LONDON, Aug. 31.
Despatch to the Evening News from Milan says the Italian fleet in the harbor has received orders to be prepared to sail in the event of a movement against Greece.

ITALIAN FLEET ASSEMBLED.
PARIS, Aug. 30.
Paris (Italy) despatch to the Petrusienne says that although the fleet orders have been given to the Allied Press not to divulge military news it is understood that the Italian fleet has been ordered to congregate at Tarento, Italy. If the Government accepts the Italian demand only one division of the fleet will go to Piræus to receive the prize demanded in respect to the capture of the Italian boundary commission. Intense feeling throughout Italy against the Greeks is being reported. The Albanian legation in Rome has issued a statement denouncing the Italian members of the frontier demarcation commission as being riding in a separate motor car while the Albanian members, seated with the Greek members, were attacked by the Greek territory, twelve miles from the border, and shot to death.

The election situation to-night, with unofficial returns and estimates continually coming in is such that it is almost impossible to form any accurate idea of how the returns stand. The Broadway Rose is Coming Here.

SOMETHING THE PUBLIC WILL APPRECIATE.

"The Broadway Rose" is now en route to St. John's and all who like something out of the ordinary will have the opportunity to participate on Monday next when she will make her initial appearance in the Nickel Theatre. Mae Murray is at home in "Broadway Rose" for two reasons; first, she is a dancer and as such she is always at her best, and second, she is surrounded with gorgeous settings that furnish a picturesque and beautiful background for the stunning costumes of the production in general. And this photoplay is indeed a production, stupendously typical Mae Murrayish. There are the pretentiously luxurious cabaret settings emphasized and consistently carried out with similarly beautiful interiors that intensify the value of the picture as a production. These Mae Murray productions are always a tribute to the directorial genius of Leonard and in this instance "Broadway Rose" represents about the very best thing he has done. It's an irresistible attraction—one that you cannot afford to miss at any cost. At the Nickel, the home of the best, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

A correspondent in referring to an article entitled "Ships That Left No Trace," which appeared in our issue on Wednesday, states that it was correct in most details, but as far as his recollection goes (and we have great faith in his memory—Ed.), the City of Boston was East bound from Halifax with many buyers from the Maritime Provinces on board. The writer passed the spot just east of St. John's where she is supposed to have gone down soon after her disappearance. In the loss of H.M.S. Captain six months later, our correspondent had personal interest. She overtook in a gale near Oporto, and 18 of her crew of over five hundred alone survived to tell the tale. Her Captain, Sir John Burgoyne, refused to be taken out of the water into the one boat that floated. The mystery of the Lion near Baccalleu was on a par with even that of the Waratah.

Finds New Fishing Bank.

A new fishing bank, 200 by 90 miles, off the coast of Labrador, has been discovered by Capt. Daniel McDonald, formerly skipper of the British trawler Sir John French. Captain McDonald believes it to be a valuable acquisition to the already known fishing banks, abounding in codfish and halibut, but he has not yet made known the exact location, although he has it accurately charted.

The bank runs 200 miles southerly and 90 miles in an easterly direction. It is something of a kite shape. The shallowest water is 75 fathoms and the same sounding, varying but little, was prevalent over a large part of the bank.

Capt. McDonald believes that the bank has been fished on before, but never charted. There seemed to be plenty of codfish and halibut. The quality of the halibut is exceptional and fish of the same quality which he took in this venture have never been caught in those waters previous to this trip.

Capt. McDonald will communicate with the authorities in Washington shortly and will call the new find McDonald bank.

Shortly before reaching the new fishing ground, Capt. McDonald sighted seven polar bears on the drift ice and leobers. They were within sight of and within a few miles of the land and were off the Labrador coast. The country was wild and in about longitude 54 west, and latitude 63.30 north.

