We have secured this new mounting, and our stores are the only ones in St. John where it is obtainable. Think of the advantage of having absolutely rigid and perfectly aligned lenses, set into the mount by a special mechanical process, AND PERMANENTLY CEMENTED. Fastened securely in the KeeLock way, those wobbly lenses are impossible, and the danger of breakage from this cause is positively eliminated. Strength, style and security are the important features of the new KeeLock Mounting, and we are the ONLY OPTICIANS IN ST. JOHN OFFERING THIS GREAT EYEGLASS IMPROVEMENT. While more expensive than other mountings, THERE WILL BE NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR THE KeeLock if ordered early. WE NOW HAVE OUR OWN Complete Lense-Grinding Plant and your glasses will be made entirely UNDER PERSONAL SUPERVISION! 111 Charlotte Street D. BOYANER 38 Dock Street

THE WAR NEWS

Not since the early days of the war when the gallant Belgians were fighting desperately to withstand the advancing Germans, and later when the British dis-

the women of Serbia are fighting for their native land.

In Toronto on Monday last 200 recruits were secured and a considerable number of others offered but failed to pass.

This was had to come. It is, let us hope, the last great stand of backwash against an advancing civilization, which will presently roll over the graves of those who are the champions of wholesale murder for the sake of world-dominion.

"Don't be a neutral," said Mr. B. R. Macaulay at a recruiting meeting last night. "We are sick of neutral nations. The point is well taken. And yet are there not neutrals among us? Those, for example, who should but do not respond to the call for men?"

Months of training are required before soldiers are ready for service at the front. Delay in enlistment means prolongation of the war, but it does not mean that the men will not be needed. Is the service to be voluntary, or otherwise? Men must serve.

It would seem that Lord Kitchener now has one of the greatest of many great opportunities in his brilliant career. He has not gone east on a holiday, as is commonly supposed. There is a great task to perform, the nature of which has not been divulged, but there are many who will pin their faith on Kitchener, despite the criticisms to which he has been of late subjected.

THREE BATTALIONS

In addition to the 10th Battalion New Brunswick is to provide three more. Col. Fowler will recruit the 14th, and has within a few hundreds of the required number now at Sussex, for the 104th is greatly over strength. There will be no difficulty in getting enough to bring the 10th up to full strength.

Then there is the 12nd, under Lt. Col. Mercereau, who will recruit that battalion in the north shore counties. As Capt. Tilley and Sergt. Knight are going there next week, new life will be put into the campaign for recruits.

We in St. John are particularly interested in the 11th and 16th if, as is announced, they are to be mobilized in this city.

The field is now clear for a general recruiting campaign throughout the province, and the news from the seat of war is surely such as would prompt more and more men to rally to the colors. There is a hard struggle ahead, and Canada, which has thus far done so well, must rally to the new call with unabated enthusiasm. The proportion of men enlisted in New Brunswick is still behind that of the western provinces, and there are still many young men in civilian clothes who are fit and free. The chief business of our people now is to fill the ranks of the new units.

BLONDIN AND LAVERGNE

Hon. P. E. Blondin has seen a great fight. Only a few years ago, in a political speech, he told his French-Canadian compatriots that he shared the same fate as the British flag in order to breathe the air of freedom. Mr. Blondin now calls upon his friends to fight for the flag, and thus brings himself into sharp contrast with his friend, Mr. Lavergne. Mr. Blondin, having decided to make the plunge, is very thorough about it. In an address to his constituents last week he said:

"The object of this gathering is to proclaim that one and all, without consideration of race or party, we share the mourning and the hopes of the allies, that we stand by their side fighting the battles of the trenches by the blood of our sons and brothers, defending the cause by word, pen or prayer, supporting their work by contributions of all sorts in money, in supplies and clothing, and prepared to do this until success has crowned with complete and decisive victory the arms of the allies in whose ranks it is our glorious privilege to point out with pride Canadian armies and French-Canadian battalions. To those who inquire as to why we are in this war, I give only one answer. Because we go into it of our own free will. And this gives us in a sentence an expression of our full consciousness of the freedom guaranteed by British institutions. We participate in this war because we do so of our own free will, because our hearts feel that our best national interests are at stake in it."

All this is gall and wormwood to Mr. Lavergne, whose statement that he himself with Mr. Bourassa, might have been members of the Borden cabinet has not been challenged by the leader of the government. However, Mr. Blondin's statement of his present attitude, if somewhat belated, is welcome. Let us hope his duties as Secretary of State are not so heavy as to prevent him from making a series of recruiting speeches all over the province of Quebec. There is a fine opportunity to aid in raising the new battalions.

DIVORCE GRANTED

At the superior court held at Boston July 1915, a decree of divorce was granted to Minnie Dykeman from Gilbert Dykeman, which became absolute July 1915. They were married at Boston, October, 1886.

Canada and Great Britain are already making plans for the expected migration of English families after the war. The fertile lands, now idle in Canada and other British colonies, promise to be a solution of this problem.

LIGHTER VEIN

A farmer, who was blessed with a son with an engaging frankness of speech, sent him to the local miller's one day. The lad got hold of the miller and submitted for his inspection a handful of wheat.

"How much more has your father got of this?" "The miller studied the wheat attentively, and then said to the boy: "I don't know more like it," the boy answered. "He's been all morning pickin' that out."

The caterpillar was being eagerly interviewed by reporters, and was asked among other things to what he attributed his long life and good health. "Well," the old man replied slowly, "I'm not in a position to say right now. You see, I've been bargaining with two or three of them patent medicine concerns for a couple of weeks, but I ain't quite decided yet."

A man in Ohio recently sought an expert in oil, because he believed that he had struck oil on his land. He brought a sample in a bottle. Evidently he had been in a great hurry, and had hastily grabbed the first bottle at hand, for when the chemist had analyzed the sample submitted he sent the following telegraphic report: "Find no trace of oil. You have struck paragon."

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, formerly chief of the Bureau of Chemistry in the United States Department of Agriculture and author of "1001 Tests of Foods, Beverages and Toilet Accessories," has interpreted many laws affecting pure food and drugs, and has had some of his opinions reversed by the department of justice, the president.

