EPIDEMIC AMONG HORSES.

Report on a horse epidemic. 'We regret to say that Guelph has been visited by this catarrhal affection, and that a large number of horses are affected. Mr. John Speirs, V.S., has upwards of 30 under treatment at present, and has been as yet successful in his treatment of every case. The symptoms are a dry, harsh cough, sore throat, cold extremities, with fever. At the very earliest symptoms, owners of affected horses should call in the aid of the V.S., as an early treatment is almost universally successful in restoring the animal to former health and strength.'

SENTENCED FOR RAPE.

Report on a man sentenced for rape. 'On the last day of the Fall Assizes, held at Cornwall last week, a sentence of death was passed on Charles Spink. The prisoner had committed rape under most revolting circumstances, and the evidence being very positive against him, the jury brought in a verdict of "guilty" on the indictment. The Morningstar Courier thus describes the scene in court when sentence of death was passed upon Spink: "The prisoner evidently did not realize his true position until the dread sentence of death had been read upon him. He assumed an air of haughty indifference during the trial, and when asked by His Lordship if he had anything to say before sentence was passed upon him, he coolly replied in the negative. At the words "hanged by the neck until you are dead," the prisoner started up, his eyes became riveted upon the Judge for the space of fully two minutes, after which his head fell forward and he burst into a fit of crying amid which he was taken from the Court room.'

SM RONNELL PALMER IS TO BE MADE BARON SELBORNE.