MARKET REPORTS

indicate that there is no surplus of Anthracite Coal in the U.S. The shortage caused by the strike of Anthracite Miners last year has not been made up, and American hard coal will, in all probability, be hard to get and high priced. Coke is an excellent substitute for hard coal, and we have on hand a stock of same that will soon be disposed of, because a shortage of hard coal invariably creates an increased demand for our product. We advise our customers to book their requirements as soon as possible.

"German Made" Poppies Are Not Wanted in Canada.

ATTEMPT TO UNLOAD FOREIGN MADE ARTICLE IN CANADA FOR USE ON ARMISTICE DAY FRUSTRATED.
OTTAWA, Aug. 20—An attempt to unload German-made cloth poppies from the United States into Canada for distribution on Armistice Day was revealed to-day by Dominion officials of the G. W. V. A. Branches of the association throughout the country have reported receiving circulars offering to supply poppies through a Toronto commercial agency. These are said to be imported from the States where large stocks remain unused from Memorial Day as a result of the discovery that they have been made in Germany. These stocks were originally purchased by an American ex-soldier organization from a French agency which represented that they had been made by war widows and orphans in France. Just prior to Memorial Day, German packing slips were discovered.

A short time ago the G.W.V.A. of Canada was offered the surplus stocks at a low price but promptly refused. In accordance with plans devised last year the manufacture of poppy ribbons for distribution in Canada next Armistice Day had already been placed in the hands of disabled Canadian soldiers through the vet craft workshops.

MUTT AND JEFF

Mfd. Motor Association Meeting.

MOTORISTS FAIL TO ACCEPT NEW MOTOR REGULATIONS.

The Newfoundland Motor Association held a general meeting at the West End Restaurant yesterday at 1 p.m. Mr. E. R. Watson occupied the chair. Owing to the fact that several very important matters were on the order sheet to be discussed an unusually large attendance of members was present.

The principal business of the meeting was to discuss whether cars returning to the city after dark should have the right of way over cars proceeding from the city. Mr. F. W. Ayre moved the adoption of the new rule. He felt that he would favor any rules introduced by the Association with the object of securing greater safety on the road, and that such rules should always be strictly adhered to. He said that in a great many cases motorists were careless in the sounding of horns on the rounding of corners which is a serious breach of the regulations. He referred to the many motorists who had not joined the Association. Roughly 300 motorists were driving in the city who had not joined up. They were permitting many burdens to rest on the shoulders of those of the Association, and enjoyed the benefits without any cost to themselves.

Hon. W. J. Ellis in rising to support the motion, thought it was a move in the right direction, and given a fair trial it would undoubtedly prove satisfactory to everyone.

Mr. A. G. Gosling could not agree on such a proposal. To make cars going counterwards stop for every incoming car would mean loss of time, and it would be hours possibly before a motorist would reach his destination.

Mr. J. Cocker was entirely in accord with what Mr. Gosling had already said. He was under the belief that if lights were properly focused to deflect their rays to the ground the difficulty would be overcome.

Mr. Basil Outerbridge also thought the rule was unnecessary. He was quite satisfied with the conditions that all motorists are driving under and stated that no accidents have occurred by blinding lights.

Mr. W. H. Hynes opposed the motion and said that should the new rule come into force, many motorists would not adhere to it.

Mr. E. R. Watson supported the motion on the grounds that the narrowness of the roads in places made the rule necessary.

Mr. Thos. Soper also supported the motion. He reminded all members that it was the object of the Association to enforce the proper driving rules. As far as leaving the dimming lights to the discretion of drivers was concerned, this merely meant that in many cases both cars would dim lights and unnecessary delay to both was caused. The other driving rules should be incorporated with this one. The motion was defeated by a vote of twelve to ten.

The next business of the meeting was to discuss a suggested recommendation from the Association to the Government that tourists cars brought into the Colony and remaining only a short period should be given a rebate in license fees.

Mr. T. Soper said this recommendation was unnecessary as it was already in force by arrangement made by the road commission.

Mr. P. E. Outerbridge said the Municipal Council knew nothing of such an agreement. At present the Council had no instructions to hand any money collected back.

