SOMERVILLE IN ECONOMY PLEA ASSAILS GRAFT

Declares Common Sense and Efficiency Are Vital Needs of Dominion.

BARES VIEWS ON TARIFF

Urges Women Voters To Study Campaign Issues For Themselves.

"Efficiency, economy and common-sense" are the important requirements of the next parliament of Canada, declares C. R. Somerville, Liberal candidate for the federal riding of London in a statement to the electors of London, outlining his position on the important questions of the day.

C. R. Somerville.

Mr. Somerville, in this statement, has of necessity been brief, but will amplify his stand from time to time in his public utterances as the campaign progresses.

It will be noted that the candidate deems the question of the care of war veterans as of vital importance, and lines himself solidly behind the Liberal policy in questions relating to capital and labor. His message also contains a special appeal to the women of the city.

Mr. Somerville's message follows:

Did Not Solicit Honor.

"To the Men and Women Electors of London:

"I have been chosen by the Liberals of London as their candidate in the present federal election. That unsolicited honor and that great responsibility I have accepted. I shall give my time and energies to the best of my ability to the trust imposed upon me. If elected as your representative in Parliament I shall do my best to fulfill my faithfully and as honestly as in me lies, the obligations of that stewardship.

"I believe it my duty to lay before you as frankly and as concisely as I can my stand on the main issues of the election and my reasons for asking your support.

"On the personal side I need say little. My record in public, business and private life is, I believe, fairly well known to the citizens of London. Concerning what I did or tried to do as mayor, concerning my record in the industrial life of this city, and concerning my interest in the affairs of the Western University, I am content to be judged by the facts. Of war work and war sacrifice I say nothing. No good Canadian vaunts his patriotism or his loyalty.

Election Long Overdue.

"In regard to the political issues of the day, I would note in the first place that I approach them from the standpoint of a life-long Liberal and a life-long Canadian. I believe in the fundamental doctrine of Liberalism—government of the people by the people and for the people. I believe that that condition has not prevailed in Canada since the defeat of the Liberal party under Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1911. The Meighen Government was not elected by the people and did not represent the people. The guiding principle of the past two years at any rate has been place-holding and place-filling and not the real interests of Canada. The election of a new parliament was long overdue.

"For the new Parliament the most important requirement is business efficiency and economy. Business common-sense under the trying conditions of world-wide economic change and post-war readjustment is needed now more than ever before. If we are to reduce at all the stifling burden of taxation from which we now suffer there must be retrenchment in expenditure, the strictest economy and the absolute eradication of graft of every kind, whether it be tariff graft or office-holding graft, or any other of the party patronage kinds which have cursed political life in this country.

Care of Returned Men.

"Next to this I would rank in importance the proper care of our returned men. I think I know something of the wounds of war. Our gratitude to the men who fought and suffered in

CITY VIOLATING UNION HOURS?

Ex-Trustees Attend Labor Meeting To Get Facts.

In order to shed possible light on a clause relating to city building contracts said to have been included in one of the city of London bylaws during the priod that they were members of the board of education, ex-School Trustees E. R. Dennis and Dr. Shaw attended the regular meeting of the Building Trades Council in the Labor Temple Friday evening.

The labor men, carpenters and bricklayers, many of whom are new employed on the collegiate institute and other school building undertakings, claim that the city is violating the bylaw by reason of its attitude with the union relating to hours and wages.

Although this question has been the "bone of contention" for many weeks between the unions and the board of education, no definite settlement is yet in sight. It has been claimed by city authorities that the clause at issue which is said to cover this condition did not include the board of education when it referred to city undertakings. The unions claim otherwise.

3 MEN SOUGHT AS DERAILMENT INJURES THREE

TRIO ESCAPES INTO WOOD

Flint, Mich., Oct. 29.—Grand Trunk passenger train No. 5, west-bound, was derailed near Elba, Mich., fifteen miles from here, when persons for whom a sheriff's posse are searching removed a rail from the track. Three men were injured seriously. The entire train, with the exception of one Pullman car, was thrown into the ditch.

The train, a fast passenger bound from Port Huron to Chicago, was running at a high rate of speed, but the engineer was able to see that one of the rails had been torn, in time to slacken the speed, and the coaches merely sheerd into the ditch without great damage.

Trainmen reported three men had been observed hiding in the woods along the track immediately following the wreck. An investigation revealed that spikes had been removed from a 30-foot section. The tools with which the men worked were found beside the track, and identified as having been stolen from a tool house at Lapeer recently.

Saw Trio in Woods.

A flagman says he trio running into the woods from the scene of the wreck, as he went to the rear to place warning signals. One of the men, he reported, was well past middle age, while his companions were much younger. This directed suspicion toward a man about 55 years of age, who had been seen in Elba three days, and who was seen last night with two young men. The three, it was said, had carefully avoided contact with the villagers.

That the train was deliberately wrecked was established, officials said, by the finding of track workers' tools at the point of the derailment. Railroad men identified the tools as having been stolen from the Elba section house two days ago.

Engine Turned Turtle.

The engineer observed from a distance that a rail had been removed, and was able to slacken the speed of the train before it reached the spot. The engine turned over three times, and it hurtled into the ditch, and this so diminished the speed of the coaches that they merely left the rails and toppled over. The track was torn up for a distance of more than 100 yards.

A posse was organized and search began immediately for the three men who fled into the bush.

The injured were the fireman, who was badly scalded, a porter who suffered severe bruises and possible internal injuries, and an attendant riding in an express car carrying horses. They were taken to Lapeer for treatment.

Traffic, railroad men said, probably would be blocked for a day, the track having been torn up for 100 yards.

CLAIMS CITY HALL UNSAFE SINCE 1917

Baker Declares Knowledge of Conditions Acquired Four Years Ago.

EMPLOYEES ARE WORRIED

Hole in Wall in One Office Is "Big Enough To Drop Cat Through."

Unofficially it is believed to have been known to city officials since 1917 that the city hall is unsafe. At that time the council, according to City Clerk Baker, received a report from Building Inspector Piper that the structure was unsafe and recommending that no large gatherings be allowed in the council chamber.

City Clerk Baker states that this report of the inspector was received unofficially by the council on account of its nature. The council did not desire to place such a report on record, and it was therefore not printed in the minutes of the council.

The only action that the city has taken since, according to the clerk, has been to scrutinize closely the size of crowds which gather in the hall. Whenever assemblies of any kind are held, police officers are placed at the doors to limit the number of people who may enter.

Building Inspector Piper is reticent on this report or on having condemned the whole structure. He, however, admitted that he has condemned the stairways as being unsafe for any large number of people to congregate on at any time. Right today the banisters give several inches under the least vibration.

Says Situation Serious.

City Clerk Baker says: "I have never made any complaint or said a word to Building Inspector Piper. "The matter, however, has given me food for serious consideration."

"Notice that crack there," said the clerk, pointing directly over his head. "I have watched that crack gradually getting larger. The situation is really serious. Personally I see no protection for my own office. This partition at my back would be very ineffective. The prospect of a big filing case, which I understand is in the corner directly above me, does not add to my feeling of security."

Outside the clerk's office is another large crack in the ceiling. That crack has made its appearance recently, as the paper on the ceiling is new, and yet it is badly cracked.

"What are you trying to do, scare us more than we are already?" asked Miss Nora Toll, one of the six young women working in the city clerk's office. They

FRENCH PREMIER SAILS FOR STATES THIS P. M.

Paris, Oct. 29.—Premier Briand and other members of the French delegation to the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far eastern problems, started on their journey to the United States today. The French official party left Paris for Havre this morning, taking the regular boat train. The liner Lafayette, on which the delegation has taken passage, will sail from Havre late this afternoon for New York.

Novel Inspires Proclamation

ARKANSAS TO HAVE "DAY OF FAITH"

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Oct. 29.—The observance of a national day of faith is proposed as a prelude to the meeting on Nov. 12 of the disarmament conference at Washington. The slogan for this day would be "My neighbor is perfect!"

At high noon Nov. 1 every citizen of Arkansas, if he follow the proclamation of Governor Thomas McRae, will pause for one minute and repeat this sentence, "My neighbor is perfect."

This plan for making everyone less self-centered and thoughtful of the other fellow was suggested to Governor McRae by reading the new novel by Arthur Somers Roche, "The Day of Faith."

"CLEAN UP" BY 1,500 BOYS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Armed With Permits, Groups Will Attack City's Backyards.

WANT BEAUTIFUL CITY

Board of Health Will Co-operate Where Particularly Bad Cases Reported.

Beginning Monday more than 1,500 boys will start on a general clean-up campaign to make London a healthier and more beautiful place in which to live.

At the request of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club all the organized boys' groups will commence on a six-day community service campaign.

Under the leadership of the senior boys' group, an inspection will be made of all the city backyards. The city will be divided into 12 or 16 sections. The senior boys, armed with permits issued by the city health authorities, will conduct the biggest clean-up campaign in the history of the Forest City.

The junior boys will attend to their own yards, and see that they are put into a presentable shape.

Those who will be responsible for the survey are the boys of the Tuxis and Trail Ranger groups, the Boy Scouts, the Roman Catholic League, the Young Judean Club, and the junior members of the Y. M. C. A.

Back of the whole effort is the boys' work board, consisting of prominent businessmen who have the interest of the campaign at heart.

Create Community Spirit.

The object is to create a community spirit among the London boys—a spirit of citizenship, cleanliness and civic responsibility.

The aim of the campaign is to develop a love for a beautiful London, a spirit of service in home helpfulness, and to prevent fires and disease.

Fire Chief John Aitken calls on the boys to watch special fire lighting accessories as they clean their own homes. He requests the boys to declare war on all accumulations of debris which may be harbored in proximity to residences or stores.

The board of health is again co-operating with the organizations, and any instances of particular filth will be dealt with by that department if reported to them by the boys. Mayor Little has signed a proclamation calling upon all citizens to do their duty in the campaign, which has for its objective a bigger, better, more prosperous city of which everyone may be proud.

Leaders Are Selected.

The leaders selected for the campaign are: Boy Scouts, George Metcalf and M. Hotton; the Roman Catholic League, Brothers Theobold and Gregory; the Young Judean Club, I. Goldstick and Max Lerner; the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training, Tuxis and Trail Rangers, Allan Kay, mayor of the Boys' Council, and Dave Finlayson the Y. M. C. A. boys, Wilfred Spearman; the Navy League boys, are under the leadership of W. Pentecost and E. Akiens.

SARNIA MAN IS KILLED AS CAR DROPS 50 FEET

Two Others Seriously Hurt in Accident On Delaware Hill.

RETURNING FROM LONDON

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Plunging over the 50-foot embankment on the hill leading into Delaware village, between 12 and 1 o'clock on Saturday, in an automobile with four other passengers, William Ralph Lawrence, lumber merchant, of Sarnia, sustained injuries that resulted in his death about one hour and a half later.

Mark Stover, also of Sarnia, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured, and now rests in Victoria Hospital. Alexander Houston, Sarnia, not so seriously injured, is also in the city hospital. The other two occupants of the car, one a Mr. Taylor, and the other yet unknown, were able to continue by train to their homes.

The almost impenetrable fog which overhung the district all Friday evening and until early Saturday morning, is given as the reason for the accident. It was next to impossible, the travelers say, to see more than a foot or two ahead where they were proceeding.

The victims of the accident, all Sarnia residents, had motored to London to attend the Brotherhood meeting at the Masonic Temple on Friday night. After the event was over they had started for home by auto, over the same road by which they came to the city.

A. L. Oatman, the local undertaker, brought to the city the two injured members of the party, and the body of the dead man.

The body of the victim, William Lawrence, was sent to Sarnia by train this morning.

MAN HELD IN MONTREAL WANTED IN HAMILTON

Alleged Burglar Believed to Have Robbed Bank.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Chief of Detectives Lepage states last night that he had received word from Hamilton stating that Patrick O'Hara, arrested here on Wednesday night with Albert Slade, alias Bell, alias Ryan, in connection with the attempted hold-up at the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, was wanted in that city in regard to the hold-up in the Bank of Hamilton last August. It was claimed O'Hara was wanted under the name of McVittie, and that his information was that O'Hara was the accomplice to Ryan or Slade in the hold-up there.

A revolver found on Albert Slade bore the name "Gerber" scratched on one side of the barrel, while the other side was marked with the initials "L. B."

The officials at the Hamilton bank notified Chief Lepage that this revolver had been stolen by the robbers, who took the weapon and $4,000 in cash from the bank last August.

GAS PROPOSAL LIKELY KILLED

Expert Claims Almost Impossible To Distribute Product in City.

What threatens to kill effectively Ald. William Wilson's Crumlin gas proposal is the opinion submitted by Col. H. B. Harkness of Toronto, the gas referee's expert on practical operations, which reached City Clerk Baker Saturday morning. Col. Harkness contends that it will be utterly impossible to transmit, as has been proposed, natural gas to the London mains at the city limits.

The pressure would not be sufficiently constant, he explains, and before any satisfactory rearrangement could be made considerable trouble and expense would be experienced by the gas consumers.

The use of natural gas would necessitate, it is pointed out, the use of stove with lids that would absolutely close in the stove like a range. Half of the houses in the city at least have not the pipes or flues to allow this, and as the present type of gas stove in use must be remodeled it would mean that practically every gas consumer in the city would be compelled to install new stoves.

E. POCOCK MAY GET SHERIFFRY

Appointment Reported To Be Favored by Attorney-General's Department.

That E. A. Pocock of London, a member of the Ontario Public Service Commission, will be the next sheriff of Middlesex County is now considered quite probable.

Although he has not yet submitted any application, he declares, for the position soon to be vacated by Donald M. Cameron it is reported that his appointment has been strongly favored by the attorney-general's department in Toronto.

Questioned Friday evening, Mr. Pocock replied: "I am not prepared to make any definite statement at this moment with reference to any appointments at the court-house. I would say this, however, that should it ever develop that I received the berth as sheriff it will not be as a result of any determined effort on my part."

Certain changes of a sweeping nature that will affect, it is said the entire county judiciary of Western Ontario have been recommended by the commission, of which Mr. Pocock is a member. "These changes," he explains, "have been received with considerable favor by the attorney-general's department in Toronto. I have been given to understand. Personally, I feel that I should not say anything further about the situation at this time."

FRANK MORAN KNOCKED OUT.

Buffalo, Oct. 28.—Captain Bob Roper, of Chicago, knocked out Frank Moran of Pittsburg, in the sixth round of a scheduled 12-round bout here tonight. Moran was outclassed throughout, and was all in when Roper put over the knockout punch in the sixth round. Roper weighed 191 pounds and Moran 193 1-2.

REVIEWS WORK OF MEN'S BODY

William Ward Speaks at the Second Annual Banquet of Brotherhoods.

The second annual banquet of the United Brotherhoods of London was held Friday evening in the Masonic Temple.

Two of the most prominent men in the World Brotherhood Federation, Mr. William Ward of London, England, president of the federation, who was the principal speaker of the occasion, and Mr. Thomas Howell, general secretary for Canada, were honored guests.

At the conclusion of the supper a fine program was given, the first feature of which was the singing in chorus of the songs of the organization, after which the roll call of the Brotherhood was conducted by Rev. J. N. Norton.

This was responded to by the male quartets from the following churches: Askin Street Methodist, Chalmers Presbyterian, Beth-Emmanuel Colored Church, Colborne Street Methodist, Maitland Street Baptist, and the Sarnia Brotherhoods.

Outlines His Activities.

Mr. William Ward, who delivered the principal address of the evening, was introduced by Rev. J. T. C. Morris. Mr. Ward has been connected with humanitarian movements for many years. His uplift activities were for a great while centered in the slums of Old London, but since the inauguration of the Brotherhood movement his energies have been directed to extending the scope and principals of that organization.

He ranks foremost among the Brotherhood leaders, and has witnessed the Ottawa, Oct. 29.—(Canadian Press).—That the Canadian National Railways are this year hauling more grain than heretofore is shown by statistics made public by the department of railways and Canals. From Sept. 1 to Oct. 20 the Canadian National Railways moved 45.8 per cent of the grain, as against 37.1 per cent during the similar period in 1920.

DEATH CALLS TWO OF LONDON'S LEADING MEN

Dr. A. R. Pingel Passes Away After Illness of But Six Weeks—W. J. Snelgrove, Well-Known School Principal, Dies Suddenly.

Death removed one of the city's oldest physicians Saturday morning in the person of Dr. Albert R. Pingel at his residence, 316 Queen's avenue. Dr. Pingel had been practicing in London for 35 years. Prior to coming to this city he practiced in Unionville, Markham County, a small town near where he was born 71 years ago.

He graduated from te Trinity Medical College, Toronto. He was a man of a retiring nature, although connected actively with I. O. O. F. Court Welcome, A. O. F. Forest City and the L. O. L. Hackett Lodge. He never participated to any extent in civic affairs or sport. He was an Anglican in religion, and was a member of St. Paul's Cathedral.

In politics he was a Conservative. He had a large practice in the city and was respected by all who knew him.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Harold H. Pingel, who is a member of the customs house staff here, and one sister, Mrs. Thomas Hood of Toronto.

The funeral will be held on Monday at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

Sudden Death Occurs Of School Principal

The death took place Friday night of W. J. Snelgrove, well-known educationist, at his residence, 350 Glebe street. Mr. Snelgrove has been ill for some months, but his sudden edath came as a shock to relatives.

Mr. Snelgrove was born in Caradoc Township, 53 years ago. He was educated in ther ural schools near his home and at the Collegiate Institute here. He graduated from the Collegiate in 1897, and attended the Normal School here, receiving his first-class certificate in December the same year.

After he graduated from the Normal School, he taught in rural schools, and later came to the city as principal of the old King Street School. He left there six years later to take up the principalship of the Lorne Avenue School, which

Two Husbands Claim Body of Slain Woman As Their Wife

New York, Oct. 29.—Detectives today were trying to determine which of two young runaway wives it was, if either, whose dismembered body was found a week ago in a pond at Long Island City.

This dilemma was brought about by claims of two sets of relatives, one of which firmly declared the mutilated body was that of Mrs. Agnes Wagstaff, while the other, with equal firmness, maintained it was that of Mrs. Dolly Bailey Higgins.

The story leading up to the young woman's death was the same in either case. Mrs. Higgins and Mrs. Wagstaff both had quit their husbands. Both had been met by chance and importuned to return home, both had refused and both had been reported later in the company of another man.

Arnold A. Wagstaff, husband of one of the missing wives, identified the body last night as that of his wife. He was accompanied by four friends who also identified it as that of Mrs. Wagstaff and the police are inclined to accept this identification.

Magical Effect of New Face Powder

To maintain a clear, soft, youthful complexion, there's nothing so simple to use and yet so effective as ordinary mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store. Just apply the wax at night as you would cold cream; in the morning wash it off with warm water. If you've never tried it you can't imagine the magical effect of this harmless home treatment. Mercolized wax causes the worn-out scarf skin to come off in minute particles, a little at a time, and soon you have entirely shed the offensive cuticle. The fresh young underskin now in evidence is so healthy and girlish looking, so free from any appearance of artificiality, you wonder why you had not heard of this marvelous complexion-renewing secret long ago.

To get rid of your wrinkles, here's a formula that is wonderfully effective: One ounce powdered saxolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you will be simply astonished at the results, even after the first trial.—Advt

"I WON'T BEG," SAYS MEIGHEN, LAUDING SELF

Submits "Great Issues" To 5,000 At Rally in Massey Hall.

ADMITS 'SMALL' MISTAKES

Charges Crerar With Blame For Halting Western Grain Inquiry.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press.)—"I am not here begging on my own behalf or on behalf of any member of my Government. I am here to lay before you the great issues at stake, which you must decide."

With these words, Premier Meighen prefaced a speech delivered to nearly 5,000 persons gathered in Massey Hall this evening—a speech in which he defended the lines of policy which had actuated the Government in the past, reaffirmed his belief in a fiscal program of moderate protection for Canada, and declared his intention of following the course which the Government had pursued in tariff matters if returned to power.

The premier's speech was not an apology or a defence. He did not assume that the Government had come through the years of war and the period of reconstruction following it without some mistakes, but he insisted that the mistakes had been small, that the great decisions of the Government had been wise, and that the country, after passing through one of the most shattering upheavals which the world had experienced, was strong and healthy.

"Create False Issues."

The foes of the Government, he insisted, were forced to create false issues in order to do battle with the Government. Therefore, he averred, Mr. King was "trying to impress the people with the terrific shock he suffered when he found that we were receiving shells, to which we were entitled, from England," and "Mr. Crerar after much mental perspiration throwing up his hands and declaring that something must be done."

Mr. Meighen contrasted the position of the Government and those opposed to the Government. "We have come forward with a definite, consistent stand on every big issue before the electors," he said. "We are opposed by an aggregation which is united on nothing between heaven and earth, save gaining power."

Hall Quickly Fills.

Long before the meeting was scheduled to begin, and even before the doors of Massey Hall were thrown open, hundreds of persons lined the streets in the vicinity. When the doors were opened it took but a few minutes to fill all the available seating space, with the exception of the stage, which was reserved for the favored ones with badges. This also filled rapidly.

Among those on the platform were Miss Constance Bolton, president of the Ladies' Liberal-Conservative Association of Centre Toronto; Sir Edward Kemp, Hon. Edmund Bristol, K.C., minister without portfolio in the present Government; Dr. Sheard, candidate in South Toronto, and former member; H. C. Hocken, candidate in West Toronto, who formerly represented that constituency; Mayor T. L. Church, who is contesting the North Toronto riding; J. H. Harris, candidate in East Toronto; W. F. McLean of South York, and D. Spence, who has been chosen to carry the Conservative colors in Parkdale.

Davis Spence Presides.

Davis Spence, nominee in Parkdale, was chairman of the meeting, and Mayor Church spoke first, welcoming the premier to Toronto. He referred to Mr. Meighen's attendance at the University of Toronto, and spoke strongly in favor of a protective tariff.

"Toronto is a city which has been made by a protective tariff," he said.

Hon. Edmund Bristol said the election was a great and momentous one, in which every man, woman and child was interested. He presented a number of arguments in support of a protective policy. In Toronto alone there were 155 branches of American firms, which would not be here if the tariff wall had not been in existence. Free trade would wipe out the home market of the Canadian farmer.

Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards, minister of health, immigration and colonization, said that Premier Meighen was putting up the greatest battle for the future of the country that had ever been waged by a political leader since Confederation. "I am proud of him," said Dr. Edwards, "because he preaches the same doctrine from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

Disclaims "Pussyfooting"

"No pussyfooting sidestepping by our premier; we leave that to those of the opposing parties," continued Dr. Edwards.

"Would you like the Government to open the doors and allow all the foreigners from Europe to come in who wish to settle here?" then asked Mr. Edwards. This brought a chorus of "noes" from the audience.

"Telegrams and letters pour in on me night and day asking that certain people from Europe be allowed to enter Canada. I have no doubt if we permitted them all to come the boats would be crowded all winter with immigrants. There are perhaps two or three millions of people in Europe wanting to get away from their own countries."

The speaker said that the Government would be condemned if these people were allowed to enter Canada freely, and just as the workers should be protected from the competition of a crowd of foreigners coming in, so the industries which give the workers employment should be protected from the goods of foreign industries.

Takes Up Grain Inquiry.

Dr. Edwards took up the grain inquiry.

est. 47.

"Who stopped it?" some one shouted.

"Crerar and those associated with him stopped it," said Dr. Edwards. He argued that if Mr. Crerar and those associated with him had nothing to fear from a probe of the grain trade in the West he was surprised that they should have made such efforts to stop it.

The prime minister, in opening, emphasized that he was appealing to the people, not on personal grounds, but on the big issues that now confront the electors of Canada.

"I am not here begging on my own behalf or on behalf of any member of my government. I am here to lay before you the great issues at stake, and let you decide whether you wish us to continue along the lines we believe to be in the best interests of Canada. If you prefer some other course, then you will have the opportunity to select some one else."

"Would you hear the leader of a political party trying to impress the people with the terrific schock he suffered when he found that, instead of manufacturing new shells for our active militia, we were receiving shells to which we were entitled, from England, if there were any big mistakes to discuss?" asked the premier.

He turned to the railroad situation, which, he said, had been the subject of criticism by Mr. Crerar.

Claims Efficiency.

"Mr. Crerar, after much mental perspiration, throws his hands in the air and declares something must be done," said the prime minister. The Government railways were being managed efficiently and in time they would repay those who are now working earnestly for them. If Mr. Crerar or Mr. King had any practical suggestions to make, they should offer them, instead of carping criticism.

The prime minister referred to the attack made on the Government for building the merchant marine. Every step in connection with the merchant marine had been laid before Parliament and some now said it was built by orders-in-council.

"It's hard to talk to men like that," Mr. Meighen said. He maintained that on every occasion when votes were asked for construction of ships, the Opposition heartily supported the Government's policy and now "they turn like the reversible falls at St. Johns and say we should have stopped building ships as soon as the armistice was signed.

An Asset To Canada.

"The merchant marine is an asset to this Dominion," he asserted. "It is an asset that is going to pay its way. I don't think one Canadian will ever have reason to regret that one ship has been built."

The premier continued that a proof the Government had made no big or vital mistakes is the campaign his opponents are waging against it. There would be no need for talking such petty topics as the landing of munitions, or big interests, if the Government had done anything very wrong.

"You will hear of big interests as long as you live. When the Opposition has nothing else to offer than picturing the advantages of the rich as against those of the poor, without being able to point to a single instance where I have acted in the interests of big corporations and against the welfare of the workingman, you can make up your minds that they have a pretty poor case.

"The employing community in Canada are not sure tonight what our tariff policy is to be," declared the premier. "I don't know myself, but I do know what it will be if I am returned to power."

SOMERVILLE PLEA ACCENTS ECONOMY

the great war cannot be expressed too fully or too tangibly. I shall earnestly advocate and support every practicable measure looking to the recouping as far as possible of the men who suffered in Canada's interests loss in the war. I believe especially that all partially or totally disabled soldiers and their dependents should receive pensions or allowances aply sufficient to enable them to maintain a liberal standard of living, and that more effective employment agencies should be created. Also the divergent efforts of the various governmental organizations now in existence should be co-ordinated in a central authority.

In respect to the relations of labor and capital, I support whole-heartedly the Liberal policy as outlined in the resolution passed by the National Liberal convention of August, 1919.

Revision Is Necessary.

"Contrary to Mr. Meighen, I do not regard the tariff issue as the vital issue before the country, in so far, at any rate, as the Liberal attitude is concerned. So far as I am concerned, so far as the Liberal party is concerned, there is no issue of protection versus free trade. The leader of the Government declares that a revision of the tariff is necessary, and the tenor of his addresses and of the Conservative campaign literature implies that this revision shall be upwards. I agree with Mr. Meighen that a revision of the tariff is necessary. The real issue is as to the character and extent of that revision.

There was a revision of the tariff in 1897, marking the dawn of a new era of Canadian prosperity under Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding. The principles which underlay that revision should obtain with Hon. MacKenzie King and Hon. Mr. Fielding, if they are intrusted with the revision of the tariff in the new Parliament.

"The same results which accrued from the sane and thorough tariff revision of 1897, the same stimulus to business stability and expansion, the same just balance between the selfish high protectionist on the one hand and the impractical free-traders on the other hand can, I am confident, be again secured by applying the same business commonsense under the same Mr. Fielding. My policy, and I believe the policy of the party, is, and will be, first, to investigate thoroughly the revenue requirements of the nation and the existing national and international economic trade situation.

