KELLY—ARNOLD

On Thursday evening last a very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr and Mrs Omer Arnold Addison, when their only daughter, Clara Edna, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Dr. J. M. Kelly, of Delta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thos. Meredith, in the presence of a few invited guests. The bride was becomingly attired in white embroidered mull. The ceremony took place amid a bank of ferns.

The high esteem in which the bride was held was testified by numerous handsome gifts and several checks.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party and guests repaired to the dining room, where after congratulations a sumptuous repast was partaken of. The room was tastefully decorated.

The bride and groom left for Smith's Falls and Oliver's Ferry, where they will spend a few days before taking up residence in Delta, where Dr. Kelly has a lucrative practice.

The bride will be much missed in the church and Sunday school, for in both she was an earnest worker.

On the Thursday before Mrs Geo. Taplin gave a kitchen shower for Miss Arnold and on Monday about fifty friends and neighbors assembled to bid farewell and gave a miscellaneous shower.

Hard Island Picnic

In accordance with the announcement in last week's Reporter, the people of this school section joined in an "Old and Young" picnic in Mr. Howarth's grove on Friday. The occasion was heartily responded to by not only residents but also by others who had moved away, whose genial presence was surely an enjoyable feature of the occasion, which being coupled with the splendid assistance of new neighbors, marked the occasion as a successful event from the beginning.

After the appetites of about ninety persons had been bountifully satisfied the amount of well prepared and tempting eatables remaining was found to be almost equal to that which had been consumed; hence it was at once resolved to again prepare the tables for an early evening meal.

Almost the entire afternoon was spent in carrying out the school's programme, which told its own pleasing story of skill and painstaking for both teacher and pupils. At the close Mr. I. M. Dunham, speaking in behalf of the people of the section, closed his timely remarks by rendering a vote of thanks to the teacher, Mrs. E. Eaton, who is resigning, and as the freedom of the ground was to be enjoyed, he resorted to the old time method of three rousing cheers for the teacher, which was promptly responded to, which was not only fraught with the kind remembrance and esteem of the pupils but also with a bountiful share of parental gratitude and general good will. To this Mrs. Eaton replied in a very suitable manner.

Swinging, football, and a few closely contested footraces were then indulged in by the pupils to sharpen their appetites for the repast awaiting them, closed a pleasing and successful event.

Secretary.

In noting the removal of Rev. J. E. Blanchard from Merrickville to Ottawa, the Star-Chronicle says: The congregation were unanimous in their desire to retain him, but the stationing committee called otherwise. Not only among his own people will he be missed, but members of all denominations have expressed their regret of his departure. He carries with him the best wishes of the entire community.

Local Items

Master Byron Derbyshire has qualified as a piano tuner at the Brantford Institute and is now at his home in Athens.

A Brockville "Indian," arrested for being drunk, refused to tell where he got his liquor and was sent up for three months. We are all (in a sense) on the Indian list out here, but the crucial question always elicits an answer—hard to believe some times, but an answer just the same—and our citizens don't go up.

A very successful test of the village fire engine was made on Friday evening, under the direction of Chief Camp. The full length of hose that the town possesses was employed in the test, extending from the P.O. tank to beyond Henry street. The engine did excellent work, though, as usual, the motive power was weak.

A serious fire was narrowly averted at the Armstrong House on Saturday morning. Mr. McVeigh had left a lamp burning for a late returning guest, and towards morning the lamp exploded, filling the room with flames. The smoke aroused the inmates and by quick work the fire was extinguished with damage confined chiefly to the room and its contents.

Dr. D. G. Peat arrived home from the West on Saturday evening. He has been helping with the work on his farm at Lacombe, Alberta. The Doctor says that there, as here, the season is backward, but with good weather from now on splendid crops are assured. Dr. Peat has a half section of what he considers to be the very finest land in that famous grain-growing district.

Mr. H. C. Mackenzie Cornish, of the firm of Corby and Co., is in Watrous, Sask., negotiating for the establishment in that rapidly growing Grand Trunk Pacific divisional point of a bottling factory. A company will be organized under the name of the Watrous Mineral Water Co., Ltd., with a capital of $75,000 and will seek from the city a building site for its office and trackage with a promise to spend $25,000 in developing its plant within three years. A $5,000 by-law for building sites is to be brought before the Council of Watrous immediately.

On Sunday evening in the Methodist church a large congregation heard an address by D. McIlroy, Field Secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society on the scope of the work and needs of the Society. The matter was ably and forcibly presented. Rev. W. Westell presided and took advantage of the occasion to extend a ministerial welcome to Rev. George Edwards, the new pastor of the Methodist church. Mr. Edwards replied in fitting terms. An exceptionally fine musical service was rendered by the choir.

ONLY A JOKE

Hon. W. J. Hanna, Ontario's Provincial Secretary, is credited with having said that the Liberal Abolish-the-Bar policy was only a joke. But, if it should be so regarded, why did the Toronto Mail and Empire, the chief Conservative journal, in a recent issue publish the following editorial paragraph?—

Though his abolish-the-bar campaign will not serve his political ambition, Mr. Rowell's labor in that behalf will not be lost. Should he succeed in developing opinion to the point of demanding that the bar be abolished, Sir James Whitney's Government, always keeping pace with public opinion and always responsive to it, will effect the reform.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN BRIEF

Montreal Restaurant Keeper Murdered by Italian.

