CHURCH SOCIETY.—The society in connection with the British Methodist Episcopal Church took place on Tuesday night in the Town Hall, and was an extraordinary success, the Hall being filled to its utmost capacity.
A report was provided in the Council Chamber. The Rev. S. P. Hale, pastor of the church, opened the proceedings in a characteristic speech, in which he made an eloquent and forcible appeal to his white brethren and sisters to help them in clearing off the debt on their colored property, and in satisfying the "progressive appetite" of the relentless proprietor. Thereafter Rev. Messrs. Harper and Ball and Mr. Raymond, on behalf of the other churches in town, expressed their sympathy with the colored brethren, and their desire and intention to help them in their distress.
The property, when paid for, be put in trust in the hands of some responsible parties for the perpetual use of the colored congregation in the town, which was agreed to. The choir of the church, led by the pastor, sang several hymns during the evening, to those sweet, plaintive tunes so popular among our colored friends, and which greatly pleased the audience. The receipts of the society were announced to be $40, and it was suggested that an effort be made by contributions and a collection to raise the additional $80, and thus wipe out the whole debt. Two or three gentlemen gave $10 each, other smaller sums, which with the collection will be nearly enough to come up to the amount required. The venerable pastor and his congregation were greatly rejoiced at this unlooked for stroke of good fortune, and gave very expressive proofs of the same.
The proceedings terminated by the audience singing God Save the Queen, after which Rev. Mr. Wardrop pronounced the benediction.
Mr. Gordon Brown is expected back next month.

LECTURE.—We learn that Bishop Farrell, of Hamilton, has consented to deliver a lecture in the Catholic Church, in this town, for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, on the evening of Wednesday, the 20th inst.

FIRE IN ERMOOSA.—We regret to learn that on Saturday night last, the house of Mr. Mark French, on lot 35, 6th con., Ermosa, with all its contents was burned. We have been unable to learn further particulars.

NOT TRUE.—Mr. Joseph Donagh called on us and asked us to contradict the statement which we made yesterday to the effect that he had left Town in a hurry. His intention never was to run away at all, as he intends to live in Guelph.

REUNION.—The Galt Reformer says: As Mr. Isaac Meyer, from near Kossuth, was driving along Ainslie St., Galt, on Monday morning in a wagon, in which was also seated Chris. Lampier, the horses were frightened by the noise of speech, and the wagon, with its driver, ran away. They turned up Dickson St., and when near the market Lampier was thrown out. He fell upon his head and was so badly stunned that he lay for a time insensible. His head was badly cut and otherwise he showed the effects of his injuries.

STABBING AFFAIR IN HAMILTON.—On Tuesday a rumor prevailed in the city to the effect that a man had killed his child during a quarrel with his wife. The facts are simply these:—A man named George Goddard, who is employed in the Hesper Sewing Machine manufactory and resides on Catherine-street, had some altercation with his wife over some neglect to their infant, which is about three weeks old. The wife then threw a stick at her husband's head, which she however missed. The husband having an angry and excited temper, drew a carving knife which he had in his hand at the dinner table, at his wife, the point entering her thigh. Dr. Crawford was instantly sent for and dressed her wound. The husband is now under arrest.

THE PALMERSTON WHEAT CASE.—Mr. James Robt. the buyer for whom Mr. Ellison, of Wallace, referred in a letter to the Galt Reformer some weeks ago as having dealt dishonestly by him in weighing barley, writes to that paper in defence. He says:—"At the time I purchased Ellison's load the scales were engaged loading a car of barley. His bags were thrown in a heap on the platform. When the load was weighed, there was some mistake made, probably on account of the bags being scattered about one or two of the bags were put to one side unweighed, and the amount of the load being 56 bushels and 30 pounds. Ellison, not being satisfied with this, put on his load and drove off, I advising him to go on to Drayton and get his weight proved. However, after going a short distance, he returned and gave me the barley, and as my books will show, his barley was put in the car I was loading at the weight I paid for it. In a day or two he came with a second load. Being again dissatisfied with the weighing, he loaded up and drove off. This is the whole affair. Since I commenced buying, my weights have been regularly examined by the County Inspector. The farmers of the Township of Wallace may also judge of my prices, when I assure them that a good portion of the grain and pork I purchased this season had been previously sold by farmers in Listowel, bought by different parties and resold to me here."

"The Gentleman."

