TO PROSECUTE FISHERMEN DESPITE MODUS VIVENDI

Newfoundland Government Announces a Policy That May Stir Up Considerable Trouble.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 1.—The colonial government has decided to test the validity of the modus vivendi. It has issued an official notice to-day enforcing the Bait Act, which forbids Newfoundlanders to fish on board foreign vessels within colonial waters, and it intends to prosecute one or more colonial fishermen who have been shipped by Americans outside the three-mile limit, after these men have been paid off by American vessels on which they were serving.

THE DIFFICULTY EXPLAINED.

Hon. A. B. Morine, now of Toronto, but formerly leader of the opposition in the parliament of Newfoundland, and ex-minister of fisheries for the island colony, yesterday explained the difficulty of the modus vivendi.

MURDERER NEARLY ESCAPED.

Morden, Man., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Peter Hanson, who is charged with horse theft and arson, and escaped from Morden jail before the assizes in the spring, not being captured until a month afterwards, made a desperate attempt to escape again last night. He secured a file and had almost filed thru when caught.

He had been asked if he had declared himself for next year. He wished to have no uncertain sound about it, and he was certainly in the field. He requested their support for next year.

Hon. Dr. Pyle congratulated the ward on the evidence of vitality in the meeting. He pointed out the advantages of the new Education Act, which so benefited the teachers in rural districts. He hoped they would soon be able to turn their attention to the smaller urban districts. He had several letters hinting that the imperial conditions in elections were due to the godless school system. His answer was that a properly trained teacher would create the best kind of character among the pupils. The great schools of England had grown up under great teachers. They had to create some kind of stability among the teachers of the province who were being attracted westwards constantly by higher wages.

A. C. Macdonnell, M.P., added a few words of congratulation. Remember the Bridge. Controller Shaw pleaded for support for the Yonge-street bridge bylaw soon

Franchise May Be Transferred to Syracuse, Backed by Buckenberger

Syracuse, Nov. 1.—President John H. Farrell of Auburn has called the annual meeting of the New York State League to be held in the Vanderbilt Hotel here Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Whether Syracuse will again be represented in the State League becomes more and more of an open question. There is no doubt that Atlanta Field will never be a success and there exists the risk of any suitable playing ground in the city.

The Montreal franchise, owned by the New York Americans, which doubtless is to be transferred to some American city, and A. C. Buckenberger is backing the plan of placing it in Syracuse.

Lost an Eye, Ezra Ellis is a mariner living in the Village of Bloomfield, Prince Edward County. On Dec. 1 last he was employed as a sailor on the sailing vessel "Emily B. Maxwell," which ran into Port Hope harbor loaded with coal. Upon orders from the captain the vessel was ordered to anchor along the dock for the purpose of getting the line to tie up the vessel. The Standard Ideal Sanitary Co. had stretched a barbed wire fence across the dock to the water's edge to enclose their property and against this wire Ellis came in violent contact. Wharf Surrounded by Water, Montreal Gazette: It is declared of the wharf being built by the Laurier government at St. Joseph, on Lake Huron, that it is entirely surrounded by water, and that passengers for the few boats which would call cannot get to it by land. Perhaps it was built to offset the wharf built by the Laurier government at Dorset, which seems to be entirely surrounded by land and bridges so that boats which would call cannot get to it by water.

DEATH OF MINISTERS.

Presbyterian Charges Seem to Have Suffered Severely.

There is in Ontario a great dearth in candidates for ministerial service, and many pulpits are vacant thru this cause alone.

The demand from the west has been so great as to exhaust every source of supply, and in the presbytery of Paris, in Western Ontario, there are six vacancies thru this cause, four of the pulpits being vacated by removal to the west. The total number of students graduated from all the Presbyterian colleges to the ministry last year was forty-six, the number of deaths was twenty-six, and twelve were placed on the retired list.

The tide is, however, turning, and the students now entered number more than last year.

Another rapier thrust was this:

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Attempts are now being made by the Dominion government organs to imbue the electors of London with the belief that those who are demanding the pushing home of the enquiry are responsible for the holding up of that city to public execution.