The Basic Principles.

"Then with all the facts honestly and clearly faced, shape a new tariff having due regard to three underlying principles: First, the safeguarding of all Canadian industries against unfair foreign competition; second, the safeguarding of Canadian labor against cheap foreign labor, and third, the safeguarding of the right of the great majority of the Canadian people, namely the consuming masses, to a reduction in the cost of the necessities of life and to protection against profiteering monopolies and combines.

"In the promotion of Canadian industry I would place a larger reliance upon the encouragement of all measures to promote technical education and to secure more economic and scientific processes of manufacture; in this respect I would endeavor to have carried on to fulfillment the work so ably begun by our ex-member, Mr. Cronyn, looking to the establishment of a central research bureau at Ottawa, with enlarged opportunities for Canadian manufacturers to adapt the latest discoveries of science to the development of Canadian resources.

"To the women voters who are now called upon for the first time to exercise their franchise in federal affairs I would say:

Appeal to Women Voters.

"Study the issues for yourselves and make up your own minds how to vote. I welcome your advent into politics. It will make for greater political honesty, greater economy in public expenditures and a better national morality. Men have been the spendthrifts of the nation; they are responsible for the present burden of debt and taxation. The housewife, in the last analysis, pays the taxes. You are vitally interested in the tariff and in stopping waste, graft and extravagance. Reason the issues out for yourselves and vote as your reason and conscious dictate. If you do that, I have no fear for good government in Canada.

"I pledge myself if elected to give my best effort and my best judgment to the solution of national problems, dealing independently with the facts as they arise under the new developments and new conditions facing this nation and facing the world in this critical time of stress and strain. I appeal for support not as a partisan but as a Canadian believing in the high destiny of our country and sincerely desirous of doing honestly and courageously all that I can do for the public weal."

BLISS CARMAN CROWNED CANADA'S MAJOR POET

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—Dr. Bliss Carman was crowned with a wreath of laurels and maple leaves tonight as Canada's major poet, at a function held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, under the auspices of the Canadian Authors' Association. The crowning was accomplished by a chorus of school children to the sung accompaniment of one of Mr. Carman's poems, "The Dance of the Maple Leaves."

Mr. Carman gave a recital of a number of his poems at the meeting.

ROME'S PROFUSION OF ART DAZZLES YOUNG STUDENT

ROME, Oct. 28.—Frank H. Schwarz, the young artist of New York and Chicago, who won a fellowship in painting awarded by the American Academy in Rome just as he was about to be dispossessed from his rooms in New York, has arrived here to begin his three years of postgraduate study. This is made possible by his winning the award which includes an allowance of $1,000 a year for travel and other expenses.

After making a hurried trip over the city in which he visited the Forum, the Colosseum, St. Peter's and the Sistine Chapel, he felt lost in the multitude of artistic things he saw.

He said: "The great thing which struck me was the profusion of art representing all the ages that had anything to do with the development of art. One can see at a glance what each great age contributed. It is all here. The spirit of art is here permeating the air. People, even the poorest, strnck me especially when I saw a ragged beggar play a classic on an accordeon which I had only once heard before and then when it was played by Kreisler.

UNMASKED BANDITS ROB HERB DOCTOR OF $29,000

DELTA, Ohio., Oct. 28.—Four unmasked bandits, their faces smeared with grease, invaded the office of S. B. Finney, 75 years old, a root and herb doctor, late this afternoon and robbed him of $29,000, after striking him on the head with a revolver and binding him to a chair.

They escaped towards Toledo in an automobile. Finney, it is said, had an abhorence ofr banks and kept his saving in a pocketbook, which he always carried. His condition is not considered serious.

More men, women and children take Cascarets for the liver and bowels than all other laxative-cathartics combined. They cost only 10 cents a box.

New Play by Noted Author of "Milestones Comes To Grand

Richard G. Herndon will present "The Title," a delightful English comedy by Arnold Bennett at the Grand Opera House Monday, Nov. 7. Thanksgiving Day, with a special holiday matinee. "The Title" is not the first play by this famous English writer to be offered in Canada, "Milestones," on which he collaborated with Edward Knobloch, was one of the most popular and successful plays ever produced on the stage. Of more recent presentation are "Sacred and Profane Love," acted by Elise Ferguson.

In Mr. Bennett's new comedy there is the lightest play throughout, a true comic spirit, indicated by all the characters. The play is the story of an elegant, well-bred couple, verging on middle age, who adore each other even when they politely battle over the acceptance of a title, and while Mr. Bennett has placed the play in an English setting, its application is universal.

Lumsden Hare and Selene Johnson will be seen in the leading roles as Mr. and Mrs. Culver. Mr. Hare will be remembered in this country as having played with Wm. Faversham, Ethel Barrymore, Billie Burke, and Grace George, and last season was seen as Estaban in "The Passion Flower" with Nance O'Neil.

One of the keenest bits of comedy in "The Title" is a satire on the indiscriminate bestowing of decorations in celebration of the birthday of the king. In this particular case the favor is about to fall upon a non-existent person in a writer who has aroused interest in topics which he discusses. In point of fact, the author is none other than the daughter of the principal character.

50 FAT WOMEN LOSE 8 FEET OF WAISTLINE

New York, Oct. 29.—Fifty fat women who are engaged in a prize reducing contest, under city auspices, have lost eight feet of aggregate waistline in eleven days, Health Commissioner Copeland announced today. The member of the class who has reduced the most in circumference has lost six inches. The greatest degree of decrease in poundage is 19½.

UNION STOCK YARDS TO HOLD FAT STOCK SHOW

In order to provide an outlet for the commercial livestock which was being prepared for the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, the executive of the Toronto Fat Stock Show have decided to hold a show at the Union Stock Yards, Toronto, Dec. 8 and 9. This will not only give exhibitors the opportunity of competing for a good list of prizes, but will provide a market for the animals, and the butchers can secure prime meat cuts for the Christmas trade. Premium list will be ready for distribution next week.

SPANISH TROOPS RELIEVED.

London, Oct. 28.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Madrid says that Minister of War Cierva announced in the chamber of deputies there today that General Girona's column, after hard fighting against strong enemy forces in Morocco, freed the Spanish position at Treguisan, which had been besieged for three days and was in a critical state when Girona's troops arrived.

all joked about the building above them coming down, but they nevertheless look upon the situation as being serious.

Wilfrid Smith, one of the assistants in Mr. Baker's office, was asked if he and the girl employees all carried accident insurances. He said not, but they were thinking about it.

Inspector McCallum's office shows clearly how badly the floor has sagged. It is next to Mr. Baker's office and along the wall the floor is down well over an inch. Mr. McCallum thought that it woud be a wise action to lock his stenographer in the filing case while he is away and thus afford her a certain measure of protection. Mr. McCallum was an alderman in 1898 when the old city hall caved in.

"I am always afraid of falling through that hole," said Harry Bennett, of the assessors' department, who was passing through Mr. McCallum's office at the time. The hole is by the wall, and is large enough to drop a cat through.

"If it comes, it is doubtful if we would know much about it," said Mrs. Hughes, spokeswoman for the five girls in the city treasurer's office, when asked if they had been watching for the building to come down on top of them. The treasurer's office is in a fairly well protected position it having a new vault on the rear on one side and the Utilities Building on the other side.

Ceiling Is Bulged.

In the assessment commissioner's office on the first floor up and which is right next to the soldiers' aid offices, there are bulges in the ceiling, while the floor of the city engineer's office, where there are some fourteen employees, shows a large number of bad bulges.

"Certain improvements should be made," commented Building Inspector Piper, discussing the situation again on Saturday morning. "I believe these would be absolutely necessary. I understand that the soldiers' aid commission, at different intervals, find it necessary to hold meetings in their office."

"Building Inspector Piper notified me just recently," declared Edward Lance, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, which department is directly above the city clerk's office, "that in his opinion the weight of the furniture in my office is too great to be deemed really safe.

"Mr. Piper explained that the floor was materially weakened when the stairway was cut in. At the present time we have several desks and filing cabinets, weighing roughly, I should say, three tons. We have two departments in the office, one of which, if removed, would facilitate a better distribution of the furniture. There is a vacant office on the third floor of the city hall proper, which, I understand, might be utilized for this purpose."

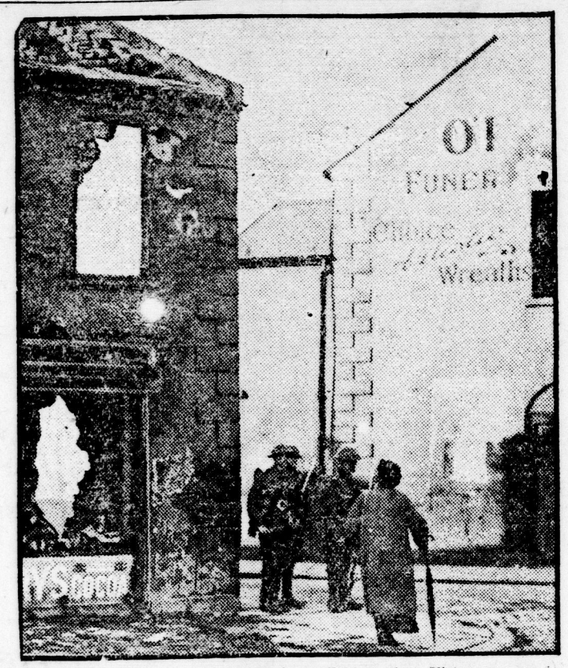
ULSTER AGAIN ORGANIZING VOLUNTEERS



LONDON, Oct. 29.—The report from Belfast that Ulster was again mobilizing her volunteer forces has created a profound impression in Government circles.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Oct. 29.—Wall Street, 10 a.m.—Settlement of the threatened railroad strike was the paramount influence of the week in the stock market, although the feeling in well-informed circles had been that conditions would not reach the critical stage.

Rails suffered only moderate depression at their worst and these losses were more than regained in yesterday's general rally. Equipments, steels, coppers, motors and many special issues which had been sentimentally affected by the labor situation scored equal or larger recoveries.

The most consistent movement was in domestic oils, that group at all times, ignoring reactionary tendencies elsewhere.

Money rates displayed no material easement, and the greater portion of the week's call loans were made on a 5½ per cent basis. This quotation also applied to time funds, although many 30 and 60-day loans were made at as low as 5 per cent on prime collateral.

he held until his death, a period of 18 years.

He was a member of the London Rowing Club. On several occasions he competed in tournaments in Western Ontario. He has also competed in the Dominion Bowling Association tournaments.

Mr. Snelgrove for many years was superintendent of King Street Presbyterian Sunday school, and took an active part in all the activities of the church.

In speaking of Mr. Snelgrove, Thomas Rowe, school trustee, stated: "That he has always been recognized as one of the outstanding educationists in Ontario. His death means not only a serious loss to London, but to the country."

Besides his widow, he is survived by his mother, four daughters, Mabel, Agnes and Bena at home, and Winnifred, a nurse-in-training at the Toronto General Hospital, and one son, Cecil, a student at the Toronto Dental College. One sister, Mrs. Frank Rowed of Winnipeg, also survives.

The funeral will be held Monday. A private service will be held at 1:30 o'clock at the residence, and at 2 o'clock a public service will be held in King Street Presbyterian Church. Rev. W. R. McIntosh will conduct both services.

Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

Quality

QUALITY.

We have a modest little home—
It's like a million homes, I guess—
A yard, a bit of garden loam
In which we labor more or less;
The house—a simple frame affair,
A porch with flowers overgrown,
You'll find its double anywhere,
It isn't much, but it's Our Own!

We have a car—you know the make—
It rattles, but it seems to go.
It suits us for the trips we take—
Just little journeys, to and fro;
It makes us friendly with the sun,
And on its wanderings we've known
A lot of simple, healthful fun;
It isn't much, but it's Our Own!

We have a Baby. It may be
That there are millions just as good;
But you won't get US to agree
To such a thought, that's understood.
And though we love our home, our car,
We speak of them in modest tone,
But Baby!—of all babes there are
She is the best—and she's Our Own!

NINE NOMINATED BY LABOR PARTY

Federal Flag-Bearer To Be Chosen November 1.

With nine nominees to select from, London Labor will choose it's Federal candidate for the riding of London at a special meeting on Tuesday night next.

Formation of the London branch of the Canadian Labor Party, election of officers for the same, adoption of a political program as outlined at the last Dominion Trades Congress in Winnipeg, and the primary nominations occupied attention at Friday night's gathering.

The following are the names of those nominated: Arthur Mould, ex-Ald. John Colbert, Frank McKay, Max Lerner, ex-Ald. H. B. Ashplant, Profesor Louis A. Wood, Dan Menzies, J. MacGuire and R. Hessel. No opportunity was given the various nominees to announce their intentions, owing to lack of time.

One nomination which compelled favorable attention, but which could not be allowed was that of Rev. W. R. McIntosh, pastor of King Street Presbyterian Church. Although the entire convention was satisfied that his name be allowed to stand, it was shown that he was ineligible, not being a member of any organization affiliated with the London Labor Party.

The officers elected for the newly-organized party are: President, J. Colbert; vice-president, Arthur Mould; treasurer, C. Depotie; secretary, W. H. Stewart; Ward 1 chairman, R. Hessel; Ward 2, J. Secker; Ward 3, G. Hall; Ward 4, F. White.

REVIEWS WORK OF BROTHERHOOD

development of the organization since its inception.

Mr. Ward is a most convincing speaker. He spoke of the Brotherhood movement's origin in England some forty years ago, with the object of interesting men who were estranged from the church.

Meetings were organized and were attended by hundreds and even thousands. Out of this has grown the World Brotherhood Movement for the spread of Brotherhood ideas in all lands.

He said that these Brotherhoods are engaged in all kinds of religious and social work.

Initiated Relief Campaign.

During the war the Brotherhood initiated a relief campaign for the people in the devastated areas of France, Serbia and Belgium. A substantial portion of this money came from Canada.

The speaker referred to the great work being carried on in Egypt.

A five-minute address was delivered by Rev. Mr. Bowen, on the work of the Ontario Bible Society, in which he outlined the work of that body and told of the good that it is doing.

Before the close of the program Ross R. Smith was re-elected president of the local federation for the coming year. Other officers elected for the coming year are: Vice-presidents, A. E. Barbour, Thomas Spettigue and J. Childs; secretary, T. H. Yull; corresponding secretary, Rev. J. N. Norton. H. Watson, convener of the nominating committee, made the report.

WONDERFUL $1,800 PHONOGRAPH

At Mason & Risch, Limited

In the window of Mason & Risch, Limited, is a Charles II., or Jacobean period design of Electric Columbia Grafonola. This instrument is a copy of one of the most charming pieces of cabinet work of this time. The crisp carving is delightfully set off by the simple linen fold panels of the base. The high relief of the birds and fruit, surrounded by the strap work is one of the most beautiful examples of the better work of this style.

The columns and mountings of the top are exceptionally well proportioned.

The original of this cabinet was probably made about the time of the Restoration of the Stuarts to the throne of England.

Date, about 1660.
Clean cut carving.
Birds and fruits.
General shape.
Legs.
Polychrome.

The oaken fretwork is backed with silk, and it is through this that the music passes.

Other models carried in stock by this well-known firm, range from $40 up, any of which may be purchased upon terms to suit your convenience.

OFFER SCREENINGS TO INDUSTRY.

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 29.—The Fort William city council in special session last night decided to co-operate with any industry desiring to locate in the district and which can use elevator screenings. Great quantities of screenings are now being burned or dumped into Lake Superior since the emergency tariff bill was put through in the United States. During the war screenings sold for more than $20 a ton.

Notice To Water Consumers

A recent House-to-House inspection carried out by the Waterworks Department resulted in the discovery that a large number of fixtures had been installed and additions made to premises without proper report of same being made by either owner or plumber, and in violation of the bylaws of the Department.

The Department has thereby been deprived of a large amount of revenue to which it is justly entitled. Consumers are requested to advise the Commission of any alterations or additions made which will affect the Water Rates.

WEST ELGIN LOSES STALWART PIONEER

Peter Stalker Dies Suddenly Following Stroke Friday.

CRINAN, Oct. 28.—One of the best-known citizens of Elgin County died today at the family residence, Division line, Aldborough, in the person of Peter Stalker.

Mr. Stalker, who was in his 72nd year, was in his usual good health last night, but suffered a stroke early this morning, and passed away at noon. He was one of the best-known and most-highly-respected residents of this section of the country and a pioneer citizen.

He was a councillor of Aldborough for a number of years, and also served as reeve. In politics he was a life-long Liberal, having been an officer of the West Elgin Liberal Association for a number of years. He was also a candidate in a provincial election, being defeated by F. G. McDermid by a small majority.

In 1911 he took an active part in the reciprocity campaign, and supported Donald McNish, the Liberal candidate.

During the war Mr. Stalker was prominent in the Victory Loan drives, and was also a member of the various agricultural societies, and on the boards of all of them.

Mr. Stalker was a prominent Presbyterian and an elder in the Argyle Church. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Stalker. His wife predeceased him eight years ago. Mr. Stalker is survived by one son, William S. Stalker, reeve of Aldborough. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BLITZER IS RELEASED ON $15,000 BAIL BOND

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.—Though little hope is held out for the recovery of Nellis J. Fritcher, aged 25, Detroit, who was injured in a traffic smash at the corner of Huron and Murray streets, Windsor, Thursday afternoon, the authorities at Hotel Dieu stated today that there was an improvement in his condition

Isadore Blitzer, Windsor, the driver of the automobile which crashed with Fritcher's motorcycle, was brought before Magistrate Gundy in police court today on a charge of criminal negligence. He was released on bail of $15,000.

The police believe that Fritcher's condition will be sufficiently improved late this afternoon to permit of the taking of a statement from him, but his condition is considered very grave because of the fact that several broken ribs punctured his lung.

KING TO SPEAK IN SARNIA TUESDAY

All Parties Preparing For Strenuous Campaign in West Lambton.

SARNIA, Oct. 28.—With the arrival of Hon. Mackenzie King in Sarnia on Tuesday night the West Lambton political campaign will get away to a flying start next week for speakers of the Liberals, Conservatives and United Farmers are scheduled to speak in various places throughout the riding.

Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, will speak at Watford on Thursday afternoon, and at Petrolea in the evening. R. V. Lesueur, the Conservative candidate, will give addresses throughout the county, and R. J. White, the U. F. O. candidate, is planning to have speakers give addresses in Sarnia on his behalf.

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Series of Conventions Next Week in Middlesex County.

"What It Means To Be a School Trustee," will be one of the subjects discussed at a series of educational conventions which will be held in Middlesex County, under the auspices of the Teachers' Association next week.

Anouncements of the meetings to which the parents and public generally are invited, commence with the question, "Your child spends at least nine years of this life in school. What are you doing for the school?"

Monday, Oct. 31—Lucan, 2 p.m., at the town hall. Granton, 7:30 p.m., at the Foresters' Hall.

Tuesday, Nov. 1—Ailsa Craig, 2 p.m., at the town hall. Parkhill, 7:30 p.m., at the town hall.

Wednesday, Nov. 2—Strathroy, 2 p.m., at the town hall. Delaware, 7:30 p.m., at the township hall.

Thursday, Nov. 3—Ilderton, 2 p.m., at the Oddfellows' Hall. Thorndale, 7:30 p.m., at the township hall.

Friday, Nov. 4—Glencoe, 2 p.m. Dorchester, 7:30 p.m., at the opera house.

The following subjects are suggested for discussion: What it means to be a school trustee, how to bring higher education within reach of the rural child, the essentials of an education, the county board for high schools, the township board for primary schools, the enforcement of the adolescent act, the consolidation of rural schools, the influence of the movies, the school grounds and school equipment, continuation schools, hot lunches.

The meetings will be in charge of R. Segsworth, field secretary of the teachers' association. Howard Zavitz will preside, with Miss Ethel Robson as secretary.

SEARCH FOR BODIES OF DROWNED BOYS FAILS

SARNIA, Ont., Oct. 28—Despite the fact that search parties have combed the waters of the St. Clair River for the past 24 hours, no trace has yet been found of the bodies of George and Robert Brown, who were drowned off this port late Thursday afternon.

The Thursday drowning accident came near being repeated this afternoon when a boat searching for the bodies of the Browns upset and George Harrison had a narrow escape from drowning. Harrison had a dragrope, and in some unknown manner his boat caught in the backwash of a passing steamer and upset. Harrison was rescued by searchers in another boat.

Mrs. James Brown, mother of the drowned boys was tonight reported as being in a serious condition as the result of the shock she received when she read in a newspaper that her two sons had been drowned.

HINTON MILLER DIES.

WINDSOR, Oct. 28. — (Canadian Press.)—Hinton Miller, United States Civil War veteran and former owner of the famous race horse Goldring, known the continent over as "the guideless wonder," died this morning at his home at St. Clair Shores, near here, in his 76th year. Mr. Miller resided for many years in St. Thomas, and, as a commercial traveler, was well known throughout Western Ontario.

DYED HER WRAP, SKIRT, SWEATER AND DRAPERIES

Every "Diamond Dyes" package tells how to dye or tint any worn, faded garment or drapery a new rich color that will not streak, spot, fade or run. Perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. For fifty-one years millions of women have been using "Diamond Dyes" to add years of wear to their old, shabby waists, skirts, dresses, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything!

RURAL YOUTH SHOW INTEREST IN FAIRS

Over 7,000 Exhibits by Middlesex School Children.

The youth of rural Ontario are taking to school fairs like ducks to water if figures compiled by the London branch of the department of agriculture count for anything.

Although the attendance at last year's exhibitions were looked upon as being exceptionally satisfactory, it was not to be compared to the number who turned out to the shows this fall, and all this, despite the fact that the weatherman frowned on several of the fairs.

Increased interest was also shown by the scholars, the total number of exhibits for Middlesex County this year totaling over 7,000, while last year they were 5,500.

Plans are already under way for next year's fairs, which promise to be better than ever.

Ilderton

ILDERTON, Oct. 28.—District farmers have been busy for the past week of fine weather plowing and finishing the roots. The potato digger is still at work.

The Ilderton Fruit Growers' Association today loaded a car of apples for the Western States. Another car next week will finish the whole crop for this year. A few fruit growers east of Ilderton have nearly a full crop, but west, owing to the blossoms being frozen, the crop is very light, and in the Coldstream section many farmers have not enough apples for home use.

Fall wheat all through the district is looking fine, and pastures are also holding up splendidly.

Embro

EMBRO, Oct. 28.—Rev. Dr. Day will occupy the pulpit at both services in the Congregational Church on Sunday.

The thankoffering meeting of the King's Daughters, which was held in Knox Church, was well attended, and Mrs. Christie of Woodstock was the speaker, and solos were rendered by Miss Margaret Smith and Fred Peat. The collection amounted to $27.

The auction sale of dairy cows held Wednesday in W. R. Monroe's yards was largely attended. The average price paid for cows was $125.

Owing to an outbreak of mumps the attendance at the public school is at present very small.

The Excelsior Club, U. F. W. O., will hold their annual meeting in the hall at Bennington on Thursday, Nov. 3.

ORFORD PLOWMEN HOLD ANNUAL PLOWING MATCH

MORAVIANTOWN, Oct. 28.—The Oxford Plowmen's Association held their annual plowing match on Archie Peters' farm Wednesday. The attendance was large. There were about twelve contestants, all Indians.

The judges of plowing were: Hugh L. Campbell, Robert Spence and Wm. Davidson, and of horses and equipment: W. Hogg and James Spence.

Awards.

Class I.—Those who had won prizes at previous matches—Jonas Noah, 86 points; Tom Jackson, 85 points; Jasper Hill, 84 points.

Class IV.—Boys under 18 years—Gerald Hill, 75 points.

Oldest plowman—Enoch Snake.

Youngest plowman—Gerald Hill.

Best general outfit—Tom Jackson, Walker Stonefish.

Best plow teams—Tom Jackson, Gerald Hill.

Best strike—Jonas Noah and Jasper Hill, tie. In a draw for first place Jasper Hill secured the decision.

Best finish—Tom Jackson, Jonas Noah.

Best plowed land—Jonas Noah, Tom Jackson.

In the evening a concert was held in the town hall, when the results of the match were announced. The following took part in the program: Mr. Russell and daughter of Highgate; Miss Fisher, Muncey, and Miss Lillian Stonefish, Moraviantown.

WINDSOR CONSTABLE HAS WON PROMOTION

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.(Canadian Press.) In recognition of his exceptional work as a police constable of Windsor force, Joseph E. Bower has been promoted from the third to the second-rate constable roll by the board of police commissioners. Bower's last big coup was the discovery made by him of the attempt to rob a drugstore. Two of the robbers tackled the constable. He shot both. Alex Depres died as a result of the bullet-wound, and Wm. Gerard, his accomplice, was sent to the penitentiary for three years.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Windsor, Oct. 28.—J. E. Benson, inspector of Windsor public schools, was elected president of the Windsor Teachers' Institute today. He succeeds Miss Mary Robinson.

CANCEL ORDER TO CLOSE M. C. SHOPS

St. Thomas Railroaders Are Delighted At Turn of Events.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 28.—The order directing the laying off of the Michigan Central Railroad employees and closing of the locomotive shop on Nov. 1, was cancelled this morning and the men informed that there would be no change so far as their positions were affected, in the local shops. The recall of the former order by the general management followed the announcement of the postponement of the Big Four strike.

Both the heads of the several departments and the employees in the city, numbering many hundreds, were agreeably surprised at the turn of events. Any interference with the present labor condition on the international lines passing through here would seriously affect all branches of business in St. Thomas.

Off to the Woods.

Several hunting parties left this afternoon for the north country. The reports from the wilds tell of the woods being full of deer with a scattering of moose. Dr. C. B. Taylor will have a party of thirteen, Dr. C. C. Lumley a goodly company of six. Ex-Reeve Tod of Yarmouth with an advance guard to prepare the grounds, have left for the big camp on Trout Creek, Parry Sound.

Stucco Frame Dwellings.

Stucco frame residences to replace concrete and stone construction, because of the comparatively low cost of material, will be erected in some sections of the city when the building season again opens. Two are now under way on West avenue, the expenditure on each being placed at $2,500. Permits for this description of small homes were the first to be issued by City Engineer Miller.

Death of N. J. Agnew.

Norman J. Agnew, assistant superintendent and director of industries at the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, who was fatally injured at the quarry there yesterday afternoon, was a brother of William L. Agnew and Gordon Agnew of the Times-Journal.

* * *

Inspector Ross reports that during the past six months $2,500 was collected in fines for local infractions of the O. T. A. and liquor to the value of $11,000 was confiscated, with a balance yet to be dealt with locked up in the iron safe of the city hall.

BODNOROFSKY TO FACE JURY ON THEFT CHARGE

WINDSOR, Oct. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Samuel Bodnorofsky was committed to stand trial before a jury, and Frank Appleby was dismissed on charges of robbery while armed in connection with the looting of the Merchants Bank at Petite Cote July 20 last, when they were brought before Magistrate Gundy in Windsor police court today. Russell Robinson was convicted on the robbery charge late Thursday. He will be sentenced Tuesday.