Report on a peerage creation. 'The horse disease has broken out seriously in Port Hope. There are already 100 cases. Snow fell to the depth of several inches in many parts of Grey and Bruce on the night of the 9th inst. The Synod of the Church of Scotland in Canada presented an address to Lord Dufferin on Tuesday. Five German vessels are about setting out to circumnavigate the globe. The trip is to last 18 months. A thief in the Halifax jail succeeded in locking his keeper in, while he escaped himself, on Sunday last. Aaron Brown, who personated a voter at the late By-election, has been sent for to the Assizes. JOHN EASTON, a well-digger, nearly lost his life at Waterloo on Thursday by the caving in of part of the well. The N.Y. Tribune says that in every court and cabinet on earth the tidings of Seward's death will come with something of a personal shock. The servant girls at Cote St. Antoine have held a meeting to demand an increase of wages. They are now asking as high as $10 and $12 per month. Ambassadors to the military and consular forces have been ordered to Lisburn, Ireland, as an anti-Catholic disturbance is threatened in that town. FANNY FEES, a well-known American authoress, is dead. This was only her nom de plume, her real name being Willis She was a sister of Nathaniel P. Willis, the American poet. A young man named Clark was shot by one Campbell, a colored man, at a tavern about two miles from Amherstburg, Clark is not expected to live. Campbell has cleared out for the States. day afternoon, and I never saw them again. By the Jury.—Think they must have walked, and pretty sure that they had no conveyance; the woman was dressed in a slate-colored merino or colouring dress, with a black garibaldi or loose jacket, and black hat with a rose in it; thinking that the man had a moustache; and that the woman's hair was brown; do not know the medical men of the town. JANE SHAW, sworn.—Am Mrs. Jones' grand-daughter, and live at the Red Lion Hotel; I saw the couple referred to on the Tuesday night in question; the man was of fair complexion, had hair on his chin, and light moustache; wore a black suit, and black hat, and carried a pair of kid gloves in his hand; the woman had a brown dress with brown waist and black overskirt, a white hat trimmed with black lace and white ribbons and a red rose; saw the woman next morning in the kitchen standing at the stove in her stocking feet; we never spoke to each other; I saw the man going out of the kitchen door, and saw him afterwards going upstairs with another man; don't know all the medical men in town; don't think he was a doctor; was not a very well dressed man; he was stout and had bushy whiskers. By the Jury.—think it would be between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning when the two men went up stairs; went up to the bed-room on Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock, the woman was still there, and refused to come down till her husband returned; observed no symptoms of the window being opened. Dr. KATZKE sworn.—made a post mortem examination, the result of which had convinced him that the child had never breathed. The following is a copy of the written statement handed in by him:— 'The appearance of the body was that of a small, but fully developed infant at its full term. The body did not present any marks of violence, the placenta or after birth was still attached to the body, which showed signs of incipient putrefaction. On opening the chest the lungs were found lying in the posterior part of the chest; they were carefully removed and weighed, and the weight ascertained to be 610 grains, they were of a uniform dark violet colour, did not crepitate in the slightest in any part under the finger, and on being placed in water they immediately sank to the bottom; the lungs were then cut into pieces, and each piece found to sink in water. From the evidence of the post mortem I am of opinion that the child never breathed.' By Mr. Hodgkin.—my opinion is that the child was a full term or very nearly so; the child showed no symptoms of forced labor. By the Jury.—would not like to say how long the child had been born; would think that the birth of the child might easily correspond with the facts previously stated; a child might be born alive and yet never have breathed, as for instance by keeping it under the bed clothes from its birth. The Coroner then summed up dwelling principally upon the illegitimate circumstances attending the birth of the child; that the parties were clearly strangers here, and not man and wife, or why conceal the child's birth even were it born dead; that the parties were well acquainted with the probable time of the birth, and came to Guelph so that they might the more easily and secretly accomplish their designs. He agreed with the result of the post mortem examination that the child had never breathed; still that would not exculpate the parties concerned, as it was their duty to have every lawful reasonable means used to have life infused, and thought that the Jury would be only doing right in bringing in a verdict in accordance with his recommendation. The Coroner, before dismissing the witnesses, felt it to be his duty to severely reprimand on the conduct of Mr. Jones in not at once, on the discovery of the state of the bed, communicating with the Police authorities, as not only was the life of the child concerned, but possibly that of the mother as well, and involving, perhaps, the charge of murder. He trusted that the case would be a warning not only to Mr. Jones, but to all other persons similarly circumstanced. Mr. S. Hodgkin wished, at the suggestion of the County Attorney, to call attention to the fact that he had, in his double capacity of citizen and magistrate, requested a Constable who was present shortly after the discovery of the child, to take charge of the remains, but he refused to do so. Since then, however, the Constable had expressed regret in not complying with the request made to him, and he would not mention the name. He thought that the public interest he thought it could not be too widely known that Constables are required to act when called upon by magistrates in the exercise of their public duty, to do so, otherwise, sometimes great public criminals might be allowed to escape the deserts they so richly merit. The Coroner agreed with Mr. Hodgkin, but he had no jurisdiction in the matter. If a Town Constable the Town Council were to do so, and if a County Constable, so were the County authorities. The room was then cleared of the public, and after the lapse of an hour the jury brought in the following verdict: The Jury find from the evidence brought before them that the body on view is that of a male infant, born of an unknown woman, in the house of William Jones, keeper of the Red Lion Hotel, in this Town, on or about the 2nd of Oct., instant, and that the same woman, and a man, also unknown, who passed for her husband, are guilty of criminal neglect and concealment, and probably of the murder of the child. The proceedings did not terminate until after 11 o'clock, p.m. POLICE COURT. Before T. W. Saunders, Esq., P. M. October 12th. Thomas Kenney was brought up on a remand for stealing a pair of pants from Michael Skellon in March last. The prosecutor not appearing Kenney was discharged. THE HORSE DISEASE.—This disease, which is causing so much vexation and alarm amongst horse owners in Hamilton and Toronto, has now broken out in Dundas and in some other towns in Ontario. The disease does not generally prove fatal, however, but should be attended to as speedily as possible, the symptoms being generally lassitude, a sharp cough and running at the nose.

The Mount Forest Reform Demonstration.