It is an artful dodge, but it will not deceive any citizen of ordinary intelligence. The real position is, of course, exactly contrary to that taken by these zealous defenders of the parties in high place who are the real culprits. They desire it to appear that the corrupt devices so patently in evidence on behalf of Mr. Hyman are indigenous to the constituency. Bribery and ballot-box manipulation are, according to their views, entirely of local origin, and in no way due to the candidate and the government, in whose interest they were done, or the official party machine that conducted the contest.

This is quite on the usual line taken by the apologists for the Dominion government, and with their course in connection with the election scandals associated with the late provincial administration. Then, as now, they claimed that bribery, corruption and election frauds were the independent acts of individuals, acting on their own initiative, and without the sanction or knowledge of the politicians who stood to profit by the crimes that were committed. They expected, and now invite the public to believe, that the impudently tools who handed out the dollars, switched the ballots and violated their oaths, were the real and only criminals. Even more than this, the chief organ of the Dominion government suggests that the proper remedy for the electoral sins of London is the disfranchisement of the constituency.

No good reason exists for holding London to be the greatest electoral sinner in Canada. In all constituencies where the franchise is on a democratic basis there is a residuum of electors, amenable to improper influences, in countries happily possessing a high standard of political purity, the temptation to adopt tactics of that kind is kept in check by public opinion, and by the action of the responsible party leaders, who unite in defence of the right of the electors to a fair and free election. Canada, unfortunately, is not so favorably situated. There is much lip service to the cause of electoral purity, but no determination to bring responsibility home where it rightfully belongs.

No one believes that the Liberal party hacks who paid out the bribes acted for themselves alone, and that it was their own money they expended. It came from a higher source, and if any permanent good is to be got from the pending investigation that source has got to be traced. The efficient cause of the corruption which prevailed in London will not be found in the agents, but in the principals, whose hands they were. In this way the responsibility for the parous state of this constituency rests with those who provided the bribery fund, and not with the constituency itself. But the worst feature of the political situation is that the officials and organs of the party immediately interested are far more concerned about the limitation of the enquiry and the punishment of the go-between than they are about its completeness, and the placing of responsibility on the proper shoulders. Yet there, and not on the constituency of London, rests the blame and the shame.

HE IS A MAN.

The question recently asked, "Is William R. Hearst a man or a myth?" is settled beyond peradventure. Efforts have been made to persuade people that he was a marionette puppets by a powerful trustee in his employment. Until he became a candidate for governor, Mr. Hearst made little effort to answer this imputation. The fables about him might have grown indefinitely, except for his appearance on the stump. It has not taken him long, however, to persuade the most critical that he is not only a thinker, writer, an active man of affairs, but that he is gifted as a spell-binder, too. Indeed if he is elected it will be largely due to the fact that he has far surpassed his opponent in the art of popular speaking. He is speaking four and five times a day, always something original, answering questions as soon as they are propounded, and showing himself as quick as a cat in repartee, and as certain to fall on his feet. His style is humorous, easy, epigrammatic.

"Would Abraham Lincoln, were he here to-day, be found supporting Hearst?" was a question suddenly hurled at him. A dangerous question, too, for Hearst is constantly quoting Lincoln, who was self-described as a "black Republican."

Quick as a flash came the answer: "My friend, that is not the way to put it. Were Abraham Lincoln here to-day, then William R. Hearst would be found supporting Lincoln."

Another rapier thrust was this:

What Liberals have been dealt with in like manner? Did a Liberal government ever condemn a friend to a prison cell?

If there is evidence of present-day crookedness, involving Conservatives, let it be produced, and the machinery of the justice department of the Ontario government will be set in motion to bring the culprits to justice. Until then it will not do the "high-up" Liberals to hide behind the assertion that the Conservatives are probably just as bad.

If there is evidence of present-day crookedness, involving Conservatives, let it be produced, and the machinery of the justice department of the Ontario government will be set in motion to bring the culprits to justice. Until then it will not do the "high-up" Liberals to hide behind the assertion that the Conservatives are probably just as bad.

