MANXMAN SAILORS DROWN IN ATLANTIC

Forty-Three of Crew Perish—A Few Are Saved.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 19.—The captain, first mate, fourth engineer, wireless operator and thirty-nine of the crew of the British steamer Manxman, were drowned when their ship foundered in mid-Atlantic on Thursday morning, according to a wireless message sent out by Capt. Gore, master of the British ship, the "Iceland" from New York, intercepted here this morning. The message said that all the other officers of the Manxman, the chief steward and eleven of the crew, are safe on board the British Isles. The radiogram did not state how the men lost their lives, but it is presumed they went down with their ship, though it is possible that they may have had time to take to the boats and that these subsequently capsized.

SALTED DOWN BODY OF HER DAUGHTER

Lawton, Mich., Dec. 19.—Specifically blaming no one, the coroner's jury, investigating the death of Maude Tabor, brilliant student of languages, whose body was found in a trunk in her home here a month ago, late tonight returned a verdict that death resulted from an illegal operation.

The verdict came as the climax of a day fraught with sensation, during which the 80-year-old mother of the dead woman, Mrs. Sarah Tabor, dramatically told in detail a story of her daughter's death and her own act in "salting" the body and placing it in the trunk, which was Maude's hope chest. This, she said, she did down the cellar stairs by means of a rope snubbed about the door knob, and hid it there, in keeping with a pact the two had made to be buried together.

After cleaning an automatic revolver in his home, 530 West Queen street, last night, Umah Osman pulled the trigger and accidentally shot himself thru the right breast. Forbes rendered first aid, and then had the wounded man removed to the Western Hospital, where it was reported Osman was doing nicely. The police learned that Osman had been cleaning the gun and did not know there was still a shot in the gun when he discharged it.

QUESTIONING BY JUDGE

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—When the strike of Alberta miners was launched last May, Edward Brown of Calgary, now a One Big Union worker, but then an official of the United Mine Workers of America, wrote advising that snapshots of the men who refused to go on strike should be secured with the object of placing them in a "scab gallery." The object was to place the photos in this way at miners' halls, but he refused to recognize the "fixes." If the men left Drumheller after the strike for other parts of the province, he got work under assumed names and ran them out of camp.

PACKER ADDRESSES ELECTRIC CLUB

J. S. McLean, of Harris Abattoir Co., Gives History of Industry.

NO MONOPOLY

Most Economical Method of Advantaging All Persons.

J. S. McLean, secretary-treasurer of the Harris Abattoir Co., was speaker at the Electric Club luncheon yesterday, when he dealt with "The Packing House Industry of Canada." He had approached the industry from the financial side. The industry has grown out of the conditions following the Civil War in the United States. An extreme depression had set in in the early 'seventies. Transcontinental railroads had opened up large territories in the west which became available for cattle ranching. Chicago was the railway centre, and as such became the live stock centre, all cattle being brought there from the west. A great cattle population developed in the west. Their only use was for meat, and this meat had to seek its market. They were shipped alive, but this was a wasteful method, the risks from damage, business, etc., making great loss.

The innovation of the refrigerator car revolutionized the meat industry, rendering shipping possible independent of weather conditions. F. Swift, a butcher in a small Maine town, was the founder of this industry about 1878. He was attracted to Chicago by the cheap cattle available there. The refrigerator car challenged Mr. Swift's imagination, and he invested everything he could gather in the shipment of meat east. His foresight in this respect placed him at the head of the business. The firm of P. D. Armour & Co. was already established in Chicago and had been occupied during the Civil War in shipping hams. The firm had retained its supremacy in this line, as Swift's has done in respect of cattle.

Could Under Sell East. Immediately that it became possible to deliver meat in the eastern markets, the western men were able to undersell the eastern men. Under the former primitive method of shipping, only 20, 30 or 50 cattle a week were killed. Under the new methods of handling by-products this rapidly expanded to 50, 100, 200 and 1,000 cattle a week. The hide was the most valuable, single by-product, and this had always been taken care of and more or less cradled in care of. Under the new method ten or twelve men were given special work to do in taking off the hide so that the work was perfectly done, and special methods of curing were adopted so that "pickers' hides" ruled the market. The fats were similarly specialized, and selected fats were soon bought by the oleomargarine makers. The packers finally learned the method of rendering oleo oil from beef fat and became the great shippers of oleo to Rotterdam and other centres until they became manufacturers themselves of margarine.

Other products came to be similarly dealt with. The treatment of blood, formerly allowed to run into the sewers, forming a cause of friction between the city and the packers, was an example. Out of the necessity of escaping from an intolerable situation the production of valuable nitrate from the blood refuse was brought about.

Why Packers Progressed. The inability of the small slaughterer to utilize his by-products accounted for the rapid rise of the packer, who by reason of his profits on by-products was able to undersell his smaller competitors.

The packing house industry in Canada dated back about twenty years, and followed much the same course as in the United States. In 1900 the fifth of all the fresh meat consigned in Toronto was purchased from wholesale butchers who killed each from 20 to 100 cattle a week. At the present time about 95 per cent. of Toronto's fresh meat was slaughtered in packing houses, the reason being the advantage the packer with his centralized methods possessed. The only way he could displace the wholesale butcher was by selling cheaper. "The growth of the packing house industry is as simple as that," asserted Mr. McLean.

No Monopolist. It is the fashion at present to abuse the packer as a monopolistic individual, who has the pack in his throat with one hand and the consumer by the throat with the other. This is entirely a mistake. He has simply salvaged what would otherwise have been wasted. Nor did he keep all saving to himself. As he went along he distributed part of it to his customers.

The packer can fairly claim that his method is the most economical, and to the advantage of all concerned. The packer has a duty to his customers, and to the producer. He has the duty to buy the producer's cattle, and all his cattle. The farmer had to seek a market formerly for the surplus cattle which the butcher would not purchase. Sometimes the price fell below the value of cattle on this account. The packer maintained a stable price. Mr. McLean stated, from the perishable nature of the product the packer had to turn over his product quickly. Within three weeks or a month from the sale of a steer the money is all back. The turnover, therefore, is from 6 to 12 and sometimes 15 or 16 times the capital invested.

No More Profit Since War. It was not unnatural that those chiefly identified with handling meat at the dear prices prevailing since the war should be attacked. But the packer made no more and sometimes less on dear meat than on cheap. People sometimes thought there was "a nigger in the fence" when they heard of two-fifths of a cent a pound as the profit on meat, but as a matter of fact that was a rather large profit.

CITY HALL NOTES

City relief officers at the City Hall report less applications this year than in several preceding. In 1917 the total in applications for relief was 8,264, and the cases approved, 7,503. Of this number more than 6,000 applications were for hospital relief. In 1918 more than $100 applications were made out for relief, and 7,423 approved. Of this number 6,821 were cases for hospital relief, 250 applications for relief being refused. In 1919, to the end of November the total in applications for relief was slightly more than 6,000, while those for hospital relief were approved. The decrease noted was attributed to the fact that the department did not handle dangerously communicable diseases, such as smallpox, such cases being directly under the supervision of the Health Department. The year 1917-18, it will be recalled, was one of the severest in the history of the city, and the relief roll was high.

