WANT BOTH HOLIDAYS

FALL ON SAME DATE

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—The board of trade intends to petition the Government to proclaim that Thanksgiving Day and Armistice Day fall simultaneously on Nov. 11, and be a national holiday. This was decided on at a meeting of the council of the board held yesterday afternous.

the council of the board held yes-terday afternoon.

For business reasons this change was advocated and it was felt that by making a definite holiday on November 11, and fix-ing Thanksgiving Day much in-convenience could be avoided.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Deportation of Ludwig Martens, unrecognized soviet "ambassador" to the United States, was ordered yesterday by soviet "ambassador" to the United States, was ordered yesterday by Secretary Wilson of the labor department.

The labor secretary, holding that Martens is an alien, a citizen of Russia, and a member of and affilia ted with an organization advocating the overthrow of the U. S. Govern ment by force, directed the commissioner-general of immigration to take the Boisheviki agent into custody and to deport him to Russia at the expense of the Government of the United States. Mr. Wilson, in his order added that Martens should be "treated with the utmost courtesy and given the best available accommodations in transit."

Martens is expected by officials to be given leave to settle his affairs in the United States before the promulgation of the warrant of deportation.

Admiral Jellicoe's Official Report Contained in Government Book.

London, Dec. 17 .- Another chapter was added to the controversy over the Shipbuilding In battle of Jutland, when the admiralty today published the eagerly-awaited volume of six hundred pages on this crucial naval engagement containing admiral Jellicoe's dispatch describing the battle and the narratives of the British squadron commanders. Adthe battle and the narratives of the British squadron commanders. Admiral Jellicoe, in his covering dispatch dated June 18, 1916, declared he felt no anxiety regarding the advanced position of the forces under vice-admiral Beatty, commander of the battle cruiser squadron, and that when Beatty sighted the enemy battle cruisers the vice-admiral adopted the correct and only possible course in engaging the enemy endeavoring to keep between the enemy and his base.

There has been much controversy over the question whether Jellicoe should have gone to Beatty's aid when it appeared the battle was imminent.

Dec. 17.—A dispatch to the London Times from Berlin says police headquarters in Alexahderplatz was burned Thursday evening, and that a quantity of records and other valuables and a number of automobiles were totally destroyed. The damage is estimated at many millions of marks. The police headquarters building which was one of the largest public institutions in Berlin, covered 19,000 square yards. It contained several hundred offices, many of them filled with archives.

The building was the scene of bitter fighting early in the year, when the stronghold was garrisoned under the Socialist police president, Eichshorn.

According to Dr. Stevenson, films showing the breaking up of homes will be absolutely taboo, in recognition of the agitation which has existed for some time against this class of picture. Unclean and unpatriotic pictures will also come under the ban. The board will probably come into being immediately after the beginning of the new year and will hold its meetings in Toronto, said Dr. Stevenson.

Measure of 1914 Would Automatically Become Law When Turkey Ratifies Pact.

London, Dec. 17 .- Members of the House of Lords who have firmly stood against the Irish home fule bill as passed by the House of Commons were in consultation with members of the Government overnight, it is understood, trying to arrange some sort of com-war.

Developments are being awaited with curiosity and anxiety. The action of the House of Lords in amending the home rule bill was tantamount to rejection. ion of the measure and the insistence of Commons upon the original bill seems o have placed the fate of the legislaon in the balance.

tion in the balance.

Expects Peers To Recede.

Parliamentary writers gave widelydivergent statements in London newsrapers this morning as to what might happen. Many members of the Upper House of Parliament object to the provision of the bill for the council of Ireland and oppose the clause providing that after Ireland declines to accept the form of government established by the measure a crown colony government form of government established by the measure, a crown colony government will be imposed. Some writers declare the irreconcilable peers will recede from their position and that when the House of Lords meets at noon Saturday, it will hear royal assent given the measure and see it placed in the statute books as a law.

This orderly ending of the long-drawn discussions and manoeuvres of the rival parties accords in no way with assertions made in other quarters, where it is asserted that the peers whose votes carried the amandments in the House of Lords will absolutely refuse to accept the bill in the form to which it has been the Proof Line road will be called for shortly.

However, Mr. Talbot does not think there is much to be gained by trying to proceed with the suburban road scheme in the winter, unless it is desired to run a sort of "charitable institution." It would be a very costly project to pave the Pipe Line road, or any other of the four roads for consideration under the suburban roads scheme in the winter.

"I am not prepared at the present time," said Jared Vining, chairman of the parks board today, when asked as to what part the board would take in the matter of the Pipe Line road as suggested at yesterday's meeting of the public utilities commission. "As you know, I was unable to attend the meeting and consequently I cannot say anything without further information."

Movement Against Government Is Suppressed.

London, Dec. 17.—According to Prague dispatches issued here on behalf of the Czecho-Slovak Government, which is now operating successfully everywhere. Martial law has been proclaimed in Moravia. Many leaders of the movement have been arrested. The strikes are reported to be in no wise general.

An official report reaching London ascribes the outbreak to Bolshevist intrigue. It says documents were discovered showing that some Czech communists in Bolshevik pay were trying to make Czecho-Slovakia a Russian colony.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Eulogizing the work which the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier had done for all Canadians, in an address before the Liberal Club of Ottawa last night, Hon. Robert E. Finn, representing Halifax in the Nova Scotia Legislature, compared with Sir Wilfrid's work that of Sir Robert Borden's Government and the Government of Hon. Arthur Meighen.

The speaker made appeal for national unity, which, he said, could never be brought about while there was in power at Ottawa a Government which divided the people against themselves. The old Conservative party of Sir John A. Macdonald was not present in the new National Liberal and Conservative party, Mr. Finn declared, and the traditions behind Sir John's party seemed to have been forgotten also. Sir John A. Macdonald would not have allowed the French-Canadians to be so long without cabinet representation as had Borden and Meighen.

Mr. Finn declared he did not believe in group government unless the groups were within a party and the only party in Canada today bis enough and broad enough to take in all the groups that were forming, he stated, was the Liberal party. The Liberal party was in a splendid position today. Some had left it and their going had been for the better. WESTERN PEOPLE LONDON WOMEN ARE NOT EXTREME

Fourth Was Brought Out For Election.

"Has there been a break of faith by the women of London?" Secretary R. M. McElheran of the board of education thinks that there has.

In conversation with The Advertiser this morning, Mr. McElheran pointed this morning. Mr. McEiheran pointed out that when it was first proposed two years ago to nominate women candidates for the position of trustees. the Mothers' Clubs of the city expressed themselves as quite satisfied that three women trustees was a very fair representation on the board of education, and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Edwards were elected.

Last year, however, a fourth woman candidate was nominated, and elected, giving the women of the city one-third of the twelve elective trustees instead of the one-fourth which they had agreed was a fair proportion.

COMMISSION WILL INVESTIGATE CHARGES AGAINST BUREAU

If Necessary, Civic Employment Office Will Be Opened At Once.

If charges of unfairness and discrimination at the Ontario Government Employment Bureau are proved, a city bureau will be opened wiethin 24 hours, Mayor Little told representatives of the Unemployed Returned Soldiers' Association today.

A special commission will hear evidence in connection with the matter at once, at the suggestion of the mayor. The men appointed Fred Young to act for them, and the mayor named Lieut-Col. W. J. Brown and Rev. G. Q. Warner as two disinterested citizens who would investigate the matter impartially. This commission will be asked to attend a meeting of unemployed soldiers tonight, when Harry Wray of the employment bureau will be present to give his side of the case. They will also accept evidence from other sources and then report to the city authorities.

If their report reveals discrimination action will be taken immediately.

YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS ADD TO POPULATION OF CANADA'S PRISONS

Increase Noted Particularly in

Quebec Penitentiary. CRIME IS SPREADING

Use of Firearms To Commit Deeds Is Becoming Common

Ottawa. Dec. 17 .- A big increase in prison population, especially in Eastern Canada, is noted. according to returns in the penitentiary branch of the department of justice. In Ontario and Quebec an increase of 30 or more percent since the war is noted.

Discussing the subject, a high official of the branch stated that the increased number of inmates in the penitentiaries was chiefly due to the spread of crime among young men in their teens and early twenties, and the crimes they committed were characteristic of young desperadoes.

Youthful Criminals.

These included robbery with violence, the use of firearms, wounding, and such like. In St. Vince De Paul penitentiary, Quebec, the population of criminals has risen from 300 to over 500 in the last two years. Warden G. S. Malepart of that institution, who is in Ottawa, stated that this increase came chiefly from young men, who committed daring crimes in the lower quarters of Montreal.

The same condition exists in Kingturns in the penitentiary branch of the Montreal.

The same condition exists in Kingston, where the increase in criminals has been about the same proportion. And Kingston now harbors some of the "toughest" criminals ever behind bars in Canada, although it is stated in the department that the recent reports regarding jail-breaking are "90 per cent" imagination. It is also a peculiar fact that in the western penal institutions the increase in the number of convictions has not been so great as in the tions has not been so great as in the east, although it has been notable. This is due to the fact, officials say, that the larger urban areas are in the east.

CLIMATE REGULATES MENTAL EFFICIENCY

At Least Prof. Huntington of Yale Has Found Much To Prove It.

WINTER NOT BEST

Educator Figures That the Minds of Students Work Best At 64 Degrees.

EASTON. Pa., Dec. 16 .- College students have another alibi for falling below standard in scholastic activities during the winter months. Lecturing to Lafayette College students this week Prof. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University said that the students were bound to fall below during the cold period, because the climatic conditions prevented better work.

Fond parents, believing that the long, cold evenings brought desires for much reading and, therefore, more intellectual activity, failed to understand why their sone and daughters should relax in their studies. They blamed dances and whatnot for the poor marks, but from now on these same parents are going to have a difficult task to make their sons believe decrease in grades is due to anything but climatic conditions.

Prof. Huntington's statements to the students were not the result of an overnight idea. They were the result of years of study, both in this country and abroad. He has studied the effects of climate on both intellectual and manual labor under all conditions. He has studied the class room marks of Annapolis and West Point and drawn his conclusions from these tabulations.

