Europe Startled!

By an Unlooked-for Military Maneuver.

Mitylene Occupied by a Detachment of British Troops.

Political Significance of the Startling Intelligence.

Discussion of the Dardanelles Difficulty Revived—Early Hostilities Predicted.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—A decided feeling of uneasiness has been caused in diplomatic and financial circles here by the receipt of a dispatch announcing that Sigri, on the west coast of Mitylen, an island belonging to Turkey near the coast of Asia Minor, and within easy steaming distance of the Dardanelles, has been occupied by a detachment of British troops or marines, who landed there from a British ironclad.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Upon the opening of the Bourse here this morning there was a general weakening of price, due to the reported action of Great Britain in landing troops at Sigri.

The Frankfort Bourse was also weak owing to the same cause.

THE LANDING AT SIGRI.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—A detachment of bluejackets and marines from a British iron-clad, accompanied by a battery of light field pieces and several Gatling guns, was landed yesterday morning at Sigri on the island of Mitylene, formally occupying that place in the name of the Queen of England. There is a good harbor at Sigri and it is supposed the British officers at Mitylene intend to fortify the island and make it a coaling station and rendezvous for the British Mediterranean fleet.

Sigri is on the east coast of Mitylene and about 60 miles from the mouth of the Dardanelles.

THE REPORT REITERATED.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A dispatch from Constantinople states that the occupation of Mitylene is an accomplished fact, and it has found an echo on all the continental bourses.

Late this evening a still more startling dispatch comes from Athens. It says that the Greek consuls at Mitylene and at Smyrna have wired the Greek Government that thirteen British men-of-war landed troops and guns at Sigri on Friday, and that they have already strongly fortified that place.

Lord Salisbury's chief private secretary has returned unexpectedly to London, and is busy at the Foreign Office.

OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—It is stated that the French and Russian ambassadors here have received telegrams from their respective consuls in Mitylene, announcing the occupation of Sigri, and stating that the islet has been surrounded with torpedoes.

SENSATIONAL PREDICTIONS.

ROME, Sept. 14.—The Rome Esereito contains an article supposed to have been inspired by the Italian Minister of War, which predicts an outbreak of war during the coming winter, and urges the Government to take active steps to prepare the army and navy for the fray. The article is supposed to be the prelude to a demand for a military credit.

THE NEWS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—As soon as the report of the occupation of Mitylene by a British force was received here, there was considerable excitement. Government officials who have been questioned upon the Mitylene incident, deny having any knowledge of the landing of British forces at Sigri. They say, however, that a detachment of bluejackets may possibly have landed there for drill purposes.

The St. James' Gazette says the startling news obviously possesses political significance of the first importance. The same paper adds that Mitylene has a position of considerable strategic importance, although possessing little in the way of fortification.

DISCREDITED.

An intimation of the intention of the British Government to occupy an island giving a point of vantage near the Dardanelles was first heard of in the inner diplomatic circles of Berlin and Vienna soon after Sir William White's audience with the Sultan on Friday last. Nothing about it, however, appeared in the European newspapers till the Constantinople reports startled the bourse and public to-day. The reports were at first treated as incredible, and are still held to be of doubtful authenticity, or at least exaggerated.

BUT NOT IMPROBABLE.

It can be stated on high authority, however, that Sir William White asked the Sultan to assent to British occupation of some point within striking distance of the Straits, and offering a good harborage for the fleet. The offer made to the Sultan revived the request which the British Government made in 1877, prior to the acquisition of Cyprus, to purchase an island near the Dardanelles. This project was long the subject of negotiations, and was abandoned in the signing of the Anglo-Turkish convention in June, 1878. The seizing of Sigri, therefore, cannot have occurred without the connivance of the Sultan.

TURKEY AND GREAT BRITAIN IN HARMONY.

An official announcement issued in Constantinople yesterday stated that a complete entente had been arranged between Sir William White and the Sultan, but the terms of the restored harmony were not mentioned. The intimation that the seizure of the Island would be followed by its fortification is modified by a Berlin report to-night that Lord Salisbury does not contemplate a permanent occupation of the Island, but has designed the movement rather as a demonstration to checkmate the French and Russian Governments. The movement

ACCENTUATES THE DIPLOMATIC CRISIS.

Admiral Hoskins, in command of the British Mediterranean squadron, is about to be replaced by Admiral Tyron, who hoisted his flag in 1857 on the Nile, and who sailed from Portsmouth for Gibraltar on Friday to take over the command.

AUSTRIA'S INTEREST IN THE QUESTION.

BUDA-PESTH, Sept. 14.—The Pester Lloyd, in an evidently inspired article, says: "Austria-Hungary's interest in the Dardanelles question is greater than Great Britain's, adding: 'Can Austria look on with complacency while Russia, finding herself barred from expanding through Bulgaria advances by a shorter route to the goal she has in view—the seizure of Constantinople? England can compensate herself with Egypt, but where is Austria's compensation? The powers ought not to hesitate to check Russia. Does Berlin?" Alluding to the Russian plea to seize Constantinople by a coup de main, the Pester Lloyd quotes a document prepared by Czar Nicholas in 1853, minutely detailing plans by which a force of 16,000 infantry and 32 guns could force the passage of the Bosphorus and carry Constantinople. The Pester Lloyd says it has become known from words dropped here and there recently at St. Petersburg that these coup de main prospects have been revived in high official circles there, and that various plans of capturing Constantinople have been discussed in view of their great feasibility owing to the advantage of modern war equipments.

AT THE CAPITAL.

London "Punch" on the Ottawa Scandals—Plain Talk From the London "Times."

CANADIAN CORRUPTION.

The London Times comments thus on Canadian corruption: "This infamy must be checked, no matter what the cost, or Canadian public life will rot to the core."

"PUNCH" ON THE SCANDAL.

Punch of the 5th has a cartoon by Tenniel on the Canadian scandals. Miss Canada is sitting in a canoe in a swamp holding a flash light high in the air, the rays from which fall upon a group of unclean creatures—"Testimonials," "Tips," "Blackmail," "Bribery" and "Corruption." The letter-press explanatory of the cartoon is as follows. It is entitled "A Song of Sincere Sympathy"—

In dark fens of the Dismal Swamp
The Search Light sends its ray!
What is that hideous oozy tramp?
What creatures crawling 'midst jungle damp
Scuttle from light away?

Revealing radiance shine, oh shine,
Through black bayou and brake,
Where knotted parasites intertwine,
And through the tangles of poisonous vine
Glideth the spotted snake.

Where hardly a human foot would pass,
Or an honest heart would dare
The quaking mud of the foul morass,
With rank weed choked, and with clotted grass,
Fit for a reptile's lair.

They dread the light, do those dismal things,
It's gleam they dare not face.
Their snaky writhings, their bat-like wings,
Their quaking menace of fangs and stings
Make horror of the place.

All things should be so bright and fair
In a land so glad and free:
But the Search-Light layeth dark secrets bare,
And shows how loathsomeness builds a lair
In a land of Liberty.

Push on, brave bearer of piercing Light,
Through pestilential gloom,
Where crawls the spawn of Corruption's night!
Deal out, stout searcher, to left and right,
The cleansing strokes of doom.