He was discussing this one day, when he said: "The matter of interpreting laws is much like the story of the little boy who was told by his teacher to read something from a primer. The boy read as follows: "This is a warm doughnut. Step on it." "Why, Johnny," said the teacher, "that can't be right. Let me see your doughnut." "This is what she found: "This is a worm. Do not step on it."

"Bedad," replied the author, "that's no wonder at all, for the bridge is broken."

Inspect the Camps The work of inspecting the Siberian war prison camps has devolved upon Americans, designated by the State Department at Washington, who are to report on the welfare of the Germans and Austrians. Many of the Siberian camps are so far removed from Petrograd that their inspection has been accomplished more easily by American representatives going into Russia through the Vladivostok gateway. Consul-General Colwell, at Vladivostok, has been entrusted with the disbursement of funds for the relief of war prisoners, interned prisoners and refugees. As a result the burden upon the American consulate has been very heavy.

William Warfield, special representative of the State Department, is at present on a tour of prison camps, and within the last six months R. M. Yzer, Charles Ogilvie and Dr. Charles Lewis, all of the Peiyang University, Tien-Tsin, China, have made tours through Siberia. The fact is, however, that the State Department, looking after the welfare of prisoners, A few refugees claiming American citizenship have drifted all the way from Poland and Galicia to Vladivostok but travel is so much interrupted by munition trains and the trans-Siberian service is so limited that it is extremely difficult for refugees to get through. All travelers coming from Russia on the weekly express train tell of the hundreds of thousands of refugees, who are moving toward Siberia or are already located in camps which the Russian government has established. Tourists from Russia report large numbers of Poles living in temporary quarters in Siberian towns preparatory to being sent by the government to farms.

25,000,000 Refugees Dr. Paul H. Zinkham of the American Red Cross and other travelers from Southern Russia say the Russian newspapers estimate that 25,000,000 persons in all have left their homes in Galicia, Poland and Russia proper. Many of these persons lived great distances from the fighting lines. Kiev, which is probably 150 miles from the front, has been almost completely evacuated. The horrors of war have been so vividly presented to districts near the front by fleeing refugees that panic has seized the public in many cities and transportation facilities are quite inadequate to get further away from the front.

Wounded Russian officers and soldiers who have returned to their homes here to recuperate tell of the many difficulties they encountered in getting out of the war zone. Excited refugees anxious to get into places of greater security, were attacking trains and breaking all windows in their efforts to get aboard. The excitement was increased by the high cost of food stuffs and the falling price of paper rubles. In several towns in Southern Russia, money changers availed themselves of the discrepancy between the value of silver and paper money. For a time during September paper money brought only half its value in silver money at Warsaw and in other big centres. Money changers collected silver and shipped it to the centres where one ounce in silver would buy two paper rubles. The result was a complete silver famine in some sections, which interfered with trade making it impossible for people to get any change. For several days in Kiev the street car conductors could not change bills and were forced to put passengers off who did not have small silver. Similar discomforts in other cities enraged the public so thoroughly that a movement against money changers was feared. In Kiev several wealthy citizens relieved the silver famine by using their own funds to ship silver to other centres. The exchange rate on rubles here is very high. In ordinary times an American dollar will buy two rubles. Now it will buy three in ordinary exchange transactions. This cheapness of Russian money is held by many merchants to make it imperative for them to increase their prices. On the other hand the public insists that merchants are taking advantage of the war situation to make unwarranted increases.

MISS SAUNDERS ON WOMEN'S FUTURE

National Secretary of Y. W. C. A. Addresses Women's Canadian Club on Problems Arising During and After the War

The opening meeting of the season of the Women's Canadian Club, which was held yesterday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus hall, was addressed by Miss Una Saunders, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A. The meeting also took the form of a reception to the wives of the officers of the 2nd Battalion. Several new members were elected. Miss Saunders, who is a strikingly clear speaker, was especially interesting in her references to the part that women would have to take in the war and after. She thought that the great work of the eight international unions of women would be rehabilitated after the war. Her links would be stronger than those of the men.

ALL WORKING PAY MAY BE CUT OFF

Tradesmen in Uniform to Get Only Regular Pay After First of Year - No Extras For Specialists

(Toronto Mail and Empire) Tradesmen of all sorts, including mechanics, cooks, bakers, butchers, and such like, now enlisted with overseas units or to be enlisted hereafter, will do so from the beginning of the year on the same basis as all other men who offer their services for overseas service, and will no longer receive the extra pay heretofore given them because of their special work. If a recommendation from the minister of militia to the privy council is approved, the recommendation is based on the fact that tradesmen have usually less dangerous and less difficult work than the men in the trenches, and on the general ground that no difficulty is anticipated in enlisting men for the various trades under the proposed arrangement. The matter has been submitted by the committee of the privy council to the various divisional officers for their consideration, having been concerned in the committee. The order-in-council is in substance as follows: "The committee of the privy council have had before them a report from the minister of militia and reference with reference to the order-in-council of September 8, 1914, fixing rates of pay for the Canadian Expeditionary Force, pointing out that at that time the rates of pay were being considered for cooks, tailors, bakers, butchers, motor car drivers, mechanics, smiths, farriers, wheelwrights and such like. It was thought necessary to give in addition to the regular pay of a soldier working pay varying from 50 cents to $1 per day in order to induce the men of these trades to enlist and accordingly the extra pay was approved.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe To Restore Color, Gloss and Thickness

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value their even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyle's Sage and Sulphur Compound" which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyle's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

SECRET SKIN DISEASES

A famous physician states that cures of patients come to him suffering from skin diseases of most terrible form, which would have never passed the early stages had some suitable ointment been applied. Zam-Buk, which is a most powerful disinfectant and germicide, applied to skin diseases at their first outbreak, would save hours of pain and prevent disfigurement and scarring.

Every city contains hundreds of people who have some secret skin disease—some eruptions, some blenches, some open sores, ulcers, or varicose patches. There is naturally a disinclination to reveal such blenches, and often they are neglected entirely, or some inferior and cheap ointment containing mineral coloring matter is applied, which but aggravates the sore places, and makes matters worse. From day to day, week to week, this continues, the sufferer in the meantime enduring great pain. Now all this can be avoided by timely use of Zam-Buk. Why otherwise? Zam-Buk is a most powerful disinfectant and germicide, applied to skin diseases at their first outbreak, would save hours of pain and prevent disfigurement and scarring. OFFICER SENT TO FORTRESS FOR USING ORDNERLY'S AUTO

Paris, Nov. 18—General Gallieni, the French Minister of War, has given another example of his decision not to tolerate abuse or favoritism in the army by ordering an officer of the territorial reserve to sixty days in a fortress for making use of an automobile owned by a man whom he had selected for an order.