The fifth of the course of lectures under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association was delivered on Tuesday evening in the Congregational Church, by Rev. F. H. Marling, of Toronto, before the smallest audience we have seen at any lecture during the course. This was entirely owing to the other attraction in the Town Hall, the two entertainments having unfortunately been announced for the same evening. After prayer by Rev. W. F. Ball, the President of the Association, Dr. McGuire, introduced the lecturer.

Mr. Marling introduced the subject of his remarks by giving the various definitions of the word "gentleman" which the different classes were wont to set down as the beau ideal of that exemplary character. The first of the many classes of gentlemen he who possessed of a high and noble descent, and whose greatest boast was the wealth and influence of his ancestors, particularly when such wealth and influence were not so apparent in his own condition. The person who descended from a chaste and upright family, whose glory did not exist in their brute courage and record of war and blood shed, but good cause to be proud of his antecedents and boast of his descent. Of this aristocratic class, Canada was possessed of none. The second and most numerous class was the monied aristocrat, who, in the social circles of Canada and the United States. This class of gentleman was to be found all over the new world, who had carried their position by hard labour, and who did not boast, like the British aristocrat, of the wealth of their antecedents, but were proud to tell the world of their success. This class was very essential to the growth of a country, besides encouraging others in their endeavours to promote their own welfare, they acted towards their inferiors as a promoted servant does towards his late co-laborers, thereby encouraging a spirit of independence and rivalry. The next class of gentleman touched upon was the fashionable definition of the word, whose role, according to Carlyle, was to live to dress, and not to dress to live; he was a thorough gentleman in the worldly sense of the word, smooth of speech, courteous in a degree, well trained in the etiquette of high social circles; but at heart he was the blackest villain, who scrupled not to invade the chastity of the weaker sex, and with whose record, very often, the life of the gambler or blackleg would bear comparison. The democratic gentleman was very common in the United States, but this class was too far with the much-vaunted privileges of American equality, which entitles every laborer, load-carrier or wood-sawer to have a title affixed to his cognomen. Amongst this class, notwithstanding, the Bishop of Cambridge says he has met true gentlemen in the presence of both superior and inferiors. Without being aggressive, he can resent an insult and teach all the danger of taking liberties. He respects the opposite sex, and in his company the lady finds that her weakness is her shield. The word "honor"—not in the dwelling sense—must not be confounded with "reputation," for the latter is a very marked distinction between them. The true gentleman was, in short, the christian, and the Bible the code of honor and manners. The christian was the gentleman at heart and the truest specimen, and not the superficial, worldly ideal. The lecturer concluded by making a reference to the life of Christ, in which we find the truest example to be followed to constitute a thorough and exemplary gentleman.

At the conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker for his able lecture, to which Mr. Marling suitably responded. After the pronouncing of the benediction, the audience dispersed, presenting themselves as having been much edified by the discourse.

South Wellington Agricultural Society.
A meeting of the Directors of this society was held on Monday at 2 o'clock at Parker's Hotel. Mr. James Laidlaw, President, in the chair. The attention of the meeting was principally directed to the revision and amendment of the Rules, some of which underwent a long and careful consideration, resulting in amendments of which intending exhibitors will do well to take thoughtful heed. For instance, Rule 3 was amended so as to read that all entries are to be made by the 31st of Sept. inclusive, and any entry made after that date—50 cents extra, which entry fee is observed when the books will be finally closed. It was found last year that keeping the entry books open to the latest moment was productive of very great inconvenience to the Secretary and his assistants, and it was likewise felt that intending exhibitors would have, by that time, positively determined in their own minds whether they would compete or not. It was resolved that all stock, &c., must be on the ground by 12 o'clock, noon, on Tuesday of the show, and that intimation of this rule could only be justified by some very peculiar circumstance explained satisfactorily to the general body of Directors. Mr. John Hobson was re-appointed superintendent outside the building, and Mr. Chas. Sharpe superintendent inside the building. Much satisfaction was evinced at the acceptance of these offices by the gentlemen named, as well as by every one cognizant of the administrative powers they displayed last year in their respective departments.

The Town Council were asked to name a Committee of their number to cooperate with the Board of Directors in the management of the Central Exhibition for 1872. On the account of the recent entertainment of the members of the Agricultural and Arts Association, on their visit to Guelph, being presented for payment, much approval was manifested at the manner in which the President had discharged the various duties pertaining to the occasion. The Board then adjourned after a session of 5 hours.

