THE big fairs have been getting a lot of advertising for the past few weeks, and the efforts of the various managements are rewarded in every case with a large attendance. While it is wise from an educational standpoint to visit these fairs, it is the imperative duty of every community to patronize their own local fair, and everyone within a radius of 25 miles of Watford is invited to be here on October 7th and 8th. The attractions in front of the grand stand or in the midway will not equal the Canadian National at Toronto, nor the Western at London, but your presence will make the fair better than it would be if you fail to put in an appearance. Let us all patronize the little home concerns. It will pay in more ways than one.

THE two cases of Werry vs. Bell, affecting certain properties in Watford and Port Stanley, were disposed of at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario held at St. Thomas on Wednesday. After some evidence was taken a settlement was arrived at whereby a division of the property was made, each party to pay their own costs. J. M. McEvoy, London; W. E. Fitzgerald, Watford; and C. St. Clair Leitch, St. Thomas, for plaintiffs; John Davidson and W. K. Cameron, St. Thomas, for defendants.

HUNTINGDON GLEANER:—The rapid increase of late in the cost of everything that goes into the production of newspapers, while subscriptions are unobtainable in the present world, the result of which no one can surmise. At the present moment there are not six papers in the province of Quebec that can show that receipts from subscriptions cover the cost of printing them. Such a condition cannot last. The conditions are the same in Ontario.

THE annual Harvest Thanksgiving Services will be held in Trinity church on Sunday next. Special music is being prepared by the choir and the church will be decorated in keeping with the festive nature of the services. In the morning the rector will preach a harvest sermon especially for young people. There will also be a celebration of the holy communion. In the evening Rev. D. W. Collins, rector of Exeter, will be the special preacher. The thank offering will be given to Huron College.

UNDER the new amendment to the criminal code it is an offence liable to a fine of $100 or imprisonment for three months for a person to leave a hotel, lodging or boarding house without paying for the accommodation which he has received. The amendment has become effective and the police believe it will be of great assistance to them. Formerly, a person who presented a bogus cheque in payment for any board bill or left a hotel without paying his bills could not be arrested, and the persons who suffered by this could seek redress only by means of a civil action. No more jumping board bills.

ANOTHER millinery opening has gone into history and the owners and assistants of the Watford shops proved their ability to display to their clientele a comprehensive and up-to-the-minute display of the beautiful and novel in Dame Fashion's realm. There was a great array of fascinating shapes, becoming models and variety of styles, each and every one extremely becoming, and modelled from the newest offerings of Paris and New York. The New Empire influence is seen in the quaint hula hats with domed crowns and jockey brims of velvets and metallic laces, while the picturesque "Cavalier" shapes come in hatters' plush banded with satin and having a Paradise mount springing away at the back. Taken all in all the hats this season are neater and more attractive than they have been for some years and there is something to match the contour of every face.

Will Be a Hummer

The East Lambton Fair this year is going to be a Hummer with a capital H. The Fair is an institution. It is a measure of its community. It is not promoted as a money-making proposition. Its purpose is to provide a place where the people may meet and exchange views, show what they have accomplished and study improved methods. Agriculture and the trades are continually advancing, customs are changing and new ideas are being brought forward.

The man who would keep abreast of the times cannot be satisfied with what he has accomplished himself. He must know also what his neighbors are doing. Our Fair is given for instruction and enjoyment. It is your opportunity to show what you have done and to see what others are doing. It is your chance to enjoy yourself and it is your duty to give your aid by attending.

Besides the attractions previously mentioned the management will put on a couple of trials of speeds with fair prizes. A 2.50 trot will be awarded prizes of $50, $30 and $20, and an open race will receive $150, divided $75, $45 and $30. Arrangements are also being made for motor cycle races with good prizes. There will be $10 for lady driver and $10 for best heavy team, and a number of other special attractions. Remember the dates, Oct. 7th and 8th, and send in your entries now.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Solemnized in the R. C. Church on Tuesday Morning

On Tuesday morning, September 23rd, at 9 o'clock, at the church of Our Lady Help of Christians, was solemnized one of the prettiest weddings witnessed in Watford for some time, when Miss Anna Teresa McDonnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McDonnell, became the bride of P. F. Quinlan, M.D., of Stratford. The officiating priest was Rev. P. J. Quinlan, of Strathroy, brother of the groom, who was assisted by Rev. Dean McGee and Rev. Father Egan, of Stratford, and Rev. Father Kowan, of St. Mary's. The bride was given away by her father. She was beautifully gowned in a rich dress of white satin charmeuse with pearl trimmings, court train or brocade satin caught at the shoulder with diamond buckle; wedding veil, embroidered with seed pearls, Juliet cap banded with orange blossoms, which also trimmed the skirt of her gown. She carried a white satin prayer book holding a prayer book shower of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss K. C. McDonnell, who was gowned in mauve satin with tunic and trimmings of cream point D'Alencon lace and had a white picture hat trimmed with white plumes. She carried a sheaf of yellow mums. Mr. Joseph Quinlan, Stratford, assisted the groom. The winsome little flower girls were Miss Mary McCabe, daughter of Dr. McCabe, Strathroy, and Miss M. Campbell, daughter of Mr. Kent Campbell, London.

Mr. Crompton, of Stratford, presided at the organ and during the ceremony Miss K. McLaughlin, of London, sang in a beautiful clear contralto voice an Ave Maria, and during the signing of the register an Ave Verum. The ushers were Mr. T. J. Ryan and Mr. Leon Duggan, of Stratford. The groomsmen were Mr. J. J. Ryan and Mr. J. J. Ryan, of Stratford. The flower girls were Miss Mary McCabe, daughter of Dr. McCabe, Strathroy, and Miss M. Campbell, daughter of Mr. Kent Campbell, London.

After the solemn rites were performed and the register signed, the party returned to "Fairview," where a reception was held in the drawing room, and congratulations received under a bower of white and pink ribbon and green matrimony vines banded with palms, erected in one corner. The decorations in the other parts of the house were white and pink asters. The wedding breakfast was served in the library and dining room.

The bridal couple left about three o'clock for a trip to the eastern provinces. The bride's travelling costume was an imported suit of fur-lined navy blue cloth with hat to match.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Rev. Dean McGee and Father Egan, Stratford; Rev. Father Kowan, St. Marys, and Rev. Father Quinlan, Strathroy; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Coughlin, Mr. Joseph Terence, Miss Quinlan, Dr. Lorne Robertson, Dr. Betty, Mr. T. J. Ryan, Mr. Lem Duggan, Mr. Thos. Creighton, Mr. Crompton, Stratford; Miss K. McLaughlin, Miss L. McLaughlin, Miss Kathleen McKin, Miss Kathleen O'Meara, Miss Agnes O'Meara, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. O'Meara, Mr. and Mrs. J. McDonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Campbell, and Miss Mary Campbell, London; Dr. and Mrs. J. R. McCabe, Mr. A. P. McCabe, Mr. Len. McCabe, Miss Mary McCabe, Strathroy; Mr. J. W. McLaren and Miss Ella McLeay, Watford.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

In a middle western state town the other day a man was found unconscious on the river bank with $17,000 in his pocket. To say the least of it, that chap was very inconsiderate and should be prosecuted as a menace to public honesty in these hard times.

