recruiting work throughout Great Britain, and in recognition of his service was made Assistant Comptroller of Recruiting. The raising of the Welsh division, started by Lloyd George, was completed by Sir Hamar, and he was given command of the 10th Batt., South Wales Borderers, which he led to the front in France. A year later he was back in England at recruiting work, and when conscription came in he was appointed Inspector of Tribunals. Knighthood was conferred upon him at New Year's, 1915.

Later he was in charge of the Department of Overseas Trade.

The Turkish Peace Treaty.

HORSEA, May 13.
(British Wireless Service.)

The following is a summary of the Turkish Peace Treaty: The Treaty first reproduces the text of the Covenant of the League of Nations to which functions are assigned in various places in the Treaty. The new provinces of Turkey are then described. The front of Turkey in Europe is approximately that of Chatalja lines, the northern half of the lines being, however, advanced in a northwesterly direction so as to include within the boundaries of Turkey the whole area of Lake Loos, which is a reservoir for supply of water to Constantinople. Boundaries of Turkey, in Asia, remain the same, except as regards the southern front. Provision is made for a possible modification of the present frontier between Turkey and independent states of Armenia by reference to arbitration by the President of the United States. Regarding Constantinople Turkish sovereignty will be maintained, but reservation is made that if Turkey fails to observe the provisions of the Treaty, particularly as regards the protection of minorities, the Allied Powers may modify this provision. The navigation of the Straits including the Dardanelles, Sea of Marmora, and Bosphorus, is to be open in future, both in peace and war, and to military and commercial aircraft, without distinction of flag. These waters are not to be subject of blockade, and no belligerent right is to be exercised nor any act of hostility committed within them unless in pursuance of a declaration of Council of the League of Nations. A commission of the Straits is established with control over these waters, where both Turkish and Greek governments delegate necessary powers. The commission is composed of representatives appointed by the United States, if that Government is willing to participate, British Empire, France, Italy, Japan, Russia, if Russia becomes a member of the League of Nations, Greece, Rumania, and Bulgaria. If Bulgaria becomes a member of the League of Nations. Each Power is to appoint one representative, but representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Russia have two votes each, and representatives of the other three Powers one vote. Each commission is charged with the execution of any works necessary for the improvement of channels, of approaches to harbours, lighting and buoying. In case of threats to freedom of the passage of the Straits, special provision is made for appeal, by commission, to representatives at Constantinople, of Great Britain, France and Italy, which Powers, under military provisions of Treaty, provide forces for the occupation of the zone of the Straits. These representatives will concert with naval and military commanders of the Allied forces for necessary measures, whether a threat comes from within or without the zone of the Straits. Provision is also made for the acquisition of property by commission, for raising of loans, and for levying dues on shipping. The commission is empowered to raise a special force and infringements of the regulations and by-laws of the commission will be dealt with by appropriate local courses. Commenting on the Treaty, the Times says: "It is very severe, but the Turks, before they threw in their lot with Germany, received a clear and emphatic warning from the Allies of the doom which their choice must bring upon them in the event of defeat. The Allies did not require Turkey to join them, they offered to uphold their independence and integrity on the single condition that she should remain neutral. She deliberately rejected this offer. From ambition and greed she made herself, without wrong or provocation from the Allies, zealous to their enemies. She must pay the penalty and she has but herself to blame if it is severe." The Daily News points out: "The Supreme Council has made a new departure in providing that there shall be complete freedom of movement and equality of treatment for goods and nationals, not of all states, members of the League of Nations. All things considered that is a perfectly reasonable provision to make. The right accorded to Russia, on similar terms to Bulgaria to a seat on the Straits Commission as soon as she is admitted a member of the League is entirely proper, and it is satisfactory that the Supreme Council has recognized what justice demands in this connection."

House of Assembly.

—May 13, 1920.

The House met at 3 p.m.

Petitions were presented by Messrs. Jennings (Twillingate) Hibbs (Fogo) and Warren (Fortune Bay).

One was also presented by Sir John Crosbie (Fort de Grave) protesting against any modification of the Prohibition Bill.