Oshawa must be advancing. There is a house famine reported now, and $14 per month is the rent paid for a frame cottage with some half dozen rooms. All this comes from the location of manufacturers in their midst. There is nothing like it.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES
The United States Marine.
Plan for its Improvement.
A New Railroad.
New Hampshire Election.

Washington, March 12.—The Secretary of the Navy, in reply to a resolution of the Senate calling for means to establish an iron ship building yard to economize the expenditures of the Navy in restoring commerce, with the entire subject of commerce, with a detail of the decline of our ship building and a method of recovering it. The Secretary's plan is the establishment of ship-building yards, situated with reference to the ready supply of material, and so arranged as to unite in one establishment all the means to convert this material through all its processes into iron ships under one organized system. This cannot be done without aid from the Government, which might be in the form of a bounty equal to the duties imposed on foreign building materials, with the provision that only American materials be used. The ships, when built, must be directed on suitable routes of trade. The Secretary refers to the position England has attained in the commercial world, and says it is largely due to her fast steamship lines, which have secured her cotton trade from other countries. Stations should be established, the Secretary says, at suitable points for the purposes of coaling and the interchange of commerce, and lines of steamships should be established between them and all sea ports of America. One station should be established in the Mediterranean, one in the West Indies, and another on the Isthmus. Seventeen lines of communication are designated to be established gradually, and aided by the Government to dress, and not to dress to live; he was a thorough gentleman in the worldly sense of the word, smooth of speech, courteous in a degree, well trained in the etiquette of high social circles; but at heart he was the blackest villain, who scrupled not to invade the chastity of the weaker sex, and with whose record, very often, the life of the gambler or blackleg would bear comparison. The democratic gentleman was very common in the United States, but this class was too far with the much-vaunted privileges of American equality, which entitles every laborer, load-carrier or wood-sawer to have a title affixed to his cognomen. The lecturer concluded by making a reference to the life of Christ, in which we find the truest example to be followed to constitute a thorough and exemplary gentleman.

New York, March 13.—The Times says this morning that the last returns from New Hampshire indicate a Republican gain over last year of 3375, and this only in 158 towns. These towns gave Straw, a Republican, about 2000 of a majority.

The Railway Meeting at Berlin.
We take from the Galt Reformer the following, being part of its report of the railway meeting held at Berlin on Thursday last:
Moved by Mr. Thos. Cowan, of Galt, seconded by Mr. Mackie, of Berlin, "That an extension of the Galt and Berlin Railway, from the Town of Berlin through the Northern Township, to some point on the W. G. & B. R. R. and thence to Lake Huron, is calculated to confer real and substantial benefits upon sections not yet possessing railway facilities, and that this meeting urges that steps be at once taken to ascertain which route, from that point mentioned, is best calculated to meet the requirement of the Municipality interested." After some discussion this motion was carried almost unanimously by the meeting.

A discussion then sprang up about the route of the proposed road, the delegates from Elmira wishing to have the meeting express itself favorable to running the road at least within a mile or so of that village. A lengthy and at times somewhat warm debate ensued, which was finally concluded to the satisfaction of all parties by the passing of the following resolution, which was unanimously carried:
Moved by Dr. Bowly, of Berlin, and seconded by James Warnock, of Galt, and resolved, "That the proposed Railway extension run from Berlin through the village of Elmira, providing a suitable bonus be granted by that Municipality, and thence through the Township of Wellesley upon similar conditions."

The meeting then appointed Railway Committees in the different localities interested.

The Erie Railway Squabble.
The victory of the anti-Gould party in the matter of the Erie Railway appears to have been complete. Every move on the part of Gould was anticipated and guarded against. The revolution was suddenly apparent in the interests of the English stockholders, as Gen. Sikes, who returned to the United States to work on their behalf has been an active agent in the movement. Mr. Crouch, who also took a prominent part in the same direction, went to London in November last, and urged the stockholders there to unite in a combined movement against the Erie; and the struggle which on Monday last culminated in the complete overthrow of Gould and his friends has been going on quietly ever since Mr. Crouch's return. An attempt was made by Gould's friends early yesterday morning to obtain forcible possession of the vaults of the Erie office, but the other party were prepared with a stronger force, and maintained possession of the treasury. At a late hour Gould resigned his position as President of the Railway, and the new officers were installed.

The Brantford Courier says that Dr. King, Principal of the Central School, has suspended all scholars that have not been vaccinated. This is a move in the right direction, and will probably have the effect of causing parents to see that their children are properly vaccinated.

