

SENSATIONAL TURN IN SYDNEY MURDER CASE

Widow and Brother-in-Law of the Murdered Man Arrested as Accomplices.

HALIFAX DETECTIVE
MADE SMART CAPTURE

Latest Events Mark Climax to
Whole Affair—Frank Haynes
Charged with Main
Crime Will Be Tried on October 28th.

Sydney, Oct. 7.—As a result of the visit of Detective Hanrahan, of Halifax, to this city warrants were issued this morning for the arrest of William Maddin, brother-in-law to the late E. S. Atkinson, who was found dead August 15 last on Mira Road, and Mrs. Atkinson, widow of the dead man.

Detective Hanrahan laid the information before Stipendiary W. P. Hearn this morning and the warrants were secured. This afternoon the charge against Mrs. Atkinson is completed, accessory before the fact and accomplice.

The same charge is made against Mr. Maddin. The warrants mark a sensation in the case. Ever since the tragedy or, at least, since the investigation was started, interest in the case has been rife.

Developments followed one another quickly. Frank Haynes was arrested shortly after the investigation started and charged with murder. He is now confined in the county jail and will probably be tried at the same time as the Supreme Court held here the 28th of this month. The arrest of Calvin Steeves followed that of Haynes. He was charged with being an accessory after the fact.

He was committed to the Supreme Court and is now out on $2,000 bail awaiting trial.

The latest events mark a climax to the whole business. The case now promises sensational little dreamed of when the investigation was started by Crown Prosecutor D. A. Hearn.

Detective Hanrahan when seen by the press this evening stated that in his opinion the case was one of the worst the province has ever seen.

"It is altogether different from the general run of murder cases," said the detective. "The crime was evidently a carefully planned one."

Detective Hanrahan has only been on the case for a week yet his clever researches have resulted in the arrest of two persons closely connected with the deceased man, whom he alleges are accomplices of the crime.

The quick results from the inspector's work will add to the reputation already established by him as one of the best detectives in Canada. Both Mrs. Atkinson and Mr. Maddin are out on bail. The amount of the bail is $7500 each. The preliminary hearing will be held this week.

PASSENGERS NEAR DEATH

Train Runs Wild Near Waterbury, Vt.—Axle of Ten-Wheeled Locomotive Broke—Enginemen Hurt.

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 7.—Nearly 100 passengers on a northbound local train of the Central Vermont Railway were in imminent peril at noon today when a locomotive axle broke and the train was running nearly 40 miles an hour.

Engineer Timothy Holland of Fairfield street, St. Albans, was cut about the face and his shoulder was dislocated. Fireman A. W. Cutting of 7 High street, St. Albans, was badly scratched and bruised about the face and left shoulder.

The accident happened two miles south of Waterbury, opposite a point in the quicksand of which an old locomotive and its engineer have been buried for 50 years. On the other side of the track is a steep embankment to the Winocaki river, 50 feet below.

The driving axle which broke was a 15-wheeled locomotive. The connecting rods on both sides of the engine broke also, and flying about, stripped air tank, running board, pipes and the covering from both sides of the boiler, which was punctured and emitted a huge cloud of steam.

The ends of the flying rods cut up into the cab on both sides, driving the engineer and fireman to the ground. Holland was picked up and taken by a section man on a handcar to the State Hospital at Waterbury.

After losing the driving wheel, the train ran for nearly a quarter of a mile down grade through rock cuts and around a curve until it came to itself to a stop. The train, consisting of mail car, baggage car, smoker and coach, in charge of Conductor Fred Macneil, was delayed two hours.

DEMOCRATIC WHEAT TARIFF IS EXPLAINED

Examination of Tariff Shows that General Impression was Erroneous—Another Misconception Disclosed.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The exact meaning of the wheat provision of the new United States tariff has been misunderstood. An examination of the new provision shows that the general impression that Canadian wheat can secure free entry to the United States if Canada places wheat on the free list is erroneous. Wheat, flour and semolina must all be placed on the Canadian free list before wheat, wheat flour and products or any of them can be admitted free to the United States.

The question therefore arises of placing not only wheat, but flour on the free list. The interval between the passage of the American tariff and the assembling of parliament here will provide an opportunity for considering the whole question and ascertaining the effect of the American changes upon trade.

A further misconception is disclosed in the suggestion that the wheat duty be removed. By section 32 of the consolidated revenue and audit act the government cannot make any duty or toll, and such restriction may be total or partial. Under the act the duty is collected and then remitted, but no change can be made under it in the tariff so as to comply with the requirements of the country.

The only power vested in the government of placing goods on the free list is under the customs act, and this power is strictly limited to articles used as materials in Canadian manufactures.

It is expected that the attendance at Philadelphia tomorrow will be a record breaker and the train of fans who paid admission to the stands was 32,291 and the day's receipts amounted to $75,255. These figures, as furnished by the National Commission, are expected to be just as many persons appeared to be just as many persons as in the case of the 1911 series. Certainly the scenes both inside and outside the baseball arena equalled those of any preceding world's series, so far as the gathering was concerned. Including those who witnessed the game in official capacity, the attendance crossed the 40,000 mark and fully half that number failed to gain access to the park. So great were the crowds that it was necessary to call out the police reserves and discontinue the elevated railroad service to the grand stands in order that thousands might not be augmented and swept before the control of the police.

Outgoing Glants.
Much as the local contingent of fans was chagrined at the defeat of the Glants, there were none who could gain-say the right of the Athletics to the title of champions in the opening clash of the 1913 championship series. The Mackmen went about their task in a business-like manner and before the day was over demonstrated that for the day at least they were the better team. They outbatted the Glants, driving both Marquard and Crandall from the mound with fusillades of long hits which quickly accounted for runs. In fielding, too, the standard bearers of the American League outshone the representatives of the other association.

Each team gathered eleven hits from the delivery of the rival pitchers.

HOME RUN BAKER
A STAR PERFORMER
Over 40,000 Fans Crowded
Polo Grounds to Watch In-

Wins Laurels at Second Base.

New York, Oct. 7.—It was rather a dark day for baseball, but notwithstanding the fact that looked like rain, the official record showed that there were 32,291 paid admission and that the cash received at the gates was $75,255.50. There is a different story among the critics tonight. Before the game the Giants were favorites in the pitching end of the battle, and this the critics held was the Giants' chance to reach the kitchen. Although the Athletics were weak in the pitching department, with Jack Coombs who at one time played for the John, out of the game through illness. The Mackmen, however, are rated as having a faster infield and the wise ones claim that they have it on the Glants as hitters.

Today's game showed old Chief Bender there with a steady arm and his team mates were on hand with their bats. The Athletics' lineup was New York had to use up three pitchers. Only in one inning, viz, the fifth, did the Glants get to Bender, when they pointed out three singles, and those sealed by the only error in the game, gave New York three runs.

The Athletics had eleven hits for nine runs, which drove in a run ahead of him. New York with their eleven hits only counted out three singles, and those sealed by the only error in the game, gave New York three runs.

It was Centrefielder Shafers' misjudging Schanz's drive to deep center that really paved the way for the Athletics' victory. It was one of the few chances offered the Glants' fielders during the game and when Shafers failed to gauge the flight of the ball, the Athletics seized the opening and took the lead, never to be headed.

The Glants started a rally in the sixth inning which netted three runs, but the Mackmen came back with another in the eighth and clinched the victory.

It has been said that every world's series develops a hero and the Athletics lost no time in seeking the laurels in this direction. Eddie Collins played a remarkable game at second base, making four put-outs and six assists without the semblance of an error. He also figures with Barry and Shafers in the lone double play of the game, which stopped short a Giant rally in the seventh inning and caused McGraw to jump down and up with rage and disappointment.

Collins, however, had no monopoly on the hero's glory, for John Franklin Baker and Chief Bender did their best to outdo him. Baker made history repeat itself when he drove a right field, scoring Collins from second ahead of him. The situation and hits were much the same as in the 1911 series, when Baker lifted the ball over the fence on a Marquard offering and paved the way for an Athletics victory.

While the game, considered as a whole, seldom touched the high spots of sensational playing, the scenes incidental to the gathering of the spectators were worthy of reproduction by the brush of a great artist. The flocking of the fans began at midnight Monday and as the hours of darkness slipped away and dawn changed into the gray light of a misty day, the waiting lines grew from hundreds to thousands until when the gates were opened at 9 o'clock there were fully 5,000 of the faithful in the fast row of the choice seats in the unreserved sections of stands and bleachers. From that hour on all New York appeared to be migrating to Harlem and the Polo grounds until at one o'clock every seat had been sold, and still the waves of fans beat upon the fences and entrances of the Glants' home until the management were obliged to call upon the city authorities for help in holding the disappointed thousands in check.

Once the gates rolled back the stands took on a scene of animation that was startling, so quick was the response to the call of the wooden seats to rows of bobbing humanity, the spectators swarmed into the various stands and bleachers in steady streams, rolling in from dozens of streets in long black lines that grew

THE FUGITIVE FATE AT HAMPSTEAD

Greta Slipp Died to Death While Playing with Matches—
Mother Weakened by Illness Leaped from Sick Bed to Aid Baby but in Vain.

Hampstead, Oct. 7.—One of the saddest accidents which has taken place in the community for some time occurred here this afternoon between four and five o'clock, when the five-year-old daughter of George B. Slipp, playing with matches, set fire to her clothing and was burned so badly that death soon relieved her sufferings.

