UNION VALLEY CHEESE FACTORY.

Norx.—The following address was read at the milk meeting at Union Valley, reported in last issue and held over for want of space:

I will make but little apology for what I have to say on the occasion of this meeting. As I have been a well satisfied patron of this factory ever since it opened, I shall say but little, and in this way avoid making so many blunders and errors as I might if I drew my bow for a longer shot.

All our patrons will remember with pleasure, that all reports, in every detail—every year so far—have come up to our highest expectations. This is an evidence of the close attention given by Mr. Robeson. I believe that such results on the farm, in field, in the pasture, in the feed, in the clean stable, and pure water—are secured only by close attention, and I believe our excellent cheesemaker has seen many weary, anxious days and nights, both in body and mind, in this matter, and therefore well deserves our hearty good will and good wishes. I heard it reported, and took the pains to enquire closely, and am convinced that there never was a cut on the quality of our cheese from this factory. The gentleman that have handled our cheese have all confidence that it will prove itself up to the highest standard of excellence and so build up our reputation for a prosperous future. Mr. Robeson's experience, good judgment and earnest purpose was to perfect arrangements and a system in his factory to the extent of preventing foul odors and ensuring purity and sweetness. It is evident in every part of the building that expense has not been spared, so much so that Mr. Publow said that it was designed by a skillful cheesemaker and a complete model throughout and wished that every cheesemaker in Ontario had the same facilities for making cheese. High as the reputation of the province is in this matter it would soon be much higher.

I am truly glad that our books are always open to closest inspection and I confess that I have been on the watch to see if there was the least attempt to keep anything in the dark or cover up any little mistake. I find the very opposite in all down to the last item. This is no reflection on anyone else. To say a truthful good word of one cannot harm another. I feel sure that it was a good thing for us that this factory was built when it was and so uprightly as it is. We will see this advantage more clearly in the future. In return, I feel that, as our chief dependence is on the dairy, we shall try to produce purer, better and more milk from each cow in our care.

I do not think it fair to omit the name of our salesman and treasurer, Over Hayes. Surely some of the success of this factory is due to his attention and perseverance. He has been trying to and over the trust and work for two seasons to anyone who is willing to take it and we are informed that he is determined to get a change at this meeting. For my part I am highly pleased with his services. He is so well informed in the business and knows so well who to sell to and keeps his books so straight that I feel he is adapted for the office and I will be very thankful if he is returned by acclamation.

How dear to our hearts is the steady subscriber
Who pays in advance at the birth of the year,
Who lays down his dollar and offers it gladly,
And casts round the office a halo of cheer,
He never says, "stop it; I cannot afford it;"
Nor, "I am getting more papers now than I can read;"
But always says "send it, the family like it."
In fact, we think it the housekeeper's need;
How welcome he is when he steps in the sanctum!
How he makes our hearts throb, how he makes our eyes dance!
We outwardly thank him, we inwardly bless him—

U. E. LOYALISTS.

—There was a large number present to bear the lecture in the High School hall, on Thursday evening last. An excellent program rendered, consisting of solos by Misses Victoria Bell and Ethel Slack, and a recitation by Miss Rena Dunham, after which His Honor Judge McDonald delivered a very interesting lecture on the United Empire Loyalists. His Honor has a deep toned voice which is admirably suited for occasions such as this, besides his pronunciation was clear and intelligible to all present. The address was a vivid recital of the hardships experienced by the loyalists and also contained many laughable incidents connected with their life here. The chairman, Prof. Johnston, M.A., fulfilled his duties in a very efficient manner. Mr. W. G. Parish moved, seconded by Mr. W. A. Lewis, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to His Honor for the very able address given.

His Honor Judge McDonald, in response to our request, has kindly furnished us with a portion of the address delivered by him at the High School on Thursday evening, which bears on the settlement in this county of the ancestors of three of the most prominent families in our midst.

THE ALGUIRES.