Immigration.

To the Editor of the Mercury.
Sir: No one will deny that immigration is one of the most important elements for the rapid progress of the Dominion, yet year after year we hear of agents or commissioners being sent to the old world, more especially to the United Kingdom, and with results which are not at all adequate to the expenditure incurred and it behooves us to look the difficulty straight in the face and to enquire if the most feasible method has as yet been tried to accomplish the desired end. The agents have mostly been sent to the centres of commerce; these are of course excellent fields for artisans or mechanics, but have the rural districts had their share of information, and from these alone the bone and sinew for the development of our agricultural products can be drawn. Would it not then be more desirable to organize a staff of colporteurs, if I may use that term, to permeate the length and breadth of the old country, leaving a well digested tract describing in language suited to the minds of the hands we require at each cottage by the way, these tracts or descriptions to be supplemented by lectures at the largest villages and hamlets, where answers could be given to inquirers, and the most ready and economical way of reaching our shores explained. Season after season passes away and scarcely a farmer is to be met with but will complain of the difficulty he experiences in obtaining competent hands to enable him to develop the resources of his land. The off-scourings of the various cities and towns are forever coming over to us, becoming in one sense rather a burden to us than a benefit. If our Government cannot assist us in trying every available means to supply the wanted help surely the agriculturists of the Dominion could by united efforts in the various districts organize such a scheme as would reach the ears and understandings of the men we require. It is a matter of paramount importance to the Dominion, for every farm laborer that arrives is not only a source of help to the present community, but becomes in time a source of population, of strength and of wealth to the country. The agricultural laborer at home is not as a rule a reader of newspapers, as is nearly every one in this country, but in having a paper left at his own door he is put in possession of information which he will naturally discuss with his mates, and which information is studiously kept from him by his better educated employer for fear of help becoming scarce and wages becoming higher in consequence. Any one who has lived in a country district at home in one year or two, but each year lost so many counties be canvassed, and another year so many, and so on, and I hardly think there's not prove so barren of valuable results as hitherto our efforts have shown. I do not mean to assert that the ideas embodied above are the panacea for our present trouble, but in ventilating the subject I hope we may arrive at some method which may be both profitable and practicable.
Yours, &c.,
AN AGRICULTURIST.
Guelph Township, March 4, 1872.

Easter Fat Cattle Fair.
There was a large and splendid turnout of prime cattle at the Easter Fair today (Wednesday) although perhaps the number of really first-class cattle was not so great as usual. Buyers were present in abundance from all the principal markets in Ontario, but seemingly were not disposed to give the prices expected and demanded by the farmers, who, in many instances rather than submit to what dealers offered for their cattle home again. We regret to find the Galt Fair and Easter Fat Cattle Show held on the same day, with ours, and this we hope to see avoided in the future, as it is exceedingly desirable that these shows should not in any way conflict. We heard complaints also of the date of our Easter Show being fixed in early July, suit the requirements of the dealers, but in this respect the Directors of the Show are not to blame, having been guided in the selection of the time by one of their own number who is also an extensive cattle dealer. Prices ruled low, many excellent well fed cattle with difficulty reaching 4 1/2.

NEWS ITEMS.
The question of introducing an organ into Dr. Topp's Church, in Toronto, has been discussed. The pros and cons are pretty evenly divided. It is proposed to increase Dr. Topp's salary by $1,000, making it $4,000, or engage an assistant.

A CURIOUS CASE.—A curious case was tried before Judge Dalton, in Chambers. A priest of the Roman Catholic Church, some years since married a Protestant gentleman to a Roman Catholic lady, on condition that the children should be brought up in the Roman Catholic faith. Two children were born, and after a time were educated according to agreement; but recently the husband changed his mind, and insisted that the children should be brought up in the Protestant faith. The wife resisted, and ultimately had the children hidden away. The writ was granted.

SMALL-POX IN BRANTFORD.—The reports concerning the prevalence of small-pox in this town are greatly exaggerated. At the Town Council meeting of the 6th of health reported that there were sixteen cases in all. Of this number seven had it in what is called confluent form, and two of them (colored) died. The rest are now convalescent; the remaining nine who had it in a milder form are now quite well. These are confined to their homes until all danger of spreading the disorder has ceased. At present there are three patients in the hospital, and in a fair way of recovery. These are the only cases in the town, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A young man named Labore, a student in the literary classes at Knox College, Toronto, knelt down in family prayer, on Tuesday morning, in his boarding house, and not rising for some time, his friends went over, and found one of the family went to him to see what was the matter, and found that he was dead. The immediate cause of death was disease of the heart. The deceased leaves a widowed mother who resides at Bothwell.

