JOURNAL No. 1, Vol. XX! Adsum. The JOURNAL staff of '92-'93 present to their readers JOURNAL No. 1 and hope that under their care and management it may keep up to the standard of perfection to which previous volumes attained. We are a week later than we expected in preparing No. 1, owing to the ill-health of the editor appointed last spring, who thus found it impossible to undertake the management of the JOURNAL for '92-'93. We also find it impossible to enlarge the JOURNAL, as was proposed last year, but we do promise that it will be produced with the same unfailing regularity which made it so popular last year.

We are glad to be able to give in this number the greater part of the speech delivered by the Principal at the opening of the Medical Faculty. Lack of space compels us to hold over till our next issue the report of the proceedings on University Day.

The work begun last spring was carried on and brought to a successful conclusion during the summer, and the Medical Faculty is now an integral part of the university. The advantages of this step are so manifest and have been so often stated that we need not here speak of them. We agree heartily with what

Dr. Neish says in his letter, quoted by the Principal, and are sure that good old Queen's will, in the future, have no sons more loyal than those whose patron saint is Esculapius.

If the gentlemen, presumably last year's Curators of the Reading Room, who left our sanctum in the position in which it now is, would be kind enough to take some action in the matter, we would be much obliged. The retiring staff of last year left it in good order.
When we take possession this year we find our files of old journals disarranged, and for the most part buried under heaps of picture frames; others lie on the floor, intermingled with broken glass and more picture frames.
Everything in short is where it ought not to be. While unable to compel them to restore order, we think that as gentlemen they can do no less.

Perhaps a few thoughts regarding the behaviour in the gallery on Convocations, meetings, etc., will not be out of place just now and especially since the incidents of the last meetings are fresh in the mind of everyone who attended. The proposals and motions made in the Alma Mater Society during the last two years show that the minds of the students themselves are drawn to the fact that the noise and disturbance is yearly increasing. It is impossible for any committee or any one year to put down the noise because a few individuals from each year cause it. The matter ought to present itself to the common-sense of every student that the good name of the students as a body is in his hands on these occasions, and in maintaining theirs he maintains his own. He ought also to remember that the preparation of the papers and addresses, given on these occasions, costs much labour and thought. Besides many people gather to hear the contents of these papers which to them at least prove interesting and instructive. It is a pity if the students in any way spoil such a pleasure which comes but seldom in the year. We are aware that college songs, jokes and jollity are also enjoyed and we do not desire to suppress these, but we desire suitable ones. We can see neither joke nor enjoyment in the continual thumping of canes and boots on the floor, which causes annoyance to speaker and audience. Let us have something which can be enjoyed by all, but nothing which will prove irritating and annoying, and let it never henceforth be laid to the charge of the students that anyone has gone away dissatisfied.

College News.

A. M. S.

THE attendance at the Alma Mater Society has been very good, and what has been a novelty during the year, viz., "The Critic's Report," is still continued. However, he has a fruitful theme for criticism, during several meetings in the back seats, whose occupants were not all freshmen. The proposal that part of the evening be spent in singing and keeping up the remembrance of good old college songs, is a good one. College singing has been gradually dying out, but it is too pleasant a relic of olden days to let it go. Few indeed, nowadays, know "On the old Ontario Strand."

At first meeting the resignations of W. H. Davis, as Editor-in-Chief of the JOURNAL, of W. H. Bawden, as Secretary of Alma Mater Society, of W. F. Nickle, as member of Athletic Committee, were received and accepted.

Messrs. Carmichael, Fraser, Lavell, Grant and Shortt were appointed a committee to select a new editor. J. S. Rowlands, '93, was elected in Mr. Nickle's stead. Messrs. Thompson, Tudhope, Mowat, Rowlands, '93, and R. S. Smith were appointed a committee to arrange details regarding procession on the evening of University Day.

At the second meeting the resignation of J. W. McIntosh, as Secretary of the A. M. S., was received and accepted.

Messrs. Drummond, Sinclair, Peacock, Grant, Peck, Haydon, Thompson, Lavell and McDougall were appointed Curators of Reading Room.

At the fourth meeting a communication from Trinity University, requesting a delegate to represent the students of Queen's, was read and referred to the senior year. Report re keeping order in the gallery was read and the matter referred to the senior year.