'In the study of climate,' he said, one of the most puzzling features is the diversity of opinion among persons of good judgment. For instance, at what season do people work fastest in the northern United States? Some will say the winter, some the spring, a considerable number the fall and a few the summer. Most will say that they are least efficient in the summer, but others believe that they are at their worst in the early spring or late winter.

Dull Days the Best. "Again ask a dozen friends whether they work best on clear days or cloudy. The majority will probably answer that the first clear day after a storm is by all means the best. A small number will perhaps think that the matter over more carefully, and then say that after a storm the clearness of the air and the brightness of the sun are certainly in more carefully, and then say that after a storm the clearness of the air and the brightness of the sun are certainly inspiring, but one really accomplishes more when it rains.

"This divergence of opinion is due largely to the fact that climatic effects are of two "...ds, psychological and physiological. We are always conscious of the first, but often unconscious of the second. The external conditions which we see and feel make a greater impression than those which prevail within our bodies. For example, most of us think that in the northern United States we work fast in winter. As a matter of fact, the statistics of ten thousand people show that we work slowly. The ordinary impression is apparently psychological. In order to keep warm out of doors in winter we walk fast, and this leads us to think that we do everything rapidly.

"Again the blue sky, clear air, bright sunshine and fresh colors of the first day after a storm are unquestionably inspiring, but does that inspiration make us work any better? May it not lead to hinders our work by causing us to look out at the beauties of nature or to be less concentrated in other ways? The actual figures show that, taking the year hinders our work by causing us to look out at the beauties of nature or to be less concentrated in other ways? The actual figures show that taking the year as a whole, on duil days, especially the stond such by whole short begins to lar we accomplish mo. har on bright days, even though we grumble about the clouds and the dampness. Abright sky certainly makes us cheerful, but its chief helpfulness, so far as our work is concerned is felt when it is a change from the monotony of a series of dull days. Clouds and rain produce exactly as much rejoicing when they succeed prolonged clear weather of the kind we praise so highly.

"The questions which have been siggested show how indefinite are our jeas of the effect of climate. We understand its psychological effects fairly well. We know little of its physiological affects, however, except when they are it some extreme or unusual, or when people are sick or are in some other pathological condition. We need to deteraine how ordinary people are influenced by ordinary conditions of weather.

Government School Tests.

"The has been proven that from New England to Florida physical strength and health vary in accordance with the seasons. Extremes seem to produce the same effect everywhere. But does mental activity vary in the same way? The general conclusion is that mental work varies in the same way as physical, but reaches its highest efficiency at a lower temperature. Before we can accept this, however, tests are needed on a large scale. The most feasible method seems to be by marks of students in such schools as West Point and Annapolis.

"There the young men live an extremely regular life, with a minimum of outside distractions. Their recitations are graded whire free students can see them. No division has more than ten or twelve, so that every student has a full opportunity to show how well he is prepared.

"By charting the results it can be seen that the curve holds its height until Christma. There is a rise in mental action, or better marks from the opening of schoo spring arrives the curve again declines and continues to do so the remainder of the school term.

Best Work at 64 Degrees.

"The best temperature for greatest efficiency of mental work is when the temperature is around 64 degrees. From the above it can be seen that the curves were low in midwinter. From the middle of January on there is a gradual rise until near April. The fall of the efficiency curve begins when the average temperature has risen to about 68 degrees. On the other hand, when the imperature falls below 48 degrees the knaturally turns downward.

In the stature falls below 48 degrees the knaturally turns downward.

In the stature falls greatly, mental work the sature falls greatly, mental work to suffer more than physical, and as much as when there is no it receives a little stimulus light warming of the air, but to be adversely affected when ecomes warm rapidly. Stungs to a race which has never

That It is Unfair To Force
Few Ratepayers To Pay For City's Charitable Works.

When civic work, coming under the head of local improvements, and which under ordinary circumstances would be charged only to the ratepayers directly benefitted, is undertaken in the winter, so that employment can be given to the work down above what the estimated cost would be in the summer-time must be borne by the city of London, according to a decision handed down by the court of revision at a meeting held on Thursday afternoon.

It was decided by the members of the court that it would not be fair to force out that it would not be fair to force out that it would not be fair to force out the court was much greater than if it had been done at that time in the interest of charity, the ratepayers who were directly benefitted were asked by the city of London, according to a decision handed down by the court of revision at a meeting held on Thursday afternoon.

It was decided by the members of the court that it would not be fair to force out the fair that out the fair to force out that it would not be fair to force out that the work had been done at that t

The other protest was made on similar grounds. It was first thought by the board that the exceptionally high charge made for laying a sewer in Knollwood Park was due to the depth at which it was laid, but when it was learned that the work had been done during last winter it was thought that the matter should be inestigated. The engineer will be asked to bring in a report to the court.

should be inestigated. The engineer will be asked to bring in a report to the court.

A delegation of three, representing the residents of Carfrae-Crescent, appeared before the board to protest an attempt of the city authorities to charge the people living on that street for widening the thoroughfare from 40 to 70 feet. The city claimed that the work came under the heading of local improvements, but the ratepayers of Carfrae-Crescent protested, on the grounds that the city as a whole would benefit from the change.

The street was originally only 40 feet wide, but when the Traction Company went out of business the city took over their property lying on the west side of the street, thereby adding 30 feet to the width of the road. The ratepayers on both sides of the street were charged for the improvement in the notifications of taxes recently sent out.

The court believed that as that section of the city south of Grand avenue would be benefitted, also that it would be an improvement for the city as a whole when the Richmond street bridge was eventually built, the city should at least bear one-half of the cost of the improvement. Acting on this they decided that residents of Carfrae-Crescent should pay only one-half of the cost.

Time Extended.

Ald, C. Moorhead appeared for the cost. Time Extended.

Ald. C. Moorhead appeared for the ratepayers on Dufferin avenue, between English and Ontario streets in regards to a protest made by them that they should not be required to pay for certain improvements to the roadway in a period of only three years. Such a short period, Mr. Moorhead declared, would place a hardship on some of the citizens, so he asked that the period should be extended to five years.

The roadway was recently constructed of gravel macadam. A petition that this should be done was filed with the city council ten years ago, but in some manner it became mislaid. Through the efforts of Mr. Moorhead it was resurrected a few months ago, and the work was started. While the citizens residing on that street were willing to pay the cost, as it would have been ten years ago, in three years, they thought that as the cost had increased considerably since that time, they should be granted the additional time.

Their request was granted after a short discussion. Their request was granted after a short discussion.

Many minor complaints were made by individual ratepayers.

to the witness box. Klue was a witness for the defence, but if he had not been in the courtroom or available for Mr. McEvoy at the time, A. H. M. Graydon would not have needed to offer any defence at all. Klue had evidently been present in the event of his being required by the defence, but it was on his evidence, when called for the plaintiff, that the case was sent to the jury. Mrs. Menzies, suffering from poor memory, did not give a very connected story of the accident, in which she sustained a compound fracture of the right leg above the ankle. Because of the complication of a fracture and a penetrating wound when the horse's shoe lacerated her leg, it required special surgical dressings, and Dr. Frederick Burdon testified that, his bill was $85 for attendance, and $15 extra for the dressings. VANDALS DESTROY VICTORIA DISASTER MEMORIAL TABLET hot-Riddled Plate Stands Mute Wit ness of Senseless Shooting.

Public Utilities Is Preparing Plans for a Modern Structure.

During the discussion a short time back of a proposal that some interested organization should promote a series of band competitions in Western Ontario, with the final contest held at the Western Fair, reference was made to the present bandstand accommodation at Victoria Park.

The same thing had also been under advisement by the parks department of advisement by the parks department of the public utilities commission, and recently General-Manager E. V. Buchanan laid before the members of the parks board suggestions with regard to the publing down of the present ruined bandstand and the erection of a modern structure, which should not only provide accommodation for a band but at the same time give shelter to a certain seating capacity. He suggested that part of the cost of the structure might be met by making a nominal charge for the use of the seats.

In presenting his report on the matter, Mr. Buchanan also laid before the board a photograph of the bandstand at present in the park, showing its dilapidated condition. As a matter of fact, the structure is much worse than the picture indicates, the whole of the floor being in a state of collapse. The holes in the roof were caused by sparks from the big bonfire in Victoria Park on armistice night, November 11, 1918. The railings, posts and other woodwork is all more or less badly affected by dry rot, and the cost of rebuilding would go a very long way toward the provision of an artistic and modern bandstand. The photo is reproduced in this issue.

sistance is concerned it could do very little unless the members should agree to increase their annual subscriptions.

There are approximately 3,000 motorists in the city, but only 500 are members of the club. The present yearly subscription is $5, of this $2 per member goes to the Ontario Motor League, so that the local club's revenue is only $3 per member, and of this amount a large sum has been expended in the erection of road signs.

of road signs.

The executive of the L. M. C. neets this afternoon, and the matter will undoubtedly be discussed with a view to placing some concrete proposal on the matter before the members.

Answering an inquiry this morning, E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, pointed cut that an error had been made in The Advertiser's report of yesterday's discussion in regard to the cost of the work. The cost of a permanent roadway would, he said, be approximately $100,000, which he suggested could be met by the issue of 13 per cent tenyear debentures. As to the apportionment of the amount, he suggested that the city and county should each pay $5,000, the parks board $2,000 and the London Motor Club $1,000 annually for the tenyear period of the debentures. "Warden Thomas Clark of Middlesex County, observed that he could not say how next year's council would have been very favorable to it. However, he did not think much progress could be made with the work in the winter months. placing some concrete proposal on the matter before the members.

POETRY AGAIN PART OF ENGLISH LIFE

Prof. W. F. Tamblyn Lectures On Masefield's Life

AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

people, and that men like Kipling and John Masefield are those who are pringing verse again into touch with men. was the opinion expressed by Professor W. F. Tamblyn, lecturing in the Public Library Building last night on Masefield's life and work.

"Poetry seemed to get out of touch with man in the nineteenth century, said the lecturer. "It has remained for our own time to connect them once again, and it is largely the unprofessional poets who are performing this function. Masefield is like Chaucer, not a product of the schools, but self-made and self-taught; a man of action, like D'Annunzio in this respect; like Paderewski, too, for in a sense he may be called a poet. The poet of today is a vitalist, rather than an armchair man, and so we find Masefield taking part in the Gallipoli campaign and later writing a book about it."

