LOST CHANCE TO BOOM PROVINCE

Hazen Dinner in London Not Wisely Planned

SPEECHES DIED AT TABLE

Canada Dinner Was on Same Night and Drew the Chief Attention — British Columbia Function Was More Cleverly Arranged — Kipling's was Speech of Evening

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, June 12.—British Columbia went one better than New Brunswick in gaining publicity out of the dinner given to its visiting premier. Not only was a British cabinet minister present, in the person of Winston Churchill, to do honor to Mr. McBride, but the party was arranged so that it did not clash with any other special function held the same night; so that all the principal British Columbia visitors and residents were present, but many from the other provinces, including the lieutenant governor of Ontario, who did his best for his own area by reminding the audience that it was principally men from Ontario who had been the making of the moderately talked of Pacific province. At the dinner to Mr. Hazen, the New Brunswick premier tells me that Rudyard Kipling made the speech of the evening, not excepting that of Bonar Law, M. P. No provision was made for reporting them as there was at the British Columbia festival; and by holding it on the same night as the Canada dinner attended by Sir Wilfrid Laurier a great opportunity of boosting the province was lost, for in the persons of Messrs. Bonar Law and W. Max Aitken of the House of Commons, the London managers of the Bank of Montreal and the Royal Bank of Canada (Messrs. Williams, Taylor and W. M. Botford), and Mr. Dunn of Dunlop, Kitchener & Co., is pretty well represented the political and financial world of London. The two bank managers were somewhat wroth that, having to act as hosts at the Canada Club dinner they could not do honor to their native province. Naturally, the fact that every province is not equally represented here, not only by its premiers, but by senators, members of parliament and other prominent men, leads to a sort of rivalry in presenting the claims of each individual area of the great Dominion; though, so far, Quebec, which contains the biggest Canadian city and is strongly represented by leading financiers and business men, is not heard much about. It is most unfortunate that the important province has no London headquarters to serve as a rallying point for the visitors, and it is hoped that the Hon. Lester B. Pearson will realize the fact as a result of his visit. I think Mr. Broderick and his suite are quite alive to the useful purpose such representation would give. In a financial sense there is probably more intercourse between London and Montreal than with any other Canadian city. The other day the Hon. J. Stuart Duff made a point for his province. He claims that two out of every three of the thousands of Canadians now in London hail from Ontario; and examination of the passenger lists of arriving steamers and the reports of the various bureaus seems to bear out the statement. In a social and financial sense perhaps British Columbia comes out strongest, but the bulk of the rank and file of the plain, well-to-do citizens are spending dollars earned in the coal mining and a good advertisement wherever they go.

FREDDIE WELSH IS EASILY BETTER MAN THAN MR. BALDWIN

San Francisco, June 24.—(Canadian Press)—Freddie Welsh was easily the superior of Mattie Baldwin in a twenty round battle last night. The Englishman showed himself a better tactician, handling himself excellently in the infighting and raining volleys of short arm blows on his opponent. Welsh took a decided lead after the fifth round and although Baldwin made a desperate effort to land a lucky punch, every dangerous blow was blocked or avoided, while the Englishman fairly smothered Boston boy by his fast work in the clinch. After the twelfth round Baldwin attempted to fight at long range, but Welsh rocked his head with straight lefts and closing in, battered Baldwin's face and kidneys with snappy short arm jabs.

DEATH OF T. A. HOOLEY

At his home in Ready street, Fairville, one of the best known citizens and respected residents of the section passed away yesterday afternoon in the person of Timothy A. Hooley, who had lived practically all his life in that place. He was for many years in the employ of James Ready, in his son's factory, but later went into business for himself. He was quite successful but a year ago retired on account of ill-health. For several years Mr. Hooley was on the council board for the Parish of Lancaster. He is survived by one brother, John, of this city and a sister, Hannah, at home. The funeral will take place at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hooley was prominent in fraternal order circles, and at one time was president of the Fairville division A. O. H., as well as of the C. M. D. A. of that place.

TAFT MAKES TWO SPEECHES FOR THE PACT

President Says he Can Appeal for Reciprocity to Both Free-traders and Tariff-for-Revenue Men

(Canadian Press)

Providence, R. I., June 24.—President Taft visited Providence and Fall River yesterday and talked reciprocity in both places. "My mind is full of reciprocity," said the president. "It seems possible to me to appeal for reciprocity to both parties, free traders and tariff for revenue men. We must recognize that the time for the Chinese wall has gone, and the time is gone when an industry must ask for more protection than it absolutely needs. There is nothing in the agreement that protected American industry need fear," said the president. "I believe," he added, "that the country generally is in favor of the Canadian agreement. I believe that there are enough Democrats in favor of this step in the right direction, and that the moderate tariff to be maintained must be dealt with moderately, inasmuch as the policy will carry. I believe that a year after agreement is adopted not a voice will be raised to have it changed."

RUMOR OF NEW OFFER TO BUILD THE VALLEY RAILWAY

(Special To Times)

Fredricton, N. B., June 24.—Crop reports from this section are most favorable. The hay on the islands and intervals is said to be very heavy, and is also doing well on uplands. The fruit crop is likely to be the best in years. It is reported that Contractor A. E. Trites of Salisbury may submit an offer to the government for construction of the Valley Railway. He has been here looking over the plans. F. W. Sumner, of Moncton, is also said to be interested. Cultivated strawberries are selling here for twenty cents a box. The city council last evening voted $2,500 to the Fredricton exhibition. George Burdick, of Pittsfield, Mass., arrived here last night from New York by auto. He reports the roads through Kingsclear as being the worst he encountered during the trip.

THE GREAT NAVAL REVIEW AT SPITHEAD IS FEATURE OF TODAY

Portsmouth, Eng., June 24.—This was the day of ships and sailors. The king and queen and the foreign representatives of the coronation left the capital and came here for the great naval review of Spithead. Fine weather put the finishing touches on one of the gigantic displays of the world. Their Majesties came from London in a special train. The queen, Princess Mary and nearly all of the royal ladies were dressed in navy blue. With their Majesties were all the other members of the imperial family, Indian princes, peers and members of parliament, lords of admiralty and diplomats came by special train. The regular and the excursion trains arriving during the morning added great numbers to the thousands already gathered from all parts of the world. Seventeen nations were represented in the vessels moored in Spithead Roadstead. Of the number ten were battleships of the Dreadnought class from the British navy and one visiting dreadnought, the German Von Der Lann, and the American battleship Delaware.

