THE RANNEY BILL TO CHECK RACE TRIPS

RANNEY SUGGESTS BETTING BILL FOR DOMINION HOUSE

Would Amend Criminal Code To Suppress Publication of Racing Tips.

ONTARIO POWERLESS?

Attorney-General Denies That His Measure Was Meant for "Joker."

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Feb. 8.—Attorney-General Ranney has suggested to the minister of justice the advisability of the Canadian Parliament passing legislation similar to the Ranney betting bill as an amendment to the criminal code, which would thus be fully rounded out and capable of suppressing the dissemination of racing information, which at present only does partially.

If the suggested legislation is passed at Ottawa, there will probably be no necessity of putting the Ranney bill in force, and hence the measure now before the Legislature is made subject to proclamation.

As a matter of fact, there has been some doubt whether the province of Ontario has power to deal with the problem. Premier Drury has indicated on more than one occasion that the bill was one to be grappled with by federal legislation.

Asked if the reference to the criminal code in his bill constituted a "joker" of any sort, Mr. Ranney unhesitatingly replied in the negative.

The Ranney bill forbids the publication of the odds, pari-mutuel payments, etc., or any intelligence relating to or connected with, horse racing, on penalty not exceeding $500 or six months in prison.

It forbids the publication of all betting information whether it is intended for use in horse racing or not, while the present criminal code only forbids publication of information of this kind, when it is intended for use in connection with bookmaking, pool selling, betting or wagering.

Under the Ranney bill the publication is forbidden. Under the criminal code it is only forbidden when intended for use in connection with gambling.

The other portions of the Ranney bill merely keep the jurisdiction of the province intact, as expressed in the criminal code, so that anyone accused of the violation of the Ranney bill cannot escape to the provinces on the ground that what he did was not forbidden by the code, it is stated.

The idea of prohibiting the prices after the race has been run, is to prevent handbooks makers from paying.

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Feb. 8.—Farm wages in the U. S. are lower than they were three months ago. Investigation proved the existence of gold veins and also showed that a ton of earth in the mountains near Korbach produced 44 grams of the gold.

Investigation proved the existence of gold veins and also showed that a ton of earth in the mountains near Korbach produced 44 grams of the gold.

TURKEY EXTENDS HER ULTIMATUM FOR SINGLE DAY

Twenty-Four Hours Grace Allowed Allies to Withdraw Warships.

DECISION IGNORED

French Cruiser Speeds to Forbidden Waters in Deliberate Defiance.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Constantinople, Feb. 8.—Turkey today extended, by 24 hours, the ultimatum sent to the Allied powers demanding withdrawal of all foreign warships of more than 1,000 tons from Smyrna harbor.

In the meantime, a French cruiser went at full speed for the forbidden waters, and two British battle cruisers, the Resolution and the Emperor of India, were held in readiness at Mitylene. The French indicated they would follow the British example of deliberate defiance of the Turk ultimatum.

LONDON WAITS.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
London, Feb. 8.—Delay in despatches from the Near East left London in doubt early today as to the outcome of the Turkish ultimatum to the Allies, that all warships over 1,000 tons were requested to leave Smyrna harbor before midnight.

British men-of-war were known to be steaming at full speed toward the harbor to defy the ultimatum, but whether the Turks attempted to drive out the war vessels, as they threatened, is not known.

The Daily Express today declared the Turks are strongly fortifying the coast of Smyrna with six-inch guns. These are mounted upon the south side of the gulf, where shallow force ships entering and leaving the harbor to hug the shore. British subjects have been forbidden by British authorities to enter Smyrna, the Express states.

IRREGULARS IN THRACE ACTIVE

Associated Press Despatch.
Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 8.—Advices from the frontier declare the activity of irregular bands in Thrace is on the increase, and that several Greek military posts along the Macedonian border in the interior were attacked. The Greek troops, undertaking several measures in reprisal, are said to have captured several points along the Maritima and the Adriatic coast of Karagatch.

The Turkish and Bulgarian population of Thrace is reported on the move toward the Bulgarian frontier.

The Lights Go Out in Old King's Tomb

Another Day Lost When the Engine Refuses To Work.

Associated Press Despatch.
Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 8.—Most people connected in any way with King Tut-Ankh-Amun's tomb have come to the conclusion that there is some malignant influence radiating from it. Yesterday they suffered from a plague of darkness.

A gas engine generating electricity for illuminating the tomb was taken down for overhauling. It resumed duty yesterday morning, but before long developed trouble, and the lights went out. Thus, another day was lost, and the opening of the inner chamber receded still further into the future.

Controversies are raging in Egypt concerning the tomb. Apparently a struggle is going on between the discoverers and the Egyptian antiquities department as to where their respective interests begin and end.

Pauline's "Big Friend" Didn't Know It, But He's a Better Lawyer Than a Poet

Special to The Advertiser.
Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—A number of telegrams signed "Always George" were on file in the superior court here today as evidence in the suit of George Edwin Joseph, New York attorney, against Pauline Frederick, actress, for $36,000 for legal services, and in her counter-suit for $48,547, which she charges is due from him on several counts.

Miss Frederick's attorney, cross-examining Joseph, brought from the plaintiff a declaration that he was not jealous of Willard Mack, Miss Frederick's former actor-husband, and that telegrams he sent her during the divorce proceedings were designed to "inspire her with confidence."

One of the telegrams introduced by the defense to support its contention that Joseph's interest in Miss Frederick was "more personal than professional," dated back into 1919 and sent from Winslow, Arizona, read: "Pauline, loved and lovely queen of all the land of night-have-been, by gracious, radiant smile, illumines every weary mile—George."

Miss Frederick is said to have termed him "My great big friend."

STORM-BATTERED SHIP LOSES STEERING GEAR

Second Officer Dead and Crew Injured on Coastal Steamer.

Associated Press Despatch.
Curling, Nfld., Feb. 8.—The coastal steamer Kyle, beset by storms of St. Pierre and Miquelon, while trying to make the run from St. John's to Louisbourg, C. B., sent word by radio today that she had lost the use of both her steam steering gear and the hand steering wheel. Second Officer Carter lost his life in the gale, and others of the crew were injured.

Captain Stevenson said he was making efforts between storms to attach the steering chains to the after-ward, and to try to steer the steamer in that way.

MAKE TURKS WORTHY WITH MORAL SUASION

American Says Such Means Must Be Used Since Force Has Failed.

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Feb. 8.—Rev. Dr. F. L. Barton, secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, Boston, and chairman of the Near East Relief of New York, conferred at the state department yesterday over the Lausanne conference, which he attended until the latter part of January.

Although he would not discuss his call at the state department, Dr. Barton said: "The conclusions of the Lausanne conference, as expressed in the treaty yet unsigned, except in fact, calls forth the unequalled protest of every American against the colonial injustices it permits."

"The entire Armenian population," he continued, "are turned out of Turkey—their ancestral home—and sent upon the long journey, dependent upon charity. The task of caring for these is too stupendous for a single private charity like the Near East Relief."

"The conference that has tried Turkey is the highest tribunal before which a nation can be brought, and from its findings the world can be dependent upon charity. The task of caring for these is too stupendous for a single private charity like the Near East Relief."

FRENCH SOLDIERS ADVANCE FURTHER ON GERMAN LAND

Move Forward at Dawn—Extend Occupation Toward Elberfeld.

STINNES URGES WAR

Teuton Government Believes Many By-Productions Will Be Taken Over.

By CARL D. GROOT.
Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Berlin, Feb. 8.—French troops in newly-occupied territory continued their advance at dawn, extending the occupation in the direction of Elberfeld.

Reports from Essen stated that the French plan to strengthen the garrison there with a new battalion. Offenburger dispatches said excitement was increasing, that the invaders had directed artillery against that city and were requisitioning everything they required as though under wartime conditions. A general strike of German workers is threatened as a reprisal, with Communists favoring separate action.

Government reports indicate a growing belief that France intends to make one great military zone of the right bank of the Rhine and seize not only coal and coke, but all by-products, including dyes.

Hugo Stinnes, interviewed at Mulheim, declared against negotiations with the invaders. The situation doesn't call for talk," the German declared. "We will fight it out."

Belief that the French occupation would reach and envelop Elberfeld tonight was heightened by reports that blue-clad troops were in the streets of Hueskewagen and that a contingent of French railway troops had arrived at Brake.

Prince Max of Baden, attacking the United States for its attitude of non-intervention in the Ruhr, characterized the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine as the "realization of a crusade to the world's rescue."

He declared Anglo-Saxon races would yet come to Germany's rescue, and that the attitude of the United States government did not adequately represent the feelings of the American people.

FRANCE WILL PARTICIPATE.
Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Paris, Feb. 8.—France will play her full part in the Near East if the Turks attempt to enforce ultimatums such as that of ordering all allied warships from Smyrna harbor, it was stated today.

The government ordered its Mediterranean fleet to take all measures to protect allied citizens, firing if necessary.

The French consul at Smyrna asked permission to withdraw the entire French colony, stating the government did not intend to exchange the Turkish demands. The Matin newspaper today stated that the Turkish demands, as well as those of the Allies, will be endangered if the shore batteries fire.

In the wagon were four cases of "something," and this "something" was surrounded with sacks of coal.

At Lytle street, the exhausted equine sat down in the middle of the road, and refused to flee further. He was all played out.

Act States Nothing Therein Shall Interfere With the Criminal Code.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Feb. 7.—The bill introduced in the legislature yesterday by Attorney-General Rayner, prohibiting the publication of racing tips and prices, does not alter the Canadian criminal code in any possible way, state police officials, who prosecute standbook men in Toronto, and who have made test cases against the publication of racing newspapers.

The police argue that Section V. of Mr. Rayner's bill nullifies all other sections of his bill. Section V. reads: (5) Nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to permit anything prohibited by the criminal code, or by any other statute of Canada, nor shall anything in this act be deemed to prohibit anything expressly permitted or declared to be unlawful by the criminal code or by any other statute of Canada.

"Mr. Rayner's bill does not permit, according to sub-section 5, anything the criminal code prohibits and does not prohibit anything the criminal code permits," stated a police official. "The criminal code does not prevent the publication of pari-mutuel prices. It does not prevent the spreading of racing news or information. In fact, the whole bill is annulled by the criminal code. It is a splendid bill if it were not annulled by the code," said the police official.

MURDER CHARGE UP IN MT. FOREST CASE

Arkansas Authorities Allege L. Austin, Supposed Bank Bandit, Guilty of Killing.

Canadian Press Despatch. New York, Feb. 8.—An unexpected charge of murder against Lewis Austin, a member of the "Tenn.," who is alleged by the Canadian police to have participated in the Royal Bank robbery at Mount Forest, Ont., lodged against him today by Arkansas authorities, will, it is thought, considerably complicate the efforts of the Canadian government to have him extradited to Canada for the purpose of standing trial on the robbery charge.

Austin appeared before Judge Winslow yesterday in connection with habeas corpus proceedings recently taken out on his behalf by his counsel, who sought to have his removal to Canada prevented. Judge Winslow, however, refused to dismiss the petition and ordered the accused held for extradition. It was at this stage of the case that Assistant Prosecutor Brown and Sheriff Hancock of El Dorado, Ark., provided a sensational presentation of a requisition warrant for Austin's arrest on a charge of murder. They vigorously endeavored to persuade Judge Winslow that their state had prior claim to the alleged murderer, but the judge decided that the federal government was to have the first opportunity of trying the accused. Arkansas, he said, might have him afterwards.

OFFICIAL COUNT GIVES LIBERALS 62 SEATS

Standing Now, Liberals 62, Conservatives 21, and Labor 1.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, Feb. 8.—News that Dr. Gustave Lemaire, Liberal candidate, had been elected by acclamation in Gaspé County on account of the withdrawal of his Conservative opponent yesterday morning completes the provincial elections, but only for half an hour, for then the intelligence was received from the polls that the death of G. J. Denault, newly-elected Liberal in Richmond, the Gaspé election was deferred.

The standing of the parties is thus the same as yesterday: Liberals 62, Conservatives 21, Labor 1. The immediate future holds the certainty of a by-election in Richmond on the prospect of official contestations of elections in the St. Lawrence division of Montreal for the Liberal, and the St. Anne's division, irregularities, and the acclamation election of A. Leclerc in Quebec County.

Sixteen of the 20 alleged voters on election day at the various polls in the St. Lawrence division of Montreal, were given their liberty today by Judge Cusson.

Claims Was Knocked Down and Beaten When Asked For Money Due.

Special to The Advertiser. Detroit, Feb. 8.—Albert W. Ryerson, who recently figured as defendant in a divorce suit filed by his 18-year-old artist-model wife, Mazie Mitchell Ryerson, former London girl, will appear before Lieutenant John Steinhebel, investigator for domestic relations bureau in recorder's court, Thursday, to show why he should not be questioned about an assault and battery charge, brought against him by Manuk Auklesaria, who says he was formerly employed by Ryerson as chauffeur.

The announcement that Ryerson has been summoned to appear came shortly after it was revealed that Ryerson and his young wife were in the city of London, England, where the young woman had been thrown out of court after it was found that she was not an American citizen.

Auklesaria complained that he was knocked down stairs and beaten by Ryerson when he called at his former employer's office to collect money which he says Ryerson owes him for services.

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Grinstead, 846 Earl street, according to her own statement, drowned her babe today at her home shortly after noon. The child was taken to the city hospital where vain efforts were made to revive it with the pulmonary.

Philip Grinstead, the husband of the woman, stated that when he returned from work for dinner his wife met him at the door with the statement that she had drowned the baby, a boy, one month old. She had not slept since it was born and had been terribly depressed, he said. No charge has been made against Mrs. Grinstead.