What Liberals have been dealt with in like manner? Did a Liberal government ever condemn a friend to a prison cell?

CANADIAN BUDGE MAGISTRATE BELIEVES O'NEARA THE MAN

Resists All Mr. Curry's Pleading and Argument for Granting of Bail.

John O'Neara, charged with perjury in the London bribery cases, was yesterday committed for trial on the evidence already submitted.

John O'Neara, charged with perjury in the London bribery cases, was yesterday committed for trial on the evidence already submitted.

Magistrate Denison would not accept bail despite a long argument put up by the prisoner's counsel, J. W. Curry, K.C., who will make application this morning at the county hall before a high court judge.

When the case was called, Mr. DuVerne said that the prisoner's father was the Canadian store owner in London.

"I am only waiting for other witnesses on your account, Mr. Curry," said the magistrate. "You said you wanted all the evidence. There is now enough evidence to commit the man."

"It is most important in a case like this that the prisoner should give evidence to get out and see people in Brantford, who saw the man who was arrested here. I don't know how to get the man out of here."

"Most people, in fact, nine cases out of ten, would not remember," said the magistrate. "I may say that I have been a magistrate for many years, and I can lay it before you in fact, in fact, I am satisfied that is the man at least I think that's the man."

"I would like you to weigh the evidence that is before me, and to tell me how can I get evidence in Brantford? It would be necessary for me to take him to Brantford."

"The highest and any tender not necessarily needed," said the magistrate. "The conditions of sale are the standing conditions of the court so far as applicable."

Further particulars may be had on application of the Liquidator or his Solicitors.

SPECIAL ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITIES IN THE STOCK EXCHANGE

SPECIAL FARM ADVERTISING.

If a farmer wishes to sell any of his stock or implements, or to place a sure-bred animal to part with, or to advertise in any other way, in fact, any way the farmer may have, when made known in print, are soon satisfied. No farmer can be successful in his business and farming unless he lets for sale. The World, in its special farm and live stock issues on Tuesday and Friday, reaches a large number of farmers. An insertion in these issues will bring big results. Single insertions for one cent a word, send along your ad, and give it a trial.

IT BRINGS RESULTS.

A farmer who has a cow or horse to sell, or a place to rent, wants results when he advertises. It is a pleasure to us to be able to announce that advertisers on our farm pages have been more than pleased with the results. F. R. Jones' words last Tuesday were indicative of the way the wind is blowing.

HOGS ARE DOWN.

That hogs have taken a bad slump just at the time when farmers were increasing their outfit after the recent wrangles between packers and producers is lamentable. The William Davies Company say that the prices for hogs have come down to $5.50 per cwt., with no immediate prospect for higher figures during November.

PROTECTION OF FRUIT TREES

Fruit trees suffer a great deal during our Canadian winters from gnawing by mice, and thru sun scald. The importance of the rapidly developing fruit trade of Ontario would place the care of trees on the level of a business. Many young orchards have been ruined in the past season, and unless some precautionary measures are taken, it is likely that many trees will be lost. Happily there are means for preventing this destruction.

SCARCITY OF CARS.

The sugar-beet men have a grievance in the scarcity of cars for shipping their produce to the factories. As the industry in Ontario has assumed quite an important prominence to many farmers, it becomes of first moment that cars be rushed to the stations as fast as they are required. The conditions of the roads, weather and labor, make the farmer's business undesirable at this time of the year. It is only another instance of what good would result were the trunk lines of our country owned by the people and private companies given the privilege of sending out their cars at short notice. The government cannot get too quick a move on in the matter of the car question.

FEEDING CATTLE.

In another column will be found some results of feeding experiments with beef cattle. It is slightly important to the farmer that he know what he is doing when he proposes to feed animals during the winter. The profits are not large from a money standpoint, but if the litters of farm economy are all put together they total a nice income to the tidy yeoman.