The child, whose name was Greta Kathleen Slipp, was in the kitchen when the accident occurred. When her clothing caught fire her screams of terror and pain ran through the house. Up stairs her mother, who was ill, heard the screams, and springing from her bed, ran down to see what the matter was. The mother, Mrs. R. Slipp, who was on the ground floor at the time, was the first to reach the kitchen. Although horrified at the scene, she acted with great calmness, and seizing a cloth from the table quickly smothered the flames. But the light inflammable clothing of the child had burned fiercely and before help reached her she was terribly burned. The mother's feeling as she rushed in to the kitchen to find her child screaming with pain, and her grandmother having frantically put out the flames, may be better imagined than described. The shock was so great that it is feared the effect will be serious.

Mr. Slipp was at Gagetown at the time of the accident. Informed by telephone of the accident to his child he hastened home, bringing with him Dr. Caswell, but the child's injuries were so severe that she soon passed away, moaning with pain to the end.

The tragedy has cast a gloom over the people of this community. Mr. George Slipp, who is a brother of A. R. Slipp, the local member for Queens county, is one of the most prominent citizens of Hampstead, and will have the sympathy of many friends in his sad bereavement.

ers, but the Athletics' drives were more timely and of greater length. The Glants gathered twelve bases from their eleven hits, while the Athletics' total was twenty. The break occurred in the fielding tested the metal of the Philadelphia club to a greater extent than the New York players, for with few exceptions the Athletics' fielding was harder than those that were offered the Glants' infield and outfield.

There was little ceremony in the entrance of the actors of the day and soon the Athletics were in the midst of batting practice. Photographers scurried about the field like flocks of black birds, "snapping" players singly and in groups. In the upper stands the holders of the $3 reserve coupons filed in gradually and filled the entire horseshoe to 200 seats while flags and pennants flapped in the northeast breeze and a leaden gray sky enclosed the park and its waiting thousands.

In marked contrast to the scenes of previous years, the great gathering was noticeably un-demonstrative. There was little or no throwing of paper balls or snowflakes made by tearing newspapers in small pieces and scattering them on the crowds below. The Athletics appeared to have almost as many supporters present as the Glants and their appearance and every succeeding brilliant play elicited as much applause as did those of the home team. The same conditions prevailed all through the game. The cowbells and horns of former years were not in evidence and the taunts of rabid fans were few and far between. The game was witnessed and appreciated in a sane manner and winner and loser alike reaped the just reward of their efforts.

First Inning.

Eddie Murphy, playing in his first world's series, faced Marquard when Umpire Klem called "play ball." The left-handed pitcher, following Matthews' usual custom of grooving the first ball, let go a pitch that Murphy caught on the end of his bat and sent it out to Murray for an easy catch. Oldring started the Athletics "rooters" shouting when he slashed a single to right field. Marquard, believing that Oldring would try to steal second, kept him close to the bag and finally, by a lightning throw, caught the Philadelphia napping, Merkle making the out. Oldring protested against Umpire Egan's decision, but it availed him nothing. On the next ball pitched Collins shot a clean base.

METHODISTS MEET IN MISSION CONFERENCE

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 7.—There has been a wonderful interest shown in the Methodist Conference of Missions on account of matters centered around domestic missions. The superintendent of home missions for the Maritime Provinces today introduced the affair by outlining the policy of the general missionary board of view.

He showed how it took the responsibility of a wise and equitable distribution as it deemed it for the welfare of the whole church that the money raised for missions might go to that object alone, and that the domestic fields might become self-supporting as soon as possible. He was followed by the Rev. Benjamin Hills, of Hantsport, who viewed the matter from a minister's point of view.

Dr. Palmer, of Sackville Boys' Aca demy, then gave the home mission problem from a layman's point of view and gave figures which showed that though the population has remained stationary, the savings had risen above 33 per cent in a few years.

Rev. J. W. McConnell, of the Sydney circuit gave them a view of the state's standpoint of the work in cities like Sydney.

Col. Moore of Charlottetown and Judge Chesley of Lunenburg, also spoke of the missionary problems.

Then the Rev. Dr. Heartz led the conference in a discussion of methods of best taking up this work with widening success.

He urged great care in amalgamating his fields or exchanging appointments until the big question with the churches union was properly settled. He thought it much better to work along patiently till things shaped themselves or better rest.

The discussion which followed showed how jealously these men from all the fields guarded their rights and were anxious to conserve the working of their church at large.

The great Methodist church of Canada has no body of men who more tenderly watch over the affairs of their church than these men of the Eastern Provinces.

RETURNED TRUE BILLS COURT CASES AT GAGETOWN

Charles M. McIntyre to be Tried for Murder and E. Starkey
For Assault.

JUDGE BARRY PRESIDING
QUEENS CIRCUIT COURT.

His Honor Said Evidence
Against Starkey Was Not Sufficient but Jury Found
True Bill Against Him—
Cases Come Up Today.

Gagetown, Oct. 7.—At the circuit sitting of the Supreme Court, King's Bench Division which opened here this afternoon, true bills were returned in the cases of Charles Medley McIntyre, a colored man charged with murdering Gabriel Sabittis, an Indian, last spring, and against Elijah Starkey, charged with assaulting and causing bodily injury to his wife, Marjorie Starkey, who died from the effects of poisoning after being rescued from the Starkey dwelling at Cody's Station, on the 8th day of July.

Court opened at 2 o'clock, His Honor Justice Barry presiding. The first case to come up was that of the King vs. Charles Medley McIntyre, charged with murder. In the absence of the Attorney General, John R. Dunn, of Gagetown, representing the Crown, in the Starkey case George W. Fowler appeared for the prisoner.

After the jury had been sworn in they retired and selected T. S. Peters as foreman.

His Honor then reviewed both the cases. In the McIntyre case the jury, after being out twenty minutes, returned a true bill.

In reviewing the Starkey case His Honor said that the evidence given by the statement of the dead woman, Mrs. Starkey, had been erroneously admitted. He told the jury they must not consider it. He did not consider the evidence against the prisoner sufficient to send him up for trial, never, unless the jury brought in a true bill in this case also.

TO REGULATE EXPLOSIVES

Bill Will Be Brought Before
Next Session of Parliament
—No Federal Law Heretofore.

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, Oct. 7.—An act to regulate the manufacture and handling of explosives will be presented by the government at the next session. When a somewhat similar measure was up a few sessions ago provincial rights and other objections were urged and the bill, finally was held over. Heretofore there has been no federal law on the subject but simply provincial regulations.

The new act will deal with the different varieties of explosives whose possession will be prohibited unless it is an authorized explosive tested by the department. Licensing of factories and magazines will be in the hands of the Minister of Mines.

Provision also will be made for a chief inspector of explosives and several deputies and testing stations will be established in different parts of the country as well as at central laboratory at Ottawa. The general design of the act is to decrease the liability of accidents from explosives as Canada stands very high in the fatalities resulting from this cause.

SMALL ARMY CHILD'S MURDER TO BRING TO LIGHT

Three Generals Direct Destiny of Ninety Men—Sixty Killed in Day's Battle of Las Lagunas.

Puerto Plata, Oct. 7.—Thursday, September 18, was a day of victory for the revolutionists in Santo Domingo. The fight which took place on that day at Las Lagunas was more important than first reported.

General Aristides Patino was in general command of the revolutionists in that vicinity, but was not present on the battlefield. General Jose Martinez, who was killed in the battle, commanded the revolutionists. Co-operating with him was General Benigno Cespedes, a brother of Governor Jesus Cespedes, of Puerto Plata. General Martinez commanded thirty men with a machine gun. This gun did a large part of the execution accomplished by the revolutionists.

There were three hundred or more government troops engaged under the command of General Domingo Peguero. The regiment lost thirty-three killed and fifty wounded. The revolutionists lost thirty killed and wounded. Twelve of the wounded are now in the hospital at Puerto Plata and two are in Santo Domingo.

Mr. Hatheway, the American Consul at Puerto Plata, was in Santo Domingo September 23, and reports that there were in the hospital at that place fifty wounded. These were all but two were government soldiers.

Battle at Sanchez.

On the same day in the Samana Bay district there was a fight a few miles east of Sanchez. As Sanchez is the eastern terminus of the railway to La Vega, it is of considerable commercial importance. The revolutionists hold it.

Early in the morning of September 25 fifty revolutionists surprised and attacked a body of government troops of three times their strength. The attackers were victorious, killing eight government soldiers and wounding five. They suffered a loss of five wounded.

The U. S. S. Des Moines left Monte Cristi September 21 as soon as reports were received of revolutionists in Samana and Sanchez. She arrived at Samana the next day. The Dominican gunboat Viking, a small converted merchantman, was in the bay.

Commander Long, of the Des Moines, accompanied by Lieutenant W. S. Anderson, immediately went on shore in a pulling boat to see the Consul. Just as the boat touched the pier, the government troops attacked the town. There were probably two thousand shots fired by riflemen and also at least one heavy gun was in action. Stray shots to the number of a score or more were heard near the American officers and the boat's crew.

A good many stray shots struck a soap factory near by. This was a large corrugated iron structure belonging to M. Palerowski, the Norwegian vice consul. In it were about two hundred refugees, men, women and children. In the afternoon two of the men and a woman were wounded.

Arranged an Armistice.

Commander Long immediately found General Rivas, Acting Mariscal, who commanded the revolutionists who held the town, and General Manuel Perez, in command of the Dominican government troops in that vicinity. General Mariscal promised to suspend operations when told of the negotiations for peace that were under way and that General Vasquez had agreed to suspend at the request of the United States.