MAN CLUBBED BY THUG STAGGERS TO HOSPITAL

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.—Clubbed by an unidentified thug early this morning, William Wilkie, 35 years old, Michigan Central employee, staggered into Hotel Dieu, Windsor, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull. At first Wilkie was unable to give any account of his injuries, but later it was ascertained by Dr. I. M. Cherniak, who attended him, that he had been held up and attacked as he was nearing his boardinghouse, the Wellington Hotel.

MAY FACE ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGE.

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.—Awaiting sentence for holding up and robbing Merchants Bank at Petite Cote, Russell Robinson, Sandwich South, farmer, may be charged with attempted murder of Vital Benoit, proprietor of Wellington Hotel, Sandwich West, whom he shot, it is alleged, when making his escape from the bank. Crown Attorney George Urquhart this afternoon was undecided as to what course to pursue. Robinson, he pointed out, faces a maximum sentence of fourteen years for the crime he was found guilty of.

PLAN TO PROTECT CONSUMER OF GAS

Meter Readers Are To Leave Notice of Their Visits.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 28.—The city gas department committee directed its meter readers at the regular meeting held tonight that when householders are absent from their homes at the time of the visit of the reader a notice must be left on the premises of the visit of the employee and advised that the reader had not been read. These instructions were suggested as a means to prevent the readers from making haphazard calculations of the number of feet consumed during the month.

Chairman Lemon and Superintendent Christie were named a committee to purchase 25 new meters.

A poppy wreath was ordered to be purchased to be placed in the office of Superintendent Christie.

THREE OBSTACLES TO EXPORT TRADE

Exporters of Western Ontario Seek Lower Freight Rates.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 28.—The exorbitant freight rates, the high ocean rates and the adverse exchange situation were given as the three great obstacles to export trade at the third convention of the Western Ontario Exporters' Association here today. There were nearly 50 present and the round-table discussions and the addresses of the day proved valuable. C. G. Scott of the Cockshutt Plow Company opened with an address on handling foreign trade.

At the luncheon which followed Mayor Wedlake extended a welcome, and urged the manufacturers to deliver 100 per cent goods.

This afternoon P. H. Scott, traveling agent of the Canadian Government Mercantile Marine; J. P. Clancey, foreign freight agent of the C. P. R. and F. C. T. O'Hara, deputy minster of trade and commerce, were the speakers. It was decided to take joint action to secure lower freight rates and ocean rates if possible, especailly with regard to ocean rates to British ports.

INGERSOLL KIWANIANS TO TAKE UP BOYS' WORK

INGERSOLL, Oct. 28. — Interesting features of the meeting of the Kiwanis Club today were the splendid addresses by J. Bevin Hay, the newly-appointed governor for the Ontario-Quebec district, and Hugh Murray, both of London. Governor Hay, in the course of his address, emphasized the importance of the true Kiwanian spirit being shown toward those in the office and factory, and also with the wife and children at home.

Hugh Murray, who has taken a very active part in London on behalf of the under-privileged boy, was heard with marked interest. Nothing, he said, would bring a greater degree of happiness to a man than to return to his family with the knowledge that he had done something to help a boy share an equal chance with the boys who had greater advantages. In London, he said, everything possible was being done by the Kiwanis Club to help boys attain 100 per cent citizenship. Definite plans in connection with boys' work will be followed by the local club.

Elect Officers.

At a meeting of the Alexandra Hospital trust the following officers were elected: President, H. C. Wilson; vice-president, George Sutherland; secretary, John E. Boles; treasurer, R. J. MAY DRILL FOR OIL AROUND LAKESIDE

ST. MARYS, Oct. 28.—According to statements made here today, a large number of options have been secured during the past week around the village of Lakeside by the representative of an oil and gas company.

The active agent has been Mr. Nayler, an expert oil driller from Llane, Texas, who is said to have declared that both oil and gas are in abundance around Lakeside.

Most of the options secured by Mr. Naylor have been on farms located to the east of the village. The company for whom Mr. Nayler is acting is said to be willing to invest $60,000 immediately in the search for gas or oil, or both.

GIVES HOSPITAL TO TILLSONBURG

Late John Smith Sets Aside Estate For Purpose.

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 28.—Once again the town of Tillsonburg has received a substantial bequest from one of its deceased citizens, ex-Mayor John Smith, who was buried on Monday. Mr. Smith was born in Walton, Eng., on Nov. 16, 1843, and came to Canada in 1868, finally locating in Tillsonburg in 1870, where he made his home until his death.

In his will Mr. Smith has set aside the greater part of his estate, amounting to several thousands of dollars, to provide a hospital to be called "Soldiers' Memorial Hospital." The will also stipulates that the residue of the estate shall be invested and the proceeds derived therefrom used for repairing and maintaining said hospital under a properly authorized hospital board.

The will concludes by saying, "I direct that in the carrying on of the said hospital preference shall be given to such patients that are poor and unable to pay for their own treatment, and that sufficient accommodation shall so far as possible be kept for that purpose in connection with the said hospital, to be paid for out of said funds."

INDIANS SAY WINTER WILL BE SEVERE ONE

Claim Wiry Condition of Bark on Trees Is Proof.

CHATHAM, Oct. 28.—Indians from the Walpole Island Reserve who were in the city today stated that this winter will be excessively severe. To prove their point they pointed out to representatives of the press the wiry condition of the bark on the north sides of trees in Tecumseh Park. One aged Indian stated this was the first time in twelve years that he had noticed this condition. Certain other familiar signs also indicated that the coming winter would be severe.

FALL FARM WORK IS WELL AHEAD OF TIME

Fall plowing of Middlesex farms is about 75 per cent completed, according to farmers interviewed on the local market Friday morning, and will be finished during the next two weeks if the present weather holds.

"All my neighbors are busy taking in roots," said one farmer. The crop is much better than we expected it would be early in the summer, but at that, the roots are only 60 per cent of a crop. There was a good acreage sown, but the seed was not of the best, and we had scraggly rows as a consequence. The hot, dry weather which we had early in the season also told against the crop.

The corn crop is practically all harvested, and farm work generally has been speeded up. It was pointed out that oats were cut and harvested by Aug. 15 this year, while in 1920 farmers had not started on it at that time. This has given the farmers more time to "clean up" on their fall work.

CIDER HAD REAL 12 PER CENT KICK

Kingsville Man Fined $500 and One Month in Jail.

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.—Admitting that he had sold hard cider for more than twelve years, Andrew Bremner, farmer, cement worker and vinegar manufacturer, was fined this afternoon at Kingsville for violating the Ontario temperance act. He was fined $500 and costs, in addition to being sentenced to one month in the county jail. Tipsy persons in the vicinity of Bremner's "vinegar factory" led to his arrest. The cider seized by Provincial Officer Stringer of Windsor tested more than 12 per cent alcohol. Barrister F. W. Wilson was special prosecutor.

TORIES MAY PLACE CANDIDATE IN KENT

Convention in Chatham On Saturday To Decide Matter.

CHATHAM, Oct. 28.—It was announced today that the Conservatives have definitely decided to place a candidate in the field for the general elections to represent the Meighen Government in Kent County. Who the candidate will be is largely a matter of conjecture, but it is rumored that Mayor F. H. Brisco has set covetous eyes on the seat. The Conservative convention which will be held tomorrow will settle the matter.

If a Tory candidate is nominated there will be a three-cornered fight in Kent County. A. B. McCoig's supporters are already prophesying an easy victory for him, while the followers of the Farmer candidate are not sure.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS all Canadian communities have been requested by a Royal Proclamation issued by His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada to take such steps as may be considered advisable and expedient to reduce fire hazards and maintain public health and safety.

And whereas, the Boys' Life Council of this City, composed of the following boys' clubs and associations: Boy Scouts, Navy League, Roman Catholic and Young Judea, C. S. E. T. and Y. M. C. A. have voluntarily offered their services to assist the Fire and Health Departments of the City in helping to reduce the risks of fire and preventable sickness in London,

And whereas, fire loss of Canada has assumed alarming proportions, the average loss in Ontario for the last three years exceeding $1,000,000 a month, a per capita loss of $5 for every man, woman and child in the province,

And whereas, the average annual fire loss in the principal European countries, under normal conditions, is .33c per capita,

And whereas a clean city has few fires, and conditions similar to those which cause fires often breed disease, and unsightly and unsanitary surroundings are a menace to life and health,

And whereas it is obviously of paramount importance to make London clean and attractive, safe from fire and free from disease by removing accumulations of rubbish, empty cans, waste paper, straw, ashes, etc., about our houses, in attics, cellars and back and front yards, and particularly in the vicinity of stoves, furnaces and heating pipes.

These presents are to make known that I, Edgar Sydney Little, Mayor of the City of London, do proclaim the week commencing October 31, to be and request all citizens to do their part in reducing the risks of fire and sickness, and in making London a place of which we may all feel justly proud.

Community Service Week

Given at the City Hall, London, this twenty-ninth day of October, A. D., 1921.

E. S. LITTLE, Mayor.

"Clean Up!" Don't Let Dirt Mar London's Civic Progress

Unsightly Waste and Rubbish Piles Constitute Fire Menace To Community and Form Breeding Spots For Disease Germs.

"A clean-looking town" is one of the first impressions that visitors to London commonly voice, for in comparison with many other cities, there is a general cleanliness superficially apparent about the downtown streets and more traveled thoroughfares. Street-flushers and squads of "white-wings" armed with brooms and trundling wheeled waste-barrels keep the pavements free from dust and debris. But this is not enough.

London could be and should be a much cleaner city than it is. Alleys, lanes and backyards are in many instances neglected, and where actual filth may be piled beyond the casual view there usually is an untidy appearance evident in backyards and back streets which weakens upon longer residence the original good impressions which the visitors derive.

There are many breeding places for germs, open garbage cans and other objectionable refuse in the yards. These things not only give the premises an untidy appearance, but are a serious menace to health.

London can be made a much better place to live in by the concerted efforts of every resident to CLEAN UP.

1,500 Boys Will Help.

More than 1,500 boys, beginning Monday, will wage "war on dirt." The junior members of the boys' clubs will see that their own yards are kept clear of debris and are rearranged into an orderly condition. The senior boys of the organizations, armed with permits, will make an inspection of every backyard in the city.

The Rotary Club, the chamber of commerce and the board of health are backing the boys to the limit, in their attempt to make London clear of dirt and free from disease. Health authorities the world over blame dirt for diseases which are causing a large death toll. For this reason it is up to every citizen to try and make London a city free from disease. When this is done the Forest City will be a much happier place in which to live.

Waste Invites Fire.

Not only, however, will this young army go after dirt, but they will also watch for just as dangerous an enemy—accumulations of waste, which may be the origin of a big fire.

The great majority of fires are caused from rubbish. The carelessness of many in throwing inflammable material close to a building, or piling it up in some dark corner in the basement, has resulted in many deaths, large numbers thrown out of work and the loss of huge sums of money.

To keep your place tidy is no very heavy labor, and the benefits not only to yourself, but to the community by so doing is well worth the trouble. Not only will you be more respected by your neighbors, but it will help to keep your city free from disease and disastrous fires.

"Clean-Up."

CATHOLIC CONSECRATION HALTED BY BOMB PLOT

Detectives Act as Ushers During Ceremony.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A rumored bomb plot, as part of an anti-Catholic demonstration, caused consternation at St. Patrick's Cathedral today when the service at which the Right Rev. Joseph Dunn was consecrated as titular bishop of Camuliana, was interrupted while detectives searched the crowded edifice for infernal machines.

The search proved fruitless, and after a score of police had scoured confessional boxes, pulpit, altar stalls and organ lofts, the ceremony by which the prelate became auxiliary bishop of New York was permitted to proceed. Detectives, however, continued at the entrances of the cathedral, acting as ushers and halting all persons carrying packages, while their contents were examined.

WOODSTOCK CITIZENS WARNED TO BOIL WATER

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 28.—The city flower beds have been replanted this week with spring flower bulbs, under the supervision of the Horticultural Society, and thousands of bulbs imported direct from Holland have been placed in the beds.

CONFERENCE ON BOYS' WORK AT TILLSONBURG

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 28.—The Interdenomination Boys' Conference, taking in the district covered by Woodstock to Ingersoll on the north to Lake Erie on the south, and from Aylmer on the west to Delhi on the east, opened in St. Paul's Methodist Church with nearly 200 delegates billeted, and more expected for the Saturday and Sunday conferences.

For the opening day three brief addresses were given, as follows: "The Aim of the Trail-Ranger," by Rev. Frank Langford, head of the young people's work of the Methodist Church of Canada; "The Type of Leadership Required," O. H. McDonald, leader in the boys' work in the Baptist Church of Canada; "District and Community Co-operation in Boys' Work," C. F. Plewman, secretary of the Boys' Work Board of Ontario.

The special sessions start at 9 a.m., concluding with a banquet, to which every church is contributing. On Sunday the different speakers will occupy the local pulpits. The conference is receiving big support in the town, and the meetings are creating great interest.

OFFICERS ARE RE-ELECTED.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 28.—President Charles M. Thompson and the officers of the Brantford Y. M. C. A. were re-elected at the annual meeting tonight. The directors are: E. Sweet, P. H. Secord, Geo. Wedlake, J. W. Widdup, J. M. Young, F. E. Morrison, W. H. Wood. The last two take the place of the retiring officers, A. MacFarland and T. L. Wood. A deficit of $1,478.43, it was felt, was due to a falling off in sustaining membership, and an appeal for rigid economy in every department was made by President Thompson.

SMALL EUROPEAN NATIONS INSOLVENT

U. S. Seeks Solution of Financial Difficulties of War Countries.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—While the attention of the United States Government is concentrated, for the time being, on the forthcoming conference on limitation of armament, it is not oblivious to grave conditions facing half a dozen European countries which are threatened with absolute and complete bankruptcy, are, in effect, now helplessly drifting to the verge of national insolvency.

In the opinion of some officials working in concert with the United States Government and close to the councils of the Administration, the probability that six or seven nations may have to be placed in the hands of an international receivership is looming large. The countries principally affected, and in whose behalf a financial concert of the solvent nations is being discussed, are Germany, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Poland, Rumania and Serbia. The governmental activities of these nations have reached the point where they are merely floating on a volume of paper currency, restricted only by the capacity of the printing presses, and quite impossible of redemption in gold.

Larger Powers Concerned.

Already the situation has attracted serious consideration in Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium. An international receivership is talked of. The United States is not yet a party to any formal discussions of the plan, but the gravity of the situation is fully recognized in Washington. The solvent countries of Europe have taken the stand that it is useless to discuss plans and programs for maintaining the financial stability of these countries until the United States is ready to take a formal part in the deliberations.

There is no question at all that the Administration recognizes that the United States must participate in whatever possible plan is adopted by the other powers. It is believed that the first step toward such co-operation was taken with the ratification of the treaties of peace by the United States. Another obstacle in the way of participation by this country in a rehabilitation program will be disposed of when Congress sanctions the treasury's request for power to refund the foreign debt of the United States.

That it is the intention of the United States to carry out the refunding and readjustment of the allied debt in such a way as to give a helping hand to the insolvent nations, where this can be done without endangering American interests, there is no doubt whatever. It is believed, in fact, that it was this bankruptcy phase of the European situation that caused the president and secretary of the treasury to request such broad powers in dealing with the foreign loan question.

Action Is Imperative.

In addition to the foreign debt bill, which has already been passed by the House, it is considered probable that the Administration will present to Congress a request for legislation to permit American participation in the reparations commission. As viewed here it is not merely a humanitarian question for the United States. American trade and commerce and the sale of surpluses of all kinds is threatened by the condition of the European countries that have reached the receivership stage.

The financial straits of these countries can be seen from a glance at the present value of their currency. What is more significant is the recent tendency of the value to decrease rather than to gain in terms of American money.

The German mark dropped recently to a value of a little more than half a cent, as compared with a par value of 23.8 cents. There are now more than 90,000,000,000 of these paper marks outstanding, as against a gold redemption fund in the German treasury of approximately 1,000,000,000 marks. It is regarded by American officials as only a question of speed of the German printing presses and the rate at which the gold reserve is further depleted, when the mark value will reach the vanishing point. The six other European governments cited are practically in the same or a worse plight.

It is proposed that a syndicate of American, British, French, Belgian, Italian, Dutch and Scandinavian bankers be formed. New banks of currency issue would be created in each of the countries, one-half of the capital of which would be subscribed by the foreign syndicate, and one-half by capitalists within the specific country affected. These new banks would issue a new currency, supported each by a new'y-created gold reserve. This currency would immediately replace existing currencies in foreign trade, thus serving to correct, to a degree at least, the inequality in exchange.

URGE BOARD TO GOVERN O. A. C.

District Alumni At Banquet Approve Lieut.-Col. Brown's Proposal.

At the first fall meeting of the Western Ontario O. A. C. Alumni Association, which took the form of a banquet in the Royal Cafe Friday night, it was decided that the program for the coming winter should be taken up along the lines of educational extension work, or in other words, to consider means whereby facilities now existing, such as universities and the O. A. C., could be brought in closer touch with the farm boys and girls. Traveling libraries, home reading courses and the advisability of a board of governors for the O. A. C. will be among the matters considered at future meetings.

Frank H. Silcox, who has had much experience in organizing farmers' clubs throughout Ontario, stated that the social life in rural communities was greatly lacking, and the association might well work along this line. He thought the clubs should hear addresses on literature, history and art, and declared that a better type of men would result.

Suggest Governing Board.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown suggested that if the O. A. C. had a board of governors consisting of representative farmers in an advisory capacity to bring their experience, and help form the policies of the college, it would be a good thing for the rural communities.

"The University of Toronto has a board of governors and a senate; why should the minister of agriculture rule the college?" questioned Col. Brown. "I understand that they now have faculty meetings at the O. A. C., and are getting away from the autocratic days when the president ruled supreme." The suggestion met with favor, and was laid over until a future meeting for discussion.

Community Leadership.

A. R. G. Smith of New Hamburg spoke for a short time on "Community Leadership." He declared that in every community there was a man who was a leader, one who knew more than the current price of cattle or corn, and who had a taste for English literature and art.

The church and school were two institutions that rural communities should be interested in, and the qualifications of leaders was most important. First of all they should have a great deal of faith in the Almighty. They should not be disappointed if they did not receive the plaudits of the crowd, but must work hard and take advantage of opportunities.

Speaking of the possibilities in rural Ontario, Mr. Smith stated that community work should be started right in the home, the chief unit in the worth of the nation. He would like to see more real art in the public schools, such as reproductions of famous paintings.

Rural Schools Important.

"Ninety per cent of the pupils who attend rural schools will finish their education there," said Mr. Smith. "You will see therefore that it is important that there should be a system that will meet their wants. Money should be no consideration in procuring a teacher. The best is none too good, and the teacher should be a community leader."

Mr. Smith also touched on the appearance of the farmers, stating that "we command respect by shaves and shoeshines."

A number of young people in the rural districts had never attended a banquet, and didn't know how one was conducted. They should be given the opportunity to attend one.

Plea for Culture.

"Do the best you can to lead the community to be a cultured people, better farmers and better citizens of the country. That is the brighest gem in Britain's crown," concluded Mr. Smith.

Meetings will be held in the following centers during the coming months: November, Stratford; January, Chatham; February (annual meeting), London; March, Tillsonburg; April, Clinton.

President Harold Fry presided at the meeting which was attended, among others, by W. H. Porter, R. W. Kernohan, Fred W. Stock, Robert R. Bell, Frank H. Silcox, Stewart A. Brown, J. T. Johnston, P. D. Vahey, C. W. Buchanan, P. F. Love, E. Webb, G. F. Kingsmill, Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, H. S. Fry, A. R. G. Smith, A. E. Bean, James H. Wheaton, R. A. Finn and J. L. Foote.

PERFORM AUTOPSY ON SEARLES' BODY

Physicians Seek Cause of Millionaire Recluse's Death.

METHUEN, Mass., Oct. 28.—After an autopsy on the body of Edward F. Searles, millionaire recluse, who died at his estate here in August, 1920, some of the organs were sent late today to Dr. William F. Boos of Boston for chemical analysis.

Dr. George B. McGrath of Boston, one of the Suffolk County medical examiners, performed the autopsy, assisted by Medical Examiner George W. Dow of Lawrence. They declined to make any statement pending the analysis of the organs, which they said might require a week or more.

The autopsy was ordered by District Attorney Howard Donnell after he had received anonymous communication suggesting that poison might have caused Searles' death.

After the casket had been opened, witnesses present withdrew, and only an undertaker and Dr. McGrath's stenographer were present at the autopsy, which occupied four hours.

The body, except for the organs removed, was returned to the casket and crypt.

DRURY TURNS SOD FOR T. AND N. O. EXTENSION

COCHRANE, Ont., Oct. 28.—In the presence of a gathering of 3,000 persons, drawn from every point in Northern Ontario, Premier E. C. Drury at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon turned the first sod in the projected extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railroad from Cochrane, 70 miles toward Oil Can Portage. A special train of thirteen cars came from North Bay and another train of five cars brought people from the Iroquois Falls district.

PHILADELPHIA Oct. 28.—The fight for the National Pocket Billiard championship had narrowed today to two men, Ralph Greenleaf, the title holder, and Arthur Woods of Minneapolis, with the former holding the advantage. Greenleaf has won seven matches and lost none, while Woods has six victories to his credit and one defeat.

What's In a Book?

[BY KATHLEEN K. BOWKER.]

The Comic Egoist.

As "Vera" was the story of a tragic egoist, so "Mr. Waddington of Wyck," by May Sinclair (Cassel & Co., London), is the account of the comic egoist—the "frog who would be an ox," fashioned in man's image. What is there about these complete egoists that compels love from sensible people? It seems so foolish—and yet we all know how true it is. Perhaps there is more than half a truth in the old adage, "Others accept you at your own valuation."

Mr. Waddington was complacently certain that everybody loved him. And to their amusement and annoyance, everyone (almost) found (when tested) that they had an irradicable affection for him.

Himself sure that his serene pomposity was admired by his neighbors—his neighbors, against their will, did rather admire him, however much they laughed at him. Even those who liked him least felt (in a semi-subconscious way) that there must be something in Waddington's ideas, or he would not be quite so sure of them himself.

Horatio Bysshe Waddington himself does not seem to have had even a tendon from Achilles's heel. He possessed "in extremis" the power to deceive himself for his own glorification and edification.

It takes more than a mere sense of humor to keep one sane through the encroaching seasons. It requires a keen sense of proportion, and an impersonal sense of the ludicrous as well. When the outraged remembrance of how foolish you have been comes back upon you, and makes your cheeks burn, and your heart grow hot—why, then, it is as good as a spring tonic to you, if you can get such a good laugh at yourself as to make the whole incident appear worth while. Not to succumb, but to give yourself a wholesome lesson.

The Spartans used to train their children to an intense admiration of sobriety by showing them drunken Helots at various stages of debauch. It was hard on the Helots—but watching others be "as funny as they can" is a good form of restraint for the aging. This book is a loud warning against fatuous fatuity. But it is a lesson that is well besprinkled with laughs. The satire is delightful—the delineation of character extraordinary. How one loves Fanny! Fanny, who poulticed her heartache with unbitter restraint. When one considers "The Divine Fire," "Mary Olivier," "The Tree of Heaven," the curious interlude expressed in a little book of character study in war time, and "Mr. Waddington of Wyck," one realizes that for versatility alone Miss Sinclair has attained to a high rung on the ladder of fame.

Why Does "It" Hate Us?

"My Three Husbands," anonymous. Written in a didactic style by a person who sees vice through a Victorian veil. A great deal of plain preaching (rather dull), interspersed with an occasional bit of real cleverness. Probably written by a man, who wanted to give a picture of a really horrid woman. (If this was the result of the "womanly" upbringing of which the author writes with so much feeling, what an escape for the rising generation!) But what a jaundiced picture of three men! A cruel give-away of the stronger sex.

THE NEW ERA.
("To Let," by John Galsworthy.)

She dropped her kerchief, and he picked it up,
And saw her name upon it—
"Fleur Forsyte."
His name—Forsyte—they must be cousins then?
Whereat her father, frowning, drew her off;
And his own mother—dearest in the world
(So gentle, so absorbed in all he did
Or even cared for)—
Passed it over
Lightly,
And as a thing
Not worth remark.

Up went the young heads, scenting something strange!
If hands be parted, eyes can cross the crowd.
So Fleur and Jon,
The last of the Forsytes
(Whose lives John Galsworthy has traced for us
Through four fine books, the Sage of Forsyte)
Meet like a Montague and Capulet,

Fleur, with the spirit of her father, Soames
(The taloned spirit of possessiveness)
Would spoil the grave, to deck her House of Life.
But Jon—born of a love that thought the world
Well lost—could never shame his mother's heart.
His mother had done wrong—but she was right!
The bitter wrong—
Can flesh and blood forget?
. . . . . .
The blinds are down.
. . . . . .
The old Forsytes are gone.
The old, old Timothy Forsyte is dead.
Is empty, and the old Victorian ways
Are changed. Put up a sign:
"Old Worlds To Let!"

WOW!

Two children changed at birth—a maiden about to be married against her will—abduction attempted by force, frustrated by foresight—love and intrigue—a forest fire—a fight—love and business—mixed up with an amazing intriguity (only word I can imagine to fit it) that leaves me lost in a maze. If you want to find your way through it read "Jess of the Rebel Trail," by H. A. Cody. (McClelland & Stewart.)

Mr. Sommerville's Appeal.

The clear-cut, succinct and convincing letter of C. R. Somerville to the electors of London, which appears in this issue, is worthy of the most careful study of every voter. He is dignified in his appeal, and frank in his declaration of policy on the main issues of the campaign. The whole letter indicates the character of the man—business-like, public-spirited, honest, straightforward. And those who know Mr. Somerville and his life-long record in London know that his word in promise of service is as good as his bond. Without doubt he will serve Canada and London if elected, as he will be, "honestly and courageously."

First and foremost in the consideration of electors, he declares, should come the election of a parliament of business efficiency and economy. Mr. Somerville's own record as a successful businessman in this city, his civic administration and his sane and sure hand in the affairs of the Western University are pledges that economy and efficiency, probity and horse-sense will mark his vote and influence in Parliament.

His reference to the national cares for our returned men and his specific plea for all partially or wholly disabled men has a special significance from his own war loss. His own son lies in Flanders' fields.

On the Liberal plank in regard to the rights of capital and labor Mr. Somerville stands foursquare. The fundamental principles adopted by the representatives of labor at the Versailles conference, the right of organization for all legitimate purposes, a fair living wage for all men, equality of opportunity, immediate and drastic action by the Government with respect to the high cost of living and profiteering, viewing labor as humanity rather than as a commodity of commerce—these are the things for which Mr. Somerville and the Liberal party stand. And it is illuminative in this connection to note that during his long business life in this city Mr. Somerville never had a strike nor a serious difficulty with labor.

On the tariff issue Mr. Somerville has put the whole case in a nutshell by defining his attitude and that of the Liberal party as a common-sense medium between protected profiteering and visionary free trade—"the just balance between the selfish high protectionist on the one hand, and the impractical free traders on the other hand." The reference to the experience of the past under Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding carries its own conviction. The Conservative campaign of labelling Mr. Somerville as belonging to the free-trade party is spiked at the outset.

The appeal to the women voters, as the ultimate taxpayers of the nation, and the new salutary, formative influence in conducing to national and political morality is pertinent and apt. It is an appeal to reason and conscience. No sentiment, no flattery, no buncombe. The women will appreciate a candidate who merely asks them to study the national issues for themselves.