Very few building permits were issued yesterday by the department. Among these was a $9,500 residence for James MacDonald on the west side of Durie street, near Bloor. Another was for William Neilson, 277 Gladstone avenue, to cost $15,000. The total amount for the day was $24,925.

That the proposed arena in Toronto is to house all that pertains to the royal agricultural winter fair and that the Ontario government has promised an annual grant of $25,000 toward the fair, was information received from authentic sources yesterday.

Thirty-nine new cases of smallpox have been reported in Toronto during the twenty-four hours ending midnight, Thursday. The total number of cases is now 1,588. There are 620 homes with 1,904 persons quarantined.

Anti-vaccinationists are very busy at Dr. Hastings' rather uncomplimentary references to their activities and ideals, and yesterday that abolitionist no misrepresentation was made by their canvassers in taking signatures. Five hundred signatures, they said, had been signed to date.

ABNORMAL QUANTITIES OF LIQUOR PRESCRIBED

License Board May Adopt Policy of Publishing Offenders' Names.

Abnormal issues of liquor prescriptions and quantities of liquor obtained for alleged office use by a few physicians in the province have led to stoppage of supplies and honoring of prescriptions at Ontario government dispensaries of about a score of doctors during the past fortnight by direction of the Ontario License Board.

Three of the doctors in question had been convicted in police court for violation of the Ontario temperance act, which formed an element in the board's action.

Names of the offending physicians are not given, but the board has undertaken preparation of a circular letter to be sent to all physicians practicing in Ontario. After the issue of that circular the practice will probably be adopted of giving to the press names of doctors whose orders and prescriptions are suspended at the dispensaries.

U.F.O. SECRETARY CHEERED TO ECHO

Convention Pass Resolution of Thanks for J. J. Morrison's Efforts.

Before terminating the proceedings of their convention yesterday in the Labor Temple, the U.F.O. passed resolutions of thanks to the officials of the central organization, to the citizens of Toronto, and to the press as contributors to the success of the farmers' meeting.

The gratitude was all more or less formal, except the part of it intended for J. J. Morrison, the secretary. That was a genuine and warm one. The delegates realized that Mr. Morrison is the guiding spirit and life of the U.F.O., so they cheered him again and again.

Earlier in the session, Mr. Morrison had opposed a motion to establish district headquarters of the U.F.O. in the eastern part of the province, and in the north, Daniel Hogarth, Perth, and S. J. McDonald, Stormont, brought forward the suggestion as a constructive measure of organization, in view of the rapid growth of the farmers' movement.

Mr. Morrison took the view that a sectional organization would have a disintegrating influence and he had decided in this that he carried the convention with him.

S. J. McDonald for a while failed to see what was good for the Co-operative Company would not be good for the general association, but Mr. Morrison said the electoral victory would not have been possible in October if Mr. Morrison had not been unanimously endorsed. Its effect is to establish the U.F.O. as a political organization with a central committee like the other two political parties in Ontario.

Minor Resolutions. Several minor resolutions were carried to reimburse county directors for expenses incurred in supplying French U.F.O. clubs with literature in their own language, condemning the system by which Canadian National Railway directors are appointed, favoring long-term loans for farmers at low interest, and for rural credits, more uniform Hydro-Electric rates, the development of Ontario's waterpowers, and for long-distance telephone facilities for rural subscribers.

The delegates refused to approve the Canadian Wheat Board. The official organization for 1920 are: President, R. W. E. Burnaby; vice-president, M. A. Amos; secretary-treasurer, J. J. Morrison; executive committee, Harold Currie of Strathroy, Herbert Hoovey of Hastings, Mrs. G. A. Brodie of Newmarket, and Mrs. I. W. of Cayuga.

A. J. Powers, Orono, was elected president of the U.F.O. Co-operative Company, in the room of R. W. E. Burnaby, elected president of the U. O. Elmer Lick, Oshawa, was elected vice-president of the Co-operative Company. J. J. Morrison is secretary and treasurer of all companies, as well as of the U.F.O.

PRIZE MONEY FOR CANADIAN SEAMEN

Distribution of Awards Probably to Begin in Spring.

Distribution of naval prize money to Canadian seamen who served in the British or Canadian navies during the war, will probably be commenced during the spring of 1920.

In the case of all prize money cargoes delivered to the crown, the proceeds of which fall to the naval prize fund, the government is responsible to that fund for the capital value, plus four per cent, compound interest from the time they were requisitioned until the time the money is paid, so that the interest is the effect of increasing the fund.

The distribution of naval prize money depends upon the fund coming from the sale of prize property and other claims arising out of each ship. Appeals are pending in several courts. Appeals are pending in several courts. Appeals are pending in several courts.

Until more definite information is available as to the actual number of shares into which the fund will be divided and as to the actual amount available, it is not possible to revise the estimate which was made earlier in the year that the value of each share will not exceed twenty to thirty shillings.

Droits of the Crown. The naval prize fund is only entitled to the proceeds of captures such as in the case of ships, which were divided among the officers and men of H. M. fleet serving in the capturing of ships. These are known as droits of the crown.

Ships and cargoes captured in British ports, whether by customs officers or otherwise, which are known as droits of the admiralty, did not benefit the present navy prize fund. They have not now, nor for 250 years, had any connection with the fund.

James Ballantyne, Labor candidate for mayor of Toronto, is so far in poor health as to be out of his campaign duties. He has been laid up with a bad attack of jaundice.

TAXI DRIVERS ORGANIZING. Taxi drivers were organized yesterday afternoon by well organized members of the American Federation of Labor and it is expected that they will become one of the premier organizations in the city.

TRUE BILLS RETURNED. The following true bills were returned by the grand jury in the sessions: Cora Shay, arson; Dolly Wells, arson. No bill against J. H. Williams, charged with theft.

Who Won the Coal Strike?

Terms received with "unqualified approval" by the coal operators, accepted with the comment "the fight is won" by the strike-leaders, regarded with gratification by the Government, and hailed by many responsible papers as a "great victory for the public," would seem to be all that could reasonably be expected as a solution of the coal crisis. But through the general jubilation there sounds a note of doubt and warning from no less an authority than Dr. Harry A. Garfield, United States Fuel Administrator, who fears that in the near future this settlement will mean further inroads upon the pocketbooks of the coal-consuming public.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week—December 20th—has been prepared so as to give the public an all-sided knowledge of just what the strike settlement contemplates. It quotes facts, opinions, and predictions from all sources, and the article is illustrated with half-tone illustrations and cartoons.

The "Digest" in the "Movies" Makes Millions of Men and Women Laugh

The reasons that make "TOPICS OF THE DAY," selected by The Literary Digest, one of the most popular subjects on the motion picture screen, are given by a reviewer in these words: "The subjects are essentially timely. The paragraphs reach the screen while interest in the topics is at its highest point. There is no prescribed limit to their appeal. All humanity is dealt with and all humanity responds to their screening. Each composition is brief—comprehensive. It is at all times well composed and carefully selected. It represents substantial thought—the best editorial thought in the world. But, best of all, there is real wit and humor in every line." Pathe distributes "Topics of the Day" to more than two thousand motion picture theatres in the United States and Canada, including B. F. Keith's, Proctor's, and Orpheum circuit vaudeville theatres. LABOR PLATFORM IS GIVEN OUT

Many New Planks, Most of Which Are Highly Popular.