Mr. Soper said that after the Council had received $5,500 in fees that they had no further interest in the matter.

The motion was carried unanimously.

The Association decided to hold the annual dinner, the matter to be left in the hands of the Executive.

Mr. Soper informed the Association that some new road maps were being forwarded by the Nova Scotia Motor League.

After several minor matters had received the attention of the Association the meeting adjourned.

Sounded Like Home.

Two young kindergarten teachers, intelligent and attractive, while riding down town in a street car were engaged in an animated discussion. In the seat behind them sat a good-natured, fatherly-looking Irishman enjoying a nap. Finally one kindergarten inquired of the other:

"How many children have you?"

"Twenty-two," she replied. "And how many have you?"

"Oh, I have only nineteen," replied the first.

At this point the Irishman, now wide awake with astonishment, leaned forward in his seat and, without any formality, inquired in a loud voice:

"What part of Ireland did you come from?"

Address by Dr. O. E. Desjardins

ON MUNICIPAL HYGIENE

Shawinigan Falls, P.Q. (By Can. Press).—Dr. O. E. Desjardins, Medical Health Officer, Three Rivers, spoke on Municipal Hygiene at the 23rd annual session of the Union of Canadian Municipalities to-day. He pointed out that municipal hygiene was in the past not only public hygiene applied to the community, and it was of an importance that had been recognized by Lord Disraeli in England and Athanasius David, provincial secretary in Quebec.

To obtain a complete knowledge of the disease, of mortality and of causes underlying them, he said it had not already been done by a municipality, the importance of which a Bureau of Statistics was properly compiled would be to allow of the drawing of conclusions.

Touching on the organization of municipal sanitary service, Dr. Desjardins said it would be under the direction of a department head might be Director of Hygiene and Health Officer, or otherwise, should always belong to the profession. Its personnel was composed of sanitary inspectors, similar with hygiene regulations of special inspectors for services which demand particular competence, such as inspection of meat, and plumbing. Lastly, should be nurses who would be to practice certain preventive measures in contagious illnesses of families and help in the medical inspection of schools. As to the of this service, he stated it had estimated that an allowance of 75 cents to a dollar per head of municipal population should be voted to this work, the amount raised being mainly for salaries, urged the passing of a resolution along these lines by the council.

As a preventive of infant mortality he recommended the establishment of baby welfare stations, nursing consultations for the of information on preventive measures. This together with tuberculous contagious diseases, were, in the three great classes that he largely each year in the vital statistics of the towns and cities. But tuberculosis, the miasm should enact regulations whose contribution to the progress of the diseases. The most important fact to be combated, under the was living conditions, and the construction of houses should be regulated and provision made plenty of windows through which sun might enter. Another point in this connection would be the control of imported meats and public markets, since through and meat tuberculosis was very misable.

Drinking water was another feature. Typhoid fever was attributable to this when not from germs. Here, therefore, municipality must see to it that of good quality and in sufficient quantity was readily obtainable. Dust and garbage were also that should be hygienically treated.

Dr. Desjardins, in conclusion, that the municipal authorities to recognize that the sanitary is the adviser of the Council in matters of hygiene and that he is the best position to know the health of the population in this respect should be fully supported, first putting into force of coercive measures designed in the public interest is not often popular. Finally, should be a continuous and intense campaign of education through available means from "Health Week" to moving pictures, to make the public realize the value of municipal hygiene.

Cancer in Fish.

"What is really very curious that every kind of cancer afflicts sea fish can be exactly paralleled in a human disease."

"This similarity in the way which the bodily tissues of such different animals as a man and a ray can be affected is very striking and may be of great significance in our effort to understand the nature of cancerous disease."

This passage by Professor Johnston occurs in the annual report on the Labrador Fisheries Laboratory (Liverpool University) and the Peel Sea-Fishery.

