Bad Smash On I. C. R.
At Mill Creek Bridge.
Rear End Collision Results in Smashed Cars and Torn Up Right of Way—Live Stock Killed.

One of the worst wrecks on the I. C. R. for some time occurred just at the Campbellton end of the Mill Creek bridge about 8.30 o'clock last evening, when a fast special ran into the rear end of a heavy freight special. Fortunately only one man, and he was in charge of the live stock, was injured.
The engine of the fast special plowed its way through the van and two cars loaded with lambs, killing a large number of these and setting the wreck on fire.
There were six cars of lambs and a car of cattle next the van. These were all badly broken up and many of the animals were killed or injured. A crowd soon gathered and by hard work emptied the cars of the uninjured live stock, and freed others from the wreckage. Those in the burning car were all taken out before the fire reached them, although many were scorched.
The car of cattle left the rails and rolled over and over down the steep embankment, coming to rest on its bottom, so that the imprisoned cattle could easily be removed. It was found that six were killed or so badly injured that they had to be killed.
The fast special, the engine of which struck the other train about three car lengths from the end of the high

LIEUT. H. W. FERGUSON
Cot and Invalid Chair in Princess Patricia Canadian Red Cross Hospital

In a friends here subscribed a sum of money for the purpose of providing a suitable memorial to the late Lieut. H. W. Ferguson of 26th Battalion. The sum of about $87.00 was forwarded to Lady Tilley at St. John. Lady Tilley has written stating that it would be impossible during the war to erect a permanent monument to the memory of the fallen hero and suggested that the money be used to provide a cot and invalid chair, with suitable tablets in the Princess Patricia's Canadian Red Cross Special Hospital at Romagosa, England.
The suggestion has proved to be a suitable one and Lady Tilley has been advised to make the necessary arrangements.

WITCHES NIGHT
GREAT SUCCESS
Large Crowd Attend at Oddfellows Hall—Proceeds for Patriotic Fund

Witches Night in the Oddfellows Hall, Tuesday evening, (Halloween) drew a very large crowd, the hall being filled to overflowing.
The affair was under the direction of the ladies of the Soldier's Comforts Association and the proceeds which were about $150 will go to the patriotic fund.
The hall was very prettily decorated with various Halloween designs in yellow and black, and the ladies in charge of the various booths also had witches costumes. The Witches booth, where fortunes were told was busy the entire evening and wonderful and prophetic were the tales told.
Various drawing attractions were also in evidence where one paid a dime and got a prize, something useful or grotesque.
The affair was a most enjoyable one and the ladies deserve great praise for the manner in which it was conducted.

Russo-Serb Forces Attacked Austro-Germans; Furiously, and Took Possession of First Line Trenches

London, October 24.—"The ground gained by us yesterday in the neighborhood of Guedecourt and Les Boufs (on the Somme front) has now been fully secured," the War Office announced today.
"During the night there was nothing to report except intermittent shelling on both sides."
"In answer to the enemy's claim that the gains of Saturday between Schwaben redoubt and Le Sars were won only at the expense of heavy losses on our part, it may be noted that the troops engaged, which took over 1,000 prisoners, had only about 1,200 casualties."
Bucharest, October 24.—Romanian troops made an attack yesterday along the whole Oltuz front, near the Transylvanian Rumanian border. The War Office announces the capture of ten machine guns and several hundred prisoners.
Paris, October 24.—The French official statement is as follows:
"On the Somme front there was a fairly lively artillery struggle in the region of Biaches and Abbaucourt. There was no infantry action."
"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

QUIET HALLOWEEN.

COLONIAL GRASETT

Former Habitual Drunkards Now Take
Money of Wives.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Lieut.-Colonial H. J. Grasset, for thirty years Toronto's chief of police, in an interview Thursday, detailed the effects of prohibition in the city. From September 15 to October 15 last year arrests for drunkenness numbered 1,059; for the corresponding period this year, 214. The work of the police force had been greatly lightened, men who were constantly appearing before the police court were now taking money home to their wives, tradesmen were reporting better trade and in the suburban districts farmers were returning home with the proceeds of their sales intact, without stopping at every hotel on the route. Since the war the force had been reduced by over a hundred, and, under the new conditions, they would not be replaced.