Mrs. Fairweather of Carleton Enjoys Celebration of 87th Birthday

A LIFE OF GOOD CHEER

Her Sound Advice to Those Who Would Live Long and Happily — Has Sung in Church Service for More Than Seventy Years

"Haste thee, nymph, and bring with thee these jest and youthful jollity," is an index to the life of Mrs. Mary A. Fairweather of 45 Watson street, west side, who completed eighty-seven years on the 21st instant. A large circle of friends gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday. The friendships of thirty or forty years ever strong were strengthened by the exchange of greetings as the company sat down to table and in the evening younger friends arrived to complete the happiness of their motherly friend. Dancing was enjoyed and Mrs. Fairweather showed that she had not forgotten the graceful steps of her younger days. Before dispersing the party left a large number of useful and pretty gifts as a remembrance.

Mrs. Fairweather was born in Carleton in the year 1824. She was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Craft, Mrs. Crafts was before marriage, Miss Sarah Lord. Mr. Crafts was extensively engaged in the ship building industry which flourished at this port when the wooden sailing vessel was the only means of ocean communication. The Strait Shore was then a busy life of industry and Mr. Crafts shared in the prosperity.

THEIR STOLE LORD MAYOR'S WATCH IN THE LONDON CRUSH

London, June 24.—The Lord Mayor of London, mingling with the coronation crowds on Thursday was relieved of his watch and chain. He offers a reward of $10 for their return.

Lord Lonsdale's pagelists served him well on Thursday night when he went to the assistance of a woman whose brooch had been stolen. Attacked by the thief, the confederates Lord Lonsdale knocked the thief down, recovered the brooch, handed it to its owner and walked away amid the cheers of the crowd.

The authenticity of the famous Gainsborough "stolen pictures" for which J. P. Morgan paid $25,000, is challenged on behalf of an almost exactly similar portrait recently brought from Australia and now in Spink's gallery in King street, St. James.

THE PAVING WORK

The Hissan Company have completed the excavation and preparatory work on the east side of Mill street from the corner of Main as far as the Union Depot. The cargoes of paving blocks have been discharged from two schooners, and a large quantity sufficient for present purposes is ready to be placed in position. The work under the supervision of the water and sewerage board must be completed before the paving proper begins. Five manholes are being constructed. The St. John R. R. Company are moving a number of their posts two feet inward toward the sidewalk. The congestion of traffic complained of sometime ago has been eliminated, as the western side of the street is now left open to the general traffic and the removal of the old building material by the C. P. R. contractor has ceased.

WAS GREAT HOUSE IN OLD ST. JOHN BUSINESS LIFE

THE OLD SHEFFIELD HOUSE

The accompanying picture presents a view of the front of a commercial house which did a very large business in St. John some years ago, the "Sheffield House," seen. Both were located in Market Square, about where Messrs Horton now conduct business and the firm of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd. had their furniture department at the present day. What was known as the "Sheffield House" was under the management of two English merchants, Messrs. Robinson and Thompson, who conducted a thriving business in cutlery, jewelry, crockery, etc. When shown the accompanying picture yesterday Clarence Ward, mayor's clerk, quickly recognized the manager of the store, David Sherriman, who is seen standing in the doorway, as well as Mr. Thompson. The others seen in the picture are clerks. The building was considered a large one and was four stories of brick. The London House was owned by Messrs. Daniel & Boyd. It was also burned at the time of the "big fire."

THE TIMES' NEW REPORTER

ON THE SENATOR'S TRAIL. "Say, Mister," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times new reporter this morning. "I hear the Standard is sending a delegation up to chase Senator Bards into the woods 'till after the ice." "That so?" The new reporter had not heard of it, but said he knew the Standard had once sent a delegation to some cities in the state of Iowa. "Well," said Hiram, "I guess this is true. You know the Senator's a Conservative, an' he lives up there not a great ways from the Maine border. He knows the price of land, an' live stock, an' produce, on both sides of the line, an' he says his party is wrong, an' that reciprocity is what we want in New Brunswick. The Standard's been 'quoin' from some stuff got up by Yankee politicians, an' I 'st' 'em if the farmers up there had any automobiles. 'Well,' says he, 'I guess you'd think so if you went up there through 'Routtick county.' I guess they hand out that'll help to play it right, too."

HE SMUGGLED OPIUM; JURY SAYS GUILTY

Walter F. Funk Will Spend Four Years in Prison for Extensive Violation of Custom Laws of The United States

(Special to Times)

Binghamton, New York, June 24.—The climax of what secret service men designate as the most important smuggling case of the kind that has ever been brought to trial was reached last night when the jury in the case of the Federal government against Walter F. Funk, charged with bringing opium across the Canadian border, returned a verdict of guilty. Funk was charged before Judge Raines and a sentence of four years in prison and a fine of $20,000 was imposed. At the expiration of the sentence, the fine will be remitted providing Funk takes the "paper's oath." Funk was charged with having brought more than $100,000 worth of smoking opium into the country.

GOOD ARGUMENT FOR RECIPROcity FOUND IN MARKET TODAY

While there was a fairly encouraging quantity of local grown produce in the country market this morning, there was quite an abundance of American grown vegetables, and prices were rather high. A stallowner said that although he had always been in favor of the Conservative party in politics he would support the Liberal government on the question of reciprocity. "There is a duty of 35 per cent," he said, "which causes the prices of these early American vegetables to be well advanced, but with reciprocity it would mean dropping of this, and the consequent cheapening of the cost to both the consumer, my customer, and myself as well. 'Of course the people like delicate farm produce early in the season, and the American grown are the first to arrive. These people on this side will not buy the Yankee stuff after the native begins to reach the market, so that the farmers here are then protected. It was pleasing this morning to see quite a supply of native grown vegetables. They sold at the following prices:—Lettuce six cents, radish, five; beans, ten; carrots 10 and spinach ten. American cucumbers sold at ten cents, tomatoes at twenty cents a pound. American cabbage at ten to twenty cents a head, and American beans at 80 cents a peck.

