BLOCKED IN EFFORT TO DISCREDIT MRS. THAW

Jerome Tries in Vain to Introduce Evidence to Prove Her Story False

Calls Ten Witnesses But They Are Not Allowed to Give Any Damaging Testimony—District Attorney During Argument Gets Before Jury the Matter He Wanted Them to Hear—May Prove an Alibi for Stanford White.

New York, March 11—On the first day of the state's case in rebuttal to the trial of Harry K. Thaw, District Attorney Jerome today came to a temporary standstill against the practically solid wall of the evidence built around the story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. Mr. Jerome began to attack the story as soon as court opened this morning. There ensued a well-nigh ceaseless battle between the prosecutor and Delphin M. Delmas, the leading counsel for the defense, at the end of which Justice Fitzgerald upheld the rule laid down at the beginning of the trial—that young Mrs. Thaw's story was admissible only as tending to show the effect it might have had in unbalancing the defendant's mind and that its truth or falsity is not material.

Mr. Jerome tried to avoid this rule by declaring he was endeavoring merely to show by inference—by circumstantial evidence as to facts and details in the story—that Mrs. Thaw could not possibly have told the story to her husband. Although the rule will doubtless be blocked by the same rule when the time comes, it is said the district-attorney may attempt in the same way to prove an alibi for Stanford White on the night he is alleged to have murdered young Miss Nesbit.

Jerome Got His Story Before Jury

Nine-tenths of today's sessions were spent in argument and in nearly every instance when the smoke of conflict cleared away, Mr. Delmas, formerly an attorney at law, while Mr. Jerome, in the very argument itself, had got before the jury a perfect knowledge as to what his witnesses would have testified to had they been permitted. The district-attorney called ten witnesses during the day, but aside from drawing from the state's eyes-witnesses to the tragedy the opinion that Thaw secured national notoriety, he shot and killed Stanford White, little real headway was made.

Quebec to Impose Heavy Taxes on All Corporations

Montreal, March 11—Important taxes on express companies, sleeping cars, insurance companies and telephone companies are included in resolutions brought down today in the legislative assembly at Quebec by Provincial Treasurer Tessier. The list is a long one and includes among other things that every company, firm, association, etc., leasing or hiring sleeping cars or parlor cars, or whose sleeping cars or parlor cars run upon the line or are used by a railway company or companies in the province, shall pay an annual tax of one-third of one per cent. upon the capital of the company invested in cars or rolling stock used by it in the province and an additional tax of $50 for every office or place of business in Montreal and Quebec, and $20 for each office in any other place.

Ontario to Increase Grant to Salvationists

Toronto, March 11—(Special)—The Ontario government has decided to give the Salvation Army a $3,000 increase in grant for their extra work this season in immigration and colonization. The former grant was $7,000, which will be increased to $10,000. Premier Whitney forecasted the increase at Massey Hall on Sunday.

Thomas Cullen Froze to Death While on His Way Home

Took Lonely Road

Victim Was Returning to South Branch, Kent Co., from Nova Scotia Lumber Camp When He Succumbed—His Parent Perished About a Year Ago.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Reaton, N. B., March 11—Thomas Cullen, of South Branch, was found frozen to death on the road between St. Anne and South Branch Friday morning about a half mile above Simon Basterache's house.

He was returning from the lumber woods in Nova Scotia and was walking from Basterache on a road through the woods, which is seldom traveled. He was about thirty years of age and leaves a wife and family. There were sixty dollars found in his pocket and a valise by his side.

It is a strange coincidence that the mother of deceased was found frozen to death on a road near the home at South Branch about a year ago.

Slick Woman Made Two Good Hauls

Got $3,000 from a Colorado Farmer, Who Had Her Arrested—Married Him and Got $3,000 More and Skipped.

Chicago, March 11—Mrs. Sophie Wambaugh, formerly Sophie Finlen, of Denver, (Colo.), who was married in court last Friday, after she had been arraigned on the charge of obtaining $3,000 from her prospective husband, William Wambaugh, disappeared today after obtaining more than $3,000 from her husband.

Wambaugh reported to the police that he had gone to a department store with his wife and said that he entered a room to buy a pair of trousers he had purchased. His wife induced him to give her all the money he had, about $3,000, before entering the room and said that she would wait until he came out. He searched the store for an hour and then reported the matter to the police.