At the expiration of the sentence the name of the officer will be stricken from the army list, while the order will be sent to the front as soon as possible.

General Gallieni furthermore sent a circular to the generals in various regions of France condemning as criminal abuses of all kinds at a time when he points out the fate of the country is at stake, and stating that he wished to stigmatize such acts by the foregoing example.

REGENT DEATHS

Blanche Gordon, the thirteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Gordon, of Maple Glen, died on Nov. 15, after a lengthy illness. She is survived by her parents and three brothers. Her funeral took place last Sunday.

not strong enough to stand, so they left me alone a bit and then they held the check to ask me how I was going on. I dare not say I was bad, but I was nearly dead. I stopped there a week when I was sent to the Prisoners' Camp. They set me off marching, I went about twenty yards when I fell, I could not stand, never mind walking, a German sentry picked me up and put me into a cart. We arrived at the Prisoners' Camp nearly starved to death and hungry. I got nothing to eat that night, two filthy blankets to cover us with. I may say when I left Munster Hospital they gave me a pair of trousers that were stiff with blood and thick with vermin, and they rubbed my wound till it was sore.

and I was in a bad state with blood that I had lost. I had to come back again all through the Germans. I was heartbroken, they ill-used me again, knocked me down and left me at the mercy of the hospital. I looked at me, I may say they walked me up and down that day till I dropped, could not walk any further. I stopped at that hospital three days, and then they took me away to another, in which I went under my first operation. German doctors, and I knew about it too, they nearly killed me, I could feel it, they were so cruel when they had finished I told them they had nearly done me in and they did nothing but laugh and sit at me, put me on the stretcher and took me to bed, and left me till three days. I may say there was no food in that hospital, but I could not eat. They came to fetch me for dressing after the three days, I thought for myself some more pain and I got some too. The doctors told me I was doing well, so I finished my pain there. I next went to Courtaul. I had been there long before I was fetched out for another operation, Belgian doctors this time. They asked me when I had come from and I told them all. They told me the German lay being letting my wounds get the wrong way and they had not washed them for me. I was not at all surprised at that. I told them I was pleased to get away from them. They operated on me there and right good they did it. I should soon be right. I stopped there about five days when they came and at Munster in about four days after being shot in his hands. We got to my bed again. Morning comes a bit more pain that I did not expect. I may say I could not walk, and they only looked at my wounds once all the time I was in the train.

So I was the first to be fetched out for dressing next morning. Two Frenchmen carried me up on the stretcher, this is a bit more of the German kindness for you. I was put down on the floor, in a bit a big German bully of a doctor comes to me and he says, "You can walk and then he says, "You can walk." I said that I could not, he pulled me up on the stretcher, and some more pain and he let me go, at which I fell on the floor. There was two German men in his hands, and some more fellows and because I could not walk he smacked my wound with his hand till I bled and he would not let them pick me up, and I was in a bad state and only a little bit of sleep.

I was nearly starved to death, he went out and left me, and while he was out a fellow picked me up and carried me to bed. I may say all that was the room felt sorry for me, but he would not let me do anything for. Dr. Cassell's Tablets. The Modern Scourge and How to Meet it. The speed at which we live, the hustle now so necessary for success have unfortunately a very adverse effect on the nervous and digestive systems of Canadians. The baneful results, increased lately to an alarming degree, often lay the seeds of more deadly trouble, but it will be satisfactory to learn of the ever-increasing popularity in the Dominion, of the Great British Remedy, Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Dr. Ramsay Colles, J.P. of the City of Dublin, a man of high eminence in the scientific world, says: "I have great pleasure in expressing my satisfaction as to the curative effect of Dr. Cassell's Tablets in cases of nerve troubles. From several cases which have lately come under my notice I am able to form the opinion that Dr. Cassell's Tablets constitute a safe and reliable family remedy, and appear to be especially effective for nerve and bodily weakness."

EMPERESS, THE WEST END PICTURE HOUSE WITH POPULAR FEATURES. "The Prison State," a Kalem two-part feature drama, is making quite a hit with the West Side picture patrons. The story tells of two discharged prisoners, Jean Darrell and Dick Kelsey, who vow to start life anew and bid each other good-bye. Later Jean marries Gregg, a lawyer, who does not know her past. Kelsey succeeds and becomes the manager of a lumber company. Gregg and Kelsey meet, and the latter is invited to spend the week-end at the Gregg's home. Kelsey is astounded to discover that his hostess is Jean, ignorant of the fact that Kelsey and Jean are ex-convicts. Gregg expresses himself on the subject of the prison stain. Later Buntz, the butler, robs Gregg's safe. What follows is shown in an extraordinary doucement.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT. Take a Glass of Sals to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You. Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form. It causes the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, drop up and cause all sorts of troubles, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, and general nervous irritation. The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Sals from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each time you get up, and in a few days your kidneys will then act fine. This is a famous salt made from the acid of lemons, and has been used for generations to flush dogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder discomfort. Jad Sals cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT. Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many get the plump, chunky folk eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all both to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all. Thin folk say this because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and the semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "fat" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power. For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but it is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere, and a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

The following simple recipe which can be used at home, or put up by any druggist will quickly remove dandruff and stop the hair from falling out. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of bicarbonate of soda, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other day until the dandruff is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the hair of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. Hot Curling Iron Goss—No More Broken Hair! (Beauty's Mirror) Every woman knows that continual use of the hot curling iron means brittle, bleached, parted, and falling hair. There's no need of any other instrument of torture, unless you know what can be accomplished by the occasional application of ordinary liquid sargol. This is not only more effective, but it is so gentle and so pleasant to use that it can be used every day. Any druggist can supply sargol in liquid form and a few ounces will last many weeks, so it is quite economical to use. The approved way is to part the hair in several strands and with a clean tooth brush apply the liquid to the full length of each strand. The surprising transformation that is achieved, surprising to one who has never tried this simple and harmless method.

