SULPHUR VESSEL UNLOADING HERE

Has 1800 Tons For Fraser Mill at Edmundston—Balance For Chandler

Although the ice ran out of the Restigouche only a comparatively short time ago, the government wharf here has already assumed a semblance of the activity of former seasons with the arrival of a steamer loaded with sulphur for Fraser's Limited and the pulp mills at Chandler, F. C. The "Theodora," a Norwegian steamer of 1236 tons net, arrived here just before noon on Monday. Captain Begonness reports rough and foggy weather on the trip from Sabine, Texas, where the vessel took on her cargo. The captain, who is a native of Norway and who has followed the sea for over twenty-eight years, has made three previous trips to the Bay of Chaleur. His first trip to local waters was in 1900 when, as a seaman on a sailing vessel, he visited Dalhousie.

The "Theodora" will discharge one half of her cargo, 1800 tons here. This sulphur is being transported across the I. N. R. to Edmundston for the Fraser Mill there. The balance of the vessel's cargo will be unloaded at Gaspé, from where it will be taken to the Chandler mill by rail. This sulphur is shipped in bulk, and not bagged as might be supposed. Stowing this stuff in box cars is a dirty job but there is evidently no shortage of available hands.

Sulphur although inflammable is not highly so, according to Capt. Begonness, and does not make a dangerous cargo. In Texas where the vessel took on her cargo it is left in a huge pile out-of-doors and loaded from there into the ships through a shoot. The "Theodora" took on her 6000 tons in less than six hours.

The "Theodora" is a comparatively new vessel, having been built in 1920. Since this she has been employed from Cuba to the refineries in New Orleans, Boston and other American ports.

OBITUARY

In the death of Mr. Edmund Murphy, a locomotive engineer of this town, who died here at a late hour on Monday night, Campbellton mourns the loss of a highly respected citizen. The late Mr. Murphy was formerly a resident of Jones River, came to Campbellton about twenty-five years ago and had resided here since that time. He entered the employ of railway over twenty years ago as fireman and was soon after promoted to the post of a locomotive engineer. A few years ago he was transferred from his former post between here and Mont Joli to the Dalhousie branch line but retained his home in Campbellton.

Owing to fairly health the late Mr. Murphy obtained leave of absence about three months ago. His illness however was of such a nature that little hope was entertained for his complete recovery and although able to be up and about his weakened condition made him an easy prey to pneumonia with which he was attacked about a week ago.

The late Mr. Murphy was fifty-one years of age, leaves to mourn his loss his bereaved wife, four sons and one daughter. The sons are Andrew of Niagara Falls and Frank, Alfred and John at home. The daughter is Miss Mary, also at home.

The remains accompanied by members of the family and many friends were taken to Jacquet River on yesterday morning's local where interment was made.

STERLING TOUCHES NEW HIGH
New York, April 28.—Demand for Sterling advanced one cent to 48, the highest price in ten years, and less than four cents from parity within fifteen minutes after the news of Great Britain's return to the gold standard had been received in New York.

HON. SENATOR W. B. WILLOUGHBY called the attention of the Government to the matter of rural credit, and the necessity of legislation to this end, to give effect to some scheme to provide cheaper money for Western farmers, both on long term and short term credits. He says the question of rural credit is one of the most important in Western Canada, and that it has not been given the consideration it deserves in the past.

DAVID CHAMPOUX IS WARMLY GREETED AS NEW PRESIDENT OF THE CANADIAN LUMBERMEN

Lumbermen's Periodical Has Many Nice Things To Say About One Of Campbellton's Outstanding Business Men.

(Canada Lumberman)
The man, who will direct the affairs of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association during the coming months of 1925 is a genial and aggressive French-Canadian who answers amply to the name of David Champoux. It was quite fitting, as retiring President Grier stated at the annual banquet, that the first French-Canadian president of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association should be installed in office in the ancient city of Quebec. In every convention for the last four years Mr. Champoux has been a welcome visitor, taking an active part in the proceedings and joining heartily in the social festivities. He is a singer of no mean ability, and when it comes to rendering choruses or glees, Mr. Champoux's clear notes are heard to advantage. He is also a great champion of the ladies and is popular with the wives and daughters of the members. For ten years he has been a director of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, representing Quebec.

Mr. Champoux was born in County Wolfe, Que., in 1877, the year of Confederation, his father being a well-known lumberman. He has three brothers who are associated with him in his lumber enterprises and the mills, which the family control, have an output of about 45,000,000 feet annually of spruce, cedar and pine. Present-elect Champoux is vice-president and general manager of the Chaleurs Bay Mills, Restigouche, Que. He is also a director of La Cie Couture, Rhaout, Mont Joli, Que. It may be stated that the output of these mills is sold in South America, United States and England, about 30% of the spruce from Mr. Champoux's enterprises going to South America where his firm have built up an available reputation for 1-inch spruce in quality, cut and texture. "For many years Champoux Bros. have been selling a large proportion of their output to that portion of the globe."

The Chaleurs Bay Mills have an output of 25,000,000 feet and own 450 square miles of timberland. The highest price in ten years, and less than four cents from parity within fifteen minutes after the news of Great Britain's return to the gold standard had been received in New York.

The plant of the Chaleurs Bay Mills, which is just across Chaleurs Bay from Campbellton, N. B., is one of the cleanest, best-kept and most progressive of any in the eastern provinces. Mr. Champoux is justly proud of the efficiency and attractiveness of his mill. He resides in Campbellton, N. B., where he served for some years in the town council and has always taken an active part in the business and recreational life of that progressive town. He is vice-president of the Golf Club and is a devotee of tennis, curling and other activities. He is also fond of motoring and enjoys life in the open air.

Mr. Champoux began at the bottom and is a thoroughly trained, practical lumberman from the stump to the finished product in every branch of the business and knows the value and character of wood and in consequence is an ardent advocate of forest fire protection and reforestation. He is a director of the Southern Fire Protection Association and past president of the Board of Trade of Campbellton. Mr. Champoux was married in 1902 to Miss Florence Berube, daughter of Cy. Berube, and has four sons, and

LIVELY DEBATE MUCH ENJOYED

On Monday Evening at St. Andrew's Club—Many Clever Arguments Advanced

St. Andrew's Church Hall was the scene of an enthusiastic gathering on Monday evening when members of St. Andrew's Club held a lively debate on the subject: "Resolved that women have as much business ability as men." The affirmative side of the argument was supported by young lady members of the Club while the negative side was argued by young men members. In presenting the case for the women Miss Margaret Adams captained the team and was supported by Miss Frances Vorston and Miss Rena Murray. The trio for the negative side were Messrs. Robin White, captain, Horace Jardine and Wm. McKenzie. The affirmative side won the decision.