EARLY CLOSING CASES

The Early Closing cases occupied most of the time in the Police Court this morning. John Booth, Charles McCarty, Henry Murphy and Charles Vipond, all arrested on drunkenness charges were remanded. Mary Smith was charged by Edna Davis with assault on Wednesday last. The case was set aside. The early closing cases were then continued. Recorder Baxter represented the city, and Daniel Mullin, K.C., and A. A. Wilson, the defence. Mr. Mullin submitted that the early closing law was very weak in many respects. He said that Section 5 of the act compels the council to close all shops, and that the by-law discriminated and forced only all shops except those in section 1 of the by-law to close. The case against C. F. Francis & Co. was then taken up. Policeman Witham gave evidence of seeing goods sold in the Mill street shop on the night of June 12. He described the store as being a grocery store. He could not state what kind of goods were sold on the night in question. Maurice Jacobson, who was reported for keeping open on June 13 was present in court with his books, wherewith to show that all the sales made on the night in question were wholesale. Mr. Wilson for the defence, and Mr. Baxter were both to submit their arguments this morning.

La MARQUISE de FONTENAY

The Romantic Career of a Princess and Her Nihilist Husband—Morganatic Marriage in Russian Nobility Causes Series of Troubles
(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company.)
Princess Victor Nakaschidze, who is now engaged in legal proceedings in Paris, with the object of recovering and establishing her French citizenship, is a woman with a most romantic past. She was born in 1866, at Aden, that is to say, at the mouth of the Red Sea, of an Austrian mother of rank and of an Arabian father, of the name of Baron Roedel.
As a niece at that time belonged to France and Baron Roedel was therefore a Frenchman, he had his daughter's birth registered by the French consular agency at Aden. But in 1880 a cyclone which devastated Aden destroyed the French consular agency, and all the registers and archives from 1864 to 1880 were lost.
After the war of 1870 Baron Roedel exercised his option in favor of French citizenship, and on several occasions the baron and his wife were able in consequence thereof, to obtain passports from French consuls and legations. The baron belonged to the Protestant church, and his daughter received from a Calvinist pastor at Lauenburg, a document intimating that she had been admitted as a member of his church. She was a very clever girl and for some time commanded the interest of Evelyn, Duchess of Wellington, who virtually adopted her, and whose name has been mentioned in the present proceedings in Paris.
But when she grew up she quarreled with the Duchess and, leaving her, betook herself to Paris and devoted herself to the study of medicine, being among the first women to secure a diploma of medicine in France. She also holds a Swiss degree of doctor of medicine. During her studies in Paris, she was brought into contact with the Russian Prince Victor Nakaschidze, a scion of that great and illustrious house of the Caucasian nobility from which the late Czarovich George, the younger brother of Emperor Nicholas, took hismorganatic wife at Abbas Tuman in the Caucasus.
Mlle. von Roedel became engaged to the prince. Before any marriage could take place, he returned to Russia and on account of his complicity in the great Nihilist conspiracy of 1885, was arrested, tried by court-martial and condemned to death, the sentence being subsequently commuted to life-long imprisonment with hard labor in the Siberian mines. His fiancée accompanied him thither and with her aid he managed to effect his escape.
The couple made their way to the Pacific coast and thence via Japan to the United States where they married. Proceeding first to London and then to Paris, the princess made her living by the practice of medicine while her husband taught languages and studied chemistry, until condemned to a year's imprisonment for having been concerned with a number of Russian refugees, in the manufacture of explosive bombs in Vincennes. After completing his term of imprisonment, he was expelled from France.
Again in Russia, Ag in Escape
And then the couple ventured once more to Russia where they were concerned in another Nihilist plot, which led to the prince being condemned afresh to death, a similar sentence being pronounced against his wife.
Both managed to escape abroad and from

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

SUPPOSE a man had a beautiful garden on one side of his house, and on the other an unsightly dump, and suppose he always sat by a window where he could look out on the dump instead of the flower garden. What would you think of him?
And yet how many people look out from the windows of the House of Life in just that way!
A young girl in our neighborhood lost her grandfather recently. She had been very fond of him and put on black at his death.
Whereupon the neighborhood glibly assured itself:
"Oh, it's easy enough to see why Elsie feels so terribly about her grandfather. She thinks black is becoming to her."
Now Elsie is a very pretty young girl, and she undoubtedly does look even prettier, in a quaint, pathetic way, in the somber gowns.
But she is also a very sensitive, affectionate young person, and was deeply touched by her grandfather's death.
"Why isn't it just as easy to believe that sincere grief and not vanity is what actuates her?"
The other day I forgot to take the change from a five dollar bill after making a small purchase. I did not find out my mistake for a day or two, but when I inquired for the money I found that the girl with whom I had traded had kept it intact for me.
I came home all enthusiastic over her honesty to me and I was so much pleased that I was afraid she'd lose her job if she took it."
Perhaps.
And yet the honesty was an equally possible motive.
Why look beyond it for the less creditable one?
There is a woman in our neighborhood who does more for charitable affairs and entertainments than any other two women in the town. "I wonder if she really does it because she wants to help or because she likes to be in everything and likes to tell about it."
I suppose either motive is possible, but isn't it much pleasanter to believe that she was actuated by the former?
There is much bad in the world and there is much good.
If you want to be happy and sweet and lovable, train yourself to always see as much of the good and as little of the bad as possible.
If you want to be cynical and sour and disagreeable—well be always looking out of the windows that overlook the dump.
is very brilliant in conversation, and has most fascinating manners.
Russian Marriage Mix-ups
With regard to the late Czarovich George's morganatic marriage with another Princess Nakaschidze, to which I have made reference, it may be recalled that

THE EVENING TIMES THE DAILY TELEGRAPH

New Brunswick's Independent newspapers. These papers advocate: British connection, Honesty in public life, Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion.

THE ANDOVER MEETING

The Times prints today a fairly full report of the great Liberal meeting at Andover, at which the principal speakers were Hon. Dr. Pugsley and Hon. C. W. Robinson.