Wambaugh told the police today that he had spent more than $6,000 on his wife since he met her in Denver a week ago. This amount includes the $3,000 she obtained from him today. When asked by the police why he gave her such a large sum, he replied: "Well, she said she wanted to buy a hat."

Knoxville, Tenn., Knocks Out Saloons

Almost 2,000 Majority for Prohibition—Women and Children Throng the Streets Convancing.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 11—Knoxville, by a majority of nearly 2,000 votes, decided today that the saloons must go. Under a state law granting incorporated cities the right to say whether or not they desire saloons, an election was held as an expression of sentiment. The result was a majority of 1,921 for prohibition.

When the legislature reconvenes following a recess, a bill will be introduced abolishing the present charter and incorporating the city without saloons. Six months' notice will be given the saloons in which to close.

Today's election was featured by memorable scenes. Five thousand women and children paraded the streets before the polls opened, and all during the day women worked at the polling places, requesting the men to cast their ballots for the temperance cause.

Shafer Defeats Sutton

Chicago, March 11—(Special)—Shafer, of Chicago, tonight won the world's championship at 151 pounds from George Sutton in the 24th boxing. Shafer's average was 22-2-3.

Quiet Election at Fredericton

Only Two Ward Contests, and Alderman Maxwell Defeated

Tannery Strike

Eighty-five Employees of John Palmer Company Want More Wages, Which is Refused—Chairman of Sewerage Committee Says Town Was Not Fairly Treated.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Fredericton, N. B., March 11—The civic election which took place here today was one of the quietest in the history of the city. There were contests in only two of the five wards, and less than two thirds of the qualified voters took the trouble of going to the polls.

Mr. Oliver answering Mr. Smith, Nanaimo, read a letter from Thomas Howell, secretary of the union for the Salvation Army, stating that occasionally they brought mechanics to this country who were willing to give up their trades to go farming. The Salvation Army had the good of the trade unions at heart and would not permit their immigrants to go there where they were wanted.

The house then went into committee on Mr. Bennett's labor disputes bill. An amendment was made providing that no one who had any direct pecuniary interest could be a member of the board.

Want "Lockout" Defined

To the clause defining "lockouts" Mr. Conroy suggested that the clause be amended as a basis of lockout the lowering of wages or an increase in the hours of labor.

The minister insisted that the object sought by Mr. Conroy was used in a subsequent provision for procedure before an investigation board, and finally conveyed an impression of willingness to broaden the clause in the interest of the men, as Mr. Conroy's amendment would provide for a reference made to the board.

Another amendment provides that any party to a reference may be represented by three or less persons, and by counsel or solicitor as hereinafter provided. Originally it was intended that the board should be excluded from the proceedings before the board.

The clauses providing for the signature of applications as a condition of the investigation board, were amended to provide that if made by employees who are members of a trades union, application should be signed by two of the authorized officers of the union or on a resolution taken by ballot, and approved by a majority of the members of the union.

The minister announced that he had decided to drop the clause to provide that the government in council might specify certain industries as coming under the provisions of the act. He denied that the clause had been devised to give the government power to investigate the business of private concerns, but that it was rather to meet the case of strikes and lockouts which might be properly held to come within the meaning of the bill.

There would be a broad treaty, say in Ottawa, as there had been an ice trust in New York, and in the event of a strike the private trade, if it might be well that the government have power to declare it a public utility. But the clause had been opposed, inside and out, and he was not prepared to entertain a tyrannical view of the power of government. Therefore it was dropped.

Railway Men Given a Choice

Mr. Lemieux in reply to the protest of railway men who objected to their coming under the bill, amended it by providing that all railway disputes that come under the railway disputes act, would not come under the present bill. In other words the railway brotherhood could not come under this bill. But they had to choose the one or the other.

As Mr. Lemieux put it, the people had rights which were paramount to individual interests. Mr. Hall, and the brotherhood who were behind him, held that the railway disputes bill was a good one and that they wanted to remain under it. The amendment would permit this, while those who preferred the Lemieux disputes bill could come under it. The words of the amendment would have an investigation before a strike. That would be insisted upon, and the railway brotherhood would have to choose between a strike and an investigation before a strike.