It is courage, independence, honesty, common-sense, and a sincere desire to promote the public weal that this nation needs in this trying time of world-wide economic and social readjustment. Judged by his letter, Mr. Somerville is the man for the task ahead at Ottawa.

A Saturday Sermon.

A concern that is capitalized at $400,000 was being reorganized about two months ago. It is located in one of Canada's growing cities, and found it advisable to bring new blood and new ideas to its personnel—hence the reorganization.

The man selected for the position of "next to the general manager" in the new company was being taken from a rival organization, where he was known to be a keen executive, a thoughtful worker, and thoroughly efficient.

Everything went well until the new man for the important position ...nt and handed in his resignation.

Then the commotion started. The door was locked, and across a well-polished desk he was informed that the firm had no idea he was discon...ented and anxious for a change, or ... anything better than he had ...t where he was.

... further meeting was held, with t... directors called in, and that ... same day the man who wanted to leave was elected to the board of directors of the company with which he worked for years.

Nothing very unusual about this, you say?

Perhaps not—but it's intensely human, and carries a great big lesson that no firm or no individual can afford to ignore.

Here was an employee holding one of the main positions in the company, putting in the best years of his life.

What did he want?

...ply this: Recognition, encour...nt, and a little human kind-ness in the form of an official "Thank you."

Not much, was it, but how much of these same things are YOU handing out as you go along?

No doubt you accept a great many little favors and marks of kindness every day, perhaps at your work, right in your own home. And you simply take them for granted, and perhaps grumble and grouch if they are not forthcoming.

These same people who are rubbing elbows with you all the way through are human—sensitive alike to blame and censure, and equally sensitive to the absence of them.

Don't make the fatal mistake of waiting and delaying your "Thank you" until it is too late. If you have a certain amount for funeral decoration for your friends, discount that account by decorations while they are alive.

It is much better to have one sweet flower to smell and adore when you're alive than to be crushed by the burdens of thousands of them in death.

He Went To Work.

A young man with a very excellent schooling came to London from Hamilton a few days ago. We're not saying how he got here, but it was no parlor car trip.

Like many other people, he wanted to go to work. He had tried everything that might prove to his liking in Hamilton, but, locating nothing, he got to London.

Arriving in London he found a job. True, it was one where his university training did not count for a great deal at the start, unless it might be that at college he had been a star athlete.

He might have wandered around this city for a while, applied for work where he had a pretty good idea there would be no work, and then stated as his conclusion: "There is no work in London."

Now, we are not stretching the point to that of general application, for there are many men who, even though willing, could do nothing at all with a pick and shovel.

On the other hand, there are too many who are quite certain that they can do nothing at manual labor, and are convinced on this point to the exclusion of an honest trial.

LITTLE 'TISERS

It's one thing to have a car, and another to own it.

Lloyd George has been offered the use of a house in Washington during his stay there. If he gets stuck he can come over and stay at our place.

Now that the threatened railroad strike is not going to take place, we have the usual crop of those whose "inside information" caused them to know for certain that there would be no strike.

A Woodstock barber has a sign in his window: "Cash paid for eggs." This is probably a case of spite because the town grocer bought a razor and started to scrape his own chin.

Census figures coming out show that people continue to leave the land and make tracks for the cities. Other figures show that more mortgages are being paid off on farms, while more people are standing in soup lines in the cities.

There have been yards of explanations as to why shiploads of high-powered explosives were being shipped to Canada from Britain. Many of them read very well, but the average citizen would still like to rise and ask, "Who are the Canadian militia going to shoot?"

Mayor Church of Toronto was all ready to be mayor again on the strength of the street car ticket business. Now he is being groomed in the Tory stable for a Toronto seat at Ottawa, of course, on the tariff issue. We're waiting to see if this much-elected man gets mussed and tries to make Ottawa on Toronto street car tickets.

The Ottawa Journal argues that the doing away with automatic revolvers and weapons of that nature in general a great step would be taken toward doing away with bank robberies. The idea is right, but it would take a whole army of people a good many years, even with the manufacture of arms stopped, to make a clean-up. The Ottawa paper should remember that things is as they is and not as they isn't.

The St. John Globe states that a giant poster on city billboards announces that "New Brunswick has 1,363 factories employing 20,000 people, with a payroll of $17,000,000." The poster then declares: "The King-Crerar alliance, if it came into power, would close these factories and throw these people out of employment." The largest and the most successful of these 1,363 New Brunswick factories, the Globe states, is the McAvity plant in St. John. "What better answer can any sensible man want to the arrant nonsense of this election poster than the fact of McAvity support of the Liberal party? If they believe that political humbug trash they would not be Liberals."

One can hardly be blamed for rubbing his eyes, and looking several times to see that it's all right when he reads in that ultra-Tory paper, the Guelph Herald:

"A vote for Guthrie is a vote for stable government and an assurance of a settled protective tariff."

Well, well, and it's only a few moons past since the Herald was demanding that Hugh Guthrie's head be laid upon a charger and laid at the feet of that political rover, Kelly-Evans.

The train on which Premier Meighen was traveling through Ontario had difficulty in stopping long enough to allow the premier to make those on-the-fly speeches to station gatherings. The engineer persisted in starting his end of the show before the politician got under way, and of course when he started the premier had to come. The suggestion was made that the engineer was either a Grit or a U. F. O. Truth is that the engineer was probably carrying out President Hanna's instructions that railroadmen were not to participate in politics. He couldn't stay for these gatherings, and the fact that his departure broke up the meeting was simply an incident.

The Renfrew Mercury deals effectively with the rather exaggerated claims of Mr. Meighen and his followers concerning war service and war government. The Mercury says: "Granted that as a member of the Unionist cabinet (that was largely composed of men who had no sons eligible for military service) Mr. Meighen did his bit, so did every man, woman, boy and girl in Canada. They could not all be solicitor-generals, but the people of this Dominion, from one end to the other, worked and gave, sacrificed and served, all through those terrible years, Arthur Meighen did no more towards winning the war than the humblest grandmother who knitted socks for the soldiers, day in and day out. There are only two classes of people who are entitled to wear the laurel wreath in Canada, i. e., the boys who fought 'over there,' and the parents who have only photographs and memory to comfort them in their lonely hours. The rest of us, Arthur Meighen included, did nothing, gave nothing, sacrificed nothing worth mentioning."

NOAH'S POETRY

The Weekly Editor.

Mr. Jefferson brought in a fine sample of winter apples for the editor.—News note in a district paper.

This grand old custom still survives the ravages of age, to come around and decorate the sanctum of the sage, to place upon his old pine desk a cabbage and a beet, and cast the finest punkin growed upon the scribbler's feet.

There be a lot of these old things that passed long years ago, the trophies of the garden rake, the pick-axe and the hoe.

The editor he used to get the finest things that grew, and of these offerin's he'd write a column—sometimes two.

He used to get a rhubarb stalk, the harbinger of spring, and of the pie his wife would hatch the village bard would sing.

And then he'd get a mess of peas, a parsnip newly born, likewise a crooked summer squash, also ten cobs of corn.

Of all these things he used to write in style both brave and strong, and every little week or so he'd break forth into song.

Folks have been gettin' past this thing in these here times just now, no more they give the editor a fat pig or a cow.

But now and then we read these things, these presentation notes, of where the editor has got some berries and some oats.

And then we reach out for our harp and sing a little song, because these grand old customs has lived and thrived so long. —NOAH.

NO. 21—THE LONG HEAD.

You must distinguish now between the narrow head, which was discussed in a previous article, and the long head. The long head, of course, is likely to be narrower in proportion to its length than the short head. But Mr. Einstein to the contrary, it's not so much a matter of relativity as of actual measurement, and the long head of this article may be either long and narrow or long and wide. For the moment it's only the length that interests.

Again, long-headed persons have in well-developed form that peculiar type of idealism and romance (even when intensely practical) that can probably best be described by that subtle difference in meaning betwen our words "home" and "residence." The long-heads are home-lovers. Home is to them more than the place where they hang their hats and sleep.

As a matter of fact, the long head indicates a tendency toward the practical, let us say the practical ideal.

It's also an indication of charitable tendencies, of sympathy and humane inclinations.

WEEKLY PRESS TALK ON CANADIAN POLITICS

Don't Know—Do You?

[Walkerton Telescope.]

Hon. T. A. Crerar and Hon. E. C. Drury both make fine impressions on the platform, but it is old J. J. Morrison handing out the "down-trodden farmer" talk that seems to make the real hit with farmer audiences. But is the U. F. O. had parliamentary leaders of the Morrison type how long would the movement last?

That Political Grab-Bag.

[Brussels Post.]

We are wonderfully well pleased to hear the leaders of the three great parties in this Dominion election contest all putting up a plea for rigid economy. Of course, it is what the country needs, but if the program is no closer followed after Dec. 6 than before the date of the election contest it will sure be a cunningly devised fable. Increasing the indemnity was a nice sample of economy to go no further back, but is one of many instances. In the case referred to the party line was eliminated in the grab-bag game. Verily by their fruits ye shall know them.

Ill-Advised Tactics.

[Wingham Times.]

Did the Conservative Government ask whether the men who enlisted, who fought and died for Canada, were Liberal or Conservative? Did the Government accuse the Liberals of disloyalty when they asked their assistance in forming a Union Government? Did the Conservatives raise the disloyalty cry when they asked the united support of the country during the trying days of the war? No! Then why raise it now?

Thousands of white crosses amid the red poppies of Flanders' fields bear eloquent, if mute, testimony against the political trickster who would, for his own selfish advantage, seek to divide a united Canada by a charge that is palpably false, misleading, and unfair.

Blowing Bubbles.

The Melville Progress was not overlooked in the gratuitous distribution to Canadian newspapers of brand-new half-tones of the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. The legend that accompanied these cuts appears to have been: "This cut free of charge. From latest photograph of Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister of Canada. Half-tone to be used as required, instead of others you may have on file." What the Tory organization seems to fear is that some paper will run a cut of Arthur Meighen taken about the time he was making his famous anti-protection speech in the House of Commons during the 1910-11 session. The Progress expresses its appreciation of the gift in these words: "We hope that the other 3,460 newspapers in this Dominion were as lucky as we were in getting the above fine cut for nothing. We value it, and the method of its distribution, very much. Hence its location in this column." The column at the foot of which the cut appears in the Progress is headed: "Pretty Political Bubbles."

The Major Interrupts.

[Chesley Enterprise.]

At the Liberal nomination in Tara the editor of this paper in referring to experimenting with men who had political aspirations and had not even a rudimentary knowledge of how we are governed and the powers of the federal parliament and local legislatures, referred to Major Fenton, M. P. P., who in his nomination speech at Wiarton said that there would be no use sending McDonald back to the Legislature as he couldn't reduce the duty on agricultural implements. The major was at the back of the hall and denied the allegation. He was sorry for his interruption, for the speaker told the large audience the story of how Major Fenton had practiced economy since he was elected by being one of the first to sign the round robin for more salary, and was turned down by Drury, how at the end of last session he had grabbed $600 extra, and was just on the point of letting the public know how he had got $10,000 out of the public treasury in two years to help reduce the taxes of the Amabel electors who had given him a majority of 509, when the major turned tail, left the hall, and was soon hitting the trail for Ballyduff. The North Bruce psuedo economist will be more careful about his interruptions in future. If he were as prodigal with his own money as with the public funds he would soon be a swineherd in a far country by this time.

Have It Your Way, Then.

[Glencoe Transcript.]

Commenting on a clipping from this paper of last week, the London Advertiser wrongly conveys the impression that we would discourage the farmer from making a donation of his products to assist the famine sufferers in Russia. We only pointed out that there appears to be a tendency on the part of relief associations to take it for granted that what the farmer raises costs him nothing, and that a donation of a few bushels of wheat means little to him. Had the relief associations at the same time asked the men who had made himself rich out of the war for a hundred or two hundred dollars, the merchant for a few yards of cloth from his shelves or the grocer or butcher for a few pounds of sugar or bacon from his shop, there would have been no ground for criticism. The farmers, of course, will respond, as they usually do, but why single them out as the only class of people from whom donations are expected? While it is not altogether a parallel case, we might remind our city friend that a few years ago an appeal was made through the rural pulpits for donations of hand-picked apples for the idle poor of London. At that time the farmers were in urgent need of help to carry on their fall work, but every inducement they offered was turned down by the city's unemployed. For once the farmer did not "rise to the appeal," and there were no hand-picked apples forthcoming.

Ministry of the Falling Leaf

[By Watchman.]

"The grass withereth and the flower fadeth, but the word of our God shall stand forever."—Isaiah xl., 8.

Poets, like men of the cloth, have their blue Mondays. The spirit of their inspirations looks out sometimes through glasses dimmed with the gloom of the waning year. The prince of dramatists writes of "the sere and yellow leaf" as a fitting emblem of the way of life when the tragic curtain closes down upon Macbeth. In wailing winds and naked woods Bryant saw the coming of "melancholy days, the saddest of the year." Seeing the trees bereft of their foliage, men have called it the Fall of the year. As great a thinker as Dr. James Martineau pictured autumn as a season thickly strewn with the fall of human life. Even the brilliant De Lamartine in his lines to "The Valley," sings drearily:

"Thy days sombre and brief like autumn days, Decline as on those slopes the night shades gloom."

But another great French soul, Victor Hugo, strikes a higher and more optimistic note in his "Hymn of the Earth":

"Glory to earth! To the dawn of God's gaze!
To the swarming of eyes in the woodland ablaze,
To nests by the sunrise made splendid!
Hail to the whitening of moon-smitten heights!
Tall to the azure that squanders her lights
From treasuries never expended."

He gives us just there an intimation of the immeasurable resources of God, whose

"Earth hoards up her gold, but her harvests she wears;
In the flank of the dead seasons that sleep in her lairs,
The germs of new seasons assemble"

Nature, dividnely designed, is able to meet all her maturing obligations and make provision for the future:

"Each debt she discharges: the branch to the root,
The night to the day, and the flower to the fruit;
She nourishes all she engenders."

The very plants seem to manifest a faith that puts to shame the almost blasphemous doubts of man.

"She gives birth without end to the flowers of the sod;
The flowers never raise their reproaches to God."

Peering away back to primeval days a virgin forest is seen growing from seed into an unending surge of leaves against which the flame of summer days has blazed and raging winds have blown and battered it

In the grey days and more than compensating glorious days of Ontario autumn that lately have been adding zest to life, nature has revealed her capacity for unending renewal. Under the maple and ash and beech she has spread a deep carpet of gold and brown to protect the roots and seedlings from the deadly grip of frost. Dissolved into humus by snow and rain, these beds of decaying foliage become a veritable storehouse of fertility to sustain the forest growth and build up future generations of trees for the delight and comfort of man. So we may regard October as one of the great restoring periods of nature. The foliage passed away to its final burial place in a pageant of glorious coloring that no pen has ever yet adequately described. There is healing for the physical system jaded with the heat of of equinoctial gales upon the tree seems days, the virtues of which one should store up as a preparation for winter. It was not death, but rather the provision and forecast of another April like the spiritual process. The sweep of equinoxial gales upon the tree seems harsh, but it serves to strengthen the fibre and deepen the root system of the tree. So the moral and spiritual nature gathers endurance for trial and conflict to come. Not without reason we pride ourselves upon many of the works of man, but pyramids and skyscrapers possess no inherent power to restore or reproduce themselves such as exists in the constitution of the tree or as divinely implanted in the soul of man. The falling leaf is an expression of the thought of God and a beautiful reminder of faith and hope and spiritual expectancy. Instead of bemoaning and berating the day of the falling of the leaf, it is to be gloried in as assurance of life and immortality.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL.

LIME NEED FOR TEETH

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

THE prevailing theory in regard to decay of the teeth is that it is brought about by the formation of acids in the mouth produced by the fermentation of sugars and starches. The lactic acid formed is supposed to attack the enamel of the tooth, dissolving the lime, the chief constituent of the enamel.

But the theory now most supported and most probable is a surprising one. Decay, according to this theory, is brought about by systemic changes in the blood.

Some bodies are more able to resist disease than others while variations in weather and conditions bring variations in the resistance of almost all bodies. This variation of resistance is believed to be due to changes in the state of the blood and that high resistant blood contains certain special substances called "sozins."

Normal saliva has a highly protective influence on the teeth due to the presence of these "sozins" or lime content in the saliva. Thus, it is a deficiency of lime in the diet of the average individual that is a widespread factor in the universal decay of teeth.

The average bill-of-fare, consisting of fine flour, bread, potatoes, meat, coffee butter, sugar, breakfast foods, fruits etc., contains less than one-quarter of the amount of lime necessary to maintain calcium balance.

Dentists—have long ago relinquished the idea that the toothbrush can stay decay. The toothbrush is important and undoubtedly does a great deal toward checking the progress of decay, but still more important is a recognition of the causes of dental decay.

To eliminate these causes requires first, an improvement in resistance to disease by improving the general health in all possible ways.

Second, a dietary rich in calcium, is required so as to make sure of a high calcium content of the saliva.

Such a diet includes an abundance of greens and fresh vegetables. Whole wheat cereals should be substituted for such foodstuffs as fine flour, hominy, cornmeal, polished rice and various bakery products. Milk should be freely used, especially by growing children.

Third, the teeth should be brushed not only on arising in the morning and before retiring at night, but also after each meal.

Fourth, laxative foodstuffs should be included in the dietary in order to keep free of constipation. If necessary agar-agar and paraffin oil may be used in some form.

TO THE EDITOR

EAST ELGIN.

Editor Advertiser:

Sir,—I want to say to the Liberals, also the Independents of all the classes: Whatever you do, do not let East Elgin go by default.

Get a strong man as a supporter of Mackenzie King, without doubt the coming premier of Canada. I want to see the member-elect for the good old constituency a supporter of the coming Liberal Government.

The Meighenites do not want a three-cornered fight. Then I say: Let their man drop out. He will at any rate come in last in the race on Dec. 6. You are going to hold another convention on Monday next. Take out the strongest man you have got, and that man is Dan McIntyre. Give him a unanimous convention; he will win if given a fair show. Without doubt he is the strongest man you have, and the Meighenites know it. I want to see East Elgin redeemed. You will make no mistake if Dan McIntyre should be the man to represent East Elgin. He is a man of sterling character, good ability, one who has made good at home, and with a fearless determination to stand for the right. His personal integrity is beyond question. Any ordinary man can wreck a building, but to reconstruct it another man who has got the brains has got to do it.

Meighen wrecked the Dominion of Canada, but has not got the brains to reconstruct it. Mackenzie King will have to do the job.

We won't have Meighen.

Thanking you in anticipation.

A LIBERAL,

IN N. MIDDLESEX.

Editor Advertiser:

Sir,—Under the heading "Situation in North Middlesex," your Parkhill correspondent airs his party grievance, and if a bona-fide member of the U. F. O., is sadly in error as to what the U. F. O. constitution stands for. I was present at the U. F. O. convention for West Middlesex held at Strathroy, and I can assure my good Liberal friend that there were no "wires pulled" for J. D. Drummond, or any other candidate. The procedure was as follows:

Ballots were passed to each delegate for the nomination of candidates, and each had the privilege of making a nomination, so that everything was done aboveboard. With regard to the last local election West Middlesex selected a former Liberal-U. F. O. candidate in J. G. Lethbridge, and I can say that the former Conservative U. F. O. voters supported him to a man, so far as I know, although his opponent was a Conservative.

When a candidate is nominated for the U. F. O. it is not asked what his former party was, but he must be a U. F. O. member and subscribe to the platform of the Progressive or Farmers' party. Those "former Liberals" he speaks of, I fear, are still Liberals, as if genuine members of the U. F. O. they would not be still thinking and speaking of their "old love."

Plainly there were several good men nominated who were "former Liberals," but the delegates did not seem to take this fact into consideration at all, but selected J. D. Drummond because they thought he was the best man.

The only way of relief for your disgruntled correspondent is to get busy and select a straight Liberal candidate and then he can prove whether the U. F. O. voters of West Middlesex who were "former Liberals" will support him.

A "FORMER LIBERAL."

ENDS HANDICRAFT OF LABRADOR FOLK

Grenfel Mission Encourages Bleak Coast Arts.

All the way from the far Labrador mail boxes have arrived in the city containing samples of the handicraft of the natives made during the bitter winters of long, long nights. Homespuns, woven runners and hooked mats express the skill and the wistful instinct for what is beautiful, as well as useful, of women whose lives, of necessity, must be monotonous and hard. There are knitted goods and bags as well, a weathervane, door stop, book rack, window wedges and toys to delight the hearts of the kiddies, carved by Labrador "uncles." What would a small boy or girl like? A polar bear or a reindeer dancing on a stick, all the way from the mystery land, where surely Santa Claus lets his reindeers roams at large in summer?

An opportunity will be afforded the London public to see these examples of the arts and crafts of the Labrador fisher folk on Wednesday afternoon next in the First Presbyterian Sunday school room, when they will be on display, and also on sale at a tea given by the London branch of the Grenfel mission. The boxes have been sent by the industrial branch of the mission, established some years ago for the purpose of giving the people of Labrador interesting diversion for the long winter evenings, and thereby affording them an opportunity of adding to their very slim incomes through the sale of their work.

Writing to the secretary of the London branch a day or so ago, Miss Warne of Ottawa, secretary for the Dominion, quotes a letter from Mrs. Wilfrid T. Grenfel, wife of the hero missionary, calling attention to the vast superiority of the work sent out this fall over that of some years ago.

Confessions of a Movie Star

CHAPTER 7.—THE VANISHING OF JIMMY ALCOTT

JIMMY Alcott was not a principal in the scandal. He was a victim. It came out gradually. Each day there were new details for the gossips.

A teller in his father's bank had absconded with thousands. Also, with Helen, Jimmy's only sister. And the worst of it was that Helen was a bride of a year.

Her husband had managed the Alcott quarries, shut down months since. And Alcott, Senior, was a ruined man.

Somehow I had a feeling that Jimmy ought to come to see Motherdear and me just because he needed sympathy. Every evening I put on a certain blue lawn which he admired.

Then came the news of the accident. James S. Alcott, senior, had gone over the edge of his biggest quarry in his automobile. And Jimmy Alcott was nowhere to be found. Jimmy often drove the big car because his father disliked driving.

Was it an accident?

The pond in the quarries was dragged for Jimmy's body. Nobody had seen the young man at the railroad station. Some said he had run away from disgrace.

Others said he hadn't run away—wasn't anything for him to run away from!

Motherdear and I couldn't think of Jimmy as a coward.

His own mother was dead, his sister gone, his father a suicide; eventually, what remained of the Alcott property would be sold for the benefit of the bank's creditors.

Plainly, there was nothing for Jimmy to run away from. But wasn't there something for him to come back to?

Well, there was I! Very much horrified and hurt!

Such were the visions which dissolved and redissolved under the tepid compresses on my eyelids after I had heard Dick Barnes' voice over the telephone.

I did not tell Motherdear of what I was thinking. It was too silly! And, of course, if Jimmy Alcott had come back, we could hear from him soon. He did not know that I was a movie actress, but he certainly would find us, by mail.

And if Jimmy ever came back, he would recognize my voice instantly over a phone, just as I would recognize him. And he would tell me so. The man who had been my good friend was the soul of honesty, of frankness.

Was Dick Barnes, the company's new bad man, as honest as his fine voice led me to hope? Curiosity added interest to the approaching rehearsal.

On the appointed day, my eyes being cured, I started for the studios.

I was anxious to be even earlier than usual in order to meet Dick Barnes before our work began, but my new chauffeur made some unnecessary detours, and I arrived late at the studios.

I sent up word to my director, Demaison, to go ahead and get ready to shoot. I would be on the set promptly at 9. There were extras on the set. Extras are expensive. Time was valuable.

I had to hurry, so that I actually forgot that I was going to play opposite Dick Barnes.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

ASKIN STREET MISSION CIRCLE.

The monthly meeting of the Junior Mission Circle of Askin Street Methodist Church, was held at the home of Miss Miriam Pearson, Evergreen avenue, this week, Mrs. H. Childs gave a very interesting address on "The Life of the Hindu Children." Little talks were also given by various members of the circle on the missionaries in foreign fields. Miss Adeline Orchard gave several delightful piano solos. After the meeting a dainty supper was served.

HELD MASQUERADE.

A jolly masquerade was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Butterworth, Hamilton road, by the members of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Choir and Young People. The house was effectively decorated with Halloween colors, and jack o' lanterns were to be seen everywhere. The costumes were clever and original, the prizes being carried off by Mr. "Scoop" Jackson, who dressed as Mary Pickford, and Mrs. Christianson, as Sherlock Holmes. During the evening a delightful program was given, several solos being sung by Mrs. Herb Barrows, and readings by Mrs. Pellow.

HALLOWEEN BAZAAR.

A very successful bazaar was held in the kindergarten of the Simcoe Street School yesterday afternoon, when the mothers' club of that school raised a large sum of money towards their fund for the Sick Children's Hospital. The room was attractive with Halloween decorations, the various booths being decked with pumpkins and gay streamers. Delightful music was suplied during the afternoon by an orchestra. Mrs. E. Dayton was general convener. Mrs. John Curnoe was in charge of the candy counter, Mrs. J. Coyle of the home-made cooking, Mrs. Edworthy of the fancywork booth, Mrs. W. Hortley of the aprons, Mrs. J. Bernhart of the hankies, Mrs. J. Mitchell of the ice cream counter and Mrs. W. Ford of the tea-room.

ECHO CLUB CELEBRATES.

The Echo Club of the Y. W. C. A., under the direction of Miss Edith Plewes, is planning a very special Halloween banquet for Monday evening.

ST. JAMES L. A. AND CHOIR.

A supper and concert will be given by the Ladies' Aid and choir of the New St. James' Presbyterian Church on the evening of Nov. 1. The choir will be assisted with their program by the Harmonic Male Quartet, also by Mr. Chas. Jolley, Mr. Keith McDonald, Miss Stella Doan, Miss M. Corbin of Toronto. Solos will be given by Mrs. S. Schofield, Mr. Frank McCutcheon. Mr. G. L. Winterbottom will be the musical director. Supper will be served by the Ladies' Aid from 6 to 8:30. It is expected that there will be a large attendance.

UNION PRESIDENT OFFICIATES.

Mrs. Rose, president of the Union Mothers' Club, officially opened the bazaar given by the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club last evening. The school room was bright with Halloween decorations, and autumn foliage, with the gay costumes of the children made a colorful scene. The large sum of money realized will go towards the club's fund for the Sick Children's Hospital. During the evening several pretty dances were given by Miss Marjorie Taylor and Miss Peggy Robinson. Mrs. Frank Dowell was general convener, with Mrs. Tutt and Mrs. Moyer in charge of the white elephant booth, Mrs. Hilbert and Mrs. Peters, the home-made cooking; Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Rawlings, the home-made candy; Mrs. Dowding and Mrs. Ross, the ice cream; Mrs. Stein and Mrs. Butterworth, the fancy work department; Mrs. Holly and Mrs. W. McFarlane, the ready-to-wear; Mrs. Patten and Mrs. Hudder, the country store.

APPOINTED A COMMITTEE

It was decided at a special meeting yesterday, held to discuss the founding of a hostel for the homeless, unemployed, aged or convalescent, who have no place to go after leaving the hospitals, that a committee be appointed to present the case before the Social Service Council at their next meeting. This committee will obtain all the data necessary from the various institutions, such as under what conditions patients are admitted to these homes. In the meantime, the Convalescent Home on York street has offered to harbor for a period of not more than three weeks any cases that may come up. Mrs. Joseph Marshall, who was in the chair, was appointed by the Local Council of Women last week to call this meeting, at which various institutions were represented.