Milk went up to 7 cents a quart yesterday. Not only will the big dairy corporations deal direct with the farmers, but they will buy out large properties and establish farms of their own for dairy purposes." Dr. Sheppard's prophecy of what will come to pass.

EXPERIMENTING WITH FRUITS

Alberta Government is Seeking Information From Settlers. Edmonton, Alberta, Nov. 1.—The department of agriculture of Alberta sent out circulars to everybody in the province known to have tried large fruits asking them to give a list of the trees they have tried and what kind of success they had met with. From these reports and other sources the department has selected a list of what appears to be the hardiest trees for the province, and has decided to carry on a number of experiments in order to be able to give settlers authentic information on this important matter. The orchards are to be about an acre in extent and the trees will be distributed at seven points, possibly eight.

Ontario Feeding of Beef Cattle

The Data Necessary to the Feeder Must Prove Whether Feeding Pays—Experiments Are at Hand—Good Judgment in Buying and Feeding Needed.

The feeding of cattle on our Ontario farms, both in winter and in summer, has been, and is, one of the important parts of our agriculture. So much street talk is indulged in by farmers themselves upon the paying or non-paying aspect of the situation that any data upon the subject will not doubt be scanned with careful enquiry by all feeders.

These data should be at every one's command. Many farmers keep a scrap book, wherein information like this is kept. They can then, thru a series of years, be able to talk rather intelligently on the situation. It is just such a collection of facts which should advocate the government paying more attention to. Tabulated returns from farms throughout the province where cattle have been fed under average conditions, would be inestimable in their value to a people who do not collect such information for themselves.

Various colleges in the United States have dealt with the question, but over these the cheaper feed, with its different nature, and conditions of feeding, do not lend that value to a feeder here that experiments in Ontario would go.

In Ontario, the narrow margin between the price per pound of lean and fat cattle makes it important to study economy in the methods of feeding. Of course, we presuppose that every farmer who buys feeders has a fair judgment about the value of feed, and that will feed well, for as one feeder of prominence said recently, "You can shove all the feed you like in a scrub and it will look like a washboard."

It must not be inferred from these figures that it did not pay to feed these because the selling price per pound was less than the cost per pound of gain. This concentrates all the cost on the gain. This is an advance generally on the first costs. The main point to be brought out is the value of the lighter feeding ration.

U. S. FEEDING TRIALS. The Iowa Agricultural College has at different times kept an accurate test of the feeding of steers. Corn, oats, hay, and clover were used, and the results were very interesting. By charging the cattle with the original cost and all grain and feed consumed in the feeding, and crediting them with the net proceeds of sale, together with the gain made on hogs running with them, the following was obtained.

GRAIN EXPERIMENTS. In bulletin 110, Prof. Day tells of their experiments with heavy medium and light meat rations. The plan followed was practically the same in the three experiments. In each experiment, nine steers were divided into three groups, making three steers in each group. With the heavy ration group an effort was made to feed one pound of meat per day per hundred pounds live weight of the animals. It was found in this limit, to keep all the steers up to this limit, a ration of one pound of meat per day was deemed safe. With the medium ration group the aim was to feed about two-thirds of a pound of meat per day per hundred pounds live weight of the animals. The steers in the light ration group were started on about one-third of a pound of meat per day per hundred pounds live weight, and this quantity was increased as deemed advisable.

ONTARIO HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION WILL PLEASE

This Rapidly Growing Fair Will Be a Rival for Winter Fair—Special Excursion Rates.

From the interest being manifested in the approaching Ontario Horticultural Exhibition, which will be held in Toronto, November 6 to 10, it would appear that this exhibition is rapidly becoming a formidable rival in its way to the Winter Fair at Guelph.

A feature of the exhibition this year will be the presence of the Black Dike Bank from Yorkshire, England, which has been secured at an expense of $2000, to play each afternoon and evening during the exhibition. Four different conventions will be held in conjunction with the exhibition, including the annual convention of the Fruit Growers' Association, the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, the Ontario Bee Keepers' Association and the Ontario Horticultural Association.