REV. HOWARD SPRAGUE
DIED LAST NIGHT

For Many Years Pastor of City Churches and Later Dean of Mount Allison Faculty of Theology

The death of Reverend Howard Sprague, dean of the faculty of theology at Mount Allison, which occurred last night at Sackville, will be learned by his many friends throughout the Maritime Provinces with profound regret. The deceased was seventy-two years of age, and was quite active up until the time of his illness. In the death of Mr. Sprague the university with which he was connected loses an able lecturer and a distinguished scholar.

October 3rd, 1916

Dear Madam,
I beg to enclose herewith a report on the funeral of our dear son which was held at the authorities at the Record Office by Private A. S. Harvey. I have no doubt it will be some consolation to you to read of the honor that was accorded this gallant soldier who so bravely did his duty.

Yours truly
J. R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary,
Mrs. Eliza LeBuff, Campbellton,
New Brunswick, Canada.

1362 the late Cpl. R. LeBuff.

Corporal Robert LeBuff was buried with all Military Honours in Wandsworth Cemetery on the afternoon of August 16th at 3 p. m. The body had been brought to Wandsworth from Netley Hospital the day previous and placed in the Laboratory to await interment. The casket was an exceptionally handsome one of polished English oak with a neat plate upon which were inscribed the soldier's name, regiment, regimental number and date of death. An exquisite wreath of laurel and roses were sent by the Newfoundland Association in token of their sympathy and appreciation. At 3 p. m. the casket, draped with the flag of the Newfoundland Regiment, was silently placed on the hearse by men of the London Rifle Brigade, whose Regiment also furnished the Guard of Honour and Firing Party. It was Visiting Day at the large Hospital and as the day was a beautiful one many patients and visitors were in the grounds. Hundreds of people stood up and reverently watched the soldier's funeral pass slowly down the avenue and through the large gates into the cemetery.

EUROPE WILL NEED
MUCH LUMBER

Lumber Mills Will Be Busy Supplying Demand at Good Prices

Portland, Oregon, Oct. 28.—"Europe will need a billion dollars worth of lumber the first year after the war," asserted Dr. Edward Ewing Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, in an address read yesterday before the forest industry conference. "I will not only be an opportunity to sell lumber, there will be a duty that should not be shirked. "If the war should end in December, which is hardly likely, and lumber imports into Europe should in the will be the close of hazy days, too, meantime show no increase, there will be at the close of 1916 an estimated deficit in the normal European lumber supplies of some $400,000,000. This is entirely outside of the great additional needs for lumber due to the actual destruction of the war."

"No one knows at the present time the amount of lumber that will be needed by France, Belgium, Poland and other countries which have suffered directly from the war to replace ruined buildings, railroads, bridges, etc. There can be no doubt that this amount will run into large figures and that hundreds of millions worth of general purpose lumber will be called for as soon as the great European struggle is ended."

Each blue coated wounded warrior drew proudly to attention, and swiftly came to the salute as the casket bearing all that was mortal of the Newfoundland comrade, passed through the portals. Outside the gates the crowd was even greater; and the sympathy of hundreds, many it was plain to see had lost all that was near and dear to them in the great World War, was eloquently expressed by the bowed heads and shaking shoulders. At the cemetery a short burial service was conducted by the Resident Chaplain of Wandsworth Hospital and shortly afterwards the body was committed to the grave. The usual expression of respect and honour shown His Majesty's troops in the form of three volleys fired over the open grave was gone through by the Rifle Brigade; following which, the sweet haunting notes of the "Last Post" sang out wonderfully beautiful in the quiet cemetery. The Representative of the pay and record office, who attended the funeral noticed a touching little incident which appealed greatly to all who had gathered round the quiet grave. A little girl in deep mourning, and who evidently had lost a soldier brother recently, was listening with childish curiosity and sympathy with the prayers at the grave. Suddenly she held out a little bunch of marigolds and violets and asked in a sweet lisping voice if she might not give the poor dead soldier some. Her simple request was immediately granted and with a quivering lip she dropped her little gift softly into the open grave. It was exceedingly touching for it was in defending such little ones as she that the young soldier had paid with his life. Three wounded Newfoundlanders and a wounded Australian attended the funeral driving in a Wandsworth Hospital carriage.