A MEETING of the Dominion Privy Council took place on Tuesday. It is conceded on all hands that the retention of the Hon. Joseph Howe in the Cabinet after the independence or annexation speech makes the whole Cabinet responsible for the sentiments uttered by him. It has been reported for some time that Sir John A. Macdonald would force Howe to write a letter to the press exonerating the Cabinet from all complicity or knowledge of the matter.

The Town Finances.

Sir, -The Herald of Friday, the 8th inst., contains a long editorial under the heading of "50,000," and it is full of errors from beginning to end, and is calculated to create distrust and fear in the minds of the ratepayers, and is intended to injure not only the Town by frightening intending settlers and manufacturers from selecting Guelph as their location, but charges the former Council with deception in preparing the finance statement, I beg through your paper to correct its misstatements.

First, he asks why the deputation appointed to wait on the Government were requested to ask permission to issue $50,000, when the School Board only required $30,000, and then asks if that body is to be made the "scape goat" to enable the Council to use the balance in paying their debts? To the first I need only say, that no matter how much we may ask permission to issue, the Council will only issue debentures for school purposes sufficient to meet the requirements of that body. Does the Editor of the Herald know for certain that just $30,000, neither more nor less, is the sum to be expended on the erection of the new school? And is he so ignorant as not to know that the By-Law when submitted to the ratepayers for their vote must set forth distinctly the manner in which every dollar is to be expended? Does he imagine that the ratepayers of Guelph are to be misled by his insinuations that the Council can issue $50,000 of debentures, and dispose of them, without first submitting a By-Law to that effect for their consideration and vote? Before he attempts to predict the future acts of the Council, he should seek the advice of better prophets than the Wyndham street luminary or insouffler in boots.

In the fifth paragraph of this editorial, he charges the Council with "cooking" the finance reports of last year, and hints that his estimate of the deficiency in a former statement was correct, viz.: that it was nearer $20,000 than $13,000, and then goes on to say that of his estimate of the debentures due on the 1st January of $30,000, only $2974 have been paid, and yet it has been found necessary to discount $14,885; and if his figures were correct we would have an exhibit of a deficiency at once of $17,220. His first charge of cooking the accounts, is a vile slander, and if it suited his purpose to conceal the real state of the finances of the Town when he was rejected by the people, and retired from the position of Finance Chairman, leaving a deficiency of $6000, the charge cannot be sustained against the Finance Committee for 1871, of cooking the accounts, since they submitted a true statement of the state of the Town's affairs, showing a deficiency of $13,000, which included his legacy of $6000, and the cost of the Exhibition Buildings, $2865. The debentures due on the 1st January, 1872, have been redeemed when presented, and the Treasurer has funds on hand to redeem the balance when payment is demanded. May I ask him, how or where he got his information that there was $14,885 under discount? This same trio used every means last year to embarrass the Council by misrepresentation and threats, and here again we have them at the same dirty, disreputable work. This time, however, with the naked lie on its face, for the total paper under discount is only $10,000. When the Editor of the Herald next assails the members of the Council, let him know and speak the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

He next gives a statement showing how he makes the deficiency of $14,885, and which he says there should be added $300 for interest on Exhibition Grounds, and $100 due Registrar, in all $15,284, or as he makes it $15,570. Now, to show how unreliable his statement is, and how far he has departed from what is correct, and how easy it is to make up a sum to suit his ideas, if figures are taken hap hazard regardless of every principle but that of serving his own ends, the first item of $300 is included in the cost of the Exhibition building, he includes $440 for a debenture due and assessed for in 1869, three half yearly payments for gas, three half yearly payments to the Fire Brigade and $563.55 advanced to the School Board over the appropriation, and $217 to the Market House Committee, part of which is expended in supplies still on hand. This much I think will be sufficient to show how incorrect and worthless his statements are.