General Perez was averse to stopping. He has been appointed governor of Samana district, but one of the conditions is that he take it. He finally agreed to suspend until 8 o'clock the next day, unless he should receive such orders from his government.

The revolutionists kept their promise, but there was some trouble the next day unless orders came to General Perez to suspend operations. The Des Moines was in communication by wireless with the Legation at San Domingo City, via the Nashville, at that place.

Mr. Sullivan was informed of the situation and the necessity for a prompt order from President Bordas to General Perez to cease. During the night the order for General Perez came from President Bordas via the Des Moines wireless. The next day written promises to suspend were obtained from both sides by Commander Long, and the Des Moines proceeded to Sanchez.

Both sides are taking advantage of the armistice to move troops and strengthen positions already occupied. General Perez, at Samana, moved his men nearer the city, after he had missed the commander of the Des Moines that he would not advance, but would remain in the position then occupied.

The revolutionary leaders at Puerto Plata have expressed their appreciation of Mr. Sullivan's efforts in having arranged the armistice. They are, however, anxious that the final outcome of the negotiations at San Domingo City shall be made known as soon as possible. They consider that it obviously works more to

UNITED STATES PRISON SYSTEM IS MUCH WORSE THAN SLAVERY

Thomas Mott Osborne After Investigating Auburn Penitentiary in Guise of Convict Makes Declaration to this Effect—May Repeat Experiments in Other Prisons.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 7.—That the prison system is a form of absolute slavery, to which are applicable all the great truths enunciated by Lincoln and others against negro slavery, is the declaration of Thomas Mott Osborne, who left Auburn prison this afternoon after a week's confinement.

He was wearing at three o'clock yesterday an iron collar and was in a cell without light or heat. His "dungeon" confinement was invited. He declared that the "corn" which he was eating was made of stone. He said that the men in the prison were often exceedingly damp, as may well be the case where floor, ceiling and walls are of stone.

"My adoption of an alias proved to be most valuable in getting on common ground with the men. Had I used my own name there would unquestionably have been embarrassment and there would have been far less freedom and natural intercourse. Every prisoner, of course, knew who I was, yet with the alias he felt perfectly free to treat me as one of the inmates.

"When the idea first suggested itself to me to go into the prison I was very nervous. I gave up the first course partly on account of the extreme difficulty of a disguise which would pass current with officers and men, under the many sharp questioning eyes that had often seen me before. Incidentally, I may say that the man who can deceive in any way a group of State prisoners will have to be an expert.

"But the prison system takes from the convict his individual initiative and freedom of action and he becomes an irresponsible automaton. When he returns to the outside world, there, he finds he is unable to resume his own initiative and to be the guide of his own destinies. This accounts for so many men who leave prison and return as second timers.

"From the first moment that a man arrives in prison he is made to realize that he is no longer an individual human being. He is only one very unimportant unit in a community which is undergoing penance for certain crimes, and the penance differs only in the matter of duration. The next complexion on my tier of cells may be a forger, burglar, murderer, defaulting cashier, maybe a college graduate or a Bowery tough, an intelligent Yankee or an important foreigner, yet all are clothed alike, fed and housed alike, and each man ceases to be an individual and becomes a moving automaton in a gray suit similar to all others.

"As one instance of the unintelligence of the system, there is the attempt to deprive prisoners of the normal uses of their senses of sight and speech. After seven days' marching and countermarching several times a day, I am utterly unable to see in front of me the appearance of the men in my tier in the double column in which we marched. I can describe the haircuts of the twenty men who are in front of me, but I should not recognize a single man who sat in my rear. Attempting to get acquainted with my surroundings at my side and back, I usually find that I sit in the mess hall did I see the men at either side of me move their eyes or faces in my direction. Whenever my left hand neighbor wished to share with me his portion of sugar, for example, he would simply pass it over to me and utter 'pass' or 'give' or 'understand.' In fact, to learn to speak without moving the lips and to catch quickly the sound of words uttered in the air, are the first things a convict tries to acquire. How unnatural this is and how it tends to repress every human instinct it is unnecessary to say.

"Another most unintelligent aspect is the way the system inevitably tends toward the punishment of return. It is the same as for great offenses. There is no difference, for instance, between the offense of talking in the shop and the offense of crowbar to murder the officer in charge. Both call for the "dungeon." I obtained the right to write more than left hand neighbor wished to share with me his portion of sugar, for example, he would simply pass it over to me and utter 'pass' or 'give' or 'understand.' In fact, to learn to speak without moving the lips and to catch quickly the sound of words uttered in the air, are the first things a convict tries to acquire. How unnatural this is and how it tends to repress every human instinct it is unnecessary to say.

"There is a frightful waste of human life and ingenuity because the system is so bad that, while there is some slight reform, the principle of reformation is not used in writing more than left hand neighbor wished to share with me his portion of sugar, for example, he would simply pass it over to me and utter 'pass' or 'give' or 'understand.' In fact, to learn to speak without moving the lips and to catch quickly the sound of words uttered in the air, are the first things a convict tries to acquire. How unnatural this is and how it tends to repress every human instinct it is unnecessary to say.

"You can realize somewhat the cruelty of a rule which forbids a newcomer to prison to write more than left hand neighbor wished to share with me his portion of sugar, for example, he would simply pass it over to me and utter 'pass' or 'give' or 'understand.' In fact, to learn to speak without moving the lips and to catch quickly the sound of words uttered in the air, are the first things a convict tries to acquire. How unnatural this is and how it tends to repress every human instinct it is unnecessary to say.

"So far as I am concerned, the thing has been a thrilling success, and I think that I have seen and done what I have seen and done and that that knowledge will, I hope, bring forth good fruit."

FIVE-NIGHT YEARS IN JAIL; MEN PROTESTING INNOCENCE

Asks that Brain be Examined by Scientists to Prove it Absolutely Free from Homicidal Taint.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 7.—After being confined 48 years in State's prison, the longest term ever served by a convict in the State, Charles Gilbert, of New Britain, died last Tuesday protesting to the last his innocence and asserting, as he had since the death of his father, several years ago, that the father was guilty of the murder of Henry Cadwell, recruiting officer and was hanged for it in 1894.

The Rev. George A. Lester, the clergyman who attended the elder Gilbert on his death bed, today announced that a confession was made just before the brain died, and further that, though he had placed the confession before the State Board of Pardons, Gilbert was not released because the necessary number of votes of the board was not obtained.

The reason why Gilbert's body was not claimed by his daughter's or brother's was that the body was sent to the dissecting rooms at Yale medical school, was revealed by Warden Ward A. Gardner. Gilbert asked that his brain be examined after his death by Yale scientists in the belief that the investigation would corroborate his assertion of innocence by revealing that such a brain as his could not have been convicted of the murder of Cadwell and that it was free from homicidal taint.

"If I had committed that murder," he said to the warden, "the action would be stamped on my brain." "Tom" Gilbert, a cousin of the dead convict, was seen in his home on Stetson Meadow Mountain in Southington tonight and he affirmed his belief in Gilbert's innocence and in the death-bed confession. He added: "Charles knew considerable of the teachings of Lombroso, the famous Italian criminologist, and he once told me that he thought exoneration even after death was better than being buried and leaving this world under the stigma of murder."

The Rev. Mr. Lester, now living at No. 18 Williams street, this city, and formerly pastor of the Chesterfield Baptist church said tonight that John Gilbert, the convict's father, confessed to another son the day before his death that he was the murderer. At the request of Gilbert the Rev. Mr. Lester interceded with members of the Board of Pardons and with members of the Legislature, but he said that he understood that members of the Board stood out against the petition for pardon because they wanted witnesses of the confession.

There are two daughters of the dead convict living in Springfield and two sisters in New Haven, Conn.

murdered; then he panicked. Before him, instead of the woman he expected, merely stood a servant carrying the tea-tray.

"I thought you were Miss Janet," he muttered, trying to make his confusion. "She's a very long time coming down here along the New England coast, a gale of almost hurricane proportions being reported Friday night. The steamer Hancock B. Fuller, which left Boston for Portland at the usual time on Friday evening, kept on its course until reaching a little this side of Cape Ann, where it was forced to anchor. The weather conditions so bad that he concluded to run back to Boston, where he remained until 4 o'clock Sunday morning, when he put to sea, reaching here about 2 p. m. The officers report that when the steamer put back to Boston on Friday night the wind was blowing at the rate of fully 45 miles an hour with a furious sea running. The steamer E. M. Huntley, which left here Friday night for Boston, is still there, having on the Saturday night trip. She probably came down tonight, but did not reach here until about 7.30 o'clock last evening. She was twelve hours late in leaving here Friday morning on account of storm, and was unable to make up the delay.

UNUSUAL SIMPLER CAME ON FACE

Sores Spread Until Face Was Covered. So Itchy Could Not Resist Scratching. Cured Entirely in About Two Weeks by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Chicago, Ontario.—"My trouble started with sores breaking out on the face. They came on pimples and were itchy. These sores ceased to keep spreading until my face was covered. They were so itchy that at times I could not resist scratching them. After trying two or three different salves which did not stop the sores breaking out, I tried a cake of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I found that they cured me entirely of the sores in about two weeks." (Signed) Fred E. Meyer, Feb. 13, 1912.

LEGS BURNED AND ITCHED

Souris West, P. E. Island.—"My little girl, aged four years, was troubled with a painful rash on her legs. It began in a dry rash very hot and itchy and after a few days it looked like little pimples with a white top on them. Her legs burned and itched very much and she was very restless and was also cross and fretful. She used to scratch and make sores when I was not watching her. I had to leave her stockings off as they would irritate her legs. I used to bathe her legs with warm water and use the Cuticura Soap freely, then dry her legs and rub on the Cuticura Ointment and she was cured in one week." (Signed) Mrs. F. J. Mulally, Aug. 1, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 25-cent book, send post card to Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 1412, Boston, U. S. A.