The grave is in the consecrated plot for Newfoundland soldiers and the body of Corporal LeBuff sleeps peacefully among the other fallen heroes of the Island Home.

O'NEILL-CULLIGAN

St. John Evangelist Church, Bellefleur was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday, Oct. 24th when Miss Catherine Florence Culligan eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Culligan was united in marriage to Mr. John O'Neill both of Culligan, N. B. The ceremony as performed with Nuptial Mass by the Rev. Father Van De Montell in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. When the groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Culligan brother of the bride. After the ceremony the happy couple motored to the home of the bride where a sumptuous breakfast was partaken of after which they motored to Bathurst and adjoined showers of rice and confetti boarded the Ocean Limited for an extended trip to Moncton, Fredericton and other Canadian cities. The grooms present to the bridemaid was a beautiful brooch set with pearls, and to the groomman a set of gold cuff-links. News to Her.—A travelling man one night found himself obliged to remain in a small town on account of a washout on the railroad caused by the heavy rain, which was still coming down in torrents. The travelling man turned to the waitress with: "This certainly looks like the flood." "The what?" "The flood. You've read about the Flood, and the Ark landing on Mount Ararat, surely." "Geel mister," she returned, "I ain't seen a paper for three days."

McCormick broke his leg the day before in Restigouche county, and came down from Jacquet River to Newcastle on the Accommodation. Waiting for a team from a livery stable to take him home, he came down town in the hack to a restaurant, and was captured before he could leave for home. He was lodged in jail.

NEWS AGENT ARRESTED.

A news agent of the I. C. R. was arrested here Tuesday on arrival of the Limited from Halifax, accused of inducing a minor, Joseph Payne, aged 13 years, to leave his home. He appeared before his honor and explained that while going to Halifax on a soldier train he hired the boy to make a trip with him to help him sell to the soldiers. He took good care of him bringing him back to Campbellton with him. As there was evidently no intention of using the boy further and the news agent acted in good faith he was allowed to go.

NO FURTHER TIDINGS OF LT. MORDEN MOWAT

M. M. Mowat has been endeavoring to gain some tidings of his son Flight Lieut. Morden M. Mowat who was reported missing in May last. Through Dr. McFarlane of New York he has just received the following letter from Berlin, which speaks for itself:

American Consular Service
16 Mauer-Strasse,
Berlin, Germany
October 2, 1916

Dr. Roy S. McElwee,
182 West 58th St.,
New York, N. Y.

My dear Dr. McElwee:

In reply to your letter of August 4, last, I regret to have to inform you that Lieutenant M. M. Mowat, 11th Squadron, Royal Flying Division, has not been reported on the lists of prisoners of war in Germany, and I fear the poor man must have been killed without having been identified as the German authorities always report a man's death if his identification disc is found on his body.

With kindest remembrances for you all,

Sincerely yours,
JULIUS G. FAY,
American Consul-Gen.

MISSED TRAIN AT MONCTON

Two passengers from Campbellton, on the Ocean Limited yesterday afternoon were Mr. W. F. Cuff, of Dearborn St., Bedford, Mass., and Mr. J. Ireland, of Campbellton, N. B. They arrived on the Limited about 4 o'clock and remained in the Union Station awaiting the departure of the train for St. John, which is due to leave at 6:05 p. m. Hearing no announcements to this effect they missed their train. Mr. Cuff had telegraphed to St. John, and he would be there on the train to arrive at 9:30. He had business to look after which could not be delayed, so the missing of the train caused him some annoyance. Officials say that a megaphone announcement is made inside the station but those waiting outside cannot hear it. The I. C. R. authorities, surely, ought to deal with this grievance.—Transcript.

What are Peps

Peps are the new treatment for coughs, colds and lung troubles. They are little tablets made up from fine extracts and medicinal essences. When put into the mouth these medicinal ingredients turn into healing vapors, which are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes. The Peps treatment is direct. Swallowing cough mixtures into the stomach, to cure ailments and disorders in throat and lungs, is indirect. Peps are revolutionizing the treatment of colds, as their voice is within the reach of all. See box all druggists, or Peps Co., Toronto.

GinPills FOR THE KIDNEYS MARTYR TO PAINS IN THE BACK

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 15, 1918.
About eight months ago I read your advertisement in one of the Halifax papers offering a free sample of Gin Pills for the kidneys. I had been a martyr for years to intense pains across the back and decided to try Gin Pills. Before I had finished the third box I found myself for the first time in years perfectly free from pain.