Daniel Alguire was the son of a U.E. Loyalist, who resided near Albany, N.Y. At an early date he removed to Canada, and settled in the neighborhood of Cornwall. He served as an artilleryman in the war of 1812-15, and in the latter year came to the Township of Yonge, settling on Lot Number 8, in the 9th Concession, where he died on the 8th of February, 1832, in the 52nd year of his age. One of his descendants is your respected fellow townsman, Mr. Isaac C. Alguire, who has filled many offices of public trust with credit to himself and benefit to the community.

THE WILTSE'S.

are supposed to be of Dutch origin, emigrating from Holland, about the year 1624, and arriving in America with the Puritans. Their lineage or genealogy can be traced back as far as Jeremiah Wiltse, who was born on the 4th of October, 1718.

Bononi Wiltse, born on the 2nd of July, 1778, and married in 1777, was, I believe, a sergeant in Jessup's Corps, and is said to have come from Albany, N.Y., and to have settled on the banks of the St. Lawrence, a few miles below Brockville, about the year 1784. Thence he removed some years later to the Township of Yonge, and settled on Lot Number 11, in the 8th Concession, where was a small supply of water, and he built the first grist and saw mill. On his land at the time of settlement there existed remains of an old causeway, evidently intended for a road, the date of construction of which, I believe, has never been ascertained.

THE PARISH FAMILY.

William Parish, born in 1766, a U. E. Loyalist, came from New Hampshire, arriving in Canada in 1791. In November 9th of the same year he came to Yonge, and located on Lot Number 10, but in which concession of the Township, I am unable to say. His descendants to the third and fourth generation reside in these united counties, and Mr. Watson G. Parish, an enterprising member of this community, is one of them.

[A couple of years ago the writer, in passing a deserted and delapidated grave yard in Wiltstown, near the Kincaid bridge, had a curiosity to look over the tombstones lying scattered around on the ground and found the stone marking the spot where Bononi Wiltse's remains are reposing. Would it not be a worthy deed for his numerous ancestors to club together and have the remains removed to a more fitting locality and the spot marked as the resting place of the first settler of Rear Yonge and Escott.—NOTE BY EDITOR.]

CONVALESCENCE.

Convalescence is sometimes merely apparent, not real, and especially is this true after such diseases as pneumonia, typhoid fever and the grip. To make it real and rapid, there is no other tonic so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine cleanses and renews the blood, strengthens all the organs and functions, and restores health. Take Hood's.

ANNUAL MEETING.

KITLEY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.
The old board met at 10 o'clock a.m. and finished the business of the year, after which they repaired to the Florida House where Mine host Wickware had prepared a sumptuous repast for everybody present.

At one o'clock the annual meeting was called to order with Mr. C. A. Wood in the chair and W. D. Livingston, secretary. The treasurer's report being read showed a cash balance of $388.55 on hand also about $50 of uncollected cash donations.

The election of officers resulted in the following being elected for 1902: President, D. Dowsley; Vice-Pres., Wm. Emms; Directors Wm. Mitchell, V. Judson, S. Hanton, R. Richards, J. W. Jones, J. E. Loucks, T. W. Cavanaugh, G. M. Leverette, and H. Johnston; Secretary, W. D. Livingston; Treasurer, Wm. Eaton; Auditors, W. E. Statton and Joseph Coad.

Dates of fair—Thursday and Friday, September 25 and 26th.

The following are the statistics of the registry office at Brockville: Patents registered, 14; deeds registered, 743; mortgages registered, 457; discharges registered, 507; wills registered, 118; leases registered, 12; mechanics' liens registered, 6; all other instruments registered, 191—total 2,049. The amount of money loaned on mortgages was $540,620.14. The large number of deeds over mortgages show that over 40 per cent of the transactions in real estate were for cash, and the excess of discharges over mortgages shows that the people are rapidly paying off their debts.