Simple Home Treatment to Remove Hairy Growth. (Beauty Culture) Two or three minutes' use of a delicate paste will banish every bit of hair from your face, neck or arms. This paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone and it will be clear and spotless. You will not be disappointed with this treatment if you are sure to obtain real delatone from your druggist. USE THE WANT AD WAY

115th, 132nd and 140th All Authorized

TO RECRUIT IMMEDIATELY

140th to be Affiliated With 104th - Province Divided Into Three Recruiting Districts - Two Regiments Here

Official authority has been given for three new infantry battalions in New Brunswick, the 115th, under command of Lieut. Col. F. V. Wedderburn, the 132nd under command of Lieut. Col. Geo. Messersmith, and the 140th under command of Lieut. Col. G. W. Fowler, to be affiliated with the 104th. Recruiting for all three units will be begun at once, and the province will be divided into districts for the purpose. The 104th will be recruited from Kings, Queens and Albert counties, the 115th from St. John and the river districts and Charlotte county. The 132nd battalion will be a North Shore unit.

Major W. H. Byles, of the 99th Battalion, will probably be brought home to aid Col. Messersmith, as second in command of his battalion, which will winter in detachments in Chatham, Newcastle, Campbellton, and other North Shore towns.

Major Winter Here.

The 115th and the 140th may winter in St. John. It is understood that Lieut. C. F. Sanford is to be quartermaster with the 115th, and Lieut. F. W. Fraser of the National Drug Co., paymaster. F. G. Barr, of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Jacques River, N. B., will be paymaster of the 132nd; Capt. L. D. Jones of Dalhousie, junior major, and Sgt. Major Duncan of Chatham, quartermaster, and Lieuts. Barry and McKay, of Campbellton, captains.

In a letter to his home here, dated Oct. 28, Corp. Clarence E. Smith, 28th Battalion, tells of that unit having returned to action in the trenches, to remain there until Sunday next.

Pte. Fred A. Rushton, 28th Battalion, writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rushton here, says he will always be lame from wounds received, but would like to be able to get back to the front.

His associates among the members of the staff of letter carriers, and the clerks of the local post office, yesterday honored Edward G. Britton, who has been a popular and efficient mailman for the last four years, by giving him the khaki. He was the recipient of a purse of gold presented with best wishes for his success with this color, and accompanied by a highly flattering address. Mr. Britton has enlisted with the band of the 104th.

Casualties. Capt. A. G. Turner, Ottawa, 8th brigade, has been slightly wounded in action. I. P. Coleman, 31st Battalion, Halifax, is suffering from shock, and Wm. Kennedy, Cape Breton, 40th Battalion, is dead in England, after illness. C. G. M. S. Charles W. Bennett, Halifax, N. S., is slightly wounded with the 28th Battalion.

Pte. James King, one of Fredericton's soldiers, returned from the front where he was three times wounded, with the 18th Battalion, is to be married soon to Miss Catherine McGrath, formerly of Chatham. He was with the C. P. R. at McAdam before enlisting.

ROOSEVELT MAKES HIT WITH FRANCE

His War Article May Alter Whole Country's Attitude

Paris, Nov. 18.—Colonel Roosevelt, in a statement of his views on America's responsibilities in relation to the war, published in the Paris Journal, has made a greater sensation and created a more friendly feeling than President Wilson, with all his speeches and notes. So far as can be judged from first impressions, it bids fair to alter the whole attitude of the French people toward America. It is not exaggeration to say that the average Frenchman had come to consider America as a nation of tradespeople, disregarding duty, honor, or anything that interfered with their profits or comforts.

The French condemn President Wilson's legally impartial notes, his attempt to reason on judicial and moral grounds with what they regard as a government of murderers who, by their own oft-repeated admissions, have abandoned justice and morality for the doctrine of expediency and brute force. Rightly or wrongly, France is convinced that the president has been influenced by a desire to conciliate the German-American vote and by the greedy self-interest of the beef-packers and cotton-growers. The latest American note to Great Britain is considered a sophistical attempt to pander to such interests. Irrespective of the embarrassment it may cause the Allies.

Like Colonel Roosevelt, the French feel that the Germans have forfeited the right to the same treatment as that accorded the Allies—a right which Wilson persists in giving them. Thinking that he ought to have acted sooner and more vigorously, they blame America for what they consider the president's pusillanimity. Americans who have visited the French provinces say that the feeling against them is so strong that they have been compelled to return to Paris. The remark of a young officer in a street car illustrates the effect of Col. Roosevelt's phrases:

"What a pity a man like that is no longer your president instead of Wilson. If Roosevelt were president America would have world position worthy of her greatness, instead of being less important than Greece or Sweden."

CHAUFFEUR IS EXONERATED

In an all-night session the coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Lemuel A. Cosman, who died in the hospital following injuries received in German street Monday evening, heard the evidence, listened to an impressive charge from Dr. W. F. Roberts, the coroner, and was out the rest of the night endeavoring to reach a verdict. The point turned as to whether Fred G. MacLeod, driver of the car, which struck the late Mr. Cosman, was culpably negligent in allowing the car to strike the deceased and on this point the evidence was not clear.

The jury retired at 12:45 o'clock and did not return until 3:25. In their verdict they credited Fred MacLeod, the chauffeur, with all possible care in handling the car, exonerating him from all blame so that he goes free of the charge of manslaughter hanging over him since his detention by the police. The verdict stated that the man came to his death as a result of coming in contact with the pavement, caused by coming in contact with a moving automobile.

After carefully considering all the evidence the jury finds that Fred MacLeod complied with all the traffic regulations and that he did all in his power in the managing of the car that the car was in good condition and responded to the brakes.

Evidence was given by Dr. Thomas the post-mortem examination, and Fred Walker who first attended the victim of the accident, the chauffeur. Coroner Roberts in his charge stated that this case is an extremely important one, in that it is the first time in which a fatality has occurred in an automobile accident in our city. It is impossible for us to bring back to life L. A. Cosman, but it is possible for the authorities so as to make practically impossible a recurrence of this kind of fatality. In regard to people ignorant of the laws in regard to automobiles, Coroner Roberts said that it was here the operator of the car should exercise greater caution. He hoped that it would be so brought to pass by legislation that practically no danger would exist from vehicular traffic. The originator of "Safety First" should be given a place in the Hall of Fame. The last words of the mothers of youngsters to the little ones is "Take care of the car" as the children go to school. In this case, the man has paid the highest price if he has been negligent in taking care of himself. On the other hand, gentlemen of the jury, it is your duty to inquire whether the chauffeur has exercised due diligence in the operation of his car.