HOLD MUSICAL AND TEA.

The musical and tea given by the Soldiers' Wives' League yesterday afternoon was a decided success. At the opening the members stood in silence in memory of the late Lady Beck, who was honorary president of the league. The rooms were most attractive with brilliant colored autumn foliage, the tea table being most effectively decked with baby 'mums and snapdragon. The general convener of the affair was Mrs. A. A. Campbell. The tea room was in charge of Mrs. J. E. Wylie, with Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Becher and Mrs. E. H. Young pouring. Mrs. Cameron Wilson, Mrs. W. G. Coles and Mrs. Archie Becher invited to the tea room, while Mrs. Gordon Edgecombe, Miss Ora White, Mrs. Sid. Rankin, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Cuncliffe assisted in serving. An attractive musical program was arranged by Mrs. McKay, those taking part were Miss Abbott, Miss Jones and Mrs. Arthur Chapman, who gave delightful solos, with Miss Gladys Eudie accompanying. The proceeds of the sale will go towards the general funds and relief work.

Mrs. W. A. McCrimmon and Mrs. Mercer were conveners of the candy table, and Mrs. C. M. R. Graham was in charge of the cakes.

RECEIVES A DONATION.

The secretary of the Women's Christian Association received from the executors of the will of the late Miss Annie Meredith the generous gift of $400. The association is very grateful for this donation, $200 of which is to go to the Victoria Home, and $200 to the Aged People's Home.

Black and White Latest in Umbrellas

[BY MARIONI HALE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—This season's umbrellas show the change of fashion in the handles since the small combination sun and rain umbrella, suspended on the wrist by a strap, gave way to bigger proportions last year.

The dress umbrella, such as one carries with a fur coat or a smart wrap, is done with exquisite detail.

The handle of the wood stick ending in the stub ferrule, is combined of carved bakalite and wood. The tips are of bakalite. This Franklin Simon umbrella is in all colors.

Black and white are the mode in dress umbrella—white bakalite upon which black bakalite is applied in designs, being the very latest.

A novelty Franklin Simon umbrella has a vanity case, powder puff and mirror in the top of the handle.

Aid Gives Harp Stop As Dr. Ross Memorial.

As a memorial to the former well-beloved minister, the late Rev. Dr. James Ross, the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church has decided to make the gift of a harp stop for the organ. Plans will be carried out in the immediate future, and it is hoped to have the stop installed in time for the Christmas musical services. The announcement is creating much interest, not only among members of the congregation but throughout London, of which Dr. Ross was an outstanding and honored citizen. His death occurred eight years ago, owing to an accident in New York, where he had gone for a few days in connection with business for the London Public Library Board, of which he was a member.

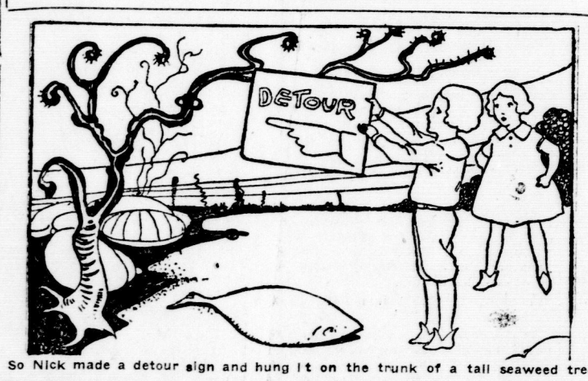
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

THE DETOUR SIGN

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]



So Nick made a detour sign and hung it on the trunk of a tall seaweed tree.

FLATTY FLOUNDER said he was going to sleep, and he did. He lay over on one of his little white sides and closed his eyes, although you could only see one of them, the one on top. That was the last thing he would and did say, and the fairyman and the Twins might just as well have tried to get the Sphinx to talk as that lazy flounder boy. And dear knows, the Sphinx never did talk, and it isn't going to begin now!

The three of them stood by, looking and looking and wondering what to do. Curly, the sea-horse, said he was too disgusted for words, and I suppose the rest were too.

Everywhere around, the fishes, crabs, lobsters and all kinds of Wigglefin people were waiting for a chance to get by. The Cross Roads were very narrow, what with rocks and seaweed and everything. Not that the fishes couldn't swim right over the top of Fatty—my, no! But would they? Wasn't anyone of them likely to stop and eat up Flatty quicker 'n' Mr. Frog can gobble up Buddy Blue Bottle?

"Well, well!" sighed Cap'n Pennywinkle finally, "Nick, you'll have to hang up a detour sign and make 'em all go 'round. This fellow is here to stay. I suppose we may as well pull the covers up and let him alone."

So Nick made a detour sign and hung it on the trunk of a tall seaweed tree, where everyone could see, and the Wigglefin people all moved off very reluctantly in that direction. It was just as though Johnny Jones had taken a notion to rest his tired little bones right in the middle of traffic at the corner of Main and State streets or where Forty-second street crosses Fifth avenue, only worse, for in that case the traffic policeman could call a patrol wagon and have Johnny hauled off to his own house and put to bed properly. Nobody could pick Flatty up. He was too slippery!

Personals

Mrs. Walter Hungerford received yesterday for the first time since moving to her home in Wellington street.

Mr. Gerald Jordan is home from Appleby School, Oakville, and will spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jordan.

Mrs. A. E. McKay and Miss Mae Brooks of Coldstream will be in the city next week to attend the Women's Institute convention.

Mrs. Gordon L. Jepson will receive on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 2, at her residence, 390 Colborne street, and thereafter on the first Wednesday of each month.

Mrs. Richard Cronyn was a tea hostess on Wednesday last, entertaining the members of the gift shop committee of the Cronyn Memorial Church bazaar to be held next week. Final arrangements were made for the booth.

Miss Muriel Hockney, who is to be married next month, received a handsome reading lamp and silver tea service from her fellow-employees at the London Printing and Lithographing Co. The presentation was made by Mr. Alex. Henderson.

Mrs. MacBurney was the hostess of a dinner party on Thursday evening at her home in Richmond street, when she entertained the wedding parties of the Evans—Holliday and Wolf—MacBurney weddings. The table was effectively decorated and covers were laid for sixteen. A theatre party followed.

The choir of Centennial Methodist Church are holding their annual concert on Tuesday evening, Nov. 1st, when music lovers are promised a great treat. The choir will be assisted by Miss Jessie Irving, elocutionist of Hamilton, and Mr. George Carrie, tenor of St. Thomas and London. In addition the program will include several selections by the choir and soloist, Mrs. Hayward.

The Hodoo Tuxis Club of the Y. M. C. A. and the Ahmeeks Tuxis of Knox Church held an enjoyable masquerade last night at the Institute of Musical Art. The hall was gay with Halloween decorations and the bright costumes of the guests. A delightful supper was served, the tables being attractive with bright flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence received the guests, assisted by Messrs. Warner, McTavish, Higgins and Russell.

"Oakhurst School," the annex of the Institute of Musical Art, was a veritable woodland scene last evening, when the pupils held a Halloween party in the form of a masquerade. The schoolrooms were transformed into forest nooks by gay autumn foliage, with spooky jack o' lanterns peering from the corners. In the centre of one room, showed a huge camp-fire, beside which sat a gypsy telling the future of all who asked. The decorations were due to Miss Peggy Lyne-Evans, Miss Isabel McCrimmon, Miss Betty Farncombe and Miss Lorraine Abbott. Miss Mary Manley, principal of the school, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Nichol. A delightful supper was served from tables bright with Halloween decorations and autumn flowers.

"SIT BY MY FIRE," "Y" TELLS LONELY

The girl who is a stranger in the city, the young woman who is making her way in the world away from her "ain folk," living in a boarding or rooming-house, is very specially in the minds of the Y. W. C. A. workers, who are arranging the first Sunday afternoon home hour of the season for tomorrow from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock, at the King street residence, "Lenmore."

There'll be glowing open fires, a very warm welcome, a program provided by the federation of clubs, tea served by the religious education committee of the association, an opportunity of meeting congenial friends. Afterwards, those who wish to do so may linger to chat by the fireside till church time, when new girl acquaintances will be prepared to take them to the church of their denomination or choice. Mrs. Mattie Rose Crawford, secretary of industrial and extension work, expresses her hope that many strangers, many girls who find Sunday the lonellest day in all the week, will accept the press notice as an invitation to attend.

The "home hours" will be continued through the winter, various church clubs and organizations assisting in making them a success.

WESTERN ONTARIO WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Address News For This Column to The Editor of Woman's Page.

Appin Women's Institute at the October meeting held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Dan McColl, arranged for the purchase of a community hall and restroom for the institute. Committees were appointed, and hopes are entertained that the institute home will soon be an accomplished fact. Application is being made for the nursing course provided by the department, and those interested in nursing are looking forward eagerly to enrolling. Forty members of an enrollment of sixty-five attended the October meeting, as well as a number of visitors. The program for the November meeting will include reports of the Western Ontario convention, followed by a question drawer on the convention work.

Miss Matta Tuckey was the guest of honor at a shower given by the Gold-Creek Community Club, Lobo, Miss Tuckey receiving a full kitchen equipment of aluminum. Another shower was also given in her honor by the young people of the First Baptist Church, at which she received many lovely gifts.

Woodstock Collegiate Medium of Technical Squad's Second Victory

SLASHINC 4TH QUARTER FOLLOWS LISTLESS MIX

Game Full of Fumbles and Half-Hearted Bucks, Gave Way To Some Real Last-Quarter Rugby.

London Technical School won their second game in the Oxford and Middlesex Rugby Union when they defeated the Woodstock Collegiate team at Tecumseh Park Friday afternoon, 12 to 6. The game was listless until the last quarter when both teams put their all into the game. Captain Geo. Loveless, Phil Birch, Appleford and "Soup" Upthergrove played a splendid game. King and McMillan for the visitors featured in several of Woodstock's good plays. Both teams fumbled the ball considerably, and this helped to slow up play.

During the first four minutes of play Woodstock bucked their way to within five yards of London's five, but lost the ball when they attempted to make a rouge. London let the ball get away from them after two formations, and in Woodstock's first down they kicked over London's line. Capt. Loveless was playing for the kick, but fumbled the ball and Woodstock got their only touchdown. London got a range after two minutes of the second quarter had elapsed.

From the time Woodstock scored until five minutes of the third quarter had passed, neither teams played good rugby. Woodstock's bucks were poor, and London failed to gain very much on their attempts at the same game.

This Started Things.

Appleford started things humming in the third quarter when he carried the ball from the centre of the field to within ten yards of Woodstock's line. It was a splendid run, and he went through practically the whole of the visiting line. In the formation that followed, Casselman kicked for a rouge, but the ball was returned. Appleford took the ball and made a side run for Woodstock's line, but was stopped when almost over. Loveless, Birch and Appleford formed a bucking line and put the ball over for the locals' first touchdown.

Life seemed to spring up in the London team after this. Capt. Loveless made a 75-yard run and put aside the whole forward line of Woodstock's team in doing so. He was stunned slightly when stopped, but he continued. Upthergrove started some good tackling after this and kept it up until the game finished.

Still More Lively.

When the third quarter ended London was stationed within fifteen yards of Woodstock's line. Loveless kicked for a rouge. Birch followed the ball and tackled King so hard that the ball was jarred from his hands. Birch dived for the ball and hugged it tight for another touchdown. As an "eleventh hour" play, Woodstock forged their way towards London's line, and McMullen kicked over a rouge.

TEAMS ALL FIT FOR CRUCIAL CLASHES

Thomas Quits Rough Riders in Huff On Eve of Argo Visit.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—Ottawas finished their hard work for the Argonaut game last night. The final workout developed somewhat of a mild sensation, when it was reported that Bud Thomas, star tackler of the red, white and blue, had turned in his gear and remarked that he would not play Saturday. The affair is stated to have resulted from some trivial misunderstanding around the dressing-room, and it is hoped that Bud will be on the job for Saturday's game.

All of the back division are wearing chamois shields on their sweaters. It is a great aid in catching.

McGILL CONFIDENT.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—Members of the McGill rugby squad left for Toronto this morning on the International Limited. The team, despite the fact that two or three of its members received minor injuries in their practices during the week, is in good condition, and one and all are optimistic over the result of tomorrow's crucial match with Varsity.

AND EVEN M. A. A. A.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—With a light workout today the M. A. A. A. squad will conclude its preparations for the Hamilton Tiger game, scheduled for the Westmount gridiron Saturday afternoon. McGill and Foster will both be likely contestants in Saturday's game. Bill Sharpe was in uniform and will be found at his old place at center half. With him on the back line will be Thomson and Gardner. Gordie Findlay will be the likely player for the quarter position.

DeGruchy's Torontos in Petrolea Today.

PETROLEA, Oct. 28.—Last year's Senior O. R. F. U. champions, the Torontos, will play an exhibition game in Petrolea on Saturday. As the winner of the Sarnia-Petrolea-Wallaceburg group is generally regarded as the probable winner of the O. R. F. U. intermediate series, this match will create considerable interest, as showing the relative strength of the senior and intermediate teams in the O. R. F. U. Torontos, through ill-luck have been nosed out of the senior championship by Parkdale, but much doubt has arisen as to the relative merits of these two teams. The Queen City aggregation will present its strongest team, and an interesting game is assured.

P. U.'S ELEVEN PRESENTED WITH MEMORIAL CUP

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Y. M. C. A. Friday Evening.

The Public Utilities soccer team, champions of the City League and the L. and D., were presented with the Memorial Cup last night in the Y. M. C. A. Matt Morgan, president of the league, and a member of the L. and D. council, made the presentation. Manager Tommy Hodkinson received the cup on behalf of his team. Individual medals were presented the members of the team. They are: J. Smith, A. Ince, C. Dennis, A. Hunt, J. Short, A. Whitworth, D. Smith, Hazelwood, Ridley, Moore, Leigh, Clark, Johnson, Herring and Barrett.

BRITISH GOLF STYLE CONSISTENCY ITSELF

George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, the great English golfing pros, are going home. Their footprints on the greens of American show what is meant by consistent English golf.

Their games were no exhibition, nothing tricky, there was no holeing out in one on a 400-yard fairway with the eyes shut, there was nothing but GOLF, the kind of golf that only England knows.

They played 105 rounds, crowding it into 96 days, traveled many thousand miles and in that short time exchanged putts with the greatest of our amateurs and profesionals for fifty-two victories and seventeen defeats.

Record Broken.

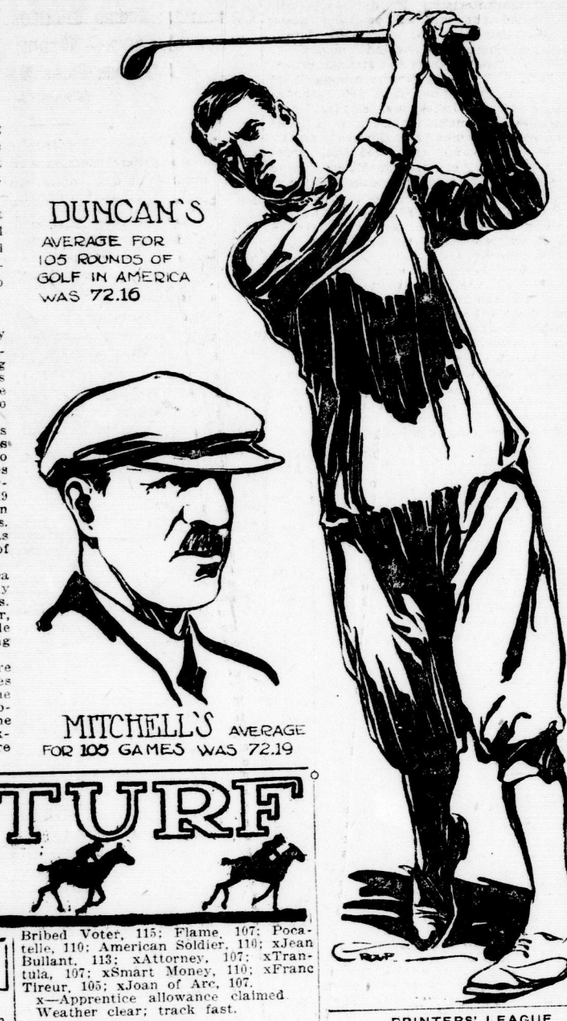
It is true that Ted Ray and Harry Vardon, in their driving tour of America last year, piled up an imposing score for 18-hole matches, but this average cannot be pitted against the consistency of the late tourists, who played their games in 36 holes.

The superior quality of golf by this famous team has left broken records on eight courses and in the fifty-two matches they have individual scores of 70 or better. Duncan's grand average for the trip was 72.16 against 72.19 of Mitchell's. On more than fourteen courses they equalled the club records. This swinging record of the Britons has never been equalled on either side of the water.

Their first feat on reaching America was to defeat Hutchinson and their only defeats were at the hands of amateurs.

Duncan, who played here last year, was surprised to find the great stride the Americans could make in perfecting courses in a single year.

"American courses," said Duncan, "are getting nearer every year to the ones of England, in the perfecting of the fairways and greens, and my only objection is to the smoothness of some courses. They lack in traps and bunkers to make the game a little more interesting."



FIRST GAME OF CUP TIE FINALS HAS BOARDS TODAY

Just Between Us

By C.S.S.

Last year it was timidly suggested that if enough money was raised by private subscription the city might be logically asked to pass a bylaw which would help London get an arena. This didn't have any other effect than calling up a vision to some of the committee of themselves being burned at the stake by an irate and howling mob of already overburdened taxpayers of ye ancient borough. Yet Galt took the chance, and the ratepayers of Canada's Manchester didn't stage any lynchings.

It's getting too late now to do anything, though the proposition seemed at one time during last winter near a solution. If the committee could go on from that point right now an arena could be a reality by the first two weeks in December. Unfortunately, the committee would likely have to start out over a lot of the old trail again.

There's a lot of difference in the population of Galt and London, and the casual observer might have a sneaking idea that there is a lot of difference in the sporting spirit.

* * * *

Isn't it funny how most of these fellows who step out and become heroes in the sporting world so soon get the "big I and little You idea"?

There's Babe Ruth, for example, telling Judge Landis, the czar of baseball, what he ought to do, and what Babe himself will do in case Landis doesn't take his advice.

Ty Cobb, even in 1912 one of the most popular diamond stars in the game, thought the fans would back him up when he went into the grandstand in New York and beat up a man using abusive language. But fans howled for punishment—and Cobb drew a 10-day suspension and a $100 fine.

The Detroit team figured a sympathetic strike for Cobb would get public backing. But fans yelped 'em down, broke the strike in two days—and $100 fines were slapped on every player.

The best lesson Mr. Ruth and all other stars can learn is to get the low down on just how far they can go—and stop there!

* * * *

He stood upon the brink of fame,
The stands resounding with his name;
And then—
There came the quarter's barking call
And he knew HE would get the ball.
And then—
The ball snapped back—a mighty cheer
Rang in the hero's offside ear
And then—
With gritted teeth he vowed he'd make
A touch-down for his rep's at stake
And then—
He charged ahead into the brawl
But missed the pass and—Well, that's all.

* * *

Irwin M. Howe, statistician of the American League, gives Ty Cobb a percentage of .390, while Harry Heilman, his hired man, is given .387, a clear three-point deficit. Al Munro Elias, another record-hound, however, gives Heilman a lead of three-thousandths of a point over Cobb. Both give Cobb the same number of times at bat and hits, but when they come to Heilman they disagree. Munro made the prized discovery that Heilman had made two more hits than Cobb, hence the fractional headache.

These experts have probably gone astray because some official scorer at one of the parks in the American circuit was looking at things differently than the other scorers that day. Or probably the fielder was an enemy of his. It's hard to get away from the human factor.

* * *

The Reds are supposed to have picked Mineral Springs for a training camp. If George M. Cohan buys an interest in them, they'll likely train on Broadway.

* * *

A Curse on Landis' Fines.

Judge Landis fined the Standard Oil twenty-eight million dollars. And the people who use coaloil paid it.

He'll likely fine Babe Ruth a couple thousand and the two jolly colonels of the Yanks, Ruppert and Huston, will do the paying.

LEWIS MAKES FIRST STEP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, in his first step to regain the title from Stanislau Zbyszko, will meet Joe Polk, inter-allied champion, in a catch-as-catch-can bout here next Thursday. It will be the first bout in New York under the new rules, which prohibit all punishing holds.

These McGill Freshies Bound To See It.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Oct. 28.—Covered with soot and clad in overalls, two McGill freshmen were removed from the coal pile on the tender of the locomotive on the arrival of the international limited here today by Grand Trunk police. The youths were beating their way to Toronto to attend the Varsity game. Coach Frank Shaughnessy, Captain Anderson and students on the train took up a collection to defray the freshmen's fares to Toronto, and they were then allowed to proceed.

LOTS OF FEELING OVER MEETING

P. U.'s Called To Beat W. O. R.'s in Close Decision.

The cup tie series has managed to work up quite a bit of feeling for the finals, and the first clash between W. O. R. and Public Utilities this afternoon at Tecumseh Park, is sure to bring out a big bunch of partisan supporters.

Public Utilities have made such a triumphant march through the local football ranks this season, that naturally a lot of support is with any team opposing them. Football is probably the least inconsistent of games, but nevertheless, even some football teams get away from their real form, and W. O. R. supporters are asking for just a little bit of this kind of luck this afternoon.

Will Tell Tale.

Today's game will determine the winner practically, though there are two games in the finals, the next one billed for a week from today. If Public Utilities win the McCutcheon Cup this year again, they will have completed the most successful season ever played by any team in London's soccer history. Not successful so much in a financial way as in bringing some high-class teams to the city and giving Londoners a chance to see better football than they ever witnessed before.

The curtain raiser in the shape of a schoolboy international between Canada and England, should prove a novelty, and officials of the league hope that the fans will get there for this fixture, partly because they'll see some good football, but mostly as an encouragement to the youngsters.

Geo. Maines Passes Up London For Hamilton As Meeting Place

George Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario League, still likes London like mice get chummy with a cat. Georgius Firstus loves London so well that he won't even risk inconveniencing the city to the extent of being host of the annual meeting of the league. Hamilton draws this luscious melon, according to one of the latest and most up-to-date bulletins emanating from league headquarters in Flint. It is scheduled for Nov. 5 and 6 at the Connaught Hotel.

Requested Meeting.

Some time ago President Heard asked the other directors of the league that the president be asked to call a meeting for London. Whether or not the other directors expressed a wish for the meeting to be held in London is not known, but whether they did or not, the Frexy chose Hamilton. And what the Frexy chooses goes—for another couple of weeks anyway.

The business of the meeting will consist of awarding the 1921 pennant to London, winding up the official business of the year and presenting a detailed report of the circuit's doings during the season just passed.

HOLDER TOP SHAVING STICK

The Perpetual Stick in the "Holder that Holds"

THE metal box top or holder is screwed onto the threaded metal collar on the end of the stick. That means metal to metal—a dead sure hold. The stick never loosens, wobbles or breaks. It stays.

Then when the soap is all used, get a Re-Load stick and, with a mere turn of the wrist, put it in the original box. This convenience and absolute economy with perfect simplicity makes Williams' Holder Top the natural choice of all stick users.

To describe the remarkable lather of this wonderful stick, the lather that not only softens the hair but also softens and lubricates the skin, would be to tell the world what the world already knows and has acknowledged.

DECLARES SELF-DETERMINATION RUNS RIOT IN CENTRAL EUROPE

GIBBS CLAIMS PRINCIPLE HAS BEEN OVERDONE

ON "SLEEPLESS SLEEPER"

Sees Many British Uniforms in Armies of New Nations.

[By Sir Philip Gibbs.]

RIGA, via London, Oct. 29.—I have just made a journey from Berlin through East Prussia, and the Polish corridor, to Danzig, and thence through Lithuania and Latvia to Riga. This journey only takes two days and nights from Berlin, but one passes across four frontiers of little nations created by the peace treaty of Versailles, so jealous of their right of self-determination that no stranger may pass without their Government stamp on his passport, which wastes much time and nerve strain in the ante-chambers of officialdom, while customs barriers have been erected between one country and another, and hordes of officials are paid to harass traders and travelers.

The guard of the train which comes from Ostend to Riga is a man of international character, speaking, it seemed to me, every known tongue, and many that are unknown. He also has a malicious sense of humor regarding the self-determination of nations, and before I turned into bed the first night he delivered himself briefly of a cynical philosophy.

"This is Woodrow Wilson's train," he said. "Owing to his love of liberty and small peoples you pay for a sleeping carriage, but do not sleep. At 2 o'clock in the morning you are turned out on the platform of the Polish corridor, where your bags are examined and your life endangered by the night winds. No sooner do you go to bed again than the Polish officers wake you up for a fresh examination. So it goes on from one country to another until you are tired of self-determination, which has destroyed individual liberty and common sense."

So, indeed, it happened, and one's attempts at slumber were rudely broken by German, Polish, Lithuanian and Lettish officers, who were deeply suspicious of toilet articles, insisted upon opening paper parcels containing Dutch cheese or second-best boots, became excited at the sight of a typewriter, for which they demanded immediate blood money, and who were ruthless with any traveler who had failed to get the necessary passport visa for any one of five nations. Out he was turned to go back to Berlin and repair his error.

At the East Prussian frontier German officials demanded knowledge of one's wealth or poverty, and refused permission for more than 1,000 marks to be taken across the frontier. I was being marched off to deposit a small bundle of English bank notes, which I needed desperately for future travel, until my energetic protests and explanations rescued me from this forcible expropriation by the intervention of a high official.

Self-Determination Runs Wild.

All this annoyance has only one good result. It impresses one's mind with the farcical absurdity of self-determination run mad. I am all for liberty and local governance of small people, but not at the expense of free trade and free travel. This series of Chinese walls dividing European nationalities is a hark back in civilization, and not progress towards the unification of common interests and common needs.

During this journey the train stopped a long time at certain stations, and one had time to see something of the surrounding countryside, and to study the characteristics of the people who crowded the stations or went about their business in the neighborhood.

One observation which comes to every Englishman is the strange prevalence of British uniforms among these new nations. The Poles, the Lithuanians and the Letts have clothed their armies in British khaki, and it looks as though when the British armies were demobilized they sold their cast-off uniforms to Northern Europe. The effect is ludicrous on seeing pleasant types of Slavonic folk masquerading as Bairnsfather's "Old Bill," or Lithuanian and Lettish farmers in tunics, breeches and puttees cut after the fashion of British officers.

Heaven alone knows why these new little nations keep up standing armies or how they afford to do so. Everywhere one sees soldiers, who seem to spend most of their time in cafes and chocolate shops, while trade languishes and ports are idle. Germany's compulsory demobilization has been like a gift of the gods to ease her burden of defeat by giving back her men to industry.

Reconstruction in Germany.

I had but a brief glimpse of East Prussia, but enough to make a comparison between the reconstruction of war-damaged villages in France and Germany, if what I saw was typical.

When the Russians overran East Prussia before they were counter-attacked and driven back by von Hindenburg, they destroyed many towns and villages during their retreat. Among them was Eydtkuhnen, a village of 6,000 folk, who fled, and then on coming back found their homes and barns and public buildings in black ruin.