STORY OF THE HUNT, 1901

By the Reporter Hunt Club
At Lah-ne-o-tah Lake . . . . .

In the Valley of the Maganetawan . . . . .

As told by the Scribe of the ATHENS REPORTER.

As mentioned in the opening of last chapter Doc, and the Scribe were given stations for the day on the Bald mountains at the foot of the lake, and Ed was to guard the end of the lake near by. He got a fine doe which came in from the opposite shore from where the dogs were put out and no count was driven there by the dogs of other parties hunting off across the country in the vicinity of other lakes. The Doc decided to go to a watch he knew down on the shore of the river a mile or more from where the Scribe was to watch for the day. The Scribe worked his way up the side of the mountains until he reached an elevation from which he could see a long way in every direction. The fire had run over the hills for miles during the previous summer and there was only an occasional green shrub to be seen.

Years before, shortly after the pine timber was taken off, the fire made a clean sweep, burning up everything excepting here and there a half rotten tree, which being damp and slow to burn did not all burn up at the time. A second growth of poplar, white birch and balsam, and a dense growth of willows and stunted cedars had grown up since in the hollows. These added fuel to the flames which broke out during the dry season of the year before and everything that was left was a few charred logs and the trunks of the smaller trees. A thick growth of tender succulent grass had sprung up, affording the feed for game and the whole hill sides were covered with innumerable deer tracks and afforded the man who put out the dog to get a start in a very short time.

proportions of the animal were admired, the graceful curve of the neck and the grandly spreading antlers were noticed in every outline. The frothing mouth and the distended nostril gave evidence that the race had been a sharp one. On and on he bounded and still the Scribe stood and gazed at the fleeing figure without moving a muscle or raising his rifle to his shoulder until the deer got to within ten or a dozen rods of where he stood. The animal whether scenting danger ahead or intent on locating his pursuers halted for an instant and turned his body directly broadside to where the Scribe was standing. For a full minute, at least it seemed that long to the Scribe, the animal remained motionless. With an effort the Scribe recovered himself and bringing "Old Silver-plate" to his shoulder, he took, as he thought, careful and deliberate aim at the deer's heart. Simultaneous with the report the deer gave a bound into the air and toppled over against a big boulder. He was on his feet in an instant and gave a half dozen jumps and halted again. Quick as a flash the rifle was up to the shoulder again and fired. This time the animal dropped on its knees and then sprang up and away. The Scribe noticed, as he bounded away, that his flag was down, a sure indication that the deer was severely wounded. He started on a run in the direction the deer had taken expecting to find it either dead or badly wounded. The hill was very steep up to where the first shot struck the deer and it required careful management to avoid bruised shins and tumbles over the boulders in the path. He reached the top of the hill and gazed

The hounds crossed the river at the dam, near the foot of the lake, and fell away off into the vast wilderness at the foot of the lake and in a couple of hours brought the wounded buck back. Geo. M., who had a watch in the vicinity saw the deer take to the water and expected that it would swim out and he could get a shot. But it swam along the shore for several rods and clambered on shore and just as it was raising out of the water he fired a couple shots but without effect. He was satisfied from his action that the deer had been wounded and on reaching camp part of the party took a dog and went down to where it had left the water. The dog took the track all right but would only go as far as the edge of a marshy swale and the boys came to the conclusion that the deer had either escaped across this water or had dropped dead and the hounds found it there and returned. Phil's bear and the doe captured by Ed. was considered a fair day's work and the boys had a jolly time in camp that night recounting the varied experiences of the day.