TREAT THE QUESTION FAIRLY.
It was a well chosen and thoroughly representative delegation that left for Ottawa last evening to make St. John's demand for absolute fair play for the passenger and mail steamers of the C. P. R. and Allan lines.

In the course of nearly two weeks he placed around the status of Horace Greeler, William E. Dodge and other famous celebrities dear to the public heart. Bomb-proofs can be provided for men to guard the Public Library, the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Natural History. Surely Commissioner Waldo, in the time allotted to him before Mrs. Pankhurst's arrival can equip the New York police force with bullet-proof coats. Steps can be taken if the managers set down to business immediately to prevent the burning of theatres or the tossing of high explosives at the audience.

Really there is much to be done if Mrs. Pankhurst is actually coming here to teach our hitherto gentle but none the less enthusiastic sisters the way of getting the ballot. We can well imagine the Washington administration feeling very serene about it, because most of the officials there are inclined toward the easiest way, which is to give women the vote. But since the date of Mrs. Pankhurst's arrival is definitely known, forewarned, forearmed!

Liberals may well ponder over the situation in Chateaugay, Quebec, where it looks as if the Laurier party would be given the run of their lives in Saturday's voting. "A Liberal victory in Chateaugay would signify nothing," says the Hamilton Spectator, "unless the majority were abnormally large. But a Conservative victory would have a profound effect upon the politics of the whole of Quebec. It would be taken to mean—for the population of the country is 72 per cent. French—that that province, contrary to the representations of Laurier and Bourassa, is by no means opposed to the Borden naval policy. To Sir Wilfrid it would be a blow he could scarcely survive."

The non-partisan Times says: "This morning Mr. Hazen was in conference with Mr. Borden preparing a case to meet the arguments which the delegation from St. John are expected to advance tomorrow." Certainly. There can be no doubt that this item is strictly true. The most dyed-in-the-wool Conservative will at once realize that after such an important conference in the world for Premier Borden and the Minister of Marine to rush madly down Parliament Hill to tell the Times man all about it. The incident merely illustrates how governments are conducted. It also throws some slight illumination upon the methods of conducting the Times.

When a militant suffragette in an English jail refuses to partake of the food provided the authorities either permit her to have her liberty for a time or else feed her by forcible means. When an ordinary prisoner adopts the same tactics they let him suffer. A petty thief who tried a hunger strike the other day was allowed to starve to death. Therein lies the superiority of the suffragette over the ordinary low brow law breaker.

The decision of the city council to provide motor fire apparatus and a motor ambulance for the City of St. John is another evidence of this city's increasing up-to-dateness. There has been no great complaint about the present fire apparatus but larger cities are adopting motor propelled fire department equipment so it must possess advantages. Probably the best test of its efficiency will be found when the St. John hills are deep in snow.

It is predicted that Home Rule for Scotland is likely to follow upon Home Rule for Ireland. Apparently this prediction is based upon the assumption that if Home Rule proves good for Galloway it should also be beneficial for Galloway.

Philadelphia won yesterday's ball game by the exercise of the same quality that will win success in most other lines of endeavor. In baseball parlance they were "there with the hits" when hits were needed.

Current Comment
We Prefer Arbitration.
(Montreal Empire).
Taking courage from a preacher-college president, who spanked his father, an Illinois minister has undertaken to chastise a newspaper editor. If we had to be thrashed, we suppose a minister might as well do it as anybody, but we don't mind saying it would suit our purpose just as well, and save our feelings, if the case could be submitted to arbitration.

A Tribute to Father.
(Montreal Gazette).
It has been proposed in the U. S. Congress that the first Sunday in June each year shall be established as "Father's Day," and that a rose shall be the sentimental emblem of the festival. The selection of the day may meet the approval of the "old man." A Sunday celebration will not interfere with his work for keeping the other members of the family fed and comfortable.

DIARY OF EVENTS
THE PASSING DAY

BIG ANGLICAN CONCLAVE.
Anglicans throughout the world are profoundly interested in the questions that will come before the forty-third triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, which opens today in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. For years this great ecclesiastical body, the American offshoot of the Church of England, has been engaged in a controversy over a change in the name of the denomination. Many churchmen hold that more than this is involved, and have suggested the possibility of a split between the High Church parties. Many leaders advocate the dropping of the word "Protestant" from the title of the church, holding that "it reflects the controversial episcopacy of a bygone age." The name most favored is "the American Catholic Church in the United States." Other Episcopalians are determined to oppose to any change, and denounce the movement as tending toward the "introduction of a monarchical papacy" that might result in "an American papacy."

The deliberations of the convention will be carried on by a House of Bishops and a House of Clerical Lay Deputies. The church now has sixty-eight dioceses and twenty-three missionary bishops in the United States and nine foreign jurisdictions under the care of bishops using the same liturgy and yielding obedience to the constitutions and canons enacted in the general convention. The church has missionary bishops in Cape Palmas, Africa; Brazil, Shanghai, Hankow and Wuhu, China; Honolulu, Tokyo and Kio, Japan; the Philippine Islands and Porto Rico. The present convention will elect half a dozen missionary bishops. One of the new bishops will be for the Panama Canal zone and a somewhat larger territory which is to be transferred from the Church of England.

American Episcopacy had its beginning in the sixteenth century. The Church of England was early made a state establishment in the colony of Virginia, and it was also very strong in New York. In 1784, the Protestant Episcopal Church was founded in Philadelphia. Those and other early churches were under the jurisdiction of the bishop of London. Washington attended Church of England services, and Mr. Duane, the first chaplain in the United States, was affiliated with the church. Prior to the revolution the question of episcopacy was a live issue in the colonies. The Bishop of Landaff, in advocating church establishment in America, denounced the colonists as "infidels and barbarians" who, "with their native soil, and their native religion, and ere long were found, in many parts, living without remembrance or knowledge of God, without any divine worship, and using the most brutal profligacy of manners." These statements gave rise to much resentment and a bitter theological and political controversy. The first Episcopal bishop in the United States was Samuel Seabury, of Connecticut, who was consecrated at Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1784. Another convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church was held in 1789, when a constitution and form of government of the church as a provincial branch of the Catholic Church of Christ were adopted. The English Prayer Book, altered to meet the changed political circumstances of the country, was to be used in all congregations, and the convention declared that "this church is far from intending to depart from the Church of England in any essential point of doctrine, discipline or worship, or further than local circumstances require."

A Woman's Logic.
Jones was condemning his opponent's argument. "In such an argument," he said, "the logic is absurdly false. It is like the logic of a young married lady I heard of. This young lady sat plying the needle one morning in the parlor of her pretty little house. A coat of her husband's was in her lap. The husband appeared, and she said, fretfully, 'It is too bad, the careless way the tailor put this button on the hole of your shirt, but I've put him in Florida water until I hear from Alfred.'"

Explained.
Andrew Carnegie tells of an old Scotch lady who had no great liking for modern church music. One day she was expressing her dislike of the singing of an anthem in her own church, when a friend said: "Why, that anthem is a very ancient one. David sang it to Saul." "I noo for the first time understa' why"

First Things
THE FIRST ARTIFICIAL WINGS.
The first attempt to provide men with wings, so that they might soar as a bird, was probably that of Watson F. Quinby, a Baltimore inventor, who received a United States patent on his invention just forty-one years ago today. Previous flying machines had been based on the balloon principle, but Quinby's apparatus was entirely original, and consisted of side and dorsal wings constructed of semi-rigid material, and twelve feet in diameter. The wings were to be operated with the hands and feet, stirrups being provided for the latter. The entire contrivance was so light and simple that it seemed impossible that any person not constitutionally averse to muscular exertion could fail to fly. At the first attempt, however, the wings refused to work, and nobody ever left terra firma with their aid.

OPHELIA'S SLATE

IN LIGHTER VEIN

For Better or Worse.
"Suannah," asked the preacher, when it came her turn to answer the usual question in such cases, "do you take this man to be your wedded husband, for better or for worse?" "Jes' as he is, pahson," she interrupted. "Jes' as he is. Ef he gits any bettah, Ah'll know he good Lawd's ewine to take 'im; an' if he gits any wusser, w'y, Ah'll tend to 'im myself."

Its Natural Element (?)
Alice and Belle, one afternoon, were discussing their sweethearts, says Harper's Bazar. "Alfred is passing the winter in the South," said Belle, "and he has just sent me the dearest little alligator you ever saw."

Matter of International
Dam at Sault Ste. Marie
Under Consideration
Ottawa now.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Applications by Michigan and Lake Superior Power Company and the Algoma Steel Company for diversion of water at Sault Ste. Marie by an international dam were given preliminary hearings before the International Joint Commission here today.

The Michigan and Lake Superior applied to the United States government for a loan which would result in the development of power as far as an international boundary. The government has been considering the least of this water to them being used for the International Joint Commission which has jurisdiction of such things. Similarly the International government, which has under consideration the leasing of lake privileges on the Canadian side to the Algoma Steel Corporation, will have case passed upon. The two companies propose to build a dam from the side of the International boundary which will meet in the centre of a one project. The whole will result in a considerable diversion of water further bearings will probably be held in Sault Ste. Marie to enable any objections to the scheme to be heard. Clarence M. Brown of New York, representing the Michigan and Lake Superior Power Company, Thomas C. Brown of Toronto, representing the Algoma Steel Company, is championing its interests, while C. S. Innes, of Toronto, is Dominion counsel. The hearing will be continued this afternoon.