AEROPLANE TRIUMPHS IN RACE TO SAVE LIFE OF WOODSMAN

Giant Machine From Mt. Clemens Carries Doctor To Beaver Island in Time To Revive Man Who Had Skull Fractured At Work.

Special to The Advertiser. Petoskey, Mich., Feb. 8.—A race with death by airplane and horses was won yesterday when a giant De Havilland bombing plane from Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, carried Doctor R. E. Armstrong, of Charlevoix, to Beaver Island, in time to successfully treat Jess Cole for a fracture of the skull.

While the plane was winging its way through snow storms and icy air northward from Mt. Clemens, Dr. J. E. Brown, of Levering, in a one-horse sleigh was slowly making his way across the thin ice bridge, which lay between Cross Village and Beaver Island. The plane, which left the ice on Pine Lake this afternoon, landed on Lake George on the south end of Cross Village and near the farm home where the injured worker was lying unconscious.

The physician operated at once, and succeeded in reviving the hardy man. He found the wound on the scalp healing. Plans to bring the wounded man to Charlevoix were given up when it was found he would recover. He will be treated with medicines left in the possession of his father. Barring complications, he will recover.

Despite ten inches of snow on the ice, the giant aircraft took to its wings gracefully and easily, and brought the physician back to Charlevoix this evening. The great effort then started for Selfridge Field, three hours' run to the southeast.

William Gibson and Charles Gallagher made the crossing on the ice bridge from St. James to Cross Village this morning to procure the services of Dr. Brown. The trip required 14 hours, so rough is the ice and so many detours were necessary around cracks and ice jams.

Cole received his injury when the heavy pole supporting a log jammer broke and hit him across the head. Sergeant R. L. Mitchell of Kansas City, commander of the first plane sent out from Selfridge Field yesterday to go to Beaver Island, was forced by engine trouble to land near Grayling Tuesday night. Dirt in the gasoline feed pipe caused motor trouble.

The distance from Mt. Clemens to Charlevoix by air line is 241 miles. The ship sent this morning to replace the one forced to land at Grayling made the flight in two hours and forty minutes, circling about near Petoskey before finally discovering the big black cross which marked the landing field on the snow-covered ice of Pine Lake at Charlevoix.

statement Tuesday when he held Mrs. Fannie Sprague in bail of $500 for trial on a charge of operating and maintaining a gambling house. Mrs. Sprague, who had been arrested by detectives who said husbands had complained that their wives were losing their earnings at the women's homes. Special to The Advertiser. New York, Feb. 8.—"I am going to stamp out poker games among married women. Many homes are ruined as a result of married men stealing in order to satisfy their wives' demands for money to engage in these games," said Mayor Hylan, who said women to stay at home looking after their families.

Special to The Advertiser. London, Feb. 8.—In preparation for what promises to be a most exciting and interesting session of parliament the cabinet began yesterday a series of meetings to arrange a program, and to outline the King's speech. In that speech the reference to foreign affairs will require unusual delicate wording owing to the French occupation of the Ruhr valley.

The French activities in the Ruhr are directly opposed, of course, by the British government, but as Prime Minister Bonar Law seeks by every possible means to avoid a quarrel with France, the King's declaration in regard to the matter must ride the fence.

It must neither arouse the French by any condemnatory intimation nor appear to support them in any way in measures which the British consider disastrous. Undoubtedly, however, this part of the King's address would be the basis of a hot debate in the House of Commons where the Liberals are expected to join the Laborites in condemning the government's policy of benevolent neutrality. Since his recent return from Spain, Lloyd George has been resting at his country home and occasionally receiving Liberal leaders who have discussed plans for a campaign to save British agriculture. The former prime minister intends to use the agricultural program as the basis for a great fight during the coming session. He will demand immediate relief for farmers in the matter of rural credit, reductions of taxes and governmental aid in increasing crops.

The Labor party, only mildly interested in agricultural reform, intends to center its efforts on a measure to amend the rent restrictions which caused a terrible mudslide between the tenants and the landlords in Scotland and the Midlands. The tenants have discovered that under this act they may occupy rent free any premises upon which the landlord has increased the rent without first notifying the tenants to vacate.

SAYS BOARD TREATED WORKERS UNJUSTLY

R. L. Brackin Claims Compensation Act Is Not Properly Administered.

JOHNSTON AGREES

East Simcoe Member Resents Alleged Wrong Treatment From Body.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Feb. 8.—A storm burst in the Legislature yesterday over the board which administers workmen's compensation act. It started when, on a motion for returns relative to one of the decisions of the board, J. Johnston, a government supporter from East Simcoe, launched an attack on the way the compensation act was being administered. The spread showed that the board was not the board has become very unpopular with a large number of members of the Legislature.

Another debate started over a newspaper report from Washington that a powerful company of United States capitalists were planning the development of St. Lawrence River power at Waddington, N.Y. Morrisburg, Ontario, the government urged to leave no stone unturned to conserve the power rights for the people of this province. These discussions took up so much time that the scheduled continuation of the debate on the address was crowded off the stage altogether. Edward Hogarth, who was to have spoken, will likely have an opportunity tomorrow.

Among the bills introduced was one by K. K. Homuth, making provision for holding municipal elections proportional representation should the electors decide to such a system by referendum, or if the municipal councils indorse such a plan by a three-fifths vote. J. B. Johnston, in launching the discussion on the workmen's compensation board said that it refused to consider any letter from a member of the Legislature on behalf of any claimant, and assumed the position that the member who wrote the board in such connection was exceeding his duties even when he wrote the man who could not read or write. He for one was not going to submit to the treatment he had received from that board.

Brackin Launches Attack. R. L. Brackin (West Kent) started an attack on the board with characteristic vigor and the fireworks began. The workmen's compensation act as administered by this board has not been a success as far as the injured men are concerned. He said, "There have been grave injustices. The board tried to settle for the least possible amount in every case. They have not known what they are entitled to and take whatever is sent them, signing an acknowledgment of complete payment. The man is allowed to get a lawyer to act for him. The whole policy is wrong. The board should advise every injured man as to how much he is entitled to, and try to get rid of him for the smallest amount possible."

Special to The Advertiser. Guelp, Feb. 8.—The Dominion government is planning to establish here an important feature of its work for the rehabilitation of the partially disabled soldiers under the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment. A commission has been investigating a number of properties recently that would be suitable for this purpose, and about two weeks ago finally closed a deal for the purchase of what is familiarly known in this section as the "Sorby Farm," a short distance from Guelp on the Waterloo road.

This farm is composed of 329 acres, and will be completely suitable for the purpose intended, being splendidly situated, with a stream of water running through it, having some of the finest buildings in the province erected on it, and possessing the best soil that might be found anywhere in this Dominion. An adjoining strip of 26 acres belonging to George McAllister, Guelp, is also desired by the government.

R. Ballagh, the last owner, admitted that the sale was a concession, and promised further particulars in the course of a few days. The price is said to be in the neighborhood of $29,000. The government takes possession of the farm on March 1.

SETTLEMENT OF DEBT TO CEMENT RELATIONS

President Harding Predicts Better Understanding Between Britain and U. S.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER. Special to The Advertiser. Washington, Feb. 7.—Approval of the British debt settlement by Congress will mark the arrival of a new era in America's relations with the United Kingdom. In the belief of President Harding, he sees ahead a friendly co-operation which will grow into a true understanding and which will in effect amount to an entente cordiale between these two great English-speaking powers.

Aside from the purely financial considerations involved in the British settlement, this new basis of friendly co-operation is the most significant effect of the funding agreement as seen here. That is what President Harding has in his mind when, in a message to Congress Wednesday, he said: "Here is the first clearing of the way toward a debt-burdened peace. Here is kept the faithfulness of a covenant of peace and of a covenant of peace and of a covenant of peace."

Special to The Advertiser. Stratford, Feb. 8.—Civil proceedings are now under way for the recovery by Mrs. Frank McCarty of her two children, Donna and John, who were taken from their home by abduction, and placed in a convent in Hamilton.

Mr. J. C. Makin, K. C., is acting for Mrs. McCarty. McCarty's counsel states civil action will not be taken to obtain the custody of the children. They are preparing to defend the criminal charge and that is all.

It has been learned that McCarty will not be tried by a jury, but that the county judge here, Mr. Justice J. E. Brown, will try the case before the June assizes without a jury.

GETS PREMIER HONOR AT CORN EXHIBITION

Mammoth Display of Grain Massed At Lambton County Show.

QUALITY SUPERIOR

Showing of Poultry At Petoskey Excels All Previous Years.

Special to The Advertiser. Petoskey, Feb. 8.—Ideal weather prevailed here today at the opening of the Lambton Corn and Poultry Exhibition. The corn exhibit was the largest and best yet held in Lambton, and so far the greatest success is predicted.

The town hall, where the corn exhibit is being held, is massed with the best corn and seed the county has produced. The day's program consisted mainly of judging of the exhibits, which is in charge of L. D. Hankinson of the Dominion Seed Company, Toronto.

Flint Corn Improves. Mr. Hankinson has been judge at the show for more than five years, and when asked how the corn compares with former years, stated that the exhibits outdo all of former years. In regards to bushel lots, he stated that they are exceptionally good this year, and that a marked improvement has been made in Flint corn. Lambton County Corn Growers are producing better corn in regard to its condition at the present time than any previous year, Mr. Hankinson stated, and equal that of any I have seen in the province.

Mr. W. A. Mason of Guelp, after judging the grain, stated that the grain exhibits were along the average. Stewart McDonald of Port Lambton swept the entire show, carrying off both trophies. He won the Bank of Toronto trophy for having the best bushel of Dent corn. This is Mr. McDonald's second year to win trophies, which become the property of the person winning the trophies three consecutive years.

Record Poultry Entries. The poultry show also excelled all previous years, having over 700 entries, which exceeds other years' entries by 200. Messrs. F. and G. Dymond of Kerwood won the silver English cup for the best cock, hen, and pullet. This is the second year that he has carried off the cup.

A. E. Doan of Theford now retains the Mediterranean cup for his Black Leghorns, having won the cup for three consecutive years. Mr. Doan of Theford now retains the Mediterranean cup for his Black Leghorns, having won the cup for three consecutive years.

LEAVE FIELD CLEAR FOR HEALEY IN ESSEX

Acclamation Assured When All Conservative Nominees Withdraw From Contest.

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, Ont., Feb. 8.—North Essex Conservatives in convention here this afternoon nominated half a dozen citizens for the vacancy created by the death of Hon. W. C. Kennedy, but with one accord all withdrew except H. Neal.

Tonight Neal stated he would not make the race. This leaves the constituency free for an acclamation for Albert F. Healey, the Liberal nominee, unless some development of an eleven-hour character, not now possible to predict, should occur. Among those whose names became before the convention this afternoon were William Stuart, of Belle River; Dr. W. Doyle, T. G. McHugh, F. W. Wilson and Mayor Wilson, of Windsor.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Feb. 8.—The tale of the "City of Dresden" disaster on the Lake Erie coast and its Simcoe police court aftermath was revived here Tuesday afternoon when Cralland Franklin, for whom a bench warrant was issued in December, appeared at Magistrate Guelp's office in company with his solicitor, Harold Barnum of Guelp. Franklin was the only member of the "City of Dresden" disaster who was summoned from the Petoskey district who failed to appear at the trials, following the wreck, and it became known that he had flown to Mexico. Apparently he thought better of his decision later, and decided to face the music, as his return to his home in South Walsingham was wholly voluntary.

Important Find of Human Bones Made Near Assiut by Brunton.

By ARTHUR WEIGALL. Special to The Advertiser. I have not yet had an opportunity of seeing the excavators to apologize to them for calling their supposed king's "gummy" an exquisite portrait of Tut-Ankh-Amen's Queen Nefertiti, as it unquestionably is, but I hope they will not take it amiss.

Some years ago German excavators found at Assiut, near Assiut, a bust of Queen Nefertiti, which is one of the objects which the Germans are keeping dark, and I do not suppose Carter has seen the photographs of it, as I have, and therefore he can be excused from having made what schoolboys called a "howler."

A very important discovery has been made near Assiut, 247 miles up the Nile from Cairo, by Brunton, who is working there. Prof. Flinders Petrie, British Egyptologist, has found a number of fossilized human animal bones in the shaft of a tomb of the first dynasty, dating back to the time of the pharaohs. The bones are not of the low neanderthal type, but, nevertheless, must be of immense age, and are particularly important as being the first traces of remains found in the Nile Valley. They are now being examined by Dr. Derry in Cairo.

STATES RUHR CHILDREN FACING STARVATION

Transport Minister Groener Paints Gloomy Picture of Conditions in Area.

By FERDINAND JAHN. Special Cable to The Advertiser. Berlin, Feb. 8.—Transport Minister Groener Wednesday painted a sorry picture of the hardships being forced on the babies and others of the Ruhr because of the French invasion.

Groener declared that the entire population is practically without milk, which was causing widespread suffering among infants. He said he would soon be forced to appeal to the Quakers for help. The children, he said, are forced to remain at home or play in the street, because the French have commandeered most of the houses to house their 100,000 troops in the area. The French, it is charged are placing theirs on a non-paying basis. "The Ruhr is a famine zone," he said, "and it is not to be allowed to fall into the hands of the French in their illegal invasion."

The socialists have announced that they will never give the reactionaries a chance to brand them with the accusation of stabbing the government in the back, in its attempt to defeat the French program.

It became known Wednesday that Germany plans to poll the opinion of the world to determine how they feel regarding French occupation of the Ruhr.