Now the little town is built up again, and when I was there a few days ago the last nails were being hammered in. It is beautifully done in the old German style, with red roofs and white walls, and I am told that all over East Prussia reconstruction has been completed.

I could not help comparing this with the devastated areas of France, where still little has been done. Leaving Germany behind, one leaves also German enterprise and energy and wealth. The new Baltic States of Lithuania and Latvia owed most of their prosperity to Germany on one side, and Russia on the other. Now the price of their independence is poverty and a lowered standard of life.

The peasants are doing pretty well, and the American relief administration, which was feeding 20,000 children in Lithuania and 40,000 in Latvia, is preparing to close down this work in a few months from now, as the people are better able to provide their own food. But commerce does not thrive.

Riga, which was a busy port before the war, does only half a petty trade, some few ships calling for timber in return mostly for German goods. The prices and taxes rise higher month by month, as travelers find to their loss, in restaurants and hotels, where there is a 15 per cent tax on all bills, which, apart from that, are twice as much as in Berlin.

With Russia there is beginning to be a renewal of trade in a small, petti-fogging way, since the Soviet Government's consent to private trading six months ago, confessing the utter breakdown of the communistic theory, and the inevitable return to capitalism.

Russians Open Posts.

The Russians have now opened six trading stations on the Latvian frontier, and something, but not much, is being done in the way of barter. In return for salt, boots and tobacco from the Russians there are peasant handicrafts, furniture, furs and assortments of odds and ends of marketable value.

Riga awaits the reopening of Russia, but without hope of quick progress in commerce. Meanwhile this city of the Baltic is chiefly interesting for the visitors, who are coming back from Russia with dreadful tales of famine, pestilence and death in the stricken areas. They are relief workers of American and British institutions, and American and British journalists.

The American relief administration is already sending 1,560 tons of food per week to the famine areas. Sixteen hundred tons would feed 1,000,000 children, Mr. Miller, chief of the American relief administration headquarters at Riga, tells me that the food is going through without convoys safely, without any theft whatever, and that the Soviet authorities are helping, and are honest in this respect.

Canadian Press Secures Accurate Information For Benefit of Electors—Wrong Christian Name or the Wrong Address Does Not Necessarily Prevent One From Exercising Franchise.

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—By Canadian Press.—In a general election when there are a number of new voters, who have not before exercised their franchise, there is usually more or less doubt in their minds as to the procedure to be followed on their arrival at a polling place, in order that their ballots may not be wasted.

For that reason, and in view of the fact that this year's general election will see, as voters, a great number of women voters who have never previously marked a ballot paper, it is perhaps fitting to describe what is necessary on the part of the voter who presents himself or herself at a polling station to vote for the candidate of his or her choice.

It is important to remember that in urban polling districts the only persons who may vote are those whose names are included in the list of voters on polling day. The procedure by which names may be placed on the lists, or other names struck off, has already been explained. In rural districts names may be added to the list on polling day, where the requirements of the act are complied with, that is the would-be voter must be sworn and must also be vouched for by someone whose name is on the list.

The wrong Christian name or the misspelling of a voter's surname, or the wrong designation, or the wrong number of the voter's lot or property, are not sufficient to justify the returning officer in refusing that voter a ballot, as long as the voter can swear that he or she is the person designated on the list. If a voter has been personated, that is, someone else has voted by claiming to be the voter in question, that voter may still obtain a ballot on taking the oath that he is the person properly entitled to vote. If a voter spoils his ballot he is entitled to receive a new one, the spoiled ballot being destroyed, and the deputy returning officer making a note of it.

Interpreter Is Provided.

If a voter cannot understand English he is entitled to have an interpreter sworn to explain the oaths, etc., to him. If a voter, however, once refuses to take the oath he cannot again be admitted to vote. In this case the deputy returning officer is required to enter in the poll book the notation, "Refused to be sworn."

Once a voter receives a ballot from the deputy returning officer he has a right to use it, whether he has been sworn or not, and cannot be sworn once he has got the ballot.

Once the ballot has been received it is important to remember that the following methods of marking ballots are good:

1. With a proper cross with a black lead pencil on any part within the white space containing the name of the candidate.
2. An irregular or awkward mark in the nature of a cross, so long as it does not lose the form of a cross, and the lines cross at any point.
4. An irregular mark in the figure of a cross, so long as it does not lose the form of a cross.
5. A cross with a line before it.
6. A cross rightly placed with two additional crosses, one across the candidate's name and the other to the left.
7. A double cross or two crosses.
8. Ballot paper inadvertently torn.
9. Inadvertent marks in addition to the cross.

However, while all these markings are good, and will not result in the ballot being rejected, it is much safer and simpler to mark the ballot paper with an unmistakable cross, opposite the name of the candidate for whom the voter wishes to vote.

Ballots are bad which are marked as follows, it is pointed out by an authority on the election act:

1. A single stroke instead of a cross.
2. Two single strokes not crossing.
3. A ballot with the candidate's name written thereon in addition to the cross.
4. Ballots marked with a number of lines.
5. Ballots with a cross for each candidate.
6. All ballots on which there is any writing or mark by which the voter can be identified.

Marked With Secrecy.

The procedure for the voter to follow on reaching the polling station is simple. At the door of the station his or her name will be checked on the list by one of the agents posted there. Then, on entering the voter must give his or her address to the deputy returning officer or poll clerk, who will run through the list, and see that the voter is entitled to a ballot. That formality complied with, and everything being in order, the voter will be handed a ballot paper and given instructions as to how it is to be marked, by the returning officer. Then he or she will be shown to a room or compartment where the ballot can be marked with secrecy.

Then, having marked the ballot as he or she desires, the voter will return to the outer room, handed the ballot properly folded to the deputy returning officer, who will tear off the counterfoil and place the ballot in the ballot box.

The voter, having thus exercised his or her franchise, is then required to leave the polling station.

SAYS WORLD IS LOOKING TO U. S. AND GT. BRITAIN

OXFORD, Eng., Oct. 28.—Dr. Stephen Leacock, head of the department of political economy in McGill University at Montreal, Que., told the members of the British-American Union in an address here today that the British and American people should have a better knowledge of each other, maintain more sympathetic personal relations, if a British-American Union, without pledge or compact, is to become a fact.

He declared that the time for a "parliament of man" and "federation of the world" was not yet. "The League of Nations, though it may contain within it the seeds of future concord, cannot serve as yet as a shield against aggression and injustice," he affirmed. "The principal hope of the world is to be sought in the continued friendship of Britain and America.

"The vast communities of peoples gathered nuder the British and American flags represent an organization of power easily superior to any force that could conceivably be brought against it. Where these two nations lead the world must follow. Peace and war lie in their hands.

Need Union of Sympathy.

"On the other hand, disagreement between Britain and America spells ruin—not only for themselves but for the world. So great is the power of each that war between them could mean nothing but mutual destruction. Neither could conquer; both must fall.

"The efforts of every honest citizen should be bent towards the maintenance of peaceful relations and mutual understanding. There is no question here of union in the narrower sense, of federation in its organic form. A century and a half ago it might have been. But the page is written and cannot be blotted out.

"But for the more real form of union there is still ample need and opportunity. The basis is there in a common speech, a common literature and a common tradition. To a great extent the tie of a common descent still holds. The union that is needed is not one that is contrived with pen and ink and written on a scrap of paper but the union that reflects an understanding and a common purpose, a union of sympathy and not of symbols.

"To my thinking, the best and truest means of union is to be sought in enlightment. Our quarrels in the past have arisen from our lack of knewledge of one another, our inability, through ignorance, to share one another's point of view. For this the remedy is better knowledge. The more we can interchange our thoughts, the more certain are we of agreement. As far as possible, we should seek to share one another's ideas, through books, through the press, through the drama.

Must Know One Another.

"We should facilitate in every way the sympathetic relations of our great universities. Harvard should come to Oxford and Oxford in return should come and sit among the elm trees of Cambridge, in Massachusetts, listening. There should be between Britain and America a constant and perpetual interchange, a sort of tidal ebb and flow, of all that makes for scholarship and literature. Much is already done. But much remains. In business men have long since found out that the personal relation is everything. We must apply the same to our political relations. We must not rely upon conclaves of cabinets and congressmen. We must know one another. In the face of such knowledge ill-will will vanish, and British-American union, without bond or pledge or contract, will become a fact."

REPORTS GERMANY IS REGAINING HER TRADE

Hamburg Harbor Statistic Indicate Traffic Is Increasing.

HAMBURG, Oct. 28. — Germany's ocean freight-carrying trade is making steady progress toward regaining its pre-war volumne. Harbor statistics indicate that the aggregate tonnage of vessels using this port have reached 80 per cent of the peace traffic.

Announcement of steamers bought back from former enemy powers follow each other in rapid succession, and harbor facilities are already proving insufficient to accommodate the growing traffic, now that big plants, such as Krupps and Erhardts, which formerly manufactured war material, are turning out peace goods in great quantities for overseas consumption.

Shipping authorities are urging the revival of ambitious pre-war plans for harbor extensions, on the ground that with the rapidly-increasing export trade the port will in two years' time be far too small, and freight business will be lost to Scandinavian ports.

Germans expect the South American trade especially to take a big impetus early next year, when the new Hamburg-South American Company's liners will be placed in commission.

Besides the Hamburg-America Company's new liners Bayern, Hansa and Wurtemberg, three 12,000-ton passenger and freight steamers will be placed in the North American service by the North German Lloyd of Bremen, to be followed by the 30,000-tonner, Hindenburg, now being completed. New services are also being planned by both the Hamburg and Bremen companies to the Far East.

A DESIRE TO EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Stomachs Can Be Restored to a Healthy Condition.

Not to be limited in diet, but to eat whatever he pleases is the dream of every dyspeptic. No one can honestly promise to restore any stomach to this happy condition, because all people cannot eat the same things with equally satisfactory results. But it is possible to so tone up the digestive organs that a pleasing diet may be selected from articles of food that cause no discomfort.

When the stomach lacks tone there is no quicker way to restore it than to build up the blood. Good digestion without rich, red blood is impossible, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer the best way to enrich the blood. For this reason these pills are especially good in stomach trouble attended by thin blood, and in attacks of nervous dyspepsia. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of indigestion is given by Mr. John A. McDonald, Tarbot, N. S., who says: "Every sufferer from indigestion has my heartfelt sympathy, as I was once myself a bond slave to it. Eating at all became a trial, and as the time went on I became a mere skeleton of my former self. I took all sort of recommended medicines, doctors' and advertised, but to no avail. Then a friend said to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a box and I thought before they were done I could feel a change. Then I got six boxes more, and by the time they were used I was eating my meals with regularity and enjoyment. My general health is now good, and it is no wonder that I am an enthusiastic advocate of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

An Interview With Chaplin On the Movies and Europe

[By James W. Dean.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—"Well, Charlie, old sock, how'd you like London Bridge?" I says as I sits down to hearts of lettuce and broken breasts of chicken with Charlie Chaplin at the Blitmore.

"It's still falling down," says Charlie "And I understand you're to be made an earl or a lord or something," I continues.

"Oh, Lord! Chaplin," he answers. I don't know whether he means yes or no by that, but I goes on with the chatter.

"I hear you been looking up your family tree," I remarks.

"Not much. I might find weakly roots," Charlie replies.

"Anyway, you're at the top of the tree," I says, thinking that flattery will unloosen him for a column or two.

"Yes, and the top is a point and it's doggone hard work sittin' there," is his comeback.

"How do your feet get that way?" I asks.

"By contract," he answers.

That stumps me and so I go into the polite vernacular for an interview with Mr. Charles Chaplin, the most famous man in the world. The following statement by Chaplin is built from answers to a number of questions.

American Films Too Simple.

"Europe looks upon the American pictures as being too simple, child-like puerile. They are tired of bedroom and pantry pictures, this sex triangle and sweetie sweet stuff. They say they are sick of maudlin sentiment.

"The Europeans say the American psychology lacks subtlety. They believe they tell the truth in pictures, that they paint life as it really is.

"They believe, over in Europe, that their pictures have the stories and that ours have better technique. There is much in that point of view.

"I shall write my own story for my next picture. I do not believe any story can be transferred to the screen without losing much of its merit.

"The photoplay must create its own art. Writing for the screen will develop into a distinct field for writers.

"Censorship would not harm the photoplay if it did not harm truth. Let us present life as it is, with its joys and its sorrows, its goodness and its sins. If it's the truth, morals will take care of themselves.

"I always welcome intelligent criticism of my work. I find some of it very helpful.

Doesn't Stoop to Audience.

"Producers have been wrong in their attitude of stopping to the level of the audience. The intelligence of the photoplay patron is much higher than it is credited with being by many in the film business.

"I have found that when I have pleased myself with my acting, have done what I wanted to do for the sake of art alone, I have pleased my audiences.

"I do not think I'll ever return to the stage. It places the actor in too intimate a position with his audience for him to do his best work.

"Shakespeare cannot yet be adapted to the screen. The screen is too erudite.

"My next picture will be a comedy unless it becomes a tragedy by failing to be comic. Every comedian is tempted to do tragedy. Some day I may attempt a serious photodrama, but for the present I shall confine my work to comedies.

"Yes, I shall use the custard pie again if the situation demands it. There's art in the use of a custard pie if it is used at the right time.

Europe Just Like Hollywood.

"My European trip wasn't so much of a vacation. It seemed that everyone I met was a picture player from Hollywood. I could hardly realize that I was out of America.

"I saw Mary and Doug for about five minutes. I believe it is their intention to film a picture in Europe. They do not plan to stay permanently on the other side as reported.

"H. G. Wells is of the opinion that the photoplay holds great possibilities for artistic development, but that it has not yet advanced to a high place among the arts."

Personalities.

He refuses to say how many proposals he received in Europe.

He doesn't want a home in any one place. He wants to live all over the world.

A third of Chaplin's haid is grey.

A twin furrow creases the forehead between the eyes when he is in deep thought.

He appears to be in far better spirit than when he left for Europe six weeks ago. Then he was rather tired, curt and unresponsive. Today he is affable, ready to talk and, to use the idiom of the day, full of pep.

SHOWING AT LOEW'S

WALLACE REID.

THE popular motion picture star, Wallace Reid, in "The Hell Diggers," will be the feature attraction at Loew's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, next.

This photoplay is claimed to be one of the most thrilling melodramas in which Reid has ever been starred.

STARS IN "BEYOND"

ETHEL CLAYTON.

THE newest vehicle in which Ethel Clayton is starred is "Beyond," a photoplay that gives her unusual scope in the display of her versatility as a movie actress. "Beyond" will be presented at Loew's Thursday, Friday and Saturday, next.

FEATURES REID IN LATEST FILM

"The Hell Diggers," Showing At Loew's Theatre.

"The Hell Diggers," a photoplay starring Wallace Reid, is the feature attraction at Loew's Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

There is more melodrama and less comedy in the picture than in previous Reid releases, but the story is none the less effective on that account. For one thing it strikes an original note in its outlining of an unusual phase of gold-digging in the West, and its fast action and beautiful photography add greatly to its entertaining values.

The fight between the farmers, headed by the hero and the gold-dredgers, goes over with tremendous vim, the suspensive quality holds good throughout, and there is no lack of sympathy for the resourceful Teddy Darman and his pretty sweetheart.

Wallace Reid injects an amazing amount of pep and ginger into his impersonation of the hero, giving a delightfully natural performance, pretty Lois Wilson wins favor as Dora Wade, and the work of the cast as a whole is far above the average.

In addition to this thrilling photodrama, "The Hell Diggers," the program will include a Hallroom Boys' comedy, Loew's screen pictorial, vaudeville and orchestra under direction Joseph Tirri.

FEATURE JUNGLE STORY AT ALLEN

Thrilling Drama Depicts Primitive Forest Life.

The feature attraction at the Allen Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week is "A Virgin Paradise," a story where a girl spends years alone with the wild beasts as her only playmates.

The girl's first meeting with civilization is when she swims to a nearby ship and astounds the crew by climbing animal-like to the top. A terrific volcanic eruption that visits the island and leaves a trail of ruin and death in its wake is but one of the many thrills of this picture. Another sensational scene is shown when the girl, dominated by a ferocious rage, seizes burning logs from the fireplace of her beautiful home and throws the burning logs among her assembled guests, burning the building to the ground. Further interest comes when the girl is suddenly transplanted to big city society, where she cannot adjust herself.

In addition to "A Virgin Paradise," will be shown "Snub" Pollard in "Sweet By-and-Bye," Allen World News, Travelogue, special musical program, Allen concert orchestra.

"WET GOLD" SHOWN AT ALLEN'S.

The silver screen has recorded many wonders, but now comes "Wet Gold," the feature attraction showing at the Allen Friday and Saturday of next week, with more mysteries and strange scenes from under the sea. The story is a drama of life on land and sea and under the sea. A tender love tale is told, and in a sympathy-compelling character lead none other than Ralph Ince plays a role that carries through an adventure hinting of the imaginings of Jules Verne. A variety of locations keeps up an ever-increasing interest. The story begins in New York, then moves to a quaint estate in Virginia, on to Havana, Cuba, where a horse race is staged among the palm trees and charm of the tropics. A voyage under-sea in a submarine in search for treasure hidden by pirates in an old wreck at the bottom of the sea follows. The hero is caught in a quicksand. Fights are staged between divers over the treasure, encounters with sharks, and at last "Wet Gold" is recovered.

On the same program with "Wet Gold" will be shown a Christie comedy "Scrappily Married," Allen News, special musical program, Allen's concert orchestra.

SCENE FROM "A VIRGIN PARADISE" SHOWING AT ALLEN'S

LIFE among the wild beasts of the jungle is the theme of this thrilling photoplay that will be presented at the Allen Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, next.

Coming To Grand

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI.

THE London engagement of Galli-Curci will be in accordance with a promise made to the Cortese brothers of this city some months ago, that she would come to London in order that their mother might hear her sing.

The history of Galli-Curci's life as an artist is full of interest, and shows that nothing but hard work and sheer determination to win got for her her place in the musical world. Thirty years ago she was born in Milan, Italy, her father being an Italian banker, and her mother a native of Spain. With the blood of these two great southern races flowing in her veins she early developed signs of precocity. She could play the piano when but four years old. Mascagni, the composer, was her inspiration at this time, and urged her to study hard, with the result that she was a prizewinner at the Milan Conservatory at sixteen years of age.

"BIFF, BING, BANG" COMING TO GRAND

Dumbells Will Bring Full Cast of Favorites.

"Biff, Bing, Bang," a clever musical comedy, presented by a soldier organization, and claimed by many as the greatest success offered to the boys in France, will play at the Grand Theatre for three days, with a Wednesday matinee, beginning Monday next.

"The Dumbells appeal to an audience that wants to be entertained. The fighting men in the audience remember when they sat with other audiences in France and applauded the same entertainment. Civilian men and women welcome the Dumbells as part of the great army of the immortals who suffered hardship, endured misery, and faced death in battle for Canada. The entertainment comes as a flash of sunlight through the storm clouds of war.

"The Dumbells do not travel to success on the memory of their war service. They are genuine masters of the art of entertainment. The mirth and misery of the great war are joined in the magic of a great and inspiring entertainment.

"The Canadian stage will be better for the presence of more companies like the Dumbells. The Canadian drama might have its beginnings in plays that ring as true as the trifles in which the Dumbells carry the life of war into the literature of peace. The soldiers who call themselves the Dumbells are more than entertainers. They are illustrators of the riches that returned soldiers can bring to the literature, the drama, to the platforms and parliament of this country."

The Dumbells bring to London on this occasion, the cast which originally established the fame of the company.

HARRY TATE ON FIRST TOUR.

The present tour of Harry Tate, the famous English comedian, with Albert de Courville's "Hello, Canada," is his first visit to Canada and his second to this side of the Atlantic. His first visit to American was made in 1906, when he played eight weeks in New York and Boston.

Mr. Tate's company in "Metoring" has been seen in vaudeville throughout the country, but he did not accompany it on the tour.

In "Hello, Canada," Mr. Tate will present his latest skit "Selling the Car," which is a worthy successor to "Motoring," and another new interlude, "The Patent Office," as well as numerous other screamingly funny bits conceived by Mr. de Courville.

MAJESTIC WILL PLAY "PALS FIRST"

New York Success Comes Direct From Year's Run.

Despite the long run this theatre was filled to capacity for every performance, which forecasts that it will be a delight for local theatregoers who see it.

The play is a delightful southern romance, centered around Nashville, Tenn., and will be starred by Robert Hyman, leading man of the William A. Grew Players. Hyman is an actor of outstanding ability, and takes his parts in an able and efficient manner.

In "Pal's First" he will be seen as "Danny," a young tramp, and the principal character of the story.

The story is an unusually interesting one of two tramps, "Danny," and an older pal named "Dominie," who for two years travel the world, and ultimately find themselves without friends, tired, hungry and sore at heart. Painfully they wend their way back home.

When "Danny" arrives he finds his cousin doing everything possible to possess an estate inherited by him, and it is eventually proved that "Danny" reached the scene just in time.

The scenery in this play will also be a great acquisition to the story. They will be painted by Gilbert Sackerman of the Majestic Theatre. There will be two scenes, the interior and exterior of "Danny's" home, which will be arranged by Mr. Sackerman.

On Monday night there are two admissions for the price of one, and then pay-envelopes are distributed throughout the week.

SHOEBOTTOM—MORGAN.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the rectory, Ilderton, Ont., by the Rev. A. Shore, on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Clara Pearl, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Morgan, became the bride of Mr. Roy B. Shoebottom, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Shoebottom of Denfield. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Shoebottom left for Detroit and Windsor, the bride wearing a suit of navy blue broadcloth with beaver trimmings and a black picture hat. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Shoebottom will reside near Denfield.

MERIAM—FITZGERALD.

A quiet autumn wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's Cathedral on Thursday, Oct. 27, at 4:30 o'clock, when Josephine Rogers, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Fitzgerald, became the bride of Mr. John Wesley Meriam of Byron. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Dean Tucker. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a smart suit of navy broadcloth, with jet and beaver trimmings and hat of black panne velvet with ostrich spray, and a corsage of orchids and yellow roses with streamers. A dainty wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which the young couple left for points east. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Meriam will reside at their new home, Byron, Ont., and will be home after December 1.

CORBIN—COULSON.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coulson-Dales, Milton, Ont., when their daughter Verna Coulson was united in marriage to Percy Corbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Corbin, 107 Maitland street, this city, by Rev. A. E. Marshall, on Saturday, Oct. 22, at 4 o'clock.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a brown canton gown, heavily beaded, and carrying a beautiful bouquet of Ophelia roses and orchids. Mrs. Peacock, wearing navy canton crepe, acted as matron of honor. The Wedding March was played by Miss Myrtle Corbin, sister of the groom. Miss Corbin wore a dainty gown of ivory charmeuse satin, and the mother of the bride brown crepe de chine. The groom's mother wore brown charmeuse satin.

The groom's gift to the bride, who was the recipient of many handsome presents, was a diamond and onyx brooch. Mr. and Mrs. Corbin will reside in Woodstock.

JAMES—TUCKEY.

Wednesday, Oct. 26, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Tuckey, when their daughter Martha Josephine was married to John Wilfred Roy James, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James, Komoka, by the Rev. W. Mason, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lobo.

The youthful bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Edith Irvine, London, aunt of the bride.

The bride was gowned in a dress of midnight blue charmeuse satin, trimmed with old rose and sand georgette crepe, and wore a corsage of Ophelia roses, and a platinum and diamond barpin, the gift of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held, after which a dainty wedding supper was served, the color scheme being pink and white, mums and dahlias being used.

Mr. and Mrs. James will reside in Forest.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Queen's Hotel, Rapid City, Man., writes:

"For the last few years I have been a sufferer from indigestion, nervous debility, insomnia, and allied troubles. My health became so bad that I despaired of living through the winter. Loss of appetite and sleep were making my condition unbearable. I purchased a J. B. L. Cascade, and though only using it for a short time, have obtained remarkable results. My appetite has returned, and I am now enjoying the most refreshing sleep that I have had for years. I regard it as a God-send."

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others fewer pills and laxatives would be taken, and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous Troubles resulting from it.

If you are robbed by Constipation of the sound sleep and good appetite so essential to health and vigor, you should not lose a day in availing yourself of the simple home treatments which hundreds testify have meant for them a new lease of life.

ROUTS CATARRH QUICKLY

Does It In Seven Days or Less Try It So In Your Own Home.

Those who suffer from catarrh can now feel sure that there is a quick way to get rid of it, for a new combination has been developed that has proved successful beyond all dreams. It is something entirely new, simple and easy to apply and will rout any catarrh of the head, nose or throat in SEVEN DAYS OR LESS in your own home. Every victim knows how filthy and loathsome catarrh is. The diseased mucus is a stench. You are pestful to family and friends. It tires you, weakens you, dulls your mind and your will. And there are millions of germs in the hawking, coughing and spitting which you innocently give to others.

If you are sincere in wanting to be relieved without delay, write at once to "Nurse Jan-O-Sun, Reg'd., Apartment 43, 230 Craig St. W., Montreal," simply giving your name and address, and the rest will be attended to promptly so that you can try it seven days.

Women's Institute Program Reveals Modern Women's Broad Interests.

The fact that women's interests are, by no means confined to cooking, fashions and housekeeping their own homes has a striking illustration in the program which has just been printed for the seventh annual convention of the Women's Institute of Western Ontario, which opens in the Masonic Hall, Queen's avenue, on Tuesday afternoon.

The status of Canadian women as enfranchised citizens is suggested in the attention given to the subject of procedure and organization, to which the afternoon session on Wednesday will be given up, with addresses by Mrs. May R. Thornley, Mrs. James Patterson and Mrs. William Todd, Orillia, the last president of the Ontario Women's Institute. Dr. H. W. Hill, D.H.P., has been asked to speak on Thursday morning on "Communicable Diseases and Their Prevention," while Dr. Annie Ross of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, will give an address at the opening session on "Education, Play, Entertainment and Health," with relation to the girls' work. Dr. Ross, a brilliant young Canadian woman, and M.D., after obtaining her degree, specialized in physical training, holding the firm belief that many of the ills of later life could be prevented by proper development through judicious exercise and physical training, with special emphasis on adequate and judicious play.

Education and art as every-day factors in life will be presented on Wednesday evening. Mr. A. D. Jordan speaks on "Music for Country Homes and Communities," Miss Topley Thomas on "Western Ontario Authors and Artists," while Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown will tell what the Western University has to offer to rural communities. The city will do honor to the officers and delegates in a complimentary banquet Tuesday evening at McCormick's hall, and an opportunity will be afforded the delegates to visit the Byron Sanatorium between the afternoon and evening session on Wednesday.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

AUNT ROSE'S SEEDS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am mailing the aster seeds promised, with a few other kinds. You will find 42 of asters. The ones in the larger packages are nearly all white, while the small ones are mixed varieties. I am sending 27 of phlox, 10 salpiglosis, 15 of zinnias, 8 of mallow, 5 morning glory. These are not ripening as fast as I expected. I am sending my hollyhocks—45 packets—as I think they should be sown this fall. This kind blooms the first year if they get started early in the spring. The colors range from white and salmon to a dark red, with several shades of pink and are single and semi-double, with fringed edges. I am also sending a few seeds of vegetables, although I do not know if you would class ground cherries that way. You will find 15 packets of these, also 19 of summer savory, 6 of pie pumpkin, and 10 of a squash that we like better than Hubbard. I want to thank the Boxites for sending envelopes. I hope you will be able to get something worth while for the poor kiddies from my seeds. Inclosed find a mite. AUNT ROSE.