LAKE ELOIDA

The annual milk meeting was held Thursday evening, January 23rd. The meeting was called to order with Mr. Henry Johnston in the chair. The secretary came forward and read a minute statement of each month's milk: No. of lbs. of milk for season, 2,332,305; no. of lbs. of cheese manufactured, 220,685; average no. lbs. of milk to make lb. of cheese, 10,5784; average price per ton, $15.29. Mr. A. Henderson was chosen salesman and treasurer. Mr. Fred Scoville was appointed secretary, and Henry Johnston and James Witte, auditors. Mr. Ben Leeder has been engaged to make cheese for the coming season. When the business part of the meeting had been concluded, Mr. W. Henderson was called to the platform and presented with a well filled purse together with the following address:

To Mr. Wm. Henderson:

DEAR SIR,—We, your neighbors and patrons of this cheese factory, feel that we cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing to you the sincere regret that the thought of losing you from our midst calls forth. As a neighbor we will miss you. As a cheese manufacturer many of us have met you almost daily during the thirteen years you have been among us, and by your kind, patient, strictly honest and upright dealings with all of whom you had to do, our Farmers' Choice factory stands foremost, if not first, among the cheese factories of this county. Your place it will indeed be hard to fill. As a christian gentleman, we realize you stand without reproach and gave us many examples which we would do well to follow. And now, dear friend, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral won't cure rheumatism; we never said it would. It won't cure dyspepsia; we never claimed it. But it will cure coughs and colds of all kinds. We first said this sixty years ago; we've been saying it ever since.

we have concluded that the most fitting exponent of our feelings would be something to which we could all contribute, and which although insignificant in value, might agreeably remind you of the respect and esteem in which you are held by us. We all join heartily in wishing you and your amiable wife and family health and future prosperity. Signed in behalf of patrons

FRED SCOVILLE,
HENRY JOHNSTON,
SHELDON HOLMES.

Mr. Henderson was taken entirely by surprise, but replied in very suitable words expressing his thanks, also that he would have a pleasant remembrance of the time he lived in our midst. The evening's business having come to a close, our attention was drawn to the beautifully laden tables prepared by the ladies. Oysters were served in abundance and all did ample justice to the good things. Everyone went home feeling that they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Ice is being stored for the coming season.

Miss Emma Powell, of Brockville, is spending a few days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Johnston.

Miss Hester Holmes, aged 80 years, died at her home on Thursday after a lingering illness. The funeral took place on Saturday from her late home to Lake Eloida school house where obsequies were conducted by the Rev. Sproule.

THE DEER STOPPED BROADSIDE TO THE SCRIBE.

On reaching the position selected, the Scribe made a shelter from the winds, as well as a screen to hide him from the sharp eyes of the deer, by piling up a few pieces of burned logs and half burned brush. With a big boulder for a seat he sat for hours keenly alive to catch any sound of braying hounds or fleeing deer. It must have been well on to the noon hour before his ears heard the first indication of game being started. The sound came from the direction where the game was supposed to be driven from and he was at once all attention, in order to get the first glimpse of anything that came his way. The dogs and the game circled around amongst the hills for some time, sometimes coming almost to the edge of the hills in the timber and then leading off in an exactly opposite direction.

There is a peculiar sensation experienced by the hunter on his watch, when listening to the hounds as their sharp, sonorous voices break on the ear, that causes the blood to tingle in his veins and the pulsations of his heart to be distinctly felt against his vest. But it is when the game bounds into view and he braces himself for action that unless he has been there before and can overcome the buck fever sensation that will at times almost unnerve the most skilled hunter, he is liable to forget for the moment that he is there to do his part in securing his quota of game and glory. It was so with the Scribe on that particular morning. He heard the dogs as they worked faithfully track and drive the deer out to their masters. He saw the deer bounding from hill to hill and coming in a direct line towards where he stood. The beautiful down into the little valley but could see no signs of the deer. From where he stood he could see the hills, valleys and the river, meandering through the hills almost at his feet but hundreds of feet below. For several minutes he cast anxious glances around in every direction, hoping to catch a glimpse of the wounded animal or locate the place where it had fallen or crawled to escape observation. The dogs came through on the track and never halted where the deer had been fired at but scampered away in the direction of the lake. The Scribe was surprised at this as he hoped to secure the dogs assistance in locating the way the deer had gone. He now began making a closer examination of the ground, retracing his steps to where the deer stood when the first shot was fired. He was agreeably surprised to see the Doc coming up the side of the hill. They slowly traced the deer by the blood marks on the stones and ground at each spot where the animal was shot and from there on to the brink of the hill where it had disappeared from view. Here they found that the proverbial cunning of the animal had stood in good need as it had swung around the brow of the hill, and passed on the opposite side, within three or four rods of where the Scribe was clamoring up the rocks, and sped on towards the lake. The trail was easily marked by the spots of blood to be seen along the route taken. The hounds must have seen the deer as it bounded along the top of the hills which accounts for their not stopping when they came to where the shots had struck the animal.