SIR GEORGE YOUNGER CREATED A VISCOUNT

Announcement Is Made in Deferential List of New Year's Honors.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Feb. 8.—Sir George Younger, chairman of the Unionist party, one of the foremost leaders in the political fight which brought about the resignation of David Lloyd George as prime minister, has been created a viscount. This became known yesterday through the official publication of a list of deferred New Year's honors.

Sir George Younger was a bitter opponent of Mr. Lloyd George, and for months carried on a campaign against the coalition government. He was one of the Unionist party's standard-bearers last October. The honor list also creates two other peers. The Right Hon. Herbert Pike Pease, assistant postmaster general since 1915, and Sir Owen Phillips, who is prominently identified with British shipping interests, are made barons.

Are Estimates Reliable?

Why should public works, undertaken by governments, cost, almost without exception, more, and much more, than the estimated amount?

Hon. Mr. Fielding, in his address at Ottawa on Tuesday, speaking of the railway situation, used the words:

"The cost was more than was expected; we all know that. Practically every public work costs more than the original estimate. This building under the administration of my right honorable friend has cost twice as much as it was estimated it would cost."

In Ontario we have an outstanding example in the Chippawa power development and in the Nipigon scheme. First estimates seem to have been only a point from which to start. There may be more latitude granted in this class of work than in others owing to the uncertainty of conditions that will be encountered.

In business life such a thing would not be tolerated as took place at Ottawa, where the parliament buildings have cost twice the amount estimated, and are not completed yet. There are plenty of cases where work is undertaken by private contractors and finished within the estimate, or, if not, the excess has not been out of reason.

It is not a high compliment to pay to public construction to say that "practically every public work costs more than the original estimate." Only two deductions can be made: (1) that the estimates are not properly prepared, and are too low in the first place, or (2) the work is not carried on efficiently afterward.

It is high time that all our governments served notice that there must be a very close relationship between an estimate and the figure at completion. Otherwise, why have an estimate at all?

The Engineer Problem

The attempt made by Mayor Wenige and some of his supporters in the city council to have five positions done away with in the engineering department failed because nine voted against the mayor and three with him. In the end the city engineer, whose department was being attacked, resigned. It may be that in the selection of a new engineer some of the reductions asked for in the staff may be accomplished.

The fact that Mayor Wenige's views on these matters did not carry does not prove that he was wrong, nor that those opposing him were all right. It was a situation calling for the use of more tact.

As the thing stood in council on Monday night, the engineer had been put entirely on the defensive, and when a man is placed in that position there can be very little co-operation in assisting the council to accomplish the end it had in view, viz., reducing the departmental overhead.

The resignation of Mr. Brazier relieves the situation, for it was very plain, from the viewpoint of the ratepayer, that the year's work in the engineering department was getting off to a poor start with a section of the city council seeking to cut it down against the wishes and advice of the engineer, and that official, with his back to the wall, fighting to justify his conduct of the department. In such an atmosphere the taxpayer does not get the best possible run for his money.

Back Once More.

London's famous bus bylaw paid its third or fourth visit to the city council chamber a few nights ago. The aldermen looked it over, shook their heads and advised the homeless measure to trot back and knock at the door of the police commission.

The police commission may open the door if it is satisfied no reporters are around, but what will then happen?

The police commission want the city council to be the responsible party in case there is a wreck or any trouble. The city council, in true Alphonse and Gaston form, beg the police commission to go ahead and frame the law, set the fees and insurance covering the operation of busses on London streets.

So the bylaw is regularly pelted from one to the other, while the public is weary of the whole affair, and wonders why the bodies chosen to conduct the business of the city don't go ahead and do it.

The Transferable Vote.

It will scarcely be claimed by anyone that the present method of nominating candidates and electing representatives to the legislature and to parliament are so perfect as to be incapable of improvement. But there may be some differences of opinion as to the nature of the reforms that should be adopted.

In the selecting of candidates it too often happens that a few persons exert all the influence, and when election time comes two or three candidates may be in the field, and people at large in the constituency may not feel specially drawn towards any one of them. But between them the electors have to choose. There is, of course, always a corrective at work, for the political party which brings out the best man improves its prospects.

When the nominations close and the candidates are in the field, the electors should have the fullest choice between such candidates as are before them. That is what the election is for—to enable a majority of the voters to elect the man they want. And the majority does it when but two candidates are in the field. Should not the wishes of the majority govern when three or more candidates are running?

It is suggested that by introducing the transferable vote—so that the voter could indicate his second choice in case his first choice is out of the running—an equitable result would be insured. Of three candidates in a riding that one would be elected by means of the transferable vote whose election was desired by a majority of those who voted. Is that not what everyone wants? How can anyone fairly and rightly want anything but that?

There was a three-cornered contest in East Simcoe in the last provincial election, and the result of the polling was that Anderson polled 2,773 votes, Hart 4,580 and Johnston 5,063.

Although Johnston was elected, an analysis of the figures shows that 2,290 more electors voted against him than for him—that is to say, a large majority of the electors divided their votes between the other two candidates and a minority elected Mr. Johnston to represent East Simcoe, and he has been doing it for nearly four years.

Each of these candidates had substantial support, each swept his own part of the riding, each expected to win until the polls closed. The electors expressed every man his first choice in marking his ballot. But it is not safe to say that every elector among them had not only a preference for one man as against the other two, but (if he could not elect that one), an equally strong preference for a second man as against the third?

The proposal is that in a three-cornered contest the voting shall be so conducted as to ascertain more closely what the wishes of a majority of the electors are. In the East Simcoe case the 2,773 electors who voted for Anderson would, under the proposed plan, have marked on their ballots their second choice as between Hart and Johnston. These votes might have elected Hart instead of Johnston or they might have greatly increased the Johnston vote. In either case, the man who represented East Simcoe in the legislature would have been the man elected by a majority of the voters. That is what's wanted.

In Debt or Out?

THE convention of the United Farmers of Alberta on the money question put itself on record in three declarations:

1. That "monopolistic control of money and credit are the fundamental cause not only of agricultural and industrial depression and stagnation, but also of modern wars."
 2. That the Dominion Government should set up a loan department whose business would be to issue notes declared to be of the value of money, these notes to be loaned upon one and only kind of business security, "improved, inhabited and used farms"—that is, to farmers and farmers only.

3. That the Government of Alberta should set up a provincial bank, with power to issue paper currency not secured by a gold reserve.

The Edmonton Bulletin, discussing these propositions, has to say: "Put in plain language, that means that the farmers of Alberta should be generally, normally and heavily in debt; and that they should be facilitated, even at the risk of the public credit, to get into debt and stay in debt; that instead of being, or aspiring to be the freest and most independent man in the community, the farmer should be encouraged to put himself in bondage and then to work out his days in effort to meet the interest payments on his borrowings; that instead of agriculture becoming the self-dependent basis of the whole economic structure, it should itself become an enterprise dependent on the willingness of people outside the province to lend money to the will and tax-paying power of debt-encumbered farmers."

The several proposals are themselves impracticable, and would be ruinous if attempted to be carried into effect. They proceed upon the assumption that anything that a government of a province might call money would really be money and accepted as such. But the view from which these suggestions proceed is more dangerous than the schemes themselves. The resolutions may not get any farther than the minute book of the U. F. A. convention. But if the idea they express prevails widely among the members of the organization, and among farmers outside it, the outlook for Alberta is not good.

 "Overcoats should be seen and not heard," runs an ad, probably hitting some of the loud ones now on sale. Reminds us that the other day we heard a man say to his friend:
 "So that's your new overcoat, eh? Isn't it rather loud?"
 "It's all right when I put on a muffler," said the other man.

THE CRACKED VOICE.
 He was one of the youngest recruits who ever graced the army and his voice was in the process of changing. Into the company barber shop he drifted and in tones that were at one moment a promising bass and at the next a feeble treble, demanded a haircut.
 "Hey!" ejaculated the bewildered barber, looking confusedly about him. "It's all right when I put on a time!"

Your Health

WHAT BALANCE MEANS IN LENGTH OF YEARS.
 By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

I have a friend who is a policeman. The other day as I drove past his station, he called out a greeting: "I hope you'll live to be a hundred and die young!"
 Think a bit. A policeman's life is a hard one. He is a man of action, a man of energy, a man of initiative. He is a man who is not content with the status quo. He is a man who is always looking for a better way. He is a man who is always looking for a better life. He is a man who is always looking for a better future. He is a man who is always looking for a better world. He is a man who is always looking for a better God.

"Oh! I don't want to live to be a hopeless and useless, feeble, old person."

If there were a guarantee of extreme old age combined with physical and mental vigor, everybody would be eager for that extended span of life.

But why can't we look forward to achieving one hundred years with reasonable usefulness at that age? I have been looking at my policeman friend and others of that upstanding and splendid army. Out-of-door living, provided it is founded on a properly looked-after body, should give promise of long life.

Christmas eve a judge died of heart disease. He was trimming a Christmas tree for his children when he had a sudden pain in his chest and passed away almost immediately. I read this account Christmas morning, when I was happy but tired out from my own efforts in trimming the tree the night before and distributing the little gifts at that unearthly hour children awaken on Christmas Day. Climbing up and down the stepladder, balancing on its tip, stretching up to reach the arch, tilt of Mary's pretty chin, the excitement of the occasion, result in considerable strain on the heart. If one is unaccustomed to exercise, I can see that this experience might easily be too much for a weak heart.

The policeman may have his life shortened by an insidious ailment which undermines his health and which is due to neglect of some organ of the body. The judge may have given his attention to individual organs, but from lack of systematic exercise of the entire body apparently lacked the power to resist the strain of a few minutes of unusual activity.

There can be no exceptional longevity without living a balanced life. To insure against disaster, such as sudden death, shortened life or chronic disease, with all its attendant sufferings, daily attention must be given to all those things which have a bearing on health.

For instance, the policeman cannot neglect his teeth, tonsils, kidneys, digestive organs or other single parts of the body without having his strong muscles weakened and his great endurance undermined.

Likewise, the judge may have perfect teeth and tonsils, he may have frequent tests to show that the kidneys and digestive tract are perfect in their functioning, but he may neglect to give himself the needed rest and daily exercise.

Unless there is a proper balancing of all the things having to do with health and its maintenance we will fail.

 A.—The reason why milk or other food causes one person distress and yet agrees with others, is, hard to explain. It is usually due to some idiosyncrasy of the individual.

The Daily Story

BOB'S BANNER DAY.

BY JANE OSBORN.

Bob's last name was Bennett and Mary was named Benson—facts which accounted for the juxtaposition of their seats in sociology 32 at the state university. Had it not been for the fact that if either sat anywhere but in the seat assigned, he or she would be counted absent when Professor Munson's assistant marked up the rollbook, they would certainly not have been such near neighbors in the classroom. As a rule co-eds didn't concern Bob Bennett in the least, but there was something about the arch, tilt of Mary's pretty chin, the slight dilation of her little nostrils, bespeaking perfect self-satisfaction, that seemed to irritate him immensely.

"If she's as proud as all that she oughtn't to have come to State University," he told himself, and the hours when Mary sat beside him in sociology class were the only occasions when Bob felt ashamed of his rather threadbare suit and shabby shoes. At other times he was pleased to think that even with hard scraping he could stick out his four years at all. And now he had begun his senior year, he owed nothing, and he had paid all his expenses as he went along by dint of a variety of toilsome jobs pursued during hours after classes.

"I know he's conceited," reflected Mary as she took her seat beside Bob Bennett. "Those big tall blondes always are. If he feels such scorn for girl students he shouldn't have come to a co-educational university." And Mary would turn her neatly blacked oxford under her chair to hide the worn spots on the toes.

On one occasion Professor Munson essayed to get better acquainted with his students in sociology 32 by inviting them to tea in one of the social rooms of the university. Mary and Bob first assured themselves they would not attend, but both ended by appearing at the hour appointed. Prof. Munson and his assistant fluttered around among their students.

"I am sure you know Miss Bennett, Mr. Benson," smirked the embarrassed assistant—"that is, Mr. Bennett, Miss Benson. You sit next each other, and I have such a time remembering which name belongs to which."

Bob signified that he did not know Miss Benson, and Miss Benson smiled with arch coldness, and they separated as such as the assistant had moved on to introduce other students.

After that Mary and Bob had to exchange greetings when they met in the classroom. Once when Bob noticed that Mary's pen had gone dry in the middle of a lecture he gave her his own, and used a pencil instead to take his own notes. Mary used it gingerly, and returned it with formal thanks afterward, and Bob told himself he regretted his burst of consideration. However, he never used the pen thereafter without being reminded of the pretty turn of the chin and the delicate contour of the nose of Mary Benson.

He had to admit to himself that he thought her very pretty. She was the kind of a girl a fellow would be proud to take to dances and things—that is, a fellow who didn't have to work his way through college and wear shabby clothes.

So Bob reflected as he started out one afternoon for a nearby industrial community, bearing a very heavy canvas case containing a variety of brushes. For Bob Bennett had secured the local agency for a brand of popular brushes and he had determined to canvass outlying towns rather than the college community itself. If he managed by dint of hard work and much persuasion to sell ten brushes in the course of an afternoon, with promise of two or three dollars commission later on, he felt that he had done well.

On this particular afternoon success greeted him at the outset. He showed all his brushes, leaving the most expensive—a long-handled window brush—till last. He had never received a single order for this. Before he had had a chance to recount its merits the housewife he was interviewing ordered one.

"We'll have to be washing windows again in a week or two," she said, "and goodness knows it's dangerous enough climbing on a ladder outside or trying to sit on the window-sill."

At the very next house his experience was similar. "Land sales, I'm glad you came," said this housewife, when she saw the window brush. "And to think it might have been me—the mother of four children, and right in the middle of grape preserves."