This fact is a clear illustration of the fact that the religious beliefs of one age lose their force in a later age. There was a time when the Confession of Faith was accepted literally.

Dr. Pugsley's review of the St. John Valley Railway negotiations states the case clearly and shows to whom the people are indebted for a road that will connect with the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Trans-Canada, and be operated as part of the Imperial system.

Hon. Mr. Robinson, in a clear and very able address discussed provincial politics and exposed the weakness and the broken pledges of the Hazen government.

The meeting was a notable success, from the Liberal standpoint, and will have an excellent effect in influencing public opinion in the up-river counties.

THE TWO VIEWS

The Times has pointed out that there are two conceptions of the future relations between the mother country and the overseas states, which differ only in regard to the centralization of authority.

The dinner was served in the banquet hall at two oblong tables and six large tables. All were splendidly decorated with flowers and silver candelabra, and pictures loaned by the Indian office and from other sources hung on the walls, enhancing the effect of the handsome mural decorations.

The queen and Sir Edward Grey, and a score of guests sat at the principal table, while King George and the Crown Princess of Germany with an equal number of persons, were opposite them at the head of the other oblong table.

of that freedom of individual and collective action which is the birthright of every heir to the British principle of constitutional and representative government.

Much interest has been aroused in religious circles by the statement of the chairman of the Homeing committee of Toronto Presbytery that the Presbyterian Confession of Faith is not to be taken literally.

STATE BANQUET WAS NOTABLE GATHERING

Sir Edward Grey Host at Magnificent Function—Prince of Wales' Birthday

London, June 23.—The state banquet at the foreign office tonight was one of the most important social events of coronation week.

The Grenadier Guards band furnished the music for the occasion. All the men were in black court dress of knickerbockers and white aviators. The toilettes of the ladies were magnificent and the display of jewels a gorgeous one.

ivities, for the occasion was the celebration of his seventeenth birthday. The future king of England held a reception largely attended by the younger element of royalty and nobility.

THE RETURN

Untrodden is the grass before the door. White green reeds gather whispering each to each.

Where shadows falling seek to closely shade All things that were full dear to thee and me.

So soft, so slow the summer rains descend Upon the flowering spaces of the ground.

So swanly now the white moths, stirring, rise, Their silver wings as frail as were thy hands.

Oh, art thou here, or where then mayst thou be? Thou seemest far and yet so close to me.

DINNER THAT COST ONLY $650 A PLATE

Most Expensive Ever Given in New York

SHE AVOIDS SOCIETY

J. P. Morgan's Daughter Goes To France for Quiet Summer—The Polar Dispute Revived—New Marriage Law Proposed—Gossip Notes of Gotham

(Times Special Correspondence). New York, June 23.—The announcement that the banquet tendered the other evening by Harry Payne Whitney and his associates of the Meadowbrook Club to the members of the English Polo team, their rivals in the recent international match, cost approximately $650 a plate seems to have shocked the delicate sensibilities of the straight-laced folk. They cannot comprehend how a supper could cost so much per person and are inclined to look upon the extravagance as a willful, sinful dissipation of money. For a dinner of its size it was probably the most expensive ever given in New York, though it is a matter of record that as high as $1,000 a plate has been paid for a limited number of persons.

It is difficult to imagine a dinner so gorgeous in its appointments and accessories as to consume $650,000 in money in the course of four or five hours of an evening. This is what it cost Whitney and his associates to entertain the Englishmen. The idea that this vast sum, most all for food and rare vintages is a mistake. Even with eagle's livers, lion's tongue, gazelle's fillet and other delicacies on the menu, the cost of the feast would not exceed $100 a plate and $15 more for rare old wines and the most you can charge on the bill. The proper is $25 a head. That is said by New York's most deft chefs to be the maximum of man's capacity to derive any pleasure from a dinner. It is the capacity of the gourmand's capacity to dispose of them.

What cost most were the jeweled and silver services distributed during the dinner. These were the most sumptuous ever given at a dinner of this character. Practically every Broadway theatre was invaded for one or two of its stars who entertained after dinner. They received substantial sums for their services. There were the forats bill which added another large sum.

In times of industrial depression like the present, such extravagance is sure to provoke criticism in certain quarters. Practically every one of the millionaires who think it wise not to flaunt their money in the face of the poor, generally refrain from public dinners of this sort.

On this occasion however, they took the stand that it would be a nice compliment to the visitors from abroad, who had proved such good sports during their stay in America. To make sure, however, that no adverse criticism should be made the sponsors of the affair tried to keep it quiet, but as usual some one gave the secret away.

Miss Morgan and Society. Miss Anna Morgan's determination to avoid London during the coronation was accepted by her friends as another indication of the growing dislike of the independent and spirited daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan for society and large gatherings of any kind. Before leaving for the continent the other day she said she intended to spend her summer quietly in France with Elise de Wolfe, former actress, and Elizabeth Marbury, play broker, who are having a picturesque chateau in the south of France.

It was expected by everybody that she would at least spend a month in London here way to France so that it was something of a surprise to society when she announced her plan to avoid the English capital at this time of the year. It is no secret among her personal friends that Miss Morgan regards the idle entertainments of New York society and those who give them as insipid. Efforts to interest her in them from time to time have failed and she is now considered a loneless case. She prefers to devote her leisure time to quiet matters, where her influence and money can be helpful to those who are struggling for a betterment of their conditions.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN

JUST BOOZE

Because he had neither money nor work, a man about 35 years of age, drank some carbolic acid shortly after eight o'clock Saturday night, at the corner of Queen and Church streets, and died as a result a few minutes later in St. Michael's Hospital. He gave no name to Policeman Taylor, who assisted him to the hospital, and had nothing in his pockets to indicate who he was. All he said to the policeman was that he had taken carbolic acid because he was without work and money, and asked the officer not to say anything about it.

When his clothes were searched after the body had been taken to the morgue, a small memo book was found, in which was written: "Sick, broke. I will cross the divide for my Christmas. P.S.—Booze, just booze." (Toronto Mail, Dec. 1910.)