It is probable that an increase in our knowledge of the causes of cancer will, he says, come from studies on conditions in the lower animals and so any records of malignancy in more fishes are likely to be of great value. The most striking of these human afflictions to be seen in fish (ray and halibut) have been seen.

Canadian Golf Championships

Real, August 31—The Canadian Golf Championships were held here on September 8. The event was staged here for the first time since Sept. 8 to Sept. 12, 1911. The Canadian Golf Union seems to be in a state of transition (from Sept. 10 to 12) the Canadian Ladies' Golf Association held two tournaments here (from Sept. 17 to 19) and the Montreal Golf Club held one (from Sept. 18 to 20). These tournaments are the first of the season in Montreal as the Canadian Championships were held in July. The senior men's tournament in 1918 was won by the late Mr. J. P. Lamont, and the annual in-between teams competition between the seniors and juniors was won by the seniors of Devonshire. The Montreal Golf Club's States representative trophy every year.

Andrew's Society and the Feildian Club

MEMBERS FAREWELL.

Andrew's Society and the Feildian Club held a joint meeting last night to do honor to Mr. Gibb and Major E. H. Tall, two of our well known members, who are about to leave our shores to take up their abode in the States.

Mr. R. G. Ross, Vice-President of Andrew's Society in the States, presided at the meeting. A musical programme occupied the latter part of the evening. Songs were rendered by Messrs. Huggins, Macintosh, H. F. Glass, Lightfoot, and Dr. Blackwell, and Mr. E. H. Tall presided at the piano in his usual manner.

Mr. Tall extended a hearty welcome to the members present. Mr. Ross read the minutes of the meeting and the object of the meeting was to make a presentation on the part of the Society, to each of its members. In fitting language he referred to the splendid work done by both Mr. Gibb and Major Tall during their stay in the city, and the part they played in the department of the Society, but especially in the community generally. In presenting each of them with a handsome travelling bag, he wished them every success and prosperity, and expressed the hope that the gift was indicative of their return to the home at no distant date. Both the members in thanking the members of the Society, voiced their regret at leaving the city, and trusted that opportunities would occur to enable them to meet again.

Mr. E. A. Jeffrey, President of the Feildian Club, in presenting Major Tall with a purse of gold on behalf of the members, referred to his long association with the club, and the general regard that was felt for his departure.

Major Tall replied in terms fully indicative of his great regard for his friends and of his regret in wishing them good-bye.

Several members of St. Andrew's Society and the Feildian Club availed themselves of the opportunity to signify their appreciation of these gentlemen and their departure.

The meeting closed by singing in both styles. A Latin hymn which was followed by the National Anthem.

It is regretted that the departure of these two gentlemen is a serious loss to the city, and the United States is the gainer, to the extent of the loss. We cannot fail to watch the best of our members for their return to the city, and it is not able to offer, and trust the time is not far distant when they will come back again. At the time of their departure, many of the members of the club were wishing them every success in the Great Republic.

Insulin in Sharks.

Insulin, the new treatment for diabetes, is obtainable from sharks. Recent investigation by the Bureau of Fisheries, Washington, disclosed useful information regarding the source, nature and location of the pancreas in different species. The size of the pancreas from 35 grams in a hammerhead weighing 180 pounds to 300 grams in the sand shark Carcharias, weighing 226 pounds. Roughly speaking there will be on an average of 1/1000th of a pancreas to each 1,000 pounds of shark.

Judgement Delivered

IN THE HANSON vs. ARCHIBALD MOTOR CASE.

The motor case upon which a great deal of public interest was centered, ended yesterday. Constable G. Hanson had lodged a complaint against Henry D. Archibald of Harbour Grace, charging that the Defendant had, by using a motor car on the public street of St. John's without being registered, committed a breach of sub-section (4) of section (2) Chapter 57 of the Consolidated Statutes, Third Series, entitled "Of Motor Vehicles."

Section (2) referred to in the charge is as follows:—"Every motor car owned or operated within the limits of the town of St. John's shall be registered with the St. John's Municipal Council and the said Council shall assign a separate number to every car registered with it."