A London Youth Drowns in Thames.

Bridge Builder Drowned in Welland River.

It is believed that Major G. H. Baker, M. P. for Bromo, will be appointed Solicitor General of Canada.

Ray Williams was drowned and the freighter Botnia sank when it collided with the steamer Curlew in Lake Ontario.

An unknown body was found Monday evening in a creek near Cumberland, and mysteriously disappeared Tuesday morning.

Mary Saggi, a widow, aged 32, committed suicide by hanging herself at her home at Prince Albert, Sask. She was suffering from consumption and became despondent. Four children survive her.

William J. Reynolds, a bridge builder, was drowned in the Welland River, near Montrose. His body was recovered. Reynolds went swimming after supper, and it is thought that he was taken with cramps.

The body of a man subsequently identified as that of John Gray, a hotel porter, who has been missing for two months, and who resided at 427 Baital avenue, was found floating in the Bay near the foot of York street, Toronto.

Garnet McIntosh, of 18 Bennett avenue, resider in the City Hall branch of the Dominion Bank, at the corner of Queen and Teravay streets, Toronto, was arrested by Detective Mitchell on a charge of forgery. The arrest was made after a careful examination of the books of the bank had been ordered by the general inspector.

Louis Gray, proprietor of a restaurant on East Lagoucheville street, Montreal, was shot and killed at the door of his establishment by Dominio Bragan, a young Italian, with whom he had quarreled over the price of some soft drinks. The Italian was seized and held by others in the restaurant. He will be arraigned on a charge of murder.

Norman Milligan, of 855 Waterloo street, the fourteen-year-old son of Harry L. Milligan, cashier of the McClary Mfg. Co., London, but who is now spending his vacation in camp with the 7th Regiment Fusiliers at Goderich, was drowned in the north branch of the River Thames while bathing in a swimming hole above Dexter's dam.

More than 1,000 strikers paraded the streets of East Ham, in the East End of London, carrying a multitude of flags. They stopped outside the houses occupied by the foremen who were disobeying the orders of the strike leaders by working at the docks, and in each case held a mock execution. One of the strikers, dressed as a clergyman, conducted the ceremony.

The Chinese of Sarnia are delighted with the latest addition to their numbers, the new member being an eight-year-old maiden from the Province of Kingkong, who came all the way from Hongkong to join her father here.

The Toronto police force will be reinforced in the near future, with police dogs. A gentleman who makes a hobby of training dogs for use in the detection of crime has left for Great Britain and when there will procure an Ardele terrier for police purposes. The dog will prove of inestimable value in hunting down such criminals as Big Frank, the man responsible for the double murders at the Hammer the other night.

W. J. HANNA

Whitney Says He Will Stay in the Government.

Toronto despatch: Despite rumors to the contrary, Hon. W. J. Hanna is still Provincial Secretary and will remain a member of the Ontario Government. Hon. Mr. Hanna himself would not discuss the story yesterday that he was to become Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada in succession to the late Judge Malice. It is believed upon the head of the Government to speak, Sir James Whitney, of Ontario, announced the following statement:

"I am pretty well tired of replying to allegations in the press on this subject. I am bound to say, however, that it is not at all surprising that Mr. Hanna's name should be so persistently pressed for the chairmanship of the Dominion Railway Board. His work as a member of the Provincial Government can leave no doubt as to his fitness for the position. However, the importance of his work and his interest in it have decided him to remain with the Province.

"That is all I have to say today," added Sir James. "Possibly there will be a repetition of statements contrary to what I have just said, but I cannot repeat them again."

HAWK OWL

Swoops Down Upon Long Branch People.

Toronto, July 1.—A large-sized owl of the hawk variety has the residents of Long Branch in a state of dread. Many times the past few nights it has descended with closed wings from a height and attacked its human prey, inflicting serious injury with its claws. The owl, without warning, falls and at once seizes its victim and begins to claw them before the man, woman or child has a chance to take measures to protect themselves. One man in passing along the roadway was attacked by the owl and narrowly escaped losing his eyesight. His forehead is still discolored as a result of an encounter.

Mrs. William Harper, who lives on the lake front, was leaving the house of Mr. F. J. Martin when the owl swooped down upon her and buried its claws in her hair. Her cries were heard by Mr. Martin, who rushed out and drove the owl off.

The residents have discovered the owl's nest and will today take steps to have it destroyed.

BEATTIE NESBITT

Denies All Knowledge of Bank Irregularities.

Would Have Had Nothing to Do With Stratton.

Toronto despatch: Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, former President of the defunct Farmers Bank, made his long expected appearance on the witness stand when Sir William Ralph Meredith resumed the investigation into the affairs of that institution this morning. Under advice of Hartley H. Dewart, K.C., his counsel, Dr. Nesbitt refused to answer questions relating to the bank's affairs after organization owing to the court proceedings against him in connection therewith now pending.

In answer to questions as to his familiarity with the bank's affairs previous to organization, Dr. Nesbitt declared that he had no knowledge that any part of the $250,000 deposited with the Government to secure the charter had been borrowed from an institution with which Hon. J. R. Stratton was connected. He strongly disapproved of Stratton and had no idea that such was a fact, he declared. Traversa could never have persuaded him to have anything to do with the bank. He believed that the money deposited with the Government had been secured in a legitimate way from subscribers, and he declared, and knew nothing of any being raised in any other way. He disclaimed all knowledge of irregularities.