The dogs came through on the track and never halted where the deer had been fired at but scampered away in the direction of the lake. The Scribe was surprised at this as he hoped to secure the dogs assistance in locating the way the deer had gone. He now began making a closer examination of the ground, retracing his steps to where the deer stood when the first shot was fired. He was agreeably surprised to see the Doc coming up the side of the hill. They slowly traced the deer by the blood marks on the stones and ground at each spot where the animal was shot and from there on to the brink of the hill where it had disappeared from view. Here they found that the proverbial cunning of the animal had stood in good need as it had swung around the brow of the hill, and passed on the opposite side, within three or four rods of where the Scribe was clamoring up the rocks, and sped on towards the lake. The trail was easily marked by the spots of blood to be seen along the route taken. The hounds must have seen the deer as it bounded along the top of the hills which accounts for their not stopping when they came to where the shots had struck the animal.

W. A. Muir, of Lima, O., says: "I was one of the countless victims of 15 years of age. The drains on my system were weakening my brain as well as my spinal and nervous systems. For ten years I tried scores of doctors, electric belts and patent medicines. Some helped me, none cured. I was going up in despair, in fact, contemplating suicide when a friend advised me as a last resort to give the New Method Treatment of Drs. K. & K. a fair trial. Without confidence I consented and in three months I was a cured man. I was cured seven years ago—an married and happy. I heartily recommend Drs. K. & K. to my afflicted fellow men."

Scrofula

What is commonly inherited is not scrofula but the scrofulous disposition. This is generally and chiefly indicated by cutaneous eruptions; sometimes by paleness, nervousness and general debility.

The disease afflicted Mrs. K. T. Snyder, Union St., Troy, Ohio, when she was eighteen years old, manifesting itself by a bump in her neck, which caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore.

It afflicted the daughter of Mrs. J. H. Jones, Parker City, Ind., when 13 years old, and developed so rapidly that when she was 15 she had eleven running sores on her neck and about her ears.

These sufferers were not benefited by professional treatment, but, as they voluntarily say, were completely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

This peculiar medicine positively corrects the scrofulous disposition and radically and permanently cures the disease.

The Recorder still continues to pound the Athenians, and asks why we object to being called "farmers," just because their footballers like the epithet. As already published in these columns we desire to be fairly treated, the same as visiting teams receive at our hands. As to the challenge to play on one of the Brockville rinks, it was certainly rich. What do you or the secretary take us for? Why not have made it a neutral rink instead of a rink at to no?

The hot supper held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, under the auspices of the Church Fund Society of the Presbyterian church, was very largely attended. After the inner man had been bountifully filled many enjoyed a social chat. The musical part of the program was of a very superior order—Mrs. Lillie, Miss M. Green, Miss M. Addison, and Messrs. Compo and Hornick furnishing very pretty selections. The proceeds, which go to defray the cost of the new organ to be placed in the church, amounted to over $33.00.

Percival of Plum Hollow; Miss Wilton, of Athens and Miss Gallagher of Frankville. The selections from Mr. Donovan's graphophone lent an added charm to the proceedings and was highly enjoyed by all. A couple of short speeches by Messrs. Donovan and Fisher were of such a pleasing character that they put a proper finish on the proceedings of the evening.