Dr. Tamblyn enumerated as the chief characteristics of Masefield that he is essentially a man of action; that he is radical, an apostle of social democracy; radical to some extent, too, in religion, as instanced in his "Hounds of Hell," where he teaches that man should trust himself, an idea rather opposed to that of the early Christians. He is marked, too, by a youthfulness of temper, something characteristic of this day, which reverences the 70-year-old only if he is 70 years young. He is experimental, too, no burden of the past preventing the free expression of his feelings. The lecturer also pointed out that French influences had been strong in Masefield's intellectual development, a departure from the Victorian era, which, through Carlyle's influence, had been inclined to the Teutonic.

Earlier Life.

Of Masefield's earlier life but little same district, more than one party can be placed on the same circuit. In the event of a robbery, code signals, previously arranged, are sent out automatically to police headquarters, the telephone exchange or other points where help may be summoned.

Outside Gongs.

"Large alarm gongs can be located within the bank or outside, or both, as desired, and when once started the ringing will continue until a master-switch is opened within a control cabinet that is kept locked. Electrical contacts for these gongs are of triplicate construction, so that in the event of two of the contacts failing, the third may perform its function. A broken wire, or a derangement of the wiring system, will make itself known at any time by the ringing off a trouble bell, and in addition tell-tale lamps may be installed in the office of the president, the cashier, or at the telephone switchboard. Thus any unusual break in the circuit is at once indicated.

London, Dec. 17.—When shown a Toronto cable in the Times declaring the belief prevailing in Canada that the S500,000,000 British Empire Steel Corporation project is to be abandoned Col. Enjoyable but more serious numbers were those given by Mrs. Charles Ivey with a violin and "Quint" Warner with a 'cello. "Charlie" Wheeler, "Frank" Willgoose and Parnell Morris were most entertaining in a combined vocal and instrumental number outrivalling the best vaudeville skits.

The piece de resistance of the whole night, however, was the initiation of new members. W. R. Yendall, the vice-president had just got nicely started on this when Mrs. "Ray" Lawson suggested it would be a good idea to let the ladies take charge. In spite of vigorous protests from the candidates this was vociferously approved. Mrs. E. C. Bowker accordingly read a telegram just received from Santa Claus and accompanying a huge stocking of gifts for these Rotary Bables. The presents proved to be jumpers and bonnets, The unfortunate "children" were forced to put them on and were then examined by a nurse and given a huge dose of soothing syrup being thereupon declared fit for membership. Needy Families Asked To Send in Names To Neighborhood Workers.

A committee of the Neighborhood Workers met in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon for the purpose of systematizing the distribution of gifts to the needy families in the city. In previous years it has been found that a number of families have been overlooked, and in other cases there has been overlapping, so that one family has often received double and treble the allotted share.

To prevent this, and to insure every needy family a basket of good things, warm clothing or other useful gifts the committee spent considerable time in going over the lists of names of families in need, and found that one or two names appeared as many as three and four times among the different lists, and many appeared twice. The lists have now been gone over carefully, and every family has its name on the list once. The Neighborhood Workers have arranged with the Salvation Army to distribute the Christmas cheer.

It would assist the Neighborhood workers' organization if needy families would send in their names to the social service secretary at the Bank of Toronto Building, or if any organization wishing to help families would let the Social Service Council know. The generosity of London citizens and organizations have been proved by the large number offering to help make Christmas pleasant for some family.

Reduce Hydro Power For Industrial Use $1 Per Horse Power.

Chairman T. W. McFarland made brief valedictory speech yesterday afternoon at the last regular meeting of which he reviewed the work of the year and expressed his great appreciation of the support given him by each member E. V. Buchanan and Secretary O. Ellwood. He also paid a tribute to the wood. He also paid a tribute to the fairness of the local papers in their reports of the commission's work.

Owing to the refusal of the Legislature to sanction the estimates placed by the commission in the city of London bill the work of the commission had been much delayed, but this difficulty had been finally overcome through the good offices of the mayor and debentures issued, which had enabled the proposed work to be done. "And we have delivered the goods," declared Mr. McFarland.

Unlimited Water Supply.

Referring briefly to the new reservoir remarked that he had been asked where the water would be got from to fill it. The big task had been completed, and within a few days after the official opening the big basin was filled to capacity, thereby providing the city with a reserve water supply of about 18,000,000 gallons. The commission had also been able to establish the fact that there is an unlimited supply of water to be obtained by the sinking of wells thereby eliminating the costly schemes of getting it from the river or from one of the lakes.

Commissioner Pocock congratulated Chairman McFarland on his year of and completed on November 27, 1920, when the water was first turned in by Mayor E. S. Little at the request of Chairman T. W. McFarland. "This reservoir holds ten million imperial gallons of water, and is 28 feet in depth from the overflow to the bottom. The dimensions at the full water level are 248 feet by 341 feet. Took No Action.

The commissioners decided to take no action in regard to the petition of the local electrical contractors that they be licensed by the city. During a brief discussion of the request, the opinion was expressed that to grant it would be to create a hardship for the small man who was capable of handling small jobs. It was also pointed out that all electrical installations have to be passed by hydro inspectors.

It was also decided to cancel the $1 per horsepower added to industrial concerns during the shortage of power. The reduction will take effect from December 1, 1920.

Plans for the installation of a filter plant and pumps to remove the iron from the city water were presented by Managaer Buchanan and approved. The filter will cost about $30,000 and the pumps about $25,000.

EMPLOYEES ENJOY AT THEIR FACTORY

Gifts Presented Officers by McCormick Mfg. Co. Gathering Last Night.

Employees of the McCormick Manufacturing Company had one of the best times of their lives last night, the occasion being their annual Christmas dinner, which was served in the dining hall at the factory. Prior to the affair many busy hours were spent preparing the decorations, which, to say the least, were most artistic.

Following the dinner, Fred J. Ward, chairman of the evening, gave a short address. Frank A. McCormick, president and manager of the company, made a very suitable speech, informing the employees that among other things the company intended to give the employees Saturday off with pay during the months of July and August. This resulted in a great ovation on the part of the employees who heartily responded to Mr. McCormick's wishes for a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Presentations were made by the Welfare Association to Mrs. F. Page Presentations were made by the Welfare Association to Mrs. F. Page, supervisor of the cafeteria, and to Miss Margaret Johnston, the secretary-treasurer, in appreciation of their past good services.

Honored Guests.

The honored guests of the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. George G. McCormick, Thomas Duff, Hugh Newal, R. Richards and R. D. A. Hillier. The last-mentioned four gentlemen are old veterans of the company and have been present at many such festivals.

Between the dances, which were still in progress after 11 o'clock, solos were rendered by Miss Lula Somerville, Miss Annie Clark and Frank Emery. An instrumental was given by W. J. Way.

The committee in charge of the festival, at which there was an attendance of 600, was composed of H. J. Plerce, James McCormick, Ald. F. R. Watkinson, Margaret Johnston, Fred J. Ward, A. Jackson, J. A. Stone, Charles

The desperate needs of China, Austria, Poland, Armenia and other countries at the present time are a challenge not only to but to churches and Christian governments. black and blue. The one test proposed by the Founder of Christianity for true faith was that food and cry of those in distress is very great throughout the world at this Christmastide.

Particularly in a heathen land like China, now beginning to admit the light of western civilization, decency, liberty and religion, an organized effort by Christian nations to relieve the wholesale famine might be the greatest possible argument for Christianity, and prove to the Chinese that the western creed is not a sham. The very fact that unemployment and misery are reappearing now among ourselves seems to necessitate more than individual Churches and governments should combine to help. In the League of Nations Assembly last week the Canadian representatives showed that Canada had done more than most states in financial aid for the relief of typhus in the stricken peoples of Eastern Europe. At the present time the outlook for any govern nt in China seems bad. A shudder went through a glittering audience in New York the other night when Caruso slipped and fell on the mimic staircase when singing the title role of "I Pagliacci," hurting his side. Old grads who have stood up bravely under the strain of the demise of lory's at New Haven, the transformation at Zinkey's at Ithaca into an ice cream parlor, and the raiding of Tiger Inn at Princeton on football day, will have to swallow hard to down this latest dose. Afternoon tea with muffins and strawberry jam! It suggests a translation from Tom Brown at Oxford to Nancy Brown at Cambridge. It has to be admitted that for the oesophagus and othe tems of the physiological structure, inevitable ever unknown in undergraduate circles, plunges into Dolong to celebrate victory or drown defeat, are assuredly more beneficial than were the plunges of the past into beverages founded upon rye grape

MUST JOIN THIS WAR. [Sydney (N.S.) Record.]

Sir George Foster took a commendable step in urging the assembly of the League of Nations to lend assistance to the fight against typhus in the Near East. Disease is working appalling havoc in Eastern Europe and in parts of Asia. For humanitarian reasons, as well as in self-protection, the nations which are free from epidemics must join in the war against disease. Canada will be glad that it was a representative of Canada who led the way

LATEST GHOST STORY. [New York Outlook.]

A ghost story of an unusual sort is told in a secent book. At an English country house a lady was put into the haunted chamber. In the middle horror, that the bedclothes were being dragged off her. She held on to them desperately, but they were self, and waited in speechless fear for morning. In the breakfast room she was about to tell her fearful If you are not acquainted with your child's tale when another guest, a man, said to the hostess

GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR EDUCATION. [Toronto Star.]

Some time ago the Halifax Herald expressed the opinion that a general election ought not to be held at once, because the people were too excited and disturbed, and should be postponed until calmnes and sanity were restored. In more diplomatic lanwould wait until the people were educated in regard to the government's policy.

From this point of view it is sad to observe that the country is going from bad to worse. Soon after Mr. Meighen took office, and about the time the Halifax Herald spoke, the government carried St. ties. Apparently St. John and Colchester were sane She and educated, for they voted the right way. But now, after several months more of education. East Elgin elects a member of the Farmers' party, which Mr. Meighen and Sir George Foster connect with Bolshevism or something nearly as bad, while the

It is hard to see how the government could de more in the way of education than it did in East Elgin. There was a regular faculty of education ment the people want, instead of a parliament hand picked by the instructed few.