THAW A WITNESS

Refused to be Examined as to His Own Sanity.

White Plains, N.Y., July 1. Harry K. Thaw took the stand again today, in his efforts to prove his sanity and obtain his release from Mattawan. He was questioned at length by the State's counsel, William E. Jerome. Thaw's counsel, Clarence J. Shearn, objected so frequently and interrupted the testimony to such an extent that Judge Keough asked the witness to be allowed to answer questions in his own way. Later the court threatened to stop the examination unless he could get the cooperation of counsel.

"I cannot pass upon this man's sanity," said the court, "unless I have opportunity to observe him as he answers the questions asked him. If Mr. Jerome asks competent questions, and it produces the effect of fagging the witness, I can't help it."

"Yes."

"Well, I refuse to assist you."

"Are you not perfectly willing to show this court your state of mind?"

The witness said he was not.

"Are you not willing to give Judge Keough opportunity to decide upon your sanity?"

"Learned officials will give Judge Keough plenty of opportunity," Thaw replied.

"STOP IT"

The Laundrymen Must Not Spray Through Mouth.

Montreal, July 1. Laundrymen in Montreal are no longer to be permitted to take water in their mouths and then spray it over shirts. Dr. Laberge, Medical Health Officer, has issued an edict to that effect and is going to see that it is enforced. "It is an insidious and disgusting custom and must stop. Laundrymen are liable to tuberculosis the same as other people, and there is a grave danger that this malady is spread by spraying through the mouth. I shall order an inspection of all laundries to see that they are kept in a sanitary condition."

HONORED MISS COOK.

ALEXANDRA DAY IN OLD LONDON

10,000 Whiteclad Ladies Sell Roses in Streets.

Shilling for Bloom and Sovereign for Sprays.

Real "Flower Girls" Business Was Ruined.

London, July 1.—Sunshine favored the ten thousand white-clad ladies who were selling roses on Alexandra Day in the streets of London today. June 25 is henceforth to be known as "Alexandra Day," and these women today sold wild and artificial roses for the benefit of the charitable institutions in which Queen Alexandra has been always interested. The date celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of Queen Alexandra's arrival in England.

Every well known woman in society seemed to be selling wild roses. The Countess of Liverpool was in Earl's Court; Lady Esther and Lady Mary Howard looked after Chelsea. The Duchess of Marlborough with the Marchioness of Crewe kept a stall outside the Stock Exchange. The wife of Premier Asquith and her daughters, with Lady Esther Smith, were at stalls at other London stations. Other titled and notable women had stalls at different parts of the city.

The wives of the actors at the leading theatres, assisted by bevy of actresses, sold the Alexandra Day flowers, and there were stalls at the entrance halls of all the leading hotels. Lady Mond, with a small array of the prettiest girls in society, sold flowers on the terrace of the House of Commons. The sellers of the flowers were, in addition to their white dresses, wreaths of wild roses around their hats, and each carried a flower basket hung with white and red ribbons, the Danish colors, with the name "Alexandra" in gold upon the ribbons.

Many titled women who did not participate in the selling of the flowers, threw their hats open to afford shelter, rest and refreshment to the workers.

The rose market boomed. On Throgmorton street and Shorter's court, the members of the Stock Exchange paid a shilling for a single bloom, and spared no lances in their buttonholes. Many top hats were gaily festooned. Two ladies in a luxurious automobile held up everybody in the Strand and Fleet street, on the sidewalks of which they had white-dressed ladies and hospital nurses in costume, or lay across at attention, at every few yards. The Princess Louise of Battenberg did a fine business by the Admiralty building. Mrs. Lloyd George and her daughter were at a corner of the Embankment. The Viscountess Adelson was at the Hotel Cecil. A small army of white-clad sellers were at the entrances to the law courts, and planted roses on the plaintiffs, defendants and counsel. The last-mentioned had to thrust them into their waistcoat pockets, as they were unable to wear them in court.

Lady de Trafford was at the station and took in numerous photographs and half sovereigns. Lady Curzon was in the Strand. Princesses pervaded London from one end to the other, and with thousands of untitled women worked with enormous vigor. They conscientiously emptied their trays, which were replenished from demotic shops had been established at the great houses in every district.

The only people who looked and over "Alexandra Day" were London's real "flower girls" who have a hard time earning a living year in and year out.

At noon two of those on Regent street handed the fact that they had only sold in six and two cents, respectively. Since 8 o'clock in the morning, little Alexandra ladies, nearly, who included the Duchess of Buccleuch, had been driving a roaring trade. All these girls had similar tales to tell. They had taken in from two to twelve cents while they had spent from a dollar to two dollars and a half on their magnificent stock. A fan club group around the fountain in Hyde park girls said they had practically taken in nothing, but most of these girls took things philosophically, and their chief lament was that they had not had the foresight to reduce the amount of their stock today.

Some of those appeared to have taken "Alexandra Day" into consideration. The rose sale realized more than $250,000. Of this amount $200,000 was contributed in pence.

CROWLAND MAN

Said He Drank Twelve Bottles a Day.

