BRITISH MAKE FURTHER ADVANCE IN FLANDERS

CITIES DEMAND BETTER PAY AND EQUAL PENSIONS FOR SOLDIERS

HAIG TAKES NEW SLICE FROM FOE IN BELGIAN WAR

British Advance Lines 2,000 Yards, Getting Astride St. Julien Road—Throw Back Attempt To Retake Inverness Copse—French Penetrate Trenches.

London, Aug. 28.—As the result of a British attack on the Flanders front yesterday, the British lines have been advanced along a front of more than 2,000 yards, astride the St. Julien-Poelcapelle road, the war office announced today.

German attempts last night to drive back the British from their positions in the Inverness copse on the Ypres-Menin road were frustrated, and prisoners were taken from the attacking forces.

The text of the statement reads: As the result of our attack yesterday we have advanced our line, after heavy fighting, on a front of more than 2,000 yards astride the St. Julien-Poelcapelle road, and are established in further positions of the German third system in this area.

"Early last night the enemy twice attacked our positions in the Inverness Copse, on the Ypres-Menin road. On both occasions he was repulsed, we securing a few prisoners."

ARTILLERY ACTIVE ON VERDUN FRONT.

Paris, Aug. 28.—The French official report on the progress of hostilities given out this afternoon refers to artillery activity on the Californie Plateau, and says that French troops penetrated German trenches at Butte-de-Souain and took some prisoners near Arracourt. There was considerable artillery activity on the Verdun front.

The text of the statement follows:

"What promised to be a night of violent bombardments of our lines in the region of the Californie Plateau and Crevreux was checked by the fire of our artillery. The enemy found it impossible to deliver an attack. We penetrated certain German trenches at Butte-de-Souain and we dispersed certain reconnoitring parties of the enemy at Mont Muret and near Arracourt. We took some prisoners.

"On the Verdun front there was considerable artillery activity near Avocourt Wood and in the Beaumont sector. Two surprise attacks by the enemy on small French posts near Vaux and Le Palameux resulted in complete failure.

"The night passed quietly on the remainder of the front."

INSIGNIFICANT, IS REPORT OF ENEMY.

Berlin, Aug. 8.—via London — The British made only insignificant gains northeast of Frezenberg in their attacks on the Flanders front yesterday, army headquarters announced today. The Russians in the region east of Czernowitz have bten thrown back behind the Rakitna River sector, says the announcement. The Russian resistance was broken last evening on the hills northeast of Dolzok. The captures total more than 1,000 prisoners and six guns.

CHINESE GENERALS OFFER 50,000 TROOPS TO ENTENTE ALLIES

Peking, Thursday, Aug. 23 (delayed). —Generals Lo Pei Ching, Lung Chi Kwang and Ku Chin Tan, commanding 50,000 troops of Yunnan, Kwei Chow and Kwang Tung provinces, have offered forces for service in Europe. The provisional governors of Yunnan and Kwang Tung have given official recognition of Peking's declaration of war against Germany, apparently having been reconciled to the government of the acting president, General Feng Kwo Chang. The hostile movement in the southern provinces is now plainly a fiasco.

Eighteen provinces have approved the project for a national council, which will be established within a fortnight. The press generally is urging China to present an undivided front to the enemy.

AUTOMOBILE BANDITS KILL 2 PAYMASTERS AND CARRY OFF ROLL

Employees of Chicago Plant Shot To Death and $8,100 Stolen.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Two men, carrying $8,100, the pay roll of the Winslow Brothers' Iron Works, were shot to death in front of the plant today by five bandits, who escaped with the money in an automobile.

Louis Osenberg and Barton Allen, the slain pay roll messengers, were returning from a bank in an automobile. As they stopped in front of the entrance to the iron works, a car containing the robbers drew up.

Three of the bandits leaped from the machine and opened fire with revolvers. Osenberg and Allen fell with bullets in their heads. The bandits fired more than twenty shots. A score of persons witnessed the killing.

Seguin Says They Are Trying to Force Martial Law on Quebec.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—Speaking at the Lemieux Club last night, Napoleon Seguin, M. P., said he did not think the governor-general, "a clear-seeing man," would sign the autocratic measure introduced by the jingoes of Ontario. Continuing, he said it was the wish of the Conservatives to enforce martial law in Montreal in order to convince the other provinces that Quebec is not loyal.

CANDIDATES RUSTLE FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS TO CLINCH VICTORY

Final Dash for the First Place in $16,000 Contest Is On—Great Race Is Down to Matter of Hours—Forty Receipt Books Issued Yesterday, Indicating Spirit of Fight to Finish.

Miss Pearl Dwyer, District No. 1.

The final dash for first place in The Advertiser's $16,000 prize contest is on. The contest will close at midnight next Friday—thus making only four days in which to record your votes for your favorite candidate.

Arrangements were made today by The Advertiser Company with a local auditor to take over the books and records of the contest department next Friday night. This firm will audit all votes and it will be from their report that the announcement of the winners will be made.

The time is growing shorter every hour for gathering new subscriptions and getting renewals to The London Advertiser to count in the $16,000 prize contest. With only four more days to go, don't let it be said after the contest closes that you could have won the Grand Prize if you had just had two or three more subscriptions, or that Mr. Jones would have given you a two or three-year extension if he had known you really wanted it. It is always better to have a few votes to the good than a few short. By hustling every minute from now until Friday night, you might get enough extra subscriptions that will win for you the Grand Prize or one of the other eight automobiles or one of the many other costly prizes.

Over forty receipt books were mailed from the contest department yesterday, and a number of these went to candidates who plunged into the race at the last minute. No matter how sure you may be, remember, the other fellow is working, and may have held back a lot of his business until the last night.

CONTEST NOTES.

All the prizes in The Advertiser's $16,000 prize contest are ready for shipment. They will be ready for delivery when the judges announce the winners.

The eight cabinets of silver are on exhibition in Smallman & Ingram's windows today. The eight cabinets make a magnificent showing, and are certainly worth one's while in making an effort to win.

Subscriptions outside the city of London may be taken for five years, and for three years in the city of London.

Candidates outside District No. 1 may work up to the last minute Friday, then mail their returns to the contest department. All returns must bear the postmark of Friday, Aug. 31.

Miss Pearl Dwyer, District No. 1, has strengthened her position in the contest the last week, by devoting all her time to rounding up all her promised subscriptions, and getting extensions to those she has already received.

Watch for the standing of the candidates in tomorrow's paper.

People who are taking some other paper and wish to subscribe for The Advertiser to help some one candidate may do so, and have The Advertiser started when his other paper expires. His order will be held at The Advertiser office until instructions are received to commence sending same.

Many candidates are taking advantage of the extra 50,000 votes for $15 worth of new subscriptions.

EQUAL PENSIONS AND DOUBLE PAY FOR ALL MEN IN ARMY STRONGLY DEMANDED BY DELEGATES OF CITIES

AMERICAN DESTROYER SINKS FOE SUBMARINE AND KILLS THE PIRATES ON BOARD A BRITISHER

U-Boat Defeated In Thrilling Encounter With U. S. Warship.

A Gulf Port, Aug. 28.—The capture and destruction of a German submarine by an American destroyer and the killing of four members of the submarine's crew, who had boarded a British steamer, is reported by William Raymond Brown, an American seaman, who arrived here today aboard a British steamer. According to the story told by Brown, the submarine emerged near the steamer, but soon after she came alongside the American destroyer came up and destroyed the U-boat.

After the submarine was destroyed, the men who had previously gone aboard the British steamer, tried to take charge of the vessel. One of the German officers was hit on the head and killed as he was going to the engine-room and three others were killed in the fight that followed. Brown said that only two Germans remained aboard the submarine after she came alongside the steamer. The Germans who were not killed in the fight on the steamer were turned over to the destroyer as prisoners.

"Let Us Treat All Canadians Alike, For All Have Given Equally" Is Sentiment Heartily Subscribed To By Mayors and Aldermen at Civic Convention—Laxity Is Scored.

WHAT THE CONVENTION DID

Passed a resolution suggesting equal pensions for officers and men.

Suggested amendments to the assessment act to reach men who give wrongful returns on the income assessment.

Asked the Government to give a furlough to the men of the first contingent.

Suggested that the Government double the pay of privates serving in the C. E. F.

Asked the Government to deal with the question of officers' pay on the revised schedule suggested above.

Discussed a resolution to curb the power of the Bell Telephone Company.

The convention of the Canadian Municipalities Union undertook a big order this morning, and passed some striking resolutions. War measures were uppermost in the minds of the delegates, and they took advanced ground on many important questions. The session was well attended, a number of delegates arriving this morning.

The first resolution considered at the convention of Canadian Municipalities Union today was that introduced by Mayor Hardie, Lethbridge, to the effect that equal pensions be given to all soldiers at the front, irrespective of rank. All had been doing their duty, and there should be no class distinctions.

"I am opposed to the resolution," said Mayor Burgoyne, St. Catharines. "It is a complex situation, and we must look at it carefully. Not all workingmen have gone to the front, and I think the pension scheme will be worked out satisfactorily. There are too many exception circumstances to draft a resolution."

"Nothing has reflected so much discredit to this country as the drawing of distinctions between officers and men," continued Mayor Hardie. "Many gave up first-class positions to enlist as privates. Many enlisted, and I know them, on the consideration that they be given commissions. The first army enlisted and asked no consideration. We are common citizens of this democracy, and every man should be treated alike. The country has paid for the education of the officers, and has paid them $75 a month and all found. Let us treat them all alike."

ALL HAVE GIVEN EQUALLY.

"There should be no difference in pensions," said Ald. Ramsden, Toronto. "All have given equal service, have suffered equally, and have given equal fighting ability. They should have equal pensions."

"My son gave up a good position, worth more than $1,500 a year," said Mayor Stringer of Steelton. "He asked no favors. Another man, earning $2 a day, would not enlist unless he was given a commission. He is now a major. That man should not be given more pension than my boy, who has sacrificed more."

The resolution carried almost unanimously.

Controller Nelson, Ottawa, got after the income assessments, and the convention passed a resolution asking the legislatures in the provinces where income was assessed, to give power to the municipalities to levy taxes on men who wrongfully give their income.

NEVER KNOW UNTIL THEY DIE.

"We had a man who gave his income as $15,000, but when he died we found out that his income for many years had been $120,000," said Controller Nelson. "We want to get at these fellows. We have been stirring up things a little, and have received $10,000 in taxes from men who had made a wrongful statement of income. We want power to get after these men, and tax them for six years back. We never know how much some of these fellows have until they die. We want to get them when they are alive."

"We have not the big cities in the West, and consequently not the prevaricators that seem so common to these places," said Mr. Bayne, Regina. "We should have drastic laws to compel men to give their proper and rightful incomes."

The convention agreed to this unanimously.

City Clerk Sam Baker, London, acknowledges the resolution of sympathy in the death of his son, Major Horace Baker, and the communication was filed.

SHOULD GET FURLOUGH.

Mayor Burgoyne, St. Catharines, was of the opinion that the men who went forward with the first contingent should be given a furlough, and introduced a motion to that effect.

"Some of these boys have been away over three years, and it would be a good thing if they could come back," said Mayor Burgoyne.

Mayor Hardie and others thought it would be an interference with the military authorities, but it was the opinion of the majority that it would be a good thing to ask the Government to have them back.

"It is merely a request," explained Mayor Burgoyne. "We are not demanding anything, but we would like the boys to have a little holiday."

The convention agreed to this unanimously.

DOUBLE PAY FOR MEN IN RANKS.

The resolution doubling the pay of privates in the ranks, and leaving an adjustment of the pay of officers to military authorities, was presented, and unanimously indorsed.

"We should increase the pay of the men, and also the separation allowance," said Mayor Burgoyne, who introduced the resolution. "The cost of living has gone up. If a man is single and comes back he will simply have

Of 550,000 Men Used On the Flanders Front, 450,000 Were Withdrawn On Account of Great Losses.

BY HENRY WOOD.
(Special Cable to The Advertiser.)

With the French Armies in the Field, Aug. 28.—Germany has lost over fifty thousand men in the Flanders battle alone since July 1, according to the figures compiled today, when the assembling of data obtained from prisoners was completed.

Half-Million Engaged.

Prisoners said 37 German divisions (approximately 555,000 men) had been engaged in the Flanders sector since the first of July. Thirty of these (approximately 450,000 men) have been withdrawn on account of losses. The German high command's usual practice is to withdraw a division for reorganization after its losses have taken from 2,000 to 2,500 men.

Stupendous Losses.

Taking this as a basis, it can be assumed that if Germany has withdrawn 30 divisions, her losses must be anywhere from sixty to seventy-five thousand. Seven German divisions which were on the Flanders front on July first are still there.

These estimates of losses do not take into account the huge casualties which the enemy has sustained of late around Verdun and the Chemin-des-Dames.

MILITARY SECRETS OF RUSSIA SOLD TO ENEMY; SOUKHOMLINOFF BLAMED

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—At the trial for high treason of Gen. Soukhomlinoff, former minister of war, Gen. Ivanoff, former commander in Volhynia and Galicia, testified yesterday he had information showing that military secrets had been communicated direct from Petrograd to Germany and Austria by way of Warsaw.

Gen. Velitchko, deputy director of the Engineers Corps, said he regarded Gen. Soukhominoff as having been personally responsible for the defeats of the Russian army. As soon as he was appointed minister of war, the witness testified, he suppressed various councils created for the purpose of discussing questions of national defence.

FOE AT GATES TO PETROGRAD, RUSS ARMIES DEMORALIZED; ONLY DISCIPLINE OF IRON CAN SAVE NATION, SAYS KORNILOFF

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—Russian infantry left its trenches before an enemy attack in the Boyan region, and is retiring eastward, the war office announces.

The retirement was occasioned by the beginning of an offensive in the region east of Czernowitz, Bukowina, yesterday by the Germans and Austrians. The troops retreated without waiting for the attack on their trenches, which were occupied by the enemy.

Moscow, Aug. 27.—The second general sitting of the national conference was held this afternoon. General Korniloff, commander-in-chief, entered the hall in company with Premier Kerensky. His appearance was the signal for a prolonged and enthusiastic ovation. All the delegates cheered for Russia, the revolutionary government and the army.

LIBERTY WITH ORDER.

Vladimir Naboukoff, a prominent Social Democrat, speaking in the name of the first Duma, declared the country aimed at the establishment of a strong and independent power, uninfluenced by political parties; a power which, based on democratic principles, would establish obedience to the law, civil liberty and personal security. The speaker emphasized the absolute necessity of the independence of the high command of the army from every private influence.

NO SEPARATE PEACE.

M. Naboukoff said the members of the first Duma repudiated with indignation all thoughts of a separate peace, and that if they were to have peace they did not desire it to be the result of German victory but the consequence of the triumphs of Russia and her allies. M. Alexinsky made a similar declaration on behalf of the second Duma.

Premier Kerensky then introduced Gen. Korniloff, saying the Government had thought it necessary to invite the commander-in-chief to lay before the conference the situation at the front and in the army. Gen. Korniloff said the death penalty, restoration of which he had asked, together with other measures, constituted only a small part of what was necessary in an army stricken with the terrible evils of disorganization and insubordination.

Soldiers Kill Officers.

In the present month, Gen. Korniloff said, soldiers had killed four regimental commanders and other officers, and ceased these outrages only when they were threatened with being shot. Quite recently one of the regiments of Siberian Rifles, which had fought so splendidly at the beginning of the revolution, abandoned its position on the Riga front. Nothing except an order to exterminate the entire regiment availed to cause it to return to its position.

"Thus we are implacably fighting anarchy in the army," the commander continued. "Undoubtedly it will finally be repressed, but the danger of fresh debacles is weighing constantly on the country.

Situation Is Bad.

"The situation on the front is bad. We have lost the whole of Galicia, the whole of Bukowina and all the fruits of our recent victories. At several points the enemy has crossed our frontier and is threatening our fertile southern provinces. He is endeavoring to destroy the Rumanian army and is knocking at the gates of Riga. If our army does not hold the shore of the Gulf of Riga the road to Petrograd will be opened wide.

Sense of Duty Lost.

"The old regime bequeathed to Russia an army which, despite all the defects in its organization, nevertheless was animated by a fighting spirit, and was ready for sacrifices. The whole series of measures taken by those who are completely foreign to the spirit and needs of the army has transformed it into a collection of individual groups which have lost all sense of duty and only tremble for their own personal safety.

Must Regenerate Army.

"If Russia wishes to be saved, the army must be regenerated at any cost. We must immediately take measures such as I have referred to, which have been approved in their entirety by the acting minister of war."

Gen. Korniloff then outlined the most important of these measures in addition to restoration of the death penalty, which are: First, restoration of discipline in the army by the strengthening of the authority of officers and non-commissioned officers; second, improvement of the financial position of officers, who have been in a very difficult position in the recent military operations; third, restriction of the functions of regimental committees, which although managing economic affairs of the regiments, must not be permitted to have any part in decisions regarding military operations or the appointment of leaders.

"The strength of every army depends upon conditions in the district in its rear," General Korniloff continued. "The blood which will inevitably flow during the restoration period may be shed in vain if the army, having reorganized and prepared for battle, remains without reinforcements and fresh supplies of projectiles and equipment. I, therefore, think it indispensable that the measures taken at the front should also be applied in the rear."

The commander went on to say that according to information at his disposal the condition of the railways was such that by November the army would not receive any more supplies. In support of his statement he quoted a telegram from the commander-in-chief of the northwestern front saying that the shortage of bread and biscuit on this front amounted almost to famine. General Korniloff then read figures relating to the production of war materials, which he said had fallen, compared with the period from October, 1916, to January, 1917, by 60 per cent for guns and shells, and 80 per cent for airplanes.

"If this state of affairs continues," he added, "the Russian armies will find themselves in the same state as in the spring of 1915, at the time of the retreat in Poland, Galicia and the Carpathians."

OLD MR. J. PLUVIUS SIGNS UP TO GET GREAT PRODUCTION

Present Rains Are Described As Heaven-Sent.

EASE PLOW INTO SOIL

And Fall Wheat Yield Will Be Greatly Stimulated As a Result.

Rain today and last night will result in hundreds more acres being plowed throughout the county within the next few days, according to farmers of the district. Much of the land in this district is of a clayey nature, and during a dry spell becomes so hard that it is almost impossible for horses to draw plows through it. The result is not always satisfactory, when the work is accomplished with the ground in this condition. Rain makes a great difference, and within the past few days has fallen in sufficient quantity to make plowing comparatively easy.

Weather Is Ideal.

"Every farmer who can turn a furrow is going to put in fall wheat this year," said one farmer today. "And this weather is ideal for the work. We should be able to turn over more ground than ever before."

All wheat and oats throughout the county is now within the barns and harvest hands are engaged chiefly in bringing in barley. This plowing is likely to keep most of the farmers busy until the end of the month, and it is expected that only in a few sections will threshing be finished by the first of September. The season for this work may be longer this year, because of the abundant crops. Both grain and straw are more plentiful than usual.

Not Much in Hay.

Few farmers will make money on their hay crops. There was a large yield in 1916, and one almost as great this year, and as a consequence the market is well supplied and the price is low. New hay at present is selling for $9 and $15 a ton, and is not likely during the winter to go much above the highest price of last year, which was $15 a ton. Farmers who owned pasture farms and were unable to obtain cattle figured on making some money by selling the hay on the land. They will barely make expenses, other farmers state, after help for gathering the crop has been paid at the present rate of wages.

LIES ASLEEP ON CAR TRACKS, BUT RESENTED RESCUE

Fletcher Started To Beat Up Men Who Found Him.

BLAMES IT ON WHISKEY

Second Man Found Guilty of Disorderly Conduct and Fined.

Awakened from a deep sleep while lying on the tracks of the Springbank line at a curve in the road west of Woodland Cemetery at 10 o'clock last night, Robert Fletcher, 8 Horton street, was lifted to a car in charge of Conductor Dermid, and as a reward for having his life saved, started in to "beat up" the conductor and motorman.

Such was the story as told in the witness-stand today in police court by the motorman and conductor in the hearing of a charge of disorderly conduct laid against Fletcher. He was convicted on the charge, and fined $5 and costs. On a charge of intoxication he pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs or 10 days in jail. He gave as justification for his conduct that he had been drinking heavily.

"You had better leave whisky alone when it deprives you of judgment to such an extent that you lie down on street car tracks to sleep," said the magistrate.

Arthur Scanlan, 564 Horton, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and intoxication and was fined $5 and costs on the former charge and $10 and costs on the latter. The nature of his disorderly conduct was that he had refused to pay his fare on the London and Port Stanley Railway from St. Thomas to the city. He claimed he had lost his ticket and money, blaming his trouble on too much whisky.

Sidney Crawford, Piccadilly street, and Arthur Luckings, 622 Colborne street, summoned to explain why they had violated a city bylaw by driving a load of coal over an unprotected sidewalk were allowed to go with a warning to be more careful.

DENFIELD HOUSE BURNS

CHECK BOOK MAY HAVE SAVED LIFE OF CAPT. FRASER

Well-Known London Officer Hit Five Times.

SHELLED ON THE WAY UP

Hail of Shrapnel Continued All Night After He Received Wounds.

Authentic word has reached the city today of the wounding on July 25 of Capt. A. G. Fraser, who left for the front with the 142nd Battalion. Capt. Fraser reverted to the rank of lieutenant to get to France, and was in that country only fifteen days when he was hit by shrapnel in six different places, and only by the most remarkable good fortune no wound was sufficiently dangerous to cause his death.

Shelled On Way Up.

On the night of July 24, Capt. Fraser took his platoon to close supports, about 100 yards behind the line. The Canadians had taken over this part from the Imperials, and were heavily shelled on the way up to close supports, but fortunately few casualties occurred. Shortly after midnight the German whizzbangs started coming over the top and began searching up and down the line. One fell in the trench about ten feet away from Capt. Fraser and exploded. The corporal, who was standing beside his superior officer, was untouched, while a man to the right of him was hit and died half an hour later. Capt. Fraser was hit in the breast, the metal going through a check book, which may have saved his life. Another entered his left shoulder, but missed the collarbone; another his left hip, but missed the hipbone.

Some Close Shaves.

Another piece laid bare the sciatic nerve on the left thigh, but didn't injure it, and still another laid bare an artery behind the right knee, but didn't break it. After first aid had been given, the rest of the night until 4 o'clock was spent under heavy shrapnel fire.

Capt. Fraser reached the battalion dressing station by daybreak, and the clearing station at noon of the 25th, where he was operated on, and reached England on the following Sunday. He is at present in the High Street Military Hospital at Manchester, and is reported as progressing very favorably.

GRABS WATCH AND BOLTS, BUT CAUGHT BY JEWELER'S SON

Herbert Barnard Foils Nervy Thief Today.

POSES AS A PURCHASER

Makes Off With Timepiece When It Is Produced For Inspection.

Grabbing a $50 gold watch from a counter in the jewelry store of John S. Barnard at 11:30 o'clock today, a stranger, described by Herbert Barnard as short, stout and roughly dressed, made a dash for the street, but was caught by Mr. Barnard as he was running up a stairway one door west. After a short struggle he gave up the watch and disappeared.

He entered the store and asked to be shown some railway timepieces. Herb Barnard, who was at the counter, passed out two railway timepieces for examination. He was explaining the one which the stranger had picked up from the counter.

"You consider this a first-class watch, do you?" asked the unknown individual.

As Mr. Barnard replied in the affirmative, the stranger made a run for the door, watch in hand. The boldness of the action caused Mr. Barnard to hesitate a moment before he started in pursuit.

UNABLE TO IDENTIFY MAN IN COURT AS LIQUOR PURCHASER

A case in police court today in which Patrick Wallace, 881 Adelaide street, was charged with a breach of the Ontario temperance act, was dismissed by Magistrate Graydon today, the prosecution being unable to show that the defendant was the P. Wallace, to whom the liquor had been addressed.

