Predictions at the Convention

The Ontario Conservative Convention

called by Sir Charles Tupper,

seems to have passed off pleasantly.

The meeting was held for organization,

and the defunct Conservative

Union of Ontario was revived. How different the gathering was from the great Liberal Convention, held at Ottawa. At that gathering, everything was open and above board. The speeches delivered could be reported in every daily paper of the land. But at the Toronto Conservative Convention, the utmost privacy was obtained, and no Liberal or Independent newspaper was permitted to have a representative within the tyled doors.

Sir Charles, as usual, indulged in prophecies. He expressed himself as certain that at the earliest opportunity he and his followers would simply overwhelm the new Government at Ottawa, as well as upset

every Provincial Liberal Government

in the Dominion.

Sir Charles Tupper has prophesied

before. He stood up in London, on the eve of last Dominion election, and asserted that he would sweep Canada from end to end. Election night

proved that he was not the swiftest

of the party. Then, before the new

Parliament met, he was confident that the Administration could not stand. Again, his prognostications were falsified, for the majority for the new Government showed an increase every time the House was divided.

The comfort which he derives from predicting brighter days to come can never be denied an Opposition leader; but it is one thing to prognosticate and another thing to realize, as

Sir Charles has before now found out.

An impression, indeed, is generally

prevailing among the non-official Conservatives that so long as Sir Charles Tupper remains at the head of their party, it is fated not to make much headway in the country.

Premier Greenway, of Manitoba,

has called a meeting of his Cabinet

for tomorrow. Then, it is believed,

the final touches on the Manitoba schools agreement will be put. This is well within the six months limit

from June 23.

England's New Primate

The man whom Lord Salisbury has delighted to honor by advancing him

to the see of Canterbury and primate

of all England is Frederick Temple,

a widely-known scholar and divine of the English establishment, now in the 75th year of his age. Dr. Frederick Temple was born Nov. 30, 1821. He graduated at Balliol College in 1842, succeeded Arnold as headmaster at Rugby in 1853, was made Bishop of Exeter by Gladstone in 1893, and in 1895 he became Bishop of London. His greatest reputation was made in 1860, when he gave to the world his essay on "The Education

the race was left to itself, to be guided by the teaching of the Spirit within. Rules, Examples, Principles; these are the three stages of progress alike in the individual and in the race; and the idea is beautifully wrought out by the essayist by illustrations drawn from the world's history.

Upon the study of the Bible Dr. Temple laid great stress in this essay, and the spirit in which he would study it pervades the whole of his life; it is seen as clearly in outline here as in the more elaborate exposition of the Hampton lectures a quarter of a century later in life. "The Bible from its very form is exactly adapted to our own present want. It is a history—even if the doctrinal parts of it are cast in a historical form, and are best studied by considering them as records of the time at which they were written, and as conveying to us the highest and greatest religious life of that time. Hence we use the Bible as some consciously, some unconsciously—not to override, but to evoke the voice of conscience. When conscience and the Bible appear to differ, the pious Christian immediately concludes that he has not really understood the Bible. Hence, too, while the interpretation of the Bible varies slightly from age to age, it varies always in one direction. The schoolmen found purgatory in it. Later students found enough to condemn Galileo. Not long ago, it would have been held to condemn geology; and there are still many who so interpret it. The current is all one way; it evidently points to the identification of the Bible with the voice of conscience." And the essayist goes on to say that the Bible by its form is so admirably adapted to our need that it wins from us all the reverence of a supreme authority and imposes no yoke of subjection.

"This it does by virtue of the principle of private judgment, which puts conscience between us and the Bible; making conscience the supreme interpreter, whom it may be a duty to enlighten, but whom it can never be a duty to disobey."

These were the views of 1860. In 1884 they were almost re-echoed in the conclusion of the argument, in the Hampton lectures. "It is distinctly the fault of religious, not of scientific men, that there was once a great contest between the Bible and Astronomy, that there has since been a great contest between the Bible and Geology, that there is still a great contest between the Bible and Evolution." In no one of these cases was the revelation contained in the Bible in danger, but only the interpretation commonly put on the Bible; and when men have to give up in such circumstances, they generally give up more than they need. The antagonism between science and religion arises mostly from a difference of spirit and temper in the students of each. "The man of science is inclined to shut out from consideration a whole body of evidence, the moral and spiritual; the believer is inclined to shut out the physical." The result of the conflict is, that it is the higher and not the lower that is likely to suffer; for physical evidence is tangible, while the spiritual is hid from eyes that have no spiritual perception. "Let a man put before him the Lord's commands." "Our Lord is the crown, nay, the very substance, of all revelation. If he cannot convince the soul, no other can."