That fair lithe form in that fleet frail bark,
Is a comely Nemesis,
Before whose menace 'tis good to mark
The reptile dwellers in dens so dark
Driven with growl and hiss.

The saurian huge and the lizard slow,
Foul shapes of ruthless greed,
And the stealthy snake of the sudden blow,
All owl-like shrinks from the Search-Light's glow,
Or fly with felon speed.

Corruption's spawn must be chased and slain,
Scourged from the wholesome earth.
It clingeth else like the curse of Cain.
Smite, smite like flail upon garnered grain,
These things of bestial birth!

A REMINISCENCE.

An incident of nomination day in Glengarry in 1887 is brought to mind by evidence recently given at Ottawa. The late Mr. Patrick Purcell, the reform candidate, was charged by his opponent with having been a Conservative in 1882, and with having given Sir Charles Tupper a contribution to the Conservative campaign fund in that year. His reply was: "Well, the fact is, I and two partners had a claim against the Government, and that was the only way we had of getting it settled."

THE SCANDAL BLIGHT.

The scandal blight is threatening even the census. It is rumored that in Montreal enumerators were forced to pay handsome commissions to their superiors in order to secure the payment of their accounts, and that in one case in which 50 per cent. was demanded the enumerator "kicked," and his account remains unpaid.

THE WHITEWASH READY.

The majority and minority reports of the sub-committee of the Privileges and Elections Committee, the one exonerating and the other severely censuring Sir Hector Langevin, will be laid before the full committee to-morrow (Tuesday) and the fight will begin.

Devoured by Shark.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—The schooner Gen. Banning, just arrived from Flent's Island with a cargo of cocoanuts, reports that while loading the vessel was twice blown out to sea by severe storms. On each occasion about 100 natives were on board and they hastened ashore in canoes. The second time several canoes were capsized and the occupants thrown into the water. The water swarmed with sharks and many of the natives were torn limb from limb before they could be picked up. Several islanders were dragged down. One young fellow plunged into the water with a long knife to save his father; both, however, were torn to pieces. One young girl had almost reached a canoe when a shark seized her and dragged her down.

THE LABOR ELEMENT.

Chandiere Mills Shut Down—2,000 Men Idle.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—A big strike took place yesterday morning in the Chaudiere lumber mills, about 2,000 men going out. They struck for 50 cents a week raise in their wages and an hour's reduction in their day's labor. Last year the men were getting from $7 to $9 50 a week, according to the work, and this year the running wages are from $6 50 to $8 50 a week. The strike originated at Perley & Pattee's establishment, where several members of the Knights of Labor engaged in loading deals on the wagons refused to start work. The foreman in the mill, seeing nothing could be done with the sawn stuff, did not start the saws and in consequence all the men were idle pending negotiations for a settlement. In a very short time the strike became general. Mass meetings of the men were held in the evening, which were quiet and orderly. The speakers urged quiet and steady work and that the men be firm in their demand for ten hours a day and a rise of 50 cents a week.

The Great Polish Actress Opens Here.

Mr. James V. Cooke, Mme. Modjeska's business manager, is in the city arranging for the appearance of the world-renowned Polish actress in this city on Monday, Sept. 21. Mme. Modjeska opens her American season here, having arrived at New York from Europe some weeks since. She had intended to appear in St. Petersburg, Russia, this season, but Russian animosity towards the Poles decided her coming to America. Mme. Modjeska will produce "Adrienne Le Couvrier," a rich comedy-drama, repelte with exquisite acting, elegant costumes and appropriate scenery. The talented young English actor, Thalberg, will be her right bower, the company—21 in all—being the same as in the celebrated Booth and Barrett combinations Mme. Modjeska easily heads the list of female stars in America to-day, distinguished alike for her acknowledged artistic abilities and her many good qualities of head and heart. Her great reputation has been gained solely by her ability as an actress. She has resorted to none of the advertising devices which have been used to bring the names of many other foreign actresses prominently before the American public. Her claim for favor is based upon her merits alone, and the favor which has been accorded her proves that her mertis are recognized and appreciated. Modjeska is in many respects a credit to the stage. She is a true woman, and against her name the slightest breath of scandal has never been uttered. It will be the event of the season at the Grand Opera House, and a large audience should greet the distinguished lady on her first public appearance in America this season.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. THE TORONTO INDUSTRIAL.

Citizen's Day at the Fair—Another Balloon Ascension.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—The great exhibition is at its best to-day, which is Citizens' Day. Saturday was in some sense a day of preparation for the second part of the fair. Live stock, dogs and poultry kept coming in steadily, in anticipation of the opening of these departments this morning. The management are to be congratulated upon the judicious way in which the clerk of the weather arranged the thunderstorm of Saturday night so that all who wanted to go to the fair had deposited their money with the ticket sellers before the storm came down. Of course the public take a different view of these matters.

Another fine balloon ascension was made by Prof. Zeno on Saturday. The parachute drop was made from an immense height, and the daring æronaut came down in Bellevue Place, making a very easy descent. Saturday's receipts were $3,834, against $4,665 the corresponding day last year. The net increase so far is $1,670 10. There were 21,000 children on the grounds on Friday.

M'LAUGHLIN CARRIAGE EXHIBIT.

A principle strictly adhered to by this Oshawa company, and which the public are asked to specially observe, is that only the highest grade of work is turned out of the establishment. The market affords ample scope, the company assert, for one such firm at least adhering to this principal, and their experience abundantly justifies the contention. Through the exertions of their Mr. McLaughlin, the inventor and patentee of all the improvements which have made their gears and tops so famous, customers of the firm this year profit by their introduction without the extra cost of a new business rig or driving buggy specially constructed for use on rough roads, since the application of these improvements reduces the jarring and jolting hitherto experienced to a minimum. Inquire at their exhibit for their new Beaver gear.

THE O. R. KIDNEY CURE.

Mr. H. Bull has a space in the first gallery in the Main Building in the south side for the display of his medicine. The O. R. Kindey Cure is warranted to cure any case of kidney difficulty or lame back. He also has the Vitæ or Elixir for diphtheria, throat troubles and also dyspepsia. These preparations are put up by the O. R. Kidney Company of Belleville, and are for sale by all druggists. Visitors to Toronto Fair will do well to see this exhibit and get one of their circulars. bd&w

ACME SODA FOUNTAIN.

In the annex building at the Toronto Fair Mr. J. Stonehouse, 569 Yonge street, exhibits two handsome Acme soda fountains, which dispense delicious drinks in different flavors. The peculiar advantage of the fountain is in the gas being generated in mixing the syrups, at once conceded to give a healthier and more pleasant beverage, doing away with the objectionable gas cylinders. Mr. Stonehouse is the manufacturer. If visitors will but test this delicious drink they will accept nothing else in future from a soda fountain.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

One would hardly expect to find an exhibit of medicine at the Industrial, but it is a fact, and the representative of Dr. T. A. Slocam has a beautiful exhibit near the northwestern corner of the first gallery of the main building, and the scribe was surprised to learn from Mr. L. S. Levee, the genial representative, that the display cost the firm some $900. The main feature of this unique exhibit is that of Dr. Slocum's oxygenized emulsion of cod liver oil, which is shown in handsome jars, one containing the pure oil while the other contains the emulsion. In course of conversation with Mr. Levee it was learned that during the past seven years over 35,000 persons troubled with consumption have used this remedy, and it is claimed that 80 per cent. of that number have been cured of that dire disease, which speaks volumes for the curative powers possessed by this medicine.