Welland despatch: Today Police Magistrate Burger fined Julian Hartze, of the township of Crowland, just out of Welland, $40, besides $600 costs, for having an unlawful quantity of liquor on his premises. The prosecution was brought by License Inspector House and Chief of Police Laing. A hundred and forty four bottles of liquor were found on the place. Hartze, in his evidence, stated that it was all for family use, saying he drank twelve bottles a day, sometimes more, and his sons, daughter and wife also drank. Police Magistrate Burger fined Joseph Marbutto, of Crowland, upon the same charge, $25.10, including costs. He was prosecuted by License Inspector House and Chief of Police Laing. Three kegs and one and a half cases of liquor were seized. Marbutto claims they started with ten kegs of a chestnutting.

ANNYOED QUEEN

Suffragette Made Things Unpleasant for Royalty.

Cardiff, Wales, July 1.—King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour of South Wales, were brought face to face with suffragette militancy this afternoon, when a suffragette broke through the police cordon and sprang at Reginald McKenna, the Cabinet Minister in attendance on Their Majesties. The King and Queen were proceeding to the cathedral at Llandaff when a woman named Helen Cragg, muttering threats against Cabinet Ministers, enjoying a tour of the country while women were starting in prisons, held herself up to the Home Secretary. Simultaneously with her attack upon Mr. McKenna, the woman shouted an appeal to the Queen to help the suffragettes. The woman was promptly dragged away by the police and lodged in jail.

POWER ON FARM

Demonstration of Electricity as a Farm Hand.

Practical Tests of Work Given at Beachville.

Beachville, Ont., despatch: Farming by electricity, as demonstrated here today by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, is less than a chemical formula and more than a theory. It is a practical application of electricity as a motive power to the various branches of farming where labor is required. It minimizes the labor problem, and reduces the cost of farm operation. But what seems to be more important in those days, when talk of the depopulation of rural Ontario is heard, is the claim by Hon. Adam Beck that by its agency the young people, men and women, who are now being drawn to the cities and industrial centres, will find farm life more attractive, if not equally profitable, and hence remain on the land.

Hon. Adam Beck took advantage of the occasion to make the announcement that the commission is about to order portable threshing outfits, which will turn the country this fall to give demonstrations of the use of the power for this and other heavy farm work, say, 25 horse power will be required. The cost of such an equipment, Mr. Beck explained, would be about $1,000 such as corn cutting and plowing, where less than the present threshing outfit, and require no expert for maintenance. A motor would measure the quantity of power used, and the farms would be billed by the municipality.

This announcement evoked universal interest, but equally practical was the statement that a supply of two horse power of electricity would suit for house lighting, milking, drying, feeding, cooking, and the various incidental occupations where power in some form or other is required. The multiplication of this did not increase the cost of power, Mr. Beck pointed out, as the use could be equalized throughout the day and night, so that there would be no waste.

The demonstration, which started late in the afternoon, attracted some fifteen hundred people. Farmers from all sections drove in, anxious to see and to learn. A few took advantage of the occasion to approach Mr. Beck, asking that estimates might be prepared for their own districts. It is an economic scheme, the "power" chairman explained, which will save three hundred miles of low-tension wire that would be required to serve a district eight miles wide, could be served at a minimum of cost. It was a cooperative scheme, and to be a success must receive generous support from the farmers.

While the demonstration to day was designed, from a farmer's standpoint, to bring the comfort, convenience, and economy of electric power to him in a practical way, many of the appliances displayed are familiar in city houses. The storage cooker, which is heated by electricity to 250 degrees Fahrenheit, and then shut off, holding its heat for some hours, was put to some severe cooking tests. Chopping machine, and corn cutters, and cream separators gave evidence of great labor-saving possibilities. A centre all interest was an automatic pump brought by Mr. Beck from Germany. Operated by a one-sixth horse power motor, this machine can be used for domestic, stock or fire purposes. The water pressure is maintained at 65 pounds, and when it is reduced below this the pump works automatically.

This machine, costing $100, excited much admiration. An electric milker was given a practical test, but it was resolved with more or less incredulity. The demonstration was held in a large driving shed adjoining the Beachville Methodist Church, which was appropriately decorated. Speeches were delivered by Mr. Beck, Mr. DeLoraine, M. P., Mr. E. W. Nesbitt, M. P., Mr. Philip Pocock, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, London, and Hon. Adam Beck.

WALTZED ON 85TH BIRTHDAY.

Colborne despatch: A happy time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clough, 122 Orange street, last night, when Mrs. Clough's eighty-fifth birthday, Mrs. Clough is just as well and hearty as most young people, and danced in a waltz with Mr. Fred Lewis, who had the pleasure of dancing with four generations, they being Mrs. Clough this wife's grandmother; Mrs. Clough this mother-in-law; his wife, Mrs. Lewis, and his little daughter, Miss Elizabeth Amy Lewis.

Not—"Mrs. Talker" says she only believes half she hears." Belle "Yes, but she even matters up by hearing twice as much as other people."

ROYAL AUTHOR

German Crown Prince Issues "My Hunting Diary."

Enamored of Hunting in India and Scotland.

London, July 1.—All the English newspapers this morning contain long reviews of "My Hunting Diary," a book by the German Crown Prince, which will be published in Berlin today. The book as the prince explains in a modest preface, makes no pretence to literary merit.