The debate was interesting from start to finish. The subject was one which lent itself readily to lengthy discussion and the members of both teams took advantage of the possibilities which the subject afforded. Many of the arguments advanced were decidedly clever and the debate was without numerous touches of humor. The lady speakers distinguished themselves by the clarity of their reasoning but the boys also won well-merited praise for the capable way in which they presented their side of the question. The affair was much enjoyed by all those attending and another event of this kind will be looked forward to with interest. The judges were: Miss Edith Jones, Rev. W. S. Godfrey and Mr. Donald McLean.

FAMOUS WOMAN GOLFER ON HONEYMOON
Mrs. W. G. Fraser, formerly Miss Alois Stirling, renowned woman golfer, arrived at Southampton recently for a honeymoon tour and to compete in English tournaments. Four years ago Mrs. Fraser won the championship of Canada and the United States. Photo shows Dr. W. G. Fraser of Ottawa with his bride on board the "Mauritania."

Taking Over Of Gaspé Railway By C.N.R. Is Subject Of Conference

Improvement in the railway service in the Gaspé peninsula either through the taking over of the railway now operating in that section by the Canadian National Railways or the purchase of the line by the Federal Government and leasing it to the C. N. R. will be urged by Premier Taschereau at a conference he will have on Friday in Ottawa with Premier King.

The Prime Minister, who will preside over a meeting of the Cabinet to-morrow morning will take up the question above referred to as well as that of the belt line around Lake St. John. Several conferences have been held between Sir Henry Thornton and the local Government regarding this extension but Sir Henry apparently will only be ready to go ahead if the Federal Government is ready to take the responsibility of financing the building of that railway. There only remain some fifteen miles of railway to be built and this could be done at a cost of about $700,000, thus linking a colonization, agricultural and industrial region with the distributing centres of the province.

While in the Federal capital it is also understood that the projected extension of the C. N. R. line to Rouyn from O'Brien and the T. & N. O's projected extension into this province will be discussed.

HEROIC JANITOR SAVED TWO LIVES

Quick Action on His Part Was Means of Rescuing Patients, Trapped by Fire.

Herbert, Sask., May 6.—Quick action by the janitor saved two lives in the fire that destroyed the Herbert Hospital at four o'clock Sunday morning. Roused from his sleep, C. G. Taylor rushed from the basement to the rooms in the first story where he took charge of the patients. He was a professional nurse. At the age of thirty he took charge of a Sanatorium in London. Then came the Crimean War, when he volunteered to go to the front, was accepted, and six days later left with thirty-four nurses to take charge of the English Hospitals in the Crimea.

Her devotion to the interests of the sick and wounded throughout the trying conditions under which she labored, endeared her in the hearts of the soldiers, and merited the love and honor of the whole world.

She thus paved the way for all the organizations that have since been formed for the relief of suffering, both in times of war and peace.

In honor of her splendid service Hospital Day has been instituted. This year in Campbellton it will be observed in a special manner. The Alumnae Association of the Soldiers Memorial Hospital, which was organized last Autumn intended to observe the day by giving a tea at the Linnaea from 3 to 5.30. The generous support of the public is solicited.

Some of the merchants have kindly consented to decorate their windows for the occasion.

The Hospitals will be open that day for visitors, and it is hoped that the public will take advantage of this opportunity to ascertain at first hand the good work that is being done at these institutions.

Dalhousie, N. B., May 6.—The annual meeting of the Dalhousie Social Club was held on Tuesday evening at the Club Rooms. There was a good attendance of members. Mr. G. W. McKenzie occupied the chair in the absence of the President, and Mr. J. Brenton McKay acted as Secretary.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, and the financial statement for the past year, which was found satisfactory, the election of officers for the current year took place, with the following result:

There was a general expression given by the members of the Club to hold a grand "ard party" in the Club Rooms during the month of May, and the Social Committee will put on an entertainment, consisting of Bridge Whist, Plain Whist on Thursday evening, May 14th, in the Social Club Rooms, Dalhousie. DRIVES COMING ON WELL

A combination of cork and concrete for building houses is the latest innovation being tried out by the Department of Industrial Research in England. Two houses have been erected on trial. Both have steel frames, but the panels of one consist of four inches of cork covered with Portland cement concrete, applied to both sides with a "concrete grain," while the other house has composite blocks—two inches of "breccia" cast in mould on a two-inch cork slab. The framework for the two cottages weighs four tons, which four men can erect in one day. The only skilled labor necessary is one brick layer, one carpenter and a man working on a concrete pump. It is claimed that the use of cork insulates the houses, both against cold and noise. The cork slabs are baked after compression, rendering them proof against fire or swelling by damp. The roof is put on at an early stage, giving the builders protection from the weather and helping rapid construction.

HOTEL PROJECT IS ABANDONED

C. N. R. Will Not Build Proposed Summer Hotel At Black Point.

According to information received from what we believe to be an authentic source, the Canadian National Railways have abandoned the idea of erecting a summer hotel in Restigouche County. As will be remembered, a certain property at Black Point was considered last year as a site for the proposed hotel. Railway officials visited the locality on several occasions and were desirous of securing this property but the price asked by the owners was considered prohibitive and the project has been abandoned.

These property-owners at Black Point may be justified in holding out for a high price but on the face of the matter it appears that Restigouche has lost a real opportunity.

PREMIUM FOR CLEARING LAND RAISED TO $8

Quebec, May 1st.—Premiums for clearing land, which had been set at $6, per acre a few years ago, were increased to $8, per acre today through an order-in-council signed by the Lieutenant Governor of the Province.

According to the order in council, which increases considerably the premium for the benefit of settlers, it is provided also that the premium will be paid on a maximum of twenty acres of land.

Consequently a settler may obtain a grant of $160. From the Government as a reward, for his efficient work. These premiums are now effective and will apply in all the sections according to the decision of Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries.

Under his guidance the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, which has entered upon the eighteenth year of its existence, should have a prosperous career. Mr. Champoux has been assured of the hearty support of the directors and past presidents and, with unity and co-operation of the members, 1925 should bring about one of the best periods in the expansion and service of the body what is often called "Canada's lumber parliament."