SOME SCIENTIFIC FACTS

Professor T. C. Blaisdel, declares that every man should beware of even the moderate use of liquor for five principal reasons: 1. It threatens the physical structure of the body. 2. It decreases the capacity for work. 3. It lowers the mental ability and degenerates the morals. 4. It greatly lessens the chance for health and long life. 5. It causes a man's sins to be visited on his children and his grandchildren.

The Professor asked this question: Why are the working men who drink discriminated against by employers? He then proceeds to answer the question. He says that alcohol, even in moderate quantities, decreases the capacity for muscular and mental work, obliterating part of the field of consciousness, and abolishing a certain collateral train of thought, and experiments in committing lines from Shakespeare shows that two glasses of beer each day for two years results in less working capacity of the mind from 25 to 40 per cent, and lessens the capacity of the memory to about 70 per cent.

ATHLETES AND ABSTINENCE

Says Dr. Wilbur P. Crafts: "So far back as the famous Greek games, athletes in training were required to abstain. Strange that men of those days and long afterwards thought the liquor which a man must avoid as an athlete would strengthen a workman for his task. In a recent walking match held at Kiel, Germany, the first four winners were abstainers. Among the ten prize winners, six were abstainers, for the others had lived entirely abstinent for months before the contest.

Of the twenty-four abstainers who entered the race, only two failed to reach the goal of the fifty-five non-abstainers, the latter failing to reach it by only a few inches. The verdict of athletes in all ages is that the man who would win in the race of life must abstain. In the case of international track competition, in which Britain, Germany, and the United States are chief competitors, it is the rule that a most abstinent. Here we find a patriotic argument for abstinence and prohibition. For my own sake, for the sake of my country's sake, I should exclude liquor from my own lips, and from my own land."

THE TALE OF TWO BROTHERS

On New Year's day two brothers, whose names are about twenty miles from Lloyd minister, drove to the town on business. They filled up on bad whiskey until they were red as a state of temporary idiocy—and then, having an extra stock of the stuff with them started for home. One brother was so drunk that he fell from the sleigh, and the other brother was so drunk that he was either too stupid or physically unable to help the falling man to rise.

The brother who had managed to get his seat on the sleigh drove on—and in the snow and froz solid. Oh, yes, we must have whiskey—our statements say so—though the vast majority of the Canadians hate the traffic as they hate the Hell that packs with misery. Yes, vested rights must be protected, "a legitimate business must be crushed," and "the revenue of the country must be kept up."

In the meantime, out on the Saskatchewan prairie, the frozen corpse of a husband and father lies, with foolish, grinning face turned forever to its Maker—and on the heads of the government and people of Canada, who all make a profit on the whiskey that produced the tragedy, must rest the responsibility for that eternal mockery.—Winnipeg Tribune.

HOW THE GLORY OF SHELburne HAS DEPARTED

Founded by Loyalists, But They Were Not of Class Who Chose to Work and Were Not Ready When Reverses Came

(Daniel Owen in Toronto Weekly Globe)

The story of the growth and decay of Shelburne, Nova Scotia, that Loyalist laud of refuge, is as romantic as it is fascinating, and goes back to that memorable day in October, 1783, when Lord Cornwallis and his army of 7,000 men surrendered to Washington.

At that time there were many wealthy families living in the cities of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore who were still loyal to the British crown, and had no desire to live in the republic which all realized must follow the surrender of Cornwallis. They knew that to remain in the United States, possessing as they did British sympathies, meant that all their property would be confiscated, and they themselves imprisoned until they were willing to renounce their allegiance to the flag of Britain and subscribe to the constitution of the new republic.

They therefore decided to emigrate to some other part of the empire. Accordingly meetings were held in the three cities to discuss ways and means. From these meetings three representatives were chosen to form a "Union Committee," with full power to decide upon the new home for the Loyalist citizens of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Before the committee appeared one Gideon White, a Phisician of Mass., who, possessing a personal knowledge of Shelburne, strongly advocated the advisability of emigrating to that place. Impressed by the claims of Shelburne, which were so ably presented by White, the committee, after long and heated debate, which one time almost resulted in the dissolution of the committee itself, decided that on the north shore of the Province of Nova Scotia, the Loyalists should seek a haven of refuge from the imminent persecutions of a victorious enemy.

The next step was to take the matter up with the imperial government, through a lieutenant governor, controlled Nova Scotia. For this purpose a committee consisting of seven members was appointed: Joseph Dufferin of Newport, Rhode Island; James Doyle of Albany, New York; Peter Lynch and Thomas Courtenay of Boston; William Hill, Joseph Pondich and Joshua Pell.

The imperial government gave the impending settlers every possible encouragement and inducement. They promised them large grants of land. Every family was to be granted a town lot measuring sixty by 100 feet, a water lot on the harbor and a fifty-acre farm back of the town. In addition, every family was to be granted a lot which would build and flog as long as it should be necessary.

Seven million dollars were spent in building and improving the town; beautiful gardens were laid out, fronting on graceful boulevards; stately buildings were erected with magnificent appointments—all forming a fitting setting for the wealth and aristocracy that made up the population of Shelburne.

him tell the pathetic story in his own words: "They built their houses in New York and brought them with them—houses of oak that would stand for centuries, with stairways of mahogany and mantels of marble. They brought their slaves with them to do their work, and they furnished their mansions in a style fitted to their stations. When Governor Parr sailed a year later from Halifax to visit the new colony he had already expended upon it nearly three million dollars—a trivial sum now, but lavish in those days; and he entertained the governor right royally, and they changed the name of the capital from New Jerusalem (which they had first christened it) to Shelburne in honor of Britain's premier.

Prince Edward, the father of Queen Victoria, also visited the famous seaport on the north shore, and the whole city came forth to do him honor. Never before had there so gay a metropolis. They dined and feasted. No one worked, for no one knew how to work. And why should they work? The English government furnished all their supplies. The neighbors in Yarmouth and Dartmouth, who were engaged in the fishing trade, looked upon the newcomers with amazement, and contemptuously styled them the dancing beggars."