During the past year alone over $5,000 worth of samples have been distributed throughout Canada, which clearly shows that the doctor is not at all afraid of his medicine being thoroughly tested before being purchased, and any one who desires to test it is requested to call or send to their laboratory, 186 Adelaide street west, Toronto, where they will be supplied with free samples. Mr. Levee said that about eight out of every ten who applied to them for their medicine invariably stated that they were given up by their doctor, and then to have 80 per cent. of that class cured is certainly marvelous.

You know of a sufferer, don't you? Then tell them of this truly wonderful remedy, and don't fail to examine the exhibit yourself when at the Toronto Fair. by-bw

IDEAL METALLIC BED PAN.

At the rear entrance of the annex building Mr. J. Henry Worsell, Clinton, exhibits the ideal metallic bed pan and douche instrument patented by him. It is second to none for ordinary bed pan purposes, especially when combined with the douche instrument. It has been employed most successfully, and medical authorities recommend and use it. It can be ordered from Mr. Worsell at the exhibition and delivered to any part in Canada. bd-bw

CHRISTIE'S BISCUIT DISPLAY.

One of the popular places for the children yesterday was the imposing biscuit display of Messrs. Christie, Brown & Co., where every half hour or so choice biscuits were given away. This firm has been very liberal in its gifts and the poor children of the city have, through the Fresh Air Fund, partaken of their kindness. The exhibit this year is in the northwest corner of the main building, just a few steps from where it was located in former years. The glass cases of choice fancy biscuits, it is needless to say, attracted many spectators and won golden opinions. The firm name of Christie, Brown & Co. is a household word in every part of Canada, whether crowded city or secluded hamlet. It goes stamped indelibly on that pleasantest of all eatables, the fancy biscuit, and the quality of the goods is such as to make them popular wherever they once become known. The firm was established in 1850, and since that time they have sent out millions of biscuits to every part of the continent. They were the first to popularize the soda biscuit, which is now a staple article of food in every family. Fifteen years ago they moved into their present spacious factory at the corner of Duke and Frederick streets, and this business has been constantly on the increase. They employ about 200 hands in the factory. There is an office staff of ten, under the direction of Mr. E. Harvey, six outside travelers, and two men engaged exclusively on city orders. Six wagons are engaged all the time delivering goods, and there are five immense ovens used in baking the biscuits. They are the only exhibitors in their line of goods at the Toronto Industrial. They are the leading house, not in Toronto alone, but in Canada; they are the only firm of consequence in this country engaged exclusively in the manufacture of biscuits. Such a house, with such a reputation, could hardly fail to make a magnificent display. Their show occupies a space of over 60 feet in length and reaches almost to the ceiling. There are fully 400 varieties of biscuits shown, and this will give some idea of the extent of their business. The biscuits, which are of every conceivable size, flavor and degree of sweetness, are displayed in handsome glass boxes, and are very easily seen. It would, of course, be out of the question to attempt a description of the varieties, but among the newest designs might be specified the ginger wafers, Oswegos and Challenge biscuit. Constant improvements are being made, and where the popular taste shows itself in any particular line the supply is always forthcoming. In the way of diplomas and medals the firm has almost a surfeit. It is no great honor for them now to be presented with a first prize, as this is now their right, and the natural result of their entering into competition with other houses. Between 1858 and 1862 they received four first prizes for their goods, since which time to the present seventeen first prizes, including three gold, four silver and four bronze medals have been awarded them. Where do Christie-Brown's goods go? Everywhere. They ship to British Columbia in special cars, and in the Northwest they have a big hold. Of course in Ontario they occupy first place in meeting the demand for biscuits, and all over the Eastern Provinces they send large supplies. In Montreal they have a branch warehouse, with two travelers specially allotted to that section. It might be noted, too, before concluding, that the firm make fruit cake of all kinds. At the Christmas season they are able to assist confectioners very materially by making for them large quantities of Christmas cake. Be sure and see Christie's biscuit display, and if you are there early you may come in for a handful of the crisp and tasty biscuits that are distributed gratuitously. bd

Little People Who Are Great.

The "Royal Midgets" will appear at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, and will give a special ladies' and children's matinee on Saturday. The Toronto Globe speaks of this company in the following complimentary terms: "The Royal Midget Company of liliputian actors and actresses opened their engagement at the Academy of Music last evening and the performance presented was a revelation to the audience. The programme comprised a selection from Swift's immortal Gulliver's Travels, the adventures of Lemuel Gulliver in Lilliput being the part exemplified. The old familiar tale with all its thrilling and enthralling circumstances is presented by properly proportioned actors, and the child who has breathlessly followed the castaway's adventures page by page can now see the whole story portrayed in propriæ personæ, with all the added pleasures of light, color and motion. It may be in the minds of some that these little people are diminutive intellectually as well as physically, but never did captious critic fail into greater error. The allotted parts are interpreted with an appreciation of the author's intention and a histrionic capability which would do credit to any company undertaking the representation. Indeed, it might with justice be said that what these little people lack in physical quantity they more than make up in intellectual quality, and the frequent plaudits and undeniable recalls, which occurred so repeatedly that the curtain did not fall till after 11 o'clock were the strongest testimony to the unqualified success of the initial performance." Box sheet for the sale of seats at the Grand Opera House will commence tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Tremendous Facts!
—FOR—
EVERYBODY
—AT—
Powell's

For this week's sale, extraordinary prices resulting from the big purchase just made of Drygoods and Mantles. The crowds are coming to see us because they know we are not talking fiction in our advertisements, and we are giving so many facts about prices that everybody is wondering at Powell's low prices. Our prices tell because we tell the purchasing public what our prices are. What we want is to have our advertisements read. We know our prices are not approached on Dundas street. We could not sell so cheap only that we are always looking out for big lots of goods that are very cheap, and when we know of a stock that can be bought cheap we buy it. This enables us to sell our goods away down in prices. Although we sell cheap we keep our stock fully up to any drygoods stock in London. The elegant stocks of Millinery Dress Goods and Mantles fully attest these facts. It matters not whether it is a $1 parcel or a $25 parcel you want, come and try what you can get from us. You will save dollars upon dollars by buying from us. Please read over the list for this day, viz:

1st—This first line we give our cheap goods to-day is for gentlemen, viz.:—A 17 oz. shirt and drawers, which we will sell for 50c each; remember the weight; the shirt weighs one ounce over a pound and can be bought from us for 50c.

2nd—This second line we give of our cheap goods to day is for the ladies, and it is a wonder; it is a Kid-faced Astrachan Glove. We have these in black and colored. We bought them at exactly half price; we sell them at half price; not one pair can be bought for less than one dollar each at any other store. We will sell them for just 50c a pair, come and see them.

3rd—We will show a big line of Gray Flannels for to-day's sale, in light and dark shades. We will sell them at 15c, 18c and 22c per yard.