A New Comet Discovered

Cambridge, Mass., March 11—The discovery of a new comet was announced today in a cablegram received at the Harvard observatory from Prof. Kreutz, at Kiel, Germany, the discoverer being Giacobini at Nice. The position of the comet at the time of its discovery, March 9, 1904, Greenwich mean time, was right ascension 7 hours, 4 minutes, 31.4 seconds, and declination south 13 degrees 21 minutes, 12 seconds.

Railway Men Putting Up a Stiff Fight Against Clause That Will Prevent Them Striking Before Investigation—No Debate on Insurance Report This Session.

Ottawa, March 11—Hon. W. S. Fielding stated in the house today that the probability was that the insurance commission's report would not be discussed this session. The question was too large to be taken up at this stage, still he would not like to speak definitely on the latter.

Mr. Oliver answering Mr. Smith, Nanaimo, read a letter from Thomas Howell, secretary of the union for the Salvation Army, stating that occasionally they brought mechanics to this country who were willing to give up their trades to go farming. The Salvation Army had the good of the trade unions at heart and would not permit their immigrants to go there where they were wanted.

Maine Fish Hatchery Burned; Two Men Missing

One Body Visible in Ruins, But the Heat Prevents Its Removal

Much Mystery Surrounds Fire as They Were Consumed in Broad Daylight, and Superintendent and Assistant Were Seen a Few Minutes Before the Flames Broke Out—A Trunk Saved, But Who Took it Out Puzzles Authorities.

Greenville Me., March 11—Suspecting that one and possibly two state employes had been murdered, Piscataquis county officials tonight were investigating the fire which totally destroyed the state fish hatchery at Squaw Brook, forty miles above here on Moosehead Lake today.

When Greenville people who discovered the fire and went to investigate it, arrived on the scene they were surprised to find that Supt. A. W. Wilkins and his assistant Arthur Hersey were missing, and no one was at the place. Soon they distinguished in the ruins of the living cottage a form which they believed to be that of either the superintendent or his helper. The embers were too hot to permit of a thorough examination late this afternoon, but only one body was to be seen.

Deputy Sheriff H. L. Sawyer, of Greenville, assumed charge of an inquiry and word was sent to the office of the state fish and game commissioners at Augusta, from which General Supt. W. E. Berry was expected to arrive here tonight.

The fire broke out about 9 o'clock this forenoon and consumed the dwelling house, stable and hatchery building, the three structures of which the station was composed. The loss was estimated at $5,000 and there is an insurance of $2,000. The station was established in 1902 and will be rebuilt immediately. It contained a large stock of fish fry.

Supt. Wilkins belongs at Winthrop, where his wife and daughter live, is about sixty years old and has been in charge of Squaw Brook hatchery since last spring. He formerly was located at the Monmouth hatchery. He went to Squaw Brook last fall. The hatchery was located near the point where the brook empties into the southerly side of Moosehead lake.

Pictures Canadian Farmers as No Better Than Slave Drivers

English Woman at Poor Guardians' Meeting Protests at Sending Children to This Country.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Montreal, March 11—A special London cable says: Mrs. Garnett, a member of the Charities board of guardians, in protesting against the proposal to send several children to Canada, characterized Canadian farmers as no better than slave drivers.

A Skivington declared that the content of the children was a mere farce as they were misled by unreliable parties of the country and its possibilities drawn up by paid agents of Canadian railways. The board decided not to send the children.

The Manchester Guardian commenting on this action regrets that a strong protest did not meet with the success it merited.

Heavy Tax in Alberta on Public Service Corporations

Edmonton, March 8—The Alberta Legislature yesterday passed Premier Rutledge's bill for the purpose of raising corporations.

The street railways will pay $200 per annum, $10 per mile for everything over twenty miles.

Electric lights $500 in cities of ten thousand people, $100 in towns, and $25 in villages.

Express companies pay $500.

Corporations taking money on deposit pay $200.

Banks pay $400 for head office and $200 per branch.

Private banks pay $200 and $25 for branch.

Insurance companies pay one per cent. of gross premiums.

The bill has passed through all the committee stages, and the coming law is now only a matter of formality.

Cape Breton Woman Found Husband Dead on Barn Floor

(Special to The Telegraph.)
North Sydney, March 11—Alexander McLeau, of Bonaventure east, died very suddenly this morning. Shortly after arising he left his house and went to the stable, about 100 yards distant, to feed and water the stock, leaving his wife to prepare breakfast. After some time Mrs. McLeau went to the stable to see what was detaining him, and on entering the door she found her husband lying on the floor dead, with a pitchfork with which he was about to gather hay for the cattle, still in his hand. Death is believed to have been due to heart disease.