In spite of the financial stringency a slick stranger with a forged letter of introduction was able to fleece several Ontario banks out of thousands of dollars. The business man or the farmer, with nothing but good security to offer, has no such luck.

A Lexington, Kentucky, man bet his physician he would live three months after the medical man had told him the end would come inside of three weeks. He lived long enough to collect the bet and a few days later the doc got it back in medical fees. You can't beat the man with the little, narrow grip under his arm.

We were a little surprised a few days ago to find $50 lying on the road beside the hedge at the corner of one of our prominent farmer's home, and the more so to find that it had lain there several months unmolested, but beginning to look much the worse for the exposure. The money was in the shape of a corn planter that will have to be replaced by a new one before many years unless cared for better than that.—Exchange.

Sixty-eight civic clerks in the employ of the city of Montreal had their salaries for the month of July seized for debt. This is a slight indication of affairs in the large cities which are filled with farmers' sons who were too nice to follow the calling of "poor old dad" because it was not a white shirt stand up collar job, and consequently they are making so little in comparison to their wants that their expenses are leaving their salaries farther and farther behind. The farm is a mighty good place to stay these days even for a young fellow who is a lot cleverer than "poor old dad."

The system of endorsing is all wrong, and should be utterly abolished. It has been the financial ruin of more men, than perhaps, all other causes. "Book-keeping," a journal devoted to merchants, clerks and business men, advises our young men especially to study the matter carefully in its bearings, and adopt some settled policy to govern their conduct so as to be ready to answer the man who asks them to sign his note. What responsibility does one assume when he endorses a note? Simply this: He is held for the payment of the amount in full, principal and interest, if the maker of the note through misfortune, mismanagement or rascality fails to pay it. Notice, the endorser assumes all this responsibility, with no voice in the management of the business and no share in the profits of the transaction, if it proves profitable; but with a certainty of loss if for any of the reasons stated, the principal fails to pay the note.

The Return of the Duchess

The decision of H.R.H. the Duchess of Connaught once more to undertake the trip to Canada to assist her husband in carrying out the duties of Governor-General of the Dominion is a tribute as much to the fascination of Canada as it is to her own indomitable pluck. Her experiences in Canada were marred by recurrent attacks of a most dangerous illness, and the prominent part she took in the social life of the Dominion must often have been at the cost of much fatigue. At home in England she would have all the comforts of a luxurious mansion on an ancestral estate, and all the enjoyment of the society of lifelong friends and relatives. Yet such is her affection for Canada and the Canadian people that not content with insisting that the Duke of Connaught shall serve out his term of office in Canada, she herself, rising from what some feared would have been her death bed, has resolved to return to Canada and resume the position which she previously adorned as chateleine at Rideau Hall. The people of Canada will welcome her with open arms. This token of affection for Canada and its people cannot but result in deepening the regard which Canadians have for the British crown and its representatives. The Duke and Duchess are expected to arrive in Canada on the 24th of October.

Millionaire Solves Puzzle of Pleasing Wife

"If I had only $1 to spend on my wife I would spend it like an artist," says L. C. Dillman, the Seattle millionaire. "There is no joy in the future, but all of it is today. No matter how little a man has, part of it should be spent in making life pleasant for his wife and himself. There is too much of this living in the future."

These are rules Dillman has formulated for husbands as the result of his experience:

Keep all promises made before and at the time of marriage.

Divide the newspaper and everything else.

Keep a joint bank account.

Go to your club no oftener than once a week.

Have no dogs or pets of any kind.

Call her up on the telephone two or three times a day.

When away from home write or telegraph every day.

Take her with you on business and pleasure trips as much as possible.

Be more polite to her than to any woman that you meet.

Remember that she likes flowers, candy and books just as much after marriage as before.

Don't appear before her in your birthday suit.

Make it a business to be comfortable whenever she is happy.

Don't criticize her dress.

Be a gentleman to all women, but a husband to only one.

"This watch will last a lifetime," remarked the jeweller, as he handed the watch to customer. "Nonsense," retorted the other. "Can't I see for myself that its hours are numbered."

Government Crop Report

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—A bulletin issued to-day by the Census and Statistics Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce reports the condition of crops and live stock at the end of August, and gives preliminary estimates of the yield of spring wheat, rye, oats and barley as compiled from the reports of correspondents upon the appearance of these crops.

The weather conditions were favourable for ripening and harvesting the grain crops. In Ontario it was nearly all harvested by the end of the month, while in the Prairie provinces harvesting operations were about two-thirds completed, and it was expected that threshing would be general by September 10. In the Maritime Provinces the harvest is more backward, being only general about the end of the month. The average condition of spring wheat is 88.43 per cent. of the standard of a full crop, which is represented by 100; oats 87.85; barley 87.07; rye 80.49; peas 80.71; beans 78.67; buckwheat 77.81; mixed grains 89.04; flax 85.06; corn 79.78.

The general condition of live stock is very satisfactory, being expressed in percentages of a standard of 100 representing a healthy and thrifty state, as 94.27 for horses, 91.37 for milch cows, and other cattle 93.54, for sheep 90.41 and for swine 94.83.

Newspaper Laws

1.—A postmaster is required to give notice by letter. Returning the newspaper does not answer the law, when a subscriber does not take his newspaper from the office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2.—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3.—Any person who takes a paper out of the post office, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4.—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5.—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the postoffice or removing, leaving them uncollected for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

How To Make a Live Town

It is better to help the town and accomplish one good thing than to point out a dozen poor ones.

When you write a letter tell how the town looks. It is as important as the stamp. A good way to drive the children away from home is to tell them what a poor town this is.

Don't leave all the work of development in this town for others to do. The proper use of a hammer is to drive home a nail or a truth.

Individual boosting of the town is good, but concerted boosting gets results.

If you don't see this town's advantages, how do you expect a stranger to do so?

The village band makes sweet music, but it isn't in it with the village carpenter.

If you can't get behind a movement for the town's good, at least don't get in front of it.

The Dread of Lightning

(Ridgetown Dominion.)

Lightning is the great dread of the farmer of recent years. As the country has been cleared of timber the danger is present in every storm. Barns and other outbuildings with their contents, sometimes the crops representing the labor of an entire season, with horses and machinery, are destroyed in a few minutes. No farmer is guaranteed immunity. With building material and labor at present prices, the building of a new barn, to say nothing of replacing other loss, means a lot of money. The farmer has but two remedies: to have his buildings properly rodded by competent men and to carry full insurance against possible loss. Insurance may be had at a small yearly outlay, and so much the better if you never have reason to get any of your money back. It is poor economy to take avoidable risk. Do not begrudge what you pay for insurance. The prudent farmer will carry a reasonable amount of insurance on his buildings and their contents.