The deft magician of the fire portrays In magic, shifting scenes the griefs and joys
Of all those far-off, toilsome, happy days, red with our heaven-sent brood

And then I scan the story in the grate Down to this peaceful, hallowed Christmas Eve, and thank my God that He so blest a Has granted me while fellow-mortals

But this is not the end; see-gaze with me
Into the glow prophetic; I can read
The meaning of the mysteries I see,
Revealing things to come; so give you

Behold those lines of light so straight and true

Between the ruddy hillocks of the fire:
It is the emblem of Good Roads you view.
The sure fulfillment of our long desire.

Beside them, curving by the river slow, I see the radial lines of shining steel, Where swiftly-moving cars fly to and Past village, hamlet, farmstead, vale

On to the market town and city vast.

And back again to rural peace and rest; Not to dull loneliness as in the past, But to bright hearts with cheery faces blest.

sat on the sliding cushion. And so with her big brown eyes She stared at the meeting-house dows, And counted the crawling flies.

She looked far up at the preacher; But she thought of the honey-bees
Droning away in the blossoms
That whitened the cherry trees;
She thought of the broken basket,
Where, curled, in a dusky heap,
Three sleek round pupples, with fringy

Lay snuggled and fast asleep. Such soft, warm bodies to cuddle,
Such queer little hearts to beat,
Such swift, red tongues to kiss you,
Such sprawling, cushiony feet!
She should feel in her clasping finger
The touch of the satiny skin
And a cold, wet nose exploring
The dimples under her chin.

On Saturday last a very interesting but quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hayman, Dufferin avenue, when their daughter, Lotta Irene, was united in marriage to Mr. James F. Gillan, son of Mrs. Edna Gillan of London, the Rev. Dr. Peever officiating. The bride was prettily gowned in midnight blue charmeuse, trimmed with gold lace and wore a corsage of Ophelia roses and orchids.

A wedding breakfast and reception followed the ceremony, the house being artistically decorated with pink and white roses, pink and white roses being prettily arranged with smilax for the bride's going-away costume was a smart tailored gown of reindeer tricolette with hat to match, and seal coat. After a honeymoon trip to Detroit and other western cities, Mr. and Mrs. Gillan will reside at $49 Dufferin avenue. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. James Hodgson of Indianapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. Koehler of Ridgetown.

the meeting to make it an interesting session.

This will be the first time the younger major league has been called together to discuss purely league matters since early last month, when the New York, Chicago and Boston Clubs temporarily seceded to join with the National League in the formation of a new twelve-club body to force action on the plan to re-shape the government of organized baseball.

It appears certain that since the National League unanimously adopted the new major league agreement that the American League will take the same action.

Some Amendments.

However, there is a possibility of some amendments being suggested.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York Club; Harry H. Frazee, president of the Boston Club, and a representative of the Chicago Club, held a conference late today relative to matters that may come up at tomorrow's meeting.

Appointment of managers for the Detroit and St. Louis Clubs are among the matters likely to be settled during the meeting. Little or no trouble is expected to arise in the negotiations between President Navin of Detroit, and Ty Cobb, relative to the Tigers'

An energetic committee has been appointed, composed mostly of the younger members of the club, and they have promised to show the old fellows how to get the bunch together in the winter time.

Members are requested to bring along any of their friends who can play euchre, or think they can, and join the "Trundlers" in having a real evening's enjoyment.

Good prizes will be provided, also plenty of "smokes" for everybody. PENN'S SOCCER TITLE PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 16.— Pennsylvania won the intercollegiate soccer league championship of the United States today, when she defeated Princeton at Haverford, four goals to RESORTS-ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

on the launching of the proposed industrial league will be given full sway.
From the trend of these discussions the committee will take their cue in organization of these league, schedule and alloument of players.

That the league has aroused the competitive spirit in some of the curlers is shown by the organization of the bankers this week. Curling always had and always will have its own peculiar fascination, but it was individual largely, and only in the case of rirks who have played together for years did it get to the team-play stage.

Rickard After Every Champ of Every Class

Anti-Boxing People Don't Spoil His Plans.

BY HEK. NEW YORK, Dec. 17 .- Fight lovers are in for the biggest treat in the history of the game, if the plans of Tex Rickard are carried out and the sport "reformers" fail to check him. Not content with promoting the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier fight, Rickard is now on the trail of every champion in his class.

champion in his class.

Outside of Dempsey and Leonard, none of the champions seems to be willing to risk their title in a decision bout in New York. They find the nodecision bout in New York. They find the nodecision bouts more profitable. But Tex is not disheartened. He is going to keep right after the champions until he lands every one of them. He feels that the public wants to see the champions in action, not in decisionless bouts, where the title holders get a big guarantee and weigh as much as they please while holding their opponents to the weight limit for the class, but in fitular bouts where the champion must extend himself in order to keep his crown.

must extend himself in order to keep his crown.

Herman Promises a Fight.

Pete Herman, the vanguard of the bantam division, has given a promise to Rickard that he will sign up. But if Pete should sign up and lose his title, all thoughts of a match with Jimmy Wilde, the flyweight champion, would go by the boards. And a match with Wilde, provided it was held in England, would bring thousands of dollars to the American bantam.

Rickard has been staging fights between near-contenders in the different classes. He is weeding out the boxers in order to get a suitable opponent for a champion.

The intermediates also have the makings of a strong team, and Chapman, the former London star goal man, will play between the local nets this season, together with several well-known district players. Both teams are undergoing strenuous straining under the directions of W. Legg of London, and will be in the best of shape to go on the ice. The teams will also play in the Northern League series, and local fans are assured of much good hockey this season.

Totals 771 676 146-2093 AMERICAN LEAGUE IS EXPECTED TO RATIFY BASEBALL AGREEMENT

New York, N. Y., Dec. 17.—The annual meeting of the American League here today, whose most important business was the ratification of the new baseball agreement, marked the last of a series of important baseball gatherings in this city.

An unusually placid atmosphere hovered over early conference of managers, contrary to recent American League traditions at annual meetings and little, if any, disagreement was anticipated. The majority of the managers predicted the new constitution would be ratified "without a ripple." Selection of managers for the Detroit and St. Louis teams was expected to be formally announced. It was considered a certainty that Ty Cobb would be chosen to manage the Tigers, and Lee Fohl was generally mentioned as St. Louis' selection.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE WILL BE REQUESTED TO LEGALIZE HORSE-RACING

Detroit, Dec. 17 .- The next legislature will be asked by the Michigan Association of Fairs to legalize horse racing in the state. At a meeting of the association here it was voted to seek a restoration of the sport under a commission similar to the boxing commission. Supervision of pools at fairs and race meets, of course officers of the association declare, would eliminate the objectionable feature.

THE SANTA CLAUS PUP. It was a long way to go to Santa Claus' home at the north pole, Ruffles knew, but there was pienty of time before. Christmas and before he started out for the merry old fellow's workshops Ruffles decided to call on some of his little friends. He waited his opportunity, then, when nobody was looking, dug a hole under the fence and scampered down the street.

"Well, if it isn't Ruffles," cried the little girl who loved him so, when she spled him. "How did you get so far from home? You'll just have to come to my home to see my mother. She likes little dogs too."

Of course that's just what Ruffles wanted to do, and he allowed himself to be carried off quite willingly. How tightly the little girl hugged him and how she kissed his funny little stand-It was a long way to go to Santa

When the little girl reached the front door of the big apartment house where she lived, she slipped Ruffles under her coat, for little dogs aren't supposed to so into apartment houses, you know. How quietly she had to tip-toe up the stairs, and when her mother opened the door for her she motioned that kind lady to silence, for it would never do to let the other people in the apartment house know that Ruffles was there.

was the need of going to find Santa Claus when he could stay there and make this dear little girl happy, he thought?

Suddenly there was a loud ring at the bell.

"I wonder who it is?" the little girl's mother asked. "I do hope no one heard the puppy bark." You see Ruffles had barked once or twice in fun.

Sure enough it was someone who had heard him. It was the janitor and he was very stern when he caught sight of Ruffles, and he insisted that the little dog be sent on its way at once. Poor Ruffles. How sad he felt at having to leave the little girl and her rolled the little girl back to where the little girl had found him, but Santa would set it all right he felt sure.

"What a dear dog!" her mother exclaimed when she saw Ruffles. "How cunning his eyes are and what a wiggley rough little body he has." Ruffles was delighted at such attention and soon he was scampering about, biting the shoe laces of his little friend and pulling at her mother's apron strings.

But my unbelieving neighbor has still another grievance. Since he refuses to be vaccinated or to have his children vaccinated, some health departments in-sist that he and his children shall be strictly quarantined or isolated in time of smallpox epidemic or fear of such epidemic. They assume this position on the ground that the unbeliever might on the ground that the unbeliever might otherwise spread smallpox infection through the Community when coming down with the disease.

I formerly agreed with that view. It seemed to me that the unbeliever should not be permitted to endanger the well being of other persons. But I no longer see it in that light.

If cowpox inoculation (vaccination) is the preventive we believe it to be, let us offer it without fee to everybody who desires to be protected. Then let us discard the isolation or quarantine of smallpox cases. That is no more important than the isolation of scarlet fever or whooping cough today. Let us give the unbeliever carte blanche to go and come as he chooses. All of us who believe and are vaccinated have nothing to fear from him; all of those who do not believe and are not protected are surely entitled to take the risk involved.

It is inconsistent to oppose the antivaccinationist. Give him all the rope he wants. Why should we who are protected worry?

Disgusted and astounded at my behavior, he'd hurried off into the night. He would come back, of course.

And then the explanation would have to be given!

A small, cold wind came from the sea. It made the Chinese lanterns cacillate! It drove some of the romantic couples indoors also. The veranda was left comparatively deserted.

A woman's voice was blown toward me. I recognized its tones as those of Margery Langhorne.

VEEK OF VACATION FOR FIRST-NIGHTERS IN BROADWAY SHOWS

Only One New Production For Critics This Week.

NO LACK OF MATERIAL

Everybody Writing Plays-Madge Kennedy Triumphs After Years in Movie.

