Premier Norris Swears He Knew Nothing of Election Protest Deals.

TALKED WITH ROBLIN

Kelly Threatened to Fight in Parliament Buildings if Probe Went On.

Special to The Toronto World.

WINNIPEG, July 12.—Premier T. C. Norris of Manitoba issued a categorical denial to a series of questions asked him at the judicial inquiry today as to the existence of a deal in connection with the change in government.

Mr. Norris denied that he knew Chambers was carrying on negotiations with ex-Attorney-General Howden for the abandoning of election protests. He never authorized Chambers to do anything of this nature for the Liberal party and Chambers never told him that he was carrying on negotiations with Mr. Howden.

Told Howden Probe to Go On. Witness told of an interview with Mr. Howden in which he said that the commission of inquiry into the construction of the parliament buildings seemed vindictive and hard and he had asked which direction the investigation would take.

ENTIRE NEGATION OF U. S. DEMANDS

German Note Conveyed in Impudent and Insulting Terms.

PRESENTATION COMIC

Allies Killed No Americans Nor Sunk American Ships in War.

LONDON, July 12.—The London morning newspapers in their comment on the German reply to the U.S. concerning Germany's submarine warfare "echoed" that of a complete negation of everything President Wilson contended for and conveyed in impudent and insulting terms.

The Morning Post finds "something almost comic in this presentation of humane powers anxious for the liberty of the seas and for the lives of the descendants of John Adams and Benjamin Franklin, holding the stopwatch over its submarine atrocities in order to discover the margin of safety to be discovered by the German Government."

The newspaper points out that while Germany has "destroyed" numerous American citizens and much American property during the war, the allies have killed no Americans and sunk no American ships. It adds that the Washington Government has been shown that Germany does not care a snap of her fingers for American lives, rights or property.

Repeats Angell's Arguments. The newspaper discovers a curious resemblance between the arguments in the German note and the arguments advanced recently in The North American Review by Norman Angell, and says that, put into plain English, the German proposal is that America should ally herself with Germany "put an end to the war by blockade."

The Daily Chronicle says the German proposal to license steamers to carry Americans negates the whole position which President Wilson took up and declared himself ready to maintain in that sense, because it is more left and final, the new note is even more unsatisfactory than its predecessor.

The Daily Telegraph characterizes the note as the most insulting utterance of the mind of Berlin made in the last 12 months. "As far as insult and insolence can be carried on without resort to actual language of contempt and defiance," the Daily Telegraph adds, "they are carried on in this document."

The newspaper proceeds to ask whether the "insult" is a deliberate one or only an effect of the self-tormented stupidity which so often before has so manfully submitted for mankind's approval the sophistical verbiage with which the Prussian mind silences its enemies.

He was promoted lieutenant from sergeant-major of C Company of the 4th Battalion on the field at St. Julien. Lieut. White was formerly assistant superintendent of the Kentville Paper Company of this city, and previously lived at Windsor Mills, Que.

While seated in his pew at Thorold Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Jas. Neil expired during the sermon. He was a lifelong resident of the town, and leaves three daughters and four sons.

THREE TIMES SAVED FROM DEATH AT SEA

Francis Huohy on Titanic, Empress of Ireland and Lusitania.

Special to The Toronto World. NEW YORK, July 12.—Francis Huohy, 52 years old, holder of the world's record for narrow escapes, and known among the seven seas as a man who can't be drowned, is in port. He arrived this morning on the White Star liner Baltic, in the humble capacity of stoker. It was as a stoker that the series of three misfortunes befell him.

According to his narrative, he is a survivor of the Titanic, Empress of Ireland and the Lusitania disasters. Said Huohy: "For 22 years I have followed the sea, 12 having been in the navy. My lot was never particularly easy, but the first big adventure came the night the Empress struck the iceberg. I was off duty when we struck, 'causing me to apply another layer of soap to my rapidly whitening countenance. I ran to the ship and jumped overboard, and was in the water until daylight, when I was picked up. The water was very cold."

On Empress of Ireland. Huohy next found himself on the Empress of Ireland. "The night we were stealing thru the fog in the St. Lawrence I was off duty and was washing up, like I am now, when we struck," he said. "I scrambled to deck helped with a lifeboat, and then I jumped. Someone pulled me into the boat that I had helped to get away, but when the Empress took her last plunge the lifeboat was upset. I clung to it two and one-half hours, and was just about all in and ready to fall asleep for keeps when I was hauled out. The water was not so chilly."