The House, moved into Committee of the whole by the Prime Minister, considered a contract with the Susu Steamship Co., Ltd., by which the company is to operate the Susu on the Fogo Mail Service for seven years at a subsidy of $4,000 per month when the ship is running. This contract, the Premier explained, was one with which there was perfect agreement, the late Government having approved it in September last.

The Committee rose and reported progress.

QUESTIONS.

Sir M. P. Cashin asked the Hon. Colonial Secretary if any correspondence has taken place between the Food Control Board and the wholesale sugar importers within the past two months or any of them with relation to the sugar importation and control of same, also if the Control Board knows of any stock now stored in Canada awaiting shipment to Newfoundland.

Reply—Information will be tabled next sitting.

Sir M. P. Cashin asked the Hon. Minister Public Works the amount of Road money allocated to Ferryland District within the past six weeks giving the names to whom allocated, name of settlement amount of each allocation also if he is yet sending out the Local Road Grants to the Road Boards.

Reply—Information was tabled but not satisfactory to Sir Michael who asked for more details.

Mr. Bennett gave notice that on tomorrow he would ask the Hon. Prime Minister if it is the intention of the Government to appoint a Board or Bureau to consider questions that may arise at any time between Capital and Labor or Employer and Employee and if such appointment will be made and announced in the immediate future.

Reply—Matter is being considered by the Government.

The House adjourned until Monday at 3 o'clock.

C. C. C. Dance in Aid of Athletics.

By permission of Lieut.-Col. C. O'N. Conroy, Officer Commanding, the C. C. C. Athletic Association will hold a dance in the C.C.C. Hall on the evening of Wednesday June 9th. The affair is under the management of the officers and a committee of the Old Comrades and Football Club. The proceeds of the dance will go to swell the funds of the Association to be used in connection with the various sporting events of the season.

Rod and Gun.

The leaping brook trout painted in natural colors on the cover of the May issue of ROD AND GUN IN CANADA will quicken the pulse of every nature lover. This issue of Canada's leading sportsmen's monthly contains the first installment of Harry M. Moore's thrilling story of adventure entitled, "The Silver King." "The Kanasaskis Lakes" is the title of an interesting fishing story from the Elbow River valley; it has seven clear cut photos to illustrate it. Bonnycastle Dale tells in his own gripping manner the story of the wild cat, its range and habits throughout Canada. S. C. Cain humorously relates the story of four fishermen on a week end trip to Lake Scugog after bass. The Guns and Ammunition and Fishing Notes Departments are up to their usual high standard in this number. A valuable addition to the fisherman is the inclusion of the open fishing seasons for the Dominion. ROD AND GUN IN CANADA is published monthly by W. J. TAYLOR LIMITED at Woodstock, Ont.

New Marine Bill.

THE SURVEY OF SHIPS.

The following Bill, dealing with the survey of foreign-going and Labrador vessels, has been passed by the House of Assembly:

1. Section 2 of Chapter 172 of the Consolidated Statutes, (Third Series) is hereby amended by striking out all the words in such section after the words "prosecution of such fishery or fisheries."

The following sections are hereby added to the said Chapter:

3. No sailing or auxiliary vessel shall be employed in the foreign trade of the Colony, or shall start with cargo from any port therein, which has not been built according to a class of port. Classification or classification society at least equivalent to Schedule B of the said Chapter 176, and so recognized, as hereinafter provided, under a penalty of not exceeding one thousand dollars, to be recovered in summary manner from the owners of the said vessel before a Justice of Peace by any person who may sue for the same, of which penalty one hundred dollars shall go to the person so suing, and the balance to the Minister of Finance and Customs for the use of the Colony.

Before any such sailing or auxiliary vessel shall proceed on a foreign voyage, notice shall be given by the owner, agent, or master of such vessel to the Surveyor of Shipping or his Deputy, that such vessel is or at a certain date will be cleaned and in every way ready for survey, and any such owner, agent, or master of such vessel who does not give such notice and have his vessel surveyed as required by this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. This section shall apply to fishing and coasting vessels engaged in the Labrador fishery.