Yours sincerely,

NEW SOURCE OF MOTOR FUEL.
Ontario went "dry" recently and some other use had to be found for the distillery plants in the province. One distiller made a few alterations to his plant, and is now turning out fuel alcohol on a successful commercial basis. Other plants are preparing to follow the lead.

At a convention of chemists in New York recently it was asserted that alcohol would soon be used as a supplemental fuel to gasoline in all kinds of internal combustion engines. A big munitions concern has already learned to make low grade alcohol from sawdust at a low cost. There are vast sources of wood waste in this country which can readily and usefully be employed for this purpose and by those who are willing to undertake the work.

As prohibition continues its march and puts whiskey and gin factories out of business, they need not close their shutters and let their plants go to ruin. They can still make "engine booze" if they are prohibited from making any other kind. Of course it of whom the President is the most devoted General Consul for Belgium at Ottawa, is editing for some weeks past, the paper "PRO BELGICA", printed in two languages.

"PRO BELGICA" "THE RELIEF WORK FOR THE BELGIAN VICTIMS OF THE WAR"

This paper discloses the painful condition of the Belgian people so worthy of admiration and shows what Canada is doing for its relief. It is very interesting to observe the manner in which the subscriptions received for the relief of Belgian and French populations of the invaded departments are employed.

The subscribers of "PRO BELGICA" are not only acquainted with all what happens in Belgium, they also contribute to the revivification of this unfortunate country, for all receipts of the paper are paid into the receiving office of the "RELIEF WORK." The amount of the subscription is but one dollar, which can be sent to the Management of the paper, 149 St. Luke, Montreal.

Give your subscription for "PRO BELGICA". It is a mere trifle, but it is for the relief of the destitute Belgium.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTION ACT Aid Granted to the Provinces

The allotments to the different provinces under The Agricultural Instruction Act, passed by the Dominion Parliament in 1913, have been made for the year ending March 31st, 1917. It will be remembered by the terms of this act ten million dollars spread over a period of ten years was to be divided between the nine provinces of the Dominion, according to population, for the encouragement of education in agriculture and domestic science. In the initiatory year, 1913-14, $700,000 was to be divided. Each year the amount was to be increased by $100,000, until 1917-18, when the grants under this arrangement will have reached a total of $1,100,000, at which they are to remain until 1923, when the ten million dollars will have been exhausted. The sums received by the different provinces for the year ending March 31st next will be as follows:

Prince Edward Island.....$304,437.75
Nova Scotia.....$74,832.23
New Brunswick.....$9,209.69
Quebec.....$243,212.23
Ontario.....$81,158.45
Manitoba.....$7,869.76
Saskatchewan.....$1,747.22
Alberta.....$3,732.50
British Columbia.....$3,732.50

By the aid of these grants agricultural education and domestic science knowledge has been greatly benefited and extended all over the country. School buildings have been erected, college buildings have been extended and increased in number, experienced teachers of a high class have been engaged, district representative and county agents' expenses have been met, demonstrations in all branches of agriculture and short courses have been liberally arranged, agricultural instruction on both public and high schools has been extensively promoted, much useful literature has been circulated, veterinary science has been benefited, knowledge and practice of domestic science extended, manual training received an impetus, competitions of many varieties helped and initiated and school and home gardening greatly developed. In short the beneficial influence of the act is making itself felt in every direction that agriculture and home-making take.

TWO SOLDIERS AND A GIRL.
Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady
Jennie McFall has two strings to her bow. That is she had two beaux on the string.

They were both likely young men, and for the life of her she could not make up her mind which to choose. Then the war broke out. "Now," she said, "I shall see which is the best man. I'll never marry a man that thinks so much of his precious skin to go and fight for his country. The one that goes first is the one for me."

They went together. "Now," she said, "I'll see which does best," she said to herself, "and waited to hear of one or other winning the Victoria Cross."

Neither did.

They fought well, all the same. Both were wounded, and came home in the same ship, and went to the same convalescent hospital. Tom had lost an arm, and Harry a leg.