An Unnecessary Practice

Some milkers still follow the filthy and disgusting practice of wetting their hands with milk while milking. This is only a habit and is entirely unnecessary. If something is necessary to facilitate milking a little vaseline may be used. Hoard's Dairyman says that this is a serious source of contamination in old-fashioned dairies and is especially important in the distribution of skin and other human diseases. Milk being a perfect and universally used food as well as an excellent medium for many disease organisms where they multiply and grow rapidly at certain temperatures. If the udder is not properly dried after milking it causes chaps and sores in cold weather on the teats, which affect the temper of the cow, and thus the yield by the irritation caused when milking.

A "Touching" Story

The young lady who had sat for a crayon portrait was not altogether pleased with the result. "It looks like me, of course," she said, inspecting it doubtfully, "and yet I think there are some things about it that ought to be changed." She suggested that the eyes should have rather more of an upward look, that the right hand should be a little less prominent, that the hair should be made more wavy, and that certain changes ought to be made in the drapery. "That would require a great deal of retouching," said the artist, "and I should have to charge you about ten dollars additional." "O dear!" she exclaimed, with a pout. "I shall have to give it up. Papa wouldn't stand my 'retouching' him to that extent."

Canada's Orange Supply

(Florida "Times-Union.")

The Florida orange crop this year will be as large as any ever gathered from the groves of this state, but the California crop will be many million boxes short. The domestic demand will call for every orange grown in the United States this year, and there will be none left for export unless the foreigner is ready with a fancy price. As California and Florida have heretofore furnished Canada with nearly all the oranges she used after supplying practically the entire demand of the United States, it is evident that there will be a shortage of oranges in North America, and the consumer will pay big prices. This ought to result in a large increase in the wealth of the orange growers of this state.

As a vermifuge there is nothing so potent as Mother Graves' Worm Expeller, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

Walkerville expects to have the foundation of her hospital started in April next, about $30,000 having been promised. About twice that will be required according to the plans. The site has been contributed by the Hiram Walker Co.

ZAM-BUK

MRS. A. SAICH, of Cannington Manor, Sask., Writes:—"My brother suffered severely from eczema. The sores were very extensive, and burned like coals into his flesh. Zam-Buk took out all the fire, and quickly gave him ease. Within three weeks of commencing with Zam-Buk treatment, every sore had been cured."

This is but one of the many letters we are constantly receiving from people who have proved the healing powers of Zam-Buk. For eczema, piles, sores, burns, cuts and all skin troubles there is nothing like this wonderful balm. No skin disease should be considered incurable until Zam-Buk has been tried.

Dad's Dope

The report that "Queen Lil," the original "Honolulu Queen," was in indigent circumstances is without foundation. A dispatch says that the old lady is in excellent health and able to sit up and eat a couple of pounds of raw beefsteak daily.

A Chicago lawyer concealed a dictagraph in his front office to keep tabs on the remarks of his stenographer and office boy concerning himself. After reading the first day's records he placed the machine in the vault and advertised two vacancies in his office staff.

It is a mere coincidence that the hunting season and law courts open the same time. To those who know the haunts of big game, there is plenty of good sport for both.

This is the season of the year when a late summer attempts to form a merger with the early fall.

Mrs. Pankhurst will be confronted with a charge of "moral turpitude" when she lands in America. After all the other charges she has faced this will not worry her.

China has again aroused Japan's ire, which may result in a few more stones being knocked off the Chinese wall and the fence moved back several miles.

A returned tourist from Switzerland reports that he could get no Swiss cheese in that country. Perhaps the public safety committee, on account of so many mountain climbers falling through the crevices in the cheese, has ordered them closed up for a time.

Even in articles of diet the line of cleavage is becoming more pronounced every day. The gulf dividing corned beef from cabbage is becoming wider, and ham shows a disposition to separate from its old side partner, fried eggs.

A Michigan man has been on the surgeon's operating table twenty-four times. He is beginning to feel like a village cutup.

In the event of war with Mexico, a Chicago paper wishes to know if Secretary Bryan would deliver lectures between battles.

Mrs. Hetty Green is spending a brief vacation at an Atlantic summer resort. This will be the limit of Hetty's extravagance for the present season.

A New York divine says no woman who wears a slit skirt in this world will ever enter heaven. Angels are usually pictured as attired only in a thin cloud and a pair of wings.

Improving the Lot of the Farmer's Wife

Half a century ago men and women were about on an equality in the matter of the drudgery of farm life. The man had to slave among the stumps and stones. The woman had to make soap, weave, spin and knit. The man was obliged to break his back over the sheaves in the harvest field, to wield the corn knife and labor with the flail and hoe. The woman had to carry water from the spring, to carry in the wood and sometimes to chop it, to sweep and scrub and fight flies, says the Farm and Fireside.

Necessity has largely emancipated the man. Invention makes it cheaper and better to use the mower, the binder, the corn harvester, the windmill, the gasoline engine, the shredder, the silo, the riding plow, the cream separator and the milking machine. The man has many other things. But in many things today the inventions of today have not been placed in the woman's hands because it has been necessary to adopt them in order to make the farm pay.

So in the course of events that led up to making the farm pay, the woman has kept on as she used to do in order to make possible the purchase of implements by which her husband could do more work with less effort.

The time has now come when we must move the flag of woman's comfort up to that planted for men. Any farm that can afford a silo can afford electric light or gas, the vacuum cleaner, the dishwasher, and the washing machine.

Any farm that can afford a gas engine can afford a bathroom. And any farm that can afford a manure spreader and a hayfork in the barn can afford running water in the kitchen.

Another Dose

A month ago at break of day with merry heart I dressed and shaved. I started out, so people say, a happy man and well-behaved. I calmly sauntered to the door and brought the paper from the stoop—and then I started in a roar, to rip and tear and howl and whoop. I started in to rant and rage, for once again yet more I saw on every inch of every page another dose of Harry Thaw! 'Twas Harry this and Harry that and Harry these and Harry those, and Harry in a bowler hat and Harry in his evening clothes, and what he did, and what he said, and what he smoked, and what he ate, and how he liked his prison bed, and what he thought would be his fate, until in fiery wrath I swore, "The Government should pass a law to make illegal evermore the mention of the name of Thaw!" For many, many years he was the nation's breakfast food; we hoped, although we had our fears, that we were rid of him for good; we dreamed that moons might wax and wane, that many suns might rise and set ere we should see his name again, but we must view it still more yet! No wonder that we weep and wail, and call Fate's handout mighty raw; but all our tears will not avail—we'll ne'er be through with Harry Thaw.