He was 55 years of age, and besides a widow is survived by two sons, Liam and Richard, and two daughters, Margaret and Mary. Mr. Sullivan had three brothers, two of whom are still living, only one of whom, John, in this city. His family have a large number of friends. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at half past two o'clock.

Joseph Cullinan.
On Sunday last, the 5th inst., J. Cullinan, a respected resident of St. John, Maine, died suddenly, after 46 years. Deceased was a native of Fairville, but had lived in St. John for the last twenty-four years, and was chiefly employed in the mill at Portage Lake. He had been usually kept up about two days before the end. On Sunday morning he was around as usual and had set to go upstairs. He had climbed stairs when he was apparently all right and fell headlong to the bottom of the flight. He was picked up and an inquest was held when it was found that the cause of the fall was a rupture of the aorta. He is survived by four sisters and two brothers, the latter being Mrs. John Bain of Fairville, and Mrs. E. A. F. of Fairville. Deceased was always a true and loyal citizen, and was a member of the St. John Protestant Episcopal Church. He was a merchant in Fairville, and a member of the St. John Protestant Episcopal Church. BIOGRAPHY OF CECIL RHODES WRITTEN BY HIS SECRETARY

History of Empire Builder, by Le Sueur, Just Published—He Liked Independence and Knew He was a Great Man—Compared to Napoleon.

In his lifetime Cecil Rhodes had no fewer than eight private secretaries, of whom two subsequently became his biographers, the second being Le Sueur, whose book on the great empire-builder has just been published. There can be no doubt that Rhodes was a hero to his secretaries, but his tremendous admiration for his employer does not prevent Mr. Le Sueur from giving us a very graphic picture of him. He paints his hero as Cromwell insisted upon being painted, "warts and all." He is not blind to his hero's weaknesses, nor was he blind to the fact that these blemishes were mere specks on a glowing sun. We get the idea that Rhodes' language was somewhat rough, on the falling frequently from his lips. Also he could get in a rage, but his temper was soon over, and when those under him grew to understand him they could take some amazing liberties at times. He Liked Independence. For instance, Jack Grimmer, the favorite of his secretaries, was esteemed by Rhodes for his independence, and for his self-possession in the most trying circumstances. He was in fact Rhodes' "Man Friday." On one occasion, Grimmer was reading a paper, and Rhodes asked him to take some letters. Grimmer turned his newspaper over and continued reading, with the remark, "Let Le Sueur take them; he's doing nothing," and Rhodes then called upon Le Sueur. On another occasion, when Rhodes asked Grimmer what he thought of Plato, for whom he had a great reverence, Grimmer answered frankly, "A lot of damned rot." Once he discharged both Grimmer and Le Sueur, but they turned up confidentially after having spent a holiday hunting, and Rhodes seemed glad to have them back, and laughed as heartily as they over the incident that had led to the tempest. There was something Napoleonic about the man. He was incapable of smallness in any way, and when he was in the wrong he would hasten to apologize. Even when he was in the right and had a difference with friends he would go more than half way to effect a reconciliation.

Napoleon, Bismarck, Clive. Rhodes was not only a great man, but he knew he was a great man, and did not mind discussing the matter when he had a congenial audience. He could be easily flattered, but he spread with Caesar or Napoleon, and in a certain London set he did not object to being spoken of as "the Emperor." His own idea was that he looked more like the Emperor Hadrian than any other hero of antiquity, but some of those who knew him well thought that he resembled Bismarck greatly, and also that he had many points of strong resemblance to Napoleon. Another critic says that he was more like Clive than any of them. Rhodes would never permit anyone to take a picture of his profile. He insisted upon looking straight into the camera. Yet he disliked display. On one occasion, when the Sultan of Turkey had expressed a desire to see him, Rhodes refused to go unless he could appear in his overcoat, which was against all the tradition of the Turkish court. However, the Sultan's curiosity was so great that Rhodes was permitted to appear, overcoat and all.

God and the Flag. In the society of other great men he was not abashed. We are told that when he was talking to the Kaiser he suddenly rose, held out his hand and explained, "I had a business engagement, quite ignoring the privilege of royalty in intimating when an interview was at hand, that it was of my own creation," he used to say often; "creative genius, that's what I've got. It's a great thing to have." He used to speak of having created the mountain view behind Grotto Schuur, by cutting away the thick bush that hid it or even of having created Grotto Schuur itself as a pleasure resort for the public. He had a sincere belief in God, though most people would never have thought that religion troubled him much. He used to say that a man did not believe in a Supreme Being was no better than a dog. He was indifferent whether a man was a Christian, a Mohammedan or a Buddhist, as long as he believed in a God. His love for the British flag was another very strong passion with him. Speaking to a group of men in his chair with a grim smile, he said: "Oh, I can see you getting into a hell of a mess," then he said: "It's perfectly clear," or "Don't you see, etc.," and proceed to point out the lion in the path and the way to evade him. Here is a little account of a sample directors' meeting and the way in which it would work out as Rhodes desired: He would walk in late to a meeting of the "Beers" directors, and he could be easily flattered, but he spread with Caesar or Napoleon, and in a certain London set he did not object to being spoken of as "the Emperor." His own idea was that he looked more like the Emperor Hadrian than any other hero of antiquity, but some of those who knew him well thought that he resembled Bismarck greatly, and also that he had many points of strong resemblance to Napoleon. Another critic says that he was more like Clive than any of them. Rhodes would never permit anyone to take a picture of his profile. He insisted upon looking straight into the camera. Yet he disliked display. On one occasion, when the Sultan of Turkey had expressed a desire to see him, Rhodes refused to go unless he could appear in his overcoat, which was against all the tradition of the Turkish court. However, the Sultan's curiosity was so great that Rhodes was permitted to appear, overcoat and all.

COUNTY ELECTIONS DOWN FOR TUESDAY

Contests Expected in Woodstock and other Parishes — Judge Carleton Gives Important Decision

Woodstock, Oct. 7.—The election for county councillors will be held on Tuesday. Nominations of candidates were filed with the respective parish clerks last night. The following is all the information available at the present writing: Woodstock town, Coun. H. D. Stevens, H. E. Burt and H. E. Galtzger, by acclamation. Northampton, Coun. Phillips and Gibson, by acclamation; Wilmet Anderson and H. P. Carvell, new men, by acclamation. Richmond, Coun. Fleming and Bell, unopposed. It is thought that there will be contests in Aberdeen, Brighton, Kent, Peel, Simonds, Wakefield, Wicklow and Woodstock parishes, but nothing has been received here from the parish clerks. Judge Carleton gave his decision today in the suit of the town against the Misses Sherrard for four years' taxes amounting to some $560. In favor of the town for the full amount. These ladies owned much property in Bloomfield, Carleton county, which they converted in cash and mortgages and removed to town where they have been boarding in a hotel. The decision of the Judge bears out the argument that personal property follows the person irrespective of the place where the money is invested.

SCENES OF CHILDHOOD.

Here's the place, the same old meadow— Why it hasn't changed a bit!— With the tumble-down old stile, Where the children used to sit, There's the row of stately willows Winding down beside the stream— Which we fondly called a "river"— On whose banks we used to dream. Let's walk onward, down toward it, For it hasn't changed, I'll swear, Spite of all these years—why, look you! There are the children bathing there. What d'you say? It's much too shallow? Pr'aps it would be when you're grown. But we had the finest gambols In that pool 'e've ever known. There's no greater fascination Than to visit, as a man, All the sweet, familiar places Where your lease of life began. Here's a dear old shady willow; Let us rest; I'd like to sit Here and dream—as I was wont to— Don't disturb me for a bit.

CARLOADS OF POTATOES TO THE STATES

Carleton County Farmers Taking Advantage of New American Tariff—Heavy Shipments from Hartland

Special to The Standard. Hartland, N. B., Oct. 7.—The potatoes are king in Carleton County today. Previous to this week the principal markets were in Toronto and Montreal. Now that the new U. S. tariff has gone into effect shippers are looking to the larger field. As an example of this forty-eight hours after President Wilson had signed the new tariff, Hatfield and Scott of this place, shipped fifteen carloads to New York and followed it up today with ten more for the same market. The price to the farmer here has not risen above one dollar but today every road leading into Hartland was alive with teams loaded with tubers, Irish Cobblers and Green Mountains are the varieties most in demand. The report that Rev. G. A. Ross, of Florenceville was ill with typhoid fever was in error. Two of the daughters of the reverend gentleman, the victims of the disease and Miss Phillips, a trained nurse, went up yesterday to care for them. The report that Mrs. C. E. Boyer had died in the General Public Hospital at St. John was also in error. She was brought here on Tuesday's express and taken to Windsor for burial tomorrow. Rev. Mr. Giberson attending to the obsequies. The deceased was 62 years of age and leaves besides her husband four children the youngest of whom is only 5 days old. She was the daughter of Montague Shaw and her husband is a son of T. O. Boyer, formerly of this place.

WRITERS TO STANDARD HAS PLEN TO REFORM SENATE

Would Make it Judicial Institution Above Prejudice and Strife of Party Fighting, and Improve Competency of Red Chamber.