4th—Ladies should remember our Corset prices. We don't get regular prices for corsets. As a sample see if you don't pay $1 in all the stores on Dundas street, but ours. We will sell this Corset at a price that a lady will save enough on a pair she buys of this B. C. Corset to buy a pair of Hose for her little girl, or a pair of Gloves for herself. All other lines of Corsets are also sold much less than regular prices. Get prices in other stores, then come and get our prices and you will see what you save by buying from us.

5th—We call your attention to the price we are selling men's socks at. Remember you buy cheap socks very cheap, and a 35c sock for 23c at Powell's.

6th—Ladies will please not forget that they get at Powell's a 40c Ladies' Cashmere Glove for 25c, and a 25c Ladies' Cashmere Glove for 15c. Please note, ladies, Powell's give great value in their goods.

7th—Please remember the price of the Ladies' Belts at Powell's; 50c and 60c Leather Belts are sold for 25c.

8th—In the 26 baskets we show on one of our front counters, which are kept full of hundreds of lines and kinds of goods that every family wants, you can buy hundreds and hundreds of articles from these lines at from quarter to half regular prices. Ladies should take a look through these baskets. The low prices will amaze you.

9th—Just fancy, a pure Silk Veil with beauty spot, in all colors, for 5c a Veil. You will pay 15c for same Veil elsewhere.

10th—All colors in Lister's celebrated Silk Plushes, selling from 10c to 20c cheaper than elsewhere.

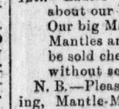

11th—Ladies, when you want pure Silk Sealettes don't forget at Powell's you buy the cheapest. Our prices are $4 95, $5 95, $7 50; all 54 inches wide.

12th—Ladies will please bear in mind about our Mantles, Jackets and Wraps. Our big Mantle-room is crowded with Mantles and Mantle goods. They will be sold cheap. Ladies should not buy without seeing our Mantles.

N. B.—Please remember our Dress-Making, Mantle-Making and Millinery. No house in London can give you better in these branches than we can. We are almost sure no place in London will touch as low a price as we do. Everything sold for cash. No credit.

Woman's Counsel.

In allusion to women, an Eastern author says: Consult them, and do the contrary of what they advise."

"It is desirable for a man," says a learned Arab writer, "before he enters upon any important undertaking to consult ten intelligent persons among his particular friends; or, if he have not more than five such friends, let him consult each of them twice; or, if he have not more than one friend, he should consult him ten times at ten different visits: if he have not one to consult, let him return to his wife and consult her, and whatever she advises him to do let him do the contrary; so shall he proceed rightly in his affairs and attain his object."

In Christian and civilized communities the man who is blessed with a good wife must, if he desires prosperity and happiness, consult her before any important undertaking is entered upon.

Woman's counsel and judgment is at all times valuable and highly desirable. Women judge better by instinct than men, and their first judgments are invariably correct.

Woman's counsel and advice has done much of late in the field of suffering and disease. Blessed with quickness of perception, she has noticed the remarkable cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound, and has never ceased to advocate its use and sound its praises. In her circle of friends she has seen some dear companion, once healthy and strong, laid low by the strong hand of disease. The lady friend or beloved sister has perchance become nervous and irritable; she is weak, listless and worn out; perhaps sleepless, languid and morbid; or headaches and dyspepsia may make her existence miserable. The observant woman has seen this dear friend or relative restored to health, vigor and strength; she sees rosy cheeks, bright clear eyes, and a healthful expression take the place of suffering; her heart is joyous, and she is satisfied that nothing else but Paine's Celery Compound could accomplish such great results. For the future her counsel is earnestly used to guide and direct sufferers to the great remedy.

It is in this way that Paine's Celery Compound has become the favorite home preparation. Woman's counsel has done much to advertise and make it known. In this way thousands of our Canadian women owe their existence and present good health to the kind efforts of their sisters.

This great remedy is on sale everywhere and needs only to be tried to be liked. Fifty-cent packages contain 25 tea packages.

A Frightful Thing to Contemplate

But the number of people slain in battle is a mere circumstance compared to those who succumb to the awful ravages of disease, which is hidra-headed in its effect. But nevertheless every disease "under the sun" is caused by acid, i. e., inflamation. The first thing to do to affect a cure is to reduce the inflammation; when this is done the disease ceases to exist. Curative Fluid and Curative Absorbent will neutralize the acid, thereby removing the inflammation that causes Catarrh, Bronchitis, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Ulcerated Throat, Eczema, Indigestion, and hundreds of other ills that flesh is heir to. A FRIEND'S CONFESSION.

The pretence is now made that the tax on sugar was voluntarily reduced by the present Government at Ottawa. Nothing is further from the truth. The United States threw off the duty, and the Ottawa Government had to follow suit in order that smuggling might be prevented. On the authority of the Canadian Manufacturer, which cannot be said to be unfriendly to the high tax managers, the Canadian sugar refiners, who employed less than 700 hands, have been making a profit of about $4,000,000 a year. The same paper concludes a discussion of the subject in these terms:

"In summing up, we are forced to the conclusion that, as regards the sugar refining industry as it existed in Canada up to the recent change in the tariff, the duty in its favor was not offset by any benefit bestowed upon the people by it; that it did not furnish its refined sugar at or near the difference between the cost of production and the cost of laying down foreign sugar; that the tariff was a bonanza to the refiners; that it enabled them to exact more than a fair profit for their services; that they were extortioners, and that through the tariff they became millionaires. In these respects the tariff proved to be what it should not be, and produced most injurious results. Was it a realization of these facts that induced the Government to put low grade refining sugars upon the free list? If it was, surely they must have discovered the facts here pointed out, and also have considered the other fact that the new duty upon refined sugars is so high that even now the refiners have the opportunity of exacting hundreds of thousands of dollars out of consumers, over and above a fair profit for their services; and we insist that these blemishes upon the National Policy must be removed."

The Conservative papers defended the sugar tariff that bled the people for the benefit of millionaries, as this "N. P." authority confesses. They defend the new arrangement, which enables the refiners to collect "hundreds of thousands of dollars out of consumers, over and above a fair profit for their services," and the servile majority of the party at Ottawa says that the tariff is eminently honest and fair, and must be maintained. Verily, a change is required.

The Earl of Aberdeen and Lady Aberdeen arrived at Montreal on Sunday night.

ONTARIO AND MICHIGAN.

Ontario and Michigan are two divisions of territory that more nearly resemble one another than do any other Province and State in the respective countries. Taken as a whole, however, in its natural condition, Ontario is the more favorably circumstanced of the two. Her agricultural lands are better than those of Michigan; they yield larger crops, including a barley that is unequaled in America. Ontario has magnificent timber resources; so has Michigan, but the depletion of the forests possessed by our neighbors is much further advanced than is the cutting down in this Province. Michigan has good water power in various localities. Ontario has many streams that are admirably adapted for use as motor power, including the magnificent stretch at Rat Portage and Welland Canal, both of which are capable of vast extension. Michigan has some splendid mines that have been developed in the last 30 years. They bring vast sums of money into the State for the support of labor. Ontario has rich mineral resources, as yet almost wholly undeveloped. This is a fair summary of the respective merits of Ontario and Michigan. How do the two territories contrast in point of progress in the last ten years? The census of 1890 for the State, and the census of 1891 for the Province, shall be our guide. Below we summarize the respective results:

ONTARIO.