The charge against Wallace was laid following a similar case heard two weeks ago, in which Alfred Hill, 905 Maitland street, testified that Patrick Wallace of Adelaide street, had sent the whisky cases to his house. As a consequence Wallace was charged under section 41 of the act of having liquor on premises other than his private dwelling.

The first witness for the prosecution was Joseph McGuire, employed at the Gray Transfer Office. He testified he had delivered the whisky to Hill's house, on Maitland street on instructions from a man who said he was P. Wallace, and had paid the express charges. When asked to identify the defendant in court he said he had never seen him before in his life as far as he could recollect.

As a consequence of the sudden turn in the case, R. J. Fisher asked for a few minutes' time to summon a witness from the Dominion Express Company's office.

George Pearce was called and he too was unable to state that he had ever seen Wallace, who was asked to place his hat on and stand out for identification.

"I presume Inspector Birrell will apologize to Mr. Wallace for the mistake," said Mr. Fisher.

"I will see later about that," replied the inspector.

J. W. Faulds defended Wallace.

Three men are listed as "P. Wallace" in the city directory.

Mrs. David Williams, chairman, spoke on behalf of the recently-organized food conservation committee of London, touching upon the patriotic importance of the movement. Mrs. Burgoyne of St. Catharines and Mrs. Bayne of Regina replied for the visitors.

THREATENS ACTION FOR ATTACK BY CONDUCTOR; RESENTS NAME OF 'DEAD BEATS' FOR CITIZENS

Dr. G. S. Weir Replies To Charge That He Tried To "Beat His Way" on L. and P. S. Car—Outrageous Treatment Alleged By City Truant Officer.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I noticed last evening in the London Free Press an article in a conspicuous place with glaring headlines that Truant Officer Weir had attempted to "deadhead" his way to Port Stanley beach. I am too well known and have too many friends in this city and surrounding country to be injured by any such malicious and false report, but lest people who do not know me might be misled, I ask the privilege of stating the facts in your valuable columns. You have always treated me with fairness and courtesy, which is more than I can say for the paper which published the article in question. Since I performed a certain service for the board of education no opportunity has been neglected to "knock" me. This article contains only half truths, which are the worst kind of falsehoods, and tries to place me in as unfavorable a light as possible. In order to excuse the conductor for his foolish and unwarranted attack on me, the commission attempts to discredit me.

Pulled by Conductor.

First, with regard to getting on the train before the women and children got off. On all up-to-date railways passengers alight from the front of the coach and board it at the rear. When I attempted to get on there were no passengers in sight and no indication that any were getting off. The car door was shut. When I was nearly up the conductor shouted: "Wait for the people to get off." When my foot was on the last step he caught me by the coat and pulled violently backwards. Had he succeeded in his effort I would now be in a hospital with a fractured skull or injured spine and the city would be called upon to pay heavy damages. When I stepped aside on the platform, the conductor peremptorily ordered me to get off the car. As I had a perfectly legal right to be there, I declined. His face was fiery red and his manner threatening. He admitted that I did not block the passageway and boarded the car more quickly than he had ever been done before. I have asked experienced railwaymen, and they say they never heard of such an outrage being attempted on a passenger except in the case of an intoxicated man.

Conductor Apologized.

The conductor has since apologized to me and claimed he had been worried on the way down and was nervous and excited and acted hastily without realizing what he was doing. I promised not to report the matter to the commission, but since he has made an erroneous and misleading report, in justice to myself I will have to instruct my solicitor to take action in the courts against him and the commission.

Now in regard to the charge of "dead-heading." I am accused of trying to defraud the city road out of "five cents." My traveling expenses are paid by Mr. John McClary, who is abundantly able and willing to pay the extra five cents, if necessary. I therefore had no motive for trying to beat my way. "I, in company with many other Londoners, have caused the company endless trouble forsooth." The fault is entirely with the management themselves for not posting notices to let the people know that a fare is expected from the station to the beach.

On the London Street Railway passengers are regularly picked up and taken to the end of the line and back without charge and are not termed "deadheads," either.

Not Usually Enforced.

The citizens expect similar treatment from their own road. I have never seen a fare collected or asked for from the passengers whom I have seen ride down, or from the hundreds that ride back. I have gone down with the same conductor and he never asked me for a fare before. When on this occasion, in a surly and ungentlemanly manner he asked for five cents fare, I inquired the reason, and at first refused to pay. I naturally supposed he was trying to "get even" because I dared to disregard his "authority." I still think so. He then threatened to put me off, and went out and brought in his "gang." If I had known the manager I would have paid at once, but he did not make himself known. A well-known military officer in uniform in the coach declared I was the only passenger asked for a fare, though several got on and said he had never seen a fare asked for before. To save his face the conductor then collected fares from some others. It seems strange to me that a well-known citizen, a friend of the road, who pays upwards of four hundred dollars a year in taxes, should be threatened with ejectment for declining to pay five cents unjustly, improperly and unfairly demanded.

After Every Nickel.

I have since interviewed the manager, who says he is after every nickel he can get. Why, then, does he let hundreds of passengers escape and pounce on a few? He acknowledges his own inefficiency. The commission will need many nickels if the citizens are to be browbeaten and misused, and the chairman will have to railroad many more bylaws through the Legislature without the people's consent. I have supported the railroad through thick and thin, voted for all bylaws for raising money to finance it, but if incompetent outsiders, who have had no experience and do not know the first principles of railroading are to be "pitchforked" into the highest positions, men who do not realize that to deal fairly and honorably with the citizens of London is the best policy, I am done with public ownership.

Citizens Not Dead-Beats.

The managers of private railroads never misuse their best friends and patrons. To do so is to cut off their business. I do not believe the citizens of London are thieves and dead-beats and are seeking means of defrauding their own railroad. Such an insinuation is an insult, and the ratepayers will resent it at the first opportunity at the polls. In conclusion, Mr. Editor, permit me to say that in future the Traction road will take me to the Port Traction road will take me to the Port, and I think it will be a calamity for London if it ceases to do business. I think the citizens should patronize and support it, for it is hard to say what the mushroom management of the city road would do if there were no opposition line.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor. Yours truly,

G. SUTTON WEIR, M. D.

CHURCH PAPER FOR BOYS IN TRENCHES TAKES FLINGS AT POLITICS AND OTHER THINGS

Some months ago the publication of a little paper was undertaken by the young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in order to keep the men of the church who have enlisted for active service in touch with news from the church and home city, and to carry to them each month a cheering message.

The advertising section is a new and amusing feature in the August issue of the publication, which, by the way, is called "Home Fires." The following are samples of these advertisements, of which this explanation is given: "Advertisements you don't see in other papers. For rates, apply to the editor.":

GRIT MEETING.
A Grit Rally Will Be Held on August 31st, at 8 p.m. in the Committee Rooms.
Only the Grits of the third generation may attend.
Our Object: To win the election.
All the candidates will be present.

Here is another also of political complexion:

Wanted—Leaders.
Apply
Grit or Tory Headquarters.

To show that the paper is strictly non-partisan this insertion can also be found in its columns:

TORY MEETING.
A Tory Rally Will Take Place at the Tory Club Rooms on August 31st, at 8 p.m.
Only dyed-in-the-wool Tories may attend.
Our Aim: To Win the Election.
All candidates will be present, and speak.

As befits a church publication, the church is also represented:

ST. ARTHUR'S CHURCH.
Minister, Rev. A. Highbrow, Ph.D.
Services ..... 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
All seats reserved for pew holders until a quarter after the hour of service. Visitors can rest assured that no one will speak to them.
In the hottest days of summer you will find a cool reception.

THE AJAX THEATRE.
See the Latest War Pictures.
Be Patriotic.
We Need the Money.

The high cost of living gets this drive:

The Aeroplane Grocery Store.
Our Prices Constantly Soaring.

And this:

The Zenith Butcher Shop.
Abandon Hope All Ye Who Enter Here.

"Cooked up" war news by no means escapes comment, as witness the following:

Read the
TORONTO NUZNSTAR
Special Cable Service.
Our war correspondent sends hourly dispatches from New York.
Our Motto:
All the News—Whether It Happens or Not.

And here is where the slacker comes in to his own, a section which will no doubt be applauded by the soldier readers:

THE DANDY
GENTS' FURNISHINGS.
See the Latest Men's Fashions.
Our clerks are all refined—too refined to go to the war.

Or

THE IDLER POOL ROOM.
The Slacker's Retreat.

August "Home Fires" is an especially bright, breezy and newsy edition, and the advertising section is a fair sample of the rest of the contents.

WEDDED GIRL WHO NURSED HIM IN ENGLAND

Advertiser Illustrations

Pte. Harold Van de Car, son of Mrs. C. Van de Car of Front street, has arrived in Canada after a long convalescence from wounds. He will reach London in a few days, and while they have received no definite word his relatives expect that his bride of a few weeks, an English girl who nursed him back to health and strength in an overseas hospital, will accompany him.

PERMANENT FORCE MEN, TAKEN ON SINCE WAR, GO OVERSEAS, IF FIT

Members of the Permanent Force of Canada, who are fit for service overseas in a combatant unit, and who have been enlisted temporarily for the duration of the war, are to be replaced as far as possible by men who are not fit for duty with "first line" troops.

This is the gist of an order received at district headquarters from Ottawa today, which states that where it is found necessary to enlist such men supernumerary to the establishment, such temporary personnel must be composed, except by special authority, of men in medical category "B" (fit for non-combatant service), or category "C" (fit for service in Canada).

The order also states that "as to any present temporary members of the Permanent Force, enlisted under such terms, who belong to category "A," every endeavor should be made to substitute for such men, other men belonging to category "B" or category "C," in order that as many as possible of category "A" men may be rendered available for overseas duty.

"It is further pointed out that, in cases where the services of any temporary man can be dispensed with, selections should be made from among those who belong to category "A."

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING BUGGY

William Johnson, who boards on Richmond street, and until recently employed as a driver for a local coal company, was arrested by County Constable Alex. Shaver on a charge of stealing a buggy from Thomas Miller, Nissouri Township. He will appear for trial on Saturday next.

It is alleged that he was driving in Nissouri Township Saturday night and exchanged another buggy somewhat the worse of wear for the one belonging to Miller. When arrested, it is claimed, he admitted the theft, and, according to Constable Shaver, told where Miller's buggy could be found. The information was found to be correct, and Miller's buggy was recovered.

OVERSEAS OFFICERS NOW OFF STRENGTH TO GO INTO RESERVE

Officers who have served with credit in the C. E. F., and have been struck off the strength, will be formed into a reserve under the name of the "Canadian Expeditionary Force Reserve of Officers," it is announced in camp orders today.

Britain Put Screws On Bacon Barons To Hit At High-Prices Plot

CITY BREVITIES

VIOLINIST TO VISIT LONDON—Isolde Mengos, instrumentalist, is to appear for four recitals in London under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada. These recitals will be in the Masonic Temple from September 26 to 29.

COMES HOME ON LEAVE.—Lance-Corp. Llewellyn Purdom, son of T. H. Purdom, K.C., is spending a week's leave with his parents at Port Stanley, prior to departure for overseas service with the Imperial army. He has been in training at Toronto and Camp Borden for some time.

UNFIT FOR OVERSEAS. — Only two men applied for suits of khaki at the armories Monday, and both were turned down as far as overseas service is concerned. One man, G. S. Hall, was considered by the medical officers fit to serve in Canada, and was allotted to No. 1 Special Service Company.

FEW FARMERS IN CITY.—Fewer farmers came to London Monday than at any previous time this year because of the particularly busy week they have had harvesting the large oat crop of the district. Prices of hay and straw increased because few farmers were on the market grounds, and the consequent poor offerings of produce.

COMMITTEES ORGANIZED.—Organization meetings of the finance and summer outing committees of the Soldiers' Aid Commission were held last night. J. P. Moore was unanimously re-elected chairman of the finance committee, in recognition of his work in the past year. Only routine business was done, estimates for the year being drawn up and advances to a number of soldiers discussed. R. J. Webster will remain chairman of the summer outing committee.

SEND A FINE EXHIBIT.—A fine collection of named varieties of gladioli were received by Mr. Frank Wood today from the Groff gardens at Simcoe, Ont., and has been placed on exhibition in the main public library. The collection was forwarded by Campbell Bros., the commercial growers for Mr. Groff, who intended to have it here for the exhibit last week, but were unable to do so, owing to their blooms being later than usual. As the varieties are nearly all named they will be of special interest to local growers of this flower, who may compare their own varieties.

ITALIANS CONTINUE TO MAKE PROGRESS AGAINST AUSTRIANS

Rome, Aug. 28.—The Italians made further progress yesterday on the Bainsizza plateau, on the front north of Gorizia, the war office announces.

The Austrians made violent counter-attacks, but failed to recover positions taken by the Italians.

London Meat Dealers Say Big Packers Raised Price to an Impossible Figure in Order To Reap Profit in the Old Land—Vigorous Protest Entered by Meat Dealers Over Export of Canadian Cattle To United States.

That the order of the British food controller, Lord Rhondda, in prohibiting the export of hogs and bacon from the Dominion, is a counter move on the part of the British Government to "sting" the meat profiteers of this country, and that there would be no necessity for beefless days and high meat prices were the Government to employ competent men to take hold of the food situation, was the gist of statements to The Advertiser by some of the foremost meat men of the city today.

Discussing the reported order of the British food controller, one man who has been in the cattle and hog business for 30 years said: "It serves the packers of this country right. The Canadian packing men had contracts with the British Government to supply the old country with hogs and cattle at practically the same prices that were prevalent in Canada.

Say Packers Sent Up Price.

"Two weeks ago a big combined movement on the part of the packers sent hog prices of the country up to the $20 mark, that the packers might be able to sell to the British Government at the same values that were prevalent in Canada, and thereby, make huge profits. The packers are paid the prevalent Canadian price. However, they got nicely stung. The British Government apparently discovered the gigantic scheme and not only annulled all contracts of Canadian packers, but cut Canada completely off from the British market."

Other hog buyers said that Great Britain was certainly not going to buy Canadian porkers when the price of bacon in England was less than it was here. They stated that the Argentine Republic supplies Britain with all her available cattle, and that while it costs about $5 per head to rear cattle in Argentine the expense of raising cattle in this country is about $50.

Demand for Embargo.

The demand that the Government place an embargo on all foodstuffs going across the border is becoming more insistent and increasingly ominous. It is claimed by local meat men that cattle are exported to the United States in order that huge profits may be realized by the German meat packers of that country.

"Eighty per cent of the pork and cattle men of the States are Germans," declared one man, "and they get the benefit of our cattle production by scouring the country with agents who buy up the choicest animals.

"There would be no necessity for meatless days in this country were the Government to take steps toward cutting off the export to the States. A move such as that would bring prices down enormously in Canada, and the ones to be effected would be the rich packers, who have already made so much money through selling to the American packing houses that they could afford to lose some of it."

Buyer States His Views.

D. H. Flannigan, a well-known local buyer, writes the following letter, which received the commendation of a great many London butchers before being sent to The Advertiser:

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Allow me space in your paper to give my opinion as one who understands the meat situation of Canada, re the necessity for beefless days throughout the Dominion.

The Government has chosen a lawyer to be meat controller for Canada, and soon after the acceptance of his office he asks the people to do without meat in a country where meat is produced, and allows it to be shipped over the border to the big packers of the States (most of whom are of German origin) to place in cold storage, that they may reap a huge profit from our produce. They have no meatless days in the States. There is no necessity for them there. The people of the United States can get all the meat they want from their new-born goat, Canada.

Hanna asks the masses to do without meat for the benefit of our neighbors across the border. Now, I have no personal grudge against Mr. Hanna. He is very likely a first-class lawyer, pleading for the just and unjust, and I have no doubt he is an excellent judge of whisky, but he certainly does not understand the present needs of Canada.

If the Canadian Government would wake up and place an embargo on all foodstuffs going into the United States it would lessen the price of meat from 3 to 5 cents a pound in 30 days' time, and also eliminate excess profits to the big packers.

I, for one, would cheerfully deny myself beef were the boys at the front to reap the benefit of such denial. What I object to is having to do without meat that the Germans of the United States may acquire fortunes. Very truly yours,

D. H. FLANNIGAN.

LONDON'S CHECK FOR 1st BATTALION IS RECEIVED BY CAPTAIN BUTLER

The London Advertiser this morning received the following cablegram from Capt. W. C. Butler, formerly of the 1st Battalion, now with the Canadian pay and records office at London, Eng.:

"Advertiser, London, Ont. Check received. Please extend hearty thanks to subscribers. Butler."

The sum of $365 was collected by The Advertiser to secure instruments for the 1st Battalion, which is anxious to organize a military band. London contributions will insure the funds necessary to defray expenses.

One subscription which was not previously acknowledged was that of A. B. Greer & Son, who sent a check for $5 toward the good cause.

CITY MAY GET FISH FROM PORT AT 6 CENTS

While at Port Stanley last evening with the delegates to the Municipal convention, Ald. Manness, chairman of the high cost of living committee, and Controller R. W. Shaw improved the time by going into the fish business, and securing information. They are assured that London can get a supply.

"We had a talk with the fishermen," said Ald. Manness. "We were offered jumbo herring at 6 cents a pound, or 7 cents a pound dressed. They were beautiful fish, and we should be able to get them delivered in London for a cent or two a pound more. We are going to take this matter up, and I feel we can assure the citizens a cheap fish supply. Later we may be able to get the herrings at a lower figure."

COMFORTABLE HOME IS BETTER MONUMENT FOR RETURNED MEN THAN A COLD SHAFT OF STONE

Preparations for the campaign to be undertaken by the members of the Great War Veterans' Association to raise funds for the construction of a permanent home for the returned soldiers of this city have been going on for the past few days, and everything is now ready for the actual launching of the campaign today. Citizens in general seem to agree with the opinion that a comfortable home for the returned men would be of much greater benefit than a marble monument.

Lists Are Prepared.

Contribution lists have been procured and will be made use of throughout the campaign. Efforts will be made to meet the various chapters of the I. O. D. E., and to enlist their co-operation, as well as the assistance of all fraternal organizations in the city. Members of the association will also hold noon-hour meetings at the factories, and addresses will be delivered on the objects of the association, and the purposes for which it is desirable to build a permanent home.

Veterans Full of Pep.

The members of the G. W. V. A. are most enthusiastic over the prospects for the success of the movement, and are entering into the work in a businesslike way that vouches well for the achievement of their goal of a new home in this city.

EQUAL PENSIONS AND DOUBLE PAY

more money to invest. It will give his family something if he is married, with which to meet the higher cost of living in these days.

"The fighting men are not getting what they deserve," said Ald. Ramsden. Toronto. "The munition workers are getting four and five times as much as the fighting man. The patriotic fund has alone saved many of our soldiers' families from penury. I believe in conscription of wealth. Let us cut out the patriotic fund, and levy the taxes on the people, who are ready and willing to pay. The men who are making the prosperity for this country are suffering."

ARE MISERABLY PAID.

"The men are miserably paid," declared Mayor Bowlby, Brantford.

"I have known men who are suffering and in want, because the Government has not given the pension money quickly enough," declared Fred Wright, Montreal. "Let the Government keep the men until the pensions are paid."

"Conditions are being changed, and the men are kept on pay until the pensions are paid," said W. D. Lighthall.

"That certainly has not reached Brantford," declared Mayor Bowlby.

"More equitable conditions would make enlistments much better," declared Ald. Ashplant. "Present conditions simply bonus the man who stays at home. The inequalities of the system are evident."

Has to Send Him Money.

"Why should men in England be given furlough when they have no money to take them," said Mayor Hardie. "When my boy wants to have a holiday I have to send him money to go. The Government holds back his pay. That should not be."

"Let us suggest something definite," said Ald. Risk, Toronto. "I would suggest double the pay for privates, the officers' wages to be adjusted by the Government." This carried unanimously.

Senator Planta was to introduce a resolution asking that Government grants of money be given to bona-fide settlers on the land, but this was laid over until the afternoon session.

Stand Against Bonuses.

The bonusing system by municipalities was given a jolt by a close vote. Mayor Patton, North Bay, introduced a motion to the effect that it be made an offence to give bonuses in any form to industries, and that officials be appointed to see that the law was carried out.

"The principle is rascally," said Mayor Bowlby, Brantford. "We have no right to give exemptions."

"We should give no exemptions of any kind, nor should we give deductions in water rights, or any other thing needed," declared Mr. Bayne, Regina. "Most of these industries are simply exploitations, and the promoters put in nothing but unlimited gall."

Let the People Decide.

"Let the people decide," said Ald. Ryan, Three Rivers. "We have been bonusing for fifty years, and have never been stung. Use some judgment."

"Trust the people," declared Ald. Risk, Toronto.

Ald. H. B. Ashplant, London, discussed the question of the Bell Telephone franchise at some length. He pointed out that the Bell Company formerly paid a rental to the municipalities for the use of streets. For some years past, this practice had ceased, although the company had acknowledged by so doing that it was indebted to the municipalities for the use of the streets. The company had attempted to secure legislation to cover its position and thus tried to thwart the will of the people. He suggested that the union make a test case and discover whether or not the company had the rights to the street. He did not think it did, but the cities should discover what was the truth.

"We are boss in our own municipalities," said Mr. Ashplant. "We should rule our own property. The Bell Company is trying to get through amendments to make their position strong, but we must thwart it."

"Let us have the law made clear by our legislators," suggested Mayor Bowlby. The discussion was not ended when adjournment took place, and it will come up this afternoon.

Pte. L. Linfoot has sent home a German gas mask which he picked up on the battlefield and also an arm badge of a German prisoner, who requested him to cut it off after he was taken prisoner. The badge bears No. 26, and one corner of it is covered with blood.

The name of G. A. Monteith (802707) of this city appears today among the wounded in the press casualty list. His address is given as St. James Park, London.

FOOD CONTROLLER MISLED, OR PACKERS ARE UNFAIR, SAYS BORDEN JOURNAL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Montreal, Aug. 28.—The Gazette, leading Government organ, editorially today declares that either the food controller has misled the people of Canada or the British Government has shut down on Canadian bacon because Canadian packers have dealt unfairly with it.

AVIATOR SOARS OVER CITY AS LONDONERS GO TO WORK, IS OBSERVED BY THOUSANDS

Flier From One of Eastern Training Camps Moved Toward Southwest, Then Veered to the North — Long Distance Flight by Cadet.

About ten minutes past eight this morning an aeroplane was seen to pass over the city, flying in a westerly direction. As many citizens were on their way to their places of employment at the time, it was seen by hundreds of people, and much interest and speculation was aroused as to who the aerial visitor was, and where he was going.

The machine was apparently a biplane of the type in use for instructional purposes by the officers of the Royal Flying Corps, and seemed to be flying at a height of about 2,000 feet.

Changed Its Course.

"It came from the east," said one man who had seen it, "and passed over the city a little south of the Normal School. It was moving at a rapid rate, and as it passed the city, it appeared to change the direction of its flight and to veer around slightly to the north."

It is thought that the flyer was one of the cadets from the schools of the Royal Flying Corps at Camp Borden or Toronto, and that he was either out on a test flight of long duration, or that he had lost his way temporarily.

Fly Early in Morning.

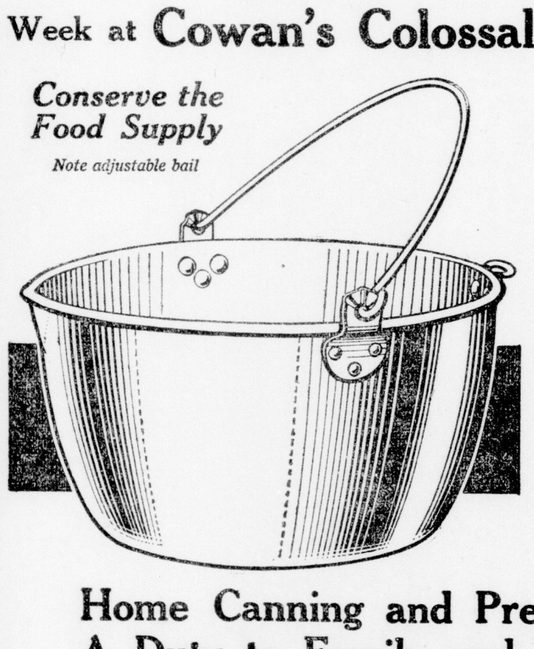

The flights at the school are made in the early morning and late in the evening, and it is easily within the range of possibility to start from either Camp Borden or Toronto at 5:30 in the morning, and arrive in London at 8 o'clock. The distance between London and Toronto, "as the crow flies," is about 110 miles, and between here and Borden by the same method of reckoning, is roughly about 150 miles. With a machine travelling between forty and fifty miles an hour, it would be an easy matter to leave either place at half-past five and arrive in London at 8 o'clock.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE WORKMAN NEEDS MEAT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In Friday's issue of The London Advertiser there appeared an article referring to a mass meeting held in the auditorium in Woodstock on the conservation of food.