It is to the man with this record and holding these views that Lord Salisbury has presented the greatest prize that can fall to the lot of a member of the State Church of England. Dr. Temple is certainly a great and worthy man, and possibly the prize could not in the present day go to a better or worthier.

The Dominion Premier will be entertained at a banquet by the citizens of Quebec tonight. Mr. Laurier grows in favor with the public of Canada the more they know of him.

Another Attack on the Queen's Representative.

At the Conservative convention in Toronto, Sir Charles Tupper is reported to have said:

"He had no hesitation in saying that if her Majesty were to adopt the course which was taken by the Governor-General in reference to the late Government, she would not be able to obtain the services of a single statesman in the whole of the United Kingdom who would undertake the responsibility of answering to Parliament for such an act. Sir Charles claimed that with the accession to office of the new Administration, all precedents had been brushed aside and the policy of introducing personal, instead of Parliamentary, government had been adopted."

The Conservative leader is very vainglorious now that Parliament is no longer in session. He had an opportunity to take the sense of the representatives of the Canadian people on the question of the Governor-General's treatment of the top-sag Government. But Sir Charles did not dare to divide the House in condemnation of his Excellency, or of the new Government, which, in accordance with constitutional usage, declared that Lord Aberdeen did quite right when he stood up for the liberties of the people when he trumped up by the moribund Administration.

All this outcry about the adoption of "personal" government, and this cool assumption by Sir Charles that the Government-General has not the indorsement of British statesmen, is wholly gratuitous on the part of Sir Charles Tupper. The defeated leader merely wishes to cover his retreat, from a position in which he was hopelessly beaten, by denunciation of her Majesty's representative, whose position does not permit him to continue the controversy.

When all is made known, however, it will be found that the course adopted by Lord Aberdeen has been unequivocally indorsed by the British authorities.

What can the old world statesmen think of these after-election lamentations of Sir Charles Tupper?

The succession duties on the estate left by the late Sir David Macpherson will amount to $22,000. None too much.

San Francisco, Oct. 28.—Owing to a court clerk's error the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, must pay Mrs. Nellie Phinney a judgment of $50,000 with interest and costs, making over $100,000. Such was the decision rendered by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in this city. The company refused to pay the life policy of Guy C. —Mrs. Foster, of Kent street, has just recovered from a serious attack of La Grippe. This is the second stage she has had of this influenza, the first of which attacked Mrs. Foster about three years ago, and left her with a very troublesome cough accompanied with chronic bronchitis, and a complication of other diseases which made it almost impossible for her to attend church without disturbing the congregation by coughing, and, indeed, Mrs. Foster assures us that she had been the victim of this very natural that under such circumstances numerous friends would recommend as many different "cure alls." She tried Cherry Pectoral, Tar, Linseed and other preparations, but was growing generally worse when a friend who had been benefited by Barkwell's Bronchial Balm advised her to try that, and in a few days she was out of bed, and the best feature is that she is now entirely freed from all symptoms of the Bronchitis, of which she never hoped to be cured. Mr. Millar, a neighbor, who had had the cough and was completely cured by the same preparation.

ROGERS KILLED HIMSELF.

The adjourned inquest into the cause of the death of Wm. Rogers, who was found dead in his house on Sunday, Oct. 12, was resumed at Belmont yesterday. After hearing the evidence, Dr. Sinclair and Kingston, E. Legg, George Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garton and James Legg, the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by his own hand while of unsound mind. There was nothing to substantiate the murder theory.

BABY BUGGIE BUNGLING.

About 5 o'clock last evening, when Dundas street was thronged with pedestrians, two ladies coming in opposite directions and pushing perambulators, halted in front of a millinery shop to admire the styles in the window. While they were thus engaged two more ladies came along, one from the east and one from the west. They met parallel with the other two, and halted, completely blocking the sidewalk. The ladies of the millinery shop, in conversation, and when business men came along they were forced to take the middle of the road, and endanger their "precious" lives by getting mixed up with a trolley car or a horse cart.

A 1900 QUESTION.

The question agitating the college boys who have entered this fall is, "What shall we call ourselves?" The freshmen of '96 will be graduated in 1900, and following a long-honored custom of dropping the first two initials of the year, the school will call themselves the class of '00. But that is naught-naught, and means nothing. It is not to be thought of, they say spitefully. Yet the long "1899" has a very odd sound, and besides will be very hard to contrive a yell for. Even the girls' colleges are fretting over the question but can see no way out of the dilemma except the use of the old date—1899. At least it will be a compensation for the awkward designation to be graduated in so remarkable a year as is 1900, when the worst of Sunday and became a terror to the community.