Tom was first to get out and visit her. She nearly cried to see his empty sleeve; but she was determined to be fair, and knew that Harry was handicapped for paying visits. So she still waited; and when Harry came in he got just as much sympathy as Tom.

By this time their second fight was on.

The enemy was not Germany now. It was their own human nature.

Naturally, they felt a bit down, and a bit soft, and a bit slack.

Neither of them was a quitter, nor even a kicker.

Neither of them ever came back with a drop too much when they had been away from the hospital for an outing.

Though they did not feel up to much at first, neither of them liked losing.

Both were quite interested in the carpentry and typewriting and drawing classes, carried on in the hospital to fit them once more for a life of activity and independence.

Both of them scouted the idea that man who had done his bit at the front should rest on his laurels and do as little as possible for the rest of his days.

But there was a difference.

One of them was a shade keener than the other.

Harry had no idea of living on his pension and any casual job he might get to supplement it; but all he aimed at was to earn as much as he had been earning before.

Tom made up his mind to do more with one arm than ever he had done with two. The more he was handicapped, the more resolved he was to win.

Is there any need to finish the story?

As Things Go Now.—"What are you going to make of your son Charley?" I asked.

"Well," replied Charley's father, "I made a doctor of Bob, a lawyer of Ralph, and a minister of Bert; and Joe is a literary man. I think I'll make a laboring man of Charley. I want one of them to have a little money."

Fire in the pocket of a man's vest brought out four engines, four hose wagons, a water tower, two protective companies, one chemical, Chief McDonough, a district chief, one repair wagon, one ambulance, one police patrol and one fireboat to Atlantic avenue, Boston, the other evening. The vest was hanging in one of the windows of the Herbert Porter Co. Passing pedestrians saw the garment suddenly and without apparent cause, burst into flame, and an alarm was turned in. The fire, with the aid of the force present, was extinguished, but the vest was destroyed in the process.

A Long Wait.—Policeman (giving evidence).—"After being ejected from the cinema, he was discovered with a large bouquet in his arms on the doorstep of the back entrance to the picture-palace."

Magistrate.—"Did he give any reason for his extraordinary behavior?"

Policeman.—"His speech was very indistinct, yer worship, but from what I could gather, 'e was waiting to see Mary Pickford 'ome."

The Water Cure.—A Swedish farmer, who lived on his wheat farm in Minnesota, was taken ill and his wife telephoned the doctor.

"If you have a thermometer," answered the physician, "take his temperature. I will be out and see him presently."

An hour or so later when the doctor drove up, the woman met him at the door.

"How is he?" asked the doctor.

"Well," said she, "I bane put the barometer on him like you tell me, and it say, 'Very dry,' so I give him a pitcher of water to drink, and now he ban gone back to work."

CASUALTIES.
The following casualties have been reported during the past week.
Missing:—
J. W. Ahern, Nigado, N. B.
Frank Gerrard, Campbellton.
Killed in Action:—
J. Lynch, Chatham.

DESERPTIONS.
It is reported that there are several deserters from the 462nd Battalion in this vicinity—men who were fed and clothed and trained for a year in Chatham and Valcartier, and skipped out when the time came for going to the front. These men will, we presume, be rounded up after a time, and either shot or sent to the penitentiary.—World.

A. R. Gould says he gave J. H. Crockett that celebrated $1,000 of Valley Railway money just because Crockett wanted it. And now Mr. Crockett intimates that a firm of railway contractors has given him $2,500 just for love, or merely in recognition of the fact that he promised to put in a good word for them when they were trying to get paid for their work. Just so, and this reminds us that Mr. Flemming was given $70,000 by the lumbermen as a free-will offering and without solicitation or consideration. All of which proves that our railway contractors and lumbermen are altruists, and philanthropists, with a burning desire to distribute their profits among their friends, and not selfish and soulless seekers after wealth.—World.

Young Mr. Halliwell was not much of a preacher, but much to his own surprise, and everybody else's, he was appointed chaplain on a battleship. He desired to amuse as well as instruct his men, and to that end he arranged a magic lantern lecture on Bible scenes and incidents.

A sailor who possessed a gramophone was secured to discourse appropriate music between the slides. The first picture shown was Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. The sailor cuddled his brains, and ran through his repertoire, but he could think of no piece exactly appropriate.