Dr. Helen McMurchy of Toronto was one of the speakers, and one worth hearing, but she makes a very absurd remark when she says a workingman needs no meat. How long would a man engaged in manual labor last if he were not allowed any meat, I would ask. Take for instance the farmer, the foundryman, the lumberman and men of several more occupations, they certainly demand meat to keep up the muscle and thus properly perform their hard work. Dr. McMurchy surely knows better than to say a workingman can substitute oatmeal or porridge for meat. Oatmeal is certainly a good dish for the morning meal, and that is all, but probably the most substantial food for speech-making.

Fish and eggs could substitute to a considerable extent, but they are just as expensive as meat, and as long as the farmer can engage in stock-raising he will always have meat, eggs and fowl to his heart's content.

A FARMER.

MEN AND FOOD ARE NEEDS OF ALLIES

Capt. John S. Wood Returns From Overseas—Brother Also Returning.

Capt. John S. Wood, eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred L. Wood, King street, arrived home this week from England, after an absence of more than two years, bringing the message from overseas that all the men Canada can spare will be necessary for the winning of the war and also all the food that Canada can send to Britain and her fighting men.

Capt. Wood is on a six-months' sick-leave owing to severe illness. He went overseas two years ago last June with the 7th Mounted Rifles, and almost immediately after arriving in England was appointed O. C. of the Veterinary Mobile Section at Witley Camp.

The youngest son of the family, Pte. Wesley Wood, is also to be home on sick-leave, and sailed some days ago from England. He will be placed in the Byron Sanatorium for treatment immediately after his arrival. Pte. Wood was a member of No. 3 Stationary Hospital Unit, and while in the Dardanelles was taken seriously ill with enteric fever. He was invalided back to England an dhas never fully recovered.

GLENCOE WOMAN IS RELEASED ON PAROLE

A Glencoe young woman sentenced by Magistrate Graydon in May last to serve eight months on conviction on two theft charges was released from the county jail at noon today on a parole order from the department of justice.

Her liberation on parole makes the third woman to be released under the same conditions during the last three weeks.

These three instances are the first in which women have been given their freedom from the local jail on parole. In all other cases in years past they have either been removed to other institutions, where they served out their time or were paroled from there. During the summer there has been a larger number of women prisoners at the jail than at any similar period in the history of the institution.

Whether the parole system at the jail will continue is not known, but the fact remains that the parole order has been applied oftener during the last month than it has in years.

DESTRUCTIVE BUSH FIRES IN KOOTENAY COUNTRY; SALMO TOWN THREATENED

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 28.—One of the most destructive fires which have broken out in the Kootenay boundary country this year started in a cedar flat near Salmo on Sunday. The flat was swept by the blaze, and between two and three thousand cords of shingle bolts, representing the season's cut of the Kootenay Shingle Company, destroyed. A crew of 150 men are fighting the blaze which threatens the town.

A fire which broke out on the mountainside between Sproule and Grohman Creeks, Sunday, has approached somewhat nearer Nelson, but, provided the wind does not become too strong danger to the city is not anticipated.

A fire which started in the vicinity of O'Neill's Mill, Woodbury Creek, burned out the mill flumes and threatens the mining camp buildings.

Harold Cornish of Deep Creek and A. C. Zerwtz, a Galician, were killed by falling timber Sunday while engaged in fighting the forest fires.

NOT A VANDERBILT.

New York, Aug. 28.—In reference to a published cable dispatch received yesterday from London stating that the Daily Mirror announced the marriage of Miss Gertrude Langtry and Lance-Corp. Locquelle of the Canadian army, and describing Miss Langtry as the adopted daughter of Frederick W. Vanderbilt of New York, denial was made today by Mr. Vanderbilt that Miss Langtry was his adopted daughter. He said he had no adopted daughter and had never heard of Miss Langtry.

HERE'S A SECRET

If you want to cure that skin disease of yours, you can only do so by using an ointment so refined as to be capable of penetrating to the root of the disease. Zam-Buk is capable of doing this, whereas ordinary ointments remain on the surface skin.

Besides its wonderful power of penetration, Zam-Buk is such a strong germicide that germs cannot live where Zam-Buk is applied. Thus, all germs, both on the surface and in the underlying tissues, are destroyed. Then the herbal essences, of which Zam-Buk is composed, promote the growth of new tissue, and a complete and permanent cure is the result.

Prove it for yourself. All druggists, 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

17,813 Canadians in Hospitals or Sanatoria in Britain.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—Of the boys whom Canada has sent to the front, 8,840 are now enrolled in the Canadian military hospitals for treatment and re-education, according to the last report of the military hospitals commission, dated August 15.

Of these, 7,046 are in convalescent homes, and 1,115 are tuberculosis cases in the sanatoria provided by the military hospitals commission for their treatment. The remaining 679 are chiefly in general hospitals. The increase in the total population of the various hospitals over last week is only 29.

The latest return from the director of medical services in London indicates that on August 10 the Canadian soldiers being cared for in the hospitals and sanatoria in the United Kingdom were 17,813.

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight.

Good Advice for Thin Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Saltogyn. The best strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is indorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere.

A month's systematic use of Saltogyn should produce flesh to the extent of at least 10 pounds of correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly-concentrated fates to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided.

NOTE.—While Saltogyn has given excellent results in the treatment of nervous indigestion, it should not be taken longer than five days at a time by those who are not willing to gain at least ten pounds in weight.

Standard Drug Company can supply you.

STOMACH TROUBLES DUE TO ACIDITY

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, and stomach-ache are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. UPROAR IN OTTAWA HOUSE AS CLOSURE IS APPLIED BY GOVT. TO PUSH C. N. R. BILL THROUGH

Sir Thomas White Invokes "Gag" Rule at 10 p.m.—Protests To No Avail—Election Is Near, and MacKenzie & Mann Want Funds.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The bill for the purchase of the Canadian Northern Railway is to be put through by closure. The Government applied the "gag" tonight for the benefit of Mackenzie & Mann. It is predicted that, under the valuation plan, the people of Canada will be called to pay Mackenzie & Mann fifty million dollars for their stock shares in the Canadian Northern Company.

With an election coming on it appears the desire of the Administration to put Mackenzie & Mann in possession of funds. Therefore the closure is being applied to get the bill through the House. The measure has been under debate for a little more than a week. The Opposition has been demanding information as to the details of the Mackenzie & Mann financing. Some of this the finance minister has given and some he has not yet produced. The bill has had second reading, but has made no progress in committee.

Closure Is Invoked.

At 10 o'clock tonight the finance minister, after a long statement on the Canadian Northern, said to the House:

"This bill and the resolution preceding it have been under discussion for many days in this House. The discussion, which has taken place today, is really discussion pointing to the second reading, rather than to the first clause of this bill. We have made no progress in committee. The transaction, of course, is important, but unless members of Parliament are going to be here all summer, we must make progress. I therefore beg to move that further consideration of clause one be postponed, and clause two be taken up."

Dr. Pugsley: "Under what rule."

Sir Thomas White: "It's closure."

Chairman Is Primed.

Dr. Pugsley protested that a motion for the postponement of clause 1 could not be made without notice.

Chairman Rainville, who was presiding over the committee, and who had evidently been prepared for what was coming, read the closure rule and declared that no notice was required.

Dr. Pugsley appealed from the ruling of Chairman Rainville. In the meantime the Conservative members were warned of what was happening, and crowded in from the lobbies. Not all of them came, for some do not favor the bargain that the Government is insisting upon having Parliament ratify.

The speaker asked the House to vote upon the ruling of Chairman Rainville, and his decision was sustained by 42 to 24, a majority of 18. All the Conservatives in the chamber voted with the Government, and they were joined by Dr. Clark and J. G. Turriff.

Premier Is Present.

Premier Borden, who had been out of the chamber most of the day, came in just before Finance Minister White applied closure. He therefore shares in the second application of the gag to Parliament. The first application was for the enactment of the Borden naval bill. It was commented in the corridors after the vote that while closure was instituted and applied the first time for the construction of three dreadnoughts, the second application is for the benefit of two Canadian knightts.

When the chairman ruled that the motion of the finance minister should be accepted, Hon. Dr. Pugsley started to discuss the motion. Chairman Rainville informed him that the motion was not debatable. Dr. Pugsley continued to press for discussion, but the chairman insisted that he was not in order, and from the Government sides there were cries of "Sit down!" The situation promised to become rather tense, but the prompt decision of the well-drilled chairman, and the immediate appeal of Dr. Pugsley, largely reduced the proceedings to formality and routine.

Shut Off Again.

Immediately after the vote had been taken tahe second clause of the bill was called, and discussion was commenced by Dr. Pugsley.

The Government allowed the discussion on this clause to continue for 40 minutes. The instant that Dr. Pugsley sat down the finance minister moved the closure for the clause and it was carried. There was no appeal or second vote, and the motion of the finance minister terminating the discussion of clause 2 was declared "carried on division."

The division on the motion to sustain the ruling of the chair was followed by a division upon the motion of the finance minister for the application of the closure, and this was carried by a vote of 46 to 30, a majority of 16. The difference between the two was due to the fact that the second was taken in committee, where pairs do not count.

Turriff and Clark Jibed.

When Mr. Turriff stood to vote someone on the Liberal side of the House remarked audibly, "Clifford Sifton," indicating the close association of Sir Clifford and Mr. Turriff, and when Dr. Clark voted there were Liberal cries of "Why don't you go over where you belong?"

Before the closure had been applied Hon. Mr. Murphy, speaking from the Liberal side, had charged that Sir Thomas White had been appointed minister of finance by a capitalistic group associated with the Bank of Commerce, the Canadian Northern and the National Trust, of which latter company Sir Thomas had been the general manager before he entered the Borden Government.

Earlier in the day Dr. Pugsley gave denial to the newspaper report that the opposition of himself, Hon. Geo. P. Graham and other Liberals to the Canadian Northern agreement was due to the influence of the Canadian Pacific.

"I have no connection, direct or indirect with the Canadian Pacific. I have had no communication, direct or indirect, with the Canadian Pacific, or from any of its officials, in connection with the Canadian Northern bill," he said.

Third Gag Raises Storm.

On the consideration of clause three the storm broke and for a time eclipsed in violence the evidence of passion in the tempest that marked the closing hours of the naval debate four years ago. E. M. MacDonald and J. E. Marcil had spoken briefly to the clause when the finance minister moved its closure.

Dr. Pugsley and Hon. Rodolph Lemieux were on their feet at once, shouting protests at Chairman Rainville and declaring that he had deliberately turned his back on L. J. Gauthier of St. Hyacinthe, who was on his feet for the purpose of discussing the merits of the clause. They intimated that Chairman Rainville had ignored the Liberal member for the purpose of giving the finance minister the chance to apply the closure.

The chairman insisted that the finance minister had the floor.

Members Shouting.

Dr. Pugsley with great vehemence shouted that Mr. Gauthier should have the opportunity of giving his views on the clause, which was not as originally introduced, but contained new matter placed in it by the finance minister and providing that no more than $25,000,000 could be spent on the Canadian Northern without the authority of Parliament.

Sir Thomas White said that he had permitted two speeches on this clause and now wanted progress made.

"No chairman had the right to turn his eyes away from a member who desires to speak," declared Dr. Pugsley, stepping forward to the table where the chairman was seated, and shaking his fist with excitement. Then a roar arose from the two sides of the chamber, which was so loud and prolonged that only fragmentary remarks were audible.

Dr. Pugsley could be seen engaged in warm and intimate controversy with Chairman Rainville, who appeared to weaken before the attitude of the St. John member. In the meantime Mr. Gauthier could be seen at the back of the Liberal side, going through the motions of making a speech, while from the Government side there were cries of "Call the police!" "Gag them!" "Shut up!" "Rats!" "Throw them out!" "Conscript them!"

From the Liberal side, among the remarks heard were, "Shame!" "Cowards!" "Serve your masters, the big interests!" "Call in Mackenzie & Mann!" "Call in Sir Clifford Sifton!"

"I notified you that the member for St. Hyacinthe wanted to speak, and you replied in writing," shouted Mr. Lemieux in a passion during a momentary lull, shaking his finger at Chairman Rainville.

"The minister of finance rose first," said Chairman Rainville.

"No, and I notified you," cried Mr. Lemieux.

"He looks only at one side," said Hon. Mr. Oliver to the chairman.

Sir Thomas arose to speak and Mr. Gauthier arose at the same time and began speaking.

"Throw Him Out!"

"Stop him! Throw him out," came a roar of shouts from the Government side.

"Try it!" roared back the Liberals.

On both sides a dozen men were on their feet, lost in the excitement of the situation, and in the most hostile of attitudes.

"He's not to blame, he's only serving his bosses," said Mr. Gauvareau.

"He's got to put through the steal," came from the Liberal side.

"Shame," was roared from the Liberals and "Call the police," by Conservative members.

"Question."

"Question," shouted the Conservatives. "Shame!" shouted the Liberals.

"If the business of Parliament is to be conducted in this manner without the opportunity for discussion, we might as well go home said Dr. Pugsley.

"Well go home," was the reply from across the floor.

Dr. Pugsley declared that the Conservatives would vote for any motion that the Government chose to bring in, no matter how iniquitous it would be. Better if the members of parliament were away from Ottawa helping to harvest the crops. He said that the clause was new matter, that should be discussed, and that the finance minister was trying to jam it through without consideration.

Mr. Gauthier got the floor, and made a half hour's speech in French, after which the closure was applied to the clause.

This brought the House to clause four, the last in the bill. The last clause was closured at 1 o'clock in the morning by the motion that its further consideration be postponed.

Mr. Lapointe of Kamouraska read from Hansard a statement by the prime minister, when the resolution was being discussed, that a suggestion by Mr. Lapointe need not be then decided, as there would be ample opportunity for the consideration of the bill in committee.

The prime minister said he thought that there had been ample opportunity.

No Discussion.

Mr. Lapointe said that he had not been able to find it for the discussion he had been promised.

Sir Robert said that Mr. Lapointe had been interfered with in his desire by the great length of the speeches of his friends. He said there would be no such interference tomorrow, as the speeches would then be limited to 20 minutes each.

Mr. Lapointe replied that the twenty-minute limit, unfortunately, would also apply to him.

Tomorrow no speech may exceed twenty minutes and the last speech must be made by 2 a.m., as the rules require the debate to end at that hour.

When 2 o'clock comes closure silences speeches, and the motion that the bill be reported from committee must be voted on.

As the committee was rising the finance minister moved that the title of the bill stand.

"I have no objection to the title, therefore in amendment to the finance minister I move for its adoption," said Dr. Pugsley.

"I will vote for that," replied the finance minister, and the amendment was declared carried.

"Don't forget, Mr. Chairman, to report that we have made some progress with the bill," said Dr. Pugsley, with a smile.

The committee arose, reporting progress, and at 1:10 the House adjourned.

SHIPBUILDING WILL REPLACE MUNITIONS IN SOME FACTORIES

Sir Thomas White Replies to Question in House.

SOME SHOPS TO CLOSE

Other Concerns Will Run at Full Capacity, as Heretofore.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—Before the orders of the day were called W. F. Maclean of South York referred to a Toronto dispatch to the effect that the British food administrator had stated that the import of Canadian bacon and hog products will cease from this time forward. He asked if the Government had anything to say on the matter.

The prime minister stated that he knew nothing of the matter, excepting what he had seen in the papers.

Mr. Maclean also referred to the fact that it was reported that the purchase of munitions in Canada had largely ceased.

Sir Thomas White read a memo from the imperial munitions board, in which it was stated that toward the close of 1916 it was decided in Great Britain that it was no longer necessary to continue the purchase of munitions from the United States, excepting for a few special lines. Now it had been considered unnecessary to continue manufacture and purchase on the present scale in Canada. On certain lines a slackening down had been decided upon. In others a complete cutting off had been ordered, while in the case of others a continued output at the old rate had been decided upon. In some cases it would be necessary for firms to stop work.

Some to Build Ships.

Such firms, however, were in many cases now preparing for shipbuilding or other useful war work. In some cases night work would cease. In others the plants would continue at the usual capacity.

Sir Thomas stated that to date Canada had made advances to the imperial munitions board for the purchase of munitions in Canada to the amount of $285,000,000, while the banks had advanced $100,000,000.

LEMIEUX WILL CONTEST TWO SEATS IN ELECTION

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, who was postmaster-general in the Laurier Administration, will be the Liberal candidate in the new riding of Maisonneuve, the nomination to take place Wednesday night, and he will also stand for Gaspe, as in former years.

GOVERNMENT RAISES SOLDIERS' PENSIONS, LIVING IS SO HIGH

Increases to Be Made Immediately After Prorogation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—Pensions of the Canadian soldiers are to be increased.

The prime minister stated that the increases would be made immediately after the prorgation of Parliament.

The pensions will be on a percentage basis. The increases are to enable Canadian soldiers who have returned wounded, or the Canadian dependents of soldiers killed at the front, to meet the increased cost of living.

The permanent basis of the pensions for the soldiers and their dependents, the prime minister stated, would be left for the consideration of the new parliament when it came from the people.

To Mr. Pardee, the prime minister stated that the percentage of the pension increases had not yet been determined, but would be governed by the measure of increase in the cost of living.

CASUALTY LISTS IN DISTRICT ARE AMONG HEAVIEST SINCE WAR BEGAN

Equal, if Not Exceed, Those Which Followed Vimy Ridge.

CITIES ARE HARD HIT

Stratford Has 9 Casualties, Chatham 10, Woodstock 7.

NOTED ATHLETE KILLED

Acting Major Lowe, M.C., of Stratford, Makes Supreme Sacrifice on Field.

Rivalling, if not surpassing, in size the ominous roll of casualties which followed the Vimy Ridge engagements, the Western Ontario casualty list of yesterday is one of the heaviest of the war. From cities, towns and villages all over the district come reports of the official war office messages which chronicle the death or wounding of some dear one on the firing line.

Whether Monday's reports can be taken as any criterion or whether the heavier toll of those "killed in action" will come later is problematical. However, the relative proportion of killed to the men listed as wounded is one that will be gratifying to Western Ontario.

In the names of the dead are many prominent men, men who have made their mark in the world of sports and business.

As usual, the cities were hard hit. Woodstock had 7 casualty reports, Galt 3, St. Thomas 7, Stratford 9, Chatham 10, Ingersoll 4, Tillsonburg 6, and others in like proportion.

NINE STRATFORD CASUALTIES.

STRATFORD, Aug. 27.—Stratford and surrounding district is commencing to feel the effect of the present struggle around Lens, and today no less than nine casualties are reported locally. Of these two have been killed, and the other seven more or less seriously injured.

The news of the death in action on August 21 of Acting-Major James Watt Lowe was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe, 45 Crooks street, this morning, and has cast a gloom over the city, as the young officer was well known here. Popular in sports and in the greater game of the defence of his country, his death is a great shock to the community. A Stratford boy known almost to everyone, he carried with him when he left the good wishes of the community, and the subsequent honors and promotions which he earned were learned with universal pleasure. He was a popular officer and almost idolized by the men under his command. "Brave Jimmie" they called him.

Acting-Major Lowe won the Military Cross for conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty on the field. Although modest about his achievements, his bravery in action was well known and praised by his comrades writing home. He went overseas with the 71st Battalion as a lieutenant, but won quick promotion.

Major Lowe was born in Stratford and attended the local schools and the Stratford collegiate institute, and later went to the School of Pharmacy in Toronto, becoming a graduate druggist, being a member of the drug firm of Nasmyth & Lowe when he enlisted. He took an active interest in sports, being particularly good in hockey and football. For several years he played on the Stratford teams, being captain one year, and was a general favorite with the fans. He was a member of the Artista Club and active in its circles, as well as in others of the young people of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt, 102 Grange street, were notified late Saturday night that their son, Pte. Cecil George Wyatt, had been killed in action on August 16. He was born in Goderich but spent most of his boyhood days in the city attending the public school and collegiate institute here. He later moved to Elmira and entered the employee of the Royal Bank. It was while on a visit to his home that he enlisted with the A.M.C., with which unit he went to France. He transferred to the 16th Battalion. He is survived, besides his parents, by three sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Dr. H. W. Baker of Stratford, Lillian of Toronto, and Reta at home, William, who has been drafted in the United States army, of Detroit, and Harold and Russel at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wraith, 14 Argyle street, received word this morning that Pte. Percy E. Fry, their adopted son, was dangerously ill in the 18th General Hospital at Camieres with a gunshot wound in the arm. Pte. Fry worked in the Grand Trunk shops prior to enlisting with the 71st Battalion.

Mrs. Albert Smithers, 481 Ontario street, was informed that her husband, Pte. Albert Smithers, had been admitted to the 1st South African Hospital at Abbeville on August 16 with a gunshot wound in the knee. Pte. Smithers enlisted with the 71st Battalion and has served in the trenches for some time. He has two sons also in the army. Pte. Henry Smithers went overseas with an Engineers' battalion, and has been in France for seventeen months. Pte. Alfred William Smithers is in England with the 215th Battalion. Pte. Smithers is an old soldier, having served six years and 100 days in India and two years in South Africa.

Wounded in the knee, but remaining on duty," was the message received by Thomas Hoyle, 107 Bay street, of his son, Pte. Francis Hoyle. Pte. Hoyle enlisted with the Army Medical Corps and in France served with the 2nd Field Ambulance. Another son of Mr. Hoyle went overseas with the original 1st Battalion and has been wounded three times, now being confined to Hammersmith Hospital in London, England, with a gunshot wound in the right knee.

Pte. Brickman, who is reported wounded today, is well known in Stratford. He enlisted with the 74th Battalion in Toronto and went overseas about two years ago. He was wounded on August 15. A brother, J. Brickman, resides on St. Patrick street.

Pte. Victor S. Ham, who suffered a gunshot wound in the left arm, resulting in a compound fracture, was admitted to the 1st Canadian General Hospital at Etaples on August 15. He enlisted with the A.M.C. in London, and prior to that worked at the Ehyte Packing Company. His mother and sister reside on Ontario street.

Mrs. John Carey, 103 Hibernia street, received word that her husband, Pte. John Carey, had been admitted to the 3rd General Hospital, Letreport, August 13, with a gunshot wound in the left arm. Pte. Carey was an electric welder in the Grand Trunk shops before enlistment with the 71st Battalion.

Pte. Charles Gibson, whose name appears among the local casualties today, cannot be located here. His next of kin is given as Mrs. McKinley, but no person of that name is known here.

An official message to Mr. Gibbard, Douglas street, informs him that his son, Pte. Walter Gibbard, who on July 9 was reported dangerously ill, is now out of danger. Pte. Gibbard went overseas with the bugle band of the 71st Battalion. He is still confined to the 26th General Hospital at Etaples.

A private message to Mrs. J. R. McDonald, 293 Albert street, stated that her son, Pte. Dan McDonald, had been wounded on August 15, no particulars of the nature of his hurts being given. The wounded soldier is a brother of the late Pte. John McDonald, who was killed in action. At the time of Pte. McDonald's death, Dan was severely shocked and spent some time in the hospital, but later returned to the front.

WOUNDED IN KNEE.

KINCARDINE, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Wm. R. Graham received word here today that her son, Pte. Robert Graham, had been wounded in the knee from gunshot. Pte. Graham was a former Kincardine boy, but enlisted at Hamilton.