When You Bite Into These Buns— There is nothing but a porous, yielding interior and the daintiest texture you ever tasted. The sensation is a delicately moist freshness wrapped about with a sweet crispness. And for days after baking, they are still alluring through their lasting freshness. They are really not expensive made from a FIVE ROSES dough, less than a pound of dough making fully 10 to 12 buns, and such swelling, able-bodied buns they are. Next time you bake, save a little of the dough and give your folks a real bun treat by using FIVE ROSES FLOUR for Breads-Cakes-Puddings-Pastries. Not merely to buns and rolls, but to all your baking—from plain bread to the most delicate bread morsels—FIVE ROSES brings the vitality so plentifully hoarded by Nature in the ripe Manitoba wheat. And we grind it exclusively from the plump, richly flavoured kernels; the fat, well-ked wheat berries so powerfully rich in food value. FIVE ROSES users are assured the cream of the western wheat crop. You, who govern the meals of the household, insist that your foods contain the maximum of flavour, nutrition, digestibility. You get these three great essentials, plus economy, when you specify FIVE ROSES flour. TESTED RECIPES. Also many pages on rolls, biscuits and delicate bread morsels. Fuller Knocked Out Anderson.
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17.—Fred Fulton, the Minnesota heavyweight boxer, knocked out Andre Anderson, Chicago, in the fourth round of a ten-round non-decision contest tonight, by three left blows to the solar plexus. Anderson was floored three times in the last round.
New "Eggs" 4 Feet, 5 Inches Tall.
Chicago, Nov. 16.—Fred Fulton, Rochester, Minn., giant, is making his first visit to Chicago to do a little training here. He is 4 feet 5 inches tall, but on his huge frame carries only 212 pounds, and says he could stand several more pounds without it interfering with his speed. Fulton certainly has the physique to make a great heavyweight. He carries a small head, in this respect being built somewhat along the lines of Bob Fitzsimmons. He says he can box as well as fight, and, according to Fred Gilmore, who has been working with him, he is a good left handed jabber. His real punching, judging from the way he works is done with his right hand.
While Fulton was busy at Gilmore's Gymnasium his rival, Anderson, was tearing loose at top speed at Forber Gymnasium.
Tom Jones, manager of Champion Jess Willard, reached town last night for a short rest. Jones reported that Willard is resting at his home in Los Angeles and that the rest was necessary after his strenuous touring with a Will West show.
Jones said he would stay here only a few days, but changed his mind when he learned that two future opponents for his champion, Fulton and Anderson, were going to battle in Milwaukee.
Notes of the Boxers
Amateur boxers will be allowed to wear tape on their hands in bouts hereafter, as the A. A. U. has passed a rule allowing them to do so.
Jack Britton had his right hand operated under the other day.
Dan Morgan has signed K. O. Brown to meet Harry Williams in New Haven on Nov. 26.
Buck Cronin and George Chip, rival Pittsburgh middleweights will clash again in this city next week.
Bob Fitzsimmons did not make much of a hit with a New York judge the other day by telling how there is still some force in his famous solar plexus blow. He was before the court on a charge of hitting a fellow, who had dared him to wallop him while carrying a disputation notice on Bob at the latter's farm.
Fitzsimmons said the fellow cut his lip with the smash he gave him, but Bob assured the judge that his return punch put the man out. The judge put Bob on probation for a year and ordered him to pay 50 cents a week until he had paid $10 to the complainant.
Joe Asvedo is beginning to loom up as the lightweight likely to get the first chance at Champion Welsh.

NON-TREATING LAW
HITS LONDON 'PUBS'
Average Individual Drinks Are Fewer Than Formerly
RULE STRICTLY ENFORCED
Even a Husband is Forbidden to Treat His Wife—Few Excesses of Regulation
London, Oct. 29.—(Correspondence)—After a little more than two weeks' trial it may be set down that the non-treating order in London has wrought a marked change in drinking in public places generally. This means simply that the order is being stringently observed.
When the authorities talked of putting the ban on the ancient custom of treating, London was inclined to smile and did not seem as if anything really serious was meant, that is, that any such arbitrary law would actually be put into operation.
But the very day the law became operative all London seemed to be in a ferment. And London, speaking along without any thought of being in a rage, had a few days ago a "pub" proprietor and two customers were taken before a magistrate by a non-treating detective, who had overheard one man ask another to drink with him. The friend accepted the "treat" which the proprietor served all three were fined $10 each by the magistrate, who warned them that the anti-treating law was not a joke and that in future they'd better respect it.
Yesterday a public house proprietor was fined $25, his manager $10, and two soldiers who participated in treating $5 each, and again a stiff homily on keeping the law was read from the bench by a magistrate, who observed that "London isn't fooling about the non-treating law."
Any one who doesn't think the authorities are in earnest about it has only to try breaking the law and the police and magistrates, if they hear of it, will apply the punishment swiftly.
Strangers coming to London laugh over the new order as they try to coax a barmaid to serve a "treat," but the barmaids have heard one million or so jokes about non-treating, and they wearily smile while insisting:
"The alert barmaids insist that each customer order his own drink, and the barmaid will put down his own money before him. The non-treating order says that customers must pay for their drinks from one to another so as to circumvent the spirit of the law, and the barmaids are accountable for the observance of it. Sometimes frolicsome customers push their own money before another and point to him, remarking with a wink:
" 'It's his treat.' "
But it only wastes the drink, until satisfied each individual is paying for his own.
No Discrimination
No discrimination prevails in enforcement of the rule as between the clubs, the hotel bars, and the plebeian "pubs." Along the Strand, at the Savoy, as well as all the other big London hotels—and the little ones, too—the order is inflexible. While quips and jests were quite the thing at first over nearly every round of drinks, and the anti-treating order was the butt of every one's wit, the rage of that has worn off, so that now friends going to the bar together order their drinks, each for himself, lay the money down, and start off conversation without essaying to take a merry little fling at the law.
With slightly more than two weeks of test, it may be said that, while the bars are by no means desolate, the abolition of treating has served to reduce the average of drinks for the individual. That is a solemn fact, attested to by hotel and public house proprietors.
"The receipts in my place have dropped off twenty per cent. since the non-treating law went into operation," said the proprietor of a pretentious and prosperous public house in the Strand.
" 'It's a fact. Men come in with friends, all order their drinks, perhaps they have a second round, and then it's over. They drink less.
" 'When, say, four men used to come in together, they'd all buy a round of drinks. There's no doubt that the non-treating law has reduced the individual consumption of liquor. The chap who pops in just to take a drink and who used to find one or two friends at the bar whom he'd ask to drink with him, then to have, maybe, another round and all another, until all around had treated, is today saved that experience.