We notice by the Mount Forest papers that the Committee, who have been active in getting up the Reform Demonstration there, is to come off on the 24th inst., have completed their arrangements. Invitations have been sent to the Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake, Brown, McKellar, Wood, Crooks, Gow and other leading Reformers, as also the members of both Houses of Parliament for the Counties of Wellington and Grey, and it is confidently expected that all those gentlemen will be present. The Reception Committee, accompanied by the Village Band, will meet their guests at the railway station at one o'clock, on the arrival of the train from Toronto. A procession will then be formed, and will march to the Drill Shed, where addresses will be delivered at half-past two. In the evening a dinner will be given at Coyne's Hotel. It is confidently expected that the Demonstration will be the largest and most successful ever held in that part of the Province.

Magistrates and Constables.

On reference to our report of the Inquest on Friday evening, it will be perceived that the question of jurisdiction of a County Magistrate over a Town (and who likewise happened to be a County Constable, was raised by a County Magistrate, Mr. Samuel Hodgskin, resident in the Town. We heard it asserted at the time, that by statute, supreme jurisdiction is vested in the Police Magistrate (where there is one) of a town, and on further investigation this morning, we find such to be the case. It follows, therefore, from the law as it at present exists, that Mr. Hodgskin had no legal jurisdiction over the constable in question,—that is, supposing the crime in question was one committed within the precincts of the Town,—and any constable standing upon his dignity, and acting on the strict letter of the law, may refuse to act at the request of any other than the Police Magistrate. We would fain hope that we possess no Constables who would so shelter themselves behind a mere technicality, as to evade what is the very duty they are appointed to perform. Still, we think it unfortunate that the words of the statute are so framed that any Constable can plead a want of competent jurisdiction as a reason why he does not feel himself called upon to execute the order of a Magistrate acting promptly in the interests of public justice. If the Police Magistrate's authority to act must first be necessary, how often may not grave offences go "unwhipped of justice," for want of the requisite legal power on the part of Magistrates to promptly arrest the offenders, and we therefore hope that the law will speedily be so amended that this anomalous state of things will cease.

The Dundas Banner says:—In a fit of desperation the London Free Press has come down to an article giving a description of the bedding and beds used by the members of the Ontario Government who occupy apartments in the Parliamentary Buildings. The Free Press thinks two in a bed too many. Our enterprising western contemporary should next tell his readers how often the members of the Government wash their faces, and whether or not they keep their toe nails properly pared and cleaned, and at the same time he might let it be known how many corns or chilblains they have on their feet.

Should the next Dominion Parliament become sick, it will have plenty of doctors to prescribe for its ailments. Here is the list of its medical advisers:—Dr. Bergin, Brouse and Grant, of Ontario; Paquet, Robitaille Fortin, St George, Fiset and Lacerte of Quebec; Tupper, Forbes and Almon, of Nova Scotia, and Schultz and Lynch of Manitoba. The only malady known, which the House is likely to suffer from, is a constitutional one requiring a total change of regime, and this was insisted on by doctors Mackenzie and Blake.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—COURAGE OF AN ENGINE DRIVER.—On Friday afternoon last, Mr. William Haugh, a retired farmer living in the township of North-Est, was indicted for his life to the presence of mind and courage of an engine driver on the Grand Trunk. The engine driver, Edward Tout, was in charge of a special freight train which left here at half-past one, p.m. When approaching the crossing by the Little Lakes, he saw a man, who turned out to be Haugh, walking on the track. He whistled repeatedly to draw the man's attention to get off the track, but he did not seem to hear. When Tout saw he was not going to get off he whistled "on brakes," and did all in his power to stop, but the train could not be stopped before the cowcatcher struck the man. Tout then watched both sides of the engine to see if he would fall out. Seeing he did not fall out on either side, the driver went out on the front end of his engine, and when he got there the man was in the act of rolling off. He immediately leant over, seized him by the coat collar, and held him up until the train was stopped. He was then released from his perilous position and conveyed back to Stratford, where it was found that he had sustained but very slight injuries, though but for the succour rendered him by Mr. Tout, at great peril to himself, he must in another minute have been cut to pieces.—Stratford Beacon.