SIX FROM TILLSONBURG.

TILLSONBURG, Aug. 27.—Not since the notable fighting at Vimy Ridge has so heavy a casualty list been received here over the week-end. Six men who enlisted here in "C" Company, 168th Oxfords, are reported wounded on August 16.

John Foreman received official word that his son, Pte. Norman Foreman, had been admitted to the General Field Ambulance with gunshot wounds in the left arm.

Mrs. R. Beckett received official word that her son, Pte. Harold Kyte, had been admitted to the South African General Hospital, suffering from gunshot wounds in the left arm and leg. He was wounded at Vimy Ridge severely in the face and has only been in action a short time.

Mrs. Walter Emerson received official word that her husband, Pte. W. Emerson, No. 675751, had been admitted to the casualty clearing station with gunshot wounds in the left arm and face.

David Armstrong, two miles west of the town, received official word that his son, Pte. Clarence Armstrong, had received gunshot wounds in the right arm. He was a former well-known employee in the local Bell Telephone office.

Mrs. Florence West received official word that her son, Pte. John West, had been admitted to the South African Hospital, suffering from gunshot wounds in the wrist.

Mrs. B. Mathews received official word that Pte. Chancey Matthews had been admitted to No. 11 General Hospital on August 16, with gunshot wounds in the right arm.

LONDON SOLDIER ILL.

KINCARDINE, Aug. 27.—Word was received here today by John Riggin that his son, Clare Riggin, was seriously ill at Bramshott Camp, England. Clare Riggin when he enlisted was in the Government postal service in London, Ont. He was an exceptionally fine type of young man.

SHELL CONCUSSION.

THORNDALE, Aug. 27.—Pte. Freeman Duffin, son of Thomas Duffin of the third concession, West Nissouri, has been wounded. His father has been officially advised that he was taken to Kentfield Ambulance Hospital on August 17, suffering from shell concussion.

Pte. Duffin enlisted with the 135th Battalion, and went overseas with that unit. He has been on active service in France since last fall.

CONDITION IS SERIOUS.

APPIN, Aug. 27.—Word was received here that Pte. William Hopkins has been severely wounded. He is at present in the hospital in France, suffering from a shrapnel wound in the foot.

ENLISTED IN VANCOUVER.

TEESWATER, Aug. 27.—Pte. Charles Yeo of this place, who enlisted in Vancouver, is reported wounded. His father received an official telegram last night, saying that he was suffering from gunshot wound, and had been received at the Canterbury Military Hospital.

D. S. O. WINNER RETURNING.

SARNIA, Aug. 27.—George A. Crawford, 153 S. Christina street, has received word that his son Arthur has arrived in Halifax, and will arrive home on Wednesday. "Art," as he is familiarly known, enlisted with the Signalling Corps, and has been on active service for some time. On one occasion he was slightly wounded, and in recognition of his valiant services, he was commissioned a lieutenant, and was later awarded a Distinguished Service Order for bravery, to which was later added an additional bar for splendid service.

No reasons for his return have been given, and this was the first intimation recived by his father of his return to Canada.

WOUNDED AND ILL.

STRATHROY, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Baker, wife of Pte. W. W. Baker, received word this morning that her husband has been wounded by gunshot in the left leg and arm. He is reported now as seriously ill in a hospital in France.

TEN IN CHATHAM LIST.

CHATHAM, Aug. 27.—That the members of the first draft of the 186th Kent Battalion who recently crossed into France are in the thick of the fighting on the western front is indicated by the fact that relatives of ten of the Chatham men received telegrams today advising them of casualties. Included in the number are Pte. Alvin Stewart, Pte. Bryce Dunlop, Lance-Corp. Marshall, Pte. Clifford Collop and Pte. Clingersmith, the latter being reported killed in action.

WOUNDS PROVE FATAL.

CLINTON, Aug. 27.—John Brown of Clinton received the news yesterday that his son, Samuel H. Brown, was dead as a result of wounds received in a recent engagement in France.

A previous message had been received saying he was dangerously ill in a French hospital suffering from gunshot wounds in the face.

Pte. Brown enlisted with the 161st Hurons, and went to France with one of the first drafts.

SEVEN WOODSTOCK TOLL.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 27.—The local casualty list was a heavy one again today, but of the seven official messages recounting mishaps to Woodstock soldiers not one of them brought the dreaded news "killed in action."

One telegram was an amplification of one received earlier. It announced that driver Frank Brabyn, of the 55th Battery, formerly reported wounded, was dangerously ill from the effects of multiple wounds.

In the case of another telegram also it was the second of its kind to be received by the same family within a few days. Not long ago Mrs. Henry Bottoms was notified of the wounding of her son, Pte. Arthur Bottoms; today another son, Pte. Edward B. Bottoms, of the 168th Battalion, was reported wounded in the face. Mrs. Bottoms also received a letter from Edward, dated August 6th, explaining how Arthur came to be wounded on July 26th. He was struck by pieces of a shell, his helmet dented, his tunic torn and his respirator broken in two, but he was on duty at the time his brother whote.

Sergt. Alfred Thornton went overseas with the 18th Battalion and until August 17th, although he had been at the front more than two years and had been through some of the hottest engagements of the war, had escaped all the ills to which soldiers in action are heirs. On the date mentioned, according to a message received by his wife today he was hit by gunshot in the hand.

Three other messages addressed to local families could not be delivered because the addresses could not be located, and so far inquiries have failed to identify the men reported. They are Pte. George Lloyd Thompson, who has gunshot wounds and whose relatives are absent from the city address given in the directory; Pte. Edmund Clarence Smith, suffering from gunshot wounds in the neck; and Pte. Charles Hugh Walker, who has sustained gunshot wounds in the head.

The one other official message was received here and transmitted to Mrs. Graham McKay of Embro. It announced that her son, Pte. Arthur Stanley McKay, who went overseas from Calgary with a recent battalion and was transferred to an Imperial unit, had sustained a wound in the legs.

ONE KILLED; SIX WOUNDED.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 27.—The St. Thomas casualty list today is a heavy one and includes one soldier killed in action.

Private advices from England to relatives of Pte. Henry Farr, announce that he was killed in action on July 13. The official message was sent to the next of kin in England.

Sergt. Major John Richard Clements, 45 Antrim street, was wounded in the head by gun shot on August 16.

Pte. Stanley Lawrence, 169 Wellington street, is reported wounded in the hands by gun shot on August 18.

Four former members of the 91st Battalion are listed as wounded. They are:

Pte. Wallace Norton, 17 Wawa street, reported wounded in the hand by gunshot on August 15, and sent to the 1st South African hospital.

Pte. William Smith, 70 St. Catherines street, wounded in the right arm with gunshot. Admitted to No 22 clearing station on August 15.

Pte. Fred Ackworth, 615 Talbot street, wounded by a gas shell on August 19.

THREE REPORTED WOUNDED.

GALT, Aug. 27.—Rev. Jas. Strachan, pastor of the Baptist Church, received word this morning that his brother, Corp. Andrew Delgamo Strachan, formerly of Galt, had been admitted to No. 22 General Hospital at Camieres, France, on August 16, suffering from a gunshot wound in the left leg. The wounded soldier enlisted here with the 18th Battalion and before donning the uniform was employed as a grocery clerk. He was wounded once before in the hand.

Mrs. R. Wilmer, Cambridge, learned that her son, 730480, Pte. Joseph R. Wilmer, aged 20, formerly of the 111th Battalion, had been wounded on August 15.

Pte. John Jamieson Stewart, whose next of kin lives on R. R. No. 1, was admitted to the 1st General Hospital on August 18 with gunshot wounds in the right arm, side and face.

DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED.

WHEATLEY, Aug. 27.—P. J. Willan received a telegram from Ottawa this morning that his son, Pte. Clifford Willan, was dangerously wounded on August 21. Pte. Willan went to England with the 186th Battalion in March, crossing to France in June.

His cousin, Pte. R. H. Willan, winner of the Military Cross, was also dangerously wounded on the 15th inst.

VON PAPEN IS DIRECTING SPIES IN BUENOS AIRES

Buenos Aires, Aug. 27.—Some of the newspapers insist that Franz von Papen, former German military attache at Washington, is directing the work of German spies here. Persons, whose veracity is not doubted, say the newspapers report having seen von Papen many times accompanying German propagandists and have so reported to the British consul.

KILLED BY ENGINE.

Hamilton, Aug. 27.—David Caplin, 430 Main street west, was killed at the Grand Trunk station between 12 and 1 o'clock this afternoon. He had gone to meet his wife, who was coming from Muskoka, and while crossing the tracks was run down by the engine which was returning.

MRS. SIMPSON HAD SUFFERED NEARLY HALF OF HER LIFE

Tried to Find Relief From Trouble For 25 Years.

LOST WEIGHT RAPIDLY

"I'm Feeling Better Since Taking Tanlac Than in Years," She Says.

"I have spent about half my life in a useless search for something that would relieve me of a chronic stomach trouble, and here the other day I just found what I needed in this Tanlac," said Mrs. Abigail Simpson, of 71 Ritchie street, Toronto, whose husband is an employee of the Canada Baking Company the other day.

"I never had much appetite," she continued, "and just had to force myself to eat enough to keep going. Most everything disagreed with me, and I suffered so from nausea that I had to be careful about what I ate. Often the least little thing would tear my stomach all to pieces, so I couldn't retain a thing, then I would be sick from nausea for a week at a time, would be limp as a rag, and often too weak and lifeless to do a thing. This has gone on for 25 or 30 years. My nerves were in such a wretched state that many a night I lay awake till 4 in the morning, and would get up later, feeling so heavy and stupid I could take no interest in anything. My liver was sluggish, my skin yellow, and I had a dull, mean headache most all the time. I was gradually wasting away, and got down from 125 to 95 pounds.

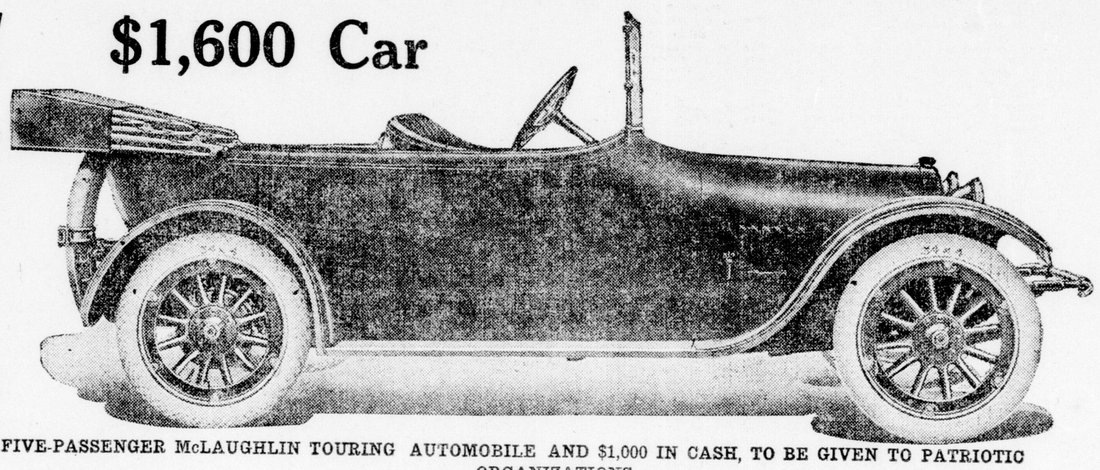

"In spite of all this I never gave up hope of getting well, and when I read of so many people praising Tanlac I sent for a bottle. I had hardly taken half of it before I saw it was straightening me up. I am feeling better since taking Tanlac than I had in years. Since finishing my second bottle I get so hungry sometimes that I am ashamed to eat enough to satisfy my appetite. My food tastes different, and I relish everything I eat and never have nausea or any other trouble. My liver is active, and that dull, sluggish feeling has passed away. I sleep now like a baby, and get up feeling fine and greatly refreshed. I am getting back strength and energy, and am able now to do all my own housework without getting tired. I have not weighed yet, so I can't say if I have gained anything or not, but from the way I feel I think I am picking up, and I am going to keep on with Tanlac as long as it does me as much good as it is doing now. I have just written to my sister in the States, telling her about Tanlac and advising her to take it."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the direction of a special representative, and by an established agency in every town.

PRACTICAL FOOD RESTRICTION THE ONLY KIND CANADA WANTS

Farmers, city dwellers, soldiers in training and all classes in the community are willing to do everything in their power to insure adequate food supplies for the men overseas. "The folks at home" wish to see the old country supplied with an abundance of food, and they realize that a large margin of safety in flour and meat must be provided, so that even after the submarines have taken their toll, there will remain a plentitude for the fighting men and the pent-up people of the homeland. Restrictions will be bravely faced, and the country as a whole will, as is decreed, be prepared for a half portion instead of a whole.

The men overseas, even the men in the trenches, and the men returned, while convalescing in England, know what it meant to face the British food regulations. All have taken their belts in a hole and gone hungry. In England one's meat and potatoes is doled out to him by the ounce. In the United States the proposal is for meatless days, for the preservation of the meat supply by means of preventing the slaughter of calves and lambs, for a universal saving of flour

In Canada the food restrictions up to the present have been warranted to provoke irritation and to save not little produce in the aggregate. Hon. Mr. Hanna seems to be attacking the question from the wrong angle. He has done nothing to curtail the slaughter of calves and lambs; he has not ordered a "meatless" day, which is the only sort of a "less" day that will count in the scale of this great war, which is vitally a battle of two food supplies. The imposition of the canned vegetable order is like shooting at an elephant with a popgun.

Mere carping criticism is not the thing. But Mr. Hanna must play the game with the public, with the man who works and not with the food interests, if he expects to win sympathy and co-operation. The public will respond as they have always responded in a patriotic cause if they feel that behind the order lies the desire to serve the nation and not the jobbers in the nation.

A single meatless day in Canada would probably save at least a half million pounds of meat. That would feed, not theoretically, but actually, at least a million persons across the ocean. In six months it would save 6,000 tons of meat. The same regulation applied to other foodstuffs, such as bread, cake, pastry, potatoes, would mean that Canada would supply thousand upon thousands of tons of food that could not otherwise be supplied. Another system would be to measure meat by ounces. This could be supplementary to meatless days, and there is no doubt that, especially in restaurants and hotels, a great wastage would be stopped.

The Allies need millions of bushels of wheat from Canada and the United States. The North American continent is practically the only source of supply for the fighting nations of the west front. The food question is of tremendous importance; the submarines make it of paramount standing. It must not be fiddled with. If Canada is expected to buckle its belt, the spirit will be willing. But it does not wish to buckle the belt only to find the maternal stomach may be stuffed as full as ever. Buckling one's belt is much more uncomfortable on a full stomach than on an empty one.

And, on the other hand, what will Mr. Hanna do to help out on high prices? Must all surpluses of food go to the packing houses? Why shouldn't the public be given a chance to pack its own eggs in September, for instance? Let us get back to old-fashioned methods for a time. Let the packers be told that the public is going to have its chance to conserve and to buy at prices that do not threaten to reach the dollar mark this winter. Let every man be given a chance to buy, and let the markets be closed to the packers for one month The farmer would not object to this, and the workingman would have a chance to get eggs for the winter at the September price, rather than the December, the January and the February price. Unless some steps such as the one indicated is taken the humble hen fruit will soar to $1.00 per dozen this winter, according to information received, that may be regarded as reliable.

Mr. Hanna must get down to practical restriction. His present regulations are ineffective, and for the most part designed to make a laughingstock of the most serious question the Empire has to deal with at the present time.

CANADA'S "EASY BOSS."

THE COUNTRY does not want Sir Robert Borden as premier of Canada, and it is quite probable that Sir Robert Borden does not desire to be premier any longer.

In many respects he has measured up to his task; in many other respects he has failed to strike at the critical moment. If anything, he has been "the easy boss," easy with Hughes, easy with Allison, easy with Rogers, easy with the Ross rifle—a man who was too much prejudiced to the belief that the party to which he was expected to give leadership could do no wrong. Even today there are grave questions on which the premier gives no sign of applying the required action. The public today wonders how much of C. N. R. and how much of conscription is mixed into the present desire to achieve union government with Tory control. The Liberal party is suspicious of some of the men who have gone over. It does not question the motives of others. It has had no opportunity of getting at the inside of war contracts of the present day and war administration. Perhaps every man would stand back in horror if he knew what was being perpetrated, while the "Easy Boss" was letting the elect, the Perleys and the Fiavelles, go on with their business. How about the constant "scrapping" of Canadian equipment carried by the Canadian soldier to England and discarded there?

Liberalism should beware of the entanglements of a war cabinet that cleaves to the old crowd and the "Easy Boss."

TIME FOR A CHANGE.

IT IS NO BED OF ROSES to which Canada calls a leader at Ottawa. It is an Augean stable, such as Hercules cleaned out. About a dozen things have to be done or undone at once.

Grafters have to be turned back and told, as the French said of the Germans at Verdun: "They shall not pass." The C. N. R. conspiracy should be nipped in the bud. Taxation and conscription must be fairly administered. Food control should be real and not a mere pretence; hit the combines and cut out the waste of food in the manufacture of useless liquor. The war must be honestly and efficiently prosecuted to a winning finish.

Occasional letters and editorials appear on the subject of the drink scandal. Nothing can be more scandalous than to snatch bread out of our mouths in order that, the more wheat going across the ocean, just so much more barley and oats may be reserved over there for beer-making. It is infamous that we should pay increasing prices for sugar, partly because great quantities of that article continue to be allowed to go into liquor. Mr. Hanna and other powers at Ottawa pay no attention to the criticisms on this score. They do not even deign to defend their course of inaction in regard to this great crying evil of food destruction for the manufacture of drink.

Any honest administration of our food problem must put down the big concerns which have us by the throat, and are apparently represented by the Borden Government. Of these concerns the liquor interest is one of the greatest and one of the most hostile to all our welfare. Will the Canadian electorate be bamboozled by the announcement that "The Fiddlers" was prohibited in this country simply because of some exaggerations in it of the drink and social evils in the army abroad? The liquor interests are allowed to publish and circulate broadcast the most fantastic lies. Must a lot of truth on the other side, if it chance to fall into an exaggeration or two, be put under the ban? A celebrated philosopher gave the advice that if a man tends to fall into one he should lean a little towards the opposite and so strike the golden mean of right and truth. "The Fiddlers" does not begin to compare, from any report, with the liquor literature in perversion, and as for sheer mendacity, that will not be associated with the name of Mr. Arthur Mee, the author. It is more than time that a discredited Government made way for men who will be less subservient to the food and drink profiteers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Scrap Laurier," cries a Conservative paper of the "rag" variety. Why "scrap" him if he is such an asset to your party?

Verdun and Ypres are the two points which the kaiser ordered to be taken at any cost. Can he yet disillusion himself with hopes of victory after surveying the results?

The shadow of the casualty list falls darkly over Canada once again, and Death treads upon the thresholds of many London homes to bring a message of conquest in a far-off country. But as the Sombre Angel comes, a flash of golden light, the glory of a sacrifice for all mankind, breaks through the veil. They live, these sons of London who are struck down in the war against war. We have known them, we could not know them better, they could have done no more had they lived into centuries, and the tale is told in wondrous whispers down through the generations.

TWELVE NOON.

By Isabel Frost.

It had never seemed quite so hard as that Saturday morning. For over a year, Tess had worked in the big paper box factory on MacDougal street, carrying tall piles of boxes back and forth as they were finished by the older "hands," and ready for the packers.

She was fifteen when she started in, and the $4 a week had seemed so much to the little family tucked away in three rooms on Sullivan street. With her mother and Danny helping, too, it wasn't hard to get along at all, and when the weather was good they all went over into Washington square at night to rest and dream awhile.

But up in the factory the other girls had never admitted her into that inner circle of friendly intimacy that always exists where there are fellow workers. Perhaps it was because she wasn't pretty. The first week she had gone there, Carl, the shipping clerk, had sized her up jocularly and remarked that "she'd be some frost at the Winter Garden with that face hung on her."

Tess had heard and hated him with all her heart, even while the hot tears filled her eyes, and she bit her lip to keep back the swift retort. She had taken a good look at herself in the little crooked mirror over the wash basin where the girls put on their hats, and it was perfectly true. She wasn't a bit pretty. She didn't know how to do her hair attractively and in style, and she had freckles, and her mouth was too large. There was no one to tell her that her eyes were big and lustrous, and her complexion clear and pink. When she smiled there was a charm that brightened her whole face. It came as a birthright from a mother who had been born near Killarney. But Tess only saw the red hair and freckles, and hated them with all her heart.

The next year it was much worse. The boys and girls in the factory formed a social club, and gave little dances and picnics, and Tess was left out with old Julia, the scrubwoman, and Lizzie, the little hunchback sorter of labels. She tried to think she didn't care, but when Tom Blake came to work on the freight elevator, she knew she did. She'd have given everything she owned to make Tom look at her as he looked at some of the other girls, and especially Telka.

Telka was one of the experienced hands on bridal cake boxes. She pasted on the satin striped paper and the delicate, frostlike lace linings, and always sang as she worked. She was from Northern Hungary, with the mystery of the Magyars in her curious, attractive eyes and slow smile. Once when one of the boys had tried to kiss her she had slapped him, and when he hurled a choice bit of good old Bowery "call down" at her return, Telka had promptly seized her scissors and chased him downstairs into a corner until he begged her pardon.

The second week, as Tess was going down on the freight elevator at noontime, Tom took a bunch of flowers from a pasteboard shoe box at his feet and gave them to Telka. They were not city flowers, Tess could tell that. There was a whiff of rose geranium and sweet alyssum, with heliotrope and mignonette.

"We live up in Fordham," Tom said. "Mother picked that bunch for me this morning from her garden. Like it?"

Telka smiled, her face behind the flowers. Surely she liked them. Tess watched them both with a little heartache of curiosity. What was this love that bloomed overnight like a flower itself and brought the lustre to the eyes and the color to the cheeks of girls like Telka? When the Hungarian girl got off at the sixth floor, Tom turned and saw his other passenger, her arms full of boxes as usual.

"Hello, kid," he said happily. "Can I light a match on your hair?"

"Smarty," retorted Tess, hotly, and Tom looked at her twice. Dimples and red curly hair were not such a bad combination after all. Telka was drowsy and indolent in her ways unless roused to anger, but here was a girl with a bit of old Ireland in her makeup like a dash of pepper. The next day he brought some roses for Tess, but she was busy in the packing-room, and he gave them to Telka at the last moment. Then, when the days grew warm, the social club arranged for a Sunday outing up the Hudson. Tess heard the girls talking about it and planning. It seemed as if she could feel the weight of her own heart in her loneliness. If only there was someone who wanted her most of all, someone whom she wanted, too. Tom called to her as she went up the stairs Saturday morning, but she did not notice him. All at once she felt a great bitterness against the whole cruel pressure, the daily grind that ate up youth and happiness, the pitiful little four dollars that was due her that night, old Levinsky's face at the time clock when she rang up, Mrs. Guiltsky, the forewoman, giving out the work for the day—what was it all worth in the big count up of life?

That morning at breakfast her mother had been telling of her home in the old country, of the beautiful lakes of Killarney and the lifting glory of the hills around them. It seemed like another world to Tess from this narrow street filled with crowding Italian children, and the endless rows of factories and shops below Bleecker street.

She was thinking of this, hating her work, her companions, Telka's sleek, dark head, the sound of the machinery, everything in the place.

"We'll be let out at twelve noon today," the girl at the checking desk said. "Boss's got a soft heart, I guess, on account of the picnic. What you going to wear, Tess?"

Tess scowled. It was on the tip of her tongue to say she wasn't going. The clock over her head said ten minutes to 12. She caught up her last load of boxes and started for the inclosed wooden stairs. And half-way down she saw a little curling feather of smoke, hardly noticeable, only when you work in a paper box factory you grow to see such things very quickly. In ten minutes or less it would eat its way through and the wood partitions would blaze up like matchwood. Tess started at it, and then went deliberately on down to the second floor.