5. The Surveyor or his Deputy shall forthwith survey every such vessel, and may make such recommendations as he may consider necessary for putting such vessel in such condition as he may consider seaworthy and fit to carry perishable cargo; all of which recommendations shall be carried out by the owner or master; and the ship shall then receive from the Surveyor or Deputy Surveyor a certificate of seaworthiness. No such ship shall receive a clearance for any voyage unless and until a certificate of seaworthiness is exhibited to the Customs officer.

6. A certificate of seaworthiness shall not be granted in respect of any vessel unless she is found to be at least of such construction and fastening as is provided for in Section 3 of this Act, and tight, well caulked and fully equipped with masts, spars, sails, riggings, boats, pumps, chains, cables, anchors, water tanks, hatches, hatch-covers, life-buoys, signal flags, and other necessary and usual machinery and equipment of every kind, in good order and condition, and having deck-lines and load lines duly marked, as hereinafter provided.

Any Surveyor or Deputy Surveyor who wilfully omits or neglects to survey any vessel or to make proper recommendations, as provided in the next preceding section, or who knowingly and improperly grants a certificate of seaworthiness in respect of any vessel which is not of such construction, fastening and equipment as is necessary under the provisions of this Act to entitle her owners to such certificate, he shall be liable on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or, in default of payment to imprisonment not exceeding three months.

7. Any vessel owned in Newfoundland at the date of the passing of this Act, whether built in Newfoundland or otherwise, which shall not be qualified as set forth in Section 3 of this Act, shall, on the first occasion on which she shall be in a port in this Colony, after the passing of this Act, be submitted for survey; and unless she shall be found to be constructed and fastened in a manner at least as good as that required by Section 3 of this Act, she shall not receive a certificate of seaworthiness; provided, however, that if it shall be reported by the Surveyor or that such a vessel is in his opinion fit to continue in the North Atlantic Trade for a short period, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries may issue a special order to the Lloyd's Surveyor or local Surveyor empowering him or his Deputy to grant such vessel certificates, if the vessel be otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this Act, for a period of not more than six months from the date of such survey.

If any vessel not registered in or owned in this Colony shall come to this Colony in order to obtain a cargo, and shall be surveyed in accordance with this Chapter, and shall be found unfit to receive a Certificate under this Act, a temporary certificate may be issued, permitting such ship to sail from Newfoundland with cargo for any port in North America (but not for a trans-Atlantic voyage), provided, however, that a list shall be kept of all vessels in respect of which such certificate shall have been issued, and no such certificate shall be issued more than once in respect of any such vessel.

DECK LINES.

9. (1) Every vessel owned or registered in Newfoundland, except (a) vessels under 100 tons register employed solely in the Coastal trade, (b) vessels engaged solely in fishing, and pleasure yachts, shall be permanently and conspicuously marked with lines, (in this Act called deck lines) of not less than twelve inches in length and one inch in breadth, painted longitudinally on each side amidships or as near thereto as is practicable, and indicating the position of each deck or covering board which is above the water.

(2) The upper edge of each of the deck lines must be level with the upper side of the deck plank next the waterway at the place of marking.

(3) The deck lines must be white or yellow on a dark ground, or black on a light ground.

(4) The expression "amidships" in this Section shall be held to mean at about that point at which the main deck of the vessel approaches nearest to the water line when the vessel is in ordinary trim.

10. (1) After the passing of this Act, no vessel shall be permitted to clear from a Newfoundland port, bound to a foreign port, unless she has plainly marked upon each of her sides, amidships, or as near thereto as practicable, in white or yellow on a dark ground, or in black on a light ground, a circular disc twelve inches in diameter, with an horizontal line eighteen inches in length drawn through its centre.

(2) The centre of this disc measured from the top of the statutory deck line in accordance with the Imperial Board of Trade Regulations, shall indicate the maximum loadline in salt water to which it shall be lawful to load the vessel.

(3) The position of the disc shall be fixed with the tables used by the Imperial Board of Trade, subject to such modifications, if any, of the tables and the application thereof, as may be approved by the Governor in Council.

(4) If a vessel is so loaded as to submerge in salt water the centre of the disc indicating the load-line, the vessel shall be deemed unseaworthy, and such submergence shall be a reasonable and probable cause for the detention of the vessel by any Government official who may view the same after three months from the date of the passing of this Act.