But the day of reckoning came. The government supplies were cut off, and the capital began to grow hungry. They wouldn't fish, and they wouldn't trade in the streets and amuse themselves beneath them—it was not a farming country; and they starved. Famine followed; feasting languished; the place of mirth, merriment and merriment was turned into a place of mourning and misery. They had houses—palatial houses—but these, unfortunately, were not edible, and so they began to desert and scatter. Some turned back to the states; some went to the neighboring towns. One after another they gathered their movable possessions and turned their backs upon "the New Jerusalem." And their stately mansions, their mahogany and marble mantels, were left for the birds to build their nests in.

The city rose so grandly and fell so miserably. The 14,000 souls became a beggary 400. Boys wandered through the streets and amused themselves with stoning out the windows, with none to care them—for there were windows open. Some of the houses were torn down and carried away to other towns to build again, and others of these stately mansions, brought from the states at so great expense, were pulled down and used for fire-wood.

In the same year of today still shows the result of that Loyalist invasion of so many years ago, and in that beautiful little village, with its English houses, and its English residences, and a harbor that has no peer on the North American coast, the citizens still hold daily to the memory of the long ago, and of the blood that courses through their veins—that blood of the "Loyalist Fathers," who, true to the motherland, sought a haven of refuge on the north shore of the Province of Nova Scotia.

Interesting Facts Concerning Women

WOMAN AND LAW.

Mrs. John K. White, at a recent suffrage meeting in Frederick, Md., gave some curious examples of the law's injustice to women. Mrs. Jefferson Davis bequeathed interesting relics to the daughters of the Confederacy, but her will could not be carried out, because in Louisiana a woman's signature as witness is not legally valid. Mrs. White also cited the case of a young man killed at a dangerous trade in New York state. The father put in a claim for damages, which would have been granted but for his death before the case was settled. The mother could not collect the claim, because by law she was not "next of kin" to her son.

FOR WORKING WOMEN.

The Woman's Trade Union League of Baltimore has been organized to promote the interests of women's trade unions, to forward labor legislation and to aid in the formation of new unions in all trades. These unions are to be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and with their national or international organization. Their platform includes equal pay for equal work, the eight hour day, and women suffrage.

GOSSIP AND GLEANINGS.

France has established the first aero club for women. During one week three Boards of Guardians in England elected women as chairmen. These women have given unquestionable proof of fitness for the office, and have the support and confidence of the members.

A memorial to women, arranged by the Women's Franchise League of Indianapolis will be a feature of the centennial celebration in Indiana. It will probably be an exhibit aiming to show what women in all parts of the country have accomplished.

Miss Molly Spicer, 23 years of age, has been appointed deputy sheriff of Dutchess County, New York, by the sheriff of Poughkeepsie. She is said to be the first woman deputy in New York state, outside of the Federal service. Miss Spicer is charged with an important mission in finding proper homes for children of delinquent parents, and her appointment as deputy will greatly facilitate the discharge of her duties.

Dr. Elizabeth Cassidy, one of the County Commissioners of Denver, has her hands full of civic work. Among various reforms she is urging are the establishment of separate wards for criminals who are drug-users, and the further separation of the older offenders from those whose habits are not so fixed. She urges full publicity in the conduct of municipal affairs. She has asked to have the proceedings of the Board of Commissioners made public.

Mrs. W. A. Johnston, wife of Chief Justice Johnston, the new president of the Kansas Equal Suffrage Association, is one of the best known women in Kansas, and president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and a director of the Topeka Y. W. C. A. She has been for years a worker for equal suffrage. The Ottawa (Kan.) Guardian says: "The Suffrage Association of Kansas is especially fortunate in having as leaders in the movement the wife of its governor and the wife of the chief justice, particularly as they are not simply lending their names to the cause as honorary members, but are active workers in the movement."

As the result of the experiment a local highway was said to be being used by some of these negroes remained steady and peaceful, and welcomed the arrival some years later an English Methodist missionary, but the majority became so unruly and violent that they endangered the existence of the settlement, and even attempted the murder of the governor. So difficult was the task of keeping them in order when, eight years later, one of the managers of the colony were asked to receive the Maroons, also from Nova Scotia, they only consented in the hope that one day they would prove "a counterpoise to the other."

The appearance of today still shows the result of that Loyalist invasion of so many years ago, and in that beautiful little village, with its English houses, and its English residences, and a harbor that has no peer on the North American coast, the citizens still hold daily to the memory of the long ago, and of the blood that courses through their veins—that blood of the "Loyalist Fathers," who, true to the motherland, sought a haven of refuge on the north shore of the Province of Nova Scotia.

BIG REALTY COMPANY WITH THE C. P. R. INTERESTED. Boston, June 23.—A new realty corporation, the International Realty Company, which is perhaps the largest organization of its kind in the United States, has just been organized by Boston interests associated with the Canadian Pacific railway, to carry on operations in Canada. The operations of the company throughout the development of the company through the development programme now being carried on by the Canadian Pacific railway. Its purpose is to buy and sell Canadian real estate on a large scale; to organize farming communities in the Canadian northwest; to act as agents for land management and city property, loan money on mortgages, carry on an insurance business, and in general perform all the offices of a general real estate agent in the Canadian northwest.

The company will have a selling organization of fifty stockholding financial houses stretching from Maine to California. Lieut.-Colonel Hugh H. McLean, Mrs. McLean and Miss McLean, of St. John; Jean Cameron, of Newport (N. S.); Capt. A. McKee, of Moncton (N. B.); Lieut.-Colonel G. C. Foster, of Halifax, registered at the Canadian high commissioner's office during the week ending June 17. C. MacQ. Avax and Miss Phips, Amherst (N. S.), registered at the office of the Montreal Star.

TALK OF SUCCESSOR

London Letter Expresses Hope That Sir Wilfrid Laurier Will be Next Commissioner—Canadian Investment Matters—Production of Coronation Festivities in Canada

(Times Special Correspondence.) London, June 13.—Lord Strathcona is a marvel; the present excitement seems to stimulate instead of weary him; day after day, and night he is at his office or at some function, often at two or three, between sunrise and sunset; rest does not agree with him. Still nature must take the inevitable toll, and we hear that he has at last discussed with the premier the appointment of a successor. I have heard many expressions of the hope that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will consent to spend the evening of his life in a position in which he could with so much charm and distinction represent the Dominion as a whole.