It is a worthless hen that lays for your neighbors. Many of the misfortunes from which we suffer most are those we never experience. They are the misfortunes of the imagination.

Guide-Advocate

WATFORD, SEPTEMBER 26, 1913.

WARWICK.

Miss M. Kadey is spending a few weeks with friends in Sarnia. Mrs. Tom Fitzsimons, who has been ill for some time, is now very low. Miss Maud Skillen, of the Soo, is spending the holidays at her home, 2nd line. Miss Florence Edwards, second line, left this week to attend the London Normal School. Mr. Clarence F. Luckham left last Friday for Guelph, where he will attend the O. A. C. Mr. Harold Eastman, Arkona, occupied the pulpit at Bethel church and took the service last Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Parker returned home this week after a two weeks' visit with the latter's parents at the Soo. Mrs. R. B. Bolton and daughters, Madeline and Grace, of Inwood, are visiting at Joseph Eastbrook's, 4th line, Warwick. Mr. Herman O'Neil and sister, Winnie, motored to St. Marys last week where they will visit their sister, Mrs. Chester Hobbs. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Reyercraft attended the wedding of their cousin, Miss Lizzie Reyercraft, Glencoe, to Mr. Percy C. Little, Detroit. James Maxwell, who has been for some time past working for Mr. Wm. Smith, 4th line, left Thursday to join his family at Sydney, Australia. Mr. Frank James, who has been on an extended visit to his cousin, Mr. Les. Kenzie, Birnam, returned to his home in Tampa, Florida, this week. Rev. R. Simpson, Presbyterian minister, of Camlachie, will speak in the interests of the Dominion Alliance at Knox church, Main Road, at 2.30 o'clock next Sunday. Mrs. Atkins and her son and daughter and Mrs. Morgan, sister of the former, made a motor trip to visit their cousin, Mrs. Charles Richardson, returning last week to their home in Leamington. Rev. H. A. Roche, of Toronto, representing the Dominion Alliance, will preach in St. Mary's church, Warwick, on Sunday next morning and evening, and in St. Paul's church, Wisbeach, in the afternoon. Mr. E. A. Edwards has disposed of the celebrated Jersey, "Hillsboro Beauty," to Mr. Ed. Thompson, London Road, for a handsome figure. Mr. Thompson is to compliment upon securing this splendid specimen of his type. Miss A. J. McKinney, of Toronto, Deputation Secretary of the Canadian Auxiliary of the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, will address a meeting in St. Mary's Anglican church, Warwick, on Thursday, Oct. 2nd, at 8 p. m. in aid of that society. The meeting will be of unusual interest as the speaker lived in India for years and has just lately returned. They are telling a good story of a certain Warwick young man who recently attended the Toronto Fair. On his return he was asked how he enjoyed himself, and he was loud in his praise of the hospitality of the Queen City. "They use a fellow pretty well down there at Fair time," he said. "Why, one day I went into the Prince George to get my dinner. They charged me a dollar for the ticket, but it only cost me seventy-five cents, for when I sat down I found a quarter lying on the table beside me." Reopening services of the Zion Methodist Church will be conducted by Rev. W. J. Ashton, B.D., Sarnia, Sunday, Sept. 29th, 1913, at 2.30 and 7.30 p. m. The choir will supply the music. Special offerings will be taken. On the following Monday evening, Sept. 29th, a splendid harvest home fowl supper will be served on the Church lawn, after which an excellent program consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings and addresses will be given in the church. The following may be expected to contribute to the program: Revs. S. V. R. Pentland and Head, and Mrs. Mead, Watford, Miss Bernice Anderson, London, Miss Fleck, Sarnia, and others. Admission 50c., children 25c. Everybody invited. Anniversary services at Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 5th and 6th. Special sermons will be preached at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. by Prof. J. L. Gilmour, D.D., of McMaster University, Toronto. Special singing. A liberal offering is asked for the building fund. On Monday evening supper will be served in basement from 6 to 8 o'clock followed by a sacred concert in church. Mrs. Minnie Carlele Johnson, reader; Miss Margaret Johnson, reader and soloist; Mr. Alfred W. Mills, Tenor Soloist, leader of choir in Central Baptist Church; Mrs. A. W. Mills, accompanist, all of Sarnia, have been secured for the evening. Short addresses by local ministers. Supper and concert 50c., children 25c. Hearty welcome to services. T. M. Mead, pastor.

It is reported that plans are being made to organize a big joint stock company, with headquarters at Mt. Brydges, for the purpose of manufacturing concrete building material and farm supplies such as tile, fence posts, etc. The company is expected to be capitalized at about $50,000 and for the present will continue operations at M. N. Colvin's plant, 4th concession of Caradoc.

WYOMING

Little Harold Wetherill, who for the past four years has resided with his uncle and aunt here, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Germain, has left for his home in the Northwest.

A heavy white frost here yesterday morning was hard on the standing corn and vegetables. The corn in low ground, having suffered from previous lighter frosts, will suffer rather severely.

Mrs. Hugh Mustard and Miss Priscilla Culbert are making favorable progress in London and Hamilton hospitals.

Mr. Archie Anderson, who stepped over the side of a load of clover recently and injured his shoulder somewhat, is recovering.

Mrs. Wilson, an elderly lady, who resided with her niece, Mrs. Frank Gibson, here, was buried recently.

A new cement block blacksmith shop will be erected on the site of the one occupied by James Frazer, which was burned two years ago.

CHOP STUFF.

Alvinston fair Thursday and Friday, Oct. 2nd and 3rd.

A ten mile marathon race is one of the attractions at the Parkhill fair to-day.

On account of unfavorable weather the attendance at the Strathroy fair fell off about 3000.

A Forest woman was much surprised when on breaking an egg she found in it a beetle about the size of a potato bug.

The two Alvinston liveries have changed hands. The Tomlinson one has been sold to Geo. Kerr and the Temple livery to Mr. Carl. Both the purchasers are Dresden men.

The drought has been so severe in the county of Essex that pasture is practically burned up and farmers have had to feed their milk cows on silage to keep up the flow of milk.

A vote of the ratepayers of Wyoming will be taken in the town hall on Friday, Oct. 3rd, to grant a bonus of $300 to Daniel Senecal to assist him in erecting a box and basket factory in the village.

Two Chatham township farmers, for cutting down a tree on the farm of a neighbor, were assessed in the police court $30 for the damage done and the costs of the court amounting to $9.50.

Elgin, Kent and Essex grown brewers have organized an association, having for its purpose the securing of better crop statistics, world market prospects and the general improvement of the business.

Arthur Kelly, a man of about 50 years of age, died in the Petrolia Hospital, where he had been confined for a couple of weeks on Monday. About 200 bushels among the farmers of Enniskillen and at the time of his death was without funds.

John Peter Reinhardt passed away in Adelaide township on Sunday evening in his 76th year. Mr. Reinhardt was enjoying his usual health and was walking about the yard during the afternoon. He was seized with a stroke and passed away suddenly.