Almost every person knows that iron enters largely into the human blood. Where the system is in a healthy condition we see the rosy cheeks and bright look of the nation. If this system is run down, a pallor, pale complexion is observed, followed by loss of vigor, tired feeling, languor, cold feet, cold and prickly hands, head aches, backaches and general depression. These symptoms are well known to many ladies. The cause of this is lack of iron in the blood. No better cure than Iron Blood Pills. They supply the system with iron which is converted into pure blood. Why do you neglect these symptoms of impoverished blood when you have the remedy, (sure cure), in Laugh's Iron Blood Pills.

The annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's Presbyterian church was held on Friday evening, 24th inst., when reports were received from the different branches of church work, including the Foreign Missionary Society, Ladies' Church Fund Society, Sabbath school report, all of which made a satisfactory showing. A good deal of interest was taken by the members and adherents present in trying to devise ways and means whereby the existing debt on the church might be wiped out this year. The various officers of the church were elected for the current year as follows:—Board of Management—W. A. Lewis, F. C. Anderson, Wm. Gibson, Dr. Peat, A. E. McLean, Jos. Thompson; S.S. Superintendent, Jos. Thompson; Secretary, Miss Fanny Cadwell. The financial showing was the best in the history of the church. Rev. J. R. Faizzell, the energetic pastor was made the recipient of many complimentary remarks for his faithfulness, and the keen interest displayed by him in everything pertaining to the church's work.

stations are distributed among the localities from which the company would naturally derive the greater part of its income; localities peopled as a rule by the poorer classes. So that a trip to one of the stations means no more effort than a journey to one's physician's. It is clear that if this plan is carried out on the lines projected and along which work is now being done, it will be a Godsend to those who have heretofore been compelled to depend upon haphazard dosing with patent medicines, self-administered, or the services of more-to-conquer physicians, upon whom they formerly relied.—N. THE PRICE OF A MINE

Which Did Not Turn Out to be a Bonanza.

R. B. SKINNER'S INVESTMENT.

That mining is not always finding gold is apparent in a lawsuit just started against two of the best known citizens of Vancouver. About two years ago when the mine boom in the country on the height, Robert B. Skinner and Thos. Dunn, so the story goes, resolved to invest some money in the then unexplored territory of British Columbia. They are defendants in a lawsuit for nearly six thousand dollars. Mr. Skinner went to Atlin himself and for about a year worked a claim in that country on shares with the original owner, a Mr. William Nelson. Mr. Dunn was also interested. A year ago last August Messrs. Skinner and Dunn thought so well of the claim that they purchased Nelson's interest. Messrs. Skinner and Dunn gave him their joint and several note for $5,513.34, dated at Atlin, B. C., the 1st day of August, 1900, and payable twelve months after date with interest at six per cent. A bill of sale of the vendor's interest in the claim was made out, and the Vancouver investors became sole owners of what was supposed to be one of the best mining claims in all Atlin. The mine was worked right along, but though fair prospects were obtained, all in all it was not the bonanza it had been supposed to be. Mr. Nelson having cleared out his interests in Atlin, left there for Nome, where he mined with varying success ever since. He returned to Vancouver the other day, having previously left the note with the Bank of British North America in Victoria for collection, only to be informed that the note had not been paid. He immediately placed the dishonored bill in the hands of Messrs. Bowser, Godfrey & Wallbridge for collection, with instructions to them to bring suit. Action was commenced early in the week, and a writ issued against both R. B. Skinner and Thos. Dunn. The following is the endorsement on the writ issued: The plaintiff's claim is against the defendants as the makers of a promissory note for $5,513.34, dated at Atlin, B. C., the 1st day of August, 1900, payable twelve months after date to the order of the plaintiff at the Bank of British North America, Victoria, B. C., with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. The