Toasts, songs and speeches were the order of the evening. All present united in wishing Mr. Bennett a safe return to Scotland, and future success in his business enterprises. After spending a most enjoyable evening the gathering separated at a seasonable hour.

DRESS GOODS

We have decided that not one of this season's imported dresses shall be carried over. We have, therefore, reduced the prices one half—just cut them in two to hurry them out. A special counter has been devoted to each of the special lots mentioned below.

AT $2

There is no occasion for us to enlarge on the individual merit of each dress on this counter. We are strictly within the bounds of truthfulness when we say there is not one but is all wool, double fold and worth double the money. Look at our west window—come inside and feel the quality. It's only when you examine them closely that their true worth is made known. 6 yards for $2.

AT $3

Not one in the lot less than 85c yard, and many were a dollar and a quarter—
—Plain Serges,
—Fancy Cheviots,
—Mohairs,
—Tweeds and
—Mohair Twills.

All wool, silk and wool, all colors, 45 inches wide. Your choice, 6 yards for $3.

AT $4

We invite those who pride themselves on being critics of dress goods values to come and see this lot. Come and tell us how they differ from dollar and a quarter goods elsewhere. We know, of course, that critics can always find fault. We haven't got them in every color, we know, but if you can show equal value in the city we'll withdraw all praises of them and shut them out from the advertising columns henceforward.

AT $5

Dangerous and Insane Freaks of Daniel Hedley.

Burnt Down the Glencoe Grand Stands—Attempted Train Wrecking—Brought to Jail Here.

Daniel Hedley, of Newbury, was a mild-mannered young man last week, but he took a sudden turn for the worse of Sunday and became a terror to the community.

His first pronounced act of insanity was to place a tie across the Grand Trunk rails at Newbury, but a freight shovelled the obstruction aside. Hedley then boarded a train for Glencoe in the afternoon. Arrived there, he walked straight to Recreation Park, where the race course is, and hid himself until it became dark. Then he built a quick fire under the grand stands, and jumping the fence, ran to the railway tracks to resume his train-wrecking. The stands were destroyed by the blaze.

It is charged that Hedley afterwards placed two ties and two steel rails on the Grand Trunk tracks at different places, between Glencoe and Newbury, but fortunately they were discovered by a section man or there might have been an accident.

Constable Logan, of the G. T. R., arrested Hedley in the vicinity of Newbury. Hedley had made no effort to escape, and rather boasted of his exploits. He told how he had ignited the grand stands, and with insane glee described the speed with which the flames devoured them. The prisoner was brought to the city by Mr. Logan and remanded to jail for eight days by Squire Smyth. Mr. George Doble, the owner of the grand stands, has laid two charges of arson against Hedley, and Detective Logan has preferred a charge of attempted train-wrecking.

Hedley is about 23 years of age, and lived with his relatives at Newbury.

Athletic, Musical and Literary Societies at the Western University.

Officers Elected—Friendly Rivalry—A Field Day to be Held.

The students of the Western University are paying proper attention to the social and athletic sides of college life, as was shown by two large meetings at the 'Varsity building last night.

Prof. Sykes presided at the meeting of the Athletic Association. A proposal to have a field day for various sports was favorably discussed, and the following committee appointed to arrange for it: Prof. Sykes (chairman), and Messrs. Purton, Westgate, Campbell, Seaborn, Howard and Smith.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Prof. Sykes; vice-president, Mr. Kalbfleisch; secretary-treasurer, Bart. Howard; executive, F. Aikens, F. G. Wade and R. Herbert. C. E. R. Westgate was elected captain of the football club; C. M. McLeay, vice-captain, and Messrs. Aikens, Smith and Purton assistant captains. The treasurer reported a balance of $3.18.

THE LITERARY SOCIETY.
Vice-President Kalbfleisch presided at the meeting of the Musical and Literary Society. The treasurer reported a balance of about $4. The following officers were elected by acclamation: Honorary president, Dr. Moorhouse; president, F. H. Parry; vice-president, Miss Blackburn. Nominations were made as follows: For secretary, E. B. Smith and R. Herbert; for treasurer, Miss Guest and Miss E. Burns; for musical director, Mr. Seaborn, Prof. Sykes and F. Fox.

There is some rivalry between the medical and the other departments for membership on the committees, and each side put a ticket in the field. The arts and divinity candidates for the musical committee are G. Ahey and Miss B. Hodge; the medical nominees, Messrs. Chappell, Arnt and McKechnie. The arts and divinity nominees for the literary committee were: R. Herbert and Miss Williams; the medical nominees, Messrs. Brown, Crawford and McDougall.

The elections take place on Nov. 12.