Mr. Morine, K.C., who appeared for the defence, proved (1) the Defendant was a resident of Harbour Grace; (2) that he did not own or operate a motor car within the limits of the town of St. John's, and contended that the Defendant's car was not subject to registration under the Act.

I hold sub-section (4) under which the prosecution is taken cannot apply to the car driven by the Defendant. Section (2) only compels the registration of motor cars owned and operated within the limits of the town of St. John's. I therefore dismiss the complaint.

Dated at St. John's this 29th day of August, A.D., 1923.

(Sgd.) F. J. MORRIS, Judge.

The judgement delivered makes it evident that the act referred to is not sufficiently wide in its scope to afford the protection to the public that it was intended to give when it was drafted, and at the earliest opportunity it should be amended.

Prisoners Brought From West Coast.

POLICE CONSTABLE GIVEN LONG CHASE

Two prisoners, Arthur and Andrew Young, were brought to the city by yesterday's express by Constable J. Dempsey, to serve long terms for larceny. Arthur Young, who received an 18 months term, led the police officer a long chase before being captured. For a considerable time he had been raising private houses at Port au Port and when Constable Dempsey got on the trail he took to the woods, finally reaching Meis Point, Bay St. George. It was here after an eleven day's chase that Constable Dempsey made the capture.

Andrew Young, the other prisoner, has been given a six months term. Both were tried at Bay St. George by the Supreme Court in Circuit.

Received a 12 Months' Sentence.

A young man Maidment, who was recently arrested at Bay of Islands in connection with several burglaries at the Post Office, was given a 12 months term in the Penitentiary by the Supreme Court on Circuit. The prisoner was brought to the city in charge of Constable Outlan on yesterday's express, to serve his sentence.

Monster Tuna.

A tuna fish, weighing 1,600 pounds the largest ever caught in New Jersey waters, was landed on July 29th at Manasquan by a crew of the Manasquan Fish Company. The fish weighing 100 pounds more than another of the same species caught by the same company a few days ago.

The crew, under Captain Holding, struggled with the monster for two hours and were finally compelled to dive into the water to shackle it with ropes after it had smashed to pieces two sets of tackle. Some of the crew were injured in their efforts to hoist the fish into their boat. It was fourteen feet long.

Atlantic Salmon.

Distribution of 810,000 Atlantic salmon eggs in the eyed stage and 18,252,000 Atlantic salmon fry has been made in the more important salmon streams of the maritime provinces. The fry were distributed in a free swimming state and after their food sac was absorbed. In addition, there are nearly 4,000 fry in the various hatcheries which will be fed and will not be liberated until they have attained some growth.

HEMORRHOIDS

Do not suffer another day of itching, burning, or proctored hemorrhoids. Hemorrhoids are a common ailment, but they are not a disease. They are a symptom of a disease. The only cure is to get the cause of the hemorrhoids removed. Dr. J. C. ...

The Creator of Artificial Lighting.

Giuseppe Paciolli, chief electrical engineer of the works of the General Electric Company at Pittsfield, Mass., recently brought himself picturesquely to the attention of the lay public when, at the culmination of a series of experiments in the high voltage laboratory there, he succeeded in creating artificial lightning from artificial clouds in the shape of huge condensers and hurled a 2,000,000 volt electrical discharge through space.

In his own mind, however, a far more remarkable achievement marked the beginning of his work in the United States, when he came from Italy some twenty years ago. By sheer happy luck, as he himself declares, he made an electrical calculation which astonished himself and his employers by coming out exactly correct in practice. He refers to it now as the "Miracle of the 101 Amperes," which sounds like a Sherlock Holmes story, but it is not.

He was then a designing engineer for the Crocker-Wheeler Company at Amper, N.J., and was asked to figure out the magnetising current of a new type of alternating inductor built by William Stanley, at that time one of the foremost electrical inventors in the United States. In electrical engineering, it should be understood, such a calculation which comes within 10 per cent. of the actual result in practice is considered excellent. So young Paciolli found himself in an awkward predicament when his figures gave him 101 amperes.