Population in 1881	1,923,922
Population in 1891	2,112,989
Increase in ten years	186,067
Percentage of increase	9.65
Previous ten years	18.88

MICHIGAN.

Population in 1880	1,636,937
Population in 1890	2,089,792
Increase in ten years	452,855
Percentage of increase	27.66

In the ten years Michigan, with a smaller population than Ontario by 300,000, increased in population to the extent of 266,788 more than this the banner Province of the Dominion. Why? It is a subject worthy of the most serious consideration.

Ontario had the start of Michigan in point of settlement, as will be found from the following comparative statement of the population at different periods:

	Ontario.	Michigan. Indians only
1791	65,000
1821	122,716	8,896
1830	210,437	31,639
1839	407,515	212,267
1851	952,004	397,654
1861	1,396,091	749,113
1871	1,620,851	1,184,059
1881	1,923,922	1,6 6,937
1891	2,112,989	2,089,792

It may be explained in passing that the figures given for Michigan for each period since 1851 are really those for the census taken in the previous year, the United States authorities enumerating their population a year ahead of our Government.

Why is it, in face of the enviable position of the Province of Ontario, that our increase in population has been so slow compared with that of Michigan? We have shown that our natural advantages are greater than those of the neighboring States. A member of the ADVERTISER staff who traveled throughout the greater portion of that State within the past few weeks can truthfully affirm that in point of agricultural worth Michigan cannot be placed alongside Ontario. The drawback cannot be in the management of our purely Provincial affairs, for it is conceded on all hands that Ontario has been ruled righteously and with an eye to the progress and advancement of the people these many years. The conclusion is irresistibly forced upon us that the evil lies in the trade restriction policy that has prevented Ontario from having the same near-at-hand markets for her products that are possessed by Michigan. It is indeed a most significant fact that Michigan, which started in the race long after Ontario (then Upper Canada) did, which had only a little more than a third of the population possessed by Ontario in 1851, should now be neck and neck with this fair Province, and at the same ratio of increase as during the last ten years likely soon to pass us by.

We have seen it argued somewhere that there have been tariff burdens in the States as well as in Canada, and therefore the high tax policy of the Ottawa Government cannot be charged with the lack of progress. As the United States is a nation with practically half a hundred countries enjoying the freest of trade among themselves, while all Canada has a smaller population than Pennsylvania, spread over many thousands of miles, it is not difficult to prove that a protective tariff must be infinitely more injurious to the people in the smaller country. Inter-State trade, as we all know, is comparatively easy of accomplishment, whereas inter-Provincial trade is handicapped by the heavy expense in distribution rendered necessary by geographical difficulties. London manufacturers are now compelled to send their goods 1,400 miles or 1,500 miles to the East and to the West, for which they have to pay freights that almost swallow up their profits. With complete freedom of trade between the two countries they would be able to follow the example of their brethren in Michigan, and concentrate their dealings in a radius of 400 or 500 miles. Indeed, one of the largest employers of labor in this city informs us that he would welcome a change to-morrow, as he would then be able to do more business in Michigan alone than he is now able to do with the whole of the Dominion.

The progress of Michigan is a good answer to the opponents of trade freedom, who argue that freedom to buy and sell between the two countries would result in the swamping of the producers in the newer territory. Michigan has made splendid progress, despite the competition of Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania. What the poorer State of Michigan has done surely we in Ontario can do.

THOUGH the population of Great Britain has steadily increased, despite enormous immigration, there has been a noticeable decrease in crime. In 1864 there were 2,800 convicts in the various penal institutions. In 1890 there were but 729. Since 1882 eight prisons have been converted to other uses.

THE MARCH OF DEMOCRACY.

Modern democracy dates back to Oliver Cromwell and the early Independents. The great principles upon which all present-day society is based did not begin to be practically realized until the time of the Independents, who gave up their lives on gallows and battlefield for the expensive privilege of transforming the laws and institutions of their native land. The Independent Church was the beginning of modern democracy. A week or two since there assembled in London the first International Council of the Independents, an occasion that lends new interest to the religious sect to which the world owes so much of its emancipation from old-time feudalism and intolerance. The Independents were first known as Brownists, under Robert Browne, who about 1580 stirred up the Eastern Counties by preaching the doctrine of every sincere democrat of every nationality. Browne preached the gospel of religious liberty—the doctrine that Christ is the head of his Church, and all its members are equal. Such a radical creed was quite sufficient to turn the attention of existing sects from the occupation of slaying each other for the love of God and zeal for pure religion, and leading them to unite their forces in order to compass the extinction of independency.

The believers in the principle that the only monarch is Christ and the only aristocracy real worth were not suppressed by gallows, dungeon or exile. They played the leading part in the three greatest achievements of our race in the last hundred years: The establishment of modern democracy, of religious liberty, and of the American Republic. They live in history as the men who smote down the Stuarts, beheaded the first Charles and founded the Commonwealth, thereby establishing for the first time the principle of the government of the people by the people for the people. Their leader, Cromwell, whom Milton called "our chief of men," cared, as Cardinal Manning said, "with passionate earnestness for the welfare of the common people." The sect, poor and persecuted as it was in the latter part of the seventeenth century, has given to English literature the great names of Milton, Bunyan and Defoe, the author of Robinson Crusoe, and in our own century the Independents of England and America have taken a leading part in the great humanitarian movements of the day.

STOCK FOR THE COLLEGE FARM.

During his visit this season to England, Hon. Mr. Dryden, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, made some important selections of stock for the Experimental Farm in connection with the Agricultural College at Guelph. The importation included specimens of seven breeds of sheep, viz., Shropshires, Hampshires, Oxfords, Leicesters, Suffolks, Southdowns and Horned Dorsets. They are said to be excellent representatives of those breeds. Several Tamworth pigs were also brought out. Specimens of several breeds of cattle have also been purchased. These, however, have not been shipped, owing to difficulties in connection with disease in Great Britain. They include Ayrshires, Galloways, Guernseys, Polled Angus, Norfolk Red Polls and Sussex. The two latter are comparatively new breeds in this country, though a few specimens of the Sussex cattle have been exhibited at our shows. The Red Polls are increasing in popular favor, and are reported good milkers, with a tendency to produce flesh as well.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

THE London Canadian Gazette says that "it certainly would be impossible in England for a Minister of the Crown to do with impunity what the Minister of Public Works did." Still, we are told by the Canadian high tax papers that Sir Hector Langevin has retired full of honors, and that he must be whitewashed!

STANLEY, who goes to Australia to lecture in October next, will get $30,000 for his series of lectures. If his rates are as high as they were in Canada, and the lectures are as well attended, the conclusion will be reached that the Australians have more money than they know what to do with. It is scarcely necessary to add that Stanley will be accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law.

‡‡‡

THERE will be exciting times in the Dominion Parliament this week. The reports of the committees on the cases of Sir Hector Langevin, Mr. McGreevy and Mr. Cochrane, the disgraced M. P.s, will in all probability be reached, and the country will be able to see how far the majority in the House is prepared to support these and other unfaithful representatives of the people.