F. Hugo gave notice of motion that at the next meeting he would introduce a motion re a Debate with McGill University; also re the furnishing of the Ladies' Reading Room with suitable reading matter.

OPENING OF THE MEDICAL FACULTY OF THE UNIVERSITY.

On the 14th of October last, the new Medical Department was formally opened in Convocation Hall. The audience down stairs was rather small, and while the gallery was at first fairly well filled with students, they gradually diminished in number till few were left to hear the last speakers.

The Reverend John Mackie opened the proceedings with prayer. Chancellor Fleming extended a warm welcome to the strangers who were present, and congratulated both the university as a whole and the medical students on the closer relations which had been entered into. He also spoke of Kingston's need of a free Public Library, and said that the city should endeavor to establish one, to which could be devoted the books now in the College Library, those in the Mechanics' Institute Library, etc. Dr. Fife Fowler, Dean of the Medical Faculty, and Dr. Williamson, told of the origin of the study of Medicine at Queen's, interspersing their accounts with interesting personal reminiscences. Sir James Grant, of Ottawa, then gave a long and interesting address, which we hope to quote from in a future number. Dr. Clark, of Peterboro', delivered a speech at once instructive and humorous. Mayor McIntyre and Hiram Calvin, M.P., also spoke. By this time the proceedings had become so protracted that the speeches delivered by Mr. Pense, Chairman of the Hospital Board, and by the Principal, though of special interest to medical students and graduates, were delivered to an almost empty gallery. Mr. Pense referred to the new morgue, constructed so as to enable students to assist at post-mortem examinations, and to other additions to the Hospital. He also promised a new theatre for operations, and perhaps a maternity wing before next.

session. It is a way that we have at Queen's to allow no year pass without a new building, a new laboratory, a new professor, or some other step in advance. So mote it be, for the next fifty years!

The Principal ended his brief address with hints that we are sure will be taken. After referring to the additions of which Mr. Pense had spoken, he went on as follows: "The improvements now being made on your main building speak for themselves. Besides those that minister directly to your comfort, four rooms have been set apart and equipped for microscopical work, and that important department will hereafter be attended to under the supervision of a Professor who will give his whole time to it, as well as an enthusiasm that never flags and a thorough acquaintance with modern methods. I may name three lines along which the study of medicine must now be prosecuted, clinical investigation, practical anatomy, and the study by means of the microscope of normal and diseased tissues and of bacteriology. For the first, we are thoroughly equipped. I know no building in Canada so well arranged for it as our new Hall. No medical student henceforth can go from Queen's without a thorough practical training in the science whose tests reveal to us with unerring accuracy whether the processes that are continually going on within us are working healthily. It is not enough that the student should see a professor or tutor experimenting. He must handle the tools himself and become as familiar with test tubes as with the stethoscope.

On the second line, we have always had special advantages. No modern discoveries or methods can do away with the necessity of thorough dissection of the body. Hence my surprise on being informed by the Dean that the Ontario Council, the Corporation to which we look for our preservation against quacks and which therefore has had large powers given to it by the Legislature, decided last summer that the medical men of the future need dissect only one-half of what was formerly required. I would respectfully urge the council to re-consider this decision. In any event, our Medical Faculty will not take advantage of this or any other half measure.

We have also undertaken to provide a complete equipment along the third line I have mentioned. A beginning was made last year; but expensive apparatus is lost or destroyed, when there is no professor present all the time, in the laboratories, either in his own person or the person of an assistant or tutor. The appointment of Dr. Knight as Professor of Physiology and Histology is the greatest step in advance that we have recently made; and as Professor Fowler will be associated with him in Vegetable Histology, and Dr. Anglin in Pathology, besides Dr. Cunningham and tutors as they may be required, it will be possible now to bring this whole department into a condition of efficiency equal to that of our Chemistry and Anatomy. To do so, however, requires an immediate expenditure on capital account, and for that I appeal to those who are interested in this side of university work. Every student must have the use of a microscope; and microscopes, microtomes and accompanying apparatus cost money. Dr. Knight spent summer before last at Penikese and Wood's Holl; and last summer at Clark and the Scottish Laboratories. After finding out the minimum additional apparatus that was necessary, he wrote me from Edinburgh that $750 were needed now and as much more next year, and he asked to be allowed to make this year's purchases on the spot. I advanced the money, believing that the necessity had only to be made public, and that contributions would be sent in to recoup me. If you think that I should have the privilege of paying the whole bill, well and good. But now that the faculty is an integral part of the university, I shall be astonished if the medical graduates and other liberal friends refuse to bear a hand in giving this modern side of study the necessary equipment. I have had an earnest already. Dr. George J. Neish, of Jamaica, W.I., has just written, offering $25 a year, until he "can afford to give more," to assist in making "Queen's approach as nearly as possible to her grand old European parent universities." He adds, "now that the Faculty is bona fide the Medical Faculty of the university, the Medical graduates will prove themselves as full of spirit as the Arts."