He himself could not believe that the odd unit of amperage had any significance. Yet if he predicted 100 amperes he would be regarded as merely having chosen a nice round figure, and the situation would be the same if he said 90 or 110. So, finally, he gave Mr. Stanley the exact result of his figuring, and, as he expected, was thoroughly decided for his sophomore exactness and childish trust in mathematical formulas.

But when an ammeter was attached to the model generator and the current was turned on, the needle began to climb and kept on till it stopped at precisely 101. There it stuck, and no amount of tapping of the dial could budge it the fraction of a degree.

As a result of that "miracle" Paciolli went to Great Barrington, Mass., as Mr. Stanley's assistant, and later to the General Electric Company, where his great native ability for working out the most abstruse and complicated problems paved the way for the homemade thunderbolt which startled the scientific world the other day. That artificial lightning, by the way, was not created merely for spectacular effect. It was a demonstration of another step taken in working out the problem of transmitting power at high voltages and over distances which will revolutionize power transmission and which only a few years ago it would have been deemed idle to dream of.

Fashions and Fads.

Some of the most attractive of the new materials are those of wool and silk which are covered with tiny, closely placed buttons of wool.

A band of wide, crushed moire ribbon is used on a hat of stitched duvetyn, and a pleating of the ribbon is placed on the side of the brim.

A quaint gown of white taffeta has an overskirt of white tulle and with it are worn mauve-colored stockings and slippers of silver brocade.

A smart accessory to milady's walking costume is the slender stick with a carved silver of bakelite finish at the top and perhaps a small vanity case.

Forty-Four Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

Trial by Torture.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS THE LAW HAD SOME RUDE OLD WAYS.

Mr. Justice Darling recently remarked that in Anglo-Saxon times the truth of a man's statement was tested by binding his hands and feet and throwing him into a conveniently deep pond. If he sank he was to be believed.

What a champion hustler the Law must have been in those days! There were no police, but every "good man and true" considered it his duty to root out all evil-doers as quickly as possible. Once a culprit was caught things moved with breath-taking celerity. There was no time for cross-examination or any great precision in the sitting of evidence.

This, however, did not help to make smooth the path of the perjurer. If the ordeal of cross-examination was unknown, other more primitive ordeals were in favor.

In one of these the accused was required to hold a bar of red-hot iron in his right hand. If he was not burned, he was declared not guilty. This was a variation of the Roman law, in which a suspected person was required to walk, barefooted, over red-hot ploughshares.

"Getting into Hot Water."

The Church, especially in Scotland, placed great faith in this test. A special ceremony was appointed, prayers being offered while the iron was being heated in a brazier in the chancel. The priest then sprinkled the red-hot bar with holy water, and the accused had to raise it aloft in the assembled congregation.

In another test the prisoner's arm was forced into boiling water and if it were not scalded this was held to prove his innocence.

Fortunately, these barbarous ordeals, although lawful, soon fell into disuse, though the more humane one mentioned by Mr. Justice Darling remained in force for several centuries.

Under the Normans a new ordeal came into favor. A man could choose to prove his case by a tilt of arms, the victor having the satisfaction of "winning the day" in a literal sense.

Where the Crown was a party to the action, as in the case of a dispute over the ownership of land, the battle was waged by hired champions, a rather expensive method, though not so costly as present-day litigation.

This method was not abolished until after 1819, although it had not been used for long before that. In that year a man named Thornton was accused of murder, the informer being a private individual—one Ashford. Thornton waged battle, and the law had to be amended to prevent resort to violence as a means of proving innocence.

Applying a Little Pressure.

According to the law, every accused person must plead "Guilty" or "Not Guilty." Nowadays, if he will not answer, a plea of "Not Guilty" is entered, but until 1777 no one seems to have thought of that way out of the difficulty.