Bob took the order for the brush, but asked for no explanation for the enigmatical side remarks.

"Say," said a third housewife later on as she gave an order for the long-handled window brush, "you happened along just in time. Too bad about that young girl, though I don't know as she hurt herself seriously. She's so light she probably didn't land hard, but it's no fun having a ladder case in under you, now, is it?"

Gradually, as Bob acquired fifteen orders for long-handled window brushes, he pieced out the fact that a young houseworker cleaning windows had fallen from a ladder earlier that afternoon. She had sprained her wrist and bruised her face. She had been taken to the doctor's office because there was no hospital, and was waiting there until friends from her home might arrive to help her away.

Bob felt gleeful over his stroke of good luck, for he raked off fifty cents commission on each of these long-handled brushes; but the more he rejoiced the more sympathy he felt for the poor working girl whose misfortune had, luckily for good luck, ended by his going over to the doctor's office to make inquiries for her.

The doctor's wife at the door told him that she was still waiting for a friend to come for her. "She's not hurt much, but oughtn't to take the trolley ride alone. She's a student from the college—working her way—poor thing."

Bob said that he was going back to the college town, and would be glad to escort her. The doctor's wife seemed pleased, and opened the door to the doctor's study, where the poor little bruised window washer was sitting up right on a haircloth sofa, pale but composed. Her strained wrist had been neatly bandaged and a patch on the side of her cheek, with several red scratches, told the tale of her mishap.

Bob Bennett didn't realize for the first minute—in fact, not until the girl spoke his name, "Mr. Bennett," she said, "you are very good to offer to help me home. I'm your next door neighbor in Sociology 32." There was a gleam of arch or haughty now about the tilt of her chin, and the pretty nostrils showed no self-satisfied dilation.

Bob tried to insist on ordering a car from a nearby garage to take the girl more comfortably, but Mary stoutly refused to consent.

"If you'll just help me in and out of the trolley car I don't mind the trip at all," she said, and Bob would willingly have carried her all the way home on foot as a token of his gratitude for the grateful smile she bestowed on him.

On the way home he told her of his own struggles to get through college without having to go in debt, and Mary listened intently, with warm admiration lighting up her pale face.

"And I'd always imagined you were fearfully proud. I thought you had everything," she said. But they did not go on with the discussion, for just then a jolt of the car reminded Mary very sharply of the injury to her poor little ankle. She swayed ever so slightly in her seat, and Bob's strong arm found excuse to make its way protectingly around her shoulders.

It was dusk when they returned to the college town, but several students stopped and stared as they saw the stalwart Bob Bennett carrying Mary Benson in his arms the two blocks from the trolley station to the girls' dormitory. They recalled this incident several months later when the engagement of Mary Benson and Bob Bennett was included in a list of college romances of the year. But Mary and Bob kept their little secret, and Professor Munson and his assistant took full credit for having made the match.

PLEADS FOR WEST

Progressive Member From Selkirk, Manitoba, Outlines Farmers' Difficulties.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Feb. 8.—Two Liberal members from Nova Scotia had some criticisms to make during continued debate on the address in the house yesterday. L. H. Martell, Liberal from Hants, advised Sir Henry Thornton, instead of going to banquets and repeating "Politicians, hands off," to remember the old Biblical phrase:
"Let not him that giveth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off." And William Duff, Liberal from Lunenburg, pleading for economy, declared there was enough rope in the Halifax dockyards to fit out the entire British navy, the vessels of the Canadian government merchant marine, and all the ships that would come to Halifax for the next 25 years. There were 800 suits of clothes hanging in an attic. There were seven tons of sugar, 1,500 dozen teaspoons, 1,500 dozen tablespoons, and there was enough ink to supply Parliament for the next five years. Twenty millions Mr. Duff added, had been spent on terminals in Lunenburg. The expenditure was "unnecessary," and better terminals could have been built for two millions in another part of the city.

Mr. Duff further urged that the vessels of the Canadian government merchant marine should be sold, and he strongly disapproved any further expenditure on the Hudson Bay Railway.

Progressives Speak.

Other speakers during the sitting came entirely from Progressive ranks. Difficulties of the farmer were stressed on instances given. A.
J. Lewis, Progressive from Selkirk, current, advocated measures to preserve the identity of Canadian wheat in foreign markets, and favored completion of the Hudson Bay Railway to provide another outlet. Mr. Lewis declared also that neither the Canadian Parliament nor the Canadian people had been given an opportunity to decide whether Canada should send a contingent to the Near East.
In the last analysis, the question had been decided by the British government.

Resuming the debate on the address this afternoon, the Hon. W.
P. Bancroft (Progressive, Selkirk) said that W. P. Carroll (Cape Breton South), who spoke yesterday, had painted a picture of conditions among the western farmers which was entirely too rosy. Mr. Carroll had said that thousands of these farmers were as well off as the capitalists of Montreal. Mr. Carroll had also stated that prosperity reigned on the farms located within a 25-mile radius of the City of Winnipeg.
Coming from a constituency which adjoined Winnipeg, Mr. Bancroft declared that there was not a farm within that section which had paid expenses in the last three years.

Mr. Carroll's statement that every twelfth person in Saskatchewan owned a motor car was a gross misstatement, because of the long distances which farmers must travel.

The best way to get rid of the American tariff on Canadian products, said Mr. Bancroft, was to reduce the cost of production in this country. Then there would be a clamor in United States against a tariff that increased their cost of production.

Condemns Clothing Tax.

There were 4,000 fewer persons on the farms in Manitoba than a year ago, he said.

The existing taxes on woolen clothing were little short of a crime in a climate such as ours. Such a tax might be all right in Florida, but it was decidedly poor business in Canada. The average farmer who starts at once upon reduction of taxation and should begin with the greatest necessities, cotton and woolen goods,
and boots and shoes.

Donald F. Kellner, (Progressive, Edmonton), said agriculture in Canada was in a worse condition than it had been at any time in the past.
He illustrated this statement by giving an account of an auction at Edmonton, where four young horses brought an aggregate of only $35, while one old wagon was sold for $50. Mr. Martell had said there was a large surplus of apples in Nova Scotia for which there was no market. Mr. Kellner said that he did not bring them up to Ottawa where apples were selling at 5 cents each.
"Freight rates" was the chief explanation given by Mr. Martell.

William Duff, (Liberal, Lunenburg), argued that while Canada was better off than most countries, economy was necessary on the part of the government and on the part of all citizens, if the country was to return to a business basis. Nevertheless, if everybody would work, not six hours or eight hours, but from daylight to dark, he believed Canada would have no trouble in overcoming her difficulties.

L. H. Martell (Liberal, Hants, N.
S.) declared that when the redistribution bill came before the House the representative of the older eastern provinces should seek to secure the irreducible minimum of representation.

Urges Economy.

Dealing with the railway situation,
Mr. Martell said the government was pledged to give a fair trial to public ownership.

Referring to immigration, A. J.
Lewis (Progressive, Swift Current)
said that in the last census decade the natural increase over deaths, in spite of war and influenza, was approximately 1,500,000. In addition, there were 2,000,000 immigrants in the same period. The country lost 2,000,000 people—just as many as came in. What was the use of regaining a family in Canada and trying to keep abreast of the country's natural development if at the same time one set no further ahead?

A SON IS BORN TO PRINCESS MARY.

London, Feb. 8.—Princess Mary's boy is fair and sturdy. His cry is audible all over Chesterfield House, was word passed from the Lascelles residence today, as official bulletins continued to detail excellent progress in the conditions of Britain's princess and her son, born last night.

SIXTH HEIR TO THE THRONE
IS BORN TO PRINCESS MARYRoyal Household Calls To Pay Respect To Little Newcomer—Empire Joins in Rejoicing—Mother's Condition Reported as Quite Satisfactory.

By LLOYD ALLEN.

Special Cable To The Advertiser.

London, Feb. 8.—A son, heir sixth removed from the British throne, was born to Britain's beloved Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles at Chesterfield House last night. Today's official bulletins proclaimed: "Mother and son doing well."

King George and Queen Mary were early at the town house of Viscount Lascelles and his princess wife, and other members of the royal family called to pay respects to the little newcomer, while popular rejoicing amounted almost to a public holiday in London.
An official bulletin at 10 o'clock read:
"The Princess Mary passed a comfortable night. Her condition this morning was quite satisfactory."

Word was also issued to the effect that the baby, who, despite his mother's royal birth, is only a commoner, with "Honorable" as his only title, was doing excellently.

A special edition of the court circular said:

"Their majesties are gratified to announce the birth of a son to their daughter the Princess Mary gave birth to a son last night."

Potential Heir.

The baby is a potential heir to the crown, as matters stand today, although his royal mother renounced her rank when she married a commoner. There are at present only four sons of King George and Queen Mary, and the Princess Mary herself, with her newborn son, who are direct descendants of the present reigning family.

The entire British Empire joined in today's rejoicing. National enthusiasm was strictly personal, nothing of the kind.

Loggerheads.

Of late the cases appearing in provincial courts in the matter of a couple confined to branches of the motor vehicles act and minor civil bylaws.
There is considerable clamor around Carling street, and much speculation as to just how long it will last.

This morning P. H. Ball and Allen Hewitt appeared to answer charges of not having new license markers on their automobiles. The former showed the court that he had applied for them, but there had been some delay, for which he was not responsible, in his delivery. He was dismissed, and Mr.
Hewitt was ordered to pay the costs of the case.

The matrimonial troubles of the Bruce family were brought to light when William Bruce was called upon to answer a charge of disorderly conduct. It appears that he and his wife have not been getting along any too amicably of late.

Magistrate Graydon took the couple into his office after court and tried to persuade them to bury the rolling pin and start all over again. Mr.
Bruce was allowed out on bail for one week, while the court considers his difficulties.

Richard Harris pleaded guilty to being drunk and was given his freedom on paying $10 and costs to the cork.

A Hodgins was found guilty of not having a light on his cutter when sailing down and was fined $2 and costs.
William Tucker paid the same amount for obstructing traffic on the sidewalk by placing a coal chute over it in the delivery of fuel.

which had been uttered on the government's course in the Near East.
As a matter of fact, neither the Canadian people nor the Canadian parliament were given an opportunity to say whether we should send a contin-gent.

Mr. Lewis urged on the government the need of economy, and said he was not at all surprised by the amendment moved by Mr. Shaw. Great Britain and the United States were living within their income. Canada should do the same.

The House adjourned.

INSULIN PROVEN
PERFECT REMEDY
FOR DIABETICSHas Been Effective in Rebuilding Body of Dying Sufferers.

ALL CASES IMPROVE

Within Year Treatment Has Won Backing of Foremost Medical Authorities.

Special to The Advertiser.

Rochester, Minn., Feb. 7.—Insulin, declared to be a successful treatment for diabetes, is being used at the Mayo clinics, and has met with approval of specialists of the disease. It was learned here today.

While the clinic authorities refuse to cite specific results of the treatment at the Mayo hospitals, they assert the results are the same as found elsewhere.
These are known to be highly successful.

Dr. F. G. Banting of Toronto, professor at the University of Toronto, is in Rochester for a conference with members of the Mayo clinic. On Wednesday night he gave a lecture on the new treatment, the details of which are kept secret, so zealously is the medical fraternity guarding the launching of the discovery, which specialists here assert is of the highest preventive value.

Approximately 500 cases have been treated in the United States, and where the patients have continued to follow up the treatment, every case has shown decided improvement. Specialists cite the first fifty cases treated at the University of Ontario, where "excellent therapeutic results" were obtained.

Restored to Health.

It is understood that every one of the cases were in a large measure restored to health. "Daily injections of an adequate amount of the diet, permits the assimilation of enough food to enable the patient to gain in weight and in physical and mental vigor," declared a physician of authority who is connected with the treatment at the Mayo hospital.

"It is still too early to state whether the underlying diabetic condition is improved by the treatment, and it may take two or three years before a definite conclusion as to this can be reported.
A great advance in the treatment of diabetes has nevertheless been made.
Some patients were a definite improvement. The one topic of discussion heard in the streets, cars, trains, factories, workshops and homes was Prince Mary's baby."

Employees Take Holiday.

Employees of the Lascelles family estates at Harwood and elsewhere took a day's holiday to celebrate the auspicious event, for the Earl of Harwood and his son are good landlords and employers, and are thoroughly popular and esteemed. Family custom decrees that the first name of a future Earl of Lascelles shall be Henry.

It is understood that Lascelles wants to christen the infant George, in honor of his royal father-in-law, but that Mary insists on the retention of the old Lascelles name of Henry. However, George will probably be the boy's second name (the father's name is Henry George), and Edward will certainly be attached in honor of the Prince of Wales.

Until his father inherits the Earldom of Harwood, the boy's title will be simply the Hon. Henry Lascelles.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN
OF POLICE METHODSCharge Cops Employ Children
To Aid Arrest of Sabbath Offenders.

Further complaints were registered with Mayor Wenig today in connection with local police activities.

His worship received a communication charging that children are being employed by members of the police force to enter drug stores and restaurants on Sunday to make small purchases. That the child then receives a small commission for his participation in the event, after conviction of the proprietor, is the further allegation.

The letter will be considered at the next session of the police commission, together with similar complaints that have been made from time to time.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 8.—Fur-

the Gregory inquiry commission yester-

Irving Embury, carpenter, alleged that lack of lumber had caused the days' delay to the trestlework. Sometimes posts came without lumber, and at other times lumber without posts.
Some posts were too long, causing a wastage of six to eight feet on each Embury complained that for some weeks the men had nothing to do and at one time were left without a foreman.