This immaculate Editor (to use his own phrase) goes on to say that fortunately the amount placed in the hands of the Collector was largely in excess of what the ordinary 14 cents in the $ would have produced (about $2000), and was made up by the arrears on non-resident lands having become available. May I ask if he has taken the trouble to look at the Auditor's report, where the amount set down as collected from non-resident lands is only $476.97? Or does he insinuate that their statement was also cooked? Why not frankly admit that the increase of taxes was due to the greatly enhanced value of real estate? But this would not answer his purpose, he must not admit that the town has prospered during the past year. His purpose is to give vent to his spleen against the Council for 1871 because the people refused to elect him as one of that body, and no matter how much the Town may be injured by such reports, his private ends must be served. Fortunately his sheet has but a limited circulation, and only reaches a very few.

An allusion is next made to an editorial in the Mercury on Jan. 17, and an attempt made to ridicule the idea of calling the amount to be provided yearly for the redemption of debentures a "fixed debt." After being two years a member of the Finance Committee, does he mean to say that that liability was not recognized as a "fixed one," and that while current expenditure for each year was under the control of the Council, the debenture debt remained a fixture. When you gave the total debt as $13,000, including the $5,000 for debentures due on the 1st Jan., 1872, you correctly gave the actual debt as $8,000 which had been added to the liabilities of the Town. Truly he has discovered a mare's nest in this.

This lengthy editorial, which has taken the three worthies about as many weeks to prepare, winds up by a partial admission of the prosperity of the Town, and our ability to pay all our indebtedness, and with the warning that neither by means of a "scape goat," nor a "cat's paw" will he allow this Council, whom he first charges with "cooking" accounts, and then with "underhand attempts," to mortgage his property to pay our debts. It will be time enough to cry out when he is hurt. Although I have trespassed already too much on your liberality, permit me to look briefly into the position of the town. We commenced the year 1871 with a deficiency of $6,000, we closed it with an additional $8,000, and what have we for it? Has the Council appropriated any portion of that money for their own use, or has any part of it been squandered away foolishly? Or was the Council for 1871 chargeable with neglect of their engagements to the ratepayers? Not one of the three can be laid to their charge, but feeling the responsibility of the situation in which they were placed from the position of the Town, the majority of them did their best to keep it in advance of the progress and prosperity which characterized the country around us. And they had the satisfaction of seeing their efforts crowned with the greatest success, independent of the carrying of a few harpies and fogies, who can see nothing good in any thing that they themselves have not a finger in. For every farthing of the indebtedness the Town has value received, but it is simply malicious on the part of those who are unprogressive themselves, to malign and misrepresent the actions of others who desire to assist in the prosperity of the Town, and especially so, to make up false statements to intimidate strangers from settling in our midst.

I am, sir, yours truly
Guelph, March 12, 72. JAS. MASSE.

THE LATE EXCISE SEIZURES. -The Hamilton Standard is informed that the Government have given their decision in the several cases of seizures made upon a number of breweries in Hamilton and Dundas, where heavy penalties have been imposed by a violation of the Excise Law. Although no fraud was intended or admitted, and the evidence of all the witnesses who were examined before the Court composed of the Finance Minister, the Minister of Inland Revenue and Excise Commission clearly showed that the aggrieved parties did not intend to defraud, which was acknowledged by the Court, yet in consequence of the irregularities in keeping the books were clearly proven, the Government in view of these facts took a lenient view of the several cases as set before them, and consequently instead of enforcing the full penalty, giving the defendants the doubt, reduced the penalty to an average of one-fifth of the full amount.

HELEN MOIR

—OR— LOVE AND HONOUR.

A TALE OF THE CLYDE. CHAPTER XXII.

THE SECRET PLOTTERS—HELEN'S MUSINGS—SHE IS DRAWN INTO THE SOLITUDE. She sat at her bedroom window, in her light morning wrapper, with the sense of a fullness of blessing in her soul; and as she sat she mused on the occurrences of the day before, with the new love welling up from the freshly opened fountain in her heart. How warm and tender, yet withal how strong and gushing was his flow. For the father whom she had unexpectedly found had nothing but pity, compassion, sympathy, and respect, all running into the current of filial affection for which her noble and exalted nature formed a channel. After listening to the story of his sorrows and his sufferings, she felt that the guilt attaching to that one crime of his life had greatly lessened in her eyes, and with it of course was a corresponding lessening of the shame. What had at first been a subject of fearful horror, had, when shown in its true and naked light, been immensely reduced in its repulsive features, and her father's character, so frightful and hideous at its first presentation, was something which she could contemplate with infinite pitiful affection, and even with respect and reverence. All that was substantial and permanent therein were qualities fitted to elicit the highest admiration. Though he fell, it was by an impulsive act, and under a pressure of temptation, the most powerful and distracting. Amid the pathos of the circumstances, the criminality of the crime dwindled to a very insignificant point. It lived not in the thought, in the intention of the culprit; it entered not into his spirit even with the faintest shade of compelling influence; it was altogether an external thing, not so much as touching the outside fibre of her father's personal or real character. No, emphatically no; she could love him with all the filial affection of her heart, and his name and history need never bring the blush of shame upon her cheek.