Stmr. Minto Still Stuck in the Ice with 100 Passengers

It is Rumored She is Short of Provisions—The Stanley in the Same Fix—Smallpox Under Control at Charlottetown.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Charlottetown, P. E. I., March 11—Steamship Minto is still stuck in the ice in the straits of Carillon, where she has been for the past week, and while the wind still is east there is little hope of her release.

It is rumored that the ship is getting short of provisions, as she has 100 passengers besides her crew. The Stanley is also stuck a little outside of Georgetown, which port she left this morning for Pictou.

There is nothing new in the smallpox situation. There has been no change in the disease, and the outbreak is under control and is likely soon to be over. There is only one mild case in Charlottetown, which is almost recovered.

Adams Express Driver Charged with Enormous Thefts

New York, March 11—When City Magistrate Whitman heard the story of several detectives today, he held William Leonard, twenty years old, a driver formerly employed by the Adams Express Company, in $100,000 bail. The detectives arraigned Leonard on a short affidavit, but they told the court that when they had made a complete search of the Adams express company officials declare thousands of dollars worth of goods had been stolen from them. The method of operation was to collect merchandise from the shipmen and then deliver it to a confederate.

GOOD FOR YOUR COLD.

A noted specialist in throat and lung trouble, who established a camp for consumptives in the pine woods of Maine, and whose remarkable cures there have attracted great attention from the medical world, says that one-half ounce of the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, mixed with two ounces of glycerine and one-half pint of good Whisky, used in teaspoonful doses every four hours, will heal and strengthen the lungs, break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost.

Inquiry at the prescription department of leading local druggists elicited the information that the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine is put up only in half-ounce and one-ounce dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in round wooden case, with engraved wrapper showing the name—The Pure Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act of June 30th, 1906, serial number 451 prepared only by Dr. J. C. McLeod, of Windsor, Ontario, plainly printed on thereon. Only the cheaper Oils are sold in bulk, but these are of doubtful quality and never effect the desired results.

G. W. FOWLER THE STAR WITNESS

Testifies at Toronto Yesterday in Case of Ryan Against Bank

MADE NICE PROFIT

Declares He Bought the Account of Plaintiff to Protect His Own Interests—On One Deal He Cleared $55,000, But Union Trust Company Furnished the Money.

Toronto, March 8.—Private letters written by George W. Fowler, M. P., to his solicitor, J. D. Montgomery, produced something like a sensation in the non-jury asizes before Justice Clute this afternoon...

Mr. Fowler was the principal witness in the case of Peter Ryan against the Bank of Montreal and Montgomery. The reason for his being called was that he became interested in certain alleged securities held by the bank for Ryan...

Mr. Fowler pointed out, when he took the stand, that the Bank of Montreal had certain claims against the Ashcroft Water and Electric Company, and that in purchasing the collateral given by Ryan to the bank he did so in order to protect his own interests...

"The bank held certain collateral of Ryan's, among which there were some of the Ashcroft Company, some of which had been used and judgment entered. That meant, as I was informed by Ryan, that the bank went to execution on the assets held by the bank. I felt I must take over the claim against the Ashcroft Company in order to protect my interests."

"The situation was that the Bank of Montreal was proceeding to sell the property which had been bought from Ryan and I felt I must take over the claim against the Ashcroft Company in order to protect my interests."

"I did not want to lose my money; all I wanted was a title to the property held in the name of the Ashcroft Company."

"ELIJAH" DOWIE

DIED SATURDAY; A WONDERFUL CAREER

Chicago, March 9.—John Alexander Dowie died at 7.40 this morning at Shiloh House, Zion City. There were present, besides the doctor, Judge D. W. Barnes and two personal attendants. It was said that Dowie's custom to hold religious services every Sunday afternoon in the parlour of Shiloh House, about 350 of his original followers attended these services. Dowie always wore his apostolic robes and made a characteristic address. Several weeks ago these meetings ceased and Dowie appeared no longer in public. The Sunday meetings were, however, held by his adherents. Since that time Dowie had been gradually failing. Friday afternoon, however, there were no indications of approaching death. His condition seemed to be about the same as for the last two or three weeks.