11. (1) If any owner or master of a vessel fails without reasonable cause to cause his ship to be marked as by this part of the Act required, or to keep her so marked, or allows the vessel to be so loaded as to submerge in salt water the centre of the disc indicating the load-line; or

(2) If any master of a vessel proceeds to sea after having been notified by any Government official, either orally or in writing, that he must not sail because the loadline or centre of the disc marking on his said vessel is submerged, or in any words to that effect, and without having altered the stowage of his vessel, so as to bring the loadline to the surface of the water, or without having satisfied the said official or the Registrar of Shipping, or some person appointed by him for the purpose that the said loadline is not submerged; or

(3) If any person conceals, removes, alters, defaces or obliterates, or suffers any person under his control to conceal, remove, alter, deface or obliterate any of the said marks, except in the event of the particulars thereby denoted being lawfully altered, or except for the purpose of escap-

The Frequent Cause of Nervous Breakdown

NOTHING so certainly breaks down the nervous system as constant straining of the eyes.

You may think that sewing is light work and wonder why it tires you.

It is the strain on the eyes.

The controlling of the sight is the most delicate work of the nervous system and when there is strain on the eyes there is an enormous waste of nervous energy.

There are times when it seems necessary to stick at this work for long hours and to sew by artificial light, but you may have to pay for it by a nervous breakdown.

It is then well to know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, as a means of restoring a run-down nervous system.

Whatever may be the cause of your nervous breakdown, it has been demonstrated in many thousands of cases that there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore the depleted nerve cells.

Headaches, tired feelings, sleeplessness, indigestion, lack of energy and appetite are some of the indications of an exhausted condition of the nerves.

Your digestive system is failing to supply the necessary nutrition to the blood and nerves, so it becomes necessary to employ such restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Only 40 Per Cent. in Newfoundland.

Without reference to any of the many angles of opinion which have developed in connection with the liquor traffic it seems timely to protest against the nose-counting theory of governments which is creeping into Canadian political thought. From this leader and that, we hear statements that the referendum principle has come to stay. Many radicals who are opposed to prohibition—the question with which the referendum idea has been chiefly identified up to the present—seem disposed to accept the method by which one wing of the prohibition party hope to attain their objects, as the true basis of all forms of legislation in the future. It is evident that progressive Canadians must be on the alert lest a loose yet oppressive system which tends to abolish the whole theory of responsible government creep into our practice.

The nose-counting principle under which, if generally applied, fifty-one per cent. of the people might dictate to the other forty-nine per cent., with regard to their liberties, habits, religious observations, private business and everything else with which a man comes in contact from the cradle to the grave, is wholly indefensible according to any theory on which the strong and successful nations have been built up. But it is precisely what the referendum means. By its application established theories as to the rights of minorities are wiped off the slate as obsolete, individual initiative becomes secondary or negligible, and leadership consists merely in keeping the ear to the ground and automatically acting on the fluctuations of mass opinion. No young nation can make real progress under a theory which really means that one man's opinion is as good as another's on any conceivable question that may arise, and that if a sufficient number of noses point his way he may give them the force of law.—Saturday Night.

Lloyd's Quarterly Report

Lloyd's quarterly report for March 31st, 1920 shows that there are in the United Kingdom 865 merchant vessels of 3,394,425 gross tonnage under construction. All of these ships are upwards of 100 tons gross, and the construction had already commenced. The tonnage now under construction in the United Kingdom is 400,000 tons more than that which was in hand at the end of last quarter, and about 1,140,000 tons more than the tonnage building 12 months ago.

The merchant vessels under construction in other countries, (excluding Germany figures of the shipbuilding of which country could not be obtained) number 2,205, with a gross tonnage of 7,941,950.

The tonnage being built in the world at the end of March under the inspection of the Surveyors of Lloyd's Register, excluding vessels whose construction has not been already commenced, and excluding all vessels less than 100 tons, amounts to 4,965,512 tons.