CROPS are short in France, Germany and other central European countries. In many parts of Russia famine faces the poor peasantry, and in the adjoining northern countries the harvest prospects are so deplorable that bread has already gone up 80 per cent., and famine prices are feared for the winter. In Central Sweden the result of the constant rain has been to lay some of the lower valleys for weeks under water. In Denmark the condition of things is no better, and in both countries the wheat crop is reported to be entirely destroyed. The damage is not confined to wheat, which is the least important of Scandinavian cereals. Agricultural losses in Denmark are estimated at $15,000,000, and as half the cultivated area in Sweden is under cereal crops the loss there can hardly be less. How thankful Canadians should be that their crops are plentiful, while so many nations of the earth are in danger of starvation from famine. If our producers were permitted to make the most of their earnings, and the cormorants at Ottawa were sent about their business, we would have one of the most prosperous countries on the face of the earth.

It would seem as though the photographers would never stop discovering new developers. The latest has the euphonious name of paramido-phenol.

ANY NAME WILL DO.

[Detroit News.]

The free trader cares very little whether the extension of the liberty to trade be called reciprocity or free trade, or whether it is brought about by the Republicans or Democrats. The essential thing is to take down the bars and let the folks go through with their stuff.

THE WORKERS PAY FOR IT ALL.

[Hamilton Times.]

Hon. Mr. Chapleau sent his friend Dansereau to New York to tell the pressmakers that they must not pay commissions. They responded that their practice at Washington was to subscribe to election funds, and Dansereau gave them the name of Mr. Benoit, the president of the Montreal Conservative Association, to make sure that the subscriptions should not go astray. How much Yankee gold was thus forwarded, to keep Canada for the Canadians, and to uphold the dignity of the old flag, has not yet been told. In any case, the effect of the system was just the same as if the Tory Ministers had put their hands into the public chest and helped themselves for their election fund. Chapleau paid so many extra dollars of the people's money for presses, and the New York pressmakers sent those extra dollars to the president of the Conservative Association. The system under which Tories and Liberals have alike been compelled to pay Tory election expenses is a very comfortable one for the Tory office-holders, but it is hard upon the honest men of both parties, who work for a living and have to earn all they get. Turn the rascals out.

Histogenetic
System of Medicine.

All diseases successfully treated by a new system of non-poisonous and tasteless medicines. Send for free book explaining system and testimonials of the most remarkable cures on record.

I have been a great sufferer from a female weakness of long standing, and have been treated by several physicians, and have also been under treatment in the Toronto Hospital, and all failed to cure me. I saw a medical book explaining the Histogenetic System, and resolved to give it a trial. I consulted Dr. Rear, who prescribed these remedies and assured me they would cure me. I had my doubts, but was determined to try once more. I took treatment two weeks, and am utterly astonished at the results. I am nearly well, and no language can describe how thankful I am that my life is spared. This testimony is voluntary, and I give it hoping that hundreds of my sex may try the medicines and receive the same marvelous good that I have. They are good to take, and, unlike any medicine I ever took before, leave no bad effects.
MRS. J. FAWCETT.
June 5, 1890. 102 John street, Toronto.

I was attacked with congestion of the liver and inflammation of the kidneys, attended with excruciating pains in my side and back. Could not lie on either side—could scarcely breathe. The slightest movement caused agonizing pain. Nothing gave me relief. I sent for Dr. Rear, knowing he had cured by daughter of a dangerous illness with Histogenetic Medicine after she had been given up by four skillful physicians. In one week my pain was gone and liver and kidneys acting as well as ever. The cure is complete. It acts the most like magic of any medicine I ever took. I sincerely hope that the suffering ladies of Toronto and elsewhere may try the superior merits of these pure and tasteless medicines. My object in giving this testimony is purely through sympathy for the sick and dying.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

Corn Sowing

Is a process conducted by the agency of tight boots all the year round. Corn reaping is best conducted through the agency of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, the only safe and sure-pop corn cure. Putnam's Extractor is now widely imitated. Beware of all poisonous and sore-producing substitutes.

For ingrowing toenails put a few drops of hot mutton tallow upon the sore part. Continue the application at intervals for a few days and a cure will be effected.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation; its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 25 doses, 35 cents.

Time destroys the speculations of man but it confirms the judgment of nature.—[Cicero.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

The highest angels acknowledge a kinship with the lowest devils.—[Swedenborg.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

"THE TWO MASTERS."

Samuel Grigg Tells How He Served Both.

Sincere and Unaffected Address by the Well-Known Ex-Hotel-Keeper.

"In all my life I have never had such an honor conferred upon me as I have to-day," said Sam Grigg on Sunday afternoon as he faced several hundreds of people in Victoria Hall, both auditorium and gallery being crowded with men of all ages. "There is no person who does not recognize me and does not know what I have been. There is no denying the fact that I am just what I am. There was a time when I felt I wanted to be somebody else, but now I thank God for being what I am and nothing less. It's a grand thing to be that way, and it took me some time to find it out.

"If I were an eloquent speaker it would be unnatural, and God does all things naturally. I am not a man of great education. I have had no tutors. God has been my teacher, and I stand here to-day independent of any man, any "ism," any doctrine—just as I am and what I am. I say it boldly. I must say it; for God has said in his precious word, 'He that loveth me shall cast out all fear of men.' The trouble is there are too many afraid of men. I have been 32 years in the hotel business with those who knew nothing of God's teachings, and I was far from understanding his precious word. Now I find it very easy. I have often made the remark that a little good whisky would do a man's heart good. Well, so it does for a time; I believe it saved my life once. But the religion gives peace. The other unrests you—you don't feel well next day; but this is as if you had gained a victory.

"You can't serve God and mammon. It's all right to have plenty of the world's goods, but if they make a slave of you then it's wrong, and there are lots of men in that fix. I wish I could burn into the heart of every man here the text that first caught me. I bless God for the catching, for it stuck into my heart. 'But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.' Some people have not time for religion week days. They display it all on Sundays and cry 'Our Father' while the rest of the week they go about orphans.

"There are men who don't believe in sudden conversion. Some of my old friends won't speak to me since I took this stand. They point me out on the streets as a hypocrite. 'Did you hear the news,' others say; 'Grigg's gone out of his mind; he's crazy—he's turned to be a crank.' I thank God for the crank if serving the Lord Jesus Christ is to be a crank! I am satisfied. Things I used to like I dislike now. I want to testify that I once was blind and now I can see.

"I carried on the hotel business honestly, and there are many in my trade that deserve a great deal more credit than they get while endeavoring to raise their families properly and do what is right. By some people they have been injured in many respects, not with intention, but for want of knowledge of the nature of the business. I served one master—the world—for 25 years, and the last two years I have been endeavoring to serve the Lord Jesus Christ. He took me out of that business, but it took me some time to realize his way of doing things. The two years I have served the Lord have been worth to me more than all my life—and I have had some trials, too.

"If you start out for Hamilton you can't go to Windsor; yet there are many people with their mouths one way trying to go the other. There are some who pat me on the back and say, 'Go on, Grigg, you're doing well,' and at the same time run back and hide behind a stump while others do the fighting. I have spent $5,000 getting out of the hotel business, although I strove hard against it. I do wish I could tell you the joy of this glorious religion. Some one has said: 'If all the water of the earth were ink, if all the feathers were pens, and all the people writers, they could not tell the blessed love of our Lord Jesus Christ.'