Professor Shortt, our energetic Librarian, spent the summer in Germany. He received valuable presents of books from Brockhans of Leipsic, concerning which he himself will report more fully. As he could make some necessary purchases on the spot, more easily and cheaply than at any other time, I advanced him $250 for the purpose. May I ask those who are interested in the library to assist me in bearing this burden also?

Gentlemen, I wish you a profitable session."

FOOTBALL.

On Saturday, Oct. 8th, Queen's played her first scheduled match against the R.M.C. The Cadets were in good condition, and had been practising hard for about three weeks. Queen's had only had three nights practice, and owing to the absence of some of the old reliables were weak. In the first half the score was 6 to 1 in favor of the Cadets, as they were playing with the wind. In the second half Queen's played better, scoring 8 points, thus winning the match by a score of 9 to 6.

After a week's hard practice, Queen's again met the Cadets on the R.M.C. campus. As the day was fine the attendance was very large. A number of senior students drove over in a four-in-hand, gaily decorated with flags, ribbons, etc.

In the first half the Cadets had slightly the best of the play, the score being 5 to 1 in their favor. In the second half Harry Farrell dropped a very good goal from the field, but the ball was brought back for off-side play. Queen's secured two more rouges before time was up, thus making the score 5 to 3. Mr. J. H. Senkler made an excellent referee, strict but impartial in all his rulings. Our team were perhaps not quite as strong in this match as they might have been. The Cadets have a first-class team this year, and one which would make a good showing against the best teams in the province. Their back division, Panet, Sweney and Heneker, are particularly good, as also their scrumage. Mr. E. Moore, the bulwark of our scrumage, had his nose badly injured. It is feared he will be unable to play any more matches this year.

OSGOODE HALL VS. QUEEN'S.

On Saturday, Oct. 29th, the teams representing the above clubs met to decide the semi-final in the Ontario Rugby Union. The champions had on their strongest fifteen and were very confident of winning.

They were accompanied by a number of very enthusiastic sympathizers, and expected to defeat Queen's as easily as they had defeated Trinity (51 to 1). At 3:05 the teams lined up as follows:--

OSGOODE HALL.			QUEEN'S.
J. G. McKay.....	Back.....		C. Wilson.
J. H. Senkler.....	}.....Half Backs.....		Guy Curtis.
W. A. H. Kerr.....			T. H. Farrell.

J. F. Smellie.....	Quarter.....		W. McCammon
W. A. Smith.....	}.....Forwards.....		R. Laird.
J. R. Blake.....			W. S. Baker.
G. T. Copeland.....			W. C. Baker.
E. C. Senkler.....			F. McCammon.
J. T. Patterson.....			T. S. Scott.
W. Moran.....	}.....Wings.....		A. E. Ross.
H. C. Pope.....			J. S. Rayside.
E. G. Rykert.....			M. B. Tudhope.
J. M. Farrell.....			J. Johnson.
J. Peterson.....			H. Horsey.

REFEREE—Percy Parker, Toronto University.
 UMPIRE—Geo. Claves, Toronto University.