(By Ben Deacen, Canadian Press Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 18,—Theatrically this has been a most remarkable week in New York. During the past seven days, or computing by the Broadway way calendar, during the past seven nights and two matinees, only one new production sprouted. It has been practically a vacation week for the first-nighters and critics. Why the producers have almost overlooked this week is a matter for conjecture as up to date no explanation has been vouch-safed the public. Certainly it was not for lack of material. There are plays aplenty. Apart from the sketchy little bits of family history that are wafted to you down the dumb-waiter shaft you but seldom know anything of your neighbor in New York, but you can be reasonably sure of one thing—he is writing a play. So is his wife, and his son, and his daughter who is just finishing high scholl and his maiden aunt. Probably every second person in New York secretly indulges in the vice of playwriting. If the managers made use of one-half the dramatic material offered them every theatre in the city would have a change of bill twice daily. No, this week's dearth of productions was not due to a shortage of raw material. Nor was it due to an actor shortage. No actor of course, is ever out of a job, but the advertisements in the theatrical journals indicate there are enough of them "at liberty" or "resting" to man a fleet of dreadnaughts, and as for theatres, they are so thick in the centre of Manhattan that the builders have started to put them one atop the other. If about one-tenth of the theatres could be converted into apartment houses, it would go a long way toward solving New York's housing problem, though such a move would likely meet opposition from the typical New Yorker who regards his home merely as a last resort, a place to go to when all the Brondway resorts are closed. Possibly the theatrical industry is following the lead of the textile manufacturers and cutting down production in the hope of stabilizing the market and attracting reluc of stabilizing the market and attracting reluctant customers.

There was no lack of customers for the one production which was put on the market. The admirers of Madge Kennedy flocked to the Astor Theatre to welcome her back to the stage after three years in the movie studios. The play, "Cornered," by Dodson Mitchell, was new to New York, although not new to Canadians, Miss Kennedy having already appeared in it in several Canadian cities. The interest of critical and experienced playsoers was centred in the effect of motion picture work upon the acting of the talented work upon the acting of the felicacy and hedy displayed all of her delicacy and her deli The first part. comedies which have captured New York this season. It is an adaptation by Frederic Isham from his novel of the same name. The three ghosts of the title are men returning to the life of London after being officially reported dead in France. Jimmie Gubbins brings to the room of his step-mother, a Cockney old person alive to the main chance, his two pals, William Jones and "Spoofy" a shell-shocked victim. It happens that William, under his own name, is wanted badly enough at home to have inspired the offer of a large reward for his apprehension and a sleuth has put old Mrs. Gubbins wise to the money. Hence one set of troubles. Then "Spoofy" develops an inclination to burglary and perpetrates various plain and fancy thefts. When he steals a baby there are complications which require several acts of hilarity to straighten out. The critics here acclaimed the play as one of the feet comedies of the season, and it has been doing a rushing business at the Greenwich Village Theatre. On Monday it moves to the Thirty-Ninth Street Theatre to replace "The Young Visitors." ALL RECORDS BROKEN BY EMIGRATION FROM CANADA INTO U. S.

Washington Also Reports Increase in Immigration From Europe.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Immigration from Canada during the last fiscal year broke all records, and there was a tremendous increase in immigration from Mexico, as well as from the European countries. Anthony Cominetti, commissioner general of immigration says in his annual seport, made public today. Aliens from Canada admitted to the country, the report says, numbered 90,025. while aliens departing numbered 7,666, leaving an excess of 82,357. Inaddition, 19,336 aliens in Canada who applied for admission were debarred, while 5.328 were refused examination, the report says, because of inability or unwillingness to meet the head tax requirement.

Admission of aliens from Mexico totalled 52,361, while the number of aliens going to Mexico from the United States numbered 6,606, leaving an excess of 45,755. During the previous fiscal year the admissions of immigrant aliens from Mexico numbered 29,318.

Europe sent a total of 246,295 immigrant aliens to the United States in the past fiscal year, while 256,433 emigrant aliens left the United States for Europe, causing a decrease in alien population of 10,138. Immigrant aliens admitted from Asia numbered 17,505, and emigrant aliens departing for Asia numbered 9,441, leaving an excess of 8,844.

Resumption of immigration on a large scale and efforts to deport alien anarchists made the last fiscal year the busiest of any since the inauguration of the immigration service, the report says, "with indications that pre-war immigration figures would be outdistanced unless affected by laws of this or other countries."

London, Dec. 16.—Scientists in Great Britain have been greatly interested in the recent case of a monkey bite resulting in the death of the King of Greece. The result is that a study is being made of the effects of bites from various animals. Inasmuch as the monkey is what is known as a "clean feeder," it seems extraordinary that the bite of such an animal should produce the fatal poisoning of a human being.

Who has dyspepsia knows what I would give to eat three square me day and not be punished for it. Nearly everything that enters the stomach acts as an irritant, and the little that is eaten causes such ture and is digested so imperfectly it does little good.

Before you can eat heartlly, an your stomach into such a condition being.

It does not, however appear that the malignancy of an animal's bite can be measured by what it feeds upon. A dog is a carniverous creature, yet its bite seldom produces serious results, while on the other hand the bite of a horse or a donkey frequently results in poisoning. Only a few weeks ago a woman died from being bitten by a donkey, while a man lost a hand through being nipped on the thumb by a horse.

CORK, Dec. 16.—The Bishop of Cork today received the following telegram, dated Dublin Castle

"Please accept my deepest sympathy on the appalling tragedy of the death of Canon Magner and kindly convey to his relatives an expression of my deep sorrow and sincere sympathy.

(Sgd.) "INSPECTOR-GENERAL, "Royal Irish Constabulary."

To this the bishop replied:
"I should accept sympathy from the inspector-general of the old R. I. C. The verbal sympathy of an inspector-general whose men are murdering my people and have burned my city I cannot accept or convey to the relatives of the murdered Canon Magner." APOLOGY OFFERED.

MYSTERY CRASH

Windows Broken, But Cause As Yet Is Undis-

GUELPH, Dec. 16.—An explosion which rocked the eastern section of St. Patrick's ward, took place shortly after 6 this morning, and caused damage to several residences. The cause is a mystery, and the only thing which indicates where the explosion occurred is a large hole in the road at the foot of Alice street, just east of Morris street. Just how or through what cause the explosion was brought about has not so far been determined, and all that is known is that it was the result of an underground eruption. The hole at the side of the road is about two feet in diameter and a little more than a foot in depth, while the ground surrounding it has also been disturbed and is raised several inches. Residents in the neighborhood were given a bad scare when they heard the report, and some believe it was a miniature earthquake, as the entire section of the city adjacent was affected.

Windows in several homes on Alice street were smashed to atoms through the force of the concussion, but apart from that no serious damage resulted. According to statements made by residents of St. Patrick's ward, this is the third time within two weeks that explosions have been heard in that part of the city, but the one this morning was more severe than the other two.

PETROLEA, Dec. 16.—Following an illness of about a month from various complications, the death occurred at his home "Crescent Place," here tonight of Charles Jenkins, manager of the Ontario Land and Oil Company. He was in his 81st year.

Mr. Jenkins was widely known, not only in business circles, but as one of the most prominent figures in the Synod of Huron, at which he had been a regular attendant for many years. He was a director of the Northern Lite Company of London, Ont.

He was a native of Bannockburn, Scotland, and came to Petrolea in 1869 from old London as manager of the Western Oil Company. He had resided here continuously ever since.

His wife died some years ago. Three daughters survive Misses Henrietta and Kathleen of Petrolea, and Mrs. A. L. Amys of Peterboro. The funeral will be held Monday at Petrolea, services being conduct in Christ Church.

Brantford Ratepayers To Vote On the Proposition January 3.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 16.—The trades BRANTFORD, Dec. 16.—The trades and labor council has come out strongly against the proposal for a three-year term to members of the city council, on the grounds that there are no provisions for the recall. The proposition will be voted on January 3.

The question of equalized assessment is providing lively municipal interest. Alderman Billo has charged that the larger residences are not proportionately taxed with the smaller, and has submitted figures to support his contentions. Today Ald. Ryerson offered to make a handsome contribution to any local charity if Ald. Billo could prove the figures he used were correct and from assessment records.

The Brantford Township Housing Commission has been notified that no more loans on new houses will be authorized after December 31. The township has only used a small part of its allottment of $50,000, and has planned to use the whole amount. In the city the housing commission has received permission to rent six new houses, for which purchasers have not yet been secured.

A deficit of $2.131 is reported in Brantford Township on hydro operation for the year. Vandalism in the outlying districts of the city, where many lights have been broken, accounts for a large part of the deficit.

To Miss Tevis he represented himself as a millionaire many times over and a resident of Orange, N. J. He told her he was a graduate of Yale, and a member of the Yale and other clubs According to information since obtained by Miss Tevis' friends, he was not a Yale man, nor a clubman, nor a millionaire, but a fortune-hunter, and one of that species of social parasite known as lounge lizards, Miss Tevis, who was described by her sister as a susceptible, impressionable girl, unused to city ways, was at once attracted to the tall, easy-mannered stranger, and after dancing with him several times, allowed him to escort her to her sister's home. Mrs. Talbert, who is the widow of a New York banker, and was previously married to M. T. Gibson, a wealthy Chicago man, was also attracted by her sister's new acquaintance, she admitted today, and the young man evidently took it for granted that Miss Tevis, who comes of one of the best families in Kentucky, was wealthy, too. According to friends, a whirlwind courtship fellowed and the Kentucky girl's heart soon was won. By that time, however, her sister had begun to distrust the young girl's smooth-talking suitor, and a few days ago she advised her to give up his acquaintance.

Next day, it was learned, Miss Tevis met the man again. He promised are the would build her a home in Pasadena, Cal., where Miss Tevis and Mrs. Tellow the workers in the fields and persons along the roads. The aviator in the heading of his machine, as he volplanes.

WIFE JULY KING

Friends Defend Her in Reichstag When Charged With Smugging.