Replying to statements appearing in the evening papers to the effect that the political defence committee of the Toronto Trades Council had gained only a trifling amount on behalf of the cause for which the committee was appointed, officials of the organization stated that "Liberty Bonds" did not constitute the only means of raising funds considered by the committee. It was, therefore, incorrect to say that only a thousand dollars had been raised for the desired purpose.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY TO STAY.

Labor men of all classes in Toronto are agreed that the eight-hour day is here to stay, despite anything that S. R. Parsons may say to the contrary. This was the gist of interviews held yesterday afternoon with the most representative men in the movement. Louis Braithwaite, business manager for the Meat Cutters' Union, opined that Mr. Parsons belonged to a school of the distant past, if not of pre-history. He believed that Mr. Parsons was not responding to the spirit of the age, that spirit of giant strides both in ideal and action. Controller Gibbons saw no valid reason in any of the points presented by Mr. Parsons for the government to oppose eight-hour legislation. Controller W. D. Robbins was sure the eight-hour day had come to stay, and stay it would.

Construction work has been completed and the hotel will be opened during the coming summer. It will have accommodations for six hundred guests. Railroad authorities state that the opening of the Bigwin Inn will mark a notable step in the development of Canadian summer resorts.

The report would then be sent to the minister of labor, who might release it on Monday, undoubtedly by Tuesday.

WHEAT SUPPLY OF FOOD

Government Has Been Selling Wheat at Less Than Cost, and Faces Big Deficit.

IMPORTING FROZEN MEAT

Wheat, Dec. 19.—Signor Muraldi, the food controller, in a statement issued today declared the wheat supply situation in Italy, during the year ended in 1919, had produced 13,000,000 quintals of wheat, as compared with 13,000,000 last year.

The needs of the civil population, he said, amounted to 42,000,000 quintals yearly. Hope was expressed that 4,000,000 quintals, which it was estimated would be needed for the year would be reduced to 2,000,000 quintals.

Wheat had been sold by the government at 60 lire per quintal, the food controller stated, without receiving the price paid in order that the people might be fed. This practice, he said, had resulted in very heavy losses for the state, which would result in an increase of the selling price of wheat to ninety lire per quintal, the price paid for it in Italy.

The price of bread, he added, would in consequence be doubled.

Signor Muraldi said of the government had been forced to pay 130 lire for wheat imported from Argentina and 180 lire when bought in North America.

The food controller stated, was less than that.

Means Big Deficit.

By its loss of 30 lire per quintal on wheat, the difference between the government's buying and selling price, the state budget would suffer a deficit of 100,000,000 lire, it was explained.

Production of rice was said to be half a million quintals less than last year and sugar practically on an annual production basis of 1,650,000 quintals. This brings into the state an income of 60,000,000 lire annually.

The food controller said Italy was importing monthly 60,000 tons of frozen meat due to the fact that the war requirements had resulted in a practical disappearance of cattle.

Production of oil, it was stated, will be only one-third of last year, thus the government will be forced to import cotton seed oil at a cost of 10 lire per quintal, entailing a loss for the year estimated at 200,000 lire.

Dairy products were declared to be less than half the quantity before the war.

Owing to the high rate of exchange with England and America, Signor Muraldi declared, negotiations are proceeding for the purchase of wheat from Bulgaria and Rumania. He stated it would be impossible for a long time to buy wheat in South Russia because of the lack of transportation facilities.

EXHIBITION PAYS RECORD CHEQUE

$175,000 Paid to Mayor Church by President T. A. Russell of C.N.E.

Owing to the record attendance at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, President T. A. Russell was enabled to hand the city of Toronto, in the person of Mayor Church, a cheque for $175,000. Mr. Russell, in presenting the cheque to Mayor Church, made the following statement:

The result of the year's Exhibition marks the attainment of a long-cherished ambition of the officers and directors. The Exhibition has a lease of the grounds and buildings for two out of the twelve months of the year. The figures of this year indicate that we have been able to pay all charges of every kind borne by the city for the whole year, and still show a margin.

The total charges for maintenance of grounds and buildings, for interest on debt of buildings, and for sinking fund for 1918, amounted to $130,466.82. In the same way the figures for 1919 amount to approximately $140,000—a total of $260,466.82 for the two years.

The profits of the Exhibition in 1919, after paying all costs of administration of every kind, amounted to $30,537.74. Profits for 1918 amounted to $175,007.49, a total of $265,505.23.

Profit Shown.

The Exhibition after paying all its own expenses, and after paying all expenses borne by the city in maintenance of the buildings, interest charges, and sinking fund, and still shows a profit.

In other words, out of the two months' use of the grounds and buildings, the Exhibition has been able to pay all costs of every kind for these two years, so that the city has the use of the buildings for any purpose for the other ten months of the year and has all the advantages brought to the city by the Exhibition, without any cost to the city.

The directors venture to express the hope that this showing will justify a practically unanimous verdict of the ratepayers of Toronto in favor of the bylaw being submitted for the much-needed arena, and other live stock and agricultural buildings, which are to be provided if the bylaw for $1,000,000 for this purpose is favorably passed upon by the citizens on Jan. 1 next.

SEEK SUBSTITUTE FOR OLD PATRONAGE

the cabinet. It was not deemed advisable to mention any of the contingencies likely to be opened in order not to embarrass the sitting members or create any unnecessary feeling among the electors. It was urged that the constituents had at least some claims for consideration and that their wishes in the matter should be known and respected before any definite action was taken.

Some attention was devoted to the question of parliamentary procedure. As practically all the members-elect are "green" so far as experience in the legislature is concerned, they naturally desired to have an enlightenment on how to proceed with business. They agreed that they would "live and learn" and thought they could fairly leave themselves in the hands of the Speaker-elect, Nelson, Parliament, who has come to be a recognized authority on procedure. Matters of policy were not talked about, at any great length, these being left to the cabinet to formulate.

Members' First Opportunity.

The caucus opened in the reception room at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and there were few absentees of members-elect. It was the first opportunity they had been afforded of meeting the premier and the other cabinet ministers since the government was formed. Considerable time was necessarily spent in each other's acquaintance. Some of the members were not known to each other, counting, as they did, from such widely scattered parts of the province.

The door was rigidly tied, and in this respect the farmers and labor men were following at least one example of the old parties. It was given out a few days ago that the proceedings were to be kept open, but evidence has been prevailed, and each minister and member was carefully scrutinized, both by the vigilant house-keeper, Mr. Lee, and by the inner guard, so that it was next to an impossibility for any but the invited and substantial sufficiency of the circle of the new law-makers of the province.

All Ministers Present.

All the cabinet ministers were present, following a little rehearsal in the council room. They were nearly encircled by the members-elect as they entered the reception room, and smilingly bore their acknowledgments—at least, so it was said by one member. An adjournment was made for lunch at one o'clock, when the new representatives of the people opened their first real taste of parliamentary building catering, which, some of them said, was good, although not that substantial sufficiency to which they were accustomed in their country homes.