HOLIDAYING IN CANADA

The immensity of Canada—its great breadth and its distance from the immediate boundary to its northern limits, says the Ottawa Citizen, offers to our own people and to visitors almost any desired change of scenery, of air, or of recreation. From the sea coasts of the Maritime Provinces to the ocean washed shores of Vancouver Island, Canada provides variety that cannot be equalled by any other country, says the Natural Resources' Intelligence Service of the Interior Department, which is taking a deep interest in tourist work. Many of the more popular areas have become so only from the fact that they were earlier established, but one has not far to go to find what he wishes in the way of a change. The resident of the interior of Canada, who pines for the smell of the salt air, cannot go far wrong in visiting our own Maritime Provinces, where a welcome always awaits him.

It is claimed that no place in Nova Scotia is more than thirty miles from the sea. This also applies to that beautiful gem of the Gulf—Prince Edward Island. New Brunswick especially extends a welcome to residents of Ontario and Quebec, who will find many places where health may be recuperated, where the salt air may be inhaled, where sea bathing may be enjoyed, and where a real rest may be obtained.

Those not so fortunate as to be able to visit the Maritimes may find inland summer rest places by the score near or home. The Laurentian and Gattineau hill districts, the Rideau and Muskoka lakes areas, the great lakes, all have a fascination for the holiday seeker that is hard to resist.

This year Canada will be the mecca for many thousands of American tourists. They will come here to enjoy our scenery, to fish our streams, to travel over our good roads and to see "Canada." If this country is so attractive to outsiders, how much more so should it be to our own people? "See Canada first" might be made the slogan for every Canadian. A knowledge of our country should be one of our chief ambitions, and it is of the utmost importance that we be prepared to welcome our visitors and advise them of the many advantages which Canada has to offer to the tourist and

PRESIDENT OF RETAIL MERCHANTS SUGGEST A CELEBRATION IN CAMPBELLTON THIS YEAR

Good Idea Advanced By W. M. Ferguson—Such An Event Would Help To Stimulate Trade From Surrounding Districts—Also Valuable From An Advertising Standpoint.

In responding to a toast to "Our Merchants" at Opening Banquet of the Campbellton Commercial Travellers' Association held in the Chateau Restigouche here on April 25th, Mr. W. M. Ferguson, president of the Retail Merchants' Association here made a few thoughtful remarks. Incidentally he expressed the hope that as time went on local merchants would realize more fully the advantages of more co-operation and the benefits which would accrue to business men here as a result of better organization and the maintenance of more enthusiasm in working together. Mr. Ferguson pointed out one significant fact in stating that several years had elapsed since Campbellton had a celebration of any kind. He declared the belief that such an undertaking would do much in creating a better spirit of co-operation and at the same time draw attention to Campbellton—thus giving our town a lot of good advertising.

A Good Idea

This is a good idea and one that is worthy of consideration. Like other small towns Campbellton has many varied needs, provision for which will record further steps in our progress. One of these needs is more publicity—more advertising, more boosting. In this bustling 20th century life of today publicity is one of the most potent factors in industrial and commercial progress. This being proven daily in other places and in this respect Campbellton is no exception.

Something Needed.

There is positively no doubt but what we are in need of some means through which to focus more attention upon our town. With the improvements effected here in the past few years and the coming of hydro electric power Campbellton is now in a position to grow. But we need advertising. Our town is the natural commercial centre of the North Shore, but the coming of hydro electric power Campbellton is now in a position to grow. But we need advertising.

Our town is the natural commercial centre of the North Shore, but the coming of hydro electric power Campbellton is now in a position to grow. But we need advertising. Our town is the natural commercial centre of the North Shore, but the coming of hydro electric power Campbellton is now in a position to grow. But we need advertising.

With a larger number of well-stocked, up-to-date stores than any other town in the Province, Campbellton should be the big shopping centre of Northern New Brunswick. But our present trade from the surrounding country should be much greater than it is. Thousands of dollars which are now sent out of Restigouche to distant mail order houses, if not spent directly at home, could be as profitably spent in Campbellton. But the people forget this; and it is only by inducing them to visit our town more frequently that we can build up a satisfactory trade with them.

A well organized celebration would be very effective for this purpose. While no great results might be evident this year, there is no doubt but that if such an event were made an annual affair, a satisfactory monetary return would soon be evident. In towns across the board "Old Home Week" is celebrated yearly and the results always compensate the expenditure of time and money required.

The idea of having a celebration of this kind in Campbellton is a good suggestion and it is to be hoped that some definite steps may be taken before long to arrange for such an event this year.

WHERE ARE YOUR MANNERS? The Lewiston, Maine, Journal says: "Where are your manners?" That was a question not infrequently upon the lips of a former generation, in rebuking careless youth. Today we hear it seldom.

"Where are your manners?" The old schools of dancing that put courtesies first are gone. There is little dignified or courtly upon the modern dance-floor. Twentieth century dancing does not necessarily imply what was once old-fashioned.

We are mindful of an incident of which we read not long ago, where a business man, visiting recurrently in a small Western town, remarked that the youth were characterized by a certain courtesy that he noted nowhere else. The incident passed from his mind until some years later he met again one of these boys, now himself a business man with a dignified and courtly bearing. The first man asked the second how he explained the characteristics of the youth of that little town.

What do you suppose his answer was—simply, that the village school teacher had for a quarter of a century been taking a little time regularly every week to teach his pupils 'manners'? They had caught the spirit of that instruction—reflected that teacher's deportment—and had actually given that town a certain 'flavor' so to speak, by which it's young people were easily distinguished.

Perhaps it would be well, for the school teacher to take a half hour each

St. John, N. B., May 2.—Calling on Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C. M. ## Hospital Day, Tuesday, May 12th

Recently while on a trip to U. S. Cities, Mr. George G. McKenzie visited Keene, New Hampshire, Keene has a population of about 10,000 and is a very prosperous town. So many of the nurses from this and the surrounding district have received their training at the Keene Hospital that Mr. McKenzie naturally supposed it to be a very large institution. Upon enquiring into the matter he was surprised to find that our local hospitals here have the facilities for taking equally as many patients as the Keene Hospital, and that the equipment of our hospitals is of the best.

The majority of hospitals have large grants from some wealthy donor or donors. In our case we have not been so fortunate in that respect and our magnificent hospitals are the results of an earnest effort of all our citizens. We have all the more reason to be proud of our institutions on this account.

Visit the hospitals on Tuesday and get acquainted with the wonderful work they are doing.

Be generous. If you cannot give much, give what you can spare. Every little helps.

Bear in mind that our hospitals enable many of our young girls to graduate as trained nurses without the expenses of having to leave home.

RAISE ROYALTIES ON OTTER SKINS

Quebec, May 5.—Royalties on otter skins have been raised from $1.50 to $2.00 per skin through an order-in-council passed at the last meeting of the cabinet. Last year, the dues were raised to the first mentioned figure but on the advice of officers in charge of the fish and game a further rise has been recommended and granted. This increase is now in effect.