"My hand," he says, "is more accustomed to the rifle and the Alpenstock than to the pen." Accounts of the prince's first "bags" of elephants and tigers respectively in Ceylon and India are written in a spirit of boyish enthusiasm. The jungle life made a deep and lasting impression on him.

"Englishmen," he says, "call it the 'call of the east.' I too know it now—that call." The wild grandeur of India especially the magic of the India evening appealed to the prince irresistibly. He says it calls him with a "home-ick" desire to go back.

When he is not singing the glories of nature in India his imperial highness is praising the "incomparable hospitality" of his British hosts. In a chapter on his grouse shooting while he was the guest of a Scottish nobleman, the prince says:

"Grouse shooting seems to me more enjoyable than grouse eating. The served bird usually looks like a badly underdone duck, and tastes as if it were shot too late."

Life in a Scottish country house appealed to the crown prince as ideal. "In such a house," he says, "every guest is looked after by the host in the slightest fashion. This solitude, moreover, is so charming and unobtrusive that the recipient hardly notices that the host is bothering about him at all."

"In their masterly treatment of guests the English are really perfect. We Germans think a guest always has to be amused and one is worried to death. There is nothing of that sort in England. There everybody does what he pleases. One wants to ride, one has only to say so. Motoring, fishing, sailing, tennis, golf, firing—it is all there. Those are indeed glorious days in old Scotland."

SARNIA FIRE

Power Plant Burned and Everything at Standstill.

Sarnia, Ont., despatch: Business is paralyzed here today as a result of the big power plant of the Sarnia Gas & Electric Light Co. being wiped out by fire. The fire plant, which was installed about seven years ago and was valued at $150,000, is in ruins, and the machinery a wreck. As a result there are no street cars running and many factories and the newspaper office which use electric power are tied up completely. Point Edward people are in the same predicament and in all homes where electricity is used for lighting purposes lamps will be in vogue for some time.

It is understood that the loss will total more than $100,000 and is fully covered by insurance. Several hundred men are thrown out of work. The street car company is getting out all the old horse cars and will put on the best service it can until a new plant can be selected.

GIRL MISSING

Fear Felt That Girl Has Committed Suicide.

Berwick despatch: Miss Carrie Kearns, formerly of Berwick, is believed to have committed suicide at Hawkesbury. The girl, who was employed at a Hawkesbury hotel, writes her mother, who lives here, that she intended to drown herself in the rapids of the Grand River. The girl, who was highly respected, is said to have worried over an incident which had occurred at the hotel and which she fancied involved disgrace to her. She is believed to have drowned herself on Sunday, but her body has not been found so far. Besides her mother, Mrs. H. Kearns, one brother, Hugh, and one sister, Mary, reside here.

KILLED BY TRAIN

The Body of Donald Gunn Found on G. T. R. Tracks.

Colborne, Ont., despatch: The body of Donald Gunn, a well-known farmer, of Haldimand township, was found on the G. T. R. tracks near his home, about three miles west of here. There was a three gashes in the head and both legs had been run over near the ankles, while his eye was found three hundred yards away, torn to shreds. Mr. Gunn was last seen at a hotel the evening before, when, as postmaster he had been around notifying his neighbors to start roadwork. Mr. Gunn came here from Scotland over 50 years ago, being 75 years of age. He was unmarried, and had always lived alone.

FOUND SALMON

In the Landlocked Waters of Algonquin Park.

Ottawa, July 1.—A remarkable fact has just come to light in the capture of a specimen of landlocked salmon in Algonquin Park waters. The fish was sent to Ottawa to be examined by Prof. Prince, Dominion Commissioner of Fisheries, as many sportsmen at the park contended that it was not a salmon but a hybrid specimen. Prof. Prince pronounces the fish a true salmon and one of the finest he has seen. Its weight was nearly two pounds. The discovery is an important one for sportsmen in the province. At one time sea salmon were plentiful in Lake Ontario, but they have long been practically extinct despite the fact that thousands were planted in the lake and its tributaries.

Since 1908 over 25,000 to 40,000 fry have been planted annually in Algonquin Park waters at the suggestion of Prof. Prince and the result is now seen for the first time. Prof. Prince is of the opinion that the fish just captured is of the fry of 1909.

MEXICAN BATTLE

Between Rebels and Federals Expected To-day.

Foreigners in Chihuahua Dread the Outcome.

Chihuahua, Mex., July 27.—The crisis in the Mexican revolution is at hand today. Five thousand rebels, well entrenched and fortified at Bachimba, 45 miles south of here, were expected today to engage the federal column of equal strength, commanded by General Huerta.

At stake is the city of Chihuahua, for months under rebel control, and a vital point in Northern Mexico. There is tremendous tension here among foreigners, many of whom have raised their national flag over residences and business houses. It is generally realized that a rebel defeat or retreat would mean a reorganized and controlled flight to the city of Chihuahua, with looting and rioting as a climax.

CHIHUAHUA THE STATE.

At federal army headquarters, Orizaba, Mexico, July 1.—General Huerta expects to have his artillery in position just ahead of Consuelo, seven miles south of Bachimba, by noon today, when he plans to open the attack on the rebel stronghold.

The Government has sent out two flanking columns, which should open fight on the right and left of rebel positions simultaneously with the artillery, with the artillery assault at the centre.