"Like others, I had my worldly aspirations. I was going to be the richest man in this city; but God ordered otherwise. I lost a good deal of money, and it was the best thing ever happened me, otherwise I might not have been here. Don't let whisky, cigars or money run you and make a slave of you. God wants to honor you and then you will be an honor to him. I don't know that I have carried his message. I hope to say something in future, and I am thankful to meet those who are here."

Many of Mr. Grigg's old friends were present and were affected by the simple, earnest manner in which he pleaded the cause he has espoused. Y. M. C. A. Secretary Sayer, the chairman, supplemented by a few encouraging remarks Mr. Grigg's address, the subject of which was "The Two Masters." Special music was rendered by the quartet, Messrs. Alex. Caldwell, L. Noble, O. H. and C. H. Zeigler, Mr. Caldwell taking the solo parts with his superb baritone. They were assisted by a large choir on the platform, the audience also joining in heartily. The platform was handsomely decorated with flowers and the service attractive and profitable. The meetings will be continued every Sunday afternoon, Mr. W. H. Liddicoatt conducting the next.

London Horses Ahead.

London horses have carried everything before them so far at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition. Mr. Fulcher's Sadie won first in the light-weight hunters' class over five hurdles with four-foot jumps, carrying 154 pounds. The mare jumped very cleverly without a touch. In the light-weight qualified hunters' his gray mare Grace won first over 4½-foot hurdles, carrying 154 pounds. She took fifteen jumps in perfect manner, touching once. Mr. George C. Gibbons' Dick, mounted by Mr. Fulcher, carried off second honors after a keen contest in a field of nine. Dick was raised by Mr. Ferguson, of London township. Mr. Adam Beck's tandem, Bonnie and Marquis, won first in a field of six, the same gentleman securing second in the lightweight qualified hunters with Bonnie. This week Londoners expect to add to their already won laurels.

Stole a Valise.

Wm. Arnold was sentenced to one month at hard labor by the police magistrate yesterday for stealing a valise from the G. T. R. station Saturday evening. Arnold says he was under the influence of liquor and made a mistake in taking the valise instead of his own. He had sent a valise to Hamilton by express that afternoon. The one he stole was the property of Geo. Hull, of Kerwood, and contained wearing apparel. There happened to be no one in the waiting room where Mr. Hull left his grip and Arnold took it around to get it checked for Hamilton. He was arrested by Constable Logan.

Going to China.

Sunday the city was favored with the presence of five Methodist missionaries, namely, Rev. David Hill, (just returned after 26 years' labor in China), and Dr. Hart, Dr. Hartwell, Dr. Kilburn and Dr. Stevenson, who are going to that oriental country for the first time. Searching for Treasure.

On Wednesday, says the St. Thomas Times, two officers appeared at Port Stanley from the London customs department and presented themselves at the residence of George Brown with a demand to search the house. Mrs. Brown explained that Mr. Brown was absent. The officers said that made no difference; they were empowered by the customs department to make the search, and that their authority would be proved by Mr. Brown on his return in the hands of Mr. Payne, customs officer at Port. The search was made and proved a fruitless one. Mr. Brown cannot conceive why his house was searched if he was not made the unwilling participant of a huge joke. He has since heard that the party laying the information with the London officers stated there was a quantity of silk goods brought over from Cleveland and stored in Mr. Brown's house, the informant claiming to have assisted in carrying it from the boat.

Lightning or "Fowl Hunters".

Saturday night about 11:30 fire was discovered in a building in the rear of the residence of Mr. S. Baker, Quebec street. The fire brigade was summoned immediately, but nothing could be done to save it. The place was occupied as a workshop by Mr. Baker's father, who had recently arrived from England, and part was also used as a hen house. It had just been completed on Saturday and contained all of Mr. Baker's tools, which were entirely destroyed. The electricity in the air seemed to disturb the fire alarms, No. 1 brigade going to box 6 and No. 3 to box 41, owing to the confused striking of the gongs.

Mr. Baker says: "The fire broke out about 11 o'clock in the tool house; whether caused by lightning or "fowl hunters" we cannot say. We were all fast asleep and were awakened by shouts of "fire" and the ringing of the door bell. In a few minutes the tool house and hen house were in full blaze, and a crowd of neighbors gathered. The fowls escaped only to have their necks wrung by some of the excited spectators. The fire brigade soon extinguished the flames, but not before it had completely destroyed over $40 worth of tools, the new hen house and some valuable trees. The report of this morning's Free Press is as usual very much astray."

Sunday School Anniversary.

Rev. George Boyd presided, and addresses were delivered by Messrs. J. H. Adams, Geo. Robinson, W. H. Liddicoatt, Rev. Messrs. Hill, a returned Chinese missionary, and Nichols, of England, Sunday afternoon at the Sunday school anniversary of the North Methodist Mission. This has been in existence one year, and has already on the roll 117 teachers and scholars and an average attendance of over 80. Rev. Mr. McVettie, a young minister who recently came from Ireland, preaches every Sunday. The number attending the mission is steadily increasing. The building was well filled yesterday afternoon.

A Chief of Police.

There is no body of men more liable to suffer from exposure than the police. But as an example of how they get rid of their maladies, the following is cited: "Green Island, N. Y., U. S. A., Feb. 11, 1889: "I suffered with neuralgia in the head, but found instand relief from the application of St. Jacob's Oil, which cured me." E. P. BELLINGER, Chief of Police.

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken "sick, and suffered as no one but a "dyspeptic can. I then began taking August Flower. At that time "I was a great sufferer. Everything I ate distressed me so that I "had to throw it up. Then in a "few moments that horrid distress "would come on and I would have "to eat and suffer "again. I took a "little of your medicine, and felt much "better, and after "taking a little more "August Flower my "Dyspepsia disappeared, and since that time I "have never had the first sign of it. "I can eat anything without the "least fear of distress. A Romance of Chelsea Village and East Hampton Town.

She hurried down the stairs, after a hasty glance at the mirror and the administration of a deft pat or two to what she called, I am sorry to say, her drapery. he wondered how she would look to such alien eyes. She wished that she were in her white flannel, her dearest dress; but there was no time for vain wishing, and she opened the door.

He had not vanished, he was there, raising his hat and asking if this were Mr. Leete's house. The quiet deference of his manner, his low, clear voice, his somewhat unfamiliar accent, all caught her pleased attention and fitted with his outward seeming into one harmonious whole that to Celia appeared nothing short of absolute masculine perfection. It was like a dream coming true; it was as though a more than human messenger had arrived to summon her to that world which she pictured only in her thoughts. She wondered if her voice was trembling, or if her face was white. Meanwhile the young gentleman looked up at what he believed was the prettiest girl he had ever seen, and heard her say, softly and sweetly:

"Yes, this is Mr. Leete's house; but my father is not in. Do you want to see him?"

Perhaps Celia put forward her relationship to Mr. Leete thus promptly because of some faint fear that the Fairy Prince might take her for the house-maid, though nothing in his courtly manner suggested the idea.