On Lusitania. The sinking of the Lusitania kept Huohy on the job. "I was firing when I heard the torpedo hit the ship," he said. "I was in the stockhold on the double quick, and at first it did not seem that we were going down. Then I went back as the ship settled. I grabbed one of the stays of a smokestack and climbed it hand over hand. When the Lusitania went under I was at the top of the smokestack. There was no back draft or explosion of steam from the engine-room, altho the water did get a trifle warm."

After drifting for three and one-half hours Huohy was picked up and taken to Queenstown.

LOSSES OF PRUSSIANS MILLION AND HALF

Saxon, Bavarian and Wurttemberg Lists Are Not Included.

LONDON, July 12.—A Berne despatch to The Morning Post says: The last sixteen Prussian casualty lists contain the names of 94,747 officers and men killed or wounded, making the total Prussian losses to the end of June, 1,594,528. This does not include 164 Saxon casualty lists, 19 Bavarian lists, 211 Wurttemberg lists and 88 navy lists.

"Of 40,000 German national school teachers under arms, 4900 have been killed in battle."

ENEMY HAS EVOLVED EVEN DEADLIER GAS

Fumes Employed on Russian Front Cause Death Quickly.

LONDON, July 12.—The Red Cross Society learns that the gases which the Germans are now employing on the Russian front are denser, deadlier and quicker in their action than "heretofore," says Reuters' Petrograd correspondent. "Numerous deaths from gases are reported. Respirators are generally unemaciated."

RUSSIAN TROOPS TO DARDANELLES?

Long Trip From Vladivostok is Unofficially Reported Undertaken.

MANY VESSELS USED

Travelers Report Big Fleet of Transports Has Been Secured.

MANILA, July 12.—Persons who have arrived here from Saigon, capital of French Cochinchina, report that all vessels belonging to the Messageries Maritimes, which have been engaged in far eastern traffic are being transformed into transports to carry Russian troops to the Dardanelles. When a vessel of the Messageries fleet reached Saigon, it is said, the passengers are transferred and the freight unloaded, after which a large force of carpenters work at top speed to make the necessary alterations. The ships then are sent to Vladivostok to take on troops.

Russia's Big Stake. Russia probably would benefit more than any other nation from the forcing of the Dardanelles and the fall of Constantinople, but there have been no previous reports of an authoritative nature to the effect that Russian troops would be sent to the Gallipoli Peninsula to assist the allies in the operations there.

In order to reach Gallipoli Peninsula, the Russians from Vladivostok, an Atlantic port on the Pacific, would have to be taken around south of India and up thru the Suez canal to the Mediterranean, partially the same route as that followed by the soldiers from Australia, from which Vladivostok is due north.

FINE NEW OFFICES FOR ROYAL BANK

Customers Directed to Great Skyscraper Where Business Goes On.

VALUABLES ALL MOVED

Gold, Silver, Coppers and Paper Taken Saturday Under Guard.

Numerous customers of the Royal Bank of Canada, who came to do business yesterday at the old head office in the Traders' Bank Building, were directed to the new palatial edifice of the Royal bank at the northeast corner of King and Yonge streets. The change of premises was made on Saturday evening, when all the books, furniture and moveable contents of the old offices were carefully placed in the new quarters.

The auction, specie and negotiable paper received a special conveyance under guard of bank officers who dutifully watched their treasure until it was safely locked up in the large steel vaults of the new bank. The vaults are considered the best on the continent and afford absolute security against fire and robbery.

The new building is on the finest site in Toronto. Its great height towering above other nearby skyscrapers affords an imposing view and attracts the immediate attention of either the American visitor or the casual Toronto observer. The interior of the building is handsomely finished in marble and bronze and the Gothic portico permits the copious entrance of fresh air and light.

The manager of the Toronto head office, N. Hillary, has the best outlook of any Toronto business man. When interviewed in his office yesterday, he showed The World reporter a vase of beautiful American red roses which the Manufacturers and Traders National Bank of Buffalo had sent him with their compliments. The manager said, "We are all ready for business now and have a very bright office and the staff is well looked after. All the latest banking equipment for doing business has

JUGGLE WITH NAME OF NEW FIRE HEAD

Today's Council Meeting May Decide Who Will Be Commissioner.

BUSINESS NOT HEAVY

Regulation of Licenses, Summer Vacation, Catfish Pond and Other Items.

On account of the Orangemen's celebration yesterday, the regular council meeting was postponed until today. There is not much business upon the agenda, and the question of who will be the new fire head will probably occupy most of the time of the aldermen and the board of control.

It was rumored in the city hall yesterday that the name of Commissioner Wilson would be put before the meeting, and if his name was not registered, that Ald. Dave Spence would resign his seat and run, of course, the name of Alf Cuddy will be brought forward, but consensus of opinion is that the aldermen will quash the recommendation.