Landlord and Tenant.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I have watched with very keen interest this past year, and in fact, for longer than that, the many obstacles that confront the tenants in St. John's. With the population of this city, even though it may be small compared with other cities, yet I suppose 90 per cent. or more are living in tenement houses at the mercies of the landlords. As far as I see a landlord can put a tenant on the street so long as he has given him sufficient notice, regardless of whether the tenant has another house to shelter himself or family or not. The law, I understand, protected the tenant for a certain period of time, but now I believe that it is not in force, and the tenant is again unprotected. I think that an Association should be formed to protect the tenant. It could be very easily done. There are a great many other bodies formed to protect the people in various ways, and I say let us get busy and line up and form a Tenants' Association and keep down the rent profiteering and shield tenants from the rapacity of the landlords. The Hon. John Anderson has done remarkably well with many other gentlemen, in starting the great Housing Scheme. (On paper only.—Ed.) But, Sir, it will be quite a long time before every present tenant will be able to secure a home of his own. Some of the houses that people are living in now, as I have seen stated in your valuable paper, are really not fit to keep cattle in, and still the landlords charge an enormous rental. Why it's not long since when I heard talk of a landlord charging $30 for five rooms—two flats. Just imagine; thirty dollars. Why one would scarcely believe it. Yes, Sir, something must be done, and done right early. I trust that some more able pen will take this question up and let us have fair play in this matter. If the high cost of living is so that we can scarcely live, and it certainly is so, let us anyway have half decent dwellings; although it may be humble there's no place like home.

I take the pleasure in thanking you, Mr. Editor, and trust yourself and paper will see many, many years yet, which I believe it will, and now not wishing to intrude further on your valuable time and space.

I beg to remain,
Sincerely yours,
TENANT.

Mainly About People.

Low Saret is a writer of Indian stories, who is called by the Chipewas Pay-Shig-ar-deck, or "Lone Caribou." When he reads one of his stories to the old chiefs those parts they understand they exclaim, "Ni-been" (beautiful! Good!) When the meaning is vague or not understandable by them they say, "By osh! She's great!"

A critic of J. M. Barrie and his works once declared that he kept using the same witticisms in "The Admirable Crichton," "What Every Man Knows," "Sentimental Tommy" and other plays and books; and Mr. James retorted that, if this was so, his nationality, and not himself, was to blame. "I am a Scot," he said, "and we Scots abhor waste."

Starting life as a shop assistant, Miss Margaret Bondfield, who will probably be the next woman M.P., is one of the most able workers in the labor movement. She toured England, speaking in behalf of suffrage, a few years ago. A brilliant speaker, her knowledge of social questions has brought her many compliments from leading politicians.

Arthur J. Balfour, the English statesman, is noted for his bachelordom. At a dinner party once an inquisitive lady asked him plump and plain: "Mr. Balfour, tell me now, are you a bachelor from choice?" "Yes," came the prompt answer. "But isn't that—rather ungracious and malignant?" she protested. Mr. Balfour smiled. "You must ask the ladies," he suggested, gently. "It was their choice, not mine."

The king and queen of Spain hope to be able to arrive in the Isle of Wight once more for the famous Cowes Week next August, when they will be guests of Princess Beatrice at Carisbrooke Castle. In any event, it is understood that King Alfonso will be represented in the Royal Yacht Squadron Regatta by at least one of his considerable flotilla of racing yachts, which will compete for such events as it is qualified for.

Charles Dana Gibson became famous because he wouldn't be anything else, and held to his determination through sunshine and storm. He made "The Gibson Girls." These girls he found on the sidewalk, in the park and in the theatres. They were human. He has had more proposals than any other living man, and finally he proposed and was accepted by Irene Langhorne, sister of Lady Astor.

It must be almost a record to become heir to an earldom at the age of eighty-five, as has happened in the case of the Hon. Berkeley Basil Moreton, who in consequence of the death of the Earl of Duca's only son, Lord Moreton, now stands next in succession to his brother's title. Mr. Moreton, whose life has mostly been spent in Queensland, was nineteen when his father died, and the earldom fell to its present holder nearly sixty-seven years ago.

It is not generally known that Princess Mary is quite a good typist, although she usually prefers to write her own letters by hand. She keeps up an animated correspondence with her brothers. Just now the Princess's greatest desire is to get a trip abroad. Hitherto she has had rather a stay-at-home life, and she feels that she wants to see more of the world.