Osgoode won the toss and kicked down the slope favored by a strong wind. Farrell kicked off for Queen's. It was quickly returned, scrummaged and faced out to Moran, who kicked it into touch in goal. Shortly after the kick out Harry Senkler kicked another touch in goal. After this play was in the centre of field for some time. Finally Kerr with a long punt sent the ball across the line, and Wilson was compelled to rouge. Score 3 to 0. Then Queen's had their turn. Johnson and Ross by good combination rushed the ball up the field and across the Osgoode line, where Ross secured a try. Curtis kicked a very neat goal. After the kick off Moran secured a try, which Pope failed to convert, followed by two touches in goal. After the kick out, Smellie passed to Kerr out of a scrumage on Queen's 30 yard way. He dropped a beautiful goal from the field, making the score 13 to 6. The play then for a time was very even, Queen's securing a try, which, however, was disallowed on account of an off side play. Then Smellie getting the ball from a scrumage broke through Queen's wings. When about to be tackled, he passed to Harry Senkler, who made a fine run. Wilson tackled him just on the goal line with such force that the ball was knocked from his hands. Smellie following up quickly picked the ball up and secured a try, which converted. Score 19 to 6. Osgoode favored by the high wind and the good kicking of Kerr and Senkler scored 4 more points in singles. Play was then very even for about fifteen minutes till half time was up. So far the only marked superiority of Osgoode was in their scrumage. They never failed to get the ball out. If they could not heel it they handed it out, and were equally successful in preventing our scrimmage getting it out. Our backs played a grand defence game, catching, running and tackling magnificently.

In the second half Queen's men hoped for great things, but unfortunately the wind went down. Smellie kicked off at 4.10, and the ball was well returned by Curtis. Some fine kicking by the backs on both sides followed, and finally Wilson was compelled to rouge. From the kick-out Queen's rushed the ball to Osgoode's 25, where it remained for some time, till McKay was forced over the line by Horsey, counting a safety touch for Queen's. Then Osgoode gave a fine exhibition of that combination play for which they are celebrated. Eddie Senkler, Rykert and Farrell rushed half the length of the field, passing from one to the other and securing a try, which Pope again failed to convert. After the kick off, there was close scrimmaging for a time, and here occurred the most regrettable incident of the day. In the melee W. A. Smith of Osgoode had his collar bone broken. This was entirely accidental, and was as much regretted by Queen's as by Osgoode, as Mr. Smith played a very fair gentlemanly game. Johnson was taken off the wing to equalize matters, and play resumed. Another of Osgoode's combined rushes was stopped by the superb tackling of our backs. Then, McRae getting the ball from the throw in, made a brilliant run down the field, but made the fatal mistake of kicking instead of passing to Horsey. Shortly after this time was called with the score of 29 to 9 in favor of Osgoode.

Osgoode Hall's superiority was their combination on the forward line and their rapid following up. Our scrimmage was undoubtedly our weak point. They were slow in forming up and could not get the ball out. McCammon at quarter played a good steady game, but had few opportunities. Had our half backs been fed there is no doubt that the score would have been even. Curtis, Farrell and McRae all played a fine game, but their work was largely of a defensive character. Wilson at full back played the best game on the field. Although he had many opportunities he played without an error. When he got the ball he had no difficulty in dodging 4 or 5 Osgoode wings and kicking into touch. Harry Senkler played well for Osgoode, but he was too well watched by Curtis to be dangerous. Nor could Casey Wood pass McRae. Farrell and Kerr were about evenly matched, but McKay was "not in it" with Wilson. In the scrimmage Osgoode had decidedly the advantage, but Baker made some good tackles. Among the wings Queen's perhaps had slightly the advantage individually, but were out-classed in team play and following up. It was noticeable when an Osgoode wing made a run there were always three or four black and white jerseys accompanying him to whom he could pass the ball when tackled. On the contrary when a Queen's wing was tackled, he was alone and the ball had to be scrimmaged. Smellie at quarter played a grand game, his passing was accurate and his rushing irresistible. He well sustained his reputation as the best quarter back in Canada. Queen's were defeated by a superior team, who will have a walk-over for both Provincial and Dominion championships.

SECOND FIFTEEN.

The second fifteen played their first match against the K.C.I., on Oct. 8th, winning by a score of 31 to 6. In this match it was seen that although there was abundance of good material, it was yet in a very raw state, and required considerable development before it could compare with last year's champion team. The team was greatly weakened by the graduation of several of its members, and the elevation of others to first team ranks. On Oct. 15th the K. C. I. defaulted. On Oct. 21st Queen's 2nd, accompanied by a large number of enthusiastic supporters, went to Toronto to play Osgoode's 2nd. On Saturday, Oct. 22nd, the match was played on the Bloor St. Cricket ground. Archie Kerr was referee, and although a member of the home club gave good satisfaction. The teams were as follows:—

OSGOODE HALL.—Price, back; Miller, Webster, McLaughlin, halves; Ferguson, quarter; Young, Sweney, Evans, forwards; Ritchie, Peterson, McGillivray, Grant, Phillips, Panton, Scott, wings.