By the arrival of the good ship Oceanic the literary amazons of America receive amongst them one of the most distinguished of their sisterhood. On the 26th inst. Miss Emily Faithful took heart of grass and embarked on board the Oceanic to commence a twelve months' tour of the States. The primary object of her journey is to inspect the factories of America with a view to gathering hints for the amelioration of the condition of the English factory-women.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

Prince Napoleon Leaves Paris.

Great Fire in Bangor.

Fatal Shooting Affair.

Fall of a Building.

A Number of Lives Lost.

Paris, Oct. 11.—Midnight.—Prince Napoleon has yielded to a peremptory order of the Government, and left Paris. Bangor, Me., Oct. 11.—11:37.—Schwartz's fine block, on west market square, is now on fire. The flames have entire possession of the block which is past being saved. The efforts of the firemen now being directed to preventing the spread of the fire to the adjoining block.

Baltimore, Oct. 11.—Samuel Barrett—who was shot last night while a torch light procession was passing through the street, died this afternoon. Louisville, Ky., Oct. 11.—A new house, being erected on Market-st, between third and fourth streets, four stories high, fell about seven o'clock this evening, crushing in the rear, part of the two houses adjoining, one occupied by Mr. J. G. Webb and the other by Mr. Henry Notti's family, consisting of himself, his wife, 5 children and a journeyman named Lewis Johns who were at supper, and were buried in the ruins. Six bodies have so far been recovered from the ruins.

London, Oct. 11.—The weather to-day on the British coast is tempestuous, and some damage to shipping is reported.

The announcement of the death of W. H. Seward is received in England with great surprise, no intimation whatever of his illness having reached there.

The Daily News says:—Though Mr. Seward was unpopular here by reason of his peremptory bearing, he leaves behind him a great example of vigor, energy and success.

The rumor of an autumn session of Parliament is discredited.

DR. HERMANN VON ORGES, a well-known Austrian economist, has issued a pamphlet on women's work in connection with the Vienna Industrial Exhibition, where special attention will be given to the work performed by women. At the London Exhibition were seen the products of human industry, at the Paris Exhibition the instruments of human labor, and that to be held at Vienna will show who the laborers are. Information already obtained shows that in Austria women play a much more important part in all kinds of manufactures than they have hitherto been supposed to do, and that in all departments where great bodily strength is not required their work is quite as valuable as that of men. A school has recently been opened in Vienna for the instruction of women in certain departments of work for which they are peculiarly fitted, such as the making of patterns for jewelry, dresses, and so forth, and the productions of the students will be shown at the exhibition to enable manufacturers to judge of their value.

KENNEDY IN AUSTRALIA.—The Australian correspondent of the London Era says:—Mr. Kennedy, the Scottish vocalist, assisted by his family—two sons and two daughters—made their debut to their first Melbourne audience on the 2nd of July at the new Temperance Hall, Russell street, and received quite an ovation. Indeed, I never witnessed any entertainment that went off so enthusiastically. I presume all the Scotch people in the colony must have been present. Of course Mr. Kennedy, sen., is the chief attraction. At a conclusion to the entertainment "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, and the audience was so thoroughly carried away by their entertainer that they all stood up—men, women and children—and sang as lustily as ever they had done on the tops of the hills of their native land.

BLOWING UP A NEWSPAPER OFFICE.—The building in which the Raleigh, N.C. Sentinel is printed, was nearly destroyed on Friday morning by the explosion of some powder which unknown persons placed under the press. All the type in the composing room is pined. A package of powder with a slow match was also found under the job press, but the match had gone out. The explosion occurred at one o'clock and caused great excitement. Crowds flocked to the scene of the attempt. The roof of the press room is blown to pieces, and the press completely demolished. Two men were seen to run away from the place shortly before the explosion.

On Thursday a man named Wilson, of Sarnia, a brakeman on the Sarnia branch of the G. W. Railway, was killed. He was on the top of the cars letting off brakes, the cars being in motion. His head came in contact with the bridge, breaking his skull, knocking him down between the cars.

An old gentleman named Dubord, formerly one of the members of the Canadian Parliament for Quebec, walked out some time on the morning of the tenth from a fourth story window, in a fit of somnambulism, and when picked up was a mangled corpse on the pavement.

