"ANZAC" SOON TO BE WRITTEN IN STORY OF FIGHTING IN FRANCE

Antipodean Troops Arrive and Take Over Portion of Line

FRENCH REPULSE FRESH ATTACK

New Drive on Verdun Halted on Slopes of Hill 304 Where Germans Claim 1300 Prisoners—Belgian Batteries Check Offensive on Coast

London, May 8, 8.15 p. m.—Australian and New Zealand troops have arrived in France, and have taken over a portion of the front, it was announced in an official statement tonight.

St. Etienne Under Fire

London, May 8, 12.30 a. m.—The British official statement on the campaign in France reads:

"There was some activity last (Sunday) night at various points. East of Thiéval wood the enemy, after a heavy bombardment, entered our trenches, causing some casualties before he was driven out. The enemy lost some dead in our trenches, and one prisoner. "North of Thiéval wood we raided the enemy's trenches successfully, driving the occupants into dugouts, which were effectively bombed. New French lines were successful. Our troops entered well-occupied enemy trenches and captured considerable quantities of small arms, machine guns, and other material. The fighting was carried out by troops of our Royal Welsh Fusiliers and Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

Fresh Attack on Verdun Repulsed

Paris, May 8.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads:

"On the left bank of the Meuse the bombardment continued with the same violence against the front of the German line. The attack on Hill 304, which was a whole region of Hill 304, was the result of a heavy bombardment of the afternoon against our positions at Hill 304, which was stopped by our machine guns and the fire of our machine guns.

German Version of Battle

Berlin, May 8.—(By wireless to Sydney.)—In the recent fighting on the Verdun front the Germans captured an entire system of trenches on the northern slope of Hill 304, the war office announced today. The statement follows:

"Western front. The operations west of the Meuse (Verdun) during recent days have been carried out principally by brave Pomeranian troops. They attacked by great difficulties, but with withstanding the defence and furious counter-attacks of the enemy, the Germans took an entire system of trenches on the northern slope of Hill 304. The German lines reached the top of the hill. The enemy suffered extraordinary heavy losses, so that only forty wounded were left. Attacks by the enemy on our positions on the western slope of the hill were repulsed everywhere with heavy losses.

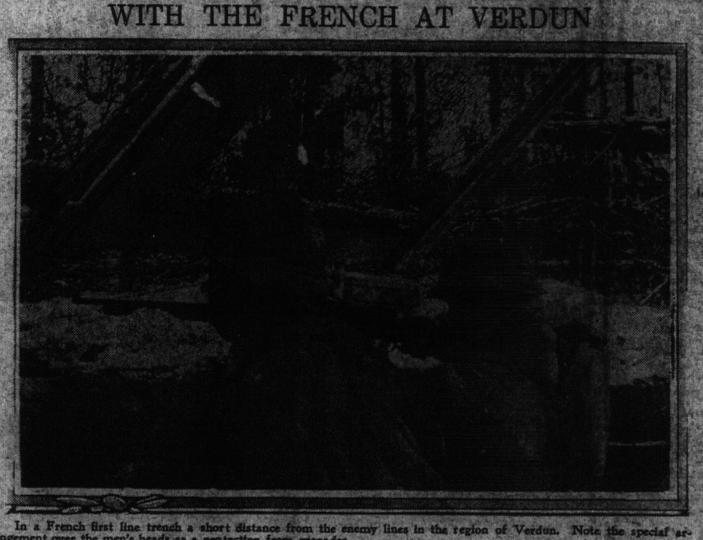

"East of the Meuse, on both sides of Thiéval farm, there was bitter fighting. The enemy, along with other troops, employed negroes in the fighting east of the farm. The attack broke down, and 800 men were made prisoners. In the engagements mentioned fresh French troops were recognized.

"On the Meuse sector the enemy had employed fifty-one divisions, including divisions which were used a second time being brought up to full strength. This means fully twice the forces put in action by the Germans, who are making the attack.

"On the remainder of the front there were no important developments, aside from successful enterprises carried out by patrols in the district of Thiéval and Troy.

"After a battle in the air two French biplanes which were over Cote de Froideville fell to earth in flames.

There are about 12,000 men in a division, so that, according to the German statement, the French have employed more than 600,000 men in the battle of Verdun. It has been generally considered that the number of troops used by the Germans is about 1,000,000.

WILSON'S NOTE IS BRIEF AND POINTED

"Scrupulous Execution of Altered Policy" Only Thing to Preserve Friendly Relations—No Dicking with Regard to Britain's Conduct of Blockades

Washington, May 8.—In one of the shortest diplomatic notes on record, President Wilson today dispatched to Berlin an acceptance of the recent German offer to confine submarine warfare to belligerents. Continuation of diplomatic relations between Germany and the United States, President Wilson said in clear, is contingent upon a "scrupulous execution of the new altered policy of the imperial government."