"Play up, play up!" whispered the chaplain.
Suddenly an inspiration struck the sailor, and, to the consternation of the chaplain and the delight of the audience, the gramophone squawked out: "There's only one girl in this world for me."

"You impudent mammothrept!" That's what a Southern girl called Jack Donovan, an amateur photographer who had bet he could snap six of the prettiest young women in the Harvard summer school within 72 hours.

The pictureman's first victim was the pretty blonde from Alabama. He sighted her flashing orbs and returned the fire doublefold.

"You impudent mammothrept!" she cried.
Disabled, but with exposure No. 1 in his possession, the photographer retreated, not knowing what he had been called but fearing the worst.

Whereupon he consulted numerous authorities and finally found, in a dictionary, this:
"Mammothrept: a child reared by its grandmother; a spoiled child."

Nearly every one of his friends had suffered from the caprices of the practical joker. Happily the joker had weak points of his own. One of them was a dislike for night air. One morning about 2 o'clock there came a tremendous thumping at his front door. The joker hopped out of bed, opened his front window, and leaned out. "In heaven's name, what is the matter?" he said. "One of your windows is open," said a man on the sidewalk. "Which one?" said the joker. "The one you've stuck your head through," was the reply.

Standing in front of one of Peterson's pictures were several young women. One young woman, who was gazing at the picture ardently, suddenly exclaimed: "Oh, if I only knew the artist who did this!" "Pardon me," said Peterson, stepping forward with great delight at the evident prospect of being taken up by the social set. "I am the artist." "Ah!" she cried, with a particularly winning smile, "then in that case won't you please tell me the name of the dressmaker who made that perfectly stunning frock you model wore?"

For a few minutes there was silence as the widow continued her labor. Then suddenly she raised her head, and asked:

The Real One.—A lady employing a colored man asked him his name. "Mah name is Poe, mah'am."

The man's eyes opened with great surprise. "Why," he gasped, pointing a dusky forefinger to himself, "why Ah am Edgar Allan Poe."

"What the deuce is in it, Bill?"
"T' Pyramids," answered Bill, promptly.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. NEW RICHMOND
Obituary

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Robert L. Montgomery, of this place, has caused much sorrow amongst the inhabitants, not only of this Municipality, but also of the entire county.

She died on Saturday night, the 21st inst., after a short illness. The interment took place on Monday afternoon. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John A. Campbell, James Henderson, H. J. Pidgeon, George Fallow, John Gilker and Wm. Montgomery of Dalhousie.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. J. Rattie, and was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, which was filled, by sorrowing relatives, neighbors and friends, irrespective of creed.

Very tenderly and touchingly Mr. Rattie spoke of the deceased lady. His remarks were singularly appropriate and the hearers felt that the tribute was as true as beautiful. It is not necessary to add more regarding this address as Mr. Rattie has kindly granted the writer's request that it should appear in the Graphic.

During the years she lived among us, she endeared herself to all who knew her. Her gentle, courteous, loving kindness was manifested in so many ways to all that her early death has been a great grief to many besides her own family. She was always interested in others, and anxious to help in every good work. Only the Master who she loved and loved can know the measure of her love and kindness.

Mrs. Montgomery was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lough of Montreal. Her husband and four children mourn their irreparable loss. She is also survived by one sister and two brothers.

She has passed before, but her short, beautiful life, and Christian character must ever remain an inspiration to those whose privilege it was to know her.

For her the glad "Well done", for us to follow, as she did in the steps of the Saviour.

Margaret Grant McWhiter

A Tribute

Psalm XVIII, 35—"And thy gentleness hath made me great."

I can well remember when coming to you as your pastor that I considered it would be my privilege often to say a few words to some saints who would be passing through the valley of the shadow of death, and thus become a comfort to them in the name of Christ. For I fancied that I saw a need in this respect concerning the comforting character of the Gospel. My desire was to make the journey easier along the path of pain and discipline into the future land.

But I never once associated with the name of this one who has been called home, and in whose bodily presence we now assemble for the last time, with these my sacred duties. I thought specially of the aged who would need peace and comfort. In other words the picture of her home-going did not present itself to me. Yet she has fallen to sleep and deeply we mourn her departure. Death, we are sure, is gain to such as Mrs. Robert L. Montgomery, but we cannot drive back the tears of sorrow and (may I say) regret.