General Sir Arthur Sloggett, the first British Director of Medical Services in France, can boast of having been shot through the heart. At the massacre of Adowa the Abyssinians took large stores of Italian rifles and ammunition. Later on, in a scrap between Menelik's men and dervishes, a good deal of this booty again changed hands. At Omdurman, Sir Arthur, riding beside the Sirdar, was struck by one of these Italian bullets, nickel cased and of extremely small calibre, which went clean through the muscle of his heart and out again. Sir Arthur was out and about again within a few weeks.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, more than anyone else, helps to keep alive an old custom of the British House of Commons—that is, the custom of taking snuff. Since the time of the Stuarts the chief messenger at the entrance of the chamber has kept a large box of snuff for the use of members. Mr. Winston Churchill from time to time helps to maintain the tradition. And on rare occasions I am told that Mr. Balfour has delighted its custodian by patronizing this ancient box and partaking of a pinch.

BEDTIME.
It's bedtime, and we lock the door. Put out the lights—the day is o'er; All that can come of good or ill, The record of this day to fill, Is written down; the worries cease, And old and young may rest in peace.

We knew not when we started out What dangers hedged us all about, What little pleasures we should gain, What should be ours to bear of pain. But now the fires are burning low, And this day's history we know.

No harm has come, the laughter here Has been unbroken by a tear, We've met no hurt too great to bear, We have not had to bow to care, The children all are safe in bed, There's nothing now for us to dread.

When bedtime comes and we can say That we have safely lived the day, How sweet the calm that settles down And shuts away the noisy town! There is no danger now to fear Until to-morrow shall appear.

When the long bedtime comes, and I In sleep eternal turn to lie— When life has nothing more in store, And silently I close the door, God grant my weary soul may claim Security from hurt and shame.

One Foolish Thing After Another.

If the overall craze which we have recently borrowed from our friends to the South of us teaches a lesson, all very well. But will it? There is no earthly economy in casting aside half worn clothes and then substituting overalls, smocks and that sort of thing. We are made just so much poorer by the process, and the workman who really requires overalls, owing to the nature of his tasks, must perforce pay a higher price for his requirements, for it goes without saying that a rush for overalls is bound to advance the cost to the consumer.

If people are really serious and not faddists in matters of this sort they will wear their shabby garments, wear them until they are really worn out and not merely shiny at the seams. And, again, why confine this so-called economy to outside garments, for I can well imagine some enthusiastic souls proudly displaying blue overalls which cover shirts and socks of silk and expensive undergarments; nor to speak of brand new eighteen dollar shoes, ten dollar hats and fifty cent cigars.

Already dealers in the United States are advertising overalls with all sorts of fancy trimming, including gold, silver and rhinestone buckles, presumably for the fair sex, at prices ranging from ten to forty-five dollars. All of which leads one to agree with Or. Grant Ramsay, head of the London Institute of Hygiene, who was led to remark recently that the world has never been so insane as it is at present—Saturday night.

Fooled Hubby.

He had been married about a year and had taken to spending his evenings down town with the boys. One night his conscience worried him, and he thought he would phone his wife and get her to come down and meet him and have dinner with him. So he called her up. "Hello, kid," he began. "Say, slip on some old clothes and run down and meet me on the quiet. We'll have a good dinner and then we'll get a machine and go out and smear a little red paint around. How about it?" "I'll be delighted to join you Jack," was the reply. "But why not come up to the house and get me? There's nobody home." As the young husband's name is Tom he spends his evenings at home now. And his wife wears a queer smile when he isn't looking at her.