THERE has been an explosion in one coal mine in Pictou County, Nova Scotia, and a crushing in of the roof of another. The ground above has sunk about three feet, and the depression, if it spreads further, may possibly cause the destruction of the village of Westville.

BEVERLY FLOODING MATCH.—The annual match of the Beverly Township Agricultural Society, will take place on Mr. John Cowes' farm, lot 28, 8th con., on Tuesday, 22nd October, when prizes will be awarded in three classes—mens', boys from 15 to 18, and boys under 15. Ploughs to be on the ground at 9, a.m.

BIRTHS.

Guelph Evening Mercury SATURDAY EVENING, OCT. 12, 1872

The Foster Brother;

OR— The Orphan of the Wreck. CHAPTER XXI.

A DARK ECLIPSE FOLLOWED BY A WONDERFUL BREAKING OF THE LIGHT. "Oh, my God!" he groaned. "Is my faith in Thee also destined to prove a vain delusion? After this I can put no trust in anyone—since all is false, all must be false. Truth, virtue, justice, love—all are vanities—they only seem to be, but they are not—their fair form, their seeming loveliness, are but hollow, unfounded imaginations—they crumble away beneath the soul that rests on them, and leaves it only with dust and ashes. Oh, Lillias, Lillias, how has the idol of my soul fallen from its shrine, and left me face to face with black nothingness!"

His first impulse was to rush away at headlong speed—to fly far from the spot where that poisoned death-shaft had struck him, though he felt he could not pull it back and leave it behind; he must bear it with him; though he should fly to the ends of the earth he must carry it there in all its rankling agony—it could never, never be withdrawn.

Yet the impulse of his stricken soul was to rush away into the distance, and in obedience to it he had actually taken several rapid steps forward when another feeling came upon him with rushing power. He would not go on until he had confronted the foul deceiver, and poured on her and the supplanter in scathing words the wind of his fierce indignation. It would, he felt, be some satisfaction to hurl his burning denunciations on their heads, to leave with them his heaviest curse, and invoke judgment and retributive justice on their guilty heads.

Governed by this influence of new passion, George turned in the direction of the arbour. To reach it he had to make for the clump of trees; but his long, determined strides soon brought him round the corner and in view of the arbour, which contained the objects of his consuming wrath.

It stood silent and still in the dim starlight, but in bitter fancy he pictured its inmates folded in each other's arms, and breathing words of love and devotion with the kisses of their lips. He pictured Lillias lying on the youth's bosom, just as, a few nights before, on the same spot, she had lain on his; and then the memory of that thrilling scene coming full in view, his soul was steeled with double indignation, and, setting his teeth very hard together, he strode forward, his feet sounding heavily on the grass as he advanced.

He was yet ten yards from the entrance and was grimly imagining the effect which would be produced, by his appearance, when Lillias came forth and flew towards him with a quick bounding step. For days past he had pictured the thrilling sweetness of this meeting, and had seen her coming towards him just in that glad, joyous way, while he threw wide his arms to receive her. But now that the veil had fallen, and left her hideous and loathsome in his eyes, he stood still, and, folding his arms, gazed at her with a terrible expression.

His attitude changed in a moment her overflowing gladness into wondering astonishment; then, catching sight of his white, stern, wrathful face, she gave a great start, and, with a terrified look, exclaimed—

"Oh, George! what is it? what terrible thing has happened to make you look so?"

"Can you not guess?" he hoarsely replied.

"Oh, heaven!" she gasped; "have you met my father? have you—have you—"

"Oh, cruel, heartless, deceitful girl!" he burst forth; "I have seen that which makes the sight of you more loathsome to my eyes than the foulest reptile that crawls. Know, Lillias Gibson, that the mask has fallen, I behold you now in your hideous depravity; and yonder comes the man to whom you have transferred the love you professed for me."