Engaged in these pleasant ruminations, Helen's attention was arrested by a footfall on the gravel below, and looking down, the ruddy healthful face of Edwin Allerton met her view.

"Good morning, Cousin Helen," he shouted gaily up to her.

"Good morning, Cousin Edwin," responded the fair girl with sparkling yet blushing animation for this first exchange of appellation in terms of their new relationship naturally brought the crimson to her cheek. She could not forget all at once that she was no longer a poor dependent orphan, but Edwin's near relative and his equal, and it was strange and embarrassing to her, just at first.

Edwin's bright beaming face, the heartiness of his manner, and the warmth of his tone gave her a delicious consciousness of the happy truth, and she managed to respond with charming frankness. "You are early astir," she remarked.

"It is not often, I think, that you take a walk before breakfast."

"Ah, we have not known each other long, or you would not imagine that. Ask my mother, and she will tell you what an early riser I am. At Allerton Hall I am often over half the estate before breakfast."

"Then, in this respect, you have lost your character dreadfully at Allerton," rejoined Helen, with a malicious smile.

"But probably you have only transferred the walking time from morning to evening. Did you need to be out as late at Allerton Hall?"

"Never mind about that my quizzing cousin," responded Edwin, with a merry laugh. "Let us fix our attention on this present and special occasion, if you please. Do you know where I am off to this bright morning?"

"Certainly I do not, unless it may be to the West Bay."

"Indeed no; I am not bound for the West Bay. I am going quite an opposite direction—to Glasgow; and, by Jove, I must be quick too, for I hear the Dandie beginning to get on her steam."

"Oh dear me, Mr. Allerton, you—"

"Ah! Not Mr. Allerton now, if you please, but Edwin—Cousin Edwin."

"Well, Cousin Edwin, you do not surely mean to leave for Glasgow by this first boat?"

"Positively I do. I am all ready, as you see."

"Eat you cannot have got breakfast?"

"I should think not. Who breakfasts at 6 A.M.?"

"Will you not wait, then, till ten, and have breakfast in comfort?"

"I expect to have a very comfortable breakfast in Glasgow with Hermann. What message shall I take from you to him?"

"Message?" faltered Helen, becoming in a moment pale and grave.

"Yes, message. Of course you would like to say something to him apropos of last night's discovery. Why, bless you, this is the cause of my early journey. I grudge every hour that passes till Hermann receives the happy tidings. He! the steam of the Dandie's engine is rising in earnest, and I haven't another moment to spare. But I'll be sure to tell Hermann that you will—"

"What Edwin meant to tell Hermann, Helen did not hear, for he bounded off as he was speaking, and immediately on turning the corner of the house the sound of his voice was lost; and the short colloquy caused Helen's thoughts to pass into a new direction, and the question rose in her mind—How did the discovery of yesterday affect her relation to Hermann Rheinbach? Did it change it? Did it remove the barrier between them? A momentous question truly, and one that began immediately to exercise Helen's mind to the utmost. It resolved itself into this pointed form—Could Love and Honour be now united in their union? Oh, with what agonising earnestness did Helen seek the solution of this problem; and need we say that her heart's desire with and through longings yearning of that love, the natural tendency of her mind was to recollect desire and duty. She caught herself doing this, and she recoiled with a jealous shudder, trembling least out of the desire of her love a mist should rise to obscure her true path, and lead her and Hermann in a region where the purity of their honour would be stained and the crown of their integrity removed.

"During a recent cold snap at Galveston, Texas, Judge Dodge had to adjourn the criminal court until the county could borrow $5 from the deputy sheriff, to buy fuel to heat the court room."

"Italy is buying the Genoese coast and frontier, and France does not like it."

HAMILTON ROLLING MILLS.—The Times says:—This industry, which employed so many men, and was the source of a large revenue to the merchants of this city, were formally closed on Saturday last at noon. The most of the workmen left the city by trains yesterday for different points in the United States. However, the Great Western Railway Company has taken the works in hand, and will soon again have the Mills running in the hurry and energy of business.