Thank you, Aunt Rose, for the large box of seeds. It was very good of you to send them in, but at present I have about as many as I can handle, so, readers, do not send in any more just now.

WILL HELP FIVE ROSES.

Dear Miss Grey,—Back again so soon, but I did not sign my name to the last letter, I wrote, so perhaps it will not be published, but now I am here to offer some help. I see where Five Roses would like a romper pattern. I have also sleeper pattern for a child aged 2 years. I also have some discarded clothing, men's pants, and lots of stockings, but probably they are beyond fixing. I take a stocking leg and cut it down and make a foot, and my little boy wears them around the house, and they are fine—saves a lot of washing of white stockings. If you want these, Five Roses, my address is with Miss Grey.

I see, Miss Grey, where someone said you were a man. Mercy, how would a man have the patience for hospital mites, seeds, patterns and crochet affairs! Don't let him talk to you again like that.

A BUSY YOUNG MOTHER.

You apparently are ignorant of all our Mail-Box rules, Busy Young Mother. Letters should be written on one side of the paper only, besides having names and addresses signed. Yes, Tip has done a wonderful amount of work, and I am quite sure the quilt will be a credit to her. have a good "hurrah" from the

WILL EVERY ONE HELP?

Dear Readers,—I am writing to you about the quilt. I hoped to have it finished by now, but I have waited all this month for two blocks to come in, and I just received a notice saying that one of the "Blockites" didn't make hers, so I am expecting to hear the same from the other one. I am sorry more of the readers did not take a greater interest in the quilt.

I have put a great deal of work on the quilt, as nearly all the blocks have more names on now than when they were sent to me, and most of them needed fixing one way or another. We will excuse those who were sick, but I think some of the boxites could have laid aside their crocheting and knitting and made a block.

As so many have backed out, I will have to ask every reader to help me out. What I want is enough pieces to make two blocks. If anyone that can will get a piece of woolen goods and work several names on it and send it to me, I will make up the two blocks out of these pieces. Charge 10c for each name, and send the money to Miss Grey. Will every one try to have their piece finished and sent to me within a week from today, as I am anxious to get the quilt finished and off my hands.

TIP.

Tip has been so faithful in making the quilt, and has taken such great pains with the fixing of the blocks, I think the least we can do is to make a single patch, in order that she can finish it, so I will be the first one to offer, and will send my patch this week.

Blue Bell.—I am sorry, but I cannot publish lists of this nature.

WANTS BULBS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I read the letters in the Mail-Box and get good ideas and recipes.

I was wondering if any of the Boxites have any bulbs to spare. I would like to get some. I have red and pink dahlias I would exchange for other colors. If anyone would be so kind they can get my address from the Mail-Box, or write to the Mail-Box and I will watch for it in the paper. Inclosed find mite. Could I have some flower seeds, any kind, also?

TURQUOISE.

Am mailing you a stocking foot pattern ,also some seeds, and hope you will like my choice. Thank you for the hospital mite, and I trust you will receive some bulbs.

WANTS SEEDS.

Hello All,—Isn't this a change in weather from the weather at the time of the small fairs. Could I please have a few of the castor beans that I saw were to be sent in, and some sweet peas, if you have any?

Inclosed find a poem asked for by one of the pageites, "The House by the Side of the Road." Well must slip away or I will be kicked out. LILLY DALE.

We haven't any castor beans or sweet pea seed, Lilly Dale, but if any are sent in I shall remember your request. Thank you for filling Cleopatra's request for the poem.

IS DISGUSTED.

Dear Miss Grey,—Really it is disgusting to think that some people haven't a spark of orginality. I am the original Pussy Willow, and I see that two or three others have taken my name.

The other day I received dozens of small envelopes from Wife, which were really meant for one of those unoriginal beings. Then yesterday I received a card from a lady in Inwood, wishing to exchange gladiolus bulbs. It must be one of the other P. W.'s that had these bulbs to exchange, as I haven't any at all.

Yes, and there is another instance I can tell you about. Some time ago I received a letter from Stubby, in which she wished to exchange flower seeds. I never stated my desire to exchange seeds in the Mail-Box, so you see that is another mistake.

Miss Grey, I would suggest that anyone taking another persons pen name should not have their letters printed, or else sign their own initials, as this would save so much confusion.

This is the third time that my pan name has been taken, so woe unto the one who takes the next name I decide on.

What will I do with these seed envelopes, Miss Grey? Will I send them to you, or return them to Wife? Or perhaps it would be best to send them direct to Pussy Willow No. 2, if I had her name and address. For this once I will sign,

ORIGINAL PUSSY WILLOW.

I am sorry that so much confusion has arisen on account of your pen name being stolen. If I were you, I would attach the word "Original" to your pen name, so as to avoid any further trouble. I am mailing you Pussy Willow No. 2's address and postage, and will you forward the envelopes direct to her, please. I would also advise Pussy Willow No. 2 to find a new name.

FINDS LONDON LONESOME.

Dear Miss Grey, — You have a really wonderful Mail-Box, haven't you?—made up of a little bit of everything. It seems to be of a help to everyone, no matter what their troubles may be. That is why I have decided to write to you, although my troubles may be just a little odd to what you are used to hearing.

I have only recently come to your big city, and I like it fine, only I know no one, and I find it dreadfully lonesome, as I was always used to a good time and many friends. I am writing you to see if I can't find a pal. Surely somewhere in the city there is a girl who is away from home and friends, who is lonesome, too. If I could only find one, I am sure we would become good chums, but she would have to be a good girl about 20 years old and not giddy—or even a boy. I would not mind as long as he was honest and respectable, and would appreciate a real pal. I know, Miss Grey, some would not think this just right to get acquainted this way, and if I were home I would not dream of doing such a thing. But there seems no other way. I go to church every Sunday night, but you know yourself just what the people are like in city churches. They do not take to strangers all at once. They are friendly enough, but what I want is a real chum, so we could go to church, the show or other places of amusement, together, and have a good time. My evenings are free, but I simply won't go out alone, as I do not think it is right.

I will leave my address with you, Miss Grey, and I hope if any lonesome, respectable girl sees this she will write, so we can become real chums. Best wishes to the Mail-Box. LOVER OF MUSIC, NO. 2.

I am sorry that you find our city so lonely, but think in time you will become acquainted, as I myself once passed through the same stage. Possibly some of our city readers who are also lonesome will write to you.

Why Do You Coddle Corns?

Simple Touch Can End Them and at Once

WHY pare a corn and keep it? Why pad it and let it remain? Or why treat it in old ways, harsh, crude and uncertain?

Millions have found a new way. It is Blue-jay—the plaster or the liquid. A touch applies it, and the pain stops instantly. Then the whole corn quickly loosens and comes out.

It is freeing thousands of people—why not you? Try it on one corn and you will always let it end yours. Start tonight.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont

If Stomach is Out of Order —"Diapepsin"

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief. This harmless antacid helps digest anything you eat and overcomes a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach in five minutes. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from your druggist a sixty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no gas or heartburn, no fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, no nausea, headache or intestinal griping. Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this food fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or indigestion.

Keep Step With Your Market

Nine million Canadians must be fed, clothed and housed three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. There is no chance of the country going cold, naked or hungry whilst wages and profits are backed up by an average savings bank deposit of $200 and an average bond holding of $250, and while there are 100 DAILY NEWSPAPERS TO TELL THEM WHEN AND WHERE TO BUY THEIR NEEDS AND THEIR DESIRES.

Canada's buying power is growing daily

Consider the rural population—with millions of dollars rolling in from the crop harvest. Will this class deny itself the necessities and luxuries you have to sell?

Those from the United States alone brought $8,755,203 in cash and effects. The other fifty per cent, mainly British-born, have corresponding needs and the money to satisfy them.

Therefore, is it not plain, business sense to use DAILY NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING to secure sectional or national demand? The daily newspaper moves the goods five to ten times more quickly and more economically than any other medium because it is the daily buying counsel of all classes of people.

KING DEFINES TORYISM AS "CLASS RULE"

RAPS MEIGHEN SENATORS

The North York Candidate Charges Government Throttled Board of Commerce.

STOUFFVILLE, Ont., Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.—James Murdock, who was last night nominated by the Liberal party for the South Toronto riding, was the first speaker here this afternoon at Hon. Wm. L. Mackenzie King's meeting.

Mr. Murdock said that it was largely in the constituency of North York that constitutional government was cradled. Battles of common people had more than in any other part of Canada been fought in North York.

Once the war was over, he said, there came the great problem, not only of taking care of the returned soldiers, but of the common people. The Winnipeg strike in 1919 was not a revolution against all government, as had been said, but an expression of dissatisfaction with the existing government.

The trouble came to an end and out of it grew the board of commerce to check gross profiteering. Mr. Murdock said in spite of his own work in Cleveland, he had after much persuasion felt that the work on the board meant real work in the interests of the common people.

Silently Opposed Board.

Ottawa, however, he said, seemed to have not merely a luke-warmness towards the efforts of the board, but a silent opposition. Finally there came the time when he was called before an aged and venerable gentleman who gave him an hour and a quarter of gentle scolding and made it very clear that he, Mr. Murdock, must not antagonize those interests upon which the Government had always counted for support, and so, from then on, the clamps were put on a little harder. Obstacles were quietly put in the way of the board's doing those things which it was formed to do.

Thus, there was nothing for him to do but resign the position, notwithstanding the sacrifice he must make, said Mr. Mrudock. He could have nothing to do with the "contemptible farce" which the cabinet was carrying on to fool the people of Canada. It was nothing less, he said, than covertly stealing from the common people. On forthcoming occasions he would have much more to say about the board of commerce.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King's speech was preceded by an address of welcome extended by Mrs. W. Clark on behalf of the Women's Liberal Club of Stouffville.

Sees Hope in Liberalism.

Mr. King quoted from a letter written him by Dr. Michael Clark, who had just accepted the Liberal nomination in Mackenzie.

"I have now come to see that a well-balanced Liberalism is the only hope for the country between the new Toryism and the old, for what is Toryism and what has it always been? Simple class rule, with a view to securing special privileges."

"Only united forces," said Mr. King, "could meet and conquer the industrial plutocrats behind the political powers of the day."

Speaking of the National Railways, the Liberal leader said, it had been found that there was an interlocking of directorates, which would wreck any concern. Vast contracts for insurance and equipment had been given to companies, directors of which were also directors of the Candian National Railways.

Mr. Crerar, said the Liberal leader, desired publicity for campaign funds. The Liberal party has shown itself solidly for this reform when the matter came up in the House. The Progressives had no monopoly in this respect.

Comparing the platforms of the Progressives, the National Council of Women, the Labor platform and that of the Great War Veterans' Association, Mr. King said that where the aims for improvementt seemed to outdistance those of the Liberals, it was only in matters which were quite beyond practical success.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.—Advt.

SURVIVES HEAD BLOW FROM TWO-TON FLYWHEEL

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—To be struck on the head with a two-ton flywheel and live is the extraordinary experience of Albert Boston, 33 years of age, of La Fontaine street, who suffered severe injuries today while he was assisting to load a portion of an immense flywheel onto a wagon. The flywheel, which altogether weighed four tons, was being moved in two sections, one of which dropped on Boston's head as he was standing beneath it.

Evelyn Thaw, Broke and Facing Eviction, Tries To Poison Self

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was resting comfortably tonight, after taking an overdose of a narcotic drug when a city marshal began moving furniture from her apartment.

It was a vivid day in the life of Miss Nesbit, once the wife of Harry K. Thaw, later the wife of a dancer, Jack Clifford, and now Evelyn Nesbit again, no longer a dancer herself, but owner of a tearoom in the theatre district.

Her financial distress, which caused all the excitement today, came to light a month ago, when a city marshal appeared at her tearoom with an eviction warrant. Miss Nesbit arranged to pay overdue rent on the $300-a-month tearoom and her $150-a-month apartment upstairs. The marshal went away.

Today another came on a similar mission, and began taking furniture out to the street, while Miss Nesbit sobbed, wringing her hands, and frantically called her lawyer on the telephone. The lawyer obtained a truce of a few hours with the landlord, and Miss Nesbit began calling friends in the hope of raising some cash. In this she failed.

She telegraphed her mother in Philadelphia, and a few minutes afterwards leaned out of the window and screamed at the marshal: "I've taken enough poison to kill 20 persons," falling back with the cry that she was going to die.

The landlord on hearing about the episode announced he would wait until noon next Monday before pressing for the enforcement of the eviction warrant.

CONDEMNED MAN WANTS LAST MEAL OF LOBSTER

CAEN, France, Oct. 29.—Men condemned to death, it has become a custom in France, may eat or drink what they like for their last meal. Most of them ask for rum and a cigarette.

The prosecutor of the republic was amazed when a few days ago, a condemned assassin refused them and in, response to a request as to what he desired, said: "I should like to have a 'homard a l'Americaine.'" The "American lobster" or the "lobster done in the American fashion" as it appears on the menus of the best establishments, requires a deep water stomach in order to digest it.

"Can't I get you something instead," asked one of the guards, "a sardine or some other kind of fish."

"American lobster or nothing," demanded the man about to die. "I have always adored American lobster, but I have never been able to eat it without suffering from indigestion for hours afterward."

Duncan C. Ross May Again Lead West Middlesex Liberals.

WHEN the electors of West Middlesex meet in the Lyceum Theatre, Strathroy, next Tuesday afternoon, for the purpose of selecting a Liberal candidate for that riding, Duncan C. Ross, present standard-bearer of the party, will likely be named to contest the riding for federal honors. The convention will open at 2 o'clock and all Liberal men and women are invited to attend.

In addition to Mr. Ross, the list of speakers includes T. H. Purdom, K.C., and J. C. Elliott, K. C., of London, who will deliver interesting addresses.

The convention will be an open one and Liberal enthusiasm in West Middlesex has attained a very optimistic attitude, with splendid prospects in sight for victory for the party at the coming general election.

SEARCH REVEALS FOREIGN MONEY

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—A search of the baggage of Albert Slade, arrested here on a charge of attempting to hold up a bank and believed to be Norman Ryan, alias "Texas" Bell, wanted for bank robbery in Hamilton, Ontario, revealed a large number of bank notes of foreign countries. Among them were those of Portugal, Australia, West Africa and other countries. Receipts for coal delivered to an address on Sherbrooke street, Winnipeg, were also disclosed.

Chief of Detectives Lepage stated this morning that he had received word from a number of Ontario towns where robberies had been committed during the past few months, that the officials of these towns and cities, from the description furnished by the Montreal police, were of the opinion that Ryan and his alleged confederate O'Hara, now held were also suspected of having been implicated in these other crimes.

C. A. H. A. TO HAVE CENTRAL BRANCH

Various Branches Can Obtain Standing and Status of Players.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—With one of the most representative hockey gatherings in the history of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, an executive meeting was held here today, at which plans for the season's campaign were outlined by President W. R. Ganger of Montreal, and adopted by the representatives of the various affiliated branches. The outstanding feature of the meeting was the organization of a Dominion registration committee, with a chief registrar.

This is an innovation in amateur hockey, and will enable the various branches to obtain the standing and status of the various players from the central branch, which will be situated at Toronto for the present.

The newly-appointed registration committee will have power to investigate the standing of any player who is given a player's certificate by the provincial body, under whose jurisdiction he is playing. All applications for certificates must be made to the provincial bodies, and a copy of the application, whether granted or rejected, must be forwarded to the control office.

This will have the desired effect of placing a greater curb on the tourist players. The registration committee shall consist of five, two members from the east, two from the west, and the president. Those appointed for the first season were: W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, registrar; Murray Thompson, Saskatoon; A. E. Coo, Winnipeg; Sheriff Paxton, Whitby, and President Granger.

A resolution, giving the president greater power to act in the taking of a mail or telegraphic vote was passed.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

ARMS PARLEY OPENS NOV. 12

U. S. "Unknown Soldier" Ceremonies On November 11 Cause Delay.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Definite decision to hold the first session of the conference on limitations of armaments on the morning of Saturday, November 12, instead of Armistice Day, November 11, was announced today at the state department.

It was found impossible to reconcile even an informal gathering of the conference on Armistice Day with the program of ceremonies connected with the burial of the United States "unknown soldier."

The conference will be called to order by Secretary of State Hughes, and the welcoming address to the delegates by President Harding will follow. It is expected that the conference will then perfect its organization and adjourn to take up its real deliberations.

The appointments of committees to consider special topics, arrangements of conferences in which those nations invited to participate only in the discussion of Far Eastern and Pacific problems may be present, and similar matters will be deferred until the following Monday.

Progress is being made in the preparation of the auditorium in the building of the Daughters of the American Revolution, adjoining the Pan-American Building, where the open sessions of the conference will be held. The delegates will sit at a horseshoe-shaped, or rectangular table during the sessions, with the interpreters and other aides in the open space inside the tables, and the delegates themselves facing each other around the other side of the conference table.

The general public probably cannot be represented at the sessions, except by representatives of the press and members of congress who will be given seats provided for the use of the various embassies and legations in Washington.

The seating capacity of the hall will not admit of any wide distribution of seats, as the total number available for all purposes will be less than 1,200.

So far as the sessions of the conference are concerned it was emphasized today that the state department was anxious to provide every possible means of publicity in order that the general public could know what was being done.

Shall He Have A College Course?

"Are you going to send me to College?"

THE question is often debated: — Is it worth while for the young man to spend four years in college? Does the expense of a university training pay?

Statistics show that while only two per cent. of the people of America are educated at college, no less than seventy per cent. of the leaders of the nation in politics, commerce and the church come from that little two per cent. of the people—"the college-trained group".

We all know that a college education is necessary for the adequate training of engineers, chemists, clergymen, actuaries and astronomers, but the evidence is also overwhelming in proving that the college-trained man wins in every other line of business endeavor.

He cannot get that vital college training without your help and encouragement.

To make sure that the boy will obtain a college education, take out a policy of insurance on father's life that will mature at the age when the son will be ready to enter college. It is not hard to save the money for the college course in installments spread over ten to fifteen years.

CHINA TO ASK OPEN DOOR AT ARMS PARLEY

WANT EQUAL TREATMENT

Favor "Pacific Court of Arbitration" On Far East Disputes.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.
[Special to The Advertiser.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The Chinese delegation will not come to the Pacific conference with portfolios packed with excessive demands, Dr. W. W. Yen, foreign minister told me in an interview just before I left Peking.

W. P. SIMMS.

China will not insist upon specifics but will endeavor to have laid down certain broad principles safeguarding her political and territorial integrity.

Shantung, Manchuria, Mongolia and kindred topics will be used by her as direct questions to be settled at the conference, but rather as illustrations proving what must inevitably happen if the old order of things is perpetuated.

It is Dr. Yen's idea that if the Pacific powers can agree on the guiding principles he expects to submit to them, injustices like Shantung will rectify themselves.

What China Will Ask.

1. Insistence on the open door. America's policy with regard to the Far East since 1900.
2. The abolition of "special spheres" of influence claimed by different nations.
3. Control of her own resources, natural and artificial, including railways operating within her own borders.
4. Non-recognition of any treaty between foreign powers which infringes on her sovereignty.
5. Equal treatment before the law of Chinese citizens.
6. A scheme for the gradual abolition of extra territoriality.
7. A "Pacific Court of Arbitration," or kindred plan for settling such disputes as may arise between the powers interested in the Far East in the future.

China's Argument.

Dr. Yen considers it a waste of time pounding away on a detail when a question of principle is involved.

"Obviously," he told me, "if the policy of the open door, as propounded by the American Secretary of State John Hay, is really put into effect in China, there can be no 'special privileges' in Manchuria or anywhere else for any particular nation.

"If no nation is to have a 'special sphere of influence' on Chinese soil, there is no need to argue the Shantung matter. Shantung automatically returns to China unconditionally.

"If it is agreed that China should have control of her resources and that no foreign government should be in a position to refuse China the use of a railway through Chinese territory, questions like the South Manchurian Railway, owned by Japan, disappear.

The Pacific Court.

"And so it goes.

"As to consular jurisdiction in China, we will not ask its immediate abolition. Nor will we endeavor to fix precisely the terms of years it is to continue in effect.

"Still China wishes to retain her sovereignty and so will suggest the eventual removal of extra territoriality—at some time in the future when China shall have perfected her judicial system. I don't say 10 years, 15 years, 20 years hence—it all depends.

"Another thing I am preparing for presentation at the conference is a plan for a Pacific Court of Arbitration, to sit, say at Shanghai. This special court would handle only such disputes as might arise between Pacific powers and would not conflict in any way with the world court, but rather supplement it and lessen its labors."

A Time-Saver.

It is Dr. Yen's idea that the Pacific conference should not just meet, come to some agreement, then adjourn sine die. Some kind of machinery, he thinks, should be devised while the conference is still in session to carry out, and perhaps interpret, its decisions and, if needs be, settle any disputes which might eventuate.

In a way the special court of arbitration suggested by the Chinese foreign minister would be a sort of continuation of the Pacific conference itself, and would, he believes, prove a great time-saver.

Supposing a dispute arose between China and Japan, he said, illustrating. First the two countries would attempt to reach an agreement through their own diplomatic channels. If this failed, or if one side or the other so desired, the matter would be referred to the special court sitting at Shanghai.

It is not Dr. Yen's idea, however, that the Shanghai court's decision should necessarily be final. Should a disputant so desire, he could carry his case to the international court.

Gotham Surrenders To Foch "Without Striking a Blow"

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—New York surrendered to Marshal Foch today without striking a blow. Not since Armistice Day has there been a demonstration on Broadway to compare in spontaneity or numbers with the reception accorded this afternoon to the conqueror of the German armies.

From the Battery, where he was greeted by Mayor Hylan, the great little man in "horizon" blue, moved in a triumphal procession of many thousands. By his side rode General Pershing, who, as leader of the United States forces in France, acted under Foch's supreme command. To General Pershing fell the honors of first welcoming the French marshal to the shores of the United States.

Receiving the freedom of the city from the mayor, Marshal Foch continued his "triumphal entry," motoring along Fifth avenue to the Pennsyvania station. All along the route and at the station multitudes had assembled to cheer the visitor. Cheers were still resounding when the special train taking the marshal to Washington on the first leg of his journey to Kansas City for the American Legion convention, pulled out of the terminal.

The welcome to Marshal Foch began 100 miles out to sea. There the liner Paris, on which he was a passenger, was joined by twelve destroyers and a squadron of seaplanes. The steamship George Washington, on which General Pershing was returning from Europe, raced into port passing the Paris in order that the United States general might be the first to welcome his former commander-in-chief.

Admiral Lord Beatty Given Rousing Ovation in Gotham

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Admiral Lord Beatty, who was given a remarkable ovation when he spoke at the Pilgrim Society banquet last night, had another demonstration this morning of the esteem with which he is regarded by the people of New York. The British admiral spent this morning on a sight-seeing trip, in the course of which he visited the floor of the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was practically suspended for a few minutes while the members cheered him.

The welcome which has been extended to Earl Beatty by the public generally has been in direct contrast to the unenthusiastic tenor of the "official" welcome extended by Mayor Hylan on his arrival. When he arose to speak last night he was given a tremendous reception. Later there was another spectacular outburst of applause when Rear Admiral Rodman of the United States Navy said: "There is no question that our two nations will always stand together and that they will always fight together."

SEEK TO SCRAP JAP ALLIANCE

British Workers Fear Oriental Nation's Might in Pacific.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—British workers have determined the Anglo-Japanese alliance must be scrapped, Robert Williams, president of the Transport Workers' Federation, declared today.

If necessary, the council of action, which prevented the Anglo-Polish treaty against Russia, will be re-established, Mr. Williams said.

"Japan's imperialism is threatening to bring about a new world war," the transport leader declared. "We European workers, controlling all the essential war-making machinery, will take direct action if need be to prevent war. Workers in the four integral war industries, transport, railways, mines and metals will meet at Amsterdam simultaneously with the Washington conference to take steps to prevent a new war.

Fighting Capital's Ambition.

"We fear an Anglo-Japanese alliance would strengthen Japan in the Pacific. Already sated with power, the Japanese are looking hungrily towards Russia, towards the Philippines, towards Australia—even towards the Pacific coast of America.

The Washington conference will have no more effect in preventing another world war than did The Hague convention. The men at the conference will be discussing, not amity and peace, but world power. We workers realize we are not fighting imperialism so much as capital's ambitions towards the markets of the world.

"The British workers' 'hands off Russia' committee organized elaborate propaganda reaching eight million workers. Organized British workers will create a solid opposition to an Anglo-Japanese alliance, and will stultify the attempt of any British clique to endeavor to force Britain to side with Japan in a war against Russia or America. There would be a strike throughout England, making such an attempt abortive.

Not Hostile, But—

"We are not hostile to Japan," Mr. Williams said, "but we realize America is our own kin and we realize the difference between Occidental and Oriental standards of life. We had hoped to invite American workers to participate in the Amsterdam conference, but refrained because of Gompers' attitude."

REDUCE FREIGHT RATES ON SUGAR BEETS NOV. 1

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—A general reduction of from 1 cent to 6½ cents per 100 pounds on the railway freight charges on sugar beets will become effective on November 1, according to a judgment issued this morning by the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners in the application of the Dominion Sugar Company, Wallaceburg, Ont., for a reduction in the rates charged by the railway companies on carload lots of sugar beets to Wallaceburg. This judgment affects the Pere Marquette Railway, Michigan Central, Grand Trunk Railway, Canadian Pacific Railway and the C. W. and L. E. Railway.

The new schedule is worked out on a mileage basis with an ascending tariff chargeable for each 100 pounds, according to the distance hauled.

DEMAND SPEEDING OF PUBLIC WORKS

A. and N. Veterans Urge Governments To Relieve Unemployment.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—A resolution calling on the federal and provincial Governments and municipal councils to proceed immediately with all building, housing, general improvements and all other undertakings to relieve unemployment, was passed today at the final session of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada.

A resolution was also passed calling on Governments and the Canadian National Railways to dispense with the services of women and girls employed during the war to take the place of men, unless they are widows or dependents of ex-service men, and fill their places with men, preferably veterans.

Further action was taken in the matter of distribution of canteen funds. Of the interest on this fund, $50,000 has been awarded the Great War Veterans' Association, $20,000 to the Grand Army of United Veterans, and $12,500 to the Army and Navy Veterans by the Government. The latter sum, of which $8,500 was paid over to the Army and Navy trustees during the convention, was unsolicited by the Army and Navy. There was strong feeling that this allocation should be returned, but it was decided to accept this portion of the interest money provided, however, that it be expended upon actual benevolent work and nothing else.

Home Economics

[By Mrs. Elizabeth Kent, MacDonald College.]

ROUTINE.

There can be only one best way of doing anything, and it would pay a woman who does her own work to find out that way for as many tasks as she can, learn it and practice it until it becomes instinctive. As most household tasks must be done over and over again, what a pity it is to waste one's vitality doing them differently each time, never learning what is the cheapest way for one's self, and so saving time and energy! James, the great psychologist, made a careful study of the significance and value of habit. He shows how habits become the masters or the servants of one's life as one uses them. Household routine is a thoughtful regulation of necessary tasks, according to the conditions of one's life. It must be sufficiently flexible to bend without breaking under the demands of children, friends and emergency without nervous wear and tear, but sufficiently rigid to be fairly automatic. The habit of brushing one's teeth, for instance, is so much a part of one's unconscious life that one does it without thought; it costs no effort of attention or will. So the routine of the right way for the housewife to accomplish her daily and weekly housework should be carefully planned and practised until it seems to follow the accustomed order.