Following is the text of the note: "The note of the imperial government, Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs: "The note of the imperial government, under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted, as indicating the purpose of the imperial German government as to the future, that it is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operation of the war, for the rest of its duration, to the fighting forces of the belligerents and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the government of the United States has insisted.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on Feb. 4, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives of friendship in its patient efforts to bring to an amicable settlement the critical questions arising from that policy.

"Accepting the imperial government's declaration of its abandonment of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations between the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous execution of the altered policy of the imperial government, such as will remove the principal danger to an interruption of the good relations existing between the United States and Germany.

"The hope that the note might end the discussion regarding the conduct of submarine warfare tonight was entertained by some officials and by persons in close touch with affairs at the German embassy. Should this prove true, no more ships carrying American citizens being sunk in violation of the principles of international law, the way would be cleared for removal of negotiations for settlement of the Lusitania, Arcturion, Sussex and other pending cases growing out of illegal submarine attacks.

"In other official quarters, however, apparently was uncertainty regarding the result which the note might have. A new crisis it was pointed out, would arise, should Germany make a rejoinder to the communication and indicate that its new policy is contingent upon the United States making certain demands upon Great Britain.

New Orders Issued?

London, May 7.—The German government has already issued new orders to the commanders of German submarines, in accordance with the concessions set forth in the reply to the American note, according to the Daily Telegraph's Berlin correspondent.

RUSSIANS SEEKING TO CUT OFF TURKS IN BAGDAD ARMIES

With Melting of Winter Snows Grand Duke's Campaign Beginning to Develop

ADVANCE HAS REACHED MESOPOTAMIAN BORDERS

Turks in Armenia Making Last Stand at Erzincan and Balbur, But Lose First Line Trenches Before Weight of Russian Attack

Petrograd, May 8, 12.30 p. m., via London, 5.15 p. m.—With the melting snows no longer delaying the descent of the Russian Caucasus armies from the high Armenian plateau into the valleys of Asia Minor, where the Turks, having gathered all available reinforcements, are ready at least to make a determined stand, the campaign in Asia Minor has reached a most interesting and possibly a decisive stage.

"The descent of the Russian westward toward Erzincan has thus far proved the most difficult of all the Russian lines of advance. Here, until the last few days, the winter snows still held, and this, added to other hazards, accounted for the descent from a table land averaging a mile above sea level, this made satisfactory progress impossible. To the southwest in Mesopotamia, however, owing to the fact that the season is advanced here, the descent has been easier, and the Turks south of Bitlis are being driven from a series of fortified positions, hotly pursued by Cossacks, who have proved themselves masters of this sort of warfare.

Sentence Carried Out But Commuted in Case of Nineteen Others

Redmond's Plea for Mercy Has Not Fallen on Unwilling Ears, Says Premier Asquith, as Regards Rank and File

London, May 8.—Four more of the leaders in the Irish revolt have been sentenced to death by the Dublin court martial, and executed, according to an official statement issued tonight. They were Cornelius Colbert, Edmund Kent, Michael Mallon and J. J. Henon.

Nineteen others concerned in the riot were sentenced to death but the sentence was commuted to various terms of penal servitude. Of three others prison terms were imposed. Two were acquitted.

Turkish Army Still in Field

It must be borne in mind, however, that despite the series of Turkish defeats, the main Turkish army is still virtually intact, since it wisely chose, in most cases, to retire without fighting, rather than risk being surrounded and cut off.

According to the line's officials the Cymric was in their service, denial being made that she had been taken over by the British government. She carried a general cargo, which according to the officials, did not include munitions of war, so far as they knew. The Cymric was not armed, they said. She was due in Liverpool today. No word had been received from the line's office in England that the vessel had met with mishap. The Cymric discontinued carrying passengers some time ago, it was stated here.

J. V. MacPherson, British vice-consul here in charge of shipping, said that as far as he knew there were no Americans among the crew.

Imperial Parliament For Daylight Saving Almost Unanimously

Clocks in Great Britain Going Ahead One Hour on May 20 As Important War Measure—Means Great Economy for Allies in Coal Supply

London, May 8, 4.05 p. m.—The house of commons today, after a short discussion, adopted the motion of Sir Henry Norman, favoring daylight saving. The vote was 170 to 2.

The government will introduce a bill immediately, and it, as seems virtually certain, it passes all stages this week, the daylight saving measure will go into effect Saturday, May 20, when at midnight, clocks will be advanced one hour.

Very little objection was raised against the motion, and what there was came mainly from those representing agricultural interests. Sir Henry Norman estimated that the economy in lighting alone would be 2,500,000 pounds yearly. Herbert L. Samuel, home secretary, on behalf of the government, said that under such a measure there would be an enormous saving of coal, which was greatly needed by the Entente Allies. Concerning the government's intentions in the matter, Mr. Samuel said it was deemed advisable to seek parliamentary sanction, rather than to proceed by an administrative order. The bill, he added, would be operative only for the duration of the war, so that afterward the question could be reconsidered in the light of experience. He suggested that the normal time be restored September 30.