Cabinet ministers and members alike were about as light as the proverbial oyster as to what had transpired at the session, and the Premier, who had been duly instructed in the matter of secrecy, and the manner in which they should be treated, would not credit to some of the old and experienced parliamentary hands of more or less biased memory.

Called for Volunteers.

"Just getting acquainted," said one smooth-looking farmer when asked what had been going on, it transpired from another source, however, that the important matter had been discussed of finding seats for three politically homeless ministers—Premier Drury, Hon. W. E. Ramey (attorney-general) and Hon. Manning Donnelly (minister of agriculture). The latter two had been placed by the evening newspapers to run in so many contingencies that they were scarcely a good guess left. However, the whole matter was brought to a head by the caucus.

Volunteers were called for from the ranks of the members-elect. Who was willing to sacrifice his seat, his little personal indemnity, a couple of months each year in the gay and festive city of Toronto, with all its temptations, to say nothing of giving up political prospects which might lead even to the premiership?

There were twelve immediate responses ready for the political gyration, and their names were duly recorded. Premier Drury spoke of the fine spirit displayed by the twelve political aspirants in offering to place their all on the altar of sacrifice. He thought it augured well for the party in general and its future success.

There was an evening meeting, at which the patronage question, already referred to, was discussed. Hon. T. A. Russell and J. J. Morrison, U.P.O. secretary, were present at this occasion. An adjournment was made at 10 o'clock, and all seemed to think that a pleasant and profitable day had been spent.

SOUGHT COMPROMISE BY COAL OPERATORS

Chairman, Before U. S. Senate Committee, Criticizes Attorney-General.

A COWARDLY SURRENDER

Washington, Dec. 19.—Attorney-General Palmer told the senate coal investigating committee today a full story of his own and the general government's actions in connection with the strike of bituminous miners, concluding his testimony with the declaration that the "firm, strong hand of the government" finally had forced the miners to yield.

Alfred M. Ogie, chairman of the executive committee of the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, took the stand a moment after the attorney-general concluded, and told the committee that Mr. Palmer endeavored on Friday, December 5, to induce the coal operators to compromise with the miners on a basis of more than the 14 per cent wage increase suggested on behalf of the government by former Fuel Administrator Garfield.

Continuing, Ogie surprised the committee with the assertion that Mr. Palmer had told the operators that Federal Judge Anderson at Indianapolis, who issued an injunction against the strike leaders on the government's application, might "act in a characteristic fashion, and put a lot of union leaders in jail," thus precipitating a "terrible industrial situation."

"We replied," said Ogie, "that we considered the proposal a cowardly, dastardly surrender of the rights of the public and the government. We considered it a compromise of principles far more important, than any question of the wages of the miners, or our own profits as operators of coal mines. We thought it a question of the maintenance of law and order in the United States."

Ogie's testimony, given after Attorney-General Palmer, who was before the committee practically the entire day, had left the room, came at the climax to a series of revelations concerning the government's movements in the strike. The operators' chairman refused to divulge details when first put on the stand, but finally told his story after receiving permission to consult his attorney, Rush Butler, who was also called as a witness.

Chairman Freelinghuysen of the senate committee indicated after conclusion of the hearing that the investigation would be continued on the strength of the information brought out.

to secure employment during the winter months and to those who are unable to secure adequate employment, and to the dependents of each of these classes of men. The benefits are confined to men who were living in Canada when they were living in Canada and have returned, or to other members of the forces who have continuously resided in Canada for two months prior to making application for assistance.

The procedure to be adopted will be as follows: An ex-member of the forces who is unable to obtain employment, or for whom employment cannot be secured thru the government employment office, by reason of there being none available, and who thereby is in necessitous circumstances, may apply to the representative of the information and service branch of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment in the government employment office for a certificate stating that no work is available. Before the issue of such certificate he will be required to produce evidence as to his identity. If work is available, no certificate will be issued. The certificate must be delivered to the Canadian patriotic fund at the address designated thereon.

While in cases of urgent need, immediate financial assistance may be given, it is intended that due enquiry shall be made before expenditure is incurred by the government. It is also expected that the man himself will use every endeavor to obtain employment.

Brigadier-General Ross emphasized to the Canadian Press that what appears to be the general impression, namely that $40,000,000 is to be distributed in this way, is entirely unfounded. Forty million dollars was voted to meet expenditures recommended by the parliamentary committee of soldiers' civil re-establishment. This sum is to be divided to cover eight recommendations, so that the amount available to assist those unable to secure employment is not $40,000,000, as some people seem to think, but a very much smaller sum. At the same time, it is anticipated that the amount available, if care is exercised and every effort is made by the men who apply for assistance to secure employment, will meet the situation during the ensuing three months, which is the period to be covered by the object of the fund.

OBJECT OF PARTIES TO CONSOLIDATE RUSSIA

Copenhagen, Dec. 19.—Negotiations are proceeding at Vienna between leaders of various Russian parties with the object of drafting a scheme for the consolidation of Russia; says a dispatch to The Berlingske Tidende from the Austrian capital. The conference agreed that the resignation of Nikolai Minin, Bolshevik premier, and Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik minister of war and marine, was essential to this end. It was considered possible by the conference, according to the Vienna advices, to reconstitute the present Russian ministry to include M. Zinovieff, Bolshevik governor of Petrograd, and M. Tchitcherin, Bolshevik foreign minister.

The conference suggested the retirement of Admiral Kolchak and General Denikin so that a democratic coalition could be successfully formed.

CHATHAM WOMAN, 102 YEARS OLD, TAKES LONG WALK, CLIMBS STAIRS

Chatham, Dec. 19.—(Special)—Despite her one hundred and two years, Mrs. Kaynew, a well-known and highly-respected Taylor avenue lady, walked to Harrison Hall this morning and climbed the two flights of steps to High Constable Peters' office to complain that somebody had stolen the title deeds of her property on Taylor avenue. The police promised to investigate the matter and she returned reassured.

RESOLUTION OF BRITISH HOUSE INCREASES OLD AGE PENSION

London, Dec. 19.—The house of commons passed a resolution increasing the old age pension to ten shillings weekly. The bill has now passed all stages and becomes effective immediately. It involves an additional cost to the state of 10,000,000 pounds sterling annually.

ALLIES ARE UNABLE TO PAY INTEREST

$3.75 1-4% it first declined further today to $3.70 1-2, then recovered suddenly to $3.75 3-4. The market, in other words, remained in a state of excitement and bewilderment. It still rushed upward or downward, as the case might be, in accordance with the whim of speculators and the impulse of merchants who had either to buy or to sell drafts on London. French and Italian exchange moved today exactly as sterling did though swinging in a narrow orbit.

Two theories appear to exist regarding this movement. One is that continuation of the decline in rates to new low figures will go on, despite the interruption following too rapid a pace of depreciation under speculative pressure. The other is that bottom has been touched for some little time to come. It would be altogether rash to predict in the case of a market governed, as that for sterling now is, so largely by sentiment and imagination. What is certain is that there were experienced merchants and bankers who openly described sterling exchange as a "good investment" at last week's low prices; also that the situation regarding the political status at Washington, which immediately caused the recent break in rates, was visibly better than it was a week ago.