Hold Private Session. In order that the parole on this matter will be shortened, the mayor has called a camera session to be held previously to the scheduled meeting.

Some of the items of business that will come up are as follows: The introduction of a bylaw to regulate and license summer vacation; the spending of $60,000 on Catfish Pond; the reduction of Yonge street north of the subway; the raising of $25,000 for a barn at the jail farm, and the improvement of the lighting on University avenue.

Acting Chief Smith's powers relative to the fire department may come up, and if it does his dismissal of District Chief Gunn will be one of the items of interest.

been installed and everything is most satisfactory. Some of the Toronto directors of the bank visited the new premises in the morning and expressed their approval of the change of banking headquarters.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on their stomach or stomach and with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams" or following some foolish dieting system; or eating too much of thinness goes untouched. You can't get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to convert into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry has called Sargol and has been the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, reconstructive power to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are converted into every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, how your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists have it on hand and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming chronic dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

A New Discovery. Thin men and women—that big, hearty filling dinner you ate last night. What became of it? Did it go to your stomach? Did it contain? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your body doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions, your assimilation, your power of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny wondrous diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you eat. Take a single Sargol tablet every one of those a single Sargol tablet. Two weeks note the difference. You

A TRIP THRU THE WARD ON A HOT SUMMER DAY

Conditions That Prevail Thru Lack of Employment as Well as Sickness, Present the Question Forcibly, "What Can Be Done?"

Walking thru the dry and dusty streets of the Ward yesterday afternoon was not the most pleasant of midsummer excursions. The heat was our route took us into old malodorous lanes where the houses looked like pioneers in distress. In some there were few bright spots to break the gray monotony of sordidness and poverty. But we were bent on seeing things of more importance than the landscape so that this only introduced at here and there intervals.

"Here we are," said our guide, the competent and sympathetic nurse, who has special care of the Italian population, and who is in the knowledge of the dual tongues and can address the people who hail from Italy, either in their own sweet words or in the more verbose language of the Saxon. "Here is a poor woman, a widow, with nine children. Her husband died four months before, and she is struggling along ever since."

"Yes, surely life was struggle. It was written on everything animate and inanimate within sight. The old board flooring, the dilapidated walls, the one or two chairs that had seen better days and the group of little ones that met us at the door—all bore the same stamp. A little girl of nine years held a wee, delicate baby in her arms, and three others clung about her. The mother appeared and she looked big and strong, we were told that she suffered from rheumatism and was far from healthy."

"Girl Supports Family."

Smiles and greetings were plentiful and she poured forth her story in the Italian. A girl seventeen had lately been found employment at scrubbing for which she got six dollars a week, and the mother's hand earned money is all the family have to subsist upon, except the assistance which is given from outside sources. Her husband has been paid, but now this is threatened with discontinuance as the girl is earning money. A boy had been sent to a farm; the rest were at home.

"A week somewhere in the country where the children could play in the spacious fields and get all the milk they could drink would be a godsend and in event to be remembered for a lifetime."

"This is a very sad case," was the introduction to another home where a man, his wife and five children made up the family. The living-room had a range going at full blast and a kitchen lay stretched along the wall near by. In an inner room were the mother and a baby a few weeks old, and others, ranging from the baby up to the eldest, a beautiful little girl of twelve years—came in to greet the callers.

"Undergo an Operation."

The father is to undergo an operation in a few days, but in the meantime had the chance of doing some work and is doing it. The family will get fifty cents a day from official sources in his absence. A long time out of work and a long time sick was the story here. The children were well behaved, and their fine black eyes smiled, and they showed their pretty white teeth and looked altogether handsome despite poverty and the hardness of fate in regard to them.

"On we journeyed, up a lane and down another, lined on either side with uninviting buildings, until by and by we came to a small triangular piece of ground set with lettuce, cabbage and other vegetables, and two boxes were piled with nasturtiums and the other with pansies. The plot was entered by a low gate, and the tiny garden was surrounded by a home-made fence, but the growng things were green and good to look at, and the man of the house was tenderly looking after their well-being.

The wife and two children were found in the cleanest of dwellings. They have been three years in this country. During the first year the man found work and paid back the money he had borrowed to get to Canada. The second year they began to make their little home attractive, then came the time when the man of the house was told they was no longer any machine for him to draw over the roads, in the making of which he was taking much pride.