A man may gauge his drinking now exactly as he wants to and be carted home and blame his friends—or the public house owner—if he takes a drop too much. In that way, at least, the non-treating order is going to be a good thing all round. But—this with a sigh—cutting down the public house profit and, with high war taxes, that hurts the owner.
If a man wishes to treat his friend to a drink he must order a meal for him. And it must be a substantial meal, not the Raines law sandwich that masquerades in New York as a meal. The authorities have laid it down plainly that a sandwich is not a meal.
A man is not allowed to treat his wife to a drink without violating the law. She must order her own drink and pay for it, whether at hotel, club, or per chance, public house, unless a meal goes with it. The fact that the money may flow from the husband's pocket in any event, makes no difference whatever in the eyes of the law.
London takes the new order just as unimpressively as it gets along with darkened street at night. After all, it's just a matter of getting accustomed to it.
BERLIN WANTS FREEDOM OF PRESS
Tagelblatt Pleads With Censor to Permit Criticism and Discussion in Britain and France
Berlin, Nov. 18.—In a remarkable article in the Tagelblatt, Theodore Wolff, the chief editor, pleads for freedom of the press, as far as the criticism and discussion of many subjects, taboos by the censor, are concerned.
After pointing out the fact that while the French press does not print any casual lists or the official reports of the enemy, it enjoys under the censorship, almost complete liberty of criticism, Dr. Wolff continues:
"We have a different system. German papers are allowed to print very much war news, and also the official bulletins of the enemy, but in expressing opinion they are forced to exercise considerable restraint. Everyone recognizes the necessity of military censorship, and submits unconditionally to the military position, fortunately quite different from that of the Entente peoples. Therefore, Germany's military critics are spared many of the difficulties which the French and English are forced to meet."
" But, apart from strategy, tactics, and military organization, there are many happenings and measures about which differences of opinion are possible. We ourselves still believe that the English has done right in preventing a war of words over the still unsecured prize of victory. We have seen how costly it is made abroad out of such more or less fantastic programmes of the future, but it is necessary, at least possible to open a free, academic discussion of those problems. Above all, it is necessary to be able to express freely and in a rational manner, the animosity of will shall reign everywhere in the government.
" But there are other questions, ideas and plans, about which everybody speaks in political circles, but which may not be mentioned in print. These are questions that do not concern other countries in any way, but are of the first importance because they deal with matters of the internal organization of the empire."
A rich, miserly old widower made a proposal of marriage to a young girl. He promised her everything she wanted if she married him. "Will you let me keep my carriage?" asked she. "Yes," was the reply. They were married and a carriage was purchased. "Where are the horses?" inquired the lady. "That's more than I bargained for," said the stony husband. "I promised that you might keep your carriage. There it is; keep it where you please, my dear."

CHAMPION WALSH DEFEATED O'LEARY
Outgeneraled and Outboxed Opponent in Nearly Every Round
Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—Outgeneraled, outboxed and outstained, but showing a gameness and cleverness that brought admiration from nearly 4,000 wild-eyed enthusiasts, Johnny O'Leary, of Seattle, a promising lightweight was forced to bow before the prowess of World's Champion Freddie Welsh in a fairly interesting twelve round bout here tonight.
It was Welsh's first appearance in the ring since his lay off some six months ago and he only showed his old time form in spots but even at that was too crafty for the hard-punching American lad and outpointed him in nine out of twelve rounds, winding up the twelfth round with a burst of speed and smothering his opponent with light blows.
The battle failed to provide the spectacular work expected as only in flashes did either boxer get in any real damaging work. O'Leary had Welsh completely at sea in the first round and had the champion on the defensive all the way, when the Britisher found his bearings in the second round he outboxed the Welsh lad at all angles and not again until the fifth round did he manage to outpoint the clever titleholder.
Welsh was adding up points in every round by his fast footwork. O'Leary evidently started in to rough things in every round, but was not able to do so on account of the persistent left jab from the champion which had O'Leary bluffed and showed good form in the eleventh, but in the twelfth Welsh opened up and had his adversary smothered.

VON KLUCK MAY TRY AGAIN FOR PARIS
And He Says War Will Last as Long as England Can Fight
New York, Nov. 18.—A Berlin dispatch to the Evening Sun by mail, dated Oct. 27, says:
" The German offensive on the western front towards Paris is not out of the question.
" A year ago Gen. Von Kluck's army was threatening the French capital. Today it is still the nearest to Paris, but the German offensive centres in the Balkans. Later it may be at the Suez canal or in Egypt.
" The German offensive will have returned to the well-ploughed battle line in France and Belgium. So says General Von Kluck.
" I talked with General Von Kluck today concerning the whole war situation, and he stopped to reply:
" 'As long as England is able to fight, and as long as America sends ammunition the war will continue. This war has developed into an ammunition contest. It is the world markets against the central powers.' "
GOOD MARKSMANSHIP OF GERMAN SNIPER
Aim Fixed For Long Time—Returned Soldier Tells of Close Watch Kept on Allies' Trenches
Quebec, Nov. 18.—Pte. Will, Vancouver, who was with the 3rd Toronto Battalion, tells a story which indicates the completeness of German methods in reducing war to an exact science.
" There was a private in my company," he said, " whose name I don't at the moment recall, who reached up and put his bulby head in on the parapet of the trench. The Germans could see his hand as he put it up.
" He was only for a moment his hand was exposed, but they could see the tin all the time. They calculated he would every tin again about 4.30 or 4.45 for dinner. They had plenty of time and got the exact bead on the tin. They lay rifles fixed so that they can command a certain spot. They didn't have to wait hours looking for the rifle. They kept watch and sure enough, round a quarter to five, Mr. Man reaches for his tin. Bing! They got him right through the chest. That's the way they do things. They got Sergt-Major Young the same way. There was a loop-hole with