It is maintained in some good financial quarters that the question of action or inaction on the treaty of peace has no bearing on the real position of foreign exchange. But it would be venturesome to contend that it has had no bearing on the recent action of sterling rates, and as matters stand today it is impossible that those rates should not be influenced hereafter by the steps taken toward compromise in the senate and by the inability to secure the necessary credits, which very soon be confronted with some rapid and disturbing changes in our own foreign trade.

The Grocery Cabinet.

A delicious reminder of the English ignorances of Ontario, in other times, is given in "The London Daily News" illustrated half page. A proclamation of the Imperial privy council once described Ontario as "that town." During the war of 1812 several war vessels were built in England and sent to Canada in sections—there were no St. Lawrence canals then—and put together for use against the Americans on Lake Ontario. Each ship was furnished with a tank in which the salt water of the lake was to be condensed into fresh. The Daily News, under a photograph of Premier Drury, says "The meetings of his cabinet take place in a little room above a grocery store."
How very crude these "colonials" are, to be sure.

No Mean Sum.

A gratifying result of the excellent and highly satisfactory exhibition last summer is the turning over to the city treasurer of $175,000 as the profits of the season. President Russell and Manager Kent have evidently been applying business principles to their task, and as one of the first of these principles is to look for profits in the elimination of unnecessary expense, we may feel assured that a policy of practical economy has been enforced.
In a project like the Canadian National Exhibition, a penny-wise, dollar-foolish policy is sheer folly, and, on the other hand, an over-lavish expenditure means embarrassing deficits. The management has evidently been able to attain the golden mean, and the sum of the result, $175,000, is no mean sum.

The Hangman's Protest.

When the public hangman protests to the people of Canada against the method of executing those sentenced to death, and against the existing system of treating condemned men, it is surely time for a reform. The only expert in the country and the only man to profit by the present method declares it to be out of date, and that there is only one other to adopt.
That, he declares, is the method advocated by Major Mowat, M. P., which formed the subject of legislation, which he proposed to have passed, but which was side-tracked in the usual parliamentary manner.
The two additional murders committed by the man just executed at Hamilton should be a strong argument for Major Mowat to present at the next session, and sufficient to move even the present government to action.

School Teachers' Salaries.

Among the subjects which the new government in Ontario will have pressed upon its notice is the need for higher salaries for teachers. Teaching requires a much higher standard of intelligence than it has hitherto been considered necessary to credit the teacher with. As has been said, "Like master, like man," so also it may be said, "Like teacher, like pupil." The brighter and more intelligent the teacher, the more will the scholars reflect the influences under which they develop.
Such standards of intelligence are not to be attracted from more lucrative walks of life without some concessions, and it is generally felt that Ontario has not yet done enough for the sake of her children in this matter. The case is usually put for the teacher, but it is the children eventually who suffer. And then the country.

Quebec is beginning to recognize this fact, and an effort is being made to raise the standard of wages for teachers. Out of 493,023 on the school rolls, Catholic and Protestant, according to the last report, 389,770 were in attendance, about 79 per cent. There are 4253 male and 14,150 female teachers. Of these, 2619 were being paid from $150 to $200 a year; 2755 from $200 to $250; 686 from $250 to $300, and 446 between $300 and $400. These are among the Catholic teachers. Ontario has been getting its standards raised above this level for some years, but not so far above it as not to leave great room for improvement yet. The inspector-general of Protestant schools in Quebec recommends that no female teacher in a country school should be paid less than $600 a year. In competition of this kind, the provinces will find plenty of ground for an amiable rivalry.

Coal Shortage Reduces Train Service in Belgium

Brussels, Dec. 19.—Many trains were taken off the schedules this morning because of the coal shortage resulting from the miners' strike. If the strike continues all trains except those necessary for carrying food and troops will be discontinued after Sunday.

In Mr. Browne's Studio

Archibald Browne, R.C.A., has opened his studio to his friends till the middle of January, and all who can are glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to see the latest work of one of the most distinctive of Canadian artists. Mr. Browne's pictures are readily identifiable in a gallery, but it is not merely by reason of choice of subject nor yet of technical method. Mr. Browne's subjects have a wider range than one suspects until one begins to sum up the versatility of his tastes. He does not confine himself to any one class of subject, the trees and sunsets and the variations of sun-glow and moonlight may impress one at first. But among these, what an infinite range of vision is to be found, and outside them, how many other adventures in the fairylands of Nature. Mr. Browne quite clearly has the artist's eye, but to have this and to enable the ordinary observer to see what the artist sees and gain his sympathy at the same time is quite another task. Mr. Browne has an emotion, a sentiment, an idea, or a story to tell of what he sees in each of his pictures. He does tell it. He conveys it. He "gets it over" as the stage people say. Painting is a language, as he says himself, but he makes its accents understood. His pictures are articulate and communicate their maker's mood. There is the noble "Benediction," now at The Grange. Out of the depth of it and down from the height of it one senses the peace that comes like a gracious presence. There is at his studio a "Solitude," in which the loneliness of life yearns out to the beholder. A lady who said she could not live with it. It would make her always sad. The sombre pines in their enduring strength; the solitary waters; the shadowed moon; the whole brooding atmosphere, melt together into the ineffable burden of the here. There is no revolt. There is submission. But the whisper of resignation in the pines makes the solitude more complete.
There are examples of those tense last moments of sunset, when the dying day flickers for an instant with sullen red on the far western hill, or touches evanescently a lurid cloud with the last flame struggle of life. There is a profound pathos in some of these little moments of pause at the threshold of night, and there is no despair, but the promise of hope and the joy of the morning.
And what vivid glory and life and beauty there is in such paintings as his "Spring Morning," with all the magic grace and movement of the day's resurrection. These slender birches are made to bow to the breeze, just as the sterner pines are made to stand before the storm.
"Exquisite color, delicate charm of line and leaping light, warmth of tone and atmosphere aglow, or the suppressed power and majesty of the pregnant night, thrill the observer constantly with their messages of human reflection, faith, prophecy, outburst, humility and strength in these pictures. To possess such treasures is a privilege. They awaken the sympathy of those who see."

POLITICAL DEFENCE COMMITTEE SEE PREMIER DRURY

Promised Consideration of Four Requests to Revise Judicial Methods.

RANEY SYMPATHETIC

Sitting at the clerk's table in the legislative chamber, Premier Drury, Attorney General Raney, the Hon. Walter Rollo, and the Hon. M. Mills last night received a delegation about a hundred strong from the political defence committee of the Trades and Labor Council, and promised to consider four requests to revise judicial methods in the province. The delegation was a wide range of experience embracing a wide range of advertising and business development, has been appointed manager of the Toronto office of the McConnell & Ferguson advertising agency, beginning January 1st next.
His knowledge of the Canadian, American and English fields is too well-known to require comment.
given being thoroughly established — to which the deputation readily assented. Attorney-General Raney was very sympathetic to the deputation, while making it clear that there is a divided jurisdiction with Ottawa in the administration of justice. He too, was well-known to require comment.
Mr. Wolff introduced the case of Miss Bancourt, formerly X-ray photographer at the General Hospital, held in the central prison since last March, without trial in court, on the deputation order of a Dominion immigration official, under the immigration act. Mr. Wolff had offered $5,000 bail for her, but had been refused. Some discussion took place on this case, during which Mr. Hawkes said, on behalf of the defence committee, that he had been refused permission to see Miss Bancourt, and that a high official of the provincial government had said to him that in these cases, while people of British descent, his way with Germans and Poles, we still being in a state of war, would be to line them up against a wall and use a machine gun on them.