"Somebody else would do it in future, somebody who was not an Italian, the he had his naturalization papers, which he showed the visitors with a faith in their potency which, under the circumstances, was pathetic and for ten months there had been no work, except some weeks at twenty cents a day watering lawns. They were put out of their house, where they had grown pretty garden far ahead of the wee triangular plot of the present home, and things got pretty bad, with no prospects for improvement.

Rent Was Paid Due.

Six dollars for rent was due some time ago, and the creditor went to the kitchen with grim determination to remain steadfast until the money was forthcoming. Friends borrowed it from a society, to which it is still owing. What will happen when the next six dollars is due?

A beautiful boy that looked up from a crib at the door met us at next house. Here there are five children with a father sick and out of work. The mother was of the soft-faced madonna type, and her poor home was spotless, the walls freshly whitewashed and the bits of oilcloth scrubbed till they fairly shone. The father had made about 20 cents a day, enough to get bread, by trundling a cart with icecream, but this had been prohibited by civic law and his little venture had fallen thru. Now he wants to enlist, but he will not be accepted, not being physically fit. "If they could only get back to Italy," said our guide. Meantime cold weather is not a distant prospect, and last winter the now white-washed walls were coated with glistening sheets of ice.

A Mother at 16.

As we came down the street groups of women and children were at almost every door. One had a baby in a carriage, and she was the mother. She looked so young that one had no hesitancy in asking her age. "Sixteen," she said, showing her white teeth and smiling as pleasantly as life ever gave all one great big bed of roses. Yet her husband had not worked for nearly a year, and there was nothing in sight.

"All over the city it's the same," one was told. "Some months ago I took a kind of a census," said the nurse, "and out of 100 only two had work."

What Can Be Done?

Now the question is, what is to be done? These people are looking for employment. They are not paupers, but conditions are such that they will make them so. It is for the city to look at the problem now so that it may not be overwhelming when winter is upon us. The men who are broken down in health by their hard work in building our roads could not be expected to give the means of going where their services in this line would be of value.

Why not open up industries even if the prospects are not so bright for years before being utilized?

The problem of the unemployed generally will be as ominous as the war itself unless grappled with in time.

Much has been done for the new Canadians within our gates, and for the Italian perhaps in a special manner. These things in themselves would make a very interesting story. But the next remains that conditions with regard to employment are at a very low ebb, and that nothing but the opening up of new industries will meet the situation.

CURRIE TO RETURN TO FLANDERS SOON

Expects to Be Engaged in Active Autumn Campaign Against Germans.

MUM ABOUT RIFLES

May Have Something to Say Later on About Ross

Special to The Toronto World.

QUEBEC, July 12.—Col. J. A. Currie, M.P. of the 48th Highlanders, arrived here on the Allan liner Esperian, looking quite in good health and showing no signs of an affected right lung or hurt turned gray. The colonel has been having a furlough since the battle of St. Julien, and has been recuperating from the inhalation of poisonous gas emitted by the Germans in that celebrated combat. Speaking of the disaster to his command at St. Julien, he said: "I know most of the men by their first names, and it is like losing so many close friends, not knowing how I could have prevented it. The awful loss at St. Julien was not one that rests in my hands. My orders were to hold the position that was coming, and to hang on until British regiments would arrive to support us. It was not a case of manœuvring and attack, but simply one of holding trenches."

He continued: "The hardest part of my home-coming will be meeting those people who have been expecting me. Some will doubtless think that I should have notified them immediately of my loss, but it was impossible. The record office had taken away my attestation papers and I was unable to communicate personally with the next of kin of most of the men, and in addition, I was kept in the trenches fighting steadily until we got out on the 2nd or 3rd of May. I did not have my boots or clothes off from April 21 until May 2, and what sleep I got in that time was in a little hole in the ground. Everything behind was disorganized. The enemy had shelled transports, villages, and everything else behind us, and had practically closed out all traffic. My transport did magnificent work, and was able to supply ourselves and other regiments of the brigade with food. The officers who accomplished this were recommended for distinction, but all who were recommended, did not get in. As to reporting casualties, I was in such a position that I could only provide a list every day, which but all who were recommended, did not get in. As to reporting casualties, I did not know there had been any delay until we were getting out of the trenches."

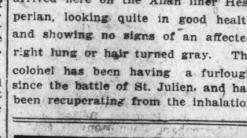

Bravery of Sergt. Vanner.