QUEEN'S.—Burton, back; Dean, Richardson, Wilson, halves; Irving, quarter; Back, McKinnon Mowat, forwards; Weatherhead, Johnson, Ross, Tudhope, Daykin, McLennan, Stewart, wings.

In the first half Queen's played the superior game and scored 6 points to Osgoode's 1. Queen's score consisted of 2 rouges and 1 try, not converted. Again Queen's scrimmage did not get the ball out so well as their opponents, and Irving, although he played a plucky game at quarter, was sometimes slow in getting the ball out of the scrimmage on the few occasions when they did heel out. Osgoode's forwards on the contrary fed their half backs well, and but for the superiority of our wings would have scored many more points than they did. In the second half Queen's compelled their opponents to rouge and obtained 2 tries, neither of which were converted, although one was directly in front of the goal. Osgoode forced Burton to rouge, and the score stood 15 to 2 and only 12 minutes to play. Everyone expected Queen's to win, but the fates were against us. Osgoode changed Webster to the wing and put Peterson at half back. The change worked wonders. Peterson obtained 3 tries in about as many minutes, Dean being unable to tackle him, and he was strong enough to force Burton over the line. The score was 17 to 15 in favor of Osgoode, and only four minutes to play. Queen's braced up and played their opponents almost to a standstill, but the referee's whistle blew before they could score.

In the next number of the JOURNAL we hope to make more extended reference to both first and second teams individually and discuss future prospects.

WOMEN'S MEDICAL COLLEGE NOTES.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 12th, the formal opening of the Women's Medical College took place. Mr. R. V. Rogers, Q.C., occupied the chair, and introduced Dr. Agnes Craine, of Smith's Falls, to those who had assembled to do honor to the occasion. The Doctor's opening address was very interesting. The comparison between college life as experienced a few years ago and now, could not fail to make us appreciate our superior advantages. The address was enjoyed by all, even if there were some points on which we failed to agree.

Addresses were made by Dr. Neilson, Dr. Funnell, Dr. Herald, the Dean, Dr. T. M. Fenwick, and Mr. Rogers, after which the whole college, including the dissecting room, was thrown open to the visitors.

Refreshments were served, and after a very pleasant evening the "At Home" ended.

Unfortunately there was some mistake and the invitation sent to the third and fourth years in medicine of Queen's was not received. These years were unrepresented, and they were much missed. We trust this will not occur again.

Misses Drennan and McCallum have returned to resume their studies.

One of our professors, who looked for a Husband in fifteen second-hand book stores in London, Eng., was disappointed, and has to be content with the husband she has.

ARTS SOCIETY.

The elections for the Arts Society was held in the Reading Room on Saturday, Oct. 29th. If the number of voters show those students who take an interest in the welfare of Queen's in all her departments she has comparatively few friends among the students. It is impossible to understand why so many delay voting and necessitate a visit from the officers to receive the fees. The fee may seem heavy, but it is by far a superior method to the interminable visits of collectors when money is wanted. The result of the election was as follows:

President—H. R. Grant.

Treasurer—R. Laird.

Secretary—C. V. Bennett,

Committee—4th year, H. V. Malone; 3rd year, I. T. Norris; 2nd year, J. R. Conn; 1st year, E. Taylor.

We would warn the officers that they have unpleasant work before them, but it is their duty not to cease till everyone has paid the dues.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The first prayer meeting of the year was held on October 7, and was very well attended. The president led the meeting, speaking from the first chapter of Daniel. From the circumstances and conduct of Daniel and his companions lessons were drawn as to the true meaning and purpose of college life. The necessity of religious fellowship was dwelt upon and the first year men were invited to come in with us. One or two other speakers followed in the same strain. Mr. Wood, '96, responded on behalf of his class, which was well represented at the meeting.

Last Friday we had with us Mr. Frank Kellar, '92, of Yale, who is visiting the colleges of America on behalf of Missions. He made a very strong claim on the responsibility of every christian student towards this work.

Whatever our theological views as to the state of the heathen, no one will deny that they are "perishing for lack of knowledge," and our indifference on the matter is lamentable—doubly so as Queen's is supposed to be a centre of missionary activity. Several students, both in Arts and Medicine, volunteered for the foreign field.

On last Friday night the annual reception was given the First Year Classes. This has now become so established a custom that every one looks to it as a matter of course—especially does the freshmen look to it with mingled fear and joy—and this one was in no way inferior to its predecessors.