Speculation on the Future of the Market by the Trade Bulletin. The price of hay for some time past has been steadily advancing on both sides of the Atlantic, due to a short crop in England, France and Canada.

IN NOVEMBER. There is a weird charm with November such as accompanies no other month in the year. The stark nakedness of the giants of the forest, the dull grey of the lowering skies, the fleecy whiteness of the sun, the equal and the masses of tumbling waters driven before a northwestern gale on the great lakes make up a grandly magnificent combination of the elements that has never been experienced for the freshness of the foliage of June, if always present would soon pall upon us and the heat of August, without the lull of the winter months.

IMPORTANCE OF CHEAP FREIGHT RATES. The British consul general at Marseilles reports that Canadian millers should enquire into the possibility of supplying the demand at Marseilles for granular flour (semolina).

VALUABLE STOCK FARM.

This fine farm of 212 1-2 Acres, near Toronto, for sale on Liberal Terms.

Good clay loam; well fenced and drained; 30 acres hardwood; 15 acres cedar; brick house; modern barns, main one being 92x80 feet; excellent concrete stables; water in buildings; every convenience; hog pens, driving sheds, etc. The fat cattle sold each year have left the soil very rich. The above farm is part of the estate of the late T. G. Blackstock, Esquire, Toronto, and is situated four and one-half miles from the Village of Newmarket, and three-quarters of a mile from Pine Orchard Railway Station, County of York.

CREDIT SALE SHORTHORNS, MILCH COWS AND IMPLEMENTS . . . . .

One mile East of Pickering Village, on TUESDAY, NOV. 20th, 1906, the property of ANDREW FORSTHE.

There are 4 young Cows, 4 choice Heifers and 2 Bull Calves—all high-bred, registered Shorthorns. Also 22 head of Guernsey, including a choice lot of Milch Cows—some just freshly calved. These are all good animals. A span of Blood Mares, a Driving Pony, and the best lot of Implements that can be found. Lunch will be provided for buyers from a distance. THOMAS POUCHER, Auctioneer.

FARMSTEAD SKITS

We must have more milk in Toronto. The cows will have to get to work. They say a little snow helps the quality of the turnips, but it does not aid the picker. When two breeders hold stock sales in the same vicinity on the same day it shows just a little lack of (Clyde) horse sense!

George H. Wilson of Toronto writes to the farming editor for advice re taking care of fruit trees in the winter. An answer will be found in an article in another column, which we hope will be satisfactory. Inspector Carey of the Dominion fruit department recently visited Woodstock and Simcoe on a tour of inspection of the fruit growing in Ontario. He will give his impressions in The World's next issue.

See Frank Smith's farm to rent advertisement in another column. This is a good 100 acre well fitted for general farming. Any auction sale advertiser gets his sale announced in our farm calendar free. The World's advertising is telling for the farmers who have farms or live stock to sell.

Prof. M. Cummings of Truro, N.S., writes to The World of the prospects from a farmer's standpoint in Nova Scotia. We hope to have something from his pen soon. Look after the little leaks on the farm. It is the small foxes that spoil the vines, or in farm parlance, the little expenses and small items of waste that mean success or failure on the farm. Any farmer who can attend the Farmers' Institute convention at Guelph in November will learn much to his good. Last Tuesday's World had the program in it.

Anyone may think he can run a farm, but the man who has been thru the mill and knows the "how" of it can speak more to the point in a minute than another theorist in an hour. It is reported that Arthur Johnston, the veteran Shorthorn breeder at Greenwood, Ont., is going to retire from the business next year. His many friends will be sorry to lose him from the ranks, and trust that he may yet change his mind. At present Canadian exporters of butter find an undoubtedly good opportunity for obtaining a share of the South African butter trade; South America, which usually ships large quantities of butter, is finding the demand at the moment, and first quality Australian is quoted at 25 cents f.o.b. ## BENEFIT TO EMPIRE.