My dear, how can you stand money so when you know I'm on the verge of bankruptcy?

Wife—Well, Bob, if you must go to bankruptcy, why not do it on a generous scale?

In 17th Century Coach and Sedan Were Disputing Rights

London had its traffic problems hundreds of years before the automobile was ever thought of. Old books set forth that, in the beginning of the 17th century, traffic troubles were so acute that a contemporary author wrote an article on the subject entitled "Coach and Sedan, Pleasantly Disputing for Peace and Precedence." Incidentally, London was then described as a city of "foggy and rotten misters," suffering from traffic congestion like "mutton pies in a cook's oven."

Dalhousie Personals

Dalhousie, N. B. May 5.—After a very severe, dull winter, when considering conditions elsewhere, the people of the Shiretown of Restigouche Co. are optimistic as the summer of 1925 approaches. The arrival in Port's week of two foreign vessels, the preparations being made for the early activity in our lumber mills, the splendid progress being made by Messrs. Parsons, Ed. Co. Ltd. of Moncton, N. B. with their contract in the erection of the new County Court House, which when completed, will cause the stranger passing through the quiet little town of Dalhousie, to pause and look at the grand edifice, a credit to the prosperous and growing County of Restigouche, N. B.

Another grand building is in course of erection in Dalhousie. It is a new all to one of the educational institutions, the Sacred Heart Convent. Work is already commenced at the excavation, preparatory for the concrete basement. The size of the new edifice is to be 60 and will be built the same height as the splendid structure which it will adjoin. It will also be constructed according to the same design and of similar materials, and like the main building.

The addition is being constructed to afford accommodation for additional pupils. The new addition will not only permit of increased number of pupils in next year's enrolment, but will afford the teachers many facilities for the carrying on of the work that they lack now on account of scarcity of room.

It is by days work that the Convent building is being erected, so, the means employment for many men not otherwise engaged. It is expected that the work will be completed for the first week of September next, when the pupils return after the summer vacation.

Mr. Cluny Cook, River Charles, N. B. was in town last week. He told your correspondent that the new farmer's store, erected recently to replace the one destroyed by fire, is approaching completion, and is a great improvement over the first building.

The farmers will now be in a position to carry on their plans, especially for the importation of seed etc. The Social part of the undertaking has not been neglected, and the Hall, which forms part of the new building, is also an improvement over the last one, and the people of the progressive little parish of Colborne, Restigouche Co., delighted with the prospects for the future.

P. McEvoy, Sydney, N. S. general Inspector for the Company, spent Sunday and Monday with his family in Dalhousie.

C. J. H. Parker, who audited the Dalhousie Town Accounts, last week, returned to his home in Moncton, N. B., on Friday last.

Capt. Frank Allard and his son Capt. Romeo Allard, have been in Dalhousie for several days, preparing their steambath the "Lord Roberts" for the summer's work.

P. G. MacFarlane, School Inspector of Inspectorial District No. 1, N. B. appointed Friday, May 8th, as Labor Day, for the Dalhousie Town School. It is not probable that much will be done to the grounds, in view of the probable early decision, to erect a new and modern School Building, on a more appropriate site.

Many friends will regret to learn, that Mrs. Barbara, wife of Joe, late of Hon. J. C. Barbour, Ex. M. P. P. for Restigouche Co. and once a member of the N. B. Legislative Council, is in poor health. Her son, Stockton Barbour, of Montreal, arrived in Dalhousie, on Saturday, to be with his sick mother.

Edwin Cragg and Charles Jones, students at Dalhousie University, Halifax, N. S. are spending their holidays at their respective homes in Dalhousie.

Miss Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McIntyre, Cobourg, St. John, N. B. was married on Wednesday, April 29th, to Wm. F. Hurley, of Winnipeg, formerly of Saint John, N. B., at East Kildonan, Manitoba, by Rev. J. A. Kane, C. S. S. R., in St. Alphonsus Church. The happy couple will have the good wishes of many friends. The bride is well known in Dalhousie, where she lived formerly.

Mrs. Adjutor Levesque, Ste. Anne's, Monts, Gaspé Co. P. Q. was a visitor to Dalhousie, last week.

The guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Thivierge, whose husband is the yard master for the P. Q. Lumber Co. Miss Rita LePage, St. Omer, P. Q. is visiting her sister, Mrs. Leon Samson, at the Queen Hotel.

Miss Myrtle Baillie, Escumac Plains, P. Q. was in Dalhousie, on Monday, the guest of her sister, Miss Martha Baillie, cashier with the firm of A. &amp; R. Loggie, Ltd.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacKie, have arrived in town from Nelson, N. B. and will occupy their former home, in their pretty little residence, on Adelaide St. Mr. MacKie will be in the employ of the Dalhousie Lumber Co. Both Mr. and Mrs. MacKie, made many friends in the Shiretown, and they are receiving a hearty welcome. While waiting to open their home here, Mrs. MacKie will be the guest of her friend Mrs. H. E. Hocquard.

Mrs. I. Dawson, Dalhousie Junction, was a visitor to Dalhousie on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, Esq. Concessionary, Wm. McWhinney, Upper Campbell, was a visitor to Dalhousie, on Monday. He is now enjoying better health.

Mr. Parsons and Mr. Ed. of Moncton, N. B. are guests at the Queen Hotel, having arrived in the Shiretown on Monday evening. They are delighted with the progress made at the new Court House, and have a better impression of the place, with the Harbour close off sea, and the nice dry streets, etc.

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Inflamed Air Passages.

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating colds, bronchitis, sore throat, or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the "outside" remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

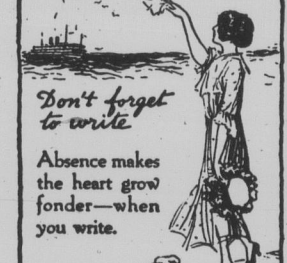

At all drug stores 50¢ a jar. For free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

Pass it around after every meal. Give the family the benefit of its aid to digestion. Cleans teeth too. Keep it always in the house.

Costs little—helps much.

How To Keep Hardwood Floors Looking Nice

Hardwood floors are a joy when well kept. When allowed to grow grimy, dull, sticky and dingy, they are most unsightly and ruin the look of an otherwise attractive room. It is not difficult to keep the floors in order if they have been properly prepared in the first place. If they are rough they should be scraped or sanded down then washed clean with soda water and dried. Then the desired stain is put on and dry a good filter is applied. Then the varnish follows. Each coat must also be allowed to dry in. Next the floor should be rubbed down with a piece of carpet or bagging, across the grain and with the grain. Next brush it all clear with a soft brush and give it another coat of varnish. When this coat is dry and hard the floor will last for a long time with the usual weekly care.