Obligatory Contributions

"We must all contribute writes "Observer" in the Family Herald and Weekly Star to the expenses of the State, as we have incurred or shall incur them through our elected representative government. We cannot spend money upon pensions, or upon any government assistance unless we furnish the money ourselves. We cannot spend without providing the means. Taxes will never be popular, I suppose, but how can we get along without them? For years Canada has been one of the most lightly taxed countries, for State purposes, in the world. Now we have to face a different order of things, and we shall, all of us, have to pay our share—in addition to our little municipal road, bridge and other taxes. Of course, those who receive most ought to pay most. There is a good deal of rough justice about the Excess Profits Tax, as we now have it in Canada. The law allows a wholesaler or manufacturer seven per cent. upon his investment. If his accounts show that he made over seven per cent., the Government takes a quarter of it up to fifteen per cent. If he made over fifteen per cent., the Government takes one half up to twenty per cent. If he made over twenty per cent. profit, the Government takes three quarters. By profit is meant net income after all expenses, repairs, wages, etc., have been paid. A staff of expert accountants is always at work, examining accounts, auditing books and checking statements all over Canada. The plan may not be as fair as it appears to be. A plant may be built, upon which no income at all can be netted for a couple of years. In the third year, it might be argued, a net income of twenty-one per cent. might be permitted to be perfectly fair. But it is about impossible to get a law just right until experience has done some work upon it. I think, however, that that tax is rightly directed. It does try to place the burden upon the shoulders best qualified to bear it. Very little is heard about it, excepting when we hear of new attempts to do away with it. I believe it is a good producer for the Government, and I hope its success will lead to other taxing plans equally and well-applied. The Government will need a whole lot of money, thanks to the rascally Wilhelm, skulking in Holland, like the cowardly bully he is. And the gathering of it without oppressing our people will be a task calling for a good deal of careful diplomacy, and the exercise of skilful financing."

A Famous American.

Mr. James Gordon Bennett, the proprietor of the "New York Herald," who died at Beaulieu, near Nice, on May 14, 1918, was a man who lived every minute of his life of 77 years. He was not a self-made journalist, as his father, who emigrated from Aberdeen, was making £20,000 a year when his son was born. When the young man came of age the "New York Telegram" was founded, and handed to him as a gift. By his 25th year he had become one of the most famous yachting men in the world, and sailed across the Atlantic in an ordinary racing cutter. He equipped and dispatched a Polar expedition; he introduced and fostered polo in America; he revived coaching in France; and through the "Gordon Bennett Cup" was one of the earliest promoters of automobilism and motor racing. He will, perhaps, be best remembered as the man who sent Stanley to find Livingstone. In the late sixties he made Paris his home and founded the Paris "New York Herald." In 1914 he married the Baroness de Reuter, widow of the founder of the newsagency. Though Mr. Gordon Bennett figured only as the chairman of the executive committee of his paper, he was, in fact, the sole proprietor. Once a wealthy American syndicate desired to purchase the paper, and sent to him the following cable: "Please wire price for which you will sell 'New York Herald.' Mr. Bennett's reply was: "Daily, 3 cents, Sunday, 5 cents.—J. Gordon Bennett.

Qualities of a Nurse.

A doctor, speaking from long and varied experience, told of the qualities he considered essential in the girl who would be a nurse. "First and foremost," he said, "a would-be nurse must feel the wish to undertake social service; for the reward of nursing is not in financial gain, but is chiefly in that indescribable feeling of contentment which comes from the knowledge of help afforded to those requiring it. And this love for the profession is necessary to make the many arduous and at times unpleasant duties of a nurse endurable. Then a knowledge of human nature is an asset, for it helps a woman to realize that the psychology of the sick is different from that of the healthy, and thus prevents a feeling of irritation over the whims of her patients. "And I should like to point out," he continued, "that from the purely technical and professional aspect a nurse needs to be very thorough in the carrying out of all details of treatment, and keenly observant of all her patient's signs and symptoms."

Asked if a nurse's work is inclined to make her callous, his reply was that it should cause her to be more sympathetic. "But," he said, "owing to her training, her sympathy will not take the form of exaggerated expressions which the 'lay' mind often utters, but it will be translated into helpful action—and it is this silent expression which is unfortunately often misconstrued as callousness."

The Mayor of Royal Windsor.

From baker's boy to the majority of Windsor, England, and the honor of knighthood, is the rise in life made by Sir William Carter. "My parents," says Sir William, "kept a baker's shop at Marlow, and I helped in the business for a time. Getting tired of that, I started work as a gardener, and was following that employment when I got married, although my wages were very small indeed. I was then 23 years of age, and as gardening did not seem to hold out very bright prospects, I determined on a change."