Below the logo, the text reads: 'Bronchitis starts with a short, rapid, dry cough, accompanied with painful wheezing, and a feeling of oppression or tightness through the chest. At first the expectoration is a light color but as the trouble progresses the sputum arising from the bronchial tubes becomes a yellowish or greenish color, and is very often of a stringy nature. Bronchitis is usually at its worst in the morning on account of the phlegm being lodged in the bronchial tubes during the night, and it very often takes some time coughing and gagging before you can get the throat clear of the phlegm. When this happens you may be sure that if the bronchitis is not attended to immediately it will sooner or later develop into pneumonia, or some other more serious lung trouble. The best remedy for to cure the cold is DR. WOOD'S NORWAY FINE SYRUP. Mrs. Roy Conner, Greenwood, Ont., writes: "I must tell you what Dr. Wood's Norway Fine Syrup did for me. Whenever I got a cold I would be troubled with bronchitis, and sometimes I would almost choke to death. After taking two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Fine Syrup I was cured." Dr. Wood's Norway Fine Syrup is 25c and 50c, per bottle. See that you get the genuine. Manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.'

THE STORY AS TOLD IN CHAPTER TEN SUGGESTS THE FOLLOWING:

"Women, as some witty Frenchman put it, inspire us with the desire to do masterpieces and always prevent us from carrying them out."
"In the common world of fact the wicked are not punished, nor the good rewarded. Success is given to the strong, failure thrust upon the weak."
"Nothing should be able to harm a man except himself. Nothing should be able to rob a man at all. What is outside of him should be a matter of no importance."

GOLF OUTGROWING ALL OTHER GAMES

Has Become Baseball's Greatest Rival in Canada and United States—Interesting Statistics by Ex-champion

Golf has had such a remarkable growth in the last ten years and the number of new courses is growing at such a wonderful rate that it is difficult to accurately estimate the cost of the game, which is baseball's greatest rival. Jerome Travers, who is in many ways the greatest golfer ever developed in the United States, estimates that there are 1,200 golf clubs in Canada and the United States, with a membership of 800,000. He estimates that the average membership is 250, though many clubs have a much larger membership. Yet, in spite of this remarkable record, four new courses are to be constructed on Long Island this spring.

Champion Travers has compiled some interesting statistics regarding golf. He figures that the average yearly expense for the man who takes up the sport for the first time is about $182.50. He proportions it as follows: Initiation, $50; dues, $50; balls, $50; clubs, $17.50; cart fare, $80; caddies, $50. With the exception of the initiation fee and dues, this is a reasonable estimate.

Travers estimates that the 800,000 golfers will spend $42,000,000 and that the initiation will be $11,500,000 a year more. He says that the average acreage of the 1,200 clubs is 100 acres which is a trifle higher when the number of nine-hole courses is considered. He places a value of $600 an acre, or a total valuation of $72,000,000.

In discussing the cost of upkeep, he figures $7,800,000, which appears somewhat out of proportion, as most of the nine-hole courses average from $2,000 to $3,000, while a few of the eighteen-hole courses will run over $40,000 a year. He says that the cost of the clubs averaging seven clubs to the bag, is $6,125,000. Figuring that each player will buy an average of one ball a year, he estimates a further outlay of $875,000 for clubs.

Good Yearly Salary

Travers believes the average professional earns about $1,200 a year. This gives a total of $960,000. He says the caddies earn about $60 a week, or a total of $3,120,000 a year. He places the value of the golf real estate at $100,000,000, and says that $50,000,000 more is spent each year for laborers and caddies. He says that fully 300,000 men and boys are employed by the golf clubs. This estimate would give the following table:

Real estate	$100,000,000
Professionals	960,000
Laborers and caddies	3,120,000
Cost of upkeep	7,800,000
Golf clubs	7,000,000
Balls	600,000
Initiation and dues	11,500,000
Total	$120,980,000

The general total is believed to be within reason. While some of the figures might not be borne out by actual facts, others are too conservative. Certainly no other game in this country has as much money spent on it, and no devotees of a sport spend more money than do the American golfers.

In many cases it is a difficult matter to arrive at an actual estimate owing to geographical location or varying conditions. As, for instance, the Stoney Golf Club cost about $250,000, while a course situated in the country, some distance from New York, would not cost within 75 per cent of this amount, owing to the value of real estate. The property of other clubs located nearer New York reaches a much higher figure than that of the Stoney, but the general estimate is probably on the conservative side.

The Worst.

A minister's wife, a doctor's wife, and a traveling man's wife met one day, and were talking about the forgetfulness of their husbands. The minister's wife thought her husband was the most forgetful man living, because he would go to church and forget his notes, and no one could make out what he was trying to preach about. The doctor's wife thought her husband was the most forgetful, for he would often go out to see a patient and forget his medicine-case, and therefore travel miles for nothing. "Well," said the traveling man's wife, "my husband beats that. He came home the other day, and patted me on the cheek, and said, 'I believe I have seen you before, little girl. What is your name?'"

JAMES REID, M.P., OF RESTIGOUCHE DEAD, AGED 76

Four Times Elected to House of Commons as Representative of His County

The death of James Reid, M. P., occurred this morning at his home in Restigouche county. In his death the north shore loses one of its most prominent residents and the province a public spirited man who had found time in spite of large business interests to devote himself to the welfare of his native province. Mr. Reid was born at River Charles in 1839 and was seventy-six years of age. He was elected to the House of Commons as the representative of Restigouche in 1890 and was re-elected in 1904, 1908 and 1911. In politics he was a staunch Liberal and in religion a Presbyterian. In 1878 he was married to Miss Lisias McNair. Mr. Reid carried on business as a general merchant and lumber dealer. Hon. Mr. Pugsley's Tribute

The Late James Reid

When informed this morning of the death of Mr. Reid, Hon. Dr. Pugsley expressed the deepest sorrow regarding the news. Speaking of the qualities of the late member of parliament he said: "Mr. Reid was an excellent representative, always looking faithfully after the interests of his constituency. He was a gentleman of fine type and one of the kindest men I have ever met. He was popular on both sides of the house and the news of his death will be received by all members with the deepest regret."