Col. Currie expects that four of his men will receive the cross gold medal for gallantry. For the present he declined to name them, but while on the subject he said: "Among many cases deserving of special recognition was that of Signalling Sergt. Vanner of Toronto. He was struck by a shell while he was dictating a message to me. The shell had fallen about 50 feet from where we were standing. Vanner reeled and said: 'My comrade, the stink of that shell has made me sick.' He had a gash two inches long in his head, and we bound him up. I insisted that he must go to the hospital, and he replied: 'No, go on and finish the message first. Colonel! The men took their wounds like Indians, giving no sign of pain.'"

One hundred and forty-six of the Highlanders are prisoners of war in Germany. About twenty are suffering from wounds or gas poisoning, said Colonel Currie. The government, he said, had arranged to let some have their pay. Arrangements had been made in England to look after the men, who all need clothing and food. Colonel Currie said that a certain quantity of food has to be sent to them from Canada, and that he packed six shillings a week worth of these necessities are sent to each man. Lady Drummond and Mrs. Rivers-Bulkeley, formerly Miss Pelly, are at the head of the English organization, which is sending supplies straight to Germany. In some places in Scotland, clubs of girls, six or seven each, make a practice of sending food and clothing to British prisoners of war.

Prisoners in Saxony.

Nearly all the Highlanders captured are held as prisoners in Saxony, and there is reason to believe that they are well treated. The Leipzig newspapers speak highly of the Canadians.

National League Talked Of Players, Not Feds

NEW YORK, July 12.—At a special meeting of the National Baseball League called by President Tener at the league's headquarters here today, the rule making player limit twenty-one for each club, which has remained in abeyance since it was proposed last December, was unanimously adopted. No player under suspension will be included in the list of eligible players, for whom other players can be substituted, but the rule has been made sufficiently elastic to enable a player who is crippled in playing strength thru any of his team members being injured or rendered useless from a playing standard thru illness. A suspended player must be counted in the twenty-one limit, and the only recourse for a club in such a case is to appeal to the National Commission for his reinstatement. After the session President Tener said that this was the first of regular monthly meetings, or conferences, of the league, held at his suggestion. When asked if the club-owners had discussed the Federal League or its players at today's meeting, President Tener replied: "We did not, except in a very incidental way. We are minding our own business, and I do not see why we should discuss that organization at this time, if ever."

Leaders Bumped in National League—Monday Scores and Records to Date.

At New York (National)—After losing eight straight games to New York, Cincinnati rallied and took the last game of the series by a score of 6 to 0. Manager McGraw of New York and players Smith and Ferris were ordered off the field for protesting a decision. Score: R.H.E. Cincinnati.....2 9 0 1 0 2 1-6 12 1 New York.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 3 0 Batteries—Dale and Wingo; Mathewson, Schaefer and Meyers.

At Brooklyn—The speeding Dodgers made a four-strikeout game of the series by winning 3 to 2. Smith kept the hits well scattered. Wingo's error helped in Chicago's first run in the fourth. Myers prevented a tie in the eighth when his throw from centre caught Murphy at third after Chicago had bunched two hits and bases on balls. Score: R.H.E. Chicago.....0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1-3 1 1 Brooklyn.....1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0-2 3 1 Batteries—Pierce, Lavender, Adams and Williams; Bresnahan, Smith and Miller.

At Philadelphia—Pittsburgh won both games from Philadelphia in the double-header 2 to 1 and 4 to 1. The home team made a rally in the ninth inning of the first game when Beckwith hit a home run and Cravath and Niehoff singled and Winters sacrificed. Cooper took McGowan's place and gave Luders a pass. Burns hit a liner to Viox for a double play. In the second game, Marmutz was very effective except in two innings. Score: R.H.E. Pittsburgh.....1 0 0 0 0 1 0 0-2 9 0 Philadelphia.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1-3 1 1 Batteries—McQuinn, Cooper and Schanz; Mayer, Tincup and Killifer.

At Boston—St. Louis defeated Boston twice by the score of 2 to 1 and 4 to 2. The second game went eleven innings in the first inning when the opening two singles and an error by Gowdy netted two runs. In the seventh inning of the second game a pass, a sacrifice and two singles gave St. Louis two runs and the game. Score: R.H.E. St. Louis.....2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-2 2 0 Boston.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 7 2 Batteries—Sallee and Snyder; Rudolph and Gowdy.

At Chicago—Manager Rowland's courtship of Chicago in the eighth inning of the first game, while some hard hitting permitted the visitors to tie the game in the ninth and win 7 to 4. At Detroit—Boston defeated Detroit 12 to 1 in a miserably played seven-inning game. The red Sox earned less than half their runs, the Tigers eight errors being costly. After Boston had knocked Cleveland's pitcher, St. Louis, in the first inning, bunting four hits won three Detroit errors, for five runs. The Tigers combined hits with passes.