They would have their picnic without her, would they? They would laugh at her red hair and call her Irish, would they? She'd show them. It gave her the strangest, most wonderful thrill to know how she held the fate of the whole factory in her hands. Of course, they would get out in time. She just wanted to give them a good scare. All the time her last lot of boxes were being packed for shipment, she stood looking at the clock, counting minutes. Five, six, seven. Suddenly she turned and ran for the stairs. Levinsky called after her that the door was locked, she'd have to use the freight elevator if she wanted to go up. But that red hair was not without its own significance. Tess reached the little fire alarm box by the door and before anyone could stop her she had smashed the glass and turned the key around.

Twelve noon found the girls making for the stairway in a panic of fear, the fear of the paper box worker. And the stairs were filled with the peril of death, rising clouds of choking smoke that drove them back. Tom's voice above all called them to the freight elevator, and Tess was leading them like a lot of sheep to safety, when she missed Telka. She went back into the smoke just as the firemen came on a run.

It was Tom who found her, still gripping the fainting girl in her strong young arms, her ankle twisted in her fall; and he carried them both to safety. The next day as the steamer turned slowly up the river in the flood of late May sunshine Tess snuggled closer to the broad shoulder beside her. There had been a cheer given for the girl with the red hair who had given the alarm in time at twelve noon, but she hardly heard it. Her face was bent over a bouquet of rose geranium and heliotrope and mignonette from Tom's mother's garden in Fordham.

BORDER GUARD WHO STOPPED GENERAL NOW IN HOT WATER

Held Up Sir William Otter at Windsor Ferry.

WINDSOR, Aug. 27.—An over-zealous soldier, detailed for duty at the Windsor ferry dock, finds himself in an unpleasant position as a result of a visit to this city last week of Gen. Sir William D. Otter, of Toronto.

The soldier, Provost-Sergt. Milligan, of the 21st Regiment guard, whose duty it was to see that all males of military age were provided with passports before crossing the river, halted Gen. Otter, who was accompanied by Mayor C. R. Tuson. When the general explained that he had not provided himself with the document, and had told the soldier who he was, he attempted to board the ferry, but was detained for several minutes by the guard.

Milligan later, it is charged, when he realized what he had done, attempted to clear himself by communicating directly with the militia department, giving his side of the affair, instead of stating the case to Capt. Paddon, his commanding officerr.

Sergt. Milligan says his orders were clear, and that he only stopped Gen. Otter, as he would any other individual, until he was satisfied he had a right to cross into the United States.

ZANZOW COMMITTED ON MURDER CHARGE; COMES UP ON DEC. 3

Little New Evidence Adduced at Preliminary Hearing.

SARNIA, Aug. 27.—"Alex Zanzow, the charge against you is that on August 15 you did unlawfully murder one Frank Smith, contrary to the criminal code," said Magistrate Gorman in opening the preliminary hearing of the murder case which stirred Sarnia's foreign colony on August 15.

"You are not required to plead, as this is merely a preliminary hearing to take evidence," concluded the magistrate.

Crown Attorney Willson, called Wasel Spress, one of the participants in the fatal card game, to the witness box. Spress practically retold the story which was divulged at the coroner's inquest. The only new point brought out in cross-examination by John R. Logan, counsel for the defence, was that Smith had used an obscene expression to Zanzow, during the dispute over the card game.

W. L. Leigh, one of the constables who was called to the scene of the murder, was the next to testify. He was followed by Sidar Ostapanke, another eyewitness of the crime. A. Weir appeared on behalf of Wasel Spress, and G. M. Willoughby in the interests of Steve Scipaluk.

At the conclusion of the hearing Zanzow was committed to jail for trial at the fall assizes. The three witnesses, Wasel Spress, Sidar Ostapanke and Steve Scipaluk were released on their own bonds to appear at the trial, which will be held on December 3.

SARNIA TUG SINKS IN GEORGIAN BAY; CREW OF 6 SAVED

Tug James Reid Founders Near Byng Inlet.

SARNIA, Aug. 27. — A marine loss of between $75,000 and $80,000 was sustained by the Reid Wrecking Company of Sarnia when the tug James Reid, one of the largest boats of its kind on the lakes, went to the bottom while crossing Georgian Bay, near Byng Inlet, on Sunday night. The boat carried a crew of six men, all of which were saved. No details of the sinking are obtainable.

The Reid has been engaged in towing log rafts this season, and was on her way to Spanish River when she went down.

The cause of the foundering is not known, but it is probable the lighter Manistique and another tug of the fleet will be sent to raise the foundered tug.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S ANSWER TO POPE IS ABOUT FORMULATED

Has Agreed With Lansing Regarding Basic Features.

SOME PHASES SUITABLE

Overtures Will Not Be Accepted, Nor Flatly Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Signs were in evidence today of the completion of President Wilson's reply to the peace proposals of Pope Benedict at an early date. Officials freely conceded the probability of the early completion of the communication, indicating that the President and Secretary of State Lansing at least have agreed upon the basic features of the reply, so that what remains to be done is to put these ideas into diplomatic language. It is understood that drafts of some important points already have been prepared.

So far no authorized statement has been forthcoming as to the nature of the reply. Officials even deprecate speculation concerning it, and there has been formal denial of a published report that Secretary Lansing had informed some of the Entente diplomats that Pope Benedict's proposals would be rejected.

Acceptance Not Likely.

No official opinion exists that the proposals will be accepted, but in diplomatic practice there is a wide field for discussion between the two extremes of rejection and acceptance. The fact that Pope Benedict, as was pointed out by a statement from the Vatican, in some of the most important features of his communication adopted principles enunciated by President Wilson, is regarded in some quarters as insuring the peace proposals against an unqualified rejection, even in the most polite and diplomatic language.

On the other hand, the failure of the Pope's plan to meet some of the essential demands of President Wilson, as a condition of peace, is regarded as making it certain that there can be no acceptance.

Much of the uncertainty here surrounding the preparation of the American reply has arisen from the fact that the major part of the negotiations upon this subject has been conducted in foreign capitals, through resident American ambassadors. In the early stages some attempts were made by the Entente diplomats in Washington to ascertain the probable nature of the American reply. But these were generally unsuccessful, not from any disposition on the part of the officials of the state department to deny their confidence to the foreign representatives, but for the reason that until he had developed the views of the Entente chancellors, President Wilson was maintaining an open mind on the subject.

ONE MAN KILLED, ANOTHER MAY DIE IN KENT ACCIDENTS

Concrete Co. Employee Fatally Crushed by Falling Tile.

CHATHAM, Aug. 27—William Gaudion was almost instantly killed at the plant of the Canadian Concrete Products Company in this city when he was pinned beneath an 1,800-pound culvert tile which he was assisting in loading on a flat car at the company's siding. Gaudion was standing on the side of the car. While the derrick was lowering the tile the chain broke without warning, knocking him off the car. The tile fell on top of him, causing terrible bruises, from which he expired about half an hour later.

SHOCK MAY CAUSE DEATH.

CHATHAM, Aug. 27.—Walter Stanbridge, an employee of the Ontario hydro-electric commission, was seriously if not fatally injured at the Kent station, just outside of the city, this morning, when he accidentally touched a high voltage wire. His hands and body were badly burned as a result of the contact, and it is not known whether he will recover or not.

GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO PRODUCE REPORT MADE BY DR. BRUCE

Sir Sam Hughes' Curiosity Will Not Be Satisfied by Premier.

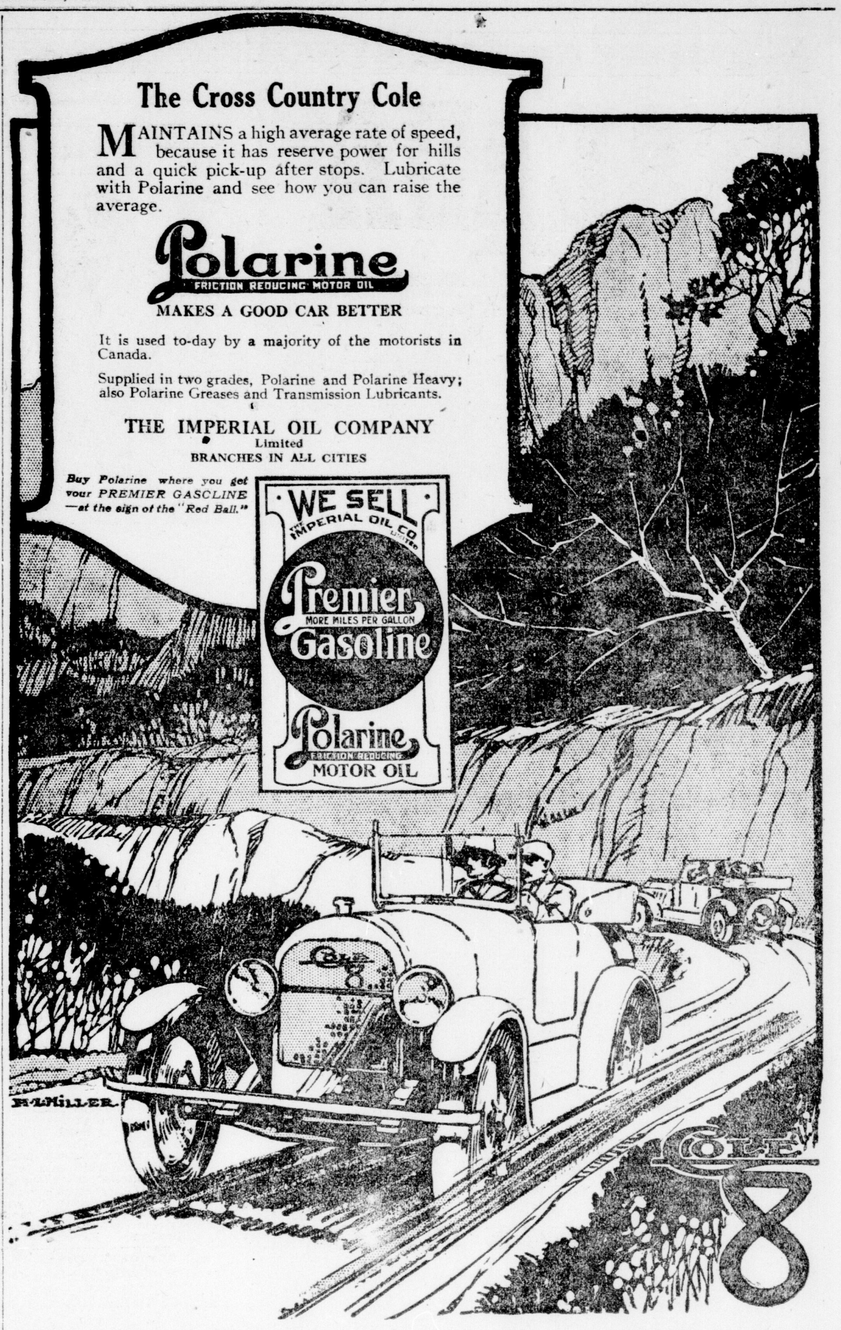

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—There is to be no production of the Dr. Bruce report that Sir Sam Hughes has been asking for so long. The prime minister today stated that the request had been given consideration and that the Government did not think the report should be tabled in Parliament. Dr. Bruce, who made the report, had been transferred to the British medical service, so the consent of the imperial authorities should be secured before the report was tabled.

The prime minister announced that he had received a cable from Sir George Perley that there had been no such increase by Sir George in the London staff as General Hughest stated had been made. He stated that the staff on December 1 last numbered 125 officers and 566 of other ranks and civilians.

General Hughes arose in the House and said that Sir George had not given a full statement.

The speaker ended the discussion by declaring Gen. Hughes out of order.

DIES OF BULLET WOUND WHILE HIS COMPANION IS BRINGING PHYSICIAN

Tragedy in Quebec Woods on Eve of Camping Party.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 27.—C. D. Duford, a barber of Lenoxville, Que., went into the woods at Island Dock yesterday with a companion, W. Frelau, to prepare a camp for a party that was expected a few days later. Frelau had a 22-calibre rifle with him. He slipped in crossing a log, and Duford was shot in the leg by an explosive bullet, about five inches of bone being blown away. Frelau tied a shoelace around the wounded leg with a view to stopping the flow of blood, then went four miles for assistance. Some hours afterwards, when a doctor reached the scene, Duford was beyond help. He died shortly afterward. Coroner Bachand presided at an inquest today, when the jury decided that death was accidental.

CEETEE UNDERCLOTHING

Guaranteed Not To Shrink.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Clothes for School.

Dear Miss Grey and All,—Am sending a stamped addressed envelope and wish you to send me the name of some soldier boy who would like to receive letters full of cheery news from a happy country girl. Perhaps you know some who are lonesome, and those are the ones that need letters to cheer them, for it is certainly a great place to get homesick over across the ocean. Now for a question or two before I close if my letter's not too long now.

1.—What do you think of this scribbling and what do you imagine my age might be?

2. I am III form at school. What clothes would you think necessary to buy in the fall term?

3. How should you introduce a young lady sixteen years of age—"Miss Myrtle Jones this is Miss so and so," or Just "Miss Jones, this is Miss so and so." How old should a girl be before her christian name is dropped in giving introductions? I must close with tons of love to all the Pageites and 'specially you, from

"JEFF'S SWEETHEART."

Ans.—A lonely lad's name has been mailed you, little country girl, and I am sure he'll find your letters cheery. You write nicely—a very dainty hand—but please, please, do not impose on me the task of guessing ages!

2. I wish you had said whether you were to board away from home or not during the school term. Since you are a country girl, I fancy you must, and probably like to "stock up" fairly well at the beginning of the season. It is difficult, too, to advise anyone, not knowing the state of her purse, but perhaps you may find a thought or two here. We'll assume you have given your stock of underwear and hosiery a thorough going over. For this is a most important need of every school girl. Next, for the every day clothes, decide whether you are to have a suit for autumn or a separate coat, and also about your heavy coat for winter. Especially neat and youthful are the belted-in styles for coat, suit, or dress. Navy serge has evidently not found its equal for service in schoolroom or office. A girlish suit of navy serge and pretty sailor blouses or middies, of natural pongee, a one-piece dress of serge or worsted for the cold days of winter, and your heavy coat, should give you a good foundation for the season's outfit. If you can get a raincoat, it is a good purchase. Sensible shoes for school wear, and a plain hat, are best. You may need a "gym" suit, and a pretty dress for parties; a warm kimono or bathrobe is a necessity, too, especially if you are staying at a boarding-house.

3. Very often on the dignity of "Miss" in introductions is given to girls of 14 and 15, but preferably not until she has attained her 16th birthday, then she may be termed "Miss" in making introductions.

"Lassie's" Canning Method.

Dear Miss Grey.—Here I am in answer to your call in regard to the recipe for canning corn, peas, beans. I really cannot understand about the liquid of the beans and peas turning milky. Mine remain the same as when first put up. I asked a lady who has a large family and does up such a lot every year (and "Naomi," I just wish you could see her table full of peas and beans she has put up this summer from the same recipe, looks so nice, too). She told me her mother used the same recipe twenty years ago, and never had a jar spoil. She said her mother canned 22 quart jars of corn last summer from the same recipe, and they were just lovely in the spring, not one spoiled. I said, "'Naomi' surely could not have followed the recipe closely," and she told me that she only used half the quantity of sugar this summer for her beans, and they are keeping all right. She said, and I think, that the fault must be with the rubbers if they are not keeping. Of course, I did not say anything about rubbers and jars, one reads so much about that, but everything one cans must be perfectly clean, and the jars well cleaned and aired, and new rubbers used. If they spoil it must be the fault of the rubbers, for everyone who ever tried this recipe that I know of thinks it splendid.

I am more sorry than I can say if I have been the cause of "Naomi" losing her peas and beans, with the recipe (and I wish I had not sent it in), but believe me, Miss Grey, I would never have sent it if I did not think it good. I can assure you I have always had splendid success with it and never knew it to fail before. Perhaps if the peas and beans stay green and only the liquid turns milky they may keep. The liquid in mine stays clear. LASSIE.

Ans.—Dear "Lassie," we did not need your assurance that you had found the recipe satisfactory or would not have passed it on to others. Just where the trouble is would be hard to say, but anyway I am sure "Naomi," as well as I, hold you blameless. It is good of you to write giving assurance of the recipe being sent in good faith.

It Was an Advt.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would it be too much trouble to reprint something that was advised about a month ago, to use for the face instead of powder. It was dissolved in witch hazel. Also something to make the eyebrows grow thick. I clipped both out, but took too much care of them. BROWN BETTY.

Ans.—I feel certain, "Betty," that both the items you refer to are advertisements of preparations, appearing on this page from time to time. Sorry not to be able to give you any information regarding same, but watch the page, the ad. is sure to appear again.

Have You Heard It?

Dear Cynthia Grey,—Can you tell me the name and the name and address of the publishers of the song in which the verses begin as follows: "Forgotten you? Well, if forgetting means—?"

Where should I address a letter to a lonely soldier?

Is newspaper and magazine illustration a profitable occupation for spare minutes? Can it be done at home?

I thank you in advance for your help. AUGUSTA.

Ans.—No, the lines are not familiar to me. Have you inquired at music stores?

2. Query not sufficiently definite. If you wish the address of a "lonely" it will have to be sent you by mail, not printed here.

3. Whether profitable would naturally depend, don't you think, upon the talent and originality of the artist? Certainly if you possess these qualifications it should become a profitable occupation for spare hours. Specimens of your work might be sent to the editors of various magazines.

Stains on Table.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have a polished oak table, and it has got stained by some hot dishes. Would you please tell me how to take the stains out? Hoping to see this in print, I remain.

A SILENT READER.

Ans.—From various members of our circle hints for removing white spots have been received at different times, and I have consulted some clippings on the subject. One recommends to wet a clean cloth in cold water, dip in baking soda and rub the spot well, then wipe with a clean cloth. Another way is to rub the spots with a rag wet with spirits of camphor and afterwards with furniture polish. Turpentine and sweet oil mixed in equal parts, apply with hard rubbing, wipe surface with cloth wrung out of warm water, dry and polish with soft cloths.

Cucumber Paste.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please tell me how to make a good cucumber paste or lotion that I could keep over winter, as cucumbers are now so plentiful. I have been using just the cucumber juice right along and it is really wonderful for whitening the skin.

BLUE EYES.

P.S. Also a good mayonnaise dressing.

Ans.—This cucumber paste is said to be really good, although it may seem a trouble to make. All the ingredients may be purchased at a drug store:

Wipe four large cucumbers and cut into small pieces. Do not remove the skin. Add 8 ounces of almond oil and keep very hot (but not boiling) for four hours. Strain through cheese-cloth and return to the stove. Add 1 ounce white wax, 2 ounces spermaceti and 2 ounces of lanoline. When dissolved add 2 ounces of Balsam of Peru and 1 ounce tincture of benzoin. Beat till creamy.

2. Mayonnaise Dressing—Yolk of one egg, 1 cup olive oil (or some use melted butter), ½ teaspoon salt, pinch cayenne, 2 tablespoons vinegar. Use a soup plate and silver fork to mix; have everything very cold. Beat egg yolk, adding seasoning, add oil, very slowly at first, and beat continually; as it thickens add a little of the vinegar, beat, then more oil, and proceed until all is used. Some add a half teaspoon mustard to the seasoning. If dressing curdles, slowly add another egg yolk, beating constantly.

PATRIOTIC LEAMINGTON WOMEN RAISE $300 BY ANNUAL GARDEN PARTY

Generous Response at Social to Buy Soldiers' Comforts.

LEAMINGTON, Aug. 27.—The I. O. D. E. held its annual garden party at Kitchener Place and the adjoining lawn of Mrs. Mary McIntyre on Saturday. The different booths were decorated with flags, bunting and Japanese lanterns. Hundreds of electric lights transformed the gardens into a regular fairyland. Pretty girls with great bunches of flowers for sale intermingled with the crowd.

Tents were erected under the cedar trees, and Misses Helen Coulson, Helen Easton and Mrs. Rickman charmingly dressed as gypsies told fortunes, past, present and future from teacups. Mrs. James Burgess served the tea.

Mrs. Borrowman and Mrs. Holton were conveners of the homemade candy booth, and were assisted by Mrs. King, Mrs. Lethgo, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Asken and Miss D. Falconbridge. The candy was delicious, and the ladies turned in $50.

The flower booth was a bower of beauty. Great bunches of gladiolus, asters, flax, sweet peas, in fact all the late summer flowers could be bought here. Mrs. Walter Stairs and Mrs. Henry looked after the flowers, and were assisted by Mrs. Easton, Mrs. R. Winter, Mrs. Louis Wigle, Mrs. Hewer and Miss C. Fuller. The flowers brought $23.

What the Leamington women can do in the line of needlework was fully demonstrated at the fancy-work booth, when the treasury was made richer by $70. Here Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. Anderson were conveners, and assisted by Mrs. Maxon, Mrs. Otton, Mrs. Edsall, Mrs. Snider, Mrs. Willoughby and Mrs. Knowlton.

Col. McGregor (the $500 rooster), presided over the vegetable booth. He is a majestic fellow of the famous Rhode Island Reds, and his loud crowing well advertised the vegetables. Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Conover waited upon the eager buyers, and later in the evening Dan Parker sold by auction the remaining vegetables, and a special bushel of potatoes, donated by W. T. Gregory. The potatoes sold for $8. The total proceeds were $56.

Although the evening was cool the ladies selling ice cream cones did wonderfully well. Mrs. Benson Cox, Mrs. Verner Fox, Mrs. S. Furgeson, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Purcell, Mrs. Wheeler and Miss Vera McSween sold cones, and $21 was added to the day's earnings.

The lunch was daintily served at small tables by Miss Burgess, Mrs. Poore, Mrs. D. Brown, Mrs. Willey, Mrs. Rymal, Mrs. W. D. Cox, Mrs. Marcotte, Mrs. Grant and Miss Grace Sanders. The amount received here was $38.

The "Lemon Lady" was fed by everyone. Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. Otton and Mrs. White handed out the prizes, and $35 more was added to the fund.

The proceeds from the different booths and the fortune telling made the grand total of $300.

During the evening the band gave a delightful concert. Mr. Leckie acted as chairman. Capt. Baxter, who is recently back from the front, spoke in glowing terms of the work of the Canadian soldiers in France, and of the Canadian women at home. Capt. Baxter left Windsor with the 99th Essex Battalion, and has had his share of severe fighting. Miss Helena Murdock of Toronto gave a patriotic reading, which was greatly appreciated. The hospitality of Mr. Gregory was everywhere evident. All the fruit, flowers, vegetables, candy and fancy goods was donated by the citizens of Leamington.

The Leamington boys "somewhere in France" will not be forgotten this Christmas time.

Mrs. L. J. Wright, regent of the Leamington Chapter, I. O. D. E., Mrs. Whitwam and Mrs. McSween, who had charge of the committees for the annual garden party, Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Link who so ably looked after the advertising, and all who assisted are being heartily congratulated upon its success.

GILLETT'S LYE

OUR ECONOMY CORNER

[Conducted by W. K. D.]

War Bread—This is a bread much used in Europe and known as a "war bread." Besides containing much nutriment it keeps a long time, being at its best several days after baking. It can be kept at least a week without becoming stale. Following are the proportions: ¼ pound rye flour, ¾ pound whole wheat flour, 3 pounds white flour, 1 quart water, ½ ounce yeast, ½ ounce salt.

Pea-Pod Soup—Wash pods thoroughly before removing the peas. Shell peas, retaining any that are too small to boil and throwing them into kettle with pea-pods. Allow two quarts of cold water to two quarts of pods; also ¼ pound lean salt pork, two medium sliced onions and a carrot cut in bits. Bring to gradual boil and let simmer for two hours or more. Remove pork for use as may be needed elsewhere. If sufficiently cooked everything should be soft enough to be sieved. Thin with hot water to the proper consistency. Season to taste, and, if available, use a tablespoonful of beef stock or concentrated beef soup of any kind. Serve with croutons which have been browned in the oven rather than in butter, if economy is to be considered.