George Williams, another carpenter also spoke of slackness of material at one period. Michael A. McCrea, general foreman carpenter, admitted that he was without a foreman for a short time, and that material had been delayed. He insisted, however, that there was always some work for the men to do. McCrea stated that small waste material and scrap metal had been sold for $550,000, and that 20,000 feet of sawn lumber had been made from ends of posts referred to doctors.

FRANCE AIMS TO SUPERSEDE
POWER OF GREAT BRITAINLudendorff Says French Ambition Is To End England's Role on Continent—Invasion of Europe by Bolsheviks Possible.

Associated Press Despatch.

Vienna, Feb. 8.—General Luden-dorff, who on his way to Vienna was assaulted by workmen at Klagenfurt, and not permitted to deliver an address, discusses the situation in the Ruhr in an interview published by the Wiener Allgemeine Zeitung.

"It is a mistake," he said, "to think that these events in the Ruhr are purely German affairs; the whole of Europe is bound to suffer from their effects. I have no connection with the Berlin government, and consequently am not able to judge
if the persistent reports of a Russo-German account are true. I only know that such combination would be a great misfortune for Europe."

"The present political and military situation in Europe leads me to fear that an armed conflict would furnish the Russians with an opportunity to intervene, no matter where it broke out, which would amount to an invasion of Europe by Bolshev-ist horde."

"The French advance into Germany was guided by two motives:
France, with a population of 30,000, 000, cannot dominate 60,000,000 Germans. It is then to her interests to seize German mines and industries, in order to benefit her own industries.
When France is in possession of German coal and steel, she can fortify the coasts and create a fleet, and thus end England's role on the continent."

Design "Tin" Hats
For Future WarsNew American Helmet Will Stop Pistol Bullet at 80 Feet.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Army "tin hat" designers are working up new effects in iron millinery for future war seasons. The trend is toward the German coal scuttle model. Snappy inverted soup bowl models, highly polished in front-line circles in France during the season of 1917-18, have been ruled out of fashion.

The military bonnet-makers have not as yet settled definitely on any particular model, but the most favored type now under consideration in the army hat shop, while not quite so "coal scuttle like" as was the German fashion, has a sweeping curve of draped steel plate around the back to protect the neck, and it is planned to carry this forward on each side down almost to the jawbone line.
The new helmet will stop a steeljacketed pistol bullet at 80 feet.

CHICAGO FRENZIED
AS 'MIRACLE MAN'
HEALS MANY SICKThousands Are Turned Away
From Doors of Orchestra Hall.

DOCTORS INTERESTED

Beg Emile Coue To Grant Interviews With Their Patients.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—A mystic faith in the power of Emile Coue, the Nancy druggist, has seized Chicago. Orchestra Hall was packed for his third lecture this afternoon. Three hundred persons were squeezed on to the stage, and thousands of others were turned away at the doors. Moved by tales of the "miracle" Coue had worked, the city this morning collected the worst of its human wrecks and laid them at his feet in pitiful appeal in front of the footlights of the hall.

On Michigan avenue people knelt to him as he passed into the hall, and begged him to help them, and mothers held their wizened babes up to him, imploping him to heal their crooked bodies. Others paid fabulous sums to owners of front row seats, and, once there, boosted themselves painfully on to the stage, and, panting, crawled,
with helpless limbs dragging after them, to a spot where they might hope to catch the eye of the "Miracle Man."

What wonder that in such an atmosphere, with three thousand human nerves turned in unison to an abnormal pitch of psychic vibration, seeming miracles were enacted. There were a dozen such, and there would have been scores more, if only this strange man from Nancy had had time to tarry longer.

One after another, crippled or paralyzed men and women dragged themselves or were wheeled to him, and under his encouragement, as though under a magic touch, threw their crutches or canes away and walked.
Some even ran who had not walked for years.

Why relate each case in detail? The names are of record, and, and, and sleuths have probed each case and found no flaw. One is typical of all. Mrs.
Elizabeth Wilson, paralyzed for nine years and unable to walk, walked off the stage unaided. And from a young man, who trailed a useless leg behind him, Coue just snatched his cane and broke it. And the man strutted along the footlights, while the audience, lashed to a white heat of frenzied mysticism, yelled its wildest.
Doctors have caught the fever. In the last half hour three Chicago physicians have telephoned, begging to arrange for their patients to see the man of Nancy.

WAR OF CHAIN STORES
REDUCES BREAD PRICEOne Concern Offering Loaf
Free With 50c Worth Groceries.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Feb. 8.—Reports reaching here today from western cities indicate that a "bread war" recently started in Chicago by a firm giving a quantity of free bread with every 50-cent purchase is becoming hotter.

Two large chains of stores are at the present time the chief adversaries in the Chicago struggle. At the start of the price-cutting, both firms daily announced through half-page newspaper advertisements gradual reductions in the price of bread until one group of dealers continued to sell the 16-ounce loaf for three and a half cents, announcing that there would be no immediate change of policy.

As a result, the supply soon gave out. But extra shifts of bakers were employed, and these, working through the night, had produced a sufficient number of loaves to meet official claim, any demand arising today. But experience taught the firm that the policy of free bread distribution could not be logically continued, so a minimum purchase of 50 cents worth of groceries is again being demanded.

The rival group of chain stores continued to sell the 16-ounce loaf for
three and a half cents, announcing
that there would be no immediate
change of policy.

A report from Portland, Ore., says bread is being offered for five cents a loaf as a result of a bread war among the bakers of that city. Officials have put the price of pound loaves down to five cents.

Hamilton	5	11	0	62	72

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—After one of the most thrilling finish games local hockey fans have seen in years, Ottawa Senators regained their leadership of the National Hockey League tonight by defeating the Canadians 3 to 0.

With only eight minutes to go and not a goal registered, the local team started a terrific attack on the Canadian goal. George Boucher took the puck after a rush by Sprague Cleghorn, and tore through the whole Canadian team, registering the first goal.

After that Senators pressed harder, Boucher scoring again and passing to Fleisher, who scored the third. Boucher scored again just before the bell, but the play was called back for offside.

George Boucher was the individual hero of the game. He was without the services of his stick-kick, Eddie Gerard, who was forced to leave the game after a few minutes of play in the first period.

The lineup: Ottawa—Goal, Vezina; defense, S. Cleghorn and Couture; center, O. Cleghorn; wings, Jollat and W. Boucher; subs, Malone, Schreiner, Hirtz and Bell.

Ottawa—Goal, Benedict; defense, Gerard and G. Boucher; center, Fleisher; wings, Denny and Broadbent; subs, Darragh, Helmut and Chancy. Referee—Cooper Smeaton and Harvey Palford.

ST. PATRICKS WIN. Hamilton, Feb. 7.—Hamilton went further into the cellar in the N. H. L. race here tonight when they lost to St. Patricks by a score of 4 to 2, and it was woefully work in front of the nets that cost them this counter.

Tigers had chances galore when they were playing six men against five. Hamilton was in the penalty box. Hamilton backed out into their own end of the rink, but they could not beat Roach. As a matter of fact, Roach was not called upon to play in the second period, but he came out when they were playing six men against five.

Kitchener Takes Game in Toronto

Have Little Trouble Winning Senior Tilt With Parkdale.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—Kitchener, leaders in the O. H. A. senior race, had little difficulty in defeating the tail-end Parkdale team here tonight, 6 to 3. There was nothing brilliant in the night's play, the Western Ontario boys being content to take things easy by using their size.

Parkdale showed their best in the third period, scoring two goals for themselves and holding the green shirt scorers.

The lineup: Parkdale—Goal, Koster; defense, Spence and Applegate; center, Barnes; wings, Morgan and Burt; subs, Nettles and Keyes.

Kitchener—Goal, Hainsworth; defense, Homphill and Merrick; center, Scharr; wings, Roth and Hillman; subs, Solomon and Hiller.

PRESTON WINS GROUP FROM PARIS JUNIORS

Score Lucky Goal in Sudden-Death Game Played in Galt.

Galt, Feb. 7.—In a sudden-death game here tonight for the honors of group 11 of the O. H. A. junior series, Preston registered a lucky win over the Paris Green Shirts, 4 to 3, getting the winning goal in the play of the last second.

On the night's play the best team did not win. Paris had decidedly the best of the play in the first two periods, with the score 3 to 1 in their favor, entering the final stanza, and they looked like sure winners, but the inevitable blow-up came after half of the final period had elapsed, Kinsel getting Preston's second counter on a center shot. Bailey then beat the Paris goal.

N. H. A. WOULD COUNT SARNIA GAME AS TWO

Urges Game At Stratford Be Counted As Serving Two Leagues.

BOTH TEAMS OBJECT And May Be Left To Themselves To Unravel Bad Tangle.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, Feb. 7.—Manager George Stephenson is a busy man these days trying to straighten out the hockey situation in the Sarnia Intermediates.

Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul suddenly finds himself caught out of his big chance to qualify for the fight with Jack Dempsey because he thought too much of his St. Paul friends to stick around the cauliflower jungles and protect his interests.

Turn Down Gibbons. Gibbons had a match with Johnson for March 19 at the Garden. This would just about build Gibbons up to the size of Dempsey and qualify him for at least a loser's end of $10,000.

The Stratford Club will be compelled to pay Sarnia twice for making the trip to Stratford, and they are not sure they can afford to get away with half the expense.

Mr. Stephenson has suggested that the Stratford team play here Saturday night in the N. H. L. series, and on Monday in the O. H. A. title contest. This will be the most economical arrangement the Stratford Club could make.

It is likely that the N. H. L. will let the two clubs settle the matter between themselves, if that can come to a mutual arrangement that will not hold the race up any longer and have a winner returned to meet the survivor of the Woodstock-Port Dover series.

Jess Willard Signs To Fight Floyd Johnson in New York

Ex-Champion, Fat and Forty, Gets Chance To Come Back by Battling Promising Young Fighter On May 12.

By WESTBROOK PEEGLER. Special to The Advertiser. New York, Feb. 7.—Jess Willard gets another chance.

He has signed a contract to protect his chin against the mauling mitts of Floyd Johnson, the Yankee huge new ball park on the Bronx bank of the River Harlem, May 12. The bout is to be a 15-rounder or less to a decision or other decisive conclusion.

Willard never was noted for his eagerness to box at charity shows, but this time he had to take it or leave it. Willard was offered this fight instead of Gibbons nearly a month ago. But at that time he still had his original hopes of landing an immediate match with Dempsey, so he declined a guarantee of $25,000.

JACK DEMPSEY PLANS TO BATTLE IN EUROPE

Looks Longingly To Rich Harvest Awaiting Him On Foreign Shores.

CONSIDERING MOVIES Critics Believe Appearance On Screen As Hero Would Be Ridiculous.

Special to The Advertiser. Copyright. New York, Feb. 7.—Don't be surprised if you hear that Jack Dempsey has decided to go to Europe. Announcement to this effect may come at any time, following the champion's appearance in progress. Announcement may be held up pending Dempsey's return from the West.

Jack Kearns can see money on the other side, and when Jack sees money he keeps his eyes fixed upon the same. A scheme as outlined by Major Kearns, the British promoter, contemplated the champion's appearance in a series of exhibition bouts which will end up two fights, one of which will be with a local contender.

Another project Kearns is considering is a movie offer, but there is talk that Jack's love of popularity through the country, due to general disgust over the snail's pace of the fight, has cooled the ardor of the movie people.

Laughed to Scorn. It will be recalled that just after the amateur Dempsey appeared in film drama called "Dare Devil Jack." The only trouble was that the public, in Jack's war, was not so much interested in the movie as in the boxing.

CURLERS OF LINDSAY WIN HIGHEST HONORS

Capture Coveted Ontario Tankard Finals and District Cup As Well.

BECOME CHAMPIONS Defeat Dundas and Galt Rinks by Good Margins in Finals.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—Lindsay curlers, by defeating Dundas and Galt, Granite, captured the provincial curling honors today, winning the coveted Ontario Tankard and the District Cup. In the Tankard final Dundas was defeated 3 to 15, while the second trophy was taken from Galt by 15 to 5. The winning rinks were skipped by L. V. O'Connor, P. J. Carew, C. Williams and W. O. Carley.

The games were played on the keenest ice of the year, and at all times the Lindsay players were ahead of the opponents. A feature of the Tankard final lay in the fact that Dundas qualified for the final after twenty years. At that time they defeated Lindsay, and Dr. Bertram skipped one of the games.

ONTARIO IN ADVANCE WITH NEW BUILDINGS

Leads Canadian Provinces in Number of Construction Contracts Awarded.

There is a widespread optimism in Canada, due to the excellent industrial outlook. Lumber is in notably brisk demand, plans are being perfected for an extension of operations in the iron and steel trade, pulp and paper manufacturers are well supplied with business, and prospects for a large amount of new building are bright. It is expected that at least $398,000,000 will be expended on new construction during 1923. All evidence points to the fact that there will be available an ample amount of financing for this great volume of projected building construction.

Last year saw the passing of the first great wave of speculative building and construction of the cheaper type, and this year will probably be remembered as a year in which a great volume of good building construction was produced. It is evident that residential construction will continue in volume all through the year, with greater activity in the more expensive types of dwellings.

The problem of labor conditions is one which no forecast can be made, but it is quite probable that 1923 will show a fairly good spirit of co-operation between employers and labor in the building industries. Labor leaders are becoming more forthright, and in the idea of the trades there is a growing interest in the apprentice problem and in the idea of admitting a large proportion of new men into the ranks.