UNEXPECTED SPEED IN DEMOBILIZING CANADA'S TROOPS

By End of December Only Thousand C.E.F. Men in England.

ISSUE A STATEMENT

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Greater speed has been made in the demobilization of Canada's fighting men than was believed possible at the time the armistice was signed, according to a statement handed out this evening by the department of overseas military forces of Canada. By the end of the present month the total number of all ranks remaining in England will have dwindled to 1,930, while the number of active pay accounts dropped from 412,458 to 16,474 within a year of the signing of the armistice. The statement shows that the policy is to obliterate the organization of the overseas military forces as speedily as possible, and the hope is expressed that it will not exist, even in a minor capacity, after the end of the next parliamentary session. The bulk of the headquarters staff, formerly located in London, has been removed to Ottawa, leaving a small organization overseas to clean up under the direction of Major-General J. H. MacBrien.
Work of Overseas Staff.
The statement continues, in part: "Whilst the efforts of the headquarters staff in London in returning to Canada within approximately six months all the long-service men was of a very heavy character, still there were many other matters that had to receive attention, such as the closing of hospitals and camps, the disposal of stores, as well as equipment in France and in England, there was a large amount of stores and equipment to be disposed of, a good deal of machinery being used during demobilization. This was sold by auction and realized very good prices.
"Boots were sold for the equivalent of $1 per pair over the cost price. A lot of 500 typewriting machines was sold at $25 per machine in excess of the original cost. Automobiles also brought very high prices. Approximately $240,000 has been turned into the receiver-general thru the activities of the salvage branch.
"The adjustment of accounts between the Canadian and imperial governments required very much research, as well as patience, because of the fact that many important accounts had not been adjusted since the beginning of the war.
"After the work had proceeded for a considerable period and Sir Edward Kemp had become convinced that greater speed could be made in adjusting demobilization, he determined on returning to Canada the bulk of the London headquarters staff.
Officers Back in Canada.
"The following officers now have their headquarters in Ottawa: Col. G. S. Harcourt, deputy minister; Col. W. R. Gen. C. Rose, N. G. paymaster-general; Col. J. L. MacBrien, deputy paymaster-general; Major-General G. L. Foster, C.B., C.M.G., director-general of medical services; Lieut. Col. J. L. McKinnon, deputy judge-advocate-general (acting); Col. A. Dowie, C.B.E., general auditor.
"London sufficient staff has been left in London to carry out the duties of the skeleton organization which is still necessary. Therefore, while the actual demobilization is not only of chief importance, the questions being dealt with are of so important a character that Major-General J. H. MacBrien, C.M.G., D.S.O., has been placed at the head of this organization overseas, and he practically controls the functions not only of chief of the general staff but of the quartermaster-general and the adjutant-general, as well as his pay and medical staffs and others.
Visit to Mons.
"On November 11, Major-General MacBrien, upon the invitation of the Mayor of Mons, together with Gen. Loomis and Col. Hamilton-Gault and a small detachment of men, for the purpose of representing the Canadian corps at a celebration to be held there to commemorate the liberation of the city of Mons by the Canadian corps and the first anniversary of the armistice. These represented the Canadian corps for the last time in France."

When Rae married the Robertson woman his first wife was seriously ill and when her second wife she was in a critical state in bed.

MOONLIGHT AND MONEY
BY MARION RUBINCAM

WOULD LOVE TRIUMPH?

CHAPTER 66
Aitho Dr. Drake had said she must stay in bed, Louise insisted on getting up part of each day at least, and superintending some of the innumerable details that had to be looked after. She had three pairs of ready hands to help her, yet somehow it seemed as though she were in constant demand at first one part of the house and then the other.
Harry was invaluable. He made arrangements with undertakers, saw about the services in the church, sent announcements by mail and telegrams and sat at the 'phone patiently for hours, calling people who lived in or near the city.
But the staff of servants was completely demoralized. The kitchen maid left because she "was afraid to be in the house with her dead." The cook was overworked, since relatives from out of town had to stay at the house. Anne, usually a good and willing worker, had lost all sense of direction. She could think of nothing to do but waiting on her "dear, poor Mrs. Morton." And Louise was too busy to be waited upon.
Mrs. Altwyn, perhaps the closest and most sympathetic of her mother's friends, helped save the situation. She came in each morning and worked hard. She found a new kitchen maid and another chambermaid and kept Louise in bed until lunch-time, at least.
Carol was the third assistant, but from the practical point of view she was of little help. "I can see about your flowers and go thru the house to be sure the servants keep it looking well, but otherwise, I only seem able to tell you how sorry I am," Carol said, with a helpless little gesture of her hands. "Since I married a wealthy man I seem to have lost a lot of sense. Louise, how did you ever do your housework all those months when you were first married? One of my chamber maids left yesterday and I tried to make my bed. You should have seen it!"
"I told you a long time ago necessity forced me to do a lot of things I didn't know how to do," Louise answered. "In spite of all the people trying to help me, I seem to be getting this funeral now. I don't know how I have to do it. One can do anything one has to."
"You're a marvel, Louise," Carol said. "But you take a nap now. You'll be nice to all the country relatives who are about to arrive."

FOOD STRIKE SPREADS TO BERLIN SUBURBS

Berlin, Dec. 19.—Berlin's strike of restaurant-keepers, called yesterday in protest against the food industry's new regulations, suppressing illicit trading in foodstuffs, not only has spread to all the suburbs, but the hotelkeepers in Breslau, Frankfurt, Dresden and other cities have offered to join. It is regarded as certain that both sides to the controversy will remain obstinate and that a complete strike of restaurant keepers will result throughout Germany.
"Please don't touch me, I'm so tired," she said, bravely. "I've got up, but I'm so tired. Mother, even though I married a wealthy man I seem to have lost a lot of sense. Louise, how did you ever do your housework all those months when you were first married? One of my chamber maids left yesterday and I tried to make my bed. You should have seen it!"
"I told you a long time ago necessity forced me to do a lot of things I didn't know how to do," Louise answered. "In spite of all the people trying to help me, I seem to be getting this funeral now. I don't know how I have to do it. One can do anything one has to."
"You're a marvel, Louise," Carol said. "But you take a nap now. You'll be nice to all the country relatives who are about to arrive."