This is a typical summer soup as made by thrifty French housewives. Lima bean shells may be used in similar fashion.

Bean Soup, Panchard—Wash one quart of red beans carefully and put in a casserole or other earthen dish with four quarts of water, one onion with two cloves, one branch of celery, one turnip and salt. Place all on the fire till the beans are thoroughly cooked, then pour them into a strainer, pile them up and pass them through a sieve and moisten with 1½ quarts of the liquid; when all the beans are passed, put them in a casserole or dish, add one quart of milk. Let boil slowly for ½ hour.

Skim and finish the soup with 1 pint of cream and ¼ pound of sweet butter. Serve with lemon slices and some bread croutons, or with white rice.

Codfish Foam—Make a white sauce, using one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of butter and one cupful of hot milk. Stir until smooth and then add two tablespoonfuls of finely picked codfish, and the beaten whites of two eggs. Flaked fish may be used in place of the codfish.

Sour-Milk Bread Griddle Cakes—2 cupfuls of stale bread or bread crusts, 1 cupful of boiling water, 2 cupfuls of flour, ¾ teaspoonful of soda, ½ teaspoonful of salt, ¾ cupful of sugar, 1 egg, 1½ cupfuls of sour milk, 1 tablespoonful of melted butter.

Bread the bread in pieces and pour the boiling water over it. When the bread is soft, pour off the surplus water, if any, and beat the bread until smooth. Add the mixed and sifted dry ingredients, then the beaten egg, milk and butter. Beat thoroughly. Bake on a hot greased griddle.

Left-Over Roast Beef—Put meat through food-chopper; take one heaping cupful of canned or fresh corn. Put a layer of meat in the bottom of a baking dish, then a layer of the canned corn; season well with butter, pepper and salt. Do this alternatively; then pour over it the left-over gravy. Bake in the oven until nicely browned.

Baked Apple with Milk—Select apples that are a little tart and juicy, but not sour. Clean them nicely and bake in a moderate oven so regulated that the apples will bake in about an hour. Sprinkle with white sugar and serve with milk direct from the can; or, if preferred, the milk may be whipped and sweetened, in which case the apples will not need as much sugar.

and all the equipment for fighting, to a king, when he and his army are captured by the enemy?

Golden Text—"Jehovah is my shepherd; I shall not want." Ps., xxiii., 1.

1. Verses 1-6—Who are the men today, Ezekiel, xxxiv.

"The Shepherd of Captive Israel," that correspond to the "shepherds of Israel" in that day?

2. What is wrong today, with the men in authority, who make and administer the laws of the land?

3. Wherein do the pastors of the churches fail to act like good shepherds?

The Real "War Bread" must contain the entire wheat grain—not the white flour center — but every particle of gluten and mineral salts—also the outer bran coat that is so useful in keeping the bowels healthy and active. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is the real "war bread" because it is 100 per cent. whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Contains no yeast, baking powder, seasoning, or chemicals of any kind. Food conservation begins with Shredded Wheat Biscuit for breakfast and ends with Shredded Wheat Biscuit for supper. Delicious with sliced bananas, berries, or other fruits.

a Present for the Soldier

YOU can depend on the mothers to think of the little things which will be appreciated by the boy in the camp or trenches. And one article which many a mother has given her boy at the last moment is Dr. Chase's Ointment.

There are so many ways that Dr. Chase's Ointment is useful to the soldier that it becomes invaluable to him. It is used for chafing and skin irritation resulting from heavy clothing and equipment. It brings comfort to sore, scalded feet after the long march. Applied to wounds it prevents blood-poisoning and heals the skin. And it should never be forgotten that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most effective treatment obtainable for piles, a distressing ailment which results from contact with the cold earth, whether in camp or trench.

The Canadian soldiers have been well supplied with this standard ointment, and, judging by their many letters of appreciation, there seems to be few things more keenly appreciated. Just try it in the next parcels you send to the front.

CHANT OF THE SECOND DIVISION BUG.

Come on, you grand old Winter League;
Raus mit this fagging summer season,
These clammy days of deep fatigue,
Enough to sap a fellow's reason—
Beyond the borders of the rose,
Oh, bring again the Old Stove's inning,
When valiantly across the snows
Our gallant ball club starts to winning.

Come on, oh gallant Winter Time,
When "Mogul Smith predicts a pennant,"
When from the cellar depths we climb,
And first place finds us there a tenant;
A tenant on the topmost hill,
Where every dub becomes a bummer
Through March and April, on until
We hit the chutes again next summer.

THREE YEARS.

Three years ago this August Norris Williams found himself facing Anthony Wilding in the last of the Davis Cup series—the last, at least, until peace comes back.

War had just been declared, and Wilding knew then it was only a matter of days until he started for the front.

With the vastness of the war's first impetus there may have come to Williams even then the thought that he, too, might some day be called upon to surrender the racquet for the gun. Or perhaps it never occurred to him that his country would be called in.

Three years have brought about more than a trifle in the way of change. Wilding has passed on to the Far Country, and Williams has played in his last tennis tournament until the war is over.

McLOUGHLIN'S LAST STAND.

That 1914 tournament recalls McLoughlin's brilliant finish at the top. It will take more than wars and battles to remove memories of his play that August week against Brooks and Wilding, the Nonpareils from around the World.

That last stand undoubtedly contributed in part to the Californian's decline. In overcoming two such marvels in one week, part of the old vitality was turned away—part of the ancient dash was removed—and from that point he had but one way to go—and that was back.

EAST VS. WEST.

L. K. G.—There have been twelve world series since the new arrangement dating from 1905. Of these twelve only one was an intersectional affair—that between the Cubs and Athletics in 1910. The others have been West against West or East against East. The West has had nine world series entries and the East has known fifteen. If the White Sox win this season the next W. S. will be the first intersectional clash in seven years—and the second on record.

A PICK OUT OF RANGE.

Here is one of the simple, easy queries that come in a day's mail: "Who is the best tennis player America has ever produced—Larned, McLoughlin or Williams?"

You can see, off hand, how easy it is to outline an answer here.

The Dohertys always said that Malcolm Whitman was the best man they had ever faced.

Bill Larned won the championship seven times, smashing all records.

McLoughlin within one week beat Norman Brookes and Anthony Wilding, the greatest single achievement in American lawn tennis history.

Any number of tennis players have told us that William Johnston knew a greater variety of strokes than any other entry from this side of the water.

And Norris Williams has beaten both McLoughlin and Johnston in Championship finals.

Make your own pick.

THE ESSENTIAL INGREDIENT.

"Matty has his Reds hustling." We have seen this line more than once here lately—and it is the answer to managerial success. It is the answer to why Matty has lifted a club from last place in 1916 to the first division in 1917.

You hear quite a trifle about strategy, tactics and the like. These things count. But the essential ingredient for managerial success is ability to keep a ball club hustling.

For this requires not only the liking, but the respect of the players. It means the arousing of ambition and the development of team morale. Which is 82 per cent of managerial fitness. And Matty has pretty well proved that he has the ingredient required.

Any number of changes occur from year to year in all-American selections, but Cobb, Speaker, Collins and Alexander stay fixed. The four have remained immovable for the last six years. And it's the long trail that counts.

WAR'S BOX SCORE.

When over the top they go—facing the hostile roar—
Only the call of the roll next day can give the final score.

WOMEN GOLFERS PLAY IN WESTERN GOLF TOURNEY

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Miss Ernestine Pearce of Skokie and Mrs. S. Kunstadter of Idlewild today led a large field in the qualifying round of the women's western golf championship at the Flossmoor Country Club, scoring 92 each over the 6,402-yard links. Women's par is 44-44—88. A high wind and numerous traps made scoring difficult, Mrs. S. S. Colburn of Glenview, getting in the championship flight of 32 players with the high score of 102.

Mrs. Fred C. Letts Jun., titleholder, did not have to play today to qualify, under the rules of the association. Miss Elaine Rosenthal, former champion and present north and south champion, encountered difficulties on the first nine, taking 53 strokes. She bettered par by two strokes on the last half and finished well up in the list with 95.

The best score by an out-of-town player was 93, made by Miss Frances Hadfield of Milwaukee, who tied with Mrs. J. D. Worley of Aurora. Miss Ethel Chatfield of Sycamore, Illinois, with 92, Illinois, with 100, were among the others from outside Chicago to qualify.

and Miss Elizabeth Allen of Rock Island.

Chicago Is Now Three Games Ahead of Boston—Shawkey Put Out of Game.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Chicago gained a full game on Boston in the American League pennant race today by shutting out New York 3 to 0, while Detroit won from Boston. The White Sox now are three games ahead of Boston.

Shawkey handed the game to Chicago in the seventh inning. He walked Felschh, Gandil and Schalk, and Manager Rowland then sent Eddie Murphy in as pinch-hitter for Cicotte. He singled to right, sending Felsch and Gandil home. Schalk, who had gone to third, then scored on a wild pitch. After retiring Chicago in the seventh Shawkey protested heatedly to O'Loughlin against the umpire's rulings on balls and strikes. He was put out of the game. Score: R. H. E.

SENATORS IN QUEER GAME AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—Washington won a peculiar game from Cleveland today, 11 to 9. Cleveland drove out three pitchers, but so did Washington. Playing an uphill game, Cleveland took the lead in the fifth, but Morton's poor work, aided by Harris' error, sent Washington into the lead again in the sixth. Johnson was credited with the victory, as Morton was charged with the defeat.

Cleveland staged a triple steal in the fifth, Roth scoring, while Harris and Wambsganss advanced. Twelve bases were stolen by the two teams, Roth stealing four and Rico three, the latter also stealing home. Gallia struck out the entire side in the second, while Shaw performed the same feat in the fourth. Score: R. H. E.

Suffered Terribly

For Four Days and Nights From

DIARRHOEA

Diarrhoea arises from many causes such as change of diet, change of water, change of climate, catching cold, the eating of unripe fruits or anything that will cause an excess of bile.

On the first sign of any looseness of the bowels it should not be neglected, but should be looked after immediately, for if not diarrhoea, dysentery or some other serious bowel complaints may ensue.

Miss Florence Harfield, 325 Lauder avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with a violent attack of diarrhoea. I suffered terribly with it for four days and nights, and finally I became so weak I did not think I could stand it any longer. My sister advised me to try a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I did so, and after I had taken three doses I felt a whole lot relieved. I kept on taking it, and by the time I had taken six doses, the diarrhoea had completely stopped. It did not leave me constipated. I think it a wonderful remedy, as it is so quick to act. I will recommend it to all my friends."

There are so many curious "Strawberry" preparations sold that you should see that the name, "Dr. Fowler's" is on every bottle you buy. Price 35c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 27.—Brooklyn bunched a single, a triple and a home run in the first inning, and a triple and four singles in the fifth inning of today's opening game with Chicago, driving Douglas out of the box and winning by a score of 7 to 1. Coombs allowed only five scattered hits, Kilduff's triple driving in the visitors' only run. The game lasted 1 hour and 23 minutes, the fastest game of the season here. Score: R. H. E.

CARDINALS LOSE TO PHILADELPHIA 6 TO 4

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—Hard hitting in the seventh inning, aided by errors by Hornsby and Snyder, gave Philadelphia the victory over St. Louis today 6 to 4. The visitors pounded Mayer's delivery hard and led until the seventh. Then Horstman was knocked off the rubber, and his successor, Doak, was touched up for two singles before being succeeded by Ames. A sacrifice fly and two errors then put over the winning runs. Bender, who went to the rubber in the eighth inning, fanned three batsmen and blanked his opponents. Hornsby made three singles and a double in four times at bat. Score: R. H. E.

BAGBY A PITCHER THROUGH ACCIDENT

Jim Bagby, Cleveland's star pitcher, can produce a perfectly good alibi any time the inquisitive questioner insists on a reason for his success on the mound. Jim modestly can claim that it is not his fault, and to prove it drag in Tim Hendrix, the Yankee infielder, to corroborate his claim. All of which shows that sometimes we have greatness thrust upon us, as can be seen by this harrowing tale:

"Twas a hot summer's day down in New Orleans. This is not a strange or unusual, but we must ring it in for the scenic effect. Two ball clubs were fighting it out, as they usually do on hot days down in New Orleans. Tim Hendrix was a mediocre second baseman and Jim Bagby the same kind of a centrefielder. Both were denizens of the bushes—whatever they are. Suddenly the batsman lifted a short fly over second and Hendrix and Bagby started after it.

"I got it," yelled Tim, as he dashed toward centre field.

"I have it," shouted Bagby, who used proper English, despite the heat of the day and the closeness of the battle.

Neither heard the other, and when Sergt. Jim stretched out his hands to grab the ball he collided with Hendrix. His right hand landed in the middle of Tim's back, and, of course, the ball fell safe. Bagby was forced to quit the game and when a physician made an examination it was found that the radius bone was broken above the wrist. This put Jim on the side-lines for a long time, and when the arm began to recover he began to throw the ball, just to strengthen the muscles. In a short time Bagby noticed that he could whizz 'em over and started to experiment with curves. Much to his surprise he had control, and as the weeks rolled on he decided that he would become a good pitcher, instead of a bum outfielder. His record proves that he made no mistake.

Bagby was interviewed recently and admitted everything except that the broken arm made him a good pitcher. "I always knew I could pitch," he said, "but I'll never forget that game. It was July 17, 1913, in New Orleans. It is true that I collided with Hendrix when we were after a fly ball, but there is one correction I wish to make. Instead of my right hand coming in contact with his back, it landed on his head. That's the reason it was fractured."

MISS DETROIT II. TAKES GOLD CHALLENGE CUP

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Miss Detroit II., driven by Gar Wood, won the Gold Challenge cup of the American Power-Boat Association tonight, with a total of fifteen points for the three 20-mile races, the first of which was held Saturday. Miss Minneapolis had twelve points, and Hawkey II. had six. Miss Detroit's average speed today was 56.1 miles per hour.

H.Q. TEAM DEFEATS SPECIAL SERVICE

The Headquarters team defeated the Special Service Company in the Military Cricket League at the barracks on Monday evening by a score of 65 to 36. The Headquarters boys played in circles around the S. S. men, and had little trouble in winning the game. The Special Service team piled up eleven runs for the last wicket, when the light was fading.

Stabler and H. Cristall bowled for the Headquarters, and Cristall got fifteen runs, while Stabler took seven wickets. Bush and Hawkes handled the ball for the Special Service Company. Bush got eight wickets.

It is now certain that the pennant will go to either the Headquarters team or the Army Medical Corps team. These are the two leaders of the league and will meet on Thursday evening to decide where the honors will go. It is touted around the heights that the Headquarters are certain to win, but there are many who favor the chances of the medical men, for the teams are pretty evenly matched.

The standing of the teams at present is:

	P.	W.	L.	P.	Pct.
Headquarters	3	3	0	6	1.000
A. M. C.	3	2	0	4	1.000
A. S. C.	3	1	2	2	.333
C. T. D.	3	1	2	2	.333
No. S. S. Co.	3	0	3	0	.000

BROWNS ARE BEST IN MILITARY DRILL

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Members of the St. Louis club are winners of the competitive military drill of the American League. Lieut.-Col. Raymond Sheldon, U.S.A., who reviewed the clubs last week, announced his decision tonight. The players will be presented with $500 by President Ban Johnson of the American League. The army sergeant who drilled them will get $100.

Second place was given to the Washington club, and third place to Cleveland. Chicago was awarded fourth place, Boston fifth, Detroit sixth, New York seventh, and Philadelphia eighth. The competition was judged according to military standards. The St. Louis players were perfect in variety of movements and punctuality, and were only penalizing one point in discipline and six points in drilling.

Lieut.-Col. Sheldon, in his report, said he was astonished at the efficiency of the teams.

"The sergeants deserve great credit for the results they have achieved in such a short time," he said, "and the ball teams are entitled to the highest commendation for the splendid manner in which they acquitted themselves."

President Johnson said that military drilling undoubtedly would be carried out every season.

WHAT DO I KNOW ABOUT A WATCH?

There is only one DIFFERENCE in the outside appearance of these two watches and that is The Trade Mark WALTHAM

BUT there is more difference than that. There is the difference inside—the marvellous precision in the adjustment of many small parts, each of which is flawless. This is what gives that enduring accuracy which the name "Waltham" signifies. You buy any watch on "faith"—Your only protection is the reputation of the maker. THE SPIRIT OF PROGRESS.

The greatest asset a business or an individual can have is the Spirit of Progress. Without it all else is largely in vain. With it every good thing is possible.

What is the Spirit of Progress? It is the desire to know what constitutes true success and the willingness to take the patient steps which lead to it; the desire to correct errors, traits and tendencies, which retard progress, and the willingness to receive new ideas and act upon them; the desire to act from sound motives, and the willingness to give up false and temporary success for vital and permanent growth; the eagerness to utilize every wholesome opportunity, the enthusiasm to strive for excellence for its own sake, and the energy to push on, pausing only when the victory is won.

With this spirit the growth of a business is inevitable. It is as natural as for a tree to grow.

The world may furnish many opportunities, appreciation will quicken some motives, and the onward movement of the world can change some conditions, but that spark of fire—the Spirit of Progress—must come from within, must spring up in a moment of noble resolve, and must never be allowed to die, never to wane, never to waver.

Examine into the lives and actions of men who have made the real successes in any wholesome activity, and you will see how that vital spark made all their achievements possible—and maybe you will find the spark yourself.

Progressiveness is looking forward intelligently, looking within critically, and moving on incessantly.—W. P. W.

PULP, PULP WOOD AND PAPER.

A GREAT AND STEADILY GROWING CANADIAN INDUSTRY.

That the production of the pulp mills of Canada has reached enormous proportions is well evidenced by the following, taken from the Canadian Bank of Commerce Monthly Letter: The value of the exports of pulp, pulpwood and paper for the twelve months ending 31st March, was $52,975,457, or 31.9 per cent more than in the previous twelve months. The increase is due partly to the advance in price and partly to the increased output. In 1916, 2,833,119 cords of pulpwood were produced, as compared with 2,355,550 cords in 1915. A noteworthy development of the past decade has been the steady gain in the quantity of wood manufactured into pulp, while the quantity of pulp wood exported has remained stationery.

THE PRICE OF INDEPENDENCE.

(By T. D. MacGregor.)

It is not the easiest thing in the world to save money. To become independent one must pay the price. To save money there are two things which are very important—having an object in view and being systematic. These two things go hand in hand.

Having an object will help you to concentrate your efforts and bend all your energies in the desired direction.

"Concentration is the secret of strength," said Emerson. A man of only average ability, with concentration, can accomplish more than a man of unusual talents without it. Moreover, system and an objective will give you enthusiasm, and that is the power which drives our mental machinery. As one of the best ways to get out and keep out of a rut is to have some fixed object to work for, save money with some definite, worthy purpose, and you will find it is comparatively easy, while without such an aim it is hard. Perhaps there are a few who are able to save money for the pure pleasure of saving it, but the average individual must have some very attractive object in view to prevent his spending his money for the numerous pleasant things that attract him day by day. Children put money into their small banks in the morning, and quite frequently shake it out the same afternoon to spend it for the toy of the hour.

Men and women are but children of a longer growth. They may not find it as hard to save money, but their difficulty is to make savings stay saved.

Even as the most successful business enterprises are the best organized and managed, so the individual who uses forethought and system in the handling of his personal financial affairs is the most likely to make satisfactory progress.

HOW WILL UNCLE SAM PAY HIS SOLDIERS?

That is, in what form of money? Let's see if silver is the answer.

First what most of us would like to know is the fundamental reason for the advance in the price of silver. From an average price of 56.7c during the past ten years—an average of 49.9c in 1915 and 65.5c in 1916—silver is now quoted 88⅛c an ounce. Advance 1¾c an ounce August 17th and 6c an ounce since August 10th. Why?

Europe is today on a paper money basis. The warring countries have gathered the larger part of their gold supply to protect their credits. Since there is not enough gold to meet their obligations, the paper currency depreciates in value and purchasing power. The only way out is to use silver.

To substantiate this conclusion—the records show India and England coined approximately one-half of the world's 1916 production of silver. For what purpose—

(A) India.—Normally India and China consume each year the bulk of silver. During 1916 China sold India about 43,000,000 ounces, practically their reserve supply. Outside nations pay the India trade balances in silver.

(B) England.—To fill the vacuum created by the withdrawal of gold, to strengthen the bank reserves and settle debts in the international commerce. But, chiefly to settle the demand for metallic currency caused by the higher wages to laborers, munition workers and troops.

It must not be overlooked that "hard money" is very precious to the wage earner, and every other person for that matter, during every period of war and that countries other than India and England have every reason to be coining large quantities of silver.

DEMAND IS EVER GROWING—PRODUCTION IS DIMINISHING.

World's production in 1916 ..... 172,383,800 ounces

Decrease in five years ..... 53,809,123 ounces or 23.8%

And now Uncle Sam enters the war with his silver dollars. Every 1,000 of these dollars contains 860 ounces of silver. Uncle Sam is preparing—the evidence—his activities in buying silver bullion.—Jones & Baker Weekly Letter.

A BABY IN THE HOME

When there's a baby in your home, life takes on a new aspect for you, does it not, young parents? With a little life depending upon you for everything, you are bound to think very seriously about the future and its unknown possibilities. Will you be able to do for that child all that you want to do, all that you should do? You want to give him or her a better chance than you had yourself, perhaps. What will do it? Money. The chances are that nobody is going to leave you any money, so if your child is to have the use of any to prepare him for life, to feed, clothe and educate him, to set him up in business, YOU must provide the cash, if any is provided.

And it is not enough to EARN money. You must SAVE some of it, because your ability to earn cannot last indefinitely—J. H. MacGregor.

MUTUALIZATION OF THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

Mutualization of the Equitable Life Assurance Society has been approved at a special meeting of the stockholders. General T. Coleman du Pont, who holds a majority stock, has agreed to turn in his holdings for $2,000,000 less than he paid for them in 1915.

The directors of the company have already agreed upon these mutualization plans, and now that the approval of the stockholders has been received the proposition will be submitted by mail to the policyholders.

General du Pont purchased the controlling interest of the society from J. P. Morgan in June, 1915, for $4,394,540. With interest added this amount now aggregates $4,800,000, and the owner offered to turn over his holdings to the policyholders for approximately $2,800,000.—Exchange.

There has been but little life and none of the old time activity in the market of late. The uncertainty as to what effect pending action in Washington will have on securities and markets, has caused the general run of buyers to exaggerate the effects of the expected price fixing and profit taxing. That these may be considered, more or less as bugaboos, is apparent to the old time trader, from the fact that Corn Products Refining as one example, has been steadily hardening in price, reaching 35 as against 18 within the current year. This, too, without any very material advance in the finished products of the company, but rather because of the greatly increased volume of its business. And, since corn is the bulk of its raw material the Government price fixing will not unlikely enable the company to buy at much lower prices than it is now paying, thereby increasing its net earnings. There is altogether too much stress laid upon effects that have not yet developed. The stock market is always sensitive and money more timid than is warranted by conditions as they obtain. We still contend that there is little to fear from further depreciation of good sound securities and industrials should improve on a parity with rails. The crops are big all over the continent. They have been well harvested up to the present. The outlook is reasonably good. Bar silver reached 88½ in New York. Cobalts should improve. Call money ruled at 2¾ to 3 per cent.

HOW MUCH INSURANCE SHOULD ONE CARRY?

For the ordinary wage-earner, it is quite manifest that $2,000 or $3,000, or possibly $5,000 insurance is all that should be undertaken. But with the man of good salary or business income the conditions are different. His standard of living is perhaps higher, and $5,000, or even $10,000, however large the sum may seem when considered by itself, will not last long in the support of a family. If invested at 5 per cent, $10,000 will yield only $500, and this, of course, cannot begin to take the place of the fine salary which has been lost forever in the death of the bread-winner. Insufficient insurance is a serious mistake, and a large majority of men are making it. The man, therefore, whose means can possibly afford it, in measuring the size of his insurance, should approximate as near as possible such a sum as will yield a good support to his family without encroaching upon the principal. It is not always wise to count too largely on one's vested accumulations, for these may slip away even before one's own final departure. Besides the more a man has the easier it is to carry a large amount of insurance. In these days of great fortunes thousands of men are carrying from $100,000 to $200,000, while a few have $1,000,000 or more. The amount of insurance should be limited only by the ability to pay the premiums.