Editor of The Standard:— Sir: I submit for the consideration of the public a scheme of so changing the constitution of the Senate as to invest it as far as possible of the character, real or imputed, of a judicial body, or any reasonable suspicion of such a character. It is desirable that the people should regard the Senate as a sort of judicial institution, above the prejudice, strife and violence of party, and not one to be made use of as part of the political machinery, effectual in proportion to the length of time each party has been in power, for the purpose of obstructing for mere party ends, government measures approved of by the people's direct representatives. My scheme might receive the support of the Senate itself, since it will not interfere with the tenure of the seat of any present Senator, or the rights, privileges and dignities of the Senate or its members, but provides simply for an addition to their numbers of men necessarily of high qualifications, whom they would surely welcome as laymen. 1. Every retired Judge of the Supreme or Exchequer Court of Canada, or of any of the Superior Courts of any province or territory of Canada, or any of the Superior Courts of any province or territory of Canada, or any chief officer by whatever name or title designated, who is the actual head or chief ruler of any chartered university in Canada, not being a priest, clerk in Holy Orders, or other minister of religion, so long as he holds such office and continues to be a layman. 2. The president of the Royal Society of Canada for the time being, subject to the same conditions as in the last preceding sub-section expressed. 3. The Mayor for the time being of the city of Ottawa, and of the capital city or seat of government of every province or territory of the Dominion. 4. The Mayor, or other chief executive officer, by whatever title designated, of any rural or part of rural and partly urban county, union or counties, municipal district or other territory, united and organized for separate municipal government, and containing a population of 75,000 or upward, provided such chief executive officer is elected either by the people of such city or municipality or the council or other governing body thereof, and is not appointed by the Governor in Council. Of course the legislation to accomplish this would be required from the Imperial Parliament. In case of a deadlock between the two houses against a joint session should be provided for, and a vote of the two houses sitting together should decide. The members of the Lower House would, under these conditions, have the satisfaction of knowing that their legislative work was revised by a body at least as competent as themselves.

CONSTITUTION.

Amapolis, N. S., Oct. 7th, 1913. The members of the Lower House would, under these conditions, have the satisfaction of knowing that their legislative work was revised by a body at least as competent as themselves. Amapolis, N. S., Oct. 7th, 1913.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" makes upset stomachs feel fine in five minutes. Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt, if you're gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

EXPERT TO STUDY DREADED DISEASE

Dr. Louis Westenia Sambon, of London, Investigating Cases of Pellegra, in West Indies. Colon, Oct. 7.—A study of the disease of pellegra in the West Indies is to be made by the British expert, Dr. Louis Westenia Sambon, of the London School of Tropical Medicine, who left here for Trinidad today, accompanied by Captain Joseph F. Siler, United States army medical corps, and A. H. Jennings, chief of the bureau of entomology at Washington. During his sojourn on the Isthmus Dr. Sambon kept in close touch with Col. William C. Gorges and found that fully 50 cases of pellegra had occurred on the Isthmus within the past three years, mostly among natives of Barbados and Jamaica.

CLOSING LETTER ON MONTREAL EXCHANGE

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
 Montreal, Oct. 7.—The feature of today's local market was the selling of Brazilian. The stock opened at 90 as against 91 1/2 at yesterday's close and on transactions of over 1500 shares declined to 89 1/2. It is understood that Brazilian has a number of serious financial problems to solve and that its commercial and financial situation at the present time is unsatisfactory. Up to the present, however, the earnings of Brazilian Traction, Light, Heat and Power Company have shown steady increases and it is expected that the company will continue to issue favorable statements. It is reported also that a powerful syndicate composed of financiers in London and Toronto has been operating to buy the stock up to par but that all the way up from 95 a considerable number of selling orders had to be encountered and the plans could not be carried out. Dominion Steel Corporation continued to sag, opening at 45 1/4 and selling down to 45. A director of the Corporation stated today that the earnings of the Steel Company would be adversely affected by the changes in the American tariff, but that the Steel Company was in profit by the article which permits free importation of bituminous coal into the United States. Tariff talk had no effect on Scotia, the stock selling at 80. Montreal Power Rights were inactive, selling around 10 1/8. In certain local circles the opinion prevails that local traders as also a number of the large holders of Montreal Power have been the principal sellers of rights in connection with the new issue. Fully two-thirds of the buying of the stock has been by one local firm and it is said to have been acting for its London correspondent. C. P. R. showed improvement, selling at 233 1/2. The tone of the market for this stock has been distinctly more cheerful since the optimistic statement issued at the annual meeting by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. Toronto Railway which made a show of strength towards the end of last week was selling today at 142 to 141 1/2, closing at the low. It is generally believed that the city will purchase the street railway but that the negotiations are likely to be difficult and prolonged. Cement Common was rather better today opening at 34 as against 33 1/2 at the close yesterday and sold up to 34 1/2. The strength in this issue has been one of the most noteworthy features of the local market for two months. The preferred was unchanged at 93 1/2. Ogilvie was strong at 120 1/2 to 120. The annual meeting of the company will be held tomorrow and the street is confident that a favorable report will be issued. (F. B. McCURDY & CO.)

NEWS SUMMARY AFFECTING MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
 New York, Oct. 7.—London reports continental selling of stocks. A Mexican loan is reported from Paris. China is recognized by the powers. It is estimated that the Balkan war cost $1,300,000,000. Scheduled for today, include government weekly weather report, Congress reconvenes at Washington, Union Pacific executive meeting, N. Y. clearing house annual meeting, Northern Pacific annual meeting, Lamar hearing in New York; Atchafalca directors meeting; Westinghouse air brake annual meeting; St. Louis and Southwestern annual meeting. Irregularity may be expected again in the stock market. We think it will become oversold in a few more drives, and suggest covering and going long for a turn. Pressure continues on Steel, and the Industrials generally, except Coppers, which may rally on the copper report Wednesday. Union Pacific and Amalgamated are reported in shape to lead a rally. (F. B. BUSINESS WAS VIRTUALLY AT STANDSTILL IN MARKET

New York, Oct. 7.—Stocks rose slightly in the early trading today, with the best showing of strength by Reading, Canadian Pacific, Can. and Amalgamated Copper. In the second hour, the market fell back again, and business virtually ceased. Prices were on a dead level until shortly before the close, when there was another small upturn. Final changes among the leading stocks were unimportant. Tobacco issues were exceptionally weak. The significant feature of the day was the cessation of the liquidation in Iron and Steel stocks, which had driven them down for several days. It was the opinion of some traders that the selling of these stocks, particularly United States Steel had been overdone, and covering by shorts was the main factor in the morning advance. Profits on the short side as a result of the recent slump were extensive enough to induce retirement of short contracts, and bear traders found little difficulty in covering. Aside from the demand from this source, bidding for stocks was small and after the covering movement ceased the market was allowed to take care of itself. In the afternoon trading was on the smallest scale of many weeks, between one and two o'clock only 7,000 shares changed hands. Traders took more interest in baseball than in the stock market, and when the championship game began crowds around the news tickers which reported the game were larger than those about most of the trading posts on the floor of the exchange. The firmer tone of American stocks in London influenced the opening here. London reversed its position in this market, purchasing 15,000 shares, approximately the number it disposed of here yesterday. Hardening money rates tended to restrict speculation. Time money rates were advanced for the short period. Call loans were renewed at four per cent, nearly one per cent above yesterday's general rate, although call money did not rise above 4 per cent, whereas five per cent was quoted for loans yesterday. Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $1,274,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE CLOSING STOCK LETTER FROM RANDOLPH

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
 Chicago, Oct. 7.—Wheat—A heavy tone has prevailed since the opening, prices holding within a narrow range. There is some pressure from hedging sales by northwestern interests but bears show more disposition to cover than of force matters at this level. Corn—Slightly easier, commission houses have done most of the selling while the leading bid interests bought a little. Look for a two-sided market around this level at the moment. Oats—Followed other grains, easing off after a small rally. (A. O. SLAGHTER & CO.)

CLOSING LETTER ON COTTON MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
 New York, Oct. 7.—The market has been unsettled. Liverpool was lower than due the weather may failed to show the low temperatures that had been privately predicted yesterday for the southwest and the local opening was easy at a decline of 13 to 21 points. Covering by recent sellers, trading buyings and indications for unsettled weather with lower temperatures in the south caused a rally of 8 or 9 points right after the call, but prices quickly weakened again under continued liquidation and realising and active months sold 24 to 25 points net lower during the early afternoon. This represented a decline of 57 points from the recent high records on December contracts and the market later steadied on recovering and reports that spinners had been good buyers on the early setback. The undertone, however, continued nervous and the tendency toward a revision of crop estimates was accelerated to some extent by the report of a local house claiming a yield of 14,550,000 bales including linters should there be an average frost date. (W. W. PRICE)

NEWSPAPERS ON THE MARKET SITUATION.
 (F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
 New York, Oct. 7.—Commercial—Despite the increasing pessimism (there are some brokers who can see the silver lining).
 Herald—The present price of Steel would appear to fully discount a period of slackness in the industry.
 American—Bankers are universally conservative with a growing tendency to hoard gold.
 Sun—Announcement that the administration would devote the regular session to the industrial trust question has an unsettling influence on sentiment.

BIG GAME IS PLENTY IN SOMALILAND
 Lion, Leopard and Blac Rhinoceros Plentiful—Much Danger Hunting any one Could Desire.