Perhaps on one thought that she would be among the first called up higher, but we must admit this that the Almighty disposer of all events has taken away the one through whom the heart of family and community are most deeply touched. In her home a loving mother is always the central figure. Particularly is this the case when there are young children, one a babe but a few days old. Then the mother is the centre of the home in a double sense. Round the sick room all is tender thought and attention. Surely then we must say, "God has spoken once, yes twice" in such an affliction. It is ours to heed the voices of God's strange Providence. I ask you to do so from this text, "Thy gentleness hath made me great."

Consider first, the scriptural nature of this grace. In Galatians V, 22, the fruits of the Spirit are love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith. Do you notice how many of these qualities are connected with the idea of gentleness? In Colossians III, 12, the Apostle exhorts us with all fervency to put on no enraging measure of meekness, including kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering. And of the beatitudes, six must be distinctly associated with the quality of gentleness. "The meek, the poor in spirit, they that mourn, the pure in spirit, the merciful, the pure in heart." And was not Christ the most gentle of men? Is it not said of Him? "A bruised reed shall not break." Was he not compared to the lamb, dumb before the shearer? Are not God's servants told that they "must not strive, but be gentle towards all men, apt to teach."

Second—How this quality abounds in nature! Gentleness is the very power of the sun as it pours down its rays upon the earth. How gently they fall, yet are so necessary to life and healing.

Gentleness is the quality of the tide as it spreads itself over our harbours and estuaries, bearing along the vessels to their desired haven, gently carrying fotsam and jetsam upon its smooth flowing current. Gentleness is the quality of the dew, how silently it comes in the night, with its wonderful refreshment, performing the function of dusty nature's sweet restorer, even when rains and showers are withheld. Gentleness is a quality of nearly all life and growth. How quietly the tiny bud unfolds upon the tree, the blade of grass springs up, and the ear of wheat, and the tiny crocus and beautiful pansy! Truly, the Psalmist sang "Thy gentleness hath made me great." What a contrast between this grace and the aggressive firms of religion and character sometimes exhibited.

Third—The gentleness of our friend: Mrs. Montgomery's serious illness and death came as a severe shock to many, among whom I count myself. In casting about, immediately upon receipt of the news of her death, for a word that would fittingly express the main element of her religious life, I always felt it, and turned to her with that deference and respect sure to be the tribute given to one who was genuinely good, and kindly and tactful in all her ways. She lifted others to higher and better things, because in her presence only the pure and loving virtues could be thought of and entertained.

She had given her heart to Christ, and desired that others should do the same. Last summer's communion was a great joy to her because of her realized in part, and she mentioned this to me at the close of the service. In fact, this expression of her feeling was the last words of conversation that I heard from her lips.

Perhaps if you had of asked her for the particulars of her religious experience she would have answered in the beautiful verses of an anonymous poem, as follows:

You ask me, how I gave my heart to Christ?
I do not know.
I found earth's flowers would fade and die:
I wept for something that would satisfy.
And then, and there, somehow I seemed to live.
To lift my broken heart to Him in prayer.
I do not know, I cannot tell you how; I only know, He is my Savior now.

You ask me, when I gave my heart to Christ?
I cannot tell.
The day or just the hour, I do not now remember well.
It must have been when I was alone.
The light of His forgiving spirit shone,
Into my heart, so clouded o'er with sin.
I think, I think, 'twas then I let Him in,
I do not know, I cannot tell you when, I only know, He is so dear since then.

You ask me, where I gave my heart to Christ?
I cannot say.
That sacred place has faded from my sight.
As yesterday.
Perhaps He thought it better I should not.
Remember where. How I should love that spot.
I think I could not tear myself away,
For I should want forever there to stay.
I do not know.
I only know He came and blessed me

there.
I heard of one who loved me with a love,
Of depth so great, of height so far above all human ken.
I longed such love to share,
And sought it then upon my knees in prayer.
He heard my prayer,
I cannot tell you how, nor when, nor where,
Why, I have told you now.

Such, was our departed friend in life. Reverently, gently as she herself would do for another, I mention this element of her life and character. Possibly I have said much more than she would wish, but I could not refrain from a just tribute.

And as she lived a gentle womanly, Christian life, she died a quiet peaceful death, saying when she knew the end was near "I love my family, I love Jesus", and so she fell asleep in Him. Can you tell me a sweeter way to live, a better way to die?