In interchange of Teachers, Says Alfred Mosely to Principals. Alfred Mosely, C. M. G., addressed a fairly large gathering of the principals of the high and public schools in the assembly room of the board of education yesterday afternoon, in explanation of his teacher-exchange project. Inspector Hughes introduced the lecturer as one of the leading philanthropists of the day. Altogether, 600 teachers will visit this country, and the first instalment will leave to-day and following days, commencing in parties of five and ten, and landing at different ports, such as Montreal, Boston and New York. While here they will be billeted at the homes of teachers at a nominal rate of one dollar a day. Next fall Mr. Mosely proposes to organize and send to the old land a similar number of Canadian and American teachers, with a view to receiving impressions at first hand. "We have traditions and the old-world culture," said Mr. Mosely, "and we believe that the interchange will be of great benefit to the empire at large."

Union Pacific shows some weakness. It not supported around closing prices this morning professionals will attack it strongly.

New York, Nov. 1.—The Journal of Commerce says there was a meeting of the directors of the International Salt Company yesterday the close of which the following official announcement was made: "The directors at a meeting to-day declared a dividend of 1 per cent. payable Dec. 1. Whether this represents a quarterly disbursement or an increased disbursement could not be learned.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad to-day declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 1/2 per cent. This is an increase of 1/2 of 1 per cent. and places the stock on a 7 per cent. basis. The dividend is the highest declared by the company in 25 years. In 1881 the company declared a dividend of 6 per cent. and since that time the dividend has averaged from 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 per cent. annually.

Washington—President Roosevelt has practically finished his message with the exception of a few paragraphs dealing with the recent Japanese situation. The president has talked about message with members of his cabinet and others, and it is possible at this time to give a fairly accurate forecast of its contents. The message of interest to the public probably occupy more space than any other single subject and he will take a more advanced stage than ever before. The president will have supervision, not only over lines of transportation and communication, but over corporations controlling all necessities of life. He believes that a speedy acceptance of this doctrine by the great corporations will save them untold trouble and possible annihilation in the future.

The president is an ardent believer in the "open road" but until the supreme court changes its mind, there is doubt about the advisability of legislation which will confer authority on railroads and will urge additional legislation to reinforce the law of last winter. He will insist on the Senate's plan to occupy Cuba, but will not insist that they must be themselves. He will urge the early passage of the Senate's plan to occupy Cuba, but will not insist that they must be themselves.

Perhaps the security list at this time is in a stronger position to receive its final impact of the election than at any time in the past, but had not taken place, as it is certainly in a position to advance sharply should not great political changes be effected. Secretary Shaw's plan will be suggested by the president as a possible solution of the problem.

DOCTORS UNABLE TO AGREE THAT BEATING CAUSED DEATH

Conflict of Testimony in Klingbeil Murder Case—Verdict To-Day.

Belleville, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Klingbeil murder trial was continued today, and was chiefly a conflict of medical testimony.

Drs. Boyce and Gibson, who conducted the post mortem, said that death was caused by blood on the brain brought about by the beating received. The external injuries would eventually have caused her death in any event.

In his cross-examination, Mr. Porter, for the defence, worked the word "possible" to the limit. The doctors admitted that it was "possible" some of the wounds might have been caused by falls, but it was highly improbable. In the main they stuck to their theory that death came as a direct result of the beating the woman received.

For the defence, Dr. Connell, professor of pathology at Queen's University, swore that, after reading the post-mortem report made by Drs. Boyce and Gibson, he would disagree entirely with their theory that the blood on the brain was the result of the blows received. In fact, he was sure it didn't, because the blood on the brain was not clotted, whereas the other blood on the outside of the skull was. Dr. MacColl of this city corroborated Dr. Connell.

Dr. Connell's theory was that the blood on the brain caused death, but he was sure it was not caused by the beating she received, the external injuries might eventually have caused her death.

Mr. Porter began his address to the jury at 4.40, and spoke for an hour. He claimed it was impossible to say, from the evidence that Klingbeil caused his wife's death, and that he was entitled to an acquittal.