Shortly before one o'clock this morning Dowie became delirious and his talk was the same as at a religious meeting in the days of his prime. He denounced with the old-time vigor, ordered the guards to throw out disturbers and acted just as he had on many previous occasions. He gradually became weaker and the attendant telephoned for Judge Barnes, who reached Shiloh House at 7 a. m. forty minutes later. Dowie died. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

John Alexander Dowie was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, May 23, 1847. In 1861 his parents removed to Adelaide, Australia, where for several years the youth was clerk in a business office. Dowie developed a strong commercial instinct that served him so well later in life. He saved enough money during this period to return to Edinburgh at the age of twenty, to study law. He became a member of the Scotch bar, and was called to the bar in 1870. He became a master in theology and arts. He became a member of the Glasgow and Edinburgh bar, and was called to the bar in 1870. He became a member of the Glasgow and Edinburgh bar, and was called to the bar in 1870.

THE SUNDAY LAW

Lord's Day Alliance Summary of "New Brunswick Gains" Under New Act.

In the annual report of A. H. Hannington, president, and N. McLaughlin, secretary of the N. B. Lord's Day Alliance, is given what is stated in the report as "some New Brunswick gains in the Lord's Day Act of Canada," as follows:

1. It is not possible to specify these gains with perfect confidence because the antipathy of the business community is couched in uncertain terms such as "gaming," "sporting" and "servile labor."

2. We are no longer compelled to punish the poor employe who has been obliged to work unlawfully on Sunday or risk losing his bread and butter. The employe is now liable as well as the employe and to much heavier penalties. The workman who violates the law exposes himself to a penalty of from $1 to $40. The employe who requires this fine is liable for from $20 to $100, while corporations as such are made subject to the new law and the penalty to which they are liable varies from $50 to $500.

3. The publication, sale, distribution and importation of newspapers on Sunday is absolutely prohibited. Not more than the actual printing work included in the law. All varieties of the business of amusements, e. g., theatricals, races, sports, contests, games, concerts, etc., are forbidden, while, in addition, the old law prohibiting of playings, whether for gain or not, is conserved in terms of Section 14 of the new law.

4. All excursions for hire and with the object of pleasure are prohibited on the Lord's Day by "any mode of conveyance."

Clancy of the Overflow

[This poem, which appeared originally, we believe, unsigned, in an Australian paper, was widely quoted at the time by the Australian and English press, and is deserving of preservation. It is the work of a young man, Clancy of the Overflow, who has set up a free Christian tabernacle and organized a divine healing association of which he became president and gained fame during 1896. Dowie, however, had been in England, where his association had branches. Dowie landed in San Francisco in 1888. He needed $200 and had just sold his wife he had asked for and the amount in his hand. This was the starting point in his wonderful morning getting years of wandering. He met the Californian coast, Dowie, his wife, his son, Alexander John Gladstone Dowie, and his daughter, Ethel, arrived in Chicago. The next five years Dowie spent in Chicago, at least 100 times for violating ordinances relating to the care of the sick, but he continued to prosper. In February a hospital for the healing of the sick was built in Chicago, and a college for the training of missionaries was organized, a printing press in operation, and a bank was also started. The Christian Catholic church in Zion City was formally organized in February, 1896. Dowie became an overseas. Four years afterwards Dowie, in the auditorium Theatre, announced that he was Elijah, the Restorer, spoken of in Malachi.]

Affecting Upper St. John Lumbering. It is reported from Augusta (Me.) that bills before the Maine legislature to amend the charter of the Pond Silver Beach Company and the Madawaska Log Driving Company have been withdrawn. J. W. Pond, the river driver, opposed the bills and it is said an agreement has been reached by the conflicting interests and the draft of a new bill has been prepared for the incorporation of "The Upper St. John River Driving & Improvement Company," to be given power to make important improvements in the conditions of the straitening holding and driving ways, erecting dams, and in various other ways, endeavoring to make the business of log driving less risky. This bill was favorably reported on by the judiciary committee, which report was accepted by the legislature.

SEND FOR THE DOCTOR, YOU'D BETTER BE SURE THAN SORRY

Better Stand the Expense Than Take the Risk—A Summary of Dr. George W. Gay's Popular Address Before the Harvard Medical School and the Public—Trifling Things That May Be Most Prolific in Serious Disease—How Anti-Toxin Has Reduced the Death Rate in Diphtheria.