GUIPURE.

Guipure is a term originally used of a cord composed of an inner core or stout thread whipped round with fine threads, and to this day the word is so used by trimming and gimp makers. With these cords, gimp ornaments were made and stitched (appliqued) upon some material. Thus furniture hangings belonging to Catherine de Medici are described as "velvet with white guipure ornaments, besides cloths of gold and silver and dove color, with figures and scrolls of gold guipure and tinsel."

Lace-makers, however, employed this guipure also for bars and ties in imitation of the dainty loops of the Venetian laces. This gradually brought about the use of the name guipure for all laces in which bars or ties were used, while laces in which the grounds were of small, regular meshes (reseaux) were called dentelles, which is now the modern general French word for laces. Thus all those splendid laces of Venice with bars, tiny loops, little stars, and half moons may rightly be called guipures of Venice.

When pillow or bobbin lace was developed and gimp or guipure was used, because of its stiffness it could be applied only to large open lace. Hence the name of guipure passed also to certain pillow laces, and was applied to all lace in which the grounds were very large and of irregular openings. This is the modern use of the name guipure.

ZOMAH STUMPED.

[Daily Graphic.]

Zomah, "the woman who can tell you anything," once failed to satisfy the curiosity of one little girl who came from the audience to the stage to catechise her.

"How many sisters have I?" the little one asked.

"Four," replied Zomah."

"How many brothers have I?"

"None," said Zomah.

"Then when will I have one," persisted the little girl.

This stumped Zomah.

FIRE BARRACKS IN IRELAND AS PARLEY WANES

AWAIT MONDAY'S DEBATE

BELFAST, Oct. 28.—Police barracks at Passage, County Waterford, vacated Wednesday, were burned this evening by a number of armed men who invaded the village. They warned the villagers in the vicinity of the barracks to seek safety, and then sprinkled petrol about and set fire to the building.

PARLEY IN ABEYANCE.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Formal meetings of the Irish conference and of the committee intrusted with the task of finding a formula for further negotiations between the parties temporarily, are in abeyance, but formal negotiations, through certain channels, will continue and week-end meetings of the British representatives are likely to be held at Chequers court, where Mr. Lloyd George is to spend the week-end.

Interest now centres on Monday's debate in the House of Commons, of which the Irish question will be the subject. Mr. Asquith will speak, as will representatives of both the Liberal and Labor groups. The minority supporting the vote of censure of the Government is expected to be very small.

On the ground that Sir James Craig, the Ulster prime minister, assented to initiating the Irish negotiations, which the vote intends to censure, the Ulsterites will abstain from voting. Ulster's demand is that she be allowed to work her Parliament, and the Ulsterites will oppose any interference with the status granted this body.

Should the prime minister, in his speech, indicate any yielding to the Sinn Fein demands concerning Ulster, the latter's representatives have made it known that they will take a hostile attitude. The attorney-general for Ireland, Thomas Brown, is an Ulster member, and it is believed he would resign from the ministry in protest.

Startling evidence of a highly-organized system of procuring arms and ammunition was given at Cardiff today when Joseph Connolly, organizer of South Wales branches of the Irish Self-Determination League, was charged with unlawfully hoarding revolvers and explosives.

A detective inspector gave evidence that when he entered the prisoner's lodgings he found revolvers and ammunition and a large quantity of high explosives. He also found a number of highly important documents including a list of goods to be procured, including revolvers, machine-guns and amunition.

PROTECTION HURTS N. S., SAYS CRERAR

Claims Maritimes Not As Prosperous As 50 Years Ago.

ANTIGONISH, N. S., Oct. 28.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—The entry of Hon. T. A. Crerar into the Nova Scotia political field took place today at Antigonish in the constituency of Antigonish-Guysboro. Formerly represented in the House by J. A. Sinclair, who has retired from the whirl of politics, Antigonish-Guysboro will have a three-cornered fight. Walter McNeil is Conservative candidate; C. F. McIsaac is running as a Liberal and D. A. McIsaac, a nephew of the Liberal candidate, is out as Progressive candidate.

Antigonish is represented in the Nova Scotia Legislative Assembly by a Liberal and a Farmer and Guysboro by two Liberals.

Mr. Crerar dealt more particularly today with some aspects of the economic issue as touching on Nova Scotia. Had protection made Canada prosperous? he asked. "Your young men and women in Nova Scotia," he said, "have gone to the United States because they did not have the opportunity here they should have had. Fifty years ago this was a prosperous country. If there is any part of this Dominion which has suffered from the application of protection it is the Province of Nova Scotia. Your geographical position is such that you should prosper from the development of maritime trade, as Great Britain has prospered. You have the facilities to enable you to produce foodstuffs. The population of the New England States is growing, and your trade with them should have been developed.

"They need foodstuffs, and who is better able to supply them than the Maritime Provinces? But our policy has been directed in another direction, with the result that you have a population which is growing very slowly indeed."

D. A. McIsaac, the Progressive candidate, made a plea for representation of the "common people" in Parliament.

Tomorrow Mr. Crerar will speak in Sydney.

SPEED CUT IN RAILWAY WAGE

U. S. Carrier Executives Seek Early Hearings Before Labor Board.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Railroad heads tonight declared the nation's carriers would go right ahead with their plans to seek new wage cuts through railroad labor board hearings despite the announcement from the unions that their action in calling off the strike scheduled for October 30 had been influenced by the board's announcement that pay reduction petitions for any class would not be considered until working conditions for that class had been settled.

"The calling off of the strike will have no effect on the plans announced by the carriers, Oct. 14, to seek immediate wage reductions so that rates could be reduced," said Samuel Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western, and chairman of the association of western railroad executives.

"I don't know how long, under the board's ruling, it will take to reach a decision on any pay cut petitions, but these petitions undoubtedly will be presented within a very short time. It will be up to the board to decide when action should be taken.

"I want it made plain, however, that we will seek these reductions in accordance with the law, posting notices of cuts, then discussing them with the employees and, if no agreement is reached, appealing to the board to settle the dispute."

Texas Strike Continues.

With the code messages officially calling off the strike sent out today, only one echo remained of the railroad crisis which for two weeks threatened to develop into a general rail strike. The situation was unchanged in the International and Great Northern, the Texas line, where 600 trainmen started a walkout last week. No order to call off the strike was sent to these men, W. C. Lee, president of the trainmen, saying the matter is "In the hands of the union officials down there."

Mr. Lee, however, conferred with the labor board today and it was known that he is making every effort to bring about a settlement of the strike which will be satisfactory to the employees.

The chiefs of the "big five" left for their homes this evening, and by midnight scarcely an out-of-town union man was in the city. The labor board continued work on its decision on Wednesday's hearing and probably will render it tomorrow.

"PATHOGEN" THE CAUSE OF DISEASE

Accumulation of Waste Matter Which Obstructs The Free Flow of the Blood Stream.

"Fruit-a-tives," the Health Protector

According to some of the greatest living medical authorities, the main cause of disease arises in the stomach, from the formation of a semi-liquid, decaying substance, known as Mucus.

The human body has thousands of feet of almost invisible tubes through which the blood circulates.

"Pathogen" is the name given to mucus or accumulation of waste matter which clogs up the thousands and thousands of tubes which carry the blood to every part of the body.

It is the clogging up of the arteries and veins which causes high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, acidity of the blood and auto-intoxication, and is responsible, along with Constipation, for most of the Headaches, Bilious Attacks, Bad Complexion, Pain in the Back, Kidney Trouble, Chronic Constipation, and Eczema, with which so many people suffer.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES," the famous fruit medicine, prevents Pathogen because it insures sound digestion, makes the bowels move regularly and naturally, flushes the kidneys, increases the eliminating action of the skin, and thus keeps the blood channels free of mucus.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price, by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

68-YEAR MEMBER OF HOUSE OF LORDS DIES

FALFIELD, Eng., Oct. 28.—Henry John Moreton, third Earl of Ducie, died here today. He was born in 1827, and was known as the "Father of the House of Lords," having been a member of that body for 68 years. The earl lived through five reigns.

The heir to the earldom is Berkeley Basil Moreton, colonial secretary and minister of public instruction at Queensland from 1885 to 1888. He is the fourth son of the third earl, and was born in 1846.

Let the Women Tell Their Story

Mrs. M. E. Robson, 170 Dublin St., Peterboro', Ont., writes: "My daughter of 15 lost appetite, color and was on the verge of nervous collapse. Five boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food completely restored her health and strength."

"From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."—Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald Street, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Mrs. Wm. Woods, Coldwater, Ont., writes: "After the birth of my baby I was run down, nervous and could not eat nor sleep, jumping at the least noise. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food built me up and made me strong and well again."

Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald St., Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was recommended to me by an aunt who used it while passing through the change of life and was completely built up by its use."

Mrs. Jos. Lalonde, Hydro Glen, Ont., writes: "I was so run down and nervous last summer that I was in bed most of the time. After using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I am able to do my housework, and, though 76 years old, feel better than I have for years."

Every woman is interested in another woman's letters, and we shall give the women a chance to present their experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food by quoting from their letters.

If you do not find anyone you know among these ladies, write us for references from people in your community, or ask your friends and neighbors for particulars about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

There is scarcely a town, village or hamlet in this great country but can produce splendid evidence as to the restorative, upbuilding influence of this well-known treatment for the blood and nerves.

Mrs. Jennie Haywood, 98 Turner St., Ottawa, Ont.: After 16 weeks in a hospital with rheumatic fever I returned home a complete nervous wreck. I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and have had no return of nervous trouble or rheumatism."

Mrs. W. H. McIntyre, Gananoque, Ont.: "About five years ago I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when in a state of absolute collapse, and continued its use until I had taken fourteen boxes. I cannot praise it enough, for it worked a miracle in my case."

Mrs. May W. Taylor, 1309 Davie Street, Vancouver, B.C.: "Ten of my circle told me that they take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for that 'all-in' feeling attendant on the care of children and performance of housework. I myself take it for nervous irritability, and absolutely depend on it. I give my children the Nerve Food during 'examination week,' and am sure it helps them."

Mrs. Annie Bellamy, 33 Pauline Avenue, Toronto, Ont.: "Since the 'flu" epidemic people are resorting to preventive measures more than ever, and find that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food gives protection against the 'flu' and all other germ diseases."

Mrs. W. H. Stoker, 68 Robert Street, Hamilton, Ont.: "A young mother told me she was so glad I advised her to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after her baby was born. She had tried many things, but after no success with them I told her just how much benefit I had gained with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so she also used it with the same wonderful results."

Mrs. R. I. Scott, Teacher, Czar, Alta.: "After teaching school for two years my nerves were in a shattered condition, and I had almost incessant headaches. The doctor told me I would have to quit, but a teacher friend told me how she was restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food under similar conditions. My nerves were completely restored, so that I thoroughly enjoy life."

Mrs. John O'Donnell, 50 Colonial Street, St. John, Nfld.: "While some used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for run-down condition, ragged nerves and sleeplessness, there was one ailment which predominated—nervous headache. In combating nervous headache Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has no rival."

DR. CHASE'S Nerve Food

Is gentle in action and wonderfully potent in forming new, rich blood and building up the nervous system.

It is woman's greatest friend at every critical stage in her life and is endorsed by women everywhere. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!"

(JUDGE RUTHERFORD)

The Scriptures abound in time prophecies indicating when such events as have distressed mankind during the past few years, and the opportunity for profiteering in all its phases will forever end.

The divine law is inexorable and every inspired revelation of the divine purpose respecting the affairs of the old world, over which Jehovah for a special purpose tolerated Satan to rule, has been fulfilled exactly on time, and the time for the binding of Satan is at hand.

Every Bible scholar is aware, whether it is now or one hundred years hence that mankind will sometime arrive at the end of Satan's reign, when everlasting life on this earth can be his blessed portion, instead of death and the tomb as has been the case under Satan's six thousand years of evil domination and delusion.

The purpose of this free lecture is to furnish every inquirer positive Biblical proof and secular evidence, based on prophecies fulfilled during the past five years that millions now living will never die, and that we will within the next few years enter this long hoped for period, when families will be reunited and live happily on earth ever after.

If you are interested in the future blessing of yourself and your loved ones and of the whole human family you owe it to yourself to hear this lecture by

And these at 8:15 p.m.: MELBOURNE (Woodman Hall), DORCHESTER (Town Hall), STRATHROY (Lyceum Theatre).

This lecture has comforted multitudes bereaved by the world war, epidemics, and attending sorrows. So great has been the demand that it has been amplified and published in book form, including 500 Scriptural proof texts. Those unable to hear the lecture may have a copy by sending 25 cents to International Bible Students Association, 270 Dundas street west, Toronto, Ont.

Canadian Grain Markets

WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28.—Following Chicago, the local wheat market, which had been showing a little strength all day, was quite strong at the close. The trade volume, however, was not large. The close was 1⅞@2¼c higher.

No. 2 northern wheat was in demand on the cash market, but other grades were not wanted. The demand for No. 2 was caused by requirements necessary to fill tonnage at the head of the lakes.

Future coarse grains were inclined to be in sympathy with wheat. Oats closed ¾@1⅜c higher; barley, ⅝@1c; rye, ¾@1¼c higher. Flax was an exception and closed with a decline of ⅛@1½c.

Cash coarse grains showed little change with the demand very slow.

Cash quotations—Close:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.11⅝; No. 1 northern, $1.11⅛; No. 2 do., $1.08⅝; No. 3, $1.04⅛; No. 4, 97⅛c; No. 5, 90⅞c; No. 6, 71⅞c; feed, 81⅞c; track, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, $1.10⅞.

Rails and Industrials Gain On New York Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The stock market today responded to the abandonment of the proposed railroad strike by an active session, in which sales approximated 1,000,000 shares and leading rails, industrials and many specialties scored extreme gains of one to three points.

Shorts contributed largely to the day's movement, covering contracts in almost every branch of the list, but commission houses reported a substantial investment inquiry from local and out-of-town sources.

Domestic oils, the real features of the last few days, continued to move forward, California issues again being most prominent. Realizing or profit-taking sales made little impression until the final hour, when reactions by one to two points resulted in an easy close.

Relaxed money conditions accelerated the upward movement, call money declining from six per cent to five per cent at midday. In private negotiations demand loans were made at as low as 4½ per cent, thirty and sixty-day accommodations also showing slight concessions.

All the important foreign exchanges were lower, sterling reacting 3½c from the week's highest quotation, with declines of three to ten points for the more active continental remittances, excepting the French rate, which was steady.

Railroad bonds also strengthened on the strike settlement and domestic industrials were moderately better. Victory notes were at highest quotaions of he year and most liberty bonds closed at advances.

Total sales (par value), aggregated $14,875,000.

PAPERS FEATURE TORONTO MARKET

Cancellaton of Threatened Strike Stimulates Trading.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—The stock markets received a great impetus today from the cancellation of the proposed railroad strike in the United States. Wall Street opened with decided strength and the changed tone quickly extended to the Canadian exchanges. Interest centered chiefly in the paper stocks on the Canadian markets, though here and there sharp gains were made in other securities, making a day of nearly all-round advances. In terest in the papers probably came from the feeling of reaction against the long decline from which the paper stocks have been affected almost unbrokenly for upwards of a year. Any change in market tone, it was considered, would naturally attract attention to the paper group on that account, coupled with the additional fact that favorable news has been received of late as to the recovery of business by the paper companies. The position of these companies in regard to earnings may be another matter, say some of the local brokers, having regard to the high production costs in the woods last winter and the present lowered rate of newsprint in the market.

Among the papers attention centered to a great extent here on Brompton, which sold up to 25¾, with a gain of over two points. Spanish River preferred was almost two points higher, but old Riordon common declined a point to four. The steel stocks also benefitted by the change, particularly Steel of Canada, which moved up to 63 here. There was a good deal of curiosity as to the cause of the movement in Canadian General Electric, which advanced another point to 95¼. The strength of the demand was so persistent that brokers came to think there might be something behind it, but the explanation was not forthcoming. Consumers' Gas, Canners preferred, Car and Foundry preferred, Canada Bread, Atlantic Sugar and Canadian Pacific were other stocks to advance. Toronto Railway again eased off and Twin City lost another point to 37.

Victory bonds were steady and bank stocks were almost entirely neglected.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO Oct. 28.—Wheat took an upward swing in price today, helped by the calling off of the railroad strike. Closing quotations, although unsettled, were 1½@2½c net higher with December $1.08@1.08⅝ and May $1.13⅛@1.13¼. Corn gained 1⅛@1⅜c and oats ⅞@1⅛c. In provisons the outcome varied from 25c decline to 5c advance.

Only moderate strength showed itself in wheat at the opening and the buying was far from being of an aggressive character. Later however, bulls displayed more confidence and there were material gains, with practically all of the advance being held at the finish. Aside from the rail strike settlement, the chief stimulating factor was an estimated yield this season in 39 counties of 154,000,000 bushels less than last year's total. On the other hand, export business appeared to be at a halt and bears declared that higher values would be difficult to attain pending the removal of export congestion.

Corn and oats rose with wheat. Besides, unfavorable shipping reports from Illinois had considerable effect of the corn market.

Provisions were lower most of the time with hogs. January lard, however, was in demand from outside packers, future delivery tradings in cotton seed oil were began here today. Sales totalled 300,000 pounds at $8.65@8.75 for May.

INTERNAL AFFAIRS DISTURB POLAND

Warsaw, Poland, Oct. 28.—The strike of the municipal workers came to an end after lasting fourteen days, during which Warsaw was more or less deprived of water, gas and tramways, to say nothing of less important necessary factors in modern town life. The struggle ended with a rise of over 100 per cent in wages, but the economic question was not in reality the vital one in this case, as both the government and the municipal authorities, in view of the depreciation of the Bolish mark and the rise in prices which followed the release from control of articles of first necessity, were from the first willing to raise the men's wages.

The real significance of the strike lay in the political demands made by the strikers, among which the most important was the call on the government to resign. Whether in answer to this or in view of the want of support in Parliament and in the commissions, the prime minister and cabinet resolved to give in their resignations. Parliament was convoked for September 13, and rumor stated that a non-party government of specialists would take the place of Mr. Witos and his cabinet ministers.

The internal situation in Poland has been extremely grave. Bolshevist agitators have taken advantage of the general dissatisfaction caused by the high price of food commodities, and have been doing their utmost to stir up the working population. Speculation ran riot and the government was helpless to stop it. The country has been overrun with refugees from Russia, who spread Communism among the people.

The real source of the high prices at present prevailing lies to a large extent with the agriculturists, the peasants no less than the landowners. Mr. Witos, himself a peasant and the representative of the peasant party, is accused of favoring his class, who have grown rich at the expense of the community. The peasant pays very few taxes and takes enormous profits; moreover, instead of letting his capital circulate, he stores up his money, and, having few wants, does not contribute to the increase of trade.

Resentment Against Landowners.

Nevertheless, the workingmen are less incensed against the peasant than against the industrialists and landowners, although under present conditions both these latter have to face far greater difficulties. Wages are so high that factories are run at a loss or at minimum profit, and the same applies to large landed estates. Many people affirm that a modified Bolshevism already exists in Poland. On the other hand, profiteers, who speculate on low exchange value, run rife. A quite new race of people has arisen in Warsaw, giving an unwonted and strange physiognomy to the town. So unsympathetic is the tone of Poland's capital that many of the people of higher intellectual culture have left the town and have taken up their residence in more congenial surroundings, where the contagion of money-hunting makes itself less felt.

As regards foreign politics, all is still uncertain. The nation is anxiously awaiting the solution of the Upper Silesian and Vilna problems.

NEGOTIATIONS AS TO THE SUEZ CANAL

Problem Is To Protect Great Waterway and Lower Tolls to French and British.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—In the summer the Anglo-Egyptian negotiations in London were believed to have been on the point of ending in a deadlock when the prime minister saved the situation by a tactful speech in the House of Commons. He then promised that the negotiations should be resumed in the autumn. The time has now come, and the Egyptians are looking forward to another conference.

Their standpoint was that no country can be independent in which foreign troops are encamped without the permission of the native authorities. Therefore, the British garrison in Egypt should be withdrawn. The representatives of this country, with the Alexandrian riots fresh in their mind, apparently doubted the capacity of Egypt to provide adequate safeguards against a reptition of such disturbances. As the capitulatory powers were of similar opinion the Egyptian delegates, it is reported, suggested that without any change in the capitulations, the negotiations should be confined to England and Egypt.

If these two countries come to an agreement Egypt, as a free state, could then approach the capitulatory powers as seemed best to her. Apparently the British Government agreed to this suggestion, so that, although a basis of discussion was reached before the negotiations were suspended, the inference from Mr. Lloyd George's speech, and official silence on the matter, together with comments of well-informed Nationalists thereon, is that there was no agreement of the evacuation problem. It has still to be settled.

Of Vital Concern to Powers.

The Egyptians appear to suppose that the future of the Suez Canal concerns only themselves and European powers, especially England. But the waterway is one of the two vital links in the greatest of the world's trade routes, and, to the Commonwealth and India, of supreme interest. A symbol of Australia's dependence on this route was the appearance of her soldiers in the Soudan in 1884, and in the defence of the canal against the Turks in the Great War.

At the late session of the imperial conference the Empire's relations with Egypt formed a subject of discussion, and an official communication was made to the press that Great Britain and the dominions were in entire agreement as to the policy to be pursued. But the Egyptian delegates did not meet the premiers at a round table, either before or after. If they had, perhaps, the negotiations instead of being suspended might have taken another course. No blame attaches to anyone, as the pressure on the members of the imperial conference was already as great as the strongest of them could bear. But if it had been possible to arrange such a gathering, the Egyptians might have seen the problem in a new light.

At present they seem to be under the impression that in the negotiations the British foreign office was tied by the war office, whose demands are based on pure strategy, and are incompatible with Egypt's complete internal independence. But if, instead of dealing with Great Britain and the capitulatory powers separately, Egypt were to put her case before all the nations directly interested in the Suez Canal, she would then be able to see it better, not in relation to herself and Britain alone, but in relation to half the world.

Conference of Large Proportions.

That the prime minister has some such move in view is believed by some of his friends here. Seeing that a limited conference nearly led to a deadlock, he hopes, they say, to arrive at a settlement by making the conference of bigger international proportions. This move may impose delay in the resumption of negotiations, but, it is believed, it would be worth while when the results came to be reaped.

The idea of many Egyptians at present is that their country's independence, as they conceive it, not being compatible with the military demands of the war office, Mr. Lloyd George will take upon himself the responsibility of dropping them. So he may, in their present form, but the great thing is to come to a satisfactory arrangement for the security of the Suez Canal that will not only satisfy Egypt, but England, France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Australia and India. If delegates from all these nations could meet Egyptian delegates in conference the question would then, for the first time, be seen in true perspective.

Apparently Anglo-Egyptian negotiations in London brought forth only two proposals, one from Britain, that her military occupation should continue, and one from Italy, that an international force should guard the canal and other communications, a proposal that was promptly negatived because it would lead to more friction than it would prevent. The suggestion made by the Egyptian delegates that British troops might be stationed on the Palestine border could not be considered by the war office because its disposition would leave the supply of fresh water so that it could be turned on and off at will by the Egyptians. An international meeting of the parties concerned, many people think, could do better than this.

Economic Value of Canal.

The question of the security of the Suez Canal is, to most countries interested in it, not military, but economic. Only to England, India and Australia is it of the first strategic, as well as economic, importance. But, according to the Egyptian accounts, capitulatory powers in the recent negotiations in London made it clear that, unless the canal is properly safeguarded and wisely administered, it will not serve commerce well. That is why they demand satisfactory guarantees from the Egyptians toward that end, and, from their point of view, these have not so far been forthcoming.

Then for a long time past the Commonwealth and India have had a grievance because the canal dues are so heavy and the dividends of the shareholders so high. The matter has been brought up by Australia at several sessions of the imperial conference, and has formed a subject of discussion between the British and Australian governments many time. Before the war Holland and Germany, too, were beginning to get restive on account of the burdens borne by their shipping engaged on the Suez route. When Anglo-Egyptian relations were discussed at the last session of the imperial conference, the question was raised again.

Should the international conference with regard to safeguarding the Suez Canal materialize, as now seems probable, the canal dues, it is expected, will have full consideration. A conference that at once settled to the satisfaction of the British and Egyptians alike the problem of protecting the canal, and of reducing its tolls to the satisfaction of the French and British as shareholders and traders, would confer two great boons on the world: (1) the promotion of good-will as between nations, and (2) the cheapening of transport on the greatest of trade routes.

NATURE OF NEW CZECH CABINET

Five Parties of Coalition Are Represented and Functionaries Are Included.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Oct. 28.—During the past year, a ministry of functionaries has governed in Czecho-Slovakia. Such a ministry is quite an anachronism in a country so sincerely, so passionately democratic as Czecho-Slovakia. It is the negation of the government of the people by the people, and is essentially a ministry of transition. If, nevertheless, the Carny ministry has been able to last a year, it is because the prime minister, Mr. Carny, had conquered the esteem and the sympathy of all the parties.

It became necessary to have recourse to the expedient of a ministry of functionaries, because of the defection of the Socialists, which produced a dislocation in the parliamentary cabinet. This Socialist defection was itself the result of the dislocation of the party, due to the formation of a Communist fraction, which refused all collaboration with the bourgeois. As a consequence, the action of the Socialist party, which played a preponderating role the Government and in Parliament, was totally annulled.

Since then a schism has occurred between the Traditionalist Socialists and the Communists, and the mass of the working population has manifested its reprobation of Bolshevism. This has allowed a renewal of negotiations between the political parties for the re-establishment of a parliamentary government. These negotiations have been engaged for some time between the five political parties of the country —Traditionalist Socialists, National Socialists, Nationl Democrats (Liberals), Agrarians and Roman Catholics. The German parties had excluded themselves from these negotiations by their attitude of systematic opposition, which they still further accentuated by their want of tact toward a man so universally respected as the president of the republic, Dr. Masaryk.

The negotiations have been difficult, and it would really seem that the accord, which has been finally realized, is based rather on a reciprocal neutralization than on a mutual collaboration for the execution of a well defined program. The new government is not really a purely parliamentary government. The presidency has been given, not to the chief of the Agrarian party, who, for some weeks past, was generally designed as the future chief of the government, but to Mr. Benes, minister of foreign affairs, and if the five parties of the coalition are represented in the government, a certain number of portfolios are still confided to functionaries.

Mr. Benes, the new president of the council, who was formerly elected as a National Socialist, has not been affiliated to any party since he took up the management of the foreign affairs of the republic. It is well known with what talent and success he defended the interests of Czecho-Slovakia at the conference of the Allies, during the peace negotiations, and later on the Society of Nations.

Mr. Benes is one of those rare politicians which the war and its results have revealed to be possessed of the true qualties of a statesman. With the president, Mr. Masaryk, he has been the real founder of Czecho-Slovakia, this new state of nearly 14,000,000 inhabitants, which appears called upon to play an important role in the politics of central and eastern Europe. It is also he who, by his indefatigable activity and loyalty, succeeded in forming the little entente, which has become the principal factor for maintaining peace in central Europe.