The recent news from Somaliland has had for the big game hunter special interest, for it tells us of a question of the moment as to how that country, hitherto one of the most attractive hunting grounds remaining to the sportsman who seeks big game will be open to travel in the coming months. There are several reasons why Somaliland, under the name of the application, and without special reference to the confined area on the line over which the British protectorate is exercised, should possess peculiar attractions for the mighty hunter. Exploration and the consequent commercial exploitation of the country is more recent, and the game is more in its prime. In most of the parts of Africa, and vast tracts remain in their almost virgin state, a game of various sorts is present in fusion. The spice of danger to the ways is advanced. The development of the rifle and the gun, the facilities for transit have combined in recent years to increase the number of those who follow this fascinating form of sport; but concurrently have conspired to hasten the day when it will scarcely be possible to find any big game left to hunt. Indeed, common knowledge, and the intimation that the sport is now difficult and more costly than ever has been. Vast regions, however, still to be found, the frontiers have as yet barely touched the hit to centre, but he was left at first when Baker fled out to Burns.

The more adventurous, and the more wealthy, will of course, the remoter haunts, remoter, in the sense of greater inaccessibility, and thus it is that Somaliland British East Africa is long regarded as the most desirable of big game expeditions. more than elsewhere the kind beasts is to be found in the most diverse antelopes of several varieties of the larger inclined to be savage, abundant; elephants are to be seen in the most of the mountains; hyenas and other small variety of carnivora, all affording export with fully as much of the threat of danger to the most sportsman can desire. Somaliland has been described as "a place of sand and scrub stones," it is in fact, a vast plain with an average elevation of feet, the portion comprised within British protectorate being a mountainous in comparison with extensive plains of the interior. greater part of the country is either with a thick growth of grass commonly with thick thorn or jungle, among which rise occasional isolated trees. The conditions of lion shooting in Africa vary with the locality. On the open plain of Somaliland may be stalked on foot, hidden on horseback or driven into the bush where the usual procedure is to sit up at night, bait or "kill" inside a circle of bushes. As aiming in these stances is a matter of difficulty, the up-to-date hunter. When shelter in detached patches of the quarry may be driven by dogs, or as a last resource it may be set on fire, the sportsman previously concealed down wind. When emboldened by hunger generally at night, lions in this way fearlessly attack human as that narrated recently by Bruce, who accompanied her husband, Surgeon General Sir David Bruce, his sleeping sickness commission, Nyassaland. Lady Bruce stated she and a companion were pastured from one station to the next when they met a lion. The lion gazed at them for some moments in surprise, then turned and stalked away. The black rhinoceros is still plentiful in equatorial Africa and frequently met with in Somaliland. It will charge with little or no occasion, it does so blindly and uncaringly, its sense of smell ordinarily acute and it is a still more difficult to stalk by once it is almost invariably found in the "rhinoceros birds," warn it of danger. Elephants are becoming exterminated by the ivory white and colored, notwithstanding the attempts made to enforce protective measures. The ornate variety of antelope with long like horns, is a particularly tomer to tackle when, as frequently happens, it turns its pursuers and charges; lion has been known to see it in this life of the world, but may be set on fire, the sportsman unless he is prepared for a able expenditure.

When New York came to bat there was much cheering, but the shouts of the Giants' supporters did not last long. Shafer, the first to face the Chief, sent up a fly to Murphy in right field and Doyle fled out to Strunk. Fletcher sent a grounder past short.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON

On the first ball pitched Fletcher tried to steal, but Schang's beautiful throw to Collins beat him and the side was out.

Second Inning.

The American league champions went out in order in the second inning. McInnis, some of whose Massachusetts friends cheered him as he came to bat, went out, Herzog to Merkle. Strunk, usually a weak hitter against left-handed pitchers, struck out, and Barry was the third out on a grounder, Fletcher to Merkle.

Third Inning.

Connie Mack's young catcher opened the Athletics' third by flying out to Burns. Bender sent a lazy grounder to Fletcher and the chief was out at first. Murphy got a single to centre, but was forced by Oldring, Fletcher making the out unassisted.

Fourth Inning.

New York having the "edge" on Philadelphia, put the crowd in good humor. The Athletics simply gritted their teeth and went after Marquard. They shelled the outer works of the Giants, and when the smoke cleared away three runs were across the plate. Collins opened up on the left hander with a terrific drive over Shafer's head. The ball rolled to the centre field stands and Collins drew up at third amid the plaudits of the Athletics' "rooters." Baker took a hard one at Doyle which the latter could not handle in time to get him at first, and Collins raced home with the first run for Philadelphia. McInnis sacrificed, Marquard to Merkle, and Baker took second. Strunk sent a little grounder to Marquard, who headed off Baker at third, Herzog taking the throw. Then Barry, the lightest hitter of the Athletics infield, ripped a two-bagger down the left field foul line which placed Strunk on third. Both of them scored on Schang's tremendous three-base drive to deep centre.

Fifth Inning.

The Philadelphia players threw up sweaters and bats in the air and otherwise showed their pleasure in drawing two runs ahead of their rivals. Bender ended the inning, going out Marquard to Merkle.

New York opened its fourth inning auspiciously, Burns slamming a double down the left field line, but he was run down when Bender stopped Herzog's grounder. Bender threw to Baker, who touched Herzog out near second base. Herzog, in the meantime, had sprinted to second base, where he was left as Murray struck out and Meyers sent a high fly to Oldring.

Sixth Inning.

Pitcher Crandall relieved Marquard in the sixth inning and easily disposed of the Philadelphia. Strunk fled to Shafer and Barry did likewise. Schang went out on a fly to Burns. Crandall was cheered as he walked to the bench. New York went out in one, two three order in its half of the sixth. Murray was out, Collins to McInnis, and Meyers was thrown out by Bender. With two out and the count three and two for Merkle, the latter made a half swing at a low and wild pitch. Schang dropped the ball, Merkle touched him with the ball, and then rolled the ball to the pitcher's box. Merkle went to first base and seeing the ball roll past the pitcher's box started for second. Collins got the ball, relayed it to McInnis and Collins tried to get back to first. McInnis touched him with the ball, and Merkle was declared out by Umpire Egan, ending the inning.

Seventh Inning.

Crandall again had the Athletics tied up in the seventh inning. Bender

It appeared as if Shafer had misjudged the ball. He started in then stopping and the ball struck the fingers of his left hand and rolled on toward the centre field stand.

U.N.B. FOOTBALL PLAYERS HERE ON SATURDAY

Nearly thirty football enthusiasts turned out to the practice of the St. John Athletic Club on the Marathon grounds yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, when for fully an hour and a half the boys worked hard and showed every evidence of rounding into shape. Several of the oldtimers who were on the sidelines stated that it has been five years since such interest has been taken in football.

On the grounds yesterday afternoon scrum work, passing and running were engaged in before the usual practice match was played. The team, while not heavy, is fact and well trained, and should put up a hard fight on Saturday.

Another practice will be held on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when the captain and vice captain will be chosen. The game on Saturday will be the first of the season and should be attended by all lovers of clean sport.

SPORTOGRAPHY "GRAVY"

Cornelius McGillicuddy's aggregation of baseball talent, now entered in the race for the world's championship, is not the first to bear the name of Philadelphia Athletics. In fact, it is the ancient history of baseball, "before de wab," a bunch of whickered Philadelphia chaps in citizens' clothing, disported themselves on a diamond and made the name of Athletics famous. By 1866 they had become so strong that they played all the leading clubs of the East and went through the season with only two defeats. The Brooklyn Athletics were the chief competitors of the Athletics, and in October of 1866 a game was arranged to decide the supremacy. The pastime was staged in Philadelphia, and nearly 40,000 fans, the biggest crowd in baseball history up to that time, gathered about the diamond. Only one inning was played, when the spectators pushed out upon the field in such a compact mass that further play was impossible. The game was postponed to a date later in the month, and, in order to keep the crowd down, an admission fee of a dollar per head was charged. Over 2,000 fans paid the price to see the contest, which at first, Eddie Murphy drew a base on balls, and the inning closed when he tried to steal second and was out, Meyers to Doyle.

Philadelphia Won First Professional League Pennant.

Philadelphia won the pennant in the National Association of Baseball Clubs. The Athletics were the pennant winners, winning twenty-two games and losing seven. Boston was second in the standing of National league clubs at the close of the season of 1913.

New York, Oct. 6.—Secretary John A. Herdier tonight gave out the official standing of National league clubs at the close of the season of 1913.

It follows:

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
New York	81	51	61.4
Philadelphia	88	63	58.3
Chicago	88	65	57.5
Pittsburg	78	71	52.3
Boston	69	82	45.7
Brooklyn	65	84	43.6
Cincinnati	64	89	41.8
St. Louis	51	99	34.0

ON GIANT'S FOUR PITCHERS

(By Hugh Jennings, Manager of the Detroit Team.)

New York, Oct. 6.—With the possible exception of Fred Snodgrass, the Giants are in good condition, and if McGraw's quartet of brilliant pitchers are capable of withstanding the cyclone attack of the Athletics sluggers then the National League champions have more than an even chance of becoming the baseball champions of the world.

But Mathewson, Marquard, Tarsau and Demaree must be at their best. The "Little Napoleon's" "Big Four" must check the Athletics right off the reel; for once Mack's combination of hitters began to solve the pitcher, they never stop until they have beaten him to a frazzle.

If "Tilly" Shafer is shifted to centre and Charles Lincoln Herzog squares the station left vacant by Shafer, it will not injure the chances of the Giants winning the championship. Shafer is a speedy player and a good judge of fly balls.

On the other hand, Herzog was the sensation of last year's big series, and I don't see any reason why he should not give a good account of himself against the Athletics. Every one last year picked Larry Gardner of the Red Sox to outplay and outlast Herzog, but the Giants third baseman surprised the Boston fans with his great playing and his timely hitting.