General Huerta expects to be in the city of Chihuahua in five days, as it is anticipated the rebels will blow up all bridges if they retreat from Bachimba.

NAVAL DISASTER

Toulon, France, July 1.—Five of the men injured yesterday on board the French Armored cruiser, Jules Michelet, off Ilyeres, by the premature explosion of a six inch gun, are dying in the naval hospital here. The official enquiry into the cause of the accident shows that there were two explosions.

By the first, thirteen men were hurt to the deck and frightfully burned. As soon as the victims had been conveyed ashore the firing was outrageous resumed with the same gun, under the direction of Admiral Bertrand Souris, commander of the training ship division in the Mediterranean. Once more the charge ignited and ten more officers and men were injured. Nearly all the victims are young seamen. One man's arm was blown off.

It is believed the explosions were due to the draft caused by the sudden clearing of the breech of the gun, which ignited some sparks remaining from previous charges. The accidents are generally attributed to the defective system of gun cleaning between the charges adopted in the French navy.

UP IN THE AIR.

German Airship With Passengers on Oversea Trip.

Hamburg, Germany, July 1.—The Zeppelin dirigible airship, Victoria Luise, started at a quarter past six this morning on a ten-hour overseas trip with twelve passengers on board. The monster airship flew directly out from this city over the North sea.

It is stated in some quarters that the purpose of the trip is to demonstrate if it should prove successful, that an airship could fly 45 miles an hour give a radius as wide as London from Hamburg, and as far as Bristol from Edinburgh. The Victoria Luise passed over the Island of Heligoland at a quarter past nine.

PYTHONS AS PETS.

The Man Liked Them, but They Were Not Appreciated by His Wife. An Englishman who spent much time in Bengal tells in Blackwood's Magazine about a couple of pythons that were kept as pets. He says: "One hears a good deal about the snakes, but one sees very little of them at any time and in cold weather nothing at all. Indeed, the only snakes I saw were two great pythons which a planter kept in one of his indigo vats for his private delectation. He loved to watch them and feed them and poke them with a stick and see their flat, vicious heads drive at it with the speed and force of a steam hammer. "His wife liked them less because one of them had once escaped from the vat and wandered into her bedroom. It was daytime, and she was resting from the heat, and hearing it advance, breathing heavily, she thought it was her somewhat asthmatical fox terrier and told it to lie down. As it seemed to be making for her bed instead, she looked up to find that it was one of the pythons looking for a warm place in which to lie. Her screams brought her husband, who, annoyed by this escape of a pet which his wife had never properly appreciated, thoughtlessly seized it by the neck, with the result that in a twinkling it had knotted itself around his arm and nearly pulped it before his bearer could arrive and get it by the tail. "Two men, it seems, can deal with a python fairly effectively by grasping each an end of it, thus preventing it from weaving itself into the coils that crush. But no single man is of much use, for the reason that he cannot in the nature of things grasp and keep taut an eighteen foot length of writhing muscle. The planter told me that, as it was, his arm had turned black and blue all over, as if it had been squeezed in a heavy door, and it was weeks before he could use it. But he still loved his python."

REFORMED BY A SONG.

Nordica Saved Her Jewels and Made a Thief an Honest Man. Mme. Lillian Nordica, the singer, once upon returning from a concert tour decided to go straight to her villa in France, accompanied only by her maid. She knew there were no servants there at the time, but felt no alarm. They arrived in the early evening and enjoyed being home again. At nearly midnight they sat softly talking together, with only the mellow moonlight flooding the rooms, when they heard a window off the south balcony being raised, and an instant later steps were heard in the hall. Almost paralyzed with fear—no one to help, no weapon at hand—their realization of her power of song. "It has moved thousands," she thought, and with trembling notes she began to sing what had been uppermost in her thoughts before the entrance of the intruder, "Home, Sweet Home." The exquisite voice grew steadier, and it rang out in its sweetest, purest strains. Then followed "Old Folks at Home," but her audience had gone. The maid saw a dark figure creep through the window and steal across the lawn and out of the gate. Some weeks later Nordica received the following letter: Dear Madame—On the night of the I entered your home to relieve you of all your diamonds, jewels and money, but an angelic song rang out in the sweet words of mother's songs, and my hand and heart were arrested, and I vowed never, never again to do ought that would sorrow that sainted one. I am now engaged in honest work. God bless you! —Ladies' Home Journal.

Each Otherness. Nothing is of real value in the world except people. Never hurt a person by a wrong thought or by word or by act. Never hurt each other. Then go on a big discovering expedition and find each other. Never say, "That person has nothing in him," for that only means that you haven't found it yet. Then, last of all, never think you are the only person. You are just a part of "each other." You are not somebody and the rest of us everybody else. We are each other. Life is each otherness, not everybody-else-ness.—St. Nicholas.

Graves in Pawn. In times of financial difficulties the Loochoans, residents of the southwestern islands of Japan, sometimes pawn the graves of their relatives. They are always redeemed, however, failure to do so meaning family disgrace. The turtle back shaped tombs, usually located on a hillside facing the water, are elaborate affairs of stone and cement, and their cost and upkeep often bankrupt the family.

Hopless. "Why don't you make up your mind to cease permitting your wife to henpeck you?" "I have made it up half a dozen times, but it doesn't seem to do any good at all. She refuses to concede that I have a mind."—Chicago Tribune.