Once a week go over the floor with any of the good floor polishes that are not too oily. Once in about every six weeks go over the floor with lukewarm water and a little white soap. Wipe it dry, and when it is perfectly dry polish it as usual. This keeps the floor from growing sticky and dull in appearance. Do not use too much water, but enough to clean away all dust and spots.

This treatment is proposed, of course, for the ordinary run of so-called hardwood floors, not the woods selected when we are building houses of our own and putting in the best floors of their kind obtainable. In laying these better floors, the narrow boards, though more expensive, are the ones we usually choose, and the wood having been through the shrinkage process has no perceptible cracks to mar its stately looking surface. The wood filler applied takes care of all seams, so they do not show when the floor is finished. The broader boards are generally chosen for kitchens, prepared like the other floors if they are to remain bare. They are painted in some instances, which seems to be the better plan for this room where the wear is so hard. Or in many instances the floor is eventually covered with linoleum.

The choice of brushes for all kinds of floors is wide. The brushes are rather expensive and must be selected with care for the work they are to do. There are special floor waxes in which the wax is spread. Then the cloth is so folded into the machine that it does the work perfectly. The getting into corners is managed with the three-cornered brushes, but it is safer to apply the wax and polish by hand to reach the innermost spots and keep them polished like the rest of the floor.

There are soft lamb's wool brushes that polish as they dust up each morning. There are soft hair brushes that take up all the loose dirt that forms the fuzzy and unsightly balls. These brushes come in different shapes and lengths. A regular broom is almost useless on a highly polished hardwood floor, as it takes only surface dirt and mixes all the fine dust. So the softer brushes are the only things to use. There is a soft string brush which works very well and which is cheaper than the hair or wool brushes.

Old-fashioned housekeepers used to use a small brush covered with carpet to polish their floors. But today there is a weighted brush that is a great improvement over the brick, and can be used standing or, rather, walking. In places where there are hard wear on the floor—before doorways or in front of desks or tables—it is wise to save the wear by spreading small rugs.

BEST SOURCES OF GOOD SEED GRAIN

This note is submitted for the benefit of those who are unable to obtain satisfactory seed grain in their own neighborhood and so must look elsewhere for their supply.

One is indeed fortunate who can secure his seed requirements locally grown seed, taken from productive fields, is likely to be well adapted to the district. The introducing of seed from outside is associated with certain risks and farmers contemplating making such purchases would be well advised to consult non-interested officials such as the Secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, Ottawa, or those connected with our Experimental Farms or Agricultural Colleges.

Speaking generally, good seed may be secured from or through two main sources viz:

1. Reputable seed growers, who are members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

2. Direct from reputable seed dealers.

Since our leading seed dealers as well as our larger growers of seed operate in close touch with the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, the Secretary of this Association whose office is at 114 Victoria St., Ottawa, is the one official best able to advise the reliability of a given lot of seed.

Effects In Flower Planting

The finest effect in bed of annual flowers such as zinnias, asters, pansies, phlox and other popular annuals is secured by planting beds to one color instead of mixed varieties. Only in annuals in which the flowers on the individual plant show a variety of coloring is mixed planting advisable for the best results.

A bed of scarlet, salmon rose, yellow or white zinnias will illustrate the point in short order. It will also be noted that in plantings designed by landscape architects in public parks or grounds of larger estates, the beds are always planted to annuals of one color, a number of beds of the same annual in different color in many cases.

The annual leysure of the stock flowered class now come in a variety of shades and solid beds of one color make a beautiful picture, particularly the shade known as Newport pink, and some of its kindred tones. The dark blue and lavender types as well as the light blue also are excellent for masses of brilliant color.

The ten weeks stock are a favorite bedding plant. If plants of one color are used instead of mixed plantings, the picture is much finer. Be sure the soil is well limed for stocks. If it lacks lime they are likely to be a failure and produce nothing but huge bunches of leaves, a fact which has caused them to lose favor with gardeners who did not understand what ailed them and blamed the seed. Stocks must have a lime soil to flower. Snapdragons in the gorgeous scarlet and crimson and in the wonderful pink shades make an annual display as could be desired. Then too there are the gold and bronze shades of peculiar tint and art blendings for fine displays. A clump of sweet peas of one color will be a revelation in effect if you have grown this fine annual only in mixed colors. Try a group of the broadest and orange tones and note the brilliance of the group. Verbenas in solid beds of pink, scarlet or purple to run over tulip beds are particularly handsome.

THE FEEDING OF DAIRY CATTLE

In his report for 1923 the Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station gives an outline of the majority of some 170 projects that are underway at the Station under his supervision. These include 26 in animal husbandry, 15 in field husbandry, 52 in horticulture, 9 in cereals, 28 in forage plants, 7 in chemistry, 20 in poultry, 10 in apiculture and 3 in floriculture. One of the tests in animal husbandry is to ascertain the value respectively, of turnips, corn and sunflower silage as succulent feed for dairy cows. The cows were fed with the following:

- Group 1—Fed turnips first period, corn silage second period and sunflower third period.
- Group 2—Fed corn silage first period, sunflower silage second period, and turnips third period.
- Group 3—Fed sunflower silage first period, turnips second period, and corn silage third period.

Details in tabular form are given in the Superintendent's report for 1923, the deductions made from which are:

- 1.—Mature corn silage has a greater value for milk production than sunflower silage. Immature corn silage has a smaller value for milk production than sunflower silage.
- 2.—Corn is better relished by cattle than sunflower silage. While the yields of corn per acre were smaller, less per ton to put corn in he silage than in sunflowers.
- 3.—Turnips will keep up the milk flow fairly well but they have less food value per pound than either corn or sunflower silage.
- 4.—Cows fed corn silage will make larger gains in weight than those fed sunflower silage or turnips.
- 5.—When cows eat sunflower silage readily they will make larger gains than on turnips.

SAVED FAMILY FROM ALMOST SURE DEATH

Three Rivers, May 1.—By his courage and his quick action, Mr. Tappe saved his family from what seemed a sure death this morning at 6 o'clock, when his house was destroyed by fire at Cap de Madeleine. All were asleep in the house at the time, Tappe, awakened by the fire, jumped from the second storey, ran for a ladder, went back to his house and brought down his wife and his three children by the ladder. Afterwards, he called for the firemen, but it was too late to save the building.

Bay Graded Seed.