It is believed that Clement Lajunesse, river front road, holds the record for Essex county tomato growers. He picked 550 bushels, which sold for $736. The first load was sold early in June and brought $7 a bushel. About 200 bushels of the crop were taken to the Detroit market, where they commanded a fancy price.

Henry Laidlaw, of the 9th con. of Malahide, a strong believer in the "Stay in Ontario" campaign, reports a phenomenal yield of peas. From thirteen acres of peas for the canner he realized the sum of $703. Mr. Laidlaw says that the farmers in that district realized from $45 to $60 an acre from peas this season.

Rev. Dr. McDonald, of Kintore, who was a delegate to the world's Sunday-school convention, held in Zurich, Switzerland, last June, and who spent three months in Europe, has arrived home. On coming to his manse, he found it crowded by members of his congregation, who gave him a Highland welcome.

Fish stories have been prevalent all summer. Now a pig story is reported to this office on no less authority than that of the genial Dr. McCully, of Cedar Springs. The Dr. says he knows a man not more than half a mile from the village who owns a brood sow that farrowed last spring. He saved thirteen pigs of the litter and a short time ago was offered $150 for the lot. He promptly refused that figure, however and asked $180. This fancy price indicates not only phenomenally high prices for pork but also the extra high quality of the pigs.—Blenheim Tribune.

Crockery and Glassware

This is not the only store that sells crockery and glassware in this state, but it is the only one that sells reliable crockery and glassware. It may be news to you that a cup and saucer made of the same material, and finished in the same way, may have two grades—"firsts" and "seconds." This is caused in the making, firing and handling of the cup and saucer. The cups and saucers that come out of the process best are "firsts" and the next are "seconds." It is the same with glassware. We carry the best only.

But when we offer you the best crockery and glassware at this store, it is the best. Inspect our stock, compare our prices with those of any other store—then look at the quality.

Married in the West

(From the Wetaskiwin Times) A very pretty and quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Thomas, on the evening of August 23rd, when their second daughter, Miss Myrtle, was united in marriage to Mr. C. C. Annett, of the Merchant's Bank of Canada staff. The bride was given away by her father, in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. A. Pocock B. A. After the ceremony a dainty tea was partaken of, after which the happy couple left on the evening train for Edmonton on a few days' honeymoon. We join their host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Annett a long and prosperous journey through life.

The Strathroy canning company expect to pack over 75,000 cases of corn this season, they having contracted for the production of 1,200 acres with the growers. The retail price it is said, will be lower owing to the abundant yield. The company's pack of peas this year amounted to 50,000 cases.

Mr. W. H. Porter, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in Lambton County has tendered his resignation to the department and will leave for London the first of October. He has been appointed assistant editor of the Farmers Advocate in that city, one of the best known and most popular agriculture magazines in Western Ontario. Mr. Porter, who is one of the most capable agriculture experts in Ontario, is well fitted for his new post but will be greatly missed by his many friends in Lambton County.

Toronto, Sept. 23.—Receipts at the Union stockyards, 250 cars, with 54,000 cattle, 450 calves, 1,105 hogs and 2,172 sheep and lambs.
 There was another morning run of cattle for the opening market at the Union stockyards. About 5,000 cattle were received up to noon. Stocker cattle are still offering freely, but buying of this stock, which has been very active this past week or two, has slackened off a little owing to some uncertainty as to the final outcome of the Wilson tariff bill. Prices, however, were practically unchanged, though the trade had not the snap of a week ago.
 Civic butchers' cattle are still very firm, but business was slow for the moderate and commoner qualities.
 Hogs about 25c lower than last week.

Lambton Judges Object to Pay Income Tax

Under the Ontario assessment act, are county judges liable to be assessed on their income as judges? This, in effect, is a question raised by Judges MacWatt and Taylor, of Lambton, who appealed to the court of revision from assessment by the town of Sarnia. The assessor was upheld, and following the course prescribed by the statute, the judges then appealed to a county judge.
 F. Aylesworth, for the town of Sarnia, to-day applied to Mr. Justice Kelly at Osgoode Hall for an order appointing a disinterested person to hear the appeal. The application was assented to by F. W. Harcourt, K.C., representing the judges. His lordship named Mr. Justice Lennox to hear the appeal at the next sitting.

Centenary of Death of Tecumseh and Battle of Moraviantown Celebration.

It is proposed under the instructions from the Department of Militia and Defence to mobilize a force at Moraviantown for the purpose of taking part in the ceremonies on Friday, the 16th day of October next, commemorating the centenary of the death of the Indian Chief, Tecumseh, and the Battle of Moraviantown.
 For this purpose the 27th Regt., St. Clair Borderers, are to assemble one complete company, three officers and 89 N.C.O.'s and men to be selected from certain companies of the regiment.
 One day's pay together with transport and allowances for one day's rations will be granted.
 All N.C.O. and men who are desirous of attending will give their names to Sergt. Batty at the armories, Front St., not later than the 27th September.
 It is hoped that the N.C.O.'s and men will take up the matter energetically, and so insure a representation of the 27th Regt. commensurate with the event which it is intended to commemorate.

 WATFORD'S SHOE PARLOR

It was a close call from death that H. Beemer, driver for J. C. Scott, produce merchant, had Friday morning when his wagon was reduced to kindling wood by a way freight engine at the local Grand Trunk yards. Mr. Beemer was crossing a side track at the time, and to do so had to drive between two grain elevators, making it impossible for him to see down the track in either direction. Just as the team was on the track the engine sped down upon the outfit. The horses sprang forward, Beemer escaping by a timely leap, the wagon, however, being completely wrecked. The horses, in their harness, were dragged some 20 feet, both being cut, one quite severely. A crowd soon gathered and freed the animals from the wreckage.—Strathroy Dispatch.
 An apology was read in the Goldsmith Methodist church recently which a young man had to make in order to settle a case with the magistrate. He was guilty of disorderly conduct on the public road one night after church.

HIS COMRADE'S WIFE
 BY GORDON JOHNSTONE

BARRY MALONE lifted his eyes from the carpet and stared at the tousled head of the boy reading the newspaper.

"Did I hear you right, Denny?" he asked. "Did you say Nora Reagan?"

Denny scanned the column and found the paragraph.

"Yes," he answered. "Mrs. Nora Reagan, East Thirty-Fourth Street."

Malone pressed the hot ashes in his clay pipe and rubbed the bowl meditatively with the palm of his big hand.

"Read it again, lad," he urged softly, as his gaze returned to the flowered pattern of the carpet.

The boy read it with the intonation of a boy reciting a memorized lesson at school.

"A young widow. Has child for adoption. Unable to support. Baby eighteen months old. Irish blue eyes. Weight twenty pounds."

Denny laid the paper in his lap and looked at the big man sitting on the horsehair chair.