When verbal pressing failed the accused was forced to suffer "Peine forte et dure," heavy, severe pain, as in the following authentic case.

In 1726, at the Surrey Assizes, a man named Burnwater was accused of murder, and refused to make any answer to the charge. To cure his obstinacy, he was "pressed with four hundredweight of iron, and fed on mouldy bread and stagnant water on alternate days only." In the end he pleaded "Not Guilty," but the court thought otherwise, and he was convicted and hanged.

On second thoughts, perhaps, it is just as well the law is not in a terrible hurry nowadays.

In the case of murder the medieval Church adopted an awe-inspiring method. The dead body was placed in the nave, and all friends, relations, known enemies, and any suspected persons were obliged to advance and touch it. It was believed that when the real culprit touched his victim, blood would spurt from the veins of the latter.

As even the most callous criminal was so imbued with superstition that he would use every artifice to save himself from coming in contact with the body, this method proved quite successful, the guilty man frequently revealing himself to the watchful priests by the very care he took to avoid an ordeal which he feared would betray his secret.

Saving the Coppers.

A shoe manufacturer one day watched a workman operating a machine, which, among its other uses, puts eyelets in shoes. Noting the carelessness of the man, who had been working some hours already, he searched round the floor near the machine until he had picked up eyelets to the value of about eight cents. He watched the operator a while longer, and then asked him to pick up the eight cents he had dropped. This puzzled the man—he could see no money on the floor. Finally the manufacturer explained.

Inquiry revealed that in this factory of 2,000 workmen, carelessness on this one small item meant a loss of nearly $500 weekly, enough to pay the wages of a good many of them.—Financial Times.

INGRATITUDE.
Last eve as it was growing dark a beggar asked my aid; I handed him a German mark; emotion he displayed. "T h i s princely sum," he said, "will buy me things to eat." And such ingratitude we find in every vagrant breast; the beggars mutter, "Strike me blind," and sneer at our request. And so we tire of doing good, we lose our pious zeal; few tramps will saw a cord of wood in payment for a meal. I gave a man a pair of shoes which only needed soles; "Now, doubtless, you will not refuse," I said, "to chop some poles. A delegate with proper pride will gladly make return for goods by kindly men supplied, when he has time to burn." It seemed, this kindness, to amuse the gentleman of sloth; he laughed and said, "Go hold your shoes, and drink the wholesome broth." I gave a button to a hind who wished for garb to don; "Be diligent," I said, "and find some cloth to sew thereon." He ground the button with his heel and starkly moved away, and called to me, "I hope you'll feel my wretchedness some day." The man who is on mercy bent finds gratitude no more; I often give a man a cent, and he insists on four.

MANITOBA TO REVIVE SPIRITS
TOWARDS END OF NEXT MONTH.
John Barleycorn will be resurrected in Manitoba toward the end of September.

Two members of the Manitoba Liquor Commission, W. J. Bulman and W. P. Dutton, are here to study the workings of the Quebec Liquor Commission.

The members explained that it will be the end of September before the wet stocks arrive and the breweries can deliver. The workings of the Manitoba Act are not at all similar to the Quebec Act. First of all a dollar has to be paid in Manitoba to get a permit to use liquor. And then the order written out and forwarded to the Commission for delivery. But there will be no going in to a liquor store and bringing out a bottle under the arm. The Manitoba Commission will deliver in bottles and cases. But there will be no re-sale permitted. Then there will be no taverns, restaurants, or hotels to sell wine, beer or anything else. The Manitoba Commission, will be allowed to deliver all sales of the wet stock, and breweries with authorization from the Commission, will be allowed to deliver beer to customers with permits.

The officials have not yet decided the number of depots to be established in the Province but quite a few will be necessary. It is also considered that on account of the longest distance stocks will have to travel that prices will be higher than they are in the Province.