BABY'S CRYING SAVES EIGHT OTHER LIVES

Kingston, Dec. 19.—The crying of a little baby in the night saved the life of the infant and that of eight other people at Napanee, when the bursting of a gas main caused the escaping gas to get in homes nearby. Mr. Edward Butler, was aroused from his sleep early this morning by the crying of his baby. He got up to attend the child and detected the smell of gas all thru the house. On making an investigation he found his wife and another child overcome, and running across to his neighbor, Dr. T. M. HIGH WATER MARK OF MONTREAL DEBT

Amount for 1920 Totals $121,901,622, Due Greatly to Annexations.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—The high water mark of the city's debt seems to have been reached in the estimates of 1920, which, for the first time in years, show there has been only a comparatively small increase as compared with the estimates of a year ago. The amount of the debt in 1919 estimates was stated to be $121,277,622, and in the 1920 estimates the amount of the debt is $121,901,622. Of the total debt of $121,901,622, the sum of $27,000,000 is due to recent annexations of adjoining municipalities. In 1910, when a number of municipalities were annexed to Montreal, the debt was increased by $6,500,000. In the year 1911 the annexations produced about $2,000,000 more debt, but the big event in the way of debts was realized in 1913, when Maisonneuve was annexed to Montreal, with another debt heritage of $18,000,000.

ASK ENABLING ACT TO RECLAIM LE PAS

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—An enabling act is to be submitted to the next session of the Manitoba legislature for the reclamation of 700 acres of land in The Pas district. Hon. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer, and representative of The Pas district, announced today. The land is valued at approximately $12,000,000. The cost of reclamation will be approximately $2,000,000. The land is the property of the Dominion government, and about one dollar per acre must be paid by the Dominion government. The land will be worth about $20 per acre when reclaimed. The major portion of the land lies in the province of Saskatchewan, but the province has taken no interest in the reclamation of the land up to the present time. The province of Manitoba will likely take over the whole section if the Saskatchewan government is willing.

Chair Bill Debated

The question of whether the county council of Waterloo would pay a bill of $38 for a chair ordered for the benefit of Mr. Justice Lasker, in connection with the special session of the county council, was debated by the council today. The issue was brought up by the county clerk, Mr. Justice Lasker, to provide a more comfortable chair for the sheriff, who had been ordered to consult the property committee. The chairman of the committee declared he thought the chair should be presented with the bill and given a chance to pay it. Some of the members of the committee questioned the right of the sheriff to order furniture without consulting the county authorities. It was decided that in future the sheriff must be paid for by the person ordering it without authority. The sheriff promptly ordered the chair without consulting the property committee. The chairman of the committee declared he thought the chair should be presented with the bill and given a chance to pay it.

SUNK WARSHIPS AN OPEN QUESTION

No Indication Yet Given What Compensation Germany Should Make.

Paris, Dec. 19.—The supreme council held no session today, and tomorrow will sit in the afternoon because of a meeting of the French cabinet in the morning.

No indication was given by the British government representatives this morning on the question of Great Britain's opinion as to what compensation Germany should make for the German ships sunk at Scapa Flow.

Majors von Michaelis and von Balthasar are expected here tomorrow from Berlin to serve as experts on measures of evacuation by Germany of territories which she must quit under the terms of the peace treaty.

The remainder of the German commission, which will come here in conjunction with the treaty, headed by Herr von Simson, will arrive at Paris on Sunday.

Premier Clemenceau, who has been confined to his home for several days because of the broken rib he sustained during his recent trip to England, resumed work today in his office at the ministry of war.

On Sunday morning Philippe Berthelot, the director of the foreign office, is expected to leave for London to continue the conversations Premier Clemenceau began there with Earl Curzon, the British foreign secretary, over the problem of Turkey.

SIR JOHN ALCOCK SUCCEUMBS TO INJURIES

Rouen, France, Dec. 19.—Captain Sir John Alcock, the first aviator to make a non-stop airplane flight across the Atlantic, died here this afternoon as a result of injuries he received when his plane crashed yesterday near Cottevrad, Department of Seine-Inférieure, Normandy.

Alcock, who was flying in a water-plane, was following the Seine at the time of the accident, intending to alight on the river opposite the grand palace for an aviation exhibition.

Flying low, owing to a heavy fog, Alcock was unable to sight the earth. He struck the ground near Cottevrad, pinning Alcock under the wreckage. The aviator suffered a fractured skull, and a local doctor gave him first aid. Alcock was then brought to the British military hospital here, where he died without recovering consciousness.

MUST LEAVE MATTER TO THE RED ARMY

Litvinoff Says Kolchak and Denikine Must First Be Dealt With.

Copenhagen, Dec. 19.—M. Litvinoff, who, as representative of the soviet government, conferred here recently with James O'Grady, British delegate, on the problem of exchanging prisoners of war, said today that the breaking off of negotiations was due to the attitude of the British government.

When asked whether he intended to take further steps relative to peace, he replied in the negative. "We must leave the matter to the Red army," he declared. "We understood from Premier Lloyd George that he wished us to deal first with Admiral Kolchak and General Denikine. That is what the Bolshevik army is successfully doing."

Mr. O'Grady, expressing disappointment over the failure of the negotiations, said he had offered Litvinoff concessions that any reasonable man would have accepted, but that Litvinoff had replied that if he returned to Russia with such proposals he would be greeted with laughter and then shot. The British delegate is said to have learned, from independent sources, that the prisoners of war and British civilians in Bolshevik hands were faring as satisfactorily as conditions in Russia would permit.

GERMAN MINISTERS RETURN TO ROME

Rome, Dec. 19.—Herr von Berger and Herr von Ritter respectively, German and Bavarian ministers to the Vatican, returned to Rome from Switzerland today for the first time since the war. When Italy entered the conflict diplomatic representatives of the central powers accredited to the Vatican left Rome for Switzerland, fearing their presence here might cause unpleasant incidents.

The first great state banquet since the war in honor of newly elected cardinals will be given on Sunday by Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state. It will be attended by heads of diplomatic missions to the Vatican and members of the sacred college.

By a strange coincidence Herr von Berger and Herr von Ritter will be the only representatives of belligerent powers present, as neither the British nor Belgian ministers are at present in Rome.

JEWELRY WORN BY EGYPTIAN QUEEN

Finest Ever Brought From Egypt Displayed at New York Museum.

New York, Dec. 18.—Jewelry worn by an Egyptian princess, the twelfth dynasty, 1,500 years before the Christian era, was displayed at the Metropolitan Museum of Art today. It is declared to be the finest collection of personal adornment ever brought out of Egypt.

When marauders entered the tomb of Princess Sathathor-lunet at some old moment in the last 3,800 years, they took away her mummy and even the elaborate funeral trappings, but overlooked a niche containing the wonderfully wrought ornaments she wore when attending the ancient equivalent for a first night at the opera.

Professor W. M. Flinders Petrie, head of an English archaeological society that collected the collection in 1914, and today it looks as bright as if it had just come from the makers. It consists of a gold necklace, inlaid with carnelian, lapis lazuli and green jasper and another pectoral similarly made of King Senusert II, father of the princess; a gold collar of double lion heads, a girle of gold with rhombic jeweled heads, a necklace of amethyst with gold lion claw pendants, armlets and bracelets with gold bars and heads of gold, carnelian and turquoise, and parts of the princess' jewel box, made of ebony, with gold and carved ivory panels.

The jewels are identified as belonging to the princess by her name and the name of her father in cartouches on the larger pieces. According to custom, the Cairo Museum retained the choice of the collection, a diadem. Since its purchase by the museum, the collection has been in a vault in London, stipulation having been made that it should remain there until six months after hostilities closed.