"Will you tear that out and give it me, Denny?" the man asked. The boy complied with his request.

"Irish blue eyes?" he echoed.

"That's what Molly says you have, Mr. Malone."

"Sure, Molly talks more than her neighbors," smiled Malone, "when John Curley's not round. I'll be telling Johnny myself, if she don't be minding her tongue."

"Sure, Molly talks more than her neighbors," smiled Malone, "when John Curley's not round. I'll be telling Johnny myself, if she don't be minding her tongue."

"Johnny's coming to-night," the boy returned.

Johnny's coming every night and all day Sundays. It's another brother you'll be having soon, Denny.

Barry Malone boarded with the Murphy family, and knew, as he said himself, "the ins and outs of it."

Night after night he had seen Johnny Curley and Molly on the steps of the flat, and it was easy enough, as he once told Molly, to "see the nose on your face."

Crossing the room, he picked up his hat and opened the door.

"Where are you going, Barry?" called Murphy senior from the kitchen.

"For a bit of a walk, John," Malone answered.

"Hold your whist and I'll be with you."

Mrs. Murphy happily came to his rescue.

"John," her voice came to the man at the door, "you'll be doing no such thing. When you've smoked that pipe you'll be after helping me with the wringer. How can a woman keep the children's clothes sweet and clean with a lazy man round the house. Molly? Molly?"

The imputation was a libel. No one was ever busier than Murphy senior. But Molly was nowhere to be seen, and Malone closed the door softly behind him. Descending the three flights of stairs, he met the truant girl and her sweetheart standing in the doorway.

Malone was on the point of telling her that her mother was calling when the boy greeted him.

"Good evening, Mr. Malone."

"Good evening yourself, Johnny," he answered. "It's a fine night."

"It certainly is."

"Where are you going, Mr. Malone?" Molly asked impishly.

"Would you be knowing?"

"Yes."

"Then I'll not be telling you," he chuckled. "Tis what a woman don't know that worries her," he said, turning up the street.

"Taking a few steps, he paused. He had forgotten to tell the girl her mother wanted her.

"Molly!" he called.

"Yes?"

"Your moth—"

He stopped. A smile of childish sweetness spread over his face as he saw the lovers standing hand in hand.

"Never mind, alanna," he said, and continued up the street.

Reaching the avenue, he turned down. By the light in a store window he took out the ragged paper and studied the address. Replacing it in his pocket, he took up his walk, repeating the number to himself.

Ten blocks and he had lost it. This time he scanned it under the street lamp and looked up at the white figures over his head. One block more. Again repeating the number he turned the corner.

Half-way down the street he found the address, and searched the dimly lighted hallway for the name. Running his eyes over the dirty mail-boxes, he found it.

He pressed the button. A pause ensued. There was no response. Again he rang and waited. After what seemed an interminable time the latch clicked.

Pushing his way in, he climbed the stairs covered with oilcloth. On the second landing he backed into the corner to let a much-perfumed woman pass.

On the floor above Nora Reagan stood in the lighted doorway, a little red head pillowed against her shoulder. Malone paused near the top and looked at her. The woman peered into his face.

"Barry!" she cried. "Barry Malone!" She staggered back into the room. "Is it yourself, or am I dreaming?"

"It's no dream, Noreen," he answered. "It's myself."

A bright flush crept up from her white throat over her face and lost itself in the bronze hair. She had not heard that old name in ages. To her husband she had always been Nora. No one but her mother and Barry had ever called her Noreen, and that was years ago on the bogs around Wexford. She reached out her disengaged hand to him.

"Come in, Barry," she said, "and bring your happiness with you. 'Tis a sight you are to cure blind eyes. And it's a girl I am again to see you."

Malone stepped into the room and closed the door. Turning, he looked at the frail little figure radiating her joy, but showing signs of a battle against odds.

The face would always be beautiful. There was the milklike skin, and the charm of eyes and hair. The girls of Nora Reagan's coloring were the glory of Ireland. Malone's eyes rested on the little red head pressed against her shoulder, and the wonder of a childless man dreamed in their depths.

He dropped into the chair she pointed out to him.

"Barry," she cried, "it was my good angel that sent you to-night. There was a woman here just now that wanted to take the baby."

Nora's voice fell to a horrified whisper.

"And, Barry, there was paint on her cheeks. Think of it! Red paint!"

Malone remembered the woman he passed in the hall.

"Yes," he said, "I met her on the way."

The woman shuddered and hug the little bundle closer.

Malone glanced up at the crayon on the wall.

"When did Tim go?" he asked quietly.

"Twelve months this coming Tuesday."

"I've been down in Panama," he apologized—"working on the canal. I don't know much about what's going on."

"He was killed in the expressman's strike," she explained. "He used to speak of you very often, Barry, and wonder where you were keeping yourself."

"Did he?" Malone asked.

"Yes, and he was so good to me—so—so good."

The tears tumbled down her white cheeks.

"God never made a better man," he murmured. "I said that when you chose him."

"And he was always saying that of you, Barry," she returned.

The baby's chubby hands crept over the woman's breast. What-over want Nora had seen, the child had not shared it. Malone watched the little fingers with a feeling akin to awe.

"What's the babbin'?" he asked.

"A girl?"

Nora looked at him and shook her pretty head. A glad note sang in the man's voice.

"A boy?" he questioned, as though unable to believe it.

"Yes."

"What's his name?"

"You'd never guess."

"Tim?" he ventured.

"No."

"Your father's?"

Again Nora shook her head.

"'Twas Tim that named him."

"What, Noreen?"

"Barry," she answered, beaming into his face.

A strange light came into Malone's eyes, and his big hands opened and closed over his hat.

"Yes," she continued, "I left it to Tim. The priest was for wanting the name of a saint, but Tim would have none of them. I'm going to call him after my comrade-lad, he said. 'My comrade-lad that saved my life in Rosslare Harbor.'

"Who is that?" asked the priest.

"The finest lad ever made," answered Tim. 'My friend and comrade—Barry Malone.'

There are men in this world who will stand in the shadow of a great sorrow firm of lip and dry-eyed. But let the arrow of a beautiful happiness pierce their hearts and the tears will gush up from a living fountain. Barry Malone was one of them.

"Will you let me hold him, Noreen?" he said, reaching out his arms.

Nora laid the baby in them. The blue eyes turned up on him with all the wonder of unfathomable seas. He put his big finger into the little hand. The soft, petal-like slips closed over it with a clutch that seemed incredible. The hot blood rushed into Malone's face and his whole body trembled.

Nora bent over the pair like a dove above her young. Gently he pulled his finger from its vice and reached in his pocket for his handkerchief to blow his nose. His fingers came in contact with the piece of paper, and he drew it out and passed it to the mother.

"'Twas that brought me here," he said, as she glanced over it.