STATES WILL ALLOW NOTHING TO NEUTRALS SAVE UNDER LICENSE

President Enlarges List for Which License Is Required.

PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED

Will Prevent Enemies of the Allies Getting Supplies by Indirect Means.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Wilson tightened the Government's control of exports tonight by issuing an order forbidding the shipment of any goods to European neutral countries except under license, and by extending the lists for which license is required in shipment to the Allies and neutrals, other than European countries, to include cotton, all meats, sugar and most of America's other export commodities.

In a statement accompanying his proclamation the president said one of the first intentions of the Government will be to see that no American products are made "the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly." Officials interpreted the order as forecasting a vigorous use of the export control as a war weapon and a policy of the strictest rationing of countries contiguous to Germany.

Supersedes Blockade.

Exports to Germany and her allies also are formally prohibited by the president's order, and this is understood to mean that the export control is about to supersede the British system of giving letters of assurance for American cargoes. Up to now there has been nothing except the British blockade to prevent the shipment of American goods to Germany. Tonight's order in this respect accomplished one of the purposes sought in the trading with the enemy bill pending in Congress.

Coin, bullion, currency and evidences of indebtedness are placed under export license restriction to European neutrals whenever regulations governing their export have been promulgated by the secretary of the treasury. The president's order contains the first formal announcement of the transfer of administration of the export control from the department of commerce to the export administrative board, of which Vance McCormick is chairman. When the administrative board made the fact public a few days ago it was explained that the action was taken to facilitate the issuance of licenses.

Necessity of War.

Accompanying the proclamation was a statement from the president explaining its purposes. It said:

"The purpose and effect of this proclamation is not export prohibition but merely export control. It is not the intention to interfere unnecessarily with our foreign trade; but our own domestic needs must be adequately safeguarded, and there is the added duty of meeting the necessities of all the nations at war with the imperial German Government.

"After these needs are met, it is our wish and intention to minister to the needs of the neutral nations as far as our resources permit. This task will be discharged without other than the very proper qualifications that the liberation of our surplus products shall not be made the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly.

"The two lists have been prepared in the interests of facility and expediency. The first list, applicable to the enemy and his allies, and to the neutral countries of Europe, brings under control practically all the other countries of the world, makes only a few additions to the list of commodities controlled by the proclamation of July 9, 1917.

Need of Distinction.

"It is obvious that a closer supervision of control of exports is necessary with respect to those European neutrals within the sphere of hostilities than is required for those countries farther removed. The establishment of those distinctions will simplify the administrative process and enable us to continue our policy of minimizing the interruption of trade."

The proclamation makes it clear for the first time that the United States is prepared to go to almost any limit to prevent goods from going to Germany. Neutrals already have been informed, both in notes and in conversations with their representatives in Washington, that no American goods may be used even to replace indirectly goods shipped from neutral countries to Germany. Some administration officials even favor stopping food shipments to neutrals where the food is used to feed workmen engaged in manufacturing war materials for German use.

British Still on Watch.

Assumption by the United States of the burden of maintaining the blockade of Germany, in so far as it applies to shipment of American goods, gives this nation an additional responsibility of which the British have sought to be relieved ever since the United States entered the war. The duty of preventing goods shipped from neutrals other than European from reaching Germany will continue to be Great Britain's, since the United States has declared no formal blockade against Germany or her allies.

Canada Is Making Handsome Advances to Mother Country

$385,000,000 for Munitions; $40,000,000 for Cheese; $10,000,000 Hay

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—Canada is making big financial advances to the Imperial Government for munitions and war supplies purchased in Canada. The finance minister informed Parliament that in July the amount advanced by Canada was $35,000,000, and the August advance would be the same. For the balance of the year the advance by Canada to Britain will be $25,000,000 a month.

In addition Canada is advancing $40,000,000 for cheese purchased in Canada, and $10,000,000 for hay and oats.

To date Canada has advanced to the imperial munitions board $285,000,000, and the Canadian chartered banks have advanced $100,000,000 on the same account.

ROGERS OPENS SHOP IN WINNIPEG; MAY RUN FOR MANITOU

Is Certainly Clearing Decks for Action.

ELECTION UNAVOIDABLE

Does Not Like to Talk, But Not Quitting Public Life.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Hon. Robert Rogers today again occupied his old office in the postoffice building, and is not making any move either preparatory to moving out. He appears to be installed as of yore and received many deputations.

"A general election is unavoidable. Nothing can now be done which will prevent dissolution of Parliament October 7 and an appeal to the people by the Borden Government." This is the view of Mr. Rogers. The former minister of public works refused to discuss further the situation at Ottawa.

"My sole interest at the present time is the war and the returned soldier problem," he said.

He declared that so far as he was concerned there was no truth in the rumor that he had been asked to become a fusion candidate in a Manitoba constituency.

Not Done With Politics.

"I am not in a position to discuss the prospective election at all," he said, but he intimated that he had no intention of retiring to private life. Mr. Rogers is paired off with a Liberal member of the House of Commons for the week. He expects to return to Ottawa Sunday.

"Pairs are hard to get at Ottawa these days," he said. "The Opposition is feeling very aggressive, and it is difficult indeed for any member to arrange with one on the other side for a week's absence from duties."

May Run in Manitoba.

There appears to be good ground for the belief that the former minister will run in Manitou district, not South Winnipeg. Senator W. H. Sharpe, the former member, was with Mr. Rogers constantly today. Rogers knows everyone in Manitou district. It is where he started his commercial career as general country storekeeper, at Clearwater; where he married and where nearly all of his children were born. He sat in the Legislature for many years as the district's representative.

ENEMY CANNOT LONG ENDURE SUCH BLOWS IS VIEW OF GEN. HAIG

British Field Marshal Wires Congratulations to Petain.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Reuter's correspondent at British army headquarters in France says:

"Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig telegraphed Gen. Petain, commander-in-chief of the French armies, as follows on the 22nd inst.:

"All ranks of the British armies in France join me in hearty congratulations to you and your gallant armies on the splendid results gained at Verdun yesterday. The enemy will not be able to endure many more such blows."

Gen. Petain replied as follows:

"Hearty thanks for the kind congratulations of the gallant British troops, who have so brilliantly distinguished themselves again during the last few days in Flanders and at Lens. It will touch the hearts of the soldiers at Verdun, who are united to their allies by a common determination to win, and a common assurance of success."

Heavy Rain Falling.

The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"A heavy rain has fallen throughout the day. This afternoon our troops attacked the enemy's positions east and southeast of Langemarck. First reports indicate that we made satisfactory progress.

"The enemy attempted a raid on one of our posts north of Lens this morning, but was driven off with loss.

"We made a successful raid this morning east of Osttaverne and secured a few prisoners.

Seven Foe Planes Drop.

"Bombing raids and observation work for the artillery were carried out vigorously yesterday by our airplanes. The enemy's batteries, transport and infantry were effectively engaged with machine gun fire. During the fine intervals the enemy's aircraft were active and aggressive. In the air fighting four German airplanes were brought down; three others were driven down out of control. Two of our machines are missing."

S. S. MALDA SUNK

Cunard Ship Lost on Second Voyage From U. S. to England.

Boston, Aug. 28.—The sinking of the British steamer Malda, which left an American port on August 15, was reported in a cablegram received here today by the Cunard Line. No details were given as to the fate of the crew.

The Malda, under charter to the Cunard Line, had made only one voyage to this country and was a vessel of 7,884 tons gross.

HAIL KORNILOFF AS SAVIOUR OF RUSSIAN NATION

OPPOSES THE CABINET

"Victory and Order," Motto of Korniloff, Cossacks and Middle Classes.

Moscow, Sunday, Aug. 26—(Delayed). —A conflict at the national conference between Premier Kerensky, backed by the moderate Socialists and a majority of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates and the Constitutional Democrats and other non-Socialist parties, the Moscow industrial group and that part of the army which stands for ruthless army discipline is approaching. The opposition to the premier looks to Gen. Korniloff, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, as its champion. This lineup of the delegates to the conference is indicated in interviews the Associated Press has had with members of all groups represented at the conference.

In this connection the newspapers remark that Petrograd is being brought into sharp opposition with Moscow. This opposition is emphasized by the fact that the Moscow "committee of public work," which met temporarily to organize Moscow's representation at the conference today, declared that it intends to sit permanently.

Korniloff Popular.

At present the name of Gen. Korniloff is on every tongue. His coming was awaited with something akin to fear by the extreme left, which still incites against discipline in the army, and with open exultation by the Opposition group. The latter group today made the general's arrival the signal for a demonstration seldom accorded even to a general victorious in battle. The import of the demonstration is emphasized by the fact that not one member of the cabinet was at the railway station, but instead there was an imposing display by the military and civilian admirers of Gen. Korniloff.

During the morning Gen. Korniloff's biography and his photographs were distributed free by the organizers of the demonstration. Officers went about the streets exhorting veterans of the war, and particularly cavaliers of the Order of St. George to go to the railway station; explaining to them that duty compelled every patriotic man to support the "destined savior of Russia" from foreign defeat and internal disintegration.

At the station when the Russian commander-in-chief arrived was Gen. Verkhovsky, commander-in-chief of the Moscow Military District, Mayor Rudniff with a representation from the municipality, a group of Socialist members of the conference, headed by M. Roditcheff, the veteran member of the Duma, as well as leaders of Moscow's industries. The sole subject of conversation appeared to be the necessity of supporting Gen. Korniloff's demand for strong measures, including capital punishment among the forces of disorder in the rear of the fighting army.

Welcomed by Cossacks.

The station was filled with deputations of Cossacks and guards of honor, the chief guard of honor being composed of the much-decorated Cavaliers of St. George, youths from a military academy and Cossacks. Every man of the guard of honor, following the Russian army practice when welcoming a specially loved commander, held a rose and another flower. There was also present a group of seven boy volunteers, none over 16 years of age, all of whom had fought since the beginning of the war, and a girl volunteer, who had been wounded twice on the field of battle.

Gen. Korniloff alighted from the train soon after noon, followed by a bodyguard of Terek Cossacks, gigantic Asiatics, in prune-colored caftans, leather belts and vest, shaggy sheepskin busbies.

Looks Like a Jap.

Gen. Korniloff, who is of Cossack parentage, resembles a Japanese. He is below middle height and medium size. He has small black eyes and a sparse Tartar beard. His manner was grave and modest as he inspected the guard of honor. He spoke to some of the soldiers, and each soldier threw a flower under his feet as he passed.

Mayor Rudneff welcomed Gen. Korniloff on behalf of the city of Moscow. The mayor declared that the general was not only the destined victor at the front, but the saviour of Russia from ruin at home. As Gen. Korniloff marched between lines of soldiers toward M. Roditcheff, the officers drew their swords, and the band played the "Marseillaise." Addressing the Russian commander, M. Roditcheff said:

Want Fighting Spirit.

"Russia has all her army wants, arms, supplies and a brilliant commander. All she lacks is a fighting spirit in her soldiers. It is you, general, who have the will and the means to restore that spirit."

After kissing M. Roditcheff, Gen. Korniloff made a brief speech, roughly phrased, but impressive by its unpretentiousness.

"We expect from Moscow," Gen. Korniloff said, "a message to the army. That message, I hope, will not in this grave crisis be of liberty and equality, in the name of which, falsely interpreted, Russia's people have been driven off the right track, but a message of victory and order. For myself, at any sacrifice, I shall do all in my power to turn that message into reality. I believe in and I predict the resurrection of our army." As Gen. Korniloff left the station he was given a tremendous ovation by the military and civilian population. The working classes, however, were absent.

In view of the sharply defined attitude of Gen. Korniloff towards the cabinet and the Socialists, his declaration to the conference tomorrow is awaited with the keenest interest. He intimates, however, that owing to his position he will not indulge in any sharp attacks. They say that the program of the military party and its criticism of the Government probably will appear in a speech which Gen. Alexieff, the former commander-in-chief, already has prepared.

INGERSOLL LIST IS FOUR.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 27.—That many soldiers from this town and district have been in the thick of the fighting on the west front recently has been evidenced by the large number of names appearing in the casualty list. A number of names were added today.

This morning Mrs. John Payne, of Charles street east, received official word that her son, Pte. Harry Payne, had been wounded and admitted to No. 6 Casualty Clearing Station on Saturday, August 19. He received a gunshot wound in the head, but no further particulars were given. Pte. Payne is an Ingersoll boy and went overseas with the 168th Battalion.

Thomas F. Pirie of Banner has been officially notified that his son, Acting Sergt. Peter Francis Pirie, had received a gunshot wound in the hip and had been admitted to No. 23 Casualty Clearing Station. Before enlisting Pte. Pirie was attending college at Belleville. He enlisted with the 21st Battalion.

The name of Pte. James Vance is also included in the casualty list. According to information received he sustained a gunshot wound in the wrist. Pte. Vance was born here and is a son of the late James Vance, superintendent for many years of the Noxon Works. His mother, to whom the official word came, is now residing in Woodstock.

Pte. Ernest Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Daniel, Catherine street, a well-known pupil of the Ingersoll Collegiate Institute, has also been listed as wounded. The official word received by his parents stated that he received a gunshot wound in the left thigh. Pte. Daniel enlisted with the 33rd Battalion and was afterwards transferred to the 39th Battalion, with which he went overseas. He has been in France about six months.

THIRTY FOOD SHIPS RELEASED BY STATES TO CARRY GRAIN TO DUTCH AND BELGIANS

190,000 Tons of Wheat Will Be Forwarded to Hungry Nations.

The Hague, Aug. 28.—The news from Washington that thirty or more Dutch vessels will be permitted to sail from the United States with grain owned by the Netherlands Government has been received with satisfaction here, although uncertainty still prevails as to the nature of the arrangements. It is learned authoritatively that the cargoes of all the Dutch ships in question amount to some 190,000 tons.

Some for Belgians.

The first proposal of the American authorities was that permission to export these cargoes be granted on condition that two thirds of them be turned over to the Belgian relief commission, but it was found that the amount of fodder was so large that the relief commission would be unable to take its share. Holland, therefore, offered to give the commission such part of it as it was able to use, and to bring to this country for the commission enough other grain to make up the stipulated quantity. This offer was not accepted. The American authorities finally intimated their willingness to release something more than 100,000 tons of cargoes on condition that the larger part should go to Belgium, and this is believed to be the arrangement which has now been agreed upon.

Passage Is Safe.

Passage of the released ships through the North Sea is now regarded as comparatively safe. Sailings of freighters to America will be resumed only if facilities for obtaining cargoes are assured. This whole subject is in suspension pending the outcome of the negotiations of the Dutch mission to America. The Belgian relief commission's portion of the cargoes is likely to be extremely welcome, as its provisioning is much behind and 12,000 tons of grain was recently advanced to it by Holland. The relief steamship Turbinia arrived at Rotterdam from the United States today with about 6,000 tons of wheat. The minister of agriculture has decreed that from September 2 the bread ration will be further reduced, from 311 to 254 grams daily. Another regulation forbids the furnishing of bread with hotel and restaurant dishes.

SOCIALIST AND LABOR MEETING TO DISCUSS A STOCKHOLM POLICY

London, Aug. 28.—The inter-allied Socialist and labor conference was opened in London this morning under the presidency of Arthur Henderson, member of the House of Commons and former minister without portfolio. Some seventy delegates, representing Great Britain, Belgium, Russia, France, Portugal, Greece, South Africa and Italy, are present. More than half of them are British, representing various sections of the Socialist and labor parties. The figures are of little significance, however, as the conference is not to vote but to consult, and, if possible, agree on the policy to be followed in regard to the international Socialist conference at Stockholm. If it proves to be impossible to reach an agreement, the various sections will put forward their own views at Stockholm.

The chief subject for consideration by the conference, however, is the war aims of the Allies. A report on this matter has been drawn up by the executive committee of the British Labor party, as well as by the French Labor party, and an effort will be made to reach an agreement. The sessions of the conference will be private. Reports of each day's proceedings will be issued.

INGERSOLL PREPARES TO GIVE SOLDIERS FINE TIME ON TRIP

Although more than a dozen automobile trips have been held for the returned soldiers here this summer, the one to be held Wednesday promises to be the equal of any of them. It is expected that more than a hundred of the men will be taken from the Central Military Hospital to Ingersoll. An excellent reception will be tendered to them there. The Three Thousand Club has planned an entertainment and the Red Cross Society will provide refreshments.

The trip this week will be in charge of R. J. Webster. He is confident of obtaining the necessary cars, as Londoners have been responding generously in this matter throughout the summer, and only on occasions when they were not notified in time have failed to offer their services.

Three more trips, in addition to the one on Wednesday, will be made this year, according to present plans. The arrangement followed throughout the season has been to place each trip in charge of one member of the summer outing committee, the list being made up in alphabetical order. All the members of the committee except three have been in charge of a trip now, and it is likely that the final excursion for the year will be made in September.

THOUSAND FROM FRONT ARE LANDED AT QUEBEC; LADY McBRIDE ABOARD

Quebec, Aug. 27.—A White Star-Dominion liner arriving here at midnight brought 196 officers and 994 Canadian army men of other ranks, besides 209 civilian passengers. Among the latter was Lady McBride, widow of the late Sir Richard McBride, who, up to a short while before his death in England was representative of British Columbia in London and at one time premier of British Columbia. Lady McBride returned with her six daughters and is on her way to her home.

Among the returning Canadian soldiers is Regimental Sergt.-Major Marsden of Ottawa, the first Canadian volunteer for service overseas after war was declared. Sergt. Marsden was wounded at Vimy Ridge and awarded the Military Cross for some exploit he modestly refused to speak about when approached shortly after the steamer arrived. Previously he won the D. C. M. In the South African war this warrior won the King's and Queen's Medals with the seven clasps. He is back on short leave, recovering from wounds.

DUKE'S TREASURES STOLEN.

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—Art treasures and pictures valued at 5,000,000 rubles have been stolen from the great historical museum of the late Grand Duke Michael Nickolavitch. The police have searched 150 houses but have found no trace of the booty. This robbery is one of a series that have taken place recently. Early this month six armed robbers stole silver statues and antiques valued at 1,500,000 rubles from the senate building.

BIG MARINE MAN DEAD.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 28.—A cable received last night by officials of the Robert Ramsay Company, agents for the Johnston Line Foreign Agency, Limited, announced the death at Woodslee, Bromborough, Cheshire, England, of William Johnston, head of the steamship line of that name.

With his brother Edmund, Mr. Johnston started in the steamship business nearly forty years ago, and they eventually became owners of one of the largest steamship concerns in the world.

The company not only operated a line of steamers between this port and Liverpool, but also in the Black Sea trade and other points in the Mediterranean.

DIES IN 82ND YEAR.

AYLMER, Aug. 27.—The death occurred in Malahide on Sunday of a respected citizen in the person of Richard L. C. Lute of Malahide, after a five-weeks' illness, in his 82nd year. He is survived by one son and one daughter, namely, Elgin Chute and Mrs. Wm. Burdick, both of Malahide.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday to the Aylmer Cemetery.

MICHAELIS FAILS TO "MAKE GOOD" WITH GERMAN LIBERALS; WANT HIM OUSTED

Chacellor Will Discuss Peace Proposal With Reichstag Today.

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—The pope's peace note will be the principal subject of discussion at a meeting in Berlin this afternoon in which Imperial Chancellor Michaelis, members of the German Parliament and representatives of Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemburg will participate.

Reports from the German capital add that Dr. Michaelis will leave for Belgium immediately after the meeting, where he will have a conference with the governor-general, Baron von Falkenhayn.

WANT NEW CHANCELLOR.

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—The possibility of another change in imperial chancellors is discussed by Georg Bernhardt in the Vossische Zeitung. He says that it is plainly evident already that the appointment of a minor official like Dr. Michaelis, without general political experience, was a great mistake and that the results desired are not apt to be reached quickly under the leadership of the new administration. Parliament, he argues, must take the matter of internal reforms and peace into its own hands. Herr Bernhardt still hopes that Chancellor Michaelis will see the error of his ways and avoid the necessity for another change in the chancellorship.

Wolff Attacks Michaelis.

Theodor Wolff of the Tageblatt dismissed the new Bundesrat-Reichstag committee as "a nostrum designed to soothe the cry of the German people for popular control of the Government." Herr Wolff attacks Dr. Michaelis' reasons for side-tracking parliamentary reform until after the war, and says that the truth is that parliamentarism is not desired just now because it would impose real control upon the Government and end the domination of secret influences.

GIVEN UP FOR DEAD, ST. THOMAS SOLDIER WRITES FROM PRISON

Pte. Salem Dean's Letter to Brother First Word in Ten Months.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 27.—Lorne Dean, employed at Goodwin's furniture store, was today overjoyed to receive a letter from his brother, Pte. Salem Dean, from a prison camp at Gustrow, in Mecklenburg, Germany. Pte. Dean was officially reported missing on October last and nothing had been heard from him until today. His father, brother and sister had given him up as dead, it being ten weeks since he had been reported as missing.

Pte. Dean, who is now only 18 years of age, enlisted with the 37th Battalion in Toronto in November, 1915. At that time he was just sixteen years of age, but a large lad for his years.

From the tone of the letter the young soldier is enjoying good health and is unwounded. The letter in part reads: "Well Lorne I am being used very well here, so that you do not need to worry about me." Apparently the soldier is under the impression that his folks had been notified that he was a prisoner.

MAKES GOOD RECOVERY

Howard Township Woman, Shot by Nephew, Reported Progressing. Nicely.

HIGHGATE, Aug. 27.—The condition of Mrs. Arlo Irvine, formerly Miss Helen Barr, of Duart, but now residing on the eleventh concession of Howard Township, who was accidentally shot last Tuesday by a small rifle in the hands of her nephew, is improving. Mrs. Irvine is in Chatham General Hospital, and is reported to be making a good recovery.

Mrs. Hodge, wife of Pte. Walter Hodge, has been advised that he will remain in the London Convalescent Hospital for another nine weeks. He was expected to return to his home here, the wounds received at the front having been healing nicely. However, he sustained a fall, and broke his right leg in two places above the knee.

THE LOCAL MARKET

Although it was announced last Saturday that the price of live hogs had declined to a point around the $16 mark, up to date no sales have been made at that price, the majority of hog purveyors demanding a better value but receiving none.

Hog prices at Toronto were officially announced to have dropped to the $17 mark this morning, which is a decline of from $2 to $3 under the prevailing values of a few days ago. This announcement is considered to have been later than is usual with the live stock price intimations of Toronto, as London received word of the big drop some days ago.

No dressed porkers were offered on the market this morning and dressed hog figures cannot be quoted with any degree of exactness. However, it is known that a decline in the dressed variety of hogs will be shown as soon as some live porkers sell at the lower rate.

A distinct feature of the market this morning was the unlooked for drop in the price of tomatoes. This vegetable declined 50c per 17-quart basket, bringing the price down to 75c. As the drop was unexpected few purchasers were seen on the market for the occasion, but it is postive that many housewives will avail themselves of the temporary low value of tomatoes, and a good demand is anticipated tomorrow.

Cucumbers were particularly plentiful, both the common and the pickling variety showing a reduction in price. The small cucumber used for pickling purposes was evidently much benefitted by the light rains of the last week, and they sold at the lower rate from 25c to 35c per 100.

The common cucumbers sold in fair demand at 10c to 20c per dozen. This price is a sheer drop of 10c, and it is very unlikely that there will be another decline in the value of cucumbers this season.

The big feature on the fruit market today was thimbleberries. This kind of berry threatens to atone to a large extent for the comparatively poor strawberry and raspberry crops. It is very plentiful and the quality is first rate. The present price of the fruit is 20c per box, but it is likely that a drop will occur shortly.