One began at three o'clock and the other at five o'clock. Peter and John entered the temple courts at three o'clock, the hour of prayer, and the proceedings at this time had occupied three hours. 4. Many believed—"Persecution did not prevent the truth from prevailing; but it developed courage and energy and made known to the world the noble qualities which Christianity had implanted, and caused the story of the Saviour, His life, resurrection, love, power and Messiahship to be proclaimed all over the land." He could preach with as much freedom in a court-room as in any other place, when filled with the Spirit. Jesus Christ of Nazareth—Wonders are wrought in the name of Jesus; not by repeating it as a charm, but by believing in it as a divine revelation of grace and from the time of the earliest period, the religious service which was acceptable to God, and will be followed until the end of time. Elijah was made to feel the cruel power of the sword; Jeremiah realized the God's words were the cause of fierce opposition against himself by whom they had been sent, and Jesus told the Pharisees of His time that they were the children of them which killed the prophets.

TO IMPROVE OUR RURAL SCHOOLS.

The Idea By Which Sir Wm. Macdonald is Actuated.

Prof. Jas. W. Robertson, in a letter, thus sets forth Sir W. Macdonald's plan of aiding rural schools: Having respect to the well known saying, "Seeing is believing" and "We learn by doing," the plan which Sir William C. Macdonald offers as one desirable to carry out is presented in four parts—three under the Division of Nature Study and the fourth under the Division of Domestic Economy or Household Science. Part 1 of the plan is intended to give object lessons of improvements in education from the construction of five, six or more small rural schools to one centre, to be held in a school garden and manual training room as part of its equipment. It is proposed to offer financial assistance to one locality in Ontario and one locality in each of the Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, to induce the people to undertake and carry out object lessons of improvements in education, with school gardens and manual training, all under the control of the regularly-constituted educational authorities. Part 2 of the plan is for the purpose of giving object lessons of the value of school gardens and nature studies, at individual rural schools, as a part of general education, to be begun by means of a traveling instructor, who would visit and spend one-half day per week with the children and teacher at each school of a group, for a term of three years, or until a considerable number of suitably trained and qualified teachers would be available to carry on such work themselves. It is proposed to offer financial assistance to one group of ten or fewer schools in one locality in Ontario, and to one group in each of the Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, to induce the people to undertake and carry out object lessons of improvements in education, with school gardens and manual training, all under the control of the regularly-constituted educational authorities. Part 3 of the plan has for its object to assist in providing short courses of instruction and training for teachers for rural schools who desire to qualify themselves in these newer subjects and methods of education. It is proposed to offer to the Province of Ontario at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, a gift of a building including a Nature Study plant-growing house, and such equipment as may be required, in addition to what is there at present for the accommodation of teachers while taking short courses in Nature Study for rural schools. Part 4 of the plan is intended to assist in providing courses of instruction and training in Domestic Economy or Household Science for young women from country homes, in order that they may have opportunities for acquiring practical and useful education not less suitable and helpful to them, than the present courses of the Ontario Agricultural College are beneficial to young men, who take them with earnestness and cheerfulness. It is proposed to offer to the Province of Ontario at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, (1) a residence building to accommodate not less than 100 female students and teacher students, daughters of farmers and others, and (2) class rooms, kitchen laboratories and other equipment necessary for courses of instruction and training in Domestic Economy or Household Science.

MEDICAL ATTENDANCE AT TEN CENTS A WEEK.