LIFE IN TURKISH CAMP

COMPRESSED DISCOMFORT DESCRIBES IT ACCURATELY.

The Turks Are Not Very Clean, But They Have Plenty of Food and Are Bubbling Over With High Spirits—The Depot at Azizieh Grows Continually to Accommodate Arab Reinforcements.

Turkey and Italy are still at war, although Canada hears very little about it. In this contest for Tripolitan supremacy the big engagements have been few and far between. Yet there has been considerable loss of life occasioned by the numerous petty, but still deadly forays, between small desperate bands of Arabs and the Italian outposts. Amongst the snows of a Canadian winter it is hard to conjure up vision of a camp, situated in the heart of a tropical oasis, all typical of heat and of the Orient.

The only way to really understand the Turkish-Italian contest is to know the national life as lived in Tripoli. The following is written by an expert on the subject, and gives the reader the necessary information to understand how hopeless is the task that the Italians have taken to themselves. Jebel Zoweiah, a veritable Acropolis rising from the surrounding plains, had long been visible before our eyes beheld the goal of our long and difficult journey, the Turkish camp at Azizieh, which lay at the foot of the hill. We found ourselves in the midst of a wonderfully busy scene. In a large open space, surrounded by irregular buildings, squatted hundreds of Arab chattering like magpies and carrying on a brisk trade with officers and men.

There appeared to be no lack of food for the Sultan's fighting men in Tripoli. On every side were sacks and baskets full of onions, potatoes, chilies, dates, lemons, egg, rice, mutton or goats' flesh, sugar, and native bread; there was even a fair number of rather lean fowls, but no trace of coffee. Apart from tobacco, which was scarce and costly one could see no signs of famine prices. Potatoes were selling at three pounds for 4 cents, eggs 16 cents a dozen, meat about 8 cents a pound. As far as food is concerned, the war might last for years in the interior of Tripoli.

The market is bounded on the south by one of the big "konaks" or military quarters typical of Tripoli—a compound courtyard filled with Arabs and camels and very filthy. On the upper storey runs a large broad terrace looped for rifle fire and commanding fine views of the desert and the Ghariban Mountains. The Turkish officers experience at Azizieh the very minimum of personal comfort.

Still, one never hears a word of complaint, and everybody seemed in a good temper and excellent spirits; yet what a signal contrast exists between the conditions of active service in the British Army and those which prevail at Azizieh! Here in a small room in the tumble-down konak sleep the Commander-in-Chief, Fezli Bey, and Djavad Bey. The writing of numerous despatches, the issue of daily orders, the holding of courts-martial, the reception of Arab deputations have all to take place in this one apartment, which also serves as the mess for all the meals of the staff.

Every I saw that compressed discomfort I saw it in that untidy room of the borders of the camp have been continually enlarged since the beginning of December by the arrival of Arab contingents from east, south and west. A war drum would be heard in the distance, and gradually a column would appear over the gent's undulations of the desert. The Arabs advanced in ragged "fours," the result of the elementary drill provided by a couple of Turkish regulars who marched with them. At the head of the columns rode the sheikhs, splendidly mounted, and crescent flags, embroidered with Koran texts, waved in the air.

Amid loud shouts of welcome the new arrivals would march round the camp, and then, taking up their bivouac ground, settled down in colored masses "like garden beds," in the words of the Gospel narrative. At other times they ranged themselves in big semi-circles, with the mounted chiefs in the centre and the standard-bearers moving to and fro along the lines.

The spectacle was really magnificent in its display of elemental vigor and passion. Suddenly in resonant tones some Arab would chant the refrain: "We are warriors, we fear not death for our fatherland"; and then the massed ranks raised their rifles and swords and shouted with one accord: "We are true sons of our father"—i.e., in colloquial English, "chips of the old block." The enthusiasm was tremendous and the occasion worthy of a great artist's brush. For some time after the turning of the Turkish left on Dec. 4 and the consequent removal of their headquarters to Azizieh, the Italians appear to have been living in a fool's paradise of security. They received a rude shock on Dec. 19, when a brigade under Col. Fava set out for a small oasis to clear out some alleged marauders.

It is difficult to estimate the actual losses of the Italians in this disastrous engagement. In no modern campaign has there ever been exhibited so barefaced a disregard for statistical accuracy as is found in Tripoli to-day. However, in the present instance, the straggling fight and final rout took place within a short distance of where I was, and Turkish officers who had means of discovering the enemy's losses with some degree of accuracy estimated that several hundred of the Italian infantry and gunners had been killed and wounded. At any rate, 200 rifles were actually collected and brought in. Ammunition, boots, helmets, and hats stripped from the dead or found on the field of battle were exposed for sale in the market. The Turkish casualties were eleven killed and 40 wounded.

A BISMARCK STORY.

It Shows the Gentler Side of the Man of Blood and Iron.

The French surgeon Czarnicko in his reminiscences of the Franco-Prussian war tells a story that seems to place Bismarck in a new and more gentle light. He says:

"Seated on some straw and propped up against a pillar of the church of Rezonville was one of our poor soldiers, a quite young man named Rosignol. A shell, striking him like the lash of a whip, had carried away both his eyes and the bridge of his nose, leaving the front of the skull bare. This fearful wound was covered with a dressing. He lay there calm, silent and motionless, in quiet resignation."