"I do wish to see Mr. Leete," he said, and Celia thought again that his voice was quite in keeping with his other perfections. "My name is Wykoff—Randolph Wykoff—and I am anxious to speak to Mr. Leete on a matter of business. I am afraid he has been greatly annoyed by an error—an inadvertence of my agents."

"Won't you come in?" asked Celia. Randolph Wykoff! There was no doubt about this young monarch's pedigree or his possessions.

"I'm afraid I haven't time," Mr. Wykoff said, as he stepped into the entry and told his tale with a flattering deference in his manner.

"Of course I didn't mean, when I made up my mind to build on that unfortunate block—I didn't mean to give annoyance to any of the tenants—certainly not to Mr. Leete. I have always heard my father speak of Mr. Leete in the highest terms—he has often said that he would rather lose all the rest of his tenants than Mr. Leete."

It may be doubted whether John Wykoff had ever said anything quite so enthusiastic; but his son was young and impulsive, and Mr. Leete's daughter was very pretty.

"I should like very much to leave a message for Mr. Leete, if it wouldn't trouble you too much. No? Well, then, you see——"

Randolph Wykoff was in Yokohama when the news of his father's death reached him. He started for home at once, by way of Europe, for he had some business in Belgium. He was a very young man, and as soon as he began to think of anything outside of his immediate grief, he found his whole mind occupied with the consideration of his vast responsibility as the custodian of a mighty fortune. He felt that it was his duty to do something for the world. He could not tell exactly what he ought to do; but he felt that the world expected something of him, and he set to work at once, hunting for a rich man's mission Now, he had heard of a certain model usine near Brussels, and he stopped on his homeward way to inspect it. It was in truth an ingeniously planned structure. By a clever economy in the design and in the application of steam-power it gave cheap and suitable lodgment to a large number of workers in various handicrafts, forming a congeries of factories and workshops within a wonderfully small space.. It was, in its way, a nineteenth-century marvel of saving in space and power. Wykoff decided at once that a similar building should take the place of the motley group of wasteful old buildings on his Houston street block; and he instantly telegraphed his determination to his lawyers in New York, and instructed them not to renew leases. But his brief instructions did not make clear the fact that he meant only to give his tenants a little temporary trouble for their own permanent good; and when he reached New York he had to face a storm of protests from angry leaseholders. These people he was now striving to placate, and to win over to his new plans. And as the plans were really good—as he had stumbled on a wise enterprise in all honest ignorance—and as he went about his work with much youthful enthusiasm, he had less trouble than might have been looked for.

Much of all this did Mr. Randolph Wykoff communicate to Miss Celia Leete. But even after an exposition so long that he had hardly time, when he left the house, to catch the train for his mother's summer home at East Hampton—even after so long a parley, he thought it necessary to see Mr. Leete again, and in Mr. Leete's house.

"Of course," he said, "I could see him at his office; but I must show him my plans, and my architect's place is very near here in Broadway, and unless——"

He paused.

"I'm sure father would be very glad to see you here, Mr. Wykoff," said Celia. What could she say else?

So it was arranged that Mr. Wykoff should call on Monday, just after dinner; and Mr. Wykoff took the glory of his presence out of the dark old entry, and Celia stood in the doorway just long enough to see the Fairy Prince turn at the gate and lift his hat to her. Then she went in and shut the door—and hid her face in her hands.

* * * * *

It was a grand story that Celia had to tell a little later, while her mother and Dorinda were setting the table, and Popper Leete sat in his shirt-sleeves, with his stocking-feet on the window-sill, and divided his attention between the evening paper and his chattering family. The visit of a stranger was always an event of some importance in that quiet household; surely a visitor with such a mission was a rare bird, and one to be well talked over. And then, I regret to say, there was something in the fact that the visitor was a Wykoff, something in the fact that the Wykoffs were "swells." Not that a Wkyoff was better than any other man; not that a swell did not deserve the contempt of plain people with no nonsense about them—and yet I believe that every member of that family was secretly conscious of receiving an increment of social value from the fact that a Wykoff had stood within their doors. Somehow it emphasized the fact of their common humanity. They all felt freshly reassured of the great truth—which they had always known—that they might be swells themselves, if they would but stoop to it.

"I told you, Popper Leete," said his wife, as she trotted about the room; "I told you folks like the Wykoffs ain't likely to play such mean tricks as that. It ain't their way. I declare, Celia, how many napkins have you had this week? Now, I see your ring when you put it away yesterday, an' it was jest as clean as it could be, that napkin. If you're so mighty finicky, you'd better wash them yourself."

Mr. Leete took Wykoff's explanations as an admission of defeat. There are some people who cannot bear to own that they have been angry for naught.

"I thought he'd come to his senses," Popper Leete condescended to say; "he's a young feller, and he got suthin' to learn in this world, he'll find in good time, I give those lawyers a piece of my mind that time, an' I guess he heard of it. Yes, I'm glad he's come to his senses."

"What'd he look like, Cele?" Dorinda pestered her; "was he real good-lookin'? Did he have dimun' studs in his shirt? They say it's awfle tony in England to have dimun' studs."

Alonzo was the only one who took no interest in the evening's topic of conversation. His air of chill indifference showed that if young Mr. Wykoff were twenty young Mr. Wykoffs, he would have to prove his claims to notice before Alonzo Leete would waste a single question upon him.

Mr. Wykoff appeared promptly at one o'clock on the Monday. He had a long talk with Mr. Leete in the dining-room, and spread his plans out on the broad table. When Mr. Leete saw that for the same rent he was then paying he could have a larger factory, and that the progress of construction could be so arranged as to obviate all necessity for a double removal of his goods and chattels, he expressed a qualified approval of Mr. Wykoff's proposition. When he pointed out a few changes in the plans which he thought would better fit them for American conditions, and the suggestions were gratefully accepted, he in some manner fathered the whole scheme.

Funeral Sermon of W. L. Graham.

All available space was occupied Sunday evening at Dundas Center Church, where Rev. A. C. Courtice preached the funeral sermon of the late W. L. Graham. Many people were unable to get into the building and had to depart disappointed. The choir furnished well-rendered music suitable to the occasion, under the able leadership of Prof. W. J. Birks. Mr. Courtice took as his text Amos, iv., 12: "Prepare to meet thy God." His sermon was impressive in the extreme, and was a powerful discourse. He said there were three lessons to be learned from the removal of the late brother. These were: We must love the Lord Jesus Christ; we must love and maintain divine institutions, and we must be just and upright in dealing with our fellow-men. By a quotation from the Masonic burial service the speaker showed that the teachings of it and of the Bible were in exact harmony. The reverend gentleman referred to the late Mr. Graham as an energetic and industrious young man whose influence was felt alike in the home, the church and the city. By his removal God meant to impress the lessons of his word on the affections of the people of London. A few hours before his death he talked freely of the Saviour of man, then of his wife and children, and lastly of his business. He left behind him a Christian wife and loving children. There were present at the service last evening four brothers, the children and a number of other relatives of the deceased.

This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Affections once firmly set are generally tenacious, no matter what the object may be. To this fact the success of H. McKay & Co., of this city, is largely due. Those who have tried their Norma cigars never forsake them, and thus the firm retains all their old customers, and by the reputation only of the goods add new ones to the roll. For excellence the Norma at 10 cents is superlative.