URGENT RESCINDING WAR-TIME ORDERS New Flood of Requests to Ottawa—Cabinet to Decide in Day or Two. Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Perhaps the coming new year will break the record in good resolutions. For some days now requests have been coming to the government that the prohibition orders in council should be rescinded. Numerous correspondents want Christmas in the "good old way." As intimated a few days ago it is improbable that wartime restrictions will be removed so early. But there are indications (albeit no decision has yet been reached) that the restrictions may pass with the passing year. The question comes before the cabinet council for decision within the next day or two. The point is whether wartime orders in council, including the prohibition order in council, should be rescinded or whether they should be permitted to lapse with the proclamation of peace. Were the orders generally rescinded exception would probably be made in the case of orders dealing with the disposal of alien enemy property.

FIREBELL CAUSED DISCOVERY OF WHISKEY. Moores, N.Y., Dec. 19.—The arrest of John F. Bombard of Fort Edward on a charge of illegally bringing whiskey into the United States from Canada was the indirect result of a fire here yesterday. Bombard, it is charged, was driving an automobile load of smuggled whiskey from Canada thru Moores, when the fire alarm bell was sounded to summon volunteers to fight a fire. Unaware of the blaze, Bombard thought the character of his contraband cargo had been discovered, and that the alarm was to apprehend him. He then quickly put on high speed, but the car swerved and was ditched, spilling the whiskey along the road. His arrest by revenue officers followed.

QUEBEC DOMINION POLICE CHIEF Faces Second Serious Charge. Whitehead, chief of the Dominion Police here, was again arrested today, this time on a charge of circulating forged documents. He was allowed out on bail, providing security in the sum of $2,000.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN HEARS CANDIDATES

FOR ABATTOIR

Would-Be Mayor Inclines to Co-operation With United Farmers.

Candidates for office at the coming municipal election were speakers at a meeting convened at the King Edward yesterday afternoon by the municipal committee of the Local Council of Women.

At the conclusion of the business meeting of the committee the speakers representing the various interested parties were given an interested hearing.

Mr. Ballantyne said he would speak on three things in particular—the street railway, the abattoir and assessment reform.

The plan suggested by Mr. Ballantyne was that the commission should consist of three persons, one representing the street railway, one representing the abattoir and one representing the assessment reform.

The speaker also supported the retention of the city abattoir on a self-supporting basis by co-operating with the United Farmers of Ontario.

Mr. James Simpson who said that he had served in a number of civic capacities and now was a candidate for the board of control, thought that men should be imbued with the idea that human beings were the highest objects they can serve.

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tilsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during pregnancy. I felt poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, strength and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and I consider Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9 1/2 pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weakness of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce.

REPORT ON MILITIA AT AN EARLY DATE

Federal Committee of Soldiers Will Submit Suggestions.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—The committee, which was appointed to report on the scheme of reorganization for the Canadian active militia, has practically completed its labors and will shortly be in a position to submit suggestions on the matter.

No Indications of Plan. There is no indication at the present time as to what suggestions will be embodied in the report of the committee.

The present strength of the active militia is at present not available, but is estimated to be about 60,000, but this may be greatly increased if a large number of men who served in France should remain in the militia.

PERSHING IN RACE FOR PRESIDENCY FOR PRESIDENCY

His Candidacy Formally Started by Former Currency Comptroller Dawes.

BY CLINTON W. GILBERT. (Copyright, 1919, by Public Ledger Co.) Washington, Dec. 19.—Gen. Pershing is in the race for the Republican nomination for president. He is in the hands of his friends, a Gen. Wood is, and his friends are pushing him.

Gen. Dawes is a banker in Chicago. He was controller of the currency under McKinley and Taft. He has been in politics ever since. Gen. Dawes was chief of the purchase and supply division of the A. E. F., with headquarters at Paris. He was one of the right-hand men of Gen. Pershing abroad. He is now demobilized and has returned to banking in Chicago.

The Pershing movement will mean an invasion of Wood territory, for the politicians have been conceding Nebraska to Col. Roosevelt's political legation. The managers of the Pershing movement is Gen. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago.

Apparently the plan of Gen. Pershing's political advisers was to keep the general as a dark horse and wait for the convention to turn to him spontaneously. Frank H. Hitchcock sought to advise Gen. Pershing to move early. He visited France shortly after the armistice, but was brushed aside by Gen. Dawes, or by Martin Egan, of J. P. Morgan & Co., a very shrewd man, who also sat at Gen. Pershing's right hand in France.

The Pershing movement could not afford to have Mr. Hitchcock clinging to it, at least last winter. That adhesion would bring Pershing out too soon and subject him to early frost.

Mr. Hitchcock swung to Wood or toward, for no one knows whether John T. King has permitted him to fasten there or not. Anyway the presence of Mr. Hitchcock was perceived and at once the Wood movement achieves publicity. It has gone ahead so fast as to alter the plans of many men who liked the idea of being in the army.

Pershing as a Bleek to Wood Boom. When the Republican nomination committee met here recently it was recognized that Wood must be stopped. Apparently General Dawes saw that. Hence the psychological moment has arrived for the Pershing candidacy. Its appearance insures that every one in the recent Republican gathering hoped for, the development of a national figure to challenge him in the preliminary running and bring about a nomination on the floor of the convention.

A rivalry between Wood and Pershing is piquant. Pershing has always stood in Wood's way and got the thing that Wood wanted. Pershing always posed Wood out—from the command of the Mexican expedition and later from the biggest opportunity that ever came to an American general since Grant, from the command of the American Expeditionary Force to France. Even General Wood's ambition to go to France in command of a division is supposed to have been defeated by Pershing, who, according to Secretary Baker, refused to have General Wood under him.

If Pershing should now nose Wood out of the presidency it would be the final act of the drama. General Pershing enjoys a freedom to appear before the country, and incidentally acquire support that General Wood does not. Pershing is a general in the army, and he does not appear as he likes, much to the distress of General March, the chief of staff.

General Pershing is now touring the country inspecting the Expeditionary Force on his own account, and subject to no orders, except from the president. He is now in Chicago. In a day or so he will be in Detroit. In a day or so he will be in Chicago. In a day or so he will be in Detroit.

A CRUEL JOKE

A cruel attempt at a joke was made by a man at Atlanta, Georgia, who telephoned to a hall at which vice-president of the United States was speaking that President Wilson was dead. After Mr. Marshall had announced the message to the audience women began to weep, and at the request of Governor Dorney, who was present, a minister offered a prayer.

BLOOD-GIVERS' UNION

A Brooklyn doctor says that there is a professional blood-river's union; an organization of men who are read to risk their lives for others. Each member having been tested thoroughly, given a certificate and when transfusion of blood is needed in a hospital case these men are called upon. The number of blood-givers is estimated to be about 100,000 in New York City.

Chinese laborers are being sent out of France by the Leyland Line. Some 65,000 are to remain.

Dress Suits, made up in a fine-finished black cheviot; authentic in every detail of style and workmanship, silk-lined throughout. Sizes 35 to 44