THE NINE HOURS' MOVEMENT IN MON. TRAIL.—A large meeting of manufacturers took place at Montreal on Monday afternoon under the presidency of Mr. Bridges, to consider the nine hour movement. A number of addresses were delivered, the speakers condemning the movement on the ground of its impracticability. A committee was appointed, however, to consider the matter.

BEAKFAST—EP'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL and COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the nature of laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which will save us many heavy doctor bills.—Cook's Recipe.—Put simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet is labeled "James Epps & Co., Homeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).

Persons requiring purgatives or pills should be careful what they buy. Some pills not only cause gripping pains, but leave the bowels in a torpid condition. Parson's Purgative Pills will relieve the bowels and cleanse the blood without injury to the system.

Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving way, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find in Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites the material to build them up and the tonic to keep them there.

A FRIEND IN NEED.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is a friend in need. Who has not found it such in curing all diseases of the lungs and throat, coughs, colds and pulmonary affections, and "last, not least," consumption? The sick are assured that the high standard of excellence on which the popularity of this preparation is based, will always be maintained by the proprietors.

It is a rare thing that physicians give any countenance to a medicine, the manufacture of which is a secret. About the only exception we know of is Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. This, we believe, all endorse, and many of them use it in their practice with great success.

COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES

AS all life-endowed bodies, whether they be Beasts, Birds, Reptiles, Insects, or even Zoophytes, and subject to the Vegetable Kingdom are governed by vital forces, which binds all the springs of existence, and as nothing can save them from destruction when this principle leaves them, the discovery of means whereby vitality may be sustained in the living body is in fact a boon to the world.

Modern Chemistry has unveiled the question and discovered the ingredients constituting the brain, muscles and nerves, and finds that by introducing these ingredients in proper proportions the brain and nervous system are strengthened.

The life is substantially the basis on which the system of the body is built, its direct action upon the Brain and Nervous System, and the Muscles, strengthening the Nerves, it causes the rapid distribution of Vitalized Blood in the Muscular Organs of the Body.

Rousing the Stagnant Heart and Liver, Strengthening the Action of the Stomach and Bowels, and enabling the Lungs to be fully inflated with Oxygen.

It is adapted for all cases of Weakness and Emaciation, whether arising from a sedentary life, a tropical climate, from fever, or debility from any cause, and is efficacious in Pulmonary Consumption, many confirmed cases having been cured and all benefited, where its use has been continued over a fortnight.

In Bronchitis it is a specific, and in Asthma it gives relief where every other remedy fails. For Nervous Debility it stands unrivalled, and may be used with confidence in all cases. As this is entirely distinct and different from every other preparation of Hypophosphites, be careful to ask for Fellows' Syrup, and take no other.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

Mrs. Amy Kennedy, of Palmsville, Ohio, says: I have suffered with Asthma 24 years, have been doctored by many Physicians, as soon as I took this Balsam, it relieved me. I cannot express the gratitude I feel for the benefit your Allan's Lung Balsam has been to me.

Dr. Harris, of Middlebury, Vermont, says:—I had been troubled with Bronchitis for two years so affecting the organs of speech that I could not speak aloud for six weeks. I used with it severe cough and cold night sweats. I took two bottles of Allan's Lung Balsam, and an entirely cured.

Capt. Foster, of Barre, Ont., says: I have been troubled with a cough at times very severe for years past. I have found Allan's Lung Balsam to relieve my cough more readily than any other cough medicine I have ever tried. My wife also used with the most satisfactory results.

The Balsam is sold by all druggists. Price 25¢ per bottle.

VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

Nine years before the public, and no preparation for the hair has ever been produced equal to Hall's "Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer," and every honest dealer will say it gives the best satisfaction. It restores GRAY HAIR to its original color eradicating and preventing dandruff curbing BALDNESS and promoting the growth of the hair. The gray and brassy by a few applications is changed to black and silky locks, and wayward hair will assume any shape the wearer desires. It is the cheapest HAIRDRESSING in the world, and its effects last longer, as it excites the glands to furnish the nutritive principle so necessary to the life of hair. It gives the hair that splendid appearance so much adured by all. By its tonic and stimulating properties it prevents the hair from falling out, and none need be without Nature's ornament, a good head of hair. It is the first real perfected remedy ever discovered for curing diseases of the hair, and it has never been equalled, and we assure the thousands who have used it, it is kept up to its original high standard. Our Treatise on the Hair mailed free; sent for it.