To Reproduce Coronation Ceremony

Although many Canadians will not be able to visit London for the coronation festivities they will have an opportunity at the Canadian National Exhibition of witnessing an exact reproduction not only of the procession, but of the coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey, Dr. Orr, the director of the exhibition, is at present in London, and in conversation with the writer, stated that he was making arrangements to have the coronation scenes presented in Toronto.

"We already have contracted with a big firm here to supply us with the costumes and the ceremony will be presented on an elaborate scale," he said. "After a visit to the Festival of Empire in company with the Hon. J. S. Duff and G. R. Gray, the Mayor of Toronto, it has been decided to reproduce also the Canadian scenes of the festival, without the pageants."

"We shall represent the coronation procession just as it appears on the London streets. The details of the coronation as well as of the crown jewels as seen in the Tower of London, will be made and the costumes will be reproduced all the wealth of decoration with the jeweled ornaments, etc."

"We are obtaining from the London Illustrated papers, such as the Graphic, a number of original sketches which will be done by their artists during the coronation."

Boom in Canadian Investments

The address of Sir Edmund Walker, to the Institute of Bankers, attracted an even larger and more widely attentive audience than that of William Taylor's able summary of the financial history and prospects of the Dominion three weeks ago. The suggestion that the Bank of Canada has been brought about by the depression in gilt-edged securities, and is to be reformed and has undoubtedly been exaggerated for political purposes; but none the less has the prospect for greater safety in certain classes of Canadian securities. During the last few days the vicinity of the Bank has been crowded with people, drawing out their deposits of from $50 to $1,000, who are eagerly seeking for some means of getting a safe investment. The Government Post Office Savings Bank only pays them 2 1/2 per cent, and the difference between 2 1/2 and 5 is a serious loss to the thrifty poor, laying by for old age or emergency.

Canadian Ladies in England

To keep track of all the social functions held daily and to come up-to-date with the activities of the many Canadian ladies here in attending charitable and religious societies as well as social functions receives little or no attention in the British press. In their way, however, these ladies are putting in some fine advertising for Canada and it will be through their charming bearing and tactful courtesy that many a desirable settler and wealthy tourist will be seen in the Dominion within the next few months.

Emigration

I have heard many regrets expressed that there has been no opportunity for hearing some of the visiting Canadian ministers, members of parliament and others on public platforms. Even at the dinner dinners which are held it is only now and then that a good orator from the Dominion gets a chance, and then he is more or less limited to the customary platitudes and statistics. The great emigration societies are missing the chance of their lives by not holding monster demonstrations in the largest public halls available, for now almost everybody one meets wants to hear about Canada from Canadians who have made good, rather than from bookish agents and paid lecturers whose motives in booming the country are more or less under suspicion.

By the way, I must quote the following from the "Westminster Gazette" as confirmation of what I have written regarding the province of Quebec; it is a review of a book just published, entitled "The Fair Dominion," and written by Mr. R. E. Vedrine. "It is quite refreshing to come across a book about Canada which is not full of statistics about emigrants and crops and which does not prate about imperialistic Mr. R. E. Vedrine manages to avoid boring his readers with the repetition of the topics which generally fill the travel's book in 'The Fair Dominion,' the title (Continued on page 8, first column.)"

It eases at once and heals surface hurts, such as cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and frost-bites.

For tooth-ache and sore throat it is an excellent remedy.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS OF THE WEEK IN ST. JOHN

King's weather on Thursday was all that St. John needed to complete the celebration of the crowning of King George and Queen Mary as the nation's future sovereigns. Therefore when the hour arrived for the opening ceremonies and sunshine flooded the streets, which at the early hour of 8 a. m. were thronged with people, anxious to view the Catholic societies and military parades, every one was satisfied and on each face was noted a smile of happiness and pleasant anticipation, as it was realized that the events of the day were only just beginning. In the afternoon a large parade entertained vast crowds, but it was in the evening that St. John citizens turned out in thousands to witness the firemen's parade and the fireworks. The illuminations were in some instances very beautiful, for example, the drinking fountain facing King street, which on at least one occasion, was lit up with "beauty" if not a joy forever. The water pagoda on the St. John river by members of the Power Boat Club and the R. K. Y. C. were very nice, especially in the evening when the boats were illuminated as the scene most fairy-like. Although the fireworks were very beautiful, the churches played a prominent part, nearly all having illuminating services before beginning the amusement.

Next in importance to the coronation festivities were the school closings at Northwood and the college schools which were held on the three first days of the week and which drew large crowds of interested relatives and friends from St. John and elsewhere to witness the closing exercises. At the Northwood school for girls, Miss Catherine McKay, principal, presided over the coveted character prize. The graduates of the year are Miss Lila Foster, Miss Catherine McKay, Miss Margaret King, Miss Emma Lawrence, Miss Emma Turnbull.

At the Collegiate school the graduates are Mr. M. Bell, Mr. G. Foster, Mr. L. Hibbard, Mr. W. Hickman, Mr. C. MacLay, Mr. B. Mackay, Mr. C. Maiman, Mr. R. S. Hankin, Mr. G. Gilbert. Following the presentation of prizes by Mrs. James P. Robertson, tea was served in the large gymnasium of the school. The refreshment table was beautifully decorated with blue iris and blue violets, the color of the year.

A marriage of interest to friends in this city took place in St. Paul's church, Montreal, on Saturday afternoon, when the marriage was celebrated of Miss Katherine Forester Wisdom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Williams, of Montreal, and Rev. Dr. Fraser, formerly pastor of St. David's church, officiated. Mr. P. J. Hiley, of St. George's, acted as best man.

The wedding given by Mrs. Percy Thomson on Thursday for Miss Nan Bernaby, whose wedding ceremony took place next week, was a most delightful affair. The beautifully appointed table was profusely decorated with white flowers, green, and ferns. The menu and place cards were in the form of silver belts and each of the fourteen guests received daily consolation souvenirs. The bride and groom were placed at each corner. Wednesday being the birthday of Miss Edith Skinner, a handsomely ornamented table occupied a prominent position on the luncheon table.