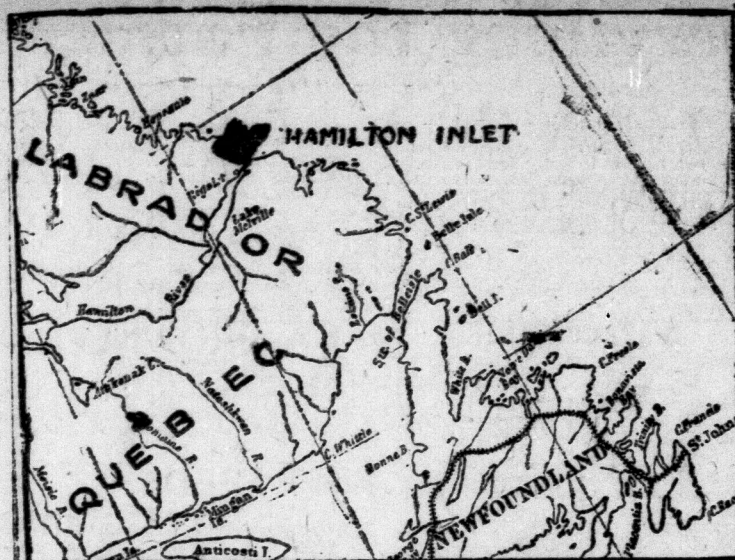

The great drop in construction costs is over, and those who wish to build may do so in 1923 without fear of loss through the shrinkage of existing building values incidental to rapid price deflation.

During January construction contracts awarded in Canada, according to MacLean Building Reports, Limited, amounted to $2,840,000, compared with $3,992,000 in January, 1922. Residential building accounted for 25.6 per cent of the January total, and amounted to $2,604,400. Business buildings amounted to $2,358,400, or 22 per cent; industrial building, $1,918,000, or 15.5 per cent; public works and utilities, $2,462,000, or 20 per cent. The value of contemplated new work during January amounted to $36,714,000.

The figures for the different provinces are as follows:

New York, Feb. 7.—There was another advance of 1/4c in the local raw sugar market, with Cubas now quoted at 3 3/4c, cost and freight, equal to 5.65c for centrifugal, on sales of 50,000 bags for February-March shipment to a local operator.

The continued advance in the spot market and reports of a better European demand for granulated caused further covering in raw sugar futures, and, together, with some new buying for outside account, accounted for advances of 5 to 8 points in the local raw sugar futures market during the early operations.

The market for refined was firmer, and prices unchanged to 10 points higher, fine granulated being listed at 8.20 to 8 1/2. There was only a moderate domestic inquiry reported, although a better demand was noted for export.

STEEL TRADE GROWTH BECOMES DANGEROUS

Hastening of Delivery Has Effect of Causing General Rise in Prices.

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Feb. 7.—It is difficult to describe the steel situation without picturing it as gathering strength with dangerous rapidity. A rather general change of consumer attitude, now seeking a hastening of deliveries or an increase in size of orders, has given rise to a wide variety of prices in bars, plates and shapes, but an impression is abroad that the market is crystallizing toward a $2.25 per pound basis. All interests, with tensions of 1920 in mind, show a desire not to let things get out of hand. There are mills in a position to take second quarter business, but they see no advantage in making commitments before the end of the month. Meanwhile consumers are finding it difficult to satisfy the increased demands of secondary buyers. Appearance still are that demand is for current needs, and that few opportunities have been offered for speculation purposes.

Wire at 2.55 a pound, Pittsburgh, or $2 a ton higher; steel pipe, 34 up; steel bars and beams at 2.15c, or $1 a ton higher, and steel plates at 2.30c, or $2 up, put iron Age composite price for finished steel at 2.36c, the highest point since the end of June, 1921.

A week ago the composite price was 2.45c, and a year ago 2.01c. The high rate of construction activity is shown by the week's awards of $2,600,000 in steel buildings and new projects requiring 42,000 tons. The sustained consumption of the oil industry for pipe lines and tanks has helped to put plates outstanding in current demands, following the large buying of recent weeks. Additional tanks taking 20,500 tons are contracted for, and new ones have appeared involving 20,000 tons.

A 700-mile pipe line purchase took 70,000 tons, and oil country pipe has been advanced $6 per ton. Railroad equipment buying remains also conspicuous, car orders totaling 1,705 locomotive orders, 138 with the American Locomotive Company alone, and new car inquiries $4,000.

CROWN RESERVE COMPANY TO INCREASE ITS CAPITAL

Montreal, Feb. 7.—At the forthcoming annual meeting of shareholders of the Crown Reserve Mining Company on Feb. 28, a by-law will be submitted, authorizing an increase in the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. The purpose is to provide funds to carry on development work on the new properties, erect a mill and handle the ore as requirements occur. Ninety per cent of the outstanding capital has been taken up and 50 per cent paid for.

The profit and loss account for 1922 shows a credit balance of $316,356, of which $480,838 represents balance from the preceding year and $31,136 proceeds of sale of "trustee" stock. The expenditures amount to $26,911, leaving a surplus of $489,365.

The balance sheet shows assets of $2,497,636, of which $2,024,442 represents the Cobalt property and $144,613 the Larder Lake property which are now being developed. The company's chief item is investments in the form of bonds, placed at $501,102.

The capital stock, placed at $1,999,957, includes 104,559 fully paid-up shares of $1 each, held by trustees for the benefit of the company, and the profit and loss balance of $489,365 includes provision for Cobalt Mine and plant depreciation.

REFUSES TO ALLOW ONE-MAN CARS IN CITY

Council Decides Street Railway Company Must Be Party To Agreement.

DEMANDS PAVING

Aldermen Vote To Co-operate in Obtaining Election of Police Commission.

No one-man cars will be operated in London unless the street railway corporation becomes a party to an agreement that meets with the approval of the city council.

This was the unofficial ruling by Mayor Wenige and the aldermen at their informal gathering last night, and his words, accompanied by Ald. Albert Judd and Ald. Leonard Douglass will consult the city solicitor in this connection.

It was explained in conformity with the resolution passed in 1922, granting the permission for the use of the cars in question, the company must sign an agreement which stipulations be embodied in this document, and among these will be included the paving of Stanley street, the paving of Richmond street north, and the maintenance of good service.

The session was quite lively in spots, and at one juncture, Ald. W. Wilson opposed against Mayor Wenige's ruling.

"You have a lot to learn yet about municipal procedure," challenged the ex-chairman of the board of works. "You don't know enough to pound sand."

While Mayor Wenige urged that the validity of by-law 116 be tested in the courts, Ald. Frank McKay suggested, and it was approved, that the council wait until such a time as another specific breach of the by-law is noted. Such action as the mayor contemplates would then be undertaken.

Gas Question Shelved.

The city gas question was also shelved, the aldermen accepting the advice of the city solicitor, that it would be inadvisable for them to attempt to collect the disputed sum of $65,000, as urged by the mayor before and since the election.

In this instance, Ald. W. A. Wilson moved no action be taken. He submitted that it was unfair to go behind on citizens to fight another case, and that the same should be done.

"What game," questioned Ald. Watt sharply. "In my opinion this collection was a cold, bare-faced hold-up. The gas company threatened the people."

"I agree they should give the money back, but how is it to be done?" Ald. Judd explained, "each one of us have a right to his money. We collected, but one case would not suffice." Ald. Judd explained, "each one of us have a right to his money. We collected, but one case would not suffice."

It was only following a sharp discussion that the council, by a vote of 9 to 3 moved to join with other municipalities in a petition to the provincial government for the election of a police commission.

"Go careful in this," warned Ald. Judd. "In many towns this agitation has been started by city solicitors and bootleggers. If we adopt the elective form of police commission, we strike at the very foundations of British principles. You will have politics entering into it, and have this one and that going to the commissioners for protection."

"There is no fault to be found with the present system," he continued, and his associates indulged in hearty laughter. "No person can get at our commissioners. They are there for life with no strings attached to them, and they are not bound up by public opinion. I move no action be taken." Ald. Wilson seconded.

"I doubt that all Ald. Judd has stated would turn out to be facts," Ald. McKay declared. "I must admit that politics has already entered the police commission. Two of them get their appointments from the governments with the approval of the political parties. I don't see that the people are taking any chances if they elect people whom they judge to be the men. The same might be said of any elective body with regard to influence."

Ald. Judd submitted that the commissioners once appointed were political outcasts and did not even vote. Ald. Douglass pointed out that while Magistrate Graydon, appointed by the province, was held as an ideal one in that position, he was not considered such, evidently, as a juvenile court judge.

Known as Vimy Ridge.

Then was recalled by Ald. Colbert a day that is gone but not forgotten when a certain establishment, flourishing in the downtown section under the name of "Vimy Ridge" was known to many. "I feel," he said, "that the people's representative is outnumbered two to one. I have watched this thing closely and my claim is that fair play is not always being administered. The under fellow is getting the worst of it sometimes."

"Now I want to refer to a place that was conducted, I understand under the name of 'Vimy Ridge.' At the time that this place was raided I heard a certain party state that nothing would be done as about 25 prominent citizens were numbered among those present when the police arrived. I say that if it had been another person he would have been fined as well as all who were present."

"That is a good point," Ald. Judd declared. "What if some of your police commissioners had been there too? I couldn't get the man off, not once but three times. The police got all the men present and some of them were prominent citizens, too. This kind of thing happens day after day in the U. S. and these men who frequent these places, if they are prominent citizens, protect the proprietor through political influence with the commissioners."

Ald. Burdick explained that Brantford had several years ago voted for an elective police commission but the government had thrown the project out.

Mayor Wenige stated that this was because the proposition had not been submitted properly.

"There is lots of room for improvement in the police commission," urged Ald. Oser. "The present members are too arbitrary. They bar the press from their meetings. They continue to make things miserable for the motorists and for the citizens in general. Any move in this direction is quite timely."

After certain discussion the co-operative project was approved, although it is believed that it is too late this year to other than lay plans for legislation early in 1924.

Married Woman Retained.

The mayor's suggestion that a corporation lawyer act also as city clerk was set aside, while it was recommended that one married woman in the city tax office be retained until after the third installment of the taxes had been received, October next.

Time books will be kept in all of ices, while the department heads will be asked to arrange their shifts in order that the public may have service from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. in lieu of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. as at present. City officials will be required to remain at their posts from 12 noon until 1 p.m.

The question of holidays for civic employees was referred back for detailed information.

At the close of the meeting the mayor introduced Mr. W. Knowles of Cleveland engineer, who submitted the proposition whereby the city could undertake to operate at advantage 52 motor buses at an initial cost of $800,000.

The council agreed upon further consideration.

Holidays for Everyone.

Holidays, with pay, for every person employed by the city for a reasonable length of time, was the suggestion from Ald. John Colbert.

"If we can't see our way clear to give holidays to all, don't give it to any," he stated. "Give one week with pay instead of the present system, which is 'class favoritism.'"

"It would be a great Mea if the city was a big benevolent society. I think we do well by our civic employees. I am surprised to learn that they work but seven hours a day."

Ald. McKay contended that the city would be none the poorer if holidays were extended to all. He pointed to the Bell Telephone Company as an example of what the city should do. "I would rather have the city pointed to than pointed at," he said, "in this respect."

Ald. Douglass pointed out that it must be considered that clerks in the city hall put in plenty of extra work for which they receive no overtime.

After considerable discussion the entire proposition, at the instigation of Ald. Burdick, was referred back for detailed information as to what the various wage lists are in the several departments.

Opposed to Baker's Retirement.

The councillors were decidedly opposed to any move that might tend toward the retirement of Sam Baker, city clerk, and Mayor Wenige's proposal that a corporation lawyer handle his duties as well, was voted down.

"I can't vote for that," Ald. Burdick declared. "I can't attack the city clerk. We have one of the best in Canada."

"I'm of the same opinion," Ald. McKay declared. "I do favor a full time solicitor, however, exclusive of the city clerk."

"It's not a question of the clerk, but the office," explained the mayor. "We have a city clerk that is second to none in Canada, and I want him to have fair play," asserted Ald. W. A. Wilson.

"That's my opinion," declared Ald. Hayden. "I understand that the city solicitor's office was to be considered separately."

Ald. Colbert explained that he also was satisfied that one person couldn't satisfactorily handle both positions.

Ald. Judd contended that the present system was the best and cheapest. The further that they kept lawyers from the city the better for the city, he said, adding that it would be difficult to get a capable corporation lawyer for less than $5,000, and that Ald. McKay had said that the position would not leave it for the position. In T. G. Meredith the city had the best corporation lawyer in the city, he maintained, who knew municipal law from cover to cover and was also a good counsel.

Ald. Watt moved and Ald. Wilson seconded, no action be taken.

SCREEN GOSSIP

CLARA'S NEXT.

"Cordelia the Magnificent," a story by Leroy Scott, will be Clara Kimball Young's next starring vehicle to be produced by Harry Garson for Metro.

Miss Young has completed her performance in the Henry Kistmaier-Cher-Paul Kester play, "The Woman of Bronze," in which she was directed by King Vidor. The stage version was a signal success when presented on Broadway with Margaret Anglin in the leading role, and in the screen version Miss Young is declared to have scored effectively in the many emotional opportunities offered her.

AT A LOOSE END.

Having discarded "Monsieur Beaucaire" as his next production, Douglas Fairbanks has now put aside his plans for that pirate story, which he was going to film in color. Now he doesn't know just what he will do to keep out of mischief after his daily task of counting the returns on "Robin Hood" is over.

ITS FIFTH FORM.

"Peg O' My Heart" will soon be in its fifth artistic phase, for its author, J. Hartley Manners, is at work with Dr. Hugo Felix, the internationally known composer, making an operetta of "Peg." It already has four art forms, as a novel, a printed play, an acted comedy in which Laurette Taylor made her famous characterization, and most recently of all, as a Metro photoplay in which Miss Taylor makes her screen debut, directed by King Vidor.