Since it is now illegal in Canada for any one to offer for sale seed of any kind which is not accompanied by certificates of grade, buyers should see to it that such certificates are on hand. This regulation does not apply to farmers selling direct from their own premises to other farmers, a fact which may easily result in the delivery of seed which should not be sown. Wherever practicable, therefore, buyers should insist on knowing the grade to which the seed they are buying belongs and they should be thoroughly acquainted with the definition of each grade. To this end, a copy of the Seed Act 1923 should be available for ready reference. Forms of this Act may be had free of charge, by writing to the Dominion Seed Commissioner, 117 Victoria St., Ottawa, Ont.

The superior producing ability of good quality seed of a variety which is well adapted to thrive on soil peculiar to a given field is recognized fully by hundreds of our best farmers. Unfortunately, this all important truth has not yet penetrated the minds of all who attempt to grow crops, a fact which is accountable in no small degree for the relatively low yield which many of our farmers continue to reap each year.

PAINS IN LEFT SIDE AND BACK

Other Troubles Women Often Have Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back, and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. Rose, 580 Notre Dame Street, Lachine, Quebec.

Doctor Said an Operation

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. The men then took a snapshot of the moose, and turned it free. The animal was lying on its back with his feet helplessly bound by the wire and to all appearances, had been thus snared all the previous night. Seeing its predicament and desire of extricating the animal, Mr. Murray returned to the home of Mr. Murray for assistance. Mr. Murray and William Chown accompanied Mr. Muir to the place where the terrified animal was entangled.

With considerable difficulty they released the moose comparatively docile after its exhausting exertions for freedom. The moose was led without much resistance, to the home of Mr. Murray, where 'first aid' was given its many severe scratches.

The men then took a snapshot of the moose, and turned it free. The animal walked leisurely away, apparently loathe to leave its benefactors. The moose was in good condition, quite large, and judged to be about two years old.

IMPROVEMENT OF NEGLECTED LAND

(Experimental arms Note.) Experiments with several different treatments for the improvement of poor or neglected land were undertaken at Charlottetown in 1916.

When noxious weeds, including ox-eye-daisy and yarrow, are present a three year rotation of potatoes, grain, clover may be used advantage.

Can clover be grown on land that has been neglected for years? Yes, it can. One successful method is to put over the land to be improved early in July, or before the weeds form seed. After the first soaking rain plough it 4 inches deep and roll the same day. Cultivate occasionally throughout the summer to destroy weeds and improve the tilth of the soil. Ridge up late in the autumn to give the soil a better chance to do its beneficial work.

Level the land, as soon as it is ready to work the following spring, with the spring-tooth harrow driven first lengthwise of the drills and then anglewise. Then use the 'double angle' out to reduce the difficulty of turning. Prepare the land thoroughly for potatoes and apply broadcast 1500 pounds of a 4-6-0 mixture of chemicals or 1600 pounds of a mixed fertilizer with about that formula. Use certified seed and take the necessary precautions to insure that the crop will meet the requirements for certification, by controlling weeds, insects and diseases.

Sow grain the second year and seed with 10 pounds of timothy and at

MEN FREE MOOSE FROM WIRE

Lead It Home, Tend Wounds, Take Picture, Then Let It Go.

Apohequi, May 1.—A moose, whose haunts were in the vicinity of Pearsonville, was rescued from a perilous situation this week.

Lorne Muir, of Pearsonville while traversing a back field on the farm of George Murray, discovered the moose, and turned it free. The animal was lying on its back with his feet helplessly bound by the wire and to all appearances, had been thus snared all the previous night.

Seeing its predicament and desire of extricating the animal, Mr. Muir returned to the home of Mr. Murray for assistance. Mr. Murray and William Chown accompanied Mr. Muir to the place where the terrified animal was entangled.

THE RIGHT WAY

The Owen Sound Sun-Times says "a merger of Canada's two great railway systems is a Utopian suggestion to which Canada should not consent even were it possible. But the elimination from both systems of suicidal duplication of service should be possible." Sir Henry Thornton makes it clear that the question of elimination duplication of service is receiving the serious consideration of the C. N. R. Board and of Mr. Beatty, President of the C. N. R. He makes it equally clear that they are not going to be rushed into some position that will not be desirable, and that anything that ladens will be done only after very careful and thorough investigation. That is the course of wisdom.

INDESTRUCTIBLE EYE-GLASSES

Shot From Gun Fails to Splinter Lenses in Spectacles (By Mabel Burkholdes)

Unsplinterable glass for spectacles has at last been perfected, according to scientists who witnessed a demonstration in London recently when hammers and even a shot gun were used to prove the contention of the manufacturers. This glass, it is claimed, may be ground to any lens curvature required for eye-glasses and spectacles, and is intended particularly for the use of sportsmen and football players who otherwise might have their sight injured by splinters or broken glass in a crash or through accident.

Included in the test was a demonstration in which the lenses were fired at with a shot gun from a distance of 20 yards. No shot penetrated the glass, said the experts, and no splinters flaked loose.

Though unsplinterable sheet glass has been in existence several years, being used for motor wind screens, aviators' goggles and the like, scientists declared they had not been able to produce a hard, clear, safety glass that would take the curves prescribed by opticians for spectacle lenses.

The Return of Paul Fontaine

we soon gave up trying to draw him into the conversation. When supper was ready, he ate hugely, but never a moment allowed himself to be out of reach of his own gun. When the meal was over, he sat down on a bunk and watched at our work. All the evening he sat there, staring and blinking, he said nothing, and apparently saw nothing. But now and then, I detected a covert keen glance shot from under his dark brows at Billy Blackson, whose head was still swathed with the ridiculous bandage.

On the table was a paper two weeks old that contained columns of surprises concerning the whereabouts of Paul Fontaine. We read at that evening and talked about the man, but the stranger, smiling silently, said nothing; he was still furiously scrutinizing Billy Blackson. His silence began to annoy us. We snapped quick remarks at him and gave some thinly veiled hints; but all to no purpose.

Then as I sat watching the fellow a sudden suspicion of his identity flashed across me. I gasped. Apparently the same thought had come to Billy and Bob, for they were staring at him, spellbound. And there sat the man as calm as Buddha.

We sat up late that night, for we hardly dared to sleep; yet there was nothing we could do. As the blue light of the moon rose over the camp yard, we crept, unwillingly into our blankets, but not until the stranger had fallen asleep, as we supposed, in the rough bunk by the door. Bob and I slept in the double bunk, and Billy Blackson lay down in the one across the cabin. I was dead tired, and fell at once into confused dreams, in which owls hooting and calling.