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—If a wife sells her jeweis to buy food for her husband and the transaction takes piace in a foreign country, is it "smugging"? Fartisans of the Hohenzoneth Iamily say no. Their viewpoint in this connection has led to them becoming involved in a tumultuous debate in the keichstag which developed into the most formicable demonstration for and against monarchism the kepublican Farnament here has withessed.

monarchism the Republican rarnament nere has witnessed.

It is provade, these Hohenzollern partisans admitted to the New York steraid correspondent in the corridors, that the former crown princess parted with a precious diamond ring in Holiand. But they said it was after her visit to Wieringen, where she found her nusband in penury and without enough money to even pay for his food. It was these circumstances, the New York iterald correspondent was told, which inspired the reterence by Conservative and Populist speakers to the "etnical" innocence of the Hohenzollerns.

Privately they stated there was no innocence of the Hohenzollerns.

Privately they stated there was no vestige of proof that any member of the Hohenzollern family was involved in the wholesale smuggling which Herman Mueller, one-time chancellor, charged in the Reichstag last Monday against the Amsterdam banking house of Crusser, Philipson & Co. The consensus now, however, is that the Republicans made capital out of the incident and that the Conservative would nave served the royalist interests better if they had limited themselves, as they at first intended, to approval of the demand for punishment of any person proved gulity of smeggling, meanwante refusing to discuss the case, which is still pending.

Would Let Crown Prince Work.

As an instance of how useful the debate was to the Socialists, Dr. Rudolph Breitscheld declined to commiserate

Breitscheid declined to commiserate with the crown prince, however poor he might be now.

"He is a young man," Dr. Breitscheid declared, "and if he is in want he can work. And if he cannot find a job, we will see that he gets unemployment insurance."

At this there was a shout from the Conservative side.
"Why shouldn't the crown prince work?" asked Dr. Breitscheid. "Why shouldn't he enjoy the same rights as any other working man? I do not envy a dynasty which depends upon its friends whose courage returns when danger is gone. friends whose courage returns when danger is gone.

"Where was this courage in 1918? Then it was that members of the high aristocracy begged the people's representatives for money as pay for employment. I myself had the pleasure of being Prussian minister of the interior at that time. They approached me, too, asking for civil service appointments."

Von Mirbach Brought in.

Dr. Breitscheid said he referred to one of the most in olerant members of the old regime, Count von Mirbach.

Thereupon a woman deputy, Frau von Oheims, a member of the Populist party, supplied the Reichstag with a rare moment of amusement.

"That's a lie!" she cried.

"How can you brand as a lie an assertion which I make?" demanded Dr. Breitscheid.

Liberal Leader in Tribute To Gouin, Explains Party Policy-Urges British Unity Based On Human Relations, Not Government Machinery - Denounces Usurpation of mont tendered homage to one of its smost distinguished men here tonight in the banquet given at the Windsor Hotel to Sir Lomer Gouin, for fifteen years premier of Quebec. Notable addresses were delivered by Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, leader of the Federal Parliamentary Opposition; Hon. L. A. Tasehereau, premier of Quebec, and by the guests of the evening.

In the course of his speech Mr. King remarked that in the championship of free institutions of government in Canada and citizenship, in the British Empire as a guarantee thereof, Canada had had no more powerful advocates than the two distinguished French-Canadian prime ministers and Liberal leaders whose names necessarily come into close association, the Right Honorable Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Lomer Gouin. Each had displayed never-falling vision, resources, courage and persistency in that advocacy. Is Now Bulwark.

Continuing, Mr. King said the province should be regarded, not as ultra-Conservative, but as imbued with a regard for constitutional government, which is the very cisence of Liberalism. To no small degree had she helped to keep political movements within constitutional lines. Referred to three years ago by her detractors as a hotbed of sedition, she was now being raised as a bulwark against Bolshevism. This regard for constitutional procedure had found expressions in resistance to a reversion to the old order of centralization in imperial and international affairs. It had also found significant expression in the attitude assumed by the leading French-Canadian Liberals toward representation in the compromise cabinet at Ottawa.

"It is an open secret," said Mr. King. "that nothing short of frantic efforts have been put forward by those in power to secure Sir Lomer as a member of the federal administration. It is equally well known that like overtures were made to more han one member of the federal administration of authority in matters of government."

The isolation of Quebec was deplored by some, but this isolation was not from Canada, for th

It is too obvious to more than just mention the fact that furniture is the most desirable and logical solution to the gift question. And, too, any article of furniture can be purchased on the most convenient terms.

Regardless of whom you wish to remember with a gift as a token of your esteem there is an article of furniture here that will meet with your most exacting requirements. You will find various suggestions listed below with the very reasonable prices quoted. We want you to come in and see them and get a better idea of what values they are. You will not be importuned to buy.

what Mr. Carvell said at Sarnia. Another speaker at the same meeting was Mr. Calder. Referring to the Liberals who had joined Union Government, he stated that "they were not absorbed nor submerged by the Conservative party. They had simply consented to union for the purpose of this war."

Speaking in the House of Commons on June 11, 1919, after Mr. Crerar had resigned from the Government, Mr. Calder undertook to justify his course in remaining with the Government, and this is what he said.

"Let me ask honorable members of this House, what would be the consequence if we all followed the course taken by the honorable member for Marquette (Mr. Crerar)? Suppose the minister of public works (Mr. Carvell) resigned, and the minister of the privy council (Mr. Rowell), and the acting minister of trade and commerce (Mr. MacLean), and myself, and others, should resign?"

At this point in his remarks some member from our side of the House in

At this point in his remarks some member from our side of the House interrupted Mr. Calder with a prophecy as to what would happen if he and the others would resign, and Mr. Calder retorted in these words:

etorted in these words:

"Do not be too sure, my friends.
The task of carrying on government in this country and the responsibilities that are thrown upon public men are not so alluring as some honorable gentlemen opposite seem to think. I say that if these esignations did take place there would immediately be a political crisis in this country and one thing, and one prime minister would have to appeal to the country or he would have to advise the governor-general to call upon my friend who leads the Op-position to form a government." During the last few months, there During the last few months, there has been a return to the practice of discussing upon the public platform the issues that mark the lines of cleavage between political parties in Canada. The practice is a good one and if it be continued the public will gain in political knowledge and will be less likely to be swayed by those appeals which, too often in the past, have blinded the popular judgment and secured undeserved verdicts at the polis.

In that sense it teaches us to respect not only the opinions of others, but, as Edward Blake said, their prejudices as well. Understood and applied in that sense. Liberalism may easily be made the most potent of all human forces in promoting mutual understanding and general goodwill. To establish these happy relations between the people of all the provinces is the chief task that lies before the Liberal party in Canada at the present time: and to make sure that the Liberal party will perform that task in a manner befitting its

In this connection, it is well to points are, even now, trying to confuse the people and to limit the discussion of public affairs to a single issue. They must not be allowed to do that. They say that the issue between the parties now and at the next election is Free Trade or Protection. There is no such issue, now and there will be no such issue, now and there will be no such issue at the next election. In proof of my assertion, I need do no more than refer, you to the published platforms of the different parties and to the recent speeches of the leaders of those parties. The issue at the next election will be the whole record of the Borden and the Meighen Governments. For that reason, it is important to bear in mind that Liberalism is not determined by a man's views upon this or that fiscal theory, and still less by the creed he professes or the language he speaks.

Location of Titanic Shudder of Surface Is Still Unknown.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 16 .- Some where, perhaps leagues deep beneath the Atlantic and forever hidden from the eyes of man, the earth's crust was torn and twisted today by a titanic convulsion. For hours the earth's surconvusion. For nours the earth's sur-face shuddered under the feet of its heedless millions. Force waves thou-sands of miles in length swept outward from that storm centre like ripples on a rock-broken pool. Yet only the un-sleeping seismographs noted it and in-scribed a mute record for watchful scientists who guard them.

A heavy guard was thrown about the building immediately after the hold-up. Elevator men said the thleves had not used the lifts in their escape, and the police thought they might still be hiding in the building. A search for them was exerted.

Andrews was senior member of the diamond firm of Andrews & Weinstein, and the salesmen were employed by him. They were ushered into the private office, where Andrews' body lay, before they were robbed, and instructed to remain there. Five minutes after the hold-up men had gone, the salesmen gave the alarm.

Bound and Gagged.

To give the alarm, the salesmen, Vincent Provenzano and Luke Mulligan, had to free themselves, for they had been bound and gagged by the robbers.

The police found that even in adjoining offices the shot had not been heard. The police picked up in Andrews' office an empty 30-calibre cartridge and part of a pearl necklace.

Mr. Galvin says they estimated that there will be 100 boys and girls affected.

ELEVEN KILLED IN RIOT BETWEEN TWO PHILIPINO FORCES

Manila, Dec. 16.—Eleven men, four United States citizens and seven Filipinos, were killed here last night during a riot within the walled city between enlisted men of the Filipino constabulary and the Manila police.

The United States citizens killed were Captain of Police W. E. Wichmann, Patrolman Albert H. Troge and John W. Driscoll and Augustus Jacuman, field clerk of the United States army.

Fifty shots were fired when forty constabulary men sought to avenge the shooting of a constable by the Filipino police.

police.

The official police version of the shooting was that Policeman Mojica shot Constabulary Private Macasinag, following trouble provoked by the constabulary men. The constabulary private was reported to have attacked the policeman with a knife.

Col. Lucien R. Sweet, inspector-general of the constabulary, said trouble had been brewing for a long time and frequently reached acute stages.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Lining up sliidly behind Hon. T. A. Crerar as the leader of the farmer party in federal politics, the United Farmers of Ontario, at their annual convention here today, went on record as in hearty accord with Hon. Mr. Crerar's political views and urging him to carry forth the banner to victory in the House of Commons and throughout the Dominion.

him to carry forth the banner to victory in the House of Commons and throughout the Dominion.

Will Raise Funds.

In order to show that they were preparing to make such a campaign effective and prove their confidence in their federal leader, the convention took steps towards raising the "sinews of war." Having in mind recent legislation at Ottawa which made it illegal for any association not incorporated for election purposes. to raise election funds, the convention decided to organize every federal riding in the province of Ontario as an association to be incorporated for political purposes.

To Apply for Charter.

Charters are to be applied for, and when obtained they will give each association the right to impose fees. These fees, it is understood, ultimately will be used to pay the election expenses.