"I'm boarding with a family by the name of Murphy," he continued. "The Murphys of Dungarvan—up on Forty-Seventh Street—and I've come down to ask you if you'll be living with us. There's plenty of room, and little—little Barry—the name was music to him now—" will be a great comfort to us all. Will you be coming, Noreen?"

Nora looked at him, and her breast rose and fell with its joy.

"Now, Barry?" she asked.

"To-night, Noreen."

The woman glanced round at the furniture.

"What will I do with this?"

"We'll talk about that to-morrow," he smiled. "It's of no importance now."

For a second she hesitated and then disappeared in an inner room. When she returned she wore her hat and carried a small bundle.

"All ready?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Then 'faugh a ballah!" he cried, jumping to his feet.

"The woman gave a little, frightened scream and clutched the baby. Malone laughed.

"He's snug as a bug in a rug, Noreen—don't be afraid."

Nora put out the light while Barry waited in the hall with the baby.

"Tis like the old days, Barry!" she cried as she joined him. "Only there wasn't any little lad on your shoulders then."

"Wasn't there, though?" he smiled as he paused on the second step. "Are you for forgetting Shamus!"

"My brother!" she cried.

"Yes," he answered, "but there was one thing I was having in the old days that I'm not having now."

"What was that, Barry?"

"A kiss, alanna."

The woman leaned over the railing and her mouth touched the laughing lips upturned above the little red head.

The Life of an Editor

Many people believe that a newspaper falls together without work, concerted plan or action. The Rev. McLeod, a Presbyterian minister of Pasadena, was of the opinion, and asked to be allowed to edit one edition of the Pasadena Star. This is how he felt himself at last at the end of his task, which, it must be said, had been done quite creditably:

"My time is now almost up as I pen this last line, my head is almost paralyzed; my brain is befuddled, as I am free to confess that I am right glad to vacate the holy spot. Such a jumble and rush. It strikes me as the effort to bring order out of chaos, and to do it lightning quick. I am reminded of the memorable words, 'The earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the spirit moved upon the face of the waters.' Never again shall I criticize newspaper men; more, I shall pray for them. They will have my heart's forbearance henceforth and forever. They are the hardest worked, shortest-lived, poorest paid brainworkers on this weary old world."

Is it Worth While?

A few things for which the modern girl is criticized:

- For being intellectual.
- For being silly.
- For getting off a car backward.
- For taking an interest in athletics.
- For being a little bit "fast."
- For being a prude.
- For not marrying.
- For being anxious to marry.
- For being frivolous.
- For taking herself too seriously.
- For neglecting baby.
- For being a parasite.
- For thrusting herself into men's occupations.
- For wanting to vote.
- For taking no interest in civic matters.
- Is it really worth while being a girl?

A Smile or Two

"I feel as if I were going to have appendicitis." Well, I need a new gown, so you'll just have to wait."—Life.

"Why don't you try dieting for your trouble?"

"I have tried it. All last week I never eat more than twice a day."

"We could have settled our difficulties by tossing a coin. Instead we spent a lot of money in going to law."

"Well?"

"I understand the jury settled matters by tossing a coin."

"We call our office boy the Little Dragon."

"Warlike little fellow, eh?"

"Oh, no; it's because he has to be booted and spurred before we can get anything out of him."

A professor of divinity who was spending the summer in the Scottish highlands was invited to baptize the infant son of the local minister.

When the time of the ceremony arrived the guest gave out for congregational singing a paraphrase much favored on such occasions.

Let us sing from the fifth paraphrase, beginning at the second verse, 'As sparks in close succession rise,' he said.

To his consternation the congregation giggled audibly. Afterward, asking the clerk what he had done wrong, he was told:

"You must know, professor, the minister's name is Sparks, and yonder is his tenth bairn!"

The best man was doing his best to make the groom brace up. "Where's your nerve, old man?" he asked. "Why, you're shaking like a leaf." "I know I am," chattered the groom. "But this is a nerve-wrecking time for me. I've got some excuse to be frightened, haven't I? I've never been married before."

"Of course you haven't," soothed the prospective father-in-law. "If you had you'd be a great deal more scared than you are."

An Irishman out of work applied to the "boss" of a large repair shop. "Do you know anything about carpentry?" asked the boss.

"Shure!"

"Do you know how to make a Venetian blind?"

"Shure!"

"How would you do it?"

"Shure, I'd poke me finger in his eye."

It is a long time since peaches have been so cheap. Maybe that is what makes so many of the hard green ones blush so prettily behind their muslin veils.

A traveler in Indiana noticed that a farmer was having trouble with his horse. It would start, go slowly for a short distance, and then stop again. Thereupon, the farmer would have great difficulty in getting it started. Finally, the traveler approached and asked solicitously:

"Is your horse sick?"

"Not that I know of."

"Is he balky?"

"No, but he is so danged 'fraid I'll say whoa and he won't hear me that he stops every once in a while to listen."

RUB IT IN FOR LAME BACK.—A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will cure lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that its touch is magical, as it is.

Life is a conundrum that everybody gives up sooner or later.

However great success may seem, it is not real without self-respect.

Counting The Years

The years shouldn't count when we're stating our age, for some men are young when they're gray, and others are old ere they've journeyed a stage in this world and its wonderful way. I know an old graybeard who ought to be dead if years laid a man by the heels! he cheerily sings as he stands on his head: "A man's just as old as he feels." The years do not age us so badly, in truth; it's worry that makes the blood cold; the man who is blessed with the spirit of youth is young when a hundred years old; the graybeard I wot of, he laughs and he yells, and dances Virginia reels, and always and ever his roundelay swells: "A man's just as old as he feels." No man should admit that his days are near told, or talk of the past with a sob; no man should admit that he's growing too old to eat summer corn from the cob; the graybeard I speak of, he's slicker than grease, he cheers up the world with his spels; he says (and his words suggest comfort and peace): "A man's just as old as he feels." I know a young man who is 30 or less, in years, but he's old as the hills; he goes around looking for grief and distress, and talks by the day of his ills. The graybeard, God bless him, is younger than that! He ne'er at the wailing place kneels, he chortles, while kicking a hole through his hat: "A man's just as old as he feels!"—Walt Mason.

Bad Blood

is the direct and inevitable result of irregular or constipated bowels and clogged-up kidneys and skin. The undigested food and other waste matter which is allowed to accumulate poisons the blood and the whole system. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills act directly on the bowels, regulating them—on the kidneys, giving them ease and strength to properly filter the blood—and on the skin, opening up the pores. For pure blood and good health take

A Terrible Prospect

Dr. Olive Lynn, of Colorado Springs, says: "If the woman of today wants to be beautiful, it's back to the old days of the freezing cold bedroom, the chilly sheets and the warming pan," she says. "It's back to the broom and the rolling pin and the breadboard, if she wants firm, round, white arms; to the wash tub and the mop and the task of making beds, if she wants small waist and hips; to the clothesline and the cook stove for full chest and gracefully rounded shoulders; to washing windows and weeding the garden for grace and freedom of movement."