I woke from an unpleasantly vivid dream, and saw the entire room dimly lighted by the moon. Some one was stirring. Sleepily I watched the man emerge from the bunk by the door. Across the room Billy was snoring softly; Bob's deep breathing at my side continued unbroken. At first I was too nearly asleep to be astonished at the stranger's behavior; but suddenly I caught the glint of a pistol in the moonlight and started. Through my almost closed eyelids I saw the stranger peering at me. The revolver was leveled at my forehead.

For some moments the stranger calmly examined my features; evidently he convinced himself that I was asleep, for he turned and approached the bunk across the cabin.

Reaching for his long arm, he ran his fingers over Billy's forehead, which served him as a pillow in his curiosity to see what he was about. I raised myself on my elbow and peered into the darkness of my corner. Once more I feigned sleep and again he turned his attention to Billy. But suddenly Billy stopped snoring, mumbled incoherent words, and started to sit up. With astounding quickness the stranger dropped to the floor by the bunk, wormed his way back to the door, and slipped into his own blankets. Billy raised his head wearily, turned over, and fell asleep again.

KEEPS YOU ROBUST THE VITAMIN-TONIC Scott's Emulsion OF PURE COD-LIVER OIL

I said nothing and did nothing, for I was aware all the time that the stranger's eyes were peering from under his heavy brows, and that the revolver was poised dangerously in his long hand. When the room had been still for many minutes, I saw him repeat the performance. He crawled cautiously into the moonlight and crossed to Billy's bunk. Once again his left hand ran over the form of the sleeper. An owl scouted down the road; the stranger stopped, then continued his task. I was consumed with curiosity to know what he was about.

I realized that I was unarmed, and that any false movement of my part might make trouble. Nevertheless I slowly gathered myself together under the blankets, and contracted my muscles for a sudden spring, should I have the chance. An axe leaned against the opposite wall. In a holster over Billy's head hung the automatic revolver. But at the very moment that I saw it, the stranger's long left hand flipped the belt from its peg, and thrust revolver, holster and all, into his pocket.

At that moment Billy woke. He sat up and landed feet first on the floor with a crash that woke Bob by my side. The stranger seemed to sink down in the moonlight behind his revolver. Billy reached for the automatic. It was gone! The stranger was master of the situation, and I sat open-mouthed, staring at the scene.

At that moment there was a noise outside, a distant sound of coughing; but I was the only one that noticed it.

Without moving his revolver the stranger thrust his left hand into his pocket, drew out a match and lighted it. The flare revealed in sharp, clear lines, Billy's sleepy, astonished face; a shock of straight black Indian hair protruded from under his disarranged bandage.

To our amazement, the stranger began to chuckle softly, and dropped the point of his revolver.

Again I heard that queer sound of coughing outside—it was still far down on the tote road toward the river; I think none of the other heard it.

A dead silence filled the cabin; then the stranger broke into a low, rolling laugh of amusement. We stared in fear, for we thought we had a madman to deal with; then he spoke, and put his revolver away.

"Pity, pity," he whispered, for we seemed to be under a spell of silence, "the joke is on me. It ain't him, after all."

"Ain't who?" Billy demanded, brisly.

"Pity," he said with a chuckle, as he pointed at Billy. "I thought that was him Paul Fontaine—'short and dark,' say the papers, and his head was tied in a rag so I couldn't see the curls. Think I, way down there on the road. I'll stick with 'em and get the gun, and find out 'bout the hair; so I goes feelin', and feelin' get the gun, and what do you know—when the rag comes off, he has hair as straight as an Indian's! And me setting out for a detective! How did ye come here? Oh ye needn't be scared of me. I'm Joe Colburn, deputy of Roostook County."

He stopped speaking with a startling suddenness. "What's that?" His voice, which had dropped to a faint whisper, was so strained and tense that we were instinctively alarmed. We all listened. Again came the sound of some one coughing—very much nearer than before. As my scalp prickled, I heard a shuffling noise, and some one stumbled into the camp yard. Colburn started across the room, but the step outside was already at the door.

So quiet had the whole episode in the cabin been that I suppose no one outside could have heard a thing. The latch rattled, the door opened. Silhouetted against the shimmering green of the forest we saw a squat, broad, ape-like figure, rifle in hand. Paul Fontaine had come back to his own.

At first he could see nothing of the interior of the cabin, for he was coming in from the bright moonlight; then, just as the sheriff was about to command him to surrender, the outlaw caught sight of him and Billy by the bunk. With the quickness of desperation, Fontaine darted forward and flung his rifle to his shoulder.

"Stan' opp!" he yelled. His high-pitched voice reverberated through the little cabin.

They put up their hands—they could do nothing else.

For five seconds every heart in that cabin stood still. Why he did not shoot I do not know; probably it was because he was almost of ammunition—as we later discovered.

Absolutely unaware of my presence, not knowing there was anyone in the cabin except the two men before him, he stood close to my bunk, so close that I could see the play of his trigger as it twitched, and even the working of the muscles of his jaw.

I realized that there was one hope; it lay in quick action. Reaching out both hands, I took him unaware, caught his rifle barrel, and with all my might forced down the muzzle. The gun went off into the floor with a blinding flash of light. I felt his muscles tighten; I was lifted out, blankets and all and flung headlong into a tangled heap. There arose a wild commotion in the room, a rumble, a crash a mingling of harsh voices. Then all became still.

I started to my feet, and blundered face to face with Billy Blackson. Joe Colburn was staring round-eyed at the two of us, and Bob was gazing at a strip of cloth he held in his clenched fingers. Fontaine had gone like a breath of wind—he had gone, yet was with us. Through my veins ran a cold chill, and I confess that I was badly frightened.

Joe Colburn was smiling silently. He looked quickly round as if in search of something; then, to our intense surprise, he proceeded to lift the cabin door off its hinges. As he raised it the hinges squeaked shrilly, and like a haunting echo, far away yet near, came another burst of that hollow, uneasy coughing.

In the moonlight every foot of that camp yard lay unconcealed before us. There in the square of the open land Paul Fontaine must be hidden; but where, we could not guess. He had left his gun; plainly his one thought had been to escape. But if cornered, we well knew he would fight, and the fame of his brutal strength had gone through the length and breadth of ten north country counties. To confess the truth, we three were perfectly willing to let him go; but Deputy Colburn, lifting the door before him, began to make his way slowly through the grass, through stray raspberry bushes toward a bunch of tall cedars. The prickly things stood there threateningly in the moonlight, and I had wondered whether it were possible for the fugitive to have hidden in them. If so, I did not envy him his place of refuge. Colburn was working his way toward the thistles, but why he carried the door was more than I could guess.