Mr. Arnold said all theorizing of the doctors was worth little compared to the fact that a poor, defenceless old crippled woman would have been alive to-day if she had not been assaulted. Judge Britton will charge the jury in the morning. A verdict of not worse than manslaughter is now looked for.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY BANK SHAREHOLDERS

Best Legal Advice Will Be Secured as to Proceedings Against Directors.

A preliminary meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank, called by Cephas Goode, was held yesterday afternoon in Mr. Goode's office in the Gooderham Building, when an active effort was made to secure co-operation upon the part of the shareholders.

Among the shareholders present were Dr. Smith, William Davis, Berby Cumberland, George Reedy, W. J. McFarland, J. R. H. Denton, James A. Blain, P. P. Farmer, C. S. Gzowski, Andrew Darling, George Eastburn, and Goode. P. B. Polson and T. W. Jull. Letters were received from more than thirty out-of-town shareholders, expressing their belief in the advantage to be derived from co-operative action, and pledging themselves for any action taken by the Shareholders' Association.

The shares controlled by those present or heard from amounted to 1648.

A committee of five was appointed to take steps to bring about a more satisfactory representation upon the part of the shareholders, and to protect and guard the interests of the shareholders generally. A fund was subscribed to for the necessary expenses incurred in any action against the Ontario Bank, and for all legal advice.

The committee appointed is composed of Barlow Cumberland, chairman; C. S. Gzowski, W. J. McFarland, and Andrew Darling, and it was decided:

(1) To acquire all information possible from the curator or from any other source.

(2) To obtain the best legal advice as to the legal position of the shareholders, including the right of the shareholders or the bank to recover from the directors.

(3) To acquire proxies from shareholders for the special meeting called by the curator for Dec. 11.

It was stated that the committee will report the result of their findings at the meeting on Dec. 11. The committee expressed themselves as being anxious to work in harmony with the curator and the advisory board, and are of the opinion that their organization will be a great benefit to the shareholders of the bank in general.

A Grand Rehearsal. Mr. Goode was greatly encouraged over the organization of the shareholders into one body.

The meeting was not of a startling character, but it set the ball rolling, and I am confident that results will follow our organization," he said.

"Funds have been raised in protest, and all expenses incurred to cover any and to ascertain the legal position of the shareholders as regards the right of the latter and the bank to recover from the directors."

"We expect to receive a list of the shareholders from the curator to-morrow, and we will immediately send out applications for proxies. At the same time, asking for proxies. At previous meetings of the shareholders the proxies have been placed in the hands of the director, and at that time we shall attempt to have shareholders represent the shareholders, and I would especially urge upon all those interested to have their proxies placed before the committee of the Shareholders' Association. Several meetings will be held before Dec. 11, and I am confident that at that time we will be in a position to act to better advantage."

Mr. Staver, the curator, yesterday stated that nothing new had developed. When asked if he was aware that a meeting of shareholders was being held to appoint a committee to investigate thoroughly the position of the shareholders in the present liquidation, he stated that both he and the advisory board had been, and would continue to be, willing to give the shareholders any information in his power. Mr. Staver could not state when he expected to complete his report on the investigation of the books, or whether they would be ready by Dec. 11.

Some of the Stock Deals. The curator has in his possession an almost complete list of the stock speculations engineered by the former general manager, with New York and Toronto brokers, and the items cover a thick bundle of separate sheets.

These days are picked out at random, and do not each represent a maximum of operations. For the five days indicated the total is $1,075,000. The examination of the books has disclosed that the minimum share with regard to the speculations alone, will be $1,500,000.

As to other losses, these cannot appear until each account is investigated, and a settlement is arrived at. The curator has finished with his examination of the books of the bank, and is now engaged in laying down a complete statement covering every phase of the business.

Charles McGill and G. R. R. Cockburn will be called in police court this morning. Nothing will be done except to adjourn until Monday, when it is expected all concerned will be ready to get down to business.

E. P. B. Johnston, K. C., counsel for Charles McGill, stated last night that the case would be carried to the high court.