New York fans need not worry about Larry Doyle. Doyle will be one of the players whom the Athletics will have to beat for the big end of the purse.

McGraw's team has been criticized many times this season for its weak hitting, and for this reason the Athletics have been made the favorites outside of New York city. The persons who find fault with the Giants fall to give them credit for winning the National League pennant with only one man in the 300 class.

The Giants are considered weak hitters, but they are the greatest scoring machine in the National League. The "Little Napoleon's" method of handling his players, their speed on the path and their timely hitting have been responsible for the Giants winning the majority of games, and in 1912 the Quaker City had two titles in the association, the Athletics and the Philadelphia. The best and longest professional contests up to that time were played by these two clubs when the Philadelphia defeated the Athletics 5 to 4 in a thirteen inning game, and the Philadelphia beat the Athletics 3 to 2 in fourteen innings. In tomorrow's paper the further history of the old Athletics will be taken up.

St. John County Hospital

Tenders for Building Future—Plan to Erect Street Railway to L...

Most of the business before the Board of the county council yesterday was of a routine nature. The St. John County Hospital commission reported that they would shortly tender for putting up a building on Merritt street. A position, asked that negotiations be opened with view to having the street railway run down to Little River was approved. Council McLellan announced that he hoped to proceed with the erection of a morgue before long.

These present were Couns. Howarth, Smith, St. Martin, Carson, Stephens, Shillington, Simonds, Gold Long, Bryant, Lancaster, McLellan, St. John, Dean, Corcoran, and McInnis.

On recommendation of the Finance Committee the secretary was instructed to decline payment of any further expenses in connection with the V. R. Field trial, and to take up with the local government the question of paying the expenses placed upon the County of Sumbury.

The Finance Committee recommended that Dr. E. Berriman's account $154.50 as coroner, including a charge of $20 for hire of automobiles on view of the body of Miss Davis and two others drowned in Loch Lomond be paid. While admitting the fairness of the claim, the committee desired it to be understood that the payment thereof should not be considered as a precedent.

Recommendation was approved. Fees received for entrance permits into the Lancaster sewers will be paid in a separate account in the Budget of Nova Scotia.

It was decided to empower the rear of deeds to consolidate the index from book 103 to 123 inclusive, a cost of $65, the same to be completed about January, 1914.

To Call for Tenders.

The St. John County (Tuberculosis) Commission reported that arrangements had been made to proceed with the erection of the hospital on Merritt street, that plans and specifications had been prepared, and that tenders would be called for in a few days. The commission asked for advance of $200 and this was voted and charged to next year's assessment. Coun. McLellan pointed out that conditions of the proposed bond of $50,000 on account of the cost of the hospital had not been determined, and that the same should be moved to the next year's assessment, with interest at 4 1/2 p. c. payable half yearly at New York and Boston and this was adopted.

Improve Sewerage Extension

The following resolution was moved by Coun. Golding, seconded by Coun. Long:

"That the plan of the Lancaster sewerage extension as announced at a public meeting on Monday, October 7, 1913, be approved. GOVERNMENT INSPECTED ROUTINE BUSINESS YESTERDAY

St. John County Hospital Commission will Call for Tenders for Building on Merritt Street, in Near Future—Plan to Erect Morgue—Ask Extension of Street Railway to Little River.

Most of the business before the meeting of the council yesterday was of a routine nature. The St. John County Hospital Commission reported that they would shortly call for tenders for putting up a building on Merritt street.

Coun. McLellan announced that he hoped to proceed with the erection of a morgue before long.

Those present were Couns. Howard, Smith, St. Martins, Carson, Stephenson, Shillington, Simonds, Golding, Long, Bryant, Lancaster, McLellan, St. John, Dean, Corscadden, Musnash.

On recommendation of the Finance Committee the secretary was instructed to decline payment of any further expenses in connection with the Viola Reid trial, and to take up with the local government the question of having the expenses placed upon the County of Sanbury.

The Finance Committee recommended that Dr. E. Berryman's account of $154.50 as coroner, including a charge of $30 for hire of automobiles on view of the body of Miss Davis and two others drowned in Loch Lomond be paid.

Fees received for entrance permits into the Lancaster sewers will be placed in a separate account in the Bank of Nova Scotia.

It was decided to empower the registrar of deeds to consolidate the indexes from book 102 to 122 inclusive, at a cost of $55, the work to be completed about January, 1914.

To Call for Tenders. The St. John County (Tuberculosis) Commission reported that arrangements had been made to proceed with the erection of the hospital on Merritt street, that plans and specifications had been prepared, and that tenders would be called for in a short time.

The commission asked for an advance of $200 and this was voted, and charged to next year's assessment.

Coun. McLellan pointed out that the conditions of the proposed bond issue of $50,000 on account of the county hospital had not been determined.

He moved that the rate for forty years with interest at 4 1/2 per cent, payable half yearly at New York and Boston, and this was adopted.

Improve Sewerage Extension. The following resolution was moved by Coun. Golding, seconded by Coun. Long:

"That the plan of the Lancaster sewerage extension be amended as follows: By laying a new sewer from man hole No. 38 in Charlotte street extension across the rear of lots fronting on Lancaster Avenue owned by Daniel C. Clark, F. W. Henderson, John Ballie, Samuel H. Clark, J. Verrier Kierstead, Geo. E. Davies and Charles Morrison."

That the sewer of Lancaster Avenue from man hole No. 40 to man hole No. 42 be abandoned, and that the sewer in Window street extension be extended about $3,000 due to it in highway taxes, but it owed the men working on the roads over $1,000. He wanted authority to make an overdraft to pay wages.

Two-thirds of the uncollected taxes should be paid in before the end of the year.

Coun. McLellan said the council had no authority over the Highway Board. The secretary agreed with this and the matter was dropped.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or other children's ailments, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

A thorough "inside cleaning" is often all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

Have you heard about Pepp?

Pepp is a new scientific preparation put up into tablet or pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds and lung and throat troubles.

There is no connection between the lungs and the stomach.

Suppose something were wrong with your stomach—say indigestion, or ulceration—would you think of taking some medicine which went not to your stomach, but to your lungs? Certainly not!

Why then, when your lungs and chest are affected, should you do your stomach—absolutely separate organ—with medicine? Is it not far better to treat the ailing organ directly?

Pepp provides a direct treatment for coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all lung, chest and throat troubles. Pepp contains highly medicinal essence and pine extract.

STREET CAR CRASHES INTO RESTAURANT

Three Injured when Car 82 Dashed Down Mill Street, Struck Two Teams and Ended Career by Smashing Front of Harding's Restaurant.

A runaway street car charging down Mill street about half past five yesterday afternoon, smashed teams, severely injured Fred Morrel, Louis Brazer, William Higgins, slightly injured Motorman Howard Elliott, and then ran full tilt into Harding's restaurant at the corner of Mill and Main street, knocking out the front of the building, and only stopping at its mad career when it had penetrated almost two feet. Street car No. 82, driven by Motorman Howard Elliott with Conductor Thomas Cosgrove in charge, caused the commotion. It was well filled with passengers when it ran away, but luckily the passengers escaped without any injuries of consequence, though they were given a bad scare and a severe shaking up.

The car was proceeding to the North End by way of Mill street at a time when the traffic was much heavier than usual. As it started down hill just this side of the station the motorman put on the brakes, but just opposite Rankin's something gave out and the brakes stopped working. The car which had come over the hill at a good pace started downward at increasing speed, and the motorman finding that the brakes refused to work, called to the conductor, telling him of his trouble. At the same time the motorman tried to reverse the power, but for some reason the machinery did not work. The car continued to run down the hill at accelerating speed, and the conductor thinking that the motor power was not working right, pulled the trolley from the overhead wire.

This measure, however, had no effect. The car raced down hill, and ran into two horses and a driver on by Fred Morrel at the corner of Mill and Smythe street, wrecking the sloop and throwing Morrel to the street. The horses escaped without injury, but Morrel was badly cut about the head and legs.

The car swept on, in front of the L. C. R. station was the team of William Higgins. The runaway car smashed into his team before he knew what was coming. The horse was thrown down and Higgins, the driver, threw headlong into the street amidst the wreckage of his team, was also severely injured.

Still the car raced along, and the large number of people then thronging the sidewalks stopped to watch it in amazement. When it reached the corner of Main street, it jumped the curb and crashed into the front of the building.

The twenty prominent citizens selected to carry the message of St. John to the government left on the C. P. R. train last evening for Ottawa. They expect to meet members of the government today and put before them the protests of the people of St. John in the matter of the mail service steamers.

In the delegation were:—Mayor Frink, L. P. D. Tilley, M. L. A., Hon. John E. Wilson, M. L. A., J. M. Robinson, president of the Board of Trade, D. F. Pidgeon, Joseph A. Likely, Phillip Grannan, M. L. McCafferty, John Keanee and A. D. Holyoke, of Woodstock.

In reply to a message President J. M. Robinson, of the Board of Trade, Trade, St. John, N. B.: "Prime Minister and I can meet you tomorrow afternoon at his office. Will let you know hour later on."

It was learned yesterday morning that the people of Fredericton, Woodstock and Sussex were in sympathy with the attitude taken by the St. John Board of Trade, and a long distance telephone message to President Robinson, of the Board of Trade, assured him that a delegation from the Fredericton Board of Trade would meet the St. John men and accompany them to Ottawa. It has been suggested that the hands of the delegation can be materially strengthened if citizens who are unable to accompany them to Ottawa would wire their support so that the telegrams may be read at the conference with Hon. Messrs. Hasen and Borden on Wednesday.