Dear people, I would use this funeral occasion to preach the Gospel, and to give you again the greater invitation to God and His home. Another loved one has gone.

"But no father's house is full,
Even though there seems no resting place for more;
Forgiving arms and doors do open wide,
If one repentant child implore.

God's flock is never full:
Fear not to enter boldly at His door,
None ever were refused who there applied.

He hath abiding place for more,
In side".

So come away to Christ. His forgiveness will give you peace, His gentleness will make you truly great.

INTERVIEW WITH THE HON. J. D. HAZEN, K.C., MINISTER OF MARINE AND FISHERIES AND NAVAL SERVICE

Canadians have won undying fame upon the battlefields of Flanders and France. An equal opportunity for distinction upon sea is now offered. A Canadian Naval Overseas Division which will be attached to the Grand Fleet is being organized and five thousand men are being called for. The new force will be as distinctly Canadian as are the four divisions now fighting on the Somme. There will be Canadian rate of pay, Canadian separation allowance and assistance from the Canadian Patriotic Fund. The sailors from the Dominion will wear a special Canadian badge no matter where or in what unit of the navy they are serving. The organization and maintenance of the division is under the direction of Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of naval service, who is taking an enthusiastic personal interest in the matter and is making a special plea for recruits for this service.

"When war first broke out," explained Mr. Hazen, "The Canadian Government asked the British authorities how we could best help and suggested raising recruits for the navy as well as a land force. At that time all naval reserves had been called out and the Admiralty had a surplus of men. We were informed that they needed no men for the navy and we could best serve the interests of the empire by raising land forces. All our efforts were accordingly so directed.

"Since then the naval building programme has been greatly accelerated. The many new ships which have been put in service have had to be manned and there has been an increasing call for sailors. In addition when conscription came into force in the United Kingdom recruiting for the navy stopped. New channels to supply the necessary men had to be found. Today the Imperial Navy, which has swept the seas, bottled up the German fleet in the Kiel Canal and has guarded the whole of the empire requires men. The navy at all costs must be maintained at full fighting strength."

An soon as Canada was made aware of the change in the situation in regard to the navy we offered to form an overseas division of the Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve and lend them to the Admiralty for service in the Imperial Navy. The Admiralty were pleased to accept the offer and asked if possible that five thousand men be sent of which two thousand would be required by the end of the present year.

"Every recruit Canada gives to this force will mean the saving of one soldier for the British Army for if the necessary men had to be secured, conscripts at present serving in the army will have to be transferred to the navy."

Explaining the arrangements for pay Mr. Hazen said: "The pay of men in the Imperial Navy is very much less than that in force in the Canadian Navy, and consequently the Dominion Government decided that in order to put the Overseas Division of the Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve on the same footing as the Canadian Expeditionary Force, they would give them similar pay. However, it was pointed out that that was not desirable on a man of war to have men serving on board side by side receiving different scales of pay. The men of this Overseas Division will only themselves receive the same pay as their shipmates in the Royal Navy; the balance of their pay will be retained in Canada until their return, although a portion of this balance will, if so desired, be forwarded monthly to the wives or dependents of the men, the remainder accumulating until their return."

"All recruits as soon as enrolled will be given their uniforms and sent to either one of the Naval Depots in England for training. They will be sent overseas as ordinary seamen, and those who wish to serve in the stoking ratings will be entitled to volunteer for such service. The question of their advancement to higher ratings will be left in the hands of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty and should they desire to make promotions in this overseas division, the Canadian Government will increase the men's full Canadian pay to the equivalent rate of pay in the Canadian Expeditionary Force for the relative rank."

"The Dominion has been divided into six areas for recruiting purposes, each area being in charge of a Naval Recruiting Officer who by permission of

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, it is not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A penitent-looking man was on trial for vagrancy and disturbance of the peace. The Judge seemed inclined to be lenient with him.

"What was the prisoner doing when you arrested him?" he said to the policeman.

"He was having a very heated argument with a cab-driver, your Honor."

"But that doesn't prove that he was the worse for liquor," the Judge said. "Many sober people have arguments with cab-drivers."

"So they do, your Honor," said the policeman, "but in this case there was no cab-driver."