The change he made was to take up the insurance business, which he followed for twenty-four years. "I have no use," he says, "for slackers. Grit and tenacity of purpose are what point the way to success. Always open to learn, I am, at the age of 73, still learning."

"As soon as I had saved £20 I invested it. 'That has got to work as well as myself,' I said. And it did, for I invested my money to good advantage."

"I believe in a man getting married at an early age if he has found a good partner. It keeps a fellow straight. 'Do it now' has always been my motto, and it has stood me in good stead."

Shortly before setting out for Australia, the Prince of Wales was made a citizen of Windsor, and the Mayor, Sir William Carter, presided at the ceremony.

Smoked Peace Pipe.

Indians Renewed Ancient Pledges to Hudson's Bay Company at Fort Garry.

Winnipeg, Man.—The ceremonies at lower Fort Garry which was renewed in the smoke of the peace pipe, the ancient pledges of friendship between the Indian tribes of Canada and the Hudson's Bay company, were perhaps the most quality interesting feature of the celebration of the old fur company's 250th anniversary.

Indians of a dozen tribes gorgeous in paint, feathers and beaded buckskin, squatted upon the grass within the stone walls of the old fort about the table of Sir Robert Kindersley, governor of the Hudson's Bay company. Kinnewakan, chief of the Wapsheton Sioux, stepped forward. With fine dignity, the magnificent old savage delivered an address of welcome in his native tongue. The Indians, he said, always had been loyal to the company because in all their dealings they had found the company fair, just and generous. They viewed the company, he declared, in the light of a kindly parent and they had come to meet the governor with hearts full of friendliness.

From his beaded tobacco pouch, the old chief filled a great calumet of red sandstone four feet long upon whose stem of white wood were painted the totems of all the tribes. He held the pipe aloft toward the sun and called upon the Great Spirit to witness the sacredness of the rite he was performing. While Kinnewakan held a lighted match to the bowl, Governor Kindersley took six long puffs. When Kinnewakan had taken a puff, he carried the pipe about the circle and the chiefs of the tribes each drew deeply upon it. Then the pipe was presented to the Governor as a souvenir.

While the smoke of the peace pipe was still fragrant on the air, Governor Kindersley delivered an address to the tribes.

"Friends," he said, "I extend to you all a hearty greeting. I felt that I could not permit this important anniversary to pass without making a special journey across the seas to meet personally the Indians of those tribes who have been so long and so loyally associated with the progress of the Hudson's Bay company. I am gratified to find so many of you here to greet me, for I know that you have made long journeys and suffered upon the trail.

"I look back with pride on the company's record of 250 years of close association with your forefathers and yourselves, a record of friendship and loyal service. The history of the Hudson's Bay company is intimately bound up with the history of the Indians and I am satisfied nothing ever can shake the cordiality of our relations.

"I wish to express to you my admiration for the service rendered by your young braves during the great military age voluntarily enlisted and made many sacrifices in aiding the British empire and the Allies to achieve ultimate victory. This is a splendid record and shows that you are worthy of your forefathers.

"I am glad to have had the opportunity of smoking the pipe of peace with you. For 250 years, the Hudson's Bay company, the oldest company in the empire and in the world has been trading with you. Other companies and other traders came for a time and disappeared but the Hudson's Bay company always remained in good and adverse times to help you. I hope you will return to your homes in safety and carry my greetings to your families and friends. I will always look back upon this day as one of the greatest in my life."

The governor's speech was interpreted into four Indian languages by Willie Charles McKay of Prince Albert. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, Governor Kindersley, pinned upon the breasts of the Indians, medals especially struck in commemoration of the event, and the Indians presented to him an elaborately beaded belt of wampum as a symbol of their renewed friendship and allegiance.

The smoking of the peace pipe followed a fur brigade pageant on Red River which passed from the site of old Fort Garry in Winnipeg to Lower Fort Garry eighteen miles down stream. Manning a flotilla of old York boats and canoes, the Indians in their native finery made a memorable spectacle as, with cheers and war whoops, they swept along in the dazzling sunlight down the historic waterway.