FIVE-YEAR CONTRACT.

Goldwyn has signed Mae Busch to a contract for five years. Her most notable work was in Von Stroheim's "Polish Wives."

COUE IN THE MOVIES AND MUCH AT HOME

Famous Frenchman Has Completed "The Message of Emile Coue."

Emile Coue, the famous French disciple of autosuggestion, has finished his first work before a motion picture camera. The final scenes for "The Message of Emile Coue" in which he will appear carrying his message of hope to the millions, have been finished, and it is expected that he will be enabled to see himself in the pictures before he sails for Europe about Feb. 10.

The producers state that M. Coue was delighted with his experience in the studio. Directors and cameramen found him an excellent pupil, and in spite of the fact that this was the first time he had faced a camera, the famous lecturer was as much at home before the cameras and blazing lights as a seasoned film veteran.

Studio employees remarked at his complete absence of stage fright. The director stated that he had never directed a novice who was easier to handle than M. Coue.

The picture is to be a graphic illustration of M. Coue's theory of self-mastery through conscious autosuggestion. Many of the examples cited in his books, whose editions are nearing the million mark, are illustrated in this two-reel subject.

M. Coue's theory is summed up in the following statement: "I am not a miracle man. I have never cured anyone. I only show others how to cure themselves. By means of the cinema it will be shown that imagination dominates the will. My theory of consciously impressing the subconscious mind, and in that way willfully mastering the imagination, will be delineated and illustrated by means of players so that every beholder can understand and benefit."

MARY AND MAURICE WERE NOT ALWAYS AS AFFLUENT

Jeannie MacPherson, Cecil B. DeMille's scenario-writer, tells a story that has to do with Mary Pickford's first increase in salary. Mary's salary in those days was not large, and so the increase was not large. There were many things Mary wanted to buy with that first raise—things for her mother, for Jack and for Lottie. But down in her heart Mary had long cherished something very feminine. She left the studio without having decided what to do with her salary increase. When she returned it was evident that the feminine longing had triumphed. "She was wearing the longest ostrich plume I ever saw," said MacPherson.

There was Mary with a plume that seemed to reach across the room. This must have been about the time that Maurice Costello signed a new contract, which raised her salary from $18 to $25 a week. And there was a stipulation in that bond that Mr. Costello should not be asked to help shift scenery when not acting.

EX-POSTMASTER PRAISES TANLAC

Declares It Restored Him Completely When Almost Helpless From Rheumatism.

Joseph Frederick Warren, a well-known resident of 1156 21st St., East Vancouver, B. C., postmaster, at one time, for sixteen years, suffered from rheumatism, loss of appetite and a run-down system in the world.

"The rheumatism had got so bad in my arms, shoulders and hips I was forced to quit work. I couldn't take a step or move a muscle without suffering torture, and at times I couldn't even put my coat on. My appetite went back on me, too, and I was run-down all over."

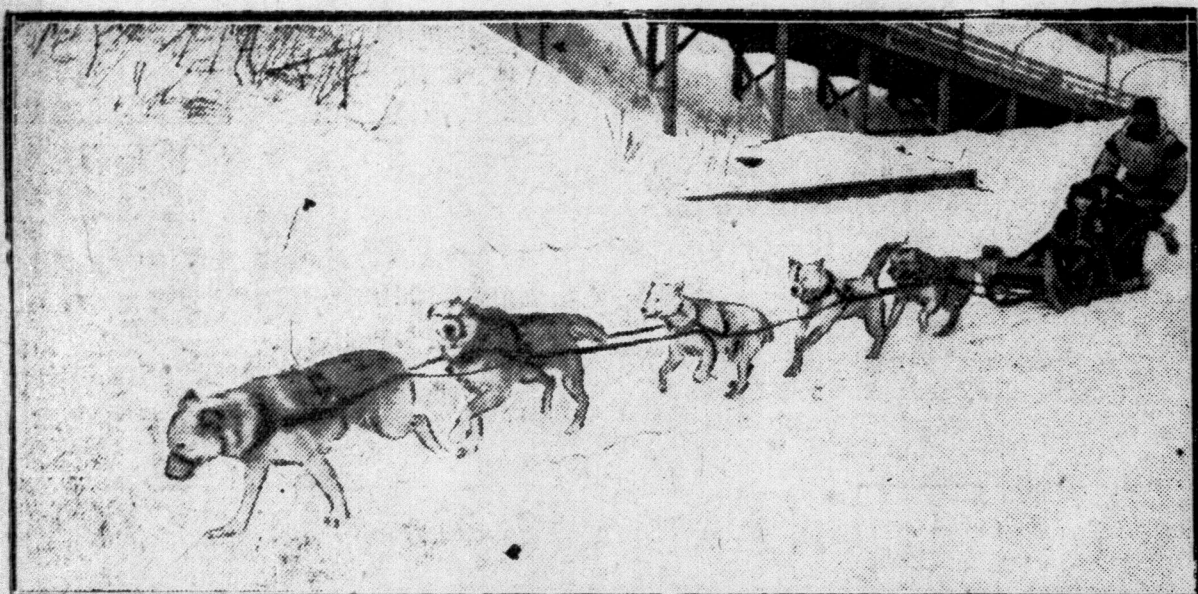

"Well, five bottles of Tanlac rid me of the whole thing and built me up so that I have enjoyed good health ever since. I have never come across the equal of Tanlac in all the seventy-two years of my life."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 25-million bottles sold. —Advt.

System Run Down Blood Out of Order

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is, when, as a rule, it is improper circulation of the blood.

All they need is a good tonic to build up the system and put the blood into proper shape.

For this purpose there is nothing on the market today to equal

Burdock Blood Bitters

It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. H. Poole, Port Dover, Ont., writes: "My system was run down and my blood out of order and I suffered a great deal from pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. A friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle and before it was used I found it was doing me good. I kept on until I had taken three, and now I feel like a different woman."

My husband also took it and it has built him up."

For the past 44 years B. D. B. has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. —Advt.

Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dizziness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight. —Advt.

MY THIRTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By JOHN J. MCGRAW.

Greatest Ball Team McGraw Ever Managed—'Vegetable Reception' of the Giants in Pittsburgh—Skylarking.

(Released exclusively through the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

ARTICLE 30.

I regard the Giants of 1905 as the greatest ball club that I have managed. I look upon it as one of the greatest ball teams of the last thirty years. As I have said before, the Baltimore Orioles of 1894-95-96, in my opinion, made up the greatest ball team of my knowledge. The 1905 Giants, though, were the best that I ever have managed.

I say this, too, in due regard for and even players look surprised when I made this statement about 'Brenahan. But I would ask you something:

Did you ever know of another catcher who was a smart enough hitter and base runner to lead the batting order? Did you ever know of another catcher who, in addition to his backstop work could hit over .300 and steal forty-five bases in a season?

I don't think you have. All of those things must be taken into consideration the fact that I have handled other clubs that were greater hitters and greater base runners. I hand the laurels to the 1905 team for its smartness. We did not have a really slow-thinking ball player on the club.

ROGER BRESNAHAN.
Giant catcher, swinging at the ball.

That team was not so fast, but what it lacked in speed of feet it made up in speed of thought. In addition, we had two of the greatest pitchers that the game has ever seen—Mathewson and McGinnity. We had two of the greatest catchers—Bresnahan and Bowerman. To my way of thinking, Bresnahan was about the best catcher of all times. The only other catcher that I would rank alongside him is Buck Ewing. I have had fans, baseball writers

When selecting the best catcher of all times. His value to a team is what counts. I could name a dozen catchers who worked like a machine, who were good hitters and who had great arms. A majority of them, though, were slow thinkers. Bresnahan, you see, had all of those qualities combined. Jojo King, for instance, was one of the greatest of all catchers, but I never regarded him as valuable to a ball club as Bresnahan. He could not hit as well as Roger and there were other things that he could not do as well. Nobody, though, could throw better than King.

Roger had played every position—pitcher, outfield, infield, catcher. He was good at all, too.

Bresnahan had a memory almost as good as that of Mathewson and McGinnity. He never had to be told twice. Once we had discovered a weak spot in the opposition and I discussed a plan for attacking it, I could depend absolutely on Bresnahan to carry it out. He did not forget. His whole mind was concentrated on winning that particular game and it was rare that he overlooked anything.

It is not at all uncommon for me to have catchers—men of perfect mechanical ability—who do not remember instructions from the bench to the plate. For that reason I have had to take it upon myself to give all the signals for the pitching.

Not only was that 1905 team a smart-thinking ball club, but it was a team of fighters. They thought they could beat anybody and they generally could. As a result of this fighting instinct we got into much trouble.

It was seldom that we ever went to Pittsburgh without having some kind of a run-in with the fans. I suppose we did antagonize them too much, but it certainly was a lot of fun. There were hot doings any time the Giants arrived. We were roundly hated. Even the newspapermen who accompanied the team came in for a share of roasting.

In those days it was not at all unusual for the papers to announce that "the rowdy Giants, accompanied by representatives of the yellow press got in town this morning."

We used to stay at the old Monongahela Hotel and from there drove in open carriages to the ball park. The Pittsburgh park then was in Allegheny City, across the river. To reach the bridge we had to pass by the public marketplace. If we escaped a shower of small stones and trash outside of the park we were sure to get it as we passed the market.

One afternoon, after a hot game with the Pirates, the fans started after us while we were getting in our carriages. Understand, we dressed at the hotel then—not at the ball park. Of course, we were not altogether blameless. If the fans started razzing us we would razz right back at them. To tell the truth, we sort of delighted in tantalizing the overheated rosters.

On this particular day we had dodged handfuls of gravel, loose pieces of brick, and so on, all the way to the bridge. Just as we crossed on the other side one of the market men started razzing us. We came back at him strong. In another minute we were greeted with a shower of old vegetables—potatoes, onions, tomatoes and even cantaloupes.

McGinnity, always a quiet sort of fellow, arose in his carriage to try and quiet things down. He was just about to tell the other players to keep quiet when he lurched forward. As if in concert four big tomatoes hit him squarely in the seat of the pants. That was one of the most laughable sights I have seen. The stain stayed there until we got back off the trip.

Sammy Strang, in another carriage, was hit on the side of the head with an over-ripe cantaloupe. When we finally escaped and reached the hotel, anyone to look at our carriage would have thought that we had been hauling garbage. That sort of thing happened frequently.

Instead of curing us, though, it made the players more eager to fight and to win. They loved to lick the Pirates—our main rivals—and then drive by the market.

A favorite source of amusement for the ball players, going to and from the park, was to read the signs in front of a store or an office. Having observed the name, they would begin yelling for that particular man. Often he would come out and blow.

In one of the minor league cities, visited in the spring, we were driving from the grounds in a big omnibus. We passed a residence and noticed a sign on the window: "Dr. McNutt."

"Hello, Doc, how are you?" the players began to yell. "Where's the old Doc?" they asked of an old woman who was watering the lawn with a hose.

In a moment the doctor, feeling himself a little bit honored, came to the door.

"Say, Doc," some fresh young fellow called out, "where do you bury your patients?"

With that the old woman on the lawn, thoroughly indignant, turned and leveled the hose on the bus and let us have the full stream. It was some stream, too. We scrambled to the floor, ordering the man to drive fast. Before we could get out of range, though, all of us had a good soaking. I know I got one shot from the hose squarely in the chest. McGinnity, sitting opposite me, had ducked just in time to let me have it.

That whole club had the spirit of skylarking college boys and I was just as bad as any of them. On the field, though, they thought like men of affairs. Always they were on a hair edge ready to get into a row if anybody pulled the trigger.

The more I think of it the more I realize what a picturesque ball club that was. To protest games and make numerous affidavits was a common thing. At times we even figured in injunction cases in the courts. I guess fans of this day still remember the "Hey, Barney!" incident which wound up in a trial at Boston. I will have to tell about that in a later chapter.

MEN'S FASHIONS.

With an Eye to Proportion.

BY A. T. GALLICO.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—If you are a man built on large proportions, gaze upon the large man in the illustration, as he should not and should be dressed, and learn from his example that you must avoid small articles in your getup. That is, as you will see from the drawing, too small a hat, too narrow a cravat, and too small a collar, as on the heavy man at the left, are out of proportion. A small man can wear small ties and things, and get away with it, but the large man must watch these points. For clothes out of proportion not only look bad, but sometimes tend to accentuate excess weight or excess thinness.

Another matter for the large and small to think about is that tall, heavy men do not, as a rule, look as well in close fitting clothes as the small man. Of course, no well dressed man wears excessively tight clothes, but there is quite a range of tightness within the well dressed boundaries, and a man should take his figure into consideration in choosing his suit.

Fashionnotes.

The importance of color in men's clothes cannot be too much emphasized; that is, color in cravats, and a certain amount in shirts. Suits, of course, must be as quiet as possible. Walking up 5th avenue the other day I stopped here and there to look at the haberdasher window displays. In the window of one well known store I saw the following interesting color scheme: A dark gray moire tie with occasional red stripes running diagonally through it, on a light gray silk shirt. In a neighboring equally well known store was this: A golden brown figured moire cravat displayed with yellow chamomile gloves and a linen handkerchief with a wide deep yellow border.