Medical attendance for ten cents a week is what is offered to the poor of New York City by a company which aims to combine money-making with philanthropy. If the plan is successful, a new era has dawned for the poor of great cities. Briefly, the plan is this: For a weekly payment of ten cents, medical attendance for a family of two is furnished; for a family of three to five the fee is twenty cents a week, and the maximum charge is thirty cents. Prescriptions for subscribers only are filled at a uniform rate of twenty cents each. The concern which has been started to carry out this scheme, is capitalized at $25,000, and is backed by men of experience and means. Dr. Josiah Strong, of the League for Social Service, is the Vice-President and bankers, ministers and insurance men compose the board of directors. There are 16 stations distributed over the city, at which there are constantly in attendance two physicians, a matron and nurse and a pharmacist. In connection with each station there is a thoroughly equipped drug store. Physicians have been selected with an idea of avoiding every possibility of its being charged that the medical attendance secured for ten cents a week is inferior to that which a family would get in the usual way. Patients are not, of course, compelled to attend the medical stations. A physician is constantly in attendance there, day and night, but his co-worker treats at their homes patients who are not able to call at the station. The fee of ten, or twenty, or thirty cents is collected weekly at the subscriber's home, or, if preferred, he may pay it monthly, or yearly in advance. A surprisingly large number of families make the yearly payments of, say, $10.10 for a family of four, thus securing medical attendance for a whole year for less than a brief illness would ordinarily cost. THE PRICE OF A MINE

Which Did Not Turn Out to be a Bonanza.

R. B. SKINNER'S INVESTMENT.

That mining is not always finding gold is apparent in a lawsuit just started against two of the best known citizens of Vancouver. About two years ago when the mine boom in the country on the height, Robert B. Skinner and Thos. Dunn, so the story goes, resolved to invest some money in the then unexplored territory of British Columbia. They are defendants in a lawsuit for nearly six thousand dollars. Mr. Skinner went to Atlin himself and for about a year worked a claim in that country on shares with the original owner, a Mr. William Nelson. Mr. Dunn was also interested. A year ago last August Messrs. Skinner and Dunn thought so well of the claim that they purchased Nelson's interest. Messrs. Skinner and Dunn gave him their joint and several note for $5,513.34, dated at Atlin, B. C., the 1st day of August, 1900, and payable twelve months after date with interest at six per cent. A bill of sale of the vendor's interest in the claim was made out, and the Vancouver investors became sole owners of what was supposed to be one of the best mining claims in all Atlin. The mine was worked right along, but though fair prospects were obtained, all in all it was not the bonanza it had been supposed to be. Mr. Nelson having cleared out his interests in Atlin, left there for Nome, where he mined with varying success ever since. He returned to Vancouver the other day, having previously left the note with the Bank of British North America in Victoria for collection, only to be informed that the note had not been paid. He immediately placed the dishonored bill in the hands of Messrs. Bowser, Godfrey & Wallbridge for collection, with instructions to them to bring suit. Action was commenced early in the week, and a writ issued against both R. B. Skinner and Thos. Dunn. The following is the endorsement on the writ issued: The plaintiff's claim is against the defendants as the makers of a promissory note for $5,513.34, dated at Atlin, B. C., the 1st day of August, 1900, payable twelve months after date to the order of the plaintiff at the Bank of British North America, Victoria, B. C., with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. The

Wonderful Power Over Serious Disease

The Cure of People Right in Your Midst Stands as Irrefutable Evidence of the Superior Medicinal Values of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Of all the ailments which afflict human kind there are none so obstinate and none so difficult to cure as diseases of the nerves. There may be some disorders of individual organs that are more painful and excite more sympathy from friends, but diseases of the nervous system affect the mind as well as the body, and hence are more serious and more dangerous. Such afflictions as paralysis, locomotor ataxia, epilepsy and even insanity itself are the common result of nervous exhaustion. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, muscular weakness, dizziness and irregularity of the functions are merely the warning symptoms which tell of the approach of these more serious disorders. Time and time again Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven to be the most effective restorative that medical science affords. It is not claimed that one box will cure serious and chronic diseases of the nerves, but it is claimed that it will do so much to restore the system to its normal condition that the patient will be able to do so much more for himself. You will search the medicinal world in vain for a more effective nerve restorative than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The evidence of your friends and neighbors attest this.