Poor Lillias recoiled from his invectives in white and speechless dismay. Every syllable came like a blow, which stunned and stunned her the more, and she covered and shrunk in bewildered terror at his fearful aspect. But, strangely enough his last words seemed to bring to her enlightenment and relief, for, as her companion to whom George referred issued from the arbour and came towards them, she burst into hysterical laughter, and, with rather a wild wave of her arms, turned to him and sought support.

The stranger hastily passed his arms round her, and gazed silently at George, who said, with bitter, concentrated vengeance—

"Ay, take her, and find her false, as I have found her. Though you have robbed me of her love, I do not envy you, or—"

He was not permitted to say more, for he whom he addressed took a step forward, threw back his hat from his brow, and uttering George's name in a voice familiar to the latter's ear, revealed to his astonished eyes the smiling, beaming face of—HARRY MARSHMAN.

George was thunderstruck, and stood with open mouth and staring eyes, unable to speak, unable to move, unable to do anything but gaze, spellbound.

Lillias regarded him with an eager, questioning smile. She understood now the cause of his extraordinary behaviour which had given her such a shock, and waited in eager expectation for what would follow when George knew the truth.

Harry held out his hand. "You are amazed," he said, "and well you might be. But I will let light in upon you by a word—I am Lillias' brother."

THE REASON WHY

Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Callosa is called a Chemical Food and Nutritive Tonic, because Phosphates constitute more than half the material of the human body, and are absolutely essential to the growth of Bone, Muscle and Nerve, which cannot attain full development without them. They promote a good appetite, perfect digestion, create pure, healthy, vitalizing blood, and supply the waste constantly going on in the system as the result of mental and physical exertion. Being combined with Callosa, the Peruvian Bark, the only specific for Chills and Fever, and that condition of Nervous Prostration and General Debility arising from low vitality and exhaustion, it forms an elegant and agreeable, invigorating Tonic, purely physiological in its action, that may be taken safely under all circumstances, and in all diseased conditions of the body, as it builds up the constitution in the same manner as our daily food.

Sold by all Druggists at 51.

POSITIVELY A FACT.

Mustard's Catarrh Specific
Cures Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Neuralgia, Toothache, Nervous and Sick Headache, Weak and Sore Eyes. The Specific is a new remedy, prepared from Medicinal Berberis, Roots, Gums and Flowers. Free from poisonous Drugs, it is harmless, novel, and philosophic in its operation. Try it if you are afflicted with the above diseases. It is also one of the best Cough and Croup Remedies extant.

Mustard's Vegetable Pills should also be used in connection with the Specific for Sick Headache and Catarrh, and those who are afflicted with Rheumatism should try Mustard's King of Oils.

The Largest and any Company in the World.

This Society has led the van in the Insurance world for many years; it has introduced more improvements and given greater impetus to the business than any Life Company in the United States, and is deserving in this respect of the praise and gratitude of the community.

There are many reasons for selecting the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

1st—No company has such large annual transactions, thereby insuring its business a constant accession of fresh and selected lives which is one of the greatest elements of strength.

2nd—Liberality in dealing with all claims: obtaining the same time, a due regard to the interests of its present large body of policy-holders by a firm resistance to any attempt at imposition.

3rd—Perfect organization in every department, which renders official information easily obtainable and secures a complete administration of its affairs.

4th—Being one of the most progressive in situations of its kind in the world, it is ever prepared to seize at once upon all the improvements in the business that science can suggest.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society issues every recognized form of policy, and especially the TONYNE SAVINGS FUND INSURANCE which the Company introduced. This new plan has become very popular, as equalling among all who are insured under it the advantages which arise from the profits of the business, without in any respect infringing upon the normal results for which Life Insurance was first instituted.

The EQUITABLE feels that it has the strongest claims upon public confidence. Under the management that distinguishes it and the principles by which it is guided, perfect security is given for the future, than which no greater inducement can be held out to all who wish to insure their lives.

Further information regarding the different kinds of Policies issued by the Society can readily be obtained at

THE COMPANY'S OFFICES,

Or from any of its representatives throughout the United States and Canada.