REDDY FOX IS TOO CLEVER FOR OLD MAN COYOTE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

A nimble wit will do for you. What size and strength could never do. —Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox had no desire to fight Old Man Coyote. In the first place, Old Man Coyote was too big. Reddy knew that he would have no chance. Yes, sir, he knew that he would have no chance at all. In the second place, he didn't feel like fighting anybody. He had caught three mice, and with those for his dinner he couldn't very well feel ill-natured if he wanted to. He knew that Old Man Coyote was in a bad temper and he guessed the reason why. He guessed that Old Man Coyote had failed to catch Peter Rabbit and Mrs. Peter and that he blamed him for the failure. He guessed that Old Man Coyote was very hungry and that he would just as soon dine on Fox as on any one else. So as soon as he discovered that Old Man Coyote was chasing him, Reddy started as fast as his legs could take him. He knew that Old Man Coyote could run quite as fast as he could and that to get rid of Old Man Coyote he would have to do more than simply run. "He can run as fast and as far as I can," thought Reddy. "He can go wherever I can. If he really means to catch me he'll do it unless I can fool him in some way. I've noticed that Old Man Coyote keeps away from Farmer Brown's house when there is any one about. I've never known him to go up there if there were any signs of folks being at home. I guess that is the place for me to go now. It will be the quickest way to get rid of him."

So Reddy turned and headed straight for Farmer Brown's. Looking back over his shoulder, he saw that Old Man Coyote was following him. It was clear to Reddy that Old Man Coyote either hadn't noticed in what direction they were going or felt sure that he, Reddy, would turn aside before he got very near Farmer Brown's barnyard. If Reddy hadn't been quite so anxious he would have chuckled. It would be time for chuckling after he was rid of Old Man Coyote, so Reddy didn't chuckle. He devoted all his attention to running.

As he drew near Farmer Brown's he could hear voices in the barnyard. It was daylight and folks were up. This just suited Reddy. He was running so as to come up behind the barn. Looking back over his shoulder, he saw that Old Man Coyote was still following. Reddy kept on. When he reached the back of the barn he ran around the corner of it, then up along the side of the barn, and finally right out into the barnyard. Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy were both at work in the barnyard. Reddy sped right past them and over into the Old Orchard. There he sat down to see what would happen.

Both Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy exclaimed right out when they saw Reddy. Farmer Brown was in the house, and for this Reddy was thankful. He knew that neither Farmer Brown nor Farmer Brown's Boy could hurt him if they wanted to, for they had no terrible gun. He doubted if they wanted to hurt him, for he had come to look on Farmer Brown as a friend. So at a safe distance in the Old Orchard he sat and grinned while he waited for Old Man Coyote to show himself.

But Old Man Coyote didn't show himself. He stopped back of the barn. He heard the voices of Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy. He had no desire to be seen. Turning, he swiftly trotted back the way he had come. From where he sat in the Old Orchard Reddy saw him trotting back toward the Green Forest. Then Reddy chuckled. Yes, indeed, Reddy chuckled. He was still chuckling when he finally trotted off in another direction. He had been too clever for Old Man Coyote.

Winston Churchill's Naval History of the War

Will appear serially in The London Advertiser and the London Times in advance of publication in book form. In this book the versatile Mr. Churchill—artist, soldier, statesman—reveals literary gifts of the highest order.

"The Old World In the Sunset Was Fair To See"

The picture of Europe on the verge of its catastrophe, with which he opens his narrative, may easily become the classic description of one of the high spots in the world's history.

Vivid phrases into which have been condensed ideas which less skillful writers would take a column to elaborate, continually adorn the story.

First Lord of Admiralty Lifts Curtain

Two weeks before Armageddon the British navy carried out the first test mobilization, in history. The grand review "constituted incomparably the greatest assemblage of naval power ever witnessed in the history of the world." How was it that such a coincidence came about? Churchill tells the story. In the first instalment, too, he gives a graphic pen picture of the cabinet meeting when Sir Edward Grey read Austria's ultimatum, and as a result, in the minds of those present, "the parishes of Fermanagh and Tyrone faded back into the mists and squalls of Ireland." On July 25 Churchill dined with Herr Ballin, fresh from Berlin. A historic dinner talk is described.

How England's Shores Were Saved

Churchill tells of the various steps which resulted in the preservation of the British Isles from even any possibility of a surprise attack in the critical opening days of the war. Not for a single day was the island uncovered, and before the blow fell the British fleet was in a position where it once again controlled the destinies of the world.

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.
The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.—Advt.

French Authorities To Take Drastic Action To Overcome Sabotage.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Dusseldorf, Germany, Feb. 7.—The extreme penalty—death—now awaits Germans committing acts of sabotage against the transportation of goods because of the success of the industrial area, issued orders to police to wreck the carriers of the industrial area, issued orders to police to tampering with the railroad properties.
Furthermore, all persons caught interfering with traffic are to be tried before a court-martial. The extreme penalty in case of conviction is death.
The French declare that the Germans, backed by the Berlin government, are now engaged in the methodical wrecking of the railroads. Signals are being misplaced or wrecked, tracks torn up, and other acts of sabotage are being committed all over the area, the invaders declare. It is claimed that several serious wrecks have been narrowly averted.
"Members of the staff of General Degoutte, French commander-in-chief, states that the threats of drastic action are already bearing fruit and that the troops, food and international trains are now being moved without difficulty. Although the French make the claim that several trainloads of coal have been dispatched to allied countries within the last 24 hours, the Germans deny this and point to the large stores of fuel in the coal dumps to prove their contention.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED FOR SCHOOL ADDITION

John Hayman & Son To Do Work On Four Rooms At Boyle School.

BUT THREE TENDERS
Board of Education Disposes Of Matters of Importance.

Subject to approval of the board of education, and confirmation by the city council in the securing of the money for the building, the public school building committee late yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for a four-room addition to Boyle Memorial School to John Hayman & Son, the lowest bidder, at $24,900. Four hundred dollars extra will be paid for painting the old building.
Only three tenders were opened, and several members were of the opinion that more should be obtained. Secretary W. A. Tanner presented a tender that was brought in almost a day after the time allotted for tendering had elapsed. The members ruled unanimously, however, that it should not be opened, and it will be accordingly returned. The unsuccessful bidders were R. G. Wilson & Son, $25,000, with $400 extra for painting old buildings; and G. & J. Willis, $24,800, with $375 extra for painting.
Estimates for number two committee for the year were passed upon. They amount to $89,555, and there was some feeling that this amount would not be sufficient. Inspector V. K. Greer pointed out that the figures had been pared almost to the point of sacrifice, and doubted whether the figure of $12,750 for repairs and renewals would cover the work. Trustee J. J. I. A. Hunt thought that the amount should be raised to $15,000. The estimates, however, were not changed.
The largest single amount in the estimates were "Janitors' salaries," and amounted to $26,253. In this regard Inspector Greer stated that the schools needed "the aid of a woman's hand," and urged that a different policy be adopted in the matter of engaging janitors.
"It is the custom for the board to pay male janitors $1,500 per year and then let the janitor hire any help needed out of that sum," said Mr. Greer. "This is not working out satisfactorily. The superintendent is not satisfied and the inspectors are not. It is natural that the janitor should try to earn as much of the salary as he can and pay as little for extra help as he can."
Inspector Suggests.
The inspector offered the suggestion that the committee arrange at a later date to pay the janitor his salary separately and hire additional help as needed. This proposal met with unanimous favor, and was thoroughly discussed and a decision arrived at at a later meeting, when Captain Robinson and the inspectors will bring in a report covering the present arrangement and a working proposal for correction of the difficulty.
The committee decided to await a reply from E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, as to whether the utilities will supply men to care for the flower beds on school property as park property before deciding on obtaining their supply of bulbs and plants from the parks department. Last year $150 was spent on bulbs and $200 on plants, and the secretary was of the opinion that the bulbs and plants could be obtained more cheaply from local greenhouses.
Several accounts were recommended to be paid. Chairman Bryden Campbell remarked, when the account of T. G. Meredith, solicitor, for $540 was read: "I think the mayor is about right. We should have a legal adviser for the whole city. We can't question this account, though, as we have had a lot of consultations."

There was quite evident opinion that only data on the cost of the additions to the Boyle school be obtained, instead of the figures sealed tenders with marked ten per cent checks were presented. Confronted with the dilemma of deciding on a contract before the money for payment was in sight the trustees were at a loss to know what to do.
A. N. Udy, chairman of the board, advised that the tenders had been in good faith and they should be treated accordingly. "They thought the board meant what they said in their advertisement," remarked Mr. Udy pointedly, "and I think wouldn't be fair to disregard them all without consideration."
Secretary Tanner was in a quandary as to just what to do with the marked checks. It might be some months before the money appeared. It would not be right to hold the check or checks that long, nor did he think he should return the checks.
Trustee Campbell thought that it would not be necessary to hold any of the checks very long.
"Send the checks back to the unsuccessful bidders," he advised. "As the work can not be under way in five or six weeks, I would say, retaining the Hayman check until we receive confirmation from that company binding themselves to a contract at the figure submitted."
This sounded like sage advice to the committee, and Trustee Campbell's "way out of the difficulty" was adopted.

ELGIN CLERK EXPLAINS ASSESSOR'S PROBLEMS

A. H. McKay Speaks On Assessment Act To Middlesex Association.

RECOMMENDS FORMS
To Ask County Council For Financial Aid.

"When the meeting of the county municipal association was opened yesterday afternoon the secretary declared that the attendant circumstances were unusual in that the executive officers of the association were all absent. E. S. Hunt, the president, was unable to attend owing to a previous business engagement. Miss Mary Grant was ill; John Stewart, county clerk, was really due at a funeral, but in view of the fact that the others were away, agreed to stay.
A temporary chairman for the meeting having been elected in the person of Eli Bartley of Lobo, the meeting proceeded to the business of the association.
The chairman also had a disappointment in store for the members in that the program called for an address of welcome from the mayor and also from the warden, neither of whom were present.
The speaker of the meeting was A. W. McKay, clerk of the county of Elgin, and editor of the Municipal World.
The theme of Mr. McKay's address was the "Assessment Act and some of the problems it presented to the assessor in the smaller municipality."
Varying Tides of Politics.
He pointed out that in the old days the assessors were appointed yearly and that they were more or less the result of varying tides of politics. Today they were appointed "until a successor was appointed," and better work was the result derived from the many years of experience that the assessor was now able to get.
The assessors are now allowed under the act, section 20, to declare exempt from taxation in the counties incomes of less than $1,000 for householders and $500 for non-householders. Interest income, he pointed out, was entirely separate from personal.
Another class that was exempt from taxation was that of elderly people of more than 60 who had less than $2,000 on which to live. Wage earners were exempted from taxation on $300 for each dependent child or dependent parent.
Ask Information.
This clause provided some questioning from the members, and Mr. McKay gave it as his opinion that the act which had once imposed an age limit for these children, but now had none, should be repealed, so as to make an age limit of 21, except in the case of mentally or physically defective children.
A member asked if a man who had an invalid sister dependent on him was entitled to any exemption, to which Mr. McKay said that the act provided for such a case and therefore he was not in any of the exemption classes.
As regards the question of income arising from the act, he said that all rents from farm lands apart from mortgages are to be free from taxation, and this also was the subject of a good deal of discussion, many members citing cases where landlords were drawing large rent incomes on which they were paying no tax.

Impossible To Collect.
As for the business assessment, the only complaints that were at all common in the counties was in the case of portable sawing outfits and similar forms of work, in which a considerable amount of tax was being collected, and this was being done in which case it was almost impossible to collect any business tax.
The question of the preparation of an assessment roll was considered a very important item in the work of an assessor. It was essential that before any roll was made up that the county in which it is doing business, though the shareholders living in the county are assessable for their incomes, that they draw from this company.
The law in this respect has, however, been altered, and it is now incumbent on the partners of a firm to return a form showing their business income, on which they have to pay a business tax.

NO ADDED VALUE.
Mr. McKay cited the case of a man whose farm was on the Hamilton Highway and who refused to admit that his farm had any added value on that account, a statement that was concurred in by some of the members, many of them arguing that the farms that were close to the highway were badly handicapped because the dust was so bad, and often they had to wait for a shower of rain in the summer before the hay was fit to cut and put in the barn.
The general consensus of opinion, however, was that the farms on the highways were more valuable than those that were farther back from the main roads.

Discuss Finances.
The question of the financing of the association was the subject of an interesting discussion. At their organization meeting it had been agreed to levy a fee of $5 on each municipality, but this seemed to be too large a sum, especially in view of the fact that there was only about 20 members present at the first meeting. The secretary, John Stuart, suggested that $2 would be sufficient.
Mr. McKay was asked to give his views on this question, and he said that in the County of Elgin, where they had had an association of this nature for more than fifteen years, they had carried on the work in the following way:
They levied a fee of $1 on all the members, and the county allowed them a per diem allowance of $2 and a mileage allowance, as well. The per diem allowance had averaged about $50 and the mileage allowance about $50 per annum.
At each annual meeting a dinner was arranged, following by an informal smoker and get together, and as a rule there was some outside speaker brought in who was able to talk to the members on something that was of interest to them.
Appointment Committee.
There was a general discussion following on the subject, and it was finally agreed in a resolution to appoint a committee consisting of the executive, E. S. Hunt, Miss Mary Grant and John Stewart, to ask the county council for a grant to the association to enable it to carry on its work with a greater chance of success and a turnout of members, it being the general opinion of all those present that there would be a much better attendance if the expenses were paid by the county, and it was also pointed out that the county to a large extent gained from the activities of the association.
The following members were in attendance at the meeting:
John W. Morgan, McGillivray, R. W. McKellar, Moss, J. B. Henry, Glencoe; R. P. Eaton, Elfrida; W. J. Walters, Wardsville; Oliver Amos, McGillivray; Angus George, Glencoe; C. C. McNaughton, Moss; P.