Rumor is a great liar.

In the school of experience no lessons are given gratis.

If you trade in Watford you go home satisfied.

It doesn't make a lightweight any heavier to put on airs.

The world is on a ceaseless hunt for bigger and braver and brighter personalities.

It's the man with the narrowest mind who is apt to make the broadest assertions.

No one need endure the agony of corns with Holloway's Corn Cure on hand to remove them.

Obstacles are designed to test the tenacity, arouse the ingenuity and spur on the will of man.

Those people are truly great who share their pleasures with others, but keep their troubles to themselves.

Little fault would be found with people who tell all they know if they would quit when they had done that.

Nothing is easier than fault-finding. No talent, no self-denial, no character is required to set up in this business.

Happiness will remain a will-o'-the-wisp so long as you are deluded with the notion that you can forget wrong doing.

Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms without any inconvenience to the child, and so effectually that they pass from the body unperceived. They are not ejected in their entirety, but are ground up and pass away through the bowels and leave them in a condition not favorable to worms, and there will be no revival of the pests.

The following is a tried and true recipe for driving away ants of all kinds: Equal parts of tartar emetic and sugar. Mix dry, then moisten with water to the consistency of syrup, and put on a dish in the runway of the ants. They will eat freely of it and fail to return for a long time, or perhaps for the season. The dish may be set away when dry. When again needed add water and a little more sugar, and it is ready for use. The one dish may be used several times. Great care should be observed in order that children do not get at the tartar emetic preparation as it is poisonous.

Watford merchants have the goods and meet all price competition.

Save your pennies, children, a good merry-go-round has been engaged for the Watford Fair.

Inglisworth's Art Studio.

Time works quick changes in the growing girl. Pig-tails and short skirts are soon forgotten in the maturer charms of the debutante. Sometimes, though, you will ache for a picture of her just as she romped in from school or play. Think how she would like one, too, in the after years—to show her friends and possibly her children. Make the appointment while the thought is fresh in your mind.

A SAFE TONIC FOR MOTHERS

Who Do Not Recover Their Strength as They Should

Every mother who fails to regain her health and strength after confinement needs a tonic. The years of weakness and suffering which so often follow are unnecessary and easily avoided. The fact that her strength does not return is a certain indication that her blood supply has been overtaxed and is impoverished. This condition is often made worse when the mother takes up her household duties when she is still weak, and a complete breakdown results. The strength a weak mother needs can be quickly found in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills increase and enrich the blood supply, and thus bring health and strength to the exhausted system. Mrs. Robt. Little says: "I have nursed for upwards of twenty-five years, and I could relate many cases, but I will not do so. I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In maternity cases which I nurse I always use them and I know of no other medicine that so speedily builds up the mother at this critical time. I have also found them of great value in the case of young girls, and I can add that as for myself they have saved me many a doctor's bill. I feel safe in saying they are the best tonic medicine I know of."

Nursing mothers will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will give her just the strength she needs, and they will at the same time aid in keeping her child healthy. If you do not find these Pills at your dealers they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chief Tecumseh's Centenary to be Celebrated

One hundred years ago in October next, Britain, in the person of the brave Indian chief, Tecumseh, lost one of her bravest soldiers and Canada one of her bravest patriots. The day of his death, October 5, 1813, on the site of his death, on October 16, 1913, in connection with this celebration, it is proposed to gather together at Moraviantown on October 16, representatives of all the regiments in Western Ontario and an invitation has been sent out by Col. W. E. Hodgins, O. C., Military Division No. 1, to the commanding officers of regiments in the division, to take part.

The invitation asks that each regiment send a company of three officers and thirty-nine men to Moraviantown on October 16. The government will provide one day's pay, free transportation and rations for each man comprising the company. Col. Hodgins also expresses the hope that as many more officers and men as possible will go, but the department will only bear the expense of the 42 comprising the regimental company.

Tecumseh, the Indian chief, true friend to Canada and the British, was a member of the Shawnee tribe and was born near the site of Springfield, Ohio, in 1768. He first appeared as a brave in 1788 in a battle with American soldiers in Kentucky and became known as a daring warrior during the campaign by the Americans against the Indians during 1794 to 1795.

In 1805 he was joined by his brother, Eliskwatawa, the prophet, and together they formed the idea of uniting all the Western tribes of Indians in a war against Americans. When in 1812 America sought to seize Canada, Tecumseh joined the British in active resistance and was wounded at the battle of Magnago. In 1812 he was given the rank of brigadier-general. He was killed in the battle of Moraviantown, on the banks of the River Thames, on October 5, 1813. Twelve days later, Tecumseh drove back the American forces that sought to invade Canada, at Canard river, and once on their own territories. He led the Indian allies of the British forces in the attack which preceded the capture of Detroit in 1812.

Dew-Lloyd

On Wednesday, Sept. 10th, at 3 p. m., a very quiet, but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lloyd, con. 16, Bosanquet, when their eldest daughter, Rowena Pearl, was united in marriage to Frederick J. Dew, also of Bosanquet. While the wedding march was being played by Mrs. Cannon the happy couple took their places beneath a bower of white clematis evergreens and potted plants, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Cannon. The bride, who was unattended, was daintily attired in a gown of blue charmesse silk, trimmed with heavy cream lace and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and lily of the valley. Congratulations being over, the company repaired to the diningroom for the wedding dinner, the table being decorated in pink and white. On the Monday afternoon previous, the bride-to-be was the recipient of a china shower from her young lady friends of the lake shore Sunday school. Mr. and Mrs. Dew left by auto to spend their honeymoon in Sarnia and Detroit, the bride wearing a suit of navy blue whipcord and white hat with touches of Bulgarian. Mr. and Mrs. Dew returned to their home, con. 14, on Tuesday, where they will be at home to their friends after Oct. 1st.

Sarnia's Fair a Big Success

Sarnia Fall Fair opened Tuesday under most favorable circumstances, and the show surpassed anything along the fall fair line ever held in West Lambton heretofore. The list of exhibits was one of the largest and most varied of any show ever held under the auspices of the Society, while the quality of the various articles on display will compare favorably with the best of the city exhibitions. Many local merchants had booths at the fair grounds and the displays were creditable in every instance. The attendance on Wednesday was all that could be desired and the officials are well pleased at the success that has crowned their efforts. The display of fireworks on Tuesday evening was splendid and a large crowd witnessed it.

Rev. C. Burton Breaks His Arm

Kirkton, Sept. 25.—Rev. C. Burton, Methodist minister of this place, while picking plums from a tree in his garden on Saturday, accidentally fell, fracturing the bone on one arm and spraining the other. Dr. Campbell reduced the fracture. The reverend gentleman did not wish to disappoint his congregations on Sunday and preached at his three appointments with one arm in a sling and the other bandaged. This showed pretty good pluck.