Suddenly Colburn rose straight and holding the door before him like a shield, ran lightly the few remaining steps to the thistles, and slamming the door down in the midst of them flung himself on it with a howl of glee.

I thought he had gone insane.

Billy gasped. "Is he flattenin' him out?" he whispered.

Ten Colburn called out, "I've got 'im! He's in the wall. I've bottled him up as sure as preachin'! Wow! Hear him grunt! Come out here fellows, and sit on the lid."

We ran out to see; and there in the thistles, brandishing his revolver, Joe Colburn sat on the door, and from rumbling sundry caustic and guttural remarks.

"No, no there ain't been water in his well for ten or fifteen years," the deputy explained cheerfully. "And he can't get a leverage to push me off—he's too far down. No wonder you people didn't find it. There's no great of a mesh to it for a well. As for me, the minute he was out of sight, I says to myself that here's where he'd lie, and here he is O-o-o-h, I've got ye now, Paul Fontaine, and my name's Joe Colburn! Maybe ye've heard of me!"

We kept armed watch by twos that night. The next day Joe Colburn took his prisoner down to jail alone, but first we tied Fontaine's hands very tightly behind his back, and slipped handcuffs on them in that awkward position. Joe Colburn intended to take no chances; and when he started down the road in the early sunlight, he walked very carefully, with his gun in hand behind his prisoner.

I have never known a man who was so daring and brave as that deputy sheriff of Roostook County. Moreover, he had a sharp eye for business matters, for none of the rest of us ever saw a cent of the reward for the capture of Paul Fontaine.

MOTHER'S DAY NEXT SUNDAY

Mother's Day, what glorious memories it brings to one's mind, the days spent at mother's knee, her comfort and cheer in times of childish pain and grief and in the vital happenings of later years. Mother's Day will be observed in the Campbellton Churches
next Sunday, May 10.GREETINGS FROM CAMPBELL-TON, N. B.Rotarian Wesley McDonald, of the Campbellton club, the infant of the district brought greetings from that organization. He said that it is not a town where jollies are given the year round, notwithstanding there was a lot of ice and snow to be seen at the time of Gov. Baker's visit, a few weeks ago. He said the club was making good progress and the weekly sessions were growing in interest.
Rotarian McDonald also told of the many attractions of his town and advised that when in June the Club receives its charter that a goodly delegation attend from Yarmouth.

MAY TAX CANADIAN

As the result of a conference Wednesday morning at the Executive Council Chamber, participated in by Premier Veniot and members of the Provincial Government, and Gerald
G. Ruel, general solicitor of the C. N.
R. and Thomas G. Watson, another C. N. R. official, it was said that the taxation of Canadian National Railway lines in New Brunswick, might go into effect this year.It was further said that a system of taxation on a mileage basis would be inaugurated. The C. P. R. pays over $5,000 a year, and the C. N. R. will pay more than $100,000, it is expected.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Mr. T. R. S. Smith, of St. John, Provincial Manager, Excelsior Life Insurance Co., was in town several days last week, on an official visit to Mr.
Floyd A. MacKay, their District representative, having recently taken up residence in Campbellton. Mr.
MacKay had never seen Campbellton when sent here by Mr. Smith in January, but is frank in saying that he likes the place and prospects for the future better than any other place in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Mac-Kay was in the employ of the Fraser Co., at Edmonton for five years. We are very glad to have Mr. MacKay with us as a resident and respectable citizen, and wish and bespeak for him marked success in his chosen field.

it now appears that he will remain for a further term.

YOUR DAY IN THE SUN

May 12th is National Hospital Day.
The day will pass very much like any other on the calendar for those who do not realize the great opportunities it offers for cementing the good-will of the public to progressive hospitals which possess the true community spirit. Visit the hospitals on Tuesday next and see for yourself the standard of service in your local institutions. Let the spotlight be focused on our hospitals on May 12th.

SNOW IN WOODS

Two feet of snow in the woods in the vicinity of the interprovincial boundary between Quebec and New Brunswick, was reported Saturday by Geo.
F. Burden, of the staff of the Department of Lands and Mines, who has returned from an official visit to Northern New Brunswick.Mr. Burden said that the rivers in that vicinity were quite high and that rivermen feared heavy freshets would result from the rains of the week coupled with the presence of so much snow in the woods, particularly in the event of the weather becoming warmer. Driving operations have been commenced in the northern sections of the province, while on the Tobique the drives of the Fraser Companies, Ltd., are nearly all out.
The snow which was reported was still firm in the swamps and able to support the weight of men making their way through the woods.

FIRST AID FOR THE SHOCKED

Electric shocks are becoming so numerous, due to the increasing use of electricity in all walks of life, that first aid organizations are emphasizing safety measures in giving relief.
Where the shock is obviously too great to allow for human contact to assist the victim, a nonconductor such as rubber gloves, a dry wood stick or dry clothes can be used safely.
If it is necessary to cut a wire the safest way is to use a hatchet or axe with a wood handle that is dry and to turn the face away to avoid the flash that might ruin the sight.

The hunter was almost in despair, seeing the game apparently fastened beyond his reach. But he climbed the tree, ascended with difficulty to the place where the pigeon hung, and had just taken the bird off, when he lost his footing and fell through the air.

As chance would have it, the hunter landed in the midst of a hare's nest. He began to roll rapidly down the steep hillside; but before he did so, he seized a large hare firmly by the hind legs.

Rolling downwards, the hunter slid plump into the midst of a covey of partridges; and striking about with the hare, he succeeded in killing nine of these admirable birds.

He then picked himself up and went homeward with his pigeon, his hare and his partridges, well satisfied with the results of his shot.

A HUNTING STORY

A newspaper published at Apt, in Southern France, La Press, publishes an account of an extraordinary hunting adventure which lately befell a citizen of that town. A Paris journal, in copying the story, explains that occurrences of the kind never take place except in southern France. But that is not true. Go into any hunter's camp in the wild and woolly West and you may hear yarns just as ingenious and not a bit more truthful than this.

A hunter who had spent a considerable part of the day in an unsuccessful quest for game and had discharged his shotgun many times without result, caught sight, on his way home, of a superb pigeon wall up in an oak tree which grew on a steep hillside.

The hunter's gun was charged with powder, but he was entirely out of shot. In his emergency, and resolving firmly that he would have that pigeon, he sat down on the ground, took out his pocket knife, and with it pulled several nails out of the sole of his shoes. These he loaded into his gun. The pigeon still sat in his place. The hunter aimed, fired and the pigeon was nailed to a branch of the oak tree with the shoe nails.