Have Already Moved.

Not only was the proposal to vice sensus of opinion that some form of "consultation" with such a representative should be devised, but the method was left undecided.

Secretary J. J. Morrison objected to members of Parliament being "corrupted" by being asked by churches for contributions toward church funds when such contributions meant that question of votes to be obtained through his church givings. Mr. Morrison said there are representatives should be devised, but the method was left undecided.

Secretary J. J. Morrison objected to members of Parliament being "corrupted" by being asked by churches for contributions toward church funds when such contributions meant that the electors, the press, the institutions of learning and the pulpits were partners in conspiracy along this line, though they might not know that it was particularly a form of bribery. With a form of discipline in vogue, he claimed, this abuse would be devised, but the method was left undecided.

Have Already Moved. Not only was the proposal to organize the various ridings for federal election purposes received with general and hearty applause but it was announced that five or six ridings had already moved in this direction. This evoked more applause and no doubt was left in the minds of the delegates that every riding in the province would be so organzed.

Secretary J. J. Morrison, one of the organizers of the United Farmers of Ontario, strongly urged such federal associations. He was optimistic as to the results in the general elections, and his optimism seemed contagious in the convention.

Stillborn Babe Brought To Life By Lungmotor

Remarkable Case Is Reported by Authorities At Kitchener.

KITCHENER, Dec. 16.—One of the most remarkable cases in the medical annals of Western Ontario occurred here early today, when a stillborn infant that had been pronounced dead, was brought to life through the use of a lung motor operated by Fire Chief Guerin. Dr. J. E. Hett, who attended at birth, declared that the child's case was hopeless. He sent for the lung motor merely to assure the parents that nothing was being left undone. It was fifteen minutes after the child was born that the lung motor was applied. Dr. Hett declared there was absolutely no heart action and no respiration from the time of birth until the lung motor arrived. After the lung motor had been operated five minutes the child's face, which was black, cleared and respiration started. The infant is now perfectly normal.

The Eastern Avenue is designed to remedy the inadequacy of present communications across the Lea Valley. No tramway or motor omnibus service crosses that river between the Bow road and the Lea Bridge road, a distance of more than two and a half miles and there is thus a gap between the populous northwest and northeast quadrants of Greater London. The Eastern Avenue project has been accepted by the L. C. C. for immediate execution, so far as the length crossing the Lea Valley is concerned. This new crossing point is almost exactly midway between Bow road and the Lea Bridge road. The Eastern Avenue scheme is not confined to the Lea Valley, but extends eastwards through Leyton, and across the open tract of country lying between Wanstead and Romford. The Government's offer to contribute 50 per cent towards the cost is being considered by the local authorities concerned in Essex.

Romford. The Government's offer to contribute 50 per cent towards the cost is being considered by the local authorities concerned in Essex.

The East Ham and Barking By-pass is likely to help in opening up a riverside district destined to play a notable part in the growth of London. It will also afford much needed means of access to the L. C. C. housing estate at Dagenham, where a population of 120,000 will one day be settled. The interest of the local authorities in this project is shown by the offers, aggregating £20,000, which have already been received from West Ham, East Ham and Barking.

The North Circular Road will be of particular interest to motorists, who know the difficulty of making a circuit of London by road. Continuous thoroughfares are non-existent, and a highly specialized knowledge of local geography is necessary in steering a zigzag course through the maze of small suburban streets. For this reason a great deal of traffic is now compelled to penetrate the heart of London.

The South Circular Road like that in the north, will be of special interest to motorists. Some lengths of this road are already embodied in the Woolwich housing schemes.

The Eltham By-pass is designed to assist motorists leaving London in a southeasterly direction and remove the congestion which occurs in Eltham High street, which could only be widened at huge expense. This scheme has been approved by the L. C. C. for immediate execution. The new road will also provide a guiding line for the future development of the open fields on the outskirts of Eltham.

Shooter's Hill By-pass is another project which has been accepted by the L. C. C., and which will enable traffic to avoid the long and unnecessary ascent of Shooter's Hill. Open country of great potential value is 'traversed by the road.

Custom Tailored-To-Measure Garments Actually Cost Less Than "Ready-Made" Clothes-See The Display Of Fine Fabrics In Our Show Windows

WE get a lot of satisfaction out of our business by giving better values in Tailored-to-Measure Suits and Overcoats at less money.

This season we're having more fun than a small boy with a new red wagon, because the fabrics which we placed a blanket order for 'way back in 1915-16 at less than half the cost today, and held in reserve, is now making it possible for us to offer fabric quality that clothing merchants all over Canada call "merchandising miracles."

We can't pull a rabbit out of a silk hat with our sleeves rolled up, but we are making Suits and Overcoats to measure out of fine imported fabrics at common-sense Standardized Prices, that have all the quality, fit, style, and workmanship there is.

Knowing all this to be so, we continue to ask the men of Canada, "Why Wear 'Ready-Made' Clothes When Tailoredto-Measure Garments 'Actually Cost Less?"

Suits and Overcoats Tailored-To-Your-Measure

HERE is no question but that clothes prices are taking a big "drop," but it will be a long time before they will drop to the level represented by this Dominion-Wide Organization.

Certainly no concern in all Canada operates on as low a margin of profit as we do, made possible by our enormous volume of business, transacted through our 37 Quality Tailor Shops from Coast to Coast.

Government Has Not Taken Up With U. S. Trouble Growing Out of Rate War.

PARIS, Dec. 16 .- "Only the shortage of raw materials hinders France from pushing to completion an extensive program for her merchant marine," Paul Bigon, under-secretary of state for merchant marine, said in an exclusfor merchant marine, said in an exclusive interview with the New York Herald today. "In the economic battle which has commenced since the war between all the nations of the world, the French Government intends to pursue its policy for the creation of a great national fleet which will suffice to assure our commercial relations with the rest of the world.

"We had before the war a fleet of steamships hardly sufficient to maintain contact between France and her colonies and the great powers across the seas, especially the two Americas. Moreover, we unfortunately lost a considerable number of these ships."

Referring to the Jones law and the charge that the French Government intends to support French ship owners in the threatened rate war. M. Bigon declared that up to the present time the French ship owners affected have not asked for intervention by the French Government.

"The government therefore considers the question as still pending between the shipping board and the owners interested," he continued. "But as we are occupied in assuring a healthy future for our national merchant marine, it is not to be doubted that in case of necessity the French Government will decide what measures must be taken to reestablish for the benefit of French shipping interests the equilibrium which would thus be upset by the intervention of the United States Government. You thus see that France is not only pursuing the execution of a program compatible with her role before and during the war, but also the mission which was approached.

the war, but also the mission which was approved by her allies themselves in the Versailles treaty.

"We have every confidence that the Allies will not attempt to prevent our enjoying all the benefits to be derived from this new role."

In so far as the ships seized by Brazil from enemy states are concerned M. Bigon contended that the French Government favored the acquiring of these vessels by individual concerns.

Making Up War's Losses.

"One of the most difficult problems is that of replacing the tonnage we lost during the war," he said. "Unfortunately, in the distribution of enemy ships we have been unable to get satisfaction in this respect. That is why the state has now assumed an active role in the nation's dockyards and is envisaging the construction of both passenger and freight ships. Moreover, out of half a million tons of shipping ordered from England nearly two years ago, two hundred thousand tons have been delivered.

(But it must be understood that the state is not building for itself, but for private companies or ultimate purchasers and only because private shipbuilders are unable to realize our program fast enough for our national needs.

"As for the liquidation of the fleet now owned by the state, commissioners are now studying the best means of distributing these vessels so as to assure the continuity of our shipping relations with our colonies and with the regions for which we have been accorded mandates.

The local officials were without information this morning as to whether National Guardsmen would be sent here as a precautionary measure. While the disorders were going on, the request for troops was telephoned to the governor's office at Topeka. According to officials the trouble was not unexpected and had been brewing all day yesterday. The climax came when Mayor Wadman and Chief Hall accosted a crowd of armed negroes on the street and urged them to go home. The negroes refused. While they were talking, a group of armed whites came up. According to witnesses, Arthur Harper, negro, without warning shot dead Lawrence Clennan, a white boy, Before Harper could lower his weapon he was riddled with bullets. The shooting was a signal for general encounter. Both sides were soon reinforced and the firing spread rapidly, the combatants taking refuge behind whateer shelter they could find. Family Physician Says Malady Due to Overwork.

Galveston, Texas, Dec. 17 .- Mrs. John P. appeared mysteriously on November 11 last and for whom a continent-wide search has been in progress since. The search ended at the morgue here last night when Mrs. Hammill positively identified the body of a man found dead from exposure here as that of her husband.

Mrs. Hammill, accompanied by the family physician, arrived in Galveston late yesterday and went immediately to the undertaking establishment where the body was held. "It is he," she said, as she viewed the body. "He is much thinner, but it is he." Mrs. Hammill was overcome with grief and could not talk about her husband's disappearance for some time after viewing the body.

Dr. Robertson immediately recognized the body as that of his friend and tree in couraged, and from most other countries reports are altogether satisfactory.

Another big concern, that of Messrs. Franz Rasquin & Co., of Muelheim, anounced net profits of over 3.000,000 marks, as against 600,000 marks, as agains

The most conspicuous feature of the German money market of late has been the fact that each of the three chief dve-making firms, Messrs, Frederick Widow of Ottawa Millionaire Bayer, Badische Anilin and Soda Fabrik, and the Meister Lucius concern, is calling for 90,000,000 marks of fresh capitai. capitai. The Anilin Fabrikation Company, another member of the trust, which lately announced a dividend of 18 per cent, is calling for an additional 30,000,000 marks. There is, I am told, a rush for these shares, as the public has confidence in the ability of the dye companies, and the latter are equally sure of their future.

A member of the board of directors of a well-known company, which during the last year multiplied its previous year's profits by sixfold, told me the other day that the dye trust was so certain of the superiority of its productions that it has no reason to suppose any restrictions will bar its activities in the world's best markets. Dye trust agents who have been in England, he said, returned greatly encouraged, and from most other countries reports are altogether satisfactory.

First word of her husband's death reached Mrs. Hammill as the body of a man found dead in Gal veston had been identified as that of her husband.