GREENWICH HILL

Greenwich Hill, May 4—Harry Oliver had a narrow escape from drowning, only a few feet from the water, when he fell from a log in the river. Had it not been for the timely aid of Walter Weldon, who was working near at hand, he would have been drowned, as Mr. Oliver was unable to swim.

LANGEMARCK

This is the ballad of Langemarck. A story of glory and death. Of the vast Hun hosts, and Canada's part in the great grim fight.

It was April fair on the Flanders fields, But the dearest April then, That ever the years in their fateful flight, Had brought to this world of men.

North and east, a monster wall, The mighty Hun ranks lay, With fort on fort, and iron-ringed trench, grim and grey.

And south and west, like a serpent of fire, Serried the British lines, And in between, the dying and dead, And the hoarse, hoarse, hoarse, and the trampled mud.

On the fair, sweet Belgian fields, And far to the eastward, harnessed and baited, Like a monster free the vapour spread, In hideous, burning banks, Gleaming out of that ominous gloom, Old France's hosts were seen.

When out of the grim Hun lines, one night, There rolled a sinister smoke— A strange, weird cloud, like a pale green shroud, And dead lurked in its cloak.

On a head-land wind, it curled along, Over the brave French ranks, Like a monster free the vapour spread, In hideous, burning banks, Gleaming out of that ominous gloom, Old France's hosts were seen.

When out of the grim Hun lines, one night, There rolled a sinister smoke— A strange, weird cloud, like

SCARCITY OF SEAMEN FOR COASTWISE TRADE.

Schooners Finding it Difficult to Get Enough Men—Vessel Held Up Here Waiting for Crew.

This port, as every other port, is feeling the pinch because of the scarcity of seamen. Vessels were never better than at present, employers say, but still the situation is serious.

The schooner Atchargo, with a cargo of lumber for New York, but cannot get a crew to take her away and other vessels as well are on the lookout for men.

Along the New England coast the dearth of men is felt and the department of commerce at Washington is conducting an investigation into the matter.

One reason given for the small supply of seamen at Atlantic ports is the lack of attraction which the Great Lakes steamer wages on the lakes is larger than at the coast ports, to say nothing of the greater safety of inland navigation.

At a representative meeting in Fairville last night, it was decided to send a deputation to the county council this afternoon to ask for a by-law requiring private premises to be kept in a sanitary condition and penalizing anyone who throws paper in the street.

The various questions were discussed at length, and a decision was reached to send a deputation to the county council to ask for the enactment of the above mentioned by-law.

The following were appointed the committee: Rev. R. P. Hayward, Rev. W. M. Townsend, Rev. Gilbert Earle, W. Hayward, chairman, and W. E. Maynard, secretary.

When a date is fixed for holding "clean-up" days, sermons touching on the matter will be preached in all the churches of the town, and other methods will be used to promote success.

RUSSIANS SEEKING TO CUT OFF TURKS IN BAGDAD ARMIES

The Russians, after being held for some time, have again scored a success against the Turks defending the mountain passes between Kerind and Hamik, and having occupied Zarin-Kerind, are drawing nearer the Mesopotamian frontier.

The attainment of Hamik, it has been pointed out by military authorities here, would give the Russians access to the rear of the Turkish Bagdad army, the expected plan being for Russia to strike north of Bagdad in an effort to cut the railway and sever the only important line of communication over which the British supply the Bagdad region is being supplied.

The following official communication was issued today: "Our artillery caused a fire at Ilkhat, and prevented efforts by the Germans to extinguish it. An explosion followed in some of the German munitions deposits. At 1 o'clock yesterday morning, the Germans fired in gusts on the sector south of Ilkhat, and then attempted to take the offensive. Their attempts were without success."

The Germans also violently bombarded the sector north of Lake Isin, southwest of Dyrk. In the region south of Vlahnest, since the morning of the seventh, the Germans have been continually firing some times by gun fire, and other times by machine guns.

Two German aeroplanes threw eight bombs on the village of Lisachovitch. Northwest of Kremens we exploded a mine which destroyed an enemy mine gallery.

Galician front: South of Zebroff northwest of Ternopol, our men, crawling by way of a crater of a mine to reach the front, overpowered the enemy with grenades, driving him from his fortification works.

On the Black Sea yesterday the Turkish fleet, under the command of Eupatoris, an unfortified light station (in the Crimea north of Sebastopol). In the Caucasus region, in the direction of Luta, Suvaris, at the result of our fire, retreated, evacuating the whole of their line trenches.

Look well to the right of the horse's collar. Cut the long, rough hair on the neck to a smooth, even surface for the collar to rest upon. Each evening after the horse is washed, rub the neck with common air-dried lime lumps. Brush it out the next morning with a soft brush.