"Bismarck stopped in front of him and asked me what was his case. He seemed really touched. 'There is war for you, messieurs, the senators and deputies!' Then, turning to one of his suit, he said, 'Please bring me some wine and a glass.' He filled the glass to the brim, took a sip, and, then, gently tapping the shoulder of the poor martyr, he said, 'My friend, will you not drink something? Rousing himself from the deathlike stupor that was creeping over him, the man assented."

"We then saw Bismarck stoop and very softly and slowly give the wounded soldier the wine. Rising again, he drank what was left in the glass and said, 'What is your name, my boy, and where do you come from?' 'Rosignol, from Brittany.' The count then took his hand and said, 'I am Bismarck, my comrade, and I am very proud to have drunk out of the same glass as a brave man like you, and, stretching his hand over the horribly mutilated head, he seemed to give him a mute benediction."

ANIMAL SWIMMERS.

Best of All, Though Not the Swiftest, is the Polar Bear.

The rhinoceros and hippopotamus are wonderful swimmers and divers, while the Indian elephant crosses great rivers with heavy loads. The elk and the reindeer are first class swimmers. The elk keeps his head above water and crosses directly from bank to bank to avoid turning. The reindeer, on the other hand, turns as often as he likes, keeping his head only a little above the surface.

But of all swimmers of all climes the best, though not the swiftest, is the polar bear, who passes half his time in the water swimming and diving. His swimming power is nothing short of miraculous if it is remembered that the water in the regions he frequents is invariably cold and that cold is normally prohibitive to good swimming.

One of the swiftest swimming animals is the squirrel. A sportsman on one occasion, having at hand a squirrel born in captivity which had never seen water, wanted to see if it could swim and took it with him in a rowboat to the center of a lake. The squirrel turned toward the bank, head and paws above the water, back and tail underneath it, and began to swim so rapidly that the man recovered it when it neared the shallow water near the land. It is said that even many nonaquatic birds will swim like ducks if an attempt be made to drown them.—Harper's.

"Of course," said the man who was looking out of the window at the heavy rain, "I don't believe George Washington was capable of telling a lie. But I don't consider that cherry tree incident much of a test."

"Could you devise a better one?" "Yes. I'd like to know what Washington would have said if he had stood at the door of a restaurant on a stormy night and the waiter had hurried up to him with a fine new silk umbrella with an ivory handle and no name on it and said, 'Isn't this yours, sir?'"—Washington Star.

Home Melodrama.

"The cards are marked" said the man. "The woman covered." "The cards are marked" he repeated.

There was no tragedy however. Seems the baby had got hold of a lead pencil and marked up the euchre deck.—Washington Herald.

Curious. "There's one curious thing about discovering places," said Johnny. "Take Bermuda, for instance. It was discovered by a man named Bermudez. How he happened to stumble on a place with a name just like his beats me."

Farm for Sale

160 acre farm 9 1/2 miles from Port Arthur, 1/2 mile from Ry. station, 100 acres cleared with very modern house that cost $8800 and up-to-date out-buildings, $1200 worth of machinery, and fully stocked, including about 60 pigs, 10 cows and a good team of young mares, etc.

This is a splendid property and there is a very good demand for produce both in Port Arthur and Fort William. Milk is taken at the door at 16c per gallon to supply the Cities, and there is a small fortune in potatoes, as the demand is much in excess of the local supply and just at present are worth $2.00 per bag. The reason for selling, the owner, a doctor, has moved into the city. Price $10,000—$4,000 cash and balance to suit.

I will gladly furnish all particulars of this or other property in Fort William. Correspondence solicited. I can place your money in first mortgages on good residential and business property to net you 7 per cent.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Malignant Unbelief.—Mark 3:20-35. Commentary. Jesus opposed by enemies (vs. 20-27). 20. The multitude...

around him. Sent unto him—Probably word was passed along from one to another in the crowd until it reached Jesus. 32. Seek for thee—They had made an effort to reach him, having come from Nazareth, Jesus' home of their presence and desire. 33. Who is my mother, or my brethren—These are words expressive, in no sense, of contempt for his relatives. He showed tender affection for his mother in the provision he made for her while he hung upon the cross. Bengel says: "He despises not his mother; he places before her his Father." Earthly relationships must not stand in the way of accomplishing the work which lay before him. 34. Behold my mother, etc.—He called attention to his followers who surrounded him. 35. Shall do the will of God—The test of the closest relationship is not earthly kinship, but oneness of nature, of purpose, of joys, of sufferings, of labors and of destiny. God's people are one in Christ.

In the Poultry World. POULTRY KEEPING A WOMAN'S VOCATION. There are many things which a girl or woman can do if she will only start at it. Whether it be one thing or another, if you wish to reimburse yourself for the time and work put upon it, you will seek the best paying line of work every time.

THE CHICKEN'S MISTAKE. A little downy chicken one day Ask leave to go on the water. When she saw a duck with her brood hen at play. Swimming and splashing about her. Indeed, she began to peep and cry. When her mother wouldn't let her. "If ducks can swim, then why can't I? Are they any bigger or better?" Then the old hen answered, "Listen to me, my little chick, and you will see that I am not wrong. Just look at your feet and you will see they were only made for walking."

And bore the soul away.