Mrs. Skinner was beautifully gowned in white embroidered marquisette with lace trimmings. Miss Robert was wearing a charming costume of white voile, embroidered with blue and blue hat with wreath of rosebuds. Other guests present were Mrs. Harold C. Schofield, Mrs. R. Kellie Jones, Mrs. W. J. Scott, Mrs. Alexander Fowler, Mrs. Gordon Sanction, Miss Clara Schofield, Miss Bertie Hegan, Miss McMillan, Mrs. Louise Barker, Mrs. Walter Harrison, Miss Marjorie Barnaby.

The picturesque grounds and handsome building in Colburn street, where the Knights of Columbus held their fair this week, attracted hundreds of persons anxious to assist in the good work undertaken by the society and also to spend an hour or two amidst such delightful surroundings held this summer, the music being of a distinctly high order. Governor MacGregor was present to speak and so to distribute the prizes. Miss Christina Crawford, of Fairville, is another student at home for the holidays. Other visitors to the college from St. John were Miss Mary MacLaren and Miss Kathleen True-man.

A land-owner in Japan owns the surface and products of the surface of the land only all minerals under the surface appertain, not to him, but to the Japanese government. Moreover, should the government or its nominee wish to extract the minerals lying under the land-owner's property, the latter, though he would, of course, receive compensation for loss, cannot object on legal grounds to the development of these minerals.

The race for the Gregory cup at the R. K. Y. C. at Millidgeville on Coronation day was won by the Chinook, owned by Church brothers, with J. Proddham's Mona second and the Canac, owned by Louis D. Munro, third. The Chinook won by two minutes and ten seconds over the Mona. The winner has to defend the cup against challengers this summer. The race for sailing dories was won by Blizard and McAvity's craft with J. Gordon Lakely second, Dr. Merrill third, Kimball and Allison fourth, and K. L. Golding fifth. The race was very interesting between the first three boats and might have had a different ending had not Gordon. Likely rounded a wrong buoy that took him considerably out of his course. The second race will be sailed this afternoon and should prove much closer.

The Marathon Team's Line-up.
New Catcher to Report Next Week—Joe Page's Plans
Today's train from the border brought the fast Calais baseball team and a great game is expected when they meet the Marathon team this afternoon on the Marathon grounds. Winter, the ex-Boston American leaguer, will be in the box for the Greenies while the twirl for the visiting team will probably be Kite or Ryan. Since the arrival of the new players for the Marathon, the team is now in a position to give any team in the league a hard game and as the Calais team is both fast in the field and capable in the bat, this afternoon's game should be well worth seeing. The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp, so as to allow subscribers to get away early. The Marathons will line up as follows: the players being named in the order in which they hit: Prager, 2nd base; Winter, pitcher; Williams, 3rd base; Donnelly, 1st base; Riley, short stop; Dr. Malcolm, left field; Lynch, centre field; Tarbell, right field; Rootes or Nelson catchers.

Baseball

The Marathons have signed a new catcher and he will report early next week. The new man is Larry Conley, a catcher who has figured in New York teams, and is said to be a very heavy batter. Joe Page, the new man of the St. John's new players here, John Mulvey, third baseman with Columbia College, has all ready been secured, as have Sabourin, Broome, fielders with the Canadians, who played here a few weeks ago. Dr. Hile who has a good record, is expected to arrive today. He will act as a colleague for Ford in the pitching box. Mr. Page has been granted leave of absence from the C. P. H. for the summer months, and will devote his time to baseball.

ARMORY WORK IS ADVANCING WELL

Nearly Eighty Men Employed at Present—Foundation Work to be Started Soon

Work on the new armory which is being erected in Sheffield street by the Dominion Government, is going on rapidly under the direction of Mr. Sullivan, the contractor, and it is expected that the structure will be completed well within the contract time of two years. At the present time there are forty-eight workmen and fourteen granite cutters, along with seventeen teams at the work, and the excavating work will be finished in a week or ten days. The wet weather has kept the men back somewhat. Just as soon as the diggers are through, the masons will start in on their work of laying the foundation. The crew of granite cutters, now employed at the work, have prepared quite a lot of stone for the foundation, and everything will be ready for a quick start. After the foundation is laid the carpenters will have full way, and a very large crew will be put to work. When completed the armory will be one that the citizens and militia of St. John may well feel proud of.

NOTED SUIT OF TOPP ARMOR HAS BEEN SOLD

London, June 24.—(Canadian Press)—The Times says today that the Topp armor which early in the year was the medium for a suit between the Earl of Chesterfield and George R. Harding, an art dealer, has been sold to an American. The Topp armor, inlaid with gold, and said to have been made for Lord Chesterfield's ancestors by Jacob Topp, armorer for Queen Elizabeth, was to have been sold at the auction sale of the effects of Home Lesley, Herefordshire, in February, 1910. Immediately before the auction, however, Lord Chesterfield disposed of it privately to Henry Harding, son of George R. Harding for $10,000. Later Chesterfield sued the art dealer, claiming that the armor had been released by fraudulent representations, that instead of it being secured for a private collector who would pay only $10,000, in reality it was for the art dealer. He alleged that its value was about $30,000. Lord Chesterfield won the suit and got back the armor, but he was compelled to pay back the $10,000 with interest at 5 per cent, and in addition the amount paid by Harding for repairs to the armor.

AN AWFUL THREAT.

The Times news reporter has been solemnly warned by anonymous letter that if he does not at once "apologize in a decent, respectable manner" for the "dirty slur and knock" he gave the Polymorphian Club last night a letter will be sent to the Standard about it. To avoid this dreadful retribution, the news reporter has tens to say that Mr. Hiram Hornbeam has decided that though the Club did caricature and ridicule the products of the country sections he will not retaliate in any shape, manner or form upon the city folk. The news reporter, for his part, pledges himself to go into the next parade and spit on the griddle himself, to prove that he knows things are done in the farmers' kitchen.

LIGHTNING'S FREAK.

Lightning yesterday entered the home of Mrs. May Jeffrey, in Somerset street, and, scoring all else, centered its attack upon a small mirror. Close to it her good grand child was sleeping but was unharmed. Nor was the mirror destroyed, but the pattern was traced on it by the lightning and the wooden back was bulged out in several places.