Peaches and plums declined today, large shipments from Leamington and the Grimsby fruit district having come into the city, the price declining as a result.

Plums although not of the best quality dropped from $1 to 90c because of the larger supply. The demand for fruit appears to be good, but a real brisk demand will not be in evidence until fruit prices decline to a marked degree.

Dairy produce is firm and scarce, the present high prices remaining unchanged. Hay is still scarce and it is expected will remain so until the district farmers conclude their busy harvesting period.

WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 28—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Rails, shippings, equipments and active specialties were fractionally lower at the opening of today's trading. Pressure against metals was more pronounced, Anaconda Copper falling a point. Steels, motors and utilities also yielded slightly, but soon rallied irregularly. Dealings were on a very light scale, with the usual short covering of those stocks in which support was shown.

Noon.—United States Steel's gradual advance of a point, with gains of 1 to 2 points in other industrials, shippings and oils, checked the early decline, but the list fell back again when automobile issues developed increased heaviness and roubles fell to a new minimum. Studebaker reacted 3¼ points to the low price of .8¾, and General Motors lost 2 points. Bethlehem Steel hardened on announcement of the new financing. Trading dwindled steadily in the course of the forenoon.

1:30 p.m.—Active selling set in after midday, the movement being mainly directed against industrials, coppers and speculative issues. Reactions ranged from 1 to 4 points, and effaced all gains of the morning. Motors also added to early losses.

WINNIPEG MARKET SLUMPS 6-19 CENTS

IS SURPRISE TO HOLDERS

Those Who Held Out for Long Prices of Wheat Get Rude Awakening.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Many holders of cash wheat, grading from No. 3 downward, who have been holding out for the possibility of prices advancing closer to the quotation fixed for No. 1 northern, suffered a big surprise this morning, when the cash market slumped from 6c to 19c on grades below No. 2. This was one of the greatest of the many sensations experienced in the trading during recent weeks.

The oats situation was little changed. There was a fair demand, with moderate offerings. Cash flax was in fair demand, with prices easier. In the futures market flax and oats were the only cereals dealt in, most attention being paid to oats. Quotations for oats were very little higher than the previous close. Flax prices were several cents lower.

October wheat closed 1c higher. Oats closed, October, 1c higher; December 1¼c, and May ⅝c higher. Flax closed 1¾c lower for October, 1c down for November, and 2½c lower for December. Barley was unchanged.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $2.40; No. 2 do., $2.40; No. 3 do., $2.38½c; No. 4, $2.20½; No. 5, $1.95; No. 6, $1.70; feed, $1.50.

Oats—No. 2 C. W., 63⅝c; No. 3 C. W., 62⅛c; extra No. 1 feed, 62⅛c; No. 1 feed, 60⅛c; No. 2 feed, 59⅛c.

Barley—No. 3 C. W., $1.18; No. 4 C. W., $1.18; rejected, $1.12; feed, $1.12.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $3.60; No. 2 C. W., $3.51; No. 3 C. W., $3.41.

TORONTO.

Wheat—Ontario, No. 2 winter, $2.15@2.20, outside, according to location; Manitoba, No. 1 northern, $2.40; No. 2 northern, $2.40; No. 3 northern, $2.32½.

Oats—Canada western, No. 2, 63⅝c.

Barley—New, $1.20@1.22, outside for malting.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—There was a fair demand from local buyers for oats, and sales of 100,000 bushels of No. 2 Canadian western and extra No. 1 feed were made for prompt shipment at 71c per bushel for the former, and at 68½c for the latter, ex-track, Fort William. There was also some demand for new crop western rye, and a sale of five cars was made at $1.73 per bushel, ex-track, here. No. 2 yellow corn was stronger at $2 to $2.05, with sales of odd cars.

Corn—American, No. 2 yellow, $2@2.05.

CHANGES MADE IN INGERSOLL SCHOOLS

INGERSOLL, Aug. 27.—At a regular meeting of the board of education this evening, the resignation of Miss M. Marshall, for three years commercial and art teacher at the collegiate institute, was read, and on motion, accepted, to take effect November 1. In a previous letter, Miss Marshall stated she had received an offer from another school of $1,400 a year, but would give the Ingersoll Collegiate the preference if this offer was met. On instructions from the chairman of the teachers' committee, she was notified that she must give two months' notice in resigning, which she has done. She stated in her resignation that she had accepted the offer of the St. Marys board of $1,400 a year.

The teachers' committee reported having engaged Miss Pratt of Toronto as household science teacher at a salary of $900 per year. A number of accounts were read, and payment ordered. Reference was made to the coal situation, and no efforts are being spared to make possible somewhere near the usual supply of coal.

Chairman Lee of the collegiate institute property committee acquainted the board with improvements of an important nature that have been made since the vacation period opened. The sum of $10 was granted to Caretaker Miller for extra work in cleaning the collegiate institute and Ward school.

Still undaunted, the Soldiers' League will make another attempt Wednesday night to hold a band concert by the 1st Hussars band of London on the Central school grounds. The event had to be twice postponed last week.

A beneficial holiday can be enjoyed, with all the comforts of home at "The Highland Inn," situated in the midst of a charming wilderness on Cache Lake. It is also a good month for the camper and canoeist. Splendid fishing is found in the innumerable lakes (over 1,500) that nestle in the forests of pine and balsam. Don't leave it until the last minute to make your reservation at the Inn, and write to Miss Jean Lindsay, manager, Algonquin Park Station, Ontario, for rates, etc., or to any Grand Trunk Railway agent for handsome illustrated booklet telling you all about the district.

FIRST AID WORK.

A class for women in first aid to the injured is being organized under the auspices of No. 4 Nursing Division, and will commence on September 18. The nurses will be in attendance at the Western Fair to take care of emergency cases. A vehicle for carrying patients is badly needed, and an effort is being made to secure one. There is need also for donations of sheets, pillow cases, blankets and towels.

MUSICAL RIDE.

The men at the Carling Heights camp who are taking part in the musical ride to be put on during the Western Fair are rapidly rounding into excellent shape, and should provide first-rate entertainment when their performance is put on. Monday afternoon they rode through the down-town streets, and made a smart appearance, both horses and men looking spick and span. Major Osborne, provost marshal, and Lieut. Stewart, assistant director of veterinary services, are instructing the men in the mounted work.

By an unfortunate occurrence the name of the Western Fair Association was left out of the Bell Telephone Directory, and it is causing no little trouble these days, as the 'phone is in almost constant use; the same old number, 752, finds the secretary and his staff busy from early morning till night. Everything looks very bright for an exceptionally good exhibition this year. The additions to the prize list will bring a large entry of live stock of all kinds. The roots, grain and vegetables will certainly be exhibited in large quantities. At this date entries are pouring into the offices in the ladies' department, and also the dairy department. Entries have been received in the latter from Calgary, Edmonton, Red Deer and various western places. Entries should be made at once, as they close on September 6. The entries for the dog show close September 4. The office staff will move out to the general offices at Queen's Park next Monday morning, and all business will be transacted there until after the exhibition, the down-town offices being closed. GOVT. SHOULD TAKE OVER GRAND TRUNK AS WELL AS C.N.R.

Consolidate Them Into One System, Says Sir Adam.

LOBBYING AT OTTAWA

Resolution of Protest Passed Against Nefarious Efforts Being Made.

That the Government should take over the Grand Trunk Railway, as well as the Canadian Northern Railway, and consolidate them into one system, was the solution of the railway problem of the Dominion of Canada advocated by Sir Adam Beck last evening at the banquet tendered the delegates to the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities held at Port Stanley. The purchase of the C. N. R. alone would be of little benefit to the province of Ontario, but the taking over of the two systems would be of great advantage to the whole country, he maintained.

Mayor Stevenson presided at the banquet. Mutual admiration between Sir Adam Beck, Mayor Thomas L. Church, Toronto, and Mayor Stevenson was quite the order of the evening.

After the health of the King had been drunk, short speeches were delivered by several of the visitors. W. D. Lighthall, Montreal, spoke first, and expressed his delight at coming to London. The association was organized to protect the municipalities against the monopolies that were rapidly growing in power in the country. Through it the hydro-electric policy had been formulated, and it had done much in preventing the growth of the electrical ring, and brought great advantages to the people.

Conserving Food.

Mrs. David Williams of the local food conservation organization spoke briefly on the objects of the organization, and declared that the women were banded together to prevent waste and assist production.

Philip Pocock, chairman of the utilities commission, spoke of the work of that commission, dealing principally with hydro power. The electrical department had made a surplus of $150,000 and was now purchasing 9,000 horsepower and selling 20,000, and had over 10,000 customers. Its success was assured.

Mayor Hardie, Lethbridge, was convinced after hearing the figures that London must be a city full of conjurers. "I am from Missouri, but I may be convinced yet that London is getting light for one-half a cent per kilowatt," he declared. "I will have to investigate, and possibly before I go I may find out the truth."

Hydro Enterprise.

Mayor Tommy Church started on his eulogy of Sir Adam Beck, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, men who ever lived in Canada. He was beloved alike by the soldiers and the returned men. He had done great things for Canada and would do more. He had invested for the people of Canada $64,000,000 in the hydro enterprises and $15,000,000 more would be spent on it. The hydro radials would mean an expenditure of $25,000,000 more, or a total of $104,000,000. He warned the association that the greatest fight against public ownership was now being waged in the railway committee of the Senate at Ottawa. The charter of the Toronto and Niagara Power Company was a thrust at the interests of the people. It might mean ruin if this electric company was given the right to enter cities without the consent of the municipalities and go into business. The Senate had insulted Sir Adam, and the municipalities. The greatest lobby in the history of Canada was working to defeat the people, and Tommy foresaw dire ruin if the lobby was not defeated.

War Comes First.

Sir Adam Beck followed, and declared that even domestic problems must take second place to the war.

"I am sure our hearts must go out in sympathy with the premier and his cabinet in these trying times," he said. "This is no time for political controversy. It is lamentable that differences have arisen. Political chaos is rampant. An effort is being made—I hope an earnest effort—for a coalition government. I hope it will be successful. The men at the front are bearing their own, and the burdens of others, who claim to be British.

"One of the great problems affecting this country, possibly second only to the war, is the railway problem. It affects our credit, and it must be solved. Public ownership is occupying the minds of the public, and it is time that an advanced step were taken. It is time that the public controlled the railways, and not the railways control the public. We have had to pay interest on millions of money invested in railways by the people. We must not look back on past mistakes, but look to the future. We must carry the burden of these mistakes. The west is dependent on cheap transportation. It is handicapped because of the high rates, in contrast with the much lower rates in the Western States. They must go still higher, I am afraid.

Making History.

"We may be making history in taking over the C. N. R. We will be doing good for generations. We will by so doing remove a great menace from the public life of Canada, the railway promoters. We will have control of the second largest railway in Canada. It will mean the consolidation of the others.

"The Government should show courage and take over the Grand Trunk Railway as well. The purchase of the C. N. R. will do something for us, but it will not do all. Without the G. T. R. Ontario will be little benefited. By taking over the two we will avoid duplication of lines and equipment, duplication of management. I urge upon you to use your influence with the members of Parliament to the end that the two systems may be consolidated. That is what we are looking for and hoping for."

Sir Adam gave a resume of the history of the London and Port Stanley, and discussed the steps leading up to the electrification of that system. It was providing cheap transportation and efficiency in service. He paid a tribute to the officials of the road for their zeal and unselfish service. In spite of the increase in the cost of materials, wages, the loss of freight attendant on the embargo against steel, the refusal of other railways to give excursions to the L. and P. S., and other difficulties, the road would show a surplus greater than in 1915 and 1916 by several thousands of dollars. During the year ending June 30, 178,000 more passengers had been carried than the year previous. The property owned by the city and operated at the lakeside would show a profit of $7,000, or about 11 per cent on the whole investment, which would provide for interest, sinking fund and depreciation.

Sir Adam did not take the pessimistic view of Tommy Church regarding the franchise of the Toronto and Hamilton Power Company. Municipally-owned enterprises could beat them all, and he was not afraid of the competition offered. He then handed out bouquets to Tommy Church and Mayor Stevenson for their unfailing support of hydro enterprises, and their faithfulness to him. He also spoke of their popularity.

Sir Adam dealt with the war questions, and paid a great tribute to the work done by the women of France, England and Canada. Woman had won her place in the world.

Two resolutions were presented by Mayor Burgoyne, St. Catharines, and Mayor Stevenson of London, protesting against the wide powers given in the charter of the Toronto and Hamilton Power Company, and also entering a protest against the nefarious lobby being carried on at Ottawa in favor of the bill.

POWER WAS OFF.

During a heavy electrical storm which broke over the city about midnight a bolt of lightning ran into the hydro sub-station on Horton street on a wire and blew out the fuses. The power was off in London for about five minutes while the trouble was being remedied.

MAJESTIC.

Roy Griffin, the silver-voiced tenor, opened a return engagement at the Majestic Theatre yesterday. His entrance at each performance was a signal for tremendous applause, evidencing that he is the most popular singer who ever appeared before a London audience. His return engagement will extend over a period of some weeks. He will sing a new repertoire of vocal numbers as well as any song a patron may request. The orchestra overture for this week is "Atala." Among the screen features are Lou Tellegen in "The Long Trail," Earl Williams in "Transgression," and a side-splitting Mack Sennett comedy.

"The Long Trail" is a tale of the Canadian northwest, of the land where trappers and hunters ply their trade, and the "tenderfoot" comes but rarely.

In this picture Lou Tellegen is seen as Andre Dubois, a French-Canadian trapper. His little sister, Michette, and he keep house on the edge of a clearing, and as she grows to womanhood he realizes that he must send her away to school, although it breaks his heart to lose her.

On their return to the hotel the next morning Louise's fiancee breaks their engagement, and the girl is left to her own resources. Andre immediately offers her the shelter of his name and home, and after a hasty wedding the two begin a queer sort of double-housekeeping arrangement, each keeping strictly to his particular room in Andre's shack.

In the meantim, Michette, away at boarding school, is seeing a great deal of young Paul Graham, Louise's brother, and when Andre goes to get her, leaving Louise in the care of an Indian woman, he finds that she has left the convent with Paul. He is heartbroken and begins a search for her and the man who has taken her. While he is looking for her Michette herself, broken-winged butterfly, scomes back to the little shack on "The Long Trail" and it is Louise and the Indian woman who care for her until she dies.

Andre returns too late, but vows vengeance on the man and tells the Mounted Police all he knows of him, including showing a picture of him which he found in a locket on Michetie. While this is going on in the little cabin Paul becomes involved in a gambling fracas and shoots a man. The police are on his trail for this and a large reward is offered for him, when he, in his blind fright, stumbles into the shack of Andre and is overjoyed at finding his sister.

The climax comes when Andre returns to recognize him and cannot understand why Louise tries to protect him. As she explains that it is her brother, Andre relents, but after saving him from the police, who come to the shack looking for him, he provisions a sled and starts him on his way out of the country on "The Long Trail." It is just as they have parted that the police find Paul and the evidence seems to implicate Andre. He is manacled and the party starts back to civilization, passing Andre's shack, where Louise, frantic at the delay, is waiting.

When she sees her brother dead and Andre, who she has come to love for his goodness and kind heart, manacled, she explains everything to the mounted policeman, offering her own hands for the manacles. Instead, however, the policeman puts them in Andre's, now free, and rides off down the long trail, leaving the two together at last.

PATRICIA.

Mary Pickford in "A Romance of the Redwoods" is the screen attraction at the Patricia Theatre all this week. In this photoplay Miss Pickford is seen at her best, and that she is the most popular star in filmdom today is evidenced by the large number who saw the picture at yesterday's performances. To see Mary Pickford is a delight for young and old alike. In "A Romance of the Redwoods" Miss Pickford is given ample opportunity to display her ability as an actress. Her magnetic personality, always an outstanding feature in her pictures, shines throughout this photoplay.

One of the funniest Fox Comedies ever shown provides an abundance of amusement. Many spectacular and daring effects are introduced in bringing out the humorous features.

George Steer, a local entertainer, sings a number of songs in splendid style. He is warmly received, and his work brings him well-deserved applause. He is well and favorably known in this city and needs no introduction to a London audience.

Around the marble-top table of a quaint New England parlor are seated friends of the late Widow Lawrence, just deceased. What to do with Jenny, the only child, is the topic of the whispered conversation. Several offer to take the little girl to live with them, when the lawyer announces that the last wish of her mother was that she be sent to her uncle, who left for the California gold mines two months previous. The idea appeals to Jenny, and thus, during the big rush of '49, she leaves for California to live with her uncle.

John Lawrence, the uncle, has been killed by Indians and his body is found by "Black" Brown, a road agent, who is being pursued by the sheriff's posse. Substituting the clothes and papers of the dead man for his own, the bandit passes as a wealthy man from Boston, and lives in the little mining camp of "Strawberry Flats." In secret however, he still rules his outlaw trade on stage coaches and pack trains.

Jenny arrives at the cabin of "John Lawrence," and, horrified at the sight of dirt and disorder, begins to straighten things out. From her bag she takes a pair of carpet slippers, which she has embroidered, and, with a little card, places them on the mantel to surprise her beloved uncle. When Jack as the impostor is known, enters, Jenny asks the whereabouts of her uncle. With an evil leer, the bandit advises her that he is her "uncle" and tells her of her relative's death. Later, in order to protect herself from the hands of a ruffian, Jenny is compelled to establish herself as the niece of Jack.

Back in the cabin, Jack pleads with Jenny that he could not let her support him with the washing which she had been doing for the miners, but Jenny is not won over. At this point a knock comes to the door, and the vigilance committee enters. Jenny throws her shawl over the gold sack, and then begins a battle of wits. Jack is finally cornered, however, and his immediate execution is arranged, despite the pleadings of Jenny. Just as her sweetheart is about to be hung from a cabin rafter Jenny returns to the room with a little white dress, which she has taken from the doll, and the apparent significance of the situation dawns upon the men, who are very fond of her. They agree to give Jack his freedom if he marries the girl at once, and a justice of peace performs the ceremony. After the newly-married couple have left the cabin for all time, the men find a half-naked doll, and they realize they have been tricked. Several grip their guns and are about to start after the couple, when Jim Lyn, the leader, orders the men back, saying, "Boys, I reckon when twenty men have been fooled by one woman, they had better take their medicine." And in the freshness of the early morning, Jenny and Jack come through the gloom of the great trees and out into the rosy light of the future.

WANT COMMISSION NAMED TO CONTROL AND ARRANGE PRICES OF ALL FOODSTUFFS

Municipalities Union Urges Government to Take Action.

WELCOME TO DELEGATES

Mayor Hardie of Lethbridge Scores Patriotic Fund.

VISIT TO PORT STANLEY

Big Patriotic Meeting To Be Held Tonight in Masonic Hall.

That a commision be named by the Government to control and arrange prices of food stuffs after the war as well as at present, and that the commission have power also on complaint to deal with prices of all articles, was the gist of the resolution passed yesterday afternoon at the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities. The principle of exempting investors in war loans from income tax on the interest from these bonds was condemned. Many other subjects were dealt with.

When the convention opened, Mayor Stevenson welcomed the delegates, and spoke of the pleasure Londoners felt in entertaining the visitors. Mayor Hardie, Lethbridge, replied, and expressed the delight of the visitors at being present.

On motion of Mayor Burgoyne, St. Catharines, a vote of sympathy was tendered City Clerk Sam Baker in the loss of his son, Major Horace Baker, killed in action.

Reviews the Work.

The report of W. D. Lighthall, secretary-treasurer, was presented and adopted. He reviewed the work of the year, and detailed what had been done to protect the interests of the municipalities not only belonging to the union, but others. The only difficulty in the way was that of finance. Some of the bigger cities had not seen their way clear to pay their way, and he felt that they should.

"Let them come across with the money," said Ald. Ryan, Three Rivers. "They certainly should pay."

"I would like to see them made to pay," said Mayor Thurber, Langueuil, Quebec.

However, the matter was left to the executive, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the secretary.

George S. Wilson, the assistant secretary, gave the financial statement. It showed the receipts for last year to be $5,596.40 and the expenditures $5,539.46, leaving a balance of $56.94.

Help Win War.

The convention then discussed how municipal councils could assist in the war. A paper was presented by W. J. Wright, Montreal, prepared by John Cabburn, associate editor of the Municipal Journal of England. The paper was a most excellent one. A partial list of the activities there were as follows: Campaign for war loans, arrangements for purchasing saving certificates by citizens, cultivation of garden lots, establishment of civic piggeries and chicken farms, prevention of waste, instruction in scientific farming, prevention of disease, military tribunals, food control, supplying road battalions for France, instruction in munition working, municipal food kitchens, warnings of air raids, afterwar preparation, housing and development of new industries for after the war conditions.

"We are restricted in our powers, but I feel that we could have done a great deal more if there had been the proper co-operation," said Mayor Burgoyne.

Mr. Wright thought that much of the municipal machinery had been idle during the war. The Government had not asked and, as a result, had not secured the co-operation of the municipalities as could have been secured. The larger responsibilities made for bigger men and a general increase in interest and work.

Says It is a Farce.

Mayor Hardie, Lethbridge, went into a discussion of the patriotic fund, and declared it to be a big farce. The governments had tried to shirk their work, and had been passing it over to the municipalities. This was particularly true of the patriotic work. The Government should give the soldiers $30 a month for a separation allowance and do away with ill-advised and poorly distributed charity. The present system caused too much contention. There were grievances in the distribution.

Senator Planta, Nanaimo, defended the fund, declaring that it had been splendidly administered and well handled. He had one objection, and that was when the wife of a soldier earned some money it was deducted from her allowance. He did not think this fair and just. In Nanaimo everybody gave, and the fund opened a channel for work that many would have overlooked.

"The proposition has been inequitable in its method of distributing the burden, and there has been inequalities in the distribution," continued Mayor Hardie.

"It's the Government's job," declared Ald. Ryan. "The Government should raise this fund by taxation, and the municipalities should collect and distribute it."

The Only Way.

Mayor Burgoyne thought that it was the only system that could have been devised. It did a great deal of work at the beginning of the war, and its usefulness had increased. He thought it no time to criticise.

Ald. Sampson of Outremont, Quebec, thought the municipal councils should collect the income tax. The Government, if it did not utilize the municipal machinery, would be compelled to duplicate it at a great expense, and build up a smooth-working political machine at a great expense that might be dangerous.

A resolution was passed urging the Government to co-operate with the municipalities in all things tending to win the war, and after.

Monopolies and trusts were criticised by Mayor Buchanan of Ingersoll when the resolution presented by W. D. Lighthall, asking for a tribunal to regulate food prices now and after the war, was under discussion. They made the cost of production high by the taxes on machinery. There should be some steps taken to lower the cost of machinery to the farmers.

Applies to Others.

Mayor Burgoyne explained what had been done by a commission in lowering the price of newsprint. The same thing could be done in other commodities.

"We can't get away from combines the prices of all things were properly them," said Ald. Ryan. "It is time the price of all things were properly regulated and controlled. It costs too much for distribution these days."

Controller Nelson saw a combine at work to make it expensive to do municipal work. Cement, machinery, concrete pipes, and a lot of other things were too high, and it was time that some regulation was put on them. Municipalities were being robbed. He also informed the delegates that a commission such as had been suggested would be appointed soon, but he wanted a clause in the bill to give the commission power to regulate all prices, including municipal purchases. This was agreed to, and the resolution will be forwarded to Ottawa.

The suggestion of City Clerk Sampson, that taxes on municipal bonds be not collected, as was the case with war loans, provoked a great discussion, but the motion was withdrawn.

Ald. Ryan, Ald. Ashplant and Mayor Hardie declared that the principle of exemption was vicious in the extreme, and could not be defended. The minister of finance and the little group who formulate his opinions were called to task for this kind of thing.

Ald. Ryan wanted the convention to recommend to the Government that income taxes be collected on Government debentures when the short-time loans matured, but the question was not pressed.

The convention reported progress on a uniform system of municipal accounting.

Last evening the delegates were guests at a civic banquet tendered them at Port Stanley.