(By John Ritchie, Jr., in Boston Transcript.) Under the title "Under What Circumstances Should You Send for the Doctor," George W. Gay, M. D., has recently delivered a lecture which is full of advice from the professional point of view. The lecture is one that was presented at the present season in the Harvard Medical School. In reply to the question Dr. Gay divides mankind into two varieties, first, the smaller group that sends for the physician when anything is the matter and second, the much larger class that waits for him when it wants him. In the long run the former class will be the safer, have less trouble and much less cause for regret. Too often it is that in a case of mildness of symptoms, many persons assume the responsibility of making the diagnosis, directing the treatment or trusting to nature, for the first few days of the illness, the very time in which intelligent, skilful aid may do the most good. In many acute affections the first few days are of supreme importance and in not a few instances the results depend upon the course of treatment during that period. "If our watch is out of order," said Dr. Gay, "we do not wait for it to right itself, nor do we ask our neighbor what to do. We take it to one who devotes his entire attention to sick watches and leave it in his hands with the expectation that the best thing possible will be done. This human machine of ours is infinitely more complicated than any of man's devices can possibly be, and it seems worthy of at least equal consideration, but unfortunately it does not always receive it." Dr. Gray passed next to the consideration of the part which drugs play in therapeutics. In modern treatments of disease medicine is frequently of secondary importance. Regimen and regime are the important elements. The time has passed when prescriptions must be given in every ailment. "I dressed his wounds and God healed them," is more and more true in modern therapeutics. Yet although the physicians give medicine less frequently there is doubtless more medicine consumed that ever before. Domestic and friendly dosing was never so popular as it is today and the amount of neighborly, kindly, but ignorant and irresponsible medical advice that is so freely circulated and the actual harm that it does is not realized by any save the physicians. The majority of people do not realize that what seem to them to be similar symptoms may really mean entirely different conditions, and hence call for very different management. The ensuing delay frequently means needless suffering and at times real danger to the patient, for in certain affections hours count for or against him and the first day offers more chance for efficient relief than any subsequent period. It is true that na-danger to other members of the household. Previous to 1885 diphtheria was one of our most fatal diseases. In some of the epidemics nearly half the patients were lost. During the past ten years the mortality has been reduced to less than ten per cent. That this figure is so high even now is due to the fact of neglect during the early stages of the disease, the City Hospital figures showing that excluding those who were clearly hopeless on entering the hospital the mortality has been only about six per cent. Practically no one need die of this disease, if so situated as to receive prompt and efficient attention. This is shown by the fact that during the past ten years 240 cases of diphtheria have occurred among the doctors and attendants at the City Hospital. Every one received antitoxin treatment within the first 24 hours and every one recovered. "For many years," continued Dr. Gay, "I have told the students of this (Harvard) medical school that they are not fit to practice medicine until they are able and willing to use antitoxin freely and fearlessly in the treatment of diphtheria. "I make no apology," he asserted, "for declaring here and now that the physician who withholds this agent from diphtheric patients is either too prejudiced or too ignorant to be a safe counsellor in these cases, and is therefore unworthy of public confidence. "Pain, wherever located is one of nature's most common signs. Abdominal pain is of especial importance. It may be the initial symptom of any one of a host of affections, most of which are serious. Fits or convulsions in children always mean something, sometimes a condition that in adults is represented by a chill. Either one may be passed by the time the physician arrives, but it is important for him to attend to determine if possible the cause of the disturbance and to take measures to avoid its recurrence. Chills indicate at all events a profound disturbance of the nervous system. Pneumonia and pleurisy and other diseases begin with a chill. Always treat a chill with respect and consideration. With reference to the common cold, Dr. Gay has no contention with those who prefer domestic to scientific treatment. He does insist, however, that it is important to know that the trouble is not incipient pneumonia, pleurisy, or bronchitis. A person in the vicinity of fifty years of age may notice an unusual shortness of breath on going up stairs, walking against the wind or running for a car. He thinks he is feeling his age, the sooner he consults a physician who will put him on a careful regimen and simple treatment the sooner he will be relieved of his uncomfortable symptoms and the longer will his failing heart continue to do his work satisfactorily. A cough may mean much or little. If persistent, find out the cause. A slight cough in the morning may be an early symptom of consumption. This is no longer an incurable disease, but it is impossible to insist too strongly upon the importance of the earliest recognition of its presence. A prick of the finger or a scratch are common accidents and are usually simple affairs. Occasionally these wounds become infected by some of the virulent bacteria and result in blood poisoning. The time to call the surgeon is when these slight wounds begin to throb with pain and be uncomfortable. Any localized infection such as a pimple, boil or felon, which interferes with sleep demands surgical inspection to avert future disaster. Tumors, swellings and unnatural growths of whatever description should receive intelligent attention so soon as they are discovered. First for the mental effect, for such things worry and depress the individual, and second for physical considerations. Cancer in its earliest stages probably may be permanently cured. Too often it passes this time before being brought to the notice of the surgeon. At all events the earlier these affections are submitted to the expert the better are the chances for relief. The advice often given, "to wait and see if it grows," is not wise, since the period may pass during which permanent cure is possible. Never temporize with a tumor until you have ascertained its probable character from an authority. Never delude yourself with the idea that tumors will disappear spontaneously or that they can be rubbed away. Go at once to a reliable surgeon. If it is benign and will do no harm, let it alone. If the contrary, no time has been lost and no unnecessary anxiety endured. The latter portion of Dr. Gay's lecture concerned itself with eruptive ailments, noting the origin and disastrous results of carelessness at the beginning of some of our recent epidemics. In 1883 a Pullman car conductor with the smallpox entered the hospital at Montreal. Through lack of precautions the disease was spread and more than 3,000 persons died and there was enormous financial loss. In our own city in 1872-3 more than 1,000 deaths were reported from the same disease. Ignorance, prejudice and politics played an important part in permitting the spread of the disease. When the board of health was created it had the epidemic almost instantly under control. Epidemics of this disease are always preventable and the community that suffers from them has only itself to blame. The agency of the mosquito in scattering disease germs formed the concluding paragraph, in which there was sketched the story of the discovery of the malarial mosquito and its relative whose product is yellow fever. The history of the latter, was given together with the death of Dr. Lazzar, a martyr to the cause and the heroic experiments of Dr. Carroll and the two private soldiers from Ohio who exposed themselves to the dangers of the disease in the interests of science. The battle was won, the disease is now possible for its destruction and for guarding against its attacks has placed yellow fever fairly under control. It is no longer a menace for its victims of a few years ago, numbering its victims by the thousands.