The whole building was suitably arranged for the occasion, much to the disgust of John, who has serious intentions on vetoing all future receptions and conversaciones. The benches in Convocation Hall gave place to tables with chairs grouped about them and the place, if not homelike, was at least more inviting than in its every day dress. In the Divinity room Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Dyde and other ladies received the new students, who were then ushered into Convocation Hall, where most of the company was assembled, and introductions were given on all hands.

At half-past eight the chair was taken by James R. Fraser, President of the Arts' Association, who, in a few words, welcomed the guests, pointing out the aim of the reception. R. S. Minnes, M.A., President of the Medical Association, followed with a brief address of welcome and spoke of the wider work of Queen's now including the Royal. The greater part of the evening was spent in social chat and promenading to the music of the orchestra; but an excellent programme of vocal music was also given at intervals. The solos of Misses Griffith and McCartney and Mr. Lavell, and the choruses by a double quartette of students, were all well received, the solos being all encored.

Later in the evening Prof. McNaughton (and he assured them it was a very easy thing to do) gave the students some good advice. He spoke with evident satisfaction of that marked feature of our college—the good will existing between students and faculty. After a pleasant and, we trust, profitable evening the company broke up at eleven o'clock.

LEVANA SOCIETY.

After a close and exciting contest, but, be it known to all male voters, without any "bribery or corruption," the following returns from the Levana elections have been posted up:—

Hon. Pres.—Miss Connell, B.A.
 President—Miss McManus.
 Vice Pres.—Miss Murray.
 Secretary—Miss Menish.
 Treasurer—Miss Dupuis.
 Critics—Misses Marty and Fraser.
 Curators—Misses Barr and Rose.

The retiring officers of the Levana Society will give an "At Home" to the girls in the Girls' Reading Room on Wednesday afternoon, from 5 to 6 o'clock, after which the new officers will be duly installed in office.

We note with pleasure the increased number of young ladies who have entered the Freshman class this year. It is a good augury, too, for their future status that so many of them are Honour matriculants, and well prepared for the work before them.

Of the graduates of '92 Miss Donovan is teaching in Bedford Mills; Miss Beveridge in a ladies' college in Montreal; and Miss Connell in Hamilton Ladies' College.

The Y. W. C. A. reception, held at Miss Allen's, Division street, was a very pleasant affair. Nearly all the lady students were in attendance. An enjoyable programme was rendered, and all present enjoyed the evening most thoroughly.

We were glad to see Miss Hattie Baker, M.A., at the reception Friday night, and to learn of her complete restoration to health.

We welcome back among us again Miss Thompson and Miss Smith ('93), who were most unfortunately prevented from attending last year on account of ill health.

Miss Carrie Wilson, B.A., '91, is taking classes.

Miss Chase, a Varsity student, visited Queen's on Monday last. She expressed herself as being well pleased with the condition of things in Queen's, and thinks it compares quite favorably with Toronto.

So we are to have a Young Ladies' College in the city. Will that satisfy the writer who last year took an interest in the problem of fitting woman for her proper sphere?

We observe that Prof. Hume, of Toronto University, is giving his lectures on Tennyson to the Week for publication. So far they have been very interesting and enjoyable, but I doubt much if we did not hear a more critical, profound and philosophic course of lectures on the subject in our own University.

QUEENS' SPORTS.

On October 17th the annual sports of the University were held on the campus. The following are the results:

The Tug of War resulted in a victory of Medicine over Arts by 2 pulls to 1.

Half Mile Race—Dean; 2nd, Richardson; 3rd, Fleming; time 2.12.

Team Race—The team representing the class of '94 won. The following are the members: Scott, Tudhope, Johnson, Dyde.

Mr. M. B. Dean, '93, is the all round champion, having made 22 points. Mr. Fleming was a good second with 21 points.

Call in, boys, and see ME and the News.—J. H. B-d-en.

I think '95 holds her own at the Freshmen's reception.—W. F. N-k-le.

At a meeting of those interested it was resolved that the Glee Club should not be re-organized this session.

"The class in Senior Philosophy shows a lamentable tendency to become converts of Mill."—PROF. WATSON.

(After an elaborate translation of Pericles' speech). Prof. McNaughton—"Mr. Sm-th, What is the good of casting one's pearls...?"