These Ladies Bite!
IT IS THE FEMALE GNATS THAT "GO FOR" HUMANS.
It is the gnats which every summer annoy us with their bites. Whilst the men gnats dance, dance all day, rising and falling in the air, their better halves are searching for us for our blood.
When the lady gnat bites she does a neat little operation. A hole is cut, made larger by a wedge, and then in goes the drinking tube and out goes your blood. You can see it go if you watch.
Gnats live naturally on vegetables, sucking out the juices, but some of them have taken a liking to human blood.
In the tropics they carry diseases from one person to another, and so people there must sleep beneath gnat-proof nets.
The life history of all the gnats is quite original. The young gnat lives in water, a hungry little creature, eating its own weight many times a day. He or she, whichever it may be, has a brush close to its mouth, and with it brushes in all eatable things as fast as it can.
Having lived a happy life, it suddenly changes into a little out-of-shape tennis racket-like creature which bobs and tops up and down in the water. Then one fine day the tennis racket comes to the surface, opens, and out flies Mr. or Mrs. Gnat.
If it is a man, it joins the dance in the air. If it is a lady, it chases you or some other unfortunate person for blood, until the tables are turned and the huntress is chased and killed against the window.

Aeroplanes With Eyes.
It is possible that in a short while every aeroplane will have a mechanical "vision."
For it has been discovered that a bat can find its way unerringly in the dark, and can swerve aside to avoid hitting hidden obstacles?
The scientific explanation is that bats emit a powerful vibrating note in a key unheard by our ears, and that this note sends out a sound wave in front of them. When this invisible wave meets an obstruction it recoils towards the bat, thus giving warning of an obstacle in its path.
To become conscious of this recoil it is evident that the bat must have some wonderfully susceptible mechanism. What is it?
Scientists are closely studying the problem, and the result of their investigations may mean that an aeroplane, fitted with delicate and yet powerful "feelers," will be able to fly with impunity through the densest fog and the most intense darkness without fear of meeting with any mishap caused by a collision with another flying machine.

FUSSY WITH YOUR TRY-ON?
We care not a jot, because we are fussy too. We won't let a suit go out of our shop that is not just so in every seam and line, every pocket and button. We realize that our reputation as tailors depends upon your personal satisfaction.

Pointed Pars.
Jealousy is the fear of your own inferiority.
It is not the uncommon lot of man to get an uncommon lot.
Advice can always be had for nothing, and is usually worth it.
Never judge a man by his clothes. Judge him by his wife's.
Never try to kill time; time is bound to kill you in the long run.
The fact that riches have wings does not help a man to feather his own nest.
The married woman who can refrain from asking her husband where he has been is a philosopher.
A great many people, though they know that honesty is the best policy, are unable to keep up their premiums.
Any up-to-date girl is as well able to take care of herself among men as a dreadnought among fishing-smacks.
When you plan your winter wardrobe, consider the color of your coat, whether it is fur or merely fur-trimmed cloth. Gowns and accessories, such as shoes and hosiery, should be bought with a view to either pleasantly contrasting or harmonizing.

An 8-Ply Heavy Rubber Sole with extension edge, running all the way under the heel. Insures more wear per pair than any other make of Boot on the market.

Are made on a particular shape of last, which give the foot more room and prevents slipping at the instep and heel.

A heavy Cloth insole made under a new process which absorbs all moisture, is nicely fitted in to add extra comfort for the wearer.

A 4-Ply Duck lining is also used, treated specially to keep the foot and leg cool during hot weather.

Wallace Silverware.

Is your Table Silver as good to-day as when you bought it?
Have you noticed that at the parts most exposed to wear, the plate has become worn?
Do you think this condition of your Silver is in keeping with your idea of a well appointed table?
Then why not, when you decide on replacing your old ware, give place to it with the "Wallace" Brand, the Silver that refuses to wear and is guaranteed without time limit.
Start with the Tea Spoons and gradually complete your set with the one pattern—there are several for you to choose from and the price is very moderate.
Tea Spoons cost $3.00 for a Dozen.