LONDON YOUNG MAN KILLED HIS FATHER Daniel McPherson Struck Parent, Who Had Been Drinking, and He Died Instantly.

London, Ont., March 10.—Daniel McPherson, aged fifty-five years, is dead at his home, Wellington street, and his son, Daniel, aged twenty-two, may have to answer a serious charge. The son states that his father had been addicted to drink, and when he came home he found the old man sitting in a chair, at 3 o'clock in the morning in a state of stupor. "I took my coat off, intending to help father to his room, and he struck me with stick of wood. I think he intended to hit me in the face, but I drew back and he struck me in the chest. I was annoyed, and I struck back. I think I hit him twice. Father fell back against the wall and doubled up. I called my brother John to come and help lift father up, but when John came he said he was afraid it was all up with him, and he died then and there. An investigation is being held.

"PUSHER" ROUTE ACROSS NEW BRUNSWICK CHOSEN Ottawa, March 10.—Although it may not be officially announced for a few days, the government has approved of the route of the transcontinental in New Brunswick. It has been decided to adopt one of the two centre routes. Three routes were surveyed, one is the St. John valley route and the other two through the centre of the province from Chipman to Grand Falls. One of the centre routes is called the standard route because of its having the standard grade. It is twenty-nine miles shorter than the valley route. The other centre route is called the "Pusher" route because it will require a pusher for some seventeen miles. It is forty-two miles shorter than the valley route, and will cost a good deal less for construction than the standard route. The route therefore, which has been adopted is the "Pusher" route. The pusher will be required for west bound traffic.

"Well, that's all settled then, isn't it? What more do you want?" I stood undecided.

Against one of them was a wreck, not so very old, head on, her afterworks gone. I recognized the name Golden Horn, and was vastly astonished to find her here against this unknown island.

merely to examine the texture of their marvellous colour. This was at once varied and of great body—not at all like the smooth, glossed colour of most rock, but soft and rich.

"Here we will build the stockade," Darrow and I stared at each other blankly. "What for, sir?" inquired the assistant.