COUNTY COURT CASE LEADS TO SUGGESTION OF A NEW BYE LAW

George Lanagan was tried this morning under the Speedy Trials Act in the county court before Judge Armstrong on a charge of having stolen rope from the Norton Griffith Company. Two employees of the company, two junk dealers, two detectives and the accused all gave evidence. The court found the taking of the rope, after its recovery, to the Strait Shore, though the accused lived at Blue Rock, the leaving it on the shore over night, the cutting some in two, and finally the giving of a wrong name to the junk dealer, were very strong points against the accused, but the failure on the part of the Norton Griffith Company to identify the rope made it necessary that the accused be discharged. His Honor strongly commented upon the pernicious effects of the custom of irresponsible persons being permitted to carry on grappling for sunken articles in the harbor around the wharves. Permission to carry this on, and to get away with what was found, lead to carelessness or worse. If there was no by-law against such indiscriminate grappling, he said, such might well be enacted.

THIS ST. JOHN SOLDIER HAS BEEN FIGHTING ALMOST SINCE START

Writing to Charles H. Gibson, Union street, from Fraser, Pte. Fred Soloman who left here more than a year ago with the 12th battalion, first contingent and was transferred to the Princess Patricia's tells of having come safely through much spirited action. "One never knows when he will cash in his checks out here," he wrote. "I would like to come back alive, but if I don't then I know I will have the honor of dying for my country. This is an awful war, but we'll win if it takes five years. I have seen no St. John boys for about nine months, except some six or seven of those who came out with me."

Fur Trimmed Shoe Tops
 In summer it was fur trimmed necks. Now it is fur trimmed skirts and fur trimmed shoe tops. Thus fashion fits back and forth—or perhaps up and down would be a better way of saying it. The modern woman must read every day if she is to keep up with the procession. And above all else she must read the advertising in her newspaper, which keeps her posted on the new styles. It is fashion news tersely written and with good merchandising behind it.

EXPECT BOTH HERE FOR WINTER

The 115th and The 144th Battalions

LOCAL NEWS OF WAR

Signalling Class is Brought to Close—Presentation to Q. M. S. Gilbert Vincent—Today's Recruits

The location of the winter quarters of the 115th and 144th infantry battalions is now being discussed in militia circles, and there is much speculation as to whether one or both will be stationed here. While only a small body has thus far been recruited for the 115th, it is understood that a vigorous campaign is to be waged in St. John city and county and also through Charlotte and the expectation is that the battalions under so popular an officer as Lieut. Col. Wedderburn can be quickly filled. Already at Sussex, Lieut. Col. Fowler has more than 500 men over strength on the list of the 104th, and these are expected to be taken as the nucleus of the 144, so that with a little extra effort his ranks can be completed. Just where these battalions will be located for the winter has not yet been definitely announced, but there is strong reason to believe that both will be quartered here.

Today's Drill

The 82nd Battalion this morning before nine o'clock had a march-out with full equipment, parading through some of the principal streets. The remainder of the day they spent in company drill about the armories.

Class Ended

The class of instruction in signalling which has been going on at the armory for the last four weeks was brought to a close last evening with a final inspection by Capt. Proudfoot. A written examination was given last night, with collective messages were following the test messages of the previous night. The class made an exceptionally fine showing.

Presentation

At his home, 82 Metcalfe street, last evening, a pleasant surprise was tendered Gilbert G. Vincent, Q. M. S., 4th Overseas Siege Battery, when about thirty friends assembled in his honor and presented to him a handsome gold wrist watch, engraved with the date and his monogram. The presentation was made in behalf of the gathering by Walter Hatheway. Refreshments were served, games and music enjoyed, and best wishes extended to Q. M. S. Vincent for his success with the colors.

Recruiting

Three volunteers were added to the roll of honor of the 115th Battalion this morning, Sanford Evans of Clifton, N. B.; David Foley of Fairville, Charlotte, R.; Hayward of St. John. Others made application but were found unfit. A big recruiting list is being held in Fredericton tomorrow night, organized by J. J. McCaffrey, recruiting officer for York, and among the speakers will be Lieut. Col. Fowler, Major Guthrie, and Rev. Dr. Bond. Lieut. Col. Fowler will be in the city tomorrow, parading through Fredericton, where he is due tomorrow evening at eight o'clock.

Has Enlisted

William V. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Owens of West St. John, has enlisted with the 104th, and severed his connection with the writing staff of the St. John Globe today. He will spend a few days' vacation in Chatham before going to Sussex, where he will report at the first of next month. He will enjoy best wishes from many friends for success in the khaki. He has just finished a course in signalling and will probably be placed in this branch of the service with the battalion.

THORNE FACES A CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

First Held as Deserter, Now Proceeded Against in Connection With Death of Stanley Akerley

Otty M. Thorne, a young man who was arrested a few days ago on a charge of deserting from the 29th Battalion, now is held in connection with the death of Stanley Akerley. Constable Parks of Queens county, arrived in the city yesterday and left this morning with Thorne for Gagetown.

Recently Stanley Akerley was found shot dead near his home at the Narrows, and as Otty Thorne had been out with a rifle on the evening that the shooting took place, and also owing to certain remarks made prior to leaving his home for this city, he was arrested and a charge of manslaughter made against him.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, attorney-general, has instructed John R. Dunn, clerk of the peace for Queens county, to be present at the preliminary hearing which will take place before Magistrate Coes. The coroner's inquest will be continued on Monday night.

What Shall I Give For Christmas?
 The Logical Answer is, "Furniture!"

There never was a time in the history of Canada when wastefulness was in such disfavor as at present, and the natural tendency at the Christmas season will be to make gifts of a practical nature.

For members of your household and your intimate friends there are sure to be articles of furniture which will make acceptable gifts and serve as lasting mementos for years to come, while if you wish to remember your less fortunate neighbors, you will easily find something, usually classed as a necessity, which they lack and which will be received with joy at the season of Good Will.

Our large stock contains every conceivable article to meet every requirement, and you will do well to look it over early.