Dr. Robertson said Mr. Hammill's strange disappearance was caused by a malady brought on by overwork. He said an old sheed of association possibly led Mr. Hammill to Fort Worth thence to Galveston. Years ago had visited both places and the doctor sald these old visits had reasserted themselves after his memory had falled him. By the same confusion of associations, Dr. Robertson accounts for the fact that Mr. Hammill and thouch a stranger here, assisted in taking up a collection in a Fort Worth church service recently. In Ottawa, the doctor explained Mr Hammill' was the doctor explained Mr Hammill was a coustored to perform this service.

Shall the Immigration

Something more like panic than enthusiasm is manifested by our growing army of idle workers, which already numbers two million, according to the American Federation of Labor, over the vast reinforcements from the war-broken countries of Europe. Immigration officials, says the New York Tribune, state that seven out of ten of the immigrants now entering the U. S. A. are dependents-mostly women, children and old men. Mr. Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, says that he is informed that eight million emigrants are ready to come from Germany as soon as peace is declared, and he adds: "What will happen when the bars of Russia are let down can only be guessed." Other authorities and editors, however, deny and minimize all these alleged dangers, arguing that virtually every immigrant produces more than he consumes, and is, therefore, an asset rather than a liability; that instead of a labor surplus in this country we have an actual shortage of "cheap" or unskilled labor, the result of the stopping of all immigration during the war; that the farms, particularly, need such labor if they are to do their part in building up national prosperity; and that, as the New York Herald summarizes this point of view, "when we contemplate barring out immigration altogether, we contemplate economic suicide."

Ladies' Wear. The man carried an empty grip.

In police court today a stout coarse file, which was fashloned so that it could be used as a pry also, and a strong screwdriver were produced. They had been found on the windowsill of a Chinese laundry shop near the spot where the arrest had been made a few hours after Pope had captured the prisoner. Because the crown could not connect the tools with the case in any way, other than as circumstantial evidence, the magistrate would not allow them as evidence.

Despite an apparent lapse of memory

Despite an apparent lapse of memory during the cross-questioning carried on by Crown Attorney J. B. McKil-lop, the prisoner reluctantly admitted that he had been convicted for stealing on two previous occasions. On one of the charges he had been sentenced to the Central Prison Farm. At first the prisoner claimed that he had been convicted only once, but when the magistrate told him that he was permissioners of the convicted that he was permissioners. magistrate told him that he was perjuring himself he admitted that he had been guilty on a second occasion, but that he did not consider it a conviction because he had been allowed out on suspended sentence.

Gordon Kent told the court that he was called by his sister at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, because she claimed that there was a man on the roof at the rear of their store. He went to the window of the bathroom, and from there he saw a ladder leading from there he saw a ladder leading from the roof to the roof of the Artistic Ladies' Wear, one story higher. The ladder was about ten feet from the window. In a few minutes he saw a man descend it carrying a grip. He yelled at him and the man turned around.

policeman approached the accused he turned and ran.

Alberta Kent said that she had been awakened by footsteps on the roof and that when she went to the window she saw a man dragging a ladder from below. She then called her brother.

Constable Pope corroborated Gordon Kent's evidence as far as it went. He said that Dowdell had run up a lane near the Talbot Printing Company's office. He heard him getting over a fence at the rear. Pope then said he went into a yard behind the Lee Chu Laundry and the Kerwood Creamery. He saw a man standing on the fence. As the man leaped to the ground and started across the yard, Pope seized him. A strenuous fight ensued in which Pope proved the victor.

Pope claimed that Dowdell had said: "Oh, my poor wife and kiddies."

Lee Chu who discovered the file and screw driver was put into the box. He told of finding the tools.

Dowdell said that he was a decorator employed by the Detroit Decorating Company at $75 a week. He said that he had come to London as he often does to spend the week-end with his wife and two children.

At 6:15 in the morning on Sunday he left his home to go to his father's turned and ran.

at $1.75 per bag. This decline is due to the large supplies.

Turkeys brought 50c per pound, retail, and 48c per pound, wholesale. The former quotations were 47c and 48c per pound, wholesale, and from 50c to 51c per pound to the retailer. Some claim that supplies in the country are large, and that for the Christmas tables the prices will be around 35c per pound, wholesale, and 38c to 40c per pound, retail. Whether this prediction will come true remains to be seen, although at the market on Thursday there was every indication that prices would slump.

Dairy butter has taken on a decided slump. By the pound, wholesale, it sells for 55c and 57c, and retails at 60c per pound. Other lines of butter appears to be on the way to lower quotation as are gegs. There were large quantities of eggs. DEEP SEA ROUTE TO TO CANADIAN PEOPLE

Ontario Government Aid May Be Sought To Further Project.

Toronto, Dec. 17.—The necessity of impressing upon the people and the Legislature of the Province of Ontario the almost unimaginable benefits that would accrue from the deepening and opening of the St. Lawrence route to the sea was the tenor fo all the addresses at today's session of the Canadian Deep Waterways and Power Asdian Deep Waterways and Fower Association at the city hall. It was moved by W. M. German, K.C., honorary president of the association, and seconded by M. W. Maxwell of Chatham, that the Provincial Government should be asked for a grant for substantial oe asked for a grant for substantial aid.

"My point is the urgent necessity of the scheme, not its advisability." declared Hon. Frank Keefer of Port Arthur, former under-secretary for Canada, who arrived with many more delegates this morning. "Its urgency is so apparent that it is a crime to delay the completion of this great undertaking a minute more than we can help. It is important beyond description, because of the cheapened transportation and power that will insure that it would help us in our repeated coal crises is so apparent that it needs no elaboration. The thing is the tremendous loss in delaying it."

The sale recently consummate whereby the Century Insurance Conpany, Limited, Edinburg, Scotland, a whereby the Century Insurance Company, Limited, Edinburg, Scotland, acquired the control of the Pacific Coast Fire Insurance Company, with head offices in Vancouver, was brought about solely through the efforts of T. W. Greer, managing director of the latter company. Mr. Greer will continue under centract with the organization, and he will also continue to act as manager of the Century Insurance Company, Limited, and the Vulcan Fire Insurance Company of Oakland, Cal., which position he has held jointly with the Pacific Coast Fire Insurance Company since 1915.

morning, and issues which were weak yesterday were weaker today. Brazilian established a new low by dropping to 29 during the first hour, after closing at 30 last night. Brompton, however, was fractionally stronger, rising % to 52. Breweries was in harmony with the majority of stocks, and dropped ½ to 46. Spanish River remained unchanged and steady at last night's closing level of 85, as did also Wayagamack at 87.

The British Empire Steel Corporation stocks were conspicuous, Canada Steamships, whose drop of 8 points was the feature of yesterday's trading, weakened another 2 during the first hour this morning to 34, thus establishing another low. Dominion Steel also made a new low by descending to 42 after closing at 42% last night, while Dominion Textile sagged a point to 100. Other important issues did not appear at all on the tape during the early trading.

and which took the premier honors of Canada among 6,000 prize cattle. Judged by the most expert men in the business as being the most perfect bullock ever shown, and judged by Mr. Ingwerson of Chicago, head buyer for Swift & Co., as being the finest animal he ever awarded the grand championship to. He is only 14 months old, weighs 1,120 pounds, and put on over 100 pounds a month. A triple opportunity for you. Come and see him alive. Come next week and see him dressed. Put your order in and have a roast for Christmas or New Year's dinner. A list of purchasers will be published in this paper.

and in readiness for Saturday. The finest array of the choicest prize beef, pork, lamb, veal and poultry ever assembled from the best farms in Ontario. Each year we try to outdo the other in shows, and this year we have surpassed all previous attempts. Our decorations carry a real Christmas spirit and message, being a combination of evergreens and colored effects, carried out in the finest of display form. Come and have a look. Our giant refrigerator will be thrown open for your inspection, as will also our whole store. We will also be cutting our Christmas meats this Saturday, and is a fine opportunity for you to get a fine roast of beef, especially when poultry is so high.

Our Christmas Show Pork Guessing Contest

Come and have a guess on the weight of our large hog. Guess his weight and win a 15-pound turkey absolutely free of charge. No strings attached to this contest. Merely make a purchase and go ahead and guess. As this contest is an annual event with us, there is bound to be a large crowd around, and we advise you to get around early to get a real good view. The contest will close Christmas Eve, 10 p.m. Butchers and meat cutters barred from contest.

We might say right here that we have spared no expense to make this Christmas the banner year, and think you will appreciate our task if you will come and give us the once-over.

CHAMPION'S TITLE

With Dempsey.

Kansas City, Dec. 17.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, expects to train intensively three months preparation for his bout to regain the title from Jack Dempsey in New York on March 27, according to a statement made here by Ray Archer, his manager.

Archer came to Kansas City from Lawrence, Kas., the home of the former champion, to confer with Hugh Walker, a heavyweight, concerning the employment of Walker as one of Willard's sparring partners. Walker will meet Capt. Bob Roper, heavyweight, in a bout here December 30. According to Archer, Willard has already begun to train, although his work is somewhat handiparation for his bout to regain though his work is somewhat handicapped because his home is quarantined on account of illness in his family. Archer said Willard expects to have several sparring partners, and that he would make every effort to obtain wellwould make every enort to obtain well-known fighters. Discussing the coming bout with Dempsey, Archer said: "Wil-lard is not thinking about money. He wants to prove to the public that he was not himself at Toledo."

Harold Lloyd, that ace of funmakers, is seen in his newest scream, "Get Out and Get Under," and helps to provide all the mirth necessary in the big three-hour entertainment.

The vaudeville is exceptionally good. While it covers a wide range of entertainment it is all bright and clean. More and the Reckless Duo present an unusual combination of singing, dancing and daring aerial balancing stunts. The various features are cleverly combined into a snappy act. Barton and Sparling come to bat with a new line of humor. It is of the rapid fire kind and fits in excellently with the singing numbers worth seeing.

More and the Reckless Duo present an unusual combination of singing, dancing and dariety to the performance. There is a Sunshine comedy depicting the trials and tribulations of a dog-catcher in a manner that would make an Indian laugh. The news events too are well excellently with the singing numbers worth seeing.
